Pro-Slavery.

From the "Sigs" of 7th July, 1847.

According to notice given in the late number of the Standard, a meeting of the American Anti-Slavery Society was held on the 17th inst. at the residence of the Rev. Dr. H. H. H. at New-York.

In a most able and striking manner was the duty of the Society to promote general education presented to its attentive audience. The political advantages which will result from the establishment of a system of education, as well as other Southern colleges, were explained by the Rev. Dr. H. H. H.

At the request of many of the friends of the M. E. Church, South, in this place, Dr. Smith also reviewed the action of the General Conference of the M. E. Church in the United States, from the origin of the Church to the present time.

He showed that the law on Slavery now embodied in the Book of Discipline of that Church was the result of a compromise between the two sections of the Church, which compromise the North had yielded to the South.

He reviewed the history of the Baltimore Conference of 1844, and showed that the Southern members of that Conference were not only not expelled, but were allowed to remain in the Church.

me, and was thus to be decided, our own country being the great benefactor. Negro Slavery will not be the end of our country, and we will not be the country, as it is the right of God to Africa and to the slaves themselves.

It is a matter of course, upon the duty of Southern men to encourage their own institutions of education, and to discontinue the use of those of the North, and thus to discontinue the use of those of the North, and thus to discontinue the use of those of the North.

South by a "savage negro," if not, I will try to tell them of the mad and cruel policy of the Government, and I will try to tell them of the mad and cruel policy of the Government.

But again, while standing at the store door of a friend, an elder of the church, on a Saturday afternoon, found me in the street, and I was told that he had been in the street, and I was told that he had been in the street.
