Indian Juggling.

The fort of Calcutta, commonly known as Fort William, is one of the most splendid and convenient military establishments to be found in any quarter of the globe. It is very spacious, and somewhat resembles the Tower of London, in that it consists of various streets and squares, adapted for different military purposes. On all sides it is guarded by a high and strongly built rampart which is surrounded in its turn by a broad and deep fosse, over which are placed drawbridges, leading to the different gateways. Arrived in Calcutta, a raw griffin, of course I went to inspect the lions, and among others, the fort.

The fort is often the scene of animated festivity, from the presence of native jugglers, renowned for their surprising skill and dexterity. The performances of these strange people have been so often described, that I shall only make mention of a few, for otherwise I might tire the reader. One of them struck me as being curious from its having a strong resemblance to the feats recorded in sacred history, as having been performed by the magicians of Egypt, in the time of Moses, and the presence of Pharaoh. Indeed, as it is well known that the Hindoo tricks have been handed down from the most distant ages, from father to son, there is little wonder that such similarity can exist. The particular trick alluded to, is the apparent conversion of a brass coin into a snake. The juggler gave me the coin to hold, and then seated himself, about five yards from me, on a small rug, from which he never attempted to move during the whole performance. I showed the coin to several persons who were close beside me, on a form in front of the juggler. At a sign from him, I not only grasped the coin I held firmly in my right hand, but, crossing that hand with equal tightness with my left, I enclosed them both as firmly as I could between my knees. Of course I was positively certain that the small coin was within my double fists. The juggler then began a sort of incantation, accompanied by a monotonous and discordant kind of recitative, and, repeating the words Ram, Sammu, during some minutes. He then suddenly stopped, and, still keeping his seat, made a quick motion with his right hand, as if throwing something at me, giving at the same time a puff with his mouth. At that instant I felt my hands suddenly distend, and become partly open, while I experienced a sensation as if a cold ball of dough, or something equally soft, nasty, and disagreeable was now between my palms. I started to my feet in astonishment, also to the astonishment of others, and opening my hands, found there no coin, but to my horror and alarm (for of all created things I detest and loathe the genus) I saw a young snake, all alive—oh! and of all snakes in the world, a cobra-diacapello, folded, or rather coiled, roundly up. I threw it instantly to the ground, trembling with rage and fear, as if already bit by the deadly reptile, which began immediately to crawl along the ground, to the alarm and amazement of every one present. The juggler now got up for the first time since he had sat down, and catching hold of the snake displayed its length, which was nearly two feet—two feet all but an inch and a half. He then took it cautiously by the tail, and opening his own mouth to its widest extent, let the head of the snake drop into it, and deliberately commenced to swallow the animal, till the end of the tail was only visible; then making a sudden gulp, the whole of the snake was apparently swallowed. After this, he came up to the spectators, and opening his mouth wide, permitted us to look into his throat, but no snake or snake's tail was visible; it was seemingly down his throat altogether. During the remainder of the performances, we never saw this snake again, nor did the man profess his ability to make it re-appear; but he performed another snake-trick, which surprised us very much. He took from a bag another cobra-diacapello, and, walking into the center of the room, enclosed it in his hands in a folded state. He waved, or shook them for some time in this condition, and then opened his fists, when, hey! presto!—the snake was gone, and in its place appeared several small ones, which he suffered to fall from his hands, when they glided, with their peculiar undulating movement, almost like the waves of the sea, about the floor.—English Officer, in Once a Week.

A FRENCHMAN thinks the English language is very tough. "Dare is look out," he says, "which is to put out your head and see; and look out, which is to haul in your head and not for to see—just contrarie."

"FIRST boy state what were the dark ages of the world." Boy hesitates. "Next. Master Jones, can you tell me what the dark ages were?" "The ages before gas was invented."

An Irishman's Letter.

PARISH OF BALDYWHACKIN, Feb. 14th.

DEER NEFFEA: I haven't sent ye a letter since time I wrote to ye, because we have moved from our former place of livin' and I didn't know whether a letter would find ye; but I now wid pleasure take up my pen to inform ye of the death of your own livin' uncle Kilpatrick, who died very suddely last week, after a lingering sickness of six weeks. The poor man was in violent convulsions the whole time of his illness, lying perfectly quiet all the while—spacheless entirely, talking incoherently, and crying for wather—I had no opportunity of informin' ye of his death sooner, except I wrote to ye by the last post, which went two days before his death, and then ye'd had the postage to pay. I'm at a great loss to tell what his death was occasioned by, but I fear it was by his last sickness. He never was well tin days together during the whole time of his confinement but ba that as it will, as soon as he breathed his last the doctur gave up all hopes of his recovery. I needn't tell ye anything about his age, for ye well know that in May next he would have bin twenty-five years ould, lackin' tin months; and had he lived till that time he then would have been six months dead. His property is very considerable; it devolves upon his next of kin, who is dead some time since, so that I expect it will be equally divided betwene us—and then my dear Larry ye'll get two-thirds of the whole, and ye know he had a fine estate, which was sold to pay his debts, and the remainder he lost on a horse race. But it was the opinion of all the ladies present, that he would have won the race, if the horse he run against hadn't been too fast for him—bad luck to the baste. But poor soul, he never will ate or drink more; and now Larry ye haven't a livin' relashun in the wide world, except myself and your two cousins that was kilt in the war.

But I can't dwell upon this mournful subject, but I will sale this lether wid black salein' wax, and put on yer uncle's coat of arms. So I beg ye not to break the sale when ye open the lether, until three or four days after ye reseave it—by that time ye will be better prepared for the mournful tidings.

Your swateheart, May, sends her love to ye unbeknownst to me. When the bearer of this arrives in Hamilton, ax him for this lether, and if he doesnt know which one it is, tell him it's one that spakes of your uncle's death and saled in black. JUDY O'HALLIGAN.

CAN THE DEAD WIN AT CARDS.—A very curious law case came recently before a German court, arising from the following circumstances: A gentleman sat at a faro table in the town of Koethen, in Saxony, playing with usual attention and silence. Several plays were made, and the cards which the gentleman continued unchangedly to put forward were repeatedly. The gold pushed toward the winner by the croupier, however, was not drawn by him, and after several more accumulations had made the pile inconveniently large, the keeper of the bank rather angrily requested the fortunate man to take in his money. With his eye fixed on his card, the player took no notice of the request. "Draw in your gold!" was again uttered by several around the table. No answer. "Monsieur! you incommode the other players," said the croupier. The same motionless silence. A person sitting next the offender took hold of his hand. The winner was dead. As the body was being removed the croupier drew back the money he had shoved towards the dead player, alleging that the game based upon reciprocal engagements could not exist between the dead and living. The heirs of the defunct presented themselves the day after, declaring that the winner had regularly commenced and continued the game. The question was carried before the tribunal of Koethen, and will probably depend upon the evidence as to the point of time when the player ceased to live.

An old gentleman went out to shoot partridges accompanied by his son. The gun was charged half way up to the muzzle, and when at last the old gentleman started some birds, he took a rest and blazed away, expecting to see some fall, of course; but not so did it happen, for the gun recoiled with so much force as to "kick" him over. The old man got up, and while rubbing the sparks out of his eyes, inquired of his son, "Dick, did I point the right end of the gun to the birds?"

A "BUMPTIOUS" traveler, overtaking an old minister, whose nag was much fatigued, quizzed the old gentleman upon his "turn out." "A nice horse, yours, Doctor! very—valuable beast, that; but what makes him wag his tail so, Doctor?" "Why, as you have asked me, I will tell you. It is for the same reason that your tongue wags so—a sort of natural weakness."

Anecdote of Forrest.

When Edwin Forrest was doing the leading business at the old Pearl Street Theater, in Albany, some twenty-three years ago, and before he had reached even the second round of fame's tall ladder, there was attached to the theater a fellow by the name of Diggory Center. Diggory had the leading business in his department—was captain of the supes—a position that he no doubt took as much pains and pride in sustaining as did the American tragedian any of his casts.

Diggory was an old attache of the theater—had been there for years—and though his position was an humble one, he was exceedingly popular with all the frequenters of the place.

Of course Diggory's position never gave him an opportunity to "spread himself," although occasionally he managed to make something of a show. He had participated in innumerable bloody hand-to-hand encounters with the enemy, and thereby had become an adept in the use of the sword—in short, he couldn't be taken down in the small or broad sword exercise. And on occasions when he had to contend with an enemy—whom he always vanquished—he never failed to "bring down the house"—the pit portion, certain.

Diggory had never "had a turn with Forrest," to use his own words. He was very anxious to "put him through," and had repeatedly endeavored to get an opportunity. At last, however, he succeeded, and, as said before, he came out ahead—took the great tragedian square down.

They were one night performing a piece full of fight—blood and carnage in every scene. Forrest, of course took the leading character, did an immense amount of fighting and an equal amount of killing. The scene was the last, and the "agony was piled on," the fighting was desperate. Forrest was up to his middle in blood, the dead and dying lying thick around him. Diggory belonged to the opposing army, and of course had a chance to show himself. The fight was promiscuous, and into Ned Forrest he pitched—one up and one down—out, thrust, etc. The two were equally matched. Diggory was a muscular, broad shouldered, bullet headed and double fisted fellow—Forrest the same, "only more so." Well, the fight "grew fast and furious." Ned was getting quite tired, and he was also getting angry.

"Down, you rascal! down, down I say!" almost yelled Forrest—loud enough at any rate, for those in the pit to hear him.

And then there arose such a yell in the pit as is seldom heard, even in the Bowery, at the present day. "Go it Diggory!" sings out one. "Rake him down!" yells another. "Don't give it up, old feller!" while a fourth proposed "Three cheers for Diggory Center."

And they were given. And such yells! A crowd of Stentors could not have beat it. Forrest could stand it no longer, and with a curse, "loud and deep," he backed off the stage, followed by Diggory, who was putting in the blows rapidly, and not very lightly; and some minutes after the two had made their exit, and the curtain had fallen, the clash of swords could be distinctly heard.

"I HAVE great confidence," says O. W. Holmes, "in young men who believe in themselves, and are accustomed to rely on their own resources from an early period. When a resolute young fellow steps up to the great bully, the World, and takes him boldly by the beard, he is often surprised to find it come off in his hand, and that it was only tied on to scare away timid adventurers. I have seen young men more than once, who came to a great city without a single friend, support themselves and pay for their education, lay up money in a few years, grow rich enough to travel, and establish themselves in life, without ever asking a dollar of any person which they had not earned. But these are exceptional cases. There are horse-tamers born so, we all know; there are women-tamers, who bewitch the sex as the pied piper bedeviled the children of Hamelin; and there are world-tamers, who can make any community, even a Yankee one, get down and let them jump on its back as easily as Mr. Rarey straddled Cruiser."

CHAOS.—A woman putting your room to rights—just after you have been arranging everything to your satisfaction, and elaborately assorting your papers with such methodical care that you could put your finger upon each separate one in the dark—that is what I call Chaos. Men are not more awkward in handling women's babies than women are in fingering men's papers. The mischief, and damage, and endless annoyance of spirit, and thorough disturbance of temper for the rest of the day, that are engendered by the latter practice, surpasses all belief.—A Confirmed Old Bachelor.

STARTLING DISCOVERY.—During the sitting of a court in Connecticut, not long ago, on a very cold evening, a crowd of lawyers had collected around the open fire that blazed cheerfully on the hearth in the bar-room, when a traveler entered, benumbed with cold; but no one moved to give him room to warm his shins, so he leaned against the wall in the back part of the room.

Presently a smart young limb of the law addressed him, and the following dialogue took place:

"You look like a traveler."

"Waal, I suppose I am. I come all the way from Wisconsin afoot, at any rate."

"From Wisconsin! What a distance to come on a pair of legs!"

"Waal, I done it, anyhow."

"Did you ever pass through hell in any of your travels?"

"Yes, sir, I have been through the outskirts."

"I thought likely. Well, what are the manners and customs there? some of us would like to know."

"O, you'll find them much the same as in this place—the lawyers sit nearest the fire."

GETTING EVEN.—A few days ago, Baron de — gave a dinner to half a dozen friends, to "warm" a house he had just built for himself. It was a bachelor dinner, his wife being in the country. When they were at desert, a lady entered the room—his wife! There was a disagreeable moment or two for the guests, as surprises are always disagreeable, especially when they come in petticoats. She said: "Gentlemen, I am sorry to disturb you, but I have something to say to my husband, and am not sorry to have your company." She thereupon went up to her husband, who was turning as many colors as a dying dolphin, and said to him: "Six weeks ago, in the heat of discussion which I did not provoke, you were coward enough to slap me. As there were no witnesses present, my lawyer tells me I can bring no action. There are witnesses here now, sir, take that! (giving him a terrible slap,) use your wittnesses. I expect your lawyer at once." She then quitted the room majestically. The husband has summoned all his friends as witnesses, and brought suit for divorce.

THE KING AND SEIDLITZ POWDERS.

On the first consignment of seidlitz powders in the capital of Delhi, the monarch became deeply interested in the accounts of the refreshing box. A box was brought to the king in full court, and the interpreter explained to the king how it should be used. Into a goblet he put the twelve blue papers, and having added water, the king drank it off. This was the alkali, and the royal countenance expressed no signs of satisfaction. It was then explained that in the combination lay the luxury; and the twelve white papers were quickly dissolved, and as eagerly swallowed by his majesty. With a shriek that will be remembered while Delhi is numbered with the kingdoms, the monarch arose, staggered, exploded, and in his full agonies, exclaimed, "hold me down!" then, rushing from the throne, fell prostrate on the floor. There he lay, during the long continued effervescence of the compound, spirited like ten thousand pennyworths of imperial pop, and believing himself in the agonies of death—a melancholy and humiliating proof that kings are mortal.

A STRANGE SALMON.—On a fishing and shooting expedition, some very strange stories were told in the evenings. Shots are made, and fishing feats performed, after dinner, occasionally of a kind seldom known at other times. On the occasion referred to the romancing had been extraordinary. A canny Scotchman in the corner was at length poked up, to know if he ever heard anything as wonderful as the story last related, which referred to the abundance of fish in an English river. "No," said he, "unless it was some years ago, when I was fishing in the Highlands, near Loch Awe. The first thing I saw in the mornin', when I looked out o' ma bedroom window, was a salmon—I'll warrant he was fifty pounds weight—so tame that he was gaun pickin' about the yard wi' the hens!"

The man who wont take a paper because he can borrow one, has invented a machine with which he can cook his dinner by the smoke of his neighbor's chimney.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—The annual election for District School Trustees will be held this day, (Saturday,) in the different districts in this county.

GREAT BARGAIN.—By reference to another column will be found an advertisement of a ranch and sheep for sale cheap.

BITTEN BY A DOG.—On Thursday morning last, Alexander Eibes was severely bitten by a dog belonging to Mr. Bell about two miles below this place. The dog for some time has had a grudge against Aleck, and he at last took it out by biting about four square inches of flesh from the calf of his leg. We understand he is going to kill the dog.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS AND MACHINES.—By reference to the advertisement in another column, will be found all the latest and best agricultural implements and machines, for sale by Baker & Hamilton, J street, between Front and Second, Sacramento.

FOR SACRAMENTO.—This morning, Sheriff Douglas leaves here for Sacramento, with William Sherman, who was indicted last January, for stealing cattle, was brought up for trial at the Court of Sessions on Wednesday last, was continued over to next term.

SPIRIT OF THE TIMES.—This paper entered upon its thirteenth volume last Saturday. It is devoted to the interests of firemen, military, racing and sporting; and is the best paper of the kind published. We wish it success.

THE HESPERIAN.—We have the April number of the Hesperian, and as usual, it is well illustrated with plates and fashions for the Spring; also interesting reading matter.

The first annual fair of the Oregon State Agricultural Society is proposed to be held on the first of October next, and to continue four days. Premiums to the amount of $2,000 will be awarded.

TYPO LINGO.—" * of my existence, give me an }," said a printer to his sweetheart

"Such an outrage," said Faust, looking †† at her, "is without a ||."

The writer of the foregoing ¶s has astonished the people in this § to a ° never before known in these &s, by putting a . to his existence, about 5' afterwards.

The Seneca Observer mentions the death of a Mrs. Burch, at Junius, on the 18th of February, at the advanced age of 112 years. She was married at the age of 22, and had a son who, if he lived till now would have been 90 years old. A son of hers is now living who is 18 years old.—Marysville Democrat.

[We don't believe the boy would have been 90 years old. We don't believe he was born until after the old woman had been married at least seven or eight months.—Ed.]

PHYSICIAN.—On Wednesday last, Dr. Tilden was elected in Joint Convention, on the 29th ballot, as Resident Physician of the State Insane Asylum.

Dr. Clark of Placerville was elected Visiting Physician of Insane Asylum.

ADMITTED TO BAIL.—Judge McKune admitted Judge J. H. Hardy to bail in the sum of $10,000. The bond of the above was signed by J. B. Haggin and A. C. Monson.

CONSUL TO CORK.—The President nominated to the Senate, Patrick J. Devine of Sacramento, Consul to Cork.

SUDDEN DEATH.—On Tuesday last, Terrence Foley, late proprietor of the San Francisco Herald, died suddenly at Sacramento, aged 45 years.

NATIONAL TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION.—Jeremiah Gray, who has gone East in the Sonora, was elected by the Eureka Typographical Union, in San Francisco, delegate to the National Typographical Union Convention, which meets in New York on the first Monday in May next.

FINISHED.—The Marysville Appeal says the exterior of the new Odd Fellows' Hall block received its final touches on Monday last, by the insertion on its two principal sides of slabs of white marble, bearing in gilt letters the name of the building and date of its erection. The work reflects credit on the marble cutters, Messrs. McCrady & Bro., and is a fitting finish to the beautiful building which ornaments the city.

The Weather, River, Etc.

We have had but little clear weather for more than two weeks, and from present indications, (the wind being from the south-east,) more rain may be expected before the weather becomes settled. The river is higher now, about this place, than it has been for four years, and should another heavy rain fall before it recedes, a great deal of damage to property will be experienced in many portions of the valley from high water; our town, however, is comparatively secure, for it will require a rise in the river of about four feet, to come over the bank here; and when we take into consideration the large area of country now under water, and which still expands as the river rises, we see no very good reasons to fear that it will attain a perpendicular height of four feet above its present stage. The prospects for plentiful crops of both hay and grain, are indeed very flattering at this time; and hopes are entertained that our farmers will be compensated for the heavy outlay of money for fencing material, which they were necessarily compelled to make before they could hope to harvest another crop.

Court of Sessions.

APRIL TERM.

The Court of Sessions met at Cacheville, on Tuesday last—present, Hon. Isaac Davis, Judge.

The People vs. John A. Redding—indicted for grand larceny of two head of cattle, the property of Samuel Haines—jury empaneled, and after examining the evidence and hearing the argument of counsel, the jury reported that they were unable to agree upon a verdict, and were discharged.

The People vs. A. Goldthwait—indicted for the larceny of three head of hogs, the property of Mrs. Tadlock—the jury, after hearing the evidence of witnesses and the argument of counsel, returned a verdict of "not guilty."

SUICIDE OF WM. McNULTY.—Wm. McNulty, a well known citizen of Sacramento, committed suicide in San Francisco, on Saturday morning last, by shooting himself through the heart. He registered his name at the Tehama House, in that city, on the 28th of March, having just arrived from Washoe, where he has recently resided. The deceased was a native of Ohio, and was about 45 years old.

STATISTICS OF NAPA CITY.—The Napa Reporter publishes a table which shows that, since 1859, there has been a gain in that city of two churches, two lumber yards, one livery stable, one machine shop, one restaurant, one fish market and one tailor—while there has been a loss of two ambrotypists, one boarding house, one cigar store, one carriage shop, one miscellaneous store, one fruit store, one hotel, three liquor saloons, one millinery store, one printing office, one fancy goods store, one saddle and harness shop, one watchmaker, five lawyers and two physicians. The Reporter concludes from these changes that piety must have increased about 66 per cent., temperance 12½ per cent.—while education, politics, litigation and sickness have declined from 20 to 50 per cent.

Arrival of the Pony Express!

Dates to March 22d.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3d.
The following dispatch was received by Sweeney & Baugh, from New York, by the pony which arrived at Carson, at twelve o'clock last night.

NEW YORK, March 22d.

The Cabinet and General Scott held a protracted conference yesterday, partly on the subject of the evacuation of Fort Sumter, but mainly upon a distribution of the spoils.

The announcement in Charleston, on Tuesday last, that Fort Sumter was to be evacuated produced the most intense excitement, and work was for a time suspended.

Accounts from Charleston say that Governor Pickens and General Beauregard have decided on erecting fortifications at Stone, and at all the points leading to Charleston harbor.

Business has revived under the prospects of a settlement of the political disturbances.

It is feared that the tariff of the Southern Confederacy will considerably impair the importing and jobbing business of the North.

The steamship Adriatic has been sold to the Cunard Line.

The President has refused to recognize the Southern Commissioners in toto.

There is considerable feeling among the merchants from California at the attempt of Senator Baker to control all the appointments of your State. Sullivan and Stanford seem to be recognized as the proper authorities to be consulted in the distribution of the spoils of the Golden State.

Affairs in the South remain unchanged. Jayne, of Illinois, is much pressed for Governor of Colorado Territory, and Carter of Ohio, for the Territory of Nevada.

There is nothing important from Europe.

The Australasia is unheard from.

There are no arrivals and no clearances from or to San Francisco.

The bark Messenger Bird was spoken at Bassora, on the Euphrates, under the name of the Margaret Jane, hailing from Bristol, Rhode Island. The vessel had been sold, and was sailing under Turkish colors. Capt. De Lee had decamped.

The Meteor, from San Francisco, arrived at Falmouth on the 24th of Feb.

Wheat advanced a shade—stands at $1 63; common, $1 15. Flour advanced for export five to ten cents per barrel; best brands, $8. California 7s, 88c.

The receipts of the Catholic Fair and Ball at Weaverville were $3,000.

THE BRODERICK WILL CASE.—On Monday last, at San Francisco, the Bee says, John McDonnell, Philip and Johanna Fogarty, John Howard and wife filed a petition in the Broderick will case. They allege that Bridget Culbert was the sister of the mother of Broderick, and said Bridget was the mother of the petitioners, John, Johanna and Howard, who claim to be the nearest relations of the deceased. They allege that the paper purporting to be a will was made and forged by George Wilkes, R. Maloney, M. E. Flanagan, and A. A. Phillips, or some of them, long after the death of Broderick. They allege that the signature to the will is forged, and claim that the instrument was admitted to probate on the testimony of one witness, the testimony of the other subscribing witness having been impeached. They pray that the probate may be revoked, that John McDonnell may be appointed administrator, and that a time may be fixed for the hearing of this petition. McDonnell swears to the truth of the petition, according to his best knowledge and belief. The effect will be a jury trial, to try the fact whether the paper was Broderick's will.

A GOOD SPECULATION, BUT A BAD BUSINESS.—We see it stated that Donald McLea has contracted for the labor of sixty of the State Prison convicts, to make clothing at sixty cents per day. Donald has got a good thing of it, certain, and we not blame him. He can manufacture clothing at least eighty five per cent. cheaper than any other person on this coast. We say we do not blame McLea for going into this speculation, but we do blame the Governor and his fellow Directors of the State Prison for allowing him to engage in it. When there are so many poor women with families to support, and poor people of all kinds, as there are now in this city, anxious for something to do to support themselves, it is an outrage upon the community for the State authorities to allow convict labor to come in competition with their labor, and to allow convicts to take the bread out of their mouths and drive them to mendicancy or the hospital. We do not believe that convicts should be maintained in idleness, but they should be put at some other labor than that of making clothing. Keep them at work cutting—take them to Folsom and make them heavy granite—set them at brick making—but do not put them to work in competition with poor women and families. If Gov. Downey thinks he will gain credit with the people by this sort of State Prison management and economy, he will find himself much mistaken. Even half a dozen Horace Smith vetoes would not suffice to obliterate the memory of the injury perpetrated by his new style of prison management.—San Francisco Call.

Northern District Agricultural Society.

On Monday evening last, the annual meeting of the Northern District Agricultural Society was held at the City Hall in Marysville. President Swezy reported very favorably of the progress of the Society since its establishment, two years ago, and made some suggestions as to the future. A committee of seven was appointed to report candidates for the various offices. Messrs. Pratt, Hastings, Fall, Bockius, Bolinger, Teegarden and Rother composed said committee. The meeting then adjourned to meet in half an hour at the District Court room. On reassembling at the Court room, A. S. Randall was appointed Secretary, pro tem. The committee reported the following official nominations: For President, G. N. Swezy; for first Vice President, S. W. Selby; for Treasurer, A. D. Starr; for Secretary, Charles A. Gorman; for Vice Presidents, E. T. Wilkins and R. F. Pratt, of Yuba; John Boggs, Colusa; R. G. Walsh, Tehama; J. A. Raff, Shasta; R. C. Chambers, Plumas; G. R. Nickerson, Placer; Joseph Gluckauff, Butte; Col. Boulware and John C. Smith, Sutter; John Bope, Sierra; John A. Seely, Nevada; Washington Henshaw, Butte. The report was received, and G. N. Swezy unanimously elected President, and S. W. Selby first Vice President. The Secretary pro tem was then directed to cast the ballot of the Society for the rest of the officers reported by the committee, and they were unanimously elected in that manner. The following resolution, offered by John A. Paxton, was then adopted:

Resolved, That the Executive Committee of this Society be authorized to receive articles for exhibition and competition for premiums from any part of California and Oregon, and from the territories of Washington, Nevada and Utah. The meeting then adjourned.

SUDDEN DEATH.—On Monday last, a young lady, Miss Ellen Horgan, died very suddenly in this city. She was engaged at a sewing machine in the millinery establishment of Mrs. Healey, and pleasantly talking to some ladies, when she fell upon her face and died in a few moments. A physician was immediately sent for, but before he arrived she was quite dead. About a half hour previously she had eaten a hearty dinner, and appeared to be in good health. The cause of her death was apoplexy. Miss Horgan, we understand, was very respectably connected in San Francisco.—Marysville Democrat.

The original of the anecdote imposed on the biographer of Wilberforce to the effect that, when a boy, his father showed him a picture of the Savior on the cross, as a warning of the fate to which all reformers were exposed, occurs in the "Bee," a periodical of the 18th century, and is as follows: "The old man takes his son by the hand, and draws back the curtain at the end of the room, discovered a crucifix exquisitely painted. 'My son,' said he, 'you desire to change the religion of your country—behold the fate of a reformer!'"

SIR James Mackintosh declared that the best thing ever said of ghosts was said by Coleridge, who, when asked by a lady if he believed in them, replied, "No, madam, I have seen too many to believe in them."

THE GLORY OF THE WEED.—Said a man to a little boy, strutting up Broadway with his cigar, before breakfast, "My boy, you would look better with bread and butter in your mouth than with a cigar." "I know it," said the urelian, "but it would not be half so glorious."

THRASHING MACHINES.

Also, the following REAPERS and MOWERS, improved for the Harvest of 1861:

- NEW YORK COMBINED MACHINE,
- BURT'S EAGLE " "
- MCCORMICK'S " "
- HEATH'S EAGLE " "
- KENTUCKY HARVESTER " "
- MANNY'S IMPROVED " "
- ESTERLY'S " "
- RUGG'S COMBINED " "
- VERMONT MOWING " "

and Sole Agents for the celebrated KETCHUM'S IMPROVED MOWERS, manufactured by Messrs. Nourse, Mason & Co., Boston, Mass., the BEST MOWING MACHINE IN USE.

BAKER & HAMILTON have imported and sold the Ketchum machine for the past five years, and know that it is the only style now in use that will cut successfully the matted clover of some of our bottom lands. The machine being made entirely of iron, is very durable, and the e sold five years ago, are said to be in as good order now, for cutting, as when first purchased. Some of them have run through the entire season each year. And they do cheerfully recommend them above all others for economy, lightness of draft, simplicity of construction, great strength and compactness, and the ease with which it can be managed by the driver. It cuts well where the ground is uneven. It has a lever for raising or lowering the knives. It will not clog in the heaviest grass or clover; and it does the work better than it can be done with scythes. It cuts very close, and will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine in use.

BAKER & HAMILTON have sold a number of the Ketchum's machines with the Reaper attachment, and have no hesitation in recommending them to farmers who have both grain and grass to cut, as a simple and convenient combined machine. The driver can easily rake off this machine, thereby saving the labor of one man.

BAKER & HAMILTON, the only authorized agents for the sale of these celebrated machines in California, Oregon and Washington Territory, have imported for the coming harvest, six sizes of Ketchum's Improved Mowers, which are furnished with or without the Reaper Attachment, as follows:

One Horse Machine, with four feet bars; weighs four hundred and fifty pounds; very light and durable; capable of cutting from ten to twelve acres of wild oats, or other grass or grain, per day.

Light Two Horse Machine, with four and one-half feet bars; weighs four hundred and seventy-five pounds; very light and durable; capable of cutting from twelve to fifteen acres per day.

Light Two Horse Machine, with five feet bars; similar to last mentioned Machine.

Heavy Two Horse Machine, spur-gear, with five feet bars, very strong; weighs six hundred and fifty pounds; capable of cutting from fifteen to twenty of matted clover per day, or any other grass or grain.

Heavy Two Horse Machine, No. 1, with bevel gear, four and one-half feet bars.

Heavy Two Horse Machine, No. 2, with bevel gear, and five feet bars.

ALL OF WHICH ARE OFFERED AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

BAKER & HAMILTON have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash. Also,

Apportionment of the State.

We copy the following from the Sacramento Union of the 2d instant:

A bill for the apportionment of the State will be reported by the Committee of Twenty (one from each Senatorial district) this morning, in the Assembly. The Committee, we hear, are unanimous in the belief that the apportionment should be made this session; and, without waiting for returns from Washington in answer to the demands of the Legislature upon our Senator, have yielded compliance to the demands of their own constituencies in drafting bill, from data furnished by the census abstract in the Secretary of State's office. According to these figures, the basis of Senatorial apportionment is 9,500, and, for member of Assembly, 4,750. The number of Senators is increased from 35 to 40, the highest constitutional limit; but the Assembly retains its present number of members. The following is to be the ratio of representation among the several counties and Senatorial districts: San Francisco and San Mateo, six Senators; Assemblymen—twelve to San Francisco, six to San Mateo; Santa Clara, one Senator, three Assemblymen; Alameda, one Senator, two Assemblymen; Tuolumne, two Senators, three Assemblymen; San Joaquin, one Senator, two Assemblymen; El Dorado, two Senators, four Assemblymen; Sacramento, two Senators, five Assemblymen; Sonoma, one Senator, three Assemblymen; Nevada and Placer, three Senators—Nevada four, and Placer three Assemblymen; Yuba and Sutter, two Senators—Yuba two, and Sutter one Assemblyman; Calaveras, two Senators, three Assemblymen; Butte, Colusa and Tehama, two Senators—Butte two, Colusa one, and Tehama one Assemblyman; San Diego and San Bernardino, one Senator and Assemblyman each; Los Angeles, one Senator, two Assemblymen; Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, and Buena Vista, one Senator—Santa Barbara one Assemblyman, and one Assemblyman to the other two counties; Tulare and Fresno, one Senator, one Assemblyman each; Mariposa and Merced, one Senator; Monterey and Santa Cruz, one Senator, one Assemblyman each; Contra Costa and Marin, one Senator, one Assemblyman each; Solano and Yolo, one Senator, one Assemblyman each; Napa and Mendocino, one Senator, one Assemblyman each; Sierra and Plumas, two Senators—Sierra two, and Plumas one Assemblyman; Shasta and Trinity, one Senator, one Assemblyman each; Siskiyou, one Senator, one Assemblyman; Humboldt, Klamath and Del Norte, one Senator, one Assemblyman to Humboldt, Klamath, one to Del Norte.

HOP ROOTS—FIRST PREMIUM.

J. R. Ray, 106 J Street, Sacra- mento, has for sale a limited stock of those superior Roots, from his old Hop Yard, thirty miles below Sacramento, where the sample sack was raised that took the first premium at the late Fair of the State Agricultural Society.

As much has been said about male and female plants, and often to mystify the subject, it may be well to say that purchasers of Roots will be provided with the proper proportion of each, with directions for planting, if desired.

The plants which we offer roots are five years old, having been brought from one of the best hop yards in the Atlantic States.

As the stock of Roots from my yard is limited this season, it may be well for those contemplating planting to advise me early.
