Newton and the Pipe Stopper.

Once upon a time, the great Sir Isaac Newton, while arguing knotty points and smoking tobacco (as philosophers often do,) seized a young damsel's hands, and, oh, horror of horrors—we tremble as we write it—deliberately inserted one of her fairy fingers into the bowl of his tobacco pipe, a remarkable instance, it must be admitted, of absence of mind. Undoubtedly the philosopher was a very absent man, but his absence of mind was of that quality which enabled him to win such fame and make such discoveries in science. He had this power of abstraction to a degree that appears marvelous, as the elder D'Israeli writes, "to volatile spirits and puny thinkers." To this habit may be referred most of his great discoveries; an apple falls upon him in his orchard, and the system of attraction succeeds in his mind; he observes boys blowing soap bubbles, and the properties of light display themselves.

Socrates was similarly subject to fits of abstraction. Of Narini, the Italian poet, it is said that in revising his Adonis he suffered his leg to be burned for some time without perceiving it. According to Cicero, Cato applauded Gallus, who, when he sat down to write in the morning, was surprised by the evening; and when he took up his pen in the evening, was surprised at the appearance of the morning. Poggius—we again borrow from the elder D'Israeli—tells us of Dante, that he indulged his meditations more strongly than any man he knew; he was only alive as to what was passing in his mind; to all human concerns he was as if they had not been. Dante went one day to a public procession—he entered the shop of a bookseller to be a spectator of the passing show. He found a book which greatly interested him; he devoured it in silence, and plunged into an abyss of thought. On his return he declared that he had neither seen nor heard the slightest occurrence of the public exhibition which had passed before him.

Such abstraction renders everything surrounding a man as distant as if it were in another quarter of the globe, or as unreal as a dream. A modern astronomer one summer night withdrew to his chamber; the brightness of the heaven showed a phenomenon. He passed the whole night in observing it, and when his friends came to him early in the morning and found him in the same attitude, he said, like one who had been recollecting his thoughts for a few moments: "It must be thus—but I will go to bed before it is late!" He had spent the entire night in meditation on the celestial phenomenon revealed, and did not know it. And thus may the tales told of Sir Isaac Newton's absence of mind be accounted for. Such absence indicates, not intellectual weakness, but strength, and it is a quality which Sir Isaac possessed in common with some of the greatest geniuses the world ever saw.

CIVILIZATION UNDER WATER.—I have had an ample opportunity to watch the pametis, in the breeding season, every spring for the last eight years. At that time it approaches in pairs, the shores of the pond in which it lives, and selects shallow, gravelly places, overgrown with patamogeton, water lilies and other aquatic plants, in which it begins by clearing a space of a foot in diameter, rooting out the plants, removing with violent jerks of its tail, the larger pebbles, and leaving a clean spot of fine sand, in which it deposits its eggs, surrounded and overshadowed by a grove of verdure. In this enclosure one of the parents remains hovering over its brood, and keeping at a distance all intruders.

The office of watching over the progeny does not devolve exclusively upon either of the sexes, but the males and females watch alternately. The fierceness with which they dart at their enemies, and the anxiety with which they look out for every approaching danger, show that they are endowed with stronger instincts than have been known heretofore in any of their class. Their foresight goes so far as to avoid the bait attached to any hook, however near it may come to them, and however lively and tempting it may be. However near to one another, the pair of one nest do not interfere with those of another; but like good neighbors they live peaceably together, passing over each other's domains when going out for food, without making any disturbance. But when an unmated single fish makes its appearance among the nests, he is chased away like an intruding libertine and vagabond. The development of the egg is very rapid. In less than a week the young are hatched, and the parents soon cease to take any further notice of them.—Agassiz.

A CORPULANT clergyman rose, at a public dinner, to return thanks, which he did by laying his hand on his stomach, and saying: "We thank thee for the blessings so bountifully spread, and for our capacity to enjoy them."

THE CASE-HARDENED ONE.—Bill Riden had been drinking some, and contrary to his usual custom, was blowing considerable, and finally said he could run faster, jump higher, dive deeper, and come out dryer, chew more tobacco, drink more whisky, and do more strange, queer and impossible things, than any man in the crowd, winding up by offering to throw any man, or fight a dozen, one at a time, then and there. A tall, cadaverous, fever-and-ague looking chap got up and said:

"I'm in for that last, stranger. I'm some on a wrastle myself, and I'll try you."

At it they went, and Bill got thrown badly. They then tried jumping, and Bill was euchred again. There was no water near to experiment at diving in, and Bill himself proposed that they should try some whisky.

"Wal," said fever-and ague, "I don't chew tobacco, but I jist kin drink you dead drunk in an hour."

"Never!" shouted Bill, and they sat down, whiling the time away by playing euchre.

Game after game and glass after glass passed, without the least apparent effect upon the stranger, while Bill showed it badly, soon not being able to tell the cards or even to handle them. At this stage the pale face arose, remarking:

"Wal, I guess as how you're drunk enough, and ef you'll make me one more drink, I'll mount my pony and be off."

"What'll you have?" said the clerk.

"Got any brandy?"

"Yes."

"Put in a middling dram." It was done. "Got any red-eye?"

"Yes."

"Wal, a leetle of that. Any turpentine?"

"Plenty."

"About a spoonful put in. Any red pepper?"

"Shake in some; and now, my boy, ef you'll put in a little of that aquafortis I see up thar, I'll take my drink and be gone."

"My——," groaned Bill, "I should think you would. I give it up. I'm beat. Don't drink that, stranger; you'll die, sure. 'Ill never say drink agin, I swear I won't. Don't drink it."

Amid the roars of the crowd, the pale game mounted his pony and cantered away.

FAITH AND FIDELITY.—An English paper has the following: "A short time ago, a dog well known to the railway officials from his frequent travels with his master, presented himself at one of the stations on the Fleetwood, Preston and Longridge line. After looking round for some length of time among the passengers and in the carriages, just as the train was about to start he leaped into one of the compartments of a carriage and laid himself down under a seat. Arriving at Long ridge, he made another survey of the passengers, and after waiting until the station had been cleared, he went into the railway station hotel, searched all the places on the ground floor, then went and made a tour of inspection over the adjoining grounds, but being apparently unsuccessful, trotted back to the train and took his position just as it started off. On reaching the station from which he had first started, he again looked around as before, and took his departure. It seemed that he now proceeded to the general railway station at Preston, and after repeating the looking around performance, placed himself under one of the seats in a train which he had singled out of the many that are constantly popping in and out, and in due time arrived in Liverpool. He now visited a few places where he had been before with his master, of whom, as it afterwards appeared, he was in search. Of his adventures in Liverpool little is known; but he remained all knight, and visited Preston again early the next morning. Still not finding his missing master, he for the fourth time took the train—this time, however, to Lancaster and Carlisle, at which latter place the sagacity and faithfulness of the animal, as well as of the perseverance and tact he displayed in prosecuting his search, were rewarded by finding his master. Their joy at meeting again was mutual."

COOL.—Gentleman living in a village finding that the diminution of his woodpile continued after his fires were out, lay awake one night in order to obtain if possible some clue to the mystery. At an hour when all honest-folks should be in bed, hearing an operator at work in the yard, he cautiously raised his chamber window, and saw a lazy neighbor endeavoring to get a large log into his wheelbarrow. "You're a pretty fellow," said the owner, "to come here and steal my wood while I sleep." "Yes," replied the thief, "and I suppose you would stay up there and see me break my neck with lifting, before you'd offer to come and help me."

TOUCHING LOVE SCENE.—"Henry, dost thou love me, dearest?"

"Why askest thou, Helenora?"

"Not that I fear thy answer, dearest Henry, but because I love to hear thee speak; say, Henry, dost thou love me?"

"Ask the stars if they love to twinkle, or the flowers if they love to bloom, or the rose to smell. Love you! Aye, as the birds love to warble, or the breeze to waft its balmy influence—why askest thou me, flannel of my heart?"

"Because my soul is grieved; care has overcast the joy which once spread sunshine over thy face; anguish sits upon thy brow, and yet your Helenora knoweth not the cause. Tell me, my aching heart, why droops my heart—has mutton rizz?"

"No, my Helenora—thank the gods!—no, but my credit's fell. Patterson, from this day forth, sells for cash."

Helenora faints, screeches, and falls in her husband's arms, who, in the anguish of the moment, seizes a knife and stabs himself—"over the left."

EIGHT MORE AS TWELVE.—A Dutchman living in a town in Pennsylvania leased his lands to an oil company, on condition of receiving one-eighth of the oil procured. The well proved to be a pretty good one, and the former began to think that the oil men should give him a better chance, and ventured to tell them so. They asked him what he wanted. He said they ought to give him one-twelfth. The agreement was finally made, with the understanding that the Dutchman was to tell no one. All went on smooth until the next division day came, when our friend was early on hand, to see how much better he would be off under his new bargain. Eleven barrels were rolled aside for the oil men, and one for him. This did not suit him. "How's dish," said he, "I think I was to get more as before; by jinks you make mistake." The matter was explained to him that he formerly got one barrel of every eight, but it was his own proposition to only take one of every twelve. This revelation took him aback. He scratched his head, looked cross, and relieved his swelling breast of feelings of self reproach by indignantly remarking: "Vell, by dunder dat ish de first time as I ever knowed eight was more as twelve."

BANKRUPTCY ILLUSTRATED.—Two merchants were standing in Wall street, New York, talking on the subject of bankruptcy, when one of them saw a real live Yankee lumbering down street, with a knife and stick in his hands.

"Now for some sport," said one of the merchants. "We'll ask his opinion on bankruptcy, or rather his ideas." He hailed the Yankee with "Halloo, friend, can you tell us the meaning of bankruptcy?"

"Well, I reckon I kin—and skin me if I don't do it."

"Please explain."

"Well, you jist lend me a five for about three minutes."

"Here it is—now proceed."

"Well, now, I owe Zeke Smith five cents, Sam. Brown, the tailor, five dollars for this 'ere coat, and you five."

"Well," said the merchant, "now give me my five."

"O, git out—I'm a bankrupt, and you come in for a share with the rest," and he left the astonished merchant to whistle for his five.

BATTLE WITH THE INDIANS.—The Humboldt Times of the 20th instant says:

John Rher came in from Van Duzen Fork, Tuesday morning—from him we learn that a detachment of the United States troops under Lieutenant J. B. Collins, from Fort Humboldt, have had two engagements with hostile Indians, each of which resulted in damage to the enemy.

On Sunday morning last, Lieutenant Collins, with twenty-three men, attacked a ranch of Indians, and in a brief, but brisk fight, killed twenty and wounded three others. On the next morning an attack was made, also led by Lieutenant Collins, on a large village, when five Indians were killed, and three badly wounded. The number of warriors in this rancherie were estimated at near 150 but they fled after the first charge, leaving the troops in possession. Several articles were found here that were taken from Larabee's at the time the white woman was killed and the house burned, plainly showing where the murderous wretches came from. In this brush, a soldier by the name of Casey was dangerously wounded by an arrow.

Mr. SNUB perceived that the milk he was pouring into his coffee-cup was none of the richest, said to his hostess, "haven't you any milk that is more cheerful than this?" "What do you mean by that?" "Why, this milk seems overpowered by the blues."

THE WATERS of the Sacramento at this point are falling rapidly, and the low lands bordering on the tule are again showing signs of life and verdure, with a prospect of an abundance of late fall feed for stock.

GRAPE VINES.—A case containing four thousand grape cuttings direct from Switzerland, was landed here this week by one of the up-river boats. These cuttings seem in a fine state of preservation; and are to be set near Cottonwood, in this county. They are of such varieties as cannot be obtained in California. Success to all such enterprises.

THE Hesperian for May, a beautiful and ably edited California monthly magazine, by Mrs. F. H. Day, San Francisco, has been received. It contains six illustrations—one of a Sumatran lady, and five fashion plates—together with full size paper patterns of articles of ladies' and children's dress. Terms, $4.

THE California Mountaineer for May, has been received. It is a monthly periodical of seventy-four handsomely printed pages of valuable reading matter, at the very low price of $2 50 a year.

THE ODD FELLOWS of Marysville have been having a grand time over the dedication of their new hall. Delegations from San Francisco, Sacramento and several of the mountain towns were in attendance. The result was a good time in general. The performance closed with a grand ball at the Pavillion. The Odd Fellows and citizens generally of Marysville may well feel proud of their new hall and building. In appearance and finish it is not surpassed in the State.

THE personal friends and admirers of Senator Latham gave him a public reception on his arrival on Tuesday evening last at Sacramento. The Senator gave them a short speech, reviewing in part his course during the late session at the Capital.

PERRY IN TROUBLE.—A card appears in the San Francisco papers, purporting to be signed by Mrs. H. A. Perry, dated Milwaukee, March 21, 1861. She says that she has been astonished to read the announcement of the marriage of her husband, the actor, with one Agnes Land. She does not credit the intelligence. She says she has been Perry's wife for ten years. Perry denies that he was ever married to her.

BENEVOLENT.—At the late fresshet, Leander White, a stage driver, was drowned at Deer creek, El Dorado county. His friends, says the Union, have been engaged recently in collecting a fund, principally among stage men, for the benefit of his widow, to assist her to her former home in Genesee county, New York. The following collections have been made: L. McLane, $250; Marysville, $184 50; Jackson, $22; Sacramento, $360 50; total, $1,049. Out of this sum the funeral expenses were paid.

GREAT LAND SALE.—A sale of lots in Hayes' Valley, San Francisco, took place on Saturday last, which amounted to $65,000. Building lots averaged $400, and 50 vara lots about $2,000 each.

SENATOR McDUGALL.—The Alta states that this gentleman will depart for the Federal Capital on the 21st instant.

THE amount of treasure shipped eastward by the steamer Golden Gate on Saturday was $826,789 85.

EDWARD W. CHURCH, of the banking firm of Sather & Church, in San Francisco, died on Monday of typhoid fever.

PASSED AT LAST.—The bill providing for the reclamation and segregation of the swamp and overflowed lands of this State, (being a substitute for Adams, reclamation and Wood's of Yolo segregation bill) passed the Senate. It will doubtless be concurred in by the Assembly.—Sacramento Daily Bee, May 1st.

May-Day Festival.

The town and vicinity en masse turned out on Wednesday last, to the festival got up under the auspices of our Sunday School Superintendent and teachers; and everybody lent a willing hand in making at the same time a jubilee for the children, and a general picnic for the adults. Parents and children, bachelors and blooming young ladies alike participated, and the day was given up exclusively to enjoyment. At 10 o'clock A. M., our village band turned out, and at the school-house a procession formed and marched to a grove about half a mile from town, and there, under the ample shade of a grove of stately sycamores, a stand, seats, and tables had been erected, and ample accommodation prepared for all. By special invitation, the Yolo Sabbath School, with their Superintendent and teachers participated and joined in the exercises of the occasion.

The exercises opened with music by the band. Then followed the crowning of the Queen.

Vocal music by Mr. Williams and class.

Address by Rev. Mr. Barnes.

Select pieces spoken and sung by the children of the two Sabbath Schools alternately, interspersed with singing and music by the band.

These exercises continued about two hours, when children and adults alike partook of an ample and sumptuous repast—none going away dissatisfied. Secession, Abe Lincoln, Fort Sumter and Major Anderson were alike forgotten, and peace, good will and enjoyment reigned supreme. Comment on the performances of the children is unnecessary. To hear was to be pleased; and great credit is due alike to the children and their instructors. Not one of the number who recited or performed, either failed or faltered in their part. And the day will long be remembered by the youth of our town, and a spirit of emulation will be fostered, pleasing alike to the patrons of Sabbath Schools and education generally.

DISGRACEFUL OUTRAGE.—We are informed, says the Marysville Appeal of Sunday last, by Dr. Robert W. Stark, of Sutter county, who lives about two miles from the Buttes, that he was the victim of a brutal outrage, at the hands of a mob, on Tuesday night, the 26th instant. A man called him from his bed, at a late hour, to set a dislocated arm, and when following this deceitful messenger, he had got some distance from his house, he was seized by a crowd of about twenty disguised men, thrown by a lariat, stripped, and his body covered with tar. He asked what he had done to deserve such treatment, and was answered, "nothing." He was then conducted towards Yuba City, and told to leave the county, and never return. The Doctor says after he reached this city it took him several hours to clear his person of the tar with which it had been coated. He is at a loss to account for the violence done him, but is inclined to attribute it to certain domestic causes not proper for us to repeat. He will make an effort to ferret out the guilty and bring them to punishment.

COUNTERFEIT COIN.—By the last steamer six hundred pounds of $2 50 pieces were brought to this city by two well known rogues, who managed to get ashore without detection. Information of the fact having been furnished to Chief Burke, he placed the matter in the hands of officers Lees and Johnson, who succeeded in finding a number of coins which had been put in circulation. The counterfeit is very successfully executed, and can only be detected by a raised line running from the topmost star down to the head of Liberty. The coins are said to have been manufactured in Birmingham, England.—S. F. Herald.

BRONZE MONEY.—A new coinage of bronze has lately been introduced into England, to replace the copper coin made at the beginning of the century. It is composed of 95 parts of copper, 4 of tin, and 1 of zinc. It is extremely hard, which will diminish the wear, while it has none of the coppery smell of the old coin. The British Government has contracted with James Wall & Co. for the execution and delivery of this bronze coin, of which there will be required in two years and a half, the enormous amount of eighteen hundred tons. Thirteen screw coining presses are employed, and upwards of 400,000 pieces will have to be struck every day during the whole two years and a half, in order to fulfill the contract.

TO BE RECALLED.—A private dispatch from Washington states that the troops here are to be recalled, and the State militia to be called upon to garrison the California forts.—Daily Bee, May 1st.

Arrival of the Pony Express!

Dates to April 22d.

We copy from telegraphic dispatches to the Sacramento Union:

St. Louis, via Fort Kearny, }
April 18th—A. M. }

The War Department at Washington, April 15th, issued a call on the State Governments for troops. Seventy-five thousand men were required. The Northern States responded, but the Border States refused. There is great excitement. In Northern cities companies are forming and offering their services to the Governors.

The banks in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Chicago and other cities, offer the Federal Government money.

Parties in the North support Lincoln's Government to put down rebellion.

Danger is apprehended of an immediate attack on Washington. The District of Columbia militia have been called out. The militia of Maryland offer their services. All the public buildings, avenues and roads are guarded at the Capital. Sentries are posted everywhere and preparations made to defend the city.

War vessels are still fitting out at New York.

Lincoln declares he will enforce the laws and repel the attack of the Confederate States force by force.

All new regiments are required to take the oath to support the Government.

The excitement still increases at the North. Meetings are held in the large towns and cities, and men of all parties declare the Government shall be sustained.

Douglas reiterates fealty to the Union, and advises the people to remain true to the country's flag.

Secessionists were driven out of Baltimore or compelled to hoist the stars and stripes. In Philadelphia they were threatened with hanging. The New York Herald office was threatened and compelled to run up the American flag.

The war spirit at the South is increasing. Jeff. Davis declares that seventy-five times seventy-five thousand of Lincoln's soldiers can't subdue the South. Lincoln's proclamation is laughed at, and Davis says he will march to Washington and take it in thirty days.

Southern banks offer loans, and companies are forming in all the seceded States.

The Border States offer troops and money to the Confederate States. Gen. Howe offers to raise 10,000 men for the Southern army.

The news of the surrender of Fort Sumter creates excitement in the South. The people say they are ready for the war.

President Davis will take command at Pensacola when the Montgomery Government declares war.

The steamship Baltic, from Charleston bar, arrived at New York on the 18th of April. The Harriet Lane, Pawnee and Pocahontas, with Anderson's command, have arrived. The Powhatan had not been at Charleston. The Pawnee did not arrive at Charleston until after the surrender of Fort Sumter. During the whole time of the bombardment of the fort it was blowing a gale.

Major Anderson was landed at the Battery, and was received by an immense crowd. The carriage was surrounded by people, who followed to his house, where Anderson joined his wife.

Captain Doubleday gives a statement of the surrender of Sumter, and says the demand was made on the 11th, and refused, not only by Major Anderson, but by his command. On Friday morning, at three o'clock, the rebels sent word that the fire would be opened in one hour. At four o'clock the fire opened in every direction, including hidden batteries. Anderson's men took breakfast on salt pork and biscuit. His command was divided into three watches and then went to work, and opened fire on Moultrie, Cummings' Point and Morris Island. Anderson refused to let me work on the parapets, on account of the tremendous fire. Anderson's fire on Moultrie had terrible effect. Anderson's barracks caught fire and were extinguished by the efforts of Hart, of New York, and Lyman, of the Baltimore volunteers. On Saturday, the officers' quarters caught fire from shell at the main gates, and were burnt. The magazine was surrounded by fire. Ninety barrels of powder were taken out, and thrown into the sea. When the magazine was encircled by fire all their materials were cut off, and they had eaten their last biscuit two hours before. We had to lay on the ground with wet handkerchiefs on our faces to prevent smothering. A favorable steady wind was all that saved our lives. The cartridge bags gave out, and five men were engaged in the manufacture of them out of shirts, blankets and sheets. It will take half a million of dollars to repair Fort Sumter's interior. Most of the shots were aimed at the United States flag. Wigfall demanded a surrender without authority. Anderson pulled down the flag, and afterward, finding he had been sold, raised the flag again. Hart, of New York, nailed the colors amid the deadly fire of the enemy and the cheers of the United States troops. Anderson's men at New York indignantly repel the charge that he was unfaithful.

The reported seizure of Harper's Ferry by the State troops of Virginia was afterwards contradicted.

The Virginia Convention is still in secession session. Reports to New York papers say the secession ordinance has passed, and the State is mustering troops to defend itself from a Northern army. Governor Letcher replies to Secretary Cameron's demand for troops roughly, and says Virginia will fight for the South, if at all. Further dispatches from Washington leave no room to doubt that Virginia has seceded.

Southern vessels have been seized in Northern ports.

Troops are still pouring into Washington, and an attack is apprehended every hour.

Accounts from New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Maine, say regiments are already on the way to Washington.

Southern feeling is greatly strengthened by the news from Virginia.

St. Louis, via Fort Kearny, }
April 22d—P. M. }

The President issued his proclamation on the 18th of April, stating that there is insurrection against the Government in several States; that laws for the collection of the revenue cannot be executed, conformably to instructions which require duties throughout the country to be uniform; that States had further threatened to grant pretended letters of marque; therefore the President deemed it advisable to put on foot a blockade of competent force, which will be posted to prevent the entrance or exit of vessels from ports of the seceded States.

The war feeling in Canada is aroused, and six hundred men from Quebec and Montreal are coming to Boston to enlist in the United States service.

Lieut. Jones, commandant at Harper's Ferry, hearing that 1,500 Virginia troops were marching against him, set fire to the arms and buildings, which were all burned up.

At Richmond, several Northern men were threatened, and had a narrow escape from hanging. Sherrard Clemens was held as prisoner.

Commodore Paulding says the Gosport navy yard can be held against ten thousand men.

There has been a great riot at Baltimore. The Massachusetts regiments, on attempting to pass through on their way to Washington, were attacked by a mob, who threw stones and discharged pistols at them. The soldiers fired on the mob, killing several. Three soldiers were killed and several wounded. The mob increased and the Mayor tried to stop the riot. After several hours of fighting the mob was dispersed. Martial law was proclaimed. The citizens of Baltimore and vicinity destroyed the bridges and railroad tracks.

The dead bodies of the Massachusetts soldiers are to be sent home for burial on the requisition of Governor Andrew. Governor Hicks informs the President that no more troops can pass through Maryland to Washington, except only for the defense of the capital.

The New York Evening Post learns that Jeff. Davis at the head of the Confederate army was marching towards Washington, and there was great activity North in consequence. More new companies are being raised.

Washington is filling up with soldiers. Regiments are being raised in Tennessee for the Southern army. The feeling is intense for secession.

Philadelphia dispatches state that the President will call for additional troops from Northern States to make up the deficiency caused by the refusal to furnish their quota by the Border States.

A party of armed workmen left Baltimore to-day to repair the bridges on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. It is reported that Trimble, the former President of the road was shot by a man when he attempted to defend the property of the road. The police seized a quantity of contraband goods for the South. Parties will be arrested and tried for treason.

It is reported Baltimoreans have demanded the surrender of Fort McHenry, and threatened an attack on it. The commander replied that he would be compelled to defend it, and would fire on the city.

There was a great Union meeting in New York on Saturday. The whole city was out and there was great enthusiasm. Major Anderson attended. Speeches were made by John A. Dix, Hamilton Fish, Havenmeyer, Grinnell and others.

Enlistment goes on at Wilmington, Del., at the rate of 70 to 100 men per day. Delaware will send her full quota of troops. The Secession paper at Wilmington was compelled to hoist the American flag.

The New York (Saturday's) Tribune says orders were received from Governor Letcher to seize the Custom House at Wheeling, but Wheeling is strong for the Union, and last night was guarded by the Mayor. The citizens were greatly excited by the news, and they declared that they would stand by the stars and stripes. The same dispatch says Harper's Ferry is occupied by three hundred men. The wildest enthusiasm prevails.

Governor Morgan of New York, has ordered the Sixth, Twelfth and Seventy-first regiments to go to Washington by steamer unless railroad communication is open.

Private dispatches from Baltimore say that the Union men there have no hope unless the Government occupies the city with an overwhelming force.

The colored residents of New York are about to form a mounted company for the service of the Government.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company have supplied their vessels with cannon, muskets, cutlasses and ammunition, to secure the protection of passengers and treasure. Orders went out some time since to sheath their boats with iron, so as to enable them to run down the privateers or pirates which may attempt their capture.

The Washington Star of Friday, says an attack on Washington with such means as assailants can have, would be simply a sure sacrifice of their lives.

Advices from Norfolk report that the frigate Merrimac is getting her armament aboard with all possible dispatch, under the protection of the Cumberland's double-shotted guns.

A sword from the citizens of Taunton, Massachusetts, was presented to Anderson.

There is great excitement throughout the towns of Missouri. Secession flags are hoisted and the agents of the Federal Government threatened with hanging.

Rufus Hosmer, lately appointed Consul to Frankfort-on-the-Main, died at Lansing, Mich., April 20th.

The Union men in Delaware are in a bad fix. The population is largely Union, but the State arms are in the possession of the Secessionists.

The Governor of Missouri has called the Legislature to assemble on the 2d of May. State troops are to be mustered into service. Governor Magoffin of Kentucky, is trying to get the banks to loan half a million, to arm the State for defense. The State will remain neutral.

It is stated that the ordinance of secession was proclaimed at Richmond on Friday.

All the Confederate loan was taken at Charleston and New Orleans.

The news of the secession of Virginia caused great excitement at Charleston. The venerable Edmund Ruffin fired an old secession gun.

ADVICES FROM JAPAN.—A correspondent of the Union, writing from Kanagawa, Japan, March 22d, has the following:

Affairs here have been very unsettled for some ten months past. About the beginning of the year there was a report that a large body of armed men were assembled and ready to attack and sack the foreign settlements here. The American Consul was urged by the Japanese Government to leave Kanagawa and go to Yokohama, where the merchants and foreigners generally reside. In the midst of this commotion, poor Huskin, the acting Secretary to the American Legation, was brutally murdered in the streets of Yedo. The Ministers all struck their flags except the American, and retired to Yokohama, thus placing themselves in a warlike attitude. After some treating and threatening, and divers concessions, which amounted to little more than a written invitation from the Emperor to return, and a salute from the Japanese, they returned to Yedo, and nothing of much importance has transpired since. Trade is dull and overdone, and there is no new feature in missionary work, which as yet amounts to little more than studying the language.

CALIFORNIA TREASURE SHIPMENTS.
The San Francisco Bulletin of April 20th has the following:

A few years ago, at a grand International Congress in Paris, the principal Powers of Europe agreed to abolish the practice [of commissioning privateers] hereafter in their wars. The United States did not subscribe to the treaty, because she desired a still further concession to liberal ideas. She demanded that it should also be agreed that private property on the seas should be unmolested in time of war—just as private property on land is respected by honorable combatants now. That point is still an open one; and, in the meantime, the United States recognizes the legitimacy, under international law, of letters of marque. But this fact must not be lost sight of: hostile nations may possess the power of commissioning privateers; but if a vessel should attempt to play that role without a commission from a recognized power, such a vessel must be regarded by all the world as a pirate and freebooter, and the navies of all nations—English, French, Spanish and Russian, as well as American—will make it their business to overhaul the dishonest craft and hang up her officers and men to the yard-arm. Now, the Confederate States is not known among the nations of the earth. Commissions from Jeff. Davis will not be respected. The Palmetto or other Southern flag will be no better on the Gulf or Caribbean than the death's head and cross bones of Captain Kidd. If vessels bearing unrecognized flags make any demonstration against our ships, they will soon be hunted down, and those who navigate them hung. The day for pirates is gone. The Gulf of Mexico is too small a puddle for another Morgan to swim in long. To show our readers the alarm that prevails in relation to this matter on the other side, we insert here a couple of dispatches received yesterday by business houses in this city. They are as follows:

NEW YORK, April 16th.—Insurance on treasure is advanced to three per cent.
NEW YORK, April 19th.—Stop all shipment of gold. Privateers at work. Insurance suspended.

EXPLOSION.—The boiler of the steamer Yale exploded on the 14th of April, at Union Bar, on Fraser river, when the following persons were killed and wounded: Killed—Samuel Powers and Joseph Osborn. Wounded—James Ellison, Thos. Kink, Capt. Grant, — Stevens, Dr. Oliver and J. Langley.

Smith B. Jamieson, the captain of the boat missing. He is supposed to have been blown to an immense height in the air. His body had not been recovered at last accounts. He was 26 years old, and a native of Corrie, Isle of Arran, Scotland.

"SEE, nurse see!" exclaimed a delighted papa, as something like a smile irradiated the face of his infant, "an angel is whispering to it!" "No, sir," replied the more matter-of-fact nurse, "it's only the wind in its stomach."

EXAGGERATION IN TALKING.—Young people especially, are guilty of this fault. We constantly hear such expressions as, I am tired to death; I did not sleep a wink all night; I wouldn't do it for the world; It was enough to kill me; She turned as pale as a sheet, etc., etc. All such exaggerations affect more or less, the habit of veracity, and make us insensibly disregard the exact truth. Hundreds fall into this error without intending it. Besides, nothing is so ill-bred. When a real gentleman hears such expressions fall from the lips of a pretty girl he instantly forgets her beauty and can think only of what he considers her vulgarity. All young ladies, who talk in this way, are not, however, vulgar; but they should be the more careful, therefore, not to do themselves this injustice. Next to being uncultivated is seeming to be so.

HARVESTING MACHINES.

Russell & Co.'s Thresher, made at Massillon, Ohio, celebrated throughout the United States as the best Threshing Machine in use—33 and 36 inch cylinders, 10 horse powers.

McCormick's combined Reaper and Mower, 6, 6½ and 7 feet, greatly improved and surpassing all other cutting machines in results and durability.

Manny's combined Reaper and Mower, 6 feet cut, made by W. A. Wood, with his improvement, and has attained universal favor in agricultural countries.

Haynes' Illinois Harvester, cuts 10 feet wide, deposits the heads into a follower, and adjustable to have any required length of stubble—an immensely effective machine.

Wood's Mower, cuts 4½ feet, very light draught; a boy and a pair of mules or ponies can run it—a "Little Giant" in the tall grass. Has taken the Grand Gold Medal of Honor and one thousand francs, at the great National trial at Vincennes, near Paris, June, 1860. At the Mecklenburg exhibition, Germany, June, 1860. First premium at the Yorkshire Agricultural Society, August, 1860. First premium at the New Jersey and Vermont State Fairs, and the limited number received in California last season gave not only satisfaction, but great gratification that such a machine could be had. The complimentary notices by letters from purchasers numerous. The low price and great efficacy of this machine makes it the farmer's helpmate, and places it within the reach of the smallest cultivators.

Wood's Patent combined Self-raking Reaper and Mower, a new machine, first that have come to California, represented as eminently practical in the self-raking process—a desideratum long sought in cutting machines.

Wood's Swather, a new machine, worked by two horses from behind; can be raised and lowered to suit; delivers the grain in very regular swathes by means of bands revolving over a platform, thence gathered into gables by a rake attachment.

Spencer's Threshers, with Perigo powers; these machines, made by D. S. Spencer, are well known, have been in use in California some three years, and are regarded by those who have used them with great favor—30, 33, 36 inch cylinders, with Perigo's teeth horse powers.

Treadwell's Eight Horse Thresher, made by Spencer—a splendid machine.

Gove's Patent Hay Press, will press one and a half tons per hour.

Bradley's Patent Horse Rake. A boy old enough to ride a horse can do all the raking for a farm. One very great advantage possessed by this rake over any other, is the iron runners, which are so arranged as to keep the teeth at a proper distance from the ground, which greatly lessens the draught, and prevents the raking in of dirt, dust, old fog, or after-grass.

For the above machines we are the sole agents, and have them in liberal quantities, and can supply them to country merchants by the quantity, and to farmers on liberal terms. Parties requiring any of the above can procure them at our Branch Houses at Marysville, and at 154 and 156 J street, (formerly Stoddard's,) Sacramento, and at Jones & Hewlett's, Stockton.

LABOR-SAVING IMPLEMENTS

FOR THE HARVEST OF 1861!

BAKER & HAMILTON,

AGRICULTURAL WARE-HOUSE, HARD-

WARE AND SEED STORE,

J Street, between Front and 2d,

SACRAMENTO.

Manufacturers' Agents and Dealers in John A. Pitt's, (Buffalo, N. Y.) Russell & Co's, (Massilon, Ohio,) and other popular

THRASHING MACHINES.

Also, the following REAPERS and MOWERS, improved for the Harvest of 1861:

NEW YORK COMBINED MACHINE,
BURT'S EAGLE "
McCORMICK'S "
HEATH'S EAGLE "
KENTUCKY HARVESTER " MANNY'S IMPROVED " ESTERLY'S " RUGG'S COMBINED " VERMONT MOWING " BUCKEYE "
 and Sole Agents for the celebrated

KETCHUM'S IMPROVED MOWERS, manufactured by Messrs Nourse, Mason & Co., Boston, Mass., the best mowing machine in use.

BAKER & HAMILTON have imported and sold the Ketchum machine for the past five years, and know that it is the only style now in use that will cut successfully the matted clover of some of our bottom lands. The machine being made entirely of iron, is very durable, and the cold five years ago, are said to be in as good order now, for cutting, as when first purchased. Some of them have run through the entire season each year. And they do cheerfully recommend them above all others for economy, lightness of draft, simplicity of construction, great strength and compactness, and the ease with which it can be managed by the driver. It cuts well where the ground is uneven. It has a lever for raising or lowering the knives. It will not clog in the heaviest grass or clover; and it does the work better than it can be done with scythes. It cuts very close, and will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine in use.

BAKER & HAMILTON have sold a number of the Ketchum's machines with the Reaper attachment, and have no hesitation in recommending them to farmers who have both grain and grass to cut, as a simple and convenient combined machine. The driver can easily rake off this machine, thereby saving the labor of one man.

BAKER & HAMILTON, the only authorized agents for the sale of these celebrated machines in California, Oregon and Washington Territory, have imported for the coming harvest, six sizes of Ketchum's Improved Mowers, which are furnished with or without the Reaper Attachment, as follows:

One Horse Machine, with four feet bars; weighs four hundred and fifty pounds; very light and durable; capable of cutting from ten to twelve acres of wild oats, or other grass or grain, per day.

Light Two Horse Machine, with four and one-half feet bars; weighs four hundred and seventy-five pounds; very light and durable; capable of cutting from twelve to fifteen acres per day.

Light Two Horse Machine, with five feet bars; similar to last mentioned Machine.

Heavy Two Horse Machine, spur-gear, with five feet bars, very strong; weighs six hundred and fifty pounds; capable of cutting from fifteen to twenty of matted clover per day, or any other grass or grain.

Heavy Two Horse Machine, No. 1, with bevel gear, four and one-half feet bars.

Heavy Two Horse Machine, No. 2, with bevel gear, and five feet bars.

ALL OF WHICH ARE OFFERED AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

BAKER & HAMILTON have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash. Also,

HAYING AND HARVESTING TOOLS
 of every description necessary to meet the wants of the farmers. These they have in large quantities, and can supply to traders wholesale and retail, at SAN FRANCISCO PRICES

Revolving Horse Rakes, with Hickory Teeth,
Wire Spring Teeth Horse Rakes,
