AEROPLANE PLANT MAY BE LOCATED IN THIS CITY

Large Aerial Transportation Business Will Develop Here, Is Belief

By ART SHERBORNE
Member Evening News Staff.
Glendale, fair daughter of Mother Earth, may soon become the bride of King O. Zone—and Queen of the Air!

One of the largest airplane companies in the world is now considering the advisability of locating a branch assembly plant in this community. Before long this municipality may become the center of an immense aerial transportation business.

To all parts of the world planes will go bearing the inscription, "Made in Glendale, California, United States of America." They will be sent to all the cities of the Western States, Canada and Mexico by train. From Los Angeles harbor they will go in the holds of ships to Alaska, South America, Australia, Japan, Hawaii, the Philippines and the Orient.

Meanwhile, Glendale may be made the center of an important aerial transportation business. From this community, passenger-carrying planes will leave regularly for San Francisco, San Diego, Portland, Seattle, Salt Lake City, Vancouver and many other points.

"Visionary? Surely, but so also was the imagination which conceived the first railroad system last century and thousands of years ago the first highway system. Transportation by air is only in its infancy, according to Dr. T. C. Young of 620 East Broadway, who is able to visualize the future of this method of "getting over the ground" with an attitude which is tempered by an analytical mind and scientific training.

Automobile transportation has been observed with great interest by Dr. Young. In 1909 he was one of four automobile owners in this community. At that time pleasure cars were owned by Frank H. Vesper of 321 East Lomita, Dr. R. E. Chase of 103 1/2 South Brand boulevard, Dr. E. (Continued on Page 16)

Two Escape Death In Airplane Crash

Excitement reigned in Glendale this morning when it was reported that an airplane had landed up-side-down on L. C. Brand's aviation field.

A plane occupied by Ensign William H. Gwin and Aviation Machinist Mate D. J. Fitzgerald of the San Diego Naval Air Base turned over about 10:30 this morning in landing on the south end of Brand's air port.

Report of the accident was sent to police headquarters immediately by Mrs. C. B. Guthrie, whose home is only a few hundred feet away. L. G. Seavern was notified and an ambulance was dispatched to the scene at once.

Neither occupant of the plane was injured. Machinist Fitzgerald had about a square inch of skin torn off his left leg just below the knee.

Upon approaching the field, the right wing of the plane got out of control and hit the ground first. This caused the plane to land with its wheels in the air.

Miscalculation as to the slope of the field is believed to have been the cause of the accident. The plane was not badly damaged.

In company with two other planes this one was reconnoitering about this vicinity. One of the other planes was occupied by Lieut. J. H. Campman and Aviation Machinist Mate K. G. Mackin. The other was occupied by Lieut. V. H. Schaffer and Aviation Machinist Mate H. W. Trafton.

The flight was made from San Diego in an hour and fifteen minutes.

Mrs. Campbell Guest at L. A. Club Lunch

The Los Angeles district of the California Federation of Women's Clubs held a luncheon at the Clark Hotel, L. A., at 12:30 o'clock Thursday, at which Mrs. William Fitzgerald, president of the Federation, was the guest of honor and addressed the assembly on "Banding Together for Peace," pointing out that in the hands of womanhood lay the power to save the world.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, represented Glendale at the gathering. She states that the luncheon was a very impressive one and that Mrs. Fitzgerald's remarks had not only a state wide, but a nation and world wide significance.

City Council In Favor of Aerial Landing In City

Presented by Councilman C. E. Kimlin, the city council last night passed the following self-explanatory resolution:

"Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of the council that a project is now on foot to establish a landing place for aviation purposes in the city of Glendale, and that if it is to be established it will probably become the terminal of aerial navigation routes, now, therefore,

"Be it resolved that this council hereby approves of said project and recommends the same to the favorable attention of all citizens of Glendale, who may be approached regarding it."

ITALY SUBJECT OF NEXT SESSION BY TUESDAY CLUB

Miss Lila van Kirk to Give Talk Illustrated With Own Colored Slides

The 600th anniversary of the great Italian poet, Dante, will be celebrated at the Tuesday Afternoon club meeting next week by an illustrated talk by Miss Lila van Kirk of New York. "A Walk Through the Streets of Florence," Miss van Kirk will speak at 2:30 o'clock and preceding her talk there will be the usual hour of community singing.

Miss van Kirk is a landscape painter and picturesque Italy was the first country to entice her to leave her native shores for travel and study abroad. She devoted many years of study to the history of Italy, historically, politically and artistically, and during the war she had the honor of being the only American woman associated with the Italian government.

Scouts to Celebrate Club House Opening

Boy Scouts of Troop 2 of the Verdugo Woodlands council are to celebrate the first anniversary of the opening of their club house on Canada boulevard, tonight.

There is to be an informal program beginning at 7:30 o'clock and parents and friends of the Scouts have been invited to attend the affair.

There are thirty-two Scouts in the troop and they have had much pleasure in the use of the club house, which they built themselves on land owned by Charles L. Chandler, president of the Verdugo Woodlands council. In front of the club house stands a fine steel flag pole, the gift of the late A. A. Barton.

The club house has a large assembly room with a huge fireplace and office and kitchen adjoining.

Civic matters were discussed yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Advancement Association.

Among the topics brought up were annexation, taxation, the new postal contract, the improvement of Forest avenue, the new hotel and street car service on South Glendale avenue.

Annie Lustig and M. Lightner Wedded

Friends of Meyer Lightner, manager of the Brunswick shop at 126 South Brand boulevard, have been attributing the broad smile he has been wearing the past few days to his approaching marriage on Thanksgiving day to Miss Annie Lustig of Los Angeles. But their conjectures were all wrong they found out today when the announcement was made that the young couple were married on Wednesday afternoon, November 22, 1922, in Los Angeles.

During a year and a half of his association here as manager of the Brunswick shop Mr. Lightner has made many friends, who have been anticipating his marriage with great interest, and will find it a great pleasure to welcome Mrs. Lightner to her new home in Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Lightner are planning to build a home of their own in one of Glendale's attractive residential sections.

Also there is being offered thirty "three win" challenge challenge cups. To become the permanent owner of one of these an exhibitor or entry must win three years in succession.

Clemenceau's Talk Not Liked by Bryan

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 24.—Charging France with imperialistic ambitions, and declaring that therefore the United States can have nothing in common with French policies, William Jennings Bryan today asserted in an exclusive statement to the International News Service that M. Clemenceau, former French premier, who now is lecturing in this country, should not have been permitted to speak on such matters in this country.

MODEL OF GOLDEN STATE IS BEING MADE IN CITY

California Exhibit Will Be One of Big Features of New York Display

California, its history and romance, its physical attractions and beauties, its agricultural and industrial development, and its unbounded possibilities for the future are all being pictured in the huge model now being made by J. T. Edwards, specialist in geographical and architectural models, at his studio home at 1233 Dorothy drive, for the big California exhibition to open March 1, 1923, in the Grand Central Palace in New York City.

California, to many easterners, is still the "wild and woolly west," country of cactus, rattlesnakes, cowboys and guns, and the California exhibit has been sponsored and is being arranged by New Yorkers, who are seeking to educate particularly the younger easterners, on what the west really is like.

"Made in Glendale" And to Glendale comes the honor of having the real feature of the exhibit made within her boundaries. Mr. Edwards' talent and expert work are not unknown to Glendale residents for his Palos Verdes, Los Angeles harbor models and his New York model shown at the San Francisco exposition in 1915, received national notice and compliments. But the California model he is now working on seems a bit closer to Glendale because it pictures the great state of which Glendale is a part and because it is being made in Glendale.

According to plans worked out by Mr. Edwards, the model will be sixty feet long and twenty feet wide, will be made of spruce pulp and artistically colored. It will be based on the latest information available. (Continued on Page 2)

George B. Karr Off on His Annual Trip

Glendale today lost a booster—but not for long. George B. Karr, of 1725 South Brand boulevard, by day, and 1150 North Louise street, by night, bade a sad adieu this morning to the fastest growing city in America.

Where do you think he's going? Why, back to Parsons, Kansas, of course! It will be his annual trip back there to arrange to send another Pullman load of "Sunflowers" to Southern California. Incidentally, he will leave Parsons at the home office of the Baldwin Shirt Company.

Mr. Karr visited the Chamber of Commerce just before departure and stuffed his suitcase full with literature and his head with information about Glendale. During his absence, he will be kept posted on local activities through The Glendale Evening News.

Talk of annexation does not bother Mr. Karr. That is, not so far as Los Angeles is concerned. However, he said before departure that he was getting tired of inviting his home town out here, family by family, and that he intended to introduce a resolution at the next session of the Parsons city council favoring annexation to Glendale.

"Nothing I think," Mr. Karr is not traveling from Los Angeles. His ticket reads "Glendale to Parsons. He bought it here, checked his trunk here and boarded his Pullman here at 10 o'clock this morning. When he comes back, he will get untangled from Southern Pacific in the same manner.

"If that isn't a reason for a new station in Glendale, I don't know what!" exclaimed Mr. Karr. "The Southern Pacific will have to work fast to get it up before I come back, 'cause I'm only going to be away about three weeks."

Uncle John Says--

This "Buy in Glendale Week" seems to be causin' quite a little excitement. Lots of the folks we know that go to Los Angeles to trade is patronizin' the home stores this week. Mary was up today to 'do some tradin' yesterday and she said it was almost like the holiday rush. I told Mary I thought it was a foolish idea myself for every week ought to be BUY IN GLENDALE WEEK. But Mary says maybe this will help folks to learn that they can do as well here. And maybe she is right. She most always is.

LOCAL ROTARIANS ARE OPPOSED TO ANNEXATION

Organization Is Unanimous Against Scheme to Give City to Los Angeles

At the weekly Rotary club luncheon held yesterday noon in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, the following motion was carried by unanimous vote: That a resolution be drawn expressing the club's disapproval of the annexation of Glendale to Los Angeles.

This action followed a brief period of discussion, after the motion had been made and seconded, at the request of Chairman Roy L. Kent, that the club go on record regarding annexation. James M. Rhodes, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, addressed a few remarks on the subject, pointing out that it would cost Glendale its present assets for the doubtful privilege of assuming its share of Los Angeles' $87,000,000 debt.

All Are for Glendale J. A. Newton, a new member, stated that, while Rotarians should always consider both sides of every question with utter impartiality, yet there seems to be very little information available that would tend to support the Los Angeles side. Any member favoring annexation was then called upon to give his grounds, but no one volunteering, a vote was called. It was then that the pro-Glendale sentiment was found to be 100 per cent.

A letter was read by Secretary S. L. Smith from Lyman P. Clark, president of the Kiwanis club, stating that at a meeting of this body on November 19, resolutions were adopted for concerted action in caring for the children at Christmas time. Mr. Clark outlined plans for a community Christmas and called upon the Rotarians, if favorable to the idea. (Continued on Page 2)

Scout Leader Will Drill Model Troop

The leaders of the Chamber of Commerce troop, No. 3, Glendale, consisting of Carl H. Kirkman, scoutmaster, and Eugene B. Sanders, C. E. Elliott, Frank C. Ayars and George B. Karr, committeeemen, will witness a model troop meeting tonight at the Central avenue school, which will be in charge of Rhodes T. Graham, acting field scout executive of the Verdugo Hills district council.

Mr. Rhodes will demonstrate how an entirely strange group of boys may be organized in but a few moments' time and then put over a model Boy Scout troop meeting.

Following the scout meeting the troop leaders will hold a conference and decide on the future activities of the troop. The troop is growing rapidly, according to Scoutmaster Kirkman. Nearly a dozen boys have been in to see him this week to find out if they could become members.

Another important scout event to be held tonight is the big celebration of the founding of their troop cabin, which is located on the Chandler ranch, by the scouts of Troop No. 2, Glendale. Under the supervision of Benjamin Robinson the scoutmaster and his son "Ben," who is assistant scoutmaster of this popular troop, the scouts constructed an ideal Boy Scout cabin which has been visited during the year by many Scout officials in Southern California.

The Scouts are all "het up" over the doings tonight and are insisting on their parents and friends coming to the celebration and joining in the fun.

Kiwanis Club Holds Weekly Luncheon

Kiwa—with the "Ki" like "Kiwi" and the "wa" like "oowah"—was the guest of honor this noon in the Broadway Inn at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Kiwanis club.

"Kiwa" was escorted to her place at the head of the banquet table by Caterer William Herzel. She was attired in white with a plentiful supply of rouge upon her countenance. As she entered Lyman P. Clark, president of the organization, was heard to whisper aside "Ain't she a ducky?"

He was right—she was a duck and probably will be until tomorrow. She was presented by Mr. Herzel to the winner of the attendance prize. He took her home quite proudly—to have her studied.

Five large turkeys were also present at the commencement of the luncheon. Together they weighed ninety pounds. The dinner was much enjoyed by the members of the Kiwanis club.

Two Applications for Poolrooms Here
Two applications for permission to operate poolrooms in Glendale were filed with the City Council last night to be annexed provided Glendale consents with Los Angeles. Both permits were signed by men giving Main street addresses in Los Angeles.

The applications follow: "I see by the papers that there are indications of Glendale going into Los Angeles, and if it does, it would be under the Los Angeles rule that permits billiard and pool halls. "I respectfully make application for a permit to run a pool room in a building which I will erect on the west side of Brand boulevard between Colorado and Harvard streets. I realize that you will be unable to grant a license so long as Glendale is a separate municipality, but when the city goes over to Los Angeles, all property, papers and applications will be turned over to Los Angeles City. As the old saying is, 'The early bird gets the worm,' and my application will be on file and it undoubtedly will be granted when a satisfactory showing can be made. "Respectfully yours, "S. A. COOK."

Here is the other letter applying for a permit: "I have been told by some of the advocates of annexation that Glendale is going to annex to Los Angeles. I know that Los Angeles permits pool and billiard halls and I therefore want to make application to run a pool and billiard hall on East Broadway, the exact number to be given later. "I have sufficient equipment and will be very glad to pay the license fee demanded of me. "If your honorable body cannot grant this I will thank you to refer it to the city council when Glendale is turned over to Los Angeles. "Very truly yours, "J. H. JONES."

Both communications were ordered filed by Councilman S. A. Davis, who presided over the council last night in the absence of Mayor Spencer Robinson.

Cannot Give Sewer or Remove Phone Toll, Cut P. E. Fare; Can Take Property

Annexation forces, in which were sprinkled many people opposed to annexation with Los Angeles, met last night in the assembly room of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate school and, after considerable discussion, passed a resolution to the effect that Glendale annex to Los Angeles.

Of course, the resolution does not do the annexing—it will take an election and a majority to do that. And an election cannot be held until after the annexation forces secure more than 2,500 signatures and a petition asking the Glendale city council to call one.

The resolution was introduced by Alex Mitchell of 1901 Keneth road and endorsed by John R. Grey of 667 West Doran street. After some discussion as to the propriety of voting upon this subject at this particular meeting, the question was put by John W. Usilton of 331 West Harvard street, president of the annexation organization.

Nothing to Offer Reasons for annexation were given by John Lawson of 250 North Brand boulevard and O. A. Lane of 209 East Chestnut street. O. M. Newby of 803 North Pacific avenue acted as secretary.

R. W. Mottern of Red Cross Asks People to Hurry Up With Offerings

Glendaleans will have only a few more days in which to collect their old clothes for the distressed Greeks in Europe, according to a "last call" sent out yesterday by R. W. Mottern, publicity director of the Red Cross.

Mr. Mottern says that cities throughout the United States are responding to the Red Cross plea for aid, and that he trusts that Glendale will take its place among the leaders. He said:

"Look what the New York Chapter of the Red Cross has just shipped to those suffering, ragged unfortunates, 50,000 garments including 2,000 layettes, 2,000 women's petticoats, 1,000 sweaters, 1,000 pairs of children's stockings, 1,000 pairs men's socks, 2,500 children's dresses and bloomers and 500 children's sweaters, 100,000 surgical dressings, in addition to 40,000 dressings in one hospital alone, so urgent and great is the present need.

Thursday and Friday of this week were the days of appeal to our city to do its bit through the school children, the churches, the lodges, societies, organizations, civic and religious. And most surely we will respond to the best of our ability.

Saturday and Sunday will not be too late to gather your bundles and get them to the various depositories through the city. Don't forget all the bundles will be gathered early next week and boxed and shipped, because no delay can be allowed in this national call. Some poor mother or child might freeze to death while we stand still and delay the shipment waiting for your gift.

"Let the wondrous Thanksgiving spirit seize the hearts of our people and rally to this, most worthy and urgent appeal."

California Exhibit Is Work of J. T. Edwards, Expert, at His Home Here

The locations of various types of agriculture will be defined. The citrus belt, the deciduous fruit country, the grain-producing district will all be shown on the model.

Another interesting feature will be the showing of educational points, the universities, colleges and high schools all being located in their respective places. Provision is also made for showing the harbors and the system of irrigation and the "power lines."

Children to Study
With the contract for the model, Mr. Edwards received word that the board of education of New York City is anticipating the arrangement of visits of the school children to the exhibition, where they will study Mr. Edwards' model and listen to a lecture on California and its development. It is probable that Mr. Edwards will do the lecturing.

In connection with the model of the state, Mr. Edwards' model of Los Angeles harbor will be shown.

Mr. Edwards expects to complete the model two weeks before the exhibit and before shipping it to New York he is going to arrange with the Glendale Chamber of Commerce for showing it in Glendale.

New Radio Set Is Made of Old Parts

WASHINGTON—An inventive radio engineer of the U. S. Navy took apart an old wireless set designated for use on submarines. He made a few changes, put the outfit together again, and now the navy has plans for a long distance set that is reported to be far superior to the one from which it was made.

So impressive was the performance of the new outfit that the department has ordered fifty-nine sets. New apparatus would have cost approximately $5500 per set, so the navy is remodeling old sets at a cost of about $500 each. This $300,000.

Submarines equipped with the new sets will henceforth have a daytime sending radius of 200 to 300 miles.

ANNEXATION NOT FAVORED BY CLUB

Rotarian Organization Is Unanimous Against Plan to Give Away City

(Continued from Page 1) to appoint a committee of two, to serve with similar committees of other local organizations, that this Yuletide season may be the greatest in Glendale's history. Charles Cemper and Edgar Hewitt were appointed to constitute such a committee.

Great New Members
Chairman Kent then read the "charge" and extended the right hand of fellowship to the four new members, John Huntley, Ed Nisle, J. A. Newton and Ruie Downing, who were welcomed as brother Rotarians last week, after which the meeting was thrown open to general discussion.

Charles Elliott, a guest at the club and well known locally as leader of the Baptist Bible class, then gave an inspiring talk on "the principles of Rotary, saying they were so fine he would like to adopt them for his class."

"It is significant of the times," he concluded, "that business men's ideals are becoming more and more the highest ideals. It means a better economic and home life, a better America, a better world."

George Karr then rose with a long ticket in his hand and announced dramatically that he was going to Parsons, Kan., where he had learned four 100 per cent Rotary meetings had been held in succession. "But I'm coming back to Glendale," he cried, waving the ticket in the air. "Half of this is a return trip!" He was greeted with cheers.

Toward the end of the meeting it was decided after some discussion that the next week's meeting would be held on Wednesday. Instead of Thursday, owing to Thanksgiving Day falling on that date. At this meeting a series of written questions will be put to the members, to bring out their knowledge of the fundamental principles of Rotary.

Ben Bernard, a Rotarian of Mitchell, S. D., was present at yesterday's session, which also entertained three guests, Charles Elliott, already mentioned, Marion S. Thomas of Indianapolis, and B. R. Montgomery of Riverside.

Abe Martin's friend, Jake Bentley, has quit farmin' because the world wars are too fer apart 't make it pay.

ITALY TOPIC FOR CLUB GATHERING

Lecture to Be Illustrated With Colored Slides Made by Speaker

(Continued from Page 1) Kirk's ability as an entertaining speaker are to the effect that her talks are unspooled by acedemical method, nor are they overburdened by statistical or biographical facts. In speaking of Miss van Kirk's work as a lecturer Elizabeth Champey, authoress of "Northern Italian Villas" and "Romance of Villas," says:

"She is doing a valuable work in whetting the appetites of those who know not and satisfying the hunger of those who know."

Colors Own Slides
The slides shown in illustration of Miss van Kirk's talk have been colored by herself and the masterpieces are reproduced as nearly as possible after the originals. In her talk on Florence and the Renaissance period she omits none of the great Florentines who have contributed to the art, literature or statesmanship of that period, and she touches especially upon the great poet Dante, his life, exile and wanderings.

Miss van Kirk's lectures are an outcome of a series of magazine articles, which she has arranged as illustrated upon the request of those who read them.

Arizona Man Finds Tent Cool In North

HAMDEN, Ohio.—Sam Johnson, who owns ranches in four western states, came here recently from Tombstone, Ariz., to visit the scene of his childhood, after an absence of 45 years. In Arizona it is said to be a common practice for persons to sleep out of doors in a tent. Johnson brought a tent with him. He was not long, however, in finding that indoors is a better sleeping place in this neighborhood at this time of the year.

SOCIAL EVENTS
FATHERS' NIGHT PLANNED
 Honoring the fathers is becoming quite popular among Glendale school organizations and the latest affair of the kind to be announced is the fathers' night entertainment and program to be given the night of December 15 at the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school. Decision to hold such an affair was made yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the P.-T. A. at the school.
 Mrs. W. C. Wattle, president, presided over both the executive board session and the regular meeting following.
 During the executive hour the fathers' night was discussed and also favorable action taken regarding the purchase of 200 cups and saucers for the school, and the purchase of a picture to be awarded each month to the grade having the largest representation at the P.-T. A. meeting.
 Miss Gladys Sharpe, patriotic chairman, led the flag salute and singing of America in opening the affair which was featured by a talk on "Child Hygiene and the Red Cross" by Mrs. John Robert White. Mrs. White emphasized the need of good air and food and the proper home life for every child and told of what the Red Cross is doing to secure these things for children.
 Mrs. Leroy Posserman, chairman of the juvenile court and probation committee, spoke briefly of the much discussed chaperone pledge.
 Entertaining selections were given by the school orchestra led by Miss Kent. The children played two numbers, "Dancing Dolls" and "Falling Leaves".
 Of particular enjoyment were the two numbers by Julius Kranz, violinist, accompanied by Miss Shropshire. Mr. Kranz was heartily greeted and played two of his own compositions, "At Twilight" and "Enchantment".
 At the close of the meeting a vote of thanks was taken to The Glendale Evening News for publicity, to the Grand Central Market and to the Dohlgren studio for their cooperation in the recent benefit day for the P.-T. A. On that day the Grand Central Market gave a certain percentage of the day's gross receipts to the P.-T. A., the amount totaling $27.20. A vote of thanks was also given Mrs. Lindrun, chairman of the ways and means committee for her successful management of the affair.
 It was announced that several of the association members have donated pillows and a couch cover for the school rest room.

ENTERTAIN MOTHERS
 Mesdames C. A. Perry and Radigan, room mothers of the sixth grade at the Broadway school entertained twenty-five other mothers of the grade at a white and gold tea yesterday afternoon in the school kindergarten.

LABOR ON HIGHER PLANE, IS CLAIM
Proficiency of Workman on Litled Level, Stated at National Association
 PITTSBURGH.—Moral standards of American workmen have risen since the war, levels of workmanship are higher and appreciation of practical education has increased, according to a report read today at the second session of the National Personnel Association in annual convention here.
 The report was rendered by the Committee on Shop Training. R. I. Sackett, dean of engineering, Pennsylvania State College and a leader in the educational work of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, is chairman of the committee.
 "The resumption of production is proving again that we have a shortage of skilled workmen," declares the report. "Industries are picking the men whom they employ with more discrimination than was possible during the war."
 More Appreciation.
 "At no previous time has there been the same appreciation by wage-earners of the value of practical education which pertains more or less directly to their jobs. There are continuation schools for those under the statutory age limit; there are trade schools, Y. M. C. A. schools and correspondence courses. All of these are being utilized and are contributing to the training of the industrial classes, principally the younger portion."
 The vestibule school, affording group training and largely an outgrowth of the war, may or may not have come to stay, said the report, which found that opinion differs widely as to whether it is only an emergency expedient or not.
 "With industry," continued the report, "thinking more and more along the lines of education and training, it would appear that the time is not far off when many of them will have in many departments at least, an instructor as well as a foreman, probably not giving full time to instruction, but devoting whatever time is necessary to preparing new employees for the particular tasks they are to perform."
 Great Difference.
 "Many training leaders, particularly those working outside of production, have been decided, or opposed to utilizing the foreman as a teacher. There is a vast amount of difference between 'knowing how' and 'teaching how.'"
 That the systematic training of workers to promote efficiency is gaining ground was the outstanding statement of the Committee on Psychological Tests and Rating Scales, which reported at yesterday's session. The report dealt with results of a nationwide survey and indicated that seventy out of every 102 companies questioned give some kind of instruction to their employees. Thirty-one of these companies, the report showed, employ psychological tests to measure intelligence, aptitude and progress.

Auto Smashes Into Plate Glass Window
 An automobile accident that smashed the show window of the Harry Moore Co., 304 East Broadway, occurred at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.
 The machine, a touring car driven by J. H. Baldwin of Burbank, is reported to have backed into a wagon while manoeuvring on the street.
 Fortunately no one happened to be in the path of the machine. The damage was confined to the car and the window. Mr. Baldwin escaped injury.

X-Ray Movies Made With 'Floroscope'
 LOS ANGELES.—Motion picture photography through an X-ray has been accomplished for the first time by means of synchronizing a "movie" camera and a machine called a "floroscope." The latter is employed in the Kimberly diamond mines to detect gems being carried out on the persons of workmen. The experiment was accomplished by Paul P. Perry, of the American Society of Cinematographers.
 It is believed the feat will ultimately become a great aid to medical science, since it is possible that films may be made of the human body functioning in normal life and these projected on the screen for study and research.

Horses Set Pace In Old St. Louis Town

ST. LOUIS—Don't ever make the mistake of calling St. Louis a one-horse town. Facts in figures would discredit such a remark. Old St. Louis is setting a fast pace, but the automobile is keeping him out of first place in popularity honors. License statistics show there are 72,279 horses and 72,447 automobiles in this city.

New Tract Goes on Sales Market Today

Very seldom is the opportunity to obtain real high-class property in the best section of a city offered to the buying public on the attractive prices and terms under which the Clement Orange tract is today thrown, according to the Glendale Investment company, 211 West Broadway.

This tract lies on Pacific avenue at Glenwood road. Today the company, officials state, is offering these large lots at $100 down, a price which heretofore has been unheard of where exclusively high-class property is concerned.

The entire tract will be sold out completely in not over three days, as it is practically the very last attractive and high elevated property to be obtained in Glendale today.

The lots in Clement Orange tract are covered with full-bearing orange trees, and since this tract is surrounded with beautifully paved streets, the improvement all in, and residences of the highest type of architecture are now building, it can be seen that such an opportunity will be taken advantage of immediately.

Lying on the elevated slope, near Kenneth road, and affording the finest view to be obtained, this tract is particularly well situated. The sidewalks, curbs and the paving are now almost completed. There will be a number of residences commenced on the tract immediately, in addition to those that are now under construction.

No better opportunity is afforded the public to avail themselves of the wonderful opportunity that is offered by the Glendale Investment company than this. It is safe to say that many will be disappointed in securing one of these large, select lots unless haste is the watchword.

Dr. Dunlop to Talk on Jesus and Sinners

"Treat sin like it treats you, stab it to death," said Dr. Dunlop at the big revival meeting last night at Tropic Presbyterian church. Fine crowds are greeting the speaker each night and good music is a feature of this meeting.

"Sin is as unsatisfied at the end as at the beginning," says the evangelist. "And hell is just eternally practicing that sin you live in with no chance for satisfaction. Be sure your sin will find you out; it is my text and God's blood-hounds are on your track. Sin and the devil claim to be your friends but always prove traitors like a leopard which first fondles its victim only later to devour it. Trust anything but never sin; trust a lion, a snake, trust poison but never sin."

"Physically be sure your sin will find you out. The devil's canvas is the human body and Oh, the awful wrecks he leaves along the sands of time. Paul says, 'When lust conceives it brings forth sin and sin when it is finished, brings forth death.'"

"Finally be sure your sin will find you out. Either in time or in eternity the devil will come in to claim his own. 'Be not deceived, God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth, that also shall he reap.' But if you are sin sick and want to get the victory over evil come to Jesus, who is a friend of sinners. His blood washes white as snow."

Tonight from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock hear Mr. Dunlop on the theme "Jesus a Friend of Sinners." A duet by the evangelist, "Somebody came and Lifted me."

What World Do We Inhabit In Sleep?

COLUMBUS, O.—That there is a shifting of the consciousness of every human being during sleep, from the objective world to the subjective realms of thought and feeling, is the claim made here in an address by L. W. Rogers, president of the American Theosophical Society.

Citations were made by President Rogers in support of his declaration that during sleep living persons communicated with persons who had died.

Psychology, he asserted, can not explain the considerable amount of evidence of consciousness after death.

Rough on Rats Used to Make Bad Booze

GRAFTON, W. Va.—The seizure of several zinc moonshine stills in Taylor county has prompted Charles R. Lilly, magistrate and former federal prohibition field officer for West Virginia, to issue a warning against moonshine liquor that is peddled about in this section. "A drink of liquor from one of these moonshine stills," he said, "would kill the strongest man in the county." Less than one per cent of drinkable liquor is being sold in the county, he declared.

Analysis of liquor recently confiscated showed that "rough on rats," shaving concoctions and lye were mixed in it.

CHILDERS, AID OF DE VALERA, SLAIN

Rebel Leader Executed by Free State Firing Squad; Courageous to Last

DUBLIN, Nov. 24.—Erskine Childers, chief aide of Eamonn de Valera in the Irish republican movement, was executed at 7 o'clock this morning by a free state firing squad. Official announcement of the execution was made shortly afterward by the free state cabinet.

It was a raw, foggy morning with a cold wind blowing when Childers was led from his cell in the Kilmainham jail on the outskirts of the city.

Escorted by a little group of free state soldiers, Childers was quickly taken into the jail yard. The firing squad was lined up, a handkerchief was tied across the face of the rebel leader and he was placed with his back against the wall. Half a dozen shots rang out. Childers crumpled up. A doctor examined him and pronounced him dead.

Courage Remains

Persons who saw the execution said that Childers died game and that his courage stayed with him to the last. He made no plea for mercy.

A priest was present and asked Childers if he wished the last sacrament to be administered. Childers hesitated and then replied that he did not.

Relatives were not allowed to visit the condemned man in his cell, and Mrs. Childers did not know that her husband was dead until noon when officially informed by the commanding adjutant-general of the free state army. She fainted upon hearing the news.

Childers was informed at 8 o'clock Thursday night to prepare for his death.

RESTAURANT GAME URGED FOR WOMEN

Claim Is Made That It Opens Up Unexpected Field for Fair Sex

WASHINGTON.—One of the most important phases of the work of the National Restaurant Association meeting here recently is directing the attention of trained and educated women to the restaurant business as a profitable and otherwise desirable profession, and encouraging educational institutions to offer specialized training courses in restaurant management and operation.

In charge of this work it has placed Miss Annie Jewett, chairman of the education committee, and business manager of a successful Chicago cafeteria. Miss Jewett, a graduate of the University of Chicago, firmly believes that the restaurant business as a vocation for women offers opportunity for the exercise of executive ability, ingenuity, and enterprise, equal to that of specialized preparation for the advertised professions.

Practical Training Essential

Training courses in institutional management offered in educational institutions at present she considers, for the most part, inadequate preparation for the position of manager of a large restaurant or cafeteria. They are impractical and too specialized, stressing either the business requirements or the actual dietetics work, when what is needed in actual practice is the combination of the two.

During the past year Miss Jewett has directed a survey of the chief educational institutions of the country, to discover just what facilities they offer for teaching the present and future restaurant operator. Even the best vocational schools offer comparatively little opportunity to learn the rules of large-scale cooking or of directing and managing kitchen workers.

Accordingly, the committee plans to send representatives of the National Restaurant Association to various colleges to work out some plan of co-operation, and to stimulate the interest of women students in the restaurant business as a vocation. The next step in the educational campaign of the organization is the establishment of a system of separate vocational schools, which shall offer the best possible training in the business, and which would operate to elevate the standards of the whole industry.

Mother Started Business.

Miss Jewett disclaims any credit for the success of the establishment with which she is connected. Her mother, Mrs. Eva M. Jewett, 15 years ago launched an enterprise in a comparatively new field. Cafeterias were then hardly more than a tentative experiment, but the business prospered, and after the war Miss Jewett gave up her position as supervisor of public school music to become assistant manager of the establishment. Since then, according to her own statement, she has done everything to maintain accounts for taking the cook's place at the kitchen stove.

Westport Is Irish Rebel Stronghold

CLAREMORRIS, Ireland.—Westport, in West Mayo, at the head of Clew Bay, a little fishing village with half a dozen shops and one street, is the capital of "General" Kilroy's Western Republic.

In this area the Free State Army, which never exceeded forty men, made an unsuccessful attempt to clear out the irregulars. The little garrison was beleaguered by 400 armed rebels and escaped in boats at night about a month ago.

Since then the "General" has been proclaimed "President" of the Republic.

His army, which amounts to 50 men, well armed, equipped and supplied, has many advantages. The roads leading to the "Republic," which an invading army must follow, wind round the bases of precipitous cliffs from 1,000 to 2,000 feet high. Sentinels are posted and outposts have been established on the summits.

The subjugation of the "Republic" is a work of difficulty and will require both time and patience to accomplish.

Already it is stated that General McKeon is concentrating his attention on this area and forwarding troops to the border.

Recently "General" Kilroy, at the head of a column of 300 warriors, marched into Westport and purchased a large quantity of food supplies and clothing materials, for which he paid ready cash. Asked by one of his officers to attack and disarm the local Free State garrison, he replied that it was not worth his while, as he had abundant supplies of arms and ammunition.

Beauty of Irish Is Said to Be Fading

DUBLIN.—Irish colleens are losing their beauty. This was the view expressed by a famous beauty specialist in Dublin.

"The girls of Dublin and other cities in Ireland are not nearly so pretty as they were eight or ten years ago," he told me in an interview. "Their eyes have not the same lustre, and their cheeks have lost that wonderful Irish complexion, and their carriage is not nearly so attractive as it used to be. However, the outline of the features is just as good as ever it was."

"The reason of this change is the abnormal time that Ireland has passed through. The excitement and amount of nervousness through which the people have passed have had their effects on the women there on the mind. Another thing is that girls do not take so much outdoor exercise owing to the street dangers."

"I can forecast with absolute certainty, however, that with the return of normal times Irish colleens again will become the most beautiful in the world."

Family Is Nearly Wiped Out by Fire

MODESTO.—John F. Brinkmeyer was burned to death and his wife and daughter suffered injuries which probably will prove fatal when their home, near here, was destroyed by flames last night. After battling their way through flames Brinkmeyer drove seven miles for medical assistance. He died an hour later.

The family was asleep when the flames broke out, burning them in. Brinkmeyer picked up his child, and followed by his wife, dashed through the flames. The child is expected to die, while physicians state the mother may recover.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEAN KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In twenty-four hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Advertisement.

REAL ESTATE MEN MEET NEXT MONTH

Eighteenth Annual Convention Convenes In Santa Ana December 6

The city of Santa Ana will be thronged December 6, 7, 8 and 9, with delegates and visitors to the eighteenth annual convention of the California Real Estate association. In a statement issued today from association headquarters, President C. C. Tatum, who has just returned from a tour of realty boards in southern and Imperial Valley points, reported intense interest everywhere in the convention. More than 30,000 licensed realty dealers are concerned in the meeting. President C. C. Tatum declared, and especially is this true of the conferences that will be held on realty license law and colonization matters.

Many cities have entered their speakers for the five-minute home town contest for the Fred E. Reed trophy. J. C. Forkner, well-known member of the Fresno Realty board, and authority on the San Joaquin valley, will speak for Fresno. Charles Short, president of the board of freeholders of the city of Venice, will speak for the Venice Realty board. Earle Covington has been selected to represent Santa Barbara. From Bakersfield will come Homer C. Katze, while W. F. Brown will represent San Diego. The speaker for Huntington Park will be Oscar Hilton, and from Willows, Glenn county, will come J. F. Corbett, to speak for that district. The orator for Paso Robles will be R. J. Williams, well-known realtor. Elimination contests are proceeding this week in many of the cities of the state, and it is now possible that the Home Town contest will have to be held in two or more heats, so many cities will be represented. Last year twenty-one cities competed at Oakland, and it is believed the number will be increased this year.

O. A. Vickrey to Preside
O. A. Vickrey, director and treasurer of the State association, has been selected by President Tatum to preside at the contest, which will be held Thursday evening in the Temple Theatre. The judges are to be Senator E. P. Sample of San Diego; Jefferson P. Chandler, formerly president of the California Bar association, and Senator Newton W. Thompson of Los Angeles.

Several newspaper editors have already signified their intention of competing with an exhibit for the California Real Estate magazine trophy. The judges will be Roscoe S. Porter of San Diego; Chas. F. Crothers of San Jose; Alva A. Fields of Modesto; Ray Edgar of El Centro, and Samuel D. Koch of Santa Monica, and Will C. Wright of Sacramento.

Judges in the attendance contest, won last year by Monterey, will be R. Porter Giles, secretary of the Oakland Real Estate board; R. B. Dunlap, chief deputy real estate commissioner, and R. A. Moore, president of the Bakersfield Realty board. Among the distinguished visitors invited to the convention is former U. S. Senator Cornelius Cole, who will address the morning session on Thursday, December 7. Advance advices reveal the intention of the Southwest Realty Board of Los Angeles, Long Beach, Beverly Hills, San Bernardino, Sacramento, Fresno and Venice to run motor caravans to the convention. The San Diego Board will attend 50 strong. Many boards will maintain booths.

Naval Pact Costs Japanese Big Sum

TOKIO.—It is going to cost an even $65,000,000 to undo years of work involving millions and many well-laid schemes of statesmen. That is the figure set as necessary to scrap naval vessels to conform to the Washington conference naval treaty. Recently the Kaga, giant super-dreadnought, once destined to be the pride of the Japanese Navy, and the Tosa, arrived at the Yokosuka Navy Yard. Both were launched near the end of the Washington conference, and little work was done on them after that. When the Japanese launch a battleship she is supposed to be about 60 per cent completed—at least that was the argument advanced at Washington by the Japanese delegates.

The battleships Asahi, Shikishima, Hizen, Mikasa, Kashima, Katori, Satsuma, Aki and Settsu and the battle cruisers Ikoma, Kurama and Ikahi are to go to other scrapping yards to be dismantled. And the total bill will be $7,500,000. Work has been ordered to start immediately. The other vessels are to be converted into airplane carriers, training ships, and possibly one or two will be used as targets. The bill for this will total $25,000,000. In addition, private shipyards will be given $17,500,000 as indemnity for the cancellation of the remainder of the famous "eight and eight" building contracts. An equal sum will be divided among the 10,000 officers and men to be discharged as allowances.

CHICAGO SETTLING ZONE PROBLEMS

Board to Allow Erection of Shops Along Many of Boulevards

CHICAGO.—Zoning is commanding a great deal of attention in Chicago at this time, when the final draft of a zoning ordinance is being prepared by the commission appointed for that purpose. One of the radical features of the new movement is recognition of the fact that Chicago's wonderful boulevards no longer are looked upon by experts as the city's most desirable residential streets. "Fifteen years ago when we had only carriages, the boulevards were undoubtedly the best streets on which to live," said Charles Bastron, chairman of the zoning commission, "but today with the increased use of automobiles the streets are becoming noisy and filled with obnoxious gases, to say nothing of the danger to children living along them."

Commercial Lines
"In making the zoning ordinance we therefore will permit commercial shops, such as now front on Sheridan Road in uptown Chicago, to build up along the boulevard system in most districts. However, in those strictly residence sections, such as that north of Bryn Mawr avenue on Sheridan Road, commercial enterprises will not be permitted. "Of course the boulevards near the parks will be restricted to residences. However, in the western section of the city, when industries skirt the system, the factories will be allowed to stay. We know the fact that Chicago permits factories adjacent to boulevards in some sections is not generally approved by town planners, but we are building a great city to house commerce and industry. The zoning changes should not affect the beauty of the boulevards, for the class of commercial buildings that will line the system will be of a high quality. Real estate values are sufficiently high to make quality necessary."

The building height phase of zoning seemed to be of special interest to real estate men. Charles M. Nichols, chairman of the zoning committee of the Chicago Real Estate board, has announced arrangements for a series of meetings to which leading expert zoning men from all over the country are to be brought as speakers to talk on this subject.

The commission has not positively settled on the height of buildings issue and hearings on it are being called. Mr. Nichols stated that transportation facilities, street widths, fire fighting facilities and a number of other things enter into this. This problem and efforts to get public expressions on disputed sections is likewise taking up much time of those in charge of drafting the ordinance.

NEW YORK SOLON NEEDS INGENUITY

Foreman on Tower of Babel Would Have 'Nothing on' This Legislator

NEW YORK.—The greatest extremes of any congressional district in the United States are represented in the eleventh congressional district, which includes Staten Island and the lower part of the island of Manhattan. Within its boundaries the biggest and tallest buildings in the world raise their towers to the skies, and farmers tend their fields and gather salt hay from the sea-meadows their ancestors acquired from Dutch or English kings, many generations ago. The district's business activities include some of the world's biggest banking institutions and stock exchanges, as well as the daily markets where clam-diggers fix prices for the products of their toil on Staten Island's foreshore.

All Kinds of Life.
At one extreme of the district's social life is Greenwich Village and its "Bohemian" life. A camp-meeting grove where the Negroes of the district hold yearly religious meetings is at the other. New York's Chinese quarter, the Syrian and Chaldean quarter, vast gatherings of Jews from every land; Italians, Greeks, Armenians, and Turks in their little colonies, and Americans of pure stock are found in the Manhattan end of the district. The population of several of the voting districts here is made up almost entirely of the families of janitors and caretakers of the big office buildings in the financial district.

From Original Settlers.
In Staten Island are the descendants of the original settlers, Dutch, French Huguenot and English, and the later immigration. There are farms still held by the same families that acquired them by royal grant or purchase from the original owners, the Acquihonga Indians. Alongside of them are farms owned by Greeks and Poles, who raise garden produce for the particular palates of their compatriots.

Sixteen years the district has been represented in the House by Daniel J. Riordan, a resident of the Oliver street district in Lower Manhattan, which has furnished so many of the leaders in Tammany Hall and the Democratic Party.

Homes of Moscow Badly Congested

LONDON.—Six hundred million dollars are required to rebuild Moscow, according to Colonel the Hon. F. H. Cripps, who has just been given an almost unlimited contract by the Soviet Government. "One million, five hundred thousand people in Moscow are living in less than 160,000 apartments, an average of roughly ten to an apartment" says Cripps, who has just returned. "A return to pre-war normal conditions would involve the erection of another 120,000 apartments."

Cripps has already completed a number of large buildings for the Soviet and repaired a number of others. The question of payment is, of course, the chief difficulty. "At present," says Cripps, "I repair the building, and in return the Soviet gives me the complete lease for a period varying from eighteen to twenty years. Where they have been household dwellings, I have simply been inundated with would-be tenants. But I take care only to arrange lettings on a gold-basis. "I was impressed by the manifest improvement in social conditions. Law and order are well preserved, and things are gradually returning to the normal. It looks as though the present Government, although a small oligarchy, will remain, for they are strong, and there seems to be no alternative administration. The famine is quite over, and the shops are filling with German goods."

CAN YOU BELIEVE IT?

Some people make me tired. (Of course I know I probably have the same effect on some people.)

The particular some people I am thinking of today are the people who find some small evil in some big good and go about panning the good because of that inevitable modicum of evil.

I won't blame you if you refuse to believe what I am going to say next. It is true, but so incredible that I am hardly sure I believe it myself.

A man once wrote me asking me to say something in condemnation of the scout movement!

Yes, actually!

Behind a Million Ears.

Asked me to condemn the movement that has made millions of boys wash behind their ears when no argument on mothers' or fathers' part could push the water line back that far.

Asked me to condemn the movement that has taught boys all the fine helpful joys of woodcraft.

Asked me to condemn the movement that has stood for manliness and chivalry and good citizenship and honor and integrity, and yet managed not to frighten away with fear of piety or priggishness that shyest of all creatures where such things are concerned—the growing boy.

I don't believe there are many people in the world—no rulers, no inventors, no statesmen—whose labors will bear any more

STARCH AS A BLEACH

Wipe off surplus and use powder to protect them from taking up more soil.

Steady Reader — Consult the doctor about your condition as

I have been talking a great deal about the virtues of starch in the last few weeks, but I have received so many letters asking about this treatment that I feel I must talk about it just once more, even at the risk of boring those who already know.

I really cannot praise starch too highly as a beauty treatment. It is splendid for blackheads because it goes into the pores of the skin and absorbs the curious hard combination of grease and dirt which makes that ugly black mark. It is good for an oily skin because it absorbs the oil, and it can be used on a dry complexion if the skin is given a thorough cold cream massage before or after the treatment.

Being cleansing, it will give a coarse-grained skin an opportunity to become fine grained as Nature intended. Being astringent it will draw up these enlarged pores and assist the skin back to normal fitness. And besides this it has one great virtue. It costs practically nothing, so that even the poorest person can afford it and it is in every household cupboard so that anyone can use it.

Some readers want to know whether I mean corn starch or laundry starch. It doesn't really matter which you use, both are the starchy part of the corn, but laundry starch is less expensive and quite as good. All you do is melt a few little lumps in enough water to make a paste the consistency of cream, then spread this over the skin and let it dry on for 15 minutes to half an hour. You can repeat this treatment every day. In very stubborn cases of blackheads I have found it even more effective to boil the starch and use it clear and fairly hot.

A. B. D.—When the skin on the elbows gets dark soften it with cream and then scrub with hot water and soap after which rub in more cream until the skin has absorbed as much as possible.

Winter time and the holidays always seem to make the after-supper reading hour a bit more enjoyable and the companionship of favorite or new books a real pleasure.

Whether our fancy leads us to the old books for hours of ruminating or to new authors and unfamiliar pages for pleasurable browsing we may find in the Glendale library something for every age and mood.

"Service" is the broad word taken by Mrs. Alma J. Danford, librarian, and her assistants, in performing their duties at the library and meeting the public.

Present book hints from the library are of the appearance shortly of a new book by Frederick O'Brien, popular author and Glendale resident, and a new book by Willa Cather, well known in Glendale.

Some other new books are "The Bright Shawl" by Hergesheimer; "Rough Hewn" by Dorothy Canfield; "Flowing Gold" by Rex Beach; and "The Green Goddess," anonymous.

Among the newer books in circulation are "Four Square" by Grace S. Richmond; "The Story of Mankind" by Hendrik Van Loon; "Now It Can Be Told" by Sir Philip Gibbs.

"The Laws of Life" by Goldsmith, concerning evolution, heredity and eugenics.

"Painted Windows, by a Gentleman With a Duster" the author of "The Mirrors of Downing Street." A book of studies of religious personalities, said to reveal brilliantly, unsurpassingly the chaos of opinion which exists in the modern church, exemplified in twelve intimate and vivid portraits of religious leaders.

Starch Will Make the Skin White

Practical Housekeeping by Florence Austin Chase

STUFFING THE TURKEY

I am sure there are many among my readers at this time who will be preparing their first turkey dinner and they will be anxious to know how to properly stuff and truss the bird. If the amateur will read this lesson carefully and will follow the suggestions offered, the success of her dinner is assured.

Make a good dressing and stuff it into the bird by the tablespoonful, first in the neck, filling the breast sufficiently full to give the bird a plump appearance; be careful not to use too much stuffing, for in swelling, the skin may burst in cooking, especially if cracker crumbs are used. Fold the skin of the neck back and fasten it with a small skewer.

Then fill the body of the bird with the remainder of stuffing, close the incision, sewing it over and over loosely to allow for swelling of stuffing. A large darning needle and No. 8 cotton thread is best for this purpose.

Trussing the Turkey—Remove the tips of wings, press wings close to body and insert a long steel skewer through the middle of opposite wing; draw the thighs close to body, inserting a second steel skewer under the middle joint of leg. Tie the drumsticks securely together with strong string, turn the bird on its back and tie the legs to the tail piece, cross the string and wind it around each end of the skewer, fastening on skin of the neck. Tie the string and cut off the ends. The turkey thus treated is in a compact form that will add materially to its appearance when served. The trussing string is crossed on the back and will therefore not mar the appearance of the turkey when strings and skewers are removed.

A very large majority of the people in America, I believe, prefer to have the turkey stuffed, some even going so far as to say they prefer the stuffing to the turkey itself. Every experienced housekeeper has her own favorite dressing. It may be the old-fashioned bread dressing, seasoned with thyme, sage, etc., a cracker dressing, a chestnut dressing or an oyster dressing. Some of our foreign neighbors have brought to us the apple, raisin and the prune dressing. I believe the old-fashioned bread dressing when well made and nicely seasoned, is more universally liked for the Thanksgiving day dinner than any other one dressing. I am appending my favorite dressing recipe:

Old Fashioned Bread Dressing: Remove the crusts from two small loaves of white bread, slice and pick into small pieces; season with one-half teaspoon pepper, two teaspoons salt, two teaspoons poultry seasoning, one tablespoon finely chopped onion; mix well; melt one-half cup butter in two-thirds boiling water and add to first mixture; toss lightly together, then add two eggs well beaten. Mix thoroughly and stuff the

It's A Fact

TALKING TO A MILLION

Grantland Rice tells an interesting story of sending his report of the great baseball battle in which the New York Giants defeated the Yankees in the world's series, to a million people.

"We have been asked to tell just how it feels to talk to a million people, scattered over 200,000 square miles, in a single address," writes Mr. Rice in the New York Tribune.

"After the first pleasant shock, when we discovered that no one could answer us back or cut in with a winning argument, the rest of it was something of a thrill in this respect at least.

"After the first inaugural statement it was as simple as talking to one man, a dumb man who was not deaf, as simple as asking for a cigarette or ordering a peck of potatoes from the grocer over the phone.

"The most intricate contrivance in the world, to one as unversed in mechanics or electricity as we are, had suddenly become the simplest thing in a highly complex age. If we had ever been addicted to public speaking we might have missed the ringing applause from our audience. Still there were body and breast of turkey, putting sufficient in the latter to give bird a plump appearance. If the bread is stale more moisture may be needed.

Oyster Dressing: Wash, clean and drain one pint oysters. Chop them coarsely, then add two cups of cracker crumbs and one cup of dried bread, season with one one-half teaspoons salt, one-half teaspoon white pepper and two thirds cup melted butter.

They Say That

Metropolitan newspapers joke about the country press which chronicles such events as the painting of Silas Jones' fence and the sale of Mirandy Brown's prize rooster; but may not the tables be turned when a leading journal in a city of a million population bases its most prominent story of the day on the invasion of someone's lawn by a stray cow?

Of course cows are strange animals in the big city; and it is the element of strangeness that makes news features for the live daily.

The definition of news as expressed by a famous New York editor will remain the guide in all enterprising publishing offices dealing with the affairs and the chatter of a typical American community, large or small.

If a dog bites a man the circumstances is not worthy of notation in up-to-date newspaper columns. The thing happens so often that it is not news. But if a man bites a dog this becomes the basis for an illustrated narrative, giving all possible details of the rare occurrence.

Newspaper making has undergone a notable evolution since the days when these publications were chiefly mediums for personal opinions on political subjects, and when reports of public meetings were made in the form of a secretary's minutes.

Nevertheless, from dry routine and ponderous utterance to light gossip and comic supplements is a far cry in journalism; so far, in fact, that there would be danger of degeneration except for the sobering influence of public sentiment.

Events that concern public welfare should form the backbone of newspaper news. Necessarily these relate to national, state, county and local government affairs. Foreign correspondence is also an important factor.

Such agencies as the churches, the schools, civic and business clubs, the theatres, in that they are intimately related to the people and their progress, cannot be neglected.

Industrial, financial, commercial happenings interest a large element of the population; and by way of contrast it may be said that the sporting pages have their clientele, often from the same ranks that peruse the market columns.

The modern newspaper should not be other than fair and temperate in its editorial comment.

No newspaper of the day is complete without its well selected miscellany, its stories and its pictures. In a word, it must be more than a purveyor of public records.

"The leader of any enterprise," correctly observes Abe Martin, "should never be a feller with nothing to lose."

Priceless Old Relics Shown In Heye Foundation Museum

BOTH AMERICAS AID COLLECTION

Many Rich Treasures to Be Found; Ancient Garbs Attract Attention

NEW YORK—Riches of the Aztecs such as were in the loot of Cortez; ornaments of fine gold such as Pizarro, the Spanish conqueror, took from the Peruvians; priceless objects of art of the civilization of the ancient Mayas, are among the nearly two million specimens of the museum of the American Indian, Heye Foundation, which is now officially opened. It is ready for the general public, who, without charge, will have the opportunity to see and study the most remarkable assemblage of the records of the past of the twin Americas now under one roof. Among those invited to the reception were distinguished citizens and scholars from all parts of the country.

One of the main purposes of the newly opened museum is to help in the final answer to the question: "Whence came the American Indian?" Are they the Ten Lost Tribes, blood brothers to the Japanese, or Chinese, or did they flee from a sinking continent? Scholars and scientists, by the comparison of hundreds of thousands of specimens, may be able to work out that puzzling problem. At the same time designers of costumes, makers of fabrics, manufacturers of pottery may find inspiration in these remarkable collections for practical purposes. The general public will gain education and recreation and food for romance.

Although this museum, situated at Broadway and One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, is a massive building, it can show at one time only about one-fiftieth of its treasures. The contents of many of the cases, therefore, will be changed from time to time. Under some of the flat cases are nests of drawers, which visitors can pull out with their own hands and inspect specimens not on view.

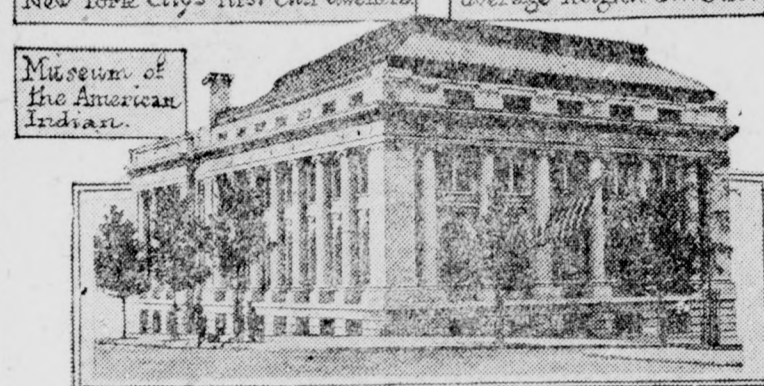

The guests today were impressed with the wide difference in the culture or civilization of the first Americans. As explained by the director and founder of the museum, George G. Heye, "the highest development, in the class of that of the early Greeks, was south of the Rio Grande, while in the northern countries the natives lived in the primitive style. Such variations can be especially well studied in this institution, the only one in the world dedicated to the American Indian, although there are notable collections of Indian relics in other large museums."

Rich Treasures
Among its treasures is a relic of the Mayas, the oldest race in the Americas, a sacred vessel used in the worship of the sun.
Mexico is represented by numerous beautiful objects of Aztec craftsmanship. Among them is the finest example of Aztec turquoise mosaic in the world, so far as is known. It is a shield only one foot in diameter and ornamented with 14,000 bits of turquoise, arranged in a design which illustrates the worship of the planet Venus. The colors vary from light green to a dark blue green and are exquisitely blended.

Wise Globe Trotter Great Deal Wiser

PARIS—A "second time over" American tourist was ready to start home. A friend noted the conspicuous absence of labels and tags on his traveling bags.
"Last season I fell for the assorted labels at 25 cents a pack, supplied by a tourist agency," he said. "When I reached Hoboken I noticed season globe trotters with neat, unplastered bags, comfortably walking past customs inspectors, while I spent much time and some money explaining that I hadn't been around the world and hadn't collected a lot of duffable stuff. Not for me—I'll let the folks at home guess how much ground I've covered."

The Lapps, inhabitants of Lapland, are the shortest people in Europe.

NEW YORK CITY'S FIRST CLIFF DWELLERS—This elaborate model shows the noted rockshelter, 220 feet high, at the northern end of Manhattan Island, Inwood—207th street. The rocks remain as they were when Henry Hudson came.
A FALSE FACE BROTHER—Wooden mask used by the Iroquois of New York state in ceremonial dances. Now in the Museum of the American Indian, Heye Foundation.
THIS JIVARO INDIAN has had his bones removed and by a secret shrinking process has been reduced from his normal size, about 5 feet 6 inches tall, to only 27 inches in height. His home was in South America. The "reducing" custom is attributed to a desire to conserve space in the burying vaults.
BELOW—FANE OF SCIENCE DEDICATED TO RED MEN—Stately building of the Museum of the American Indian, Heye Foundation, opened on November 16, free of charge, to the public. This structure, at Broadway and 155th street, contains more than 1,860,000 specimens.

like classic throne chairs, reveal the art of natives of Ecuador, who passed from this life many centuries ago. Among the picturesque objects in the Ecuadorian collection are human heads, reduced to about one-fifth of their natural size and preserved so that there has evidently not been the slightest change in their features. Here, also, is an entire human body only twenty-seven inches long, although it was once that of a full-grown man. The skeleton and skull were removed, after which the flesh was preserved by a pickling process. The shrinking was done by putting hot sand and stones into the body day after day. Although the heads are frequently seen this is the only entire shrunken body known. The Jivaro Indians, who practice this strange skill, so keep the heads of enemies slain in battle.
A canoe paddle, such as is described in the record of the voyage of Columbus, and dishes of wood hundreds of years old, represent the West Indies. Central America has contributed ancient jewelry and ornaments of solid gold of wonderful workmanship.
Legends and the poetry of the northern Indians are revealed in the collections of costumes and masks. Grotesque disguises of the False Face Brethren, made at the fancied command of spirits, and the sacred bundles and fetiches are included, which illustrate the superstitions of the early inhabitants.
Ancient Garbs Shown
Festivals of the aboriginals are recalled by gaudy garments, the bright-hued head-dresses and weird musical instruments. Enormous dishes, as large as modern bathtubs, in which the Indians of British Columbia put the food for their guests, when they held their potlaches, recall the carnivals at which were welcomed old friends and neighbors.
One can only suggest, however, the wealth of material for research and for recreation found in the new institution.
The museum of the American Indian, Heye Foundation, grew out of the enthusiastic interest in aboriginal culture aroused in George G. Heye in 1897, when engaged in the construction of a railroad in Arizona. His first contact with Indian lore was through the purchase of a buckskin shirt from an Indian workman. The son of Gustav Heye, an official of the Standard Oil company, Mr. Heye became interested in large business affairs upon his return to the east, but for years collected Indian objects as a diversion. He finally withdrew from the financial world to devote himself entirely to the museum, of which he is both founder and director.

Near East Crisis Is Put Into Campaign

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England, Nov. 7.—Former Premier David Lloyd George brought the near east crisis into the political campaign when he declared in a speech that "the British flag must not be hauled down."
"The near east is beginning to show signs of inflammation," said Lloyd George. "Whatever happens the flag must not be let down. We have got to get rid of the Turk, but he (the Turk) has looked at the new ministry and come to the conclusion that now is the time for another try. If the government stands by the flag, I will be wholeheartedly behind it. I entreat the government to show the Turk that we will not be trifled with and to convince the Turk that the documents signed at the Mudania armistice conference must stand."

The former premier warned against reactionism and a government "which is born tired." He urged a conciliatory but firm foreign policy.
"Germany," said Lloyd George, "must pay to the limit of her capacity."

The ex-premier said he would co-operate with "progressive conservatives" until Britain is what it aims to be—leader of the world along the paths of liberty, freedom and justice.

A tombstone in the road near Tonawanda, N. Y., caused a fatal auto accident. The only thing left on the tombstone was the inscription, "Rest in peace."

Oregon Takes Lead Over Timber States

SAN FRANCISCO.—While the state of Washington is at present the first state in the production of lumber, Oregon has the largest remaining stand of timber, says the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association Information Bureau.
The total of the merchantable timber standing in the forests of Oregon is estimated at 444 billion feet, Washington comes next with 301 billion feet, giving these two states a total of 745 billion feet out of a total of probably not more than 2,500,000,000 in the whole of the United States.

FOOTBALL THRILL FELT EVERYWHERE

Card-Bear Game Tomorrow Should Evoke Much Kick: Says Sports Writer

How do the big games of the Pacific Coast compare with those of the Atlantic seaboard? International News Service has had Robert E. Harlow, Eastern staff sports writer, now visiting on the coast, answer this question. Harlow is nationally known as a football and golf authority and covers the big games in the east. His story follows:

By ROBERT E. HARLOW
For International News Service, SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Although the great American continent separates the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard, "big game" football enthusiasm is the same in Boston before the Harvard-Yale game as it is in San Francisco before the California-Stanford game.

Even if the eleven appear to be unevenly matched these games between old rivals arouse the sports loving folks as nothing else save a heavyweight championship. Stanford is figured to have the weaker team in the contest Saturday but Stanford students and "old grads" will never agree to it until the score has been published.

There is little difference in eastern and Pacific coast football once the teams are on the field. A gambler says that any man who desires an absolutely 100 per cent "square deal" in making a wager, should place his money on a college football game. He can be certain that the team on which he has placed his money will do the best it can to win.

So, east or west, once on the field, college football players give all they have.

Game Older in East
Eastern football organization is older than that of the Pacific coast and this is the only advantage the east has and it is probably offset by the quality of the raw material which is at the disposal of Pacific coast coaches. The eastern coaches are more often than not supplied with candidates who have had expert football training in secondary schools which maintain as elaborate training and coaching organizations as many of the colleges.

Such schools as Exeter, Andover, Mercersburg, Worcester Academy and many of the larger high schools furnish the material for the eastern collegiate eleven and these boys arrive at the college campus with sound football background.

Then the universities, such as Harvard, have developed a football department which will compare with some of the more classical studies. Harvard has a record of every game the Varsity has participated in over a period of years and it is very largely upon this mass of evidence that the Harvard football machine grinds on.

These charts provide a world of football information and are the study of a lifetime for a student who seeks to play the quarterback position.

Coaches for Every Position
The east also provides, at most of the larger institutions, what might be termed a general staff of coaches. There are coaches for nearly every position; in fact, the complaint is often made that there are too many coaches. This is probably a wise complaint inasmuch as the coaches do not agree, as has been the fact at one of the famous eastern football universities more than once.

Even so, football is a "fighting game" and once the players are on the field the spirit is very often the thing that has as much to do with the winning of the game as the scientific background upon which a team is working out its destiny. Every follower of football has seen an inferior eleven in the art of the edge, rise to great power in the heat of conflict and smite a more powerful opponent.

When this happens there is great rejoicing on the campus. It is possible to fill these gigantic stadiums to overflowing because the spectators hope that the hour will come, when the underdog of one side or the other will all stand and keep shouting "Fight, fight, fight," and that the men on the field will respond in such a way that the crowd will stand up and howl with delight and excitement.

That is the way of college football.

Stanford Eleven to 'Give 'Em the Axe'

STANFORD, CAL., Nov. 24.—"Give 'em the axe, the axe, the axe."

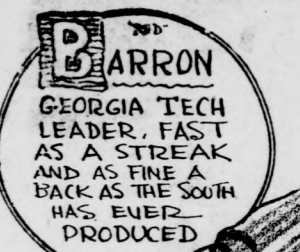

This old Stanford war cry will resound with a new meaning tomorrow.

Stanford has a new axe. It replaces the original Stanford axe, now reposing in a Berkeley bank vault these many seasons, despite much strategy on the part of Stanford men to recover it. The next axe, an exact replica of the old one, was found in the Bretz Harz mining country, aroused the undergraduate body to a new frenzy of enthusiasm when its gleaming edge was revealed here last night.

What the country needs is an alarm clock that only wakes the man who sets it.

HERE'S DOPE ON GAMES SATURDAY

Harvard and Yale Even Up and Same Thing for Army and Navy

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service, NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The book on tomorrow's football games is open. Prepare yourself for the worst. Here it is:

Even money, not a fractional cent more, on Harvard and Yale; even money on the Army and Navy; 3 to 2 on Illinois to beat Ohio State; 2 to 1 on Iowa to outscore Northwestern; 6 to 5 on Chicago to beat Wisconsin; 2 to 1 on California over Stanford; 5 to 3 on Michigan to beat Minnesota; 3 to 2 on Brown to outscore Dartmouth; even money on Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame; 10 to 7 on Washington and Jefferson over Detroit; 2 to 1 on La Fayette over Lehigh; 5 to 3 on Nebraska to beat Iowa State; 2 to 1 on West Virginia to beat Ohio University, and 5 to 3 on Indiana to beat Purdue.

Buell is Whole Team
Some, perhaps, may not care for the odds. A Harvard man, for instance, might want some of that 10 to 7 money that is alleged to be running around loose on Yale. As a matter of fact, Harvard would be a favorite if one could be sure Buell was absolutely sound.

Buell is not only captain and quarterback of the Harvard team; he is the Harvard football team. The Army is no better than even money for the simple reason that it probably is less than one touch-down superior to the Navy, if that. The Middies' eternal fight might equalize that advantage.

East for California
Chicago may upset the dope. We have made it a choice against Wisconsin, largely because it has not lost a conference game and the Badgers finished second to Illinois and Michigan.

California seems to be yards and yards a better team than Stanford, and, according to the last hour statistics, Illinois has the edge over Ohio and Iowa is the best bet in the world over Northwestern.

Michigan, like Wisconsin, must be made an odds-on favorite over Minnesota. Western men inform us that the Wolverine is the best team in the conference and Minnesota, at best, is only fair. It is down in red ink that the Michigan eleven will put over a victory.

Football Stars In Last Game Saturday

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Approximately 100 first string players on the ten western conference football teams will participate in their last games Saturday when the curtain is rung down on the season. More than half of that number were regulars during the season.

Among the stars who will be seen in action for the last time are: Captain Locke of Iowa; Captain Lewis, Fletcher and Strohmair of Chicago; Captain Williams, Tebbel, Barr and Gibson of Wisconsin; Captain Pixley, Blair and Isabel of Ohio State; Captain Wilson and Hill of Illinois; and Captain Goebel, Kirk, Cappon and Johns of Michigan.

At least one big ten coach "Hurry-Up" Yost, may also be singing his "swan song" as an active worker when his unbeaten Michigan team plays at Minneapolis. He's been on the job since 1901 and rumors that he will step out of active coaching this year have never been denied.

In spite of his thirty-three years in the harness, Coach Stagg will be back at Chicago next year, the last remaining member of that famous triumvirate of veterans, Williams, Yost and Stagg.

F. Chance No Owner of Red Sox; Frazee
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—In an interview, Harry Frazee, owner of the Boston Red Sox, declared that although he was in negotiation with Bill Carrigan and Frank Chance as possible manager for the club for next season, he had not sold any of the stock to Chance and did not intend to do so.

"Chance has bought no interest in the Boston club and can buy none because there is none for sale," said Frazee.

Murderer Is Hung by Pastor-Sheriff
FORT MADISON, Nov. 24.—For the second time during his term of office, the Rev. W. E. Robb, pastor-sheriff of Polk county, today sprung the trap which swung a man—a convicted murderer—into eternity.

Orrie Cross, pal and accomplice of Eugene Weeks, whom the pastor-sheriff hunted two months ago went to his death with a prayer upon his lips.

HUGE CROWD TO ATTEND CONTEST

Seat Sale for Stanford and California Game Passes 50,000 Mark, Claim

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Within twenty-four hours the clinking turnstiles of the great stadium at Stanford university will usher in another annual "big game."

Today the seat sale has passed the 50,000 mark and there was every indication that when the undefeated Bears and the Stanford Cardinals trot on the field tomorrow afternoon, the stadium's 60,000 seating capacity will be filled.

Both teams were resting today in preparation for the battle. The Stanford squad returned to Palo Alto last evening to attend the annual student rally which always precedes the "big game."

Over at Berkeley similar scenes were enacted as the annual rally was held to "tune up" for tomorrow's game. An interesting feature of the rally was the presentation to nine of the ten men who will play their last game tomorrow of football trophies of this year's games. Charley Erb will not see his until tomorrow when the tenth game of the season will be played.

He is so confident of winning that he passed up a chance on one of the other balls. The Bears limbered up a bit yesterday, but had no workout today.

Interest centered today in the line-ups. Neither Andy Smith nor Andy Kerr are communicative on the subjects. Captain De Groot may start at center for Stanford and he may not. He has a bad shoulder and it had been definitely announced he would be out of the game. They reckoned without De Groot, however, and it probably will require a team to keep him out.

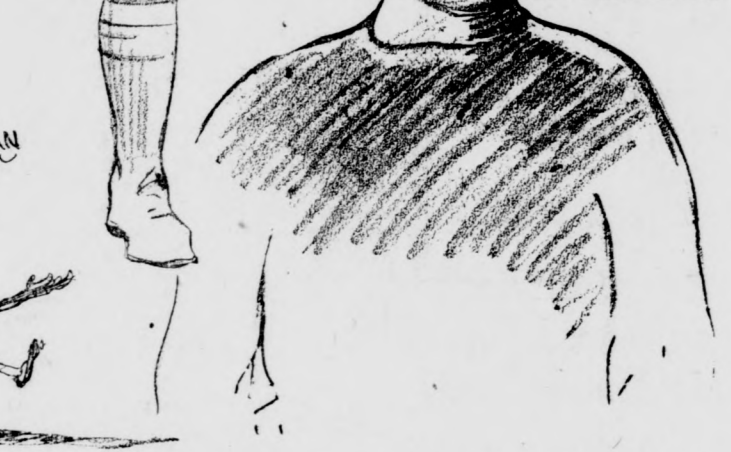

Two Killed; Score Hurt In Lake Gale
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Two men were drowned, thirty rescued and six barges wrecked in a forty-mile gale on Onondaga lake, near Verona beach, early today. The barges were en route from Buffalo to New York with 98,000 bushels of wheat.

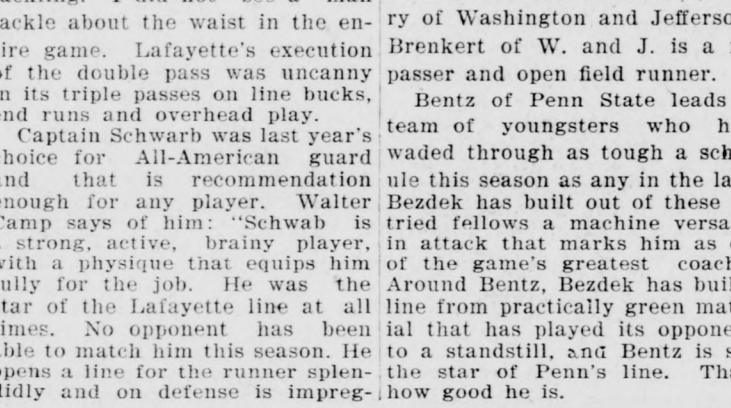

BRENKERT, CAPTAIN AND QUARTERBACK OF WASHINGTON + JEFFERSON'S GREATEST TEAM.

BENTZ, CAPTAIN AND CENTER OF PENN STATE. A TEAM AS VERSATILE IN ATTACK AS ANY IN THE EAST.

SCHWAB, ALL-AMERICAN GUARD AND CAPTAIN OF LAFAYETTE.

HARTLEY, ONE OF THE WEST'S BEST FULL BACKS. TWO HUNDRED POUNDS.

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE, PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The fellow who starts in to find out the relative strengths of the various football teams by means of comparative scores will find that he can prove that the strongest team the weakest and vice versa. At least the system has the merit of allowing every enthusiast to figure his particular team capable of beating all the others.

The chap who predicted a few days ago that the New York Giants again would win the National League pennant, at least must be given credit for getting in on time with his prophecy. Seven more guesses and he's bound to come out a winner.

Babe Ruth says he'll never again do anything for which the youth of the nation need be ashamed of him. Fine. Now the boys will begin to keep tabs.

Another couple of weeks, and then for the deluge of "strongest" football teams in the country. How old was Ann, and who hit Billy Patterson is child's play in comparison.

A golfer inquires: "My next lie is in full sight, but eight feet away is a skunk hole with the occupant sitting in front of it watching for me to come and make my stroke. What is the procedure?" Off he had, we would say, get a mackintosh and a gas mask.

Basketball teams all over the country are preparing for the season that is about at hand, and the probabilities are that a record season will be established. No figures are available as to the number of those organizations that exist, but they run up into the tens of thousands. There are a number of industrial basketball leagues in several of the larger cities, each of which includes one hundred or more teams that play elimination games for the championship of the various industries represented by the players. There are also college, school, "Y," club and social organization teams, and then add to it the hundreds of girl teams and some conception of the number of persons actively playing the game may be had. With a very few minor changes which are expected to benefit the game, the rules remain much as they were last season.

November is a red letter month in which big fights took place. From the days of the bare knuckle fights down to the more recent days of today many of the greatest fights of the arena were staged in the month of November. Old-timers will recall many of the fights listed herewith, while in other cases not even the present old-timers can recall some of these fights:

Jim Belcher beat Joe Berks for world heavyweight, 16 rounds, at Maidenhead, England, Nov. 21, 1891.
Tom King beat Jim Mace for English title, 21 rounds, at London, November 25, 1862.
John L. Sullivan K. O'd Paddy Ryan, three rounds, at San Francisco, Nov. 13, 1886.
Joe Choynski K. O'd Bill Keenally, 4 rounds, at San Francisco, Nov. 29, 1887.
Peter Jackson won from Jim Smith, two rounds, at London, Eng., Nov. 11, 1889.
Young Griffo and Goe Gans fought a ten-round draw at Baltimore, Nov. 18, 1895.
Tom Sharkey K. O'd Joe Goddard, six rounds, San Francisco, Nov. 18, 1897.
Jim Jeffries and Joe Choynski fought a 20-round draw at San Francisco, Nov. 30, 1897.
Tom Sharkey won on a foul in the ninth from Jim Corbett at New York, Nov. 22, 1898.
Jim Jeffries won from Tom Sharkey, 25 rounds, at Coney Island, world heavyweight title, Nov. 2, 1899.
Jim Jeffries K. O'd Gus Ruhlin, 5 rounds, at San Francisco, world heavy title, Nov. 15, 1901.

BROKER LICENSES SET NEW RECORD

California Leads All Other States With 115 Issued Daily This Year

An average of 115 real estate broker and salesman licenses were issued daily during the ten months ending October 31, 1922, according to a statement issued today by President C. C. C. Tatum of the California Real Estate Association. The total number of licenses issued was 34,293, and total receipts $161,578.37. These figures are based on a report secured by the Association News Department from the Real Estate Department. This is more than four times as many licenses as were issued in Illinois for the same period, and more than five times as many as were issued in the entire state of New Jersey all last year. The state of New York with more than three times the population of California issued far less than one-half the number of licenses issued in California.

The steadily increasing number of realty licenses in California is attributed by President C. C. C. Tatum to the magnitude of the new realty business developing in California. However, he declared, a large number of realty licenses are held by persons who really are not realty brokers or salesmen but hold a license to participate in a commission on a deal.

It is interesting to note that of the 34,293 licensed in California, individual licenses head the list with a total of 16,725, this being an increase of nearly 5,000 over the salesmen licensed for the same period last year. A total of 12,521 brokers, 2172 co-partnerships, and 362 corporations, all engaging in real estate, were given permits this year.

Real Estate Dept. Grows
The real estate department, of which State Real Estate Commissioner T. Reiser is the head, has shown a steady growth since its inception five years ago. In 1920, there were 23,869 realty licenses granted in California, and in 1921 26,530, and with 34,293 granted in ten months of this year, it is believed the grand total for 1922 will be far in excess of 35,000.

The city of Los Angeles leads in number of licenses, having about one-third of the total number issued. Long Beach, Oakland, San Francisco, Pasadena, and Diego each have more than 1,000 licenses.

The Real Estate department is a self-sustaining department. Its operation is paid out of the licenses collected, and last year there was turned over to the general fund of the state of California, from the real estate commissioner's office, a surplus of nearly $40,000. This year it is expected there will be again a large surplus. The California Real Estate Boards and the State Association believe that the excess moneys of the real estate commissioner's office should be used for the general benefit of the real estate profession, such as advertising California, and upbuilding the profession, etc. A resolution to that effect was carried by the state board of directors recently.

BIBLE CLASS IS PROVING POPULAR

Thursday Morning Lectures at Presbyterian Church Well Attended by Women

The second session of the Thursday morning bible class for women was largely attended yesterday morning in the Glendale Presbyterian church. As the class is undenominational and free to all women, many ladies from other churches in Glendale were in attendance. The total attendance was one hundred and ninety-six. A number of mothers took advantage of the nursery and left their small children in competent hands while they attended the class. The opening praise service was led by Mrs. Fannie Mappel Retts, with Mrs. J. MacMillan at the piano. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, the pastor, was present at the beginning of the class and opened the session with prayer. Mrs. A. L. Dennis, the teacher, considered very carefully and thoroughly the history of the first great passover, when the Israelites were about to be brought out of Egypt and bondage. God told Moses that the avenging angel was to strike the firstborn in every family. But every Israelite household was bidden to carefully provide a perfect lamb, at the appointed hour to slay it and to sprinkle its blood upon the doorposts of the house; and the death angel should "pass over" every blood protected home.

The speaker wonderfully unfolded the great meaning of this event, every circumstance and detail of which had been divinely planned to foreshadow Christ's work of atonement. She stated that the fundamental meaning of "atonement" is "a covering." Those Israelite homes were "covered" by that sign of the blood on the doors. Every one taking Christ is "covered" by His blood, the guilt of sin is blotted out.

Charge K. K. K. Used Federal Buildings

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—An investigation was begun here today into charges that the Ku Klux Klan has been using government buildings, including the United States capitol itself, in which to conduct its secret initiation ceremonies. According to the charges made by a Washington newspaper, a dozen hooded Klansmen gathered in the capitol at midnight one night last week and there under the dome indicted a "high public official" into the mysteries of the order.

Disabled Liner Is Anchored Off N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Racing into port in an effort to clip off a few minutes from her previous record, the Cunard liner Mauretania with 850 passengers on board, was compelled for some mysterious reason to halt and drop anchor off Ambrose channel lightship early today. A report from the Western Union observatory at Sandy Hook said that the operator there interpreted a signal blown by the big liner to mean that she had become disabled.

And then Norris and Foster, having dispatched their man, came running up.

"Is he badly hurt, madam?" cried Captain Norris.

"I don't know," replied Miss Harding. "I'm just trying to help him up, Captain Norris," she laboriously explained in an effort to account for her arms about Billy's neck.

Norris gave a start of surprise at hearing his name.

"Who are you?" he cried. "How do you know me?" and as the girl turned her face toward him, "Miss Harding! Thank God, Miss Harding, you are safe."

"But where on earth did you come from?" asked Barbara.

"It's a long story, Miss Harding," replied the officer, "and the ending of it is going to be pretty hard on you—you must try to bear up though."

"You don't mean that father is dead?" she asked, a look of terror coming to her eyes.

"Not that—we hope," replied Norris. "He has been taken prisoner by these half-breed devils on the island. I doubt if they have killed him—we were going to his rescue when we ourselves were captured. He and Mr. Mallory were taken three days ago."

"Mallory?" shouted Billy Byrne, who had entirely recovered from the blow that had merely served to stun him for a moment. "Is Mallory alive?"

"He was yesterday," replied Norris; "these fellows from whom you so bravely rescued us told us that much."

"Thank God!" whispered Billy Byrne.

"What made you think he was dead?" inquired the officer, looking closely at Byrne as though trying to place him.

Another man might have attempted to evade the question but the new Billy Byrne was no coward in any department of his moral or physical structure.

"Because I thought that I had killed him," he replied, "the day that we took the Lotus."

"Captain Norris looked at the speaker in undisguised horror.

"You!" he cried. "You were one of those damned outcasts! You the man that nearly killed poor Mr. Mallory! Miss Harding, has he offered you any indignities?"

"Don't judge him rashly, Captain Norris," said the girl. "But for him I should have been dead and worse than dead long since. Some day I will tell you of his

Daily NewsLetter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Ellis H. Martin, San Francisco correspondent, tells how the post office officials of California handled the great bulk of election literature.

TOMORROW—Daniel O'Connell, correspondent in Ireland for the International News Service, will write of women in Irish politics and other matters concerning Ireland.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN, San Francisco, Nov. 24.—Pity the poor mail man in California around election time.

Take for instance the recent election in San Francisco alone. It was the task of the mail men of the city to deliver seventy-five tons of official election literature to the residences of the voters of the city.

In the State at large the delivery ran around 320 tons—about one-half pound to the voter.

Each voter received a sample ballot ten days before election. With the sample ballot is a pamphlet gotten out by the State containing the text of all constitutional amendments to be voted upon. Following the text of each amendment is an argument for or against the amendment written by the leading proponent and opponent of the measure. This year there were 30 State amendments. The pamphlet contained 144 pages set in small type.

A simple but effective method of handling this enormous amount of additional mail matter—a deluge running Christmas time—delivers a close second—has been worked out by Registrar Harry Zemansky in San Francisco. It enabled the mail men to make prompt delivery to each voter of his half pound of election literature without gumming up the routine process of mail delivery and without burdening the already heavily laden shoulders of the men in gray.

Through the system worked out by Zemansky and the postal authorities the large envelopes containing the election literature are made up in bundles according to the postman's route. About a book is contained in each bundle. These bundles are sent to the storage boxes, hotels and apartment houses by motor truck. The mail man each day delivers an installment along with his regular mail, and the schedule is so made out that all is clear at least ten days before the election date—sometimes more than that length of time in advance.

With the election literature in the hands of the voters their task begins. One statistician estimated it would require the average working man three evenings of hours' reading to digest the contents of the pamphlets. Another writer suggested that the wives take over the task of reading the literature in their spare moments, thus saving the eyes of the men of the family.

The ballot with its referendums and amendments resembles a nightmare to the uninitiated voter. But the voters of California have become used to amendments and referendums and plenty of them. They take the matter of voting on them seriously and a surprisingly large percentage of the voters vote on all of the amendments. Hot campaigns are waged on many of the amendments and referendums and their numbers on the ballot become familiar to the voters through advertising and campaigning. In the recent election the outstanding issues among the amendments were the soldier aid measures, the dry law referendum, an amendment to the medical licensing law, and the proposal to put the State into the hydro-electric power business.

SOCKETS

The sockets illustrated are made with phosphor bronze contact springs securely held in milled grooves in the bottom of the bakelite base. They are absolutely firm and cannot move except as a tension against the bulb base conduct pins. The socket shell is made of heavy brass tubing, with a bayonet lock joint, securely molded into the condensite base. The socket shell is also offset to allow panel mounting. The base has metal inserts These inserts are firmly molded into the bakelite base and make a most substantial mounting to the panel. They are made in single, double and triple sizes.

COMMON MOTOR AND GENERATOR TROUBLES.

Electrical machinery is subject to the same troubles as other machinery, such as rough, gritty, dry or tight bearings, bad alignment, sprung shaft, etc., which show themselves by heating, taking excessive power or vibration. The bearings must be smooth and clean. Care must be taken never to spring or jam the shaft. There must always be oil of good quality in the oil wells to keep the bearings thoroughly lubricated. Most generators and motors are oiled by means of brass rings that ride on the shaft and dip into the oil and carry it up as they turn. Sometimes these are injured in taking the machine apart; then they do not turn properly; the bearing runs dry and heats, sometimes "freezing" to the shaft.

Some machines have ball bearings. They should run very easily, but are subject to the same troubles as, say, a bicycle bearing, such as broken balls, grit or adjustment too tight. In general, if a bearing gets too hot to be borne by the hand it needs attention; the trouble is likely to grow worse until finally the shaft binds firmly and cannot be turned. The job of getting it free again is likely to be a tedious and troublesome one, necessitating dismantling the machine and utilizing lathe work to rectify the trouble.

Another point of friction is at the brushes. If they are pressed in too firmly they rub harder than is necessary. They should be fitted smoothly so as to give the full area of electrical contact, then excessive pressure will not be required. They should be only tight enough to make good contact and prevent sparking or flashing. When carbon brushes are working properly the metal surface on which they rub becomes finely polished and wears down very slowly. This is particularly noticeable in the case of copper commutators on direct current machines.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CELERY

"How do you feel this morning, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she entered the room where the bunny gentleman was just finishing his breakfast.

"Why, I feel very fine," answered the bunny. "Have you a reason for asking?"

"I thought perhaps on account of skating yesterday, for the first time this season, you might be a little lame and stiff," went on the muskrat lady housekeeper. "If so, I wouldn't ask you to go on an errand for me."

"Oh, I'm all right!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "It is the Wolf who must be lame and stiff. I'll let him take my skates, but—ho! ho!—he fell down and he—ha! ha!—he bumped his nose. Oh, it was funny—that is, for me; not for the Wolf. But I can do any errand you'd like me to, Nurse Jane," said Mr. Longears. "What is it you want?"

"It is getting nearly time for Thanksgiving," said the muskrat lady, "and we ought to have our celery in, if we are to put some on the table for the Thanksgiving dinner."

"Oh, we surely must have celery!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Thanksgiving wouldn't be Thanksgiving without celery and cranberry sauce. How about the cranberries?"

"I have those," spoke Nurse Jane. "All you need to get is the celery."

"I know where I can get celery stalks," said Uncle Wiggily as he reached for his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, for he felt a little pain in his left hind leg. "I'll hop over to the farm of the kind farmer who gives me carrots and lettuce," said the bunny. "He said I could take some of his celery any time I wanted it."

"That's fine!" declared Nurse Jane.

So Uncle Wiggily, with a basket on his paw, started off over the fields and through the woods to the farm where the celery grew. There were long rows of stalks buried in the brown earth so they would bleach out fine and white. Uncle Wiggily began to pull some, stopping now and then to nibble a crisp, white stalk.

"Oh, this will be just wonderful with the Thanksgiving dinner that Nurse Jane will cook," thought the rabbit uncle as he filled his basket.

All of a sudden there was a rustling in the bushes beside the celery patch and Uncle Wiggily got ready to run.

"I guess this is the Bob Cat or the Fox!" thought the bunny.

But it was only Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy.

"Oh, hello, Uncle Wiggily!" barked Jackie, who also had a basket. "You're after celery for Thanksgiving and so am I. But you want to be careful when you go home, Uncle Wiggily!" warned Jackie.

"Why?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Because," whispered Jackie, looking behind him, "as I was coming over here I saw the old Bob Cat sneaking around, and he looked very hungry—oh, very hungry indeed!"

"Thanks for telling me," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll be careful." He finished filling his basket with the celery stalks, green on top and white below, and then, as Jackie began filling his Thanksgiving basket, Uncle Wiggily started back toward his hollow stump bungalow.

The bunny gentleman had not gone very far before, all of a sudden, as he looked behind him, he saw, running after him, the Bob Cat!

"Jackie was right!" thought Uncle Wiggily, "here comes that bad chap! Oh, I wonder how I can get away from him? I can't run fast because I have the rheumatism, and there isn't any place to hide." For just then Uncle Wiggily was on an open place, with no bushes or trees near.

Then the bunny looked at his basket of celery stalks with their green leaves.

"Ha! I have an idea!" cried the rabbit. "I'll stick some of the celery stalks in the ground like a lot of bushes, and then I'll crouch down and hide in the midst of them."

No sooner said that than! Uncle Wiggily punched holes in the ground with his rheumatism crutch. In each hole he stuck a stalk of celery, forming a circle. Then Uncle Wiggily got inside the circle of bushy celery stalks and stretched out flat on the ground. Up the Bob Cat came running, gnashing his teeth gurgly like, "Where's that rabbit? Where's that rabbit?" howled the Bob Cat. "I saw him down here a little while ago, but now I can't see him. I can't even smell him—all I smell is celery, and all I see is celery! I can't eat celery! I want rabbit ears!"

Just then Uncle Wiggily tossed a stone out from inside the temporary celery patch where he was hidden, and the stone hit the Bob Cat on the nose.

"Ouchie! wouchie!" howled the Bob Cat, and away he ran. "The celery is throwing stones at me—it must be magical!" he howled as he ran faster.

"Ha! ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then he pulled up the celery, put it back in his basket and hopped safely to the bungalow. And how Nurse Name laughed when she heard what had happened.

And if the Jumping Jack doesn't try to paint the Noah's Ark green with red paint I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the cookies.

Los Angeles Admits It Has Nothing To Offer To Glendale

As in the case of other similar districts of any size, it would be necessary for the district of Glendale to provide the trunk line connection from the reservoir to its territory either alone or jointly with any other territory that now or in the future might require service from the same source.

The present distributing system of the city would be taken over by the water department of Los Angeles and administered with the balance of the system which it would then become a part of.

GLENDALE'S ANSWER—"It would be necessary for the district of Glendale to provide the trunk line connection from the reservoir, etc." Query—Why don't they tell us how much this would cost?

"The present pump supply would undoubtedly have to be employed until such time as more economic and abundant source of gravity water would be connected. When and how much would it cost?"

"The present distributing system of the city will be taken over by the Water Department of Los Angeles." FREE, but WE pay for anything we get from them.

Third—Can we obtain aid to abrogate the present system of tolls for telephone?

The telephone company being a privately owned utility, is amendable to the control of the state railroad commission. There is, therefore, nothing of definite character that we could assure in the way of eliminating the present tolls.

We can, however, assure you that assistance will be given through the legal department of the city of Los Angeles in presenting to the state railroad commission a petition requesting that the objectionable toll system now in vogue in your territory be eliminated. The result of such action on the part of the city of Los Angeles would be problematical but, undoubtedly would, to some extent at least, tend to relieve the present situation.

GLENDALE'S ANSWER—Fred Deane, manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, says:

"Annexation of Glendale to Los Angeles will NOT result in having the telephone toll removed. The toll is under the jurisdiction of the state railroad commission. The towns of Palms, San Pedro, Wilmington, Culver City, Sawtelle, Van Nuys and Oxnard, which have been annexed to Los Angeles, still pay a telephone toll. The same will hold true for Glendale if annexed."

Fourth—Can rates be fixed for gas, water and electricity no higher than for Los Angeles?

In reference to gas rates, your attention is called to the fact that, as in the case of telephone rates, this matter is within the jurisdiction of the state railroad commission. There is, therefore, nothing definite that we can advise concerning this matter, exception, however, as in the case of the telephone toll situation.

Officials of the city of Los Angeles would deem it their duty upon the request of the citizens of Glendale, in the event of consolidation of Glendale, to present to the state railroad commission through the legal department of the city, the question of discrimination of rates as between that portion of the city embraced within the present boundaries of Glendale and other portions of the city of Los Angeles.

Rates for water and electricity would be the same in all parts of the city.

GLENDALE'S ANSWER—They admit with truth that nothing can be done for us with reference to reduction of gas or telephone rates. As to water and electricity, citizens of Glendale now enjoy, on the average, cheaper domestic rates than the citizens of Los Angeles. The comparative water rates have been frequently published and here they are again:

"The officials of the City of Los Angeles would deem it their duty to present to the State Railroad commission the question of discrimination of rates, etc." THEY HAVE TRIED THIS ALREADY REPEATEDLY AND HAVE BEEN TURNED DOWN.

Fifth—Will we receive aid in obtaining a more equitable rate for car fares?

The matter suggested by your fifth question also is subject to the jurisdiction of the state railroad commission and in the future handling of the rates for car fare the officials of the city of Los Angeles would be guided by the same motives of public duty as in the case of the telephone toll and gas rates and would, upon the request of citizens in the territory of Glendale, make the proper representation to the railroad commission concerning the railroad rate schedule.

GLENDALE'S ANSWER—The letter from Frank Karr, vice-president of the Pacific Electric Railway company, herewith fully answers this question. Positively no relief could be expected from Los Angeles and they do not even claim that they could give us any relief in the matter of railroad fares.

On the contrary, however, when the City of Glendale went before the Los Angeles Board of Public Utilities with an application for a permit to operate a bus line with terminal facilities in the City of Los Angeles, THE APPLICATION WAS TURNED DOWN COLD. WHY? Pacific Electric Railway Co., Los Angeles, Cal., November 22, 1922.

Judge F. H. Lowe, Glendale, Cal. Dear Sir:

In response to your inquiry concerning the method of establishing railroad passenger rates in California, desire to state the law of California provides that all charges shall be just and reasonable, and the Railroad Commission of the State of California is authorized to determine what rates are just and reasonable.

In determining what is a just and reasonable rate, several things are considered, among which are the cost of service, the kind of service, the distance of the service and what the service is reasonably worth to the user thereof.

On the Pacific Electric Railway all interstate passenger rates are established upon a mileage basis. Street car rates are established in zones, based upon the average ride of all the riders in the particular zone. This latter method is necessary because on street car service it is not practicable to charge a separate and distinct rate of fare for each particular distance any passenger might ride, because of the volume of the travel and the inconvenience and impossibility of applying such a rate.

The service rendered by the Pacific Electric Railway company to Glendale is established upon a mileage basis, the rate being as follows:

One-way fares, 2.75 cents per mile. Round-trip fares, 2.25 cents per mile. 10-ride commutation fares, 2.0 cents per mile. 30-ride family fares, 1.75 cents per mile.

Individual calendar month 1.2 cents to 0.9 cents per mile, depending upon distance. 60-ride, 40-day individual ticket 1.38 cents per mile to 1.035 cents per mile, depending on the distance. Calendar month individual, except Sunday, at 10 per cent less than the calendar month rate.

Passenger rates are established without reference to city boundaries. If all of the territory between Los Angeles and Long Beach was annexed to the City of Los Angeles that fact would make no difference in the passenger rates established. If the City of Glendale was annexed to the City of Los Angeles it would make no difference in the passenger fares. The passenger fare between Los Angeles and Glendale will always be established by the Railroad Commission, and be what an impartial investigation and survey will reveal to be just and reasonable and non-discriminatory.

When the cities of San Pedro, Wilmington, Culver City and Hollywood were annexed to the City of Los Angeles there was, in each instance, considerable talk that the railroad passenger rates would be lower after such consolidation. All such statements were unfounded and made without justification. There was no reduction of rates after such consolidation, and there can be none after such consolidation by Glendale, unless, after a full review of the entire situation, the commission should be of the opinion that a lower rate would be a just and reasonable rate, in which instance such lower rate would be applied, not only to Glendale, but to all other points on the system of Pacific Electric in proportion to the relative distance of such point from Los Angeles.

Yours truly, (Signed) FRANK KARR.

Sixth—Will offices be established for the payment of water, electricity, etc.?

Glendale is geographically a well defined unit that calls for local conveniences similar to those provided to other outlying sections of the city. In keeping, therefore, with the policy heretofore, adopted in such cases, it would be the plan of our several departments such as the city clerk, the building department, the police department, etc., to maintain branch offices in the Glendale district.

GLENDALE'S ANSWER—Will Glendale be satisfied with the same kind of service in this respect that is given to other portions of the San Fernando Valley with the city limits of Los Angeles at the present time? We think not.

Seventh—Can any government similar to the borough system be agreed upon? Can you give us a definite plan of it?

We can only reply that the present charter of Los Angeles does not provide for the borough system. The closest approach available at present is through the medium of the municipal bond act under which any given district of the municipality may undertake any venture allowable to the city as a whole.

Beyond this we can only say that the question of borough government or some modification thereof intended to best meet the local needs is a matter constantly under discussion and undoubtedly one that will soon have to be provided.

GLENDALE'S ANSWER—We understand that at the last state election the people repudiated the municipal bond act above referred to.

Eighth—What police protection?

Of the total tax resources of the city, a certain stipulated amount is made available for police protection. This provides for a certain number of police officers that are distributed throughout the municipality in such numbers as to care for what we term, the social hazard.

In keeping with this policy and as an indication of the distribution there are at present assigned to the Sawtelle district twenty officers, to Hollywood district nineteen officers, and to San Pedro district fifty-five officers. Undoubtedly the same ratio would be employed in assignments to Glendale.

In this connection we might also say that the same general policy applies to fire protection, utilizing, however, the fire hazards as the basis upon which equipment is distributed.

GLENDALE'S ANSWER—So far as we know, the city of Los Angeles has furnished two policemen for the entire portion of the San Fernando Valley within the corporate limits. If this would constitute police protection for Glendale, we can obtain this only by discharging twenty-six of our present officers.

Ninth—State policy as to development of local parks and playgrounds? There has been no definite policy in the past other than to maintain such parks now existing and to secure additional ones when possible. More recently, however, in connection with greater consideration given to new subdivisions, and their containing an adequate amount of playgrounds, the City Planning program direct attention has been given to this subject with the result that several additions have been made to the park system of the present city and a consistent policy is now in process of development.

GLENDALE'S ANSWER—In other words they are asking us to take over Glendale's city parks without any compensation to us. An exceedingly munificent offer.

Tenth—Suitable boulevard connection with Griffith park? Also street car connection by extension of Pacific Electric via Broadway or some other suitable route.

Through co-operation with the officials and citizens of Glendale, the City of Los Angeles has already determined upon the extension of Colorado boulevard as the best direct connection with Griffith park and our projected Riverside Drive, direct for which right-of-way through the City of Los Angeles has been secured.

As to that part of your question dealing with street car connections, we can assure you that, in line with the policy now being pursued by the City of Los Angeles itself to secure adequate and proper street car railroad service throughout the outlying districts of the city, that necessary and proper street car service and connections in the Glendale district in the event of consolidation will be urged and every effort made to secure such service.

GLENDALE'S ANSWER—How can the City of Los Angeles compel the Pacific Electric to make an extension in case this railroad does not desire to do so. This is simply the "bunk." As to boulevards, if they build any more boulevards similar to that portion of Glendale Boulevard within the city limits, it will not constitute much of an asset for our people. When conditions became intolerable on Glendale Boulevard in the vicinity of Edendale, the city of Los Angeles claimed they had no funds with which to repair this boulevard. The county board of Supervisors finally agreed to furnish county funds for this municipal purpose. No doubt they would do the same for Glendale upon proper representations.

Eleventh—Will you explain briefly the occupational tax? That in addition to the regular tax rate fixed by the charter of the City of Los Angeles, the charter provides in subdivision 21 or section 2 thereof that the city may license and regulate under general and uniform laws any lawful business or calling. In pursuance of such section, some two years ago the council of the City of Los Angeles adopted an ordinance commonly known as the "Occupational License" Ordinance, which fixed a license tax on all occupation and businesses in the City of Los Angeles based either on a flat rate or schedule as applied to the control to be most reasonable having in mind the character of such business or occupation and the means derived therefrom were primarily used to give a more adequate police and fire protection to the City of Los Angeles.

This ordinance is uniform in its operation and has been sustained by the superior court of the State of California. GLENDALE'S ANSWER—The heavy occupational tax now being paid by every merchant or business man in the city of Los Angeles was figured at an amount equal to that lost by the closing of the saloons in that city. This burden was shifted directly from the shoulders of the saloons to the business men of the city of Los Angeles. Do our merchants deserve this burden here?

Twelfth—This is your supplemental question concerning temporary sewer facilities for the business section of Glendale. In answer to your supplemental question concerning temporary sewer facilities for the business district of Glendale, we can assure you that assuming the citizens of Glendale are desirous of having an adequate and proper sewerage system at the earliest moment possible that undoubtedly within the period of twelve months after consolidation between Glendale and the City of Los Angeles is accomplished, proper and adequate sewerage system connecting the Glendale business district with the Los Angeles sewerage system can be constructed.

As above stated, this would assume practically unanimous support on behalf of this project by the citizens of Glendale in forming a district to be benefited thereby and by assessment of property therein for the cost of said disposal, which either could be paid immediately or advantage could be taken on the issuance of bonds giving a period of ten years to pay the same.

At this time we desire to call your attention to the well-defined policy of the City of Los Angeles, that in the event of consolidation with a city of any outside territory, such consolidation is always conditional upon the particular territory assuming its pro rata of the pending indebtedness of the City of Los Angeles for certain bond issues, the results of which would be equally valuable to such territory.

This includes the issues for the aqueduct, harbor, power, library, outfall sewer and the fire bonds issued at the recent election. The outstanding municipal issues of Glendale would continue a liability to that section. In connection with the pro rata assumption of indebtedness concerning the aqueduct and power bonds, we desire to call your attention to the fact that at the present time, all of the interest and sinking funds required for the payment of the outstanding power bonds is now being paid in full by the Bureau of Power and Light from the earnings of that department.

Your attention is further called to the fact that the interest and sinking fund on the outstanding aqueduct bonds, together with all of the interest and sinking fund necessary to pay off the water bonds recently voted, is now being paid by the Bureau of Water Works & Supply from the revenues of that department.

The exceptions to these are outstanding school bonds. Upon consolidation, the Glendale school system would become a part of the Los Angeles school district which latter assumes the bonded indebtedness of the district absorbed.

We would note in passing that in the consideration of the above mentioned bond issues provision is made for same in the tax rate of Los Angeles which was used in comparison with the tax rate of Glendale in the recently submitted statement of taxes and bond issues.

We trust that the above covers adequately the subject matter of your questionaire. GLENDALE'S ANSWER—You will note that they state that the sewerage system connecting the Glendale business district with Los Angeles CAN be constructed. They carefully refrain from saying it WILL be and as usual refrain from stating the cost. One thing is clear and evident, that the business men of Glendale would assume the pro rata for the bonded indebtedness of the city of Los Angeles for adequate harbor, library, sewer and fire bonds. Why not tell us the amount?

They state that the interest in sinking funds on the light and water bonds is now being paid by the Bureau of Power and Light from the revenues of those departments. They have nothing at all on us. Glendale is doing this same thing and has been for years, but in greater proportion. Conclusion. Stripping away the sugar coating on the pill, what is it that they really offer us? They offer us the opportunity of making them a present of a million and a half dollars' worth of city property and the opportunity of assuming a huge but unattractive share of their own bonded indebtedness. Any other promises, if such there be, which might be considered of future value to this city, could not be enforced even if made.

Largest Floating Dock in World Is the Plan SOUTHAMPTON—The world's largest floating dock will shortly be located in Southampton. For its construction a contract for over five million dollars has been given to Armstrong, Whitworth & company. But this is only part of a vast improvement scheme which the London & Southwestern railroad is planning for the port. The aim is to make Southampton the greatest rendezvous for ships in the world. The cost, including these other improvements, will not be much less than twenty-five millions. The dock about to be constructed will be in commission a year from now. It will accommodate ships up to 60,000 tons burden. Built of steel, it will be held in position by four large steel mooring booms, attached to large concrete "dolphins." About 950 feet long and 134 feet wide, it will be approached from the present docks by a pair of foot bridges. Southampton has six dry docks, but only one can accommodate liners of the size of the Aquitania, Olympic and Berengaria. The Majestic, which has a docking weight of 52,500 tons, cannot be dry-docked here under present conditions, but, after the alterations, it will be possible to lower the floating dock to thirty-eight feet below the water level. The ship will ride in the water, will be pumped out and the vessel, high and dry, will be ready for the painters and repairers to walk under her. Dredging for the site of this monster dock will be as deep as sixty feet and will involve the clearing of 80,000 tons of mud. To pump the sea water out of the floating dock and "lift" a vessel of the Majestic class will take about four hours.

Atlanta, Ga.—It is the observation of Mrs. J. Scott Parrish of Richmond, Va., and president of the city's Y. W. C. A., that the girl of a score of years ago got just as much pleasure out of exceeding the social speed limit as does the girl of today, and that at heart she was just as biased and just as many chances as the modern girl with bobbed hair and never-tiring vivacity.

"Inwardly the girl of twenty years ago loved all the things our modern girl does. She took just as many chances, but she was less open about it and consequently 'got by' as we would say today," declared Mrs. Parrish in an interview here, where she was attending the Southern conference of the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Parrish, who is a mother, said she could not agree with the popular version regarding the present generation. "But our bobbed hair, never-tiring vivacious girl of today will be the mother of tomorrow and she will make a good one. I cannot believe otherwise.

"I have all confidence in our happy-go-lucky, frank and above-board girl of today," continued Mrs. Parrish. "She has so many virtues that typify the real American girl."

Air Association In Development Project

WASHINGTON.—The National Aeronautic association of the United States of America, organized at the National Aero congress recently held in Detroit, is to have headquarters in Washington, with Col. Harold E. Hartney as general manager. Its statement says:

Men and women from all walks of life are now coming in an association which sponsors and fosters the science of aeronautics—a self-governing and self-supporting body—free from any influence which can be criticized as being in the interest of any one branch of public and individual activity.

The general scheme of organization provides for a strong national headquarters, from which will emanate the control of policies and finances. Local activities will be conducted through the medium of districts—nine in number. Each district will have its own headquarters, with a district manager and staff.

The district organizations will make direct contact with the general public through flying clubs, air boards and civic clubs and associations. Thus the National Aeronautic association will reach every nook and corner of the land and those which will be set forth in effective fashion.

In order to develop the industry it is deemed advisable to determine what part of the economic life of the nation and to settle the business of air navigation on the basis of increased speed in communication and transportation at a moderate cost. This done, the demand for the industry will naturally follow.

Uses Dummy Figure As Image of Wife
BOSTON—Ever since his wife left him more than seven years ago a strange dummy figure of a woman has been the sole "wife" companion of Louis Vitale, a "Groovy" Shoemaker, of Grove street, in the West End.

Vitale learned the cobblers' trade at the age of nine in Italy. As a very young man he came to this country, the land of "great things." He went to work immediately upon landing with a fellow-countryman in East Boston. After being there a short time he opened a shop in Grove street.

While attending a dance in the North End he met the girl, "flower of Italy," who later became his wife. Business went bad and the wife fled, taking their three young boys with her.

The shoemaker, outwardly all smiles, but inwardly bearing a great sorrow, substituted a dummy image of his wife in the place of her home, upon which he lavishes his affections, hoping that some time his wife would come back and bring him the greatest happiness.

Metal Trade Brisk In Columbia County
HARRISBURG, Pa.—Metals and metal products turned out by industries in Columbia county, Pennsylvania, last year had a value of $16,635,500, slightly more than half of the total value of all products of industrial plants in the county. Total industrial production in the county amounted to $32,199,700. James F. Woodward, secretary of International affairs, announced today in making public the result of a survey by the department's bureau of statistics and information.

The Warwick Iron Works of Harrisburg plants were responsible for the greater part of the production, those in Berwick turning out $14,215,900 worth and those in Bloomsburg, $10,660,700 worth. The county's total output in the entire county, employing 6288 persons, who received combined wages of $7,369,900. The capital invested in Columbia County's industry was $18,665,900.

U. C. V. Ranks Are Thinning Rapidly
WASHINGTON—Only 75,000 Confederate veterans out of more than a million who fought for the south during the civil war are now living, according to statistics compiled by Colonel Francis M. Burrows of the staff of General Julian S. Carr, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans.

Texas leads in the number of surviving veterans, with 14,969 on the pension rolls and 256 in homes. North Carolina and Arkansas stand next, with 9909 pensioners and 105 and 109, respectively, in homes.

Horse Shot by Wish of Dead Man's Will

BIG AEROPLANE PLANT PROPOSED

Glendale Will Be Scene of Aerial Transportation Development, Belief

(Continued from Page 1) W. Hunt, who is now deceased, and Dr. T. C. Young. Automobiles were looked upon as an expensive luxury and the fact that almost every family would own one before the lapse of another twelve years would have been regarded as ridiculous.

In the opinion of Dr. Young, the adoption of the airplane as a means of travel will parallel to a certain extent the development of automobile transportation. He looks forward to see the airplane come into its own as a passenger carrier. Because of the speed with which the airplane can get from place to place, he expects to see the airplane recognized as a leading method of making long journeys by passengers to whom speed is an object. Just as the business man, whose time is valuable, would not think of traveling by a stage coach, when he can take an express train, Dr. Young believes that so in a few years the same busy business man will take an express plane in preference to the fastest express train on the terra firma.

Such an opinion is not without foundation. Aerial transportation companies are now operating with great success in Europe. Thousands of passengers travel each year by airplane to various places on the Continent. The business man of London thinks nothing of a flight across the English Channel to have lunch in Paris or tea in Berlin.

Considering the youth of this method of transportation and comparing it with the same stage in the development of rail transportation, accidents are very rare. It has been pointed out that most accidents occur to aviators who are doing stunts. Fares are somewhat higher than those by rail but the quicker service makes them worth more and it is believed by those familiar with the situation that sooner or later the aerial transportation companies will be able to quote much lower rates and compete with rail and steamship lines to advantage.

Doctor Buys Aeroplane
The delights of aeroplaning will never be known to those who insist on obeying the force of gravity and remaining upon the ground, according to Dr. Young. He says that there is as much comparison between automobiling and aeroplaning as there is between bicycling and motorizing.

As proof of his belief that a man does not have to be a professional aviator to enjoy aeroplaning, Dr. Young has just purchased an airplane for his own use. This is a Curtiss plane made for the government during the war and since auctioned off with hundreds of its mates.

Originally it cost Uncle Sam $6,000. Dr. Young states that he is ashamed to tell how much he paid for it, but admits that it was considerable bargain. It is now on a wharf at San Diego where it will remain until it is brought to Glendale. For the past year, Dr. Young has been learning the science of aviation and has been making almost weekly airplane trips from Rogers Field in Los Angeles.

Glendale Air Smooth
The air over Glendale is the smoothest and best of any town that he has passed over yet," he remarked. "Anyway that you come over Glendale you find an even air current."

Because of this air condition, Dr. Young considers Glendale as an ideal location for an airplane factory. He called attention to the fact that all planes must be carefully tested before being shipped from the factory and that there is plenty of space in this vicinity for a testing field.

Definite negotiations are under way to secure an airplane factory or, at least, an assembly plant in this community. Dr. Young stated yesterday that he was not at liberty to divulge the name of the company, but expressed optimism over the outcome of the negotiations.

Because of the excellent air conditions in Glendale, Dr. Young believes that the community within a few years may become the headquarters for an aerial transportation company which will have planes traveling to all points of southern California. Passengers from Los Angeles and nearby suburbs will travel to and from the aviation field by buses.

Municipal Field
The importance of securing a municipal landing field is emphasized by Dr. Young. He commented on the fact that many communities of southern California already have air-ports and make aviators welcome.

As to where this aviation field should be located, Dr. Young has not decided definitely, but believes that it should be somewhere between San Fernando road and the Los Angeles river and between Park avenue and Stocker street. He has approached Glendale by airplane from the southeast, the southwest and the northeast and each way he found air currents ideal. However, he has found the air somewhat better along the river.

Failing to establish such an airport, Glendale will fail to prove an attraction for aviators. Unless a landing field is provided for them, they will be obliged to continue on their flight.

"Yes," remarked Dr. Young, "Glendale air is not only the best to breathe, but the best to travel on, also."

THINKS OIL TOLL MAY KEEP STATE

Rich Field Just Opened Next California Land Might Sustain Government

SACRAMENTO — The recent discovery of oil in the vicinity of the Norwalk state hospital, which is located about twenty miles from Los Angeles, may result in the state reaping a revenue from its property which would nearly pay the upkeep of the state government, it became generally known here recently.

Gilbert B. Daniels, chairman of the state board of control, declared that the hospital property is believed to be rich in oil deposits.

Several oil companies already have made overtures to the board of control to secure a lease on the property, Daniels said. He denied reports to the effect that offers of purchase have been made public, however. The capitalists who are dickering for the land have offered to lease it on a royalty basis.

Near State Property
Oil was discovered in the neighborhood of the state hospital property several months ago. The new oil fields, located in what is known as the Santa Fe Springs district, have brought in gushers yielding from 4000 to 7000 barrels per day. Some of the derricks are within a few feet of the state's property.

The Norwalk hospital property comprises about 337 acres, and because the land is low and wet the state has been much criticized at various times for purchasing the land.

Because of the possibilities that lie in state property it is believed that the board of control will refuse to take the responsibility of leasing or selling the property, leaving its disposal up to the next legislature.

Gardener Gets Rich
One of the strangest indications of the wealth that the state has by mere chance come into possession of is found in the case of John Dow, gardener at the hospital.

Dow, who receives a salary of $90 per month from the state, recently bought a few acres in the vicinity of the hospital. Since the discovery of oil, the land, for which he paid but a few dollars per acre, has been leased by him to an oil company on a one-sixth royalty basis. The production of the wells on these acres is returning him $500 a day, or an average of $182,500 per year. Despite his sudden acquirement of riches, Dow still insists on keeping his state job at $90 per month.

The oil which is being taken from the new fields near the state property is said to be of fine quality and is selling for $1.45 per barrel, according to reports received here.

Valuable Property
Oil experts who have examined the state property declare it is one of the most valuable pieces of property in the district.

Many state officials here are of the opinion that the legislature will decide to retain the property for the state, thereby making possible the largest return of the treasury on oil that may be found.

This Woman Didn't Wait for Suffrage

AKRON, O.—Mrs. M. C. Spear, of Akron, was enjoying woman's rights long before the average woman awakened to her possibilities. For thirty-six years she has been employed by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company, twenty years of which she spent as agent at Shawnee, Ohio. Six months ago she was transferred to Botzville, where she now presides as passenger, freight and ticket agent, telegraph operator and baggage smasher.

Judge Makes Ruling On Etiquette Laws

YORK—That it is not etiquette for a man to speak to an unknown lady in a train has just been formally declared by the magistrates of this city.

Felix Roberts of Newcastle had dinner in the smoking portion of a buffet and afterwards went into a non-smoking carriage, where Miss Monstaglio of Whitley Bay, was sitting.

He attempted to open up a conversation with her, but, resenting this, she complained to the conductor, who asked Roberts to go back to the smoking section. But, later in the journey, Roberts made a second attempt to make the lady's acquaintance and he was arrested.

"I have done nothing unbecoming to a gentleman," he declared before the court. "In the book of etiquette of 1922 I can prove that a gentleman can approach a lady and speak to her."

But, despite the book of etiquette Roberts was heavily fined.

Teachers Kick on Time Questionnaire

DETROIT—Defiant and indignant that they should be asked to explain how they pass their non-working hours, many teachers in Detroit high schools are said to have refused to answer a questionnaire which has been submitted to them.

The report, which principals are collecting, will be sent to C. O. Davis, secretary of the North Central association of colleges and secondary schools, Ann Arbor.

Among the questions which have excited the ire of numerous teachers are:

- "A" In physical recreation?
- "B" In social recreation?
- "C" In unexpressed professional study?
- "D" In purely cultured activities?
- "E" In religious and charitable activities?
- "F" In civic activities?
- "G" In purely personal activities other than those listed?

Boys Predominate In Birth Epidemic

ELYRIA, Ohio.—An epidemic of births has hit the hamlet of Henrietta, in the western part of Lorain county. Citizens are alarmed. All the births are boys. In a one-day record breaker Claude Unger, Robert Wyler and Albert Swiers, all neighbors, became 'papas.'

The Kansas City man who began life as a poor boy, now owes $2,709.461.

The story deals with the adventures of Little Otter, an Indian.

THEATRES

The Glendale

"Burn 'Em Up Barnes," with Johnny Hines, a fast-moving auto comedy, comes to the Glendale theatre today. Comparatively few comedy offerings of this season have been fortunate enough to attract the attention this picture has gained for itself.

"Oddly enough," explains Manager William Howe, "the appeal of 'Burn 'Em Up Barnes' is not confined to one class of amusement-seekers. There is love enough in it, deftly intertwined with many thrilling incidents, to make it appealing to those who like sentiment. There is comedy enough in it to make even the cynic laugh. And it certainly uses the speed and the whirlwind finish to make those fond of sensations experience prickles of pure joy all up and down their spines."

The T. D. & L.

"The Greenwich Village Girl Revue," a jazz, musical extravaganza with eight beautiful and talented examples of feminine winsomeness, is only one of the attractions at the T. D. & L. theatre today. Besides this specially vaudeville act, there are also offered Buster Keaton's newest scream-comedy, "Cops" and May McAvoy's instantaneous Paramount feature success, "The Top of New York."

Manager Ralph Allan feels that it would be difficult indeed to assemble at one theatre for a single entertainment a stronger program. "It's some show!" he announces with pride, "and the admission price has not been raised."

The girl revue will come on at 3:30, 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock, Friday and Saturday.

CHURCH, SCHOOLS AFLOAT IN CHINA

Missionary Organization Has Novel Methods to Aid Thousands of Poor

By EDNA LEE BOOKER.
For International News Service.
CANTON—Floating churches where religious services are held, floating schools and dispensaries, are features of the missionary work carried on by the South China Boat Mission among the thousands of Chinese who live on house boats in South China.

Canton has perhaps the largest boat population of any city in the world, as there are 84,000 boats of every description registered in the office of the Harbor Commissioner. This represents approximately 400,000 people.

The South China Boat Mission began its work with the boat people in 1909, and the work has grown until at the present there are eight gospel boats supported by the mission in the Kwantung Province. Five of these boats operate at Canton, one at Kongmoon, one at Shichow and one at Yingtak. In Canton church services are held every Sunday morning, as well as through the week on the gospel boats, which weave their way through the labyrinth of boats of every description.

Always Moving Afloat.
A small boat is used as a dispensary and is under the direction of a Chinese physician, while another boat is converted into a boarding school for boys and another into a school for girls. The boat schools must be boarding schools, as the boat people move about constantly, and the pupils could not attend regularly otherwise. There are eighteen boys attending the boys' school and about the same number of girls enrolled in the boarding school for girls. There are also many day pupils.

The boat people are very clanish. They have a dialect of their own; they seldom go on land, do not mingle with the "land people," are very superstitious and are uneducated. Practically the only way in which the missionary can reach them is to secure a boat and go out and live among them.

"MORAL REVIVAL" NEEW OF WORLD

Teachings of Christ Must Guide Awakening, Says Viscount Astor

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.
LONDON—World codes must be revived in conformity with the teachings of Christ, according to Viscount Astor, if Christianity is not to become a failure.

The world is disturbed by new points of view regarding the position of women, class distinction, the movement against alcoholism, the relations of capital and labor, the brotherhood of man. Hosts of citizens are challenging these new advances, the Viscount said.

America is now in the midst of a great moral struggle that may influence the trend of Christianity, the Viscount said. America gave up intoxicants, but as with many a man who has done likewise, the American people are experiencing a moral struggle as to whether or not they are able to carry out their resolution. The cause of Christianity must be affected one way or another by the result of this struggle.

Says France Drawback
France is a drawback to the progression of Christianity, the Viscount indicated.

"France," he says, "seems often very materialistic. Woman's outlook, which is usually more moral and spiritual than man's, has but little influence on French national policy.

"On the whole French opinion, even in the provinces, considers man to be a sensual animal, and expects the government to make unchastity as safe for him as possible."

Throughout the world, as in France, temperance and chastity are challenged, the Viscount said, but Christianity has not failed.

Fearless Leadership
"What the world needs now is fearless leadership and honest thinking. Democracy and Christianity have not failed where and when they have been properly tried. Christianity has not failed. It cannot have failed, because it has not been really tried, fully applied and understood.

"Democracy is not wrong, because we are not yet able or willing to apply the ideas of the brotherhood of man.

There are indications of an awakening or resurrection from materialism, selfishness, self-indulgence and thoughtlessness, the awakening of our common conscience on the traffic in women and children, on the deception of alcohol, on slums and war.

All these are hopeful signs that we are striving to arise out of mere selfish physical enjoyment and are indications of vitality and progress."

Juveniles Wed and Get Court's Okeh

WESTFIELD, Mass.—This city boasts of the youngest, married couple in western Massachusetts and possibly in the state. The combined years of the couple who have just been married are only thirty-two. The bride is Belvidera E. Larrow, aged fifteen, and the bridegroom is Arthur S. Hucksins, aged seventeen. They were married by special consent of probate court.
