CLOTHESLINE HANGER.

Device Holds Several Lines and Provides For Taking Up Slack.

The clothesline hanger which is illustrated in the accompanying engraving is adapted to support a number of clotheslines at the same time and yet permits of taking up the slack of the lines individually or altogether when desired. The lines are attached at one end to a fixed support, while the other ends are connected to separate reels, all of which are mounted on a single shaft that may be wound up to stretch the lines taut.

The shaft, which is indicated at A, is provided at intervals with square sections adapted to fit the square bores of the reels B. The shaft is mounted in suitable brackets attached to a wall and at each end is provided with a ratchet and a crank, so that it may be wound up to tighten the lines. Each line is provided with a hook at one end adapted to engage a corresponding eye in the bar E, which is made fast to an opposite wall or other support.

Whenever it is desired to take in one of the lines or to tighten it or loosen it with respect to the others the reel on which it is wound is moved axially until it clears the squared section of the shaft A and is then free to be turned in either direction. Whenever desired the bar E may be released from its support and the lines wound up. A cover piece, D, may then be dropped over the reels to protect them from the weather. A patent on this clothesline hanger has been obtained by George T. Van Riper, 152 South Ocean avenue, Freeport, N. Y.

Crude Logic.

It is told of an East Indian law student that he once threw his examiners into confusion by declaring matrimony to be an illegal state. "How so? How so?" he was asked by the perturbed examiners, many of them married men. The student smiled beatifically. "Marriage," quoth he, "is a lottery, and lotteries are forbidden by law."

New Year's Jolly-up at the Hayes Home

A small crowd of young folks were entertained at the home of Matilda Hayes on New Year's evening. The affair was a very informal one and a regular good time was enjoyed. A large part of the time was spent in singing songs. Late in the evening dainty refreshments of cake and chocolate were served. Those present were Mrs. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Alison, Mrs. Hayes, Misses Florence, Zena, Ernestine and Beth Kennedy, Besse Palmer, Phebe, May and Amy Farley, Muriel Palmer, Virginia Bartlett, Irene Lawrence, Matilda and Ruth Hayes and Messrs. Russell and Bob Kennedy, Frank Fraser, and Jess Hayes. The guests departed just at the dawn of the New Year.

Mrs. Mendel Entertains

Mrs. Mendel's home on Central avenue was the scene of a pleasant little gathering on New Year's evening. The evening was a jolly one. An especially good time was enjoyed at the supper which was served late in the evening. The feature of the evening was the souvenir fruit cake which came from England. In each piece of cake served to the guests, was found some little silver trinket which was kept as a souvenir of the occasion. Mrs. Mendel has given a supper to her intimate friends on every New Year's evening since coming to America. Those who partook of Mrs. Mendel's hospitality on Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ainsley, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Shelly, Mr. and Mrs. Priestly, and Miss Swope.

The Sophomore class of the High school enjoyed a jolly good time last Friday evening at the home of one of its members, Miss Vaudine Putman. A large number of the class were present. There were several invited guests outside of the class, those present being Misses Lena Rice, Marie Bohman, Irene Lawrence, Irene Setzler, and Billy Oliver. There were about eighteen in all.

The evening was pleasantly spent in games, winding up with a big "tamale feed." A long table was set the whole length of the big front room and every one sat down at one time. The tamales lasted a long time and no one present could say that they didn't have enough. The class left at a late hour hoping it would soon be Vaudine's turn to entertain again.

"The Sky Pilot"

Dr. W. C. Evans will deliver his popular lecture "The Sky Pilot" at the First Methodist church, San Jose, Friday evening, Jan. 13.

Dr. Evans is a speaker of unusual ability, and is known all over the coast for his oratorical gifts. He has chosen for the evening there what is considered by all to be his most famous lecture, founded upon Ralph Connor's well known story of frontier life. The lecture will be given for the benefit of the Willow Glen Methodist church.

The pleasure of the evening will be greatly augmented by the introduction of several songs by Miss Nellie Rogers, head of the vocal department of the University of the Pacific.

Tickets are now on sale at the Press Office. Price, 15c and 25c.

FIRST ROCK TUNNEL.

Made Centuries Before Drills and Blasting Powder Were Known.

The first rock tunnel of which there is any authentic record was achieved over 2,600 years ago on the outskirts of Jerusalem, when the way was opened for the admission of water of the spring of Gihon to the pool of Siloam.

Gihon, now known as Mary's spring, is in the valley of Kedron and was the only natural spring in the vicinity of the city of David. It was separated from the city by the Ophel ridge, a mass of rock, so that when enemies appeared before the wall they could cut off this supply and compel the people within to depend upon stored water. King Hezekiah about 700 B. C. devoted himself to remedying this by constructing a tunnel, which is referred to in II Kings, xx, 20, to bring the waters within the walls.

At that time not only was tunneling through rocks an untried work and one that must be done without such aids in the way of drills and blasting power as even the most amateur workman would use nowadays, but there was no mariner's compass or other means for following a given direction underground. The distance from the spring to the pool of Siloam is about 900 feet in a straight line, and the hill overhead is about 150 feet higher than the spring.

To perpetuate this Hezekiah's workmen had tools of bronze, of a description now unknown. They began digging from both ends at the same time and tried to keep their bearings in a straight line by sighting from outside. They did not maintain a uniform bore, but kept the slope of the bottom with great accuracy. The shaft is from two to three feet wide and from ten feet high at one end diminishes to a foot and a half in the middle.

Sighting from the outside did not prove a very satisfactory method. Many places are to be seen in the tunnel today where headings were abandoned and a start made in a new direction. Even then the tunnel rambles about and was more than 1,700 feet long before the two ends came together. The opposing diggers were able to find each other at last by listening for sounds of the others' picks and working toward the place whence they seemed to come. This was learned from an inscription on the wall of the tunnel which was discovered in 1880 by some boys at play.

For a city situated as Jerusalem was no gift could have been more welcome than that of an assured water supply. One can imagine therefore that the ceremonies attendant upon the completion of the work were on as magnificent a scale as could then be devised.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Nerve and Coolness.

Seated reading in his private room, the superintendent of a large prison heard a slight sound and, looking up, was confronted by a dangerous convict holding a long bar of iron. "Don't you move," he muttered. "I'm going to get away, even if I have to kill you!"

"But," calmly rejoined the superintendent, "I thought it was tomorrow you were going?"

The man looked at him with stupid amazement.

"Yes," said the official, "don't you know? A pardon came for you today in consideration of your good conduct. You can go now, I suppose, if you want to. You'd like to see the papers? They're in here, I believe."

He opened a drawer as he spoke, and the next instant the convict was facing the muzzle of a revolver.

Easy to Be Calm.

It certainly does make a difference "whose ox is gored." Among the patients in the private ward of a Philadelphia hospital, according to a writer in Lippincott's Magazine, there was once a testy old millionaire of that city, whose case gave his physicians considerable difficulty at first.

"Well," asked the crusty patient one morning, "how do you find me now, eh?"

"You're getting on well," responded the doctor, rubbing his hands with an air of satisfaction.

"Your legs are still swollen, but that doesn't trouble me."

"Of course it doesn't!" said the old man. "If your legs were swollen it wouldn't trouble me!"

Success doesn't "happen." It is organized, pre-empted, captured by concentrated common sense.—Frances E. Willard.

Los Angeles.—W. A. Perry, 38 years old, committed suicide by turning on the gas in his room. A note left to his brother, William Perry of Watts, reads: "Never lie, Willie. Lying will get anybody into trouble, no matter how good they have been. Just one little lie cost me my life."

Bakersfield.—Seven-year-old Stella Kuehn, daughter of Professor G. W. Kuehn, one of the best known musicians of this city, was almost instantly killed when she was struck by an automobile driven by Henry B. Gardette, a stock raiser and owner of the Kern Valley Garage in this city.

Oakland.—The will of the late Louise W. B. Kellogg, widow of Martin Kellogg, former president of the University of California, has been filed for probate. It disposes of an estate of more than $150,000, consisting of real property in Alameda county worth $100,000 and of personal property.

Los Angeles.—Mrs. Thomas Costello, wife of a multi-millionaire grain broker and lumberman of Chicago, is seriously ill at her apartments from the effects of an accident, when she was knocked to the curbing by a street car. A hairpin is said to have penetrated her skull. Her condition is said to be precarious.

Redlands.—Roy Cherrier, son of Secretary H. A. Cherrier a nephew of President Darius Miller of the Burlington railroad, winter residents of Redlands, was thrown from a horse and killed. He was on his way to a Christmas dinner to be attended by members of the two families when the accident occurred.

San Francisco.—What is believed to be a general and criminal practice on the part of concerns dealing in imported eastern oysters has been discovered by the local department of health. Investigations carefully conducted by the city chemist's office show that practically all of the oysters used in this city are permeated with a copper preservative.

Weaverville.—Thomas Hayden was arrested on the charge of killing Morris Nogaar, near Van Duzen. Hayden made no resistance. In fact, he was glad to be brought to the county seat, fearing that neighbors of the Nogaars would do him harm. It took the officers three days to make the trip to Van Duzen, which is close to the Mendocino county line.

Sacramento.—Statistician Leslie of the State Board of Health, in tables just submitted, shows an absolute and relative increase in the birth rate. From 20,974 in 1906, the total rose to 24,674 in 1907, 28,077 in 1908, 33,882 in 1909 and probably 32,006 for this year. The gains shown are mainly due to the growing completeness of the birth registration in the State.

Weed.—The Weed Lumber Company is erecting a high searchlight tower on a hill overlooking its extensive sawmill and box factories here. A powerful searchlight, capable of throwing its rays four miles, will be placed at its top. The tower will be 50 feet high and the searchlight will be used to detect and aid the fighting of fires about the plants and surrounding territory. An operator will be especially trained to manipulate the light.

FINANCIERS' STRONG UNION WILL CONTROL UTILITIES

More Motor Lines, New Water Company, Terminals and Docks.

Oakland.—The formation of the United Proprietors Company brings definite announcement of a new and powerful alliance in the field of California finance. It brings together F. M. Smith and William S. Tevis, two of the strongest and most extensive operators in public utilities in the West. Closely associated with them is R. G. Hanford, who has builded fortune upon fortune through success in mining, water, land and electric power deals.

These three men, in their new association, will control the Key Route ferry system, the Oakland Traction Company, a vast water system now known as the Tevis project, powerful electric companies, and thousands of acres of land, encircling the cities of Oakland and Berkeley. These united holdings account for the capitalization of $200,000,000.

The merger means a new water system for Oakland in opposition to the People's system; the extension of the Key Route lines to San Jose on the south and into Contra Costa county; the entrance of new electrical companies into Oakland; the development on a vast scale of the water front controlled by the Key Route with a modern system of wharves and docks. Work on the water front has already begun.

Wedding in Missouri Prison.

Jefferson City, Mo.—The first wedding ever solemnized in the Missouri penitentiary took place when Governor Hadley, at the request of Mrs. Ruth Hitch of Kennett, Mo., paroled Charles Beauchamp that they might wed. Baughman of the steamboat Humboldt reports that when he was at Wrangell a week ago flowers were blooming in the gardens.

Barge of Barley Sinks.

Colusa.—The barge Vermont, towed by the steamer Red Bluff, sank off Nelson's landing, below Grimes. The barge was on its down trip and was loaded with 1500 sacks of barley for Port Costa. The cause of the accident is not known, but is supposed to be the result of striking a snag.

Warehouse at Tracy Destroyed.

Tracy.—Fire of unknown origin broke out in the Fabian Grunauer warehouse, east of Tracy, destroying the structure and 2500 tons of hay. The hay was valued at $10 a ton and the warehouse at $7000. The building and contents were insured.

Subjects of National Interest Now Under Discussion

Washington.—The immediate formulation of Panama canal legislation practically was decided on at a conference at the White House. The conference was participated in by President Taft, Secretary Knox, Secretary Dickinson, Senator Flint of California, chairman of the Senate Committee on Inter-oceanic Canals, and Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, also a member of that committee, and Representative Mann of Illinois, chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. The conference lasted until near midnight.

It was agreed that immediate action on canal questions was necessary in order that the commercial world might be able to plan ahead. It was suggested that, by having a definite understanding as to the toll and the trade questions involved, an active trade would be assured for the canal almost from the day of its opening.

The Panama canal will be fortified with the heaviest, most modern, most approved and most complete guns, batteries and system of mines known to military science. Every detail of the plans the national board of defense worked out for the protection of the canal will be carried through. The plans for the fortifications, fully prepared, are in the office of the engineer of the army. They were drawn by General Marshall, recently retired as chief of the army engineers, after he had visited the canal zone and fully inspected the situation. The army engineers are ready to proceed with the work as soon as Congress says the word.

A precedent will be established next week in the Supreme Court of the United States, when Justice Willis Van de Vanter participates in the hearing of the Standard Oil Trust suit. As Judge of the Circuit Court of the Eastern district of Missouri, Justice Van de Vanter sat in the Standard Oil case and concurred in the unanimous opinion in favor of the Government. As Justice of the Supreme Court he will now be called upon to review a decision in which he himself participated.

Chris Evan's Wife Awaits His Release From Prison

Portland, Or.—After 17 years of unswerving effort Mrs. Chris Evans at last sees a prospect for the fruition of her hopes for the pardon of her husband, a life prisoner at Folsom, who, with John Sontag, for eleven months stood off California officers in a bushwacking fight, rivaling that carried on by Harry Tracy. While Chris Evans, with one eye and one hand shot away, has been languishing in his cell, his plucky wife, left resourceless, with four young children, has fought her way through, first at the washtub, and then, as her boys grew older, in easier ways, but never forgetting the imprisoned father and husband.

During the 17 years Mrs. Evans has visited the prison at Folsom as often as her circumstances allowed, and never has a new Governor been inaugurated in California that she has not gone and laid her plea before him. Now she is informed that a parole is about to be granted. Mrs. Evans declares her husband was never guilty of a crime, other than resisting the officers.

Incorporated String of Towns Built "Wet" Boulevard

Weed.—Saloonmen in the county outside the incorporated towns have a unique plan for evading the new county ordinance prohibiting saloons and dives outside of incorporated towns. It is proposed to lay out a new town six and a half miles long and 300 feet wide in places, to include the saloons whose existence is threatened. The new town would include Edgewood and Igerna, villages in opposite sections of the county, and several road houses are between the villages. By incorporating as a town the saloonmen could control the town ordinances and retain their licenses. The saloonmen propose to build a boulevard to connect all sections of the proposed new town and promise no increase in taxes.

Petrified Woman in Pompeii Laden With Real Gems

Rome.—The most interesting discovery for a long time has been made at Pompeii. Workmen who were digging for a foundation for a new building outside the area of the buried city, found the body of a woman which had been petrified. Both hands were full of jewels. Evidently the woman was fleeing from the eruption that overwhelmed Pompeii, carrying her valuables, and was buried. The jewels are excellently preserved. They consist of bracelets, necklaces, rings, amulets studded with gems and a pair of earrings, which are probably unique. They may be the most valuable specimens of ancient jewelry ever discovered. Each earring contains 21 perfect pearls, set in gold, in imitation of a bunch of grapes.

Portrait of Julia Ward Howe Not for Faneuil Hall

Boston.—The Municipal Arts Commission has refused to permit a portrait of the late Mrs. Julia Ward Howe to be placed in Faneuil Hall. Shortly after the death of the author of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" a memorial committee made propositions to have a portrait of her painted and placed in Faneuil Hall.

Secretary J. Templeton Coolidge Jr. of the Municipal Arts Committee said the committee had decided to refuse to sanction this and that a more appropriate memorial to Mrs. Howe would be a bust in the Boston Public Library. Portraits of Washington, Lincoln and other famous Americans hang in Faneuil Hall, the cradle of liberty.

California Aviator 4,200 Feet Above Mount Wilson

Los Angeles.—Adding to the laurels he has already won in the meet being held here, Arch Hoxsey of Pasadena, holder of the present world's altitude record of 11,474 feet, later flew over Mount Wilson, the highest peak of the mountain range which rims the valley in which Los Angeles, Pasadena and the towns of the orange belt lie. Under ideal weather conditions he soared 10,005 feet into the sky and cleared the crest of Mount Wilson with 4200 feet to spare, and returning here, landed safely, but nearly frozen, at 3:31 p. m.

SAN FRANCISCO WILL RAISE $75,000 FOR RED CROSS FUND

Reserve Money for Prompt Assistance in Disasters and Appeals for Aid.

San Francisco.—In response to President Taft's appeal to the citizens of San Francisco to assist in raising a permanent endowment fund of $2,000,000 for the American Red Cross, it was decided at a meeting of those appointed by the President here to raise $75,000 as San Francisco's contribution.

"Experience has shown that in cases of great disasters, such as occurred at San Francisco and in Italy, large contributions are received by the Red Cross; but in the constantly recurring disasters where smaller communities are stricken and should receive a certain assistance, the contributions are far too small to meet the need. Moreover, in the case of great disasters, the Red Cross should have such a balance in hand as to enable it to take immediate action without being forced to wait until contributions are received.

President Taft has appointed the following citizens members of the American Red Cross Endowment Fund Committee: James D. Phelan, James N. Gillett, William W. Morrow, F. W. Dohrmann, James Rolph Jr., Joseph S. Tobin, Charles H. Bentley, Max Schmidt, M. C. Sloss, Frank J. Murasky, M. J. Brandenstein, James McNab, Garrett W. McEnerney, Harris Weinstock, Marshall Hale, R. F. Queen, Horace Davis, Rolla V. Watt, W. J. Dutton, Vanderlyn Stow.

Adults Carried Disease Germs

Fresno.—No more church services or dances in country school houses of Fresno county. Health Officer G. L. Long has discovered that the Barstow schoolhouse, near here, where some cases of diphtheria have broken out, has been used by a church congregation Sunday mornings and for lodge dances Saturday evenings. He declares he will no longer permit the children to be exposed from infection by disease germs carried into the schoolhouse by a mixed crowd.

Snow-Capped Volcano Active.

Cantania, Sicily.—Mount Etna is showing considerable activity. There have been no earth tremors, however, but red hot material has been erupted, making a striking contrast with the snow-capped volcano. Villagers living near the crater, remembering former experiences, are keeping a close watch on the volcano in fear of being overwhelmed.

Used Mails to Defraud.

Los Angeles.—John Montgomery, Jr., of Columbus, O., surrendered himself to the Federal authorities on a charge of using the mails to defraud. This is the fifth arrest made as the result of raiding the offices of the Cleveland Oil Company in this city last week. Montgomery furnished $5000 bail to appear for examination.

Uniform System for Banks.

Washington.—Disclosures following the forced liquidation of the Quannah National Bank of Quannah, Texas, 10 days ago, caused the Comptroller of the Currency to issue an order directing every one of the 7100 national banks in the United States to install what practically amounts to a uniform system of bookkeeping.

San Francisco Aviator Killed.

New Orleans.—John B. Moisant, the San Francisco aviator, fell to his death from his 50-horse power Bleriot monoplane at Hanrahan, 12 miles from here, and the career of one of the most sensational birdmen in history closed on a sand car while he was being rushed to a hospital. His neck was broken.

Trust to Ask Clemency.

Washington.—Pleas for clemency, it is reported, will be made to the Department of Justice by the indicted members of the so-called "bathtub trust." At a conference to be held attorneys for both sides will go into the matter in detail.

Discovers Mutilated Body.

Hollister.—The mutilated body of a woman said to be Margarita Gonzales of San Francisco was found in a house in the Hollister tenderloin district. Her throat had been cut. The police have no clew to the identity of the murderer.

Fireman Dies of Injuries.

Cincinnati.—Philip Hurley, district marshal of the Cincinnati fire department, who was hurt while directing his men in a fight on the $2,000,000 blaze, is dead. His death is the fourth to result from the fire.

Paris.—A Naples dispatch says that Mount Aetna is in eruption. Although few details have been given, the eruption is said to be the worst in years.

Blytheville, Ark.—Three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Griffin are dead in their home near Luxora as a result of eating the berries on mistletoe.

Toronto.—W. R. Travers, vice-president and general manager of the Farmers' Bank, which suspended payment, was arrested for alleged statements to the Government.

Oklahoma City.—Governor Haskell commuted the death sentence of John Hopkins, wife murderer, at Lawton, Okla., to life imprisonment because an appeal to the United States Supreme Court had been perfected.

Gary, Ind.—Gambling houses and kindred resorts have been ordered out of Gary as menaces to public safety and public morals. The Public Safety Board, in directing that they be ousted, declares the order is permanent.

Montgomery, Ala.—The doors of Alabama's prison were thrown open to more than 100 convicts, pardoned and paroled by Governor Comer for Christmas. Among the number are 20 life prisoners and 40 convicts imprisoned for homicides.

Mount Sterling, Ky.—Clinton Allen, Deputy United States Marshal, and his brother, Walter, were shot to death in a pistol fight here with James Tipton, a special policeman, and Michael Gibbons, a saloonkeeper. The battle took place in front of Gibbons' saloon.

St. Petersburg.—Three communists have died and 29 others are seriously ill as a consequence of a mistake made by an elder of the Lutheran Church in the Peterhoff district, who filled a communion cup with a mixture of sulphureted chromate instead of wine.

Lexington, Ky.—One man was killed, three others probably fatally injured and several others slightly wounded in a general fight at a Christmas dance. William Willoughby was shot and killed and his brother, Craddock Willoughby, and two other men may die from their wounds.

Sedalia, Mo.—Charles Heriden, a deputy sheriff of Saline county, Mo., escaped from a rooming house here, where he had been kept a prisoner for 14 hours by five men, who had beaten and robbed him of a draft for $1000. His skull was fractured and his condition is serious.

Glasgow, Ky.—On returning home from an errand, Mrs. Robert Boles of Wisdom, Ky., found her house in ashes and in one corner of the ruins the charred bodies of her three young children. Mrs. Boles carefully covered the fire and locked the doors when she left home and it was evident the children had tried to escape.

New Orleans.—A dispatch from Puerto Cortez, Honduras, says William Barber of Kentucky and two other Americans were seized by Honduran police and soldiers, thrown into jail and brutally lashed with whips, afterward deported on the Honduran gunboat Tatumbula to Guatemalan territory and landed penniless in the forests.

Gallipolis, Ohio.—The heaviest ice gorges that have formed in this section in the Ohio and Kanawa rivers for years have broken. Fleets of steamboats and barges moored in Middleport and in the mouth of the great Kanawa had a narrow escape from being crushed and sunk. One gasoline boat was crushed, but the occupants were saved.

Barberton, O.—While a number of preachers and 50 deacons and laymen were putting the finishing touches in celebration of Christmas to a new tabernacle, which was built for a series of revival meetings, the roof caved in, killing J. H. Lyers, a real estate dealer, and injuring several others. Two preachers are among those hurt. One of the injured may die.

Topeka, Kas.—Petitions from women asking his aid in the cause of woman suffrage in Kansas flooded the desk of Governor W. R. Stubbs. The petitions are uniform and evidently a part of a general campaign. They ask that the Governor urge the Legislature to hasten a provision for the submission of a suffrage amendment to the people. The suffragists have opened headquarters at the State House.

Life Insurance Companies They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that the reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of applicants do not even suspect that they have the disease.

He states that judging from his own experience and reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has probably been more successful in relieving and curing these diseases than any remedy known. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—fifty-cents and one-dollar.

However, if you wish first to test the preparation, the manufacturers will gladly forward you a sample bottle by mail, absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper.

PISO'S THE BEST MEDICINE for COUGHS & COLDS

FINNS ARE ALL SINGERS

When Few of Them Get Together They Burst into Song As by Spontaneous Combustion.

Sometimes, when a brass band plays "My Country 'Tis of Thee," or on an excursion steamer after it gets dark and he is pretty well satisfied no one will recognize him, the American will indulge in what he thinks is singing, but the average citizen would blush himself to death if asked to burst into song in cold blood in a public place.

It is no uncommon thing to see a whole tableful of diners in the magnificent hotel at Helsingfors, the capital of Finland, suddenly put down knives and glasses and burst into a perfectly balanced four part song. They doubtless are happy in their singing, but certainly they sound infinitely sad, the songs being almost invariably the moaning folk songs of the saddest of all lands—the most perfect music of melancholy.

Practically every person in Finland, from the greatest noble to the most humble peasant, from the woman of fashion to she who labors in the fields, belongs to a great singing society, for such the entire nation is. It is no uncommon thing for 5,000 trained singers to gather to serenade some loved or admired public man, and once in Helsingfors 10,000 voices, thoroughly organized into four parts, joined in singing the national anthem as a farewell to an exiled patriot.

The city of Uleaborg is near the arctic circle, and far from a railway, and there may be heard a chorus of 2,000 school children with perfectly blended voices. Every village has its church choir, consisting of fifty or a hundred males, who sing nothing but Lutheran hymns. Even the companies of Finnish guards of the Russian army automatically organize themselves into choruses and sing their national songs, despite the opposition of the Russian officers.

When a few Finns get together they burst into song as by spontaneous combustion. If alone, they sing individually. The farmer sings as he plows, the housewife as she cooks, if a Finn is doing nothing else, he just sings.

A White Chamolis.

For the last two years glimpses of a perfectly white chamolis, a very rare animal, were obtained at long and irregular intervals in the mountains above the Weistanan valley, in the Canton of St. Gall, and the authorities issued orders to kill it in order not to lose the rare animal.

Every effort on the part of the chamolis hunters, both professional and amateur, was unsuccessful on account of the shyness of the white chamolis, which, however, succumbed to the hunter's bullet the other day. It is a perfect specimen, and the body will be stuffed and placed in the museum at St. Gall.

The hunt was difficult and long, for against the snow the white chamolis could not be seen, and the cunning animal seemed to be aware of this fact, for it rarely left the snow line. Only one other specimen of a white chamolis, killed some six years ago, exists in Switzerland.—Geneva correspondence Pall Mall Gazette.

Part of the Game.

The best kind of wit is not the broad joke or quip, but the remark which summarizes the truth of a situation in a striking and, if possible, humorous fashion. President Lowell of Harvard is credited with a reply which meets these conditions. It was at a dinner in England where John Burns, the labor leader, was present.

Mr. Burns was talking about some bygone custom of government.

"That is as obsolete," he said, "as the Constitution of the United States. Am I not right, Mr. Lowell?"

"I am reminded," returned the other, "of a remark which I overheard at a tennis tournament. Two old ladies were watching the game. One of them said, 'How much easier it would be for the players if that net were not in the way!' The constitution is our net."—Youth's Companion.

Aerial Dunning.

"For heaven's sake!" exclaimed a business man of 1920 to his stenographer. "Who is that fellow buzzing around my office window?"

"That," answered the stenographer, as she peeped out from the fifty-fourth story, "is a bill collector from Skinnim & Haul. He was here yesterday and said he would keep buzzing around here until you settled your account."

A Genius.

"That is a pretty though odd dress your little girl is wearing."

"Do you like it?"

"Indeed I do; who made it?"

"That is my wife's discarded peach basket hat. She cut holes through it for the head and arms and it was all made."

A Mere Supposition.

"Can you imagine the predicament of a man who is called to a real festival and can't come?"

"Yes, in a way. I guess there's nothing worse, unless it is the chagrin of a woman who buys a hobbie skirt that doesn't really hobbie."

Fine Football.

"Those ancient gladiatorial combats must have been something fierce."

"Oh, I don't know. No system. Now, if they had formed the gladiators into elevens, there might have been some snappy work."

Price Possession of Name.

Bulwer-Lytton: "And whatever you lend, let it be your money, and not your name. Money you may get again, and if not, you may contrive to do without it; name once lost you cannot get again; and if you contrive to do without it, you had better never be born."

Hard to Understand.

One of the hardest things to understand is why the world keeps right on in the old way when a man who thinks he is indispensable resigns.

An Argentine official publication predicts that that country in the near future will produce 5,000,000 tons more wheat a year than it will consume, and that it will attain first rank as a grain exporting nation.

The Unhonored Worthy.

The growing good of the world is partly dependent on unhistoric acts, and that things are not so ill with you and me as they might have been is half owing to the number who lived faithfully a hidden life and rest in unvisited tombs.—George Elliot.

SPARE MINUTE FOR THE EYES

Nothing Gives Eyes Such Complete Rest as Habit of Closing Them Occasionally.

If you will spare a minute every half hour to the eyes they may be spared to you many years in consequence.

A well-known oculist declares nothing gives the eyes such complete rest as the habit of closing them occasionally for a minute or two. In threatened cases of eyestrain he has sometimes advised no other cure and the patient has recovered his normal sight.

Where one uses the eyes constantly, especially for close work, as the woman who does fine sewing, embroidery or painting, the relief to eyes of lifting them from the work and closing them while one slowly counts twenty-five cannot be overestimated.

Another rest is to change the point of vision from time to time. Look away from what you are doing and gaze blankly into space. Do not attempt to concentrate on anything, merely look out of the window or into a distant corner of the room.

Do not begrudge the time for this eye resting. It is the best sort of investment you can make and will not take half as much time or money as visits to the oculist.

When One Has Fever.

In cases of excessive thirst that arise from feverish conditions the juice of half a lime poured over cracked ice or mixed with charged waters will give relief if slowly sipped a little at a time.

It is often found that very hot water taken by the teaspoonful will satisfy thirst more quickly than any other drink. The effect is heightened if a few drops of orange, lemon or lime juice is added or a half teaspoon of baking soda.

The main thing in thirst quenching is not to gulp down great quantities of liquid, to take nothing too sweet or too rich and to avoid ice water, which, contrary to usual belief, increases rather than decreases thirst, and against which all doctors fight.

Cynical Grouch.

Even at the time when crinolines were in fashion it was generally admitted that they were monstrous things, though some women defended them. One of those, a silly woman, having archly remarked that if crinolines had no other advantage they at least kept men at a distance, added, "That, at least, you will admit is a great blessing." "To the men," growled an old bachelor who was present.

True Praise and Flattery.

The unctuous hypocrite is in such contrast with the man of honor as is the slanderer and scandal monger. The fair and open face of honest praise, the caress of true affection in speech, the thrilling verdict of solid fame and real glory, are as far away from flattery as the stars are from mud puddles.

To Hold Eyeglasses Firm.

Persons who wear nose-glasses and who are troubled with excessive perspiration should chalk the sides of the bridge of the nose before putting on the glasses. The latter will then never slip, even in the warmest weather. If the chalk shows, use a pink stick, which you can get at any art or school supply store.

His Panatella.

"So you are in love, eh?" sneered the first smoker. "Well, a woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke." "My girl is of rather a panatella shape," responded the second smoker. "That is what attracted me to her in the first place."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

So Natural.

"I reckon you didn't think of your poor old dad all the time you were away?" "We did, pa. There was a man at the hotel always grumbling about the food, and every time ma heard him she said, 'That's just like pa!'"

Drink and Idleness.

Intemperance is fostered as much by ennui as by physical debility. A mind fully occupied has far less disposition to excess. The hardest drinking occurs in stagnant provincial towns.—London Outlook.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

Mrs. Jones Knew Why.

"Say," said Smith, "do you know why it is you are like a donkey?"

"No," said Jones in surprise.

"Why, because your better half is stubbornness itself," said the brilliant Smith.

Jones thought over the matter all the way home, and on arriving he looked at Mrs. Jones with the expression of a man who is about to do himself proud, and said:

"Say, do you know why I am like a donkey?"

There was a long silence from Mrs. Jones, and then she smiled pityingly, and said:

"Why, I suppose it is because you were born that way."

Whence Come Miracles.

Whatever you desire, that shall you have—and in the right time. But you must not seek to dictate to the avenue by which that good shall come, lest you indeed limit your good. But make the demand, persistently, regularly, firmly. That is the way miracles are born.

Old-Time Espousal Ring.

A particularly beautiful form of espousal ring was known as the "gimmel" or linked ring, which was made in parts, which, when brought together, assumed the appearance of the ring shown with clasped hands.

A Year of Progress

John F. Wilson, President of the Improvement Club, Makes Annual Report of Business Conditions in Campbell

Campbell District, with all its beauty in location and fertility of soil, is in the heart of the Santa Clara Valley. Campbell town is the headquarters for this rich district, and around this center are clustered the enterprises that have grown out of a constantly increasing fruit industry. Fruit—delicious fruit—is the slogan in activity and income. There is no time of the year that the enthusiastic orchardist is not working some part of his acreage.

While not considered a banner year in fruitgrowing, the last year has been one of success and much profit to the fruitgrowers. Pests destroyed much of the prune crop. Cherries, apricots and peaches returned a splendid crop, with good prices, so that with the high values because of the scarcity in the prune crop, the volume of business almost exceeded that of former years when crops were good, but prices low.

Persons in all walks of life are interested in land, and the attraction in the Campbell district to the outside settlers has been greater than in previous years, according to the transactions in real estate. There has been remarkable activity in purchases of suburban homes by business men in San Francisco and nearby cities.

Real Estate Activity.

B. O. Curry is very enthusiastic. He has received answers to advertisements from people in the East and in the South, and during the last six months he has sold over $50,000 in acreage, the sales ranging from $2000 to $8000. Indications all show a demand for small places. Farmers who formerly lived in this section, and who went south into the orange belt, expecting better results, are returning one by one, with these words: "Give me a home in the Santa Clara Valley. This is the finest spot in the world." These things show that the advantages of location, rich soil and superb climate are being recognized.

E. R. Kennedy of the Campbell Realty Company says that prices on the fruit lands in the valley are well maintained. Collections are good, old insurance is being renewed and new policies are being written continually. Most of their buyers want Blenheim apricots or orchards of diversified fruits, yet one good, paying, 20-acre prune orchard has been sold during the last month.

Building of homes on small places on the west side of Campbell is so active that it has the appearance of a new settlement. The Campbell Realty Company is preparing to move into new quarters in the Bank building.

The Bank of Campbell.

The Bank of Campbell has just closed the most prosperous year of its existence, and its Directors are highly pleased with their work. A fair dividend has been declared, and the surplus equals the capital stock.

Its new building, which will soon be completed and ready for occupancy, is a model of strength and beauty, both inside and out, and is fitted up with every modern convenience. The building is practically fireproof, with concrete foundations and floors, and is finished with beautiful white glazed brick. Attention has been given to the vault in order to furnish absolute protection for the depositors. Safe deposit boxes of the most approved pattern are being installed. To further protect the customers of the bank, the most up-to-date burglar alarm has been installed.

Fruitcanning and Packing Industry.

The Ainsley Packing Company reports a year of great prosperity; 1909 was a record-breaker for this company, when it packed over 2,000,000 cans of fruit. A great measure of the pack is sent to Great Britain. On account of high prices in fruit this year, the pack has been about 15 per cent less than formerly. However, this does not show a falling off in local business, as the total export of fruit from this country has greatly decreased. In 1908 the export was 840,000 cases; in 1909, 650,000 cases, and in 1910, 460,000 cases, so that the Ainsley Packing Company has had a full share of fruit-packing, and is well pleased with the year's result.

Green and Dried Fruit Shipping.

George E. Hyde & Co., packers and shippers of green and dried fruits, report that the business of the last year has been a great increase over the business of 1909. This house has shipped 2000 tons of green fruit to San Francisco and Oakland. It has dried 1500 tons. Mr. Flood of that company says that the amount of dried fruit shipped East this year was far in excess of any previous year. The brands of fruit sent out have left a satisfaction that the company pledged to increase its capacity

The Funeral of Mrs. Jones

The funeral of Mrs. Julia F. Jones took place at the Congregational church last Monday afternoon. A large company of friends was present. Rev. Atkinson read an obituary and made a few remarks regarding the life of the deceased. Mrs. P. C. Hartman was present and sang two beautiful solos. Interment at the Los Gatos cemetery.

Mrs. Jones was born in New York State and came to California in 1877, and Campbell in '89. She was a member of the Congregational church, president of the Country Woman's Club and was interested in everything that pertained to the welfare of the community.

for packing before the opening of the coming fruit season.

The Campbell Farmers' Union Packing Company is in its second year of business, and reports this year's business a great increase over 1909. This season it has shipped 5000 cases of apricots, 12,000 cases of peaches and 25,000 cases of prunes. The fruit is sent to Europe, South America and the Islands, and is well received by the trade there. This new company is preparing for a banner year in 1911, and says that prospects for the growers next year will be better on account of scarcity of dried fruits in the market and prevailing high prices. P. B. Payne is the genial, optimistic manager of this company.

Railroad Interests.

The Southern Pacific has shipped 2629 tons of green fruit, 1666 tons of canned fruit and 1626 tons of dried fruit.

Rolling-stock is on the ground for making the roadbed between West San Jose and Vasona Junction to conform to the standard of the main line railroad-beds, thus preparing this line for increasing traffic.

Schools.

No words of praise need be added to the reputation already gained concerning the high standard of the schools of Campbell. Suffice to say that families in other sections of the State, hearing of the splendid advantages in our High School, as well as our Grammar Schools, are seeking homesites here for the education of their children.

Campbell has a public library containing a choice selection of books. Many new volumes, the gift of Judge Myrick, have recently been added. In connection is a free reading room maintained by the Country Woman's Club.

The Campbell Improvement Club is making plans for progress and looking forward to the coming year in being able to gain industries in Campbell which will be profitable and beneficial to the community.

With the splendid spirit of co-operation that exists in this community, we look forward to a prosperous and happy New Year.

Thackeray on Tennyson.

Here is an offhand comment made on Tennyson by Thackeray in a letter to Mrs. Procter. Thackeray, it will be remembered, knew Tennyson from the early undergraduate days at Cambridge. Indeed Thackeray's verses "Timbuctoo" were written in good natured parody of Tennyson's prize poem. "Alfred Tennyson," wrote Thackeray, "if he can't make you like him will make you admire him. He seems to me to have the cachet of a great man. His conversation is often delightful, I think, full of breadth, manliness and humor. He reads all sorts of things, swallows them and digests them like a great poetical boa constrictor as he is. Perhaps it is Alfred Tennyson's great big yellow face and growling voice that have made an impression on me. Manliness and simplicity go a great way with me, I fancy."—Bookman.

HATS IN LONDON.

Unless You Wear One of Three Kinds You Are a Marked Man.

When some years ago one of the doorkeepers at a London theater retired from his drafty calling and was pensioned off by the management it appeared that this old man in all the years of his service had never given a "pass out" check to any one of the thousands of men who must have passed his doorway.

But he never made a mistake. No one entitled to return was ever refused, and no one could pass in at the end of the interval who had not passed out at the beginning of it.

The secret of the old man's success was a curious one. He depended on his memory entirely, but he had trained his memory in a very curious way. He did not remember the men by their faces, their clothes, their hats, their boots or by any peculiarity of gait or appearance. Manifestly such a feat would have been impossible, for ordinary "pitties" are very much alike in these details.

He took the one detail on which men do differ and remembered them by that—he recognized them by their neckties.

Gaze around you in the railway carriage as you are reading this article and ask yourself if there is any of your fellow passengers that you could remember well enough to recognize again in, say, an hour's time.

You will find there are very few people you could be sure of. There may be one old man with a large and conspicuous white beard or a very young man with a pair of spectacles of unusual size. But nine out of ten have the same sort of hat, the same sort of clothes and the same sort of figure.

The Londoner, in fact, seems to be standardized. He is built on a settled pattern. He is modeled to a type. His necktie is his sole bit of variety.

Into this world of standardized human beings comes, let us say, a colonial. Mighty London, with her vast crowds swarming over four counties, swallows him up. Yet somehow he preserves his individuality. He is conspicuous wherever he goes. He feels that all London, as far as it has time, is staring at him.

Cabmen persistently hail him. The map sellers in the Strand pester him as he passes. Those very acute people—the "confidence" men—sight him afar off. But it is not his necktie that distinguishes him, or his face, or his clothes, or his walk. The conspicuous feature of the newly arrived colonial's outfit is his hat.

London permits three sorts of hat—the top hat, the bowler and in the summer the straw. Any break from this settled order is to make yourself conspicuous.—London Mirror.

Unexpectedly Became a Model.

An authoress of note was once in Naples and very much desired to know Morelli, the famous painter, but could find no one to act as intermediary. So at last she took her courage in her hands and resolved to introduce herself, but not without qualms. As she approached she found the studio door open, one more cause for embarrassment, and, pushing a curtain to one side, stood before the artist at work, who, looking at her absentmindedly, said: "These lines seem to be all right. What do you say?" And her murmured response he went on: "But the eyes of the nuns do not suit me. Pray sit down a moment. Yours are just the thing."

With inward delight the lady sat down and acted as model for an hour and a half, during which writer and artist talked as though they had been friends all their lives. At a certain point Morelli stopped abruptly, took off his glasses, peered at his handsome model and said, "But, excuse me, who are you?"

At Second Hand.

A highland laird who could not afford to keep his own piper was accustomed to employ the village piper when he had company. On one occasion, through some oversight, Donald had not been given his preliminary glass of whisky before he began his performance. Accordingly he found his bagpipes in a most refractory temper. The laird asked him what was the matter, and Donald replied that the leather was so hard that he could do nothing with it.

"What will soften it?" asked the anxious laird.

"Och, just whusky!" said Donald. A tumbler of whisky was at once brought, which Donald immediately drank.

"You rascal!" said the laird. "Did you not say it was for the bagpipes?"

"Och, yess, yess," said Donald, "but she will be a ferry peculiar pipes this. She aye likes it blawed in."
