Beloved Indiana Poet Passes Away

"Jim," as they call him in Indiana, "The Hoosier Poet," as the head-line writers term him, James Whitcomb Riley, as we refer to him, is dead.

The passing of this much-loved writer was chronicled in Sunday's press dispatches.

Riley had been ill since July, 1910, when he suffered a stroke of paralysis. He recovered, however, but lost the use of right hand. During his illness he learned to write with his left hand. Last May he returned to Indiana from a visit to Florida and announced that he "never felt better," so that his friends and admirers felt assured that he would give to the world for years to come his messages of good cheer.

Riley was a lover of children, whose spirit he divined so intimately.

Open Season For The Politicians

Politics are beginning to liven up. Some time ago Geo. S. Walker announced his candidacy for Congress, and, now E. A. Hayes has tossed his hat in the ring for the same job. W. J. Martin of Salinas, will be a candidate for the assembly on the Republican ticket. To oppose our present Supervisor, J. L. D. Roberts, Chas. Kiernan, now superintendent of streets of Monterey, has announced himself a candidate.

But a few days remain to register for the Primary Election, to take place on August 29.

Any citizen who has not, since January 1, this year, made a partisan registration, will be unable to take part in the selection of candidates for Congressman, members of the Legislature, United States Senator and other partisan officers.

It would be well, if you wish to vote, to call at the Pine Cone office and register.

There is one important contest for which this registration is essential. Governor Johnson has announced his candidacy for the Senate. To be a candidate in November he must be nominated. Under the law, he may aspire to the nomination of any or all the parties, and he will be a candidate for at least the nomination of the Progressive and Republican parties. Since he will probably be unopposed for the Progressive nomination, the place in which a vote will be most useful will be in the Republican primary.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

A gentleman, looking over the list of names on the "Tusitala" program, at Del Monte, remarked that the list looked like a city directory of Carmel.

The Boys' Club held a beach supper last Wednesday evening. Mr. Benj. Lichtenstein, one of our summer visitors, is much interested in the club.

Next Tuesday evening the Search-Townley concert, recently given here, will be repeated at Del Monte.

"Tusitala" to be Given Here Friday Evening

The Western Drama Society has started something. Some years ago one of the popular magazines inaugurated revival of Neapolonic literature, then came a great wave of Lincoln stories, and these were followed by a publication and republication of the works of Kipling.

Who knows but what the dramatization of the dream children of Robt. Louis Stevenson, by John Northern Hilliard and Herbert Heron, under the title of "Tusitala," is the beginning of an unprecedented demand for the Stevenson books throughout the country.

At last Friday evening's performance at the Del Monte open-air theatre, of "Tusitala," an audience made up of people from all parts of the world was present to see in animated form the characters depicted by Robert Louis Stevenson. The characters were so presented as to please not only those who know Stevenson, but also to engage the interest of those who should know him.

Two of the episodes presented may be termed the features of the presentation, because of their action, especially in the climax. "Treasure Island" and the "Samoan" episodes will live.

The authors are to be congratulated on their splendid work, and the producers for a fine performance.

On Friday evening the entire present population of Carmel should attend the performance of the Masque at the Forest theatre.

"Charlie's Aunt" Is Coming to Town

A large number of the members of the Forest Theatre Society, with a feeling of gratitude for the efforts of Arthur Cyril and Gordon Davis in making a success of the annual plays this summer, have inaugurated a benefit performance to be given at the Forest Theatre on the night of Saturday, August 5. That sterling old farce comedy, "Charlie's Aunt," is the selected play, and Cyril, Davis and Ludovic Bremner will be the principal fun-makers.

"Charlie's Aunt" is one of the oldest as well as the best known three-act laugh-maker on the stage today, and both Cyril and Davis have played in it professionally, knowing all its humorous tricks and laughable "business." The early rehearsals are convincing evidence that it will be given with professional exactness. The women's parts will be filled by Katharine Cooke, Mrs. M. H. Bremner, Marion Boke and Marian Devendorf, and Walter B. O'Connell, Perry Newberry and Philip Wilson Jr. make up the balance of the cast. The stage set will be the garden beside Charlie's rooms at college.

Seats will be placed on sale Friday next at the Carmel Development Co.'s office at 50 cents for general admission and 75 cents for reserved seat.

This Week's Art Lecture

An exceptionally interesting lecture is scheduled for tomorrow evening. "Design - Its Use and Abuse" is by Huger Elliott of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and is especially adapted for the use of handicraft societies, but of interest to all. Illustrated.

Lectures to follow are:

August 8, Sorolla.

August 10, Tapestry.

August 27, Painters of the Middle Ages.

August 24, Rembrandt.

August 31, American Painting.

Contractor S. J. Wyatt has been making rapid progress on the cottage he is erecting on Lopez Avenue near Fourth Avenue, for Mrs. Yokum of Stockton.

A Reply to Our Editorial CARMEL, CALIFORNIA. July 21, 1916.

Mr. W. L. Overstreet,
Editor, Carmel Pine Cone.
My dear sir:

Please request the writer of the article headed "Let Efficiency be the Test" in your issue of the 19th inst., to visit the adjutant's office at the Presidio, Monterey and ask for the last volume of the Army Register, look it over and see for himself that there are now in our army hundreds of officers who enlisted as private soldiers, and then like a man take back his statement that "a private has about as much chance to become a commissioned officer as a German peddler has to become a Kaiser."

In his speech on our last Decoration Day in Kansas City, Colonel Roosevelt mentioned the opportunities of enlisted men in the regular army to be made officers, and told what a great satisfaction and honor it was to him, while President to commission as lieutenant generals, Major General Adna R. Chaffer and Major General Samuel B. Young, both enlisted as privates in the regular army at the beginning of the Civil War and rose to the highest rank. Their promotions were based on merit. Yours,
B. Rockwell.

Guard Against Fire in the Forest

Matches

Be sure your match is out before throwing it on the ground. Break it in two.

Tobacco

Throw pipe ashes and cigarette and cigar stumps in the dust of the road, and stamp out the fire. Do not throw them into needles, leaves or brush.

Making Camp

Make a small camp fire. Build it in the open—not against a tree or log or near brush. Scrape away anything burnable near it.

Leaving Camp

Never leave a camp fire alone, even for a brief time, without pouring water upon it and then covering it with earth. See 1914 hunting license.

Bonfires

Do not make bonfires when it is windy, or when or where there is the least danger of getting beyond control. Avoid making a larger fire than necessary.

Fighting Fire

If you discover a fire, endeavor to put it out. If you cannot, get word of it to the nearest federal or state fire warden quickly.

Information

Keep in touch with the rangers. Ascertain the number of the district in which you are camping from United States forest rangers, county clerks or newspaper offices. Make a note of it on a card or memorandum book.

La Playa Personals

The Children's Party at La Playa will be long remembered. Dancing, games, peanut races, ice cream cones and bon bons were in evidence. William and Robert Mackenzie, wee tots, in Indian costume, attracted much attention. Miss Moors, also in costume, was much sought after by the boys, who were up to date as dancers. Pir to dancing the children were grouped for pictures on the veranda now connecting the wings of the hotel.

A number of La Playa guests attended the performance of "Tusitala" at Del Monte last Friday. We have as guests a number of the players, among them being D. L. James of Kansas City, William S. Cooper.

The Political "Pork Bar'l"

What is the origin of the terms "pork" and "pork barrel" in public affairs? The most plausible derivation was offered by a writer in the Christian Science Monitor some time ago and is based on a story of a man charged with purloining a pig. The evidence was sufficient, but because the culprit had presented each of the jurymen with a piece of the pork, which each put in his own pork barrel, found themselves unable to bring in a verdict of guilty. Hence pork-barrel legislation, meaning a division of appropriations based on something other than merit or public necessity.

Trade at Home

In a nearby town, says an exchange, a grocery clerk is buying his clothing of a city mail order house, and a clothing clerk is buying his groceries of the same house. Both of them get their living from the people who trade at home, and both would be out of jobs if everybody in their home town did as they do. Yet they send their money out of town with a short-sighted idea of saving a penny once in a while, while they help themselves to lose dollars by doing so. Those two clerks are a reflection, however, of how many people in every town, even some business people among them, look upon trading at home. They think that everybody who uses goods they themselves sell should buy at home, but anything they themselves need they want to buy where they please. A get together pledge among business men on the subject would be a good way to start the buy-at-home movement.

Proposed San Francisco to Oakland Bridge

The project for a bridge across the bay from San Francisco to Oakland is under discussion again. The plan which has been devised by an association of eastern bridge engineers is said to have been approved by Col. Thomas Rees, United States engineer of rivers and harbors, who calls it the first feasible scheme that has been prepared.

This proposal is for a bridge about four miles long, running across shallow water for the most part, and above the bulk of the bays shipping, the terminals being not far from the Southern Pacific station at Third and Townsend streets on the San Francisco side, and at the foot of Adeline street in Oakland. The cost would be about $20,000,000, it is estimated.

The proposed location, the engineers say, offers the shortest distance between the two cities, traverses shallow water and slight currents near the shores, and is beyond the greater portion of the bay's shipping.

The bridge would have block signals like those on the express tracks in the New York subways, which would permit a one minute and forty seconds headway schedule for trains and a speed of 45 miles an hour. There would be four railroad tracks and two roadways for vehicles, one of which roadways would be for trucks and slow-moving wagons and the other for automobiles. Bridge trains would pass through subways at the terminals.

Among the engineers who have been associated in the work of preparing the plans for the bridge are: Wilbur J. Watson, consulting engineer of Cleveland, O., William R. Davis, consulting engineer of Albany, N. Y., and Harlan D. Miller, a bridge engineer of New York City.
