VANCOUVER LABOR TEMPLE RAIDED BY POLICE

RAID ON VANCOUVER LABOR TEMPLE TO-DAY; PAPERS WERE SEIZED

Homes of Number of Strike Leaders in Terminal City Also Visited by Mounted Police and Documents Found There Taken Away

Vancouver, June 30.—The Vancouver Labor Temple was searched early this morning by members of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, and a quantity of documents and papers was seized and taken away. At the same time the homes of a number of local strike leaders also were visited and documents were taken. No arrests were made, and, so far as is known, no warrants were in the possession of the police, who had search warrants as their authority.

The offices of the general Strike Committee at the Labor Temple were searched, and it is said that the documents seized included a record of the original strike vote, which has never been published. The offices of the B. C. Federationist were visited, the door being broken down to give admittance. No labor men were present in the Labor Temple when the search was made.

The search was conducted under authority of warrants issued by Major Fitzharrigan, officer commanding the Mounted Police in this district. The officers who visited the various premises searched were in plain clothes, but they wore their official badges in plain view.

The homes of the following were visited: John Kavanaugh and James Smith, chairman and secretary, respectively, of the Strike Committee; Ernest Winch, president of the Trades and Labor Council and secretary of the Loggers' Union; A. S. Wells, editor of "The B. C. Educationist" and a member of the Strike Committee; and V. H. Midgley, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council.

Other labor leaders whose homes were visited by the authorities were: W. A. Prichard, who was arrested in Calgary and is now awaiting hearing in Winnipeg; W. H. Cottrell, president of the Street Railwaymen's Union, and a member of the Strike Committee; A. Hill, D. McDonald and J. Thomas, all members of the Strike Committee.

RIOT IN BREST COST TWO LIVES
Trouble Started When American Officer Tore Down French Flag

Brest, June 30.—Two French civilians were killed and five American soldiers and sailors were injured severely and more than 100 were wounded in riots here last night. Two of the American soldiers are expected to die.

The casualties occurred as a result of an exchange of shots between military and naval police and French sailors.

The trouble began, according to available reports, when an American naval officer, who is said to have been drinking heavily, tore down a French flag and trampled on it. A crowd of Frenchmen attacked the officer, and, it is said, kicked and beat him until he was unconscious.

GERMANS THREATEN POLISH RESIDENTS
Say They Will Abuse Poles in Russia Unless Poland Changes Attitude

London, June 30.—The German armistice Commission has sent a note to General Durruti, chief of the French Army Headquarters Staff at the Ministry of War, calling attention to the fact that the Poles are interned all Germans over seventeen years of age, including women, at camps established for that purpose at Brest-Litovsk, Kovol and Novogorodsk, says a dispatch to the Wireless Press. The Prussian Government declares that in order to protect German citizens against further violence, it will be compelled to take such measures as will hit hard the Polish population of Prussian territory, unless a satisfactory reply is received within three days.

STREET CARS ONCE MORE OPERATING IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, June 30.—After being idle since June 5, the street cars here began running again this morning.

Following the counting of the votes cast by members of the Street Railwaymen's Union Saturday, a meeting of the union on Sunday decided to return to work to-day. This decision came after considerable discussion, a narrow majority favoring a return to work. Out of about 750 votes cast, a majority of forty-five favored a walk-in. The union has 1,200 members in Vancouver.

The Teamsters' and Warehousemen's Union announces that it has elected its own strike committee and will hereafter handle its own strike activities. It is stated that the union decided not to go back to work yet, but no announcement is forthcoming as to the outside civic employees are back at work, and the vexed question of seniority of the men who struck will be discussed by the Civic Federation and the City Council.

The Moulders' Union will meet to-night to take a vote on returning to work. The shipyard workers also will work to-night.

Privates Porrier and Tait were discharged and the other six were committed for trial.

SAY LEAGUE MUST BE MADE STRONG

London Papers Express Gratification at Signing of Treaty With Germany

London, June 30.—Relief gratification and hope for a speedy readjustment of the world are voiced in the editorials published by all the morning newspapers here on the signing of the treaty of peace with Germany.

Several newspapers mingle thanksgiving with warnings that there must be no relaxing of effort to make the League of Nations effective.

The Daily News mentions apprehension regarding Japan and the Far East, and denounces elements "on both sides of the Atlantic" who, the paper asserts, are trying to stir up discord between Britain and the United States.

The Telegraph does not appear to fear in this direction, saying: "We made this peace in co-operation and friendship with the American people such as has never hitherto been approached."

"President Wilson's telegram to the United States," says The Chronicle, struck the right note regarding the treaty.

GERMANS DEPARTED ALMOST UNNOTICED

Delegates Taken by Roundabout Route From Versailles to Their Train

Paris, June 30.—The departure of Dr. Hermann Mueller and Dr. Bell and about fifty other members of the German delegation from Versailles on Saturday night was virtually unnoticed.

To avoid the crowds celebrating the signing of the treaty in the streets of Versailles, the Germans were sent in fifteen automobiles by a roundabout route to Nossy-le-Roi, where they boarded their train at 2 o'clock.

Paris, June 30.—In presenting the text of the peace treaty to the Chamber of Deputies to-day, Premier Clemenceau made a brief speech in which he recalled the French National Assembly which met at Bordeaux in 1871, and added: "We make peace as we made war, without weakness. Internal peace is a necessity for external peace."

Given Tremendous Ovation by Crowds on Return From Paris; Asks People to Give Humble Thanks to God for Triumph of the Right

London, June 30.—Mr. Lloyd George, on his return from Paris last evening, drove with the King to Buckingham Palace, being acclaimed with triumphant cheers by tremendous crowds along the whole route.

After paying his respects to the Queen, the Prime Minister drove in the royal carriage to Downing Street. Similar ovations greeted him all along the way and, in response to the continued cheering, Mr. Lloyd George came to the window of his residence and briefly addressed the assemblage. He spoke of the peace which had come to the world, and, in concluding, said:

"I sincerely trust that the unity of spirit and concert which won the great war will continue until we have established on a firm foundation the new world created by the sacrifice of millions of brave men. Let us thank God for the victory, not in a spirit of boastfulness, which was the downfall of Germany, but in a spirit of reverence worthy of the noble sacrifices that have been made."

Dublin, June 30.—The British flag was burned in Dublin Saturday night. Outside of Trinity College a number of Union Jacks were seized and a torch applied. Cheers were given for de Valera and revolutionary songs were sung. Sinn Fein demonstrations occurred in other parts of the city.

Paris, June 30.—A note has been sent to the Turkish delegation by the Council of Four advising the members to return to Constantinople. The message says there is no reason to believe any agreement can be reached in the near future, because of the great difference in the demands of the Turks and the concessions the Allies are willing to grant.

WAY STILL OPEN FOR CHINA TO SIGN PACT WITH GERMANY

Paris, June 30.—In spite of their refusal to sign the peace treaty with Germany Saturday, the Chinese delegates are not regarded as having withdrawn from the Peace Conference and will continue to take part in the proceedings. The delegation is awaiting instructions from Peking.

If the Chinese Government is disposed to sign, it is said in Conference circles, it is still possible for its delegates to do so.

Trotsky Orders Kronstadt Blown Up; Cossacks Gaining in Don Region

Helsingfors, June 29.—Via London, June 30.—The evacuation of Petrograd by the Bolsheviki is progressing hastily, according to recent decrees of the Bolsheviki Government received here. War Minister Trotsky has ordered that the fortress of Kronstadt be blown up and that the bridges and railway stations in Petrograd be destroyed before the last troops withdraw.

GERMAN WRITERS ARE PESSIMISTIC

Taegliche Rundschau Says Despot Is Needed to Make Germans Work

Berlin, June 30.—Some of the Berlin newspapers announce the signing of the treaty of peace in black borders with captions on their Vescales articles such as "Germany's fate sealed," and "Peace and annihilation."

The Tages Zeitung, in closing an editorial, said: "Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Wilson and their associates have shown dragons' teeth of eternal enmity."

The whole German press writes in a strain of melancholy pessimism. The Taegliche Rundschau says: "What we need is a despot to compel the nation to work. If we are unable to install him, our enemies will send him."

Dr. Dernburg, in The Tagblatt, says: "The cup is drained to the dregs. There is no sense in continuing the controversy. It is better to endeavor quickly to find our feet. The concessions made to us are not without value, and open the way to certain alleviations."

GERMAN COMPANIES ANXIOUS TO EXPLOIT BOLSHEVIK RUSSIA

Basel, June 29.—Via London, June 30.—Negotiations have been opened between Germany and the Bolsheviki with a view to re-establishing economic relations between the Berlin and Moscow Governments, according to an Elberfeld dispatch printed in The Tagblatt of Berlin. BULL FIGHTS IN STATES OF MEXICO

Brownsville, Texas, June 30.—A revival of bull fighting is planned by residents in some of the Mexican states along the border.

Reports say the people of Matamoros, across the Rio Grande from here, are arranging for reconstruction of the famous bull ring there and have applied to the Governor of Tamaulipas for authority to proceed. It is planned to hold the first bull fight in a temporary arena.

Bull fighting in Matamoros was discontinued, six years ago. The arena, one of the finest in the republic, was destroyed by Carranza's adherents when Matamoros was taken by the forces under General Blanco. The federal forces made their last stand in the bull ring.

Bull fights were abolished in the republic by decree of General Carranza as soon as he became President. Later the Governors of the respective states were permitted to allow or prohibit the fights.

Years ago many Americans were attracted to bull fights in the towns across the border and the railroads gave reduced rates.

EX-PRINCE ENTERS JESUIT MONASTERY

Eldest Son of Ex-Prince Louis of Bavaria Takes Step

Munich, June 30.—Ex-Prince George, eldest son of ex-Prince Louis of Bavaria, has entered a Jesuit monastery at Innsbruck, according to newspapers here.

Ex-Prince George of Bavaria was born in Munich on April 2, 1880. He was married to Archduchess Isabel of Austria on February 10, 1912, but the marriage was declared null and void by the supreme court of Bavaria on January 17, 1913. Later the annulment was decreed at Vienna.

A MUMMIFIED HEAD IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, June 30.—A mummified human head, shrunk to the size of the average orange, has just been presented to the Museum of History, Science and Art in Exposition Park, Los Angeles, by Mrs. H. M. Parker, of this city. It is said to be one of seven of the kind in the United States.

The head of a Jibero Indian, of Southern Ecuador, it was obtained from a trader in South America by a brother-in-law of Mrs. Parker. Small as it is, it is covered by a luxuriant growth of long, black hair.

The Jibero Indians are among the fiercest head hunters in the world, according to Mrs. Parker. Instead of scalping their victims, as was the custom of the Indians of North America, they remove all of the bones from the head and embalm the remaining flesh.

GEN. HUGHES RESIGNS.

Winnipeg, June 30.—Major-General John Hughes has tendered his resignation as Inspector-General of Western Forces, it has been announced at local military headquarters. MRS. DAVE MORRIS OF VANCOUVER HAD SUFFERED 15 YEARS

Could Hardly Drag Herself About the House; Tanlac Restores Health

"When I tell you I have been relieved of fifteen years of suffering, you can understand why I praise Tanlac," said Mrs. Dave Morris, of 224 Joyce Road, Calling Wood, East, Vancouver, B. C., while in the Owl Drug Store recently.

"I just can't tell you the amount of suffering I went through on account of stomach trouble," continued Mrs. Morris. "I simply got to where I didn't have any appetite at all, and just the smell of things cooking would nauseate me, and what little I did eat would sour and form gas that would bloat me up terribly, and I would have such awful pains in my stomach I could hardly stand them. Then, too, this gas would get up around my heart, and I would feel like I would choke, and my nerves were in such a bad condition the least little noise would upset me completely. I couldn't sleep good at night, but would just roll and toss, and would get up in the morning feeling like I could hardly drag myself around the house. I was so run-down and had lost so much strength that I couldn't do much housework and nothing I took for my trouble did me a bit of good."

"I started on Tanlac because I had seen how highly it was recommended, and it helped me so much that I am never going to be without it as long as I can get it. Since I have been taking Tanlac I can eat anything I want, and never have any trouble with my stomach afterwards; I am not nervous any more, sleep fine at night and get up in the morning feeling rested and full of energy for the day's work. I have gained in weight, gotten back my strength, and do all my housework with ease now. Tanlac simply rid me of all my troubles, and I am more than pleased to recommend it to anyone."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas-Advt.

MANY HINDUS LEAVE IMPERIAL VALLEY, CAL.

El Centro, Cal., June 30.—Hundreds of Hindus who have been employed picking cotton and at other tasks on Imperial Valley farms have mysteriously disappeared. Several large colonies have been depleted and the few remaining Asiatics are those who hold land leases which do not expire for several months.

Observers of conditions in the valley believe the concerted exodus was the result of orders transmitted by native priests who have labored among the Hindus for several months past. A score of laborers are known to have departed for jobs in the Salt River Valley in Arizona, but the destination of others who left or the reason for the heft is unknown.

Several months ago, local residents say, a native priest appeared in the Hindu colonies here and at Imperial, California. These priests held services for their countrymen, which they told valley people were for the purpose of teaching them Americanism. They soon disappeared, quietly and without any announced destination.

Soon the Hindus in the valley, even those who could read no English, started purchasing copies of a coast daily paper. Often as many as 300 copies of this paper would be sold one day, when the market before never exceeded ten. As suddenly as the buying started, it stopped, and the heft commenced.

That a cryptic message of some sort was conveyed through this daily newspaper, advising the Hindus to leave the valley, or perhaps, calling them to work where they would be paid higher wages, is the only theory advanced for their strange action.

CURRIE SAYS CANADA WILL HAVE AIR FORCE

London, June 30.—At a dinner of Canadian members of the Royal Air Force at Shoreham, there was a report that the British Empire has 219 enemy machines.

Lieut.-General Sir Arthur Currie announced that the air force would be maintained in Canada. He advocated the retention of identity of units that had served in France in the reorganized militia to maintain the traditions built up in the field.

CURED OF DYSPEPSIA BY USING BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

The symptoms of dyspepsia are so numerous and diversified in different individuals that probably no description could exactly represent them as they occur in any given case, but a few of the most prominent are a rising and searing of food, pain, flatulence and distention of the abdomen, a sensation of discomfort after every meal, which is sometimes followed by sickness and vomiting.

To get rid of dyspepsia a careful arrangement of the diet is necessary and due time must be given for the digestion of the meal.

You will find that Burdock Blood Bitters will help with this digestion, in such a way that the dyspepsia soon disappears.

Mr. Robt. Baldwin, Wynifred, Alta., writes: "I cannot say too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters for curing dyspepsia, of which I have been a sufferer for years. I have tried a good many doctors and proprietary medicines, so one day I thought I would try something different. I got a bottle of B.B.B. from our local store, as it was about the only remedy he kept, and I can certainly say that I was more than pleased with the results, as I got better right away. I will always recommend it to other sufferers."

DELEGATES SIGNED FOR THE DOMINION

Sifton and Doherty Signed German Treaty After Imperial Delegates

Ottawa, June 30.—The news that Canada's representatives at Versailles signed the treaty with Germany after the British Ministers had attached their signatures, being the first among the delegations of the Overseas Dominions, is contained in an official message given out to the Canadian Press by the Department of Public Information as follows:

"Canada made a complete step toward nationhood within the Empire when her plenipotentiaries took full rank with those of the world powers in the signing of the treaty of peace at Versailles Saturday. The honor of representing Canada at this historic gathering fell to Hon. A. L. Sifton and Hon. C. J. Doherty, who signed immediately after the British Ministers and were the first of the representatives of the British Dominions to sign.

"They were followed by the representatives of Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India. France followed the Dominions and then came the representatives of Italy and the lesser powers."

Message From King

London June 30.—After news of the signing of peace had been received, the following was issued over King George's signature:

"The signing of the treaty of peace will be received with deep thankfulness throughout the British Empire. This formal act brings to its concluding stages the terrible war which has devastated Europe and distracted the world. It manifests the victory of ideals of freedom and of liberty for which we have made untold sacrifices.

"I share my people's joy and thanksgiving, and earnestly hope and pray that the coming years of peace will bring to them ever-increasing happiness and prosperity.

(Signed) "GEORGE R. I."

The King sent a message of felicitation to President and requested his representatives to convey messages of congratulation to the Governments of Uruguay, Peru, Panama, Bolivia, Ecuador, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Honduras, Cuba, Haiti and Liberia.

Many thousands of persons assembled before Buckingham Palace, King George, Queen Mary and other members of the Royal Family appeared on the balcony. The Guards' Band played the Allied National Anthems and the crowd sang. The vast mass of people was constantly changing, newcomers replacing those who left. Members of the Royal Family after leaving the balcony, re-appeared frequently.

THREE LEADING FIRMS TAKE BOND ISSUE

Provincial Issue Will Be Placed Through Toronto Corporations

Toronto, June 29.—A strong syndicate of Toronto bondhouses has purchased the $3,000,000 issue of bonds advertised last week by the Province of British Columbia. These are Wood-Gundy & Company, the Dominion Securities Corporation and A. M. Ames & Company. The tenders were opened in Toronto on Saturday by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance for British Columbia, and when the offer of the syndicate was found to be the highest, Mr. Hart telegraphed Premier Oliver of British Columbia, and later received confirmation of the sale. The price paid was $3.54.

The bonds bear five per cent. and are for twenty years. They will be payable in New York as well as in Canada and will be offered simultaneously in this country and the United States in the course of a few days.

A number of other tenders were received.

DEMONSTRATIONS AND DISORDERS IN ROME

Throgs Tried to Reach New Premier's Residence, But Were Prevented

Rome, June 30.—Serious disorders marked anti-Government demonstrations in Rome Saturday night. The demonstrators attempted to reach the residence of Premier Nitti, but were driven back by large forces of military police. Order finally was restored after midnight.

Prior to the demonstrations a large-attended mass meeting was held at the Augusteum. Patriotic inflammatory addresses were delivered. Gabriele d'Annunzio was present and made a speech which apparently added to the excitement of the audience, which left the hall and began the demonstrations.

ADMONISHING TELL TERRIBLE STORIES

Tales of Atrocities Done By Turks and Circassians Reach New York

New York, June 30.—Stories told by Christian women and girls of Armenia who were deported from their homes led to virtual captivity or slavery in the camps of the Turks, Circassians and Arabs or held captive in Turkish harems in Asia Minor have been received here by the Armenian Committee for Armenian Relief and Syrian Relief. A statement issued by the Committee says that the women whose narratives and public were released by their masters or rescued by Allied troops.

"After the signing of the armistice," says the Committee's statement, "many of the Turks, believing that by so doing they could escape punishment, turned the women—many of them with babies—into the street. Cablegrams to the Committee have reported that numbers of these women were wandering about the country crazed with starvation and exposure. As fast as possible they are being gathered up by the Committee's relief workers and placed in homes established for their care. A late cablegram said that fifteen such homes had been established in Asia Minor."

Beyond Doubt.

Stories of these Armenian victims of Turkish atrocities were obtained by Dr. Loyal L. Wirt, a member of an expedition sent to Turkey by the Committee. They were taken down as related by Dr. W. A. Kennedy, Field Director of the Loyal Wirt Relief Fund of London. After taking them down, Dr. Kennedy assured Dr. Wirt, he personally re-read the affidavits to the narrators and they signed them in his presence.

Together these tales constitute one of the tragic chapters of the war. They were not isolated cases but in some instances the experiences of as many as 5,000 refugees who have been driven from their home and forced on journeys of hundreds of miles from fertile Armenia into the borders of the Syrian desert on the way hundreds at a time were separated and massacred, often in the most diabolical way.

Disappeared.

Hundreds of girls were torn from the other members of their families and taken to unknown where by Turks, Kurds or Circassians. Scores were compelled to live in captivity naked for months and suffering from sun-burns and beatings. Armenian girls who escaped death were bartered like cattle. After their fathers or relatives had vainly paid ransom for them, some saw their fathers or friends murdered. In the tents of the Arabs in the Syrian desert many were bound and forcibly tattooed on the forehead, lips and chin to mark them as Moslem women.

Generally the stories indicate that the captives were moved sometimes in large groups from Armenia southward toward the desert of Syria. The stories told by at least three Armenian Christian girls deal with the movement of one of these great groups consisting of 2,000 families or 5,000 persons. One story of this awful journey told by the Chechens. One of Takouhi Guezekuchukian, a girl of eighteen who with her father, mother, four sisters and a brother was deported from Hadjin, in Adana province, in May, 1915. They were moved southward to Aleppo and thence further on toward the Syrian desert until the party numbered about 2,000 families. At Sivaria, she said, they were told that on payment of 5,000 Turkish liras they would be allowed to return.

Many Killed.

"The refugees said they could not give this amount," the Armenian girl told Dr. Kennedy. "The Circassians of the tribe of Chechens who had control of them separated out 1,100 of the poorer families and took them away. The same evening some of these people returned and said they had escaped and that four hours after they had left, the Chechens had begun to kill them with iron-studded clubs. The remaining families raised 1,500 Turkish liras and were taken to the security. The amount was refused and the men were beaten and sent back."

"They raised an additional 500 liras and took 2,000 Turkish pounds in gold to the Circassian Beys, who took the money and tried to force them to sign a paper saying that the Armenians had paid no money to them. The deputation refused to do this and the fifty-two men were bound and taken away."

A few days later, according to the girl, the remaining families were deported from Sivaria, and after eight days arrived at Shedadish, on the river Harour east of Deir-Es-Zor.

300 Killed.

"On the way," the girl's story went on, "50 men were separated and taken away and soon after the Circassians returned and divided among themselves some of the clothing which we recognized as belonging to some of the men who they had taken away. The next day 300 more men were taken away and killed." As the refugees resumed their journey on the following morning she saw the bodies of some of the men she knew. They had been clubbed to death.

"A few days after this," reads the narrative, "they were told that for safety each family of women and children was to go to the house of an Arab. The Arabs robbed them and stripped them of their clothing and sent them back to the Circassians, who commenced at once to kill them with knives, women and children, about 150 in all. Twenty-two boys and eleven girls were saved and taken to the tents of the Circassians and she was taken with her sister to the village of Gerbellah, where she was beaten because she did not give them gold they believed she had."

After having been kept a while by a Circassian, she and her sister were taken to another Chechen and then to the house of another Circassian in Shegrush. She is now in the orphanage at Aleppo and her sister is in an Armenian house in Nussebin.

Another's Story.

Other incidents evidently dealing with this terrible journey of the Armenians to Shedadish were related by Dr. Kennedy by Araxa Barutjian, a girl of seventeen who was a pupil in the American Girl's School at Adana-Bazaar, in the western portion of Asia Minor near Constantinople. She spoke English. "At Shedadish," the narrative says, "she saw a party of 300 men, women and children, all naked. It was in July and their backs had been blistered by the sun, and many of them had

DRESSMAKER SAVED FROM OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Time.

Ithaca, N.Y.—"Three years ago I suffered from pains in my right side, so severe that I could not raise my feet from the floor. Pains would shoot down my limbs and through my back and the doctor said I had an abscess. I was in bed two weeks with an icebag on my side and expected any day that I might have to go to a hospital for an operation. A friend came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it, and after taking six bottles I feel well and strong, do my own work and dressmaking for others. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine and recommend it to others who suffer with female trouble. It is a Godsend to ailing women, and you may use my name at any time."—Mrs. FRANCES HULSTON, 215 E. Fall St., Ithaca, N.Y.

Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

bruises all over their limbs and bodies and sores caused by the beatings they had received. During the heat of the day they would lie covered in the water, as the pain in the sun was unbearable.

"Before she arrived at Shedadish, two of her brothers died at Bab and her father at another place. As the Arabs were taking only unmarried girls from among the refugees, her mother told them she was married. At Shedadish her mother was sold to one Arab and she to another and the girl lived in his house for a year.

"She ran away and an Arab girl took her into a tent where she stayed for eighteen months, when she again ran away and finally reached Nussebin."

This journey from Adana Bazaar across Asia Minor to Deir-Es-Zor occupied a year and a half, according to the story told by another girl of seventeen years, Arpeh Der Harutunian, daughter of a teacher in a high school at Hadjin, a bright intelligent girl whose family was known to Dr. Kennedy. Reporting her story of the journey, Dr. Kennedy wrote:

"Her grandfather was killed before her eyes, and she saw between 200 and 300 men shot and cut down by the sword. These men were bound in groups of ten, arm to arm. She saw at the same place women and children killed with iron-studded clubs or knives. The bodies afterwards were soaked with paraffine and set on fire. This was done by Chechen Circassians on the side of a hill near Shedadish.

"About 100 young Armenian men who dressed as girls were discovered and put to death by the Chechens. One of these was flayed alive and thrown into the river Harour."

Tattooed.

"After this the Circassians would not allow them to get food, and two weeks later they were sent to Sivaria. Miram Gannushian bribed the Chechens not to send them further into the desert. Arpeh was taken to the tent of an Arab and kept for eight months, when she escaped with the assistance of her younger brother. During her stay, Arpeh moved from place to place as the Arabs changed the tents for better pasturage for their camels. She was firmly bound and held to the ground by Turkish soldiers while her face was being tattooed. The family was united afterwards with the exception of the father, who had disappeared at Deir-Es-Zor."

THIRTY-SIX SHIPS BUILT ON CLYDE

Fine Record in June; Unsettled Condition Having Effect Now

London, June 30.—(Reuter's)—There was a great growth of shipbuilding on the Clyde during the month of June. Thirty-six vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 84,745 were built, making the output for the half-year 159, and the tonnage 263,451.

There is a scarcity of new work owing to the unsettled conditions, the only contracts in sight being ten cargo ships of an aggregate tonnage of 42,000.

300,000 Persons Who Value a Dollar Drive a Maxwell

ONE reason—and the main one—why persons change from one car to another after a year's use is this: the cost is too much to keep it running.

A Maxwell possesses the prized virtue of staying out of the repair shop and running and running and running. This is why:

Raw materials are purchased in large quantities and for cash. Economy No. 1.

There are no engineering knick-knacks in a Maxwell. Economy No. 2.

The road testing engineer who spends 12 months a year testing Maxwell cars for weaknesses, and who has driven a motor car further than any living man finds the "mistakes" before they get into production and are therefore not passed on to you. Economy No. 3.

Maxwell cars are built on the original chassis plan laid down 5 years ago 300,000 have been built to date. Doing one thing always results in doing it well. Economy No. 4.

All "temperament" is taken out of the car by the engineering department so that it is well nigh impossible to find a Maxwell with an "uneven disposition." Economy No. 5.

There are 25 others. These fortify you against after-trouble in a Maxwell. That is why you can be doubly sure on a Maxwell if you value highly a thrifty dollar. Most persons do, and 300,000 of them drive Maxwells.

DOMINION DAY AND PEACE.

For the first time in five years Canada's celebration of her natal day tomorrow will be unaccompanied by the tumult of great nations struggling for mastery on the main battlefields of Europe. Last year at this time Ludendorff was making ready for what was to be the final stage of the German offensive in the form of a terrific drive beyond the Marne and east of Rheims, a fortnight later, while Foch was preparing the mighty counter-offensive which was to result in the crushing defeat of Prussian militarism and the overthrow of the empire of the Hohenzollerns.

In July, 1917, while preparations were on foot for the great British campaign in Flanders, Kerensky and Korniloff succeeded in spurring the Russian army in Galicia into taking the offensive for a few weeks with striking results, an offensive which would have carried the attacking forces to the Carpathians had it been continued. Unhappily in the middle of it the Russian army resolved itself into a debating society to discuss the pros and cons of the situation, during which the Austro-Germans reorganized and drove the Muscovite host back into complete ruin.

On Dominion Day, 1916, the British and French armies began the first battle of the Somme, a titanic struggle which lasted for six months and ultimately forced the enemy to retreat to the Hindenburg Line. On the same day in 1915 there was a comparative lull on the western front, but in the east the Germans, having driven the Russians under the Grand Duke Nicholas beyond the Vistula and the Bug, were trying to obtain a decisive victory.

There is still war in Europe. The Bolsheviks are fighting on four fronts, gaining on one and losing on two others. Hungarians are facing Roumanians and Czech-Slovaks, although the fighting there is likely to come to an early end. But the main conflict is over. Germany has just signed a drastic peace; what is left of Austria-Hungary is about to perform a similar function, and the terms of the treaties with Bulgaria and Turkey already have been determined.

Canada, in common with all the other former belligerents, is confronted with a big problem of reconstruction. Fortunately, she is established upon a firm foundation. In laying the basis of this Dominion the Fathers of Confederation half a century ago build wisely and well. They were engaged on a great experiment, it is true, but very few years were required to vindicate their faith and judgment and to give a new character to British imperialism. From time to time alterations may be made necessary in the constitutional structure of the country by constantly-changing political and economic conditions, but the essence of the confederation pact will remain unaffected.

A great future lies before this Dominion following world reconstruction. Canada has in vast and varied quantity what the world needs for its economic recovery from the war. Her immeasurable resources have scarcely been scratched. Her three and a half million square miles accommodate less than nine million people. She is bound to become a factor of ever-increasing importance in world progress in the future. How soon that time will come will depend largely upon the celerity with which the country puts its affairs in order. Canada is now at peace in her international relations. What she needs to ensure the early commencement of an era of great and unprecedented development is industrial peace.

BETHMANN-HOLWEGG'S OFFER.

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, former German Chancellor, has formally asked the Allied and Associated Powers to put him on trial in the place of William Hohenzollern. He says he assumes responsibility for all the acts of Germany during his term of office and places himself at the disposal of the Allies.

Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the author of the contemptuous description of the Belgian treaty as a "scrap of paper," is merely indulging in gallery play. Whether his name will be on the list of those whom Germany must surrender for trial or not we cannot say, but if it is not we may be sure his offer will not result in it being placed there. He cannot assume responsibility for all Germany did during his term of office, for the simple reason that the responsibility belongs in quarters with which the Allied and Associated Powers are fully conversant.

When the law officers of a country are after desperadoes they do not want substitutes. The Allied and Associated Powers demand that the actual desperadoes of Germany shall be delivered to them for trial and punishment, and if Bethmann-Hollweg is among them he will be tried for his own personal part, not for the crimes of others.

STILL PROTESTING

Apparently the city of Vancouver is not going to allow its drydock campaign to subside with the announcement that the national structure will be built at Esquimalt. Practically all its influences have been exerted in an endeavor to persuade the Dominion Government to change its policy—or, rather, to change the location of the work—but without success. In view of all the facts, it would have been much more sportsmanlike if the public bodies of the Terminal City had accepted the decision with better grace. Not so, however. All day on Saturday the wires were kept hot with telegrams of protest backed by "several of the large industries vitally interested in the establishment of a drydock" at Vancouver. But why such discriminatory procedure? Does Vancouver want everything at the expense of other places? If commercial interests across the Gulf have sufficient at stake to warrant a drydock, why not take advantage of the Drydock Subsidies Act and build a second one there? In the meantime Vancouver could at least recognize the Lang Cove project more in a national and less in a parochial sense.

COAL COMMISSION WINDS UP

According to a dispatch from London the Coal Commission under the presidency of Mr. Justice Sankey has concluded its sittings. It is probable that three reports will be issued, one each to be devoted to the miners, the owners and the independents. That the findings of the first two will be diametrically opposed to one another is fairly certain; but we should not be surprised to find the views of the independent representatives coincide more closely with those of the miners.

When the miners agreed to accept the first Sankey report, which granted a seven-hour day from July 1 next and a six-hour day two years hence, if economic conditions would permit, as well as an immediate substantial increase in wages, it was on the understanding that the question of nationalization should be dealt with at once. As a part of the original demands of the miners, seeking a voice in control was not the least important; but in the light of the disclosures before the commission, the owners' enormous profits and their excessive gains during the war, sentiment solidified in favor of nationalization. Nor was the general public less impressed.

Whether nationalization of the coal mining industry of Great Britain would be an economic success or not, it is difficult to predict. Owners' profits during the past few years indicate a healthy margin on which to "come and go," but in the interval American competition has captured a number of Britain's coal markets. If, then, the country goes into the business for itself it must expect a keen market and prepare for an even more efficient salesmanship than that employed under the present system. That the whole question, however, will be one for Parliament to settle now appears to be certain.

ONE LAST DYING GASP.

Nobody ever supposed the pan-German Deutsche Zeitung would be able to adjust itself to new conditions without at least a final exhalation of its old arrogance. It now announces that "German honor was carried to its grave in the Hall of Mirrors on Saturday." It should be noted, of course, that the word "honor" is a purely German interpretation for world domination, the programme of which began in the same palatial building in 1871.

The German newspaper goes on to say that "in restless labor the German people will again strive to attain a place among the nations of the world to which it is entitled." This taken by itself expresses a worthy aspiration, but unfortunately it is spoiled by the subsequent declaration that the object of this "restless labor" would be "vengeance for the disgrace of 1919!" The conversion of this disturbing element in Germany's national life may be difficult and outside influences will not be able to bring it about, but it should be safe to predict, however, that the activities of all the mailed-fist devotees will be largely curtailed by more than sixty million people from whose eyes the scales have fallen. In any case the terms of the Treaty of Versailles impose an insuperable handicap on any programme of vengeance The Deutsche Zeitung may have in contemplation.

FOLKS WHO FEAR LIGHTHOUSES.

A New England citizen who lived on a dangerous coast to Ralph Waldo Emerson that he found resistance to the project of building a lighthouse on that coast, "as it would injure the wrecking business." Ships were wrecked on that coast every little while, and the people living thereabouts profited by it. Thinking only of themselves they very naturally opposed the building of a lighthouse. A lighthouse would have served by saving ships. It would have interfered with a profitable local business.

To those narrow natives the Rights of Things were of more importance than the Rights of Persons. In their eyes, material wealth came first. People who were landed safely, or ships that were warned away from danger, were not profitable. Wrecked ships were profitable. Therefore, no lighthouse.

LAND PROFITEERING.

Now that the housing problem is becoming acute, the would-be profiteers in land are beginning to raise their ugly heads and rub their grasping hands. We read of land for the purpose of building houses under the scheme being offered to the Alfreton Urban District Council—at a price equivalent to £1,200 per acre, at which rate a site measuring 20 yards by 20 yards would cost £100! How can small dwellings, lettable at a low but economic rent, be erected on land priced so disgracefully high? It is such base greed on the part of the "Haves" that excites Bolshevik sentiments in the bosoms of the "Have Not's."

AN ECONOMIC WAR.

The origin of the late, like that of all other wars, was economic. More than anything else, it was a conflict between Germany and Great Britain for the control of raw materials and the trade of the world, to be held through control of the seas. France was involved by the desire for regaining Alsace-Lorraine. We were much less directly involved, by the danger of assault by a victorious Germany on the Panama Canal. The sentimental considerations were an afterthought. Had it really been sentiment which involved us in the war we should have entered it when the President was urging us to be "aspiral even in thought," and assuring that we were "too proud to fight," in which, as it turned out, he was in error.

Duncan, June 30.—Six members of the new consolidated school board for the City of Duncan, and the municipality of North Cowichan were chosen Saturday. The poll was light.
 Of the four candidates for the city, the following were elected: W. L. E. Young, 47; O. T. Smith, 45, and David Ford, 37.
 Of the five candidates from the municipality of North Cowichan, W. L. Dwyer, 73; G. Tisdall, 45, and Miss M. A. Hadwen, 47, were elected. The other candidates were James Menzies, 39, and Mrs. George Henderson, 35.

LOST-SEARCHER WAS TWO NIGHTS IN BUSH
 James Evans Dies Following Accident in Woods Near Cowichan Lake

The funeral of James Evans, whose death was caused accidentally near Cowichan Lake on Sunday, when a falling tree fractured his skull, took place here to-day.
 Among the rescue party when set out to bring Mr. Evans to Duncan was Louis Schuller, an uncle of the injured man. When the party left the Cowichan Lake Road and started toward the Hill 60 Mine, Mr. Schuller found the walking very difficult and sat down to rest. When the party had proceeded he became confused and started to walk in the wrong direction, finally reaching the Chemainus River. All day he walked and slept that night in the brush. From Saturday morning to nine at night he maintained his weary march without food. Yesterday morning he came to O'Rourke's cabin at Copper Canyon, where he obtained some light nourishment, and finally he wandered into Westholme, and was driven to Duncan shortly before noon.

The accident which caused Mr. Evans' death occurred on the road to Hill 60 Mine, about five miles from Cowichan Lake, a party of which Mr. Evans was a member being engaged in road building there on Friday. Mr. Evans was among a group of men who were felling a large tree. Though his companion warned him to beware of the falling trunk, apparently a dead branch hit Mr. Evans, knocking him unconscious and fracturing his skull. Aid was summoned and a stretcher improvised. The journey of five miles over exceedingly rough country was made as rapidly as possible, and at about five o'clock the party reached the Cowichan Lake Road, where Dr. Dykes was waiting with an ambulance. The injured man was taken to the King's Daughter's Hospital, at Duncan, where Dr. Dykes operated without success. Death took place early Saturday morning, the patient never regaining consciousness.

CHILD LOST IN WOODS OF SOOKE
 Three-Year-Old Child Wanders Into Bush; Search in Vain

What has every appearance of being a fatality occurred yesterday at Sooke when the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lang, of Vancouver, wandered away into the woods and disappeared. Though search parties, headed by provincial police officers, have been scouring the country in search of the child up to a late hour to-day, no trace of her had been found. Mr. and Mrs. Lang arrived here yesterday from Vancouver and went to visit at the home of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh, of Sooke. Shortly after noon the child, who was playing about the yard, disappeared. The anxious parents searched the brush, but no trace of the child was found. About 7:30 o'clock last night Inspector of Provincial Police Frank Murray was notified of the case and immediately sent constables Friar, Service and Owens to Sooke by automobile. The officers conducted a thorough search of the surrounding country. The father has offered a reward of $250 for the recovery of the infant.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY
 Victoria Times, June 30, 1894.

The adjourned royal commission to enquire into the management of the British Columbia Penitentiary at New Westminster was opened in the Penitentiary building yesterday morning, Mr. Justice Drake presiding.
 The Government candidates met with a big surprise at Spring Ridge last evening when they proceeded to address the electors of that section. There was danger of the meeting falling through for neither the Finance Minister nor the Premier were present to help out the recruits, Messrs. Helmcken, Hithel and Braden.

The Indians of the district have been interested in the hunt. When the provincial police officers were last heard from the child had been in the brush alone for twenty-four hours. It is feared some accident has overtaken her in the dense woods, for it is improbable that she walked far in the almost impassible undergrowth.

A PROBLEM IN PROFITEERS.

To the Editor:—We are all out after the profiteer with an axe. We must get him, and we shall.

But, as Mr. Gosnell suggests in his letter, there is a difference in profiteers; there are those who raise prices without warrant, and those who by good management lower the cost of production. To place the latter in the same class as the former is to wrong ourselves and the country.

Here is how the case lies. Market prices are fixed by supply and demand over large areas. A business man who undersells, like a workman who takes less than fair wage, is regarded as a traitor to his fellows, and a bit of a fool.

Here is one firm that manages its affairs badly, abuses its employees, and perpetrates a bare profit and raises no scandal.

Another firm has a genius for organization; it treats its employees well, eliminates waste, sells at the current rate, and makes a profit of 100 per cent.

Which of these cases keeps up the cost of living, and which should be investigated by the government?

We are in the frying-pan; but we must jump out of it into the fire by discouraging economical production.

E. T. BOWDEN, 569 Boundary Road, June 27, 1919.

THE WORLD'S ADVANCE.

To the Editor:—What a transformation in these days obtains, as against the time when the battle of Waterloo was fought—a little over one hundred years ago! It took several days for the news to reach London, after that historical event had taken place. It is recorded that a famous financial family had arranged for couriers to carry the news to the battle-field to London before the news would reach the Government. The Rothschilds had it speed, by some five or six hours, and they were able to enrich their house by several millions of pounds sterling, by buying stocks in that short space of time. In these days, with the aid of that subtle force which travels about seventy-five thousand miles a second, there is little opportunity for such advance information; just think of it; there were Hudson Bay offices were stationed in the north of this large Dominion who did not hear of the battle until about two years after it had been won, and then they celebrated!

It must be pleasing to the readers of your journal to have presented to them the particulars of the signing of the Treaty of Peace at Versailles on the very day that the signatures to that most important instrument were attached. The particulars were so minutely given that it astonishes a novice that newspaper energy in the short space of time accomplished so much, and is another evidence of the progress of events. See to it that no obstacle is placed in the route of the grand march by which the world has accomplished so much.

JOHN GRANT, Dominion Hotel, Victoria, B. C., June 30, 1919.

THE "SO-CALLED PROFITEERS."

To the Editor:—Of all the amusing and inconsistent letters I have ever read I think Hy. Wynn-Corbett's, "Profiteering," takes the biscuit.

He says the press has been assailing Bolshevism by exposing robbers and thieves, or what he terms so-called profiteers. If those recently exposed are only "so-called profiteers" I should like to hear our friend's definition of a real profiteer.

He asserts that capitalists have a perfect right to make all the profit they can and presumably, in any manner they see fit. Patten had a perfect right—having command of great capital—to corner wheat and force up the price of bread. Then, I suppose, Mr. Wynn-Corbett would say that the consumer has a perfect right to starve to death. He is evidently another disciple of those who do not run their business to the "Glory of God."

Then he goes on to say that unions recognize the profiteering principle by accepting union assistance. Did it ever occur to him that trades unionism is the outcome of profiteering?

Can he not see any difference between a man fighting for a living wage and a 72 per cent to 300 per cent shark waxing fat at the expense of the stomachs of the silent workers he later refers to? And at a time when the country was in the throes of the greatest struggle the world has ever known and when her very existence was at stake, waxing fat at the expense of those who had sent and in many cases given their all that the likes of him might live and profiteer.

He says: "Not a word is said of the ability of the Dominion Government to take a large portion of this profit and thereby reduce direct taxation." Again I would ask him can he not see that by reducing the taxes through excess profits, the consumer is just getting a little of his own money back—money of which he has been robbed?

If anyone has cause to complain, says he, "It is the silent workers who use their brains" (I thought all workers had to use their brains) "such as accountants, book-keepers, provincial civil servants, etc. He admits there are some who have a right to complain. After maligning unionism; all and sundry, he immediately proceeds to support union principles by saying: "The time is not far distant when employers will have to recognize their claims a little more willingly." Returned men, he says, are working at pre-war salaries—Employers must take heed on they may force this silent mass to take action along union lines. "I think he would very much regret it. If profiteering is right and unionism is profiteering—as he suggests, what cause has he to regret?"

He wants the silent workers to get a better wage—but he prefers to leave it to the generosity of the employers, and if they do not, or will not, meet the new conditions he would very much regret to see them—the silent workers—unite and compel them to do so. How consistent!

A. R. BURKETT, Union Man and Returned Soldier, Victoria.

SOCIAL PROGRESS.

To the Editor:—Vast reforms do not come in a day. The great danger of the hour is impatience. There will always be inequality in the distribution of wealth, but excessive inequality is a social injustice. Economic laws are not fixed by nature they can be regulated by man. How to bring about a more equitable distribution of wealth is the problem which must be faced without delay but it must be faced with wisdom.

In scores of different way the competitive system is giving place to the co-operative system. To keep pace with these changes the wage system must be modified. The more complex our industrial life becomes the more necessary will it be to combine interests. Both on the side of the employer and on the side of the employed will collective bargaining, in an ascending scale, be required until the principle of sectional competition finally gives way to the principle of universal co-operation, and the Christian spirit of brotherly fellowship and mutual service gets a fair opportunity to express itself in action.

It is well to keep before us an ideal system, but it is well also to be clear in our mind as to the best method of approach.

The revolutionary method of creating public sentiment through the agency of the press, the school, the union, and the church, which will bring such pressure to bear in a constitutional manner, that our present inadequate laws will be revised and progressive legislation enacted which will gradually bring about a more equitable distribution of wealth. This method avoids the sudden dislocation of the whole commercial world with its inevitable misery. This is the British way.

The revolutionary method aims at the sudden overturning of the present capitalistic system. It is primarily a destructive policy, and so of necessity comes at once into conflict with constitutional authority. It has no well defined constructive policy, and so even if successful in overthrowing the present order of things, years of crude experimenting with visionary theories must elapse before a better order of things could be established upon a firm foundation. This is the Russian way.

F. H. DuVERNET, Archbishop of Caledonia, Prince Rupert, B. C.

BULLER'S SHOW IS NOW ON GROUND HERE

Will Be Drawing Card For Four Days; Some Features of Performance

The staff of Buller's Dog and Pony Show was engaged all yesterday in preparing for the opening this evening. The tents have been erected, and are the attraction of many on the city lots at the rear of the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Buller is anticipating a record crowd to-morrow. The show will be in the city four days.

The show comes to Victoria after a successful tour of up-Island points, at which the attendance has been very large, and considerable praise has been given by those who witnessed the performance. The programme includes some excellent numbers, many of which are alone worth the price of admission. One big number is a pedestral act in which several scores of trained horses and ponies take part in groups representative of the Allied nations of the great war. This is a most picturesque act. Another showy act is the military drill of two full platoons of animals, and there are several other big numbers, in addition

Chester is the equine Alexander, and will answer questions put by the audience. The sagacity shown by this wonderful horse is remarkable. The dogs include one with the world's record as a high diver, and also one of the best known leaping dogs, an animal which can jump over six horses ranged in a row. There

BEHIND THE SCENE AT LOCAL PRINTING HOUSE

Visit to the Home of "Diggonism"—An Interesting Experience

It has been truly said that most of the romance has disappeared from the printing trade. The old racks of letters over which the cheerful, red-nosed printer hummed and whistled as the type fairly flew into his "stick" have been replaced by fast, whirling linotype machines which set type almost with the speed of a typewriter. In the place of the old, clanking presses, often operated by man-power, sta-electrical printing is controlled by picked printers. A thoroughly modern print shop with its buzzing contrivances, its awe inspiring presses and alert workmen, is far more interesting, if less romantic, than the old-day establishments of the past.

Even a casual inspection of the complete plant of The Diggon Printing Co., running as it does from Government Street, next Bank of Montreal, through to Langley Street, will convince the observer of this fact. An air of distinction is apparent immediately on entering. Instead of finding a cold, uninteresting room with bare walls and floor, one sees an attractive, cosy homelike store with tasteful stationery attractively displayed. Carpeted with exquisite rugs, amid air perfumes filled with the sweet perfumes of burning incense, everything for the comfort and convenience of the patron, is there, even to a desk where letters may be written or addressed, and stamps obtained.

Nor are modern papereries behind in advancement. The fact that social position is often judged by the quality of the stationery used explains why the Diggon Printing Co. carry the most exclusive writing papers; the cream of the output of the world; all that the tasteful could wish. No queen could demand more delicacy, no king command more grandeur. And there are cards for all thoughts.

The Machinery Section.

In the large space behind, fronting on Langley Street, all is for business. There, whirling machinery makes it possible for the Diggon Printing Co. to perform feats which are out of the question for the ordinary printer. Here is the quickly-moving folding machine,

THINK A MINUTE

WHAT is your doctor's first question? Why does he suspect constipation?

Because 90% of his patients are suffering from ailments caused directly or indirectly by the action of poisons formed in a sluggish intestinal tract.

These body poisons are absorbed by the blood and carried all over the body until the weakest organ, unable to withstand the poisonous contact, becomes infected and refuses to act properly. Unfortunately it is usually not until then that the doctor is consulted and asked to treat the diseased organ.

The surest way of purifying the blood and preventing the formation of these destructive body poisons is to prevent stagnation of food waste in the intestinal tract—to prevent constipation.

Constipation is not a matter to be taken lightly or neglected. Nor is it either sufficient or safe to take castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., in order to "force" bowel action. Such action does not cure constipation, it makes constipation a habit.

Nujol is entirely different from drugs as it does not force or irritate the bowels. Nujol prevents stagnation by softening the food waste and encouraging the intestinal muscles to act naturally, thus removing the cause of constipation and self-poisoning. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

one of whose many weekly tasks is to fold thousands of programmes for all the local play-houses. There is a stamper which, with its 1001 dies, embosses on any stationery any initials or combination of letters and in any color.

Standing in line are three job presses which are incessantly turning out a multitude of "books" in lightning-quick time. On again, one comes to a big fellow—here he is, a cylinder printing press that is not afraid to tackle anything. No wonder this firm has been deluged with orders for annual reports, pamphlets, books, and periodicals. At this moment it is busy producing an art work resplendent with views of some of the beauty spots of Victoria and Vancouver Island, for distribution among travellers, the wisest of whom will stay to develop its industries.

Close at hand is that marvel of the age—the linotype—a model five, which being interpreted means the most modern. Being equipped with "magazines" containing matrices of the latest style of "faces," every job set up thereon ensures a clean-cut impression which was not possible by the old-time method of hand work when type was often times worn down to the "nick" before being disset.

In a corner all alone is a machine which performs a work which many believe can not be produced in Victoria—copper plate printing. It is a peculiar contrivance and looks for all the world like a helm without a rim. Thus are the correctly engraved calling cards and wedding invitations produced in the style which the mandates of society demand.

A Special Machine.

Beyond the dust-proof, steel-run cabinets which contain the ever-extending varieties of display type, is a heavier steel die and embossing press, capable of producing those beautiful raised crests and headings. Such a machine is seldom found included in the ordinary printers' plant.

Fastest war-time economy, not even the waste paper cuttings are neglected. A steel baling machine receives them and turns them out ready for shipment to the paperman.

Recently installed there is a department for show-card writing. This is under the management of an artist of great experience and possessing versatility originally won in obtaining the most encouraging results. While another staff is busy with a most important wing of the business—that of producing Christmas cards. Early in the fall the most beautiful lines of samples ever produced will show Victorians that they are no longer dependent upon the East or any other city. They will unite with their kits and kin the world over with the most generous salutations. These astounding temptations will be seized with avidity.

By sparing no expense, by adding constantly to plant, by keeping all stock right up-to-the-minute, they have aimed at efficiency and it has been warranted over and over again.

MINING NEWS

That the falling off in gold production in British Columbia is only temporary and that there will soon be a recovery is the opinion of Charles Cammell, of the Dominion Geological Survey. Mr. Cammell, as a delegate to the Nelson mining convention, spoke on the Features of the Gold Deposits of British Columbia.

Gold production in the world has fallen off over fifteen per cent. since 1915 and it is likely that there will be a continued demand nearly everywhere, he said. Production in Canada and British Columbia has fallen off in sympathy on account of the high cost of mining and labor difficulties, from about six million dollars to three and a half million. Mr. Cammell believes that this decrease is only temporary as far as British Columbia is concerned and that there will soon be a recovery. The belief is based on the knowledge of the large area of unprospected, and even unexplored territory in the Province, and the improvement in gold extraction promised at Trail, where about sixty per cent. of British Columbia's gold has in the past been obtained.

Owing to the exhaustion of the California placer fields it is expected that there will be increased activity in the near future, especially along the Fraser River and the Cariboo district, and a very large production is expected when these operations are put into effect.

Mr. Cammell urges prospecting and development of gold deposits partly on patriotic grounds and partly because there is a strong demand in the East for good gold prospects. In the United States efforts are being made to stimulate gold mining in order that gold reserves may be maintained and that foreign credits may not suffer. The principal gold producing districts in British Columbia are Atlin, Princess Royal Island, Hedley, Bridge River, Nelson, Rossland, Ymir and Sheep Creek. Over sixty-five per cent. however, of the gold of the Province, is obtained from the smelting of copper ores.

Surplus copper stocks in the United States amount to 1,200,000,000 to 1,500,000,000 pounds, as compared to a normal surplus of 500,000,000 pounds. England is reported to have 11,431,000 pounds and France and Italy together had, at the date the armistice was signed, 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 pounds which was the apparent cause for the restrictions in imports of copper into France and Italy.

The surplus has undoubtedly decreased considerably as France has recently lifted the embargo on copper imports. This would indicate that Europe will soon be in the market for copper.

The United States is producing about 100,000,000 to 120,000,000 pounds of copper a month, compared with about 150,000,000 pounds in 1917 and 1918. Practically all copper mines are producing at only sixty per cent. to eighty per cent. of the rate at last November, one noteworthy exception being Mohawk, which has increased its production about twenty per cent. The production at present is about the same as before the war. However, the consumption is low and about 100 per cent. more copper is produced than is being consumed. The domestic consumption and the ex-

VANCOUVER ISLAND NOTES AND NEWS

With J. Sutton in the chair the Comox Fish and Game Protective Association has been formed. This was done on the recommendation of J. Aston seconded by Dr. Millard. Mr. Sutton, who had been largely instrumental in getting the meeting together said that if they wished to get any alterations of the game laws this year as it applied to their district they must act at once in order that they might be represented at the sitting of the Game Commission in Vancouver on July 21. Last year owing to the fact that their district had not been represented sportsmen in Comox had had hardly any shooting at all. If they formed an association that night they could appoint temporary officials and afterwards at more leisure put the association on a permanent basis.

Northfield will hold its annual Dominion Day sports to-morrow, commencing at 9.30 a. m. with children's sports till noon and at 1.30 p. m. big events will take place consisting of foot races, tug-of-war, five-a-side football, horse racing, also a grand quoiting tournament all day.

The directors of the King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, have accepted the resignation of Miss Smith, matron. Ten applications have been made for the post and the new appointee will take up her duties on July 1. The house committee reported that thirty-three patients were treated during May, being nine surgical, six operative, eight medical, three accident and seven obstetrical. There were seven births and one death.

ANOTHER BIG TREAT FOR BASEBALL FANS AT ROYAL ATHLETIC TUESDAY

Vancouver Sends Over Formidable Array of Pill Swatters for First Inter-City Game of Season — League News

Another big treat for the baseball fans is promised to-morrow at Royal Athletic Park with the visit of the Wallace nine from Vancouver for a game with the Canadian Collieries in the morning at ten o'clock, and a game with the Foundation team at 3 o'clock.

The Vancouver Commercial League than the Foundations are in the Victoria race for the batting. The Mainland nine have three times defeated Brethour, who used to pitch for the Vancouver Northwestern "pro" team.

Of their players Rogers is considered the best batter in the Province. Ernie Jolleff, their shortstop, has twice won the Commercial League medal as the most valuable player.

The Collieries strengthened. On the Collieries team lineup will appear Mennis, the Strath-Jacks shortstop, whose fielding average to date is .955.

Elmer, "Come on Red" as they used to call him in Vancouver, now with the Strath-Two Jacks, will hold down right field for the Collieries in the morning game.

The Foundation lacrosse team continued along their victorious path to the world's amateur lacrosse title by bagging the scalps of the Vancouver players for the second time this season on the Mainland Saturday afternoon.

The caps went into the third quarter one goal to the good, and after a little interval of ragging they snapped in another.

It was not spectacular lacrosse which was played, but it was a very keen, honest variety, marked throughout by close checking.

The Collieries will use Come in the morning game, and with their additions expect to make a better showing than the shipbuilders against the visitors.

After Ross and Jackson. Bobby Ross and Hickey Jackson, who returned Saturday with the Fifty-eighth, are being eagerly sought after by the local teams.

The visit of the Wallace team is preparatory to an arrangement for a meeting for the British Columbia championship games to be played after the Commercial League of Vancouver and the local league wind up their season.

The Wallace team are bringing over Humber, Brethour, who pitched a no hit game against them the other day. Also Bob Larson, the Wallace mainstay, in the box.

The Wallace lineup will be: Rogers, lb.; Gierau, 2b.; Jolleff, ss.; McCon-

It is generally conceded that in cricket the best of everything depends upon good fielding—many a match being lost or won in this department of the game.

The "trundling" of the club has materially improved by securing the services of R. V. Bagnall, who played with the old Cowichan team.

"It is only right and proper to say a few words about the Ramblers stumper—A. McGhie. One of the things that is impressed upon the spectators is the few frequently brought to the attention of the readers of the cricket news the importance that a wicketkeeper plays in a score sheet.

From the foregoing it will be seen that the Ramblers possess a very fine bunch of fellows, out to get the only thing that counts in the game of cricket—SPORT—and the other teams in the city will always be able to rely upon most enjoyable contests when they have the Foundation Ramblers as opponents."

RAMBLERS EVEN FIGHT HARDER FOR PREVIOUS DEFEATS

Sporting Spirit Will Help Them in Cricket Competition

"It usually gives the average cricket enthusiast any amount of pleasure to witness a somewhat poor team make an up-hill fight, and eventually develop into a winning eleven. This is certainly the position of affairs regarding the Foundation Ramblers."

Were Ambitious. "At the commencement of the season it was generally thought a foolish decision on the part of the Foundation club to put two elevens into the league, unless each was equally strong."

Keen Players. "I remember speaking to Mr. Goward (captain of the Victoria C.C.) after the first match of the season against the Wanderers when the Victoria club won by an innings and 149 runs."

Some of the Players. "The Ramblers in A. E. Pendray, an excellent batsman, and it will be a big surprise to many of the players of the game if he does not have many runs to his credit at the termination of the season."

From Cowichan. "The trundling of the club has materially improved by securing the services of R. V. Bagnall, who played with the old Cowichan team."

The Wicketkeeper. "It is only right and proper to say a few words about the Ramblers stumper—A. McGhie. One of the things that is impressed upon the spectators is the few frequently brought to the attention of the readers of the cricket news the importance that a wicketkeeper plays in a score sheet."

From the foregoing it will be seen that the Ramblers possess a very fine bunch of fellows, out to get the only thing that counts in the game of cricket—SPORT—and the other teams in the city will always be able to rely upon most enjoyable contests when they have the Foundation Ramblers as opponents."

SURF INLET MINE

LARGEST PRODUCER

Valuable Gold Property Is Doing Well, Says Superintendent on Visit Here

The Belmont Surf Inlet mine, now the largest gold producer in British Columbia, is making substantial progress according to F. W. Holler, superintendent and manager, who is now at the Empress Hotel.

The construction of the mining and milling plants power plant and auxiliaries was completed by September 1, 1917, and production began at that date. The mine has been a success since it started. Mr. Holler points out, the plant running to a full capacity, the tonnage treated having been about 300 tons or over per day, showing an average per ton value of from $10 to $12. Satisfactory profit has been secured; the operating profits for the ten months ending December 1, 1918, were $320,999.

Mr. Holler states that the labor situation has not been unsatisfactory, considering present industrial unrest, though the company is considerably anxious as to the future, and also as to the burden of taxation which is necessarily pressing heavily upon gold mine owners. With regard to the future of the mine he is full of confidence, but says that the company like every other gold mining concern, feels the problem arising from production of a commodity with a fixed price in the face of increased operating expenses of every description.

CHINESE CEASE TO USE NATIVE TONGUE

Resident Here From Trinidad, B. W. I., Homebound to Orient

On her way to China with the idea of having her children educated in Hongkong, Mrs. Inez Allum is now at the Dominion Hotel awaiting a steamer for the Orient. Her experience is a rather peculiar one in that she is an educated Chinese woman who has been domiciled for a considerable period in Port of Spain, Trinidad, British West Indies.

While the island has always been known as the home of a cosmopolitan population, Mrs. Allum states that the development of the oil fields in the southern portion of the island has added a very large number of American residents. There are about ten to fifteen concessions and the industry has added a considerable impetus to the previously developed natural resources.

In the northern portion of the island, Mrs. Allum says, the cocoa plantations occupy the bulk of the population. Most of the tropical fruits are grown on the island. The plantation labor is chiefly drawn from the Indian Empire, the Chinese on the island being entirely engaged in store-keeping and similar occupations, such as employ them in Malaya and throughout the island.

Mrs. Allum states that the Chinese there have almost forgotten how to speak their native tongue, the business being transacted almost entirely in English, although French and Spanish are also spoken, she told The Times.

GENERAL HUGHES RETIRES

Inspector-General of Western Forces Forced to Resign Owing to Ill-Health.

Announcement is made at Winnipeg of the retirement of Major-General John Hughes as Inspector-General of Western forces owing to ill-health.

General Hughes has occupied this post for four years. When the late Major-General Sam Steele went overseas with the first contingent General Hughes received the appointment from his brother, Major-General Sam Hughes, then Minister of Militia.

General Hughes is well-known in this city having made several trips here during the course of the war to inspect the forces.

An officer who has seen overseas service will be appointed to the inspectorship.

Plans for Entertainment.—Between 500 and 800 delegates to the Dominion Convention of the G. W. V. A. in Vancouver will be entertained here on July 5, and elaborate plans for the event are being made by the local committee. A special boat to bring the visitors to the city has been chartered. A luncheon will be served in the new Drill Hall and the delegates will afterwards be shown some of Victoria's beauty spots. A garden party will be held in the afternoon at Government House, where the party will be entertained by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Barnard.

HAD WEAK and FAINTING SPELLS.

Those feelings of faintness, those weak, "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They mean an extremely weakened condition of the heart, and a disordered nervous system.

When the system is in this condition there is no time for delay. One fainting spell may be recovered from—will she next? One may pass off, but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes deep rooted and perhaps hopeless.

They will act directly on the disordered heart and weakened nervous system and restore them to full strength and vigor.

Miss Mary McCoy, Algoma Mills, Ont., writes: "I was a fully troubled with fainting and weak spells, and I could never get any doctor's medicines to help me. One day a friend of mine was at the house when I took one of those spells, and she got me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. That was six years ago, and from that day to this I have never had any of those spells. I would not be without your pills for any money, and can highly recommend them to any one."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipts of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WANT EFFICIENCY TO OFFSET COMPETITION

J. H. Falconer Here to Urge Action on Technical Instruction

Following the protest lodged by the Vancouver branch of the B. C. Manufacturers' Association, at its meeting last week against the conditions and wages fixed by the Minimum Wage Board, J. H. Falconer, of Vancouver, a vice-president, came over to Victoria, B. C., to impress upon the Minister of Education that it was imperative that a better course of training should be given young men and women, in the absence of an apprenticeship system in this Province, so that employers could get better results to meet the increased cost of operation. As stated recently, the Government is inclined to take advantage of the technical education vote, announced by the Dominion Government, and Mr. Falconer's idea, he explained to The Times, was to impress the absolute urgency of steps being taken to establish technical schools where such instruction could be given. He had a talk with the Minister of Education on the subject while he was here.

Mr. Falconer is also the Honorary Secretary of the Peace Celebration Committee in Vancouver, and he stated that splendid progress has been made towards securing for the first week of August a remarkable gathering, in which all classes of citizens can participate, and which will be memorable to the children to the end of their days.

Recreation Commission.—On account of the holiday the executive committee of the Victoria and District Recreation Commission will meet Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the office of Dr. Raynor, instead of on Tuesday evening.

NOT NEEDED IN HER PROFESSION

A certain little girl was remarkably backward in her geography, and the teacher wrote a note to the child's mother requesting her to see that the little one gave special attention to that subject in her home lessons. But there was no apparent improvement.

"Did your mother read the note I sent her, Millie?" asked the puzzled teacher.

"Yes," was the reply.

"What did she say?" questioned the mistress.

"Mother said she never knew geography, and she got married," and Aunt Winnie, she never knew geography neither, and she got married, and you do know geography, and yet you ain't got married, and so it doesn't matter I don't know it."

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG AT ROYAL THIS WEEK

"Cheating Cheaters" Is Film Displaying Favorite's Attractive Gowns

Clara Kimball Young's productions for her Select Star Series are always noted for the exquisiteness of every factor that makes these pictures stand out so prominently from the rut of the ordinary. In addition to plays of the highest merit and proven popularity in book or play form, supporting companies of the first order, capable direction and beautiful investiture, all of Miss Young's gowns are created especially for her by Lucile, Lady Duff-Gordon, the world-famous designer of gowns.

In "Cheating Cheaters," adapted from Max Marej's famous stage play of two seasons back, the star wears a number of these exquisite costumes. Representative among them are:

An evening gown of black chiffon velvet with a sweeping train, the bodice of pearl seeds and flesh-colored georgette, with flowing sleeves, a white ostrich feather fan, a diamond-studded Carmen fan, a lavalliere of pearls with a diamond drop.

An afternoon frock of orchid georgette and Chantilly lace with a square neck and flowing sleeves and an apron front, "the latest whisper from Paris," and georgette bands on the skirt; at the belt a distinctive Lucile touch in the varicolored cluster of buds. With this frock Miss Young wears a heavy medieval pearl and diamond chain and a diamond pendant; also a unique square-cut diamond ring.

A "dining habit" whose coat is of coffee-colored duvetyne with large patch-pocket flaps such as English army officers' wear; the breeches are of fawn-colored suede. Her white stock is fastened with a golden riding whip, her boots are of cordovan leather and her crop of malacca. The hat is a fawn beaver with a coffee-colored band.

These costumes are examples of the beautiful creations that Miss Young wears in "Cheating Cheaters," which will be the attraction at the Royal Victoria to-night and all this week, and that help to create the pleasurable impression her pictures always bring.

ROMANO PRESENTS
CHARACTER ACTOR

Frank Keenan Here For Three Days in "The Midnight Stage."

That a good story is essential to a picture's full measure of success has always been the contention of Frank Keenan, America's foremost character actor, whose latest starring medium is "The Midnight Stage," to be shown at the Romano for three days beginning to-day. In fact, he has held—and very justly so—that the story is the entire thing; that the most skillful setting and the best art of the actor avail nothing with material that is structurally bad. In "The Midnight Stage," Mr. Keenan makes an ideal demonstration of his theory—in fact he brilliantly proves it; for this story, which is an adaptation of "The Lyons Mail," the French play which served to add to the fame of the late Sir Henry Irving, is one that holds the interest from the beginning until the end, and moves forward, with sustained action until the tremendous climax at the finish.

The adaptation is by Jack Cunningham, who has used the picturesque locale of the Sierras in the early days of the West, when the rush of gold seekers made stirring romance, red-blood history of American achievement. Mr. Keenan portrays the dual role of John Lynch, son of a proud Southern family, sharply contrasting with his double, "Big" Rivers, a murderous road agent.

The story throbs with primitive emotion, but is softened by a charming love story. It is directed by Ernest C. Wade, son of the distinguished tragedian, Frederick Wade, who has brought to it all of the brilliant and sympathetic treatment that has marked the other successes of Mr. Keenan.

ATTRACTIVE ITEMS ON FOLLIES' PROGRAMME

Commencing to-night and for the balance of this week, twice daily, afternoon and evening Oswald's 1919 Follies have arranged a programme that is in all respects just as good and perhaps a little better than the excellent ones he has already produced. The musical concerted numbers will be taken from the latest musical comedies such as "Not so Fast," from "Girl of Mine," "Old Fashioned Wife" from "Oh! Boy" and "A Hunting We Will Go." By special request Billy Oswald and Ernie Impett will sing an old favorite "Jenny My Own True Love." Beatrice Carmen will be heard in a new song "It's Got to be Done," and

Billy Oswald in one of his best comedy numbers "The Trousers That My Father Used to Wear." To finish off the programme a sketch entitled "The Coming Man" will be given. This in addition to the regular programme should make a most pleasing afternoon or evening's amusement.

VERY SIMPLE CURE FOR BAD COLDS

Let your cold gain headway and you can't keep it from running into Catarrh. Catarrh never stays in the same place—it travels down into the lungs, then it's too late! Drive colds and catarrh right out of your system while you have the chance. Easily done by inhaling Catarrh-ozone, which instantly reaches the true source of the trouble, gets right where the living germs of catarrh are working.

SUNSHINE GIRL AT COLUMBIA THEATRE

Gladys Leslie Will Be Here For First Three Days in Film

"Little Miss No-Account," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, which will be the attraction in the Columbia to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday, is the gripping story of the poor little heiress, helpless in a great city in the power of scheming foster parents, who plot to force her signature to titles to her vast estates. She makes a powerful friend when her need is greatest and comes into her fortune and the happiness of true love.

The scenario is by A. Van Buren Powell, from the book, "The Reflection of Scarlet," by Edward P. Smaney, and the picture is directed by William S. Earle. Gladys Leslie, dainty and talented star, "The Girl With the Million Dollar Smile," and who registers so remarkably in the recent Blue Ribbon Features, "His Own People" and "The Wooing of Princess Pat," has the featured role in "Little Miss No-Account," and is supported by Frank O'Connor, William Calhoun, Eulalie Jensen, West Jenkins, Richard Wangerman, Carleton King and Stephen Carr, the clever boy actor.

Miss Leslie, who is one of photography's youngest and most beautiful stars, is a New York girl and her first screen experience was with Thalhouser. She then was seen in several important features on the Pathé programme, attracting special attention by her work as Sophia, in "The Vicar of Albert E. Smith, president of the Vitagraph, signed Miss Leslie on a long term contract to appear in Blue Ribbon Features, she being one of a half-dozen young stars engaged in the last six months for featured roles.

Men are born robbers. Every time a man marries he robs a woman of her name.

Variety

The Poppy Girl's Husband, a new artcraft picture, starring W. S. Hart, will be presented at the Dominion for the entire week. The picture shows Big Bill at his best. It is full of strong heart interest and thrilling drama and provides this virile star with an entirely new role entirely different from any of his former offerings. The story is adapted from one of the Boston Blackie stories, which were so widely read in the Red Book magazine, The Poppy Girl's Husband being one of the most powerful of the series. It is putting it mildly to say that the screen translation has added to the big punch carried in the story, and contains more than the average amount of thrills and grip. There is plenty of action, and it will delight the average motion picture lover as few other pictures have done in many months. A splendid comedy is also shown entitled Here Comes the Bride. The Chester Outing picture out. Columboosing Columbus will also be presented.

One of those thrilling, shivery crook dramas, with the flashlight business in front of the safe at midnight, and revolvers glinting from behind curtains when least expected, is promised in "The Silk-Lined Burglar," at the Variety.

Priscilla Dean is the star, and, as might be guessed, the "silk-lined" burglar as well. She is not in the burbling business, but the job she does with the assistance of the redoubtable Boston Blackie should earn her a union card without delay. From the opening scene, when Boston Blackie, assiduously cooking "safe-blower's soup"—nitro-glycerine—happens to see in the paper Doris Macon's advertisement for a "thoroughly efficient" yeeg-man, until the last surprising climax, the picture is one succession of thrills. A notable feature of "The Silk-

"Lined Burglar" is its admirably balanced cast. Presenting a marked diversity of types, the picture offered a fine opportunity for discriminating casting.

Priscilla Dean, the star, has an audacious emotional role that is well fitted for her personality. Ashton Dearholt admirably suggests the young Secret Service hero. In the part of "Boston Blackie" is Sam De Grasse, the screen's most noted crook. Sam Appel, as the detective; Fred Kelsey, as the German spy, and Lillian West, as Blackie's wife, are all very much "in the picture."

Miss Dean will be in Vancouver tomorrow, and it is expected she will fly across the Gulf to Victoria.

SECURES VAUDEVILLE TWO NIGHTS WEEKLY

Orpheum Circuit Will Play Here
Commencing in August

Opening on August 15th, Manager Clifford Deaham, of the Royal Victoria Theatre, announces that on Fridays and Saturdays the Orpheum Vaudeville will appear here.

The intention is that the troupe will play from Mondays to Wednesdays in Calgary, leaving on Wednesday evening for the Coast, and will play here on the Friday evening, and for two programmes on Saturdays. There is a two weeks' cancellation clause in the agreement enabling the Orpheum interests to withdraw in case of lack of patronage so that it is entirely a matter for the Victoria theatre-going public as to how long the engagement will continue.

Mr. Deaham says that he has every confidence that the people of Victoria will rally to the introduction of this high class vaudeville, because when it was tried before some years ago the performances were well patronized and the scheme failed only because of certain difficulties which arose in neighboring cities.

An eminent Scottish preacher was trying to explain to an old lady the meaning of the Scriptural expression, "Take up thy bed and walk." He informed her that the bed was simply a mat or rug easily taken up and carried away.

"Na, na," was her reply. "I cannot believe that. The bed was a regular four-poster. There would be no miracle in walking away w' a bit o' mat or rug on your back."

TEXAS DOUGHBOYS PRESENT FEATURE

War-Time Troupe From Kelly Field Aviation Camp on Pantages Bill

Entertainers who traveled overseas to entertain the troops of the Allies each have the same opinion of the soldier audience. It's rather unusual according to the circumstance, but the actors declare that one has to be very good to win the applause of a uniformed "house."—better—than—the—quality—of—entertainer who wins the plaudits of the civilian auditor.

Therefore the famous Kelly Field Players, from San Antonio, Texas, have been eminently successful in the venture which they recently began—that of playing to civilian audiences as they played for months before soldiers in the great cantonments in Eastern Canada and the United States.

The soldier has a sense of humor all his own. What the civilian thinks wonderfully funny is "trick" to him. Yet what the trooper puts his seal of appreciation upon will always "go big" with the civilian audience. Many Victoria flyers who trained at San Antonio will remember the Kelly Field Players. The troupe appeared before the Canadian aerial students upon several occasions while the Royal Air Force camp in Texas was open.

The turn is presented by twelve men. It is a melange of variety's best features: singing, dancing, acrobatics and musical offerings. The ensemble chorus in which the twelve join is alone worthy of commendation from any audience.

singing and talking comedians. Miss Beverly has a voice of great tonal power and range and Mr. Beverly is also possessed of a rich melodic voice. They sing in solo and in unison with equal success.

Monroe and Grant are a pair of comic trampoline workers with a novel diversion. The boys have successfully gotten away from the orthodox in athletic acts and are presenting something that's really new.

Harris and Nolan are a pair of pretty girls who win with their songs and piano selections.

Introducing the bill is the showing of the seventh chapter of "The Man of Might" serial picture which introduces a series of thrills under the title "The Trap."

insure their being present at the presentation of some of the greatest attractions that have been staged here since the famous bowl was built.

A few of the many events will be the Pacific coast amateur track and field championship meet; Coronation of Queen Columbia; Grade school sport championship; Symphony orchestra of 125 pieces; Northwest amateur boxing championship; McCleave's trained animal circus; Northwest band contest with prizes amounting to $3,500; Grand military pageant; Cook's famous wild west show, and the gorgeous $7,000 fireworks display featuring the huge set piece "Somewhere in France."

On Sunday evening, July 6, the Rev. E. Freeman, rector of St. Mark's Church, Minneapolis will hold one of the most impressive services imaginable. A choir of 100 voices will sing and massed bands will be in attendance. The Rev. Jas. Freeman is one of the most noted orators in the United States. On signifying his acceptance to Tacoma's invitation he wrote, "Your city is certainly making stupendous preparations and it is one of the greatest evidences of the forward-thinking and co-operative actions of the big Northwest."

Taken altogether it looks as if Tacoma is bidding for the patronage of the entire State in offering such an aggregation of happenings and events and from reports already received they are well on the way to have visitors from every part of the State during the big celebration.

CANADA'S WONDERFUL BIRTHDAY STORY

O CANADA!

O Canada, my country and my love!
 O Canada, with boundless skies above!
 Where'er I roam, where'er my home,
 My heart goes back to thee,
 Thy lakes and streams, thy boundless dreams,
 Thy rivers running free.
 O Canada! O Canada!
 God pour his blessing on thee from above,
 O Canada, my country and my love!

Revealing Her Marvellous Growth in Half a Century, and in a Single Year

Earl of Dufferin: "Never has any people been endowed with a nobler birth-right or blessed with prospects of a fairer future than the Canadians."

Compiled specially for The Times by The Canadian Facts Publishing Co., Toronto. Copyright.

THE NAME "CANADA."

"Canada" is probably derived from the Huron word "Kanada," which means "a village or settlement." The early French writers used the term "Canadien" to designate the Algonquin tribes on or near the St. Lawrence, as distinguished from the Algonkin and Micmac. Jacques Cartier applied the name Canada to the country adjacent to Stadacona (Quebec), the chief of which he designated as "the King of Canada."

CANADA'S AGRICULTURAL WEALTH.

Canada's field crops value show steady increase (seven-fold since 1901), viz., 1901, $195,000,000; 1916, $886,000,000; 1917, $1,144,636,450; 1918, $1,367,909,970. This total includes grain crops, $875,532,350; potatoes and sugar beets, $104,080,300; fodder crops, $330,931,900. Canada's estimated gross total agricultural production, including field crops, live stock, dairying, wool, fruits, vegetables, eggs, etc.: 1915, $1,118,694,000; 1916, 1,223,952,000; 1917, $1,621,028,000. Over half of Canada's estimated invested capital was in farm values (census of 1911), viz., $4,231,000,000, out of $8,365,000,000; and more than half of Canada's population is engaged in the agricultural industry. Canada's chief occupation is agriculture. Fifty per cent. of value of annual production (per 1911 census) was in field-crops, farm animals, cheese, butter, fruit and vegetables; 40 per cent. in form of manufactures, and 10 per cent. from mines, forests and fisheries.

CANADA'S DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

Canada had 3,515 cheese and butter factories in 1918. Cheese and butter production, 1917, nearly $100,000,000, increase of $13,000,000 in year—made in 3,418 factories. Capital, $19,628,000. Canada sold $40,000,000 worth of cheese in 1918 to the Allied Governments. Canada's sales of cheese, butter, eggs and condensed milk to the British Government totalled $50,000,000, 1917-18.

CANADA'S FAR-FLUNG AREA.

Canada is Britain's largest overseas Dominion. Canada is 3,500 miles by 1,400 in area. The United States-Canada boundary line is 3,000 miles long; 1,600 by land, 1,400 through water. Canada is bounded by three oceans; its 13,000 miles of coast line is nearly equal to half circumference of earth. Canada has one-third of area of British Empire, and is as large as 30 United Kingdoms and 18 Germanys; twice the size of British India; almost as large as Europe; 18 times size of France; 33 of Italy. Canada is larger in area than the United States, including Alaska, by 111,992 square miles (Canada, 3,729,665; United States and Alaska, 3,617,673).

CANADA'S BANKING STRENGTH.

Canada's banks have never been in a stronger position nor reflected greater national prosperity. Bank clearings, 1918, $13,776,332,726; 1917, $12,564,633,205. Canada has 19 banks, 3,217 branches, and 27 bank clearing houses—one-third of branches in the West. Twenty-three bank amalgamations since 1868.

Canada's national wealth about equals deposits in 24 of world's largest banks, or nearly $2,500 per capita. United States wealth, $254,600,000,000, about $2,400 per capita.

ELECTRICAL DEVELOPMENT.

Cheap electric power is the key to Canadian industrial development. She must take full advantage of this enormous resource to win a place in the field of international trade.—Sir Adam Beck. Montreal leads the Canadian cities in the use of electricity industrially, from Shawinigan and Cedar Rapids powers. Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission started in 1910 by selling 750 horse-power, and with contracts with 13 municipalities. Now, 200,000 horse-power to 225 municipalities, 350,000 additional h. p. is being developed. Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission had, Oct. 31, 1917, completed and under construction 1,584 miles of transmission lines, viz., Niagara system, 983.5; St. Lawrence, 66.35; Severn, 117.69; Wasdell's, 65.85; Eugenia, 259.66; Muskoka, 26.32; Central Ontario, 64.94. Assets, $37,804,273. Hydro-Electric power is developed at Kakabeka Falls; present development, 45,000 h. p.; still available for development, 100,000 h. p. The Chippewa-Queenston power development plan will cost $30,000,000 and produce 300,000 h. p.

Column one includes only Hydro-Electric stations which develop electrical power for sale. Column two includes only the water power owned by pulp and paper companies. In addition to this total, upwards of 100,000 Hydro-Electric horsepower is purchased by pulp and paper companies, mainly from the central electric stations included in column one. The hydraulic power utilized in the pulp and paper industry of Canada, therefore, totals to 450,000 horsepower.

MUTT AND JEFF

Anyway, Jeff Knows What Matches Are Made of

(Copyright 1918, By H. C. Fisher Trade Mark Reg. in Canada.)

JEFF, INSTEAD OF FOOLING AWAY YOUR TIME, IF YOU'D ENLIGHTEN YOURSELF BY READING YOU'D BE BETTER OFF. HERE'S AN ARTICLE WHICH STATES THAT THE HUMAN BODY IS OVER 90% WATER!

NINETY PER CENT! MY GOODNESS, WHAT'LL IT BE AFTER JULY FIRST!

IT ALSO GOES ON TO SAY THAT THE HUMAN BODY CONTAINS SOME SULPHUR!

SULPHUR? HOW MUCH SULPHUR IS THERE IN A PERSON?

IT SAYS THE AMOUNT VARIES!

EXPLAINS WHAT?

WHY SOME GIRLS MAKE BETTER MATCHES THAN OTHERS, HAR-HAR!

THERE'S ONE SATISFACTION, I'VE GOT A TOUGHER HEAD THAN THIS DRUM!

SPORTING NEWS
FIFTH REGIMENT SHOOT
At the weekly shoot held at Clover Point Rifle Range Saturday afternoon
the conditions, when firing commenced, did not appear favorable for high scoring.
There were two possibilities made at 500 yards, one by Sergt-Major Watson and one by S-Sergt, Austin. Capt.
Winsby was high with the fine score of 191, which was quite a remarkable performance under the prevailing conditions.

MONAHAN HAS A HIGH
OPINION OF WILLARD
Toledo, June 30.—Victory of Jess Willard with a knockout within five rounds in his heavyweight championship contest with Jack Dempsey here
July 4, was the prediction of Walter Monahan, chief sparring partner for the champion. It was Monahan who conditioned Willard in his match with Jack Johnson at Havana.
Toledo is rapidly becoming the sport centre of the country, every train is bringing sporting celebrities in ever-increasing numbers. The list to-day included Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion; Frank Moran, who once fought Willard for the title; Jack McAuliffe, the only man who retired an undefeated champion of the world;
Tommy Ryan, former middleweight champion; Billy Moulden, a famous conditioner of athletes and a score of others.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT
TO CONTINUE THIS WEEK
Draw For To-day; Expect to Finish on Saturday
After a week of very uncertain, rather cool and somewhat windy weather and a few showers of rain on Saturday afternoon, the handicap tournament of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club despite these disadvantages will be completed next Saturday afternoon unless seriously interrupted by rain. As was stated in these columns during the week, the big surprise of the tournament has been the elimination of a majority of the prominent players—Dr. Ridewood and Mr. Kitto falling victim to Herrill and Brethour and Miss Bradford being disposed of by Miss Cotworth. Mrs. Irwin doing likewise to Mrs. Mogg. Fairbairn brought off his singles with Westwood after a good stiff fight. Mr. and Mrs.
Garrett lost to the Junior Champion,
Miss Leonard and her rising partner,
D. M. Gordon. Only a few games are scheduled for to-day, but it is requested by the Committee that any competitors who can play and have not been put on the list will do so. This also applies to the games for Tuesday, (Dominion Day).
Miss Neame and McCallum had to default owing to the former having to leave for England yesterday, to the great regret of her many tennis friends and members of the club generally.
For this reason her entry in the mixed doubles had also to be cancelled.
Following are the results of Saturday's play:
Miss Archibald (3/6) beat Mrs. Sayer
(5/7, 6/0).
Miss Lawson (5/0) beat Miss Williams (1/5, 6-1, 6-1).
Miss Cotworth (1/6) beat Miss
Bradford (2/3, 6-4, 6-4).
Miss Lawson and Miss Idiens (5/0) beat Misses M. and A. Mason (1/5, 6-0, 6-2).
Mrs. Rickaby and Miss Neame beat Miss Case and Miss Ashdown by default.
Fairbairn (5/0) beat Herrill (1/5, 1/6) 6-2, 6-0.
Mundy (1/5, 1/6) beat Whittaker (1/5, 3/6), 6-1, 6-1.
Mrs. Mogg and Hepburn (1/5) beat Misses Bradford and Bone (3/0), 7-5, 6-2.
Herrill and Brethour (1/5) beat Dr.
Ridewood and Kitto (1/5, 3/6) 6-3, 6-0.
Mr. and Mrs. Meredith (3/6) 6-2, 6-4.
Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy (1/5, 3/6) 6-2, 6-4.
Leeming and Gordon (3/0) beat Clement and Whittaker (1/5, 3/6) 6-2, 6-4.
Mrs. Irwin (5/0) beat Mrs. Mogg
(1/5) 7-5, 6-7, 6-4.
The draw for to-day follows:
6 p.m.—Mr. and Mrs. Fairbairn play Miss Sayer and Dr. Ridewood.
At 6 p.m.—Miss Lawson plays Miss Archibald.
Mrs. Crooch and Miss Milligan play
Mrs. and Miss Taylor.
Miss Roberts and Miss Gordon play
Miss Errington and Miss Scott.
Hudson and Proctor play Garrett and McCallum.
Mrs. Irwin and Taylor play Miss Lawson and Cleer.

AMITIES STAGE LAST INNINGS RALLY AND PASS SHIPBUILDERS
Former Star Sails Past Home Plate For Winning Tally in in 10-9 Game
With only two men down in the last half of the last inning, the old Victoria players who represented the Capital City in the games of fifteen years ago, passed the Foundation total of nine runs at Royal Athletic Park Saturday, and marched off the field triumphant by one run after a game that proved to be every bit as exciting as the controversy.
There was a short spell during which the shipbuilders held the idea that the champions of the city league would have no difficulty in fooling their way to a win over the old stagers, and after piling up a run of three runs off Jimmie Neame in the first innings, they looked like winners until the last half of the match. The Amities went to the bat second and hung up a brace in the first, but Ross managed to shut them out for five stanzas, after which the old-time players reduced the six runs lead by three. The Foundation players added one more in the nine, and thought the game was on ice, but the Amities brought the weight of their experience to bear in staging a last inning rally that sent the Foundation nine back a much wiser crowd.
Potts and Holmes both hit Ross for a single, and McConnell walked, filling the bases. Then Frank Moore got a two-bagger, scoring two runs and the excitement began. When Goward walked to the plate the Amity supporters were on their toes waiting for Gaddydude to help the way to the last minute victory, but he walked back to the bench, leaving Moore still on second and McConnell on third. Jack Rithet, the next man up, helped matters with a two-bagger. After the retiring the opponents took the long chance and must have beaten the Pathfinder's speed record in scoring the sacks, as he made the home plate. Amid great excitement he reached the home sack with a safe margin of four feet and tied the score.
Schwegers came up next and struck out, and then Burns came up with the result of the game resting on his shooting. Gravin, in the first inning, began to help, but he evidently thought it best to get anxious and yanked Ross out of the box and went in himself.
George laid one towards centre and right, and it looked as if Lalonde should have been an attempt to garner
the bases to McMilloy, the centre fielder.
As a result nobody was under the pill,
and blowing harder than he used to do,
in his palmy days, Rithet, one of the stars of the club in the old days, came back to get the home plate for the winning run, with a couple of feet to spare. With the game tucked away the victorious Amities walked from the field without waiting to show how many they could win by finishing the innings.

Big Problem Is Facing Traction
Officials of Toledo
Toledo, O., June 30.—To carry 60,000 impatient fight fans from the heart of Toledo to Tex Rickard's $150,000 Arena four miles away in five hours is the problem which will face traction officials and taxicab companies meet in their championship contest here July 4. To solve it, everything on wheels will be pressed into service—120 Cars an Hour.
The chief medium of transportation to Bay View Park, the site of the Arena, will be street cars. Fortunately the city has a double track from the heart of the city to the Park, and, by running cars out on one track and returning on the other, can move approximately 15,000 per hour. To accomplish this it will be necessary to tap other city lines for additional equipment. Officials of the Toledo Rail & Light Company, the traction operating system, plan to operate 120 cars an hour—one every half minute—to the Arena, which is at the end of Summit Street, one of the main thoroughfares of the city.
Dollar a Ride.
Automobiles of various sorts will give the street cars a close race in moving the crowd to the Park, and, by regular taxi services, every automobile truck will go into service for the day, and hundreds of solid citizens will hang a "For Rent" sign on the family car.
Prices for the trips to and from the Arena have not been established, but it is assured there will be no seats in automobiles bringing less than one dollar for the one way ride.
Special Trains Near.
Those coming to the contest in special trains will be within walking distance of their seats. Railroad officials have arranged to park hundreds of sleeping cars in the switch yards along the Maumee River, only a few minutes walk from Bay View Park. This will relieve the transportation problem by several thousands.
The gates of the huge Arena will be thrown open at 9 o'clock on the morning of the contest, but Willard and Dempsey will not climb into the ring until 2 o'clock that afternoon. It is safe to say that approximately half the

CITIZENS REGATTA
WILL BE THE VENUE
OF HOLIDAY CROWDS

Baseball, Tennis, Inter-City
 Cricket Among Other Features of Day

Holiday makers to-morrow will have a good selection of organized sports from which to select. Baseball fans, tennis lovers, those interested in cricket and the usual big crowds that are attracted to the Gorge will all find special events on the cards for the day.
 Attractions outside the city will also probably draw many of the holiday makers, Sidney having arranged for a day of inter-city games, and transportation to accommodate the thousands that are anticipated will make the trip from Victoria. A big field day including baseball, lacrosse, and other sports are among the features on the programme. Cowichan Bay regatta is being staged with all the splendor of pre-war days and as one of the most beautiful of any outdoor attraction in the province is expected to draw a big percentage of the holiday makers from Victoria and other parts of the island.

The inter-city cricket game between Vancouver and Victoria will take place at the Jubilee Hospital grounds and is one of the main events of the year of the cricketers' calendar. As the first of the series of inter-city games with the Mainland players the result is watched with special interest. Last year Victoria carried off the honors in the series but both elevens include many new players.
 The baseball attractions referred to in another column will also be an inter-city affair, a morning game and an afternoon game will be played between the Mainland amateur league being billed.

Tennis followers will be attracted by the tournament at the Willows Courts, where play will take place all day. The tournament has been on for several days past and the players have just reached the stage where they are fighting hard for positions in the final round.

Inter-city competition is also provided in the citizens' regatta at the Gorge, with provincial swimming and rowing titles at stake. The Vancouver oarsmen have arrived and it is planned to start the gala promptly at 2:30 to finish the lengthy programme of attractive events in good time. A

 Afternoon—Goes to Sidney and Vancouver To-morrow

 Day celebration. Capt. Jimmie Gray will pilot the machine and will drop literature over Nanaimo and stunt there this evening, after which he will fly back to this city.

To-morrow morning the Pathfinder will fly to Sidney to stunt and carry passengers. This will be one of the main features of the splendid programme which has been arranged for the Sidney celebrations.
 Immediately after this exhibition Pilot Jack Clemence will hop for Vancouver to assist in the grand aerial meet which is to be held at Minoru Park. This will be the greatest day in the history of Canadian aviation.

ANOTHER MIRACULOUS
ESCAPE OF MOTORISTS

Three Men Narrowly Miss Death; Car Left Road and Turned Over

Failing to make the turn from St.
 Charles Street to Fort Street early Sunday morning a high-powered car driven by J. Morgan, and carrying W. J. Harrison and Walter Burden as passengers, crashed through a fence and hedge, broke off a small tree and turned over, severe injuries being inflicted about the heads of the occupants.

Inquiry at the Royal Jubilee Hospital elicited the information that Burden left the institution this morning having sufficiently recovered from his injures, but that Morgan and Harrison were still confined there, and were resting quietly. Morgan has one of his facial bones broken, several minor cuts and had bruises on his side, while Harrison has a bad bruise on one eye.

The motor was attempting to make the sharp curve to Fort Street, but was travelling too fast and leaped into the front garden of a vacant house. There was just sufficient room between a telegraph post and a large oak tree for the car to squeeze through. A branch from the tree, however, ripped the hood off the car, and it was a wonder that the men did not have their heads taken off.

The occupants were all rendered unconscious by the force of impact. James Smith, who happened to be passing at 2 o'clock in the morning discovered the accident, and immediately phoned for the patrol, which took the men to the hospital. Dr. Ernest Hall attended to their injuries.

LIUTENANT-GOVERNOR
TO ENTERTAIN PARTY
ON SATURDAY NEXT

The delegates of the second annual convention of the G.W.V.A., numbering between 600 and 800, will be entertained at Government House by the Lieut.-Governor and Lady Barnard between 4 and 6 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

An opportunity will be afforded the visitors to view the grounds and partake of light refreshments.
 Cards of invitation will be issued to the Premier and members of the Government, the Mayor and Aldermen and the heads of various patriotic organizations to meet them.

OBITUARY RECORDS

The death has occurred at the Royal Jubilee Hospital of John James Pennick. The deceased has been a resident of this city for the past thirty-one years, a native of London, England, and sixty-five years of age. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from the Thomson Funeral Chapel. Rev. G. Cook will officiate.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED
BY WAR VETERANS
 Number of Matters Dealt With
 By Provincial Convention at Vancouver

Vancouver, June 30.—At the conclusion of a dinner by the local members of the Great War Veterans' Association to the visiting delegates, Saturday evening, the regular business of the provincial convention was proceeded with. Resolutions were considered, dealing with many subjects of interest to returned men and important Dominion legislation was foreshadowed.

The Government should be asked to refund the passage money paid by veterans who removed their dependents from England prior to the armistice is the opinion of the convention, which passed a resolution to this effect, and the proper share of profits from Canadian army canteens and stores overseas should be paid over to the fund in Canada for the proper maintenance of widows and orphans of Canadian soldiers.

Special Allowance.
 The idea of a special allowance to assist returned men who, by reason of their disability, must conduct some sort of business in the open air and must add to their pension allowance, was supported.
 The granting of titles to homesteaders who actually served overseas before their homesteads were granted and a refund of any taxes paid by men while serving overseas both found support in resolutions passed by the convention.

That soldiers be paid pensions while in the service, to take effect immediately upon the conclusion of hospital treatment, instead of awaiting their return to civilian life, was approved by the convention and the request will be placed before the Dominion gathering.

Trapping and Mining.
 An amendment to the B. C. statutes regarding trapping and mining privileges was voted upon favorably, and it was decided that the Government might profitably be approached to support more land settlement schemes like that put forward in the Asia plan, which has met with success in Courtenay district.

A motion that the Provincial Government be asked to exempt returned men from the payment of poll taxes for a period of one year was referred to the executive committee for investigation and action, as was also a motion that the Government be requested to rebate the statute labor tax inas-far as the property of soldiers is affected.

COWICHAN BAY REGATTA
 All arrangements for the regatta at Cowichan Bay are now well in hand and, with the cessation of the strike, a large attendance from outside may be counted on to swell the gathering. The wharf now has been repaired.
 Apart from the regatta with its sailing and sculling races, Indian war canoe attractions, and swimming, the gypsy encampment will prove attractive. The 50th Regt. Highland Pipe-band will be in attendance, and various vaudeville shows will leave not one dull moment.
 Entries for the various events should be greater than in years when so many men have been away overseas. Sea-yachtsmen are expected, together with a large contingent from Victoria.

Asia Smashed Her Own Record Across Pacific

C.P.O.S. Liner Completed Trip From Yokohama in Eight Days Twenty-one Hours, Averaging 19.6 Knots — Docked Here Last Night With 350 Saloon Passengers

Smashing her previous best time by several hours the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services liner Empress of Asia, leviathan passenger liner of the Pacific, reached this port from the Orient last night after a splendid run of eight days, twenty-one hours, four minutes, actual running time from Yokohama.

The best day's run was 460 nautical miles. The record for the trans-Pacific voyage is held by the sister liner Empress of Russia, which shortly after her arrival from the builder's yards established the magnificent time of eight days, sixteen hours. No other liner plying the ocean lanes of the Pacific has ever approached the speed of the C. P. O. S. leviathans which have been appropriately named the "Greyhounds of the Pacific."

Average Speed.
The average speed of the Empress of Asia this voyage was 19.6 knots, as against the 19.7 best time of the Empress of Russia. Ideal weather conditions prevailed, with the exception of some near-gale weather encountered when the liner was forging along in mid-ocean.

Chief Engineer John Adamson, the veteran engineer of the C. P. O. S. service, is pleased with the performance, but he knows just what she can accomplish, and is quietly confident that even better time could be made were the engines opened out. "We are not attempting to break records these days," he said last night when the giant ship lay at her berth at the Outer Docks. He inferred, however, that the ship has lots of reserve power, and could do even better if forced.

Capt. W. Davison, R. N. R., the liner's commander, looked upon the passage as "just an ordinary run."

At 6.30 o'clock last night the Empress of Asia headed around the Race Rocks and fetched up off William Head, completing her twenty-first onward voyage from the Far East. By 8.30 o'clock she was tied up at the Outer Docks. The lines were handled by C. P. R. officials from Vancouver, and local men, dressed in their Sunday-best. They made a good job of it. Owing to the longshoremen's strike it was necessary for members of the crew to handle the large Oriental mail and freight inside the shed. For this reason the liner failed to get away for Vancouver until 2 o'clock this morning.

350 Passengers.
The Empress of Asia brought in 350 saloon passengers, and in order to accommodate the rush of bookings, second class quarters were temporarily converted into first class accommodations. Sixty-eight passengers came ashore at this port.

Capt. W. Davison, R. N. R., will leave the Asia at Vancouver to enjoy a vacation. On her next outward trip the liner will be commanded by Capt. A. J. Hailey, R. N. R.

STEAM RAISED ON FIRST FRENCH BOAT
Hull 207 Will Undergo Official Trials on Saturday

Steam was raised in the boilers of Hull 207, the first French vessel to be completed by the Foundation Company, at Ogden Point this morning. The steam tests at the fitting-out dock were completed and the vessel will be ready for her trials on Saturday.

It was announced that the official trials of the vessel will take place on Saturday next when the vessel will be put through speed, continuous steaming tests and turning manoeuvres.

Providing these tests are satisfactory the vessel will immediately be turned over to the French Government, her owners.

The 300-ton ship building here for the French Government has a contract for 11 knots, and it is anticipated that this speed will easily be exceeded. Another shipment of boilers were delivered at the Ogden Point plant yesterday from the Willamette Iron Works at Portland, the scow-load having been towed here from the Columbia River by the tug Daniel Kern.

Hull 216 is expected to be ready for her trials by the middle of July.

While the name of the sponsor has yet to be announced, arrangements have been completed for the launching of Hull 211 from the Point Hope yard on Friday.

Hull 211 is the first of the second batch of eight ships to be laid down by the Foundation Company. The first batch of eight ships already being launched and are now lying at the fitting-out yard at Ogden Point.

Hayley Hopkins, vice-president and general manager of the Foundation Company, is due in the city to-day from San Francisco.

The officers and crew for Hull 207 built at the yards of the Foundation Company of B. C. Ltd., arrived in the city yesterday and were taken in hand by Edward White, who acted as interpreter, and his son Fred White, who is sub-agent for Lloyd's here.

The French officers numbered seven and the men twenty-three. They were conducted to their hotel and put up in comfortable quarters. The captain after visiting the vessel he will shortly navigate to France, expressed great satisfaction with the local construction.

PENETRATED FAR INTO MESOPOTAMIA
D. S. Miller, an American Rhodes Scholar, Returning to Oxford

Returning to Oxford University to resume his studies after a long period of war service, D. S. Miller, a Rhodes Scholar from Denver, Colorado, passed through here from the Orient on the liner Empress of Asia.

Mr. Miller was one of the Oxford men who left University life for the more serious business of war. Although an American he joined the British Y. M. C. A. in 1916 and went to Mesopotamia, and followed the British force far into the interior, up to Graanovadak on the Caspian Sea.

Of the most interesting feats of the campaign, in the opinion of Mr. Miller, was the hauling of 47 guns over the hilly country for hundreds of miles. Now it is possible, he says, to cross Naku which links up Batum to the Black Sea. He was particularly struck with the various methods of transportation. Mr. Miller was in charge of the transportation for the Y. M. C. A. in Baghdad. Besides trains, river steamers and motor trucks, convoys of camels and donkeys were used.

When the United States decided to throw her lot in with the allies, Mr. Miller set out for home with the object of joining the American army and got as far as Yokohama when the armistice was signed.

Went to Siberia.

So he turned back and went into Siberia, and now, after many months of service there, is returning to England to resume his work at Oxford University.

"It will be a changed Oxford," says Mr. Miller, "a vastly interesting Oxford. Although some of the old men will not be there, others will return, marked by their experiences in the war. Although there were no appointments in 1918, there were in 1917, and there will be the largest group of Americans in the college that has ever been there. Men from the Belgian relief service, from the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and the French ambulance service; some from diplomatic and administrative positions and others from the British, French and American armies. Yes, it will be an interesting Oxford this year."

Before continuing his journey to Oxford, Mr. Miller will spend a few weeks with his relatives in the United States.

NOTABLE PEOPLE ON EMPRESS BOAT

Sir Charles Crewe and Sir Everard Fraser Bound to England From Orient

Prominent among the passengers arriving here by the C. P. O. S. liner Empress of Asia last night were Sir Charles Crewe, who, with the rank of Brigadier-General, saw much service in German East Africa, and Sir Everard Fraser, British Consul-General at Shanghai.

During the voyage Sir Charles Crewe was indisposed and scarcely left his cabin. In a chat with The Times representative Sir Charles stated that he had been on a health tour at the recommendation of his doctors. Although not completely recovered from an illness contracted during the South African campaign he is greatly benefited in health as the result of his cruise in Far Eastern waters, and is returning to England and South Africa eager to get back into political harness.

He represents the constituency of East London in the Union House of Assembly.

Sir Charles is a South African veteran, having spent forty-five years in that country.

When the British colonial force was sent into German East Africa to clean up the Germans, Sir Charles was in command of the force which penetrated into German territory from Uganda.

The colonial troops, he says, behaved admirably. German East Africa was the last of the German colonies to fall into British hands.

While in the Far East Sir Charles visited Peking and other important points in the Orient. He is accompanied by Lady Crewe.

Sir Everard Fraser, who has been British Consul-General at Shanghai for the past five years, accompanied by Lady Fraser, is returning to London on a holiday. R. Guggenheim, a member of the famous Guggenheim family, is making his way back to New York after spending some time in the Orient.

The Empress of Asia also brought in a number of British naval officers. Among the naval officers on board were: Lieut.-Com. F. G. Cavanaugh and Commander J. R. Muir.

G. Millard, one of the directors of the Far Eastern division of the Dunlop Rubber Company, which maintains a large factory at Kobe, was a passenger on the Asia. He is going to London in connection with the firm's business.

Mrs. Millard proceeded him several months ago.

George F. Emanuel, manager of the Dill-Crosset Company, Kobe, is on his way to San Francisco. Mr. Emanuel has been at Kobe nearly three years, and has been most actively identified with numerous war works, notably with the American Red Cross. He was nominated president of the American association of Kobe last winter, which post he held until his departure from Japan.

ON DUTY AGAIN.
Lieut. Commander E. L. Johnson, D. S. O., hero of submarine H-3 resumed his duties as pilot after four years' war experience at sea.

Capt. "Barney" Johnson, as he is familiarly known, took the liner Empress of Asia up to Vancouver to-day. He was heartily greeted by a large number of his waterfront friends at the Outer Docks last night when the Asia arrived from the Orient.

THE DIFFERENCE.
"Why is it, Sam, that one never hears of a darky committing suicide?" inquired a Northern man.

"Well, you see, it's disaway, boss," answered the negro. "When a white pusson has any trouble he sets down an 'ants to studyin' 'bout it an' a-worryin'. Then first thing you know he's done killed himself. But when a nigger sets down to think 'bout his troubles, why, he jes' natcherly goes to sleep!"

DRYDOCK LOCATION UPSETS VANCOUVER
Terminal City Interests Lodge Strenuous Postests With Ottawa

Vancouver, June 28.—The announcement that the proposed drydock will be built in Victoria, instead of Vancouver, has caused considerable stir in local shipping, shipbuilding and business circles generally and strenuous protests have been pouring over the wires to Ottawa from a variety of sources in this city. Several of the large industries vitally interested in the establishment of a drydock here are co-operating with some of the public and semi-public bodies in an endeavor to bring pressure to bear at Ottawa.

The Vancouver Board of Trade is taking an active part in this movement and is enlisting the support of other bodies in urging upon the Federal Government the absolute need of a drydock at this port.

AUTHORIZE FORMATION OF R.N.C.V.R. FORCE
The organization in Victoria of a company of the R. N. C. V. R. has been authorized by the Federal authorities and Lieut. R. E. Winslow, of the Naval Department, announces that a meeting to discuss the formation of the force will be held on Friday evening. Capt. E. H. Martin, R. N., will be in the chair.

The company he formed it will be composed of about a hundred men between the ages of eighteen and forty-two. Recruits will be sworn in for three years to give service when called upon. Two drill nights weekly and boat drill on Saturday afternoons will compose the course of training. Men desirous of joining the force should hand their names to the secretary of the Army and Navy Veterans, Pemberton Building.

MR. ASQUITH'S REPLY TO LORD FRENCH

A Vigorous Rejoinder

London newspapers just received contain full reports of Mr. Asquith's recent speech in which he crushing replies to Lord French's strictures upon his Government during the early part of the war in the book which is now being published in serial form. It was in this speech that Mr. Asquith declared that Lord French contemplated movements which would have had the effect of leaving the French army in the lurch during the retreat from Mons. The speech is as follows:

Mr. Asquith said: "I suppose it is probably the case that we should not have met in this way at this particular moment if it had not been that we have just come to the end of a journalistic serial in which the late Commander-in-Chief of our Army in France and in Flanders, purporting to describe the first year of the war, has made himself responsible for attacks and aspersions both upon the living and upon the dead—(cheers)—which I do not say are, or ought to be, without any adequate and definite proof." (Cheers.)

"I cannot recall any parallel of this ill-considered and unhappy literary effort. (Cheers.) Lord French is not only a Field-Marshal on the active list of the army, but he occupies at the moment one of the highest and most responsible posts in the Civil Service of the Crown. He is Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, one of the darkest, I think myself it is the darkest of the dark spots on the map, not only of the British Empire but of the world."

"And while the statesmanship of free nations is trying to find everywhere else some foothold, some point of new departure for nations, the late Commander-in-Chief of our Army in France and in Flanders is not only occupying his time and his energies to fill the columns of the daily press with a series of articles, the early days of the war, which I do not hesitate—speaking with as much knowledge, perhaps, as any man possesses—(cheers)—to characterize here and now as incomplete, partial, in most serious respects misleading, and, as the whole world will soon see—indeed, as I shall show to-day—contradictory at variance with a contradiction of his own statements and written utterances in the past."

Unfair Advantage.

"Gentlemen, there, in my judgment, is a very serious matter here, and it is rendered even more so, even more serious, by the fact that while apparently Lord French enjoys in his character of Field-Marshal a complete immunity from the restrictive regulations which apply to other officers on the active list, he makes free use of official and confidential documents to build up a case against those whose lips are closed, in some instances by death, and in others by official restraints which apply to them but not to him."

"I feel it my duty to say that quite apart from the merits or demerits, the justice or injustice, the accuracy or inaccuracy of Lord French's narrative, the whole proceeding is of the worst example, and in flagrant contradiction to the best traditions of our public service, and manifestly and lamentably repugnant to the elementary rules of fair play. (Cheers.)"

"I need hardly say that I do not make that protest for any other reason than the fullest publicity as to this or any other part of the war which I have a direct or even the most indirect responsibility. On the contrary, I have the utmost confidence that complete disclosure of all the facts is the one thing needed for and absolute vindication against the suggestion of any want of oversight, or lack of promptitude and energy, or apathy in council and in action of the Government of which I was then the head."

"But that is not the case put forward by Lord French, particularly in regard to the matter which formed the subject of the attack. I suppose I have not read them all—the notes, the vitriol of his chapters, the allegation, I mean, of deliberate apathy on the part of the Government in the provision of adequate shells, of shells and munitions for the armies in the field."

"I am going to show you not only that that charge is entirely unfounded, but that no one ought to know better that it has no foundation than Lord French himself. (Cheers.)"

Irreconcilable Accounts.

"But before I deal with that which will be my main theme to-day, I point out—for this is a question of authority and credibility—I must point out on the threshold that there are in this narrative dealing with other aspects of the early days of the war, things which might, and I think ought to, lead one to look with a good deal, I don't say of scepticism—but of close scrutiny at Lord French's testimony."

"In the first place, he gives an account of the Battle of Le Cateau, which I find wholly impossible to reconcile not only with the official dispatch immediately after the battle had taken place."

"This account, this afterthought, differs very much from the original version in that it reflects, I will not say on the honor, but on the military capacity of one of our greatest generals."

"There is another and still more serious case illustrative of the same thing. I pointed out the other day at Newcastle that the visit paid to him in Paris by Lord Kitchener at the end of the month of August is a travesty of the real facts. I am glad to know that the original documents which have happily been reserved, will shortly be given to the world."

"But in the meantime let me say this in regard to that transaction: The Government received—I received—a message from Lord French as to his contemplated movements, which I communicated to my colleagues and in regard to which it is no exaggeration to say it filled the whole of the Cabinet with consternation. I see several of my colleagues here, and I know that the Cabinet, and they will all bear me out that it filled us with consternation."

"And why? Because the movement which was indicated would in our judgment have amounted in effect to leaving our Allies in the lurch in the moment of their extreme need—(hear, hear)—and the consternation which we felt was shared and expressed in moving terms by the head of the French Government."

Saved From Reproach.

"It was in those circumstances, gentlemen, that Lord Kitchener, at the unanimous request of his colleagues, undertook his mission to France—a mission in which he successfully achieved our common object, and, in my judgment, saved our cause from an indelible reproach. (Cheers.)"

"Now, what is the charge made by Lord French in this matter, and the allegations? He tells us that his object is to make known some of the efforts he made to awaken both the Government and the public from that apathy which meant certain defeat."

Those efforts, he tells us, were continued for months, and his appeal, read upon deaf ears, and finally, after reading my speech at Newcastle—and I will come to that presently—he lost all hope, and determined, at the risk of his own military future, and by the aid of the press, and behind the back and without the knowledge of his own official chief, to destroy the apathy. (Cheers.)

As Mr. Lloyd George points out in the speech he made on April 21, and as Lord Kitchener emphasizes in this having in this country in a high judicial position, man of the highest document, we had the advantage of scientific eminence. Lord Moulton, Lord Moulton very patriotically took up the subject of the manufacture and development of high explosives, and as Lord Kitchener here says: writing in June, 1915:

"Lord Moulton not only provided explosives for our needs and prepared for the largest technical requirements, we shall have to meet later when our munitions grow to larger proportions, but enabled us to give our Allies, and notably France, sufficient explosives to enable us to continue the war."

(Cheers.)

"Lord French has referred to his letter of December 31, 1914, in which he set out his requirements, and as the late Commander-in-Chief of our Army Council, he has given a wholly misleading account of the answer sent him from the War Office on January 19. As there was only a short interval between the two letters I must, in justice to the War Office and Lord Kitchener, cite material parts of the War Office letter."

"You see, gentlemen, that at this time we were living in a kind of fool's paradise, stopping our ears, shutting our eyes, and not listening to Lord French's appeal for more and more munitions. The War Office letter runs:

"Sir, in reply to your letter of the 31st ult., I am commanded to inform you that the Army Council are fully alive to the urgent importance of increasing the supply of gun ammunition for the Expeditionary Force, and have spared no effort to do so. (Cheers.)"

"The Council desire to emphasize the fact that the orders for manufacture are not limited by what they think it necessary to supply, but are entirely dependent on the highest possible output of the ordnance factories throughout the Empire and the trade of England and the Allied and neutral countries of the world."

Failures in Delivery.

"The Army ought to have received, according to contract, by May 15, 481,000 high-explosive 18-pounder shells. Instead of that only 52,000, or very little more than one-tenth of the whole, were delivered. On the other hand, increases in force in the field, and the changed character of the fighting, led to an expenditure of artillery ammunition in excess of the calculations of any expert authority in any of the belligerent forces. During the fighting in and about Neuve Chapelle in the early spring of 1915, Mr. Lloyd George pointed out in his speech, nearly as much artillery ammunition was spent by our Army as during the whole two and three-quarter years of the First World War. How could they have got such an enormous supply? Entirely through the efforts made by the Government during the preceding weeks."

"I pause here a moment and diverge from the main stream of my argument to deal with a legend long current in a certain section of the Press, which Lord French now seeks to give the weight of his authority—the legend of an apathetic Government with a lethargic head."

Not a Premier Faintest.

"I am represented in this pictorial and romantic travesty of history—I am represented as spending my time idling in an armchair, occasionally arbitrating over the disputes of the different Departments, waiting on the chapter of accidents in the hope that some show on other, and in some way or other, the storm-tossed ship might drift safely into port. That is the picture which I believe finds credence in the minds of many of our population. (Laughter.)"

"Gentlemen, what is the fact? I do not like, as you know, to speak very much about myself. (Cheers.) But I am bound to do so. It is no exaggeration to say that, particularly in these early months of the war—criticisms, and, in the long run, decisive months of the war; everything depended on what was done then, and what was undone—it is no exaggeration to say that I was called upon almost every hour of every day to take, on my own responsibility and initiative, decisions which might be, and which often were, of the most momentous consequences."

"I had to do not only with military and naval operations, the recruiting of the new armies, transport, food supply, labour problems, but also with international finance, and what, at every time, was a task of supreme difficulty and delicacy, Allied diplomacy. (Cheers.)"

"I had the devoted help of most loyal and efficient colleagues, some of whom I am glad to see sitting around me at this table. (Cheers.) But there is not one of them—I am sure they will all agree with me when I say this—who has not come to me to get the last word—sometimes even the first word—in cases of difficulty or doubt."

Cabinet's Achievement.

"And what in the meantime—I do not want to speak more of myself—what had this Government of sluggards and paralytics—what had they been doing? They had in time of peace prepared for any war on any scale that British statesmanship had ever contemplated. We were and we remained throughout the war perfectly secure, not only in these islands, but against any risk of invasion. (Cheers.) No foreign soldier ever set his foot on one square yard of British ground. Our Expeditionary Force was ready to start fully equipped and with the necessary transport at a moment's notice—and it did literally at a moment's notice—to wherever it was most required."

"It soon became apparent that this war was going to dwarf all previous wars. What did we do? We recruited, we raised, we equipped, we dispatched vast new armies, we transported to the field of action the splendid contingents which were sent to our aid from all parts of our Empire all over the globe. We cleared the seas in those months effectually and finally of every German cruiser and every German merchant vessel. (Cheers.) We carried through the long and delicate negotiations which secured for the Allies the co-operation and the active support of gallant Italy. (Cheers.)"

"There were some of the things—not an exhaustive catalogue—these were some of the things which were actually done in the course of six months, and I say again the record is not a record of apathy or of lethargy. (Cheers.)"

"But to come back to Lord French."

I can honestly say for myself that with all my other preoccupations, manifold and distracting as they were, this matter of the supply of munitions was rarely out of my thoughts. I used to see Lord Kitchener daily—seven two or three times a day, and I believe hardly a day passed but I did not press him—not that he needed my pressure—but hardly a day passed when I did not press him to hurry on and to increase production by every possible means."

The Newcastle Speech.

"So dissatisfied and so apprehensive did I become at the relatively slow rate of progress as compared with our expectations and hopes, that I resolved to make a direct and personal appeal, both to masters and to men. That was the object and motive of my visit to Newcastle in the month of April. (Cheers.)"

"But observe, gentlemen, it was a very delicate business. I had to think not only of our own people, but of our Allies, and a precise report of the matter. (Cheers.) Operations of the greatest possible moment were, as I knew—though I could not disclose it—then impending, and it was of the utmost importance not to expose our own weakness or to give encouragement to the Germans—to let them think that we could not, and were not able to, do more than hold our own. (Cheers.)"

"I determined, therefore, to make very clear, my ground, and I instructed Lord Kitchener to send for Sir John French, to have him over here, to interrogate him, and to get from him a precise report of the military situation, and to make his report to me before I spoke."

"Sir John French came over. He was seen by Lord Kitchener at the War Office. I have here in an interesting historical document, or it will become so—I have here a letter in Lord Kitchener's own handwriting which he sent Sir John French immediately after he had seen Sir John French. My dear Prime Minister:

"I have had a talk with French. He told me I could let you know that with the present supply of ammunition he will have as much as his troops will be able to use on the next forward movement. (Loud and prolonged cheers.)"

"That letter is dated April 14, 1915. It is a few days before I went to Newcastle. I will read it again. (Loud cheers.)"

Assurance Doubly Sure.

Mr. Asquith read the letter again, interpolating the remark, "That is what I wanted. I was determined to make assurance doubly sure." (Cheers.) He then continued:

"Gentlemen, what more is to be said about that? Except I will say this—Lord Kitchener, in subsequent conversations before I went to Newcastle, confirmed what he has put down in that letter. I therefore felt I was sure—I had got what I wanted. I thought I could be able to speak without giving encouragement to the enemy in regard to these delicate and dangerous operations which were about to be launched. I felt, in fact, bound to say 'Newcastle what I did' about that point."

"Lord French says he read my speech. I wonder if he did. At any rate, if he had read it with anything like decent care, he would not have given a most complete travesty of what I said. I quote my exact words:

"I saw a statement the other day that the operations, not only of our own army, but of our Allies, were being crippled or, at any rate, hampered owing to our failure to provide the necessary munitions. I say there is no truth in that statement."

"Was I or was I not justified in making that statement? (Cheers.) And then I went on—I am still quoting—'and went on to my main theme—the extreme and perilous urgency of the situation as regarded the future. That was the point I was on. (Cheers.) I may point out in passing—see, refreshing my memory, the very next night in his speech in the House of Commons. Mr. Lloyd George said, exactly the same thing—(laughter and cheers)—namely, that up to that moment when I was speaking and he was speaking—I won't say we were all right, but we were in a position of security, and the real point of danger and difficulty was the future."

To Deliver the Goods.

"What did I say about the future? It was a very long speech, and I won't quote it in great detail. I summed up the case in these words:

"There is not a single naval or military authority among us who, in view of the approximate and respective requirements, does not declare that a large and rapid increase in the output of munitions has become one of the first necessities of the war. (Cheers.) Lord Kitchener says so, Lord French has said so. This, then, is what in the name of your King and country we ask you to do to deliver the goods."

"There was a time in the decadent days of the Roman Empire when the Praetorians, as they were called, and sometimes the Romans in distant parts of the Empire, used to change Emperors. (Laughter.) I confess I never knew until I read Lord French's article that it was to him, the Commander-in-Chief of our armies in France, that we owe the blessings of the Coalition Government. (More laughter.) But he says so. (Renewed laughter.)"

"And he sent over to bring about this beneficial revolution in the conduct of our affairs a versatile gentleman well known to many of us—Captain Guest. (Laughter.) Providence works, as you know, by mysterious agencies—(laughter)—and the combination of Lord French in his headquarters in France and Captain Guest manipulating the press and the politicians, we had the desired result, and, as Lord French tells you, the Government fell. (More laughter.)"

What Lord French Forgot.

"Well, I don't know which Lord French thinks was the chief villain of the old piece—Lord Kitchener or myself. As it happened, we both retained our old offices—(renewed laughter)—in the reconstructed Government, and while I should be the last, and will always be the last, to belittle the splendid work which was subsequently done by the Ministry of Munitions, to the formation of which I was a party, and a principal party—(cheers)—and which in the early days of its life, when there was a good deal of friction with the War Office, I strenuously backed with all the authority I possessed, yet Lord French appears to have forgotten that during the whole of the time that he remained in command in France, and for months afterwards, the British Army in France and Flanders lived and fought with great determination and with many successes entirely on
