MIAMI UNIVERSITY

Oxford, Ohio

CHARTERED, MARCH 8, 1852. INACTIVE, 1873-89. REVIVED, OCTOBER 16, 1889

IN the autumn of 1849, Miami University opened its second quarter century with an outlook which rightly indicated the prosperity then at hand. A want of harmony in government with failure in discipline in the few years previous had reduced both attendance and personnel to a point much below the standards of the earlier years of the institution. A $\Delta \Phi$, whose second chapter had flourished at Miami since 1835, and B Θ II, whose parent chapter had been founded in 1839, were both dormant, if not quite extinct. But signs of revival in all college affairs came at once with President Anderson's advent in 1849.

A new fraternity, the parent chapter of $\Phi \Delta \Theta$, was instituted late in that year. It thrived and absorbed from the student body its best talent. Its freedom from competition, however, soon brought disaster. In 1851, while under the rule of Benjamin Harrison, later President of the United States, it broke into two equal factions, one of which, consisting of six members, withdrew from the Chapter. Part of this number with others joined with them, again six in all, under the influence and advice of Jacob Cooper, a resident of the vicinity, and at that time a senior member of the Φ Chapter at Yale, applied for a charter from $\Delta K E$, which charter was granted March 8, 1852. The charter members within three months after receipt of proper authority added another six to their number, which twelve constituted the K Chapter at the close of the college year. In the two years following, ten names were added to the roll. With slight exceptions these were prosperous years. The organization was intended to be extremely select, and the standards aimed at, the highest attainable. In the fall of 1854, seven others were initiated—five of whom were of Sophomore standing. These five Sophomores, together with another member of the same class who had been initiated the year before, soon found themselves out of harmony with the other six members—for the chapter again consisted of what to them had always been the significant number of twelve—and this want of harmony developed irreconcilable differences producing two discordant and hostile factions. The real grievances of either side were probably slight, but imagined wrongs drove the six Sophomores to such extremity that by the end of the college year they found themselves quite without the pale of $\Delta K E$. The loyal six, under the leadership of Whitelaw Reid, now U. S. Ambassador to the Court of St. James, maintained the dignity of the chapter as long as any of them remained in college; but no more additions were made and K sank out of sight for a season from its place at Miami. The seceding brethren organized another Fraternity, later known as the ΣX , which organization had little vitality after the departure of its founders and thereafter remained unknown at the place of its founding for a third of a century. Thus closed the period of formation, of misunderstanding and strife, but withal the foundations of $\Delta K E$ had been securely laid in fertile fraternity soil at Miami University.

The charter of the K Chapter had not been withdrawn; and in 1859, by action of the Convention held at Columbus, Ohio, which action was secured through the efforts of Whitelaw Reid, permission was granted to resume activity by the initiation of eight new men. This was the beginning of a brilliant and prosperous era in the history of K which lasted for more than a decade. $A \Delta \Phi$ and $B \Theta \Pi$ had returned to their former prosperity before the middle fifties and were now flourishing. $\Phi \Delta \Theta$, like ΣX , had vanished, to reappear only with the advent of a greater number of students at the close of the Civil War. Although the war at times interfered seriously with college attendance, whole companies having more than once been organized and marched from the campus, at no time was work wholly suspended, nor did a single graduating class lack for members from $\Delta K E$. Many of the members of those times saw service in the conflict, all on the Federal side. Two lives were sacrificed on the altar of patriotism, Colonel James H. Childs, at Antietam, and Colonel Minor Millikin, at Stone River — both when leading their respective regiments in battle. The close of the war was followed for a time by some additional prosperity to college and fraternity, but increased expenses due to a general advance in prices, with a small and fixed income, drove the institution to close its doors in 1873. It was in the latter part of this period that the chapter undertook to build a hall for its meetings. Since early in the sixties they had occupied quarters in the old "North East," one of the college dormitories, where they were very comfortably situated for initiatory and business meetings. They now erected a third story on a new business block then building in the village — which constituted the first permanent hall used by any fraternity at Miami and the third-story structure was the first hall built for fraternity use.

Miami University remained closed for twelve years. It was reopened in 1885, when tardy appropriations by the legislature of the State began to make its further usefulness a possibility. The period of its inactivity marks a deep division in its history. The fraternities likewise had difficulty when revived to connect the present with the past. $\Delta K E$ hesitated to return until well assured of permanence in the institution. The zeal of certain members of the chapter — a score or more of them at least, but pre-eminent among them, Judge Samuel F. Hunt of Cincinnati and Hon. Calvin S. Brice of New York, afterward United States Senator from Ohio — kept the thought of a revived K before the Fraternity. The way for action was paved by entertainment extended by the members of the $\Delta K E$ Central Club of Cincinnati with whom the 42nd Convention was held in 1888. In 1889, Messrs. Hunt and Brice attended the 43rd Convention at Boston and presented a petition from seven students of Miami University, asking for a regrant of the charter of the K Chapter. Under the happy influence of the delegates the charter was granted without question, although a calm view in retrospect and a definite knowledge of the conditions then existing casts some shadow upon the wisdom of the proceeding. However, in the next few years, renewed and increased interest on the part of the State provided substantial maintenance for the University and a strong student body upon which to support good fraternity chapters has resulted. All of the old fraternities except $A \Delta \Phi$ have been revived, including ΔY , which first entered the field in 1868. New and adequate buildings and equipment have been provided, so that in its several departments not including summer school, the annual attendance at the University for several years past has exceeded five hundred students. The chief interests of the institution center about the classical and scientific studies, although all modern undergraduate courses are provided and liberally patronized.

The members of the K Chapter have well maintained their standing among their fellows both in the earlier and later periods. For the earlier time the records are incomplete, but honor men from K appear in almost every class in which $\Delta K E$ was represented. Tabulated statistics of the last twenty years show that the honors attained by K men in all departments of college activity almost equal in number those taken by members of all the other fraternities combined. The Chapter has been actively represented in the governing board of the University for nearly half a century. To the teaching force there have been contributed in the later period several of its most efficient and popular members, who as heads of departments and associates fill important posts of duty in its daily life. In the world of business and among the occupations and professions, honorable and at times distinguished positions have been held by K men. The Chapter began housekeeping in 1894, the first fraternity in Oxford to undertake such a venture, and since that time it has maintained an establishment. Plans and financial support are now about complete for a handsome and commodious chapter house which will soon be furnished for a permanent home. The past in most respects has been satisfactory, the future is bright with prospects for continued and better service to the aims and interests which the Fraternity upholds.

NOTE: The names of twelve initiates of the K Chapter have been stricken from the rolls and do not appear elsewhere in this catalogue. They are Josiah E. Brown, 1854, who withdrew in 1852; Charles M. Hughes, 1857, initiated in June, 1853, before he entered college and who never affiliated thereafter—but became a member of $\Phi \Delta \Theta$; Thomas C. Bell, James P. Caldwell, Daniel W. Cooper, Isaac M. Jordan, Benjamin P. Runkle and Franklin H. Scobey, at that time all of the class of 1857, who withdrew and founded ΣX in 1855; John L. Cleveland, 1863, who left the senior class at Centre College for a few months in 1862, where he was a member of $\Phi \Delta \Theta$ and to which institution he returned and graduated, resuming his connection with that fraternity; Ellis M. Potter, 1873, who entered Cornell University and joined $X \Phi$; Henry C. Hume, 1875, who entered Ohio Wesleyan University after the close of Miami University in 1873 and joined ΣX ; Andrew C. Kemper, 1853, a founder of the K Chapter, and prominent in its re-founding in 1889, formerly a member of $\Phi \Delta \Theta$, who, in 1898, after 46 years' membership in $\Delta K E$, withdrew and reentered $\Phi \Delta \Theta$. The appearance of any of the above names in any catalogues of the fraternity after the dates of their graduation—except A. C. Kemper—is error on the part of those who furnished information to the editors of said catalogues.

In addition to the eleven names above, which are published in the catalogues of the several fraternities to which they properly belong, the name of Israel Loring Craft, 1865, has heretofore appeared in the list of $\Phi \Delta \Theta$ at Indiana University. His later membership was in $\Delta K E$, and his name should be erased by $\Phi \Delta \Theta$. Also, the name of John W. Morris, 1861, should appear in the $\Delta K E$ list and not in that of ΣX .

Two names have been inserted other than those added by initiation in the active chapter, viz.: William R. Henderson and George R. Wendling, both of the class of 1867. Bro. Henderson was initiated in 1861-62, but has never signed the roll. The matter was fully investigated and these facts amply proven in 1872, shortly before the close of the University—again reopened in 1894 and his name restored to its proper place. Bro. Wendling was likewise restored by action of the active chapter and alumni, June 16, 1890.

The name of Robert A. Wilson, 1874, does not appear on the roll. He was the last initiate before the close of the University and on this account his name has at times been erroneously omitted from some of the published lists.

LAMBDA

KENYON COLLEGE

Gambier, Ohio

CHARTERED, JUNE 5, 1852

LAMBDA Chapter of $\Delta K E$ came into being on June 5, 1852. On that date the papers from the mother chapter, Φ , were received and the organization perfected, although the charter was not officially drawn until January 17th of the following year. From that date to the present, through all the vicissitudes of two wars and the ups and downs of fraternity and college life, Λ has maintained a continuous existence. Her sons are justly proud of this record, which has only been equaled by O of all the chapters west of the Allegheny Mountains founded previous to 1860.

The first chapter of any fraternity founded at Kenyon, these first Dekes had to contend with the feeling against secret societies which pervaded all college faculties in the early and precarious days of fraternities. A good account of the early struggles of the pioneer Dekes was written for the Quarterly, Vol. II, No. 2, by William H. Tunnard, Λ , '56. Brother Tunnard writes in effect: "In 1852, through the medium of Gibson Atherton, at that time a student in Miami University (which had just obtained a chapter of $\Delta K E$), and Homer Thrall, a junior of Kenyon, several of the students made application to the Φ Chapter for a charter of $\Delta K E$. They were: A. H. Spangler and Homer Thrall, of '53; W. J. Boardman, William Kinney, W. H. Pugh and J. Overton Reamy, of '54; C. E. Griffith and Harry W. Dorsey, of '56. These were the charter members of Λ Chapter.

"By the time the necessary papers had been procured, in those days of slow communication, only "Buff" Boardman and William Kinney were left in college. At the first real meeting after organization the following new members were initiated: H. D. Lathrop, '53; Leighton Brooke, James N. Gamble, Moses E. Hamilton, C. H. James, John H. Lamon, '54; James M. Le Duc, D. Brainard Ray, Joseph H. Larwill, of '55; David D. Benedict, George T. Chapman, Thomas M. James, Fred D. Tunnard and Will H. Tunnard, of '56. These men were the founders of Λ .

LAMBDA

“At that time a law existed in Kenyon against secret fraternities and certain expulsion awaited all who should be discovered connected with them. This very fact only rendered membership more desirable. Brother Tunnard gives us a beautiful and inspiring description of the stealthy midnight conclaves in which the members gathered to discuss and formulate plans for the infant chapter. The meetings were held sometimes in the old college belfry, sometimes in an unused log hut, a mile east of the college, sometimes in the house of a friendly farmer who was in the secret. For more than a year this secrecy was maintained and not till the class of 1854 graduated with their pins prominently displayed for the first time, did the faculty have a suspicion of what was going on. The authorities finding the chapter so firmly entrenched decided to recognize it but only on condition a faculty member should attend the meetings. Here again the chapter was ready for them and immediately selected Professor Lathrop, a member who had graduated in the class of '53, as the faculty representative.”

The same article gives us a good description of the building of Λ 's “Log Cabin Lodge,” the first building in America ever used exclusively for fraternity purposes. After the ban of secrecy was removed the members of the chapter determined to erect such a building and at length selected a site in a deep and unused ravine surrounded by dark and gloomy woods. It was then a mile distant from any dwelling. The college authorities now encouraged the idea and even deeded to the chapter the lot on which the new building was located. With no alumni to fall back upon and viewed with suspicion by the townspeople, the erection of even the unpretentious log cabin was a task. Some little money was contributed by the members from their own pockets, but the work was done almost entirely by the boys themselves. The entire cost of this first humble home of the great $\Delta K E$ Fraternity was only fifty dollars! Yet who would measure in dollars and cents the game spirit and enthusiasm which spurred on these pioneers, backed by a devoted love for the mystic Greek letters, born of present trials and past efforts, in their endeavors to further the cause of their revered fraternity!

The next few years were years of prosperity for both Kenyon and Λ . In 1854, $\Theta \Delta X$ established a charge at Kenyon. $A \Delta \Phi$ and ΨY followed with chapters in 1858 and 1860. Against all these worthy rivals Λ more than held her own, as the list of her alumni testifies, and the future was very bright, when suddenly the dark cloud of civil war cast its blighting gloom over all. Before 1861, nearly half of Kenyon's sons came from south of Mason and Dixon's line; since that time the number in any one year could be reckoned on the ten fingers. More than three-fourths of Λ 's sons either followed President Lorin Andrews to the defense of the stars and stripes, or enlisted to defend their homes and firesides under the Southern banner.

The prosperity of the college was rudely checked by these events, but unlike many of its sister institutions of the south and west, it never completely died out. Ever since the close of the war its forward progress as a small college has gone on without serious check. This with one exception might also be said of the chapter. Only at the outbreak of the Spanish War, when all but one of her undergraduate members again obeyed his country's call, has the chapter been weak in college. With the return of two of these and the initiation of four strong Freshmen in the next autumn, the danger line was successfully passed.

In 1871, owing to its decayed condition, the old log cabin was abandoned and the present lodge house built. About that time also the practice of breaking into each others' lodges, which had obtained in Kenyon, as in other colleges among all the fraternities, was succeeded by a more kindly inter-fraternity spirit, which has grown till to-day every Kenyon Chapter stands ready to sacrifice its own interests to the general welfare of the college. Thus has been made possible the development of the "Kenyon Spirit," famous throughout Ohio, and the proudest boast of all her sons.

The years from 1870 till 1890 were years of prosperity. Kenyon, though small, was a leader among Ohio colleges. During this period B Θ II, and Δ T Δ established chapters. They with Λ and the Kenyon chapters of Α Δ Φ and Ψ Υ constitute the five fraternities now existing on the hill.

This short history would be incomplete without some mention of the chapter life of to-day. The fraternities of Kenyon are unique in that they combine the conservatism and privacy of the chapter house with the close intimacy of all students, possible only in the small college where everyone rooms in the dormitory. Each fraternity chapter has its own section of the dormitory, with its private parlor and bathroom. No section can be entered from another except by going outside or through basement corridors. Each chapter has its own private boarding club in some house in the town and its lodge house located in the woods a mile or more from college. One of the most beautiful and distinctive features of Kenyon life is the custom of singing on the path when returning from these on meeting nights.

In 1906, through the generosity of Λ's loyal alumni, led by Brothers Elliott, '70, and Dempsey, '82, the West Wing of Old Kenyon, always the abode of the Α Dekes, was completely renovated. The Bull's-Eye room on the fourth floor was converted into a parlor and handsomely furnished. The chapter would not trade these unique quarters for any fraternity house which could be built for them in Gambier.

Thrice a year, at the opening of college, at the annual initiation and at Commencement week, many Dekes from all classes gather once more behind Α's portals; and the love of the pioneers of thirty, forty and fifty years ago for the chapter which they founded and built is as strong as that in the heart of any undergraduate member.

ETA
UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA
University of Virginia, Va.

CHARTERED, NOVEMBER 26, 1852. INACTIVE, 1861-65.

ETA Chapter of Δ K E was founded at the University of Virginia, November 26, 1852. The first year of our existence was carried through with eleven members, the second year twenty-one, and this has been about the number constituting our chapter each year since the founding.

Our first chapter house, if it may be so called, was a small room on one of the ranges of the campus now occupied by a section of the chemical laboratory.

In 1898, the present house was built and the property bought on which it stands. This is owned by us absolutely. Since H was founded, including the members of our present chapter, we have enrolled six hundred members, most of whom are still living. We have always been fortunate in having brothers who have ably represented us on all athletic teams, and we now go on ever mindful that the price of honor is eternal vigilance, handing down to those who are to follow in our footsteps H Chapter as unsullied as we received it.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

Hanover N. H.

CHARTERED, JULY 14, 1853

FRATERNITY life at Dartmouth College began with the establishment in 1842 of the Z Chapter of ΨY . A local society, K K K, known as "Tri Kappa," was founded during the same year and was followed by the Dartmouth Chapter of $A \Delta \Phi$, founded in 1846. Next came Π of $\Delta K E$ in 1853. $Z \Psi$, which entered Dartmouth in 1855, was withdrawn in 1863, revived in 1871 and after a three-years' struggle gave up again in 1874. With the local "Tri Kappa," there are now eighteen fraternities represented in the College.

In the fall of 1849 Moses Daken Brown and Levi Robinson entered Waterville College (now Colby University), at Waterville, Maine. Here they joined the Ξ Chapter of $\Delta K E$. In the spring of 1853 several of the best professors left Waterville, and because of this Brown and Robinson decided to go to Dartmouth. Upon entering for their Junior year they found no chapter of their fraternity. Rather than join any other they entered into correspondence with the mother chapter at Yale and secured the desired permission to establish a Chapter of $\Delta K E$ at Dartmouth, the charter bearing the date of July 14, 1853. They went quietly to work and obtained the pledges of ten of their fellow students to become members of the new society.

Brown and Robinson engaged a room on the third floor of the Pinneo House, which stood on the site of the "President's House," until recently occupied and owned by President Tucker, and here the ten men chosen were duly initiated. If there were representatives from the mother Φ or any other of the chapters then in existence, it is not known. It is a great pity that the written records of the first gathering of Dartmouth Dekes no longer exist and any recollection of the events connected with it has long since passed from the memory of those now living who participated in it. That the chapter began its career with all the enthusiasm of youth there can be no doubt.

Concerning the early life of the Chapter, Samuel E. Pingree, '57, a former Governor of Vermont, has recently (1909), written: "The meetings were held in our hall stately and were conducted in a parliamentary way. Cushing's Manual was the guide. I have carried the belief through life that I received more valuable instructions for the varied duties which a busy life has imposed on me from the parliamentary discipline, discussions, essays, et cetera, in our society than from any one department of College work."

In 1856, the Pinneo House was burned and the only possessions saved were the charter and the chair of the presiding officer. The loss of the early records was at the time considered irreparable, but more commodious and more accessible quarters were secured in two rooms on the second floor of the Tontine Building on Main Street. The meeting hall was a very large room extending from front to back, was about thirty feet wide by fifty feet long and had an anteroom. These were the society rooms for the next thirty years.

In loyalty and patriotic service in the Civil War the members of Π Chapter were second to none. Forty-eight went into the Union Army. Of these thirty-three, six of whom were connected with the medical service, held commissions. Five were killed in battle or died in hospitals from disease. One member of the chapter became an officer in the Confederate service.

On July 12, 1876, the chapter was incorporated under the laws of the State of New Hampshire as " Π Chapter of the Δ K E Fraternity." Two years later Π entertained the Fraternity in the only Δ K E Convention, the 33rd, ever held in Hanover. This was one of the most important conventions ever held by the Fraternity, but the details of its work belong rather to the history of the Fraternity, than to this brief sketch.

It was in 1887 that Hanover experienced the most disastrous fire in its history. The business section of the town was almost entirely wiped out and the Tontine Building, in which were the Π Chapter rooms, was burned to the ground. A collection of delegation photographs, the piano, the furnishings, the written records of the chapter's thirty years' history and the fraternity library were all destroyed, but for the second time the charter was saved.

The old Balch House, later known as the Davidson Building, or "The Golden Corner," was chosen as the new home and a ten-years lease of the two upper floors of this building was secured. Here for the first time was combined chapter and dormitory life. On the third floor was the society hall and on the two floors were accommodations for about twelve members. Leading from the society room and above it was the "Tower Room." Here was gradually collected an exceedingly valuable library, containing an almost complete set of College catalogues with substantially complete files of The Dartmouth from its first publication, files of such other periodicals as from time to time had been issued and discontinued at Hanover prior to the origin of The Dartmouth, an almost complete set of College annuals which had been sent to the Chapter for the previous ten years, and most notable of all, a large number of pamphlets referring in whole or in part to Dartmouth College, which were published in the early part of the century, altogether constituting the most valuable fraternity library in Hanover, many of the pamphlets being wanting even in the college library.

The "Golden Corner" was the home of II for the succeeding thirteen years. On February 7, 1900, at eight o'clock in the evening, the chapter gathered for their regular weekly meeting which on this occasion included the initiation of a single candidate. The meeting was adjourned at ten o'clock and by eleven all had retired. About midnight those who were living on the third floor awakened to find their rooms filled with smoke. With the knowledge that they were endangered by fire but with no thought for their personal safety or property and with the sole purpose of saving the records and property of the chapter, there was an immediate dash for the society hall. When the door was broken open, they were driven back by smoke and flames which filled the halls and they made their escape as hurriedly as possible. When daylight appeared and after the fires had cooled, a search among the ruins was made with the hope that some records which had been bound partly together might be only charred and in such shape that they could be preserved. But the hope was in vain; with the exception of a few unimportant papers, nothing was recovered. Not a trace of the original charter which had already escaped two fires could be found. And so passed what had been a home, rich in its memories, to nearly one-fourth of the alumni of the chapter. For the remainder of the year 1900, meetings were held in the local G. A. R. Hall, which was a large and poorly-lighted room. Amid the depressing influences of such surroundings, the fires of enthusiastic loyalty to the chapter and Fraternity were kept alive.

Rooms were engaged on the second floor of the Bridgeman Block, then building, and in January, 1901, the chapter moved into them. The suite was made up of a Society Hall, a living room, and sleeping rooms for about six members. The lease was made for only a year, for it was expected that by the first of the following year the chapter would be installed in its own home. It was a great disappointment that these rooms remained the chapter home for almost five years, until October 30, 1906, when for the fourth time fire followed the chapter and drove it out. This time the chapter was fortunate in saving such records as had been accumulated since 1900.

On June 22, 1903, the Fiftieth Anniversary of the founding of II Chapter was celebrated, the ceremonies closing with a dinner at "The College Inn." The chapter was very fortunate in having present one of its founders, Moses D. Brown, then 71 years of age, who had made the trip from Chicago especially for this celebration, and had not been in Hanover since his graduation, fifty years before. After his return to Chicago he wrote: "On my visit at the Fiftieth Anniversary of the society I was very deeply and happily affected at the cordial treatment and gratifying information of the great prosperity of the Society. Although many years have elapsed since I left the old college, and the dear society, I still love them and hold them in delightful and sacred remembrance, and always shall. May God bless and prosper the society and its members, and so continue until the last trumpet shall sound and time shall be no more."

The recent completion of the Δ K E House at Dartmouth has given to the Fraternity a home such as it has long dreamed of, but never had. In attractiveness and comfort nothing is left to be desired, and the site is pleasantly placed on Wheelock Street, destined to be the Fraternity Street of the college.

The earliest graduate of Dartmouth to become a member of Δ K E was S. Augustus Lord of the class of 1843, who while a student in the Bowdoin Medical School in 1847, was initiated into Θ Chapter. He later went to the Dartmouth Medical School and was graduated prior to the founding of Π Chapter. Benjamin Willey Dean, a charter member of Ξ Chapter, left Waterville and entering Dartmouth was graduated with the class of 1848. It is not known whether Nathaniel Lord Upham, who was initiated into Θ Chapter and was graduated from Dartmouth in 1853 in the same class with the founders of Π , Brown and Robinson, in 1853, was associated with them in the organization of Π . It is natural to assume that he would have been, but no satisfactory information to substantiate such an assumption can be obtained.

Not including the present active members and the founders, who came from Waterville College, there have been 686 Dartmouth undergraduates initiated into Π Chapter, of whom 492 are living. The largest delegations were those from the classes of 1871 and 1874, which contained 21 members each, the smallest that from 1903 of 5 members, the average delegation from the classes of 1856 to 1909, including both, being 13.3.

Of the 686 Dartmouth undergraduates who were initiated into Π Chapter, 541 were graduated from the college, receiving their degrees with the classes with which they entered or a year or two later, and of the remaining 145 who were not so graduated, 9 were later given degrees as with their classes. Of the 145 who were not graduated, 13 died as undergraduates or entered the Union Army while undergraduates and were killed, and 3 are now members of the 1910 delegation. There were 29 who came to Dartmouth from other colleges and having been initiated into Δ K E Chapters at those colleges, affiliated with Π Chapter when they entered Dartmouth. There were 8 members of Π who left Dartmouth before graduation and going to other colleges affiliated with Δ K E Chapters. From the classes of 1910, 1911, 1912, and 1913, now in college, 58 have been initiated into Π Chapter. Of these, 17 have left Dartmouth, 3 entering other colleges having Δ K E Chapters.

Including 6 honorary members, 29 who affiliated from other chapters, and 59 undergraduates, there have been 780 names on the roll of Π Chapter. Only two cases of expulsion from the chapter are known, one occurring within the past fifteen years and the other in the early history of the chapter. Deducting the two expelled members, there are 570 alumni, active and honorary members of the chapter now living, this number including all those who have not been located, and some of whom are undoubtedly dead.

One fact more should, perhaps, be stated, now that the outline of the past has been recited. In material resources and attractiveness of house, $\Delta K E$ at Dartmouth is surpassed by none. However, this would be but vain if the men of the Fraternity were comparatively of less worth than formerly. In the merit of the present undergraduate group lies reason for satisfaction and pride. In standing among their fellows in devotion to college and fraternity, in potentiality for future usefulness in the outside world, the men are as those most solicitous would have them. And the promise is bright that the things that have been done shall be as well or better done in years that lie before.

CENTRAL UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

Richmond, Ky.

CHARTERED, 1854, AT KENTUCKY MILITARY INSTITUTE, FRANKFORT, KY. INACTIVE, 1861-84. REVIVED, 1884. CENTRAL UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY, JUNE 9, 1885

IN the fall of 1853, six students of the Kentucky Military Institute at Frankfort, Kentucky, banded themselves together for the purpose of seeking from Δ K E the charter for a Kentucky chapter. They were Mitchell and Burnet, of the Junior class; Isbell, Brooks, and Gale, of the Sophomore, and Cartwright, of the Freshmen. The plan originated with Mitchell and Isbell. The parent chapter appointed a committee of her alumni, Raines and Donelson, '54, of Nashville, to investigate the application. Their report was favorable, the charter was granted, and in the winter of 1853-54 the I chapter began her career.

The Kentucky Military Institute had been founded nine years before, and rapidly grew in favor throughout the South, especially in social and military prestige. Moved by indications of the great impending conflict between the sections of our land, many of the sons of the first families, especially in the South, were choosing a military education, and many of the graduates of the K. M. I. entered the army. So high did the institution stand that officers' commissions were readily obtained by those recommended by its faculty. Thus it happened that of the alumni of I living at the opening of the war, but one failed to enter the army, and he is supposed to have occupied an important place in the secret service of the Confederacy. Two were in the Northern army, the rest in that of the South, and most were officers.

Until 1858 the existence of the I chapter, as of the other fraternities, was unknown to the Institute world. At first it had been merely a social club, but the literary program of the regular Saturday night meetings soon became a prominent feature. While mere scholarship carried little weight in the selection of members, nevertheless a lion's share of scholastic and oratorical honors fell to I during the first eight years of her existence.

In April, 1861, came the war. Commencement exercises were hurriedly held, and almost to a man both graduates and undergraduates rushed to the front. We close the first chapter of I's history with her final greeting to her sister chapters:

" May, 1861. I am the last of thirteen a week ago, and have just been to see three of our band enlist. I am only waiting to finish our chapter correspondence to return and enlist myself. Your brother in Δ K E."

When the Kentucky Military Institute reopened in 1865, it was under wholly new management and never regained its ante-bellum prestige. H and X alone of our Southern chapters had survived. When in the '80's efforts were being made to revive some of the old chapters, Central University seemed the most favorable institution in which to awake our old Kentucky chapter from its sleep of more than twenty years. Centre College at Danville was established by the Synod of Kentucky in 1835, and when the Presbyterian Church divided in 1861, it went with the Northern wing of the church. Its alumni, however, were for the most part strongly Southern in sentiment, and in 1872 organized to found a university which should be broader in its scope than the parent institution. Thus came into being Central University, which for a good number of years was controlled entirely by the Alumni Association, formed of its own alumni and those from Centre College. Its growth was rapid and its prospects flattering; it gave good prospect of becoming the educational institution of the State, and was drawing students from all parts south.

When it was learned that there were prospects of the revival of some of the old chapters, a group of Central University students banded together under the name of I B and endeavored to make themselves worthy of Δ K E by pursuing as far as they knew them, true Δ K E ideals. In spite of the competition of established fraternities against a local society, they were soon acknowledged to be the strongest organization in the University. In the spring of 1885 the old charter of I was granted to them and on June 9 of Commencement week the initiation took place, the following constituting the charter members of revived I: Philip F. Barbour, Robert T. Irvine, William J. Chinn, Jr., Charles H. R. McElroy, James N. Saunders, Jr., Alex. Henry, James Henry, James C. Flourney, Frank L. Lapsley, Saunders A. Fowler, Robert H. McCreary, J. M. N. B. Nix, Jr., David M. Sweets, Robert O. Wallace, and John L. Harris. Isbell, one of the founders of the old I, was present; Stoddard Johnson, Yale, '53, represented the parent chapter; Governor James B. McCreary, K Ψ, assisted in the initiation of his son; Σ was there in the person of Howe, '80, son of one of her founders; while H and Δ, the two nearest chapters, were not left out.

For sixteen years from the date of the revival of her charter, I maintained the high standards of Δ K E in Central University at Richmond, carrying off a large share of honors and being recognized as a leader among the fraternities, both in social life and class room work.

In 1901, nearly four decades after the conflict that had deprived Kentucky of its chapter of Δ Κ Ε, and nearly two decades after its revival, the Ecclesiastics, appreciating the moral influence to be exerted upon the laymen of Kentucky, possibly the entire South, and realizing the wisdom of a united strength, consolidated Centre College and Central University and formed Central University of Kentucky, recognized as one of the great educational institutions of the South. For I of Δ Κ Ε, termed the "Wandering Sister" by the general fraternity, was thus created a new and permanent "Home," from which she shall wander no more.

To Brothers V. L. Peterson, S. M. Saunders, and M. V. Ward belong the honor of the establishment of I in Centre College, the academical department of the University. In the fall of 1901, these three men brought the charter from Richmond to Danville and fought against odds and precedent, but never daunted and ever holding before them the emblem of I, Ἰσοτέφανοι, showed the kind of material essential for a Deke and soon made it evident that Dekism was henceforth and forever to be an integral part of the University life and a symbol to be worn, only, by the chosen.

The Fraternity House, with living quarters has ever been discouraged at Danville by the University and city authorities as being a source of demoralizing and corrupting influences, and when I came to Centre, she, like the other Fraternities occupied a suite of rooms in the central part of the city and had it fitted for business, reading and social purposes only, the members living wherever they could best find accommodation in the city. In 1904, the question of I's renting a home was agitated, but met with the strenuous opposition of the faculty; in 1905 the same question arose, with less opposition, and in 1906 the men of I occupied a home on Maple Avenue. It is now conceded that the Fraternity House is not only a success at Danville, but a permanent institution, and the other Fraternities are now following the leadership of I and are adopting the home.

I has won and maintained, with dignity, more than her share of literary and athletic honors at Centre, and whenever a body of Centre men, in any representative capacity, are chosen or elected, the emblem of Δ Κ Ε always adorns the leader; I men have won the respect and esteem of the faculty, and the love and confidence of their fellow students, by their open and manly tactics.

In 1906, the convention, in spite of considerable rivalry, by a decisive vote selected Louisville for the next place of meeting, to be under the auspices of the Γ and I Chapters. The Convention was a complete success, and each and every representative returned to his chapter with most pleasing memories of his experiences in Old Kentucky.

Kentucky is proud of her chapter of Δ Κ Ε. I is proud of her Kentucky Home. She extends to every Deke, old and young, a cordial invitation to accept her hospitality at any time, and adds another αἰ to the National Motto, Κηρόθεν φίλοι αἰ.

ALPHA ALPHA MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE

Middlebury, Vt.

CHARTERED, SEPTEMBER 19, 1854

ALPHA ALPHA, the fifteenth of the chapters of $\Delta K E$, was founded in 1854. At that time Middlebury College, which had just passed its semi-centennial anniversary, contained about one hundred men. Only two of the present buildings were then standing, the Chapel and Painter Hall. Several general societies had been formed among the students, such as the Philadelphian, which has for its purpose the maintenance and enlargement of a suitable library. There was one secret society, the A M Chapter of $X \Psi$, which had been founded eleven years before. This chapter had succeeded in putting itself under the ban of the Faculty.

Such were the conditions in Middlebury when Horace Holmes Thomas entered college in the fall of 1854, having passed his Freshman year in Colby, where he had become a member of the Ξ Chapter of $\Delta K E$. At Middlebury he found himself an ardent "Deke," with no chapter of $\Delta K E$ within a hundred miles. He therefore resolved to found a chapter there.

In the founding of the new chapter the first obstacle to overcome was the opposition of the Faculty, who were at that time all-powerful in the life of the undergraduates. All agreed that the one secret society then in college had a bad influence. The question was, would another such organization make matters worse, or would the rivalry of the two preserve a balance beneficial to the college? On this point the Faculty were divided, but President Labaree favored the project. Thomas, armed with this knowledge, proceeded to select five men who seemed to him to represent the most scholarly and intellectual element in college. Those chosen were: Edwin C. Johnson, '55; Martin L. Mead, '55; Walter C. Dunton, '57; Stephen Knowlton, '57, and Chas. W. Seaton, '57. Thomas and Johnson were selected to make the application for a charter. They accordingly attended the Convention of 1854, which met at Dartmouth, and secured the coveted charter. At that time the A Chapter at Harvard had become inactive, and the new Middlebury Chapter was given the name of A. At the same Convention a charter was granted the I Chapter at the Kentucky Military Institute (now the Central University of Kentucky).

Of these six charter members two were Valedictorians, one a Salutatorian, and the remaining three all elected to Φ B K.

The chapter's first "frat. rooms," which were occupied for twenty years, were in a building on the bank of the Otter, which flows through the village of Middlebury.

During the first few months of the chapter's existence twelve new members were initiated, thus bringing the membership up to eighteen. Among the first initiates were Moses Marston, who died a Professor of English Literature in the University of Minnesota; John C. Labaree, son of President Labaree of the college; Brainard Kellogg, the author of several text books and for many years Dean of the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute; Stephen A. Walker, afterwards President of the Board of Education of New York City, and District Attorney of the County of New York; and Charles M. Mead, one of the translators of the Revised Version of the Bible, a theologian of international prominence.

When the A Chapter at Harvard was revived, no little confusion was caused by the fact that there were two chapters of Δ K E, both bearing the name of A. This difficulty was settled by the Convention of 1857, which changed the name of the Middlebury Chapter to A', by which name it was known for many years. It was not until 1887 that the chapter received its final name, when the Chicago Convention rechristened it A A.

Of her war record A A is justly proud. Of the forty or so members of Δ K E in Middlebury between 1861 and 1865, twenty-six joined the Army. One of them, Aldace F. Walker, 62, came from his regiment to graduate with his class, and, clad in his officer's uniform, delivered the Valedictory address amid unbounded enthusiasm. A letter from an alumnus of this stormy period runs thus: "The men in the war seemed to be in such serious surroundings — we cannot indicate to those of latter days the feeling that all at home had, as if the air was charged and surcharged with an acute expectation every day of an eventful to-morrow — that they had no time or feeling to write the chapter or members of their experiences. You, who have read the history of those days, can see now how it was. The war seemed to be an everlasting experiment. Always marching, countermarching, encamping, breaking camp with no knowledge or information given to anyone but the commanding general or his immediate officers, of what the plan was, or where the eventual point of concentration lay. The boys evidently were all at sea as well as at war. I imagine the boys felt all the time as if something was in progress and that when some event worth while was consummated they would give us account."

On A A's Honor Roll of veterans there were one Brigadier General, two Lieutenant Colonels, seven Captains, two 1st Lieutenants, three 2nd Lieutenants, three staff officers, one non-commissioned officer, four privates, one chaplain and one war correspondent at the front.

On September 10, 1875, a disastrous fire broke out in the village and destroyed nearly all the business portion. Through this fire the chapter lost almost all its property, including a fine library, valuable mementoes and pictures, and its most valued possession — the Charter.

The chapter at once set about to repair its loss. A committee, consisting of O. W. Dodge, W. S. Austin, B. W. Lamb, and J. McD. Mulchahey, prepared and sent a letter to all the alumni asking for assistance. The alumni responded liberally, funds were raised, and a Hall was specially constructed in one of the new blocks erected after the fire. The library was restored, and the rooms newly furnished, although many of the chapter's belongings could not be replaced. Several sister chapters also furnished aid. II Chapter sent a copy of the Constitution. A new charter was provided by Φ, the parent chapter, to replace the one which had been destroyed by the fire.

For many years a house was the goal of the chapter's ambition. In 1898 a plan for raising a fund called the Temple Fund was adopted, whereby each alumnus at graduation pledged himself to an annual payment for five or ten years. Under this plan the fund grew slowly, until in 1900 enough was realized to buy an excellent building site opposite the campus. Meanwhile the chapter leased and occupied a house on Weybridge Street.

On the death of Professor Eaton in 1904, his comfortable and carefully built house, immediately adjoining the campus, was purchased by the chapter. In that same year A A celebrated her semi-centennial with appropriate exercises, and welcomed to her new home a large number of her loyal alumni. A corporation consisting of the local alumni was formed in 1905, which holds title to the property, leaving the general responsibility for its good management to a committee of undergraduate members. The house was paid for from the accumulating Temple Fund and the subscriptions of older alumni, many of which were obtained through the efforts of Brother Brainard Kellogg, '58, to which he added his own generous contribution.

The house is admirably adapted to the chapter's purposes, is roomy and well arranged, and accommodates twelve brothers. It is finished in hard wood throughout and is equipped with modern bathrooms, electric lights, steam heat and open fire places. Through the generosity and interest of Mrs. Eaton the house contains many of its original furnishings. The windows command an eastward view of the Otter, of so many "tender" memories to all Middlebury alumni. The westerly windows look out to the Adirondacks.

A meeting-room has been fitted up in the basement and rendered proof against sound or intrusion by marble walls. Here the trophies are deposited, which remind the alumni of earlier days. Among the furnishings of the house, special mention should be made of a number of pieces of Mission furniture given by Brother John A. Fletcher, '87, and of a collection of trophies gathered in the Far East and presented to the chapter by Brother Robert M. Collins, '89. This collection includes Boxer emblems and standards, Filipino weapons, utensils, and coats of mail, and many rare mementoes of the Boxer uprising in China and the American occupation of the Philippines.

A A's history would not be complete without mention of a few of her representative alumni, who have never lacked in loyalty to her interests. Besides those already mentioned we find the following names: H. F. Severens, '57, U. S. Circuit Judge of 6th Judicial Circuit; W. R. Shipman, '57, Dean of Tufts College; G. E. Plumb, '61, of the Editorial Staff of the Chicago Daily News; A. F. Walker, '62, ex-member of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, Chairman of the Inter-State Railroad Association, and, at the time of his decease, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé system; R. S. Tuthill, '63, author, Judge of the Circuit Court of Illinois; G. Z. Erwin, '65, now deceased, for years a Republican leader in the New York State Legislature, and Speaker of the Lower House; Judge J. S. Grinnell, '66, Prosecuting Attorney in the celebrated trial of the Chicago Anarchists; A. Barton Hepburn, '71, President of the Chase National Bank, New York, and member of the New York Chamber of Commerce; J. W. Chapman, '79, Episcopal missionary in Alaska; Prof. Samuel Sheldon, '83, President of the American Society of Electrical Engineers; Frank H. Knowlton, '84, one of the well-known younger scientists of the country; Robert M. Collins, '89, now at the head of The Associated Press in London.

The record of A A and of the college where it has been fostered may well be summarized in the words of Professor Kitchell of Yale University at the Centennial celebration of Middlebury College in 1900: "I presume you have seen in the public prints an analysis of the list of the alumni of Middlebury College for the last century. I will simply say I have read it with wonder and delight. I do not see how that record can well be matched. I will honestly say that I do not believe our record for our two centuries will be, in quality, equal to that. One reason for this is because, it seems to me, Middlebury has had an advantage over larger institutions in the stuff you have had to work with. I think that the Vermont boy, as he has come up from his country home nestling amid your mountains, is about as good stuff for a university to make a record of its alumni with as could well be had. I believe in young men who have their futures before them and not behind them— young men coming from frugal homes, homes of frugal abundance, full of work, full of energy, with all their vitalities untainted, all their ambitions unsated by luxury and wealth— such is the stuff out of which great alumni are made. I have thought there was a certain likeness in that material to the marble which you dig out of your mountains. It is good stuff to work at. It pays for the toil you put upon it. It takes a polish, and when the structure is done, wherever you set it, there it stands, age long, resplendent and enduring."

OMICRON

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Mich.

CHARTERED, FEBRUARY 24, 1855

ON the tenth day of January, eighteen hundred and fifty-five, the O chapter of $\Delta K E$ was founded at the University of Michigan. Brother J. B. Ford of Σ , '54, was then attending the Medical College, and the idea occurred to him to found a chapter of $\Delta K E$ at Ann Arbor. He broached his plan to his roommate, Marcus A. Packard. Mr. Packard chose five of his classmates to join with him in applying for a charter, to Φ , our parent chapter. In due time it was granted, and six juniors of the class of 1856 were initiated to the secret mysteries by Brother Ford. They were A. O. Packard, L. A. Soule, J. Q. A. Sessions, Fred Rowe, H. C. Champion, and Lemon Barnes. In the next ten days eight more were initiated. $\Delta K E$ immediately took first place in the college fraternities at Ann Arbor, a position which she still holds to-day. There was much opposition and many stories are told of early struggles with the $A \Delta \Phi$'s. These were sometimes fistic encounters, due to the attempt of the $A \Delta$'s to break into our chapter room, which was rented for the occasion at the Cook House.

In 1858, a strong anti-fraternity feeling was aroused through the death of a student during an initiation. No Dekes were mixed up in this affair, and the chapter escaped the disapproval felt by some of the other fraternities.

From this time on until the Civil War, O prospered. A permanent hall was secured and meetings were held there regularly.

About the time of the Civil War, however, things did not go so well, for the war took many of O's strongest members, and the formation of the Owls, a senior society, took away many of the seniors. For many years this society was considered the greatest campus honor, and as many of its members were Deke seniors, the chapter lost their strength and advice. The beginning of its downfall was the refusal of three Dekes of the class of 1870 to join it. More followed suit and the power of the Owls was broken.

There were several stages through which the chapter passed at this time.

OMICRON

First was the purely literary stage when $\Delta K E$ made an extremely strong point of scholarship, and became almost a literary society. Following that came a period of good fellowship, when Bacchus ruled. This caused a strong reaction and a deeply religious period followed when all meetings were opened and closed with prayer.

In 1869, the chapter moved to the Masonic Hall and this change caused the idea of a strictly $\Delta K E$ Hall to be brought up. Not until 1872, however, was anything done. Then the O Literary Association was organized and the present hall was planned. This hall was finished in 1878, and has been occupied ever since by the chapter. The meetings are held at eleven o'clock Saturday night; after the meeting, ever since the Hall was built, we march back to the house singing Deke songs. This old tradition has been copied by some of the other fraternities who sing out of doors, after their meetings. Our hall (we are the only fraternity having one), and our singing, we think have helped to keep us at the top of the fraternity list.

The Chapter at this time had no house, although Mrs. Whitehead's house on State St., was always a Deke center. Now, however, Mrs. Whitehead was secured as matron and a club system of boarding at her house was instituted. $\Delta K E$ was the first fraternity at Ann Arbor to adopt this plan, as heretofore, the Saturday night meetings had been the only time when the chapter assembled as a whole.

The chapter prospered unusually well for sixteen years, obtaining a hold on Detroit that made it almost a social error not to make $\Delta K E$ at Ann Arbor. Not that all the men were from Detroit, or that it took all who came from there, but rarely indeed has $\Delta K E$ lost anyone whom she wanted. $\Delta K E$, $Z \Psi$, and the independents formed a combination that finally drove the other fraternities and gave the chapter the reputation with the independents that has made it so strong in college life.

In 1883, the 37th Convention was held in Detroit and was voted the best up to that time. The chapter was still living in the old Whitehead house although physical infirmities had caused Mrs. Whitehead to give up her duties as matron. The house was rather shabby, compared with the new houses of ΨY and $A \Delta \Phi$, so a movement was started to build a new house. The undergraduates pledged all that they could afford and then the alumni came loyally to their aid and enough was raised to build the present house, a handsome, well-built stone structure. Mrs. Whitehead, who had died, had shown her love for "her boys" by leaving the house and property to the chapter. The adjoining property was bought, the old house moved off and the new one built.

O's later history is but a succession of victories, her list of distinguished men is long, and their loyalty to her is an indication of what they feel she has done for them.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

Williamstown, Mass.

CHARTERED, MARCH 25 1855.

THE E Chapter of Δ K E was organized at a time (1855) of sharp questioning as to the wisdom of secret societies in college. One of the most distinguished graduates of the college, and afterwards the first citizen of the United States, took a very earnest position against secret societies, though he recognized the value of the goodly fellowship which forms the basis of all fraternities.

To organize a chapter of a secret fraternity, and especially of one the largest and most influential, under such circumstances required men of force, men of recognized character and scholarship.

Happily there were men of such strong qualities in the college at that time and they heartily united in securing a charter of Δ K E from Φ at Yale, the parent chapter.

In the fifties were U. S. Treasurer Gilfillan (using the designation now familiar to us), Colonels Crandall and Montague of the army, Judge Strickland of the Superior Court, and the prominent clergymen, Bixby, Carleton, and Fisk. The men of the sixties and early seventies gave added strength to the new enterprise, Rev. Drs. Anstice, Dana, Hutton, Jennings and Rhoades; eminent lawyers, Anderson, Armstrong, Brown, Davis and Millard; Trustee Jennings; Presidents Judson and MacLean, and many others.

And if the prominent Dekes of those times, in other chapters, came to encourage the new chapter there was a distinguished gathering: Editor White-law Reid; Julian Hawthorne, the author; Governor John D. Long, President Francis Walker, Rev. Dr. Beecher, and Robert T. Lincoln.

REV. EBEN BURT PARSONS, E, '59.

LAFAYETTE COLLEGE

Easton, Pa.

CHARTERED, OCTOBER 15, 1855

IN the fall of 1855 a sudden longing for "Greek" societies came upon the students of Lafayette. A chapter of $\Phi \text{K} \Sigma$ had been organized some years before, but to all appearances had died out. The two literary societies, while secret, did not offer to the undergraduate body sufficient scope for the range of their imaginations in the ardent pursuit of mysterious things. Their interest extended beyond the large badges with which one hall decorated its members.

What may be called a fraternity boom swept through the college. $\Phi \text{K} \Sigma$ was revived, and its grim skull and bones were "swung out." $\text{K} \Lambda \Pi$ was also started. Joshua Williams Kerr, '56 of Huntington, Pa., and Andrew Cross Trippe, '57, of Baltimore, Md., were sent to New Haven to apply for a charter of $\Delta \text{K} \text{E}$. The charter was granted October 15, 1855, and a short time afterwards it was forwarded, and on the evening of October 21, 1855, a new chapter was added to $\Delta \text{K} \text{E}$.

The institution of P Chapter took place at the Lenni Lenape Hotel in Phillipsburg, N. J., in a parlor on the second floor, facing the street. This building is now known as the Lee House, and is situated on the northeast corner of Railroad Avenue and Northampton Street. There were ten charter members, eight of whom were members of the Washington Literary Society and two of the Franklin. At that time there was great rivalry between the literary societies and it was feared that it might prevent the two Franklins from attending. But this, like so many gloomy anticipations, proved unfounded.

It seems that four or five of the charter members met prior to the time of regular organization. They found a safe hiding place in Room 25, South College, and it was here that the hopes and plans of the prospective Dekes assumed a definite aspect.

The meetings of the chapter were held in one of the brother's rooms. Only two of them roomed together in 25, South College, and here the regular bi-monthly meetings were held. The greatest secrecy was maintained. They were held at midnight, in order to make everything seem as mysterious as possible.

At the meeting in the Lenape Hotel the Greek letter Ω was given to the new chapter, but two weeks later, finding that there was already a chapter in $\Delta \text{ K E}$ designated by that letter, it was changed to P.

The charter members were Charles Corss and David Kerr Freeman, of '56, Joshua Williams Kerr, Enoch Clark Kline, David Kraft, Samuel Alden Freeman, Henry Martyn Kennedy, John Jay Pomeroy, Andrew Cross Trippe and John Calhoun Wilhelm of '57, of whom Brothers Corss, Kerr, Kennedy and Pomeroy have died.

Brother Wilhelm will be remembered by those who knew him in his college days by being the designer of a mysterious diagram, which was always posted before a meeting, telling the day, hour, and place of chapter meetings. It was a large $\Delta \epsilon \lambda \tau \alpha$ with a "K E" in the center, the angles marked off and enclosing certain numerals, which, added together in a certain manner, gave the day and hour of meeting. It was so mysterious that only the brightest of the members could make it out. It was posted on the various bulletin boards throughout college.

From the outset the position taken by P before the college was all that could be desired. Her members were manly, active, and persevering — were foremost in scholarship, leaders in debate, popular among their fellows and in social circles, and were prominent in all the activities of college life.

The records in scholarship made by P men in the Classes of '56 and '57 have never been excelled by any fraternity at Lafayette.

The years following the founding of P were years of progress and prosperity. The chapter was gradually growing in strength and numbers, when the call to arms summoned every young man of the country to fight according to the dictates of his conscience.

Among those who so nobly responded to the call were many whose names appear upon our chapter roll. P sent twenty of her sons to the Union army, while one fought for the principles of the Confederacy.

Of this number four were Chaplains — Cline of the 11th New Jersey Infantry, Craft of the 141st Pennsylvania Infantry, Pomeroy of the 3d Pennsylvania Reserves and the 198th Pennsylvania Infantry, and Wilhelm of the 45th U. S. C. T., who also served as a private in the 203d Pennsylvania Infantry.

After the disbanding of the 3d Pennsylvania Reserves, the Chaplain, John P. Pomeroy, by a unanimous call was made chaplain of the 198th Pennsylvania, recruited by the officers of his first "charge."

The Roll of Honor is: H. Slothoff, '59, private in the 3d N. J. Regiment; Joseph Castles, '59, First Lieutenant 7th Regiment Pennsylvania Cavalry, died at Mumfordsville, Ky.; S. P. Galt, '60, Captain of Co. C, 122d Pennsylvania Infantry; J. B. Patton, '60, Second Lieutenant of 2d Pennsylvania Militia; S. W. Pomeroy, First Sergeant 126th Infantry, figured as the "unknown scout" who at great risk carried to General Curtin the news that the Confederates were massing at Gettysburg; R. M. Mann, '62, 128th Pennsylvania Regiment, died October 23, 1862, from wounds received at Antietam; J. F. R. Appleby, '64, in the 38th Pennsylvania Militia; A. P. Reid, '64, private in 38th Pennsylvania Regiment; H. B. Howell, '64, 1st New York, Lincoln Cavalry, died in hospital at Fairfax Seminary, Va., January 10, 1862; A. S. Godshalk, '65, Corporal in the 38th and 5th Pennsylvania Militia; I. P. Hand, '65, private in the 38th Pennsylvania Militia; John Menaul, '65, private in the 5th Pennsylvania Militia; J. C. Clyde, '66, in the 72d Illinois Regiment; R. S. Parker, '61, 131st Pennsylvania Regiment, First Lieutenant, was wounded at the Battle of Fredericksburg and died January 19, 1863; John Chandler, '62, First Lieutenant and Quartermaster of 2d Regiment of N. J. Cavalry; A. N. Seip, '62, private in Co. D, 1st Pennsylvania Regiment; A. L. Thorne, '64, in the 39th N. J. Regiment; E. S. Heany, '67, Corporal in the 135th Pennsylvania Infantry, and A. C. Trippe, Lieutenant of Artillery in the Confederate Army.

In the fall of 1857 the Faculty of Lafayette made an attempt to abolish fraternities by requiring every student to take a solemn obligation not to join a secret society. Brother Joseph Barrett, '61, on account of ill health was forced to leave college in the spring of '57, but returned one year later. During his absence the restrictions of the Faculty had gone into effect, but did not affect him. He was free to wear the badge of $\Delta K \Xi$, and had the exceptional honor of being the only man in Lafayette who could wear the badge of his fraternity.

This opposition continued for several years, until finally the Faculty and Trustees realized that the scheme for repression had a contrary effect, and they withdrew the ban about 1870.

Until 1868 the chapter had no regular place of meeting, but every two weeks the members gathered together in the law office in Phillipsburg of a friend of one of our members. In the latter part of 1868 the chapter met in Good Templars' Hall, opposite the old Masonic Hall, near the corner of Third and Pine Streets. The first hall that the chapter rented and fitted up (even to putting in a false ceiling) was the attic on the third floor of a building on the north side of Northampton Street, above Fourth. This was occupied about two years, when they moved down one flight, to the second floor. These rooms were occupied until 1872, when the chapter moved to rooms on the third floor of the Laubach Building, on the south side of Northampton Street, near Center Square. Here, after the manner of their forefathers, these young men worked and built with their own hands the altar at which they worshiped.

In the fall of 1873 the Fraternity held its annual convention with the P Chapter at Easton. Every effort was made to entertain the visiting brothers according to true Deke tradition, and the convention still lingers as one of the most pleasant memories of those who attended.

The reunion was held in the Able Opera House, and the public exercises in the same place. Whitelaw Reid, now Ambassador to Great Britain, presided; the Hon. Wayne MacVeagh delivered the oration, and Dr. P. B. Porter, '67, of Yale, read a poem. The convention banquet was spread at the United States Hotel, and the menu, with its printed songs, bears testimony to the fact that the best of brotherly spirit was preserved there.

In the spring of 1898, when war was declared against Spain, $\Delta K E$ was not found wanting at her country's call. Throughout the many camps scattered over the country could be found hundreds of Dekes, both young and old. P sent four men to the front: George C. Bentel, '97, was a private in the Astor Battery, and was wounded twice in the assault on Manila; George B. Walbridge, '98, served in Battery A of Philadelphia, and was in Porto Rico under Miles; D. L. Munson, '01, was a private in the ranks of the Delaware Militia. Last, but not least, was Captain Peyton Conway March, '84, who commanded the Astor Battery. He is the son of Prof. Francis A. March, the distinguished philologist and Professor at Lafayette College. He was graduated with honors in 1884, and the following fall entered West Point, being graduated in 1888.

The opposition of the college authorities to chapter houses was not overcome until in comparative recent years, and the pioneer in the movement was $\Delta K E$. In the early nineties the first plan to obtain and furnish a chapter house was inaugurated. An effort was made to purchase land near the college campus and to erect a building suitable to the needs of the chapter.

Pending the fulfillment of these plans it was decided to rent a house as near to the campus as possible, and with even greater success than was at first anticipated, a frame building, next to Professor Coffin's on "Faculty Row," was secured, and in the spring of 1896 the brothers of P first began the happy and beneficial life of the chapter home — the first chapter house at Lafayette.

After many disappointments and a delay of seven years the house on Sullivan's Road, directly west of the campus, was completed in the fall of 1903, and became the home of the chapter in January, 1904, the first of those magnificent houses which now adorn the beautiful campus at Lafayette.

For over fifty years $\Delta K E$ has been the oldest fraternity at Lafayette. It was the leader in the effort to obtain permission to establish chapter houses — now such a prominent feature of the college — and the first to rent and the first to own its own home. The progress of the chapter has been constant and along well-defined lines, its members prominently identified with the affairs and activities of, and the chapter a power for good in, the college life.

TAU

HAMILTON COLLEGE

Clinton, N. Y.

CHARTERED, JANUARY 15, 1856

TAU Chapter was chartered January 15, 1856. Fourteen men: Kelsey, Washburne, and Willoughby, in '56; Baldwin, Brockway, Long, and Newman, in '57; Hastings, Howe, Loomis, Lusk, and Root, in '58; and Griswold and Scott, in '59, constituted the charter members.

T was incorporated June 26, 1878, under the name of the "Δ K E Society of Hamilton College." The articles of incorporation were signed by Brothers Willoughby, '56; Brockway, '57; Howe, and Loomis, '58; Schlaeger, '69; De Witt, '75; Gardner, Salladin, and Webster, '78; De Witt, Hamlin, Reid, and Watkins, '79; Ottaway, '80; Pratt, and Whiteman, '81, and Morey, '83.

During the first eighteen months of its existence, the chapter met in the rooms of the Masonic Lodge, in Clinton. Then for ten years meetings were held in two rooms in South College, assigned by the Faculty. Fraternity lodges being banished from college buildings, the chapter had rooms in the village until April 1, 1885, when the Spencer homestead at the foot of College Hill was purchased for a chapter house. This house burned August 17, 1886. The present chapter house, built on the site of the old, was first occupied in the spring of 1888. While it was being built, the chapter rented a neighboring dwelling house.

The sons of T have distinguished themselves in every walk of life. Three have been Supreme Court Justices: Newman, '57, Foote, '70, and De Witt, '75. Three are Trustees of the college: Brockway, '57; Benedict, '69, and Blackmar, '74. Fifteen have been professors in colleges. Three have been missionaries in foreign lands, and two have been foreign ministers: Scott, '58, and Norton, '73. Bro. Knapp, '66, was twice elected to Congress. Bro. Blackmar, '74, is serving his second term on the Bench. Bro. Gray, '90, has lately accepted a college presidency. Bro. Lee, '99, has been re-elected to the N. Y. State Assembly. Bro. Drummond, '01, has twice been elected City Judge of Auburn. The list might well be extended, but it is impossible, in this brief sketch, to give more than passing mention of a few of the men who have brought honor to themselves and to their Fraternity.

T is justly proud of her war record. Of the fifty members of the Chapter who were capable of bearing arms in the Civil War, twenty-two entered the service, and of that number, five, Buckingham, Peebles, Butts, Allen, and Gwathney, gave their lives in the struggle. In our recent war with Spain, T was represented by Yeomans of '92, Magilton of '97, and Goodwin of '01.

During the fifty-four years of its existence, T has been first among the Fraternities of Hamilton in scholarship and athletics. The greatest honor ever won by an undergraduate of Hamilton was bestowed on a member of T Chapter when Bro. F. F. Laird, of '77, was awarded the first prize in the Inter-Collegiate Contest in Oratory at the Academy of Music in N. Y. City, January 3, 1877. Thirteen Dekes have been Valedictorians; nine have been Salutatorians; seventy-two have been elected to Φ B K; and eight have been Clark Prize Orators. And in athletics, as in scholarship, T stands unequaled by any fraternity in Hamilton.

The present prosperous condition of the Chapter is due to the loyalty and generosity of the alumni. The roll of creditors is a long one, but to Bros. Ambrose P. Kelsey, A Norton Brockway, John D. Henderson, Henry Harper Benedict, Wm. T. Laird, Frank F Laird, and P. L. Wight, T stands most heavily indebted. Their loyalty and devotion makes the continued prosperity of the Chapter assured.

MU

COLGATE COLLEGE

[MADISON UNIVERSITY UNTIL MAY 26, 1890]

Hamilton, N. Y.

CHARTERED, MARCH 1, 1856

MU Chapter is most fortunate in the possession of "Fifty Years of M," a thorough history supplemented by short biographies of every alumnus, which was published in 1906 by Brother H. O. Whitnall. Of necessity, therefore, a great many interesting details must be eliminated from this short story of the growth of the society. Yet in every history of M Chapter there are two landmarks, and to them is related the story of fifty-four years. Around the romance of the "Early Years," and about the "Building of the Temple," clusters a large share of the traditions of M.

In the year 1856, and for many years before, fraternities were refused entrance at Madison (Colgate). A $\Delta \Phi$ in 1850, and $\Psi \Upsilon$ had made futile attempts to gain a foothold, so that there was nothing but a record of previous failures to encourage the road-makers of $\Delta K E$. Then follows one of the most precious stories that was ever the heritage of any organization. Quietly the eight gathered, quietly they knocked for admission at the doors of Mother Φ , and quietly they were received. Still the college authorities failed to see in the close companionship of these students, anything more than an ordinary bond of common interest and forty men were made Dekes before the "eyes of the elders" were opened.

And they were opened in just this way. On Commencement Day, in 1856, the zeal of one member outstripped his respect for college authority and he flaunted his badge from the public platform. The faculty rose in arms. They passed resolutions and $\Delta K E$ returned them with vigor. The faculty threatened to expel every man in the "secret society," and were answered thus: "Resolved that we hereby pledge ourselves individually to maintain our membership in this society until the laws of the University are so altered or amended as to allow secret societies a lawful existence in this University or we are expelled from Madison University." Fourteen members yielded to the intense pressure of the authorities, and offered their resignations to the fraternity, but, instead, were promptly expelled from membership. The remaining Dekes, realizing the seriousness of the situation, preferred suicide to extinction and agreed to disband, signing a paper which testified that they no longer belonged to the secret society—all but one man! To the diplomacy and fidelity of John Ross Baumes, M Chapter largely owes her existence to-day. He refused to sign with his comrades, and though threatened with immediate expulsion, he managed to initiate from the Academy eight incoming Freshmen.

Everything now was secrecy. The charter was deposited first in the hands of T Chapter, then in the keeping of a loyal Deke girl of the village. At the close of each meeting the chapter was temporarily disbanded to keep within the letter of the pledge made by the charter members, yet the work of the Fraternity was done with success and with dispatch. Then slowly the light broke. One by one the pins of the chapter made their appearance, yet no objection came from the sanctum of the faculty. And the dawn of fraternity merged into the broad day.

The war of the North and South laid heavy hand upon the fraternity at Madison. Out of the little college, out of the struggling chapter went thirty-two men, and of these, five fell upon the field of battle. An infinite pathos lingers over their brave young lives, and blent with the tender graces of their communion and fellowship, the recollection of those broad-browed, broad-souled youths who so calmly and proudly looked out on life's endeavor, is a priceless legacy of college days.

The story of M's Temple is the basis for the second stage in the chapter's history. When finally it was decided to attempt the building with no money, or next to none on hand, man after man pledged first his allowance, then his bank account, and finally his credit. The sacrifice of these men can never be fully written. Day in and day out they labored for foundation stone until they had quarried enough. Then came an opportunity to sell the stone and realize a good round sum. The transaction was made, and back went the Dekes to the quarry for another lot for the foundation. The honor of dedicating the structure was the privilege of the class of 1877. The temple stands to-day, plain, to be sure, but beautiful in its simplicity, beautiful in its location, beautiful in its memories.

One important event marks the transition from the "Temple days" to the present time—the gift of the Pierce Memorial. While it is true that more money has been spent for homes of other chapters and of other fraternities, this is the only gift which has been complete—house, furnishings, and all. The house was given by Brother F. T. Pierce, 1856, at the request of his son Frank, 1888, who died soon after graduation. This building has served the needs of the chapter splendidly, and after twenty years of royal service it is soon to yield place to a new building, toward which end plans and funds are being surely collected.

The last ten years of the life of M Chapter have shown growth proportionate to the growth of Colgate. In the life and interests of the college, Δ K E stands unquestionably first. Gradually the number of rival fraternities has increased until M finds herself in competition with Δ Υ, Β Θ Π, Φ Κ Ψ, Φ Γ Δ, and two local societies, Σ Α, and Madison Club. Deke alumni have always been the ones to take the initiative in the welfare of the college, thus showing the active chapter that they are willing in their support. Years have marked a sound progress in the position and progress of M of Δ K E. She is gathering to herself the fruits of a steady successful advance, and withal she is laying solid foundations for strong sons of generations yet unborn.

COLLEGE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK
New York, N. Y.

CHARTERED, AUGUST 1, 1856

“When the good old City College
Was on “Rue de 23,”
Manhattan Isle a desert,
Without a Δ K Ε,
Some wise men from New Haven,
Sent down the field to view,
Corralled an Indian maiden
And there baptized her N.”

SO sang the sons of N, young and old, at her semi-centennial banquet in 1906, and, though poor poetry, it is good history. N was the first Δ K Ε Chapter in New York City. For a year, the star and crescent of the Manhattan Chapter of Α Δ Φ had shone supreme at the old “Free College,” when on the night of the '56 Commencement, five Commencement orators appeared wearing for the first time the diamond badge, and sounded the first note of a challenge for supremacy. While other fraternities have come and gone, and while certain “lesser breeds, without the law,” have sprung up, flourished, withered and passed away, these two chapters have constantly held the lead in an honorable rivalry that has lasted for fifty-four years. Nine charter members had applied to “Mother Φ” for a charter. Of them, Theodore A. Blake, '58, now of New Haven, alone survives. He tells us that his cousin, Eli W. Blake, Φ, '57, helped them in obtaining favorable consideration for their application, which venerable document, presented by Φ to us at our semi-centennial, is now treasured as N's most precious archive. At the N dinner of February, 1906, Brother Babcock, '57, one of the patriarchal nine, told us that the charter was granted in May, 1856, and that the initiatory grip was given to the nine component atoms of the original nucleus by a Σ Deke, who happened to be in the city with the Amherst debating team. The chapter found its first quarters in a large loft on the Bowery near Houston Street, (which Bro. Babcock said was a very respectable neighborhood at that time), which the boys partitioned to suit the chapter's requirements, and whither, Bro. Blake tells us, every stick of their furniture was carried on the backs of the now illustrious Pilgrim Fathers.

The College of the City of New York has never been a residential college. When its day was over with the last lecture or recitation, which in the old days on Lexington Avenue, ended at one or half-past, the students scattered at once to their homes all over the city. Perhaps because all the comradeship and intimacy that college life gave students at other colleges, came to us through the chapter, our patriotism became especially concentrated in it, a sort of Attic or Spartan intensified patriotism, and the men have grown up with a peculiarly affectionate and exclusive devotion to the chapter and the Fraternity that has made them loyal Dekes for all time. Until very lately, every New York $\Delta K E$ dinner, club, association, and reunion has found N men in plurality, and many times in actual majority.

And this patriotism has served the Fraternity at large. When N men settle elsewhere they become "Nuclei" of $\Delta K E$ graduate activity. Our Bro. Ormiston, '75, emigrates to Columbia, and in good time the exclusive and distinguished local fraternity of $\Psi \Phi$ evolves into our B, now our ΓB Chapter. Our Bro. Burchard, '80, appears in Boston as President of the Alumni Association of New England. A missionary delegation from N, in 1861, instals the ΦX Chapter at Rutgers, "on the banks of the old Raritan." And our Bro. Williams, '78, was the leader in securing the grant of the first $\Delta K E$ charter in Canada, and presided at the installation of the first Canadian Chapter at Toronto. He was also the member who devised, and first advocated, at the Dartmouth Convention, in 1879, the national organization of the Fraternity under the Council. He became the first President of the Council, and was a member of it, in different terms, for seven years (representing O at first). He was also the chief organizer of the $\Delta K E$ Club of New York, in 1885, and its Treasurer for eight years. The Fraternity flag, now so popular, which Bro. Peary, @, '77, carried to the Pole, was designed for the old N. Y. Club, about 1887, by our Bro. Burchard, '77, and dedicated to the Fraternity at the convention held with N and ΓB in 1890.

Perhaps the next trait is not peculiar to us, but with N men, their $\Delta K E$ faith is so nearly a religion, that it seems to us almost heresy, ever to separate the bonds of kinship from those of the brotherhood. The chapter rolls show several groups of three, and many of two brothers, while in these latter days, many N men are fathers of Dekes in N or other chapters. Thus Spence, '66, has three sons in ΓB ; Carr, '66, two, Griffen, '65, one, and Kirkland, '78, one in N. There is an E McGuckin, an A X Budd, and a ΔK Calkins of N ancestry, and the clan of Burchard is in half a dozen chapters.

Space forbids setting forth in detail the demonstrated predominance of N over all her fraternity rivals, in the attainment of student honors at our college. N's debut at the '56 Commencement, with five Commencement honors, was typically echoed in '78, when out of six N men graduating, five spoke at Commencement. For an instance, probably the most brilliant student that ever attended our College, was our Brother Gilbert M. Elliott, '61, who took the first Pell Medal, the blue ribbon of our undergraduate days, four years in succession, graduated valedictorian, was killed while, as Major, commanding and leading his regiment in a charge at the battle of Lookout Mountain, and was brevetted Colonel after his death. At the installation of Doctor Finley as President of the College in 1903, the only undergraduate speaker, among a galaxy of college presidents and other prominent men, was our Kenneth Groesbeck, '05.

On the present teaching staff of the City College, N is represented by Prof. Tisdall, '59 (whose jubilee is being arranged as these lines go to press), Profs. McGuckin, '69, Reynolds, '91, and Carr, '66, and Messrs. Powell, '83, Pedersen, '89, Compton, '97, and Groesbeck, '05; while the records show the former services of Prof. C. A. Doremus, '70, and Messrs. McMullin, '56; Banks, '58; Godwin, '58; Fisher, '63; McMaster, '72; Stoiber, '72; Davis, '76; Kenyon, '76; Burchard, '77; Perrin, '79, and Kenyon, '81. On the Board of Trustees of the College we find Miller, '69, as the present Chairman, and Crawford, '68, ex-Chairman of the Executive Committee, and Dresser, '59, and Tift, '73, as ex-trustees.

As presidents of other colleges, N gave the distinguished chemist, Ira Remsen, '65, to Johns Hopkins, and G. S. Davis, '80, to the Normal College of the City of New York; and as professors and instructors, the historian, J. Bach McMaster, '72, to Princeton and Pennsylvania; Gardiner, '59; Postley, '69, and Townsend, '75, to West Point; Lefferts, '67; Fowler, '69, and Kelsey, '70, to the College of Physicians and Surgeons; Lozier, '59, to the N. Y. Medical College for Women; Fisher, '75, to the Bellevue and N. Y. U. Medical College; Burchard, '69, to Bellevue; Doremus, '70, to Bellevue and Buffalo; Spitzka, '98, to Jefferson Medical College, and Sargent, '85, to Wisconsin and Harvard and Dearborn, '97, to the Metropolitan Hospital.

Howe, '56; Gardiner, '59; Cooper, Elliott, Kingsland, and Sanger, '61; Roberts, '62, and Marten and Robinson, '63, served in the Civil War, Gardiner receiving the Congressional Medal of Honor. Aurelius Mestre, '81, was especially mentioned in despatches for distinguished and important services in the Santiago campaign (from the effects of which, he died). On the present roster of the U. S. Army, appear the names of Col. Townsend, '75, of the Engineers, and formerly of the General Staff; Col. Richard, '74; Major Houston, '80, and Capt. Oakes, '91. Major-general N. H. Henry, '77, was, Adjutant General of the National Guard of New York State until appointed Surveyor of the port of New York, in 1910. N has now V. M.

Davis, '76, on the Bench of the N. Y. Supreme Court, and E. B. LaFetra, '86, on that of the City Court of N. Y.. Among the Clergy, N has Summerbell, '71; Daw and Merington, '79, and Williams, '74, who is Archdeacon of Washington, D. C.

To Cattell's "American Men of Science," N contributes Ira Remsen, '65, (Chemistry and education), Charles A. Doremus, '70, (Chemistry), Gano Dunn, '89, (Electrical Engineering), E. A. Spitzka, '98, (Neuro-anatomy), Sargent, '85, (Botany), Pedersen, '89 (Mathematical Physics), and Reynolds, '91, (Mathematics), of whom the first four are starred as among the thousand, "whose work is supposed to be the most important."

To New York City's civil service, N has given a President of the Board of Health, Fowler, '69, two Commissioners of Public Works, Smith, '66, and Thompson, '68, a President of the Board of Education, Tiftt, '73, and many commissioners and assistant superintendents of education.

On the stage, Serrano, '87, is a well-known actor.

In the business world, we note Clafin, '69, and Crawford, '75, as Presidents of great drygoods corporations, in New York and St. Louis respectively, Miller, '69, as President of the Brooklyn Trust Company, Blake, '58, Griffen, '65, and Palmer, '66, among our leading manufacturers, C. S. Brown, '70, an authority on real estate, Guild, '69, in the Standard Oil Company, Bouvier, '84, Vice-President of the house of W. R. Grace & Co., Gilley, '59, Hollister, '61, Mestre and Noble, '80, as leading members of the Stock Exchange, Clark, '66, Wallace, '01, and Rich, '04, in the Cotton Exchange, Spence, '66, in the Produce Exchange, and Budd, '81, ex-President of the Consolidated Exchange.

Several of our men have been members of the State Legislature, Burchard, '80, is wielding the gavel for the fourth consecutive term as Speaker of the Rhode Island House, and Bonyng, '82, now of Denver, has represented the First District of Colorado in Congress and is now a member of the National Monetary Commission.

These notes are made from memory, and without a complete list of the Chapter at hand, and undoubtedly many prominent names have been overlooked. But to us who are in the secret of N, these trifling titles and adornments of the outer world count very little. The men were always there; and the main fact is, that they have been and are a steadfastly loyal band of friends and brothers, whom this, their unworthy scribe, is proud and grateful to have known. They have been true and honorable, and a joy to the heart in every relation.

N regrets that she cannot adorn the pages of the 1910 catalogue with a picture of her house. Real estate is dearer in New York City than on any campus elsewhere, and we are rich mostly in wealth that thieves cannot break through and steal, and which fears no panic, no "bear" raid, and no Federal vexation. From the humble beginnings on the ante-bellum Bowery, northward the star of New York has taken its way, and we have followed the beam. Our chapter fires have been lighted in 13th Street, on Greeley Square, in 34th Street, on Fifth Avenue, in 42nd Street, and now on the great plains of Harlem near the guardian watch-tower of Mt. Morris Park. Like the hero of the great Brahms' song, we have had and have lived the wandering life of a New York lessee. But a chapter-house fund is steadily accumulating (it is now over $6,000), and perhaps before all our patriarchs have been gathered to Abraham's bosom, we shall toast them beneath our own rafters and roof-tree, and sing,

"Now though her years are fifty,
And her sons are silver-gray,
To graduate and Freshman
She's new and fair to-day;
And so beneath the banner
Of crimson, blue, and gold,
We pledge the old devotion
To N, the never old."

L. S. B., '77.

CHARTERED, NOVEMBER 1, 1856

THE entrance of B Φ into the student life at Rochester was indeed a dramatic one. Soon after the opening of college in the fall of 1856, the efforts to obtain a charter of Δ K E by a loyal band of nine young men, who had joined themselves together for that purpose, met with success and the chapter was duly installed. It was thought best for various reasons, however, to keep the event secret until a suitable occasion for the denouement should arise. November 14 was finally selected and on that night, when chapel was crowded to hear a debate between two rival societies, the members of the new chapter entered in a body. The significance of the new event soon spread among the audience, completely overshadowing interest in the debate.

Of that original band of nine members, only one survives, Colonel Samuel C. Pierce of the class of 1860. George P. Draper, '57, who was responsible for the establishment of the chapter, interesting as he did, members of the fraternity in the project, died only last year. At the banquet commemorating the Golden Anniversary of the founding of the chapter, held three years ago, he was the guest of honor, and few who were there will ever forget his remarks on the founding of the chapter. The other charter members were: Thomas Ryan, William Harkness, '58; Francis E. Pierce, John W. Heath, '59; John K. Purdy, Charles C. Barton, and Thomas F. Heron, '60.

Scarcely had the last charter member been graduated from the university when the Civil War broke out. To the call of arms, B Φ responded nobly and gave twenty-seven of her sons to the Northern army and one to the Confederacy. The records of the war contain constant allusions to their bravery on the battle field, some of which we would like to relate if the scope of this article would permit. Following the disbanding of the armies at the close of the war, students flocked back to their college work, and the chapter like the university started anew on its interrupted work.

In September, 1865, the nineteenth annual convention of the Fraternity was held at Rochester. The gathering was exceedingly important, as matters of vital interest to the southern chapters, which had been sadly weakened by the war, were decided. B Φ was appointed the "Badge Chapter" as a result of a suggestion of a modification in the badge by Brother Draper and a chapter officer known as the "Badge Officer" was elected for a number of years.

The two following decades were marked by continued growth and development. The rivalry between the different fraternities was intense but Δ K E continued its hold of pre-eminence. Many struggles, the like of which we do not know in these days, were waged between the rival fraternities and in most of them we came off victorious.

B Φ again had the honor in 1884 of entertaining a convention, the thirty-eighth. The event, brilliant in every detail, contributed not a little to the permanent prosperity of the chapter, bringing as it did before the people of the city the national position of the Fraternity. It also served to arouse the enthusiasm of the alumni and stimulate their loyalty so that few chapters can boast of as earnest, united, and zealous an alumni association as ours.

The first meetings of the chapter were held in the law office of Hastings and Newton, but a few months later rooms were engaged in the Buell Block on East Main Street. Soon after the convention in 1884, largely as a result of the enthusiasm engendered among the alumni at that time, our present home on Alexander Street was purchased. The event was unique in that we were the first fraternity to establish a chapter house of our own at Rochester.

Our chapter continues to maintain its prestige in the university as well as in the city. Able as we have been to practically have our choice from the different entering classes, we have taken in from year to year men that we knew would make good Dekes.

We have not space here to record the details of our chapter life, much of which would undoubtedly be interesting to the fraternity at large as well as our alumni. Many of our brothers have become renowned in their different fields but none have lost the love for the good old Fraternity whose loyal sons they will ever be. May B Φ continue to do her share in furthering the prosperity of Δ K E!
