FORMER EDITOR OF THE ROLLINS CONTEST- DR. WARD RETURNS SURVEY GIVES THREE LECTURES

DR. EDWARD T. DEVINE BRINGS THREE OF THE MOST STIRRING LECTURES OF THE YEAR BE-FORE THE STUDENTS AND TOWNSPEOPLE.

the Speaker Is a Man of Great National Importance and an Authority in Political Economy and Sectology

It was a great pleasure to hear Dr. Edward T. Devine, formerly editor of the Survey, in his series of three luxures before Rollins students and people of the town. His lecture Sunday on "Labor and the Pablic Interest" closed the implring suries of addresses given at the Sunday Porum. In order that the student body ts a whole might have the opportunits of hearing Dr. Devine, Assembly Hours were arranged for Monday and Tuesday and the lectures on "Poreign Obligations" and "Ameristead of in the evening as first arranged.

Dr. Devine is still active in his connections with the Survey, but necosize the less strengous position of an Associate Editor. He is an author of note and a well-known authority on Political Economy and Sociatogy. "Labor and the Public Interest"

In his lecture at the Forum on Labor and the Public Interest" Dr. Devine brought out the point that last day was the Young Artist Consome of the complications which must be settled before the problem solved are those of Child Labor, must thought to the matter of keephr Labor interested, and brought an average of 95. attention to the fart that the public a the supreme judge, hence the indithinal responsibility in the question. "Poreign Obligations"

In speaking on this topic the lectarer said that to us some persons Bought they are like snakes in MAJ. GEN. WOOD TO BECOME beland-none. However, in contrafirtion to this fallacy, he pointed out that there has been foreign ohliga-Hene from our earliest history, as

WHAT IS A CONVERSATIONALISTS.

One of the things a college education can give us, and which the outwhile world expects it to give us. It the shilling to converse. But for some reason or other very few students heavy college accomplished mayeriathoughte. At first thought title statement may seem an exaggeration to anyone who has come in contact with a group of students on the campus or at the elevel sernor. But we must differentiate, as Rabbi Sternheim told us, between chatter, goods, more or less haphazard and slangs ejamilations (which make up a good puri of the lafk of some of usf), and conwww.antim

The Good Book tells us that "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh," while Ben Jonson refers scuthingly to "those that merely talk and never think," and Young gives the converse in the line "and men talk only to conceal the mind." Certainly the first quotation holds out to us the most helpful suggestion—"out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." If we fill our hearts and minds with an abundance of good things there will be no difficulty with our conversation. Our four years in college give us plenty of time and opportunity to store up information on a variety of subjects, and the very effort to take in and file away all this material for future use is a sort of mental gymmatica which keeps the mind flexible and open. And for further exercise we might try a five-minute talk before Delphie or take part in one of the debates? MRS. W. L. CORBIN, LIBRARIAN.

Petruity 25, 1921. Mr. Warren M. Ingram, Lditor, The Builing Sandquer, Winter Park, I locida

Dear Warrent

I have been intending to write you and The fundapura better for a long time, but in the rush of everyday life have put it off and put it off until I am afraid that if I don't write and send it in new it will never rough As an old student, I want to keep in touch, so far as possible, with the good old sullege, and the many stanuck friends of former days, and your westly messenge. The Bandapur, is the best medium one could went for that purpose.

In the first place, I will tell ron where I am and what I am doing. After leaving the Army in 1919, came out here to Roswell, New Mex-Inc. and have, during most of the ensuing period, been working in the First National Bank here as individand bookheeper. Owing to the tight money conditions prevailing every where just now, the difficulty of dispostus of wool, for tustance, and the general inactivity in business, our work is rather light at present, but we predict be ter times before long. The people here depend largely upon cattle and theep raising for their Evelibood, and a severe drouth, among other things, can throw the whole country into hard times. Fruit arrowing is also one of the principal occupations, but owing to elimatic subditions only about one year in fine produces a good crip; then, inewed, this little valley seems the garden spot of the world.

Roswell is situated in Southeastern New Mexico, on a branch of the C.n:n Fe Hallroad, and near the Pecce River. This territory is called the Pecus Valley, and is really the most fertile and attractive part of cak trees everywhere. This latter home state, but for the absence of world. the well-known Spanish moen.

and further west, mountainous, with ninoties, and I are planning to estaban abundance of rocks to relieve the monotony. The White Mountains, a continuation of the Rockies in lower Colorado, rise about 80 or 90 miles west of here, and in clear weather he far as we can find out, there are we can see "Old Baldy," said to be the tallest peak in New Mexico, and "Capitan," another towering landmark. The towns are widely separated, in many cares, in fact, in all uses, and one must make what we ould call quite a journey in Florida, a visit a nearby town out here.

The desert itself is treefess and desolate in appearance, and in my spinion the sheep and cattle deserve credit for their ability to live on the rruss which it affords. The water unply is the great question out here. and near the river is obtained from promise wells, but outside of the ir eclan belt must be pumped or fall com the clouds. All ranches and arms beyond reach of the city water upply have their own windmills and urfree reservoirs.

This country seems strange to an "auternor, at first, and it takes some me to become accustomed to the erys of the West, and its people. Bowever, the well-advertised hospiallty of this section is all that it wa'd he, and in a short time newcompre are made to feel at home in helr new curroundings. I would cally ha c to leave it w, ofter a year ad a half in this splendid climate, and was up your highly the privilege of Daine have and learning to know what the West I Hip. Tals parties ar gity to gather difficult of necess. seing on a brauch of the railroad and w for I sim any other place of mr. tro, and this in my mind constitute a only real drawback, but for this my assent social activities are no percus and the people endeavor to rather together and become just as well negan med as possible, for they must depend upon themselves Inhoir amusemmia.

"American Idents"

The last lecture, the one on " riman Idealo," was an Olumbenting diseassies of the origin and history of these ideals; what they have been and are now. His point was or summer of, he send: "All sixth- that our ideals are "changing things" nd did not end with George Washfurten, Madison, or Lizzoln. speaker said: "American Ideals are m. Frunce and America in the not of today, or of yesterday, but are rty days of our nations and ad- drawn from Habylen, ancient Greeon, ed the sindents to rend Milmond Stome and Judes." He thusked the eruphomaniacle Baleylonians who tell us the first writing duties of oped the imperiance of "living in chil relations. In speaking of small edge," of studying the historyhe stated three in particular-thous of Public Health, Education and Americantanton of unnacurations diams. In presenting the necessity of these ideals he brought to light some Comminating facts gathered during the war: (1) that from 25 net cent to 32 1-2 per cent of the men were disqualified for callitary service. because of physical defects. (2) that about 25 per cent of the men were illiterate, and (3) that 10 per cent of be young men of pullitary are were unnoturalized aliens. The army lest for illiteracy was ability to read a sewspaper and write to one's friends. in order to properly carry out these ideals the speaker brought out the necessity of having a federal deportment of Public Health, with state branches, and the same for Education, and Public Works.
