POETRY.

Bend Beneath the Blast.

BY FINLEY JOHNSON.

When sorrow's tempests round us roar,
And overwhelms the soul;
O, trust thou not in worldly pride,
Or seek the tempting bowl;
But with a firm and trusting heart,
Bend low beneath the blast;
And He above who chasteneth thee
Will raise thee when 'tis past.

The lofty oak, the mountain pine,
So stately in their pride;
Must bend or break before the storms
That on the night winds ride;
While the meek willow lowly stoops
Before the raging blast,
And lifts its head in beauty decked,
When Storms and clouds are past.

See thou, O man, must lowly bend,
When sorrows round the press;
They may be angels in disguise
To lead to happiness;
O, trust to Him who rules above,
And bend beneath the blast,
And He will rise thy drooping soul
When storms of life are past.

A Story to Dream of.

There shall the yew her sable branches spread,
And mournful cypress rear her fringed head;
From thence shall thyme and myrtle send perfume,
And laurel evergreen o'er shade the tomb. —GAY.

This picture of the last couch is calm and beautiful. Friends love to linger nigh such a spot, where every blossom is an emblem of hope, where every passing breeze chants a lay of future reunion, and where even the faded and fallen foliage prefigures the coming of a joyful resurrection. Subterranean burial vaults are always associated in my mind with a tragedy which occurred many years ago, in a celebrated city of the Old World. If my readers are disposed for something really remarkable, let them favor me with their attention for a few moments.

Three gay young officers, attached to a regiment quartered in the city of —, having indulged very freely in wine during mess one evening, and prolonged their revels to a late hour, arose from the dinner table, intending, in order to dissipate the fumes of the liquor, to take a ramble in the open air. Not having any definite destination in view, they soon, either through design or accident, separated, and sauntered off, as the sequel proved, in different directions. The one of them who is the special subject of our narrative, after, as it was conjectured, wandering about some time at random, without meeting with any object of sufficient interest to arrest his attention, at length encountered and followed a torch-light funeral cortege on its way to the gloomy sepulchre that bases a venerable cathedral in a distant part of the city. This sacred edifice is so very antique that in its crypt lie the ashes of the renowned Earl Strongbow, the chivalrous lieutenant of Henry the Second, and who died early in the twelfth century. In the aisle above stands the sarcophagus of the doughty warrior, on which he is represented in a recumbent position, and minus one pedal appendage, he having died of a mortification of the foot. In company with him his young son; and at various distances from him repose a goodly assemblage of famous cotemporaries, none of them striving now for pre-eminence.

Although the solemnities of torch-light obsequies were undoubtedly very awful and imposing, no one can regret that they have been superseded by a more cheerful order of things; death is in itself sufficiently mournful without the addition of artificial gloom. The heavily plumed hearse, the somber mutes, the measured tramp of black-draped horses, the wail of trumpets and roll of muffled drums, and the glare of streaming flambeaux, forms a tableau that appeals powerfully to that spirit of romance which is indigenous in every bosom. Human nature dotes on a delightful horror—it loves to have its very marrow chilled by a loathsome agony. But it is needless to depict scenes with which every lover of mediæval lore is familiar.

The portal of the vault was unsealed, and accompanied by the mournful numbers of the Dead March in Saul, the procession descended the long flight of steps which led into the region of chill airs and ghastly memorials; when, the customary rites performed, and the richly bedight coffin placed in its appointed niche, the attendants once more emerged into the breathing world. The heavy gates shut to with a clang which must have startled ordinary sleepers, and all within was again abandoned to the dominion of silence, darkness and corruption.

The absence, without leave, of the three companions, was soon remarked, and instant inquiry made for them. But not long did the fate of two of them remain a matter of doubt; within a day or two the body of one was found floating in the river; and the second, on endeavoring to regain his quarters, was bitten by a mad dog, and immediately seized with raging hydrophobia, which deprived him of reason, until within about half an hour of his departure, when he recovered consciousness, and strove to repeat the Lord's prayer and the Creed.

Days, weeks and months rolled away, and although his friends, in dreadful anxiety, prosecuted an unwearied search, and offered large rewards for his restoration, either dead or alive, still the fate of the third continued to be shrouded in mystery. All inquiry was in vain; no tidings could be obtained of him beyond a floating rumor that an officer, whose scarlet regimentals the torch-light glare had rendered conspicuous, had been seen for a time to mingle among the train that attended some patrician funeral. His disappearance had ceased to be a topic of public marvel, and his memory had been forgotten save by the cherished few with whose hearts it was enshrined, when, once more, those awful precincts were ordered to be prepared for the reception of a fresh inmate. Accordingly, for the purpose of dispelling the unwholesome vapors and arranging preliminaries, the sexton flung open the iron gates, when, to his surprise, he discovered, stretched across the foot of the stairs, a human skeleton, with shreds of clothing still clinging to the bones, among which were distinguishable some bits of scarlet cloth and gold lace. An unsheathed sword, corroded with blood-rust, was firmly grasped in the hand of the figure, while a multitude of skeletons of rats strewed around, attested how desperately the poor fellow had battled for his life.

The mystery of his disappearance was at once solved. He had descended with the funeral into that dismal abode, where, overcome with the combined effects of the wine fumes and the noxious vapors of the vault, he had, unperceived by any person, fallen asleep on some old coffin or pile of mouldering bones, and wakened not until attacked by the fierce water-rats that infest those catacombs, which rumor avers not only to be a mile more in extent, but also to tunnel a deep river and connect with the souterrains of another old monastic structure far beyond. How long the despairing combat lasted—how long the unfortunate youth retained the power to wield his weapon—how gradual was the extinction of life—and how bitter were the emotions of his soul amid the blackness, unvisited by even the faintest glimmer of day—are themes for shuddering conjecture.

PICTURE OF THE UNTIDY WOMAN.—An untidy woman. Little soap and much perfume. Plenty of jewelry, and a lack of strings and buttons. Silk and laces, and tattered underclothes. Diamond rings and soiled collar. Feathers and flowers and battered cap-fir. Silk stockings and shabby boots. Who has not seen her? If you are a person of courage, enter her dressing-room. Make your way over the carpet through mismatched slippers, tippets, belt-ribbons, hair-pins, pictorials, magazines, fashion prints and unpaid bills, and look vainly round for a chair that is sufficiently free from dust to sit down upon. Look at the dingy muslin window curtains, the questionable bed-quilt and pillow cases, the unfreshness of everything your eye falls upon. Open the closet door and see the piles of dresses, all waiting "the stitch-in-time," heaped pell-mell upon their pegs; see the band boxes without covers, and all the horrible paraphernalia of a lazy, inefficient, vacant, idealless, female monstrosity, who will of course be chosen out or a bevy of good, practical, common-sense girls, by some man who prides himself on his "knowledge of women as his helpmeet for life!"

COMFORT TO UGLY MEN.—It is curious to observe that an ugly face is generally the indication of a humorous and witty mind; it suggests innumerable exhilarating witticisms in the wearer himself, and is the cause of wit to others. There is scarcely a merry, shrewd, witty fellow, in fictitious history, but has the honor of ugliness attributed to him. Æsop was a very ugly little hunchback; uglier still was Socrates, no less a man of wit and a man of humor than a philosopher. The heroes of Rabelais were famous for personal deformity. Sancho Panza, his master, and Rosinante, were, in their several conditions, absolutely patrons of this interesting qualification. Hudibras and Ralpho were still more conspicuously ugly. Scarron, the favorite wit of France, was the most deformed little creature a lovely woman ever allowed herself to be coupled to.

SOME bachelors go to war because they like fighting; and some married men go because they like peace.

One pint of salt dissolved in warm water will cure a horse of cholera.

Fifteen Follies.

1. To think that the more a man eats, the fatter and stronger he will become.
2. To believe that the more hours children study at school, the faster they learn.
3. To conclude that if exercise is good for the health, the more violent and exhausting it is, the more good is done.
4. To imagine that every hour taken from sleep is an hour gained.
5. To act on the presumption that the smallest room in the house is large enough to sleep in.
6. To argue that whatever remedy causes one to feel immediately better, is "good for" the system, without regard to more ulterior effects. The "soothing syrup," for example, does stop the cough of children, and does arrest diarrhoea, only to cause, a little later, alarming convulsions, or the more fatal inflammation of the brain, or water on the brain; at least it always protracts the disease.
7. To commit an act which is felt in itself to be prejudicial, hoping that somehow or other it may be done in your case with impunity.
8. To advise another to take a remedy which you have not tried yourself, or without making special inquiry whether all the conditions are alike.
9. To eat without an appetite, or continue to eat, after it has been satiated, merely to gratify the taste.
10. To eat a hearty supper for the pleasure experienced during the brief time it is passing down the throat, at the expense of a whole night of disturbed sleep, and a weary waking in the morning.
11. To remove a portion of the clothing immediately after exercise, when the most stupid drayman in New York knows that if he does not put a cover on his horse the moment he ceases work, in winter, he will lose him in a few days, by pneumonia.
12. To contend that, because the dirtiest children in the street, or in the highway, are hearty and healthy, that, therefore, it is healthy to be dirty, forgetting that continuous daily exposure to the pure out-door air, in joyous, unrestrained activities, is such a powerful agency for health, that those who live thus are well, in spite of rags and filth.
13. To presume to repeat, later in life, without injury, the indiscretions, exposures, and intemperance which, in the flush of youth, were practiced with impunity.
14. To believe that warm air is necessarily impure, or that pure cool air is necessarily more healthy than the confined air of a close and crowded vehicle. The latter at most can only cause fainting or nausea; while entering a conveyance after walking briskly, lowering a window, thus while still exposed to a draft, will give a cold infallibly, or an attack of pleurisy or pneumonia, which will cause weeks and months of suffering, if not actual death within four days.
15. To "remember the Sabbath day," by working harder and later on Saturday than on any other day in the week, with a view to sleeping late next morning, and staying at home all day to rest; conscience quieted by the plea of "feeling very well."—Hall's Jour. of Health.

THE TRUE MOTHER.—By the quiet fireside of home, the true mother, in the midst of her children, is sowing as in vases of earth the seeds of plants, that shall some time give to Heaven the fragrance of their blossoms, and whose fruit shall be as a rosary of angelic deeds, the noblest offering that she can make through the ever ascending and expanding souls of the children to her Maker. Every word that she utters, goes from heart to heart, with a power of which she little dreams. Philosophers tell us in their speculations, that we cannot lift a finger without moving the distant spheres. Solenn is the thought, but not more solemn to the Christian mother than the thought that every word that falls from her lips—every expression of her countenance, even in the sheltered walk and retirement of home, may leave an indelible impression on the young souls around her form as it were underlying strata of that education which people Heaven.

ECLIPSES FOR 1862.—There will be five eclipses this year, as follows:
1. A total eclipse of the moon just before and after midnight, of June 12th. Total duration, three hours and seventeen minutes.
2. A partial eclipse of the sun, June 27th, in the morning. Invisible in America, but visible in the Indian Ocean.
3. A partial eclipse of the sun, Nov. 21st. Invisible in America, but seen in the great Southern Ocean.
4. Partial eclipse of the sun, Dec. 20th. Visible only in Asia.
5. A total eclipse of the moon, early in the morning of Dec. 6th; visible here.

He who puts a bad construction upon a good act reveals his own wickedness at heart.

Praying for a Dying Enemy.

A most touching scene took place at the affair of Major Hood's, already alluded to. Among those mortally wounded was a Northern man; he was shot through both hips, and had fallen on the road, where he was discovered by a Louisianian. He was suffering the most intense pain, his face and body distorted by his agonizing sufferings. He begged for water, which was promptly given him. His head and shoulders were raised to make him comfortable, and his face and forehead bathed in water. He asked the Louisianian to pray for him, who was forced to acknowledge his inability to pray. At the moment one of the Meeklenburg troop came up, and the poor fellow urged his request with great earnestness. The Virginian knelt beside him, and asked him if he was a Christian, and believed in the promises of Christ to save repentant sinners. He answered, yes. The trooper then commenced a prayer, fervent, pathetic and eloquent. The soldier's face lost all traces of his recent suffering, and became placid and benignant; in his new-born love for his enemy, he attempted to encircle his neck with his arms, but only reached the shoulder when his hand rested, and with his gaze riveted on the face of the praying trooper, he appeared to drink in the words of hope and consolation, the promise of Christ's salvation, which flowed from his lips; as the parched earth drinketh up the rain; and as the solemn amen fell from the lips of the Christian soldier, the wounded man's hand relaxed its hold and fell to the ground, and his spirit took its flight to unknown realms. The scene was solemn and impressive, and the group was all in tears. Having no implements to dig his grave, and expecting the return of the enemy in large force, they left him—not, however, without arranging his dress, straightening his limbs and crossing his hands on his chest, thus leaving evidences to the dead man's companions that his last moments had been ministered to by humane men.—N. O. Crescent.

A FRENCH STORY.—In 1769, a gentleman was passing late at night over Point Neuf (Paris) with a lantern. A man came up to him and said, "Read this paper." He held his lantern, and read as follows:

"Speak not a word when you've this read,
Or in an instant you'll be dead!
Give us your money, watch and rings,
With other valuable things—
Then quick in silence you depart,
Or I, with knife, will cleave your heart!"
Not being a man of much pluck, the gentleman gave up his watch and money, and ran off. He soon gave the alarm, and the highwayman was arrested:
"What have you to say for yourself?" inquired the magistrate before whom the robber was arrested.
"That I am not guilty of robbery, though I took the watch and money."
"Why, not guilty?" asked the magistrate. "Simply because I can neither read nor write. I picked up the note just at the moment I met this gentleman with a lantern. Thinking it might be something valuable, I politely asked him to read it for me. He complied with my request and presently handed me his watch and purse; and ran off. I supposed the paper to be of great value to him and that he thus liberally rewarded me for finding it. He gave me no time to return thanks, which act of politeness I was ready to perform."

The gentleman accepted the plea of the robber and withdrew his complaint.

AFFABILITY.—Be good natured, if you can, for there is no charm so great, no attraction so admirable. A face that is always full of the expression of amiability is always beautiful. It needs no paint and no powder. Cosmetics are superfluous for it. Rouge can't improve its cheeks nor lily-white mend its complexion. Its loveliness lies beyond all this. It is not the beauty that is but skin deep. For when you gaze into the face of a noble hearted man or woman, it is not the shape of the features that you really see, nor yet the tint of the cheek, the hue of the lip, the brilliancy of the eyes; you see the nameless something which animates all these, and leaves for your instinct a sense of grateful fascination; you see an indescribable embodiment of heartfelt goodness within, which wins your regard in spite of external appearance, and defies all the critical rules of the aesthetic.

SURE REMEDY.—Dr. March says the best cure for hysteria is to discharge the servant girl. In his opinion there is nothing like "flying round," to keep the nervous systems from becoming unstrung. Some women think they want a physician, or say, when they only need a scrubbing-brush.

At an agricultural dinner the following toast was given: "The game of fortune—shuffle the cards as you will, spades will always win."

Justices Blanks.

Blank Affidavits, Undertakings, Writ of Attachment and Subpoenas, under the new LAW, for Sale at this Office.

Declaration of Homestead.

Persons wishing to procure a correct legal form for making out a Declaration of Homestead, as required by the Act of the last Legislature, with the acknowledgement attached thereto, will find printed blanks, on application to the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS Office. By filling out these blanks themselves, parties will be subject to no other expense than the fees for acknowledgement and record.

NO OVERLAND NEWS.—Owing to some disarrangement in the overland Telegraph Line, we are unable to give our readers any Telegraph News this week.

INSANE.—An insane man named John Wilber, was examined at Woodland on Thursday last, and pronounced a fit Subject for Stockton. Sheriff Gray proceeded with him to that institution, yesterday.

GRAFTON SCHOOL.—School will commence on Monday next, at the School House—F. Dinwiddie teacher—for a term of three months. Tuition, $5 a scholar for the term.

TEMPERANCE HOTEL.—Geo. W. Doty having leased the well known Yolo House, formerly kept by Mrs. A. M. Updegraff, is now prepared to accommodate the traveling public. See card in our column.

We invite particular attention to the advertisement, in another column, of Lockwood & Hendrie, Clothing and Gentlemen's Furnishing store, Corner 4th and J Street, Sacramento, and 624 Clay Str., San Francisco.

HIGH WIND.—On Tuesday last a sudden and severe gust of wind passed through here, resembling a tornadoe, it was accompanied by a light shower, and succeeded by a calm. It blew down considerable of the tall grain; and the Knight's Landing Church was blown off its timber, on which it stood four feet high. The damage can be repaired.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—An examination of the pupils of Cottonwood School, District No. 4, took place on the 17th inst., M. A. Woods, teacher. Quite an interest was manifested by the patrons of the school, and the proficiency of the children was highly commended. After the examination closed, meritorious gifts were distributed among the pupils, and a table of refreshment—prepared for the occasion—received ample attention.

PERSONAL.—We were favored Wednesday last, by a visit from Jas. R. Ridge, Esq., who was on his way to Red Bluff, to take charge of the editorial department of the Red Bluff Beacon, in place of Charles Fisher, who, on account of a recent affliction in the death of his wife, leaves with his family for the East. Mr. Ridge is an able and talented writer, and an accomplished gentleman, and we wish him success in his new field of labor. We have no doubt the Beacon will be of renewed interest, under his able editorial management.

HAYING.—Haying has commenced in earnest in this section, and the crop will be a heavy one. The exodus to Salmon river has made labor scarce and dear; the consequence is, farmers are resorting to machinery to cut their hay. The quantities of clover intermixed with this crop this year, is greater than usual, and but few of the machines can cut it, only those of the quickest motion succeeding at all, others choking up and proving useless. The Ruggs & Ketchum patent, which have heretofore been considered good and generally used, have this year had to be, after trial, discarded.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—The Board of Supervisors met at Woodland, May 26th, 1862, pursuant to adjournment.

Present: Giles E. Sill and A. W. Morris, Supervisors; and E. Giddings, Clerk.

In the matter of Bridge across Cache Creek, the Board not being fully advised, postponed the consideration of the matter till the 2d Monday of June, 1862. After examining and allowing accounts, the Board adjourned till the 2d Monday of June next.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Last evening F. B. Haswell delivered a Temperance lecture at the School House. A large number was present of the Fidelity Lodge No. 26, from Nicholas, and the Cold Water Lodge No. 50, of this place.

Where Shall the Bridge be Built?

Is a question just now easily asked, but we confess, not so easily answered. Were the general good of the county, and the greatest benefit to the greatest number, to decide the question, it could be easily answered; but such is not the wish of some interested parties—the general good must, in their estimation, give way to their special and pecuniary good. We propose in these remarks, to show a few of the causes why the general good should, in this case, override all other considerations, and also show that a bridge across Cache Creek, to accomplish this end, should be placed on, as nearly as possible, a direct line from Knight's Landing to Woodland. It is conceded by all that a good and straight thoroughfare is needed from the center of the county to the river, or to navigation. We take the argument of Woodland and Cacheville both, to show that Woodland is as near as can be the center of the county—such was the representations made when the county seat was being removed there, and we have not heard it successfully contradicted—it is also admitted that Knight's Landing is the only point accessible at all times of the year, from the surrounding country; this was fully demonstrated last winter. Then, if Woodland is the center and Knight's Landing the nearest and best point on the River, why should not we have the bridge constructed as near on a line between these points as practicable, especially when it can be done with no extra expense or outlay. Again, the large population of Grafton Township have, during the summer, to make frequent visits on business to Sacramento, and the nearest and best way to travel, is to go by Woodland, providing we can have this bridge located sufficiently low down on the creek not to make us travel at least ten miles out of our way, as the case would be were the bridge located at Cacheville.

It was fully demonstrated last fall, that Knight's Landing was a point at which grain of all kinds could be sold for cash, at fully Sacramento prices; and no quantities, however large, could overstock the market at these rates. The low freights on the river (they being only $1 50 per ton from the Landing to Sacramento) being so trifling, that Sacramento buyers of grain, invariably give as much, and pay their own freight, as they would were it delivered to them out of wagons in Sacramento. The reason for this is, that millers dislike to mix up a lot of samples of wheat, they prefer to buy a man's crop of ten, twenty or fifty tons, and set the machinery of the mill to clean out that particular lot, rather than mix a number of wagon loads, all of different kinds, all probably needing a different mode of cleaning. Then, if as we have shown, grain can be sold here at Sacramento prices, why compel the farmers of the county to haul their crops to Sacramento, or some other market, when, by building this bridge in the right place, and as a consequence, have a near and straight road from the county center to a good market, all this time and expense to our farmers could be avoided. Again, Woodland is our county seat, and if it is to remain so, and we are to lay out large sums for county buildings, it is evidently the interest of every tax payer to build up a town there, and have good roads leading from all parts of the county to that point—the center. If we get the bridge on this straight line, as here proposed, the consequence will be, all the travel from Napa, Suisun, Vacaville, Petaluma, and all the lower valleys, will pass through Woodland—that being fully as near—and if we get this bridge, a much better road than any other now traveled, to any of the points of crossing on the Sacramento or Feather Rivers. There are several other good and weighty reasons why the bridge should be constructed at the point above proposed, but it would make this article too long to enumerate them here; and as the Board of Supervisors have postponed the consideration of the subject until Monday the 2nd of June, we shall in our next weeks issue again call attention to the subject.

GEN. SCOTT AT HOME.—Gen. Scott has reached his old residence in Elizabeth, N. J., where it is stated he intends to remain for the future. The old hero was met at Elizabethport by a large delegation of his friends and neighbors, who received him with the most touching demonstrations of delight, and escorted him to his residence with all the respect due to his exalted character and services.

Pic Nic of the Knight's Landing School.

On Saturday last, the children of the Knight's Landing Grammar School, with their patrons and friends, had an interesting and pleasant Pic Nic in a grove about half a mile below town. A stand was prepared under the ample shade, where speaking and recitations by the children took place; a table bountifully supplied with delicacies was prepared, where the youth and adult alike, had enough and to spare. The Knight's Landing Ban was in attendance, discoursing lively music, and although the Pic Nic was a pleasant affair. The children showed quite a proficiency in their exercises, and the result reflected great credit on their teacher, Miss Masters, under whose control the examination and festival took place.

OBITUARY.—Dr. W. Hornback died on board the Steamer New World, on her upward trip, on Friday the 23d inst. He went to bed in his stateroom, and was found dead in the morning. He had been suffering for some time from a disease of the lungs. Dr. Hornback emigrated to this State last fall from the town of Hannibal, county of Marion, Missouri, and settled at Knight's Landing, where he practiced his profession as a physician last winter. He had an attack of the measles, which settled on his lungs; he took a visit below for the benefit of his health, and was returning, when he received the summons which he had for some time anticipated. He was an esteemed citizen, and universally respected by all who knew him. He was about thirty years of age, and leaves relations in Missouri.

SENATOR STARK.—The St. Louis correspondent of the Union, says:

There is reason to fear that the new Senator from Oregon is a traitor after all. The Select Committee, appointed at the instance of Senator Stark to investigate charges against his loyalty, consisting of Senators Clarke, Sherman, Willey, Howard and Wright, made their report last Tuesday. It is very voluminous, embracing proceedings of the Committee, and setting forth the reasons which led them to the following conclusions:

First—that for many months prior to the 21st of November, 1861, and up to that time, the said Stark was an ardent advocate of the cause of the rebellious States.

Second.—That after the formation of the Constitution of the Confederate States he openly declared his admiration of it, and advocated the absorption of the loyal States of the Union into the Southern Confederacy, under that Constitution, as the only means of peace, warmly avowing his sympathies with the South.

Third.—That the Senator from Oregon is disloyal to the Government of the United States.

All the members assent to the first and second findings, and all but Senator Willey to the third also.

Fossil Remains.—The Amador Ledger, referring to some recent discoveries in its county, says;

On the 10th of May, Dane & Co., while mining in Grass Valley, near Volcano, came across the remains of a monster animal buried twenty feet below the surface on the granite bed rock. A portion of them were in a tolerable state of preservation. The forehead of the animal measured twenty-eight inches between the eyes. A double tooth, in a perfect state of preservation, is seven and a half inches long, and three and a half wide. One horn measures five feet and nine inches in length; is nine inches in diameter where it connects with the skull, and is hollow for four feet. The horn resembles those of an ox. These remains are on exhibition at the jewelry establishment of Reichling, in Volcano, and have been visited by a large number of persons.

THE Statesman, at Walla Walla, speaking of the unusual backwardness of the crops this season, says the late rains have had a tendency to increase the prospect, and we are informed by farmers that the grain generally looks well, particularly the barley and oats. Much of the corn is still "out of the ground," and late as it is, a good deal will be planted yet.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union of May 26th:

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The reports in regard to another call for volunteers are conflicting. The following are the facts: The calls issued are directed to the different State Governors for volunteers to fill up their respective regiments that have fallen below the lawful quota through the usual casualties of war. Some additional entire regiments have also been requested, which, when raised, will form a necessary reserve corps. The latter may consist of fifty regiments.

NEW YORK May 24.—A gentleman just arrived from North Carolina gives the following very interesting items of news: General Burnside has seized all the Commissioners of the town of Edenton, and taken them to his headquarters at Newbern, where they are held as hostages for the safe return of the Union pilot who was seized by the rebels while on a visit to his wife. It is reported that the rebels are determined to hang him. Gen. Burnside, intends that all the Commissioners shall swing in case the rebels execute their threats.

NASHVILLE, May 23.—An election was held in this State yesterday for judicial officers. The vote in this city stood: Circuit Judge, Brien, Union, 570 votes; Secessionist, 706. The Secessionists generally vote, while Union men regard the election as invalid. Governor Johnson will give no commissions to Secessionists who may be elected.

The President and Cashier of the Bank of Union were arrested yesterday by order of Governor Johnson, upon the charge of treason.

The following is from the American's Fortress Monroe correspondent: But little change is noted in affairs at Norfolk. The Mayor and members of Council still refuse to take the oath of allegiance, and all intercourse with the people of Norfolk and Portsmouth is therefore stopped.

Gen. Wool sent a proclamation to the people of Norfolk this morning, notifying them that the matter was entirely in their hands. As soon as they would acknowledge the supremacy of the Government they should enjoy its fostering care; but while they remain in their present rebellious mood they will be cut off from all the advantages of trade and commerce, and will be governed by strict martial law. Most of the stores are now open, and the sale of such goods as they have is progressing as far as can be ascertained. No one is now willing to receive Confederate money at par. Business is mostly done with small notes. Virginia bank and Government notes are received with avidity. Union men are still afraid to express their sentiments in view of the rebellious spirit around.

An enthusiastic Union meeting was held at Portsmouth on Thursday night. Not less than 800 were present. The course of the Government in refusing to allow provisions to come there for loyal people was severely criticized. The propriety of such a course is by no means approved. The scarcity of provisions and the necessities of life is so great, that the poorest classes live almost entirely on fish and oysters! The Secessionists are nearly all wealthy people, who have laid in a stock of provisions long since.

It was reported at Norfolk yesterday that Burnside had taken Weldon.

AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL COLLEGE.—A bill has been reported in Senate donating to each State that will accept the proffer under the conditions attached, 30,000 acres of the public domain for each Senator or Representative she may be entitled to in Congress. The fund thus raised is for the establishment and support of a college for mechanics and agriculturalists. We need such a college in California. This State will be entitled to 150,000 acres, which ought to be worth $1 25 per acre, or a total of $187,500. Of course California will accept, and be pleased with the chance.—Bee.

State of California, County of Yolo, ss.—Maria E. Chase vs. William H. Chase. Suit brought in the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District of said State. Complaint filed therein March 12th, A. D. 1862. The People of the State of California to William H. Chase, greeting: You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint of Maria E. Chase in said Court, filed against you, in said Court, within ten days from the service of this writ, exclusive of the day of service, if served on you in this county, but if served on you without said county, then in forty days from such service, exclusive of the day of service, in an action commenced on the 12th day of March, 1862, in said Court, for a divorce from the bonds of matrimony now existing between you, upon the following grounds, to wit: She charges you with the crime of adultery committed by you with a lady named Stewart, in San Francisco, in December, 1861, and on divers days thereafter, and for costs. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to answer the complaint as directed, plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

In testimony whereof, I, E. Giddings, Clerk of the Eleventh Judicial District Court aforesaid, do hereunto set my hand and impress the seal of said Court, at office in Washington, this 25th day of March, A. D. 1862.

BUCKEYE MOWER.

Farmers Buy the Best Machine!!!
The Buckeye has proved itself to be the best Mower, and

MOWER & REAPER COMBINED,
That has ever yet been brought into use. It has the following advantages over other Machines:

It has two driving wheels which support the whole weight of the frame, gearing, driver and raker.

It has a double hinged finger-bar, belonging exclusively to the Buckeye Mower, which conforms to all varieties of surface, and can be easily raised to pass obstructions.

It has no cog gearing in the driving wheels—it is entirely free from side draft—the draft is lighter than ordinary ploughing.

As a REAPER, it has all the advantages of the Mower. The Reed is attached with a flexible joint, which allows it to follow all the movements of the Platform on uneven ground. The platform is readily adjusted to any required height of cut. The weight of the Raker is directly over the axle of the machine instead of being carried on the Platform, where it adds greatly to the side draft. It has many other Improvements over the old style Mower and Reapers.

THE Knight's Landing News.

THE LAW TO PRESERVE NEWSPAPERS. Among the wise laws of the State the one lately passed for the preservation of newspapers by the counties, is not the least important. It requires County Recorders to subscribe for, file, bind and preserve for public inspection one news paper, and not more than three, published in their respective counties. Allows the Recorder $10 for each volume of newspapers, so preserved, payable out of the General Fund of the county and no additional compensation. Imposes a fine of $50 for any Recorder who fails to comply with these requirements, one half to go into the school fund, the other to the successful prosecutor. Willful abstinence, destruction or mutilation of such newspaper volumes is made a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding $500, or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment.

WELL PUT.—The Oswego Times says that at a recent wedding in that city, the bridegroom being an army officer wore his side arms at the nuptials. A little while awake brother of the bride was attracted by the display of weapons, and as he has another sister whose "true love" is a carpenter, he boldly inquired: "Ma, when J— comes to marry Milly, will he wear his saw and hatchet by his side?"

MARIVAUX, a celebrated French writer of romances, having one day met with a sturdy beggar, who asked charity of him, replied:

"My good friend, strong and stout as you are it is a sham that you do not go to work."

"Ah, master," said the beggar, "if you did but know how lazy I am."

"Well, you are a candid scoundrel; so here is half a crown for you."

AVOID disputes altogether, if possible, especially in mixed companies, and with ladies. You will hardly convince any one, and may disoblige or startle them, and get yourself the character of a conceited pragmatical person. Whereas that of an agreeable companion, which you have without giving yourself any great air of learning or depth, may be more advantageous to you in life, and will make you welcome in all companies.

TO CLEAN SILK.—A quarter of a pound of soft soap, a spoonful of brandy, a pint of gin. Mix all well together. With a sponge or flannel spread the mixture on each side of the silk without creasing it. Wash it in two or three pails of water, and iron on the wrong side when rather wet.

A compliment is usually accompanied with a bow, as if to beg pardon for paying it.

MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS, AND dealers in Pitt's, Ball's, Russell's, and other popular

Thrashing Machines. Also, the following

Reapers and Mowers, Improved for the harvest of 1862:

Burt's Eagle Combined Machine; New York do.; McCormick's do.; Heath's Eagle do.; Kentucky Harvesting Machine; Haines' (Illinois) do.; Ball's Ohio Reaper and Mower; Manny's Improved Machine.

Esterly's Improved Machine; Rugg's Combined machine; Vermont mowing machine; Buckeye do.; Bay State do.; Molly Stark (Ohio) Mower.

And sole agents for the celebrated Nourse, Mason & Co's

Ketchum's Improved Mowers, With or without Reaper attachments—the best mowing machine in use. They will be furnished this season at greatly reduced prices, bringing them within the reach of every farmer. These machines are very much improved, and never fail in the matted or lodged clover—cutting with equal ease the tall or tangled grass without clogging or breaking; and so close that it will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine. They are furnished with Reaper Attachment, at small cost—making them a good and serviceable combined machine; and when all other machines have failed in the tangled grass, the work has been done by the Ketchum machine to the perfect satisfaction of all. The one horse machine cuts four feet; the light two-horse machine cuts four and a half and five feet—two sizes; the heavy two-horse machine cuts five and five and a half feet, two sizes. Any boy capable of driving the team can manage the machine; it is not liable to get out of order.

The New Bay State two-wheeled Mower.—We have purchased the patent right to the New Bay State Mower for the State of California. It is one of the many machines lately invented, and stands far ahead of all others in point of excellence as a two-wheeled mowing machine, having all the new improvements that have been fairly tested. It is very light, strong, durable machine, and cuts full four and a half feet.

The Vermont Mower.—Also, a two-wheeled machine. It is made mostly of iron, simple in construction, and can be managed with ease.

The Buckeye Machine has two driving wheels like the Vermont machine, and is simple in its construction.

The Molly Stark Mower, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a very light mower, of the Buckeye pattern.

Ball's Ohio Harvester, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a two-wheeled Reaper and Mower. Has two cutter bars—one for reaping and one for mowing. We have imported a few for trial this season.

The Kentucky Harvester cuts about five and a half feet. Said to be a very good machine.

McCormick's Reaper and Mower—a very good reaper—intended for four large horses.

Burt's Eagle Reaper and Mower, (Improved for 1862.) Baker & Hamilton, sole agents for this machine in California and Oregon.

We have imported these machines for the past two years, which were furnished to some of our neighboring farmers and thoroughly tested. They gave general satisfaction both in cutting grain and grass. The style is very much the same as the celebrated Esterly's machine, except that they are better made; have a strong iron finger bar; are hand-raking reapers and have no side draft. They have a large four foot driving wheel. The outside grain wheel is thirty inches in diameter. The driver's seat is over two iron truck wheels, each thirty inches in diameter, and the machine may be turned round without crowding the horses, as there is no weight upon their necks. They have two sets of gearing for fast and slow motion; a smooth knife for mowing, and a sickle for reaping; the back of each is made of hammered cast steel. They cut about six and a half feet, and can be worked with two light horses. We have but a few for this season's trade, owing to the fact that the great demand at the factory made it impossible for the manufacturer to fill our orders for a large number in season for shipment to this market.

Rugg's Reaper and Mower, cutting six and nine feet. This machine cuts in advance of the horses, and the cutter can be raised by the driver from one to twenty-four inches. Sold very cheap.

Haine's Illinois Harvester, or Header, cuts ten feet. Improved for the harvest of 1862. We have also imported complete sets of trucks, or running gear for header-wagons, with neck yokes and whiffletrees complete.

P. Manny's Improved Combined Reaper and Mower.—This is a new style of machine, very light, yet strongly built, lately patented by P. Manny, in which there are many valuable improvements. We are willing to guarantee this Combined Reaper and Mower in every instance.

We have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash.

—ALSO— Haying and Harvesting Tools

Of every description necessary to meet the wants of the farmers. These they have in large quantities, and can supply to traders wholesale and retail, at San Francisco prices.

All kinds of Farming Implements, Hardware and Seeds.

We are determined not to be undersold by any other house in the State; and invite customers to call and examine for themselves at our
