Mr. WADELL. Mr. Speaker, I only desire to say that there are parties here who feel an interest in this matter, and they desire that the House shall not repeal this act without allowing them to at least have a hearing before a committee. My attention was called to this matter by a letter which I received since I came into the House. I only make this suggestion to give the House information in regard to the matter without having any desire to interfere with it personally.

Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I am confident that there are forty-nine out of every fifty interested in this matter that are in favor of repealing this bill. I hope the House will indulge me in that matter, and allow the bill to pass at this time.

Mr. ROUSH. Mr. Speaker, I have just received a remonstrance in regard to this matter protesting against the repeal of this bill. I therefore move that the bill be referred to the appropriate committee.

Mr. COLVILLE. Mr. Speaker, I am very credibly informed that the gentleman who was present, and engineered the first bill through, is now here protesting against this repeal. This bill passed through both Houses, and was signed by the Governor, without giving the other parties interested very bad grace to ask this matter to be relay notice of it, and I say that it comes now in referred to a committee for investigation. The parties in the one case ought to stand the same chance as in the other.

Mr. WADELL. Mr. Speaker, I do not understand the remarks of the gentleman when he says it comes in bad grace for me to ask this matter to be referred to a committee. I have no personal interest in this matter. I only suggested to the House that I had received a letter since coming into my seat stating that the parties opposed to repealing the bill desired the whole thing should be referred to a committee of the House. I know nothing about the merits or demerits of the case at all, but I deemed it my duty to present to the House the information I had in reference to it.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. There is nothing before the House.

The SPEAKER. The first thing in order is the reading of the bill.
The bill was read first, second and third times, agreed to, and

Passed finally.

Mr. DeHAVEN presented the following report from a committee of conference:

Mr. DeHAVEN, from the committee of conference appointed to consider the points of difference between the two Houses on Senate bill No. 143, entitled An act to divide the Twenty-first ward into two wards, and to create the Twenty-eighth ward, report that they recommend, in lieu of the Senate amendment to the House amendment, the adoption of the following, viz:

"And the city commissioners shall, immediately after the passage of this act, divide east of the said Twenty-first and Twenty-eighth wards into not less than eight election divisions."

(Signed) GEO. DeHAVEN,
DAVID WALLACE,
Geo. A. QUIGLEY,
On behalf of the House.
Geo. CONNELL,
JNO. WALLS,
JAMES L. GRAHAM,
On behalf of the Senate.

The question being on agreeing to the report, It was

Agreed to.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I move a suspension of the orders to read a bill in place.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I call for a division of the question.

Mr. RICHARDS. I withdraw my motion.
Mr. BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution.

The resolution was read as follows:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Clerk of the House of Representatives be authorized to amend House bill No. 253, entitled as follows, viz: A further supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Carbon- dale, by striking out the words "fourth Fri- day," wherever it occurs, and inserting in lieu the words "third Friday."

The question being on agreeing to the reso- lution, It was

Agreed to.

Mr. ADAIRE. Mr. Speaker, I have a resolution I would like to offer and I ask that it may be read for information.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read for the information of the House.

The resolution was read as follows:

Resolved, That the Clerk of this House be instructed to procure three thousand copies of the Legislative Hand-book for the members of the House.

The question being on the suspension of the rules to allow the resolution to be intro- duced,

Objection was made.

So it was not

Agreed to.
Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to present two petitions.

No objection being made the petitions were presented and read, and were as follows:

The question being on suspending the rules to allow the bill to be read a third time by its title.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have this bill amended. I was requested by the parties interested to object the bill off the calendar, but parties on the other side of the House objected the bill off, and I did not know that the member who objected it off had withdrawn his objection. I am not prepared to make the amendment now, and I desire that the bill should go over for one week, as if it had gone over with the objected bills, and come up on the calendar again at that time.

I make that motion.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I hope that this bill will not be postponed for one week, or, in fact, that it will not be postponed for any time whatever. This bill was introduced in the early part of the session, about the 15th of January. It was referred to its appropriate committee, and that committee gave it a very careful consideration. I think the gentleman from Chester, who desires to have this bill postponed at this time, is a member of that committee. The bill was before that committee some four or five weeks, and all the parties interested have had a fair hearing before the committee. Those opposed to the bill were and presented their objections to the committee, and urged the postponement of the bill and also its negative recommendation by the committee.

But, after a fair and careful examination by this Railroad Committee, the bill has been reported favorably to the House. It has now been nearly two months since the bill was introduced here, and yet the gentleman from Chester asks that it shall be postponed still another week, in order that he may have an opportunity of offering an amendment. Certainly two months has been sufficient time to have any amendment prepared that the opponents of this bill might have desired to attach to it.

This is a bill which very much interests my constituents, and I trust that the House will not postpone it until next week.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, I hope this House will appreciate the position that I am in.

Now, I do not make any charges here that the objection was made to the bill and that those interested in the bill subsequently obtained the withdrawal of those objections. I do not know what induced the gentleman who made the objection to the bill to do it when he did. I had no conversation with him about it, but I presume he objected to it for proper reasons, and I do not impugn any man's motive in objecting it off the calendar, or withdrawing the objections. I proposed myself to object the bill off the calendar, but it was objected off by another member and I was not aware that the objection was afterwards withdrawn. I spoke to the gentleman from Delaware and told him that I intended to object the bill off.

Now, the objection was withdrawn, as the gentleman who objected it off had a right to do, but I was not aware at the time of the objection being withdrawn, otherwise I would have renewed the objection. All I ask of this House now is to put me in the position that I had a right to be in and would have been in if I had known of the objection being withdrawn.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker the gentleman was sitting in his seat when the gentleman arose and withdrew his objection.

Mr. WADDELL. I did not hear it. I did not suppose the objection would be withdrawn, and I had no intimation that it would be. I do not know what the gentleman's intentions were in regard to this subject.

It is very true that the bill has been thoroughly discussed in committee, but I took no part in that discussion. Gentlemen on that committee knew the peculiar position I was in, in regard to it. I have studiously endeavored to throw nothing in the way of it. I have uniformly withdrawn myself from the committee, when that bill came up for deliberation. The bill was reported from the committee without any objections being made on my part; it came up on the calendar in the regular order, and was objected off. I am now only asking what I would have had in my own control, had I got up and objected to this bill instead of some other gentleman doing so. I only ask to be placed in the position that I would have been in if I had gotten up and objected to it myself. I merely wish to have an opportunity that the parties may present an amendment; and if the House then think it is not a proper amendment they can vote it down. I only ask the House to do what they would have done had I made the objection to the bill myself.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I was aware that the gentleman from Chester intended to object to the bill this morning. I was not aware that any other gentleman intended to object to the bill at that time, but the gentleman evidently intended to throw the bill over another week for the purpose of adding an amendment. He had not drawn it this morning. We, as friends of the bill, desired to see the amendment, so that, if possible, we could make a compromise arrangement of the matter, but the amendment was not drawn. When the gentleman interested in another corporation opposing this bill was here, and I requested him also to furnish the amendment that he desired to attach to the bill. He said he had not prepared it; that he did not know exactly what it would be yet, but he must go home and consult with the officers of his road and prepare his amendment.

Now, I submit that this bill having been considered for so long a time, the officers of the other road having been before the committee week after week, they have had ample time and opportunity to prepare their amendment, and submit it to the committee that had the bill under consideration. They did not do so, and now they come here, as a last resort, and with the evident intent of killing this bill by deferring it, stage by stage, in this manner.

I trust that this House is prepared to vote upon this question, and that the bill will come up on its final passage.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware was aware that I told him this morning that I wished to make an amendment to this bill. I told him what I understood would be the points of the amendment in regard to the commutation of charges for passengers and freight. I could not sit down and draw the amendment. I suggested to him that, as soon as possible, I would place it in his hands, so that the friends of this road would have an opportunity of knowing what it was before it came before the House. It is very true I could not furnish him with the amendment then; I could not sit down now and pen it, because I am not well enough versed in railroad technicalities to draw the amendment.

I am only asking this House what I would have had, and what they could not have refused me, but on account of a misunderstanding—not an intentional misunderstanding—as to what has been done by the gentleman who objected it off the calendar; and I do not think it is an unreasonable request for me to ask of the House.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to state that the gentleman from Chester has not had an opportunity to present this amendment, but the officers of this road have had ample opportunity to furnish all the amendments that they might desire to attach to this bill.

I do not charge the gentleman from Chester with an attempt to throw this bill over with the purpose of killing it, but I do charge this upon the officers of this road, whom the gentleman from Chester represents in part in interest; and that they have had all the opportunity they could desire to attach any amendment to this bill.

Mr. WEBB. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me from the discussion in reference to this bill and the relative position of the parties, that it would be about as fair a way as any to allow this bill to go over on third reading.

Mr. WADDELL. The difficulty then would be I could not get my amendment in.

The question being on the motion of the gentleman from Chester [Mr. WADDELL] that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present and that it be placed at the head of the objected bills,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WADDELL and Mr. KURTZ, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Boyle, Breen, Calvin, Chadwick, Deise, Fogel, Harner, Heitzel, Hoffmau, Hunt, Jenks, Kennedy, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Lee, Leech, Linton, Long, McCreary, M'Henry, Maish, Mann, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Tharp, Waddell, Weller, Westbrook, Wharton and Wingard—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chase, Collins, Colville, Craig, Davis, Day, DeLaven, Donohugh, Espy, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Gregory, Harbison, Headman, Kerns, M'Keay, Markley, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Subers, Wallace, Watt, Webb, Worrall and Glass, Speaker—37.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the bill goes over on third reading. On motion, the House adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, A. M.

BILL RECALLED.

Mr. SCHALL offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor be requested to return Senate bill No. 288, entitled An act relative to the clerk of the courts of quarter sessions,oyer and terminator and orphans' court of Lehigh county, for the purpose of amendment.

The resolution was adopted.

BILL RECOMMENDED.

Mr. CONNELL moved that he bill entitled an act relative to contested elections in the city of Philadelphia be recommitted to the Committee on Election Districts.

The motion was Agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreably to order,

The Senate proceeded to third reading and consideration of bill entitled An act to provide an associate law judge of the several courts in the Twenty-first Judicial district.

The bill reads as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the qualified electors of the Twenty-first Judicial district shall, at the next general election, in the manner prescribed by law for the election of the president judge, elect one person, learned in the law, to serve as an associate law judge of the several courts in said district; the said associate law judge shall possess the same qualifications which are required by the Constitution and laws for president judge, and shall be commissioned by the Governor, and shall hold his office by the same tenure as other judges of courts of record, required to be learned in the law; the said associate law judge shall have the same power, authority and jurisdiction, and be subject to the same duties, provisions and penalties, as the president judge, and shall receive the same compensation for his services as the president judge of said district is now entitled by law to receive.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to say anything more in regard to this than simply to say that I am more convinced now than ever that this bill should not pass. Since we adjourned yesterday, I have seen memorials from a leader of the Democratic party, and an able lawyer of that bar, who says that this bill is not what they want to have for relief. Therefore, it is not a political question. With that I have done what I considered my duty.

Mr. RIDGWAY. If it is relieved of all political influence, I think we ought to stand by the Senator from that county, and not by additional lawyers.

Mr. RANDALL. The gentleman alluded to has sent a petition here asking for the passage of this bill; he has written to me and spoken personally to me about it, and the Senate is mistaken when he says that general opinion is opposed to this bill.

On the question.

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CONAUGHY and Mr. RANDALL, and were as follow, viz:

Yeas—Messrs. Brown (Mercer), Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Fisher, Glatz, Haines, Jackson, James, Landon, M'Candless, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Searight, Stutzman, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—21.

Nays—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Brown (Lawrence), Coleman, Graham, M'Conaughy and White—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

So the bill

Passed finally.

Agreably to order.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of a bill entitled A supplement to an act entitled An act relating to the payment of bounties to veteran volunteers, approved May 1st, 1866.

Mr. WHITE moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill for the present.

The motion was

Agreed to.

BILL PASSED.

On motion of Mr. CANDLESS, the Committee on the Judiciary Local was discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled A further supplement to an act passed March 29, D. 1863, to establish a board of wardens of the port of Philadelphia, and for other purposes.

And the rules having been dispensed with, The bill was read a second and third time, and Passed finally.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was read as follows:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Clerk of the House of Representatives be authorized to amend House bill No. 263, enti-

led as follows, viz: A further supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Carbondale, by striking out the words "fourth Friday," wherever it occurs, and inserting in lieu the words "third Friday."

On motion of Mr. LANDON, said resolution was read a second time, and Concluded in.

PRIVATE CALENDAR.

Agreably to order,

The rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of bills on the private calendar numbered and entitled as follows:

And said bills were disposed of as stated:

No. 772, an act to exempt the German Reformed congregation of New Goshenhoppen, in the county of Montgomery, from taxation.

Passed finally.

No. 773, an act relating to the payment of certain bounties by the township of Eldred, Monroe county.

Passed finally.

No. 774, an act to perfect title to one hundred and sixteen acres of land in Somerset county, heretofore owned by the Union coal and iron company.

Passed finally.

No. 775, an act relative to the purchase of a law library in the county of Wayne.

Passed finally.

No. 776, an act for the vacation and sale of the Methodist burial ground in the city of Pittsburgh, and for removing the bodies therefrom.

Laid over.

No. 777, a supplement to an act to confer additional power upon the burgess and town council of the borough of Wilkesbarre, approved the 22d day of March, 1865.

Passed finally.

No. 778, supplement to an act entitled An act to appoint commissioners to reurvey and establish the lines of the main road running through a part of Wilkesbarre township, in the county of Luzerne, passed the 24th day of February, A. D. 1859.

Passed finally.

No. 779, a supplement to an act relative to the fees of district attorney of certain counties in this Commonwealth.

Passed finally.

No. 780, an act authorizing the commissioners of Clinton county to appropriate the unexpended relief funds of said county to building a new court house.

Passed finally.

No. 783, an act to authorize the burgess and council of the borough of Shrewsbury, York county, to erect or construct a lock-up house.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY feared that the Governor would veto the bill, and he did not see the use, therefore, in passing it.

Mr. FISHER stated that it should be borne in mind that the borough of Shrewsbury was not under the general borough law, and he thought that the bill would not likely be vetoed.

Mr. GLATZ desired the bill passed, and if the Governor saw fit to veto it, well and good.

The bill then

Passed finally.

No. 784, an act supplementary to an act incorporating the borough of Birmingham, in the county of Allegheny.

Not agreed to.

No. 785, a supplement to an act entitled An act to incorporate the borough of Columbia, approved April 16, 1866.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to have this bill passed, but there is something in a certain line of the bill that I do not understood. I hope the bill will be laid over.

The bill was accordingly laid over.
Mr. FISHER shortly after withdrew his objections and the bill was then being considered when

Mr. BILLINGFELT said: Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to the provisions of this bill, but there is another bill here of that nature which is more important to the citizens of my county than this. But as it relates to the charter of the same borough, I think it better to incorporate both together. I do not desire to have this passed unless my colleague agrees to leave the other one acted upon in due time, as it is now unduly held in committee of which he is a member.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to differ with my colleague. I trust the good sense of the Senate will see the propriety of taking up a measure on which there is no dispute. No man, woman or child has anything to say against this bill. I trust the Senate will pass this bill.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, in the other bill every citizen of Columbia and every taxpayer of the county is interested; it is more important than this one. I will agree that this bill shall pass, if the other will not be delayed. It has been delayed long enough, and my constituents have too much interest in the matter to have it delayed longer. Both of these bills ought to be treated alike. The other bill interests our constituents as well as this.

Mr. FISHER. When the other bill comes up on its merits, I shall be prepared to meet it; there is no intention to delay it.

The bill was laid over.
Mr. BILLINGFELT soon after withdrew his objections, and

The bill.

Passed finally.
No. 809, an act to incorporate the Brandy Camp railroad company.

Passed finally.
No. 810, an act to incorporate the Lebanon Valley college.

Mr. COLEMAN said that the understanding was that the courts had not power in some cases of this kind, but he hoped the bill would be laid over for the present.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, I think that the bill had better be laid over, as I think the courts have power; if so, there is no use in passing the bill, as it would be voted in; I ought to act with consistency. We have passed eight or ten acts to incorporate literary institutions. I do not wish to make any factions opposition. There should be some consistency in our action.

Mr. COLEMAN said he understood there had been some decision in the Supreme Court on the subject.

Mr. WALLACE said that it had been decided by the Supreme Court that the courts had not power in cases where an institution conferred degrees, and that they must go to the Legislature; he did not know that the principle there established had been reversed.

Mr. BIGHAM said that up to 1865 there had been no report reversing that principle, and that the Governor had signed a bill that he himself introduced, to incorporate the university of St. Augustine.

The bill was laid over on third reading.
No. 812, an act to repeal an act to lay out a State road in Schuylkill and Columbia counties, approved April 4, 1866.

Passed finally.
No. 813, a supplement to an act entitled An act to incorporate the Mattawana bridge company, approved March 3, 1848.

Passed finally.
House bill No. 193, a supplement to an act appointing commissioners to lay out and open a State road in the counties of Potter and Clinton, approved the 16th day of March, A. D. 1865.

Amended, on motion of Mr. COWLES.
Laid over on third reading.

No. 816, an act authorizing and empowering the city of Philadelphia to take possession of a part of the Chestnut Hill and Spring House turnpike.
Laid over.

No. 816, an act to incorporate the Roaring Brook turnpike company.
Passed finally.

No. 817, an act to authorize the Coal Hill and Upper St. Clair turnpike and plank road company to increase their tolls.
Laid over.

No. 818, an act to authorize the Allegheny and Perryville plank road company to fix their tolls and to transfer a portion of their road.
Passed finally.

House bill No. 435, an act to annul the marriage contract between William Rieley and Martha Willets.
The bill was read.

Mr. WALLS said he had had letters in regard to this bill, and that it was right. The man had provided for his children, and the wife made no objection to the divorce. He did not know the parties, but thought the divorce should be granted.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I know something of this case; the circumstances were detailed to us in committee. Gentlemen of reputation, who know these parties, have written to me. The case does not come within the jurisdiction of the courts. The parties cannot live together. The man has behaved well towards his wife in regard to the property. It is simply inhumanity to require them to be bound together. For these reasons a divorce is asked for.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I have always been sensitive on this subject of passing divorce bills. I do not wish to intrude unnecessary objections to anybody's bill. This affects a principle which we are all interested in. I do not wish to pass a bill without hearing the facts.

Mr. BIGHAM. The papers are in the hands of the chairman of the General Judiciary Committee, who is absent.

Mr. WALLS. I hope there will be no objection to passing it to a third reading.
The bill was laid over on third reading.

House bill No. 390, an act authorizing William S. Zeigler to act as justice of the peace in the borough of Butler, Butler county, while residing outside the limits of said borough.
Passed finally.

House bill No. 840, a supplement to an act entitled An act regulating the courts in the Sixth Judicial district.
Laid over.

House bill No. 548, an act increasing the fees of justices of the peace, road commissioners, auditors and constables in the counties of Bradford, WYoming and Susquehanna.
Passed finally.

House bill No. 541, an act to authorize the Governor to appoint two additional notaries public for the county of Dauphin, one for the Nineteenth ward of the city of Philadelphia, and three to reside in the county of York.
Laid over.

House bill No. 545, an act relating to fees of notaries public in the county of Erie.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 627, an act to legitimate Annie Crain, of Huntingdon county, and confer on her the rights and privileges of a child born in wedlock.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 516, an act to prevent the hunting of deer with dogs in the county of Wyoming.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 330, an act in relation to bounties in the township of Montgomery, in the county of Franklin.

Passed finally.

No. 852, an act to repeal the act to incorporate the Odd Fellows' hall association of Tremont, in the county of Schuylkill, and to vest the rights of said association in the board of trustees of Tremont Lodge, No. 245, of Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Pennsylvania.

Passed finally.

No. 853, an act to authorize the appointment of one additional notary public for the county of Luzerne, to reside in the borough of Wilkesbarre, and repealing so much of the act of 14th of April, 1840, as renders justices of the peace ineligible to the office of notary public, so far as the same relates to the additional notary public authorized by this act.

Passed finally.

No. 854, an act to allow the sheriff of Elk county fees for serving jury notices.

Title and bill amended on motion of Mr. WALLACE.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 825, an act legalizing the action of the burgess and town council of the borough of Montrose, Susquehanna county, and to fix the limits of said borough.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 394, an act authorizing the Governor to appoint three additional notaries public for the city of Philadelphia.

The bill was read.

Mr. DONOVAN. I think we should make it five hundred. We have passed several bills here to appoint notaries public in Philadelphia.

Mr. CONNELL said it was for the public convenience.

Mr. DONOVAN. I would like to amend the bill so that they can appoint five hundred, in order to save time.

Mr. CONNELL said he had been advised by Democrats of the benefits of this bill.

Mr. LOWRY said he hoped the Judiciary Committee would bring in a general bill for the appointment of notaries public.

The bill then

Passed finally.

House bill No. 497, an act to levy an additional tax in Sheffield township, Warren county, for bounty purposes.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 496, a supplement to an act in relation to the payment of bounties to volunteers from the township of Farmington, Tioga county, during the late rebellion.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 495, an act authorizing the supervisors of Green township, in the county of Mercer, to collect a tax and pay certain bounties, and refund money advanced to pay bounties.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 320, an act authorizing the supervisors of Ulysses township to levy a tax to refund to Perry Lewis, in said township, the sum of four hundred dollars, it being for money advanced as bounties to volunteers.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 640, an act to increase the pay of the county auditors and the supervisors and township auditors of the several townships of Northumberland county.

Amended on motion of Mr. JACKSON.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 556, an act relating to hawkers and peddlers of ready made clothing in the county of Greene.

The bill was read.

Mr. COWLES said he thought if it was a crime to hawk goods in the county of Greene, it should apply to other counties as well, and that the law should be made equal.

Mr. SEARIGHT. This is a mere local bill, and I would like it to go through under the same rule that applies to all local bills. I have had no opportunity of conversing with the member from Greene, and supposed that this amendment was all right. I have confidence in the member from Greene. He is one of the best members in the Legislature. I would like to have the bill pass in the shape that he wants it. I do not think he would do anything unjust.

Mr. COWLES. I shall have to object to the bill. The distinctions made in it seem to be unjust. A Greene county man should not be allowed to hawk goods, and an Allegheny county man prevented from doing the same thing. This unjust distinction should not be permitted. I object to the bill.

The bill was objected off.

House bill No. 838, an act to authorize the school directors of Taylor school district, in Lawrence county, to borrow money.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 553, an act relative to the costs and fees of criminal cases in Carbon county.

Passed finally.

No. 865, an act to change the name of the borough of South Bethlehem, Northampton county, to Packer.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 411, an act in relation to lost records, deeds and other papers in the county of Franklin.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 549, a supplement to an act in relation to huckstering in the counties of Bedford, Cumberland, Franklin, Fulton and York, approved the 18th day of May, A. D. 1866.

The bill was read.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, the act to which this supplement is intended to apply was a local huckster license act for the counties named, providing that in the case of a huckster with one horse and wagon, he should pay ten dollars license, and fifteen dollars for two horses if he was a citizen of the county; but if he was a citizen of an adjoining county he should pay one hundred dollars. Our court held that to be an unconstitutional act, and it is desired to repeal that part of the bill which makes an odious distinction.

The bill

Passed finally.

House bill No. 550, an act authorizing the commissioners of Lycoming county to borrow money to build a new jail.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 544, an act relative to the purchase of a law library in the county of Washington.

Passed finally.

House bill No. 543, an act providing for the compensation of the commissioners of Northampton county.

Passed finally.

No. 872, an act authorizing the trustees, secretary and treasurer of the proprietors' fund of Plymouth township, Luzerne county, to appropriate said fund towards the erection of school houses and for school purposes.

Passed finally.

No. 873, an act to authorize the trustees of the public school fund of the townships of Wilkesbarre and Plains, in Luzerne county, to appropriate the whole or any portion of said fund for the purchase of land for a public cemetery or grave yard for said townships.

Passed finally.

No. 874, an act to authorize the county commissioners of the county of Carbon to assist in the building of a new road, out of the borough of Mauch Chunk.

Passed finally.

No. 875, an act to incorporate the Shaws-ville bridge company, in the county of Clearfield.

Passed finally.

No. 876, a supplement to an act to incorporate the Broad Street and Island road company, approved the 4th day of April, 1866.

Objected off.

House bill No. 856, an act relative to the election of school directors and supervisors of roads in the township of Allegheny, in the county of Armstrong.

Passed finally.

THE PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, it is known to the Senate that a Conference of Methodist clergymen is in session in this city; I move you, therefore, that they be permitted, during their sittings here, to come upon the floor of the Senate.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, I object to anything of the kind. The object is for these gentlemen to come upon the floor to electioneer for the Sunday car bill.

Mr. GLATZ. It takes a two-thirds vote.

Mr. LOWRY. Let the two-thirds vote come. I make the motion, and on it I will call the ayes and nays.

Mr. M'CANDELESS. I would move to amend, so as to give them the privilege after the adjournment of the Senate.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, it is a mere object of civility towards great and good men. Gentlemen need not tell me that Methodist clergymen come here to electioneer on the Sunday car question; they know that the Senators from Philadelphia are not to be electioneered with by good men on that question.

Mr. CONNELL. I repel the insinuation cast upon us by the Senator from Erie.

Mr. RIDGWAY. I am opposed to this resolution entirely; I think it is entirely out of order and should not be passed. If it is to pass, I would like to amend it, so that, hereafter, ministers of all other denominations can have the same privilege. I want to know upon what ground this is urged—why we should admit the ministers of the Methodist church or any other persons not connected with the Senate. Why not admit persons wanting corporations chartered? They are all religious, or pretend to be. If you admit one person, you should admit the whole community. I have no objection to Methodist ministers; probably there are some good ones and some bad ones. This will be followed by others, and the floor will be swarmed with men who have no business here.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, I have never known a railroad borer to come here, without being allowed on the floor of the Senate. I have seen one around here for the last fifteen years; not invited by resolution, as a matter of civility, but coming in as a matter of right, and taking members by the button hole. I did not think there was a Senator here who would raise any objection to this motion. I did not wish to get into any discussion; but if the gentleman desires it to be discussed, I will discuss it with him.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, I objected to it because I saw no necessity for it. If the Senator desires to invite a gentleman inside, he can do so. And besides, after the exhibition in Washington, where the members of this Senate were refused the privilege of the floor, I think we should oppose this. It was offered for "uncombe."

The SPEAKER. I will merely state that, if this motion is agreed to, I shall still entertain the twenty-fifth rule, unless the Senate rescind it. If I have refused to enforce the rules in reference to railroad "boycers," I regret it, and apologize to the Senate. I have, over and over again, told the officers that this rule must be enforced. I cannot prevent Senators from introducing men into the Legislature. None of these gentlemen can be admitted inside the bar of the Senate, under the rules which you yourselves have adopted; if it is desired to rescind the rules, very well. Senators have the privilege of inviting persons into the lobby, if they please.

The rules say:
"No person shall be admitted within the bar of the Senate, during its sessions, except the members and officers of the two branches of the Legislature, the Governor, Heads of Departments, ex-members of the Legislature, and stenographers who may desire to report proceedings of the Senate for publication, under the direction of the Speaker; nor shall any person be admitted within the lobby of the Senate, except such as shall be invited by a member of the Senate. No person or persons shall be permitted to occupy the seats of Senators, or pass across the floor of the Senate when the Senate is in session; nor shall any person or persons, at any time, be permitted to enter the room of the transcribing clerks, or the recess behind the chair of the Speaker, except the members and officers of the General Assembly."

I will say, so far as I am concerned, that while I would be glad to extend any courtesy to any member of the conference who is here, so long as I am Speaker of this body, he must go where the rules permit him to go. That will be, under the construction of the Senate, in the seats in the lobby, if Senators ask them in, but not inside the bar of the Senate. This floor is small; we are doing business quite as rapidly as the interests of the State demand, and I do not think the seats of Senators should be taken, or the aisles obstructed. These are my views.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, I see no necessity for rescinding the rules. If a member of the Senate can invite gentlemen to seats inside the bar, then, sir, the Senate has a right to invite an organized body of clergymen to seats in which we propose to prepare for them. We know that these lobbies are constantly filled, and we have abundance of room here where one hundred chairs can be placed, and the members of the Methodist Episcopal church, if they choose to come here, can occupy them. I had no idea of offering the motion for bancombe.

The SPEAKER. I did not intimate anything of that kind.

Mr. DONOVAN. I did, sir.

Mr. LOWRY. I offered it for the same purpose when a Presbyterian body were here—to occupy chairs prepared by the officers, not members' seats.

[The SPEAKER explained that the bar of the Senate was the inside railing, Mr. Lowry supposing it to be the outside railing, which divides the galleries from the lobby.]

Mr. BROWN (Lawrence). Mr. Speaker, I think the rules is right, and your construction of it is right, and I am in favor of this motion under that construction—that any member may invite persons within the space between the bar and the galleries. I know they have the privilege now, but as the Senator has made the motion, I should be sorry to have it voted down.

Mr. COLEMAN. How is the doorkeeper to know a member of that body? Any man may come here and say he is a member of it. Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, the same difficulty is suggested to my mind. I heard a practical illustration of that difficulty the other day on the Senator from Erie [Mr. Lowry]. I understand he attempted to visit an institution in Philadelphia where clergymen are excluded, and they took him for a minister and attempted to exclude him. Suppose this body, composed of two hundred and fifty men, came here. We should be swarmed; and as they can now have the privilege of the lobby and gallery, I think that is enough. I have the highest regard for these people; they compose a large part of my constituency; nearly all of them supported me; hence I ought to have a warm feeling for them, and I have. I look upon them as the pioneers of Christianity in this country. They came here and found this a howling wilderness, and they have made it blossom like the rose. At the same time I should not like to have them crowd the floor.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, as I happen to be a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, I may perhaps be allowed to take liberties with these ministers that would be in bad taste in Senators belonging to other denominations. Now, sir, I shall vote against this resolution, inviting members of the Conference to occupy the floor.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion.

Mr. GRAHAM. The Senator will allow me to give my reason. I have a right to give my reasons for the vote which I propose to give on this motion. I say, sir, I would vote against it, because it is impracticable to invite three hundred ministers to the floor of this Senate. I would vote against it because I believe that no minister here, at least no large proportion of the members of the Conference in session at this time, desired any such courtesy. I would vote against it, sir, because I have now, and as every Senator on the floor, this privilege of inviting any number of the gentlemen composing that Conference to the floor. These are the reasons, sir, that would cause me to vote against the motion.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, perhaps, for different reasons than those offered by my colleague, I would vote the opposite way, and hope the motion will be adopted. If it had not been offered, it would have been well enough; but having been offered, we might be supposed to have a lack of courtesy if it was voted down. I do not belong to the Methodist church, but I have the privilege now of inviting two or three constituents, but should feel indelicate about inviting fifteen or twenty strangers. But, as the motion has been made, I hope we will admit them. They are pretty well behaved people.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, I stated, as a reason why I would vote against this resolution, that I was a Methodist, in sympathy and in conviction—have been for the last thirty years, and expect to be during the continuance of my life; therefore, I know that my position will not be misunderstood on this question. If there was a convocation of Roman Catholic clergymen, or priests, in session here, and my friend, Mr. DONOVAN, should offer a resolution like that which the Senator from Erie [Mr. Lowry] has offered, I would vote for it, because, if I voted against it, my position might be misunderstood, and my vote attributed to prejudice. If there was a conference of Presbyterian or Baptist clergymen here, and such a resolution was offered, I would vote for the reception of those gentlemen on the floor; but I can take liberties with my people that I would not take with other denominations.

Mr. LOWRY. I had thought to withdraw the motion, but I will renew it in this form:
Resolved, That during the sessions of Philadelphia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the privileges of the floor, under the rules of the Senate, be extended to the members of that body.

Mr. RIDGWAY thought the Speaker should direct the placing of the chairs.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY proposed to substitute the following in place of the resolution offered by the Senator from Erie:

Resolved, That an invitation be extended to the members of the Methodist Episcopal Conference, now in session in this city, to visit the Senate under its rules.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. That is simply what we do in all cases. I desire it to be under the existing rules of the Senate. I could not ask them to take seats inside the bar. Here are a given number of seats, every one having an occupant, and it could not be supposed that any gentlemen could be invited to take those seats, or to violate any rules of this body; nor do I so understand the Senator from Erie. I believe he differed a little with us as to what was the bar of the Senate. I think there is abundance of room beyond the bar for these gentlemen. I do not propose to vote for this resolution, lest it should be misunderstood. I think, sir, it is a courtesy, in doing which we do no dishonor or discourtesy to ourselves as members of this body. I would extend it to a similar association of any other denomination. Sir, I believe that, under God, the existence of this country is now due to that element of religion, resulting in general good morals, which so pervades this Commonwealth, and the people of this nation, without which, sir, I believe we would not now exist. I think, as the law makers of this Commonwealth, we do nothing but a simple duty, and an act of propriety, when, in the simplest language, we extend this cordial reception to the gentlemen composing that body.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to occupy the time of the Senate. I shall vote for the proposition of the Senator from Adams [Mr. M'CONAUGHY]. I understand it to be a precedent which we set to allow a religious association to come within this body. With this precedent, I shall vote for that proposition.

The SPEAKER. Then you vote for a precedent that amounts to nothing. I shall enforce the rules of this Senate.

Mr. BROWN (Lawrence), said he had drawn up the original resolution, at the request of the Senator from Erie [Mr. Lowry], and thought it was the wish of the Senate.

The SPEAKER stated that, if the resolution passed, it would not extend the privilege to any persons to come inside the bar, in violation of the standing rule.

The resolution offered by Mr. Lowry was then adopted.

The hour of one having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until three o'clock this afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate reassembled at three o'clock, P. M.

NOTE RECONSIDERED.

Mr. WALLACE moved that the Senate reconsider the vote on the final passage of bill No. 865, entitled An act to change the name of the borough of South Bethlehem, Northampton county, to Packer.

The motion was

Agreed to.
The bill being again brought before the Senate,

Mr. WALLACE moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed until Wednesday next.

The motion was

Laid over.

No. 115, an act for the more impartial selection of persons to serve as jurors in York county.

Laid over.

No. 185, a further supplement to the act to incorporate the city of Philadelphia, approved February 2, 1854, relative to vacancies in elective offices.

Objected off.

House bill No. 414, an act to vacate a portion of Clarion street, in the borough of Bridgeport, Beaver county, authorizing the portion vacated to be disposed of for the benefit of said borough.

Objected to.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS OBJECTED OFF THE CALENDAR.

The private calendar having been gone through with,

Mr. M'CONAUGHY moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill No. 624, entitled An act relating to bounties in the borough of Dillsburg, in the county of York and State of Pennsylvania, validating and legalizing the assessment duplicate and warrant to collect bounty tax assessed in June, 1864, in said borough.

Said bill having been objected off the calendar.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, the bill relates to bounties in the borough of Dillsburg, and is designed to validate and equalize an assessment made in the borough some two years ago for a bounty tax for filling the quota of that borough. The bill was introduced at an early period of this session, was carefully examined by the Local Judiciary, who reported it affirmatively. It is a case of real merit. The borough authorities finding that they were unable to fill the quota without an additional sum of money, agreed with certain citizens that if they would advance the money, they would assess the tax under the law existing at the time.

The tax was assessed, the duplicate was issued, but there has been a failure to collect the duplicate. This act simply legalizes what has been done, and authorizes the collection of the tax upon the duplicate. The tax was assessed, and there is no conceivable reason why it should not be authorized to be collected. The bill has been up for the second time, and unless it is put upon its passage now, it will probably fail to pass the other House. There is no reason why it should be delayed, and I hope the Senate will proceed to its consideration.

Mr. COWLES. Mr. Speaker, the Judiciary Local have had this matter under consideration for a long time. The parties, both for and against this, were heard in extenso. It appeared to me perfectly clear that those volunteers were put in to fill this quota, and that these parties advanced the money to pay these volunteers, at the request of the borough authorities. The people in mass meeting assembled, and also in a corporate capacity, agreed to it. It seems to me to be a perfectly right and just measure, and I am astonished that anybody in this body should oppose it upon party grounds.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to hear from the Senator from York about this matter. In 1864, I think it was, when I was in the House, I voted to pay for an assessment made by Early, in the county of York, for an amount of money which they raised there, but it seems to me, if we vote to allow the borough of York to raise money for that purpose, we should allow these citizens to raise it for volunteers to our own army.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I was on the committee to which this bill was referred, and a clearer, stronger and more justifiable case has not been presented to this Senate. The citizens of that town, in mass meeting, and not only that, but the corporate authorities of the town, authorized the gentlemen to advance this money, assuring them that they would raise it by taxation. Every person in the town was in favor of it, and, as soon as they had succeeded in getting these men in to defend their own cowardly hides, they then turned round and tried to repudiate this debt. I am astonished that any gentleman should oppose a measure of this kind, and I trust that my Democratic friends, in the fullest meaning of the term, will lay aside party feeling, and come up and do justice to those men who have filled up the scattered ranks of the Union army.

Mr. GLATZ. Mr. Speaker, the remonstrance from the citizens of Dillsburg, signed by Republicans and Democrats, was before the committee, and by some means it has been laid aside. I intended that it should be read.

As I understand the matter, it is simply this: that during the war, some gentlemen in Dillsburg advanced money to pay substitutes, probably to shield themselves. They afterwards found that they could saddle this debt upon the borough of Dillsburg, and they did so, and they now ask the Legislature to pass a law that will compel the collection of the duplicate. This is the simple statement. I do not know which of the gentlemen the Senator from Lancaster refers when he talks about their cowardly hides. His friends recently protested against this, and it is not a Democratic measure, I can assure him. It was equally divided, and no man in the Democratic party of Dillsburg came here asking that they should be relieved; but it is the citizens, the taxpayers who ask this.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. After the political aspect of the question has been referred to, I will say that out of ninety-five taxables in the town, there are but twenty-three who remonstrate; of these there are but seven Republicans; out of forty-five who do remonstrate, twenty-two are either non-residents, non-taxpayers or minors.

Mr. GLATZ. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to reply to the statement which the Senator has just made; but in the absence of the remonstrance, I am not able to show the thing on paper. It is very true, there may be some minors, but they are still taxpayers, and probably Republicans. I do not know whether they are or not.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, this statement was made from the information of Dr. Shearer, a gentleman of position, in the county of York, for integrity and veracity.

Mr. GLATZ. So far as Dr. Shearer is concerned, I endorse what the Senator has said, but I think there are men in the town quite as good as he. I do not say he states anything that is false, but in his earnestness to have this pass, he may make mistakes as well as other gentlemen.

Mr. COWLES. In the case of some of the substitutes put in there, he was on his way to Carlisle, to enlist, but was pursued by one of these men, at the instance of the borough authorities, and induced to go and be credited to Dillsburg. Both of these men were put in after that meeting, and after the authorities had agreed to reimburse them. I asked repeatedly, whether they did actually get the credit of these men, and they invariably stated that they were credited to the town, which received the benefit of it.

Mr. BURNETT. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the object of this bill is to reimburse private citizens for advancement made for raising bounties. I desire to ask the Senator from York [Mr. GLATZ] if the Supreme Court of the United States has not decided, in a recent case, that an act of similar character was unconstitutional.

Mr. GLATZ said he could not answer the question.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. The bill proposes to legalize the assessment made by the borough authorities of Dillsburg—an assessment made two years ago, for which money issued a duplicate, which duplicate was put into the hands of a collector, which collector failed to go on and collect. Under the advice of their counsel, they are assured that it needs legislation to legalize this duplicate.

Mr. GLATZ. The trouble is, this duplicate was not signed by the chief burgess, and therefore could not be collected; and, therefore, they desire to get authority by this bill. Mr. M'CONAUGHY. I believe that is so.

On the question,

Will the Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of the bill?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GLATZ and Mr. M'CONAUGHY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfeld, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Landon, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Donovan, Glatz, Jackson, James, M'Candless, Randall, Seairight, Wallace and Walls—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

During the call,

Mr. WALLACE said: Mr. Speaker, I vote "no," because I believe, from the preamble of this bill, that we have no such power. We are attempting to confirm a contract that was not made between a borough and these individuals. We have no such right; therefore, I vote "no."

Also, during the call,

Mr. WHITE said that, after hearing this case most patiently, they were satisfied that it was a contract fairly made, and he would, therefore, vote "aye."

The bill was read a second and third times, and

Passed finally.

Mr. CONNELL moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of bill No. 185, entitled A further supplement to the act to incorporate the city of Philadelphia, approved February 2, 1854, relative to vacancies in elective offices, said bill having been objected off the calendar.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The first section was read.

Mr. M'CANDESS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to read, first, the section of this law which they allege is liable to a double construction, and wish to amend. It reads in this wise:

"The city council shall fix the compensation and prescribe the duties of all officers of said city, in such manner as to carry out the purposes of this act, and as the welfare of said city may require, not inconsistent with the laws and Constitution of this Commonwealth and of the United States. Whenever any elective officer of said city shall die, or become incapable of fulfilling the duties of his office, his place, except when other provision is made for filling the vacancy, shall be filled by a joint vote of the city council until the next election and the qualification of a successor in office: Provided, That such vacancy shall exist at least thirty days before the next election, otherwise such vacancy shall be filled at the next election thereafter."

This proposition is to place a construction upon this act, by which this city was consolidated, to legislate instead of electing certain officers in the city into place, and this was made at the request and for the benefit of the present law officer of the city of Philadelphia—the city solicitor—a very excellent man, and competent to fill the place. But when the law under which the city is incorporated (and matured by the best legal minds in the country) states explicitly the time and manner in which these elections shall be held and officers chosen, I object, as a general principle, to legislate any gentleman into a place of either honor or profit, when there is a clearly specified manner of electing (as in the present case) provided by the act of consolidation of 1854, with relation to the city of Philadelphia; so that, in fact, this act, which purports to be a supplement explanatory of the forty-sixth section of the consolidation law, is simply legislating an officer into his place instead of electing him as the law prescribes.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I have to say in reply, that it is a question of doubt as to the proper construction put upon the law as it now stands. To remove all doubt, this bill is introduced. The reason set forth in the preamble is a good reason why this bill should pass. Everybody believes that, and the councils have almost unanimously called for the passage of this bill in consequence of that belief.

Mr. M'CANDESS. On this principle you had better legislate an officer in place for life.

The forty-sixth section of the act of consolidation just read by me prescribes clearly how and when all the officers of the city of Philadelphia shall be selected, and that law should be enforced. Sir, no fair man who reads this section can give it a double construction.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, the Senate will remember that about a week ago, there was a bill before the Senate to which I offered an amendment extending the time of the assessors in Philadelphia for two years. That was denounced by the Senate as legislating men into office.

Now the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL], who was opposed to that amendment, makes the self-same proposition that he voted against.

Mr. CONNELL. That was a clear case of legislating men into office for two years, and this is merely to construe a doubtful act. I deny that they are parallel cases.

The preamble and first and only section were read.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CANDESS and Mr. CONNELL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfeld, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Landon, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, James, M'Candless, Schall, Seairight, Wallace and Walls—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

So the bill

Passed finally.

BILLS IN PLACE.

On leave,

Mr. M'CONAUGHY read in his place and presented to the Chair a bill entitled An act authorizing the State Treasurer to allow a credit to the treasurer of Adams county for money paid John Scott.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. COWLES, a bill entitled An act to create an additional Judicial district, to be called the Twenty-eighth Judicial district of Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary General.

Mr. WHITE, a bill entitled An act to increase the compensation of the county commissioners, township auditors and the sheriff, for boarding prisoners in the county of Jefferson.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

Mr. RANDALL, a bill entitled An act authorizing the town council of the borough of Tamaqua, Schuylkill county, to borrow money.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

Mr. GRAHAM, a bill entitled An act to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors in Allegheny county.

Referred to the Committee on Vice and Immorality.

Also, a bill entitled An act to enable the agents of the Methodist Book Concern to hold real estate in the city of Pittsburgh.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer), a bill entitled An act annexing the farm of Andrew Glendenning to Mercer school district, in the county of Mercer.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House of Representatives has concurred in the resolution from the Senate requesting the Governor to return Senate bill No. 288, entitled An act relative to the clerks of the courts of quarter sessions, oyerand terminer, and orphans' court of Lehigh county.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

Mr. BILLINGFELT moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to repeal parts of an act approved April 11, 1866, entitled A further supplement to an act to authorize the Governor to incorporate the Susquehanna canal company, approved April 16, 1835.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, this is a very important bill to a large portion of my constituents—and it is merely to compel compliance with the original act of incorporation. They passed a supplementary act in 1866, and this proposes to repeal that part of the act.

Mr. GLATZ. Mr. Speaker, this bill possibly relates more particularly to my constituents than to those of the Senator from Lancaster [Mr. BILLINGFELT]. It is a very important bill, and one which will do the Susquehanna canal company great injustice; and I hope it will be laid over for the present.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. The Senator from York [Mr. GLATZ] has had ample time to inquire into the bill, and I think by this time he ought to be able to act intelligently upon the matter. I think there should be no delay.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I cannot see what particular interest the constituents of my friend, the Senator from York [Mr. GLATZ], have in this matter at all, unless his constituents own the Susquehanna canal. There was an act passed authorizing the erection of a dam in the Susquehanna at Safe Harbor, so that boats could go across from the canal. That dam has been injured, by ice and high water, so that it has now become entirely useless. There have been immense sums of money invested in iron works opposite the eastern end of this dam, which, for several years, have been inactive.

Thousands of dollars of capital are buried up in these works, and many hundreds of persons are thrown out of employment in consequence of the destruction of that dam. They have refused to repair that dam, and by a part of the section of the act passed last year, they have been excused from raising their dam, and this property is lying there idle, and a perfect waste, as the boats cannot cross. Only two lines of this act would restore the trade to the Conestoga navigation, and set those works in operation again; and what special interest the Senator from York, or his constituents, can have in this bill, I cannot see. This is an immense corporation, owning the Tidewater and Susquehanna canal, and what is asked of them is to repair this dam.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. There are, perhaps, hundreds of people in Lancaster county who feel a deep interest in this bill. I have heard of but a single person in York county who is opposed to it.

Mr. GLATZ. The Conestoga navigation, of which the Senator from Lancaster speaks, is a distinct corporation, which has not completed the requirements of its charter and kept up the dams, as they allege. It is almost impossible to get boatmen to go up this navigation, in consequence of the bad condition of the dams. The Tidewater company are not bound to keep up the dam at Safe Harbor, for the reason that the Conestoga navigation is rendered useless. The Susquehanna canal company, as every one knows, has suffered very much from recent frosts, and were scarcely able to rebuild their dam at Columbia; it would put them to a great deal of expense.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I know something of this, and it strikes me that this Conestoga company was destroyed because it had not access to the Tidewater canal. That canal should have been built in Lancaster county, and they would have had no trouble of this kind.

On the question, Will the Senate proceed to the second reading and consideration of the bill?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BILLINGFELT and Mr. GLATZ, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Landon, M'Conaughy, Royer, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Connell, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Haines, James, M'Callender, Randall, Ridgway, Schall, Seairight and Wallace—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill was then read a second time, and laid over for a third reading.

On motion of Mr. WALLACE, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled A supplement to an act to validate certain conveyances made by certain married women since the 11th day of April, 1848, approved 22d of April, 1863, restraining conveyances in cases in which the instrument vesting title withholds such power.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. CONNELL, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act providing for the election of supervisors in certain rural wards of the city of Philadelphia.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. COWLES, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act appointing commissioners to lay out and open a State road from Wilcox, Elk county, to the borough of Kane, in M'Keen county, and

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. COWLES, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to ascertain the views of the qualified electors of M'Keen county, upon the subject of refusing licenses for the sale of liquor in said county.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. GRAHAM, the Committee on the Judiciary Local was discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled An act to enable the agents of the Methodist book concern to hold real estate in the city of Pittsburg.

And the rules having been dispensed with, The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. DONOVAN, the Committee on Corporations was discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled An act to incorporate the People's brewers' association of Philadelphia.

And the rules having been dispensed with, The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. TAYLOR, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act limiting the provisions of a further supplement to the act incorporating the borough of Washington.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. HAINES, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Empire hook an ladder company, No. 1, of Altoona, Blair county.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. ROYER, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to repeal an act to amend the road laws of Montgomery county, passed March 16, A. D. 1859.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, the Committee on the Judiciary Local was discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled An act authorizing the town council of the borough of Tamaqua, Schuylkill county, to borrow money.

And the rules having been dispensed with, The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. SCHALL, the Committee on Corporations was discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Co-operative association of the city of Allentown, Lehigh county, for mercantile purposes.

And the rules having been dispensed with, The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. TAYLOR, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to extend the provisions of the act entitled An act relating to corporations for mechanical, manufacturing, mining and quarrying purposes, to fire insurance companies.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Mr. SEAIRIGHT moved that the Senate proceed to the second reading and consideration of joint resolution providing for the final adjournment of the Legislature.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I rise for information on this subject. Does the chairman of the Committee on Finance know whether the House Committee on Ways and Means have reported the appropriation bill or not?

Mr. CONNELL. It was not before the House up to yesterday; I do not know what they have done to-day.

Mr. BIGHAM. It is not reported, because the appropriations to the Pittsburg institutions are to be before the committee to-night.

Mr. WHITE. Can we fix the time of adjournment before that bill is referred?

Mr. SEAIRIGHT. In answer to the Senator from Indiana [Mr. WHITE], I would say that I know of no statute, no constitutional provisions prohibiting this Senate from passing this resolution previous to the report from the Committee of Ways and Means; and further, this resolution originated with the Senator from Indiana himself; it is his bill; he is the father of it.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me we had better take up the bill, and if a reasonable time is set for the adjournment, it will hurry matters on the other side; they are behind us, and probably would see the importance of hurrying up their work.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, it is very plain that the mind of the Senator from Fayette [Mr. SEARIGHT] is fixed, because I think we had not been sitting here two days before he introduced a motion relative to the final adjournment, and he has scarcely got into his seat this week before he makes the same motion. I am aware that the committee has not yet reported the appropriation bill, and until we have some data by which we can fix a day of adjournment, I see nothing to be gained by this, unless it be what is expressed by a word which commences with a B.

Mr. SEARIGHT, Mr. Speaker, with regard to the objections, as to the Committee on Ways and Means in the House, I would just state that I had a conversation with a member of that committee yesterday, in regard to this resolution, and he told me that they were ready to report their bill, and that he would favor the immediate passage or concurrence in the resolution, and was ready for it.

Mr. CONNELL. I do not think the Senator from Clearfield need trouble himself about hurrying up the House, as the gentlemen over there are trying to make their salary two thousand dollars and they are in no hurry to go until they get it.

Mr. WHITE. I am much obliged to the Senator for the information; I concur with the Senator from Clearfield [Mr. WALLACE] in the propriety of setting some day. I think we could not adjourn before the 28th. The motion of Mr. SEARIGHT to proceed to the second reading and consideration of the resolution was

Agreed to.

Mr. WHITE moved to amend the resolution by fixing Wednesday, April 3d, at twelve o'clock, m., as the day for final adjournment. The amendment was

Agreed to.

The section as amended was

Agreed to.

And the bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. SCHALL, the Speaker adjourned the Senate until to-morrow morning at ten o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, March 13, 1867.

The House met at 10 o'clock, A. M., pursuant to adjournment.

The Journal of the previous day was partly read and approved.

BILL PASSED.

On motion of Mr. CHASE, the orders were suspended and the House proceeded to the consideration of bill No. 1109, entitled An act relative to the common council of the city of Titusville, and fixing the indebtedness of said city.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules being suspended the bill was read a second and a third time, and Passed finally.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. WHARTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer an original resolution.

The resolution was read a second time as follows:

Resolved, That a committee of three members of this House be appointed, with power to send for persons and papers, and report to this House, as soon as convenient, a statement setting forth the names of the banks, banking institutions, bankers, or individuals, in which, or with whom the money of the Commonwealth has been deposited, during the fiscal year ending 30th November, 1866, showing the amount held upon deposit by each of said banks, banking houses, bankers, or individuals, at the end of each month during said year; also, whether any, and if any, what rate of interest was paid or allowed, or is to be allowed or paid for or upon such deposits, either to the State Treasurer or to any other person or persons with his knowledge, or whether any arrangements were made whereby he or any other person or persons secured, or is to receive any consideration for the deposits or use of the funds shown by his annual report, to have been in his hands during said year; also, whether, in their judgments, compatible with the security of the State funds, any arrangements can be made with banks or bankers, whereby interest upon the balances remaining in the treasury, can be secured for the benefit of the Commonwealth.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, this resolution is a direct attack on the character of the State Treasurer, and is understood.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know how to attempt to secure consideration for the business of this House. I am very much interested in some bills on the private calendar which I supposed would be reached before half-past 10 o'clock. I really do not know how to protect myself and the House from having the time consumed improperly in such effort. When this resolution was read it was distinctly said all around me, "let it be read for information."

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state for the information of the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN], and for the information of the House, that there is a conflict of orders called morning. The private calendar of yesterday was not gone through with, and that is one of the orders. Original resolutions are also in the orders. A majority of the House can rule anything in order.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I move the indefinite postponement of the resolution.

Mr. M'CAMANT. Mr. Speaker, on the motion I call the ayes and nays. I desire to know whether the Republicans are going to vote so as to screen their party friends.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

Question on the motion to indefinitely postpone the resolution.

Mr. MANN. I do not know by what authority the gentleman from Blair [Mr. M'CAMANT] is setting himself up as the oracle of the Republicans. That was the attempt in his remarks preceding the call for the yeas and nays. I shall vote to postpone the resolution. We have already six special committees in this House, and I have yet to see that any good has grown from the appointment of any of them. If any good has grown out of the appointment of these committees, I would have been particularly willing to appoint this one, if this resolution had been received earlier in the session; but, now I cannot see what possible good is to grow out of the appointment of this committee.

I, therefore, shall vote for the indefinite postponement of this resolution.

Mr. M'CAMANT. Mr. Speaker, I do not set up myself as the leader of the Republican party; in this respect I differ very much with the member from Potter. Ever since I have been in this House I have kept very quiet; I think much more so than the gentleman from Potter. I desire, however, at all times, to have the liberty of seconding any motion that is made by any gentleman in this House.

As the gentleman from Beaver [Mr. QUAY] said, this resolution was a direct attack on the character of the State Treasurer. It seemed to me that it was an indication that the Republicans would rally around the State Treasurer, and screen him from any wrong of which he might be guilty.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I hope the Democrats will vote as solidly as the Republicans on this resolution.

Mr. M'CAMANT. I do not know that the State Treasurer has done anything wrong, but I cannot see why his conduct, as a public officer, should not have as strict an investigation as that of any other officer of the Government. If the committee is appointed, as the gentleman from Potter seems to think special committees are of no account, I would suggest that the gentleman from Potter be put on the committee, so it will be of some account.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, it has been stated by some gentleman on this floor that this resolution is a direct attack on the State Treasurer. If it is so considered, I think it is nothing more than due to the State Treasurer that an investigation be had and that the special committee, called for by the resolution, be appointed, that the charges made upon this floor may be thoroughly sifted. If this resolution is in the nature of a charge, I do not think it should be voted down. It should pass. If the State Treasurer is not guilty of the charges which seem to be made by this resolution, let him be vindicated.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, this resolution implies a distinct charge of a violation of the law. Let the parties controlling this resolution charge the State Treasurer with fraud, then, it seems to me, will be the time to get up the committee to examine into these frauds.

This resolution is of the inoffensive style; therefore, I shall vote against it. If our public officers have been guilty of any malfeasance in office, let that charge be made distinctly and squarely. Then we will know what we are about; but do not throw out inuendos and get up a smelling committee to run around, and from which, as the gentleman from Potter says, no good results will arise.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, I say the State Treasurer has violated the law—I make a charge of that kind. I make it in regard to his duty in paying the pensions of soldiers of 1812. The law distinctly says he shall pay the pensions on the first day of January and the first day of July of every year. Now, I want to know if he has paid any pensions on or since the first day of January last?

Mr. LEE. I ask the gentleman if he knows a single order issued from the Auditor General's office on the State Treasurer (which is the only authority he can recognize) that has not been paid?

Mr. HEADMAN. I know this: he says he will not pay them unless each member of the House comes up and vouches that each order is correct.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I raise a point of order that these rewards are not in order.

The resolution refers to money deposited in banks, not to pensions.

Mr. HEADMAN. I want to know where this fund is—this one hundred thousand dollars that should be paid to the soldiers of 1812?

Mr. QUAY. That money is not paid because the Auditor General has never issued warrants.

Mr. HEADMAN. He has issued warrants to each one of the soldiers. They have their warrants to get their money every year.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I shall vote against this resolution for the very reason given by my colleague from Philadelphia [Mr. LEE], that I consider this one of those sneaking, dirty resolutions that sometimes pass a deliberative body.

There is no charge of fraud or corruption; no charge of placing money in the hands of improper parties. Why should we appoint a committee to ramble all over the State, go to every bank and ask how much has the State Treasurer deposited here, how much there, or what is his balance, or how much interest, if any, has been received, or what was the arrangement between you and the State Treasurer? Now, let the gentleman who offered this resolution make the charge that the State Treasurer has violated the law in any one of these particulars and I will vote for the resolution.

I know enough of the State Treasurer to feel satisfied that he will challenge investigation.

This sneaking resolution, calculated by its intent to ruin a man's reputation, ought not to be considered by this House.

I am just as much interested in the pay of old soldiers as my friend from Bucks county [Mr. HEADMAN], but this resolution has nothing whatever to do with that.

Mr. HEADMAN. I want to know where the money went.

Mr. QUIGLEY. I have no doubt if the gentleman goes to the State Treasurer he will find the money is there or that it has been paid out.

I hope the House will vote to postpone the resolution, unless the gentleman who offered it makes a distinct charge.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I think this resolution should pass.

If a majority of the House decide otherwise, it would lead the minority to suppose there was something tangible in the resolution, and that that was the reason it was not agreed to. It is no more than just the State Treasurer should have the chance of offering him to dispute any doubt that may arise in the minds of members who may be in the minority if this resolution is voted down. Therefore, I think, in justice to the character of the State Treasurer, this resolution should pass.

Mr. LINTON. Mr. Speaker, I have in my hand the report of the State Treasurer for the last year. I have looked over it, and I find in every month during last year, the State Treasurer had upwards of two millions of dollars in his hands, except at one time when it was one million seven hundred thousand.

As I understand the object of this resolution, it is to ascertain by investigation whether it is not possible to have this amount of money so invested as to be a source of revenue to the State. It is possible that this can not be done; but, at the same time, it is possible that this enormous amount of money may be appropriated so that in some way it may inure to the advantage of the State. This is the purpose of the resolution as I understand it when read. I do not see why any gentleman on this floor should oppose a resolution of this kind. If we can derive any benefit from this amount of money in the treasury let us have it.

I trust, therefore, the resolution will pass.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I have just one remark to make before the vote is taken on this question; that is, that the action of this House, whatever it may be, will neither add to nor take from the character of the State Treasurer. It is too well established in this State that he is the best financial officer the State has had for the past thirty years. No action of this Legislature can interfere with his reputation. By his financial operations the State of Pennsylvania stands today in a better position financially than she has for the past thirty years.

This resolution, as a direct attack upon the character of the State Treasurer, will fail. It will amount to nothing. As a financier, he stands pre eminent above any attack that can be made upon him in this State. It matters little to him, whether this resolution passes or not. I only oppose its passage, because I think it is wrong to bring up a resolution that might be construed to arraign the character of the man who has done so much for the reputation of Pennsylvania during the last two years.

I shall vote for the indefinite postponement of this resolution.

On the question,
Will the House agree to postpone indefinitely the farther consideration of the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McAMANT and Mr. DAVIS, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Brown, Camaron, Davis, DeHaven, Freeborn, Ghegan, Harner, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Joseph, Kimmell, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Kline, Kurtz, Lee, McCreary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Mullin, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Sharples, Shumau, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Watt, Webb, Wilson, Woodward, Worral and Glass, Speaker—45.

NAYS—Messrs. Armstrong, Barrington, Barton, Boyd, Boyle, Brennao, Calvio, Chalfant, Colville, Craig, Day, Deise, Espy, Ewing, Fogel, Gallagher, Gordon, Gregory, Headman, Heltzel, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Koon, Leech, Linton, Long, McAmant, M'Henry, Meyers, Phelan, Richards, Roush, Steacy, Tharp, Weller, Westbrook, Wharton and Wright—39.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

PITTSBURG AND CONNELLSVILLE RAILROAD.

The hour of 10 o'clock having arrived the SPEAKER announced the special order for that hour to be the consideration of House bill No. 284, an act to restore the corporate franchises of the Pittsburg and Connellsville railroad.

The question was on the final passage of the bill.

R-marks (which will be found in the Appendix to the Record) were made by Messrs. JENKS, M'RS. BOYLE, DEISE, DAVIS, COLVILLE, ALLEN, EWING, KENNEDY and HOUD.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE STATE TREASURER.

The following communication was received and read during the session:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
HARRISBURG, March 11, 1867. }
Hon. John P. Glass, Speaker of the House of Representatives:

DEAR SIR—There is no desire on the part of this Department to keep anything secret from the House of Representatives in relation to where the deposits of the State may be. I shall, therefore, prepare for the House a list of my depositories, and remit it to the House, as soon as a list can be made.

Very Respectfully,
(Signed) W. H. KEMBLE,
State Treasurer.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal:

IN THE SENATE, March 13, 1867.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor be requested to return Senate bill No. 288, entitled An act relative to the clerks of the courts of quarter sessions, oyer and terminer, and orphans' court of Lehigh county, for the purpose of amendment.

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following extract from the Journal of the Senate:

IN THE SENATE, March 13, 1867.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor be requested to return Senate bill No. 288, entitled An act relative to the clerks of the courts of quarter sessions, oyer and terminer, and orphans' court of Lehigh county, for the purpose of amendment.

On motion,
Said resolution was read a second time, agreed to, and

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

On motion, the SPEAKER then adjourned the House until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

ERRATA.

On page 526 of the Record, during the consideration of bill No. 316, the following amendment appears as having been offered by Mr. McINTOSH: "Nor to any locality where the sale of brewed, malt, spirituous or vinous liquors is restricted to hotel keepers. It should read as having been offered by Mr. KIMMELL."

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met at 3 o'clock P. M., pursuant to adjournment.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. PETER read in place the following bills:

An act to incorporate the Western Pennsylvania military academy, near Pittsburg, in Allegheny county.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

An act to incorporate Reserve township with the city of Allegheny.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

PUBLIC CALENDAR.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration of the bills on the public calendar.

The House went into the committee of the whole on House bill No. 305, a supplement to the general election laws of the Commonwealth, Mr. ESBY in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:
SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That all general elections hereafter held in this State, except in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, shall be opened at eight o'clock, A. M.

The bill was
Agreed to.

Mr. SHARPLES. Mr. Chairman, I move to amend by adding the following as an additional section:

"That the day of the meeting of the return judges shall hereafter be upon the first day succeeding the election day, at 1 o'clock, P. M."

I desire to say a few words in regard to that amendment.

I offer this additional section simply for the purpose of requiring the return judges to meet in their respective places at the earliest day for the convenience of the people. I cannot see why it is they should delay three days after the election before they make out their respective accounts and make their returns. It is a notorious fact that the returns are made by private parties on the next day, and the people are always anxious to receive the official returns. It is a recommendation also that it prevents opportunities for altering or tampering with the papers, and less chance for betting, and I think the time has come when we should make some such change as this. If it is found, in the opinion of this House, that the next day is too early on which to make such returns, I am willing to make it the day after; but it seems to me the returns ought to be made before Friday. Very many papers are published on Saturday, and if the returns were made on Wednesday or even Thursday, they could be published in the county papers on Saturday. I do not see why it is that return judges should not be compelled to make their returns at as early a day as private parties do. The returns of the late election in the State of New Hampshire were published in the New York papers, provided by private parties, the next morning after the election.

Now the time has come when we should make some improvement in this matter. I offered that section and ask the opinion of the House concerning it. I think there is merit in it.

Mr. KINNEY. Mr. Chairman, it seems to me that the second day after the election would be a better day. I think it would be very difficult in some townships to make the returns at one o'clock on the afternoon of the next day. I think it would be very difficult in some townships to reach the county seat in that time. I would suggest, therefore, that the time be fixed on the Thursday following, at one o'clock.

Mr. KOON. Mr. Chairman, I agree with the gentleman from Bradford [Mr. KINNEY] that the time is too short. It is well known that in heavy districts, at times, it takes until one o'clock at night to count the vote, and that would leave hardly time for the judges to reach the county seat the next day at one o'clock. It takes, in some counties, a good day's travel to reach the county seat. I think after the judges have sat up until midnight, or after counting the votes, they should have some few hours of rest before starting off for the county seat.

In some townships the place of voting is forty miles from the county seat, with no railroad leading to it.

I think the time is so short that it should be extended.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Chairman, I can see the propriety of the gentleman's amendment, but I do not see how it is going to correct the matter very well.

The return judges in my own county have to sit up nearly all night, where there are five or six hundred votes, to count the votes, and after that the law requires them to deposit the ballot boxes with the nearest justice of the peace, and that may take them out of the way for some time. They then have to go to the county seat, which, in some cases, is twenty-five or forty miles distant, and to accompany all this by one o'clock the next day would be simply impossible.

I would move to amend by providing that the judges should meet on the Thursday following, at one o'clock, P. M.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Chairman, I am in favor of some improvement in reference to this matter. I think until Friday is longer than there is any need for the return judges to make their report, but I do think in my own county it would be next to impossible to get the returns in from some remote townships on Wednesday. Therefore, while I am willing and think there should be an improvement in this matter and that the returns should be gotten in as speedily as possible, I do not think that they could be gotten in at an earlier period than Thursday. I approve of the amendment of the gentleman from Armstrong [Mr. MECHLING], that the return judges should meet on Thursday.

The amendment to the amendment was Agreed to.

The amendment as amended was

The bill as amended was

Agreed to.

Mr. M'KEE. Mr. Chairman, I move to except Allegheny county from the provisions of this bill.

The motion was

Agreed to.

In the House.

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. ESPY, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill with amendments.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and Passed finally.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the orders of the day be suspended for the purpose of taking up the private calendar.

The SPEAKER. It will require unanimous consent.

Objection was made.

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 359, an act to change the rate of interest from six to seven per cent. Mr. FOGEL in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the first day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, the lawful rate of interest shall be seven per centum, instead of six per centum; and that all laws conflicting therewith be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

Mr. HOOD. Mr. Chairman, I offer the following amendment to the section. Add after the words "six per cent." the following: "Provided, That this act shall not apply to money loaned upon and secured by encumbrance upon real estate."

The amendment was Agreed to.

The bill as amended was

Agreed to.

In the House.

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. FOGEL, chairman committee of the whole, reported the bill with amendment.

The bill was read as amended.

Mr. WEBB. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by adding the following proviso:

"Provided, That this act shall not apply to debts contracted before the first of April, 1865."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I move to strike out the amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. Hood] made in committee of the whole. We want a uniform law throughout the State. I do not see why money invested and secured by incumbrances upon real estate should not receive seven per cent. as well as that invested in any other way.

I trust that the House will strike out this provision and give us a uniform rate of interest without making any discrimination in reference to real estate or in any other way.

Mr. HOOD. Mr. Speaker, my object in offering this amendment was to produce harmony of action among the members from the rural districts. The object of this bill, and more especially in reference to the city of Philadelphia, is to enable us to compete with the States around us. In New York, New Jersey and Ohio the rate of interest is seven per cent. Capital is carried from Pennsylvania to New York and New Jersey for investment, because parties can receive one per cent. more for it than at home. For my part, I would rather see this question of interest a matter of contest between the two parties; but I offered the amendment that I did as the next best thing that would meet with the views of the members of this House. That amendment was only offered for the purpose of satisfying the country members.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if this amendment offered by my colleague does not strike at one peculiar interest, particularly in the city that he represents? If money is bringing seven per cent. in every other enterprise, would it not be impossible for builders to raise money for building purposes at six per cent., while, when invested otherwise, it was bringing seven per cent.? I think such a provision would operate adversely against his own city.

Mr. HOOD. Mr. Speaker, it is a fact that any man that can get seven per cent. for money in New York, New Jersey and Ohio, will not invest it in Pennsylvania at six per cent.

As to the question propounded by my colleague, I would say that a mortgage on real estate is better security than most other classes of security. Negotiable paper, which passes from hand to hand, is not so good as security on mortgage. But a security by mortgage upon valuable real estate, and that mortgage further secured by a policy of insurance, is capital securely invested beyond a question or doubt.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I hope this bill will not pass, even with the amendment offered by my colleague [Mr. Hood]. The intention of this bill is to favor the wealthy classes at the expense of the poorer classes. The poorer classes have no money to loan at interest, but if this bill passes they will have to borrow money and pay seven per cent. interest. We all know, so far as Philadelphia is concerned, that the securities upon real estate are the most valuable that can be had, and ground rents now command a premium of six per cent. I think the wishes of a majority of the people of Philadelphia are against the increase of the rate of interest as contemplated in this bill, and I hope it will not pass.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I think the position taken by my colleague is a very strange one. His argument is that it will take away the capital from large cities and benefit the poor man. This is no argument at all. By retaining capital within a city you will help the manufacturing and laboring men, but by the opposite of this you will injure them. What is the result in the city of Philadelphia, perhaps the largest manufacturing city in the United States—a city with a reputation all over the country for being the best workmen and the best mechanics in the United States? How is it with regard to capital invested in the city of Philadelphia? Take your mercantile business, even take your manufacturing business, and New York, with very little more population than we have, has almost double the amount of capital invested than we have. And why is this? If a man is worth a hundred thousand dollars and lives in the city of Philadelphia, the law allows him but six per cent. interest.

He wishes to live upon his income; he takes his money to the city of New York, or Ohio, or New Jersey, or even out into the Western States, and he can get from seven to ten per cent. for it, so that drives that much capital out of the State of Pennsylvania into these other States. I believe in Ohio they can charge even ten per cent. interest; they can do that, I am informed, in Illinois. They can get a higher rate of interest in all the States adjoining Pennsylvania than they can get here. I have known instances where men have sold out their property in Philadelphia for the purpose of reinvesting it in other States, for these reasons. The whole mercantile people of Philadelphia are in favor of this bill, and I have no doubt that such is the case in Pittsburgh and in every county adjoining the State of Ohio. And why? Because the law, as it now stands, militates against the money men in your own State.

In New York, the capital of the country is invested in the manufacturing and other business, and when we come to have the capital of our own State invested in our own State, then the workmen and mechanics will be benefited at home. This is the very way to draw the capital of our own State into our own manufactures, and not allow it to be drawn into neighboring States.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if capital is not invested very extensively in Philadelphia from New York, in building up the city?

Mr. QUIGLEY. I know only of one case, and they have built, perhaps, some dozen houses on Broad street. But where there is one dollar invested in Philadelphia that comes from New York, there is a million dollars invested in New York that comes from Philadelphia.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says there are a million dollars invested in the city of New York from Philadelphia. To one invested in Philadelphia from New York. Now, I wish he would give us some of the names and some of the facts to support that statement.

Mr. QUIGLEY. I cannot give the names in detail, but I can give one fact, that at least the largest brokers we have had in the city of Philadelphia have been driven into New York.

Now, this matter has been agitated here for years. It passed the House last winter, and was defeated in the Senate for want of time. This is a matter that not only interests the city of Philadelphia, but it interests every man who has money to invest at interest. It interests every working man, for where you have capital there you have labor.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, the argument has been used here that because we allow only six per cent. legal interest, capital will seek New York and other places where the rate of interest is higher.

Now, the money article in the Philadelphia Ledger of to-day says:

The money market rules quiet, and rates are unchanged, at five to six per cent. on call, in large amounts on Government securities. On stock collaterals the rate is six to seven per cent., while short time commercial bills rule at seven to nine per cent. per annum discount.

Now, I think, if what that article states is the fact, that capital instead of leaving Philadelphia, will seek it.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend the amendment of the gentleman from Erie [Mr. M'AMCREARY], by striking out in the bill all after the word "that," and inserting the following: "Hereafter, parties to contracts for the loan or hiring of money may agree upon any rate of interest therefor, not exceeding seven per cent.; but if no such agreement is made, the rate of interest shall continue to be as at present fixed by law."

I will not occupy the time of the House in discussing this interest question. It has received a very large amount of discussion. For myself, I do not believe the people of this State are ready to advance the rate of interest to seven per cent., but I can see what appear to me very good reasons why it should not be done. The Government of the United States is a very large borrower, and it seems to me, sir, that patriotic citizens, as we all are, particularly on this side of the House, we should not increase the rate of interest, and thereby enter into competition with our Government. The Government, as

I understand it, is attempting to reduce its rate of interest. It is funding its seven-tenth bonds in five-twentieths, which draw only six per cent. interest. I think it is a very unpropitious time for us to increase our rate of interest and pay more than the Government is paying. We would thus have an advantage in the money market that no good citizen wants, and that ought to be a sufficient reason to prevent the passage of this bill.

For that reason I offer this amendment.
Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to raise any objection to this amendment. My general views upon this subject are rather in favor of giving the parties themselves a right to make their own contracts. But it seems to me that the effect of this amendment is almost the same as the original bill.

Who are the parties coming here pressing this Legislature to pass this bill? They are the capitalists; they are the men who invest their money in bonds, mortgages, notes, bills of exchange and the like, and not the men who invest their money in manufacturing for the purpose of developing the resources of the country. It is the men who have money to lend and not the borrower. If you allow them to make a contract according to their own notion, will not every man, especially that class of men who are pressing upon the poorer classes of the community—men who are compelled to go into the market and be borrowers—will they not be the men who will not make a contract with anybody unless they can get their seven per cent.; and will not a ring be formed throughout the State to refuse to loan money for less than seven per cent.? If the original bill is improper, if the law authorizes and requires parties to charge five per cent. interest, what difference will a law of this character make which enables them to make a contract at seven per cent.? So far as the immediate effect of this amendment is concerned, there is no difference between it and the original bill.

The argument advanced by gentlemen that will not have the rate of interest at seven per cent. is that money is driven from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the States of New York, New Jersey and Ohio, for the purpose of procuring a higher rate of interest.

Now, Mr. Speaker, as a fact, I do not believe that is the case. Philadelphia to-day is investing an immense amount of capital in manufacture and trade, and she boasts of the amount of money that she has invested in her manufactures, which are to be seen upon every street and corner and precinct of that large city. The men of money who invest in manufacturing and the various channels of trade and commerce find a very easy mode of investment in the city of Philadelphia, and there are millions of dollars at the rate of six per cent. invested in that way in that very city. Every man who looks over this broad Commonwealth, and sees the energy and spirit everywhere manifested from the east to the west and from the north to the south, has a refutation of the argument set forth upon this floor, that the capital of this vast State is driven out of the State into the States of New York, Ohio and New Jersey.

I will read from to-day's paper from a New York letter published in the Philadelphia Ledger.

The writer says:
"Money continues in fair demand—on call, six per cent. on railway stocks and other collaterals; on Governments five per cent. discounts, five and a half to six per cent. for prime names."

Now, the State of New York or New Jersey, where they have the rate of interest at seven per cent., and the complaint is in the city of New York that money can be obtained for from five to six per cent., while in the State of Pennsylvania you cannot secure it at six per cent.

In 1865, for the purpose of relieving money lenders from the oppressive burden of taxation imposed upon them, the Legislature gave them the power and authority to contract with borrowers and make them pay the tax upon the money lent. The effect of that legislation in 1865 was to increase the rate of interest from six per cent. to as high as nine per cent. for several years.

Now, Mr. Speaker, this is a wide field, and I am not familiar enough with the laws of finance, nor familiar enough with political economy, to go into the elaborate investigation this subject requires. But it is one of great importance, and it is more important, sir, to the men who borrow the money for the purpose of developing the interests of the Commonwealth than it is to the men who lend their money away. These men who are made richer by the development of the interests of the Commonwealth in business, in manufacturing or by other modes, and who have the necessary capital now to loan to others for investment, they, of all men, ought to be the last to come here and say that they shall have more than six per cent. for their money. They are not the men that we should aim so much to protect—the men who have the money in their pockets—but the men of youthful vigor who have just started out to grapple with the material interests of the State—the men who require money—are the men to be protected. The poor farmer who requires money to purchase land or to pay for what he has already partly purchased, or for the purpose of procuring the means by which he can convert his land into arable soil and green meadows, he, and such as him, should be protected.

This is an old question revived in another form—the question between capital and labor. It is capital on the one hand, demanding an increase of the rate of interest, and the poor man and the laboring man on the other. It is capital arrayed against labor, and you have got to protect one or the other. I say, protect them both as well as you can.

It is difficult to ascertain what the lawful rate of interest ought to be.

If you leave the field open to allow parties to make any kind of a contract, then the Shylocks of the land will take the last drop of blood they can get from the laboring men, and they will demand the pound of flesh, and if that is in the contract and bond he will have it. It is, I repeat, the old question between capital and labor, and in this form it assumes its very worst aspect; because the capital involved is in the banks and coffers of the rich men of your land, who will not themselves invest it in manufacturing, who have lost their youthful energies and ambition, and who wish to receive as large a rate of interest as they can from the laboring men.

I say, give them a fair and just and proper equivalent for their money, but no more; and also give a fair and just equivalent to the man who uses that money for the purpose of making your fields bloom as a garden, and to the mechanic who develops, by his industry, intelligence and energy, the material interests of this Commonwealth; to those who would make this Commonwealth as it ought to be and will be before many years, the great Empire State of this land. If you give unlimited license to capitalists to take such interest as they choose, you take out of the hands of that class of men who stand arrayed against the monopoly of capitalist money by developing your fields, and you tie the hands of the men who, above all other men, are the power and the wealth and the security of the State. I trust, then,

Mr. Speaker, from so far as we are able to judge to day as to the effect of the increase of the rate of interest, that this bill will be defeated, that the rate of interest will remain at six per cent., and that the act of 1865, enabling the parties to make an agreement as they should see proper with regard to the tax upon the money, will remain as it is at present.

Mr. MAVIS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Northampton [Mr. Lyman] has made a very excellent speech, and if he had not, in my opinion, misconceived the subject, and argued from a wrong stand-point, the speech would probably have made a very good impression. The burden of his argument was to prove that no persons desire the passage of this law except men who have retired from business, and wish to invest their money. Now, sir, this is a mistaken idea. The men who desire this law to be passed, so far as I know, are the men of business—the men of the manufacturing industry, and the class of people that he refers to and bases his beautiful speech upon, are those that do invest their money outside the State of Pennsylvania, at seven per cent., at any time they please. You have been told from the outset that all the States bordering on the north and west of Pennsylvania have increased their rate of interest. Cannot a man who has nothing to do but to invest his money, do so in New Jersey, or New York, or Ohio, at seven per cent.; or go a little farther and invest it at ten per cent. in Illinois? It is the manufacturing and business men who desire to have the money to carry on their business who ask us to pass this law, so that the capitalists may not go into adjoining States and invest their money at a higher rate of interest than they can get at home.

Pennsylvania, in her material wealth, has yet to be developed. Pennsylvania possesses more wealth within her borders, more real wealth than any other State in the Union; and in reference to the argument of the gentleman in regard to the business of Philadelphia, compared with the business of New York, I would say that although Philadelphia may not quite compare with New York in her manufacturers, it is because of the fact that capital cannot be retained in Philadelphia, but is driven elsewhere, where it commands a higher rate of interest. New York throws open her doors to the capital of the world; Pennsylvania should do the same.

The gentleman makes another mistake when he says this policy is against the laboring man. That is an old argument which has become fossilized years ago. The true argument is, that what is good for the manufacturer is good for the man who works for him, and when they can obtain money to develop the resources of the country and the capital to manufacture, the prosperity of the laboring man will be increased and every man will be benefited.

It is an argument which has been used over and over again, that this was a question of capital against labor. That argument is good for nothing, for there is no argument in it. The true doctrine is that what is good for the manufacturer is good for the man who is employed by the manufacturer. Let manufacturers prosper, and let the iron and coal of Pennsylvania be developed; let the manufactures that legitimately belong to Pennsylvania be carried on within her own borders, and every workman in the State can receive almost any wages that he chooses. The capital of the State will remain here, and the business man will pursue his legitimate business; the resources of the State will be developed, and in a few years Pennsylvania will rival New York. But so long as Pennsylvania adheres to this narrow and contracted policy of crippling her capital, just as long will she be behind the age.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, in the little State of Delaware, which borders on the southeastern part of our State, money at interest is not taxed, and a higher rate is allowed than in Pennsylvania. The consequence is, that the county of Delaware, in this State, adjoining the State of Delaware, sends a great deal of capital over there for investment. Within a few years past I have known a number of capitalists to remove from the State of Pennsylvania across the State line into Delaware for the purpose of escaping the taxation that is imposed upon them here, and obtaining a higher rate of interest than they can in this State. This has made capital in the county of Delaware very scarce at times, for capitalists have sent their money for investment into Delaware, even when they did not remain there themselves.

In reference to the remarks that have been made in regard to New York, a prominent citizen of Philadelphia, and a reliable man, told me not long since, that over forty millions of dollars were sent to the city of New York from the city of Philadelphia by the capitalists of that city, outside of the banks, and if gentlemen will examine the returns of the banks of the city of Philadelphia, they will find that they have a balance in the banks of some thirty or thirty-two millions of dollars, while the New York banks show nothing whatever in their favor from the Philadelphia banks. The cause is that the rate of interest is higher in New York than in Philadelphia, and the capital is attracted from this State to New York.

I was sorry to hear the gentleman from Northampton unearth the old theory that labor required legislation to protect it from capital.

I think, sir, that capital fosters labor and brings it up, and that labor amasses capital. I would not draw any invidious distinction between the two, if they go hand in hand, and the sooner that fossilized idea is thrown aside and we combine labor and capital, the sooner our great State will go on in even more glorious prosperity than she has ever heretofore.

I hope the bill will pass. The capitalists of the country and the manufacturing interests, and mining interests, and all the interests of the State, require it.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have listened to gentlemen on the opposite side, and to gentlemen in favor of this bill, and those who advocate this increase all say that it is required on account of capital going out of the State and being reinvested in other States, where the legal rate of interest exceeds that in this State. The man who invests his money in manufacturing and mining in this State is not restricted to six per cent. interest, for I am sure a company has the right to declare its own dividends, whether it be six, or seven, or fifteen per cent.

Now, this bill is gotten up expressly for the purpose of grinding down the poor working classes of the community. It is an effort which will result in these men going into business and sacrificing what little they have got.

Last year we passed a law exempting real estate from State taxation and put the tax upon corporations, and they are the parties who want this additional one per cent. that they may be able to grind it out of the poor people to pay this State tax. All the petitions that are sent here from Philadelphia asking for this increase are sent exclusively by the money and brokers, men who invest their money in manufacturing or anything of that kind. They have their money and they wish to lend and not to borrow. The bona fide capital is invested in manufacturing, while in New York business is carried on by borrowed capital, and when a financial crisis comes they go by the board, while in Pennsylvania our substantial business enterprises are enabled to survive the perils of such an occasion.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Does the gentleman know that the Philadelphia board of trade has passed a resolution urging the passage of this bill?

Mr. HEADMAN. I do not know anything about that, but I hope this bill will not pass.

Mr. KOON. Mr. Speaker, this bill was before us last winter, but it failed to become a law.

When the gentleman from Philadelphia talks about Philadelphia wanting this act, I feel like saying to them that Paris is not France, neither is Philadelphia the State of Pennsylvania. Nothing would open the eyes of the people of the rural districts so quickly and so wide as the passage of an act of this kind. I have not heard, since the agitation of this question a year ago, in the county of one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants in which I live, more than two gentlemen express themselves in favor of such an act, and those two were bankers, who, of course, were after their pound of flesh. I believe that Luzerne county is not in favor of the bill, nor do I believe that any county outside of Philadelphia, except it may be Allegheny, is in favor of it.

As to the argument that our present rate of interest drives capital from Pennsylvania to New York and other States, I believe it can be positively demonstrated that there is one hundred dollars from New York invested in Pennsylvania where there is one dollar from Pennsylvania invested in New York. That argument, then, amounts to nothing. In short, it is a scheme gotten up for the benefit of the brokers and bankers, men who have money to loan, in the city of Philadelphia.

I do not believe in the doctrine that when you protect the rich you necessarily protect the poor, but I believe that this bill is calculated especially to protect the rich at the expense of the poor.

Now, I tell the gentleman from Philadelphia that this is no very little matter to the people of our Commonwealth. We have now two incorporated cities and twelve boroughs, and a population of about one-half of that of Philadelphia, although we have but three members on this floor. Philadelphia had better be looking out, for we are after her.

[The remainder of the gentleman's remarks were inaudible at the reporter's desk.]

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would say to the gentleman from Luzerne [Mr. Koon] that the manufacturers of the city of Philadelphia pay their employees. We have not got thieves in that city who get into the mining business on false capital and then shut up shop and cheat the poor workmen out of their dues. We never had to come to this Legislature and ask it to protect our working classes, since I have had a seat upon this floor, nor have I known a case where we have had to invoke the Legislature of Pennsylvania to protect the workmen against the capitalists of Pennsylvania. I am aware that there are thousands of dollars invested from the State of New York in his county. I know that the State of New York has almost entirely developed his county. I know that his feelings are more with the State of New York than with the State of Pennsylvania, and I appreciate his feelings on this, as on all other occasions. We know further that a great part of the floating capital of the State of Pennsylvania is invested in the city of New York.

Now, it is well known to every gentleman on this floor and to the gentleman from Luzerne as well, if not better than any other member, that pretended capitalists, every little while, go there and operate a few years on a false capital, and then suddenly shut up shop, and cheat their workmen and everybody that placed any confidence in them.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to discuss this bill. I think the House understood its merits, as it was very fully discussed here last winter, and I feel that the people of this State understand this bill and the necessity of it. I only wish to put in my protest against the continued assertion of members here who live in a part of the State where it is said hoop poles and white beans are a legal tender—that it is a bill gotten up and desired only by the city of Philadelphia. Now, I wish to say to the gentleman from Luzerne [Mr. KOOX], and others of his opinion, that there are other counties in the State of Pennsylvania besides Philadelphia that want this bill passed. I represent a county of that kind, and I have a petition signed not by brokers but by the strong business men and the poorer citizens of Erie city and county, asking that this bill shall become a law.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—Your petitioners, residents of northern Pennsylvania, would most respectfully and earnestly ask your attention to the subject of an increase of the lawful rates of interest in our State. As the lawful interest of the State of New York is seven (7) per cent., the capital of our border counties has been attracted by the better investment, and it has long been a notorious fact, that the business interests and prosperity of this section of the State was suffering thereby. So long as first class investments are inviting capital at seven per cent. as a lawful rate, and so long as our State statute restricts discounts to six—the result is that our business prosperity is sacrificed in this respect.

Your petitioners hold it to be a self-evident fact, that the present low rate of interest is an effectual bar to a large class of legitimate borrowers; and further, that should the lawful rate of interest be changed to seven per cent. (the same as in New York State), it would be to the interest of all banks, bankers and private capital, to seek investment in legitimate home channels, thus adding to the prosperity and wealth of our own State, and would prevent the diversion of capital from the State.

Believing that the time has fully arrived when the interests of both borrowers and lenders favor the increase, and that a protection to our home interests which will place us on an equality with our sister States demands it, we would most earnestly ask that your honorable body so change or amend the present statute as to make the lawful rate of interest of our Commonwealth seven (7) per cent.

Now, Mr. Speaker, is there any reason why money should not seek the market which pays the highest price, the same as any other commodity? If the gentlemen who have spoken so metaphysically upon this subject and entice or produce to sell, and thought they could get a higher price in New York than in Philadelphia, where would they go to find their market? Would they drive their cattle to Philadelphia and get one cent less per hundred there than they could get in New York? It would be idiotic to assert that they would do so.

If the gentleman from Northampton [Mr. MEYERS], or the gentleman from Luzerne [Mr. KOOX], had one hundred thousand dollars, or any less sum, to invest or to place at interest, would they be likely to invest or loan it to their poor neighbors at some, for whom they appear so solicitous, for six per cent., when their poor or rich neighbors across the State line stood ready to pay them seven per cent., and when the Government offered them seven and three-tenths? When men wish to make a donation to the poor, they do it outright. When they engage in business, they are apt to be governed by the laws of business, and no business law is better established than this: that articles for sale seek the highest market, and money is no exception to the law.

When we enter a market, with all its resources, with all the material of the country at command, was compelled to pay seven and three-tenths per cent., how can the poor man, without these advantages which the Government possesses, expect to get money at six per cent.? It seems to me that it is a plain question which is governed by the ordinary laws of trade, and these metaphysical disquisitions, in my opinion, have no place in this discussion. I do say that the present rate of interest in Pennsylvania operates against the poor man; the rich man can go to New York and get whatever capital he requires, for he is able to give the necessary security, but the poor man has no security to offer but his honest face and strong sinews, and these will be of but little account among moneyed men who are strangers to him.

I speak with some warmth on this subject. I live in a county, the farthest removed from Ohio, and yet the people of my county—the active business men and the poor men, are sending me petitions, asking that this bill shall be passed. I live in a county bordered on one side by New York, paying seven per cent., and on another side by Ohio, also paying seven per cent. and upwards, and our people feel the immediate necessity of a law which will keep our capital in our own county, instead of driving it outside for more advantageous investment.

It is, to-day, impossible to borrow money, in the city of Erie, for six per cent., because it goes out into neighboring States or is invested in Government securities. The capital of Pennsylvania should be a source of revenue to the State, but hundreds of thousands of dollars go into New York and Ohio, and Pennsylvania derives no revenue from money thus placed at interest. The gentleman from Northampton and the gentleman from Luzerne have asked for the names of those who have gone to New York to invest money.

I cannot, of course, give the names or the exact amount, but I have a right to assume such to be the fact. If Pennsylvania paid no interest at all, I would be said in saying that no one in the State could borrow any. I would be equally safe in saying that but little money can be borrowed where a less rate of interest is paid than can be obtained elsewhere. The existence of one fact or a state of facts often presupposes the existence of another. When darkness comes over the earth we know the sun has set, although we may not have seen it, but we know it by the existence of the darkness.

The sight of a man staggering along the streets satisfies us that he has been drinking in strong drink. Certain results invariably follow certain effects, and no result is more certain than that money, or any other marketable commodity, will find the market that pays the highest price.

I stand here for the poor man and I say keep your capital at home. Who borrows money? The poor man; the rich man has money to lend. But if all the capital is carried out of the State, the poor man is unable to borrow it. If you should pass a law requiring that wheat should be sold in Pennsylvania at one dollar and a half per bushel, and it could be sold for two dollars in New York, would not all the wheat be taken from Pennsylvania to New York? Would gentlemen here tell you that you must not repeal that law? The poor man would suffer by it, and why? The rich man could go to New York and buy it back; for he would have the means to do so, but the poor man could not, and therefore must suffer. The price of money is governed by the same principle, and would affect the different classes in the same manner.

This principle will hold good among all classes in all the departments of business. Whatever will keep capital in our midst, developing our resources and rewarding industry, will best meet the wants of the rich and the poor, and promote the interests of the mechanic, the tradesman, the day laborer and the man of wealth.

I had not intended, Mr. Speaker, to have occupied so much time in the discussion of this subject, as I gave my views upon the bill when it came before the House during the last session. I can only say that since then my convictions of the necessity of this law have become stronger and clearer, and my belief in its necessity more deeply seated.

The question being on agreeing to the amendment of the gentleman from Fayette [Mr. BOYLE],

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KINNEY and Mr. CALVIN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Brown, Calvin, Chadwick, Chalfant, Colville, Craig, Espy, Egeel, Gallagher, Gordon, Gregory, Harner, Hess, Hill, Humphrey, Hunt, Joseph, Kennedy, Kinney, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Lee, Leech, Linton, Long, M'Camant, M'Henry, Mann, Marks, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pnelan, Pillow, Quay, Rhoads, Richards, Robinson, Roush, Seiler, Shapses, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Tharp, Waddell, Webb, Weller, Wingard and Wright—56.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Barton, Chase, Davis, Day, Deise, Donoghue, Ewing, Freeborn, Harbison, Helzel, Hood, Kerns, M'Creary, M'Kee, Maish, Meching, Meyers, Quigley, Stumbaugh, Subers, Wallace, Westbrook, Whann, Wilson, Worrall and Glass, Speaker—27.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment as an additional section:

That the act passed the 22d of March, 1865, an act to authorize borrowers to contract for the payment of all taxes upon loans, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of that additional section is, inasmuch as the bill, as it now stands, provides that parties shall pay interest at the rate of seven per cent.—if that law remains upon the statute books, it would authorize the borrower to contract to pay the taxes upon money in addition to the seven per cent. I think that would be burdensome, and that it is nothing more than right that this law should be repealed. If this bill is passed in its present shape, it authorizes money lenders, in addition to the power of contracting at the rate of seven per cent., to contract further for all taxes on this money, which would increase it to nine or ten per cent.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, the tax on money at interest is more than one per cent.; and if this amendment is adopted, it seems to me that it will be rather a reduction than an increase of the rate of interest from what it is at present.

The question being on the amendment of Mr. MEYERS,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MEYERS and Mr. BARRINGTON, and were as follow, viz: YEAS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Brown, Cameron, Deise, Gallagher, Gordon, Harner, Josephs, Kennedy, Kimmell, Kinney, Kutz, M'Henry, Meyers, Mullin, Pennypacker, Rhoads, Richards, Sharples, Tharp, Waddell, Webb, Weller, Westbrook and Whain—25.

NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Barton, Breen, Calvin, Chadwick, Chase, Craig, Davis, Day, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Fogel, Freeborn, Harbison, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Humphrey, Hunt, Kerns, Kline, Koon, Lee, Leech, Linton, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Maish, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Quigley, Robinson, Roush, Seiler, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Wallace, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—54.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring on suspending the rules and reading the bill a third time by its title,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. CALVIN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Barton, Boyd, Chase, Collins, Craig, Davis, Espy, Freeborn, Harbison, Hood, Humphrey, Josephs, Kerns, Kinney, Lee, Leech, Linton, M'Creary, M'Kee, Maish, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Pillow, Quay, Quigley, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Wallace, Webb, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—42.

NAYS—Messrs. Allen, Barrington, Boyle, Breen, Brown, Calvin, Cameron, Chadwick, Chalfant, Colville, Day, Deise, Ewing, Fogel, Gallagher, Gordon, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hunt, Jenks, Kennedy, Kimmell, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Long, M'Camant, M'Henry, Maish, Meily, Meyers, Mullin, Pennypacker, Peter, Phelan, Rhoads, Richards, Roush, Tharp, Waddell, Weller, Westbrook and Whain—45.

So the question was determined in the affirmative,

And the bill goes over on the third reading.

The House went into committee of the whole on Senate bill No. 235 (Mr. EWING in the chair).

The bill was read as follows:

AN ACT making it an offense for railroad corporations, within this Commonwealth, to make any distinction with their passengers on account of race or color; and punishing said corporations and their agents and employees for the commission of such offense.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of this act that any railroad or railway corporation, within this Commonwealth, that shall exclude, or allow to be excluded, by their agents, conductors or employees, from any of their passenger cars, any person or persons on account of color or race, or that shall refuse to carry, in any of their cars thus set apart, any person or persons on account of color or race, or that shall, for such reason, compel, or attempt to compel, any person or persons to occupy any particular part of any of their cars, set apart for the accommodation of people as passengers, shall be deemed liable to an action of debt to the person thereby injured or aggrieved in the sum of five hundred dollars, the sum to be recovered in an action of debt as like amounts are now by law recoverable.

SEC. 2. That any agent, conductor or employee of any railroad or railway corporation, within this Commonwealth, who shall exclude, allow to be excluded, or assist in the exclusion, from any of their cars set apart for the accommodation of passengers, any person or persons on account of color or race, or who shall refuse to carry such person or persons on account of color or race, or who shall throw any car or cars from the track, thereby preventing persons from riding, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500 00), nor less than one hundred dollars ($100 00), nor be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three (3) months, nor less than thirty (30) days, or both, at the discretion of the court. The first section was taken up and

Agreed to.

Mr. MANN, Mr. Chairman, I move the committee rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again.

The motion was

Agreed to.

In the House

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. EWING, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported that the committee had had Senate bill No. 235 under consideration, had made progress and asked leave to sit again.

The question being,

Shall the committee have leave to sit again?

It was

Not agreed to.

The question being on agreeing to the first section of the bill,

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, this subject has been very thoroughly discussed before this House, and I think every member fully understands the subject. I therefore call the previous question.

The call for the previous question was seconded by Messrs. M'Creary, Pillow, Woodward, Webb, Leech, Chase, Sharples, Peter, Humphrey, Espy and Freeborn.

The question being,

Shall the main question now be put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. QUIGLEY and Mr. DAVIS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Watt, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyd, Breen, Calvin, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Long, M'Henry, Maish, Markley, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—31.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring on agreeing to the first section of the bill.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BOYLE and Mr. MEYERS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—54.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Maish, Markley, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—36.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The second section of the bill was read.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment, to come in at the end of the section:

"That all churches, public assemblies, theatres, opera houses, shall be open to all classes of persons, without distinction of color; and any officer or employee interfering with any person, without distinction of color, from occupying any seat in such church, public assembly, theatre or opera house, such person or persons so offending shall, upon conviction thereof, undergo an imprisonment in the county prison of not less than six months or more than two years, at the discretion of the court; and the corporation whose agent or employee hath so offended, shall pay a fine not less than five hundred or more than one thousand dollars, at the discretion of the court."

The question being on agreeing to the amendment.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. My point of order is that the section of the bill before the House is in regard to railroads and railway corporations, and that the amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. MULLIN] is not germane to the subject.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, I hope the gentleman will reduce his point of order to writing, so that we can see it.

Mr. DAVIS. It is very easily seen, sir. My point of order is that the amendment is not germane to the subject. It is the same point that has been raised several times by the gentlemen on the other side of the House and is well understood.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the point of order taken by the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. DAVIS] is well taken.

Mr. GREGORY. I appeal from the decision of the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will reduce his appeal to writing.

The appeal, upon being reduced to writing, was read as follows:

The Speaker having decided that bill No. 235, entitled An act to punish by fine any railroad corporation within this Commonwealth that shall exclude, or allow to be excluded, by their agent, conductors or employees, from any of their passenger cars, any person or persons on account of color or race, the gentleman from Philadelphia offered to amend the same by inserting the following:

"Provided, That all churches, public assemblies, theatres, opera houses, shall be open to all classes of persons, without distinction of color, and any officer or employee interfering with any person, without distinction of color, from occupying any seat, such church, public assembly, theatre, or opera house, such person or persons so offending shall, upon conviction thereof, undergo an imprisonment in the county prison of not less than six months, or more than two years, at the discretion of the court, and the corporation whose agent or employee hath so offended, shall pay a fine not less than five hundred dollars, or more than one thousand dollars, at the discretion of the court.

And the Speaker having decided the amendment not germane to the question, and, therefore, out of order, from which decision we respectfully appeal.

(Signed) WM. S. GREGORY,
MICHAEL MULLIN.

The SPEAKER. The question is, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I move to lay the appeal on the table.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I move to indefinitely postpone the motion to lay on the table.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, a motion having been made to lay this appeal on the table, and the gentleman from Fayette [Mr. BOYLE] having made a motion to indefinitely postpone the same, I will now proceed to discuss the question out of which these motions grew. The bill is a bill equalizing the races in Pennsylvania, and to extend.

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, I call the previous question.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to—

The SPEAKER. The previous question has been called. Those seconding the call will stand until their names can be taken down by the Clerk.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton [Mr. MEYERS], is not in order.

The call for the previous question was seconded by Messrs. M'Creary, Pillow, Freeborn, Brown, Armstrong, Ghegan, Barton, Kimmell, Webb, Chase and DeHaven.

The question being,
Shall the main question now be put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. KERNS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Canant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Maish, Markley, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—37.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The SPEAKER. The question now is, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, if I fully understand the question, it is on the indefinite postponement of the motion to lay the appeal on the table.

The SPEAKER. The House having sustained the call for the previous question, it brings the House directly to a vote on sustaining the decision of the Chair. All dilatory motions are cut off by the previous question.

On the question,
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KERNS and Mr. CHASE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Canant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall and Wright—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Maish, Markley, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—37.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the decision of the Chair stands as the judgment of the House.

The question recurring on agreeing to the second section of the bill,

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, on that question I call the previous question.

Messrs. Kerns, M'Creary, Chase, Freeborn, Kinney, Davis, Ghegan, DeHaven, Peter, Webb, Steacy and Worrall seconded the call for the previous question.

The question being,
Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. M'CREARY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Canant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Maish, Markley, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—37.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring on agreeing to the second section of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. MEYERS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Canant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—56.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Maish, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—35.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment as an additional section

SECTION 3. Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be held to compel the admission of negroes into cars set apart for ladies, or into berths in sleeping cars.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. My point of order is this, that the previous question being called upon any section of the bill carries the bill entirely through, and that the question is now upon the title and no additional amendment can be offered.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, the previous question was called on the first section. When the vote was taken on the first section the previous question was exhausted. It was again called on the second section. The vote on that section being taken the previous question is therefore again exhausted, and the amendment of the gentleman from Fayette [Mr. BOYLE] is in order.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, if the amendment is an amendment to the title, it is in order; but if it is a new section, it is out of order, because the House has already acted upon the last section of the bill, and the question is now on agreeing to the title.

The SPEAKER. The Chair having already recognized the gentleman from Fayette [Mr. Boyle] as offering an amendment, he is of the opinion that it is in order for the House now to consider it.

Mr. DAVIS. I shall have to appeal from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the effect of the previous question is valueless if that is a correct decision. I shall therefore unite with the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. Davis] in appealing from the decision of the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state that the previous question was called on the second section of the bill, and not upon its final passage.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I have no disposition to quibble about the point of order, and will withdraw my appeal from the decision of the chair. But I make this suggestion, that if it is in order to offer an additional section after the previous question has been called on the last section, the thing might go on forever. The previous question might be called on this section, and then another gentleman might rise and propose another section, and there would be no end to it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the point of order is well taken; but the Chair having already recognized the gentleman from Fayette as offering an amendment, it is of the opinion that that amendment is before the House.

The question being on the amendment of Mr. BOYLE.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I call for the previous question.

The call for the previous question was seconded by Messrs. Mann, Harbison, Humphrey, Lee, Kerns, M'Creary, Freeborn, M'Kee, Chase, Wallace, M'Camant and Stumbaugh.

On the question,
Shall the main question now be put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. QUIGLEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Meehling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Maish, Markley, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—37.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring on agreeing to the amendment of Mr. BOYLE.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I want the House to understand how they are voting. The friends of this bill want no amendment on it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. Davis] is not in order.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. MULLIN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Maish, Markley, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp, Westbrook and Wingard—41.

NAYS—Messrs. Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Meehling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Richards, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—51.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring on agreeing to the title.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I would just state to the gentleman—

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. Davis] to order.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. CALVIN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Meehling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Robinson, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wharton, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—57.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Markley, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—35.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question being,
Shall the bill be transcribed for a third reading?

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I move that we now adjourn.

The motion was
Not agreed to.

The question recurring,
Shall the bill be transcribed for a third reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. MANN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Harbison, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Meehling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Breen,

Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jones, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Maish, Markley, Meyers, Mullin, Phelan, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—35.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill goes over on third reading.

SENATE.

THURSDAY, March 14, 1867.

The Senate met and was called to order at 10 o'clock, A. M., by the SPEAKER. Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Bailey, of Harrisburg.

On motion, the reading of yesterday's Journal was dispensed with.

PETITIONS.

Mr. CONNELL presented a remonstrance of citizens of Philadelphia, against the repeal of the act granting gratuities and pensions to the soldiers of the war of 1812.

Referred to the Committee on Pensions and Gratuities.

Mr. M'CANDESS, one of like import. Referred to the Committee on Pensions and Gratuities.

Also, petition of inhabitants of Philadelphia, for the repeal of the special license law for retailing liquors, &c.

Referred to the Committee on Vice and Immorality.

Also, a remonstrance against bill to render parties to suits, witnesses, &c.

Which was read as follows, viz:

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania: General Assembly met.

We, the undersigned, members of the bar of Philadelphia, observing that a bill is now pending before your honorable bodies to change the law of evidence by enabling parties to suits, and others interested, to testify on the trials of cases in which they are interested, do respectfully but earnestly remonstrate against its passage.

Our present system, under which persons directly interested in the result of a suit are excluded as witnesses therein, has been in operation during the ninety-one years of our history as a State; during which time justice has been, as a general rule, faithfully administered, and with no more mistakes or errors than are incident to human institutions. We can say of our own locality that our judicial tribunals enjoy the popular confidence.

We see, therefore, no reason for so radical a change, for "progress," though a word attractive to many, does not, we submit, always imply improvement. That disinterested evidence is the more reliable, seems too evident to require argument, except to the limited class who believe in the perfection of mankind; yet it is now proposed to admit all as witnesses, however great may be their pecuniary motives to secure a verdict. This change is also advocated at a time when the criminal records of the country disclose so many instances of crimes prompted by the desire of gain, forcibly verifying the inspired words: "The love of money is the root of all evil." Surely we should pause before adopting a system which will afford the greatest possible stimulant to perjury.

It is, however, contended that the new system is requisite to prevent "failures of justice," as many honest claims (it is alleged) are now lost for want of evidence to support them, which would thus be supplied. To this we reply.

First, That our act of 1865, Pamphlet Laws, page thirty-eight, enables parties to suits to call and examine the opposite party, as formerly, by a bill of discovery.

Secondly, That it is easy to have witnesses present, or to reduce agreements in writing; thus avoiding the uncertainty of verbal evidence, too often illustrated in our judicial proceedings, and which would certainly prevail to a much greater extent if parties could give their own versions.

We think the dishonest claims which would succeed under the new rule would prove more numerous than the honest claims which fail under the present system.

It is also argued that by this proposed plan both parties, plaintiff and defendant, would be placed on an equality; that both could make their respective statements, and the jury could readily arrive at the truth. But this is more plausible than sound. An unscrupulous person stimulated by the strongest possible motive, self-interest, can relate an artfully prepared story in a confident style which may produce on the minds of a jury more impression than the narrative of a truthful party, whose very anxiety to avoid error often causes hesitation. In addition to this, we might suggest that juries, composed of fallible men, are often insensibly swayed by sympathy or prejudice.

We are invoked to follow the example of New York and other States, which have introduced this rule into their jurisprudence. But if published accounts form any basis for comparisons, we think it may, at least, be said that our own system has not proved inferior to theirs.

For these reasons (which might, if necessary, be further illustrated), we respectfully remonstrate against the enactment of the proposed bill; at least until an opportunity can be afforded, by a commission or any other mode acceptable to the Legislature, to ascertain the practical effect of this proposed change in England and other places where it has been adopted.

And we will ever, &c.

Signed by David Paul Brown and fifty-five lawyers of Philadelphia.

Mr. WHITE here said that he had in his possession, and in due time would read in response to this, a memorial of the Attorney General of Pennsylvania and a large portion of the bar of Philadelphia, together with a memorial from a portion of the Supreme Court of the State, in favor of the proposed change.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

PUBLIC CALENDAR.

Agreeably to order, the Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of bills on the public calendar, which were disposed of as follows:

No. 411, an act relative to the county prisons and almshouses of the Commonwealth.

The first section was read as follows:

Mr. BIGHAN moved to fill out the blank at the end of the section by adding the words "one thousand dollars a year."

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, I hope the Senate will agree to that. This bill has been prepared by gentlemen connected with the association for the improvement of prison discipline—men who have devoted a lifetime to the consideration of the subject. The object is to have a perfect inspection of the prisons of the State, and the sections which follow provide for the appointment of inspectors in the counties, without compensation. It will be necessary, if this is to have practical result, to have a superintendent. The committee were unanimously adverse to having salaried officers. However, there has been legislation this session, by which the Citizens' association of Philadelphia were given certain powers to undertake to inspect all the prisons, and other places where vicious persons are confined, throughout the Commonwealth.

Now, I do not know what will be the judgment of the Senate in this matter, but I think that, if this sum of one thousand dollars were inserted in this section, and the gentlemen to be selected by that association designated, perhaps this inspection would be efficient. There is no doubt there is a very large field for inspection, and for the exercise of humanity and sympathy connected with the inmates of our penitentiaries in the Commonwealth. I learn that, so far as the penitentiary in Philadelphia is concerned, there is a constant visitation there. I am assured that there is not a week, perhaps a day, in which this visitation is not occurring; from men in high position in society, who desire the election of those who are within the walls of the penitentiary, and who desire to bring social influences to bear upon them for their advancement and improvement. But there are, no doubt, throughout the Commonwealth, cases that are not brought within the exercises of humanity to which they are entitled. If the inmates of the prisons were visited by those who desire their reform and future elevation, it would result in great moral good. It is for operations of this nature that I feel inclined to vote. I should vote against it if it were constituting another salaried office, which would be sought for as a political gift. If it were to attract those who are hungry for political appointment I should vote against it. But, if you make it a simple charity, and have its workings under the Citizens' association, I think the point would be gained without abuse.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. Speaker, it is known that this bill has been recommended by the prison association of Philadelphia, and the only question with me is, whether the bill which we passed the other day, regulating the Citizens' association, will not answer as a substitute for this bill. If it will supply what is intended by the provisions of this bill, I should be perfectly satisfied to take that in preference. I would state to the Senate that I have sent a copy of that bill to the leading officer of that society, expressing to him the idea that that law might answer the purpose of this one, and desiring his opinion upon the subject. Now, if he recommends the adoption of that law, and thinks that it will take the place of this, I should be disposed, in that case, to say that this bill ought not to pass. The great object of this bill, however, is to acquire statistics upon the subject of pauperism and crime in the State of Pennsylvania. We are wonderfully deficient in that particular. We have county almshouses and prisons which are in a very objectionable condition; and I do think that there is something required on the part of the Commonwealth to have an inspection of these institutions, to find out the wrongs and evils connected with them and endeavor to correct them. The Legislature has a guardianship over the morals of the people, and one of the great objects of legislation is to prevent crime and poverty; and the expenditure of a small amount of money for that purpose is not to be compared with the great good that would result from it. Now, sir, I am willing to let the bill lay over until we hear from the gentleman I have spoken of, to see what his views are in regard to it. I ask, therefore, that the bill be laid over.

The bill was laid over for the present. No. 457, a further supplement to an act passed March 29, 1865, to establish a board of wardens, and for other purposes, securing certain rights to pilots.

The first section of the bill was read. Mr. M'CANDLESS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to send up and have read a resolution from the board of wardens of Philadelphia, together with a letter from the master warden.

The resolution and letter were read as follows:

Resolved, That the master warden be, and is, instructed to remonstrate against any alterations in the present pilot laws; it being, in the opinion of this board, that the amendments now before the Legislature will be injurious to the commerce of the port of Philadelphia."

PHILADELPHIA, March 11, 1867.

HON. WM. M'CANDLESS:

Dear Sir—At your suggestion I forward for your information the following reasons why bill No. 457, entitled "A further supplement to an act passed March 29, 1865, to establish a board of wardens and for other purposes, securing certain rights to pilots, should not pass. The majority of the pilots of the Delaware bay and river of the present day are not as efficient as the old time pilots; they are lazy and consequently are very much opposed to cruising. Some few years since these pilots formed a combination among themselves not to cruise, but to lay around the capes and breakwater and speak vessels there, and the captains are obliged to take them. After a vessel arrives at breakwater another captain can bring her safe to the port of Philadelphia without pilot, and may prefer to do so. The great danger is outside of the capes, where many vessels, in the last few years, have been wrecked, caused by this combination formed by the pilots not to cruise. The merchants, to protect themselves, consulted with a number of the old and skillful pilots, and offered to build them a pilot boat if they would cruise to sea after vessels. They accepted the offer, and the Thomas P. Cope was built expressly for these old pilots, and placed in their charge, and in a few months it had the desired effect, breaking up the combination, causing them to cruise also. The object of this bill is to break up the Thomas P. Cope. The friends of the bill have three boats to run against the Cope, and say it is their desire and purpose to do so, and the pilots of the Cope say it will have that effect. If their bill is passed, then the others will fall back to their old mode and stop cruising, which would be very injurious to the commerce of Philadelphia. The laws of the State compel a captain of an inward bound vessel to take the first pilot that speaks him at sea, and consequently is forced to take the first that offers, no matter how inefficient he may be. If he turns out a good pilot the captain will be sure to engage him to take her to sea, but if an inferior one he will not, but take a first class pilot. This bill makes it imperative on a captain to take an inferior pilot, if he is unfortunate enough to get one at sea, or one of his boat's crew, who may be no better, and probably worse, as they go by turns. For instance, if it is A's turn on the list, no matter how inferior he is, B, who is a first class pilot, will not go, because it is A's turn, so that you are obliged to take A or tie your vessel up to the wharf until you can obtain a good one. The merchants say they cannot allow the pilots to lure the port of Philadelphia for their (the pilots') benefit to the detriment of its commerce. The pilots come directly under the rule of this board, who make all the laws to govern them (which are just and equitable), except when they slip up to the Legislature, as in the present case, and endeavor to get the bill passed without the knowledge of the board. In my opinion, the present pilot laws are good ones, and give all an equal chance to make a living who are industrious, and try to make themselves skillful as pilots. This is also the opinion of the board, as you will see by the enclosed resolution. Then how unjust would it be to pass a bill compelling the master of a vessel to take an inferior pilot, against his better judgment, one who perhaps had run him aground in bringing him up, or pay him pilotage for no services rendered. The captain would then be obliged to get a first class pilot to take him to sea, after discharging the inferior one, for the interest of his employers and his own. There are other interests and reasons why this bill should not pass, but I think this will explain enough for you to understand how dangerous it would be to the commerce of Philadelphia, and the anxieties it would cause to masters, merchants and owners of vessels.

I did not intend to be half so prolix when I commenced to write. Pray excuse me. Very respectfully your obedient servant,
GIBSON C. CHASE.

Master Warden of the Port of Philadelphia.

Mr. RIDGWAY moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

The motion was

Agreed to.

No. 500, an act in relation to taxation upon the stockholders of corporations.

The first and only section was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, the shares of stock held by any stockholder in any institution or company, incorporated under the laws of this State, which, in its corporate capacity, is liable to, and pays into the State treasury, the tax on capital stock imposed by the act approved April twelfth, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, entitled "An act to equalize taxation upon corporations, shall not to be taxable in the hands of said stockholders personally, for State, county or local purposes, and so much of the thirty-second section of the act approved April twenty-nine, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, entitled "An act to reduce the State debt, and incorporate the Pennsylvania canal and railroad company, as imposes a tax, for State or county purposes, upon any stockholder in his individual capacity, as aforesaid, is hereby repealed: Provided, That this act shall not be construed to relieve said corporations from any tax now imposed by law, or the real estate belonging to said corporations, from the State, county or local tax, to which they are now, or may hereafter be, subject.

The section was

Agreed to.

The bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

No. 537, an act relative to weights and measures.

The first and only section was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act the standard weight of a bushel of wheat shall be sixty pounds; a bushel of rye shall be fifty-six pounds; a bushel of corn (shelled) shall be fifty-six pounds; a bushel of corn (cob) shall be seventy pounds; a bushel of corn (meal) shall be seventy pounds; a bushel of salt (coarse) shall be seventy pounds; a bushel of salt (ground) shall be sixty-two pounds; a bushel of salt (fine) shall be forty-seven pounds; a barrel of salt two hundred and eighty pounds; a bushel of barley shall be forty-seven pounds; a bushel of oats shall be thirty-two pounds; a bushel of buckwheat shall be fifty pounds; a bushel of cloverseed shall be sixty-four pounds; a bushel of timothyseed shall be forty-five pounds; a bushel of turnips shall be fifty-five pounds; a bushel of onions shall be fifty-five pounds; a bushel of peas shall be fifty-six pounds; a bushel of malt shall be thirty-eight pounds; a bushel of lime (unslackened) shall be eighty pounds; a bushel of anthracite coal shall be eighty pounds; a bushel of bituminous coal shall be seventy-six pounds; a bushel of coke, forty pounds; a bushel of potatoes shall be fifty-six pounds; a bushel of potatoes (sweet) shall be fifty-four pounds; a bushel of flaxseed shall be fifty-six pounds; a bushel of bran shall be twenty pounds; a bushel of dried peaches shall be thirty-eight pounds; a bushel of dried apples shall be twenty-five pounds; but nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as to prevent any person or persons from selling or buying any of the articles aforesaid, by measure or in bulk, irrespective of the weights herein established, and all laws or parts of laws inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

The bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

No. 508, an act repealing the tax on sales of lot and truck by auctioneers.

The bill was read.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, I trust that bill will not pass to-day. I have no objections to its going to a second reading.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, the whole object of this bill is stated in the preamble. A broker who says a license of fifty dollars can sell loans and stock without paying any tax at all. An auctioneer who has to pay a license of from five hundred to two thousand dollars, is taxed one-fourth of one per cent. upon all sales. The State Treasurer says it is manifestly unfair. The largest amount of revenue under this tax is over some nine hundred dollars a year, and at his request a bill was brought in to repeal this tax.

Mr. DONOVAN. I do not think my colleague understands this bill, nor the State Treasurer either. The broker pays a lighter tax than the auctioneer; they do more business. They are taxed on their gross receipts. I would like to have the bill laid over, and send it down and have it examined.

The bill was laid over for a third reading.

No. 605, a supplement to an act for the better preservation of game and insectivorous birds, approved the 21st day of April, 1858.

The first and only section was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the provisions of the second section of the act entitled "An Act for the better preservation of game and insectivorous birds, approved the twenty-first day of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, be, and the same are hereby, changed and modified, so that the time for killing partridges, shall be between the first day of November and the first day of January in each year, and that the penalty imposed by said section shall be increased from five to twenty-five dollars for each offense.

Mr. LANDON. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that, if a lad in Bradford county shall shoot a partridge in February, he shall be liable to a fine of twenty-five dollars.

The SPEAKER. Yes, sir.

Mr. SCHEALL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have Lehigh county excepted from the operation of that bill; we have a local law there. I make that motion.

The motion was

Not agreed to.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer) moved to amend by striking out all after the word "year," leaving the penalty as it now is.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. I hope that will not be adopted.

The amendment was

Not agreed to.

Mr. LANDON. I wish my county excepted, but I wish still more to have the bill voted down.

The bill was laid over to a third reading.

No. 616, an act to confer upon the courts of quarter sessions of this Commonwealth power to annex the land, or parts thereof, of persons resident in one district to another district, for school purposes.

The first and only section was read as follows.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the several courts of quarter sessions of this Commonwealth shall have authority, within their respective counties, to annex the land, or parts thereof, of persons resident in one township or borough, to another township or borough, for school purposes, so that when so annexed the applicant shall pay his school taxes and be included within the school district to which it is annexed for educational purposes, and remain connected with the district or township of residence for all other purposes; and the said court shall, upon the petition of any one desiring such change, proceed, by views and reviews, in the manner and under the restrictions provided under the act of the General Assembly, approved April fifteenth, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four, with its supplements, in regard to the alteration of the lines of any two or more adjoining townships: Provided, That all the costs of such proceedings shall be paid by the person or persons applying for such change.

The bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

No. 618, a supplement to an act entitled An act to consolidate, revise and amend the penal laws of this Commonwealth, approved the 31st day of March, 1860.

The bill was laid over for the present.

House bill No. 146, an act supplementary to an act relating to corporations for mechanical, manufacturing, mining and quarrying purposes, approved the 18th day of July, A. D. 1863.

The preamble and first and only section were read as follows:

WHEREAS, Great inconvenience has arisen from the provisions of the tenth section of the act to which this is a supplement, and no valid reason exists why stockholders in such corporations should have less facilities in acting by proxy than stockholders of railroad or other corporations; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That so much of the tenth section of the act to which this is a supplement as limits the number of votes to be cast by proxy, be, and the same is hereby, repealed.

The bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

No. 623, an act to authorize the use of the metric system of weights and measures.

The first section was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, it shall be lawful to use and employ, in all business transactions, within this Commonwealth, the weights and measures of the metric system, as the same are contained and set forth in the tables annexed to an act of Congress, approved the twenty-eighth day of July, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, entitled "An act to authorize the use of the metric system of weights and measures;" and when the said metric weights and measures are so used and employed, it shall be done, in all respects, agreeably to the provisions of said act of Congress.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, it may be necessary to explain this bill briefly. It was sent to me by one of the members of the bar at home. It merely authorizes or allows a system of metric weights or measures, as it is called. It is based upon the French system, which is said to be the most accurate system of measurement in the world. In the act of Congress, passed July 28, 1866, permission is given to use it. In many cities the boards of trade have agreed that, in large transactions, after the 4th of July, this system is to be used. There is nothing making it obligatory. It merely authorizes them to use it in large operations. I believe it is much the most philosophical system of weights and measures that has ever been adopted.

The first section was

Agreed to.

The second section was read as follows:

SEC. 2. The Secretary of State is hereby authorized and required to furnish to commissioners, of each and every county in the Commonwealth, one complete set of the standard weights and measures of the said metric system, for the use of the said counties, respectively, and the expense of furnishing the same shall be paid out of any moneys in the treasury not appropriated to other purposes.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. BIGHAM moved to amend the same by adding, after the word "Commonwealth," the words "who shall apply for the same."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

The section as amended was

Agreed to.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

House bill No. 246, an act for the better and more impartial selection of persons to serve as jurors in each of the counties of this Commonwealth.

Postponed for the present.

No. 667, a supplement to an act to provide for the payment of gratuities and annuities to the soldiers of 1812, and to their widows, approved March 30, 1866.

Mr. LANDON. Mr. Speaker, that matter was referred, a few days since, by resolution, to the proper committee. I believe they are preparing a bill to cover the whole case. I would suggest, in view of that fact, that this bill be postponed for the present.

The consideration of the bill was postponed for the present.

House bill No. 188, an act to extend to plank roads the provisions of the eighth and ninth sections of the act approved April 19, 1844, entitled An act concerning certain State and turnpike roads.

The first and only section was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the provisions of the eighth and ninth sections of an act approved April nineteenth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, entitled An act concerning certain State and turnpike roads, be, and the same are hereby, extended to plank roads: Provided, That whenever the charter of any turnpike or plank road company has been, or shall be repealed, it shall not be necessary for supervisors of townships to keep an account of the expenses incurred upon the turnpike or plank road of such company.

The bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

No. 684, joint resolution in relation to the reduction of the National revenue tax on distilled spirits.

The bill was read.

Mr. DAVIS said he hoped the bill would pass.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I fancy that, whatever would have been the policy when Congress was acting on the Internal Revenue bill, there is no necessity for this now, as that bill has been passed. I suppose everybody in favor of cheap whisky would vote for this; yet it involves a variety of considerations, and I hope it will not be passed.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, this subject has been considered in Congress, and I believe the dominant faction is rather against the reduction; yet we all know that Congress is now a permanent institution, and the subject can be brought up at any time, and probably will be, during the summer. I think there is no doubt, and Senators who have looked at this subject at all must have seen that the tax has resulted in nothing but a system of fraud; it is demoralizing in the extreme. I think, in the cause of good order, and everything else that is good, this temptation to fraud and dishonesty ought to be removed, and so far as we are concerned, I think this body will not do its duty to itself and the cause of morality unless we do what we can to remove this temptation from the people of this State. I am informed, privately as well as publicly, that the committee of investigation appointed at the last session of Congress, who are sitting in New York and Philadelphia, are of the unanimous opinion that the only way to prevent these frauds is to reduce that tax. So long as the tax is two dollars, a man who manufactures one barrel a week would make a year's income of four or five thousand dollars by cheating. So long as that exists, you will have thousands of men who will make money that way. There is no check against these frauds; no penal legislation will ever effect the desired object; the only way to do it is to carry out the spirit of the prayer which I hope Senators here offer every morning, to be relieved from temptation; and I do hope the Senate will consider this resolution, and consider it in the cause of morality.

Mr. LOWRY moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed indefinitely.

The motion was

Agreed to.

No. 685, an act to authorize the issue of registered bonds for the coupon bonds of this Commonwealth.

The first and only section was read, as follows:

WHEREAS in consequence of robberies and losses, holders of coupon bonds are frequently put to great inconvenience.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the holder of any coupon bond issued by this Commonwealth, and not yet due, shall have the right to exchange the same for a registered bond of the same amount, in every other respect similar to said coupon bond, under such regulations as the Governor, Auditor General and State Treasurer may prescribe.

The bill was read a third time, and

No. 724, an act authorizing the merger or consolidation of oil and other mining companies.

The bill was read a second and third times, and

Passed finally.

House bill No. 530, joint resolution authorizing the Governor to dispose of certain perishable military stores in the State arsenal.

The bill was read a second and third times, and

No. 757, an act to authorize the appointment of phonographic reporters for the several courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth.

The bill was read a second and third times, and House bill No. 251, an act relating to evidence in actions of ejectment.

The first and only section was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all actions of ejectment, against two or more persons, any of the defendants shall be competent as a witness for either plaintiff or defendant, as effectually as if not made a party to the record: Provided, That it shall appear to the court, upon the trial, that the party so offered as a witness has disclaimed, upon the record, all title to the premises in controversy, and paid into court the costs already accrued, or given security for the payment thereof, at the discretion of the court.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I will merely say that I am in favor of this bill. I do not agree that it is not an effective change of the law as it now exists. It is an impartial recognition of the rule that I am in favor of, and, because I am in favor of the change of the rule, I shall vote for this bill.

Mr. McCONAUGHY. The reason for making the individual in this case competent is because he has no interest, and has disclaimed all title to the premises in controversy.

Mr. WHITE. Where a case is brought up, they may have title to it, but they may enter disclaimer, notwithstanding it is upon the record; yet the law is, that, if I give a note to the Speaker of the Senate, and he assigns it to the Senator from Allegheny, and the action is brought, he has no interest in the controversy, yet he cannot be a witness, because his name is upon the record. That is the law now in Pennsylvania. That would be the rule in cases of action of ejectment.

Mr. McCONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a distinction in the case proposed by the Senator from Indiana. The policy of the law which prevents the assignor from being a witness, is because that assignment may have been made for the purpose of enabling him to be a witness; and the courts have decided, as one of the principal reasons for excluding him from the witness stand, that that contingency is possible. For that reason he is forbidden from making an assignment, and thus, by his own personal act, making him a competent witness in the matter in suit, so that the parallel is not sustained. I propose to amend by adding, after the word "controversy," the words "at the time of action brought."

Mr. BURNETT. Mr. Speaker, I feel inclined to support this bill, if it is amended as suggested by the Senator from Adams [Mr. McCONAUGHY]. The rule, as established in Pennsylvania, rejecting any party who has an interest in a case from being a witness in the same, has been well stated by the Senator from Indiana [Mr. WURR], and it has been the acknowledged doctrine of this State ever since the decision in the case of Post versus Avery, familiar to all lawyers here. I am opposed to admitting to the witness stand any person who has had an interest in the controversy, either directly or indirectly. Now, if an action of ejectment should be brought against two or more persons, without the amendment offered by the Senator from Adams the parties, of their own volition, would procure the filing of the disclaimer for the purpose of admitting interested parties to the stand. * But if this amendment should be passed by the Senate, of course it will meet that objection.

Mr. LOWRY. I would inquire of the gentleman who has just taken his seat if, under the law of the United States, parties are not permitted to come into court and give testimony?

Mr. BURNETT. Under certain acts of Congress they may, sir.

Mr. LOWRY. I believe that is the law of Congress, of Ohio, of New York, in England, and in almost every place but Pennsylvania, that parties may give testimony.

Mr. BURNETT. I will simply say to the Senator from Erie that there has been more injury in England in consequence of that rule than was ever known before.

Mr. SEARIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I was not in the Senate at the time this bill was called up, and I did not hear the remarks of the Senator from Indiana [Mr. WHITE]. But it is probable that he took the same view of this subject that I do myself, and put the argument in stronger and better terms than I am capable of doing.

I believe, sir, that this bill was prepared by the member from Greene county, one of the counties of my district; he is an excellent lawyer, a good man, and is anxious to have it passed. He desires it passed without delay. He is absent from the capital to-day, having gone to Philadelphia. I do not know that the amendment proposed by the Senator from Adams [Mr. McCONAUGHY] is objectionable, except in view of the fact that it may produce delay. I have a letter on this subject from a gentleman in my district, who is a lawyer of high standing, and who, at one time, Secretary of this Commonwealth. I have just received it, and I propose, in lieu of any remarks of my own, to give his suggestions. He says:

"It provides for a rather common case of an action against two or more defendants, and it turns out that one of the defendants has no interest whatever in the result of the suit, but is needed as a witness for his co-defendant. As the law now stands he is not competent, although he disclaims title upon the record, and pays the costs of the trial. The Supreme Court have admitted this hardship of the rule, but put his rejection on the ground that it is against the policy of the law—a very vague and unsatisfactory reason.—Justice Rogers, in one case, in seeking some mode of getting such testimony in, intimates that it might be done by enjoining a verdict against such defendant. But, in practice, there would be great difficulty in this, and the rule remains as it has been. The case occurs in almost every volume of Reports, and I presume every lawyer of the Senate has had a case where the evidence of a co-defendant would have been material, if not controlling, but it could not be received, although he was a mere nominal defendant—a tenant, perhaps, or one having no interest whatever in the suit—and was ready to disclaim title to the land in controversy.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, this question does not involve this general question of evidence at all. It is confined to defendants in actions of ejectment suits. It reads as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all actions of ejectment, against two or more persons, any of the defendants shall be competent as a witness for either plaintiff or defendant, as effectually as if not made a party to the record: Provided, That it shall appear to the court, upon the trial, that the party so offered as a witness has disclaimed, upon the record, all title to the premises in controversy, and paid into court the costs already accrued, or given security for the payment thereof, at the discretion of the court.

There is not the slightest objection to it.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, this bill, with that amendment, would be of no consequence whatever. If an action of ejectment is brought by a plaintiff against two defendants, and one of them files a disclaimer that he had no interest whatever in the case, he will be admitted as a party. With that amendment it will only accomplish what is already the law.

Mr. McCONAUGHY. I should like to see the authority for that position.

Mr. WHITE. I would show you the authority if I had time.

Mr. COWLES. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that all that is asked for in this bill is, that a party shall not shut any man's mouth by bringing an action against him, when, by his own action, he comes in and gives him all the remedy he could have if he pushed his suit to ejectment.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I would merely state this: I am in favor of the general principle, but without the amendment of the Senator from Adams [Mr. McCONAUGHY]. I am in favor of opening the door as wide as I can. Where a plaintiff brings an action against two defendants, and, after the service of the writ, upon the appearance day named in the writ, if one plaintiff comes into the court and files his disclaimer, and the case comes to trial, the jury is sworn and the issue is made up. That is the law as I understand it; and when that is done, the issue on which the longest A and B, and C, the co-defendant, who disclaims and has no issue whatever, can be a witness in that case.

Mr. McCONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, I assert, on my reputation as a lawyer, that in the case proposed the plaintiff is not obliged to take the disclaimer of the defendant.

The evil proposed to be reached is this: Suppose the Senator from Erie owns an estate; suppose John Smith is a tenant upon it; and suppose that Jones brings action in order to get title to that estate. He serves the writ upon the longest A and B, and C, upon John Smith, who is in possession, and by the law, the return of the writ is so recognized that it places him in the attitude of a defendant. Thus, if Smith is the only witness in possession of the evidence upon which to determine the issue, your hands are absolutely tied. He is made a party to the record, and, for that reason, he is rendered incompetent to testify, and that testimony, which may be required to determine the question as to the right involved, is excluded from the case.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, I can understand the explanation of the Senator, and it convinces me more and more, every day, that we have got to yield to the progressive spirit of the age, and wipe away these practices in the courts, and let a man state the facts, and put him on the witness stand. The progressive spirit of the age requires it; and I think we will all come to that before the Legislature adjourns.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I shall call the yeas and nays on that amendment for two reasons: In the first place, I reassert that the passage of this bill, with the amendment proposed by the Senator from Adams [Mr. M'CONAUGHY], would only allow that to be done which is already the law. Furthermore, I am opposed to restricting the operation of the rule advanced in this bill. I want the largest liberty possible to be granted, for the purpose of getting testimony, and the amendment of the Senator from Adams infringes upon the rule, as I think it ought to be; consequently, I hope that amendment will not be adopted.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment? The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WHITE and Mr. SEARIGHT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Cowles, Glatz, James, M'Conaughy, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Walls, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Davis, Donovan, Fisher, Graham, Landon, Lowry, M'Candleless, Searight, Stutzman, Taylor and White—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

During the call,
Mr. BROWN (Mercer) said: Mr. Speaker, I will vote against the amendment of the Senator from Adams, from the fact that I believe it will leave this bill just as the law now stands. Where parties upon the record establish satisfactorily that they are not interested in the result of a case on trial, certainly the simple fact of their appearing on the records of parties does not prevent them from testifying in the case. It would be monstrous to say that the law, as it now stands, forbids all who appear upon the record as parties to a particular case to testify as witnesses in the case, whether they are bona fide parties or were placed upon the record as such for the very purpose of preventing them from testifying. Surely the law cannot be so unreasonable or so unjust as this to enable any one bringing an action of ejectment to close the mouths of important witnesses for the defendant by making them parties upon the record.

The question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the section?
Mr. M'CONAUGHY said: Mr. Speaker, I propose to vote against this bill as it stands, because it will allow a party having actual interest at the time suit is brought to assign and convey his interest, and then file a disclaimer, and then go on as a witness.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section?
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CANDELESS and Mr. M'CONAUGHY, and were as follows, to wit:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Fisher, Graham, Lowry, Ridgway, Royer, Searight, Taylor and White—14.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Cowles, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Haines, Jackson, James, Landon, M'Candleless, M'Conaughy, Randall, Schall, Stutzman, Walls, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

So the bill fell.

During the call,
Mr. M'CANDELESS said: Mr. Speaker, I am opposed, sir, to all infractions of the common law, and I shall vote "no."

The hour of one o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until three o'clock this afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate reassembled at 3 o'clock, P. M.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the following messages, in writing, from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

HARRISBURG, March 14, 1867. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor to submit herewith the last annual report of the Antislavery National cemetery, with accompanying letters from Thomas A. Boulton, Esq., secretary and treasurer of said association, asking for an additional appropriation of five thousand dollars from this Commonwealth for the completion of said cemetery.

The amount solicited is not large, and I cannot doubt but your honorable body will cheerfully respond to so worthy and patriotic an object.

JNO. W. GEARY.

The foregoing, with the accompanying report, was referred to the Committee on Finance.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

HARRISBURG, March 14, 1867. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—A petition has been presented to me for consideration, which is of such unusual importance that I deem it my duty to transmit it with all the accompanying papers to the Legislature, with the recommendation that the matter should receive your prompt attention. From these papers it appears that in the year 1866 two young men, citizens of this Commonwealth—Noah H. Zook and Abraham H. Zook, sons of Jacob Zook, of Lancaster county—went to the State of Mississippi, and in partnership with William A. Brown and Cyrus L. Brown, residents of that State, rented a plantation on Big Black river, about twenty miles from Vicksburg. From time to time, during the spring and summer of 1866, they invested in their business over five thousand six hundred dollars. On the 24th of last November their father received a telegraphic dispatch informing him that his sons were missing, and that it was believed they had been murdered, and that the body of Abraham had been found on the 13th of that month, lying in a swamp. He had been robbed, murdered, and stripped of his clothing, and from appearances had been exposed for at least two weeks, and mutilated by wild animals. Soon afterwards a letter was received, confirming the terrible statements contained in the dispatches, the writer urging that his communication should be confidential, and by his language showing that, if his humane efforts were known to his neighbors, his personal safety would be endangered.

Upon the receipt of these advices, the aid of the National Government was invoked, and a gentleman of respectability, a member of the bar, was sent by Mr. Jacob Zook to Mississippi to investigate the matter. Orders were sent from Washington to the military officer in command at Vicksburg to give his assistance, and the result of the search and investigation will be found in the accompanying papers. It is proven that two citizens of Pennsylvania, while pursuing a peaceful and lawful calling, have been brutally murdered—the body of one having been found, as before stated, in a section of country where they should have been welcomed, protected, and encouraged, especially as they had gone there in the spirit of manly enterprise and confidence, to contribute with their capital, labor, skill and industry to its material wealth, social advantage and political tranquility.

The partners of these men, and who are believed to be their murderers, were allowed to collect the property of their slain associates, and then leave, unmolested, for Texas. Every impediment was placed in the way of the investigation; no relief was given by the local authorities, and the residents, during the examination, either avoided answering or responded in such a manner as exposed their sympathy for the accused, and the apprehension of evil if they disclosed all they knew of the occurrence.

The father of these murdered boys has asked his State to aid him in bringing their destroyers to justice, and, for the purpose of more speedily gratifying his wishes, I transmit all the papers in the case to you. The citizens of this Commonwealth are her children, and must and shall be protected; and it is her imperative duty to demand and insist that, wherever they shall go within the jurisdiction of the United States, their persons, their property, their reputation, and all that makes up the enjoyment of political and social existence, shall be secured to them.

I therefore earnestly recommend to your special attention, and urge that by some expression of your sense of the outrage, and of your determination to right this wrong, the United States Government will be compelled, by the offer of a suitable reward, and by immediate commands to those officials now happily vested with adequate authority by the military bill of occupation of the sections of our country recently red with the flames of rebellion, and filled with residents poisoned with the malice of subjugated treason, to search for and seize the perpetrators of this horrid deed, and bring them to speedy retribution.

I would also suggest, as asked for in the petition, that a reward be offered by the State, thus increasing the probabilities of apprehending and punishing the assassins, and at the same time showing the lawless communities which encourage the plunder and murder of Northern men, and conceal and shelter the perpetrators of the crimes, that Pennsylvania will, at all times, protect her citizens and enforce obedience to the laws.

JOHN W. GEARY.

The foregoing message, with the accompanying documents, was read in motion.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bills numbered and entitled as follows: No. 557, an act to exempt from taxation certain real estate in Philadelphia, belonging to the Jewish hospital association of Philadelphia.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

No. 803, an act for the relief of N. R. Harris, a commissioned captain of company D, in the Sixteenth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

No. 810, an act to legalize the bonds issued by the school directors of Green township, in the county of Clinton, for county purposes, and to authorize the assessment and collection of a tax to pay the same.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

He also returned bills from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows:

No. 402, an act to extend the time for receiving subscriptions to the capital stock of the Erie Dime Savings and Loan company, and to amend the act incorporating said company.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

On motion of Mr. LOWRY, the amendments were twice read and adopted.

YOTE RECONSIDERED.

Mr. SCHALL moved to reconsider the vote on the final passage of a bill entitled An act to authorize the clerk of the court of quarter sessions, oyer and terminer and orphaners' court of Lehigh county to appoint deputies, said bill having been returned by the Governor to the Senate for amendment, in pursuance of a resolution of both Houses. And the bill being again before the Senate, Mr. SCHALL asked, and obtained the unanimous consent to amend the same by adding at the end of the first section a proviso.

The bill then

Passed finally.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

On leave.

Mr. JAMES, from the Committee on Election Districts, to which was re-committed a bill entitled An act relative to contested elections in the city of Philadelphia, reported the same with amendments.

PUBLIC CALENDAR.

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of bills on the public calendar, as follows:

No. 825, an act to provide for the discharge of trustees and other fiduciaries under physical or mental disabilities.

The bill was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That whenever any one of several trustees, assigns, executors, administrators, guardians or other persons acting in a fiduciary character, appointed either by or under any deed or will, or in case of intestacy, or by the order or decree of any court of this Commonwealth, shall or may become permanently affected by any physical or mental disease or infirmity, so as to disable him from properly discharging the duties of his office, it shall be lawful for the court having jurisdiction of his accounts, upon the petition of any party in interest and proof made, to discharge him from the trust, and also to appoint some proper person in his place and stead, if the nature and duties of the trust shall require it.

Sec. 2. That such discharge shall be made only upon and after a citation issued to such trustee, assignee, executor, administrator, guardian or other fiduciary, served in the manner required by law or practice in like cases; but if such trustee, assignee, executor, administrator, guardian or other fiduciary shall be shown not to be a resident within the jurisdiction of the court, then the court shall direct the manner in which such service shall be made.

The bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

EDUCATION AND MAINTENANCE OF SOLDIERS' ORPHANS.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of bill on the public calendar, entitled An act for the continuance of the education and maintenance of the destitute orphans of the deceased soldiers and sailors of the State.

[Various amendments were offered and agreed to in committee of the whole. The debate thereon will appear in the Appendix.]

The bill as amended and passed finally reads as follows:

AN ACT to provide for the continuance of the education and maintenance of the destitute children of deceased and permanently disabled soldiers and sailors of the State.

WHEREAS, Several considerable appropriations have been expended for the proper education and maintenance of the destitute children of the men of Pennsylvania who died in defense of the Union during the late rebellion;

And whereas, It is incumbent upon the State to continue this provision for those children which are now hers;

And whereas, The experience thus far acquired in the performance of this duty now enables the Legislature to regulate by statute the large discretionary powers heretofore exercised in the premises; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Governor of this Commonwealth is hereby authorized and required to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, a State Superintendent of soldiers' orphans for three years, from and after the date of said appointment, to be subject to removal for cause, as other officers appointed in like manner are now, whose office shall be at Harrisburg, whose salary shall be the same as the State Superintendent of Common Schools and necessary traveling expenses, and who shall give bonds, with three securities, to be approved by the Auditor General, and filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in the sum of twenty thousand dollars, for the faithful performance of his duties. The superintendent shall have power to appoint one clerk, and the Governor one male inspector and examiner, and one female assistant, each at a salary not exceeding one hundred dollars per month and necessary traveling expenses, to inspect and examine the soldiers' orphan schools hereinafter provided for: Provided, Said superintendent shall not, during the period of his superintendency, have any pecuniary interest in any of the said orphan schools: Provided further, That all the male officers so appointed shall be honorably discharged soldiers or sailors.

Sec. 2. That the State Superintendent of soldiers' orphans is hereby authorized and empowered to contract with the trustees, proprietors or principals of institutions, now employed as soldiers' orphans' homes and schools, possessing such good and sufficient accommodations as said superintendent may approve, and of such other like institutions as may be necessary for the proper care and maintenance and education, at the expense of the State, and until the age of sixteen years, of the destitute orphan children of all such deceased soldiers and sailors, citizens of Pennsylvania, and soldiers who have served in Pennsylvania regiments, as have died in the service of the United States, in the late war to suppress rebellion; and, also, the destitute motherless children of soldiers permanently disabled in said war.

Provided, That the superintendent may require that institutions receiving soldiers' orphans over ten years of age, shall have not less than twenty acres of tillable land, and accommodations for not less than one hundred and fifty soldiers' orphans; And provided further, That said superintendent of soldiers' orphans shall establish at least one such institution for the reception of soldiers' orphans over the age of ten years, within one year after the passage of this act, in each of the twelve normal school districts now provided for by law, if in the opinion of said superintendent, the Governor concurring, the same shall be required and practicable: And provided further, That in no case shall the State become liable in any manner for the cost of erecting, repairing or furnishing any of the institutions employed as soldiers' orphan schools.

Sec. 3. That the State Superintendent of soldiers' orphans is hereby authorized to receive conveyances and transfers of the custody, care and control, for all the purposes of education and maintenance, till their arrival at the age of sixteen years, of said destitute soldiers' orphans from their respective fathers, mothers, guardians, or next friends, and all such conveyances and transfers heretofore made, or that may hereafter be made to the State Superintendent of soldiers' orphans, shall be valid and binding upon said fathers, mothers, guardians, and next friends, and also upon said orphans till their arrival at the age of sixteen years; and if said orphans abscond or be withdrawn, without his consent, from the custody of the Superintendent, or from the institutions in which he shall place them, they and all persons withdrawing or harboring them shall, thereupon, become liable to the provisions of the acts of Assembly relating to absconding apprentices.

Sec. 4. That the Superintendent of soldiers' orphans shall, by and with the advice and approval of the Governor, prescribe rules and regulations for the government of institutions becoming soldiers' orphan schools, designate the minimum number and grade of employees necessary, specify the character and quality of food and clothing that shall be furnished, and which shall be similar for all institutions of the same grade in the State, and decide upon a course of study to be pursued, which course shall embrace at least the usual branches of a good common school education, together with instruction in vocal music, military tactics and calisthenics, and the greatest variety possible of household and domestic pursuits, and mechanical and agricultural employments consistent with the respective sexes and ages of said orphan children and their school room studies. He shall visit each soldiers' orphan school at least once each quarter, either in person or by deputy, remaining at least twenty-four hours each.

Sec. 5. Application for the admission of soldiers' orphans entitled to the benefits of this act, into the institutions established for their education and maintenance, shall be made by conveyances and transfers to the Superintendent of soldiers' orphans in accordance with provisions of section third of this act, executed under oath by the father or mother, if living, and by the father, guardian or next friend, if the father and mother be dead, or has abandoned said orphans; but all applications must be approved by the board of school directors or controllers of the district, ward, or city in which the father or mother resides, if he or she makes the application, or in which the orphans reside in other cases; and the Superintendent may require such other certificate from a superintending committee, which committee shall be appointed, and hold office, at the discretion of the Superintendent and by and with the consent of the Governor, or from such other sources as he may deem necessary.

Sec. 6. That the said Superintendent be, and is hereby, authorized and directed to procure a school or schools, or home or homes, for the children of the colored soldiers and sailors who fell in the recent rebellion, subject to the same regulations and restrictions provided in relation to the education and maintenance of the orphans of our white soldiers and sailors.

Sec. 7. That all contracts made by said Superintendent shall be characterized alike by a wise economy and a just regard for services rendered, and that no contract shall be made for a longer period than one year, unless with the sanction of the Governor, and in cases in which it is clearly the interest of the State to contract for a longer period, such period in no case, however, to exceed five years: Provided, That all the contracts made under this act may be annulled at any time for failure to fulfill the conditions of said contracts, or of any contract, or of which failure the Governor and Superintendent shall be the judges, and that every such contract shall be made upon the condition of the continuance of said soldiers' orphan schools by the Legislature of the State.

Sec. 8. That the said Superintendent may, with the consent of the Governor, afford partial relief in kind, not exceeding thirty dollars per annum for each orphan, in cases where, in his judgment, it is proper to suffer the orphans to remain with their surviving parents, or relatives, or guardians, and to receive instructions in the public schools of the Commonwealth.

Sec. 9. That all bills for the maintenance and education of soldiers' orphans shall be paid quarterly, by warrant drawn directly upon the State Treasurer, signed by the Superintendent of soldiers' orphans, who shall file a receipted bill for the same in the Auditor General's office before issuing the next quarterly warrant, which the State Treasurer is hereby forbidden to pay until such receipted bill is thus filed: Provided, That all amounts appropriated for the purchase of clothing and the payment of partial relief salaries, and incidental expenses, may be drawn by the State Superintendent of soldiers' orphans, upon the warrant of the Governor, and the bills for the same settled semi-annually, at the Auditor General's office, in the usual manner.

Sec. 10. That the Superintendent of soldiers' orphans shall require monthly, quarterly and annual reports, according to such forms as he shall prescribe, from each institution receiving soldiers' orphans at the expense of the State; and that said Superintendent shall, not later than the first day of December, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, and annually thereafter, make a detailed report to the Governor of this Commonwealth of all the soldiers' orphans under his charge, their condition and progress, the numbers of each respective age from four to sixteen years, and such other information as he may deem expedient, together with a statement of receipts and disbursements by item and estimates for ensuing years.

Sec. 11. That when any of said orphans shall have arrived at the age of sixteen, or sooner, if deemed expedient, said Superintendent shall, at the written request of said orphan, and of his or her father, mother, guardian, or next friend, put or bind him or her out to such trade and employment, and to such master, or mistress, or employer, as shall thus be requested, and for such term as may expire, if a male, at or before the age of twenty-one; and if a female, at or before the age of eighteen years, in which indenture of apprenticeship there shall be included such covenants for the further education of the orphan as said Superintendent may prescribe, and such apprenticeship shall be, in all other respects not herein provided for, subject to the provisions of the act of Assembly relating to masters and apprentices, and the supplement thereto.

Sec. 12. That upon arrival at the age of sixteen years, each of said orphans who shall not desire to be apprenticed to a trade or employment, shall be restored to the father, mother, guardian or next friend, with a full outfit of clothes, and a certificate signed by said Superintendent and the principal of the proper school, showing his or her moral standing, and literary and industrial attainments and qualifications.

Sec. 13. That the year for all operations, under this act, shall begin on the first Monday of June in each year, and end the day preceding the first Monday of June of the year next succeeding, and all appropriations hereafter made shall be for the year as here determined, and made in like manner and at the same time as appropriations are now made for the general expenses of the government.

Sec. 14. That all acts, and parts of acts, heretofore passed, and inconsistent with this act be, and they are hereby, repealed.

On motion, the Senate then adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, March 14, 1867.

The House met at 10 o'clock, A. M. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. KENNEDY, member from Wyoming.

The SPEAKER announced a quorum of members present.

The Journal of yesterday was partly read, when,

On motion of Mr. ADAIRE, the further reading of the same was dispensed with.

Mr. SUBERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to make a statement.

Mr. SUBERS. Mr. Speaker, my colleague [Mr. WALLACE], being obliged to be absent on account of sickness last evening, left a small bill in my charge and felt very anxious to have it read in place and put upon its passage. I therefore ask for a suspension of the rules for that purpose.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I suppose we would facilitate business if we were to suspend the orders and give every gentleman a chance to read bills in place, and make reports from committees. If we allow any member to read a bill in place I do not see why we should not allow all to have a chance. I would therefore move to suspend the orders for the purpose of reading bills in place, and receiving reports from committees.

Mr. CAMERON. Mr. Speaker, I hope the order will not be suspended. It seems to me our calendar ought to receive as much attention as new bills. The old matter ought to be attended to before the introduction of new.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, there are quite a number of gentlemen here who have bills to be reported from committees, and are very anxious to get them on the next calendar, and I therefore hope an opportunity will be afforded to make report of bills from committees to-day that they may be on the calendar of next week.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I move to modify the motion by moving that the orders of the day be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of the private calendar. I am informed that all day yesterday the transcribing clerks had no work to do at all. The calendar is already a very heavy one, and in addition to the bills already printed, I am told that there are over a hundred yet to be printed. The clerks will be kept back a week or ten days in their business unless we consider the bills on the calendar to-day.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, unless we can get reports from committees in to-day, I presume we will not have much of a private calendar for next Tuesday.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, we have a great many public bills that are of importance, and we can take them up in case we get through with the private calendar.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I simply made my motion in order to save time.

Here are a number of gentlemen who desire to read bills in place, who will be constantly attempting to do so, and I think we had better permit them at once. We will save time by doing so.

Mr. WADELL. Mr. Speaker, I understand the calendar as now gotten up by the clerks contains fifty more bills than the private calendar now upon our tables. That calendar has gone to the printer, and if bills were reported to-day it is exceedingly doubtful if they would get on the calendar for next week.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I hope the motion of the gentleman from Armstrong [Mr. MECHLING] will prevail. It is much better we should finish up something than to get our hands full of additional business and finish nothing. This private calendar has been running on since Tuesday, and unless we finish it to-day we will probably not finish it this week. I trust the House will proceed with the consideration of the private calendar and finish up the business on hand.

The question being on the amendment by Mr. MECHLING to the motion of Mr. MANN, It was

Agreed to.

The question then recurring on the motion as amended, It was

Agreed to.

PRIVATE CALENDAR.

Agreeably to motion, The House proceeded with the consideration of the bills on the private calendar.

The following bills were read a second time and disposed of as stated:

Senate bill No. 233, an act to incorporate the Northern railroad and navigation company.

Amended by Mr. DEISE, and

Passed finally.

No. 704, an act to incorporate the National iron company.

Passed finally.

No. 707, an act to amend the road laws of Tioga and Potter counties.

Passed finally.

No. 708, an act to regulate the width of mountain roads in Madison township, Perry county.

Passed finally.

Senate bill No. 320, an act authorizing the supervisors of Jackson township, in Luzerne county, to let, in money, one third of the tax levied for road purposes in said township.

Passed finally.

No. 711, an act to authorize the road commissioners of Mill Creek township, Erie county, to compel the owners of land fronting on Ridge road to make side-walks, and to straighten out said roads.

Passed finally.

Senate bill No. 204, an act to extend the time for the completion of the Clearfield and Curwensville turnpike road, and to allow tolls to be taken upon the portions completed.

Passed finally.

No. 713, an act to repeal the Lenox road law, in the township of Lenox, in the county of Susquehanna, and for other purposes.

Passed finally.

Senate bill No. 132, an act relating to a certain highway in the Twenty-second ward in the city of Philadelphia, requiring the removal of a toll house and gate in German-town.

Passed finally.

No. 716, an act to increase the pay of the supervisors of Logan township, Blair county.

Passed finally.

No. 717, an act relating to the election of supervisors in the township of Middletown, county of Susquehanna, and for other purposes.

Passed finally.

No. 718, an act authorizing the election of four supervisors in the townships of Dover and Manchester, in the county of York, in the township of Tincicum, in the county of Bucks, and in the township of Strabane, Washington county.

Amended by Messrs. CALVIN and EWING, and

Passed finally.

No. 719, an act to legalize the acts of the road commissioners of Columbus township, Warren county, in levying additional road tax.

Passed finally.

No. 720, an act authorizing the supervisors of roads of the township of Allegheny, in the county of Armstrong, to levy additional taxes for road purposes.

Passed finally.

No. 721, an act to incorporate the Phillipsburg and Rochester ferry company.

Passed finally.

Senate bill No. 254, an act supplementary to an act entitled An act appointing commissioners to lay out and open a State road in the counties of M'Kean, Elk, Forest and Clarion, approved on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1861, reviving the third section of said act, and authorizing the commissioners to borrow money.

Passed finally.

No. 725, an act to authorize the school directors of the borough of Renovo, in the county of Clarion, to borrow money for building purposes.

Passed finally.

No. 724, an act to authorize the school board of Tyrone City, Blair county, to sell certain real estate now used for school purposes, and appropriate the money arising from said sale to the purchase of a better location, and erecting a more suitable building for school purposes, and to borrow any sum of money, not exceeding ten thousand dollars, at a rate of interest not exceeding ten per cent. per annum, to assist them in procuring the same.

Passed finally.

No. 725, an act to relinquish a certain annuity for the benefit of school purposes in the borough of Susquehanna Depot, Susquehanna county, with power to sell and dispose of old school houses, &c., and build new ones.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment as an additional section :

Sec. 4. And the sum of three thousand dollars shall be paid by the said company to the school directors of Osceola district, Tioga county, and the further sum of three thousand dollars shall be paid to the school directors of Condorsport, Potter county; the last mentioned sum to be expended for the erection of a house suitable for a graded school and maintaining a graded school in said township.

Mr. Speaker, I had not thought of asking for such an appropriation as this, but I find this bill making such liberal provisions for the district in which my colleague lives, that I think the district in which I live might also be helped a little for I feel confident we need help quite as much as the district provided for in the bill. I hope, therefore, the House will have the generosity to add these two districts in the Northern part of the State to the provisions of the bill. It is true this railroad does not run through them, but they are the worse off for that. If the railroad ran through them they would not be so bad off as now.

Mr. CAMERON. Mr. Speaker, I certainly do not look upon that amendment otherwise than as suspicious. The only object the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN] had in view in offering it was to kill my bill. It is a fact, very well known to many, that he made a fight on a somewhat similar bill last year, and he gave me the promise that he would give me fight again this year.

When the Erie railroad company asked the right to come through Pennsylvania, they obtained the right by the promise of paying the sum of ten thousand dollars a year so long as they continued to run. They have paid to the State something like two hundred thousand dollars annuity, and of what we call construction tax about two thousand dollars. That has been all paid into the treasury of the State, and every single dollar of their property has been exempt from taxation, and we were in no wise benefited by the Erie railroad passing through our county. But this company brings together a large number of persons to carry on their business at Susquehanna Depot, and at the small salary they pay, perhaps all they can afford to pay and probably as much as any one pays (not exceeding ten or twelve shillings per day), out of the little left to him to build school houses, open streets or anything of the sort. If we had the privilege of taxing that company we could give ten thousand dollars ourselves and have plenty left for these purposes. Now, we have in the district of Susquehanna Depot one hundred and fifty or two hundred children, and no way to educate them. The Depot is built on the edge of a hill, and you can step from the roof of many of the buildings directly on to the ground.

There is no agricultural district about, no mining, nothing of the kind. We have nothing with which to build our school houses or keep up our schools, and take care of the poor, outside of the little margin of ten or twelve shillings per day the laborers receive, after they get their living from that sum.

Now, there is probably not another instance of this kind in the entire State. The gentleman from Potter comes here and gets up this amendment—for what purpose? Not because he expects it will be agreed to, or because it is asked for, but the object is to fight and kill my bill, repeat this statement at another instance cannot be found of such a little town on the side of a hill where there is nothing to support it but the labor of the people who live there.

There is no property to be taxed or anything of the kind, to support the schools; and I also make this statement that there is hardly an academy or a college in the State of Pennsylvania but what has been largely endowed by the State, while upon the hills of Susquehanna, where there is nothing but hills, we have not had a dollar for schools, or roads, or other purposes, from the State. Other parts of the State have been built up by the public money, and we now come here and ask only for the little pittance of three thousand dollars, and are we to be refused it? Why, sir, my honorable friend from Potter has cost the State of Pennsylvania more than three thousand dollars for speeches that have gone upon the Record for no other purpose in the world than for buncombe, for they do not amount to anything else. There has hardly been a penny but introduced into this House but the gentleman from Potter has objected to it or made fight on it.

I do not know the object he has in this sort of thing; perhaps he is a candidate for Congress, or judge, and he is making buncombe here for that purpose at the expense of the State. If he thinks he can make capital for this sort of thing, and he costs thousands of dollars to the State more than any other man, it strikes me that the three thousand dollars we ask is better laid out for the purpose for which we ask it than for his buncombe speeches.

Now, sir, I hope the House will pass this bill. We have a very large number of poor but respectable men at Susquehanna Depot. This is a small sum that we ask for, and they have never had any help from the State. I do not intend to trespass upon the time of the House much longer in reference to this matter. I, however, want to say this to the gentleman from Potter before I sit down, that if he really is in earnest in the presentation of his amendment, I ask him to present it in a proper form, and if he has got an instance which has the merit that there in this case, I will support it.

There is another point I want to speak about. I want the gentlemen of this House to understand this bill, and that we ask only three thousand dollars for this year. It is only for one year and not for a continuance beyond that time. It is not the same as the bill of last year, which asked for a continuance of this amount.

Now, I believe I have said enough about this case for the House to understand how the matter is, and I feel that you will vote down the amendment introduced by the gentleman from Potter, and then I will offer an amendment to come in after the first section of the bill restricting the payment of this annuity to one year.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Susquehanna [Mr. CAMERON] is entirely mistaken as to the purpose for which I offered this amendment. I do not know what the temper of this House is at all upon this subject. All I say is that if the House is disposed to vote three thousand dollars to Susquehanna Depot district, do not know why they should not vote the same amount to Osceola district, Tioga county. I have offered this amendment to test the sense of the House. The people of Osceola district need the money quite as much and have quite as much claim upon it, and it will do quite as much good there and will educate quite as many children just as effectually; and I cannot see why they should vote down this amendment to help that district and then pass the other. That is not the principle I have voted upon all through this session. I go for doing equal justice to all parts of the State as near as I can, and I do not make this amendment more extensive in its provisions because I do not know the wishes of the other gentlemen upon this floor in this respect.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman know that the Supreme Judge is voted for all over the State?

Mr. MANN. I suppose that is true, but I do not suppose a justice of the peace of Susquehanna Depot district is voted for out of that district, and that may be the reason why the gentleman from Susquehanna has confined this bill to Susquehanna Depot. I submit to the House that he is quite as likely to be endeavoring to make buncombe in this case to get to be justice of the peace, or constable, or something of that kind, as I am. I have not lived to be fifty years of age, and been accustomed to such charges for thirty years, to be affected by them now. I have been used to them for thirty years, and I never pay any attention to them anywhere.

I have only to say again that we offer this amendment in good faith. If it will of the House to help us a little, I shall be very thankful. The people of Connersport are about building a graded school building, and they have taxed themselves for 1866 twenty-five mills on the dollar, and have proposed to do the same thing for 1867. I know they will be exceedingly thankful, if the Legislature in their graciousness will help them out of that trouble and vote them a little of this money paid in by the Erie railroad company.

My colleague [Mr. HUMPHREY] also says that Osceola district has made arrangements to build a graded school building in that district, and they will have to tax themselves very heavily to do it unless the State comes to the rescue.

I submit the case to the House without any further remarks, and leave them to decide whether they will grant this aid or not.

Mr. SHARPLES. Mr. Speaker, this subject has been carefully considered in committee, and a full statement of the facts in the case presented to the committee, and I believe the committee, without exception, were in favor of its passage. I am sorry that this little passage at arms has taken place between my honorable friends from Susquehanna and from Potter. I must say that I have listened to my friend from Potter not only on this occasion, but on other occasions, with a great deal of interest, and I feel satisfied that when he speaks here he speaks from that which he is a statesman of pure motives, that he is a statesman of pure motives, and I know that my friend from Susquehanna was a little in a passion when he made his remarks on that point, and I hope the feeling will pass off. As regards the amendment of the gentleman from Potter, if he will frame a bill to the same effect, as one of the Committee on Education, I can assure him that it will receive careful consideration in the committee. Sometimes bills are injured by attaching amendments of this character, and I think it would be better to have this matter come up in a separate bill than in this way.

Mr. KINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I believe the same proposition contained in this bill was before the House last winter, and I then voted against it. Since that time it has been my fortune to see the place called Susquehanna Depot. The Erie railway company has made it a point to establish a great many buildings and a good deal of machinery there, and the saloons, and I do not know but even the hotels of the town, belong to the Erie railway company. In fact, all the wealth of the place belongs to that company, and not one dollar of it can be taxed for town purposes. All the rest of the town is composed of mere shanties, and everything of value is absorbed by that company. That bill looks to me as a matter of justice, and I shall vote for it. There is probably not another instance of the kind on record in the United States where every shop and every saloon in a place is free from taxation. That company pay their loans into the State Treasury, and not a farthing of it can the town of Susquehanna Depot use for their own purpose. I believe this to be a bill of merit, and I shall favor it.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I simply rise to say, in justice to all parties, that the gentleman from Bradford [Mr. KINNEY] is mistaken in one respect with reference to this bill. It is not the bill that was here last winter, by any means. That bill provided that an annual sum of ten thousand dollars should be paid to this district for school purposes. This bill simply provides that three thousand dollars shall be paid this year. It is a just and proper bill, and I trust the House will pass it.

Mr. HUMPHREY. Mr. Speaker, I would say in reference to the amendment of my colleague [Mr. MANN], that I would certainly desire to get the appropriation for my township if possible, but in justice to the gentleman from Susquehanna [Mr. CAMERON], I would state that if that amendment should be defeated I have no wish to injure or impair his bill, and shall have no objection to voting for it under the circumstances.

The question being on agreeing to the amendment of Mr. MANN,

It was

Not agreed to.

Mr. CAMERON. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment to come in at the end of the section:

"Provided further, That this act shall not be so construed as to permit more than one payment of three thousand dollars for the purpose set forth in the bill, and that the said railroad shall pay the full assessment annually as heretofore to the State except in this instance."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

The question recurring on agreeing to the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MANN and Mr. PENNYPACKER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Boyd, Breen, Brennan, Brown, Calvin, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Craig, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Epp, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gregory, Harrison, Harner, Headman, Hood, Humphrey, Jones, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmel, Kinney, Koon, Leech, Linton, McHenry, McKee, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quigley, Roath, Robinson, Roush, Satterthwait, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stumbaugh, Subers, Tharp, Webb, Westbrook, Wharton, Wilson, Worrall and Wright—63.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyle, Chalfant, Deise, Fogel, Hoffiman, Hunt, Kluge, Lee, Mann, Meyers, Mullin, Richards and Weller—14.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill

Passed finally.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The hour of 11 o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER announced the special order for that time to be the calling of the yeas and nays on agreeing to House bill No. 284, an act to repeal an act of the General Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania, which became a law on the 19th day of August, 1864, entitled An act relative to the Pittsburgh and Conellsville railroad company.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, during the discussion of this subject, I made up my mind to make some remarks upon it, but finding myself very much indisposed, I was entirely unable to do so. As this is a subject in which my constituents are very much interested, I ask the privilege of the House of writing out my remarks and having them published in the Record.

The request was granted.

Mr. KINNEY. Mr. Speaker, having been alluded to, in my absence, by the gentleman from Fayette [Mr. BOYLE], and having had no opportunity to make any remarks upon the subject, I ask the privilege of putting upon the Record my reasons for the vote that I shall give.

The request was granted.

REMARKS BY MR. WILSON.

Mr. Speaker, perhaps no bill will be presented to this House during this session of so great importance to the people of Western Pennsylvania as the bill now under consideration. I will not now, Mr. Speaker, undertake to portray the feeling of the people of the West in regard to the fate of this bill, but in my own immediate locality I will be permitted to say that it is deep settled and determined. We had hoped that this gigantic and over standing influence, unseen but felt, to the detriment of the interests of the West, this House had relinquished its grasp, and this bill would have been permitted to pass this House with but little opposition. We had fondly hoped, sir, that this measure, so manifestly just, would have commended itself to the judgment of all candid men, and, sir, that this Legislature would have been quick to do justice, not only to a portion of her own people, but also a misused corporation; but in this we have been sadly mistaken, and we have again become the victim of a power which, if not checked, will sooner or later destroy many of the constitutional privileges we now enjoy. But, Mr. Speaker, great as this feeling is in my own locality, I shall vote for this measure, not as a local one, but, sir, as a matter of State policy; and I think, sir, a reference to the statistics of other States will justify me in this conclusion. I beg leave to call your attention to the following statement, made by the president of the road to the Committee on Railroads, at the House, and published in the papers of the day:

"The State of Pennsylvania is just one hundred and one years older than Ohio, yet at the census of 1860 the population was only two million nine hundred thousand, while Ohio was two million three hundred and thirty-nine thousand five hundred and eleven, or, to make a clearer and better comparison, Pennsylvania has sixty-three to the square mile, while Ohio has fifty-nine. To-day it is claimed by her statisticians that she has outstripped us, and that she has a larger population to the square mile than we possess. In 1860 the real estate of Ohio, though less in quantity by six hundred thousand miles, was valued at one hundred and twenty-six million dollars more—her personal estate at one hundred and fourteen millions more. Taking the amount of wealth returned by individuals, and Ohio is the third State in the Union. The number of miles of railroad in 1860 were two thousand four hundred and forty-two; in Ohio, two thousand and nine hundred. The statistics taken between 1850 and 1860, in Pennsylvania, were three thousand six hundred and twenty, in Ohio, two thousand three hundred and twenty-five.

It would be well if our Legislature would take this obvious lesson to heart, for we deduce with positive clearness that the principal element in this advance upon our State is her railway system. She has, it is said, five connected lines traversing the State from East to West and nearly as many from North to South—with innumerable shorter branches leading in all directions and into almost every county. She has never permitted any one of these numerous corporations to control and defile her legislation, nor has there ever been promulgated the monstrous doctrine that "it is not the policy of the State to permit her railways to connect with those of other States."

Now, Mr. Speaker, with facts such as those staring us in the face, will it be thought an unreasonable thing that the people of the State should ask this Legislature to pass such laws as will enable her to compete with sister States? And, sir, if this is true of Ohio, will it be true that her progress is mainly attributable to her railroad system, with what force does it commend itself to Pennsylvania, especially when we consider that Ohio is an agricultural State, whilst Pennsylvania's wealth consists mainly in her abundant mineral productions, and consequently needs greater facilities for development? But, sir, to return to the subject more directly under consideration. This road passes through a gap in the mountain seemingly by nature intended for this purpose; and it may seem strange, but it is nevertheless true, that at a very early period in our history this route was indicated by General Washington as the most feasible outlet to the great West. For this fact I refer gentlemen to Spark's life of Washington. This road has now completed fifty-nine miles to Connellsville and a diverging line of twelve miles to Uniontown, in the county of Fayette. The road, when completed to Cumberland, will be one hundred and fifty miles in length. It passes through the counties of Allegheny, Westmoreland, Fayette, Somerset and Bedford, all of which are rich in those great mineral productions which nature has so lavishly bestowed on Pennsylvania. I may here say that Fayette and Somerset contain more than two thousand square miles and have no other outlet. Somerset has one thousand and fifty square miles, nearly every foot of which is underlain with valuable iron ore and the largest veins of coal in the United States, fire clay in abundance, marble and brown stone in endless quantities and thousands of acres of pine forests equal to any the world has ever seen. Now, Mr. Speaker, with such vast mineral resources as these buried in the earth, and the people languishing for want of facilities, is it strange that they should seek an outlet even though it be in a neighboring State?

But, sir, in order to overcome this objection, which I know has been raised, I will here say that this road has a line under survey, and will build a road, commencing at a point called Bridgeport, one hundred and twenty-six miles from Pittsburg, along what is known as Sherman's valley, to this very city of Harrisburg—then connecting with the Central road, and passing on to New York, by Philadelphia and Reading road, via Allentown, being a shorter route to New York than any other known. Now, Mr. Speaker, I desire to impress this fact on gentlemen, because I am aware that great objection has been raised against this bill from a want of knowledge of this fact. Now, sir, when we consider that this road will be built, and that it will come to this city, and connect with roads leading to the metropolis of the State, what becomes of the objections to the trade leading to Baltimore? In this connection, Mr. Speaker, I will here state a fact to show the importance of this route. It is this: that when this road is completed, it will be by way of Point of Rocks, from Pittsburg to Washington, and seventy three miles shorter than any other route, and at the usual express rate will be ten hours' ride.

But, Mr. Speaker, we must have more facilities for getting to the east. To show the necessity for this, I will state what perhaps may not be generally known, and that is, that we have now terminating in the city of Pittsburg, four roads, the Fort Wayne four hundred and fifty-six miles in length, draining the prairies of vast quantities of grain, enormous herds of cattle, hogs and sheep, bringing from the lakes all the various products of the States. This road, sir, has its prosperity largely diminished for want of facilities by the Pennsylvania railroad to transport her tonnage east, the president of which has been heard to say that his cars, to the number of three hundred, have for weeks been playing warehouse for want of facilities on the Pennsylvania Central. There is also the Cleveland road, of great tonnage, and four others, all of which go to make up the great aggregate. Now, sir, add to these the tonnage of the Ohio river at Pittsburg, and you have a grand total far beyond the capacity of any two roads.

In order to show the absolute necessity that exists for another out-let eastward, let me here state that our merchants and manufacturers are often compelled to take turns of shipping goods east—some days none can be shipped, and trays are compelled to return west, not being able to get them shipped. Sir, I have seen a number that would reach from here to the depot, stand for hours, awaiting their turns. I have known them to be there before day, in order that they might get their goods shipped.

Now, Mr. Speaker, we must have an outlet for the vast products of Pittsburg. The city requires it. I call attention to the following statement of the vast productions of Pittsburg, in order that you may the more readily estimate our wants: The city contains five hundred large manufacturing establishments. It has fifty glass factories and sixteen potteries, forty-six iron foundries, thirty-one rolling mills, thirty-three machinery establishments and fifty-eight oil refineries; besides miscellaneous works of almost every variety, the whole turning out an annual product worth one hundred million dollars."

In addition to this, allow me to state another fact. We have in Pittsburg several furnaces; the ore that is brought from Lake Champlain, Lake Superior and, in some instances, from Canada. Now, sir, what I would impress upon the gentlemen is, the fact that abundance of this ore lies immediately on the line of this road, within sixty-four miles of our own doors, and yet sir, our hands are tied and we are denied the privilege of bringing this ore into Pittsburg. Now, Mr. Speaker, this should not be a question as between different sections of the State; it should not be a question as between certain cities; it should not be a question of rivalry between railroad corporations. It is, Mr. Speaker, a question of great pressing need to the people, and, as a representative of them, I appeal to you, gentlemen, to pass this bill. I am not here, Mr. Speaker, as the representative of the Connellsville railroad, but as a representative of a constituency whose wants can no longer be ignored. Now, Mr. Speaker, this bill, like many others of a legislative character, has a moral aspect to it. The Legislature of Pennsylvania did, by solemn act, pass (I have the date here) an act to enable this company to borrow money and issue bonds therefor, and, sir, I think I am safe in saying that it was well understood that on the faith of this act the city of Baltimore was to loan her bonds to the amount of one million dollars, and upon the faith of this act the city of Baltimore, together with many of our own citizens, did loan the money; and sir, I may here say that every dollar was expended in our own State, and Baltimore or no other corporation has ever received one cent in return.

Now, Mr. Speaker, having by my action induced the people to loan money to the company, and then to repeal the act on which the money was raised, is an outrage on the rights of the people and a stain on the statute books of the Commonwealth. And, Mr. Speaker, the time will come when men will be ashamed of the vote they give against this bill. Sir, I am not pleading for Baltimore or any other corporation as against the interest of any section of my own State. I am proud of the metropolis of my own State; but, sir, we must be just. I am jealous, sir, as a Pennsylvanian, of the reputation of this Commonwealth, and I think, sir, that that reputation can be maintained by being just to all.

REMARK BY MR. KINNEY.

"The gentleman from Fayette [Mr. Boyle] thought proper, in my absence on committee, to make a record for me on the question under consideration—the repeal of the act repealing the charter of the Connellsville railroad. No opportunity having been afforded to criticize his statements upon the floor of the House, I am obliged, in this manner, to vindicate my position and vote on this issue.

It is true, I was one of the jury which had under consideration, at Williamsport, in June last, the question, whether that corporation had so misused and abused its corporate privileges as to justify the Legislature in repealing its charter. The Judge, M' Candless, ruled that the inquiry could not be permitted to go back on what was termed the condoning act of the Legislature in 1856, which virtually pardoned all the abuses of that corporation—its misuses and abuses prior to that time. As a juror, I was limited to the boundaries indicated; as a legislator, I am permitted, in my judgment, to look over the history and transactions of that corporation during its past existence of thirty years. As a juror but one decision could be rendered, but one was expected. The very fact of the passage of the act of 1856, pardoning the abuses and misuses of their privileges up to that time, would leave the conclusion quite irresistible to most minds, that abuses had been committed and acknowledged. Another fact is, that the corporation appealed to the court for redress of its alleged grievances; and it is not only in contempt of the courts that they now appear before the Legislature for interference with the tribunal they themselves appealed to, but would be an impertinent assumption in the Legislature thus to intermeddle. That the friends of the Connellsville road should have constructed but seventy miles of road—through one of the richest and most fertile valleys of this country—in thirty years, requires explanations that I have not yet heard given, harmonizing with that energy and perseverance usually resorted to by railroad companies.

Perhaps it may not be improper to add here that in the investigations before the court alluded to, the fact plainly appeared that this enterprise had finally, if not originally, become the pet of the city of Baltimore and of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The last effort in its behalf was the subscription of a million of dollars by the corporation of the city of Baltimore itself and while I would be glad to see the time arrive when our country shall be bound together with bars of iron, yet as this has evidently resolved itself into an issue between Baltimore and Philadelphia, I cannot hesitate as to which to protect and encourage. State pride alone would induce me to discriminate when the question resolves itself into one of sectionalism.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BOYLE and Mr. LEE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Brennan, Chadwick, Chalant, Chase, Collins, Colville, Day, Deise, Espy, Ewing, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Harner, Heltzel, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Kimmel, Leech, Lincoln, M'Creary, M'Kee, Maish, Mann, Mechling, Meyers, Peter, Pillow, Rhoads, Richards, Tharp, Weller, Whann, Wilson and Glass, Speaker—39.

NAYS—Messrs. Passed finally.

No. 810, an act to legalize the bonds issued by the school directors of Green township, in the county of Clinton, for bounty purposes, and to authorize the assessment and collection of a tax to pay the same.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Speaker, there is considerable opposition to the passage of this bill, and I understood the gentleman from Clinton [Mr. DEISE], who has it in charge, to agree that it should go over on the third reading.

Mr. DEISE. Mr. Speaker, I did not make any such agreement. I agreed with the gentleman that if he would not object it off the calendar he could fight it when it came up in the House, but I did not agree that it should go over on third reading.

I would merely state for the information of the House that this is a purely local bill, and the facts are these: The school boards of Green township gave the volunteers who entered the service the sum of four hundred dollars. The quota of the county was filled and the soldiers received these bonds from the school board, the citizens of the township becoming individually responsible for the extra one hundred dollars. The citizens failed to raise the amount by subscription, and thus the township became liable to the soldiers for the original amount. This act is to validate their bonds. It is for the purpose of paying these men that went into the war that which the township pledged its faith to do. The men have performed their services, and have returned, and now ought to receive what the township has agreed to pay them. If the citizens had failed to contribute the amount, it is no reason why the township should not become responsible. The opposition of which the gentleman speaks is simply on the part of certain men in that township, who, during the entire war, refused to contribute one cent to that purpose. The men who are opposed to it, are men who were exempt. I submit whether it is not right that the soldiers who went into the war upon the positive agreement of the township that they should receive this amount, and after receiving their bonds, that these bonds should not be legalized and paid. I submit this statement, which I know to be true, and which I will vouch for upon the floor of this House, with any member, and ask if these soldiers should not be paid.

Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I do not want the gentleman to understand that I wish to oppose this bill. I do not know but that it is all right and proper, but a remonstrance has been sent to me, signed by a large majority of the citizens of that township, protesting against the passage of this bill. I should have objected it off the calendar if I had not understood the gentleman from Clinton [Mr. DEISE] that he would agree to have it go over on third reading. I do not know but I shall vote for the bill when it comes up on its final passage, but if it is all right I do not see any harm in having it laid over.

Mr. DEISE. Mr. Speaker, the difficulty is this: The time has arrived when these duplicates are made out. The bonds are over due more than a year, and they were not paid because the collection of the money could not be enforced. Last year the soldiers received not even the interest on these bonds. We are desirous that these men should be paid their hard earned money as soon as possible. I agree with the gentleman's statement that he raised objections to the bill, but I did not agree that it should go over. I have a petition here from a great share of the citizens of that township in favor of this bill, and I can vouch for the truth of the facts I have stated.

Mr. WRIGHT. Will the gentleman allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DEISE. Yes, sir.

Mr. WRIGHT. How many voters are there in that township?

Mr. DEISE. There are about three hundred and seventy-five.

Mr. WRIGHT. The remonstrance that I speak of is signed by over two hundred voters of that township.

Mr. DEISE. Yes, sir, and I have a petition signed by the same men who signed the remonstrance, they not knowing what the remonstrance was.

On the question,

Will the House agree to be bill?

It was

Agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House suspend the rules and read the bill a third time?

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to throw any obstacle in the way of this bill, but last year there was a general act passed exempting officers and soldiers who had been honorably discharged, and those who have been discharged on account of wounds or physical disability contracted in the service, and the widows and orphans of such persons, from the payment of all bounty taxes; and I desire to know whether this bill will not tax those very individuals in that township?

Mr. DEISE. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that construction could be made. The collections would be made according to existing laws.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, that there may be no question about it, I would like to have the bill so amended that the provisions of the general act of March 30, 1866, shall extend to the collection of taxes under this bill.

Mr. DEISE. I have no objection to that.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by adding to the bill the following proviso:

"Provided, That persons exempt from taxation under the act of March 30, 1866, shall not be subject to taxation under the provisions of this act."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, and

The bill as amended

Passed finally.

No. 812, an act to annul the marriage contract between John Schneck, of the State of New York, and Margaret Schneck, of Northumberland county.

Mr. THARP. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following preamble to the bill:

Whereas, John Schneck and Margaret Schneck were married in the State of New York, where they cohabited as man and wife; And whereas, while they so resided the said Margaret received from her said husband such cruel and barbarous treatment as to make life burdensome and compel her to withdraw from the habitation of her said husband and seek refuge in Northumberland county, Pennsylvania, where she has resided for several years; therefore,

The amendment was

Agreed to.

The question being on the final passage of the bill,

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me the courts have, and have had for years, jurisdiction in cases of exactly this character. I hope this House will not stultify itself by passing this bill unless the gentleman who has it in charge can give some better reasons for doing so than this preamble sets forth. It will not be signed by the Governor if passed, for he has time after time vetoed bills for the same reasons that apply to this case.

Mr. THARP. Mr. Speaker, I have examined this bill with some degree of care. The parties were married in the State of New York; they resided there after marriage, and the acts for which this divorce is asked were committed in the State of New York. I do not think the courts have jurisdiction in this case—at least there may be some doubt about it—and I do not want this bill defeated by captious doubts. I desire the bill should go through and get the opinion of the Attorney General upon it. The husband is out of the jurisdiction of the courts if the acts were committed outside the State, and I am quite well satisfied that the courts have no jurisdiction in the case.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, the act of Assembly upon this subject provides, in addition to the cases now provided "it shall be lawful for the several courts of common pleas, in this Commonwealth, to entertain jurisdiction of all cases of divorce from the bonds of matrimony, for the cause of personal abuse, or for such conduct on the part of either the husband or wife, as to render the condition of the other party intolerable, and life burdensome, notwithstanding the parties were, at the time of the occurring of said causes, domiciled in another State: Provided, That no application for such divorce shall be made unless the applicant therefor shall be a citizen of this Commonwealth, or shall have resided therein for the term of one year, as provided for by the existing laws of this Commonwealth."

If I understand the reading of this act, and the reading of the preamble to this bill, I infer that neither of these parties having resided in this Commonwealth until after this offense was committed the courts would not have jurisdiction.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman refers to the act of 1854, and to the act a year later, of March 9, 1855. If he will read a little further he will find that by the act of April 22, 1858, the jurisdiction of the courts was extended to all cases where the acts were committed outside when the acts which it before had jurisdiction when the acts were committed within this State. The act of 1855, "It shall be lawful for the several courts of common pleas in this Commonwealth to entertain jurisdiction of all cases of divorce from the bonds of matrimony, for the cause of personal abuse, or for such conduct on the part of either the husband or wife, as to render the condition of the other party intolerable and life burdensome, notwithstanding the parties were, at the time of the occurring of said causes, domiciled in another State: Provided, That no application for such divorce shall be made unless the applicant therefor shall be a citizen of this Commonwealth, or shall have resided therein for the term of one year, as provided for by the existing laws of this Commonwealth."

The act of 1858 further provides: "The jurisdiction conferred in and by the said act to which this is a supplement, is hereby extended to all cases of divorce from the bonds of matrimony, for the causes therein mentioned, where either of the parties were, or were, at the time of the occurring of said cause, domiciled in another State or country: Provided, That no application for such divorce shall be made unless the applicant therefor shall be a citizen of the Commonwealth, or shall have resided therein for the term of one year, as provided by the existing laws of this Commonwealth."

So it is evident, Mr. Speaker, that in the first place this offense on the part of the husband is one over which the court of common pleas has jurisdiction, and in the second place it does not take away the jurisdiction of the court because the parties were not residents in the State at the time the offense was committed.

In view of what the Governor has done in other cases it is quite certain he will veto this bill if it is sent to him, and even if he does not veto it, it is perfectly valueless. Shall we, in the face of this act of Assembly, and with the almost certain knowledge that the Governor will veto it, knowing that it is in violation of the Constitution, and that the courts have jurisdiction, shall we grant this divorce? If this woman had gone to the courts instead of coming here, and proved the facts set forth in this preamble, she could have got a divorce before this time. The proper place for her to seek this divorce is through the court of common pleas, and I, therefore, hope the Legislature will not stultify itself by passing this bill.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to set myself right in reference to this matter. I had overlooked the section to which the gentleman refers, and it seems to me that the case is so clearly one over which the courts have jurisdiction that there is nothing more that can be said.

The question being on the final passage of the bill.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MANN, and Mr. MEYERS and were as follow, viz:

YEA—Messrs. Adaire, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Calvin, Cameron, Chalfant, Collins, Colville, DeHaven, Deise, Donohugh, Bapy, Fogel, Gallagher, Gregory, Harbison, Harner, Headman, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kinney, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Long, Maish, Markley, Marks, Meckling, Mely, Mullis, Rhoads, Richards, Roush, Sharples, Sherman, Stehman, Stumbach, Subers, Tharp, Weller, Westbrook, Wharton, Wingard and Worrall—49.

NAYS—Messrs. Armstrong, Barrington, Barton, Brennan, Brown, Chadwick, Chase, Craig, Day, Freeborn, Gordon, Heltzel, Hoffman, Humphrey, Kerns, Kimmell, Lee, Leech, Linton, M'Creary, M'Henry, Mann, Meyers, Pennypacker, Peter, Roth, Satterthwait, Seiler, Waddell, Webb, Whann and Wright—32.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill

Passed finally.

No. 813, an act to annul the marriage contract between Wm. C. Gray and Lucinda Campbell Gray, late Lucinda Campbell.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not suppose there is any use in making any opposition to this bill. The House does not appear to pay any attention to the Constitution or to the Governor in this respect. I desire, however, to put my protest on record against this kind of legislation.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Beaver [Mr. QVAY] has this bill in charge, and I have had several conversations with him on the subject of this divorce. I know that it is a case in which the courts have no jurisdiction. The wife that this bill proposes to divorce Mr. Gray from is constitutionally insane. She was insane when he married her, and has become so very insane since that it is impossible for him to live with her with any comfort to himself or to any of his family. There have been voluminous papers in this case presented to the Committee on Divorces, and I know that the case has been presented to that committee in such a shape that there is no question at all as to the propriety of the passage of this act. I make this statement in justice to the gentleman from Beaver, who has the bill in charge and who is not now in his seat.

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, if the case is as stated, I think it is now the duty of this party to take care of this wife instead of being divorced from her. I think the reasons for the divorce are not well founded.

Mr. SHARPLES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether there is any provision in this bill for the maintenance of the woman on the part of the man, in case they are divorced. If he is able to maintain her, and does so, it puts a different phase on the case.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, this woman was placed in the insane hospital at Dixmont, in Allegheny county. She was placed there at the request of the husband, who desired to maintain her there. But she was taken out by the mother and the mother refuses to have her remain there. She is living now near Beaver, and is in such a condition that she is dangerous to herself and to the neighborhood. The husband has offered to maintain her; but the mother refuses to permit him that privilege. That is the condition of the case, and it is clearly one ever which the courts have no jurisdiction. I believe the courts have already so decided in the case, that it can only be acted upon by the Legislature.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, I am not familiar with the points in this case, but I accept the statement of the gentleman from Allegheny, our present worthy Speaker [Mr. GLASS], as true, and place myself firmly against this bill. I made up my mind long ago that if I came to the Legislature I would never vote to divorce a man from his wife when that wife had become insane. Sir, if there is a time in this world, if there is an hour, or a moment, when a man's obligations are greater, when those ties that bound him to that woman when he accepted her as a wife are stronger, it is in every reason has lost its way. Her natural protector before becomes doubly her guardian when reason has lost its balance; and I, sir, for one, cannot, and will not, agree to release him from those sacred obligations, under such circumstances. Suppose for a moment that reason should be restored—as we know frequently occurs—and this case should then be presented to her mind. Suppose reason, with its recollections, should light up her intellect, and this case should be presented to her, that during the to her vacant years that she had lost her reason, her husband's affections had left her—that his support had been withdrawn, and that the Legislature had released him from his marriage ties, what would be the effect upon that intellect? If there is a way reason could then be strengthened and again established in her mind, it would be by the reception of the affections and kindnesses of her husband. But if she was told the affection of her husband was withdrawn, nothing could tend more to cause her to relapse again into a state of insanity.

Last year I had the honor to be a member of the Divorce Committee. A case of this kind—not perhaps entirely similar, but very much like it—came before the committee, and the committee were unanimously opposed to considering favorably a proposition of this kind. We thought that the obligations the man took upon himself in becoming the husband of the woman were then doubly strengthened. While I have no doubt that this is a case of confirmed insanity, I believe that husband's obligations should last during life. For one, on general principles, I shall earnestly protest against the passage of any bill of this kind, no matter where it comes from, or in what location it may be. I have no objections to having this bill go over until the gentleman from Beaver [Mr. QUAY] is in his seat, but I say here now that I shall never consent to vote for a proposition of this kind.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I think it would be unbecomingly to take a vote upon this question in the absence of the gentleman from Beaver. I believe that this is a case of confirmed insanity. I know that the gentleman from Beaver has, in his possession, sworn affidavits and other facts, that would justify the House in granting this divorce. But as the gentleman from Beaver is not in his seat, I ask that the bill may go over on third reading, in order that he may call it up when he is present.

Mr. COLVILLE. Mr. Speaker, this is a case which the members constituting the Divorce Committee gave a thorough investigation. The circumstances connected with it are somewhat peculiar. The business of the husband, who is petitioning this Legislature for a divorce, is of such a character that he cannot possibly be at home much of the time. He is a steamboat engineer and is necessarily compelled to be almost constantly from home. It is also proved by the affidavits that were presented to the Committee on Divorces that there was considerable deception used on the part of the mother and on the part of the wife to induce this man to marry this woman.

Her insanity has not arisen since marriage, but it existed previous to marriage. The husband was entirely ignorant of it at the time he espoused her, but they were not married more than three months until he made the discovery. The affidavits presented to the committee also set forth that she herself admits, while in her senses, of the deception that had been practised upon him.

Therefore, I think the grounds for a divorce in this case, are just, and I hope it will be granted by this Legislature.

Mr. HOOD. Mr. Speaker, I am, as a general thing, opposed to the Legislature granting divorces, more especially if they are such as come within the jurisdiction of the courts. But in this case the courts have no jurisdiction. If I understand this case rightly, it is one of confirmed insanity, and it is very unreasonable to hold a man fast to a mad woman for the rest of his life. I cannot see the policy or wisdom of so doing. I am, therefore, in favor of granting this divorce. I understand that the husband placed her in an asylum, which was the proper place for her recovery, and that her mother withdrew her from that asylum. Under these circumstances, and inasmuch as this is undoubtedly a case of insanity from youth, and the man was imposed upon by being inveigled into marrying a mad woman, I, for one, shall vote for annulling this marriage contract.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, the question involved in this case was very fully discussed a few years ago upon an application for a divorce on similar grounds by a gentleman from Germantown. The Legislature then, by a large majority, refused to grant a divorce. A similar case came before the Committee on Divorces, of which I had the honor to be a member, last winter, and although it appeared to be a very meritorious case, the woman having been insane for twenty-five years, yet even then the committee almost unanimously refused to report the bill affirmatively. It was, however, there thought that it was a subject in regard to which the Legislature might frame a general law guarded with wise provisions for the protection of such cases. Under those circumstances a bill was framed well guarded, for the purpose of allowing courts to grant divorces in positive cases of insanity, with the provision that this man should be obliged to provide for the wants and necessities of the woman. It was fully discussed in this House, a number of gentlemen taking grounds against the passage of a law of that character, and several gentlemen in favor of it. Yet with all these wise and well guarded provisions in a general law—provisions for protecting the woman in that unfortunate condition, where applications for divorce should be made to the courts, and confining it only to confirmed cases, upon the positive proof of expert physicians and other scientific men—guarding it with wise provisions to protect the unfortunate woman against poverty, by requiring the courts, by their decree, to set apart a portion of the estate of the husband for her maintenance during her lifetime—with all these provisions, this House, by an almost unanimous vote, refused to pass such a bill. I favored reporting the bill in committee, and favored it upon the floor of the House.

Yet, after hearing the remarks of the gentlemen upon this floor, I felt convinced myself that we would not be performing the duty the Commonwealth owes to its citizens, if we should give the power to the courts to grant a divorce on the ground of insanity, unless it was a case of insanity before marriage. And if it was a case of insanity before marriage, and fraud was perpetrated upon either of the parties, it would come within the jurisdiction of the courts, because they have the power to grant divorces when the marriage was contracted through frauds perpetrated by either of the parties. If the husband had evidence of her insanity before the marriage, he married her with his eyes open. In that case the courts would have no jurisdiction, and he would have a right to demand a divorce.

I am opposed to this bill. You have no sufficient evidence before this House as to the confirmed insanity of this woman. You have not provided in this bill against misfortune and poverty that may fall upon this woman if she is divorced. The only thing that I would argue to would be the passage of a general law, well guarded, for the purpose of protecting the unfortunate woman who may be in this condition. For these reasons I am opposed to this bill, but in favor of a general law covering this case.

The question being on postponing the bill for the present,

It was Agreed to.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. SUBERS. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to read a bill in place.

Leave was granted.

Mr. SUBERS. Mr. Speaker, I read in my place and present to the Chair a supplement to an act to open and straighten Highland and Union avenue, and Thirtieth street, in the Twenty-second ward, and Church and Adams streets, in the city of Philadelphia, approved the 20th day of May, A. D. 1864.

I move that the orders be suspended for the purpose of considering this bill.

Agreed to.

The bill was numbered 1115, read and

Agreed to.

The rules being suspended, the bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of the House to read a bill in place.

Leave granted.

Mr. WELLER. I read in my place and present to the Chair an act relating to the last will and testament of John Morrison, late of Somerset county, deceased, and ask that it be laid upon the table.

The bill was

Laid on the table.

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, a fire company in my district is desirous of purchasing some property; they wish to issue stock for that purpose. The property is now for sale, and if they do not improve this opportunity they may not get it.

I therefore ask leave to read a bill in place.

Leave granted.

Mr. KERNS. I read in my place and present to the Chair an act supplementary to an act incorporating the Good Will fire engine company, authorizing said company to issue stock.

I ask the unanimous consent of the House to proceed to the consideration of the bill.

Agreed to.

The bill was numbered 1117, read and

Agreed to.

The rules being suspended, the bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to read a bill in place. I do not wish, however, to have it passed.

Leave granted.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I read in my place and present to the Chair an act to require the Philadelphia and Erie railroad company to finish their road in Warren county.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. CHASE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of the House to offer an original resolution.

Leave being granted,

The resolution was twice read as follows, considered and

Agreed to:

Resolved, That the Senate be requested to return to this House bill No. 840, entitled An act supplementary to an act regulating the courts in the Sixth Judicial district, passed February, 1867.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to offer a resolution.

Leave being granted,

The resolution was twice read as follows, considered and

Agreed to:

Resolved, That the use of this Hall be tendered to the Reverend A. M. Milligan, of the city of Pittsburg, for the purpose of delivering a lecture on Thursday evening, March 21, 1867. Subject: "The Signs of the Times."

Mr. WESTBROOK. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to offer a resolution.

Leave was granted.

The resolution was read as follows:

WHEREAS, During the American struggle for independence, the Irish nation expressed its warmest sympathy and sent some of her brightest and most intellectual sons across the sea to aid in the establishment of our republican government;

And whereas, Ireland is now struggling for the same principle as America in 1776; therefore,

Resolved, That we, as American citizens, express our sympathy for the brave and patriotic in Ireland who are endeavoring to make their country what America now is, the freest government on earth.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, I think this a most important resolution. It interests not only the State of Pennsylvania, but the United States. I rise for the purpose of expressing my desire that this resolution be not passed over in a trifling manner, and that the Legislature of Pennsylvania may have an opportunity of expressing their sentiments upon it. I therefore move that the consideration of this resolution be postponed until Wednesday evening next, at 7 o'clock.

The motion was

Agreed to.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to offer a resolution.

Consent was given.

The resolution was read as follows:

Resolved, That during the session of the Methodist Episcopal Conference in Harrisburg, the members thereof be allowed admission within the bar of this House.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I would simply say that the same resolution was offered in the Senate, and agreed to. It might look a little strange if the House should be backward in this matter of courtesy.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, unless we are to do business we might as well give them the use of the Hall entirely.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, I have no objections to giving the use of this Hall to the representatives of the Methodist Church now assembled in this city. I think we might safely adjourn, and leave the Halls of this body to these gentlemen. They are here as members of their profession.

I am decidedly in favor of the resolution. I think they will not trespass upon our time, neither will they interfere with the business we have in hand.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, I hope this resolution will not pass. I don't think that gentlemen understand what they are doing when they attempt to pass a resolution of this kind. Are they aware that there are over two hundred and fifty of these men in town?

Mr. WINGARD. I will tell the gentleman if there are two hundred and fifty clergymen belonging to the Methodist Episcopal Church in this town, they are all gentlemen.

Mr. HEADMAN. I do not dispute that, although I may have my doubts about it.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman a question, that is to what Christian denomination does he belong?

Mr. HEADMAN. I belong to the German Reformed.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, then I do not understand why the gentleman should object to the resolution.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, I do hope this resolution will not pass. If it is intended to allow these gentlemen to come on the floor of this House when it is not in session, then I have no objections, but if we allow them to come here when the House is in session we will be wholly unable to transact any business whatever.

Since this convention has been in session I understand one of my colleagues on this side of the floor has lost his hat, and I leave it to the whole House if he has not had a clerical appearance ever since.

I object to this resolution for the simple reason that it will interfere with our business.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call attention to the fact that one of the gentlemen on that side of the House has his hat on his head, so there is no danger that we will all lose our hats.

Now, the offering of this resolution is a very simple matter. It is an act of courtesy. It is not supposed that the members of this conference will interrupt our proceedings; they hold their sessions at the same time we hold ours; but they will want to come in and see what we are doing, and perhaps the gentleman from Bucks [Mr. HEADMAN], although I trust for the sake of the conference we may not, would desire to go down and look at them. I have no doubt they would be glad to see him.

I understood the gentleman from Bucks to say that he belonged to the German Reformed church. I am sorry, for I think his remarks have been rather rough on that denomination.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, I did not desire any discussion on this resolution. I am satisfied it was offered in good faith, and I have no objection to its being passed, because the body which is assembled in the city of Harrisburg, representing the Methodist Episcopal church, is a body of which Pennsylvania should be proud, and not only Pennsylvania, but this nation, as she stands, to-day, redeemed, disenthralled and regenerated. We had the prayers and we had the energy of that church, which, numerically, and in every other point of view, in the United States of America, is the great moving pioneer of religion. If any gentleman rises in his seat and endeavors to scoff at this resolution, and bring it into derision by buffoonery, I hope that this House will regard the matter in a most serious light, and consider what the Methodist Church was during the great struggle through which we have passed and what that church is to-day.

Sir, among the Christian denominations of the North we stood foremost in her labors for the success of the flag and of the nation in its great effort to suppress the rebellion. And much of the glory which the Methodist Episcopal Church has had, applied to her in the last few years was ascribed because of her prominence in the cause of freedom.

I was surprised to see my friend from Bucks, for whom I have very high esteem, rise in his place to oppose this resolution and to give it a tincture of politics. Sir, the conference now assembled in Harrisburg are not asking the Legislature of Pennsylvania to grant them the privileges of this floor. They are sent here by the church which they represent. They have not assembled here to attend the sitting of the Legislature of Pennsylvania.

I did not introduce this resolution. I had not the slightest knowledge that it was to be offered; but I will not sit here and have that body—I will not say reviled—but I will not have them made the subject of jest or insult. The Methodist Conference do not ask to be admitted upon the floor of this House. I do not know who offered this resolution, but since it has been offered, I say it belongs to us as a dignified assembly to preserve our seats against the disrespectful insinuations and assaults centered in this opposition.

I will not countenance a jest or a jeer as unprovoked as this to be cast upon a body so dignified, holy and sanctified.

I am sorry this digression from our regular proceedings has occurred. I call upon the gentleman who introduced this resolution to say by what authority he did so, in order that the Methodist Episcopal Conference shall be relieved from any imputation of impugning for the privileges asked by the resolution.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I introduced the resolution in good faith, because it had been introduced in the Senate. I supposed no objection would be made.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, I was not aware that I had brought politics into this question. I believe I was candid in my remarks. I will leave it to any gentleman on this floor if I have not been consistent in whatever positions I have taken upon questions before the House. But the gentleman from Lycoming [Mr. WINGARD] has seen proper to bring politics into this question, and he has applauded the Methodist persuasion. And, too, sir, I have lungs as strong as any man in this House, and I can talk as loud as the gentleman from Lycoming. Now, politics are in this resolution. I say there was no set of men on God's earth had more to do with bringing about this rebellion than the Methodist persuasion. I say it in candor and in truth. They brought politics and religion together. From the commencement they held their conferences and passed resolutions to allow no man who held a slave, according to the laws of this country, to affiliate and mingle with them in their conventions; and not only that, but from the time the rebellion broke out they converted their pulpits into political rostrums, and from them made political speeches. And this they are still doing. It is politics that are contained in this resolution, from beginning to end, and the gentleman cannot deny it.

He may talk about the Methodist Episcopal Church upholding the flag; it is not so; they run the flag down; and at this time they have no sympathy with people of their own persuasion in the Southern country.

I had no idea of bringing politics into this question; but since politics have been introduced, I will not hesitate to bring my remarks within that line. For four years no man could enter a Methodist Church, if he did not agree with them in politics, without being insulted. I have been insulted in a Methodist Church, and I do not hesitate to say so. I have been spoken of by the Methodists, out of the pulpit, as being a rebel and a sympathizer with rebels.

There are but two men that I consider enemies, one is the man who would write an anonymous letter, and the other is a minister of the gospel. The first because he strikes in the dark, and the second because his position and the common decency of every man protect him—

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I call the previous question on this resolution.

The call was subsequently withdrawn.

Mr. JENKS. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that this discussion has occurred and at this time. I am in favor of the resolution. I regard the Methodist church as embodying a great deal of character and religion. They are certainly entitled to the respect that is proposed to be given by this resolution.

I am sorry that gentlemen should have found it necessary to mingle politics with this matter. The commission of these men is to go into the world and preach the gospel to every creature. They are here as ministers of God under that commission to transact the business connected with their church. It is due to them and due to the religion that they profess that they be treated with common decency. I hope, therefore, not one man on this floor will oppose the resolution.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, I join most heartily with the gentleman from Jefferson [Mr. JENKS].

I regret exceedingly for the character and credit of the Legislature of Pennsylvania that the church to which these gentlemen belong should in any degree have been connected with the subject of politics. I understood the resolution to be introduced in good faith as a matter of courtesy to the body which is now in session in this city. I am acquainted with many of the gentlemen connected with that church, and I bear testimony to their piety and good conduct. I, therefore, hope, with the gentleman from Jefferson, that, out of respect to ourselves, not out of any favor to that church, or any favor to the conference—but out of pure regard and respect to ourselves, we will extend, at least, the hospitalities that are due from one gentleman to another.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, I distinctly stated to this House that I did not offer this resolution. I did not know it was going to be offered; but it was offered, and it met the most cordial approbation of my heart. Sir, I would extend the courtesy of this House to any Christian denomination on the face of God's earth, because I respect every man's religious opinions.

While I have my own particular religious preferences, I at the same time have no prejudices against any person with different views.

The gentleman from Bucks says these are the men who preached and voted against any man who held a slave in America. I say it is the glory, the triumph and the crowning honor, of not only this denomination, but of every Christian sect in the North, that they preached and prayed for the success of our cause. Their prayers were answered and our America holds not a single slave.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I call the previous question.

The call was seconded by Messrs. M'Creary, M'Kee, Allen, M'Camant, Marks, Weller, Armstrong, Woodward, Hoffman, Espy, DeHaven and Waddell.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY, and Mr. WINGARD and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barrington, Barton, Boyd, Boyle, Calvin, Cameron, Chadwick, Chalfant, Chase, Collins, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donoghue, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Hunt, Jenks, Josephs, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Kurtz, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Henry, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Meyers, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Richards, Roath, Roush, Satterthwait, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stetman, Subers, Tharp, Waddell, Webb, Weller, Westbrook, Whann, Wilson, Woodward and Glass, Speaker—47.

NAYS—Messrs. Craig, Deise, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Jones, Klue, Koon, Linton, Long, Markley, Mullin, Rhoads, Wingard and Wright—17.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring on the resolution. The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MEYERS and Mr. WINGARD, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barrington, Barton, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Cameron, Chadwick, Chalfant, Chase, Collins, Colville, Craig, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Deise, Donoghue, Espy, Ewing, Fogel, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Harner, Headman, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Klue, Koon, Kurtz, Lee, Leech, Linton, Long, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Henry, M'Kee, Maish, Mann, Markley, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Meyers, Mullin, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Rhoads, Richards, Roath, Roush, Satterthwait, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stetman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Tharp, Waddell, Webb, Weller, Westbrook, Whann, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—87.

NAYS—None.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

REASONS FOR VOTE.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, in accordance with my religious training I will, on this occasion, return good for evil and vote aye.

During the consideration of the private calendar, remarks were made on the following bills:

No. 832, an act to divide the township of Chapman, in the county of Clinton, into two election districts.

Mr. LINTON. Mr. Speaker, I think this bill is unconstitutional. The courts certainly have power in cases of this kind.

Mr. DEISE. Mr. Speaker, in answer, I desire to say I sent a petition to my county court which met in February. Application was presented and refused on the ground that the court had no jurisdiction whatever.

If gentlemen satisfy me this act is unconstitutional, I will not desire its passage.

Mr. LINTON. Mr. Speaker, the ground I take is that the courts have power to divide this township into election districts. Therefore it is unconstitutional for the Legislature to act in the matter. I will read from the act of Assembly on this point:

"144. The courts of quarter sessions shall have authority, within their respective counties, to divide any borough, ward or township, into two or more election districts; to alter the bounds of any election district, or to form an election district out of parts of two or more adjoining townships, so as to suit the convenience of the inhabitants thereof, and to fix the place of holding elections, and appoint the election officers, pursuant to the provisions of section second of this act."

It seems to me the case is a plain one.

Mr. DEISE. Mr. Speaker, I will state that I called the attention of the court to this provision of the act; but after examining it patiently the court refused the application on the ground that it had no authority; that the Legislature was the place for the application.

Mr. MANN. This is simply to divide a township—DEISE it is not?

Mr. DEISE. It is to create two election districts.

Mr. MANN. Does not the section just read apply?

Mr. DEISE. I referred Judge Lynn to that section, and he says it does not apply. Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I can refer for the gentleman a case within my own knowledge where two election districts were established by the court. The nature of the case is the same as that of the one referred to.

Mr. SHUMAN. Mr. Speaker, it is the same in the county in which I have been living. The court has created two separate election districts.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, such has been the uniform practice in the section of the county in which I reside. The courts have not only divided townships, but they have divided election districts. The only exception, probably, that can arise, is where a district contains less than one hundred voters. In that case the court is probably without jurisdiction, because the proviso expressly says:

"That no district so formed, shall contain less than one hundred voters, and the proceedings had in the case of such division or alteration, shall be the same as in the erection or alteration of the lines of townships."

If a district contains more than one hundred voters then clearly, the court of quarter sessions has jurisdiction.

Mr. DEISE. Mr. Speaker, I am just informed by a member of the bar who was present when the petition was offered, that this was the objection raised by the court. I believe there are but one hundred and seventy-five voters in the township. Of course each division could not contain one hundred voters. I hope, therefore, the bill will pass.

Mr. LINTON. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that the gentleman embody that fact in the preamble, otherwise the bill will be vetoed.

The preamble was accordingly amended and the bill passed.

No. 875, an act to repeal an act entitled An act to change the venue of certain suits from Butler to Armstrong county.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I have very serious objections to the passage of this bill.

The suits in which the venue is changed from Butler to Armstrong county were brought some three or four years ago, by a man named John Gallagher, against one Dr. Christy. From the public excitement existing in the county at the time, Dr. Christy, through the advice of his counsel, asked the Legislature of this State to change the venue in the case to Armstrong county. Upon affidavit he set forth facts going to show that he could not get a fair trial in Butler county. The committee who had the bill in charge has winter examined the matter very carefully. I was before that committee. The bill was passed with the knowledge and consent of the gentleman from Butler county. The case has been certified and put at issue in the courts of Armstrong county. The trial will go on as soon as the plaintiff is ready. Now we are asked to change the venue. I trust this Legislature will not so stultify itself as to repeal an act which was passed at its last session. No reason has been shown, and I think no reason can be shown for the granting of this request. The matter is in the courts of Armstrong county, and there it can be tried separate and apart from the antagonistic interests that might spring up around it in Butler county. No dissatisfaction has been expressed until within the last two weeks, when a petition came from the plaintiff in the case stating that he could not get a fair trial in Armstrong county, hence his desire to have the matter taken back to Butler county.

Now, this man Gallagher is a rich land owner in that county; there he is well known and has many friends. Dr. Christy is comparatively unknown, having lived there but a few years. Several individuals there are his personal and political enemies. He has sworn to the fact that he cannot have a fair trial in Butler. The Legislature has acceded to his desire and changed the venue of the case. I object, Mr. Speaker, to turning this case back into Butler county, and thus undoing what was fairly and openly done last winter.

I would like to hear what statement the gentleman from Butler county can make, what reasons he can give for the passage of this act.

Mr. PILLOW. Mr. Speaker, in the first place I wish to have read the petition and affidavit of John Gallagher.

The petition was handed to the Clerk and read as follows:

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

The petition of John Gallagher, of Clearfield township, Butler county, Pennsylvania, respectfully represents:

That he is plaintiff in certain cases against Dr. S. S. Christy, defendant, in which the venue was changed, from this county to Armstrong county, by an act entitled An act to change the venue of certain suits from Butler to Armstrong county, approved the 12th day of April, 1866. Your petitioner represents that the above-named causes could be tried in this county as well as in Armstrong county, and that there is no feeling against said defendant in this county, nor no excitement or feeling in reference to these causes here, and that they could be fairly and impartially tried here, and that your petitioner is unable to go to the expense of going to Armstrong county and awaiting the trial of these causes, and employing new counsel to try the causes. He would, therefore, pray your honorable bodies to repeal said act, and he will ever pray.

JOHN GALLAGHER.
Sworn and subscribed before me, 24th January, 1867.

[SEAL.] J. B. CLARK, Prothonotary.

Mr. PILLOW. Inasmuch as the gentleman from Armstrong [Mr. MECHLING] has given his version of the case, I will give mine.

Last winter the first intimation I had of such a bill was when it was read. I heard of neither petition nor affidavit. The gentleman from Armstrong spoke to me about the matter. I told him he was a member of the bar, that I knew neither of the parties, knew nothing about the case, and that I left the matter entirely in his charge. The bill passed without contest, for what reasons I do not know. But this I do know: when we returned home, we met indignation from all quarters in Butler county, for having suffered so outrageous an act to pass.

John Gallagher is a poor man. I make this assertion from facts given me by the people of Butler county. He may own some land, yet I believe him to be a poor man. To this he swears. We have the assertion of the gentleman from Armstrong [Mr. MECHLING] that Mr. Gallagher is a considerable land owner. Of this I know nothing. The statement must be taken for what it is worth.

We have a great many assertions of the gentleman from Armstrong that do not appear to be backed up by the facts. Mr. Gallagher also swears that a fair trial of this case can be had in Butler county; that there is no feeling or excitement against Dr. Christy in reference to the matter. I do not know how it may be with a few people, but I can say this: for several years past I have been about the county a great portion of the time, during court weeks, and I never heard of any excitement such as was mentioned last winter. I never even heard of the suits.

I believe it to be the fact that there was no excitement. I believe what the affidavit of John Gallagher states is true. Further, I would say there are some suspicious circumstances connected with this matter. I never knew Dr. Christy until I saw him upon this floor a day or two ago; he was here this forenoon. I do not know what he is doing; but if he is trying to defeat this righteous bill, I think he had better use his time in answering the charge against him in court. Whatever the charges may be, if they are incorrect, he will have no trouble in answering them, and placing himself right. If the charges are true then we can see some reason, probably, why he may wish to defeat this bill. I believe, from what I have heard, and from his petition, that John Gallaher is wholly unable to follow this matter to Armstrong county. He says in his affidavit he is not able to meet this expense, and as the suits now stand they will never be prosecuted. I believe that to be the reason why the venue is sought to be changed. If there is anything the gentleman from Armstrong can substantiate I will be very glad to hear it.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I am very much obliged to the gentleman for giving me a strong argument. He admits there was great excitement in Butler county when it was learned the venue in this case was changed. I take it that this is one of the best evidences in the world that the case should remain in Armstrong county. If this was an ordinary case, a civil suit, or something of that nature, nothing would be thought of it. The gentleman has stated to me, in private conversation, that there was great indignation against Mr. Negley because he permitted this bill to pass. I have no doubt that there was. This is the very reason I request the defeat of the bill now before the House. Dr. Christy cannot get a fair trial in Butler county, and he has sworn to that effect. His counsel instructed him to come here and ask for the passage of a law changing the venue. That has been done.

As to John Gallaher being a poor man, I can say he is taken in the courts of Armstrong county as security for persons brought up from Freeport and Kittanning in the sum of a thousand dollars to answer for a breach of the laws. I know the fact that he swears before the court that he is worth that much money. He owns a farm in Allentown. He is able to employ three or four of the best counsel in Butler county. The distance he will be obliged to travel, if the case is tried in Armstrong county, is but twenty-one miles.

I object to the Legislature going back of their record. We should say that what we have done has been done in good faith, and by our acts we will stand, unless fraud or corrupt means are shown to have been used in passing this law.

The gentleman assumes it was all fair, but says he knew nothing about it until it was on the private calendar. The matter was left in the charge of his colleague [Mr. Negley]. It passed in all fairness. If the Legislature undo what was done in a fair and open manner, they will work injustice to Dr. Christy, who has made his arrangements and employed his counsel. The suits are now at issue in Armstrong county.

I have nothing further to say. The case is clear enough.

Mr. SHUMAN. Mr. Speaker, I know nothing about this case. But the other day I happened to hear this Dr. Christy express himself about a change of venue. Of course I paid little attention. There is something rotten about this. I heard him make this expression:

"Let me get him away from his own fellows, and I can fetch him!"

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know to whom the gentleman has reference.

Mr. SHUMAN. I never before saw Dr. Christy. I inquired whom it was.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, if Dr. Christy made that remark I have no doubt he was perfectly correct. If he gets into Armstrong county he can have a fair trial. If he gets into Butler county he cannot, and his counsel knows it.

Mr. HARBISON. Mr. Speaker, I have but one word to say. One peculiarity strikes me, and that is, why the gentleman from Armstrong [Mr. MECHLING] is so very urgent to have this case remain as it is. This is a very strong argument to me that the venue should be changed.

Mr. PILLOW. Mr. Speaker, I wish to make one further remark with regard to the great excitement spoken of by the gentleman from Armstrong. There was no great uprising of the people. I must say there was no excitement at all. But simply an indignation on the part of some individuals who knew about the suit, that a man should be dragged to Armstrong county to have his case tried when it could be tried at home as well.

I have nothing further to say on this matter.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, from the remarks of gentleman from Perry [Mr. SHUMAN], a prejudice might arise against Dr. Christy that would be wholly unwarranted.

I suppose what he meant to say was simply this: In Butler county there was a strong feeling against him, and it was the determination to decide in favor of his opponent; if he could get away from that influence his case would entitle him to a verdict. That is doubtless what he meant. I know nothing about this case; but a statement of that kind might prejudice a man without any ground therefor.

Mr. PILLOW. Mr. Speaker, I never knew Dr. Christy until a short time ago; I have no ill feeling against him; I know him only as a gentleman.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MECHLING and Mr. HOOD, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Allen, Armstrong, Barrington, Barton, Boyle, Breen, Brown, Calvin, Chadwick, Collins, Colville, Craig, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Deise, Espy, Fogel, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Gregory, Harbison, Halmer, Heltzel, Hoffman, Humphrey, Kimmell, Kinney, Kline, Kirtz, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, Meyers, Mullin, Pennypacker, Pillow, Quay, Rhoads, Richards, Shuman, Stehman, Subers, Weller, Wharton, Woodward and Wright—48.

NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Boyd, Chalfant, Hood, Kennedy, Linton, M'Creary, M'Henry, M'Kee, Mann, Markley, Marks, Mechling, Roath, Satterthwait, Tharp, Westbrook, Wilson and Glass, Speaker—19.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

Mr. QUAY rose to a question of privilege. On motion, the House reconsidered its vote on the final passage of bill No. 721, an act to incorporate the Phillipsburg and Rochester ferry company, for the purpose of enabling him to offer an amendment.

The amendment was

Agreed to.

Senate bill No. 678, an act to provide for the enlargement of the Erie canal, to authorize the mortgaging of the same, and the issue of bonds, and to increase the capital stock and regulate the tolls.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, before Senate bill No. 678 passes, I desire to say that it does so with the common understanding, that it shall be supplemented by such legislation as shall be necessary to protect the manufacturers at the Falls of Beaver.

BILL ON PUBLIC CALENDAR.

Mr. SHARPLES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up bill No. 612, a supplement to an act relating to the lien of mechanics and others upon buildings, approved 10th day of June, 1856, on the public calendar. It was placed there through a defect in the title.

Agreed to.

On motion, the House proceeded to its consideration.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The title was amended so as to apply to the county of Chester, and

Agreed to.

On motion, the rules being suspended, the bill was read a second and a third time, and Passed finally.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, before we proceed to the consideration of objected bills, I would like the House to take up bill No. 818, an act to annul the marriage contract between Wm. C. Gray and Lucinda Campbell Gray, late Lucinda Campbell.

I understand it was laid over on account of my absence at the time it was called. It is on final passage. I ask the unanimous consent to amend by adding to the section the following:

"The reason for the passage of this act being that the said Lucinda Campbell Gray was insane at the time of her marriage, and that the said William C. Gray was not aware or informed of her insanity.

Leave was granted and the amendment

Agreed to.

Question on the final passage of the bill.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, the only question in my mind is whether that might not bring it under the provisions of the law to be regarded by the courts properly as a matter of fraud.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, the bill has been submitted to counsel and they say the court has no objection.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, I hope on no condition will this question be favorably considered. There is no amendment this House can offer that will make it satisfactory to myself. The fact remains that this man married this woman in health and mental strength.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, that is not the fact. The fact is she was insane at the time she was married.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman whether Mr. Gray was aware she was insane?

Mr. QUAY. He was not.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, the case is not altered. He took her for better or for worse. She, perhaps, was not aware of it; her friends may not have been aware of her insanity, else they would not have consented to her marriage. It was a matter that must have been concealed at the time and developed afterwards, as, to my knowledge, many cases are. Having once married her, it became his duty as her husband to take particular care of her; and now, that she is insane, I feel his obligations are doubled.

Mr. KINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I think it was laid before the committee that she apprised him of that fact within a week after marriage.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman to suspend his remarks until I have one of the affidavits read.

The Clerk was handed and read the following:

Pennsylvania, Beaver County, ss:

Before me, the undersigned, Justify of the peace in and for said county, personally appeared Louisa Brown, a resident of Bridgewater, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, who, being duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that for twenty years past she has been acquainted with Lucinda Gray, wife of William C. Gray, formerly Lucinda Campbell, and was with all her family. For many years before she was married, deponent noticed she was of a very melancholy disposition, different in her manner from the rest of her family; but her attention not being called to the fact, and not being with her very long at a time, she cannot say how seriously her mind was affected. Deponent further states that since her marriage she has frequently been about the house of her husband, and knows that her mind is seriously affected, being, as she believes, hopelessly insane; and further, that she never knew a kinder or more attentive husband than was William C. Gray. Deponent believes that what is wrong with Mrs. Gray's mind now was equally so before her marriage, and that this fact was carefully concealed from every person, her husband included. Notwithstanding deponent's intimacy with the family, no intimation was ever given to her of this fact until she discovered it herself; although it was apparent to all she was different from the rest of the family, was very moody, and shunned society.

LOUISA L. BROWN.

Also, personally appeared Mary A. Woodruff, a resident of Bridgewater, Beaver county aforesaid, who, being duly sworn, says she has been well acquainted with said Lucinda Gray, wife of William C. Gray, and knows that she is, and has for six years past been, insane. Her insanity seems to have been of long standing, and arises from a melancholy, moody disposition, long cherished. Deponent further states her husband was a kind, indulgent husband.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say in addition that I am informed Mr. Gray has conveyed his real estate to trustees for the use of his wife.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, that may be the strongest affidavit the gentleman can present; but it is not sufficient to convince my mind that this man is not entirely bound by his obligations to take care of this woman. No matter if he has appointed trustees that his wife may be taken care of, this tie that bound him to her cannot be severed that he may be free while she is in this fearful condition. If she was brought into mental imbecility by her own acts I would consider this question favorably. But it is her misfortune, her calamity. It is the dispensation of that All Wise Providence we know naught of. Though reason has left her I believe the obligations of this man towards her are as strong to-day as they were when he stood up and took her as his wife. Why does he appeal to the Legislature to sever the bonds he then assumed? In striking contrast is this with woman's nature. It is in the hour of her husband's calamity that she clings the closer to him. Woman, with her endearing feeling and warm affections, never forsakes those she loves when the hour of their trouble is at hand. This man has no right to expect us to sever the bonds that connect him with his unfortunate wife. I feel that his obligations are doubly stronger than they were before. I do not know what object he has in asking a divorce. I make no insinuations. I ask each legislator in this Hall to apply this case to himself.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has made a pretty little speech for woman in general. The calamity that has overtaken her, as the gentleman says, existed before the marriage contract was made, and, certainly, can place no additional obligations upon her husband.

I hope this Legislature will pass the bill.

Mr. CHALFANT. Mr. Speaker, I understand it is alleged that her husband was inveigled into marrying her.

Mr. QUAY. He was not inveigled. She was insane at the time she was married, subject to occasional fits of insanity which increased after she was married. She did know it; so did her friends. But her husband knew nothing of it until after the marriage.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, a man might come here with the same degree of assurance, and ask to be relieved by a divorce on account of consumption or some other incurable disease that may have fastened itself upon his wife. With no more assurance he could ask to be released from his obligations that he might marry some one else. It is a very lame case.

Mr. SHARPLES. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to detain the House, but I believe it is a principle of law that fraud of any kind is not to be tolerated. It seems to me, in this man married, as he supposed, a perfectly sane woman; the fact is proven that she was not sane. I think it a clear case of fraud, and am, therefore, in favor of this act.

Mr. BOYD. If fraud is proven, this man can have redress in the courts.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I do not allege there was fraud. I allege he was not informed of the fact of her insanity. This is the reason urged for the passage of the bill. The case is not within the jurisdiction of the court.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Beaver said that the family were aware of her insanity. Have we any evidence to that effect in addition to the affidavit that was read a few minutes ago?

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I will forward the other affidavits for the information of the gentleman.

The affidavits were handed to and read by the Clerk as follows:
City of Allegheny, et.

Personally appeared before me, an Alderman in and for the said city, Mrs. Susan B. Johnston, of lawful age, who on oath saith: That she has known Lucinda Campbell Gray for eleven years, being prior to her marriage with William C. Gray; that from the time of her acquaintance with her she considered her insane; that this fact, she believes, was concealed from William C. Gray by her parents and friends, and he was thus induced to marry her, which he otherwise would not have done; that she is of the opinion that the said William C. Gray was induced into this marriage by concealments by those who could not but have known these facts, and in the opinion of alicant did know them; all as she verily believes.

SUSAN B. JOHNSTON.

JOSUA ROBINSON, Alderman.

City of Allegheny, et.

Hezekiah Johnston on oath saith: That he is the husband of foregoing alicant; Mrs. Susan B. Johnston; that he is familiar with the facts as detailed by his wife; that he has heard read her affidavit, and believes it to be true in all respects; all as he verily believes.

HEZEKIAH JOHNSTON.

JOSUA ROBINSON, Alderman.

I hereby certify that I know and am well acquainted with Lucinda Gray, wife of William C. Gray; that I knew said Lucinda when a school girl, and before her marriage, but was not acquainted with said William C. until since his marriage with said Lucinda, he not having resided in the neighborhood until subsequent to his said marriage; that the maiden name of said Lucinda Gray was Lucinda Campbell; that she resided in Beaver county; that prior to her marriage she was occasionally subject to fits or attacks of mental derangement, and that the same were more or less frequent up to the time of her marriage, but that the said mental derangement was not continuous, and was not observable, except during such fits or attacks; that subsequent to her marriage with said Gray, the said mental derangement was increased and became constant, and of such a degree as to render said Lucinda utterly incapable of controlling herself or taking care of herself, and that said derangement still continues.

NANNIE DOUGS.

Pennsylvania, Beaver County, ss:

Before the subscriber, a justice of the peace in and for said county, personally appeared Mrs. Nancy Dougs, a resident of Vanport, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, whom I certify to be respectable and entitled to credit, who, being duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that for many years, since childhood, deponent has been intimately acquainted with Lucinda Gray, formerly Lucinda Campbell, wife of William C. Gray, and that during all that time the said Lucinda was at times wrong in her mind, and this insanity grew upon said Lucinda Gray as she grew older, until she became as at present, hopelessly insane. That previous to her marriage her insanity was so apparent that no one with her for any considerable length of time could be deceived, and deponent is satisfied her friends were fully aware of the fact, and carefully concealed the same from said William C. Gray during his courtship. Deponent further states that her insanity partakes of a moody, melancholy character, and is yearly growing worse; that her husband, above named, used every effort and employed every means to effect a cure, to no purpose, and was at all times a kind, affectionate husband.

D. L. INBRIE, J. P.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I would ask if there is any medical testimony. Have we nothing but the testimony of some old women of the neighborhood?

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, the petition for the divorce is signed by an old physician in our town, Dr. McKinney, and I believe Dr. Low.

Mr. HOOD. Mr. Speaker, I have heard it said, where the courts have jurisdiction, the House has no authority. The evidence in this case, so far as shown, proves that this woman was insane at the time of her marriage. Consequently, a fraud having been perpetrated, the courts have jurisdiction.

That the family concealed the fraud is one reason why this House should give the benefit of the doubt to her unfortunate husband.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, there have been no facts presented to show me that Mr. Gray was deceived with regard to the insanity of his wife. One of these deponents states that no one could have been with her any length of time without discovering the fact of her insanity. What kind of a man he was I cannot say whether it was his eyes open or not. Let these deponents give us the facts upon which they presume to say she was insane. I think this House is as good a judge of what constitutes insanity as these old women. We have the testimony of a physician, but that only goes so far as to show that she is now insane. It does not establish the fact that she was insane before marriage.

By request of Mr. QUAY the following was read for the information of the House: The undersigned, citizens of the county of Beaver, State of Pennsylvania, certify that they are well acquainted with William C. Gray, late of said county (now of Allegheny county); that they have known him well for the last three (and some of us for twelve) years last past; that he is an upright, honest, industrious, well-behaved man, a good citizen, a man kind and generous in his feelings, and has ever conducted himself well in all his relations in life; that they have understood and believe that Lucinda Gray, wife of said William C. Gray, was, prior to her marriage, subject to occasional mental derangement; that it was only occasional, and unless to one intimate as a member of the family, not likely to be observed; and that, as they understand and believe, this fact was not known to said William C. Gray at the time of his said marriage—although soon after it became apparent and continued to increase, until for some five or six years past her mind has been constantly deranged, and she utterly unfit to control or take care of herself; that said William C. Gray faithfully performed his duties as husband, so far as his circumstances and the conduct of her friends would permit; that her conduct is such as to render his life intolerable and burdensome; that although, as we have reason to believe, deceived at the time of his marriage as to the true condition of the said Lucinda, he has ever borne with kind and patient endurance the many troubles, trials and burdens imposed upon him by reason of his relations to her; and although he has had her placed under the care of numerous physicians, and with all the advantages afforded by our best asylums or institutions for the treatment of such cases, yet it was without avail; and that although not now under the care of such institutions, it is because that her friends interfered, and in a determined manner refused to permit her to be continued in the same.

Pennsylvania:

Before the subscriber, a justice of the peace, in and for said county, personally appeared, Oliver Anshutz, S. S. Ratan, J. C. Wilson, Dr. D. M'Kinney, residents of Beaver, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, who, being duly sworn according to law, depose and say they are, and have been, for a number of years, well acquainted with William C. Gray, and known him to be a truthful, honorable, high-minded gentleman, to whose statement full faith and credit should be given. They further state that Louisa S. Brown, Mary H. Woodruff and Nancy Douds, are ladies of respectability, whose characters for truth are above reproach. The facts set forth in the statement of William C. Gray, as to his wife's insanity, they believe to be true.

OLIVER R. ANSHUTZ,

Sworn and subscribed before me, February 13th, 1867; and I certify that I believe the above statements to be correct.

D. L. IMBRIE, J. P.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, this last paper merely states that Mrs. Gray had fits of melancholy, in the opinion of the persons whose names are attached, before she was married. I take it for granted that the man who married her had quite as good opportunity to become acquainted with her mental constitution as did these physicians. He does not seem to have considered that melancholy to be of such a character as to constitute a reason why he should not marry her. I believe every one of the persons who have testified state that this derangement has become worse. They do not pretend to say she was in no condition for marriage at the time the ceremony was performed; they do not pretend to say she never could perform the duties of a wife. But, that after being married a considerable length of time, her mind became greatly impaired.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman mistakes; the affidavit states she was subject to fits of insanity before marriage.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, it would be very easy for the gentleman from Beaver [Mr. QUAY] to declare any of his friends insane, in his opinion. The question is whether this woman had fits of insanity. She might have been subject to nothing more than occasional melancholy. Give us the facts, and let us judge whether she was insane or not. I cannot consent to this divorce. If his wife was pained off upon him, he has redress in the courts. If her mind has become more deranged since her marriage, I hold he is bound to remain her husband and provide for her welfare.

Mr. QUAY. I desire to know how the fact of her insanity can be established, it not by affidavit?

Mr. BOYD. Let us have instances of her conduct.

The question being on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PENNYPACKER and Mr. QUAY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Allen, Armstrong, Colville, Craig, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Gordon, Gregory, Harbison, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Kinney, Koon, Lee, M'Camant, Markley, Meily, Meyers, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Satterthwait, Sharples, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Tharp, Webb, Westbrook, Wingard, Worsall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—34.

NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Barton, Boyd, Brennan, Brown, Calvin, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Donohugh, Espy, Ford, Froehorn, Gallagher, Harvey, Headman, Helzold, Jones, Kimmell, Kline, Kartz, Leech, Linton, M'Creary, M'Henry, Mann, Marks, Meehling, Mullin, Pennypacker, Rhoads, Richards, Roath, Shuman, Waddell, Weller, Whann, Wharton, Wilson and Woodward—40.

So the question was determined in the negative.

BILL PASSED.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, bill No. 408, an act for the promotion of medical science, and to prevent trafficking in human beings, in the city of Philadelphia, is on the public calendar by mistake.

I ask that the House take up the bill, and proceed to its consideration.

Agreed to.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules being suspended, the bill was read a second and a third time, and Passed finally.

BILL IN PLACE.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to make a short statement.

Leave granted.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, I hold in my hand, an act for the relief of a soldier of my company. At the expiration of his term of enlistment, he was discharged in good health. He came home and commenced working in a rolling mill. He contracted a cold; it settled on his lungs, and he is now a confirmed case of consumption. His father is insane, in the Montgomery poor house. His mother died when he was a boy. He has no relations in this country near him. He is now on the charity of the neighborhood and the State of Pennsylvania.

I therefore ask leave to read a bill in place for his relief.

Leave was granted and the bill read.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the orders of the day be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of this bill.

Consent was given. The bill was read and

Agreed to.

Mr. LINTON. Mr. Speaker, I believe it is my duty to say I can see nothing in this case to distinguish it from that of any other person in indigent circumstances who took part in this war and became sick. If there is anything in this case that will particularize it, anything that will prevent its being a precedent which will require us, if we are consistent, to give to every person similarly situated, then I am in favor of the bill. I can, however, see nothing in this case to distinguish it from hundreds of thousands of others.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, this is an extraordinary case; it is one that more nearly appeals to the sympathies of the State than any other. If this was not an extraordinary case, if it were not for the fact that this man is without relatives or friends, if it were not that he is stricken by disease and unable to gain a subsistence, I would not ask this boon. This poor man is on the charity of his neighborhood; if he obtains no relief he must die from want unless your humble servant, with others, attend to his necessities. I intend to administer to him myself with my own means. He was a most excellent soldier. I appeal to the State for this small pittance in recognition of his faithful services. If gentlemen think this sum is too great I will accept less. I only ask enough to support him during the few short days that are left to him.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I dislike very much to say a word on this subject, but I understood this bill was to be referred. I think it is setting a very bad precedent to put it upon its final passage without reference. There are, doubtless, thousands of cases throughout the State as meritorious as this one, at least so considered by the friends of the parties. If this bill is passed without investigation, it will be an invitation for people to come in for thousands and thousands of the public money. A case of this kind should have the sanction of a committee, where all the facts could be inquired into. If this an exceptional case, I have no objections to the bill.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, when I spoke to the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN] on this matter, I did not wish to leave the impression on his mind that I wanted the matter referred. I said I would submit it to the members of the Ways and Means Committee. I did submit it to several members of that committee, and they agreed it was a proper bill. I can bring affidavits and set forth facts to substantiate what I have said.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. I hope, Mr. Speaker, it will not be referred.

On the question,

A division of the House was called, when the motion was

Agreed to.

So the bill was referred.

BILL PASSED.

On motion of Mr. MARKLEY, the House proceeded to the consideration of bill No. 1118, entitled An act to vacate a part of Schuylkill street, in the borough of Norristown.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules being suspended, the bill was read a second and a third time, and

Passed finally.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the following messages, in writing, from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

HARRISBURG, March 14, 1867. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor to submit herewith the last annual report of the Antietam National cemetery, with accompanying letters from Thomas A. Boulton, Esq., secretary and treasurer of said association, asking for an additional appropriation of five thousand dollars from this Commonwealth for the completion of said cemetery.

The amount of money solicited is not large, and I cannot doubt but your honorable body will cheerfully respond to so worthy and patriotic an object.

JNO. W. GEARY.

The foregoing, with the accompanying report, was

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 14, 1867. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—A petition has been presented to me for consideration, and of such unusual importance that I deem it my duty to transmit it with all the accompanying papers to the Legislature, with the recommendation that the matter should receive your prompt attention. From these papers it appears that in the year 1866 two young men, citizens of this Commonwealth—Noah H. Zook and Abraham H. Zook, sons of Jacob Zook, of Lancaster county—went to the State of Mississippi, and in partnership with William A. Brown and Cyrus L. Brown, residents of that State, rented a plantation on Big Black river, about twenty miles from Vicksburg. From time to time, during the spring and summer of 1866, they invested in their business over five thousand six hundred dollars.

On the 24th of last November their father received a telegraphic dispatch informing him that his sons were missing, and that it was believed they had been murdered, and that the body of Abraham had been found on the 13th of that month, lying in a swamp. He had been robbed, murdered, and stripped of his clothing, and from appearances had been exposed for at least two weeks, and mutilated by wild animals.

Soon afterwards a letter was received, confirming the terrible statements contained in the dispatches, the writer urging that his communication should be confidential, and by his language showing that, if his humane efforts were known to his neighbors, his personal safety would be endangered.

Upon the receipt of these advices, the aid of the National Government was invoked, and a gentleman of respectability, a member of the bar, was sent by Mr. Jacob Zook to Mississippi to investigate the matter. Orders were sent from Washington to the military officer in command at Vicksburg to give his assistance, and the result of the search and investigation will be found in the accompanying papers. It is proven that two citizens of Pennsylvania, while pursuing a peaceful and lawful calling, have been brutally murdered—the body of one having been found, as before stated, in a section of country where they should have been welcomed, protected, and encouraged, especially as they had gone there in the spirit of manly enterprise and confidence, to contribute with their capital, labor, skill and industry to its material wealth, social advantage and political tranquility.

The partners of these men, and who are believed to be their murderers, were allowed to collect the property of their slain associates, and then leave, unmolested, for Texas. Every impediment was placed in the way of the investigation; no relief was given by the local authorities, and the residents, during the examination, either avoided answering or responded in such a manner as exposed their sympathy with the suspected, or the apprehension of evil if they disclosed all the knowledge of the occurrence.

The father of these murdered boys has asked his State to aid him in bringing their destroyers to justice, and, for the purpose of more speedily gratifying his wishes, I transmit all the papers in the case to you. The citizens of this Commonwealth are her children, and must and shall be protected; and it is her imperative duty to demand and insist that, wherever they shall go within the jurisdiction of the United States, their persons, their property, their reputation, and all that makes up the enjoyment of political and social existence, shall be secured to them.

Therefore earnestly recommend to your special attention, and urge that by some expression of your sense of the outrage, and of your determination to right this wrong, the United States Government will be compelled, by the offer of a suitable reward, and by immediate commands to those officials now happily vested with adequate authority by the military bill of occupation of the sections of our country recently red with the flames of rebellion, and filled with residents poisoned with the malice of subjugated treason, to search for and seize the perpetrators of this horrid deed, and bring them to speedy retribution.

I would also suggest, as asked for in the petition, that a reward be offered by the State, thus increasing the probabilities of apprehending and punishing the assassins, and at the same time showing the lawless communities which encourage the plunder and murder of Northern men, and conceal and shelter the perpetrators of the crimes, that Pennsylvania will, at all costs, protect her citizens and enforce obedience to the laws.

JOHN W. GEARY.

To the Hon. John W. Geary, Governor of Pennsylvania:

SIR—On behalf of Jacob Zook, of the county of Lancaster, father of Noah H. Zook and Abram H. Zook, two citizens of Pennsylvania, lately murdered near Vicksburg, on the Mississippi river, I have the honor to make the following statement and request:

In the spring of 1866, Noah H. and A. H. Zook went South to raise a crop of cotton. They selected a plantation on the Big Black river, twenty miles from Vicksburg, which they rented in partnership with William A. and Cyrus L. Brown, who live in Mississippi. During the spring and summer of 1866 they invested, at various times, in the Southern business, over five thousand six hundred dollars.

At first they seemed to think they were being kindly received by the resident population, but after the Philadelphia August convention, and as the Presidential policy became more fully developed, their letters began to express some apprehension and uneasiness for the safety of themselves and property.

November 24, 1866, Mr. Zook, the father, received a telegram, stating that for some time both his sons had been missing, and it was feared had been footed back within. November 25, 1866, a dispatch from the same source informed him that the body of Abram had been found on the 13th of November murdered, stripped and robbed. A letter from a different person received shortly afterwards gave the same information. From the appearance of the body it was stated that it must have been exposed to the elements at least two weeks. Both these messages came to the family North under circumstances impressing sorely on their part, and betraying uneasiness on the part of the informants, as it was they had been unwillingly and unwillingly instead of fulfilling one of the commonest offices of humanity. Both of these informants stated that the civil authorities were doing nothing.

On learning these facts D. Evans, Esq., repaired to Washington, and through the intervention of the Hon. Thaddeus Stevens, laid the facts before General Grant, and obtained from this officer an order on the military authorities for the district of Mississippi to furnish protection to Mr. Zook while engaged in removing the bodies of his sons, a copy of which is hereto attached (paper marked "A"). General Grant, at the same time directed, through the proper military channels, a full investigation of the facts of the alleged murders. Major General Howard also furnished an order that all proper assistance be given by the military authorities to any agent or attorney of Mr. Zook, coming down to attend to the affairs.

For some time there was some delay in any one going down, caused by the impression that the whole matter would be taken in hand by the Masons. Toward the end of December I was employed as attorney to look after their property, if any there should be, and ascertain what action was being taken to punish the murderers. I left here December 27th, arriving in Vicksburg in the night of the first day in the year. Major G. W. Corliss, of General Wood's staff, the officer appointed to investigate the murder, under orders from Washington, had just returned from the plantation of the deceased and the scene of Abram's murder, which he had visited under an escort of a company of United States Infantry.

He reported that there was no property or papers of the Zooks to be found on the plantation—that it was leased by new parties, who asserted that there was no property of any kind of the Browns or Zooks on the plantation when they took it. This was some days before the expiration of the Brown and Zook lease. Major Corliss, who showed much interest in pushing this matter, returned, a short time afterwards, a report of the investigation. A copy of this report, with the indorsement of Major General Wood thereon, are herewith enclosed. The papers were furnished by General Wood for their present use—the papers marked "B" and "C." The indorsement of General Wood clearly states the conclusion arrived at by all Union citizens or soldiers.

A careful search through the banks and business houses of Vicksburg, where they had always done their business, failed to disclose any assets, except a small balance of sixty-eight dollars at the First National Bank. Their partners and Ely Brown, a brother and overseer on the plantation, lived on at the place a month, one of them for six weeks after the murder—had deliberately gathered, ginned and baled the crop and received the profit, and turning it into mules and cash, had, at their own convenience, gone to Texas. This search was made under many difficulties, few persons seeming to take any interest in the matter or offering any assistance. Many who would have given information or aid were, I believe, deterred from so doing, by the fear that it would be dangerous either to themselves or their families.

No notice was taken of the murder by the press of Vicksburg, excepting a short eight or ten line paragraph in one paper, stating that two Yankees had mysteriously disappeared, and intimating that they had swindled their Southern partners.

The grand jury of the Circuit Court for the district in which the murder occurred had the murder under consideration. I was summoned before that body as a witness, gave them my theory of the murder, and their names of the witnesses when statements were taken. I also promised to obtain for their use a copy of Major Corliss' report, and to make out more fully an abstract of the testimony collected by myself, bearing on the killing. Both these papers have been forwarded there. This abstract, giving the names of various parties, and disclosing more minutely the brutality of the murder, and the spirit in which the burial was made by the coroner—a judicial officer—is herewith appended (paper marked "D").

Whether the grand jury have found a bill or not is yet unknown. Major General Wood, on laying the testimony of the above paper before him, promptly telegraphed to Major General Sheridan for the arrest of Ely and Cyrus Brown. General Sheridan has replied that he would use every exertion to take them. Their immediate locality in Texas is, however, unknown—their most immediate friends at Vicksburg, and the houses with which they did business, professing to be entirely ignorant on that point.

It is not likely that they will be taken, except through the influence of a large reward. The reward must be a large one. The Browns are dangerous and desperate men. This is not the first murder in which they are implicated. Only a large sum will tempt any one to meddle with them or inform against them. Then, the value of money is less in the South than with us.

Again—and this consideration was particularly urged by General Wood and the military authorities, who are best conversant with that section of the country—this reward must be large enough to enable the man who takes it to move himself and family out of the State. No man can take this reward and live in Mississippi.

It is utterly out of the power of Mr. Zook or any of his family to offer any such reward, and it seemed to them, and others, that the proper party to do so was the State of Pennsylvania—that she could do this to aid an individual, but to assert a principle—to vindicate her power and will to protect her own citizens.

Accordingly, he now prays that you will offer, in the name of the State, a reward of thirty thousand dollars or more, for the arrest and conviction of the murderers of Noah H. and Abram H. Zook, late of Lancaster county; or if not legally empowered so to do, that you be pleased to recommend to the Legislature the necessary legislation authorizing such a step. I may state that some action, by the State, is earnestly looked for by all the Union citizens in that district, and was strongly advised and requested by the military authorities of all grades.

This petition is made, of course, in its present form, on behalf of the families of the deceased men; but it is proper to say that they are supported in it by the entire body of the Union citizens of this county, for which fact I respectfully refer to any and all of the members of the Legislature from this district.

It is, sir, the general desire of the people of this county not only that the State should offer such a reward, but that she should demand of the National Legislature, believing that allegiance and protection are reciprocal duties, such additional legislation as may be necessary to protect the lives and property of such citizens of the United States who are citizens of Pennsylvania, as are now residing, or who may desire to reside, in the late insurrectionary districts of the South.

I have, sir, the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your most obt' servant,
W. W. NEVIN,
Attorney for Jacob Zook.

BUREAU REFUGEES, FREEDMEN AND ABANDONED LANDS,
Office of Sub-Commissioner, for Warren county, Miss.,
VICKSBURG, MISS.

Brevet Major A. W. Preston, Acting Assistant Adjutant General, District of Mississippi.

MAJOR—In compliance with orders contained in indorsement on letter from David Erans, resident of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, to Honorable Thaddeus Stevens, M. C., and by him referred to General O. O. Howard, Commissioner Bureau Refugees, Freedmen and Abandoned Lands, dated Headquarters District of Mississippi, Bureau Refugees, Freedmen and Abandoned Lands, Vicksburg, December 10, 1866, and letter of instructions dated Headquarters, District of Mississippi, Vicksburg, Mississippi, December 26, 1866, I have the honor to report that I have visited the locality of the tragedy referred to, and beg leave to submit the result of my investigations by presenting in brief the statements made by individuals in that locality as follows, viz:

James Harrod (colored), ferryman at Hankinson's ferry, states that he ferried A. H. Zook, Cyrus and Elliott Brown over the Big Black river on Tuesday morning, the time they all went to Vicksburg; does not know the day of the month; is not certain whether all three went over together or not, but believes they all went to Vicksburg together; Zook was mounted on a mouse colored mule, one of the Browns on a horse and the other on a mule.

Mr. F. G. Owens (lives near the ferry on the Warren county side) states that from the description given of the clothing found near the body, he readily recognizes it as being that worn by A. H. Zook a few days previous, when Zook helped him (Owens) turn over his ferry boat.

Mrs. M. E. Owens (wife of F. G. Owens) states that she saw the two Browns and A. H. Zook after they had crossed the ferry on the morning of October 30, 1866, all mounted and going towards Vicksburg.

George Brooks (colored) (lives on the place formerly operated by Browns, Zook & Co.) states that he drove a team to Vicksburg from Brown & Zook's place, loaded with six (6) bales of cotton, on Tuesday, October 30. That he started before they did; that they must have gone some other way, as they did not pass him on the way. He saw both Cy. and Elliott Brown in Vicksburg, but did not see Zook; thinks he would have seen him if he had been in the city; says the Browns returned home some time late the next Wednesday night; does not know that the mule Zook rode has ever been heard from since the disappearance of Zook; says that Cy. Brown and A. H. Zook had some hard words the Sunday previous while ginning cotton.

Maria Lane (colored) (lives on the place formerly operated by Brown, Zook & Co.) says that all the Browns and A. H. Zook went away together about 8 o'clock, Tuesday morning, October 30, and believes they all went over the river together; states that Elliott Brown returned about dinner time the same day, but Cy. L. Brown did not return until two days after.

Jerry Meyer Harrod (colored), now lives with W. J. Luce, about two miles from the ferry, on the Claiborne side (formerly lived with Brown, Zook & Co.); states that he saw Elliott Brown and Noah Zook go away together on Friday morning, October 26, when they went to look for a place; says Elliott Brown came back the next Sunday; states that the next Tuesday A. H. Zook started for Vicksburg, about 8 o'clock in the morning, and about a half hour afterwards, Cy. and Elliott Brown started for the city. Walker (one of the younger brothers then there) remained at the house at this time.

W. A. Brown was at Utica, Mississippi, waiting for Noah Zook to come there with his saddle. States that Elliott Brown told him that he got the bridle A. H. Zook used before moving from Zook in Vicksburg, and used it to lead home a flax-tail horse, which he had traded for or bought. Also, that Walter Brown told him his brother Elliott had used the bridle to lead the horse home with.

Anthony Oney (colored), who now lives with Mr. James Pipes, about three miles from the Ferry (on the Claiborne side), formerly lived on the place operated by Brown, Zook & Co., states that he saw Mr. Elliott Brown and Noah Zook go away together on Friday morning (October 26th), a few days before the others went to Vicksburg; Elliott came back the next Sunday.

Wesley Walker (colored), now living with W. A. Collins, on Mrs. Wright's place, adjoining the one formerly operated by Brown, Zook & Co., who formerly worked for Brown, Zook & Co., states that he knew of the bridle which A. H. Zook used being returned in the manner specified by Jerry Meyer Harrod,

W. A. Collins, now operating one of the Mrs. Wright's places, about a half mile from the one operated by Brown, Zook & Co., on the Claiborne side, states that on or about the 25th of October, 1866, Noah Zook borrowed a horse from him (Collins) to go about the neighborhood, and to go above in the vicinity of Lawrence, and Utica, and Boulton Depot, in Hinds county, to look for a place. He understood that Cy. L. Brown was to accompany him; thinks he went the next day after getting the horse; states that the Browns and Zooks were not on good terms; that Brown would not allow Zook to use the horses on the place for private purposes; says the Browns were considered rather disagreeable men; that they killed some of his (Collins') stock, and after the disappearance of the Zooks, Browns laid the blame upon the Zooks.

Says he has not heard anything from his horse since Noah Zook went away.

J. K. Bruce (now living on the Wright's place, recently operated by the Browns and Zooks) says that Calvin Brown told him his brother, W. A. Brown, was to leave Utica, for Texas, on the 5th of December; states that Claiborne Sewell and John Flowers (colored) formerly lived on the place with Browns and Zooks; saw Cy. L. Brown, Elliott Brown, Doctor A. L. M'Kae and Morse about seven miles from Vicksburg, going towards home, about ten o'clock, on the night of October 31. Claiborne Sewell is now in Natchez, Mississippi; is expected back in a few days; John Flowers is now somewhere about Meridian, and is also expected back soon, as they are both engaged to work the coming year on his place.

Peter R. Garnett (a school teacher, now living at Mrs. Steeds, about three miles from Hankinson ferry) was a member of the coroner's inquest, held over the body found, says the jury found that the deceased, an unknown man, came to his death by a pistol or gunshot in the right side, at the hand of an unknown person; that he had evidently been murdered in the road and dragged across the field about one hundred yards, and left in a cane-brake near Mount Vernon school house, and was discovered by a son of William Fawcett, who was out hunting on the 13th of November; Garnett thinks the deed must have been committed in the day time, from the fact that the body was taken over that rugged lot.

Doctor A. L. M'Kae (lives at Mrs. Saddle's place, about three miles from the ferry) states that he went to Vicksburg on Tuesday (October 30th), and on Wednesday he started home, in company with G. L. and Elliott Brown and a Mr. Morse (Morse lived about nine or ten miles from Vicksburg, on the road to Red Bone); says that Morse stopped at his house when they passed it (which was 'about an hour after night'), and he has not seen him since. Says he did not see A. H. Zook that day; had not seen him for nearly three weeks. States that one Kirpatrick, a clerk for Humes & Co., Vicksburg, told him that Zook was in the city that day. States that one of the Browns told him that Morse stayed over night with the father of Brown, in Utica, Miss., about a week before the body of A. H. Zook was found.

During my investigation I was particularly impressed with the manifest reticence on the part of the people throughout the vicinity, which gave me the idea that they were overawed and intimidated, or that they entertained little or no desire to assist in bringing the perpetrators of the foul deed to just retribution.

I was told by the people in the vicinity that the Browns had closed up their business and gone to Utica, Miss.; that W. A. Brown had gone from there to Texas. I was unable to learn anything further than that shown in the foregoing regarding Noah Zook. There appears to be an idle rumor, which I was unable to trace to any reliable source, that some time since the disappearance of Noah Zook, a body had been found, somewhere between Utica and Lawrence, in Hinds county, so badly cut and mutilated as to prevent recognition.

The Browns appear to have left an unenviable reputation in the vicinity of Hankinson's ferry, although people speak of them with apparent reluctance.

I could ascertain nothing definite regarding the property said to be in their possession, except cotton, which was probably disposed of by the Browns. The surface of the country thereabouts renders movements very slow for persons unacquainted with the country. The father of the Brown brothers is said to be residing at Utica, Hinds county, distant about fifty miles from Vicksburg, where it is thought they may congregate, although it is not definitely known where they are.

Mr. Morse, the person referred to in the foregoing, was supposed by some to have been murdered, but that the body afterwards shown to be that of A. H. Zook might have been his; and the clothing found on and near the body has been clearly identified as being that of A. H. Zook.

The sudden disappearance of Morse (who is said to be about six miles from Lake Providence, Louisiana, now living with his wife on a plantation), together with the fact that he has allowed several important cases to go by default in the State circuit court, rather indicates that he at least may be acquainted with facts connected with the tragedy.

I have called upon Kirkpatrick, at Messrs. Hume & Co.'s, Vicksburg, Mississippi, who stated that he saw A. H. Zook in Vicksburg about the time he was said to be missing, and thinks it very probable it was the day before mentioned. Says that C. L. Brown and Zook were together at their (Hume & Co.'s) place of business.

I have the honor to be, Major,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

GEORGE W. COLLINS,

1st Lieut. 3d Reg. V. R. C., brevet Major U. S. V., Sub-commissioner.

HEADQUARTERS DISTRICT OF MISSISSIPPI,
Vicksburg, January 2d, 1867.

Respectfully submitted for the information of Major General George H. Thomas, commanding Department of the Tennessee, and through him for the information of General Grant, commanding-in-chief, Major General O. O. Howard and Hon. Thaddeus Stevens.

From the facts elicited in the investigation made by Brevet Major Collins of my staff, who visited the neighborhood of the tragedy, under the escort of a company of the Twenty-fourth infantry, pursuant to my orders, it appears, vating, on the 25th of October last, to go to a different part of the State to look for a plantation to cultivate, and that since that time Noah Zook has never been seen or heard from. It is therefore presumed he was murdered, but, as his body has never been found, it is not certainly known. Circumstances point to Elliott Brown as the murderer.

Second. On the 30th of October Cyrus and Elliott Brown and Abraham Zook left the plantation to visit Vicksburg. There is some uncertainty as to whether Abraham Zook was seen in Vicksburg on that day in company with the Browns, but it is certain he never returned to the plantation. On the 18th of November a body was found which was subsequently identified as Abraham Zook's, and it was plain he had come to his death by violence, and circumstances clearly point to the Browns as the murderers.

The Browns shortly after left that part of the county, and it is reported some of them have gone to Texas; but it cannot be determined with any certainty where any of them are. The extreme reserve and reticence of the people when the military authorities attempt to investigate any crime, render it almost impossible to elicit any positive information. Even if it could be known where the Browns are, it would be next to, if not absolutely impossible, to arrest them by a military force, on account of the facility and rapidity with which confederates in crime and villainy give each other information of any movement against any of their number, and the readiness with which murderers can effectually secrete themselves in wild country inhabited by people who sympathize with them, or at least look with indifference on the commission of crime.

I am informed the grand jury of this county is now in session, and will make an inquest of this matter. It is hoped something positive may be elicited by their labors.

I wrote to the Governor of the State some time since, urging him to bring the whole civil power of the State to bear on the detection of the murderers and bringing them to punishment, but as yet have received no answer from him.

It is certain that the man Morse is not dead. He is believed to be somewhere in Louisiana. His conduct in leaving the neighborhood in which the Zooks had lived, after their death, leads to the suspicion that he was a participant in the crime, or was intimidated and induced to leave the country by the Browns. I incline to believe the latter is true.

All the information I have been able to gather about this matter, together with the instructions of the General-in-Chief, will be turned over to my successor, General Gillem, on his arrival, so that if the future develop any new facts, he will be in a condition to take advantage of them.

(Signed) TH. J. WOOD,
Brevet Major General United States Army, Commanding.

In addition to the evidence elicited by Mayor Collins, under his commission to investigate the murder of the Zooks, I desire to call your attention to the following information gotten from various parties, who would doubtless, if judicially examined, divulge more.

Valentine Vogh (stablekeeper, and runs a hack), better known as "Volley Vogh," Vicksburg, says: when he lifted the body, January 18, 1867, it was found in a hole hardly four feet long, doubled up, with perhaps about a foot of earth on it; about half a mile off the road, to the left going down; the head separated from the body, but near it; the lower jawbone with the body; bowels and flesh above the elbows and knees gone; this by road was a cut off from the main road; saves about three miles; this cut-off is almost impassable; can only be used for foot, or horse, or mule travel; the people do not use this cut excepting the few who live on it; persons going from Hankinson's ferry to Vicksburg would not take it ordinarily; know the country well; during the siege was a refugee from Vicksburg, and lived about the Big Black.

About a month ago (this evidence given January 7, 1867), one of the Browns—thinks it was Elly—a rather good-looking, rascally young man, with moustache and some hair on his chin (does not know about the whiskers), left a horse at his stable. The horse was brought by a boy, and taken away by a younger brother of the Browns; he did not know this brother, and refused to give him the horse; went round to Hume's with him and saw Brown, who said it was all right; Hume paid him for the stable of the horse; E. Brown said he was going to Texas—he believes he said to Galveston; he told — to save him two of his blooded puppies; and he would bring him a fine coll of Texas; he believes Brown left that day, on that horse, a fine one, for Texas; he asked young Brown that day how they were making out on their cotton; Brown said the show was poor—they would only get about nine thousand dollars. (This is about a one-fourth crop on this place, which is the ordinary yield in this country this year.)

It was understood among the neighbors, before Zook was killed, that Brown was going to Texas.

W. A. Hume, Washington street, says Zook never traded with him nor the Browns; says the Browns have been at his place since the murder, but did not sell him their cotton; does not know where they did sell; thinks the Browns have gone to Texas—does not know where; that Kirkpatrick left his employ January 5, 1867; went to the country on a plantation; Kirkpatrick might know something.

The United States Collector, corner Washington and — streets, is positive that W. A. Hume got a clearance for cotton, and he thinks he got two; the books do not show any clearance in his name—must have been cleared in some other name than his own.

Esq. Miller, the coroner who held the inquest, told Valentine Vogh at the time of taking up the body that the body was found shot in the right side and the stomach cut open to give the birds a better show—that the Rawlins boys buried him after the inquest—that he, Miller, thought, and it was the general impression of the neighborhood, that the Browns had killed the Zooks, or at least A. H. Zook. Peter Garnett, school teacher, living on Mrs. Steed's place, told him that was his impression—that he, Garnett, on the same morning Abraham left for Vicksburg—saw two men leading a mule towards Vicksburg—did not recognize the men—thinks the mule was the one A. H. Zook rode, from descriptions afterwards received.

Mr. Shearer, of the firm of Shearer & —, says his books show that C. F. Brown sold him cotton as follows:

Oct. 5, 1866, five bales.	Day after murder same number of bales taken to Vicksburg, by A. E. Zook and C. T. Brown.
" 31, " six "
Nov. 3, " eleven "	Day after murder same number of bales taken to Vicksburg, by A. E. Zook and C. T. Brown.
" 16, " ac squared "

Cy. Brown went to Texas over a week ago—Cy. told me some time after the Zook disappearance, that they owed him money, and had gone away—asked me if I had heard of the murder—said he had heard there was a writ out against him (Cy.)—had come up to see about it. Shearer says Cy. is a high-minded gentleman—any transactions of his would be all right—pressed this point three times.

Mr. Nutt—Can be found at Hume's—knows a good deal of the Browns, and likely knows where they now are—is rumored to have been connected with Elly Brown in the murder of one Wiley or Wiles, in a boat on the Big Black some years ago.

Mr. Kirkpatrick (his whereabouts are to be found at Hume's store), is said, by many persons to know a great deal about the affairs of Messrs. Brown and Zook. Kirkpatrick was once in the store of May & Brown.

On a Tuesday early in December, a clerk of Brown's came to Mr. G. W. Andrews, of Cayuga, a village near Vicksburg, and asked him to pay an account, saying that Cy. (or Billy) Brown would leave on Thursday for Texas via New Orleans. Andrews heard afterwards that he had gone.

Lieutenant Dick, who has leased the plantation which the Zooks tilled last year, has been run off. He is in Iowa or Illinois; will likely be in Vicksburg about the middle of the month.

Major G. W. Corliss, staff of General Gillip, visited the plantation, and can give evidence of the total absence of any property or stock on the place before the lease was up.

I am, sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

W. W. NEVIN.

The foregoing message, with the accompanying documents, was, on motion,

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth also presented a message from the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 13, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania: GENTLEMEN—Herewith is returned to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, bill No. 99, entitled An act to enable State banks to settle and close up their affairs, with my objections to the same.

Payment to the noteholders of bills issued by State banks about to wind up their affairs is, apparently, the only object in view. This is proper enough; but the means proposed to attain the desired end are more than questionable. An examination of the laws upon this subject shows that ample provision has already been made; and this whether the directors of the bank voluntarily elect to act in the premises, or the noteholders or other creditors desire relief in case the directors of the bank neglect or refuse it. The twenty-fourth and subsequent sections of the act approved 16th April, 1850, provide a complete and detailed system for the closing up of State banks. If the bank voluntarily pays all its demands on presentation, neither the noteholders nor others have any right to complain; if not, any one aggrieved can apply to the court of common pleas of the county where the bank is located, and compel an assignment for the benefit of noteholders and all others in interest. The duties of these assignees are to take charge of all the assets of the bank, to give security therefor, and to comply with the detailed provisions of the laws. Among other things, they are required "once in every six months" to file accounts of their receipts and disbursements, and "at least once in every six months make a pro rata dividend of the balance in their hands, among the creditors of the bank," and receive such compensation as the court may approve. This system appears upon its face to be well adapted for the purposes intended, and has stood the test of experience for over fifteen years.

The bill herewith returned proposes a new system, so far as relates to the payment of the outstanding notes of the banks, but for no other purpose.

It provides for the appointment of a trustee for the object above, and that he shall take charge of the funds of the bank for this special purpose.

No provision is made for depositors, or other creditors of the bank. Under the laws creating our State banks, the debts and liabilities of those which failed, or were about to close, have to be paid in a certain order; and it must be apparent that assignees having the custody and control of the whole assets of such bank, could marshal the assets and make distribution of them much more intelligently, and with much greater chances of justice to the creditors, if part only of the assets were in the hands of one set of assignees, and another part in the hands of a trustee. This would not only create confusion and delay in the adjustment of the accounts, but also greatly add to the expense, without any resulting good to parties interested so far as the assets are concerned. Moreover, the third and fifth sections of the bill require the trustee to pay the noteholders the whole amount of their respective claims on presentation. The result would be that if the fund should prove inadequate, the claims first presented would be paid in full, whilst those later presented would get nothing. After the trustee provided for in this bill has been appointed and given security, it provides as follows:

SEC. 4. That the compensation of the said trustee shall be such interest as may accrue to him in the investment of the said fund.

SEC. 6. That the said court may, at any time after five years subsequent to the appointment of any trustee as aforesaid, compel said trustee to make an exhibit of the funds of his trust, and to enforce its decree by the appointment of an auditor or auditors to settle an account, and make distribution: Provided, That in any distribution as aforesaid, twenty per centum of the fund ordered to be distributed, shall, in the discretion of the court, be applied to the payment of the costs of audit and to the trustee as compensation on making said exhibit and distribution.

I cannot comprehend how any such legislation as this could ever be expected to benefit anybody, except the man who was fortunate enough to secure the appointment of trustee. If intended for the benefit of any noteholder, depositor, or other creditors of a bank, they would have a right to invoke aid to save them from their friends.

Suppose, for illustration, the outstanding bills of a bank about to close to be fifty thousand dollars; and this amount to be placed in the hands of a trustee, under the provisions of this bill. Instead of being required to file accounts and declare pro rata dividends every six months, as under the old law, he can retain the whole fund for years, and appropriate all the interest (say at six per cent., $15,000) as compensation for his valuable services. "At any time after five years" the court may compel a settlement and distribution; and allow him and the auditors twenty per cent., or ten thousand dollars more, for settling an account and making distribution. Thus, under the provisions of this bill, one-half of the original amount intended for the billholders could be squandered, and not one dollar of it be received by any noteholder or creditor of the bank.

Believing the inevitable results of the legislation proposed would be to injure the parties who should be benefited, to delay and complicate settlements, and to consume the assets of the banks in useless fees and expenses, I return the bill without my approval. JOHN W. GEARY.

Laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. STEHMAN, the House adjourned until to-morrow (Friday) morning at 10 o'clock.

IN THE SENATE.

THURSDAY, March 14, 1867.

The following bill was passed finally and accidentally omitted from the proceedings of that date:

AN ACT to incorporate the Adams County Soldiers' Monument association.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That W. W. With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

On motion of Mr. BROWN (Mercer), the Senate refused to concur in the amendments.

THE ZOOK MURDERS.

Mr. BIGHAM, from the Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred the message, with the recommendation of the Governor, in regard to the probable murder, in Mississippi, of Noah H. and Abraham Zook, of Lancaster county, reported the following joint resolution:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the Governor of this Commonwealth be authorized to offer such rewards, in money, and take such other measures as in his discretion may be deemed necessary, reference to the disappearance and probable murder of Noah H. Zook and

Abraham Zook, and to bring to justice the perpetrators of such a great crime against two peaceable citizens of Pennsylvania; and that he be authorized to draw upon the Treasury for all sums necessary to defray the expenses for this purpose.

On motion of Mr. BILLINGFELT, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of the resolution.

Mr. LANDON suggested that the amount of reward should be inserted—say five thousand dollars.

Mr. LOWRY. I think we can trust that to the Governor.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, that matter was thought of, but there is some difficulty in setting the amount. If the Senate, however, desire it, some limitation can be imposed, without throwing the decision upon the Executive.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, I think the suggestion of the Senator from Bradford [Mr. LANDON] eminently proper. I think that a sum ought to be named beyond which the Governor could not and should not go—five thousand or ten thousand dollars. But let us cease, from this time henceforth and forever, this loose kind of legislation, this appropriation of money without limit. I think that five thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be needed, ought to be incorporated in the bill. I move that it be thus amended.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker I would rather see no sum named at all than have it go upon our country's records that we held human life at the price of five thousand dollars. Is that the price for murdering Pennsylvanians? Can those murderers be arrested and brought to justice for five thousand dollars? If it can be done for that, we will pay it; and if it costs more we can offer it. I prefer leaving it in the hands of the Governor, and let him do what he thinks proper. They are opening up a new country where these murderers took place, and let us show the world that the treasury of Pennsylvania is open to protect her citizens from the murderer's hands. We looked at this subject in all its bearings, and we were of the opinion that the dignity of the Commonwealth and the cause of justice required that it should stand without naming a sum for the heads of the murderers.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, under ordinary circumstances I should feel it my duty to sustain the committee and fully concur, but in this case I think the amendment proper.

Mr. LANDON. Mr. Speaker, I submit now, sir, as a universal principle, that it does not look well for the Senate to pass a law allowing any man unlimited access to the treasury. The Governor does not desire it, I think. If five thousand is not enough, make it ten thousand dollars. My friend from Erie [Mr. LOWRY] is in an imaginative mood. What is the use in talking about lives being worth five thousand dollars? If five thousand dollars is not enough, make it ten thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary. I insist that the sum should be limited to some figure.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I hope there may be no amount specified in this bill. I think it is about time that the Government of Pennsylvania should make its influence felt all over the United States. Whether ten thousand dollars is necessary or not, it will not bring back the lives of those men who were killed. But we should set an example and protect the citizens of Pennsylvania, who may choose to go down South and pursue a peaceable avocation, as those men were doing; and I think the amount should be large enough to make an inducement to catch these men, because they are known. Make the amount sufficiently large to hold out an inducement for their capture, because they are living and are known, and should be tried, convicted and hung.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment offered by Mr. GRAHAM, that the amount appropriated for this purpose shall not exceed five thousand dollars?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. R. L. INGELT and Mr. GLATZ, and were as follows, viz.:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Connell, Davis, Donovan, Graham, Jackson, Landon, McCandless, M'Conaughy, Randall, Ridgway, Searight, Wallace, Walls and Hall, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Fisher, Glatz, Haines, Lowry, Taylor, White and Worthington—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The resolution as amended was then

Agreed to.

The bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

VOTES RECONSIDERED.

Mr. DONOVAN moved that the Senate reconsider the vote negating the first and only section of a bill entitled An act relating to evidence in actions of ejectment.

The motion was

Agreed to.

And the bill being again before the Senate, Mr. WALLACE moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill for the present.

The motion was

Agreed to.

Mr. LOWRY moved that the Senate reconsider the vote on the final passage of bill entitled An act to provide for the continuance of the education and maintenance of the destitute orphans of the deceased soldiers and sailors, and the destitute children of permanently disabled soldiers and sailors of the State.

The motion was

Agreed to.

And the bill being again before the Senate, Mr. WORTHINGTON moved to amend the second section by striking out the words, "and also the desolate motherless children of soldiers permanently disabled in said war," and inserting, in lieu thereof, the words "and the Superintendent, with the concurrence of the Governor, may admit to the benefits of this act such destitute children of soldiers permanently disabled in said war as, in their judgment, the condition of said children and considerations of humanity require to be so admitted."

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. Speaker, this merely leaves the matter discretionary with the Superintendent and Governor, which is acceptable, I believe, to all parties on both sides.

The amendment was

Agreed to.

The section as amended was

Agreed to.

The bill then

Passed finally.

CORPLANTER.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer). Mr. Speaker, it will be remembered that during the last session of the Legislature, a joint resolution was passed, authorizing an appropriation of a certain sum of money for the construction and dedication of a monument to Cornplanter, a celebrated Indian chief. I hold in my hand a letter from the Hon. J. Ross Snowden, which will give information to the Senate as to the manner in which that trust has been discharged, which I will send up to be read.

The letter was read as follows:

To the Honorable Louis W. Hall, Speaker of the Senate:

DEAR SIR—At the last session of the Legislature, a joint resolution was adopted authorizing the erection of a monument to the memory of Cornplanter, the celebrated chief of the Seneca nation. The same resolution placed the subject in charge of Honorable Samuel P. Johnson, president judge of the Sixth Judicial district.

Under his direction the monument was completed, and placed in position over the grave of the chief, at Cornplanter Indian village (Jennedsega), in the county of Warren, on the Allegheny river, fifteen miles above the borough of Warren, on the 18th of October last. These addresses made by the chief about four hundred Indians, and a large concourse of citizens of Pennsylvania and New York.

I have the honor to present herewith the report of Judge Johnson, showing the manner in which he has discharged the duties assigned him by the joint resolution referred to.

His report embraces his introductory remarks, and the historical sketch of Cornplanter and the Six Nations, which I prepared and delivered at his request; also, the responses to the addresses made by the chief and a Councillor of the Seneca Nation. These responses were made in the Indian language, but they were reported and taken down by me as they were translated at the time of delivery by interpreters.

Herewith, also, I present a photograph of the monument and the audience, taken during the delivery of the historical sketch; and photographs of Charles O'Ball, Henry O'Ball, and Polly Logan, the surviving children of Cornplanter.

If the Legislature should direct the publication of these papers I will, if desired, assist in preparing them for the press.

I have the honor to be, with great respect,
Your obedient servant,

JAMES ROSS SNOWDEN.

HARRISBURG, March 8, 1867.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer) moved that one thousand copies of the report of Judge Johnson, the superintendent of the work, and also one thousand copies of the address delivered on the occasion by James Ross Snowden, and other papers connected with the dedication of the monument, be published, under the direction of the Committee on Public Printing, for the use of the Senate.

The motion was

Agreed to.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, I would mention here to the Senate, for the ear of the chairman of the Committee on Finance, that, in my judgment, Pennsylvania has rarely done a more creditable act than by the appropriation of this sum of money last year to erect a monument to Cornplanter; but there is a small balance required, which should be put into the next appropriation bill.

Mr. CONNELL. Very well; we will supply the deficiency.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of a bill entitled A supplement to an act for the better preservation of game and insectivorous birds, approved the 21st day of April, 1858.

The bill

Passed finally.

BILLS PASSED.

On motion of Mr. GRAHAM, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled Joint resolution authorizing the appointment of a special agent to collect disallowed and suspended claims against the United States. The bill was then read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. M'CONAUGHY, the Committee on Corporations was discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Adams County Soldiers' Monument association.

And the rules having been dispensed with, The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. M'CANDLESS, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill, entitled An act to enable the Philadelphia Commercial wharf and railroad company to issue bonds and to secure the payment of the same by mortgage; to extend the time for the construction of their railroad connections, and to increase the number of directors.

The bill was read a second and a third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. SEARIGHT, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act relating to hawking and peddling of ready made clothing in the county of Greene.

The bill was read a second and a third time, and

Passed finally.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows:

No. 1085, an act to increase the revenue of the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

He also returned bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz.:

No. 808, a supplement to an act incorporating the Colebrookdale railroad company, approved the 23d day of March, A. D. 1865.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

On motion of Mr. DAVIS, the amendments were twice read, considered and concurred in.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the following messages from the Governor in writing:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 12, 1867.)

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—A letter, dated 6th instant, has just been received from Hon. Jonathan Worth, Governor of North Carolina, covering a set of resolutions adopted by the Legislature of that district, both of which, according to his request, are herewith transmitted to you.

The object of the resolutions is to invite "all the States, North, South, East and West," to a national convention for the purpose of "proposing, in exact conformity with the Constitution of the United States, such amendments to the Constitution that the result will be such mutual concessions as will lead to a restoration of our former happy relations."

Under ordinary circumstances I would be satisfied to simply submit this communication to the Legislature without comment, but in this instance the occasion seems to demand something more. I am by no means insensible to a noble spirit of concession and forbearance necessary to impart vitality to our national existence, and, therefore, in deliberating upon this important subject, I would recommend that local feelings and prejudices be merged in a patriotic determination to promote the public welfare. But when we reflect that the people of North Carolina, inviting this assembly, are not in full communion with the loyal States; that they have been for many years in the habit of looking with great indifference upon the national interests and of tolerating disloyalty; that throughout the thrilling and sanguinary year of the rebellion they used their utmost efforts to destroy the Constitution and the Union, and to establish a hostile government of their own; that they have recently refused to ratify the mild and wholesome amendments to the Constitution; that Congress, by the passage of the reconstruction act, has made a salutary provision for their future military government, and for that of the other refractory districts lately engaged in rebellion; is not the presumption with which these unrepentant rebels and subjugated traitors now ask for "mutual concessions" surprising?

The people of Pennsylvania have always been loyal to the Government, true to the Constitution and laws of the nation, and have stood in the foremost ranks of the defenders of the Union. They have no concessions to make; certainly none to those who have waged a treasonable war, and who have been conquered at the point of the bayonet. The doctrine is certainly abhorrent that defeated treason should ask the loyal men of this country to meet them on equal terms in convention to amend the Constitution they repudiated and attempted to destroy. The guilty failure of those men has assigned them to a far different task—submission to the terms of the conqueror and obedience to that law which we all obey.

While Pennsylvania has no concessions to make, her people, desiring a speedy, just and proper readjustment of all the States in the Union, earnestly beseech the citizens of North Carolina, and of all the Southern States, to return without delay to the benign influence of the Government while yet the terms of such a return are easy, and not to wait for more severe conditions, and, perhaps, far more serious punishment.

Jno. W. GEARY.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
RALEIGH, March 15th, 1867.

To His Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania:

DEAR SIR—I herewith enclose to you resolutions of the General Assembly of this State, proposing a plan of composing our national troubles, in exact conformity with the Constitution of the United States.

If these resolutions shall meet the approval of the States and the Congress, I do not doubt that the result will be such mutual concessions as will lead to a cordial restoration of the relations among the States which of old made the American Union the pride of our people and the envy of the nations.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
JONATHAN WORTH,
Governor of North Carolina.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS PROPOSING THE CALL OF A NATIONAL CONVENTION.

WHEREAS, The people of the State of North Carolina have repeatedly declared, through their representatives, their desire that harmonious relations should be fully restored between this State and the United States, according to the Constitution of the United States, on terms alike safe and honorable to all parties; and to effect such harmony are willing, in a constitutional manner, to assent to any amendment of the Constitution of the United States, giving full indemnity and security for the peace and permanency of the Union, which may be constitutionally proposed, and whatever shall seem to them compatible with civil liberty and tending to promote the general welfare; and whereas by the fifth article of the Constitution of the United States is declared that

"The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to the Constitution, or, on application of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or other mode of ratification may be proposed by Congress; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate."

Believing that no better mode can be devised to compose the different animosities growing out of the late war than that contemplated by the alternative proposition in said fifth article of the Constitution of the United States; therefore,

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, That this State doth apply to the Congress of the United States for the call of a national convention, in which all the States, North, South, East and West, shall be represented, according to the Constitution, to propose such amendments to the Constitution as shall seem fitted to promote the general welfare, the peace, harmony and prosperity of the Union of the United States; which amendments, when ratified by three-fourths of the several States, shall be ratified, to all intents and purposes, as part of the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved, further, That the Governor of this State transmit to the President of the United States a copy of these resolutions, to be communicated to the Congress of the United States, and also a copy to the Governor of each of the States, with the request that the same be laid before the Legislature of each State of the Union.

Ratified March 2d, 1867.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, R. W. Best, Secretary of the State, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original on file in this office. Given under my hand this Fourth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven.

R. W. BEST,
Secretary of State.

Laid on the table.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth also presented the following message:

PUBLIC CALENDAR.

Agreed to be ordered,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of bills on the public calendar, as follows:

No. 828, an act requiring notice of applications for legislation in certain cases.

The first section was read, as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That whoever intends to present to the Legislature any petition, or to introduce any bill, or procure legislation, in any manner affecting the rights and interests of any individual, or of private corporations, or of any city, town, or borough, in this Commonwealth, shall publish a notice of such petition, bill or intended application, for four successive weeks, in some newspaper published in the county in which such individuals reside, or in which such corporations are established, or in such city, town or borough as may be so affected, the last of which publications shall be made at least fourteen days before the meeting of the Legislature; such notices shall, when practicable, contain an exact copy of the proposed petition, or act, or if otherwise, then such full information in reference to the objects and effects of the proposed legislation, that all persons whose rights or interests may be injuriously affected, may clearly understand, and have time and opportunity to remonstrate against the same.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, that is an exact transcript of the Massachusetts statute on the subject; and I think, sir, it is not only a good precedent, but is right in itself.

There is no doubt, sir, that one of the greatest abuses in connection with legislation is legislating without the knowledge of the parties to be affected, or without those parties being heard, and there certainly should be some restriction put upon it. There should be some provision by which ordinary notice should be allowed to those to be affected. This proposes that notice of applications for bills which are to affect the rights of individuals and the rights of corporations and municipal bodies should be such as will enable them to be heard in the Legislature touching the matter proposed to be put in the shape of a law. I think, sir, that it is very carefully prepared and is essentially right, and I hope it will not be disposed with haste—that it will not be, as intimated by one or two of our friends, treated as a matter not to be required, but, on the other hand, that it will have that full attention which the necessities of the matter demand.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, on this particular occasion I feel disposed to stand by Massachusetts, although it is not often that I do so. I think that a bill of this kind is proper. I think, however, that the publication for four weeks is requiring too much time, and I move, therefore, sir, to amend by striking out the word "four," after the words

"application for," and insert, in lieu thereof, the word "two."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I take it for granted that we will not pass this legislation. There is no use in binding ourselves here by this kind of legislation; it is purely ornamental. I did not think anybody was in earnest about it.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. I am in earnest, and I desire to know if the Senator from Allegheny is not in earnest.

Mr. BIGHAM. There is no use at all of thinking of this, in the present state of things. If the contemplated State Convention is to be held, it may be well to consider this. These are the rights of our constituents, not our own, and we cannot take them away. It would be folly if we could. We should not adhere to it one day.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Mr. Speaker, we have, I think, an act now similar to this, which has not been observed or enforced. It stands now upon our statute books. There are laws often required here, and parties do not know, a week beforehand, that it is necessary to give notice. This bill would keep the Legislature in session all the time.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, there was such a law in existence, and it was a dead letter within three weeks after the next Legislature met. There is another requirement here which would defeat really useful legislation, that bills affecting the rights or interests of cities, towns, boroughs, individuals or private corporations, shall be presented to the Legislature within the first ten days of the session. People do not begin to think what they want until the Legislature is in session. I am against the bill.

Mr. DAVIS moved further to amend the first section by striking out the words "meeting of the Legislature," and inserting in lieu thereof the words "petition or bill is read."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the Senator from Philadelphia, I desire to say that the legislation that was had a few years ago was special and limited. It applied to but a small class of cases, and was treated as nugatory. The proposition here is to supply that objectionable feature, and to make it general. It failed of its application, because it was not made just and general—because it was not applied to all proper cases. Therefore, being deemed injudicious in particular cases, and the prevailing usage being to the contrary, it has been practically ignored. Where you introduce a new practice, it is better to do it gradually. Therefore, I agree to the amendment of the Senator from Berks [Mr. DAVIS]. And I wish now, on consideration of just policy, to ask the Senators from Philadelphia, and my brother Senators here, if, in a matter so vital as that which affects the rights and interests of individuals or private corporations, there should not be at least two week's public notice, so that there might be some practical notice given to the individuals or authorities to be affected. It has been remarked, during the argument by my brother Senator from Philadelphia, that it very often happens that it is not known, until shortly before the application, that legislation is required. I believe that, in the large proportion of cases, touching, for instance, corporations, it is made without the knowledge of the parties interested pecuniarily or materially. I believe these things are done often at the instance of the managers of persons pecuniarily and selfishly interested. While I believe that special legislation is to be deprecated, I believe that more than half of it would be prevented by hearing both parties, and giving an opportunity to those interested to know the whole facts.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

It was not

Agreed to.

So the bill fell.

House Bill No. 248, an act to enlarge the jurisdiction of the courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth, relative to granting charters of incorporations and confirming those heretofore granted.

The first section was read.

On motion of Mr. WALLACE, the first section was amended so as to read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, the several courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth shall have power and authority to grant charters of incorporation, in all cases in which the same is authorized to be granted under existing laws, by the Supreme Court of this Commonwealth, and the association hereafter incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth, may be authorized to hold real estate to an amount, the clear yearly value or income whereof shall not exceed twenty thousand dollars, and all laws or parts of laws inconsistent herewith, be, and the same are hereby, repealed.

The section as amended was

Agreed to.

The second section was read as follows:

SEC. 2. That all charters of incorporation which have heretofore been granted by any of said courts of common pleas, in cases wherein the said Supreme Court only had power and authority to grant the same, be, and the same are hereby, validated, and made of the same force and effect as if the same had been granted in pursuance of authority conferred upon said courts of common pleas.

The section was

Agreed to.

The third section was read as follows:

SEC. 3. That the said courts of common pleas shall have power and authority to grant charters of incorporation in all cases wherein any number of persons, citizens of this Commonwealth, are associated for the purpose of insuring horses, cattle, and other live stock, against loss by death from disease or accident, or from being stolen, and also to grant charters of incorporation to water and hook and ladder companies, and building associations.

The Senate committee amended the third section by adding the following:

Musical clubs or associations, teachers' institutes or associations, hotel companies, skating park associations, and clubs, for the advancement of athletic sports, including base ball clubs, and bargo and fishing clubs; and, in granting such charters of incorporation, the said courts shall proceed in the manner provided by law for the incorporation of literary, charitable or religious societies; and the said courts shall have power to incorporate, by the same form of proceeding, fire insurance companies, which said companies, when so incorporated, shall have all of the rights, powers and privileges, and be subject to all of the restrictions and provisions of the general law regulating fire insurance companies, approved April 2d, 1856, with the several supplements thereto.

The section as amended was

Agreed to.

And the bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

No. 832, an act relating to the publication of general, local and private laws, and of legal advertisements in the several counties of this Commonwealth.

On the question,
Will the Senate proceed to the second reading and consideration of the bill?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RANDALL and Mr. SEARIGHT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfield, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Davis, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Jackson, Lowry, M'Conoughy, Searight, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Donovan, Glatz, Landon, M'Caless, Randall, Ridgway and White—7.
So the question was determined in the affirmative.

In committee of the whole (Mr. GRAHAM in the chair), the first section was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, that it is the law enacted by the authority of this act, That from and after the passage of this act, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Commonwealth to send to the commissioners of each county in the Commonwealth, a certified copy of each and every general law enacted by the Legislature, as soon as approved by the Governor; and also to each board of county commissioners, as aforesaid, a copy of each law specially relating to said county or its citizens.

The section was agreed to.

The second section was read as follows:
SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of said county commissioners, as soon as said laws are received by them, to cause them to be published in not less than one newspaper of each of the two leading political parties in such county, if there be so many printed in the county, not less than once, and at such rates for publication as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the usual charges for advertising in the aforesaid papers; the expense of publishing the said local laws to be defrayed out of the treasuries of the counties to which they apply, and the expense of publishing the general laws to be paid out of the treasury of the Commonwealth.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the section?
Mr. CONNELL moved to amend the same by striking out the words "one newspaper in each of the two leading political parties," and inserting in lieu thereof the words, "two leading political newspapers having the largest circulation."

Mr. LOWRY. That would have the effect, in Democratic counties, I suppose, of giving all their patronage to the Democrats, and in Republican counties to the Republicans. I do not think that right.

Mr. CONNELL. Well, strike out "political."

Mr. WALLS. I think the bill just right as it is; it is fair to the whole State.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Chairman, this bill has been well considered by the committee. It seems to me, if we intend to pass the bill at all, it should be passed as it is. The editors themselves, of both parties, have discussed this question and investigated it, and it is due to them to say that the question of newspaper politics has been proved to a great extent, and it is fair that both parties should have a right to see the law, and that can only be done by giving their respective organs the publication of the laws. If you put them in the publication which has the largest circulation, perhaps it would reach only a certain class.

Mr. CONNELL. The amendment requires the publication in the papers having the largest circulation in the county.

Mr. WALLACE. It does not reach a certain class proposed to be reached by this bill. It is just and fair, and if we pass the bill at all, let it be in its present shape.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Chairman, I was going to say, in reply to the Senator from Clearfield [Mr. WALLACE], that I know he is in favor of wise legislation, but I confess that I do not see the necessity for this bill. I never understood that there was a request from the printers' association for the passage of this bill. I am perfectly confident that there has been no appeal from my district for it. I think it unwise to agitate the question. In my district I hear no complaints; there are no complaints against the officials; they select the publication which has the largest circulation. I am opposed to the passage of this bill, unless the amendment offered by the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL] is adopted.

Mr. CONNELL. In support of my amendment, I will say that, so far from the bill meeting the approval of all the editors, this amendment is offered at their request.

Mr. M'CALLISTER. Mr. Chairman, I am in favor of leaving the bill just as it is, because we will give each political party a chance of sharing a portion of this patronage, and it is as fair to one party as to the other, and does not give it all to one political party in each county.

Mr. RANDALL moved to amend the amendment by adding the words, "and at least one German paper."

Mr. LOWRY. The commissioners can determine whether they should be printed in German or in English papers. I am in favor of the passage of this bill as it came from the committee.

In Democratic counties this patronage is needed by the feeble Republican newspapers. In Republican counties the feeble Democratic newspapers desire help. The bill, as it stands, is a fair bill. We punish men for violating the law in Pennsylvania, and do not tell them what that law is. They are arraigned for the commission of offenses which they are blind to. I think the bill is wholesome, and I will vote for it without the amendment.

Mr. RANDALL's amendment to the amendment was

Not agreed to.
Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Chairman, I would ask the attention of the Senate for a few moments. A few words generally before I speak of the amendments. The first and third sections of the bill are entirely distinct in character. In the first and second sections you authorize to be published what heretofore has not been published at all. Now, it is a question, whether you will make a new arrangement. When you come to the fourth section, you virtually repeal all contracts in the State. You repeal existing laws in my county, because you oblige the laws to be published in a manner different from what they have power to do under certain arrangements. Therefore, I want it to be kept in view, that the first, second and third sections are different.

I shall fight the fourth section strongly, because it interferes with all the business of the State. The expense of this to the State, I am told, will be about twenty-five thousand dollars a year, besides the expense to the fourth section. The expense of it virtually about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of which about twenty-five thousand dollars would be charged upon the State treasury, and about one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars, probably, upon the different county treasuries. The question comes up, whether it shall be two political papers, or the papers having the largest circulation. If the Senator desires publicity, he ought to vote for the amendment of the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL]. As it stands, a paper with a circulation of five hundred, may take it away from a paper which has a circulation of five thousand.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Mr. Chairman, I am opposed to this bill, and more especially to having it apply to Philadelphia. The paper there having the largest circulation is not a political paper. If you want the people to read these laws, you should have them published in the papers having the largest circulation.

Mr. DAVIS moved to amend the amendment offered by Mr. CONNELL, so that it would read that the laws shall be published in "not less than one English and one German newspaper of each of the two leading political parties."

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Chairman, I am favorable to the amendment of the Senator from Berks [Mr. DAVIS]. The general scope of this bill reaches a difficulty. There are counties in this Commonwealth in which the pamphlet laws do not reach until July. Our laws take effect from the day of their passage; we pass a law here to-day, and it goes into effect to-morrow. Persons in the centre of the State know nothing about that law until next July. You punish them for violating the law, and yet you do not let them know what it is. The law does not allow them to plead ignorance. Then, why will you in effect pass an ex post facto law? The United States punish their general laws; why should we not do it? In large cities, like Pittsburg or Philadelphia, where they get the laws quick, it does not injure them; but in those places, where they do not get the laws until July, a different rule prevails.

Suppose this does help newspapers. If people find the laws published in the newspapers, they will take the newspapers. I may reprehend the newspapers in which they are published; they may not be good papers; but when truth is left free to combat error, truth will prevail; and thus we should give people a chance to read the laws. Even if the doctrines inculcated by the newspapers are heinous, let the people read them; they should all be induced to take the newspapers, of whatever political character they may be. Under the amendment of the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL] the rule will work unjustly, and will not go with such grace to the people of the State as the bill would as it now stands. In five out of seven of the counties of the Commonwealth, there are two newspapers, one of each political party. They have an equal circulation. There may be a newspaper there which has a larger circulation out of the county; that paper would take it all. Why not let the rule to be printed in two papers; there are only five or six different counties where they exist. Because we pass laws, and require obedience to them, we should let the people know what those laws are; and the people are also educated by taking the newspapers.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I did not understand this bill when I spoke before. I thought it was the bill following this, entitled An act to regulate the publication of county business. This bill, so far as I am concerned, I am entirely opposed to. However, I shall favor, at this time, the amendment of the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL]. I do not oppose, sir, to the enlightenment and education of the people. I think, however, that the State of Pennsylvania has made ample provision in this respect, thus far, in the organization of its common school system and the publication of its laws, and furnishing copies of them for the different officers of the Commonwealth. Thus far, that system has been successful in giving prosperity and safety to the State at large. I am not convinced of the necessity of changing now the rule which has been adopted in this respect heretofore. I do not see that it is prudent or necessary for us now, by this act, to require, in addition to the general publication of the laws of the Commonwealth in bound volumes, which are furnished to all the justices of the peace in the Commonwealth, and different county officers, their publication in all the papers of the Commonwealth, which the bill before us practically does. I am not convinced that it is necessary to incur the additional expense of requiring two county newspapers to publish all the laws which are passed affecting the country in which those papers are published, and, after that publication is made, paying the expense of it out of the treasury of the Commonwealth. The amount that this will entail upon the public treasury will exceed annually, possibly, a hundred thousand dollars. I am not convinced that the public necessities require us to put our hands into the treasury, and take therefrom this large expenditure of money. I had also a provision here to publish many things which, in the papers in any part of the State, are published without any expense. Furthermore, in regard to the publication of local laws—the papers of the Commonwealth are glad to get the privilege of publishing them for the information of their readers. The intelligent, public spirited editor will eagerly give his patrons the reading of both public and private laws. I commend the enterprise of the local papers in my district for getting hold of the laws of general interest and publishing them. They make no charge for that whatever, and the information is disseminated. Let us, sir, pause before unnecessarily enlarging public expenditures.

Mr. WALLACE. I think the Senator ought to return the thanks that were returned by a certain clergyman: "God bless their stingy souls." The people ought to pay for it.

Mr. SEARIGHT. Mr. Chairman, I differ with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. WHITE] widely. It is the duty of Senators and Representatives to see to it that the utmost economy should be practised in the appropriation of the money of the people. That is all well enough, and it ought to be kept steadily in view by the Legislature; but there could not be, in my view, Mr. Chairman, an appropriation of the public money which would be more satisfactory to the people than an appropriation, let it be large or small, for the purpose of publishing the laws, local and general, by which the people are governed. It is of vital importance, as has been well said by the Senator from Clearfield [Mr. WALLACE], that the people should know the laws by which they are governed; and it is impossible for them to ascertain what those laws are, unless they are published. Now, Mr. Chairman, under the present laws of this Commonwealth, they are not published; they are printed in pamphlet form, and never reach the people; they are sent out to the justices of the peace, and county officers, and that is the extent of their publication in this Commonwealth.

Mr. WHITE. May I ask the Senator a question? Do not the local papers, published in his county, publish the local laws affecting his county?

Mr. SEARIGHT. Sometimes they do and sometimes not; that is at the option of newspapers. They can do it or not, as they see proper. They will not incur the trouble and expense of publishing local laws, unless there is to be some benefit arising from it to themselves. They should not be asked to incur the expense and trouble necessary in publishing those laws, without being compensated for it. They do it now without compensation, if they do so at all. I believe, sir, that in the days of a celebrated Roman Emperor—I forget his name—the custom was to hang the laws up so high that the people could not see them. I want to blazon them before the public view of the Commonwealth, and not do as they did in Rome in that dark age of the world. Let us avoid that error. Let us instruct the people as to what the laws are by which they are governed. My friend, the Senator from Indiana [Mr. WHITE], stated that the newspaper editors in his district had no consultation with regard to this subject. So far as Westmoreland county is concerned, I would state that this subject has been under consideration by some of the newspaper editors of that county. Westmoreland county, it is true, is not in the district of the Senator from Indiana, but is in the district represented by a member of the other House. Indiana and Westmoreland constitute a Representative district, and are represented in the other House in that conjunction; and one of the counties allotted to the district of the Senator from Indiana is in favor of the passage of this bill. This bill, I think, does not require the publication of the list of jurors and the list of causes. There is nothing in this act requiring the publication of these lists. It merely provides that such publications are customary in the several counties shall be paid for. Now, if it is not the custom, in Indiana county, to publish these lists, of course it is not required that they should be published and paid for.

The committee then rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again.

On the question, Shall the committee of the whole have leave to sit again?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LOWRY and Mr. RIDGWAY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Landon, M'Candless, Randall, Ridgway, Taylor, White and Worthington—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Brown (Mercer), Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Jackson, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Searight, Wallace, Walls and Hall, Speaker—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the question, When shall the committee of the whole have leave to sit again?

Mr. BROWN (Mercer) named Thursday next.

Mr. FISHER named the 4th day of July next.

On the question, Shall the committee of the whole have leave to sit again on the 4th day of July next?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WALLACE and Mr. M'CANDLESS, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Coleman, Connell, Fisher, Haines, Landon, M'Candless, Ridgway and Worthington—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Burnett, Cowles, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Graham, Jackson, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Randall, Searight, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, White and Hall, Speaker—20.

So the question was determined in the negative.

During the call, Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence) said: Mr. Speaker, this bill was placed in my hands by a gentleman representing the printers' association, which represents all the printing establishments in this State. These gentlemen deserve the respectful consideration of a bill they present. I am opposed to making a jest of this subject. I therefore, am opposed to postponing the subject until the fourth of July, and vote "no."

Also, during the call, Mr. CONNELL said: Mr. Speaker, if I had any assurance that the amendment which I offered would be adopted, I would vote against this postponement until the fourth of July; but, inasmuch as it is the evident intention to require these advertisements to be published in the papers of the smallest circulation, I vote "aye."

Also, during the call, Mr. FISHER said: Mr. Speaker, I wish to state here that the reason why I shall vote as I shall vote, is because I do not want to perpetrate any jokes; I do not want to see the public treasury depleted as a joke; therefore I vote "aye."

The question recurring, Shall the committee of the whole have leave to sit again on Thursday next?

It was decided in the affirmative. The next bill on the public calendar was No. 84, an act entitled An act to regulate the publication of county business.

The bill was read a second time. On motion of Mr. RANDALL, the further consideration of the bill was postponed until Thursday next.

THE SUNDAY CAR QUESTION.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer) moved that the bill from the House of Representatives, entitled An act to ascertain the views of the qualified electors of the city and county of Philadelphia upon the subject of allowing the passenger railway companies of said city to run their cars on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, be made the special order for the afternoon session of Tuesday next.

The motion was agreed to.

TEMPORARY ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. M'CANDLESS moved that when the Senate adjourns it will adjourn to meet on Tuesday next, at 11 o'clock, A. M.

On the question, Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CONNELL and Mr. M'CANDLESS, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Coleman, Glatz, M'Candless, Randall, Ridgway, Searight, Wallace and Hall, Speaker—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Connell, Cowles, Davis, Donovan, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Jackson, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Taylor and Worthington—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The hour of 1 o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until Monday evening next, at seven and a half o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY, March 15, 1867.

The House met at 10 o'clock, A. M. Prayer was offered by Rev. JACOB KENNEDY, member from Wyoming.

The SPEAKER announced a quorum of members present.

On motion of Mr. KURTZ, the reading of the Journal of yesterday was dispensed with.

PRIVATE CALENDAR

Agreeably to order, The House proceeded to the consideration of the bills on the private calendar.

The following objected bills of last week were taken up, read a second time, and disposed of as stated:

No. 622, an act to authorize John Du Bois to erect cribs and form a log harbor in the West Branch of the Susquehanna river.

Laid over on third reading.

No. 623, an act to change the venue in the case of John McFarland vs. Joseph Shoemaker, from the court of common pleas of Northumberland county to the court of common pleas of Union county.

Passed finally.

No. 630, an act to prevent the depositing of unwholesome matter in the running streams in Allegheny county, and to provide for the better preservation of the health in said county.

Not agreed to.

No. 637, a supplement to an act relative to hucksters in the county of Lebanon, approved 10th day of May, A. D. 1866.

Not agreed to.

Senate bill No. 281, an act for vacating the old burial grounds in the borough of Sewickley, and removing the bodies therefrom.

Passed finally.

No. 650, a further supplement to an act to provide for the regulation and inspection of buildings in the city of Philadelphia, and for the better preservation of life and property, passed the 7th day of May, A. D. 1855.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I move the indefinite postponement of that bill.

Mr. SUBERS. Mr. Speaker, this is a perfectly just and honest bill, and I hope it will pass. It is a bill which takes the appointment of the inspector of buildings out of the hands of the Supreme Court and puts it in the hands of the court of common pleas, where it ought to be. The opposition to this bill is from the other side of the House. It is true it is mainly a political question. In 1855, the Democrats having a majority, came here to pass a law taking the appointment of this inspector out of the hands of the district court, and putting it into the hands of the Supreme Court. Now, all we desire is to take it out of the hands of the Supreme Court and put it in the court of common pleas, where it belongs.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I do not exactly agree with my colleague [Mr. SUBERS] in relation to the characteristics of this bill.

One of the most important officials in the city of Philadelphia is this building inspector. It requires a man of peculiar ability and judgment to fill that position properly. Here is a large superstructure about being erected, and it is his province to go and determine as to the propriety of certain arrangements for foundations and arches, &c., and to determine whether it is competent to do what is proposed to do; whether the building, after it has been reared, might not tumble down about the ears of those around it. These are among the duties of this official and he should be a competent man, and the authority to appoint should be a competent authority. They should be persons particularly familiar with the localities and with the properties, and I hold that the judges of the court of common pleas of Philadelphia, having resided there all their lives, are better qualified to select a competent person for this position than men who do not live there.

The only Philadelphia judge that the Supreme Court has is Judge Read, and I hold that that court is not so competent to appoint a suitable person for that position as is the court of common pleas. All the judges of that court of common pleas reside there; they are familiar with the wants of that people; they are familiar with the people themselves; and they certainly can make a more proper selection for this important position than the judges of the Supreme Court.

I, therefore, think it right and proper to belong to that court to make this appointment.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, the present mode of appointing the building inspector has been in operation for some time. The public at large, so far as my knowledge extends, have never made any opposition to that mode of appointment. The present change is advocated merely to serve some little private interests and not the interests of the public at all. The public, so far as I have heard, know nothing about this bill, and I will venture to say that they do not desire this change, and that if it was left to the choice of the people of Philadelphia, they would decide against it.

Mr. FEEBURN. Mr. Speaker, the Supreme Court has nothing to wish in this change, and we desire it should be placed in the hands of the court of common pleas.

[The remainder of the speaker's remarks were not understood by the reporter.]

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, when this matter was taken out of the hands of the district court, and put in the hands of the Supreme Court, I think at that time this change may have been made upon some such grounds as the gentleman suggests. We desire merely to put the thing where it belongs, that our people may have charge of this matter.

It is an important office in the city of Philadelphia—one in which the people are very much interested; and there can be no good reason why, in the first place, it should have been taken out of the hands of the district court, and put into the hands of the Supreme Court. I think that the proper court to have the appointment of this officer is the court of common pleas, and I therefore hope this bill will pass.

Mr. JOSEPHS. Mr. Speaker, the whole object of this bill is to depose a Democrat appointed by the Supreme Court. The gentleman holding that position now is a very competent man. The entire object is to displace the present incumbent, and I hope the bill will be voted down.

Mr. SUBERS. Mr. Speaker, that was the object, in 1855, when they had the appointing power changed from the district court to the Supreme Court. They desired to put one of their friends in, and now we desire to put in one of ours.

The bill was

Agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House suspend the rule and read the bill a third time?

It was

Not agreed to.

The bill was laid over on third reading.

Mr. THARP. Mr. Speaker, I move a reconsideration of the vote by which House bill No. 626, an act to change the venue in the case of John McFarland vs. Joseph Shoemaker, from the court of common pleas of Northumberland county to the court of common pleas of Union county, was passed finally.

I understood, from the gentleman from Lycoming [Mr. WINGARD], who had this bill in charge, that no advantage would be taken of my absence to pass this bill. I being absent, I supposed the bill would not pass. I therefore move a reconsideration of the vote. Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, I just rise to say that it came up in regular order this morning, and I allowed it to pass. I, however, certainly hope the House will reconsider the vote.

The yeas were

Agreed to.

*The question being on the final passage of the bill.

Mr. THARP. Mr. Speaker, there can be no objection raised against this judge who is to try this case, nor any reasonable objection against the jury in Northumberland county. The object in this change of venue is not that the defendant may have a fair trial, but that he may have no trial at all. It is true that during this session, and during last session, this House passed bills of this description, changing the venue from one county to another, but they have not been passed without giving this House some clear reason why they should be passed. But I assert here that no reason whatever can be given for this change of venue. Bills that have previously passed this House have been in reference to cases of indictment where life or liberty was in jeopardy. But this is a civil suit—an action for slander—an action in which the court cannot mistake the law, and an action which has excited no talk or public attention. It cannot be alleged that there will be any partiality in the selection of jurors that will prevent a fair and impartial trial in this case.

I would like to know where I am to stand on a question of this kind. I ask gentlemen of this House what rules have been established in cases of this description? Is there any rule to govern the action of this House in questions of a change of venue? If there is, I wish to know what it is, for I wish to know where I am to stand. If this were a case in which life and liberty were involved, or if it were a case where party feeling ran high, and the party who asks for this change of venue would come into this House and swear he could not have a fair trial in Northumberland county, there would be some show of reason for asking this change. But nothing of this kind is offered by the gentleman from Lycoming [Mr. WINGARD]. The gentleman who asks for this change has not made this affidavit; he has not sworn that he cannot have a fair trial in Northumberland county. I assert here, then, this change of venue is not asked that he may have a fair trial, but that he may not have any trial at all. It is pretty well understood that the plaintiff will not pursue him to Union county. No charge has been made during the past year that jurors are not impartially selected in Northumberland county. In all cases, nearly the full proportion of Republican jurors have been summoned, and the gentleman from Lycoming [Mr. WINGARD] will not dare impeach the judge who is to try this case.

Now, I protest against the passage of this bill. It is an impeachment of the judge who is to try this case in our country; it is an impeachment of the jurors of Northumberland county, and there can be no solid, substantial reason offered for asking this change of venue. There is no politics in it at all; at least if there is, I am not aware of it. It is an action for slander. It is one of those actions in which the law is well settled. If the judge commits an error in the law, it can be taken to the Supreme Court and there be settled, and there can be no objection urged that the jury are disqualified from properly judging the facts in this case.

I shall expect to hear from the gentleman from Lycoming [Mr. WINGARD] on this question, and that he will show to this House some reason for this change of venue before the House passes this bill.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, the defendant in this case is one of my constituents. It chanced, during the progress of the war, that these parties had a political discussion, in the county of Northumberland, I believe. On that occasion high words were used on both sides, and it was alleged by the plaintiff in this case that the defendant called him a "traitor," and the defendant alleges that the plaintiff called him very villainous and hard names. I do not know but he called a him "woolly-head," very likely he did, and it is possible the defendant called him a traitor and a copperhead. I do not know myself how it is. At all events it is said they had high words between them. But the defendant, in this case, is a man to take care of himself, and, although not "bigger" than the plaintiff, he was willing to settle it outside of the courts. The plaintiff, however, was not satisfied, but brought an action for slander, and alleges that the defendant called him a traitor, and for that reason he is aggrieved, claims damages to the amount of some five thousand dollars, and therefore brings suit in Northumberland county.

The defendant in this case lives in Lycoming county, and is willing to compromise with this plaintiff, and come half way into Union county. With regard to the remarks of my friend from Northumberland as to the judge who presides in that district, there is not a man in the State whom I greater reverence for honesty, integrity and ability than that judge. He is one of my admirations on the bench, and the gentleman from Northumberland knows it. I would as soon be tried before him, if I was concerned in a case, as before any judge I have known in all my life. There is no objection to the judge, but this memorial sets out that to the jurors there is. All I know about it is what the memorial states. I am not acquainted with the jurors of Northumberland county, and while I have no doubt they are as fair a sort as you will ordinarily find in Democratic counties, yet I think it would be a very poor place to send a black Republican to be tried for calling a man a "traitor." I would rather get jurors somewhere else, and I have no doubt that is why the change of venue is asked.

I desire to cast no reflection upon the constituents of the gentleman from Northumberland, but I would not like to have a political case tried there when the subject is permeated with black Republicanism. I will send the memorial in the case to the Clerk's desk to be read.

The memorial was read as follows:

In the court of common pleas of Northumberland county, No. 57, of August Term, 1865, capias in slander. Bail five thousand dollars.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met:

The undersigned, citizens of the counties of Northumberland and Lycoming, in said Commonwealth, do respectfully represent: That,

WHEREAS, An action of slander has been commenced by the above named plaintiff against the defendant above named (who is a resident in the county of Lycoming), in the court of common pleas of Northumberland county, to No. 57, of August Term, A. D. 1865, founded upon the following words, alleged to have been spoken of and concerning the plaintiff by the said defendant, to wit: "he is a traitor," and "he was a traitor," and "he could prove it" (as more fully appears by the narr. as declaration in the said case, a true copy of which is herewith attached); that said slanderous words were used and employed by the said defendant, if ever uttered by him in the sense and language the said declaration set forth during a political discussion, whilst both parties were laboring under intense excitement, heat and passion—and when hard words were given and taken by both;

And whereas, Owing to the partial manner in which jurors are empaneled in the said county of Northumberland, nearly the entire panel being composed of men belonging to the Democratic party, of known political hostility to the views and opinions of the defendant, so much so, indeed, that it would be not only possible, but, with the power of four preemptory challenges in the plaintiff's right, absolutely certain that the jury trying his case would be composed of men whose strong political bias and prejudice would preclude the possibility of such a fair and impartial trial of his case as the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth vouchsafe to the humblest of her citizens; therefore, your petitioners would humbly represent that, in all fairness and justice to the defendant, the venue in this case should be changed from the county of Northumberland to such other county in this Commonwealth as will insure to him a fair and honest trial by a jury of his country. And they will ever pray, &c.

Mr. THARP. Mr. Speaker, I understand the gentleman from Lycoming to make but one objection to the trial of this case in Northumberland county, and that objection is that the jurors there are imbued with political prejudices, and the defendant cannot have a fair trial. He disclaims all imputation against the judge, and rests the case on the floor of the court house, and made his declaration, that of twenty-four grand jurors summoned there, and of thirty-six traverse jurors, sir, he there exclaimed, in that court house, he thanked God there was not a single Democrat among the whole of them. That occurred in the court house in the county seat of the county to which the gentleman proposes to remove this case for trial. Now, I appeal to this House if it is probable that a fairer trial will be had in Union county than in Northumberland county? For the gentleman from Lycoming will not say, nor will any man in this House allege, that there has not always been, in the selection of jurors in my county, a fair proportion of Republicans. I assert, that in no case where jurors have been drawn for the trial of a case, in which there was political feeling, have the jurors been exhausted by challenge. If this were a case of indictment in which life or liberty was involved, I would make no objection to the change; if there were any reasonable grounds, but it is a mere political squabble between two parties, and the reason why it has been offered for a change of venue in other cases that have passed through this House cannot be offered in this case. It is not a criminal trial; it is a civil suit; the law is well settled, and the jurors in my county can try this case as well as the jurors in Union county. This is a mere expedient to get rid of any trial at all, and is not brought because this man cannot receive a fair trial in Northumberland county.

Mr. WINGARD. He has not sworn to a single fact to prove that.

Mr. WINGARD. He has not sworn to it, but here are the signatures of a large number of the most respectable men in that vicinity. The defendant states that in the county of Union a jury can be selected which is sound to the core. The statement that there is not a single Democratic juror in the county of Union is the very best evidence why the defendant in this case should desire a change of venue, particularly in a slander case, where the allegation is that he called somebody a traitor in a political squabble, a thing that happened almost every day during the war. It was just as common to have a conversation or discussion result in one party calling the other a traitor and the other call his companion some other hard name as any other every day occurrence. We all know that the defendant in this case was perfectly willing to let the matter go and overlook the hard names which had been applied to him, but this plaintiff was not, and so he brings his suit in Northumberland county, depending upon the political complexion of the jurors of that county to get a decision in his favor.

Now, I have not a word to say against the character of the gentleman's constituents.

Mr. THARP. Mr. Farland is a constituent of mine. Would you expect him to cross the line and go to Lycoming to bring his suit?

Mr. WINGARD. He might have gone to Lycoming county. I do not see why he did not, except for the reasons set out in this memorial, that he thought if he could get the defendant in Northumberland county, where he would have a thorough, sound Democratic jury, he could "sock it to him," to use a slang phrase, to the tune of five thousand dollars.

Mr. THARP. Your county is Democratic, is it not?

Mr. WINGARD. Yes, sir.

Mr. THARP. Would you have been willing to have the case tried there?

Mr. WINGARD. Yes, sir, for I know the Democrats there, if I do not know them in Northumberland county.

I hope this bill will pass. I think the memorial is sufficient to substantiate the facts set forth, and that the reasons are sufficient why the venue should be changed.

The question being on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THARP and Mr. WESTBROOK, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adajre, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Eapy, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Kennedy, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Lee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Melly, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Richards, Roath, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Watt, Webb, Weber, Wharthen, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall Wright and Glass, Speaker—50.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill

Passed finally.

Senate bill No. 40, an act to change the venue in the case of Jesse Chronister vs. Howard Miller, George Hollinger and Daniel Harbolt, from the court of common pleas of Adams county to the court of common pleas of Dauphin county.

Passed finally.

No. 669, an act amending the charter of the municipal corporation of the city of Lancaster, dividing the same into nine wards.

Passed finally.

No. 684, an act to vacate a part of Township Line road, in the Twenty-fourth ward of the city of Philadelphia.

MR. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would have no objection to that bill if the statement in the preamble was true, but I say the probable of this bill states what is not true. It states that Lehigh avenue is open for public use and public travel. That is not so. I have not only consulted with gentlemen on this floor who are members of the common council of the city of Philadelphia in regard to this matter, and they have told me positively that it is not open; but I am satisfied that I have made it my special business to go into that neighborhood and see for myself. I state here positively that it is not open. If it were, I would have no objection to the bill.

MR. DEHAVEN. Mr. Speaker, Lehigh avenue is open as set forth in that preamble, and the gentleman who sent it in, Mr. Hiram Miller, made the statement. I will, however, offer the following amendment to the bill:

The amendment was read as follows:

Provided, That Lehigh avenue, from Trochu street to Broad street, be first opened and in good traveling condition.

MR. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says this street is open. I would state that Mr. Hiram Miller told me positively that it was not open, and I defy contradiction. I have examined it for myself. There are buildings on the line of this street, and it is not open for public travel. For a distance of at least a mile and a half along one of the most populous thoroughfares of Philadelphia, there is not an opening to get out of that street eastwardly, as to vacate that road will close up Lehigh avenue. As the gentleman has offered an amendment, I will offer an amendment to his amendment—to add the following:

Provided, That said township line road shall not be vacated until said Lehigh avenue shall be opened through to Broad street, and the propertyholders to which the said township line road reverts in fee simple, shall have paid all damage that may accrue in opening said Lehigh avenue.

MR. DEHAVEN. Mr. Speaker, I know this street is open or I would not have offered this bill. I have lived in that district for forty years, and I think I know as much about it as the gentleman from Bucks [Mr. HEADMAN] does. I hope this amendment will be voted down.

The question being on agreeing to the amendment of Mr. HEADMAN to the amendment of Mr. DEHAVEN.

MR. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, one more word. The gentleman from Philadelphia has said that this street is open. I have done everything that an honorable man could do to another. I have gone to him and requested him to walk out and examine these premises, but he would not do it. He has accused me with interfering with his business. I do not interfere with anybody's business only to carry out the wishes of my constituents. I only ask the members from Philadelphia, who are interested in this matter as well as my constituents, if they know anything at all about that location, whether this road is open, and not to vote down my amendment. I merely ask that the road shall not be vacated until such time as the property of the propertyholders reverts back to them in fee simple.

Now, if this bill is passed, the common council of Philadelphia is bound to pay the damages in the opening of the road for the special accommodation of these few people, and it will cost thousands of dollars to do it. If this bill is passed, this township line road is vacated and closed; then, sir, if the amendment is agreed to, Lehigh avenue is to be opened. Now, if this road is vacated by the passage of this act, we will have no road to come from Germantown to Broad street for a year, and probably for two years.

MR. DEHAVEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says that in vacating the one road and opening the other, the expense will be assessed upon the city of Philadelphia. This is not so. The surrounding property is assessed, and will have to pay the damage if any.

The gentleman has taken exception to nearly every bill I have offered for three years, and I have never objected to any bill on this floor that he has presented. I think his opposition in this case comes with very bad grace.

The question being on the amendment of Mr. HEADMAN to the amendment of Mr. DEHAVEN.

It was Not agreed to.

The question recurring on the amendment of Mr. DEHAVEN.

It was Agreed to.

The question being on suspending the rules to the bill a third time by its title, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HEADMAN and Mr. DEHAVEN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Barton, Brown, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Hoffman, Humphrey, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee Mann, Marks, M'Ching, Neily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Roath, Sharples, Shuman, Slesky, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Sutherland, Webb, Wharton, Woodward, Wright and Glass, Speaker—48.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Chalfant, Craig, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Meyers, Mullio, Robinson, Roush, Satterthwait and Tharp—26.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Two-thirds not having voted in the affirmative, the bill goes over on third reading.

BILLS PASSED.

During the reports from committees the following bills were taken up and disposed of as stated:

An act to increase the revenue of the Commonwealth.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, every railroad, canal or transportation company which possess the right to mine coal, or purchase or lease and sell the same, shall, quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October, make a report, under oath or affirmation, stating the amount of coal mined by them, and from property owned and leased by them, and also the amount of coal purchased by them, or mined from property owned by them, that may be leased to other parties, during the preceding three months; and shall pay to the Commonwealth, within thirty days thereafter, a tax of ten cents per ton upon each and every ton of anthracite coal so purchased or mined, the amount to be settled by the Auditor General and State Treasurer, and in case of default in payment, to be recoverable as other taxes due the Commonwealth are now by law recoverable: Provided, That the amount of coal consumed in the transaction of their business shall not be included in their return: And provided further, That said corporation shall be exempt from the payment of the tax upon tonnage as imposed by an act entitled An act to provide additional revenue for the use of the Commonwealth, approved twenty-fifth August, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, upon all coal upon which a tax shall be paid under the provisions of this act; and also, from the tax on net earnings or income as imposed by the act of April thirtieth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four; and also, from the tax upon gross receipts imposed by the act of twenty-third February, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, so far as the net earnings and gross receipts are derived from the mining and transportation of the said coal.

Sec. 2. If any such company or corporation shall fail to make return provided for in the preceding section for a period of thirty days after the date therein fixed for the same, such company shall be liable to a penalty of twenty-five per centum upon the gross amount of the tax which shall be ascertained to be due the Commonwealth.

Sec. 3. If any such company or corporation shall neglect or refuse to pay the amount of tax due the Commonwealth, under the first section of this act, together with any penalty they may be liable for under the second section, for a period of thirty days after the settlement of their accounts by the Auditor General and State Treasurer, the said company or corporation shall forfeit and pay to the Commonwealth a penalty of twenty-five per centum upon the amount of said account, as settled, with such interest upon the entire amount due thereon as is or may be provided by law: Provided, That any corporation failing to make the return required by the first section of this act within the specified time, and also failing to make payment on the settlement, as provided for in this section, shall be liable to both penalties, namely, twenty-five per centum for neglect to return and twenty-five per centum and interest for neglect or refusal to pay the same.

The question was on suspending the rules to proceed to the consideration of the bill.

Mr. KOON. Mr. Speaker, I hope the gentleman will not press the passage of this bill. It will not suffer by a day or two of delay if it takes its regular course. All I ask, if the bill is to pass, is that I may have an opportunity to examine it.

Mr. WADELLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire that the House should act upon the bill at this time. The bill was introduced some days ago, at the suggestion of the proper department, and, as has been previously stated, it is one of great importance to the interests of the Commonwealth. Some objections were suggested to the bill in the House at the time it was introduced, and it was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means for their consideration. They have considered fully, I believe, all the objections that were made in the House, and have introduced into the bill amendments to meet the difficulties which gentlemen here presented. They directed, in addition to that, that the bill should be printed and laid upon the desk of every member for some two or three days, so that they might see the amendments that were introduced by the committee. Further than that, the Committee directed that the chairman should not report it until a certain time should elapse, so that parties who were understood as having some objection to the bill should have an opportunity to appear before the committee. That time has gone by and no application has been made for a hearing on the subject before the committee.

This is a bill which interests deeply the revenue of the Commonwealth. We are increasing the outlays of this State, and the committee having it in charge will increase the outlays this year, over those of last year, at least half a million of dollars, and, sir, it is high time that this House was providing some way to meet this increased demand upon its treasury.

I think that a careful examination of the bill by the members of this House will show that the interests of all parties are protected which should be protected.

I will, therefore, insist upon the House considering the bill at this time, and I can see no reasonable objection why they should not.

Mr. KOON. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman says that an opportunity was offered for parties to be heard before the committee. These parties live at a distance, and I have, to-day, received a telegram from one of them, saying that he would be here as soon as possible. They have not yet had time to receive proper notice and reach here.

A tax of ten per cent. on coal is an important measure, and it is one that will impair, to a large extent, the coal trade of my section. Now, the companies at which this bill is aimed particularly, are enjoying the relief they got from the State by fair legislation. If they own mines, it is their good fortune, and, if they own means of transportation it is also their good fortune. They got these provisions from the Legislature, and they pay all their taxes on capital stock and income, &c., and they have complied with everything that the State has asked. Why, then, is it right to single out in a particular locality of the State some three or four corporations, and add an additional burden of ten cents per ton upon every ton of coal they may mine and transport?

Mr. WADELLE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman will see by the amendments that if the companies pay all the taxes that are imposed upon other companies by the present law, they are relieved from the tax that this bill imposes upon them. There is no company that is taxed under the law, as it now stands, that will suffer by reason of the passage of this act. This bill is intended only to reach those companies which are not covered by existing laws, and cannot be otherwise reached under the recent decision of the courts. My only reason for presenting the bill at this time is that there is danger, as every gentleman knows, of a public bill failing to pass at this time, for the want of time to get through both branches of the Legislature.

If the parties reach here, that the gentleman fears to, they will have ample time for a hearing before the committee in the Senate. If this bill goes in its regular course, it will be placed upon the public calendar, and I presume every gentleman knows that we will not get through with the public calendar as it now stands, letting alone the additions that will be made to it by the introduction of other bills.

I, therefore, feel that it is a vital matter for this Commonwealth that we should consider this bill at once.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, if this bill is to be rushed through the Senate as here; if the will of the State Treasurer is as potent there as here, there will be very little opportunity for parties to be heard anywhere.

I hoped, after what was said here the other day, that the gentleman from Chester [Mr. WADELLE] would give the parties interested at least an opportunity to be heard. I see that they are to be denied that, and I hope the House will not suspend the rules now, because a bill of this kind cannot suffer by taking the regular course.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I cannot see any necessity for delaying the passage of this bill for the purpose of giving a few parties that are interested time to be heard. Last winter we passed a revenue law affecting every bank, railroad and canal in the State very seriously, and yet we passed it through the House without giving the parties any time to come here and have a hearing, and that for the reason that the necessities of the State demanded it. The interests of the State are paramount to the interests of any corporation or individual, and the same necessity exists for passing this bill for the interests of the State that existed last winter.

I, therefore, hope that the bill will be put through to-night.

The question being on agreeing to the motion to suspend the orders of the day for the purpose of considering the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

KOON and Mr. WHARTON, and were as follows, viz.:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brown, Chadwick, Chalfant, Chase, Collins, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Fogel, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Hoffman, Humphrey, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Keras, Kimmel, Kinney, Kline, Kurtz, Lee, Leech, Long, McCreary, McKee, Mann, Meelching, Meily, Meyers, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Rhoads, Richards, Roath, Rouse, Satterthwait, Sharples, Shuman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Tharp, Waddell, Wait, Webb, Weiler, Westbrook, Whann, Wingard, Woodward, Worral, Wright and Glass, Speaker—67.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Brennan, Craig, Harner, Heltzel, Koon, Linton, M'Camant, M'Henry, Mullin and Wharton—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended,

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

Mr. JENKS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the orders and proceed to the consideration of the following bill.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The bill was read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 826, an act to prevent and punish prize fighting.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act, whosoever shall engage or participate in any prize fight within this Commonwealth, or any fight or pugilistic contest, on the result of which any money or valuable thing is bet or wagered, shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisoned in the penitentiary or the jail of the proper county for a period not exceeding two years; and every person being present at such fight, and encouraging the same, or laying any bet or wager on the result thereof, whether present or not, shall be considered a participant therein, and as giving encouragement thereto, and may, at the discretion of the court, be punished in like manner.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill?

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by striking out the word "highest," before the word "misdemeanor."

The motion was

Agreed to.

Mr. BOYLE. I move further to amend by striking out the words "in the penitentiary or jail of the proper county," and inserting "by separate and solitary confinement or simple imprisonment, in the discretion of the court."

The motion was

Agreed to.

The bill as amended was

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, and

The bill read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

Mr. RHoads. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House proceed to the consideration of the following bill:

House Bill No. 1193, entitled A supplement to the act incorporating the Colebrookdale railroad company, approved the 23d day of March, A. D. 1865.

The bill was amended by Mr. ARMSTRONG, and

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, The bill read a second and third time, and Passed finally.

Mr. KIMMELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House proceed to the consideration of the following bill:

No. 1301, an act to extend the provisions of an act to prohibit the issuing of licenses within certain boroughs in the counties of Armstrong, Potter, Indiana and Perry, or within two miles of the same, in the counties in which such boroughs are located, approved the 27th day of March, 1866, to the township of Derry, in the county of Westmoreland, in the borough of Blairsville, the township of Burrell and the township of Mahoning, in the county of Indiana.

Mr. COLVILLE. Mr. Speaker, I call for a division of the question.

Mr. KIMMELL. Mr. Speaker, there is but one township in which liquor is now sold to which that bill will apply, and there are three "hell holes" in that township selling liquor. The people are opposed to it. The court meets next week and they will be licensed for another year unless this bill is passed.

If this Legislature cannot take five minutes to prevent another year of that iniquitous traffic in that township I want to know it.

Mr. COLVILLE. I withdraw my call for a division of the question.

The bill was

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended,

The bill read a second and third time, and Passed finally.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the following messages from the Governor in writing:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, PA., March 12, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—A letter, dated 6th instant, has just been received from Hon. Jonathan Worth, Governor of North Carolina, covering a set of resolutions adopted by the Legislature of that district, both of which, according to his request, are herewith transmitted to you.

The object of the resolutions is to invite "all the States, North, South, East and West," to a national convention for the purpose of "proposing, in exact conformity with the Constitution of the United States, such amendments to the Constitution that the result will be such mutual concessions as will lead to a restoration of our former happy relations."

Under ordinary circumstances I would be satisfied to simply submit this communication to the Legislature without comment, but in this instance the occasion seems to demand something more. I am by no means insensible to a noble spirit of concession and forbearance necessary to impart vitality to our national existence, and, therefore, in deliberating upon this important subject, I would recommend that local feelings and prejudices be merged in a patriotic determination to promote the public welfare.

But when we reflect that the people of North Carolina, inviting this assembly, are not in full communion with the loyal States; that they have been for many years in the habit of looking with great intolerance upon the national interests and of tolerating disloyalty; that throughout the thrilling and sanguinary war of the rebellion they used their utmost efforts to destroy the Constitution and the Union, and to establish a hostile government of their own; and that they have recently refused to ratify the mild and wholesome amendments to the Constitution; that Congress, by the passage of the reconstruction act, has made a salutary provision for their future military government, and for that of the other refractory districts lately engaged in rebellion; is not the presumption with which these unrepentant rebels and subjugated traitors now ask for "mutual concessions" surprising?

The people of Pennsylvania have always been loyal to the Government, true to the Constitution and laws of the nation, and have stood in the foremost ranks of the defenders of the Union. They have no concessions to make; certainly none to those who have waged a treasonable war, and who have been conquered at the point of the bayonet. The doctrine is certainly abhorrent that defeated treason should ask the loyal men of this country to meet them on equal terms in convention to amend the Constitution they repudiated and attempted to destroy. The guilty failure of those men has assigned them to a far different task—admission to the terms of the conqueror and obedience to that law which we all obey.

While Pennsylvania has no concessions to make, her people, desiring a speedy, just and proper readjustment of all the States in the Union, earnestly beseech the citizens of North Carolina, and of all the Southern States, to return without delay to the benign influence of the Government while yet the terms of such a return are easy, and not to wait for more severe conditions, and, perhaps, far more serious punishment.

JNO. W. GEARY.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,

RALEIGH, March 16th, 1867.

To His Excellency the Governor of Pennsylvania:

DEAR SIR—I herewith enclose to you resolutions of the General Assembly of this State, proposing a plan of composing our national troubles, in exact conformity with the Constitution of the United States.

If these resolutions shall meet the approval of the States and of the Congress, I do not doubt that the result will be such mutual concessions as will lead to a general restoration of the relations among the States which of old made the American Union the pride of our people and the envy of the nations.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JONATHAN WORTH,

Governor of North Carolina.

FRAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS PROPOSING THE CALL OF A NATIONAL CONVENTION.

WHEREAS, The people of the State of North Carolina have repeatedly declared, through their representatives, their desire that harmonious relations should be fully restored between this State and the United States, according to the Constitution of the United States, on terms alike safe and honorable to all parties; and to effect such harmony are willing, in a constitutional manner, to assent to any amendment of the Constitution of the United States, giving full indemnity and security for the peace and permanency of the Union, which may be constitutionally proposed, and whatever shall seem to them compatible with civil liberty and tending to promote the general welfare; and whereas by the fifth article of the Constitution of the United States it is declared that

"The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to the Constitution, or, on application of the Legislature of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or other mode of ratification may be proposed by Congress; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate."

Believing that no better mode can be devised to compose the different animosities growing out of the late war than that contemplated by the alternative proposition in said fifth article of the Constitution of the United States; therefore,

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina. That this State doth apply to the Congress of the United States for the call of a national convention, in which all the States, North, South, East and West, shall be represented, according to the Constitution, to propose such amendments to the Constitution as shall seem fitted to promote the general welfare, the peace, harmony and prosperity of the Union of the United States; which amendments, when ratified by three-fourths of the several States, shall be ratified, to all intents and purposes, as part of the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved, further, That the Governor of this State transmit to the President of the United States a copy of these resolutions, to be communicated to the Congress of the United States, and also a copy to the Governor of each of the States, with the request that the same be laid before the Legislature of each State of the Union.

Ratified March 24, 1867.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, R. W. Best, Secretary of the State, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original on file in this office.

Given under my hand this Fourth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven.

R. W. BEST,
Secretary of State.

Laid on the table.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth also presented the following message:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, Pa., March 15, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—Herewith is returned to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, bill No. 415, entitled An act giving to the town council of the borough of Mauch Chunk the right to make and build drains, sewers and sluices in said borough, with my objections to the same.

This bill proposes to confer on the town council of Mauch Chunk the right to make and build drains and sewers, and to enforce penalties in case of neglect or refusal, when the fact is the Legislature long since conferred these identical powers on the authorities of every town in the State.

The second section of the act regulating boroughs, approved April 3d, 1851, gives all the powers here asked for, and more; and the thirty-third section of the same act prescribes the mode by which all boroughs previously incorporated can have all the powers and authorities of the general law conferred upon them, on application to the court of quarter sessions of the county.

The ninth section of the eleventh article of the Constitution declares that "no bill shall be passed by the Legislature granting any powers or privileges, in any case, where authority to grant such powers or privileges has been, or may hereafter be, conferred upon the courts of this Commonwealth."

The Legislature has long since conferred upon the courts the right to authorize borough authorities "to make and build drains and sewers," and hence, under the Constitution, the Legislature has now no power to confer such rights or privileges, and should not attempt it. Regarding this class of the Constitution as obligatory as any other, it must be maintained inviolate. I have heretofore returned to the House, without my approval, so many bills substantially like this one, I had hoped no more of this character would be presented for my signature, and do not deem it necessary to again reiterate my objections to this class of legislation.

JNO. W. GEARY.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The SPEAKER laid before the Senate the annual statement of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company.

Laid on the table.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a privileged question. A story, sir, has been freely circulated about these halls, and throughout this city, prejudicial to my character. At first I was disposed to pay no attention to it, knowing, sir, that a lie might prevail for some time, but truth was sure in the end to overtake it. But it has assumed such a form, and has acquired such a magnitude, that I feel that I ought to myself, to my family, to my constituents, and to the Commonwealth, to ask for an investigation—to ask the privilege of stamping it as a bold, bald-faced lie, as it deserves. It is alleged, sir, that on Monday night last, a Senator—a radical Senator—insulted a lady in this town, and was cabled by the indignant father. That, sir, is a general charge; it might apply to any Senator here. But, sir, from some cause unknown to me, it has been laid at my door. I deny the thing from beginning to end; I deny not a word of truth in what I say, and I hold myself responsible and stamp it as it deserves to be stamped—as a malignant falsehood. The paper that made the charge may have been actuated by political motives purely. I will not stop now to inquire what was its motive, but simply say that, so far as it refers to me, it is false in every particular. I did not design to pay any attention to the matter until it found its way into the papers of my own county; and I beg leave to read from the Lancaster Intelligencer of Friday evening last the following statement:

A SPECIMEN STATESMAN.—The Harrisburg Patriot and Union of yesterday has the following:

"On Monday night last a Radical State Senator, it is alleged, made indecent proposals to the respectable daughter of one of our citizens, and was shortly after severely cabled by the indignant father. More 'God and Morality'—after the Radical fashion."

The Lancaster paper—a Democratic paper, published in Lancaster—comments upon what I have just read as follows:

"We have been informed by a loyal and perfectly responsible party that the Senator alluded to is a military man of renown, well known to the Republicans of Lancaster county, and that there is nothing fishy about the story."

That, sir, was calculated to fix this story upon me, and was so accepted by our citizens. I went to Philadelphia on Friday afternoon last, and on return home, passing through Lancaster on Saturday, my attention was called to this article, and I at the time stated there was no foundation in fact for the story. I went home and immediately called upon a loyal friend of mine, living in the place, of Democratic principles, and asked him whether he had seen the article. He told me he had. I said it was false in every word, and that having taken the shape it now had, it became necessary for me to vindicate myself on account of justice, and told him that I wished to retain him as my counsel. I did that, first, because he was a Democrat; second, because he was a lawyer of good standing; third, because he was a friend of mine. On Saturday evening the same paper publishes the following. After copying an article from the Examiner, in which they demand an investigation, it says:

"The Examiner is right. The allegation is one which demands investigation. If it be true that one of our Senators has so disgraced himself he should be summarily expelled from the Senate. By all means let us have an investigation of the matter—no sham concern like that gotten up to whitewash Simon Cameron—but an honest and impartial investigation. We hope the Rev. London, or some other shining light in the 'God and morality party,' will take the matter in hand at once."

So much for that. Now for an extract from a Republican paper:

"SENATORIAL SCANDAL.—Harrisburg is so famous for 'fast' affairs, that an ordinary scandal there generally fails to create a sensation. But the following paragraph, which appeared in the Harrisburg Copperhead organ of Thursday, seems to be an exception to the general rule:

"On Monday night last, a Radical State Senator, it is alleged, made indecent proposals to the respectable daughter of one of our citizens, and was shortly after severely cabled by the indignant father. More God and morality—after the Radical fashion."

"Other reports explain the affair by saying that the Senator, accompanied by a military friend, 'was drunk and got into the wrong house.' The general impression seems to have obtained that the only thing extraordinary about the affair is that their nocturnal career was to have resulted in a censure and exposure! As the matter now stands, the Senator, his colleagues and his constituents have been publicly disgraced, and it is understood that the Senate are about to make the vindication as public and thorough as the disgrace itself. If the facts be as represented, this is the least the public have a right to demand. The plea of drunkenness in one entrusted with such responsible duties by a confiding constituency, is no better than the offense which it is offered to excuse."

Now, sir, I deny both charges. I say—the paternity of this thing having been fixed on me—I say that it is maliciously and intentionally false; and so far as the charge of drunkenness is concerned, I brand it in the same way. They are both false—the one as false as the other, and both as false as hell. I now, sir, demand of this Senate an investigation of the matter, and I ask you and this Senate to appoint a committee of investigation, and for fear it be a "white washing" affair, I ask you that it be a committee of Democrats. And, sir, if there be any Senators here that have sought against me, and know anything against my character, I ask that they be placed on the committee. I desire the deepest and the most rigid scrutiny into this matter that can be got at here. I have lived fifty odd years, without blemish upon my character, and I am not willing to be branded as a villain, as these papers have endeavored to do. I, therefore, respectfully ask that a committee of investigation be appointed, and if I do not come out unscathed amid the fiery trial to which my family have been subjected, then, sir, I am willing to be expelled from this body. I ask this committee, and hope they may be Democrats, so that we may escape the charge of "white washing."

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will please draw up a resolution to that effect.

Mr. FISHER. I hope some Senator will offer the resolution.

THE FREE RAILROAD LAW.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to make a statement upon what may be called a privileged question. I hold in my hand, sir, a newspaper. It is a very respectable journal, published in the western part of this State. I do not often pay much attention to the attacks coming from newspapers. Almost every Senator upon this floor has, at different times, doubtless, been abused in the columns of a newspaper. I know I have, and I confess I am not peculiarly sensitive upon that subject; my skin has become somewhat rhinoceros-like from assaults of that kind. A man in public life must expect those things; notwithstanding, however, when a respectable and intelligently edited journal, of large circulation in the Commonwealth, is discussing a public question, to which the attention of the large majority of the people of this Commonwealth has been directed, misrepresents, whether willfully or by mistake, the action of some members of the legislative body in passing upon this question, it is due to those individuals themselves, as well as to contemporaneous history, that the truth must be as publicly proclaimed as the misrepresentations have been made.

With this preface, I will remark that the paper which I hold is the Pittsburg Courier of March 16th, 1867. A series of articles, relating to the same subject, have been published from time to time. I can only lay my hand upon one which involves the question that I speak of. I discover this article:

"The Harrisburg Telegraph, laboring in the interest of the monopoly, is doing its best to make it appear that the bogus free railroad law was passed by the votes of such Senators as BILLINGSFELT, WHITE, BROWN, of Mercer, TAYLOR and others, who voted for it under the mistaken idea that it was best to do so, because it was 'the best they could get.' We will not say that they were wrong, but we did pass the Senate without their votes. The Central had votes enough any way, and only wanted the votes of these Senators to divide the responsibility of killing the free principle. To make it appear that the Senators named were the means of passing the bogus bill is the labor of the Central managers now. It is, perhaps, what might have been expected, but it is not what in fairness is due. The Telegraph may persist in this outrage; and the more it does it, will those who consented to follow the Solicitor into the snare realize the gravity of the mistake in not voting square, and at all times against the bill!"

Mr. WHITE (resuming). Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry that, in this connection, I have not an issue of the paper of Friday last, which has a longer article, and dilates upon this branch of the subject. The matter which I wish to call the attention of the Senate to is the concluding paragraph in the article I have just read, saying that "the Telegraph may persist in this outrage; and the more it does it, will those who consented to follow the Solicitor into the snare realize the gravity of the mistake in not voting square, and at all times against the bill."

Now, Mr. Speaker, the Solicitor there doubtless refers to yourself. The persons who followed the Solicitor into the snare are the persons who sought, from time to time, during the progress of the discussion of the bill, to amend it, as they thought the interests of the times and public necessities required. The intimation is that you were a knave, and that other gentlemen referred to were fools. I am no respecter of persons. Mr. Speaker, to the declaration, unanswered, that the presiding officer of this dignified body, the Senate of Pennsylvania, is a knave.

You know, doubtless, in your own heart, whether you are or not. I think, however, that if not strong evidence of your hearty endorsement of the bill of your life, than that to be found during the progress of the discussion upon this bill, you would be very easily acquitted of that charge. And as to the question whether the rest of us here are fools or not, that is a question which, if submitted to our judgments, respectively, would not find an affirmative answer; and I am certain that our constituents do not wish to pronounce a verdict of that kind upon us, because, in doing so, that would reflect upon their own intelligence in making the selections they have.

But, Mr. Speaker, this is no idle newspaper twaddle, and in attending to it and dignifying it by bringing it to the attention of this body, I feel that I perform a duty due to my brethren and myself. I know, against some of us, that paper is not prompted by any personal, malignant motives. That paper has always treated me kindly whenever it had occasion to speak of me publicly. I believe that it has not treated you in that way; and in speaking of this, I would not attempt to trammel the press. I do not question the right of the editor of that paper to exercise his peculiar abilities in journalism, by being the mediator of the public to unfaithful public officers. The freedom of the press in this country is one of the securities for our institutions.

It was a bright day in the progress of liberty when the press became free. So long controlled by a crushing despotism, an intelligent and faithful press is now the ever vigilant sentinel upon the watch towers of liberal institutions everywhere. Nourishing a healthy public sentiment, it is most potential for good. Misdirecting and falsely educating the public sentiment, it is most potential for evil. It is the boast of this great Government that we have a free press. I thank God for it. I trust it may long so remain. Through it the representative is brought closer to his constituents, and subjected to the closest scrutiny, thus securing that immediate and certain accountability so in accord with the theory of our Government. Sir, in English history we read of periods of tyranny and venality. Parliaments were intimidated, repudiated and sent to the Tower, that the members might meditate upon their unduficial conduct in daring to speak harshly of an executive administration. Criticism on public affairs was mainly visited, with severest punishment, on the court, was to encounter serious danger. This was succeeded by a period of venality and corruption, when a market for votes at the treasury was as certain as a market of cattle in Smithfield. Jeffries soiled the ermine and demanded money for the lives of unhappy prisoners before him. During such a period the day of freedom for the press had not dawned. The tongue of criticism was silent. The Senator stood in awe of the court and the private citizen would not dare to utter aught against those in authority.

But, sir, a brighter day soon dawned. The press, intelligent, enlightened, renewed, regenerated and disenthralled, rose to the full height of freedom, and began to educate and govern the world. Thank God to-day for the free press. The government and the governed are brought closer together. Everything is published; everything is discussed; all legislative debates are read by millions of people or the morrow. The faithful public servant is commended. The apostate is execrated. Sir, the press is a mighty lever in the political power of this country. It is well, sir, this is so. I would not have it otherwise, and under this great influence, I trust we may rapidly advance to fulfill our great destiny as a nation.

But, sir, while I rejoice in the freedom of the press, and am ever ready to protect its just rights, I am not insensible to the rights of private character. The reputation of the individual, yea, indeed, the history, which the individual has made, have rights ever to be respected and carefully guarded; and it is meet and proper that frank, candid men should come to the rescue, and bear proper testimony in behalf of individual reputation, and the correctness of history, even against the press, when misconceptions and misrepresentations make it necessary. And now, sir, here upon my responsibility as a Senator, calmly and dispassionately, with the kindest feeling towards the editor of the Pittsburg Commercial, I declare that he has dealt unfaithfully with many Senators in connection with the discussion and final passage of the free railroad bill.

Mr. Speaker, I am no special defender of yours upon this floor. You are abundantly able yourself for that task. But to my mind it is disingenuous and untrue, in criticizing your action on this bill, to charge you with playing that you played the knave, and took part insincerely in the discussions on the free railroad bill, you succeeded in most earnestly and persistently in keeping with what, I think, very good company; and, sir, I freely say, so far as the discussions in this body will show, you appear to have stood fast with those whose friendship for a most liberal and free railroad law has never been doubted.

In the discussion from the beginning to the end you voted steadily with my brethren and myself, whose position on this question has already been well understood. Now, sir, possibly it may be well to briefly refer to the history of this matter and let it go upon the Record, so that there can be no misunderstanding.

Last session the free railroad question was most agitated, and long before the present session was begun it was well known that its discussions would occupy much of our attention. In many places in the Commonwealth it was an element in the last political campaign. Senators and members were nominated and elected with a view to this question. I am glad, sir, this was so.

Whether the general principle would be conceded—the right of capital and enterprise to organize into railroad companies, without being compelled to await for the delays of previous legislation—was doubtful, but the earnest, genuine friends of a free railroad determined the effort should be made. The very competent and intelligent senior Senator from Allegheny [Mr. BIGHAM] in due time prepared a bill, read it in place, and it soon developed who in this Chamber were its friends; I, myself, always thought the best way to meet the question, and most surely accomplish the desired result, was a brief and comprehensive supplement to general railroad law of 1849. All that was wanted to this was the authority to organize under it companies without encountering the difficulties, delays, and, indeed, often denial of enabling previous legislation.

It was not prudent, however, for co-laborers in a common purpose to differ too much as to details among themselves. Those who all along had been unwavering in their support of the free principle, rallied around what is known as the Bigham bill. I can look around this chamber and recognize as co-laborers from the first my brethren, Messrs. BILLINGSFELT, of Lancaster, BROWN, of Lawrence, BROWN, of Mercer, COWLES, COLEMAN, DAVIS, GRAHAM, LOWRY, TAYLOR, WALLACE and Mr. HALL, Speaker; and of course Mr. BIGHAM, who was the author of the bill.—

The bill went to the Railroad Committee; it came out with those odious additions which have been so much complained of and commented on.

The contest on the bill in open Senate soon came on. Our discussions were protracted, and efforts earnest to divest the bill of the objectionable amendments it received in the committee. You can, sir, well remember our three sessions a day. Amendment after amendment offered. Senator BIGHAM tried to amend. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. BROWN, the Senator from Erie, Mr. LOWRY, and others, made efforts in vain to amend. I think, I myself, offered some six or eight amendments, not one of which prevailed. Then the final contest was approaching; and sir, on this question there was among us some difference of opinion. Some thought it most prudent to vote against the bill ultimately—others dissented from this. Almost all, however, who favored amendments, preferred the bill should pass, rather than none at all. It was part of the victory won, and we would fight on step by step until the bill was amended, and the necessity was accomplished, it was always positive and candid that I should ultimately vote for the bill, because it was an approach in the right direction. Why, sir, last winter, in this chamber, when a free railroad law was spoken of, it had no approach to success. We could not even get the question out of committee and properly before the Senate. But, sir, since then, the people have uttered their potential voice. That "competition is the life of trade," is fully appreciated by them, and it is discovered there is a great ground swell in favor of freedom to enterprise and against monopoly. Trade and commerce in the State must be allowed to regulate themselves. Appreciating this almost unanimous demand, the concession was made by the bill that companies could organize without asking the consent of any monopoly for the privilege of an act of Assembly. And, sir, because the bill in question recognizes this fundamental principle, I avowed my determination to vote for it, that it might become a law. This would be an advance, and holding the ground already gained, we should proceed steadily until the full measure of progress was gained. Sir, it is no part of statesmanship to refuse making any progress to reform, because all desired could not be at once achieved. Why, sir, if this bill becomes a law, and during the coming season capital and enterprise will not organize under it, this will strengthen our arguments next year to commence our fight from a new stand-point, entrenched behind the free principle itself—the point of attack will be, from the first, the restrictive features. After the adjournment no special characters can be asked for—no vote steadily refused, and enterprise, therefore, will not be restrained by this bill during the summer.

Coming, then, to the next Legislature, the advocates of the fullest freedom to enterprise (one of whom I have always been) will be stimulated and strengthened to renewed efforts, and made more powerful for good results, should capital and enterprise refuse all investments under this bill. But, sir, I will not here argue this question. I gave my reasons at length when the final vote was taken on this bill, as did also most of my co-laborers.

But, sir, as I remarked before, because this bill recognizes the first principle of a free railroad bill, I determined to vote for it as a measure of progress. And in our final consultations, most of us agreed; but it was thought most prudent that the bill should not have the prestige of passing unanimously. Indeed, in our conversations, my good friend, the Senator from Erie [Mr. LOWRY], who may be considered the Ajax Telamon of the free railroad principle, agreed the bill ought to pass rather than none; he can correct me if I am in error. So also my friend, the Senator from Allegheny [Mr. BIGHAM], thought the bill ought to pass, but not unanimously.

My friends all around me felt as I did about this matter—the Senator from Lancaster [Mr. BILLINGSBENT], from Lebanon [Mr. COLEMAN], from Mercer [Mr. BROWN], from Beaver [Mr. TAYLOR], and others. Sir, in my duties here I try to be practical as far as possible, and when I voted for this bill on its final passage, I but pursued a consistent, practical course. Yet the journal in question persistently asserts that those who voted for the bill followed the solicitor into a snare. Sir, if you attempted to influence any gentleman with whom you voted in its several stages, you did not, so far as I know, attempt to influence any on its final passage.

Followed the solicitor into a snare, indeed! Sir, the words of this article was not here to witness the contest in this bill, or he would not have so written; and I cannot understand why this journal so persistently misrepresents the course and motives of those who have given quite as strong evidence of devotion to the free railroad principle, and here, in my place in the Senate, I denounce it as unkind and unfair. Followed the solicitor into a snare! Sir, we all here are responsible immediately to our constituents. I take the credit to myself of having aided to educate my people up to their measure of anxiety on this question; and what I did all through the progress of this bill I would do again if it were an original question now before the Senate. I think I am right, and it is due to the history of the proceedings on this question of so much public interest that the record of those who were earnest in its support should not be misrepresented.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, I voted against the general railroad law for the reasons that I gave at the time. I voted against it because its title told a lie. It was, sir, a serious question whether the Senators should vote against this bill. I was in question with those who had stood on against it all through, and voted for the different amendments to modify it, whether they should vote against it in a mass, or whether they should vote for it. I believed it to be my duty to vote against it, and I came very near voting alone. I very well recollect that the Senator from Allegheny [Mr. BIGHAM] himself hesitated as to how he should vote. I am sorry that these Pittsburg gentlemen cannot understand this question—that they do not comprehend that Senators voted to amend the bill as best they could; and when they could not amend it, then they took it as it was, rather than take nothing.

Sir, preferred taking nothing to voting for that bill; and I will say, while I am up, that I would not vote to-morrow for the bill reported by the Senator from Allegheny. It is not a free railroad law. The only free bill that has ever been offered in either branch has been offered by me. That, sir, was a free railroad law, and asked persons to come in and enjoy its provisions. That is the law that Pennsylvania will have, and she will accept no more and no less. She will send men to these halls that will have that law. The general railroad law in Pennsylvania is a good law, and all our railroads have been built under it; and we must not exact conditions from those poor railroads that we would not from powerful corporations. Why not grant to our younger and feebler children the same law that the stronger ones of the family enjoy? You, sir, Mr. Speaker, voted as you did vote from conscientious motives. You, sir, are a remarkable man upon this question, and I thank God for it. You, sir, saw the error of your ways, and you turned from wickedness to righteousness, and now you are abused for the act.

Mr. LANDON. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to interrupt the Senator, but merely wish to ask what the subject is before the Senate.

Mr. LOWRY. We are discussing the bill, Mr. Speaker, that the Senator from Bradford [Mr. JAMSON] attempted to pass off in this country as a free railroad law.

Mr. LANDON. Well, sir, I suggest then if we are discussing this bill, I suggest then the vote by which it was passed—yeas 27, nays 4—and take another vote upon it and make it entirely unanimous.

Mr. LOWRY. You cannot do that while I am here.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I do not propose to make any speech upon this subject at all. I am perfectly willing, sir, to stand or fall before my constituents by the record that I have made for myself during the discussion on this question, no matter what the Senators may say. The papers in Pittsburg may say, sir, that I am from Pittsburg—not only the one to which the Senator from Indiana has referred, but the Gazette also, and, for aught I know, other papers, took the same position, and labored in the same industrious manner to place certain Senators upon this floor in a false position. And I wish to say, now, that the Gazette has partly taken back what it has said; the Commercial, I think, has not done so. I will ask the Clerk to be so kind as to read an extract which I find in an Eastern paper from the Pittsburg Gazette, in which it has taken back, in part at least, what it has said. The extract was read as follows:

"On Saturday last we condemned pretty loudly the so-called free railroad bill. So far we have nothing to take back. The more we think upon it, the more censurable does that bill appear, and the more are we disposed to denounce the Senators who were instrumental in giving it the peculiar shape it assumed. But we charged all Senators who voted for that bill, while professing to be friends of freedom in railroad building, with fraud and profligacy. That is 'steep'; then, upon consideration, we are disposed to put it. Some Senators, doubtless, voted for the bill, who labored earnestly so to amend it as to make it what it ought to be. These should have voted square against it.

"That we may do no injustice, we here state that the bill was originally prepared by Mr. Bigham; that the alterations which made it offensive were fastened on it by the Railroad Committee; that in committee of the whole all these alterations were voted against by Billingslet, Brown, of Mercer, Cowles, Davis, Bigham, Graham, Lowry, Taylor, Wallace, White and Hall. Afterwards, in the Senate, the same Senators remained true. So far, therefore, as our remarks tended to disparage either of those gentlemen, they are withdrawn."

Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence). Mr. Speaker, I may not be nearer than within one figure of the exact number, but whatever the number was—I believe there were thirteen of us who, with whatever motives, at least earnestly and honestly endeavored to make this bill to which the Senator from Indiana and other Senators have referred, a free railroad bill—a bill that would conform to its title—an act to authorize the formation of railroad corporations in this Commonwealth. There were four of the thirteen who, in the end, voted against the bill, but I do not entertain the opinion that these four were better free railroad men than the remaining nine who voted for it on its final passage, and I say this because I was one of those four. I should have liked it if the whole thirteen had showed their opposition to that bill by voting against it finally. Although they voted for it, however, I did not, and I do not, entertain a doubt but that each one of them honestly took it as a preliminary step for a better bill hereafter; and, for one, I never for one moment dreamed that the bouso of Senators who labored to perfect this bill, and yet voted for it, though imperfect, was not high-minded, intelligent and honest as became the cause they advocated. The final vote on the bill was one count with friends of the free railroad legislation might differ. I was sorry the journal mentioned did not comprehend the situation, and thus did, though, I presume, unintentionally, injustice to so many friends of the free railroad measure.

The SPEAKER. I should not have said anything about the Pittsburg paper or the subject before the Senate, if it had not been called up by another. I cannot at all agree that this Pittsburg paper unintentionally does injustice; this paper is presumed to know what is going on. If the editor of a newspaper purporting to give the events of the day as they take place, gives them as they do not take place, knowing that what he states is false, he is a knave; if he does not know the events that take place, and purports to give them, he is either a bad man or a fool. Which horn this editor in Pittsburg occupies, he can judge and settle for himself. He did know all about the votes and record of Senators in this matter, and his paper withheld the true statement and editorially published false statements.

He knew that nine Senators who voted for the bill on its final passage did it under protest, and for reasons which they stated at the time, or which they stated they would put upon the Record at the proper time; and, therefore, when he alleges, as he did, that those who voted for the amendments in the Senate, and afterwards in favor of the bill, could give and did give no reasons for so doing, he intentionally does them wrong. I have nothing further to say about this man or about his paper.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, there are peculiar reasons why I should say a word. I will not prolong this discussion. The editors of these newspapers are my constituents. Permit me to say, I think our editors are misinformed, or acting unwisely; for my part, I do not approve of the tenor of their comments. They feel, and they feel very strongly, upon this subject. The editor of this paper was brought up from boyhood in the newspaper line and ought to understand the matter. I think he has transacted, upon two or three occasions this winter, with me, the use of profanity, &c. I have said to him personally, and in writing, what I now say in the Senate, that I think these criticisms are unwarranted in many respects. It was a question of propriety whether we should vote for or against the bill. I voted against it finally, because I found that a majority would certainly vote for it. I did not want it to pass unanimously, on account of its moral effect. It was a legitimate question with some of us whether it was our policy to vote for or against it. Therefore it was a question upon which no criticism should be indulged by our Pittsburg editors. What I mainly say is, that I do not approve of the tone and temper of these remarks; I think they are unkind to many of our Senators and unwarranted by the facts in the case.

Mr. MCNAUGHEY. Mr. Speaker, I have listened, sir, with profound grief to the misfortunes of my brother Senators on the right hand and on the left. My sympathies have been stirred to their deepest depths, because, as it is said, misery loves company. I find that some of my brothers of the Senate have been very badly defamed and misrepresented in regard to their sincerity in desiring the passage of a free railroad law. That has come from the outside of the Chamber, and they very properly complain of this misrepresentation. We have all been badly abused in this matter in regard to our sincerity for the passage of a free railroad law. I claim to have exercised a sincere, candid and earnest judgment; my votes have been given upon a sincere and profound conviction. And yet, during the passage of the bill through the Senate, we of the minority were met with the most bitter denunciation, with ridicule; Senators on the right and on the left proposed to substitute for the title of the bill the designation: "A bill to prevent the building of railroads in this Commonwealth." There is a common bond of sympathy between us. We have both been very badly abused, one from the outside and the other from the inside; and there is no remedy; we will have to bear with it, as our fathers have done before us.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I also hold in my hand a newspaper containing a speech made by the Senator from Berks, reflecting very severely upon the Republican party. The paper is printed in German, and as I am told that the Clerk cannot read it, I will let the subject drop for the present.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman from Lancaster has dropped the subject, I propose that we allow the subject to drop.

INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

Mr. GLATZ offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to investigate certain charges and slanders made against Senator Fisher, and report at an early day.

The resolution was adopted, and the Speaker appointed Messrs. GLATZ, JACKSON, McCONAUGHY, LANDON and DAVIS.

BILLS RECALLED.

Mr. SCHALL offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor be requested to return to the Senate bill entitled An act relative to the courts of Lehigh county.

The resolution was adopted.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. TAYLOR, the Committee on Judiciary Local was discharged from the further consideration of bill entitled An act to fix the time of the commencement of the June term of the several courts of Beaver county.

And the rules having been dispensed with, The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. CONNELL, the Committee on Corporations was discharged from the further consideration of bill entitled An act to incorporate the Review printing house company of Philadelphia.

And the rules having been dispensed with, The bill was read a second time, and

Agreed to.

Laid over to a third reading.

On motion of Mr. BIGHAM, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded with the consideration of bill entitled An act regulating the granting of licenses to eating houses and taverns in the county of Allegheny, and enforcing order therein. In committee of the whole (Mr. RINDOY in the chair), the bill was considered and reported to the Senate with amendments.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS.

On motion of Mr. WORTHINGTON, the amendments made by the House of Representatives to bill No. 840, entitled An act appropriating moneys arising from fines and forfeitures in Chester county (which bill was returned to the House of Representatives by the Governor for amendments in pursuance of a resolution adopted by both Houses), was twice read and concurred in.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 1348, an act to fix the commencement of the June term of the several courts of Beaver county.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

He also presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was read as follows, viz:

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

THURSDAY, MARCH 14.

Resolved, That the Senate be requested to return to this House bill No. 840, entitled An act supplemental to an act regulating the courts of the Sixth Judicial district, passed February, 1867.

On motion of Mr. LOWRY, said resolution was read a second time, and

Agreed to.

HUCKSTERS IN PHILADELPHIA.

On motion of Mr. WORTHINGTON, the Senate resumed the second reading and consideration of the bill entitled An act for the protection of farmers in the markets of Philadelphia.

The first section was read.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was up before it was postponed as a matter of courtesy to the Senator from Chester [Mr. WORTHINGTON]. My colleague [Mr. McCANDLESS] is very anxious to be heard upon this subject, and I hope it will not be considered to-night. I trust the same courtesy will be extended to my colleague that was extended to the Senator from Chester.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I think this bill was twice before the Senate during my absence from indisposition, and I think it was pressed very strongly by the Senator from the Third district; but I am perfectly satisfied that the Senator voted to indefinitely postpone that bill whilst I was absent, and I do not see the necessity of extending that courtesy to him on this subject now. This is a bill of very great importance to my constituents, and if it is not acted upon soon it cannot be passed this session; it has to go to the other House, and may be delayed. I, therefore, hope that this bill will not be postponed any further, and that we shall decide it now, pro or con. If the Senate is prepared to meet the question, I am.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, the Senator is mistaken about my urging the consideration of this bill; it came up on the calendar; I never called it up at all. My colleague is anxious that it should be postponed. I do not care whether it comes up now, or not, for my part.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. If the Senator does not care, I think we had better consider it.

Mr. GLATZ. I think the same courtesy is due to General McCANDLESS as was extended to the Senator from Chester; and, on his account, I think it ought to be laid over.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. I was not aware that he was desirous of being here when the subject was taken up. I am willing that it should be laid over on third reading.

Mr. DONOVAN. I hope the Senator will not press it to-night.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. I cannot see what great interest the Senator from the First district of Philadelphia has in this bill; his own district is exempted from its operations. I have no objection to that, because there are no market houses in his district; hence, I do not see how he can be interested in the bill.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, when the bill was up before, and I urged its consideration, the majority of the Senate postponed it, as a matter of courtesy to the Senator from Chester, and I trust, if a courtesy is to be granted to one Senator here, it will be granted to all. I move that the further consideration of the bill be postponed until to-morrow morning, and that it be made the special order of the day for that time.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DONOVAN and Mr. WORTHINGTON, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Browne (Lawrence), Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Jackson, James, Lowry, Schall and Taylor—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Billingsfelt, Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Haines, Landon, McConaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, White and Worthington—13.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

Mr. CONNELL moved to further amend the same by adding to the end thereof the following proviso:

"Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent farmers from selling the produce of their farms to storekeepers or private families at their places of business or residence."

Mr. CONNELL. I think this proviso takes the sting out of the bill and removes all objections to it. It was alleged by my colleague that, as the bill stood, no farmer could bring his produce to town and offer it to his customers.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, when I am ready to discuss this bill, I will show what is in this proviso. I think I shall be able to show the Senate that a more infamous proposition than this bill was never brought to this Senate, notwithstanding the ingenious proviso of the Senator. Gen. McCANDLESS offered an amendment in the Senate to except his district from the provisions of the bill, and it was granted. All I ask is the same privilege. The idea of passing a bill over any Senator, when it is known that his people do not want it! Now, sir, you intend to force it upon me, to compel the provisions of the bill to extend to my district, when there are not twenty people there who want it. I am satisfied that the Senate of Pennsylvania will not pass this bill. The Senator from Indiana [Mr. WHITE], the other day, was eloquent in his courtesy to the Senator from Chester, but when I asked the same courtesy for my colleague to-night, he was deaf. I had no idea the Senator from Chester would force this bill up to-night, when there is little more than a quorum present.

Mr. WHITE. I cannot see why my friend, the Senator, refers to me especially. I voted with the Senator from Chester, with the understanding that the bill should go over to a third reading.

The amendment of Mr. CONNELL was

Agreed to.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to make a few explanations with regard to this bill. I am as reluctant as any Senator upon this floor to interfere with the local legislation of other Senators, but I do endeavored to go into these market houses and occupy them, but such was the opposition from the outside, that they were obliged to abandon it.

But it is said by my distinguished friend on the other side, that it interferes with the rights of the poor man. That is a most singular argument to come from that quarter. How does it interfere with the poor man?—because, as he alleges, they can get their produce cheaper. It will be recollected that these hucksters do not raise their produce; they buy it, and it is of an inferior quality; and they buy it cheap and sell it cheap, but it is the worst possible food to give to a poor man and his family. What they need is good, wholesome food; but if you feed them upon injured vegetables, what is the consequence? Those people are diseased; you bring on cholera and cholera morbus, and they are not able to provide for their families. And, I say it is not an act of charity to permit the poor man to use articles of that kind. You know every time an article changes hands it becomes higher in price, and depreciates in quality. The meat and fish that they hawk about the city is not of a good quality.

These shiners will rent an acre of land and a little bit just outside the city, and go about the country buying the cheapest meat they can get. I am told that there are a thousand calves, not a week old, carried into the city and sold by these men every week. They buy them at the dairies; they want to get rid of their calves. I think Mr. Lewis, the late Commissioner of Internal Revenue, stated the fact in a letter to the Senator from Erie, that when he had an officer to go around and inquire about this thing, there were no calves to be found that were a week old. That is the reason; these shiners gather them up and sell them. I need not say that it is a kind of meat which is not very wholesome. Do you call this dealing fairly and justly with the poor man? Is this doing him a kindness? By no means—it is doing him an act of great injustice.

General McCawless' district is a rural district; there are no market houses within its bounds; therefore, I do not object to his district being stricken out. It is not so with the Senator from the Third district. He has market houses in his district. There are provision stores and market houses enough to sell all the produce in; and I say these others ought not to be permitted to sell upon the curbstones and block up the passages.

I consider these remarks due to show the character of this bill. What right have these people to sell on curbstones without license? Why should the Government be defrauded? You might as well let them erect stands and sell merchandise. Would that be tolerated? No. We do not allow them in our town to sell in the streets. It is not allowed, because it is doing injustice. When market houses have been established for the purpose of selling these things, that is the place to go—not to the public highway. I hope, Mr. Speaker, that this bill will meet the approbation of the Senate, whether the vote is taken to-night or to-morrow.

Mr. DOVON. Mr. Speaker, there is no Senator upon this floor for whom I have more respect than the Senator from Chester [Mr. WORTHINGTON], and if he was asking for legislation here for the county of Chester, I should certainly not interfere with him. But, Mr. Speaker, it strikes me as very singular, that for the last six years no newspaper published in the city of Philadelphia has seen the justice of this bill. On the contrary, even newspapers published in the city has written against the bill which the Senator from Chester advocates here to-night. That is a most singular thing, and I will ask the Clerk to read an extract from the last Sunday Dispatch.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. I would remark that I have seen nothing against this bill from any papers except Sunday papers.

Mr. DONOVAN. I have extracts from other papers in the city. It strikes me as something singular that the press of our city cannot see the necessity for this bill. The Senator has stated that the people in my district favor this bill. There may be some who do, but they are few and far between. There never was a bill that strikes so directly at the interests of the poor man. You compel a poor woman, in the dead of winter, with one or two feet of snow on the ground, to walk six squares. A dollar a week is not much to the Senator from Chester, but it is a great deal to a man who earns but six or seven dollars a week. That is the class of people affected by this bill. I only ask the same privilege that the Senate granted to General McCawless, that is, to have my district excepted from the provisions of this bill. Am I asking anything unreasonable in that? I only ask the Senate not to pass this bill for my district, and I am certain I shall not ask it in vain. If this is refused to me it is something I have never known to be refused before—that is, sir, that my district shall not come under the provisions of this bill. I only represent one of the districts of Pennsylvania; my people do not want it; I am only speaking for them. I have no interest, personally, in this bill. I am here responding to the press of the State and the city. I reply against the corporations; that is my position here. If ever I understood the wishes of my people, on any question before the Senate, I understand them upon this question. I have canvassed it; I have gone from one end of Second street to the other, but have never found the people in that street in favor of the bill. I have been waited upon by hundreds of the people, begging me to oppose it. I offer the following proviso, to come in at the end of the last section. This may be a small matter to Senators, but it affects the poor of Philadelphia very seriously. It is a matter of great moment, and the press have been loud and eloquent in opposing it. It is very singular to me that not one paper has seen the necessity of passing this bill. With the same propriety, I might as well go into Chester county, and tell the people what part of the county they shall sell milk or butter in. I do trust that the Senate will not insist that this bill shall apply to my district. My proviso is as follows:

Provided, further, That the provisions of this act shall not extend to the Third Senatorial district of Philadelphia.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the Senator one question, and that is, whether the fifty-one signers of the petition which he presented the other day do not reside in his district?

Mr. DONOVAN. In reply to the Senator, I will say that I did not look at the names. I only knew two of them in my district. We all know how petitions are got up. We have been flooded with petitions against the running of cars in Philadelphia; now, we ask you to submit it to the people there, and see how it will go.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. I only asked the question, because the Senator says there are not six persons in his district who desire the law. The exemption of his district would do away with the very thing for which I contend. It is in that district, above all others, where this nuisance exists, and where the streets are blocked up by these shiners.

Mr. DONOVAN. That is the very district that happens to strike the Senator from Chester. That market was bought at sheriff's sale; it does not pay. Now he asks for this bill to make it pay.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. That I know nothing about. I only know that I have a petition, signed by all the owners of those markets, asking for the passage of this bill. With regard to newspapers expressing the public sentiment, I might as well say here, Mr. Speaker, that I have very little faith with such representations as expressing the public will or the public wishes. We have had in this Senate, to-night, remarks after remarks upon the misrepresentations and pervasions of the public press; and does the Senator get up here and ask me not to permit this bill to pass because two or three papers in Philadelphia are opposed to it? Who are the editors of these papers? He may have more faith in them than I have; but I confess I have very little. They are not the papers that will control me. It is not the papers that I look to for public sentiment, and as to interfering with the Senator's district, I have no desire to do so, further than what I regard as the interests of my own people, and when his people erect, in their own district, a positive nuisance that interferes with the rights of the people of my district, I have a right to stand up here and defend my own constituents. If it was an exclusively local question, I should say nothing about it. I have as much reluctance to interfering with local legislation as the Senator himself. My constituents have a deep interest in this bill; the farmers are extending their markets for the purpose of erecting these mills.

Mr. DONOVAN. Why is it that the farmers in Bucks do not ask it?

Mr. WORTHINGTON. They do, in the lower end of the county, and in Montgomery and Delaware. The Senator from Bucks [Mr. JAMES] will not say that the people in the lower end of his county will not accept this bill.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I will just say that I have never seen any one in the centre of the county but who was opposed to the project entirely. Our papers came out in regard to it, and I intend to preserve them, to show what they said upon this subject. Both were opposed very strongly to it. I have no knowledge as to the feeling on the subject in the lower end of the county.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish, as I said, to interfere with the Senator; but I have three counties bordering upon that county. Now, this long list of market houses referred to in that Sunday paper, the large majority of them do not come within the provisions of the bill; they do not have two hundred stalls in them; and yet it makes a great flourish that nobody can sell within a certain district. Those markets are not subject to the provisions of this bill. I have nothing further, Mr. Speaker, to say upon this subject.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Mr. Speaker, I represent the people of Philadelphia in part, and I am in favor of the passage of this bill. I deny that any Senator can claim the streets in any district as personal property. The people residing in my district have as much right to a free passage through the Senator's district as those living in his district have through mine. The only markets that it would break up would be the Callowhill street and Second street markets. But I am in favor of the breaking up of the Callowhill market.

Another thing: the Senator objects to an account of the poor of his district. That district is better accommodated with market houses than any in Philadelphia; it has six or eight markets. There are only three market houses in Philadelphia that have two hundred stalls; this bill does not interfere with those having less. There are two Senators from Philadelphia in favor of the passage of this bill. The Senator from the Third district is opposed to it; the other [Mr. M'CANDESS], I understand, would quietly let it pass, and I thought he was favorable to the bill.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say a word in regard to the extract from the Sunday paper, and that is, sir, that all the objections urged in that article are against the original bill, and that the proviso which I have offered removes all those objections to it, so that there is nothing to prevent a farmer from delivering his produce at any house where he has custom, and this cry about interfering with farmers is all hush.

Mr. JAMES. I would like to ask the Senator if the city councils have the right to regulate the markets in the streets.

Mr. CONNELL. I think the streets belong to the Commonwealth and not to the city.

Mr. DONOVAN. If the Senator does not know better, he ought to say. They are under the control of the constables; they have control of the streets. We are told by the Senator from Philadelphia that the farmers on the streets are a great nuisance. It is a nuisance that the people of Philadelphia are unanimously in favor of. I do not expect the gentleman from Philadelphia to be in favor of anything else but corporations. Here is a local matter, affecting the interests of the city alone. Is not every paper in the city against this bill?

Mr. CONNELL. Will the Senator give me any extract from the No th American, Press, or Inquirer?

Mr. DONOVAN. Yes, sir; I have an article from the North American.

This is a fight between rich corporations and the poor men of Philadelphia. It is well known that I defeated this bill four years ago, when there was a stronger effort for it; and, to the credit of the Senate, it was defeated, and I trust it will be so again. Let every Senator that wants it have it. General M'CANDESS, it is stated, was in favor of the bill; not at all. Of course, he did not care about it, after his district was accepted. But I tell you he will both vote and speak against this bill, because he so expressed himself to me. If the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL] wants the provisions of this bill to apply to his district, he shall most cheerfully have my vote. But I ask the Senate not to pass it for my district; the people do not want it. When this thing becomes a nuisance, the councils will regulate it.

Mr. RIDGWAY. I sent to the Clerk's desk the following resolution to be read:

Resolved by the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia, That the Legislature be, and they are hereby, requested to pass an act prohibiting the sale of meats in all the streets, lanes and alleys of the city of Philadelphia (excepting in market houses appropriated for that purpose), north of Reed street, and south of Lehigh avenue, and east of Fortieth street, to all others except farmers, and to them only when disposing of the produce of their own farms.

Mr. CONNELL. There is public sentiment for you. That resolution is an exact endorsement of this bill. I did not know that it had been passed. I think that is a sufficient answer to the arguments against this bill.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, the Senator must consider Senators here are dull of comprehension. I understand how that was passed the councils. They would not act upon that resolution if they had the power. I am willing to be governed at all times by the press, when they are so unanimous upon a local question.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Did not you vote once for a bill that every newspaper in Philadelphia condemned—the Union passenger railroad bill?

Mr. DONOVAN. They did not condemn the bill. I am a railroad man. I voted for all the roads except the Twelfth and Sixteenth street line.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment of Mr. DONOVAN?

Yeas and nays were required by Mr. DONOVAN and Mr. SCHALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, James, Schall and Hall, Speaker—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Billingfeld, Browne (Lawrence), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Haines, Landon, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker and Werthington—13.

So the question was determined in the negative.

During the call,
Mr. DAVIS said that, as he thought this was a purely local matter, he would vote "aye."

The question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the first section as amended?

It was
Agreed to.
The second section was read and
Agreed to.

And the bill was laid over to a third reading.

On motion, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until ten o'clock to-morrow morning.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, March 19, 1867.

The Senate met and was called to order at 10 A. M., by the SPEAKER.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Bailey.

On motion of Mr. CONNELL, the reading of the Journal of yesterday was dispensed with.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. LANDON asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. STUTZMAN for a few days from to-day.

Mr. WORTHINGTON, a remonstrance from citizens of Philadelphia, against the running of Sunday cars.

Referred to the Committee on Vice and Immorality.

Also, a memorial of the Peace society relative to the Indians, which was read as follows, viz:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania:

Sincerely concerned for the welfare of mankind, and solicitous for the honor of our beloved country, we are induced to ask your attention to the condition of Indian tribes remaining within the boundaries of the United States, believing that a voice from Pennsylvania, whose early history bears honorable testimony to a just treatment of the Indians found on her soil, would be influential with Congress towards a just and pacific policy in its treatment of the remnants of those nations that once bore undisturbed sway over this continent.

There are those among our citizens brought up in the principles by which William Penn was governed, who, guided by the same spirit, could serve as messengers and servants of the National government; and it is believed, could calm the troubled waters and harmonize all just interests and pledges, and secure a lasting peace.

We would kindly ask our worthy Governor and esteemed Senators and Representatives to do what, in wisdom, they can do in this important national concern.

On behalf of the Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania Peace society,

GEO. WASHINGTON TAYLOR,
President

HENRY T. CHILD, M. D.,
634 Race street, Philadelphia.
3D MONTH, 18, 1867.

THE PENSION AND GRATUITY BILL.

During reports from committees,

Mr. FISHER said: Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Pensions and Gratuities was, by resolution, required to report within a given time, by bill or otherwise, in regard to the propriety of repealing the law of 1866, granting gratuities and annuities to certain old soldiers. The time has expired, and they are not prepared to report. I therefore ask further time for the committee to consider the matter.

The request was granted.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the following message, in writing, from the Governor:

He also returned bill from the Senate, numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 235, an act making it an offense for railroad corporations within this Commonwealth to make any distinction with their passengers on account of race or color, and punishing said corporations and their agents and employes for the commission of such offense.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendments.

He also returned bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 662, an act relating to the corner of the city and county of Philadelphia.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Said amendments were read the second time.

The first and second amendments were concurred in.

On the question?

Will the Senate concur in the third and last amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DONOVAN and Mr. RIDGWAY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Jackson, James, M'Canless, Randall, Schall and S-wright—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billington, Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Landon, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives also informed that the House of Representatives has receded from its amendments, non concurred in by the Senate, to bills from Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 376, a supplement to an act to authorize the school directors of the borough of West Greenville, in Mercer county, to borrow money to erect a public school house in said borough.

No. 808, a supplement to the act incorporating the Colebrookdale railroad company, approved the 23d day of March, A. D. 1865.

He also informed that the House of Representatives has concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 248, an act to enlarge the jurisdiction of the courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth relative to granting charters of incorporation and confirming those heretofore made.

No. 528, an act relating to the granting of licenses to eating houses and taverns in the county of Allegheny, and enforcing order therein.

No. 556, an act relating to hawkers and peddlers of ready-made clothing in the county of Greene.

He also returned bill from the Senate, No. 472, of the session of 1866, entitled as follows, viz:

A supplement to an act relating to the sale and conveyance of real estate, passed the 18th of April, 1853.

Said bill having been returned to the Senate by the Governor, in pursuance of a joint resolution requesting the same, and reconsidered and amended by the Senate,

With information that the House of Representatives, by unanimous consent, has concurred in the said amendment.

He also presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was read as follows, viz:

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
March 18, 1867.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor be requested to return to the House for amendments, House bill No. 587, entitled An act to incorporate the Greensburg Masonic fund.

On motion of Mr. SEARIGHT, said resolution was read a second time and concurred in.

He also informed that the House of Representatives has adopted the report of the committee on conference upon the subject of the difference existing between the two Houses in relation to House bill No. 266, entitled An act to annex the farms of Samuel Powers, John Hunter, James Cunningham, John Conway and James Rutledge, of Derry township to Livermore borough, in Westmoreland county, for school purposes

PROTECTION OF FARMERS IN THE PHILADELPHIA MARKET.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of a bill entitled An act for the protection of farmers in the markets of Philadelphia.

The question being on the final passage of the bill.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, there is but one thing about this bill that I like, and that is the title. The title is a good one for the protection of farmers in the markets, and that is the only good thing I see about the bill. I will not pretend to say anything about the merits of this bill so far as it relates to Philadelphia. The Senators from that district can take care of their own affairs. I only speak for the farmers of Bucks county, and I say in this Senate that the great majority of the farmers of Bucks county are opposed to this bill. I know that fully three-fourths of the farmers of Bucks county stand upon the curbstones instead of going to the market houses, and have been doing so for years. If they were disposed, of course the farmers could occupy the market houses were they forced into it. To say that it does not act upon the people in Philadelphia is certainly a very great mistake. The farmers in Bucks county are pressing their Representatives to oppose the passage of this bill, and last week there were articles in both of the papers published in Bucks county opposing the measure in very strong terms. I do not know of a single person in that county who is not opposed to the measure.

Mr. CONNELL. I desire to say that I represent the rural portion of the city of Philadelphia. I have no doubt that as the bill stood originally it was objectionable to that part of the community; but the proviso that I attached to the bill last night I had from a very respectable constituent of my district. He was here three weeks ago, when the bill was up here. I have no doubt the constituents of the Senator from Bucks [Mr. JAMES] would have no objection to it if they knew that proviso was attached. That takes away the objections to the bill in my mind. As some of the Senators were not present last night, I ask the Clerk to read the resolution passed by the select and common councils of the city of Philadelphia. That resolution exactly endorses the bill, fully and completely, in every respect.

The resolution was read as follows:

Resolved by the Select and Common Councils of the city of Philadelphia, That the Legislature be, and they are hereby, requested to pass an act prohibiting the sale of meats in all the streets, lanes and alleys of the city of Philadelphia (excepting in market houses appropriated for that purpose), north of Reed street and South of Lehigh avenue, and east of Fortieth street, to all others except farmers, and to them only when disposing of the produce of their own farms.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, the Senator from Philadelphia has seen fit to have a resolution read for the Senators that were not here last evening. I now ask to have read an extract from a newspaper, also for the benefit of Senators who were not here.

The extract was read.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, the passage of this bill certainly must establish one fact in this Senate, and that is, that the idea of local legislation is certainly exploded. When the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL] called up a bill, I asked him in reference to the street which it affected. He told me emphatically that it was a locality in his district. I had no more to say about the passage of the bill. I say once again and for the last time that I have discharged, to the best of my ability, my duty to my people. I have done the best I can, and the best can do no more.

I have explained the fact that one thousand store keepers of the city of Philadelphia, I believed, would be broken up if this bill is passed. Second street is the second business street of Philadelphia. Why is it so? Because this very class of farmers' go there; and by removing them to the market house this bill will break up one thousand store keepers in that city. I do not believe there are twenty people in my district, not holding stock in market corporations, who are in favor of this bill; but what can I do when a Senator from an adjoining county can come into the Senate and by magic force a bill upon my people that the people of my district are not in favor of? I have discharged my duty, and I am satisfied now to call the yeas and nays upon the final passage of the bill.

One word in regard to that resolution from the common and select councils of Philadelphia. When that resolution was passed in Philadelphia, it was passed for the same means that this bill was attempted to be passed here. The city councils have control of the streets, and they regulate them every day. After the passage of that resolution they have never seen fit to remove these people from the street, as they have the power to do. Now, if this was a nuisance, they would demand and direct that the nuisance should be removed. I have no fault to find with the Senator from Chester [Mr. WORTHINGTON]. This may be good legislation for his people, but I think he should act with me in this matter, and do that which is a benefit for all my people. There are not more than six persons in my district who are not opposed to this bill.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I had no desire to renew the discussion upon this bill, as I thought it was fully debated last evening, and that every Senator present fully apprehended this proposition. But I am surprised that the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. DONOVAN] should assert so persistently that there are not half a dozen individuals in his district asking for this bill, when the Senator himself presented a petition signed by fifty-one of those individuals asking for its passage.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to explain. I will state that I did present a petition, but there were only six names on that petition of persons who reside in my district.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. There were store keepers along the line of this street. There is no magic in this, as the gentleman has asserted, but is a plain question of common sense, of right and justice. This, sir, is a matter of justice that I ask for my constituents, and I ask nothing more than what is just and right. I do not see why you should deprive the General Government of the thousands of dollars which it would receive from individuals who obtain license to sell these provisions for the purpose of gratifying a few individuals who choose to keep up this great nuisance on Second street. I say this is a just bill, and I ask for its passage. I do not want to enter at this time into the discussion. I think the matter has been fully discussed, and there is no occasion for going over the ground again.

Mr. McCANDLESS. Mr. Speaker, at the time that I first read this bill, I was in favor of its passage for various reasons. But since that time a large number of men interested on Second street and other streets, in the city of Philadelphia, have written to me on the subject. It is quite conclusive to my mind that the select and common councils of the city of Philadelphia have entire control of this matter. It is within their province, and if this be a nuisance it can be abated by them at any time without interference on the part of the Legislature. Now, I object to this system of legislation for municipal corporations, when such legislation is not demanded by the municipality; and as the select and common councils have authority to do this very thing, I think the Legislature of the State should not interfere.

Mr. CONNELL. Did the Senator hear the resolution passed by those councils read?

Mr. McCANDLESS. Yes, sir; but I am satisfied in my mind that they have authority over this matter. I cannot say that I am directly opposed to the bill, because the gentlemen who have charge of it are kind enough to exclude my district from its provisions. Nevertheless I have a feeling for my colleagues from the Third district [Mr. DONOVAN], whose constituents are deeply interested in the passage of this bill. I think the councils have authority, as I have before stated, and that the Legislature should not interfere with their province.

The question being on the final passage of the bill.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DONOVAN and Mr. WORTHINGTON, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Billington, Browne (Lawrence), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Jackson, Landon, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Searight, Shoemaker, White and Worthington—17.

NAYS—Messrs. Davis, Donovan, Glatz, James, Lowry, M'Candless, Randall, Schall, Walls and Hall, Speaker—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

During the call for the yeas and nays, Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence) said: Mr. Speaker, my sympathies are always with the poor man. I believe the streets in Philadelphia are a public highway—that the public have the right of way there and not the right to erect booths and stands for the sale of merchandise. From the discussion on this question, I have not been able to determine whether this question should be for the committee to settle, or for the Legislature of the State to settle. Inasmuch as the question is before us, I believe that it is right that we should keep the highways in Philadelphia open for the purpose for which they were made. I shall therefore vote "aye."

Mr. LOWRY. Believing that the mayor and select and common councils of the city of Philadelphia have entire authority over this subject, and that it has no right to be brought here, I vote "no."

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I have listened very carefully to this discussion. I am confident that I have been very much interested by the Senator from Bucks. I was very much interested and instructed by the remarks of the Senator from the Third district of Philadelphia; and were he alone representing Philadelphia, I would be governed by his vote. But I find the Senator from the Fourth district and the Senator from the Second district positively in favor of this bill. I am, therefore, controlled by their judgment, and shall vote "aye."

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of bill entitled An act to incorporate the Review Printing House company of Philadelphia.

The bill passed finally.

Also, a bill entitled An act to repeal part of an act approved the 11th day of April, A. D. 1866, entitled A further supplement to an act to authorize the Governor to incorporate the Susquehanna coal company, approved April 15, 1855.

On motion of Mr. GLATZ, the further consideration of the bill was postponed until Friday next, to be made the special order of the day.

On motion of Mr. WHITE and Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence), the Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole (Mr. ROYER in the chair) on the bill, No. 316, from the House of Representatives, Senate file, No. 957, an act to regulate the granting of licenses to hotels and eating houses.

After considerable debate (which will appear in the Appendix), the bill passed to second reading.

A motion was made by Mr. DAVIS and Mr. BURNETT that the said bill, together with the amendments, be printed for the use of the Senate.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DAVIS and Mr. DONOVAN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Brown (Mercer), Barnett, Connell, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Jackson, James, Landon, M'Candless, Randall, Ridgway, Schall, Searight, Taylor and Walls—16.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billington, Browne (Lawrence), Coleman, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, M'Conaughy, Royer, Shoemaker, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—14.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On leave given at this time,

Mr. TAYLOR read in his place and presented to the Chair a bill entitled An act to exempt the county of Beaver from the operations of the act entitled An act to provide for the enlargement of the Erie canal, to authorize the mortgage of the same, and the issue of bonds, and to increase the capital stock, and regulate the tolls.

Referred to the Committee on Canals and Inland Navigation.

On motion of Mr. TAYLOR,

The Committee on Canals and Inland Navigation was discharged from the further consideration of said bill, and the rules having been dispensed with, said bill (No. 1068, Senate file) was read a second time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the first and only section?

Mr. BROWN moved to postpone the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, for the present.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BROWN (Mercer) and Mr. TAYLOR, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billington, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Cowles, M'Conaughy and Walls—7.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Coleman, Connell, Fisher, Glatz, Graham, Haines, Jackson, Landon, M'Candless, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Searight, Shoemaker, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—20.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The hour of one o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

EVENING SESSION.

MONDAY, March 18, 1867.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. J. W. Barnhart, of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Philadelphia.

On motion the reading of the Journal of Friday last was dispensed with.

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the annual report of the Philadelphia and Reading railway company, with accompanying documents.

Laid on the table.

Communication from Esther K. Hayhurst, principal of school of design for women at Pittsburg.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Also, the following communication from the Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church:

HARRISBURG, March 16th, 1867.

By direction of the Philadelphia Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church now in session, the following resolution, adopted by the conference, is hereby presented to the Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania:

Resolved, That the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania, now holding their sittings in the State Capitol, be, and are hereby, invited to attend our sessions, and occupy places within the bar of the conference.

(Signed) L. SCOTT, Pres't.

ROBERT H. PATTISON, Sec'y.

LEAVE TO RECORD VOTE.

Messrs. QUAY and HOFFMAN asked and obtained leave to record their votes in the final passage of the act to restore the corporate franchises of the Pittsburg and Conellsville railroad.

On their names being called,

Mr. QUAY voted "aye."

Mr. HOFFMAN voted "no."

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Leave of absence was asked and obtained for the following named gentlemen: Messrs. PHELAN, WILSON, WALLACE, EWING, RICHARDS and LONO, and Assistant Messenger S. A. Gallagher.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to withdraw the petition of Mrs. Sarah E. M'Elrose, for the purpose of presenting it again.

Leave granted.

Petition withdrawn.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. M'CREARY, chairman of the Judiciary Local Committee, reported from that committee, in which it originated, bill No. 1335, an act to legalize and make valid an order issued by the road commissioners of Elk Creek township, in the county of Erie.

Mr. WORRALL (Municipal Corporations), as committed, bill No. 1336, an act for the appointment of two additional assessors for the Fifteenth ward of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. DEHAVEN (Roads, Bridges and Ferries), as committed, bill No. 1337, an act to vacate part of Buck Road, in the Twenty-sixth ward of the city of Philadelphia.

Also (same), as committed, bill No. 1338, a supplement to an act declaring Forge run, in Centre county, a public highway.

Mr. HOOD (same), as committed, bill No. 1339, an act to empower the supervisors of the township of Peach Bottom, in the county of York, to collect in money all taxes levied in said township for road purposes.

Also, (same), as committed, bill No. 1340, an act to incorporate the York and Chancelford turnpike road company in the county of York.

Mr. MECHLING (Estates and Escheats), as committed, bill No. 1341, an act to authorize the trustees of the Methodist Episcopal church of Mount Jackson, Lawrence county, to convey certain real estate.

Mr. ADAIRE (Corporations), with amendments, bill No. 1342, an act to incorporate the Oxford fire and life insurance, annuity and trust company.

Mr. QUIGLEY (same), as committed, Senate bill No. 538, an act to incorporate the Scranton base ball club of Scranton.

Mr. GALLAGHER, from the committee of conference appointed to consider the points of difference between the two houses, on House bill No. 266, entitled An act to annex the farms of Samuel Powers, John Hunter, James Cunningham, John Conway and James Rutledge, of Derry township, to Livermore borough, in Westmoreland county, for school purposes, report that they recommend that the House of Representatives recede from its non-concurrence in the amendments made by the Senate to said bill.

(Signed) THOS. F. GALLAGHER,
S. G. BOYD,
Committee on the part of the House.
O. P. JAMES,
T. B. SEARIGHT,
Committee on the part of the Senate.

The undersigned, a committee appointed during the session of 1866, to examine and report upon certain charges made by reporters for certain papers in the city of Pittsburg, concerning the use of improper and corrupt means for the purpose of procuring the passage of an act relating to licenses in the county of Allegheny, submit the following report:

The committee examined a large number of witnesses in Harrisburg, but owing to the pressure of other duties, they were unable to conclude their duties as said committee before the close of the session; and by a resolution of the House, they were authorized to pursue the investigation after the adjournment of the House. The committee proceeded to Pittsburg, and examined a large number of witnesses; and, after carefully weighing the testimony submitted to them, they conclude that certain individuals and associations in Pittsburg were induced, by the representations of one R. H. Kerr, a reporter for the Pittsburg Post, to believe that it was necessary, in order to secure the passage of a law to protect the interests of the liquor dealers of that county, to raise money to be used in the Legislature; that the testimony showed that a considerable amount of money was raised in accordance with the suggestions of said Kerr, and that the money so raised was kept by said Kerr, not one dollar, as the evidence shows, ever having been paid by him to any member of the Legislature in either branch, nor to anyone else; nor was any money offered by him to any member of either House to procure the passage or defeat of any law relating to licenses in the county of Allegheny.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The question being on the bill, it was Agreed to.
The title was Agreed to.
The rules being suspended,
The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.
On motion of Mr. SHARPLES, the following petition was read:
To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania:

Sincerely concerned for the welfare of mankind, and solicitous for the honor of our beloved country, we are induced to ask your attention to the condition of the Indian tribes remaining within the boundaries of the United States, believing that a voice from Pennsylvania, whose early history bears honorable testimony to a just treatment of the Indians found on her soil, would be influential with Congress towards a just and pacific policy in its treatment of the remnants of those nations that once bore undisputed sway over this vast continent.

There are those among our citizens brought up in the principles by which William Penn was governed, who, guided by the same spirit, could serve as messengers and servants of the National Government, and, it is believed, could calm the troubled waters, and harmonize all just interests and feelings, and secure a lasting peace.

We would kindly ask our worthy Governor and esteemed Senators and Representatives to do what, in wisdom, they can do in this important national concern.

On behalf of the Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania Peace Society.

GEO. WASHINGTON TAYLOR,
President.

HENRY T. CHILD, M. D., 634 Race street.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 662, an act relating to the coroner of the city and county of Philadelphia.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. GREGORY, Mr. Speaker, I hope the bill will not pass.

If the gentlemen from Philadelphia will take the trouble to read that bill, they will see that one provision in it is this: that the coroner shall hold an inquest on the body of any deceased person who shall have died a violent death, or where death shall be sudden. It makes no restrictions as to what "sudden" means. The coroner can decide that question for himself; whether it means after a day's illness, a week's illness or two weeks' illness.

A person may be in the enjoyment of good health, but if he die within a week's time that might be called a sudden death. It gives the coroner a right to go into any house, although there has been no presumption of a violent death, for the purpose of holding an inquest. He shall be allowed by law to receive the sum of twenty-five cents for each oath administered in the discharge of his ordinary duties. It makes no restrictions of the number of oaths he may administer on each inquest; it may be five or ten; it may be five hundred.

I hope the gentlemen from Philadelphia will take this into consideration in casting their votes. The press of the city of Philadelphia has been almost unanimous against the passage of such an act. It is no benefit to the public at all; it is merely for the benefit of the coroner of the city of Philadelphia. The present fees are sufficient for anybody with a reasonable expectation when he accepts the office of coroner.

I hope the bill will not pass.

Mr. DEHAVEN. Mr. Speaker, I believe all these objectionable features have been stricken out.

As the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. DAVIS], who has the bill in charge, is not in his seat, I hope its further consideration will be postponed for the present.

On the motion of Mr. KERNS, the bill was postponed for the present.

The next bill in order on third reading was House bill No. 622, entitled An act to authorize John Du Bois to erect cribs, and form a log harbor in the West Branch of the Susquehanna river.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. STUMBAUGH moved that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for one week.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The next bill in order on third reading was House bill No. 658, entitled An act relating to pawbrokers in Allegheny county.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. COLLIVILLE. Mr. Speaker, I believe I am the only person of our delegation who has manifested any interest in this bill. I was very desirous that this bill should be acted upon and passed finally.

At the earnest remonstrance of some parties who appeared and expressed themselves as being very deeply interested in this bill, I had it laid over on third reading.

It appears that gentleman, taking advantage of my generosity, improved the opportunity and privileges extended to him to raise his force in opposition to this measure. He has also come here and attempted to intimidate me by threats, telling me if this bill passed what I might expect from the people of my own county.

I wish to be placed upon the Record as being entirely regardless of these threats; but I cannot overlook the remonstrance which has come here signed by the presidents of both our common and select branches of the city government. Out of due respect for them, and having a due regard for other gentlemen who have signed petitions and remonstrances against the passage of this bill, I move that its further consideration be indefinitely postponed.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The next bill in order on third reading was Senate bill No. 566, entitled An act to authorize the clerk of the mayor or aldermen of the city of Pittsburg to administer oaths.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. STEHMAN. Mr. Speaker I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The next bill in order on third reading was House bill No. 515, entitled An act relating to the passage of fish in Middle creek, in the county of Snyder.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of that bill be indefinitely postponed.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The next bill in order on third reading was House bill No. 554, entitled An act relating to the appointment of road viewers and their duties, in the county of Snyder.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of that bill be indefinitely postponed.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The next bill in order on third reading was House bill No. 690, an act relating to the assessment and collection of taxes in the city of Chester.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I shall have to ask that this bill be indefinitely postponed. I make the motion, inasmuch as many of the citizens of the county are opposing it very strenuously and perhaps justly.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The next bill on third reading was House bill No. 700, a supplement to an act to incorporate the Chester Creek railroad company, approved the sixteenth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, I move to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment. The motion was struck out in the seventh line of the words "for near," and also the manuscript proviso which I ask may be read for the information of the House.

The proviso was read as follows:

Provided, That it shall not be lawful for the Chester Creek railroad company, or any person having control of their railroads, to transport any passenger or freight thereon, passing to and from Philadelphia and points on the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central railroad, in pursuance of any understanding or arrangement between said Philadelphia and Baltimore Central railroad company, or the company or persons controlling their railroad, and any other company or persons, the result or effect of which understanding or arrangement shall be to deprive passengers and shippers of freight of the option of traveling or transporting freight between the points aforesaid, by way of the West Chester and Philadelphia railroad, at the same rates, upon the same terms and conditions, and with the same facilities and advantages, in all respects, as are afforded by way of the Chester Creek railroad. Provided further, That the West Chester and Philadelphia railroad company shall be willing to enter into similar arrangements for that purpose.

On the question,

Will the House go into committee of the whole for the purpose of amending the bill as indicated?

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, as to the first amendment, for the purpose of inserting which it is desired that this House go into committee of the whole, I have no objection. It can be inserted, so far as I am concerned, without going into committee of the whole; but I think the proviso which the gentleman asks to have considered in committee of the whole appertains more to other railroad corporations than to the road we have under consideration.

The Chester railroad, to the act incorporating which this bill is a supplement is a road running to Chester, making the terminus at present at Leni. This supplement asks to have the terminus at Penelton, which would connect it with the Philadelphia and West Chester railroad and the Baltimore Central. I question very much the authority of this House to put provisions in this bill which will control or govern other roads. I think there are constitutional objections which might be urged against the attachment of a provision of this kind. This bill is purely local in its nature. While it con-nnects with other railroads, the Philadelphia and West Chester, as well as the Baltimore Central, the Wilmington and Philadelphia, and Baltimore railroad, it is distinct in itself.

While it desires no advantage over the West Chester and Philadelphia railroad, we ask that the road itself be left untrammelled and be made a competing road, so far as its natural facilities will permit it, with any other road near or adjoining.

I hope the gentleman will not insist upon going into committee of the whole for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, if I understand the position of matters and the desire of parties connected with this road, very simply this, and it has been already stated by the gentleman from Delaware:

It was alleged, as I understand, before the committee, when this bill was under consideration, that the Chester Creek road did not desire to make any discriminations, so far as freight and passengers were concerned, from the Baltimore Central to the city of Philadelphia, over the West Chester road. That was distinctly discarded at the time of the hearing before the committee.

In other words (I want the House to understand the relative positions of these roads), that the Chester Creek road, which by this bill will connect with the Baltimore Central, and thereby open up another route to the city of Philadelphia, in opposition to the West Chester road, should not discriminate in its rates for the passage either of freight or passengers over the West Chester road.—That was the distinct allegation before the committee. It was simply desired that it should be a competing road with this understanding, that the Baltimore Central should have the opportunity of coming over the Chester Creek road if they desired, and then over the Wilmington and Baltimore road, thus reaching the city of Philadelphia. The proviso, if carefully read, will be found to say distinctly that that discrimination shall not be made. It puts in writing the proposition that those gentlemen have, on all occasions, made. It provides that this discrimination shall not be made if the West Chester road is willing to run passengers and freight at the same rates. If all the circumstances surrounding the passage of this charter and this supplement were known, I do not think this House would consider it an unreasonable demand.

Inasmuch as the gentleman representing this bill have made these promises before the committee, the West Chester road, which will be injured by this bill, ask merely that their propositions may be put in writing or print, to go as a part and parcel of the supplement which they here ask.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, one word more. The gentleman has stated if this House knew all the circumstances connected with this matter it would not pass this bill.

Mr. WADDELL. I stated if the House knew all the surrounding circumstances it would not consider this an unreasonable demand. I do not say they would not pass the bill.

Mr. BARTON. I misunderstood the gentleman slightly; however, the statement is still very specious. The gentleman comprising the railroad committee will, I think, bear me out when I state that this bill was fairly considered, so far as I am concerned, with the committee. There was no undue influence used. The parties opposing the bill were before the committee at four or five successive meetings, and arguments were presented. I do not think there has been anything unreasonable asked by the friends of this bill in relation to the matter. We certainly do not desire to take any advantage of the West Chester or Philadelphia railroad. It is a road running to a great extent, through my own county, and the stock is held, to a considerable extent, by the citizens of my own county—my constituents. We do not desire to do anything to injure that road or its stockholders.

I think it is unreasonable to ignore the considerations that are offered for a common junction, at which roads can mutually exchange their passengers and freight. The distance is small—three-fourths of a mile—and by terminating at this junction, it gives nothing more than an equal chance with the West Chester and the Philadelphia railroad—an opportunity to compete with them from that point to Philadelphia. The distance by way of this road is over four miles greater than by way of the Philadelphia and West Chester road. We certainly have no desire to take advantage. We ask simply, what any gentleman upon this floor would ask, having a local railroad built in his district or county, that a terminus might be at one general rendezvous. The point at which we seek to make a common junction is a point of convenience to travelers; it is a matter of convenience in the exchange of freight.

I leave the question with the House to decide whether they will go into committee of the whole on this special amendment or not.

On the question,
Will the House go into committee of the whole?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WADDELL and Mr. GHEGAN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Humphrey Jones, Linton, Long, M'Creary, Maish, Mann, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Waddell, Weller and Westbrook—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Barton, Boyd, Brennan, Chadwick, Chalfant, Chase, Colville, Craig, Day, DeHaven, Espy, Fogel, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Harbison, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hoffman, Hood, Josephs, Kerns, Kinney, Kline, Kurtz, Leech, M'Camant, M'Henry, M'Kee, Marks, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Roath, Roush, Satterthwait, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Subers, Watt, Wharton, Wingard and Worrall—48.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring on the final passage of the bill,

It was
Agreed to.
And the bill
Passed finally.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. M'CREARY) announced that the next bill on order, on third reading, was Senate bill No. 235, entitled

An act to punish by fine any railroad corporation within this Commonwealth that shall exclude, or allow to be excluded by their agents, conductors, or employees, from any of their passenger cars, any person or persons, on account of color or race.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I move to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, I call the previous question.

The bill was read by order of the SPEAKER.
Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I move to go into committee of the whole for special amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The previous question has been called.

Mr. QUIGLEY. I rise to a point of order. The previous question was called before the bill was read.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, after the bill is before the House, I move to go into committee of the whole for special amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair decides the call for the previous question is in order.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Does the Chair decide that the call for the previous question was made before the bill was read?

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, all debate is out of order.

Mr. BOYLE. I rise to a question of privilege.

I submit it to the Speaker as a question of fact whether the previous question had been called when I made my motion after the bill was before the House?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair so understood it.

Mr. BOYLE. It was not so, and I so charge it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will take the names of the gentlemen seconding the call for the previous question.

The following gentlemen seconded the call:

Messrs. Mann, Harbison, Worrall, Humphrey, Pennypacker, Ghegan, Kinney, Freeborn, DeHaven, Gallagher, Kerns and Meily.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, on the previous question I call the yeas and nays.

On the question,
Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. QUIGLEY and Mr. HOOD, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Barton, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Day, DeHaven, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Harbison, Hoffman, Humphrey, Kerns, Kinney, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Roath, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Watt, Weller, Whann, Wharton, Wingard, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—45.

NAYS—None.
There not being a quorum voting the question was undetermined.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I move a call of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Sergeant-at-Arms will close the passage from the floor.

The Clerk will call the roll.
Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I move the House do now adjourn.

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman to order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair decides the motion out of order.

Mr. BOYLE. I appeal from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. GREGORY. I second the appeal.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair decides the appeal out of order.

No motion to adjourn is in order when the previous question is called.

Mr. GREGORY. The previous question has not been sustained.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It is pending.

Mr. GREGORY. It has not been sustained.

Mr. QUAY. - Mr. Speaker, it seems to me to be the duty of the Chair to bring certain members who are on the floor of this House before the bar to answer for contempt.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Any member not answering to his name, being present, will be brought before the bar of the House to answer for contempt.

Upon the call of the roll the following gentlemen answered to their names:

Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Barton, Boyd, Boyle, Brennan, Chadwick, Chalfant, Chase, Colville, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Fogel, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Harbison, Harner, Hoffman, Humphrey, Jenks, Jones, Kerns, Kinney, Kurtz, Leech, Long, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Henry, M'Kee, M'Pherrin, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Rhoads, Roath, Roush, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Tharp, Waddell, Watt, Weller, Westbrook, Whann, Wharton, Wingard, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—62.

Mr. JOSEPHS. Mr. Speaker, what is the question?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is, Shall the main question be now ordered? and the Clerk will proceed to call the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Barton, Chadwick, Chase, Day, DeHaven, Espy, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Harbison, Hoffman, Humphrey, Kerns, Kinney, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, M'Pherrin, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peters, Pillow, Quay, Roath, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Watt, Weller, Whann, Wharton, Wingard, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—46.

NAYS—None.
A quorum not voting, the question remained undetermined.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I move now that the fifty-seventh rule of this House be enforced.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will state, after the call of the House is made, any member refusing to vote shall be deemed to be in contempt. Unless purged of that contempt, the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be authorized to remove him from the bar of the House, with the refusal of all privileges of membership.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, if there is any gentleman in the House who desires to vote now, I apprehend that all he has to do is to ask leave to record his vote. The fifty-seventh rule must be enforced; if gentlemen wish to vote they can only do it by standing up in their places and asking leave.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I was not present when my name was called. I ask leave to record my vote.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I move to reconsider the vote on putting the previous question.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry to see our friends on the opposite side of the House taking this position. It appears to me, according to rule fifty-seven, page one hundred and nineteen, that some gentlemen have placed themselves in contempt of the House. Unless the House enforces this rule all our rules are of no effect. I desire to extend as many privileges to the members of this House as any gentleman on the floor; I will yield to none.

As the gentleman from Chester (Mr. WARRICK) says, it is only necessary for those who wish to vote to express the desire. I, for one, shall insist upon the enforcement of the rule, and that gentlemen shall purge themselves of this contempt. This House should not, for a moment, go back of those rules. I shall stay here as long as it is possible for me to do so, and ask the members of this House to stand firmly by this rule. I ask the gentlemen on the other side of the House to come up to their duty on this question, to be men, to do what they should do.

It is a direct insult to this House for gentlemen to act in the manner that they have acted to-night. I, for one, am not willing to have gentlemen sit in their places and refuse to vote—in direct violation of this rule. I hope gentlemen will ask permission to vote and behave as gentlemen.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state

(that the question is on the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. Davis], that he have leave to record his vote.

The motion was

Agreed to.

His name being called Mr. DAVIS voted "aye."

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that a like courtesy be extended to every member within the bar of this House.

Mr. MECHLING. Then, Mr. Speaker, I move a strict enforcement of the rules.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker—

Mr. COLVILLE. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. It has not been declared that the gentleman from Fayette, or any other gentleman on the floor of this House, has been in contempt.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, although I may not be strictly in order, yet I presume that my statements will be pertinent to this side of the House as to the other gentlemen.

Now, I may say that the members upon this side of the House had, during the session, deposed themselves as becoming members of this House and as becoming gentlemen. I know of not a single occasion where they have behaved in any other way. As I have had occasion to say once before, we are members of the House, and are entitled to some privileges. We think that this evening, while the gentleman from Erie [Mr. McCreary] was in the chair, we have not received the treatment due to gentlemen. We think, in the face of facts and in the face of what every member on this floor knows, we have been denied our privileges and have not been allowed to be heard upon the question that was before the house. We think a gross injustice has been done by the gentleman from Erie, and I, for one, would lose my privileges as a member of the House, if I am in contempt, rather than submit to a ruling of this kind.

My motion for amendment before the previous question was called, and the gentleman from Erie and every gentleman in the House knows it. The gentleman from Erie has walked over that fact, ruled me out of order and deprived us of the opportunity of offering an amendment.

I care not one cent about this bill, whether it passes or falls; I do not care whether an amendment be offered to it or not; this is immaterial to me, but I say our rights have been disregarded here by the gentleman who occupied the chair. I say, further, our rights are not to be disregarded with impunity. I am willing to take the consequences of their maintenance.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I would say that I have always found those who are apt to grave misdemeanors most apt to attempt to place the responsibility upon the shoulders of some one else. I am sorry to say that the gentleman from Fayette [Mr. Boyle] has placed himself in that position to-night. There is no excuse for him even if the facts, as he alleges them, were true. I state here that, whilst in the chair, he decided as I understood the rules of the House authorized me to decide, that the previous question could be called at any time.

While the gentleman from Fayette was offering his amendment I decided under this rule that the previous question, having been called, was in order.

Mr. BOYLE. Will the gentleman allow me to interrupt him?

Mr. McCREARY. Not at present.

I understand that to be the rulings on this floor and the rules of this House, that the previous question can be called at any time. When the previous question was called by the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. Kerns], I recognized him, as I had a right to do, notwithstanding the amendment offered by the gentleman from Fayette. If I was wrong in my position, it was a mistake and not a fault, as the gentleman would assert. Whilst deciding in a way that I thought was justified by the rules of the House, I am charged with the responsibility of which those gentlemen have themselves been guilty to-night.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, it is evident, from the gentleman's own statement, that my amendment was offered before the previous question was called. He admitted it was so.

Mr. McCREARY. I did not admit it.

Mr. BOYLE. The gentleman said he recognized the call of the gentleman from Philadelphia for the previous question, notwithstanding my amendment.

I insist that my amendment was before the House.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I would say that the gentleman from Fayette is attempting to make a point without having any foundation. He was not recognized by the Speaker. How then could he get his motion to amend before the House? The Speaker recognized the member from Philadelphia. The gentleman from Fayette moved an amendment. He had no business to utter a word until he had been recognized by the Speaker. He is lawless enough to know that. Therefore he is indulging in a mere quibble; the justification attempted to be made has no foundation.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to explain. I did not admit, as the gentleman says, that he had offered his amendment. I recognized the gentleman from Philadelphia, because he had called the previous question. The gentleman had a right to call the previous question, and I had a right to sustain him.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I do not altogether agree with my colleague from Fayette nor the gentleman from Kottor. I take this to be the ruling of the Speaker, who occupied the chair at the time of these occurrences. He recognized the gentleman from Philadelphia who called the previous question before the bill was read.

Mr. KERNS, I will state if the gentleman offered the amendment before the bill was read he was out of order also.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I think I have the floor.

At that time I took exception to the ruling of the gentleman who occupied the chair. He recognized my colleague from Philadelphia. The bill had not yet been read. As soon as the number of the bill was read, the gentleman from Philadelphia rose in his place and called the previous question. The bill was not before the House; therefore, I take it, the previous question could not be called, or, if called, the Chair had no right to recognize the gentleman who called it. That is one exception I take to the ruling of the Speaker.

Now, on the sustaining of the previous question, after he had wrongfully recognized the calling of it, the yeas and nays were called. There was not a quorum voting—forty-six votes, I believe, in the House. The gentleman from Fayette then made the motion, there not being a quorum in the House, that this House do now adjourn. The gentleman, who was determined to be arbitrary, would not entertain that motion; he said it was not in order. From that decision the gentleman from Fayette appealed, but the Chair would not entertain that appeal.

Now, are we going to have a one man power? Because the gentleman happened to be the majority, are we to have no protection in this House? I never knew any gentleman who occupied that chair to decide an appeal out of order. So far as I am concerned, personally, and I think I can speak for the gentlemen on this side of the House, we will not submit to such arbitrary ruling from the Speaker pro tempore, or any man who may occupy that chair.

Now, the other side of the House has a majority; it can take from us all our rights as members; but we would rather have them do that than attempt such a gag law as they have attempted to-night. I speak for myself; but I trust I speak for this side of the House also.

This is the first time that ever I was in contempt of this House. I have had the honor of being on this floor for a number of years, and this is the first time that I have witnessed such ruling.

I trust, being the first time, that the gentlemen on this side of the House will adhere to their determination and to their rights, even though we be expelled from the House.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I was not here at the commencement of this wrangling, but I think there is no better settled principle of parliamentary law than that the previous question is always in order, and I hold that when the gentleman from Erie—

Mr. QUIGLEY. If the gentleman will allow me one moment.

Mr. DAVIS. I will ask the gentleman to wait until I have finished.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state that when the gentleman desire to address this House they will address the Speaker first, and that they will not proceed with their remarks until the Speaker recognizes them.

Mr. DAVIS. I was going on to remark. Mr. Speaker, after a member has taken the floor, and obtained the sanction of the Chair to offer an amendment, even while that amendment is passing between the member and the Clerk, or after it reaches the Clerk, it is the right of any member on the floor to call the previous question. It is always in order, even while a member is speaking. Therefore, I cannot see that the Speaker pro tempore did anything wrong. There is no one thing so well settled as a principle of parliamentary law as this. If the gentleman from Fayette had obtained the floor, if the Speaker had recognized him, and he had sent his amendment by a page to the Clerk, and the Clerk had commenced reading it, even then my colleague was perfectly competent to call the previous question, and the gentleman from Fayette would have to submit.

That is a well settled rule.

I will read the authority upon this point: "The Speaker decided that a motion to adjourn was not in order when the previous question had been called, and sustained, and was still pending. The House sustained the decision.—Journal of the House of Representatives 1857, page 509."

Now, the motion to adjourn cannot be made while the previous question is pending. The gentleman from Fayette knows it.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether the previous question is in order until the bill is properly before the House, and whether the reading of the title upon third reading places that bill before the House?

Mr. DAVIS. The reading of the title on third reading places the bill before the House, and this bill is on third reading.

Mr. GREGORY. Suppose the Clerk had not even read the title, was it before the House?

Mr. DAVIS. If it was competent for the gentleman from Fayette to offer an amendment, it was competent for the gentleman from Philadelphia to call the previous question.

A bill on third reading is before the House whenever the Speaker announces the title.

Mr. GREGORY. The gentleman from Fayette having appealed from the decision of the Chair, I would inquire whether the Speaker had a right to rule the appeal out of order?

Mr. DAVIS. I would like to know what the appeal was on.

Mr. GREGORY. It was on the decision of the Chair.

Mr. WADELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what is before the House.

Mr. GREGORY. I believe I have the floor, and not the gentleman from Chester.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state that this discussion is altogether out of order. The remarks that have been made have been entertained more out of courtesy to gentlemen than anything else. They were all out of order.

The previous question is now pending, a call of the House having been ordered, and a majority of the members of the House being present, the Chair is of the opinion that the previous question is still pending. It is the duty of the Clerk to proceed with the call of the roll.

Mr. WADELL. Mr. Speaker, I understand the roll has been called twice and still there is no quorum answering. Now I want to know where we are.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave of the House to record my vote.

Mr. GREGORY. I think the Speaker recognized me as having had the floor; I have not yielded it. The Speaker has decided that all remarks that have been made were out of order.

Mr. LEE. I do not desire to make any remark. I desire to vote.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if that is in order at the present time? The Speaker recognized me as having the floor, and I have not yielded it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already stated that if two-thirds of the House agree to permit the gentleman from Philadelphia to vote, he will have that privilege.

Leave was granted.

His name being called, Mr. LEE voted "aye."

Mr. DONOHUGH. I ask a similar privilege of the House.

Leave was granted.

His name being called, Mr. DONOHUGH voted "aye."

The SPEAKER. The position of the case is as follows: The question being, shall the main question be now put, the yeas and nays were ordered, and forty-eight responded to the call, whereupon the Chair, under the rule, ordered a call of the House to be made, and the roll being called, sixty-two answered to their names—more than a quorum. The Chair thereupon, under the rule, directed the vote to be again taken, when it appeared that a quorum had not answered to their names. It, therefore, remains for the Chair to declare that those gentlemen who are present, but who did not answer to their names at the second calling of the yeas and nays, are in contempt of the House.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I move to reconsider the vote.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that that cannot be done.

The Sergeant-at-Arms will close the door and allow no member to pass.

The Chair would state that he does not desire to give any opinion as to the rule, but the rule is on the book and the Chair regards it as his duty to enforce it. The Chair will read the rule.

Rule 57 of the Legislative hand-book was read as follows:

No. 57. When less than a quorum vote on any subject under the consideration of the House, it shall be the duty of the Speaker forthwith to order the bar of the House to be closed, and that the roll of the members be called by the Clerk, and if it is ascertained that a quorum is present, either by answering to their names or by their presence in the House, the yeas and nays shall again be ordered by the Speaker, and if any member present refuse to vote, such refusal shall be deemed a contempt, and unless purged, the Speaker shall order the Sergeant-at-Arms to remove said member or members without the bar of the House, and all privileges of membership shall be refused the person or persons so offending, until the contempt as aforesaid be duly purged."

The Chair would state that it is an easy matter for gentlemen to purge themselves of contempt by recording their votes.

The Chair will read the names of the gentlemen who are now in contempt.

Mr. JENKS. Mr. Speaker, does not the rule require that the regular Speaker be in the chair?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that he can call any gentleman to the chair.

Mr. JENKS. The great difficulty arises, as has been stated by those on this side of the House, from the fact that they were not fairly dealt with by the Speaker pro tempore.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I object to the gentleman having the privilege of speaking when he is out of order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the names of the gentlemen in contempt.

The SPEAKER read the names of the following gentlemen:

Messrs. Boyle, Brennan, Chalfant, Fogel, Harner, Jenks, Jones, Kurtz, Long, M'Henry, Rhoads, Roush, Tharp and Weller.

Mr. MAISH. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear my name amongst those in contempt. I believe I did not vote when the roll was called.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York was not one of the sixty-two who responded to their names.

Mr. MAISH. I did not hear my name amongst those in contempt.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's name is not included in the list.

Mr. JENKS. Mr. Speaker, I again rise to that question. I wish to have this matter fairly understood.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state that a number of gentlemen did not respond when the call of the House was ordered. Their names are not embraced in the list of those who are in contempt.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask if their names ought not to be inserted as in contempt?

The rule provides that if they are in this House and refuse to answer it shall be a contempt, and there is no propriety in making an exception in their favor.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that those gentlemen are in contempt, but the Chair has no cognizance of the fact that they were present in the House when their names were called.

Mr. JENKS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to make a remark.

Mr. DONOHUGH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. I believe the gentleman from Jefferson is in contempt of the House.

Mr. JENKS. He is not in contempt yet, or the Speaker would not recognize him.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will call the names of those gentlemen who are in contempt, and as he calls their names they will rise in their seats and state whether they intend to purge themselves of the contempt.

Mr. Boyd.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, it was no intention of mine to place myself in an attitude of defiance of the rules of this House. The reason I did not vote was this: I conceived that the members of this side of the House—

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman to order.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I think I have a right to explain why I occupy the attitude that I do.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. The gentleman has no right to address the Chair except to say whether he will purge himself of contempt or not.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the gentleman is entitled to make any remarks that are proper and necessary to enable him to purge himself of contempt.

The gentleman will confine himself strictly to this limit.

Mr. BOYD. Before the title of the bill was read the gentleman from Philadelphia called the previous question. Certainly it was not proper to call the previous question at that time. When the title was read the gentleman from Fayette offered an amendment, but the Speaker pro tempore did not recognize him, and in my opinion, persistently refused to recognize him. I believe, when a presiding officer thus treats with indifference a member of this House, he can make no claim on the respect of the House.

Now, I have not refused to vote when the proper presiding officer has been in the chair. When fairness is manifested, I am willing to record my vote. I had no intention whatever of treating with disrespect the presiding officer of the House. I am ready to vote.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the gentleman from York.

His name being called, Mr. BOYD voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. BOYLE.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I have already stated to this House my reasons for refusing to vote, and have now but little to add thereto.

I have charged on the gentleman from Erie, and I repeat the charge, that he improperly ruled me out of order when I offered my amendment, and that he treated this side of the House most rudely and unjustly. I have no design to be in contempt of the House. I endeavor to understand my duties here, and perform them to the best of my abilities; with what success I shall not undertake to say. I do what I believe to be incumbent upon me as a member of this House. I trust the time will never come when I shall persist in what is contempt of the House; but I claim for myself, and for the gentlemen with whom I acted, the same privileges and the same rights that are accorded to other members of this House. These privileges we have not been accorded this evening.

I believe a quorum has already voted. I have had the opportunity to say all I desired and to place myself in a proper position, and shall, therefore, no longer decline to vote.

His name being called, Mr. BOYLE voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. BRENNAN.

Mr. BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, my action in my premises has been a good deal like the action of the gentlemen who have just addressed the Chair. I did consider that we were treated with disrespect by the gentleman occupying the chair pro tempore, hence my action.

I am willing to vote.

His name being called, Mr. BRENNAN voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. CHALFANT.

Mr. CHALFANT. Mr. Speaker, I was governed in my action by the conduct of the speaker pro tempore, who believed, and still believes, that when the gentleman from Fayette introduced his amendment that he was properly in order, and I conceive that the Speaker ruled him out of order most unjustly, and that in various other ways he acted arbitrarily.

It is a constituent of my nature, when I find myself under a system of arbitrary rule held over me, to always determine to resist such tyranny. When the Speaker now in the Chair resumed his place, I was prepared to vote at any time, but I will allow no man to swing a military lash over me. I am a free American citizen, and I will stand up for my rights in the Hall or out of it, when I think they are trespassed upon.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, before this goes any further I wish to call the gentleman to order.

Mr. GREGORY. I call the member from Philadelphia to order.

Mr. DAVIS. I am in order. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I hold for any man to find fault with the Speaker of this House and arraign him before the House as much in contempt of the House as a refusal to vote. The gentleman from Erie, while occupying your place in that chair, was Speaker as much as you are, sir.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I am in order. That gentleman don't understand the first principle of parliamentary law; he had better take his seat.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. I call the gentleman from Philadelphia to order. He is discussing a question; the point of order has not been stated by the Chair, therefore he is not in order.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia is in contempt of the House.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker—
Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman from Chester to order.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I know my rights and I am going to have them.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will request gentlemen to confine themselves strictly to the question.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. The gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. GREGORY] is in contempt of the House.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman from Philadelphia to order. I am not in contempt of the House.

Mr. CHALFANT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. DAVIS] assumes to be the dictator of this House. If he is, the sooner we know it on this side the better, that we can govern ourselves to meet such an assumption.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will permit no further proceedings until gentlemen are in order. There must be order in this House. Gentlemen will understand that the Chair is competent to enforce order.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is this; it is very brief if they will let me alone; it is this: No gentleman has a right to get up on this floor and say a word against the gentleman from Erie on his decision, unless he impeach him. He was the Speaker of this House as much as you are, and no member has a right to find fault with him. They are in contempt of the House the moment they do.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montour will proceed with his remarks in order.

Mr. CHALFANT. The Speaker called upon me to give my reasons why I did not vote.

Mr. DAVIS. Then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman—

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman from Philadelphia to order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montour has the floor, and he will not be interrupted. The gentleman from Montour will proceed.

Mr. CHALFANT. Mr. Speaker, I said when the Speaker of the House resumed his seat I was prepared to vote at any time. He has always treated me as a gentleman.

Therefore, I have no hesitation in voting. His name being called, Mr. CHALFANT voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. FOGEL.

Mr. FOGEL. Mr. Speaker, I refused to vote on the same ground as has been stated. I am ready to record my vote.

His name being called, Mr. FOGEL voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. GREGORY.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I did not know I was in contempt.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman was in the House.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I must say I have not the least contempt for you, therefore I am ready to vote.

His name being called, Mr. GREGORY voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. HARNER.

Mr. HARNER. Mr. Speaker, I have no particular remarks to make. I am willing to vote.

His name being called, Mr. HARNER voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. JENKS.

Mr. JENKS. Mr. Speaker, I do think there was any contempt of the House; certainly none was intended. The reasons for my vote I wish to go on the Record.

There is something due to the character of a representative. He acts not for himself, but for his people. I regard the conduct of the Speaker pro tempore as having been at variance with the just rights of those who appear in the minority as representatives. I am not now going to affirm that he willingly did wrong, but I do say that the facts, as they appeared to me, justified the conclusion in my mind that the rights of the minority were not to be respected.

It appeared to me that the gentleman from Fayette had the floor; it appeared to me that every man in this House, whose attention was directed to that fact, might have known it. The previous question had been called, the bill not yet being before the House; the gentleman from Fayette, as soon as it was before the House, called for recognition, but the Speaker pro tempore failed to recognize him, which, under the circumstances, seemed unjust. On a bill as important as this it is due to the people that it should be fully investigated.

A bill which makes it criminal to exclude colored persons from cars; a bill which punishes some alleged offenders by a fine of one thousand dollars, and others by a fine of five hundred dollars for each offense, should not pass without a sufficient reason. The bill changes a civil into a criminal offense. Upon such a bill the previous question should not have been called; the rule which enforces a call for the previous question, and makes it effectual in cutting off debate, was not intended to be used as a means of preventing legitimate discussion. The call, in this case, was not just. It was used to prevent an examination into the principles of this bill—a bill in which every class of society has a deep interest.

Why it should be accounted a crime to exclude from the cars a negro, and yet not a crime to exclude a white person, I am unable to determine. Why a civil offense when a white person is excluded, and a criminal offense to exclude a negro? Can any one give a sufficient reason for this? Surely it is right to regard the comfort of people of our own race with as much favor as that of the colored. I will not justify lawlessness in any one; I wish to do right. I will not justify any man in violating the rules of the House. I would sustain any Speaker in the discharge of his duties. This bill has caused great excitement; there should have been more than ordinary fairness in the attempt to pass it. It appears to do violence to the instincts of society as now organized. This should never be done but for very grave reasons and after full consideration.

The Speaker pro tempore, as it appeared to me, acted with inconsiderate haste. Ordinarily he is courteous and just. A wrong if done by him was, doubtless, a result of a misapprehension of the importance of the measure before the House. This unnecessary haste has caused much feeling among the members on this side of the floor.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of privilege. I simply say it is the unanimous opinion of every member on this side of the House that the gentleman who have addressed the Chair to-night have insulted this House by the remarks they have made. They have directly charged upon the person who occupied the Speaker's chair conduct unbecoming a gentleman, and have used opprobrious epithets in regard to him and inuendoes which are worse than direct charges. I am here the equal of any member on this floor; I will not permit gentlemen, here or elsewhere, to use improper language toward me. They have made charges here, while I have not had the privilege of replying.

Mr. JENKS. Mr. Speaker, I make no charges further than this; I stated the facts as they appeared to me. I am inclined to a charitable view; I presume it was accidental, but it did not appear just.

I intended no contempt. I am ready to answer to my name.

His name being called, Mr. JENKS voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. JONES.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, there is no gentleman on the floor of the House who has a more supreme regard for the dignity of this body than myself; and at the same time there is no gentleman on the floor of this House who has a more supreme regard for his own dignity and for the dignity of his constituents.

I believe that in pursuing the course I did I was defending myself, my own self-respect, and the self-respect of the men whom I represent upon this floor. Although I do not mean to justify the course pursued by members on this side of the House, yet I think the course pursued by them was, under the circumstances, not improper. Still I do not wish to remain in constructive contempt of this House. I should be very sorry to take a position of that sort.

But I believe that the bill which is now under consideration is in utter contempt of the public sentiment of this Commonwealth, and that will sufficiently answer my purpose and the purpose of my constituents.

I ask, therefore, to record my vote.

His name being called, Mr. JONES voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. KURTZ.

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say I have no disrespect for this House, nor contempt for the presiding officer. I considered that my rights as a representative here were willfully trampled upon, and I am free to say here, under that impression, if the Speaker pro tempore still occupied the Chair that my conduct would still continue.

I desire to record my vote.
His name being called, Mr. KURTZ voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. LONG.
Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to state one fact in reference to the course which I pursued, and that is this: On the bill the previous question having been called by the gentleman from Philadelphia, and on the sustaining that previous question, the vote having been taken, the yeas were 45—not a majority of the House voting. Immediately after the vote was taken the gentleman from Fayette moved that this House do now adjourn. The Speaker failed to recognize the gentleman.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is mistaken; I did recognize him and decided the motion to be out of order.

Mr. LONG. Deeming it unfair to this side of the House I refused to vote. I do not intend any disrespect to the present Speaker of this House; I, therefore, record my vote.
His name being called, Mr. LONG voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. M'HENRY.
Mr. M'HENRY. Mr. Speaker, the whole difficulty seems to have originated from a change of Speakers. I certainly have a high regard for the regular Speaker of this House. I, therefore, ask leave to record my vote.
His name being called, Mr. M'HENRY voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. RHOADS.
Mr. RHOADS. Mr. Speaker, I believe that sufficient reasons have been given on this side of the House to justify my course. I wish to record my vote.

The SPEAKER. Mr. THARP.
Mr. THARP. Mr. Speaker, I was not in the House when this question was called. I came into the House when the temporary Speaker occupied the chair. I did not know exactly the condition of the bill, and not knowing it, I felt very much inclined to be governed by the action of my friends. I intended no contempt to the House, no contempt to the present Speaker, but I did feel, while the temporary Speaker occupied the chair, that this side of the House was treated with contempt.

I ask leave to record my vote.
His name being called, Mr. THARP voted "no."

The SPEAKER. Mr. WESTBROOK.
Mr. WESTBROOK. Mr. Speaker, I do not think it is necessary for me to occupy the time of this House. This matter has been fully discussed by my friends; I therefore ask leave to record my vote.

His name being called, Mr. WESTBROOK voted "no."
Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say that I paired off with Mr. EWING on this question. I, therefore, desire to withdraw my vote.

Leave being given,
Mr. LONG withdrew his vote.

The SPEAKER. The Clerks report that they agree in their tally, and on the question, Shall the main question be now put? The yeas are 50, nays 13; so it is agreed to.

The question recurring on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JOSEPHS and Mr. GREGORY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Dandwick, Chase, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Epp, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Harrison, Hoffman, Humphrey, Krebs, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Canant, M'Creary, M'Kee, M'Pherin, Mann, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Roath, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Watt, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wharton, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—52.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kline, Koon, Kutz, Linton, M'Henry, Mash, Markley, Mullin, Orquley, Rhoads, Robinson, Satterthwait, Tharp and Westbrook—7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The SPEAKER cleared his table of bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Senate bill No. 770, an act to provide for the continuance of the education and maintenance of the destitute orphans of the deceased soldiers and sailors, and the destitute children of permanently disabled soldiers and sailors of the State.

Referred to the Committee on Education.
Senate bill No. 991, joint resolution authorizing the appointment of a special agent to collect disallowed and suspended claims against the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

Also, following bills, returned from the Senate with amendments:

No. 248, an act to enlarge the jurisdiction of the courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth relative to granting charters of incorporations and confirming those heretofore granted.

No. 556, an act relating to hawkers and peddlers of ragdy-made clothing in the county of Greene.

No. 528, an act regulating the granting of licenses to eating houses and taverns in the city of Allegheny, and enforcing order therein.

The amendments made by the Senate to said bills were twice read, considered and concurred in; and Ordered, that the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

On motion of Mr. DEHAVEN, the House proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 562, an act relating to coroners in the city of Philadelphia.

The bill was read.
Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment, to come in after the words "shall be sudden," first section—

Provided, That such sudden death be after an illness of less than twenty-four hours, and that no regular practicing physicians shall be in the attendance within said time, or have been in such circumstances shall render the same necessary, which said suspicion shall first be sworn to by one or more citizens of said city.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I accept the amendment.

The House dispensed with going into committee of the whole.

The question being on the original amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia,

It was
Agreed to.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment, to come in after the first section:

Provided further, That the number of oaths so administered and chargeable to said city shall not exceed the number of eight in each case of inquest.

The House dispensed with going into committee of the whole.

The amendment was
Agreed to.

The question recurring on the bill as amended,

It was
Agreed to.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

By Mr. DONOHUGH:
No. 1382, joint resolution, instructing our Senators, and requesting our Representatives in Congress, to use their influence for the passage of an act to equalize the bounties of soldiers, sailors and marines who enlisted in the United States service during the late rebellion.

The resolution was read and
Agreed to.
The rules being suspended, the resolution was read a second and third time, and
Passed finally.

By Mr. GALLAGHER:
Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor be requested to return to the House for amendment, House bill No. 587, entitled An act to incorporate the Greenburg Masonic fund.

The resolution was
Agreed to.
On motion of Mr. WADDELL, the House proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 472, a supplement to an act incorporating the Girard Electrical insurance company, approved March 2, 1866.

The question was on concurring in the Senate amendment.

The amendment was Concurred in.
Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to make a statement.

Leave was granted.
Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, about a month ago I presented to the House a bill which was afterwards numbered 684, relating to the German Reformed congregation of the city of Reading.

This bill, upon second reading, was recommended. It has since been reported to this House with amendments. As it is in a position in which it may not be reached for a long time, I ask that the House will suspend the rules in order to proceed to the consideration of the bill, so far as to place it upon third reading. I have no interest in the passage or defeat of the bill; I am perfectly indifferent as to what may be the result.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I regret that I shall be compelled to take a different view from that of my esteemed friend from Berks.

Some of my constituents are interested in that bill. I hope it will ever pass this House; therefore, I hope the rules will not be suspended. It seems to me that it affects so many persons throughout the State that it should not be considered, especially at this hour of the night. Constituents of mine, whose parents and grand parents are buried in that grave yard, desire that their remains may rest undisturbed.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I regret very much to be compelled to ask the question which I do. I do so because the gentleman from Berks [Mr. JONES] makes a motion here, and I conceive he has not yet purged himself from the contempt in which he was placed before this House. Gentlemen upon his side have insulted this House and the Chair this entire session, and continue to insult it under the indulgence given by the Chair. They insulted the Speaker of this House, as it seems to me, grossly and outrageously, and I cannot permit the opportunity.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if the gentleman from Potter is in order.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to inquire whether the member from Berks has purged himself from the contempt into which he was placed by his action this evening. If he has not purged himself of that contempt, he has no right to make this motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that

GEO. BERGNER.

The gentleman from Berks, with other gentlemen, did purge himself of contempt by re-creating his vote.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Potter has any charge to make against a member whom he says is now in contempt of the House, I would have him make his charges and bring them fairly before us.

Mr. MANN. Whether the Chair or the House is to determine the settling of the matter of contempt is a question. I submit that this House is to determine whether these gentlemen have purged themselves or not.

Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman to order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is clearly of the opinion that when the gentlemen who were in contempt recorded their votes as their names were called they then purged themselves of that contempt.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I submit they did not do so, but they rose in their seats and insulted the Speaker of this House.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman to order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state that, in his opinion, when gentlemen made remarks reflecting upon the temporary Speaker of the House, they were not in order. The Chair is clearly of opinion that the gentlemen have purged themselves of contempt, and unless the gentleman from Potter appeals from the decision of the Chair, he is not in order.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker—

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman from Potter to order. He is not, discussing the question before the House. The Speaker has decided it.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I suppose we have a right to say something on this question. The other gentlemen have talked away a whole session.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, what is the question?

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the motion of the gentleman from Berks to proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 584.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order, that the gentleman from Berks, being in contempt of this House, has no right to make a motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has decided that the point of order is not well taken.

Mr. MANN. Upon that decision I take an appeal.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will write out his appeal and submit it.

After some time, the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANY] said that he should have made the motion at an earlier stage of the proceedings; that having allowed so much time to elapse he would not probably be able to technically sustain his position.

He, therefore, withdrew the appeal.
The SPEAKER. The question recurs on the motion of the gentleman from Berks that the House proceed to the consideration of House bill No. 584.

On second reading.
Mr. ADAIRE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was subsequently withdrawn.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, I renew the motion.

The motion was

Agreed to.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Senate bill No. 770, an act to provide for the continuance of the education and maintenance of the destitute orphans of the deceased soldiers and sailors, and the destitute children of permanently disabled soldiers and sailors of the State.

Senate bill No. 891, joint resolution authorizing the appointment of a special agent to collect disallowed and suspended claims against the United States.

He also returned bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 248, an act to enlarge the jurisdiction of the courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth, relative to granting charters of incorporations and confirming those heretofore granted.

No. 266, an act relating to hawkers and peddlers of ready-made clothing in the county of Greene.

With information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

He also returned bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 1348, an act to fix the time of the commencement of the June term of the several courts of Beaver county.

With information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 528, an act regulating the granting of licenses to eating houses and taverns in the county of Allegheny, and enforcing order therein.

With information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER thereupon adjourned the House until to-morrow (Tuesday) morning at 10 o'clock.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, MARCH 19, 1867.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate re-assembled at 3 o'clock, P. M.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE M. E. CONFERENCE.

The SPEAKER laid before the Senate the resolutions of the Philadelphia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which were read as follows:

SEAT OF THE PHILADELPHIA ANNUAL CONFERENCE M. E. CHURCH, LOCUST STREET M. E. CHURCH, HARRISBURG, March 19, 1867.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By direction of the body herein mentioned, we are authorized to forward the following communication, embracing the action of the Philadelphia Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, in its morning session of this date, to his Excellency, the Governor, and the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. S. L. GRACEY, One of the Secretaries of the Philadelphia Annual Conference.

Report of the Committee on the Sabbath:

Your committee beg leave to report, That the Christian Sabbath, is by the acknowledged verdict of the evangelical Christian world—a verdict founded on the teachings of the Holy Scriptures—a necessity, alike for the physical, intellectual, and religious welfare of men. It is moreover observed not by the authority of human opinion, which is variable, but in accordance with express Divine law and inspired example; which law enjoins that the Sabbath of the Lord be kept holy by all men and through all time, inasmuch as it was made for man, to secure the well being of man in time and eternity; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Philadelphia Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church:

First. That so far as our influence extends we will never cease to contend boldly for the glory of God, the majesty and authority of His law concerning the holy Sabbath.

Second. That in charity to all and malice to none, we do hereby pledge ourselves to oppose, without compromise and without ceasing, all men, whether in high or low places, who, by assailing the sanctity of the Christian Sabbath, assail Christianity in the very eye.

Third. That we regard the proposed running of the street cars in the city of Philadelphia as a clear violation of the sanctity of the Sabbath day, and as an infringement of the rights of the poor laboring men employed in the running of said cars. God having distinctly enjoined one day in seven as a day of rest for man and beast.

Fourth. That we respectfully and urgently request the members of the Legislature, and the Governor of this and other States within the bounds of this annual conference, to refuse all legislative and executive action which would oppose human enactment to the express law of God; reminding them most solemnly that Divine laws cannot be repealed with impunity by human legislation, even if such legislation be sanctioned by vast majorities of men.

VEVO MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor, returned with his objections bill, No. 246, entitled An act to incorporate the Marine Hospital of Pennsylvania, in the county of Erie, to fix location of hospital in Erie city, and to grant real estate to said hospital,

Which was read as follows:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

HARRISBURG, March 14, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—Herewith is returned, without my approval, Senate bill No. 246, entitled An act to incorporate the Marine Hospital of Pennsylvania, in the county of Erie, to fix location of hospital in Erie city, and to grant real estate to said hospital.

By the thirteenth and fourteenth sections of this bill certain property of the State on the shore of Lake Erie, and in or near the city of Erie, is donated to the hospital proposed to be incorporated. Without reserving any right of alternate reversion to the Commonwealth in any contingency, the second section declares that the said corporation shall have the right to "grant, bargain, sell, convey, * * * or dispose of, for the use and benefit of the said corporation," * * * any lands, tenements, goods and chattels of whatever kind, nature or quality, real, mixed, or personal, which are now, or shall or may at any time hereafter become the property of the said corporation or body politic, by purchase, gift, grant, bargain, sale or otherwise.

The property proposed to be donated by the State is imperfectly described in the bill that no correct idea of its quantity or value can be had from a mere perusal of the act. From the best information I have on the subject, the quantity of land is some fifty acres or upwards on the shore and harbor of the lake, and extending on the water front one thousand feet into the lake. It is represented to me, and with much show of probability, that this property is of great value, present and prospective, and as the bill seems so loosely passed as that the whole title of the Commonwealth to the premises may be taken away and ultimately transferred to third parties, without any equivalent, I do not feel justified, as at present advised, in approving the bill. The creation of a hospital is a most worthy object, and I regret the necessity which places me in an apparent antagonism to it, but regard for what appears to be my duty as guardian of the public interests leaves me no alternative.

JNO. W. GEARY.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH.

The SPEAKER laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, HARRISBURG, PA.,
March 19, 1867.

To the Speaker of the Senate:

The bill (No. 507, Senate) entitled An act relative to the courts of Lehigh county, referred to in the joint resolution of this date, was approved by the Governor on the 16th instant, and messaged over this day.

J. JORDAN,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 818, an act for the relief of David Andrews, late recorder of Chester county, for moneys over paid by him to the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

No. 819, an act to amend the marriage contracts of William Gray and Lucinda Campbell Gray, late Lucinda Campbell.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

No. 1282, joint resolutions instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress to use their influence for the passage of an act equalizing the bounties of soldiers, sailors and marines who enlisted in the service of the United States during the late rebellion.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

He also informed that the House of Representatives has concurred in the resolution from the Senate relative to the recalling from the Governor Senate bill No. 507, entitled An act relative to the courts of Lehigh county.

He also returned bills from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 586, an act to incorporate the Union Iron mills.

No. 650, an act to incorporate the Superior Iron company.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendments.

He also returned bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 29, a further supplement to an act entitled An act for the better security of the city of Philadelphia from dangers incident to the refining or improper and negligent storage of petroleum, benzine or naphtha, approved March 24, A. D. 1865, construing the same.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

On motion of Mr. DONOVAN, said amendments were twice read and Concurred in.

SUNDAY CAR TRAVEL.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resolved itself into committee of the whole (Mr. WORTHINGTON in the chair) on bill entitled An act to ascertain the views of the qualified electors of the city and county of Philadelphia, upon the subject of allowing the passenger railway companies of said city to run their cars on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday.

The question being on the first section,

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, in all the contests in by-gone years, upon the Sabbath question, I have taken no part other than to vote no. The subject I thought was of that character that would fetch down upon me the ridicule of the press on the shores of the lake. All that feeling I have laid aside. I drew my sword and throw away my scabbard one month ago to-morrow, and I now propose to speak, without fear, for Man, for God, for Adam, for Moses, for Cromwell, for Penn, for Pennsylvania, and for a minority of Christian citizens of Philadelphia, who have no immediate representative on this question who will speak for them.

The first great object of all human governments should be to protect the weak, to protect the minority of loyal men, against a majority of men disloyal to God—and to save Christians in Philadelphia from the practical evil of Sabbath-breaking, to save Christian men everywhere from the mortification of witnessing Senators get down upon their knees at the bidding of Sabbath-breakers. Under the law as it now stands, if men violate the law, they stand by its consequences, and suffer by the law they have violated. This bill rolls the consequences of illegal acts first upon us, and then upon the people, for the ruin of themselves, and the debauchery of mankind. The church-going people of Philadelphia are justly excited upon this question. Like all sinners, they have brought death to their own doors in consequence of not enforcing their own divine and our local laws.

By the local laws of Pennsylvania the black man is given the equal right of locomotion on equal terms with the white man. Philadelphia churches, as a whole, saw rum-sellers and negro-baters put their divine law and our local law at shameful defiance, and they were not content with that satisfied.

In the six years of contest in the Legislature to compel corporations to extend to colored people the right of transportation for their bodies and for their goods, Philadelphia Christians were almost indignant. The bill which I reported six years ago to give poor colored mothers the right to ride in the cars without first being under the necessity of borrowing a white baby, having previously passed the Senate, thank God, finally passed the other branch of the Legislature last night at high twelve. The biasing of snakes last night in the House of Representatives, during their struggle to keep the negro under, was horrible; and the light from the ivory upon the part of those who will not have their highway to immortality broken up, was a light to the feet of John Brown's soul as it goes marching on.

The Christian church-goers of Philadelphia are the last people in all the land who should refuse to humanity its God given rights, and yet they are the last to acknowledge to man his manhood and to woman her womanhood. Philadelphia Christians will stand in the pinyon of man, retaining the black soldier to walk to Heaven on eagle's leg, while they ride thitherward in cars and carriages. Yet the one legged soldier will reach there first, and I had rather take my chance by a passage on his back than in the bosom of any church that outlaws humanity for the prejudice of color. In all my contests here to ameliorate the condition of the colored people of Philadelphia, I have found in the Christian church of that city some earnest men and radical women, but a majority silent as the grave, and a cold, selfish, and unfeeling majority of them indifferent to the majestic progress of the time, and unwilling to trample under foot their unchristian disposition toward four millions of suffering humanity, borne from bondage to freedom in a day, and released from the chains which His own blood had melted from their limbs. Such Christians are a stumbling block to plunge such men as I am into hell, and are as "sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal." Earnest public men have gone through hell upon earth in consequence of the unchristian conduct of the unreconstructed Christians of Philadelphia on the great moral questions from whose obligations they shrink.

But I have passed through dry-wood and unburned, and stand up in the Senate to day, speaking for the cause of Jesus. Had cowardice tarried me longer on the way, I should have said in my heart, like the fool, "there is no God," and, like the fool, would have perished. I will take my place, like a sun-burned mariner, in man's life-boat, in the midst of an unknown sea, with my back towards the prow, and my face turned in faith to God, our helmsman; and though its cause may seem in despair, yet I stand up for the Sabbath. I will not vote for this bill, because it is brought here by a four year old corporation, which has no soul that can suffer and no guarantee of life after it has destroyed the Christian Sabbath. I will vote against this bill, because it is a side-blow at religion, a side-blow at the ministers of religion, a side-blow at the observance of religion, and a side-blow at the devil's sledge on the devil's chisel, to cut out the letters written by the finger of God on the keystone of the Ten Commandments. "The constitution of Heaven, the organic law for man's government, the fundamental principles of all truth, the code of the law of laws," shall not be erased by my vote; and I would be a coward and a dog did I place myself individually upon the shoulders of an unthinking, unwashed, ungodly mass in Philadelphia that I dare not assume myself.

"The Union passenger railroad company" have gotten enough from this Legislature. Six days in the week she blocks up, by our votes, the highways upon earth, and now she comes here, demanding that we let them use the debauched in a debauched city to block up the only straight and narrow path to heaven.

Governments, State or nation, have no right to interfere with the conscience of man; and I know of no friends of the Sabbath who contend for this principle, but they do contend "that it is the right and the duty of all governments to protect society."

Take higher ground than the plea for the individual protection of timid and nervous old age, fearful of the rattle of the cars, the clank of the horses, the shriek of the engine, the curses of the driver, and the songs of the infidel, disturbing, with irreverence and sacrilege, the meditations of these venerable fathers and mothers in Israel. It is not for the protection of these, worthy as they are, that I would plead; but for society at large; for mankind, whether good or bad, that the good may receive protection, and the bad be turned from the doing of evil. In all ages and in all the Christian world, as under the Mosaic dispensation, the observance of one day in seven has ever been acknowledged as the most essential of all moral and religious agencies in promotion of a nation or exaltation of a man; as it is the most marked and distinctive acknowledgment of the creature to the Creator—of man to God.

Who is it that asks us to vote for this bill, which has in its aims wealth for a corporation and poverty for the people? Which are the most charitable to the poor—those who vote for this legislation be given them, or those who protest against it? All agree on rules which have exceptions. I speak for the rule, not the exception. Are those who ask for this bill, as a rule, not scuffers? Are they not legislative lobbyists? Are they not infidels? Are they not the young men who desire to turn the Sabbath into a day of feasting, dancing and revelry? Are they not the red nosed rum-sellers—the keepers of the very parlious of vice? Are they not those who love their beer better than their Bible, keepers of fast horses and fast women? And here let me, by way of parenthesis, remark that I have read recent work of that pure divine and ripe old apostle, Dr. Junkin, of Philadelphia, upon this Sunday car question with great benefit, and I advise Senators, who have any disposition to vote for this bill, to consult that work. It is full of wisdom; it exhausts the whole subject and must carry conviction against this bill in every unprejudiced mind. Read it.

This bill will require you to double your police force on the Sabbath; it will throw your Mayor's court on Monday morning; it will fill your almshouses with starving children through the week; it will decrease your Sabbath schools and increase your prisons; it will open the road to vice and fill the highway with its votaries. Shall we protect the Marys and Marthas of Philadelphia, or shall the stone have been rolled from the sepulchre in vain? Out upon the shallow pretense that this bill is for the benefit of those who wish to break their places of worship on the Sabbath. Should it become a law, the Sabbath reproachers for whose benefit this bill is alleged to be, will ride in the same cars, look in the same glass, drink from the same mug with liquor dealers, with murderers, with criminals, with the paupers of sin, with negro haters and shoulder-biters, with harlots and horse thieves, with lottery gamblers and dog-dile horers, and instead of a car to Heaven be a highway to hell. This bill will, if it becomes a law, fill the father's heart with sorrow and the mother's eyes with tears.

Is the wisdom of those who ask us to stretch our institutions to give us a law greater than the wisdom of God, of Moses, of Solomon, of Penn—greater than the wisdom of experience, the wisdom of the Christian world? Are Senators who advocate this bill wiser and better than three hundred disciples of Jesus Christ and John Wesley, now present, and whose hearts are upon their knees before God that your souls may arise to the importance of this great question? You have no more right, and it is fully as impolitic, to give the roughs of Philadelphia the right to repeal the observance of the fourth commandment, as you have to give them authority to chisel out, with rude hands, from Christ's Rock all of the ten. The commandments of God are "distinct as the waves and one as the sea." Strike down the fourth commandment, and the whole decalogue will fall. Strike down the fourth commandment, and you break the king-bolt of heaven's chariot, and undermine the moral and physical well being of man. For upon this truth all things rest, that "righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

Let God that created the poor, and the Redeemer who saved them, and who never sent any of his children away hungry and thirsty, bade us keep holy his Sabbath day, and to him who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb we must look for precept and for guidance, rather than to those who have no conscience. Will you tell me, Senators, that those who ask for the passage of this bill have a deeper sympathy for the poor, in whose name it is brought here, than the God who created them and who gave his Son, born of the poor and lowly, and who suffered the agony of the cross, to save them, and who never sent any of his children away hungry and thirsty, is not in the street cars, leading to the ball alley and the dance house, and freighted with the votaries of sin; but on foot, and in the pure air of heaven, leading his little ones in the quiet of the Christian Sabbath to the Sabbath school and to his church, guided by the example and precept of his Savior, visiting in mercy the house of the widow and the fatherless, and comforting the sick child's bedside. The man who leaves the bosom of his family on the day of rest, and takes the street car for his pleasure and recreation is an unnatural and unfeeling stranger to his household—while he who habitually takes his wife, his sons and his daughters with him in cars on that day, is an enemy to society for polluting the purity of his own association. He debauches his own wife. The whole family who practice these Sabbath excursions, with their parents, is not only with them on the way to the beer house, but the poor house, the work house, the house of ill-fame a divided house, a house of shame, a house of horror to no house of their own, and will soon reach the garret of the devil's kitchen, and in the end take up their final abode in the house of hell.

"Resistance to tyranny is obedience to God," and I will resist, as best I can, the revolution of a fundamental principle which underlies the whole stratum of society. The bill has passed the other branch of this Legislature, and I now appeal to the country members of the Senate to turn back the wrong which the members from Philadelphia propose to heap upon the fair name of this body, and the moral and social suicide to which they are hurrying the people of that great city. The Senators from Philadelphia may point to this deacon and that clergyman, with a slipshod conscience or a badly located church, and tell us that they are in favor of this bill. Away with such dissemblers, who, on such a plea, support a measure that compels the Christian people of that city to surrender their Sabbath for the benefit of brothel-keepers. On the tablet of stone no penalty is inscribed for the violation of the commandments, yet there they are as the immutable words of God, "yea and amen, forever." How nearly we lost our Government because we disobeyed the law and the prophets, and human ingenuity can no more devise a way to reconstruct and maintain this Government without building on the commandments, than I could stand half way up our air between the dome and the floor of the capitol upon my own arm pits.

But to return. The penalty was left for man to fix, as the changing circumstances of man might require. The commandments are themselves organic; they are fundamental; they are the reconstruction and resurrection of man, written by God's finger on an imperishable record. The individual who disobeys them will fall upon a rock, and the State that disregards them, a rock will fall upon it that will grind it to powder.

Human legislation has opened the bosom of faith and obedience, and fixes the penalty for the violation of the law of the Sabbath, which is the keystone rock of the decalogue; and men like myself, who have situated themselves to no church, are as deeply interested in the observance of the divine commandments as those who break the bread of the sacrament. He alone is the safe statesman and wise man, who, in all things, most fully recognizes the truth, the power, the grace and the covenants of God.

Such a legislator, under all circumstances, will set himself in the ship of State, with his back turned towards Voltaire, his face to Cromwell, and his eye fixed on the Star of Bethlehem. The Sabbath has outlived the axe, and that corporation, in swaddling clothes, make us deny the divinity of our manhood and slay a master as old as Adam, and that, too, under the hypocrisy that the god of the Republican party requires it? Of the religious community of Philadelphia, only twelve thousand, it is true, come here and hold up their hands in supplication, and three hundred ministers of the gospel are here also holding up theirs. They are in a helpless minority.

They are penitent for their anarchical conduct to a race which they have been more unjust to than has any other Christian people. These church men of all the churches are about to be robbed of their Sabbath by men disloyal to manhood and rebels to God.

Senators, let us help them. The House of Representatives, in consequence of the shocking sins of Philadelphians towards their brothers, has turned its back upon them. Save them, save them, Senators, and their children, and the lambs of the Sabbath school, whom Christ loved so well, will rise up and bless you. The ten commandments are the common law of the country, recognized as sack by the highest judicial authority of the nation, and the fourth commandment, that closed the first table of the law, was re-written by Penn as an indispensable necessity to man, and whose legality, I believe, has never been seriously questioned by any one except the Union passenger railway company.

The Republic, however, we are told, will not send members to the Legislature again from Philadelphia, unless we pass this bill. The foundations of the Republican party stand upon the eternal truths of God; its moral character is its blood; its Christian principles are its spinal column. Repeal the fourth commandment, and you break its back and strike paralysis through every limb.

God can have no attributes with the political party who oppose us. Democracy to-day is a bundle of hates; hates toward justice and violent hates towards the hero of the workmanship of a Creator's hand. There is no life sustaining principle in hate. The human heart of man, who carries in his bosom perpetual hate, carries about with him a burning hell upon legs. The hates of a true man should be sanctified by a night's sleep, and if a noon day's nap will not modify hate, its possessor is in danger. A party who has nothing but hate to stand upon, has a weaker corner-stone than slavery. Hate and the beast will perish together. Hate is an unhappy life, an untimely death, and an early hell. Love and justice has everlasting life. The party that builds upon them and the law of Moses, and who puts all else behind them, will bury the party of hate with its face downward in an early grave.

When the devil makes a square, open fight, a stand-up fight, I rather admire him. His contests heretofore in this chamber on this subject have been of a bold character, and so long as it was a fairly fought contest, whilst I dare not vote for him, I did not abuse him.

The old fellow is back again upon us in new clothes, his face covered with the veil of deception. Had the devil asked us respectfully for one day in seven of his own, and that not the Lord's day, I would have taken his petition into respectful consideration. Mephistopheles says he has become pious; but, old hypocrite, I will tear your veil from your face and your disguise from your body. The devil has cut his hair and shaved his face, and comes into the Senate chamber and says that he is a christian of great respectability, and coolly proposes to enter into this partnership with the Lord for purely christian and benevolent purposes—the whole profits of which is to go into the pockets of a corporation, with the Senator from Philadelphia for its treasurer—and promises to carry passengers to heaven and to hell at the rate of seven cents each; and, further, he promises that the negro may ride with them in the same cars at the same price.

As a friend of the negro, had I no love for the Lord, I would protest against such abomination.

Upon taking my seat in the Senate, I spoke first for the colored man. I believed then, as I do now, that their holy trust and simple faith in God would save them and save us; and I was mobbed and libeled at home and here characterized daily, and was pronounced in this Chamber a murderer, because early in 1861 I proposed confiscation of the rebel masters' property and the front of battle for the slave. I, therefore, have a right to speak for this most religious and loyal of mankind, and in their name I protest against this negotiation going any further. I do not speak for the Lord on this local branch of the case, but leave that for the Senator from Lawrence [Mr. BROWN]. It is as peculiarly in his line as the negro is in mine. You cannot have a free country without the vote of the negro, and those who stand in the way of his advancement will be ground to powder.

But to return, the devil says to Senators that he wears the same boots, looks well in the same glass, rides to church in the same car with the Lord and the negro, and that he is so much of a Democrat that he does not desire the partnership if not baptized by the votes of the people. Most respectfully would I remind the devil that the baptizing by the votes of the people in Philadelphia may be all well enough for him, but bad for humanity.

This thing of voting, as well as this thing of speaking, is food for reflecting minds—and this bill to require morality and the commandments to be voted up or voted down in Philadelphia is as novel as it is dangerous. In China one man votes for one hundred millions. In Russia one man takes the ballot in his hand and votes for all the people. In Paris one man takes the ballot box in his hand and shakes his head at Europe and votes, and France shouts "long live Napoleon."

In England the wealthy taxpayers and the landed nobility speak softly to Queen Victoria, and she votes for England, Ireland, Scotland, Canada and the islands of the sea, and all shout "God save the Queen," except poor, down-trodden Ireland. In a small, badly ventilated room in Willing's avenue, in Philadelphia, sits the man in black, who votes by the light of the Puller Moon, by telegraph, for Pennsylvania. He never misses a vote, and never votes in a minority, and is always able to give an unanswerable argument for his vote, and is alike liberal to both political parties, not only before but after elections. "Selah!" In the interior of this State reside two men, comparative strangers on our soil; the one too youthful and both too cowardly to enter the war, but through whose mouths ten thousand loyal men in thousands of wounded soldiers are his-spoken for; these men do all the speaking, yet they never told the truth for the truth's sake, and will, on this very question, in all probability, deny the Lord to slander man.

If a barrel of whisky and the Ten Commandments were running to-day for the office of reconstruction in Philadelphia, whisky would be elected by more than two to one. I for one will not help harness up the Lord between shafts with the devil in the lead before the street cars in Philadelphia. The argument that the Sabbath is peculiar and binding only to the Jews is unworthy of Senators. Respectable men ought nowhere to be so illegal as to say that sin, absolutely forbidden in any one of the Ten Commandments, is not sinful. "Thou shalt not kill"—is this binding only on the Jews? "Thou shalt not commit adultery"—does this apply only to the circumcised? "Thou shalt not steal"—does this commandment forbid only the Isaacs and Jacobs and Abrahams from committing larceny? Or is it a divine commandment, in full force alike binding to those who steal railroads and those who steal rags, to those who steal millions, and those who steal spoons?

"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." I represent one hundred thousand souls. I have but two constituents who believe this divine injunction to be a dead commandment. Ninety and nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-eight believe this commandment devoutly.

"Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, nor his wife, nor his man-servant, nor his maid, nor his ass." Was this injunction put in the world with the dead ass, in the grave? Is it divine only in a dead Jew to honor his father and mother, and can only those who slew Jesus claim the promises of God for parental reverence?

Out upon such Christians as those who content for a delusion which, when carried out to its sequence, leads them into such absurdities. God's divine, fundamental constitution will remain unalterable; there must be penalties attached to its violation sufficient to make unregenerate man respect them. Repeal the law of Penn and you violate the law of God. Repeal the law of Moses and fallen man is left without a "bow in the clouds."

Senators! you cannot get rid of your own moral responsibility by handing over in chains the good element of a great city to the bad elements of violence and crime. Let us not shift our own religious responsibility to the shoulders of unbelievers. If we believe we shall meet beyond the tomb, do not let those who have fallen, through their crime, shout the Sabbath from us. If we are atheists, then let men and horses live out their natural lives, and be buried in the same graves. Call this horror of a nation of Sabbath-breakers superstition if you please—if it is superstition, then superstition is divinity. The power of God is stronger than the limbs of man, yet His divine wisdom taught the world, through Adam, that they, together, would cease from worldly employment and rest upon the Sabbath day.

The pagans of antiquity found the rest from labor a necessity of human nature—take the Sabbath from man and you take from him the divine music of his heart, and the desert of his soul will never break forth with streams of living water.

Where would our people have stood to-day if, at the close of the Revolution, we should have constructed this Government upon the passions and prejudices of man, and founded it upon infidelity? But we chose the Rock inscribed with the Ten Commandments, and when we violated them in the South and wickedly and commercially practiced sin in the North, we were plunged as the war horse in the blood of our children, poured out by an angry God as a sacrifice for our sin.

"Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord." After an experience of sixty centuries—after a bloody experience of five years of civil war, brought upon ourselves because we disregarded the commandments of God, dare we pass this bill before the blood of our children ceases smoking on the rocks of Gettysburg? Again I say, were I a deist, and believed man to have the soul only of the brute, then I would also oppose the passage of this bill.

Human machinery, whether born of a woman or manufactured by man, must have regular hours and well defined days of rest; otherwise, half the value that is in them will never be got out of them. Drive eyes, or ears, or brains, or horses, or engines continually ahead, and you make them die the death of the suicide before they have lived out half their days.

Let us enter this infernal wedge of inhumanity into the horse and driver of Sabbath car labor, and the devil and humanity would join hands in holy horror against compelling the poor horse and his driver to walk barefooted upon paving stones upon the Sabbath day. He must be shod, and the road and the cars must be kept in repair on the Sabbath. You give Paine and his Age of Reason a stronger text to preach the equality of man and of horses, of car drivers and of wheelbarrow drivers; and "Common Sense," and the rights of man, will be plausibly plead and cannot be resisted. Pass this bill, and an Anti-Sabbath law will be written in the Rubicon. The thimble will be in the bones of this monster is infidelity. Its wood and twist is revolution and the belly of its unhealthy body is filled with revolutionary gunpowder.

Conservatism always was a coward; it always was in the interest of capital. Conservatism at one time was a respectable old gentleman. To save capital, he has slain five hundred thousand men. Thank God he is dead! Putrefaction and separation have taken place. He has been in his grave more years than Lazarus was days, and the whip of his taskmaster will never awaken him to glory again. Radical men, radical measures, radically right, are the only grounds on which men can stand. True radicalism will revolutionize the world, free Ireland, save mankind, unite all the churches, with the Ten Commandments for their centre, for the kingdom of conscience is at hand, and the kingdom of cowardly conservatism is one of the kingdoms of the past.

[Remarks were also made by Messrs. BROWN (Lawrence), RIDGWAY, McCANDLESS, DAVIS and LANDON, which will appear in the Record Appendix.]

No. 675, a supplement to an act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Government, and other general and specific appropriations, approved April 11th, 1866, relative to the Keystone State normal school. With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendments.

He also returned bills from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 601, an act to authorize the school directors of Marshall township, Allegheny county, to apply the surplus of bounty tax in their hands to school purposes.

No. 603, an act to enable the board of directors of common schools of Benton township, Luzerne county, to apply surplus of bounty fund to common school purposes.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate was requested.

On motion of Mr. GRAHAM, said amendments were twice read and Concurred in.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives also returned bill No. 45, a supplement to an act approved 9th day of February, 1849, entitled A supplement to an act entitled An act to incorporate the Lykens Valley coal company, in Dauphin county, Pennsylvania, and authorizing the opening of a road in Honesdale, Wayne county, authorizing them to dispose of the stock of said company,

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Said amendments were read the first time. *The Clerk of the House of Representatives also informed that the House of Representatives insists on its amendments, non-concurrence in by the Senate, to bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows :

Nc. 562, an act relating to the coroner of the city and county of Philadelphia. Said amendments having been again read, Mr. CONNELL moved that the Senate recede from its non-concurrence in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to said bill.

The motion was Agreed to. The Clerk of the House of Representatives also informed that the House of Representatives recedes from its amendments, non-concurrence in by the Senate, to bill from the Senate, No. 826, entitled An act to prevent and punish prize fighting.

He also returned bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz :

No. 659, an act to incorporate the Downingtown gas and water company.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Said amendments were read the first time.

On motion of Mr. WORTHINGTON, the Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of said amendments.

And on the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

A motion was made by Mr. WORTHINGTON to amend the same by striking out of the manuscript proviso the words "the demand for gas and," and striking out the word "three" and by inserting in lieu thereof the word "five."

The motion was

Agreed to.

The amendment as amended was then

Concurred in.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to make a statement.

Leave was granted.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. The lateness of the session demands that I should call the attention of the Senate to House bill No. 508, entitled A supplement to an act to incorporate the borough of Columbia. It is a bill which may involve hundreds of thousands of dollars to my constituents. I am appealed to by the taxpayers in general. The board of commissioners of Lancaster county are here now with their solicitor; they have been here before; this bill has passed the House, and has been messaged over to this body and referred to the Local Judiciary, of which my colleague is a member.

I have made several ineffectual attempts to get that committee to report the bill one way or the other in order that we may pass upon its merits. From what little experience I have had in legislation, it is my understanding that any bill referred to a standing committee should, some day or other, be reported either with an affirmative or negative recommendation, according to its merits.

It is impossible for me to get at the bill in any manner. In order to relieve myself from any further responsibility in the matter, I shall ask the permission of this body to discharge the committee, and proceed to the consideration of this bill. Unless we act upon it very shortly, it will be of no value to my constituents, or to the county. I therefore move that the Committee on Local Ju-diatory be discharged from the further consideration of this bill.

The SPEAKER stated that Senators are desired to adhere to the rules to-day.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. I am aware of that and shall yield. But, sir, I demand of that committee to explain why we cannot have a bill reported within a reasonable time. I deny the right of any committee to withhold a bill from this body because a certain member thereof is opposed to it. I shall withdraw my motion for the present.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the following message from the Governor in writing :

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 20, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

ENTLEMEN—The act entitled "An act to repeal an act entitled A further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania railroad company, authorizing an increase of capital stock and to borrow money, approved the twenty-first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty six, to authorize the Pennsylvania railroad company to increase its capital stock, to issue bonds, and to secure the same by mortgages," has received that careful consideration from me which the importance of the subject seemed to demand, and, notwithstanding the high respect I entertain for the two branches of the Legislature, and the extreme reluctance I have at any time to differ with them, I am induced, by my convictions of duty, to dissent from the propriety of the provisions of the bill, and to return it, with my objections, to the Senate, in which it originated.

Let my opinions should be misconceived and not presumed, I deem it due to myself to make a brief exposition of some of the enactments of the Legislature for the benefit of the Pennsylvania railroad company since the original act for its incorporation, approved April 13th, 1846, so far as relates to its capital stock.

By the first section of the act of incorporation, the capital stock was fixed at seven millions five hundred thousand dollars.

The twentieth section is as follows: "That if any increase of the capital stock shall be deemed necessary, in order to complete or improve the said railroad or appurtenances, it shall be lawful for the stockholders of said company, at any annual meeting, or at any special meeting convened for that purpose, in manner as aforesaid, to increase and dispose of any additional number of shares, not exceeding fifty thousand, so that the whole amount of said capital stock shall not exceed ten millions of dollars, and receive and demand the moneys for the additional shares, in like manner, subject to the same conditions heretofore provided for the original subscriptions, or shall be provided for in the by-laws of said company."

The manner prescribed for the increase and disposition of the stock in the foregoing section is certainly most unexceptionable, it being under the direction of the stockholders, and not at the option of the directors as is provided in the bill under consideration, and which is deemed objectionable.

The twenty-second section imposed a tonnage tax as one of the conditions upon which the original charter was obtained, which has since been repealed by statute, and the accumulated tax released.

By act approved April 23d, 1852, the capital stock was increased to thirteen million dollars; May 6, 1852, to fourteen million dollars; March 23d, 1853, to eighteen million dollars; May 2d, 1855, to twenty million dollars, and March 2d, 1866, to thirty million dollars.

With all other objects on my part than to be servicable to my countrymen, to preserve and transmit unswayed the great principles and true policy of our Government, and honorably to perform the trusts, duties, obligations and responsibilities committed to my charge, I proceed in the performance of these objects as I understand them. I am sincerely friendly to all the railroads and other companies that have aided in the development of the wealth and resources of the State, and while I cheerfully accord the same sentiment to your honorable bodies, I can but regret that there should be any difference of opinion between us on the proposed enactment. And if in stating the objections I shall use expressions which may be regarded as too strong, my apology will, I trust, be found in the importance of the subject. I will state them frankly and with as much brevity as possible.

Waiving objections to the first section of the bill under consideration; and waiving also an inquiry as to the legal rights to thus authorize the change of the fundamental law of a corporation, and bind the stockholders, I proceed to the consideration of the second, which confers powers of the most extraordinary character upon the directors of the company: * * * "providing further facilities required by the increase of the business upon the road and its connections, and for such other purposes connected with the business as the board of directors of said company may deem expedient, it shall be lawful for the said board of directors, from time to time, to issue additional shares of capital stock of said company, to such amount as they may determine, and to apportion or dispose of the said shares in such manner, and upon such terms, as they may think best; and also, for either or all of the said purposes, to issue, from time to time, bonds of the said company, payable at such time as they may appear."

One of the objects of this bill is, for its further increase of the capital stock, to retire its present indebtedness, which, according to the president and directors' last annual report to the company, is upwards of twenty-six million dollars. Thus, in this way alone, increasing the stock over one hundred and thirty per centum, and makes it amount to over forty-six million dollars. But this is not all. It is further intended to increase the business facilities upon its roads and connections, and for such other purposes connected with its business as the directors may deem expedient."

Were this bill to become a law, to what amount may not the directors extend the capital stock, with such unlimited privileges? To what branches of business shall it be confined, and to what may it not be extended? And where is the power to keep it within its legitimate functions, if it should deem it proper to depart from them? Its tremendous power, in irresponsible hands, would be unlimited and uncontrollable by any other power short of revolution. It has already obtained, in the various chartered privileges, the pre-occupation of nearly every possible railroad route in Pennsylvania, with the privilege of branches and lateral roads in a large majority of the counties. As shown by official reports, it has, besides nearly eleven hundred miles of roads in Pennsylvania, its extensions to Marietta, Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio, and to Chicago, Illinois, and holds large, and, in some instances, controlling amounts of stock in the railroad companies. When such extraordinary powers are attempted to be granted for an unlimited period, I consider it palpably contrary to the spirit and intention of our institutions. - The present directors, it may be assumed, are honorable gentlemen, for they assert they have good intentions for the public interests, as well as for those of the company; but time may effect a change, and a new board that may not recognize their duty to the stockholders and to the rights and interests of the people, and forgetting their patriotism, might be found arrayed against the country when its services were required. It is not an impossible hypothesis that its capital stock might be extended to one thousand millions of dollars, or even to an amount equal to the present national indebtedness.

The whole control of the institution, and of the issue of its bonds, necessarily lie in the hands of a few directors, and not in those of the stockholders whose real interests should be represented. The facilities by which any board of directors could perpetuate power in its own hands might be an inviting temptation to monopolize or engross a sufficient number of shares of stock by purchase, and proxies from non-residents too confidently given, or perhaps by fraudulent issue, to control the vote of the stockholders. The same board might by fair means be perpetuated, or by a dexterous mixing or misrepresenting of accounts, with not much risk or responsibility on their part, might fraudulently control forever the affairs of the company. In my opinion the stockholders themselves, who, like the people in our form of government, are the true source of power, should closely examine into the responsibilities just presented if they would preserve and perpetuate their own rights within the corporation. I am not aware of any instance where a company has been destroyed by the immediate action of its stockholders, but where too much power has been placed in the hands of directors and officers, of reckless, speculative and adventurous character, the instances of failures and disgrace are almost innumerable. In all the hearings which can be taken upon this measure, in the event of the directory of the road passing into the hands of ambitious and unscrupulous men, I can see nothing but an eventual monopolization of all the railroad privileges of this State, and perhaps of the United States, and "such other purposes connected with its business as the board of directors of said company may deem expedient." They being their own judges, what might not be considered as connected with their business? May not any and almost every branch of industry—manufacturing, agricultural and commercial—be included? There is danger, too, that with such vast power, such ramifications in the business departments of the country and such unlimited capital, there might be reason to tremble for the purity and sanctity of our elections, or what is equally as bad, that our governors, legislators and other State authorities might be affected with the blandishments of its power, its offices and its wealth.

They could "make the rich richer and the poor poorer." They could, in a word, make their organization a monopoly—a term which a distinguished jurist and law-giver defines to be "that which grinds the people between the upper and nether millstone;" and its power would become so great, that should any citizen, or even an officer of the Government, attempt to restrain it within its chartered limits and proper franchises, he would be made to feel its withering influences. There is always danger in the creation of monopolies, for in proportion as they are increased are the rights of the citizen abridged. Had such a proposition been made in the early days of the Commonwealth, or even a quarter of a century ago, or when this company applied for its charter, it would have been rebuked by the people, without distinction of party, upon its first announcement.

I am not inimical to the Pennsylvania railroad company; but I am positively its friend. I honor the management for the energy displayed in the share they have taken with others in the development of our State, and am determined that it and all other corporations shall be protected and defended in all their rights, privileges and franchises already derived, or that may hereafter be derived from legislative action; but when they ask for unlimited privileges which can and may be used as engines to threaten, endanger and control the interests and perhaps the very action of the government, by the absorption of our internal improvements and every branch of industry within the State, and the holding of many thousands of our people in a dependent condition, they must be refused.

It is said that other corporations have had unlimited powers conferred upon them, and no evils have resulted. But as far as such cases have been cited, I find, upon examination, that they were, almost without exception, conferred upon the stockholders on terms, and with limitations, and not upon the directors. And if there were such, and they were known to be wrong in principle, it is one of the best and strongest reasons why the practice should be discontinued. If it is right that the Legislature should confer unlimited powers upon one institution, it has a right to multiply such corporations at its pleasure, and if they should be managed by those whose predilections and interests would be similar, the control of the Commonwealth would be irrevocably committed to their hands, and the sovereignty would depart from the people. If it is deemed necessary for the proper management of the company that its capital should be increased, let it be done as heretofore requested by them, gradually by the Legislature, just as the necessity for such increase can be clearly demonstrated, and after due notice, that it is intended to make application for such increase of capital, and then only at the request of the stockholders.

Prior to the late election, I found among the people, throughout the State, that the important question of railroads, in all its shapes and guises, could not be properly ignored. It was regarded as a matter of such paramount importance that pledges were asked of the gubernatorial candidates, and certain interrogatories addressed to them to which answers were required. One of the interrogatories addressed to myself was in these words, viz: "Will you, if elected Chief Magistrate of Pennsylvania, faithfully exert the power of your administration to defeat any and every attempt made, by legislation or otherwise, for the monopoly and control by any one corporation of the railroad policy of the State?" To which I, in good faith, replied, "that while I believe it to be improper to bring the influence of the Executive Department to bear upon the Legislature in anticipation of its action, except in the way of recommendation, I am heartily opposed to the creation of any monopoly of the railroad system of the State, or giving any artificial body, created by the law, powers which would place it above and beyond the reach of the Legislature." And in my reply I further stated, that "the spirit of monopoly in this and other matters should be discouraged in a Republican government, and I have no sympathy with any policy which may be designed for its encouragement."

And in speaking of railroad companies I further remarked, "while these corporations continue to act their part as public servants they should be carefully protected. They should not be permitted to overstep their legitimate functions. As creatures of the law, they should obey and be, in every respect, subservient to the law."

In accordance with the doctrines thus pronounced the public have rendered their verdict and expect of me a strict compliance of the pledges then given. These are not new doctrines or principles. They were fearlessly enunciated in the incipient part of the campaign, and were discussed freely by the people, by the press and by public speakers generally throughout the State. I feel that I am solemnly bound to obey these pledges, and I have no desire or intention to evade or disobey them. The people may rest satisfied and assured that neither this, nor any other pledge, given them when I was asking their suffrages, shall be violated.

That the people have an indisputable and inherent right to instruct their public servants and to mould and fashion their institutions to suit themselves, no one, believing in a republican form of government, will for a moment pretend to deny, and I believe the correlative obligation, that those holding office are bound to obey, is equally true. These instructions were conveyed to me in the best possible mode, through the ballot-box.—Viewing this question without prejudice, no man can doubt that our citizens are earnestly opposed to the granting to corporations any unlimited powers which may be converted into monopolies and which cannot be held subservient to the Legislature, and to the true interests of the State.

A solicitous regard, therefore, for truth and justice, has impelled me to the course I have taken upon this subject, and with the full assurance that I have done my duty, I here-with return the bill without my signature.

Jno. W. GRARY

Mr. DONOVAN moved that the further consideration of the message be postponed for the present.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. BIGHAM moved that five thousand copies of the message be printed for the use of the Senate.

Mr. DONOVAN. Would it not be better to have them printed after we take action upon this subject?

The SPEAKER. That is a question for the Senate.

Mr. BIGHAM. I think one of the objects of the postponement was to give us an opportunity of seeing the message in print.

Mr. WORTHINGTON said he thought the message could not be acted upon by the Senate until it was printed.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to the printing; but I think the number is unnecessary; I think one thousand would be sufficient. I move to amend by striking out the word "five thousand" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "one thousand."

Mr. M'CANDESS moved farther to amend by making it five hundred. I simply make the motion to amend in order to save the State from what I consider unnecessary expense.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, we have ordered thousands upon thousands of copies of the Governor's annual message and inaugural address, and they are lying around the Senate now; and now, in an important question like this, why should we reduce the number to one thousand; this is a matter in which everybody is interested; why keep them in the dark? I would vote for a hundred thousand rather than have only five hundred.

Mr. FISHER. The argument of my colleague is the strongest one yet made against printing this large number. He says we have a large number of old messages lying around loose, which is the fact; hence, I cannot see the propriety of printing so many.

Mr. BILLINGFELT said that he alluded to the fact because certain members had objected to this on account of expense, and that he had never heard a word against the printing of those messages; but this one was so important that it should go before the people.

The question being on printing the largest number, viz: five thousand?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BIGHAM and Mr. LOWRY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Brown, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Bigham (Mercer), Graham, Lowry, Taylor and White—8.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Connell, Cowles, Davis, Donovan, Fisher, Glatz, Haines, Jackson, James, Landon, M' Candless, M' Conaughy, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Seawright, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Walls, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—23.

So the question was determined in the negative.

During the call,

Mr. DAVIS said that he had been very much troubled with Governor's messages; in sending other documents to his constituents, he had found the Governor's messages put up in the same package; his constituents did not particularly admire them; and therefore, for fear that it might occur again, he would vote for the smaller number. He voted "no."

The motion of Mr. RIDGWAY, to print one thousand copies of said message, was then Agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF THE MARINE HOSPITAL BILL.

Mr. RANDALL moved that the Senate proceed to the reconsideration of bill entitled An act to incorporate the Marine Hospital of Pennsylvania, in the county of Erie, to fix location of hospital in Erie city, and to grant real estate to said hospital.

This bill having been returned to the Senate by the Governor on the 19th instant, with his objections thereto.

The bill and message were again read.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Mr. LOWRY moved to postpone the further consideration of the subject for the present.

The motion was Agreed to.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. BIGHAM offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, That two hundred copies of the address of Jas. R. Snowden, and accompanying documents, ordered on the 15th instant, be printed, and sent as follows, viz: one hundred copies to the Hon. Samuel P. Johnson, of Warren, Pennsylvania, and one hundred copies to the Hon. Jas. Koss Snowden, of Philadelphia.

The resolution was Adopted.

LEAVE TO WITHDRAW PETITION.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY asked and obtained leave to withdraw the petition of the citizens of Dillsburg, York county, in reference to the assessment and collection of a bounty tax in said borough.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 163, joint resolution providing for the final adjournment of the Legislature.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

[The House amended by providing for a final adjournment on Thursday, April 13th.]

On motion of Mr. CONNELL, said amendments were twice read and Concurred in.

THE SUNDAY CAR QUESTION.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of bill entitled An act to ascertain the views of the qualified electors of the city and county of Philadelphia upon the subject of allowing the passenger railway companies of said city to run their cars on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

Mr. CONNELL moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill for the present.

Mr. DONOVAN. I trust not. This bill was introduced on the first day of the session, and it is a bill that seven hundred thousand people in my city are interested in.

Mr. CONNELL. I am just as anxious as my colleague to pass this bill. I do not feel ready to address the Senate upon it to-day. I desire to reply to the Senator from Erie

[Mr. LOWRY], and I am not prepared to do it to-day.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, are we going to postpone this for the special accommodation of the Senator? He has been running the Legislature for some time.

Mr. CONNELL. That is a very ungentlemanly thing.

Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence). Mr. Speaker, I think this a very important bill, and we ought to keep it on the regular order.

The motion of Mr. CONNELL was

Not agreed to.

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That on the fifth day of March, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, a special election shall be held in the several wards and divisions of the city of Philadelphia by the qualified electors thereof, at which said election it shall and may be lawful for said electors to vote for or against a law authorizing the passenger railway companies of the city of Philadelphia to run their cars on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. CONNELL moved to amend the same, so that it would read as follows:

"Be it enacted, etc., That on the second Tuesday of October next, on the day of the general election, it shall and may be lawful for the qualified electors of the city of Philadelphia to vote for or against a law authorizing the passenger railway companies of the city of Philadelphia to run their cars on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

[The general merits of the bill were discussed until the hour of adjournment. The debate will appear in the Appendix.]

The hour of one having arrived, the Senate adjourned until three o'clock this afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate re-assembled at 3 o'clock.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 1012, an act to authorize Catharine Floto, Mary R. Floto, George H. Floto and Emma G. Floto to sell and convey certain real estate.

Referred to the Committee on Estates and Escheats.

The calendar having been gone through with,

Mr. M'CONAUGHY called up Senate bill No. 907, entitled An act to change the venue in the case of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania versus Louis S. Boner and Sylvester Hoffman, from the court of quarter sessions of the peace of Columbia county, to the court of quarter sessions of the peace of Dauphin county.

The bill was read.

Mr. JACKSON, Mr. Speaker, the Senator from Adams [Mr. M'CONAUGHY], having taken special charge of this bill, I would like to hear his reasons for changing the venue.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY sent to the Clerk's desk, to be read, the petition containing the facts in the case.

The petition was read as follows:

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met:

The petition of Louis S. Bower and Sylvester Hoffman, citizens of the county of Columbia, in said Commonwealth, respectfully sheweth:

That, at the December sessions of the court of quarter sessions of the peace and for the county of Columbia, aforesaid, a bill of indictment was found and returned against said petitioners, charging them, the said Louis S. Bower as inspector, and Sylvester Hoffman as judge, at the last general election held on the 9th day of October, A. D. 1866, for State and county officers, in the borough of Centerville, in the said county of Columbia, did knowingly reject and refuse the vote of one John M'Donald, a citizen thereof, legally qualified to vote at the said election, that the said petitioners deny that they are guilty, as in said indictment charged, and that they believe they are entitled to have a trial before an impartial court and jury.

That the president judge was a candidate for Congress at the last general election.

That the two associate judges, now on the bench of said court, were elected thereto at the last general election by the dominant party of said county.

That the full bench of said court and nineteenth, if not all, of the jurymen attending said court, with all the officers thereof, are of one political complexion and party, and that your petitioners do not believe, if brought to trial in said Columbia county court, they will or can have a fair, unbiased and impartial trial, to which they are, under the Constitution, entitled.

Your petitioners, therefore, pray your honorable bodies to enact a law which will provide for a change of venue in the above circumstances, and for its removal to the court of quarter sessions of the peace of Dauphin county for trial there.

And your petitioners will ever pray.

LOUIS S. BOWER,
SYLVESTER HOFFMAN.

Columbia County, ss:

Before me, the subscriber, a justice of the peace, in and for the county aforesaid, appeared Louis S. Bower and Sylvester Hoffman, the above petitioners, who, being duly sworn according to law, do say that the facts and allegations above set forth are true, and that they verily and candidly believe that it is impossible for them to have a fair and impartial trial under the said indictment in the aforesaid court of Columbia county, on account of the political sameness of complexion and character of the juries of the said court, as well as the prejudication of the question involved by the tribunal before whom they would be thus compelled to appear for trial.

LOUIS S. BOWER,
SYLVESTER HOFFMAN.

Sworn and subscribed before me the first day of March, A. D. 1867.

W. H. RINEHOLD,
Justice of the Peace.

Mr. JACKSON. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to a change of venue; but if it is to be changed at all, it would be more convenient for all parties to have it go to Northumberland county. I move to strike out "Dauphin" and insert "Northumberland."

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have the attention of the Senate for a moment. I do not desire to consume time, but merely desire to say that this is a case precisely similar to others which passed "this session."

It is a case in which the entire jury and bench are of one political party; it is a case in which it appears that both the president judge and associate judge were engaged in this campaign, and there can be no doubt that the whole matter is involved with prejudice and animosity. The petitioners assert that they believe they cannot have a fair and impartial trial, and, therefore, want the case removed. This Senate has again and again passed upon precisely similar circumstances this session. But I desire to say that I have called up this bill at the instance of Senator COLEMAN, who is called away upon private business. He desired that it should be passed as it is, without change. And I can only add that, in bringing it to Dauphin county, it will be brought to a county presided over by a judge who has not a superior in the State, in fairly dispensing justice.

Mr. JACKSON. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman is afraid he will get justice. I made the offer to amend for the reason that Northumberland county would be much more convenient for all parties if the venue is changed; and again, if it is deemed necessary to take it to a judge who was not in the canvass during the last campaign, that will be done by taking it to Judge Jordan, who presides in Northumberland. Senators on the other side all agree that he is an eminent and fair judge; and that he had decided on their side in relation to the deserter question. I insist upon my motion to amend.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. The bill is just as Senator COLEMAN desires it, and I see no reason why it should be changed.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment of Mr. JACKSON?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CONAUGHY and Mr. JACKSON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Glatz, Jackson, James, M' Candless, Randall, Schall, Seaight and Walls—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Connell, Cowles, Donovan, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—21.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. JACKSON said: Mr. Speaker, this case has been twice postponed in the county of Columbia, upon the application of the parties for a postponement, on the ground of material witnesses being absent. I wish to say, also, that while Judge Ellwell was a candidate for Congress there was no contest in relation to him; and his being a candidate has nothing to do with this question in any form. It is false that Judge Ellwell or his associates have prejudged this case.

The first and only section and title were then

Agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate suspend the rules and read the bill a third time?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JACKSON and Mr. M'CONAUGHY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Connell, Cowles, Donovan, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Glatz, Jackson, James, M' Candless, Randall, Schall, Seaight and Walls—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill was read the third time.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

JACKSON and Mr. WALLS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Connell, Cowles, Donovan, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Glatz, Jackson, James, M' Candless, Randall, Ridgway, Schall, Seaight and Walls—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

So the bill

Passed finally.

Mr. CONNELL called up Senate bill No. 751, which had been objected off the calendar, entitled An act for the better protection of seamen in the port and harbor of Philadelphia.

Mr. DONOVAN. The title ought to be: "The destruction of seamen in the city of Philadelphia."

On the question,

Will the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CONNELL and Mr. RIDGWAY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Billingfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Landon, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Brown (Mercer), Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Jackson, James, Lowry, M' Candless, M'Conaughy, Randall, Ridgway, Schall, Seaight and Walls—16.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. WORTHINGTON called up House bill No. 242, previously objected off the calendar, and entitled An act to exempt from taxation certain real estate in Philadelphia, belonging to and used and occupied by the Western association of ladies of Philadelphia, for the relief and employment of the poor.

The bill was read.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Mr. Speaker, I have no objections to this institution, but I am opposed to exempting property in Philadelphia from taxation.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. A great many bills of the kind have been passed.

Mr. RIDGWAY. The people are unanimously opposed to the further exemption of these institutions.

Mr. CONNELL. I differ with the Senator on that question; the best men in Philadelphia always have some institution of this kind which they wish exempted from taxation.

Mr. RIDGWAY. I go for the whole people, not for the best men only.

Mr. CONNELL. I refer to men who give their thousands every year.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the first and only section?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RIDGWAY and Mr. WORTHINGTON, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Billingfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Connell, Davis, Fisher, Glatz, Graham, Haines, James, Landon, Lowry, M' Candless, M'Conaughy, Royer, Seaight, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, Walls, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—25.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Burnett, Donovan, Jackson, Randall and Ridgway—6.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The title was

Agreed to.

The rule having been dispensed with,

The bill was read a second and third time, and Passed finally.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, PA., March 20, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GEORGE FLEMING—My attention has been called to the fact that on the 8th of March, 1867, I signed an act entitled An act to authorize the Allegheny Valley railroad to mortgage its road and branches to complete the same.

Since I signed that act, I have discovered that it authorizes the directors of said company to create bonds, payable at such time as they may determine upon, with coupons attached, bearing interest not exceeding seven and three-tenths per centum per annum, to an amount sufficient to meet the necessary outlay upon any branch road or roads to be thereafter constructed under the provisions of the charter of the Allegheny Valley railroad company, its supplement or laws affecting said company. This power to borrow an unlimited amount and at the absolute discretion of the directors, is an impropriet and impolitic grant, and had I observed it at the time the bill was presented, I would not have signed it.

It escaped me on the pressure of public business, and the first duty I owe you and the people of the State is to say this, and to request you to repeal the act or modify it with proper restrictions.

I have directed special notice of this message to be sent to the president and directors of the company.

JNO. W. GEARY.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 1051, a supplement to an act to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday, approved February 25th, 1855, relating to the counties of Berks, Lebanon and Lehigh.

Referred to the Committee on Vice and Immorality.

No. 1100, an act to incorporate the Susquehanna summer resort.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer) moved that the Senate concur in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to bill entitled An act to establish a ferry over the Allegheny river at Tidouette, Warren county.

The motion was

Agreed to.

On motion of Mr JACKSON, the Senate then adjourned until half-past seven this evening.

EVENING SESSION.

The Senate reassembled at half-past seven, P. M.

The bill entitled An act to ascertain the views of the qualified electors of the city and county of Philadelphia upon the subject of allowing the passenger railway companies of said city to run their cars on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, being the special order.

Mr. DONOVAN moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill for the present, for the purpose of proceeding to the consideration of the message from the Governor, vetoing the bill increasing the capital stock of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Mr. LOWRY. I trust we will get through with this car question to-night.

Mr. DONOVAN. I am going home to-morrow, and I would like to get through with this message.

Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence). Let me suggest to the Senator that we can get through with both of these questions this evening. I am perfectly willing, for my part, to take the vote to-night.

Mr. LOWRY. I hope the Senator from Lawrence [Mr. BROWNE] will have an opportunity to say a few words on the Sunday car bill.

Mr. DONOVAN. It will not take ten minutes to get a vote on the veto message.

The SPEAKER. The question is not debatable. The bill and message are on the table, and a motion to proceed to the reconsideration of a bill on the table is a privileged question and not debatable.

Mr. GRAHAM. I understand this session was fixed for a special purpose.

The SPEAKER. It was fixed for the consideration of the Sunday car bill and other business.

Mr. GRAHAM. I thought the Sunday car question would have precedence over everything else.

The SPEAKER. Certainly; and I have brought it up. It is a question for the Senate to decide whether or not they will postpone.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, whether we discuss this car question or not is another matter; but I hope the vote on the message is not to be taken to-night. I am aware that the Senate of the United States, where these things ought to be understood, speeches have been made for several days in succession upon veto messages.

The SPEAKER. We will not discuss that now; I only call the attention of the Senate to what I believe to be the rule in regard to this matter. If the Senate adopt the motion of the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. DONOVAN], then I will entertain any suggestion the Senator has to make; and if he can show me any rule permitting debate on the question in its present shape, I will be pleased to rule accordingly.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I am in favor of discussing this car question the whole evening, if necessary, because I am opposed to taking up the other. I am entirely opposed to any attempt to bring up this veto message to-night. I have no special anxiety to speak upon that car question, but I hope it will not be postponed for the purpose of bringing up the message; let that question go over until we have an opportunity to hear from our constituents upon that question. I hope the motion to postpone will not be agreed to.

Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence). Mr. Speaker, there are some Senators upon this floor who have an advantage over others. My friend, the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. DONOVAN], has two strings to his bow, and some of us only one. It was at the desire of the Senator from Philadelphia, and other Senators who felt as he did, that the consideration of the Governor's message was postponed this morning.

Now, I, for one, wish to hold him to that postponement. They postponed it, and I hope it will remain postponed, in order that we may mature our judgments by our conferences together.

It is an important question, and we should have time to deliberate upon it. This subject was not discussed upon this floor; it was discussed in the House. We should have time at least to reflect upon it, and hold ourselves strictly to the appointment we have made for to-night. We made the same appointment for this afternoon, but some of us consented to change the order; but now I intend, for one, that this evening shall be devoted to the purpose for which it was intended, so far as my vote can bring it about.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I have but one observation to make. I hope the Senate will not postpone the consideration of this car question. I understand the proper rule to be, in regard to the veto message, that it is not considered upon the day upon which it is sent in. I have been looking at this question, and I see that that is the rule in the House now. I understand this to be the rule, in cases of this kind, and I trust, in view of this rule, we will not violate the order of the evening.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I think the general custom has been to consider vetoes as soon as they come in, but we have occasionally postponed them for a time; there is no general rule upon the subject.

The SPEAKER. Has the Senator from Indiana [Mr. WHITE] any rule of the Senate upon that question? I would be glad if there is a rule to have it pointed out. But the Senate is having taking charge of this veto message, and postponed it, it is in their hands, and they can take it up when they please.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Mr. Speaker, I am just as anxious to have the Sunday car question disposed of as any other Senator, but this question on the veto message will not take much time.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, when the motion was made to-day to postpone the further consideration of the veto message, the reason given for the motion was that the message might be printed, that Senators might read, digest and understand it. It has not been printed, sir; we have not had time to consider it.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I hope there is going to be no effort made to vote upon the veto message to-night. Instead of ten minutes, if you get a vote in ten hours, you will have to resort to the previous question, I think. Some of us will feel bound to discuss the question. I give notice that, unless gentlemen intend to call the previous question, there can be no disposition of the question in a few minutes.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion of Mr. DONOVAN, to postpone the consideration of the Sunday car bill for the present?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BIGHAM and Mr. RIDGWAY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Connell, Donovan, Fisher, Glatz, Haines, Jackson, James, Landon, McCandless, McCaughy, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Scargitt, Stutzman, Sells and Worthington—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfeld, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Davis, Graham, Lowry, Taylor, White and Hall, Speaker—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. DONOVAN moved that the Senate now resume the consideration of bill entitled An act to repeal an act entitled A further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania railroad company, authorizing an increase of capital stock, and to borrow money, approved the 21st day of March, A. D. 1866, and to authorize the Pennsylvania railroad company to increase its capital stock, to issue bonds and to secure the same by mortgage.

[Which bill was this day returned by the Governor to the Senate, with his objections thereto.]

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GRAHAM and Mr. BIGHAM, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Connell, Donovan, Fisher, Glaz, Haines, Jackson, James, Landon, M'Condless, M'Conaughy, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Searight, Stutzman, Walls and Worthington—19.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Davis, Graham, Lowry, Taylor, White and Hall, Speaker—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The veto message was then read.

[See this morning's session.]

The SPEAKER. Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, the yeas and nays will now be called. The question is, Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, this bill—
Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, I raise the point of order that this is not a debatable question.

The SPEAKER ruled the point of order well taken.

Mr. BIGHAM. The practice in both branches of the national Legislature, during the present session, shows that elaborate discussions have been had on veto messages, extending through several days. The Speaker does not controvert that.

The SPEAKER. Will the Senator refer me to a rule of either branch of Congress?

Mr. BIGHAM. I have not the rule, but I believe that is the fact. I have never seen the question brought up since I have been a member of this branch. I remember, in the other branch, hearing vetoes discussed upon two occasions.

The SPEAKER. Will the Senator permit me to state my view? There is no rule in the Senate of Pennsylvania on the subject. There is a rule in the House, that when a bill is vetoed by the Governor, and the veto message is sent into the House it shall lie over one day. If there were such a rule in the Senate, and, after a postponement, when the bill and message were on the table, a Senator should move to proceed to its consideration, it would be in the power of the body to do so. There is no rule in the Senate, but there is a Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, and that Constitution declares that "every bill which shall have passed both Houses, shall be presented to the Governor; if he approve he shall sign it; but if he shall not prove, he shall return it, with his objections, to the House, in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon their Journals and proceed to reconsider it; and the yeas and nays shall be called."

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I raise a question that, until that message is entered upon our Journal, we cannot proceed to its consideration.

The SPEAKER. It is presumed to be entered as soon as it is brought here; each entry is made as the business is done, during the day.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, I presume that each Senator will have the right to briefly state his reasons for voting when his name is called?

The SPEAKER. I think he has no right to do so—that is a matter of courtesy.

Mr. BROWN (Lawrence) moved to postpone the consideration of the subject indefinitely.

The SPEAKER. That is not in order—the Senate having just agreed to consider.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me, that you are throwing the burden of truth upon the wrong side.

The SPEAKER. The Senator is not in order. The practice in the Pennsylvania Senate has been, without an exception that I know of, that the Senate shall proceed immediately to the consideration of a message after it is read, unless postponed. The Senate have, in this instance, postponed it; and now have agreed to proceed to the reconsideration. That was not a debatable question, and after the yeas and nays are ordered I cannot think this is according to the provisions of the Constitution. I now again order the yeas and nays to be called.

Mr. BIGHAM. I move to postpone the subject until Tuesday next.

The SPEAKER. That is not in order. I might remark that our rules and those at Washington naturally differ—they differ there in no other thing.

Mr. BIGHAM. The language of the National Constitution is the same as ours.

The SPEAKER. I must rule as I think right and proper, especially when Senators have the power to take an appeal.

Mr. BIGHAM. Would it be in order to state the reasons for my vote?

The SPEAKER. After the call is ordered, I have already said, I do not think debate is in order. If it was meant simply to state a reason, that is one thing, but where it is manifestly only intended to kill time that is another thing.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor thereto?

The yeas and nays were taken, agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Connell, Donovan, Fisher, Glaz, Haines, Jackson, James, Landon, M'Condless, M'Conaughy, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Searight, Stutzman, Taylor, Walls and Worthington—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Davis, Graham, Lowry, White and Hall, Speaker—9.

The constitutional vote of two thirds having been given for the bill, it was increased passed.

During the call,
Mr. BILLINGFELT said: Mr. Speaker, as I cannot give my reasons for my vote, I will say that I thank God for the opportunity that I now have to sustain a man who has the backbone to be the Governor of this great Commonwealth. I vote "no."

Also during the call,
Mr. JACKSON said: Mr. Speaker, with the understanding that a bill is to be presented and passed immediately, which will remove the objections of the Governor and repeal the objectionable portions of the bill, I vote "aye."

On leave given at this time,
Mr. CONNELL read in his place and presented to the Chair bill entitled An act supplementary to an act, entitled An act to repeal an act, entitled A further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania railroad company, authorizing an increase of capital stock, and to borrow money, approved the 21st day of March, 1866, and to authorize the Pennsylvania railroad company to increase its capital stock, to issue bonds, and to secure the same by mortgage.

Which was referred to the Committee on Railroads.

Mr. CONNELL said he thought this supplement would cover the objection of the Governor to the bill.

Mr. LINDSEY moved that the Committee on Railroads be discharged from the further consideration of the bill, and that the Senate proceed to its consideration.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I raise a question of order; you cannot have a supplement to a bill before the bill itself is a law. This bill has to go through the ordeal of the other branch of the Legislature. It would be a most extraordinary spectacle to have a supplement before you have a bill.

The SPEAKER ruled the point of order well taken.

Mr. CONNELL. I do not know the rule, but the custom has been to amend bills in the hands of the Governor by supplementary acts. I have known it to be done in half a dozen instances, and no objections were made.

Mr. WHITE. If this bill is to pass, notwithstanding the veto of the Governor, I think this supplement to it will also become a law.

The SPEAKER. If this bill is to meet the objections of the Governor I do not see any objection to it.

Mr. WHITE. If there is any question about it I would move to lay it on the table.

Mr. LOWRY. I hope Senators will have a chance to read it before they vote upon it.

Mr. LANDON. Mr. Speaker, I did not make that motion, sir, because I had any desire to push the thing through, contrary to the wishes of the Senate; but I understand that supplement removes the objectionable features of the bill vetoed; that is the object of the supplement. Hence, I supposed that every person on the floor of the Senate was in favor of proceeding to its consideration. If the point of order is ruled as well taken, I do not wish to object.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, in the face of any doubt of our ability to pass this supplement, I trust the motion for the consideration of the bill will not be pressed at this time. Furthermore, so that we may understand this matter exactly, I trust that the point of order of the Senator from Allegheny [Mr. BIGHAM] will not be pressed, and that we may have this bill printed, and, in the meantime, let it lie upon the table of the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. My opinion is, that the point of order is well taken.

Mr. LOWRY. The bill is out of order.

The SPEAKER. I did not rule the bill out of order. A Senator may present any bill; but when you come to ask the Senate to pass upon the bill, the point of order is well taken.

Mr. LOWRY. A great deal of our trouble in connection with this bill originated, in the first place, from its not being printed and properly understood.

Mr. WHITE. If the Senator from Erie [Mr. Lowry] will allow me; I was just going to meet that objection. Now, Mr. Speaker, do I understand you to rule that this bill is not in order?

The SPEAKER. No, sir; I say I do not rule anything about it now. If the point of order is raised by the Senator from Allegheny, I will rule that the Senate cannot pass this bill now.

Mr. BIGHAM. I am perfectly willing that the bill be printed.

Mr. FISHER. The point of order of the Senator from Allegheny appears to refer to the title of the bill. When the Senate comes to act upon it, they may change it, so that it will not be a supplement to this bill.

Mr. CONNELL. It is a part of the original bill; you cannot separate it.

The motion to discharge the committee was

Agreed to.

On motion of Mr. RIDGWAY, five hundred copies of the bill were ordered to be printed for the use of the Senate.

THE SUNDAY CAR QUESTION.

On motion of Mr. DONOVAN, the Senate then resumed the consideration of bill entitled An act to ascertain the views of the qualified electors of the city and county of Philadelphia upon the subject of allowing the passenger railway companies of said city to run their cars on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday.

Mr. BIGHAM spoke at length upon the bill. His remarks will appear in connection with the other speeches on the same subject.

Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence). Mr. Speaker, I believe it was expected that I should say something further upon this question by gentlemen upon this floor; I believe I intimated it. The Senator from the First district of Philadelphia [Mr. M'CANDELESS], it will be recollected, characterized my remarks yesterday as a sermon. I replied I had not yet begun to preach on this subject. I have now something further to say. "Perhaps it may turn out a sermon." But I am willing to resign the floor if Senators on the other side are willing now to take the vote without further debate. I would rather have the vote than any amount of argument; and while I now have the floor, I submit that I will yield it if gentlemen are prepared to take a vote at this time.

SEVERAL SENATORS. We are ready.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the first section of the bill as amended?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LOWRY, and Mr. DONOVAN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Burnett, Coleman, Connell, Davis, Donovan, Jackson, James, M'Canless, Randall, Ridgway, Schall and Seairight—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Graham, Haines, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Royer, Stutzman, Taylor, Walls, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

So the bill fell.

During the call.

Mr. GRAHAM said: Mr. Speaker, I shall vote against this bill, because I believe that the passage of any act by the Legislature, of Pennsylvania for the abrogation of the Sabbath day or Sabbath laws would be oppressive to a large number of laboring people. For this day of rest, important to all, is absolutely indispensable to the working man. No intelligent operative can be unaware of the fact that if the rapacious money-making spirit of the age could have its way, it would compel him to work seven days instead of six. I shall vote against it, because I believe its passage would tend directly to the increase of vice. This is not the time for sapping the foundations of morality amongst us; and if we do nothing to strengthen the cause of truth and virtue, we should at least be careful not to remove, by legislative enactment, a single pillar upon which it rests. I do not vote against it, because it is repugnant to the moral sensibilities of the great mass of the best citizens throughout the State, and because it is in contravention of all previous legislation, and directly in conflict with the law of God himself, who has commanded us to remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.

Also, during the call,

Mr. M'CONAUGHY said: Mr. Speaker, I had designed, sir, to present some considerations which control my judgment upon the question before the Senate; but, in view of the general anxiety to reach a vote to-night, I have concluded to omit any such extended presentation.

Had I entered into the discussion, I had hoped to establish that Christianity was part of the common law in the country from which we derive our jurisprudence, and recognized as such from the foundations of the General Government, and throughout the whole history of this Commonwealth by an unvarying line of decision; and that there can be no Christianity without that day of rest which has always symbolized it, and been the invariable and distinguishing proof as well as instrument of his existence.

That seventh day of rest has its necessity and sanction in man's physical and mental constitution, and wherever the law of nature has been violated in it by human enactment, it has brought the inevitable retribution. Its recurrence every seventh sun, is as indispensable to man as the nocturnal return of sleep. The highest considerations of statesmanship concur with the divine sanction which requires its observance. Without it, neither the Republic nor this Commonwealth could continue to exist.

As a day of rest it is the poor man's friend—it is the great educator of the masses—both intellectual and moral. The virtue of a people is the only safe foundation for a democracy, and the Sabbath is, humanly speaking, the fountain of morality. The secret and silent power of this "one day in seven" is a stronger bulwark to the life of a free people than all its penal laws. It is the highest source of national prosperity. Where but in this is based that spirit of harmony and good order—that freedom from want—that thrift, and all the other kindlier virtues which knit together all portions of society, and are the glory of a prosperous State.—This sacred day is the great republican leveler, bringing together the rich and the poor upon the level of perfect equality, where, on the one hand, is known only man, and on the other, the one common and blessed Father of all.

How then can the law-maker, who recognizes the observance of the Sabbath as a day of sacred rest, as a duty of paramount obligation, and who realizes its vital importance to the prosperity of the State, undertake to break down its sanctity and invite the terrible consequences which may result to the social, civil and moral interests of this great Commonwealth?

While, then, I forego any extended argument, I desire to say that in casting my vote, I do it under my responsibility as a legislator, and exercise of my official duty, sir, as a member of the Legislature of this Commonwealth. I recognize a higher tribunal, one in which has been enacted a moral code which I believe controls me and controls all men in like position. I had desired, sir, in casting my vote, to have had that law read in obligation to which I shall cast my vote; but in the absence of it, at this moment, I request the Clerk to read the following utterance most applicable to the case in hand, and invested with the high sanction of a divinenurterance.

The Clerk read the following paragraph: "If ye will diligently hearken unto me, to bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the Sabbath day, but hallow the Sabbath day to do no work therein; then shall there enter into the gates of this city kings and princes, sitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, and they and their princes, the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and this city shall remain forever."

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. I vote "no."

During the call,

Mr. M'CANDELESS said: Mr. Speaker, believing the unsoundness of every proposition of the Senator from Allegheny, I shall vote "aye."

Also, during the call,

Mr. JACKSON said: Mr. Speaker, I am willing that the people of Philadelphia shall have an opportunity of expressing their views upon this subject, and without committing myself either for or against allowing passenger cars to be run on Sunday, I vote "aye."

Also, during the call,

Mr. WHITE said: Mr. Speaker, this is a bill to submit the question of the running of cars on Sunday to a vote of the people of Philadelphia. What further is to be done after that vote is had, is not clearly indicated in this bill. I have not participated in the discussion of this question; partaking, however, as it does, of a theological character, I have felt like deferring to those gentlemen who represent the clerical calling upon this floor. I have felt like deferring to their authority upon questions like a theological aspect. But I find that this is a question which the Legislature of Pennsylvania is called upon to submit to the people at their election. This, in relation to a question of this kind, I think is wrong, and in violation of the spirit and the character of our government. While it is true that we live under a republican form of government, while it is true that in our bill of rights it is asserted that all power rests in the people, yet it is equally true that when our fathers met here, and founded Penn's Commonwealth, they formed a constitution—they formed an organic law; in that organic law it was expressly declared that the legislative power should rest in the General Assembly, the details of which were specifically indicated. That General Assembly, thus constituted, was authorized to make all laws for the government of the State, and over this question, I apprehend that the Legislature of Pennsylvania has complete control, and it should be, in my opinion, presented to us as a naked proposition, to be passed upon one way or the other; and failing to come before us in that shape, I believe that in passing a bill of this kind, we are violating our authority, and I therefore vote "no."

Also, during the call,

Mr. WORTHINGTON said: Mr. Speaker, I have not entered into the discussion of this question, but, in recording my vote upon it, it is due to myself and those whom I represent on this floor, briefly to give the reasons which govern me. I regard the running of the cars on the Sabbath as a question purely moral in its aspect. The performance of every secular duty on that day is of a similar character. For wise and good purposes, God has commanded us to: "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord, thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy servant, nor thy maid servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates; for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it."

This is one of the ten commandments contained in the Decalogue. As a moral and responsible being, I, as well as others, am under the highest obligations to obey this law, which comes to us with divine sanction. I cannot avoid the responsibility which it imposes upon me as a Christian man, and as a member of this body.

We are told this bill does not repeal the law which prohibits the prosecution of secular employments on the Sabbath. It merely authorizes the people of the city of Philadelphia to take a vote, with a view to ascertain their wishes upon this subject. In doing this, however, it merely contemplates future legislation. And when you have ascertained their wishes in relation to this matter, are you any better prepared to act upon this great question of moral duty? Are you prepared to surrender the law of God, who is the great law giver of the Universe, to an act of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, dictated by the will of a majority of the people of Philadelphia?

Am I to fashion my views of duty to God and my fellow-man, according as the people of Philadelphia may decide by their vote? If not, what influence can such a decision exercise over me, when they come back to these halls next winter and urge the passage of a law in conformity to the expressed will of the people of the metropolis of the State? Are not the whole people of the Commonwealth interested in the decision of this question? Have they no consciences to be violated, and no wrongs to endure by such a change of the Sabbath laws? Surely no one will pretend, for a moment, that rights are to be ignored in the settlement of this question. It being a moral question, it must be determined according to the sense of moral duty by which each one is governed. Hence, I propose to act upon this subject, now and hereafter, in such a way as to preserve the wholesome statutes, some of which have been adopted by the law makers of this Commonwealth, and have remained upon the statute books for a period of nearly two centuries, and which have greatly contributed to advance the morals, religion and general welfare of our people.

While I regard this question as one of moral and religious duty, I am not insensible that there is another view which ought not to be entirely overlooked. It is the law of our physical being, which requires a certain portion of time for rest. The slumbers of the night refresh and invigorate us for the duties of the day. The weakened powers of our physical nature demand one-seventh of our time for renovation. This repair is needed for beast as well as man. We have no moral right to demand more than six-sevenths of the time for labor of those under our control. The law of our physical organization forbids it. The law of God forbids it, and as it now stands, the law of the Commonwealth forbids it. So let it remain.

When the Senator from Lebanon [Mr. COLEMAN], with whom I am paired off, returns to his seat I will record my vote in the negative.

Also, during the call, Mr. BROWN (Mercer) said:

Mr. Speaker, I regard this bill as one of great importance. It is by no means a local bill, as its form would seem to indicate. I regard it as a proposal to take an initiatory step towards the repeal of an important item in the common law of this State. Christianity is indispensably a part of the common law of the State. Christianity without a Sabbath would be no Christianity. This bill is a solemn proposition to submit to a vote of the electors of the city of Philadelphia the question of, at least, a partial repeal of the Sabbath laws of our Commonwealth. I cannot regard it in any other light. If the matter involved nothing more than a question of secular expediency—interesting alone the people of Philadelphia—I would hold up both hands and say by all means let them vote upon the subject and conform their actions to their decision in the premises. The matter is one of a different character, involving, as I believe, a question of morals, a question of religion, a question of Christianity—and as such, a question which ought not to be submitted to a vote of any portion of the people of this or any other State. God's law is not subject to the revision of men, in given communities, even if the entire populace so decree; and this proposition is not in conflict with the Democratic doctrine that the majority should rule. In all proper matters the people should rule; but when God says, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," it is not competent for communities by the popular voice to authorize the violation of the command. The voice of the people is no doubt oftentimes the voice of God, but by no means always. When the voice of man is in opposition to the voice of God, it amounts to naught, and carries with it no moral nor legal force. This being the case, and believing, as I do, that the running of cars upon the streets of Philadelphia upon the Sabbath day involves a violation of the fourth commandment, if nine-tenths, or all the qualified electors of the above city, were to say by their votes that they are ready to permit the Sabbath to be thus desecrated in their midst, I could not consent to vote for a law legalizing such desecration, and I therefore feel entirely justified in voting against the bill under consideration. I vote "no."

On motion of Mr. BIGHAM, the Senate adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY MORNING, March 19, 1867.

The House met at 10 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment.

The reading of the Journal of the previous session was dispensed with.

Mr. ADAIRE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a privileged question.

I desire to reconsider the vote taken on House bill No. 813, an act to divorce William Gray from his wife, Lucinda Campbell Gray. I understand, since the vote on this bill was taken, that the husband has made provision for the maintenance of his wife in case a divorce is granted. I move that this House proceed to the consideration of the bill.

Mr. PENNYPACKER. Mr. Speaker, I hope the motion will not be entertained. I feel that I cannot vote for this measure.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, a number of gentlemen in this House indicated to me that they were disposed to change their votes on the final passage of this bill, provided I secured a certificate from Dr. Lee.

I forward it to the Clerk, with the desire that it be read.

It was read as follows:

This is to certify that William C. Gray has made a deed, for all his real estate, to J. S. Rutan, Esq., in trust for his wife, Lucinda Gray, and that said J. S. Rutan has agreed, in writing, to deed the said property to Mrs. Gray in the event of the passage of the bill divorcing said W. C. Gray from his wife, Lucinda, and that said agreement is satisfactory to Mrs. Gray and her friends.

(Signed) J. R. HARRAE,
Attorney for Mrs. Gray and her friends.
MARCH 16th, 1867.

HARRISBURG, March 15, 1867.

General W. W. Irwin, Harrisburg, Pa.:

DEAR SIR—In answer to your inquiry concerning Wm. C. Gray and his wife, Lucinda Gray, I have to say that I have been acquainted with them for five years, six months of which time Mrs. Gray was under my charge at the Western Pennsylvania Hospital for the insane. When admitted to the institution she was laboring under extreme melancholy, and was not much improved when removed by Wm. C. Gray to the house of the mother, at the request of the latter, and so far as I can learn she remains in the same condition and at the same place. It is now over four years since she left the hospital. Judging from her history previous to admission to the hospital, and from the duration from the present attack of insanity, I feel safe in saying that she is incurable. During the time she was in the hospital her husband manifested a desire to contribute to her comfort, as far as lay in his power, and showed a kind disposition to her during her residence there, and I have been informed on good authority that he has continued so up to the present time, for reasons of which you are familiar with. I fear that if he is not relieved his own mind will give way under the annoyance that he is compelled to endure.

Yours, very respectfully,
(Signed) J. A. REED, M. D.,
Superintendent W. I. Hospital.

On the motion to reconsider the vote on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. PENNYPACKER and Mr. CHASE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Chadwick, Chase, Collins, Colville, Craig, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Eddy, Fogel, Ghegan, Gordon, Gregory, Harbison, Harner, Headman, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kerns, Kinney, Kline, Koon, Lee, Leech, Linton, Long, M'Camant, M'Henry, Maish, Marks, Mechling, Meily, Mullin,

JNO. W. GEARY.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth also presented a message from the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 16, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—Herewith is returned, without my approval, to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, bill No. 527, entitled An act to change the place of holding elections in Allegheny township, Venango county.

The first section of the act of 20th April, 1854, confers upon the court of quarter sessions of the several counties the right to change the place of holding the general, special and township elections in every county in this Commonwealth. The Legislature, therefore, is prohibited from doing it, by the ninth section of the eleventh article of the Constitution.

Having given my reasons to your honorable body for disapproving this class of legislation so recently and so fully, I deem it unnecessary to repeat them here.

In some cases of emergency, as where the house in which elections are held has been destroyed, and the time for the election precludes the sitting of the courts, it might be proper to ask the Legislature to interfere. But, in all such cases the facts should be stated in a preamble, to make the necessity apparent.

JNO. W. GEARY.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the House proceeded to a reconsideration of said bill.

On the question

Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Agreeably to the rules,

The further consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth also presented a message from the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 16, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return, without my approval, to the House, in which it originated, bill No. 273, entitled An act to incorporate the Milford cemetery.

This is another of those bills creating a corporation where the power to do it has already been conferred upon the courts, and is, therefore, in violation of the ninth section of the first article of the Constitution of the State.

The first section of the act of 20th of February, 1854, declares "That the provisions of the several acts of Assembly, conferring on courts of common pleas authority to incorporate literary, charitable, religious or beneficial associations, be and they are hereby extended to associations for the promotion of science or agriculture, to cemetery or burial associations, and to societies for the detection of thieves and the recovery of stolen property."

It has become quite common for the authors of such bills as this to insert therein some proviso or section, conferring some power or privilege not within the jurisdiction of the courts, and then to contend that the whole bill should be made an exception to the general rule. To permit this would be to completely nullify a plain provision of the Constitution, and it cannot, therefore, be allowed. For example, the general law requires the corporators to be citizens of this Commonwealth, and in the bill herewith returned some of the corporators are represented to be citizens of New Jersey. How easy would it be for any corporation to name one or more corporators as residents or citizens of an adjoining State, and on the principle contended for, take away the whole jurisdiction of the courts, evade an imperative provision of the Constitution and ignore all the acts of Assembly based thereon. Surely it cannot be expected I can connive at, or become a party to such legislation as this, and thus override the fundamental law of the State, which I have sworn to support.

Such legislation is clearly unconstitutional under the article and section hereinbefore referred to; and even if approved by me would remain unconstitutional, and be of no value to the corporators or anybody else. I am unwilling to send forth enactments and thereby induce innocent persons to invest their money on the faith of them, only to find, when too late, they are of no validity whatever. For these reasons, and others which I have again and again reiterated in messages to your honorable body when returning this class of bills, I withhold my approval.

JNO. W. GEARY.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the House proceeded to the reconsideration of said bill.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Agreeably to the rules,

The further consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth also presented a message from the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 16, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—Herewith is returned, with my objections to the same, bill No. 687, entitled A further supplement to an act incorporating the town of Lawrenceville into a borough, approved the 18th day of February, 1854.

The first, second and third sections of the bill provide for the election of more than two justices of the peace in said borough, in violation of the seventh section of the sixth article of the Constitution of the State, which declares that "no township, ward or borough, shall elect more than two justices of the peace, or aldermen, without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough." No such election can be constitutionally held, therefore, until the qualified voters of the borough have so decided, in compliance with the plain requirements of said section.

The fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh sections of the bill are in violation of the ninth section of the eleventh article of the Constitution, prohibiting the Legislature from conferring powers and privileges where the power to confer them has already been granted to the courts. For my views more in detail on this subject I refer to my message of the 9th instant to your honorable body, accompanying House bill No. 418.

The eighth section is proper enough, and could be approved if by itself; but part of a bill cannot be approved, and part disapproved, and hence the whole must fall together.

JNO. W. GEARY.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the House proceeded to the reconsideration of said bill.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Agreeably to the rules,

The further consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Senate bill No. 1019, an act to incorporate the Adams County Soldiers' Monument association.

He also again returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

No. 349, an act appropriating moneys arising from fines and forfeitures in Chester county.

Which bill was returned to the House of Representatives by the Governor, on the 12th instant, in pursuance of a resolution adopted by both Houses, with information that the Senate has reconsidered the same, and concurred in the amendment made by the House of Representatives to said bill.

He also returned House bill No. 840, entitled An act supplemental to an act regulating the courts of the Sixth Judicial district, passed February, 1867, in pursuance of a request contained in a resolution adopted by the House of Representatives on the 14th instant.

He also informed that the Senate has concurred in the first amendment made by the House of Representatives to Senate bill No. 826, entitled An act to prevent and punish fight fighting, and has non-concurred in the remaining amendments made to said bill.

He also presented the following extract from the Journal:

IN THE SENATE, March 18, 1867.
Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor be requested to return to the Senate bill No. 607, entitled An act relative to the courts of Lehigh county, for amendment.

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The SPEAKER cleared his table of bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Senate bill No. 1019, an act to incorporate the Adams County Soldiers' Monument association.

Senate bill No. 826, an act to prevent and punish fight fighting.

On motion,

The House receded from its amendment, non-concurred in by the Senate, to said bill; and

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

EXTRACT FROM SENATE JOURNAL.

IN THE SENATE, March 18, 1867.
Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor be requested to return to the Senate bill No. 607, entitled An act relative to the courts of Lehigh county, for amendment.

On motion,

Said resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in; and

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

On motion,

The House adjourned till 3 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the unanimous consent of the House to call up Senate bill No. 29, a further supplement to an act for the better security of the city of Philadelphia from dangers incident to the refining, or improper, or negligent storage of petroleum, benzine or naphtha, approved March 2d, A. D. 1865, construing the same. It will be a great accommodation if the House will grant this request.

Leave being granted.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

A motion was made to strike out the amendment.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I hope the House will not agree to the motion. I think we do more for the parties to whom this bill relates than for any other establishment in the county of Philadelphia. We have driven the rest from the built up portions of the city. I am opposed to giving this one establishment more privileges than have been given to others of a similar character.

I trust the gentleman will see the propriety of allowing this amendment to remain.

Mr. GHEGAN. Mr. Speaker, the property surrounding this establishment has all the proper safe-guards. Some of the property holders in the neighborhood, who had signed a remonstrance in this matter, are now anxious that the establishment shall remain.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, Every person who can be in any way affected by the presence of this establishment has signed in favor of the persons connected with it, as to their remaining where they now are.

Mr. HOOD. Mr. Speaker, all who have taken the trouble to examine these premises know they are fire-proof. The opposition to the bill is merely factious. I cannot understand it, inasmuch as all who could be inconvenienced are in favor of the building as it is.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker I cannot allow my colleague who has just taken his seat to place me in the position he has. I agreed to make no opposition to the calling up of this bill, but with the understanding that this amendment was to remain. If I wished to be factious, when the suspension of the rules was moved, I could have called a division of the question. If a gentleman charges me with being factious he states what is not true. Until to-day I have not said a word upon this bill. With the understanding that this amendment had been agreed to by the friends and foes of this bill, I have made no opposition whatever to it.

This establishment is located in the First district. My attention was called to this bill by a member from that district. It is in a thickly built up neighborhood. Gentlemen cannot deny that the people living in the dwellings surrounding this building, are opposed to its continuance there. Some years ago, we had a terrible conflagration in the city of Philadelphia, by which a large amount of valuable property was destroyed; and the fire originated in an establishment of this nature.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I am sure my friend does not justify misrepresentation. The building, in which the conflagration to which he alludes originated, was not such an establishment as this by any means. It was a place where two thousand five hundred barrels of oil were stored on the ground. There was no refinery or refining business carried on there. It was simply a place for the storage of crude petroleum.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, this case has precisely the same character.

A gentleman of my acquaintance living in my district, was largely interested in an establishment of this kind. He was compelled by the act for which I voted, and for which every member from Philadelphia voted, to remove his place of business at a great sacrifice of property, time and means. I am not willing, nor will I, by my vote, give to these gentlemen rights not enjoyed by others.

These establishments are dangerous to life and property, however well guarded they may be. I think this establishment should be satisfied with the limit of two years.

I am not factious. As I said before, if I had been factious I would have called a division of the question when the motion to suspend the rules was made.

I think gentlemen have taken undue advantage in attempting to strike out this amendment.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I do not know what other members may have understood; but I deem it due to myself to say that I never heard of this amendment until it was read by the Clerk.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I intended no allusion to the gentleman from the Seventeenth district.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I trust the bill will pass.

Mr. GHEGAN. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by striking out the amendment and inserting the words, "of the period of five years from the passage of this act."

The question being on the amendment, It was

Agreed to.

The question recurring on the bill as amended, It was

Agreed to.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

On the final passage of the bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. QUIGLEY and Mr. KLINE, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Boyd, Boyle, Broen, Brennan, Calvin, Cameron, Chadwick, Chalfant, Chase, Colville, Craig, Day, Donoghue, Espy, Fogel, Freeborn, Ghegan, Gordos, Harrison, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Jenks, Jones, Kinney, Kline, Lee, Leech, Linton, Long, McCannan, McCree, McHenry, Mann, Marks, Meclung, Melly, Meyers, Mullin, Pennypacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Rhoads, Roath, Roush, Seiler, Sharples, Steacy, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Webb, Weller, Westbrook, Whann, Wharton, Wingard, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—67.

NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Collins, M'Kea and Quigley—4.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill

Passed finally.

BILLS RECOMMENDED.

Mr. CHASE. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the orders be suspended for the purpose of allowing me to make a motion.

Agreed to.

Mr. CHASE. I move that Senate bill No. 707, an act to repeal the first section of an act passed the 1st day of April, A. D. 1852, declaring the Little Lehigh public highway, be recommended to the Committee on Judiciary General.

The motion was

Agreed to.

Mr. BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to make a motion.

Leave was granted.

Mr. BRENNAN. I ask the indulgence of the House for the purpose of considering Senate bill, No. 816, an act to incorporate the Roaring Brook turpicks company. I move that the rules be suspended and the bill put upon its passage.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot see the necessity for passing the bill at this time.

On the motion, I call a division of the question.

The question being on the first division, which called for a suspension of the rules, it was

Not agreed to.

The House then resumed the consideration of the private calendar, as follows :

I hope it will not be laid aside.

Mr. FREEBORN. Mr. Speaker, I hope the bill will be laid aside for second reading.

The gentleman alludes to a protesting resolution. It is a question in my mind whether a majority of the present board of controllers is opposed to this bill. I think I can state without contradiction that the board are in favor of the passage of this bill. There is not a newspaper in Philadelphia that is not in favor of it. I believe it will conduce to the benefit of the educational interests of the city of Philadelphia if this bill passes. Political considerations are entirely removed from this subject. I think it to the interest of all concerned that this bill should pass.

Mr. HOOD. Mr. Speaker, I am most certainly in favor of this bill. I can see no reason why this bill should not pass.

On the final passage of the bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GHEGAN and Mr. DEHAVEN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Allen, Armstrong, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Collins, Colville, Day, Freeborn, Gordon, Harbison, Harner, Hoffman, Hood, Humphreys, Jones, Kinney, Koon, Lee, Leech, Linton, Long, McCannet, McCreary, McKee, McPherrin, Mann, Markley, Marks, Meyers, Pennypacker, Peter, Pilow, Quay, Routh, Ronald, Waddell, Westbrook, Woodward and Glass, Speaker—45.

NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, DeHaven, Donogh, Ghegan, Mechling, Meily, Mullin, Quigley, Rhoads, Subers, Watt, Webb and Worrall.—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill

Passed finally.

Senate bill No. 720, an act to repeal an act for the repeal of an act changing the venue of certain actions of ejectment from Armstrong to Allegheny county.

Question: Shall the bill be laid aside?

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I object to the bill being laid aside for second reading.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I understand there will be some contest on this bill. I suggest that the gentleman had better let it go to second reading.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I think we had better take up the matter as it comes. We can occupy the present time as well as any other.

Mr. QUAY. I desire the House to understand that I do not wish to occupy the time.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, it is not necessary to occupy the time of the House. If the bill is not laid aside for second reading it is virtually killed.

I will ask the Clerk to read this letter or memorial that I have received.

The letter was read as follows:

FRANK MECHLING, ESQ.:

DEAR SIR—We wish through you to lay before the House of Representatives the following statement:

An act entitled An act changing the venue in certain actions of ejectment from Armstrong to Allegheny county, was approved April 8th, 1864. No trial having been had in Allegheny county for the space of two years thereafter, an act repealing the said act, and restoring the cases transferred from Allegheny county to Armstrong, in which the actions were brought, was approved April 11th, A. D. 1866.

A special venire was issued by His Honor, Judge Campbell, and these cases were put down for trial at the first special court held at Kittanning in November last. About thirty days before the meeting of that court the plaintiff, Benj. Rush Bradford, caused those cases to be railed out for arbitration, and consequently they could not be tried. But the special court adjourned over till the 8th day of April next; the rules of the arbitration were stricken off, and the cases are down on the list to be disposed of at that time. A struck jury was awarded by the court on the former trial, and a struck jury is awarded now. So the matter stands.

But to our surprise we find that an act has recently been introduced into, and passed the Senate, and is now pending in your honorable House, to repeal the act of April 11th, 1866 (pamphlet laws, page 607), which, if passed and approved, will have the effect of re-transferring the cases therein mentioned to Allegheny county, and of trying them up there without trial for an indefinite and doubtless long period of time. That the chief object of Mr. Bradford is to avoid a trial altogether or to postpone it until the witnesses of the several defendants in those cases are dead, we entertain no doubt. All of the respective defendant's witnesses are old and feeble, and according to the ordinary course of nature, cannot long survive; and during the two years whilst these cases were under the jurisdiction of the district court of Allegheny county, Mr. Bradford made no exertion, no move, no attempt to have them disposed of.

The cases proposed to be removed from this county are actions of ejectment. One of them is B. Rush Bradford versus James Guthrie, et al., No. 97, September term, 1858, Armstrong, common pleas. The other is the same plaintiff versus William M. Caslin, et al., and numbered 98, September term, 1858. These suits were commenced on the 17th day of August, A. D. 1858. One of them, to wit: The action against M. Caslin, has not been tried. The other, through the agency of the plaintiff, by application after application for continuance, could not be forced to trial by the defendants till September term, A. D. 1863. At the same term the counsel for the plaintiff, the verdict of the jury under the charge of the court, having been rendered for the defendants, moved for a new trial, and that motion pending, caused the passage of the act of 8th April, 1864, transferring the two cases to Allegheny county. Thus the defendant was tied up again. It will be observed that before we succeeded in getting our case tried here, over five years had elapsed, from the time suit was brought; and that delay was caused by the plaintiff; and by reason of the change of venue we have been delayed three years longer, and now upon the eve of the trial of those cases, Mr. Bradford asks the Legislature to pass an act, in effect to prevent the trial, and give him an opportunity to baffle the disposition of these cases yet longer.

James Guthrie and George M. Caslin, against whom these respective suits were brought, made settlement upon the lands in controversy in the year A. D. 1815. The country was then a wilderness. They cleared out and improved the lands, and have been in the peaceful, the uninterrupted possession from that time till the commencement of these suits in 1858—a period of over forty years. They are now dead. Each of them, in what then was the frontier settlements, reared large families, and with their toil, energy and unabating industry, made extensive and valuable improvements. A number of their respective children have fallen in the armies of the Republic; some were indubitably put to death on Belle Island, and some breathed their last amidst the horrors of Andersonville prison. Their fathers are gone, and the surviving heirs are not able to bear the expense of a prolonged litigation in their own county, much less seventy-five or eighty miles from the place of their residence.

The allegation that Mr. Bradford cannot get a fair trial in this county is untrue. There is no prejudice against him—no local excitement or feeling on these cases, and there never has been. In the case which was tried, the verdict of the jury, was strictly in accordance with the charge of the court, and if any error was committed by the court, the plaintiff has his remedy by a writ of error.

The change of venue is ordinarily made only from the most convincing and overpowering reasons. Are there any such in these cases? In one case there has not yet been a trial. In the other there has been but one; and while it requires two verdicts and judgments to finally settle the title to lands, Mr. Bradford has as yet no sufficient or even plausible grounds for the change of venue; for though, there has been one verdict, there has not been a judgment. These cases have not created any excitement whatever, nor attracted any attention in the county than any other ordinary ejectment would have done. They are not even known to, or regarded by the citizens of this county, save a few, perhaps, who reside in the immediate neighborhood of the defendants.

The council of the plaintiff are gentlemen of long and high standing at this bar, and have the personal acquaintance of probably every juror in the county. With that acquaintance, this knowledge and experience, the selection of an impartial jury is without the slightest difficulty. While there is, therefore, no possible obstacle to the plaintiff's securing a fair, impartial and thorough trial in this county; the removal of these cases to Allegheny county would, in effect, as we have before stated, amount to a denial of justice to the defendants.

These witnesses, who prove the original settlement and the facts connected therewith are old and extremely feeble, and they could not with safety be taken so far from their homes as the city of Pittsburgh. But their presence before a jury is necessary—their very appearance and manner of testifying before a jury is important. Then, again, the defendants are poor and absolutely unable to bear the expenses that would necessarily devolve upon them in defending their respective rights so far away—the transportation of their witnesses about eighty miles; the enormous expense attend[ed] upon their accommodation in a city; the re-transportation of witnesses to their homes; the chances of continuance after continuance and trip after trip; the necessity of their taking counsel from their homes, and the greatly increased expense incident to that. These they are not able to bear, and we so declare, most emphatically and in all sincerity. And in our deliberate judgment we say the Legislature could do no greater wrong in passing an act directly taking from these poor men their lands and placing them in the hands of Mr. Bradford, than would be done in passing the bill to repeal the repealing act of April 11th, 1866.

It remains for us to give the reasons the plaintiff's counsel filed in support of the motion for a new trial. They are as follows, to wit:

First. The verdict is against the clear weight of the evidence.

Second. The court erred in their answer to the plaintiff's fourth, fifth and sixth points.

Third. The court erred in their general charge to the jury.

The first of these is a mere stereotyped reason; and the others clearly show that there was no reflection upon the impartiality of the jury, but the main objections were to the rulings of the court.

I am not concerned as counsel on either side of the above cases, but am familiar with the facts and was present at the trial here and freely concur in the above statement.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, that statement, I believe, is from the attorneys. I suppose they are paid for it, and have earned their money.

I send up an affidavit as a rebuttal, with the request that the Clerk read it for the information of the House.

The affidavit was read as follows:

At the time of the application to the Legislature, in March, A. D. 1864, for the passage of the act making a change of venue in two certain cases of ejectment, then pending before the court of common pleas in Armstrong county, the matters connected therewith were fully under consideration before the Judiciary Committee. Letters from counsel on either side were read, and the attorney of one of the defendants appeared for the purpose of using his personal endeavors in preventing the passage of the bill. After a full consideration the bill for the change of venue was passed by a large majority, and became the law of the land. The motion for a new trial was argued in the summer of 1864, before Judge Campbell and the honorable judges of the district court of Allegheny county. The court unanimously gave it as their opinion that injustice had been done by the verdict of the jury; therefore a new trial was granted.

In accordance with the act of Assembly, under which the venue was changed, the plaintiff was obliged to pay the sum of five hundred and thirty-five dollars as costs.

The cases were upon the trial list of Allegheny county, and would have come to issue ere this, had it not been for the repealing act passed at the close of the session of 1865, of which, at the time, the plaintiff had no knowledge.

The plaintiff fully believes an impartial jury for the hearing of his case cannot be obtained in the county of Armstrong.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to amend the bill by providing that the suits be brought in Allegheny county within the next six months.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I object to that amendment. This is a mere catch to carry this bill through.

question recurred on laying the bill aside for second reading.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. QUAY and Mr. HEADMAN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Allen, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Cameron, Chadwick, Craig, Davis, Day, De Haven, Fogel, Freeborn, Harbison, Harner, Heltzel, Hoffman, Humphrey, Jones, Kline, Lee, Leech, M'Creary, M'Kee, M'Pherrin, Marks, Meyers, Mullin, Pennyacker, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Rhoads, Roush, Seiler, Subers, Tharp, Waddell, Watt, Webb, Westbrook, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall and Wright—44.
NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Heltzel, Jones, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Mechling, Meyers, Quigley, Rhoads, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—24.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill was Laid aside.

House bill No. 900, an act to change the venue in a certain case from Schuylkill county to Dauphin county.

The question being on laying the bill aside.

Mr. BREEN. Mr. Speaker, I hope the bill will not be laid aside for second reading. Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I hope the bill will be laid aside. And when I state the reason I think the House will see the propriety of so doing.

This is an action of ejectment. The party in interest is one of the judges who is to try the case, and the brother of the presiding judge of the court is his lawyer. I think I need say nothing further than this.

I do not pretend that these gentlemen would do what is not right or fair, but I say they will be under influences that will permit them to take advantage of every circumstance in their favor.

I think this is sufficient reason for a change of venue.

I hope the House will change it.

Mr. BREEN. Mr. Speaker, the associate judge, who is interested in this case, is not allowed to sit upon its trial. I suppose that is known to every lawyer on this floor.

Mr. LEE. Well, Mr. Speaker, I presume, having employed the presiding judge's brother to try his case, he understood what he was about, and all the influence he can exert will be brought to bear. In the opinion of one of the parties to this case, a fair and equitable trial cannot be obtained without a change of venue.

I trust the House will lay the bill aside for second reading.

On the question,
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. THARP and Mr. BREEN, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Cameron, Chadwick, Cblville, Day, Donohugh, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Harbison, Hood, Humphrey, Lee, M'Camant, M'Kee, M'Pherrin, Maish, Mann, Marks, Meily, Peter, Pillow, Sharples, Shuman, Subers, Waddell, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—35.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Heltzel, Jones, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Mechling, Meyers, Quigley, Rhoads, Roush, Tharp and Westbrook—24.

So the question was determined in the affirmative,

During the second reading of private calendar remarks were made upon the following bills:

Senate bill No. 443, an act to divide the borough of Port Carbon, Schuylkill county, into two wards.

The bill was read.
Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I have a remonstrance, signed by a large number of the inhabitants of Port Carbon, addressed to his Excellency, the Governor. They supposed the bill had passed, and this is a remonstrance to the Governor giving reasons why it should not become a law.

The gentleman who brought it here, finding that the bill had not passed, handed it to me, requesting that I should represent the matter to the House, and make this remonstrance a part of my remarks against this bill. I ask attention to the facts set forth in it.

To His Excellency, J. W. Geary, Governor of Pennsylvania.

We, the undersigned, citizens of Port Carbon, Schuylkill county, would respectfully represent that we have just heard that a bill had passed the State Senate, dividing the said borough into two school districts.

Now, your petitioners do earnestly remonstrate against the same for the following reasons, viz:

First. That there is no reason whatever for said division, as there is, at most, but about seven hundred votes polled, and generally not over three hundred, which can be entered with ease at one poll.

Second. That there are but seven schools in the present district, all within a small compass, and whose interests can all be well attended by one set of directors.

Third. That the whole thing has been concocted and carried thus far in secrecy by a party opposed to the present administration, and whose main aim has been and still is to get control of the schools, as they have in most of the surrounding districts.

Having no representative to attend to our interests, and discovering the plot too near its final consummation, our only hope is in the interposition of your Excellency in our behalf to avert a great evil, there being a majority of two-thirds of the voters of the district opposed to it.

The signatures to this remonstrance indicate that the writers thereof are business men, men of character and position. They assert that in the town of Port Carbon two-thirds of the voters are opposed to this measure. If that be true, it seems to me, it ought not to be carried through against what degrees of truth this assertion is made. There is nothing shown here to prove its falsity.

If so large a portion of the people are opposed to this measure, I do not know what reason can be given to justify this interference with their wishes in this regard.

Mr. COLLINS. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry to hear the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN] take such an interest in our legislation. This bill was not snaked through. It was open for full and free discussion in the Senate. It is now here on the private calendar. I think this petition comes at a very late hour.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Schuylkill if the men who signed this petition are truthful men. I desire to know whether it is true that two-thirds of the voters are opposed to this bill?

Mr. BREEN. Mr. Speaker, it is highly important that this bill should pass. At the last election held in that borough there were four hundred and forty-seven votes polled. That is too large a number to be polled at any one place. The population there is increasing every day. I hope this bill will pass.

Mr. WEBB. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me, without talking about the merits of this case, that it is one in which the courts clearly have jurisdiction, as gentlemen will see by turning to page 386 of Purdon's Digest. I will read:

"144. The courts of quarter sessions shall have authority within their respective counties to divide any borough, ward or township."

Mr. CHALFANT. Mr. Speaker, I will say that I had a bill in character similar to this. Some very able lawyers presumed to say that the courts had power in the matter. I took the bill to the Senate, where there are able lawyers, and it was passed. I took it to the Governor and he signed it.

Mr. COLLINS. Mr. Speaker, I never heard politics mentioned in this bill before this afternoon. I have been in Schuylkill once or twice, and never heard any objection raised against it on political grounds. Port Carbon is very large and a good deal scattered.

Mr. QUAY. It seems to me if there is any political question involved in this matter, that the voters of Schuylkill should be allowed to pass upon it.

Mr. M'CAMANT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say to my friend from Schuylkill that some of our Republican friends have spoken to me in regard to this matter. They are very much opposed to the passage of this bill. They represent it to me as a party measure against the Republicans of Port Carbon.

Mr. COLLINS. Mr. Speaker, I can assure the House I never heard anything of the kind. I do not see how it is going to make any change in the politics of Schuylkill county, neither party can be injured; there will be no change in the votes.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker, I hope this bill will not pass, for the simple reason that every day or so a batch of bills of this character are returned with the Governor's veto—bills in which the courts unquestionably have jurisdiction. Why are we dragged into legislating upon a subject of this nature? Simply to preclude their going into the courts. Whether the gentleman is aware of the fact or not, there is unquestionably a very warm political feeling in regard to the passage of this act.

I am credibly informed the only reason they have for not going into the courts, where they could accomplish what they ask here, is that the excitement runs so high that their success would be an impossibility. They think they can succeed if they snake the measure through the House.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Lancaster tell me whether the courts of Schuylkill are not Democratic?

Mr. ARMSTRONG. I do not know whether they are or not; but there is excitement there.

The question being on the bill,
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CAMANT and Mr. MANN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Fogel, Ghegan, Gregory, Harner, Heltzel, Hoffman, Jenks, Jones, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Markley, Meyers, Mullio, Quigley, Rhoads, Roush, Seiler, Tharp, Westbrook, Whann and Wingard—33.

NAYS—Messrs. Armstrong, Brown, Chadwick, Day, DeLavan, Freeborn, Gordon, Kinney, Lee, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, M'Perrin, Mann, Penneyacker, Roath, Sharples, Stumbaugh, Webb, Weller, Wharton, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—24.

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the bill was

Agreed to.

The title was read, and

Agreed to.

The rules being suspended, the bill was ordered to be transcribed and read a third time by its title.

The question recurring on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MANN and Mr. M'CREARY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Fogel, Ghegan, Gregory, Harbison, Harner, Heltzel, Hoffman, Hood, Jenks, Jones, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Markley, Meysers, Mullin, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Roush, Sharp, Westbrook and Wingard—34.

 Yeas—Messrs. Alden, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Colville, Day, DeHaven, Espy, Freshorn, Gallagher, Gordon, Humphrey, Kinney, Lee, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, M'Pherrin, Mann, Meily, Peter, Pillow, Roath, Sharples, Steacy, Stehman, Waddell, Webb, Weller, Wharton, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—36.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The bill was not agreed to.

No. 1032, an act to incorporate the Rev. Ingh M'Laughlin beneficial society of Philadelphia.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the class of bills to which the Governor is calling our attention every day. That we disregard him is insulting.

These eminent members of the bar, who pass their opinions upon such matters, are not subject to consequences if the bill passes.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have a statement somewhere among my papers, with regard to this matter; and the reasons I know are sufficient. It states decidedly that the courts have not jurisdiction, and gives the reasons why they have not.

Mr. M'CREARY. I would like to hear them.

Mr. QUIGLEY. I have them here—a letter from a gentleman who was formerly a member of this House. He says:

"It cannot go through the court for the fact that most of its members are not citizens—that is, not naturalized. The object is a good one, and it ought to pass. The courts can grant charters only to citizens."

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, we had a veto message this morning on that very point.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Not on that point, I guess.

Mr. WADDELL. Well, Mr. Speaker, I don't know whether the people were citizens of New Jersey, or some other place—they were not citizens of Pennsylvania. That was the reason urged upon the Governor for signing the bill. The Attorney General says it is a mere subterfuge.

Mr. QUIGLEY. I think, if I understood the message, it says those names were put in merely to evade the law.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, it does not say that; but uses it as an example of what might be done. Whenever the parties desire to obtain from the Legislature a charter which they could get from the courts, they might use these names as subterfuges. It is asserted that these gentlemen are not citizens, and therefore the Legislature only has the power to incorporate in such cases.

I agree with the gentleman from Erie (Mr. M'Camant) that it is time the Legislature made up their minds deliberately, and say whether they will pass everything presented here and let the Governor veto it, or whether they will discriminate and say they will not pass what every man, if he chooses, must see will be vetoed when it reaches the Executive Chamber.

Have we any pride as a Legislature? We cannot, if we pass bills that we know the Governor will veto.

I would like to hear read that part of the Governor's message relating to the point which is now before us.

The Clerk read as requested.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Chester (Mr. Waddell) whether it is in the power of the Legislature to incorporate associations of persons other than citizens of the Commonwealth?

If the Legislature desires to incorporate a company of gentlemen who are not citizens how can it be done? The courts cannot do it. What is there to prevent us from acting in such premises? It seems to me this is a case of that kind.

I think the Governor has been right in nearly every one of his vetoes.

It seems to me he has no right to assume that this bill is framed so as to evade the statute.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I would make this answer to the gentleman from Fayette (Mr. Boyle). The courts are authorized to incorporate beneficial societies; the Legislature, therefore, has no authority in the premises, because the Constitution provides that what the court may do the Legislature shall not.

Now, the act of Assembly goes on to say in what manner they shall organize an association, and further, clearly declares that what the courts may do the Legislature shall not. It seems to me that there is nothing plainer than that this bill proposes to the Legislature of Pennsylvania that which the Legislature has authorized the courts to do—that is, to form a beneficial society.

Now, who shall be the persons incorporated is an entirely different matter. I take it that the Legislature, in this act, intended to say that only citizens of the State shall be formed into a corporation for beneficial purposes.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Potter is enlightening the House upon what we were already enlightened. The courts, we all know, can grant charters for beneficial purposes; but they cannot grant charters to persons who are not citizens of the State. Therefore, the courts cannot grant these parties a charter. They have come here.

The question is: Can this Legislature grant them a charter? I think there is no doubt about it. I have done all I can for this bill. I am clearly of the opinion we have the right to pass it.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, the bill does not say that the persons named therein are not citizens. It says certain persons wish to be incorporated into a beneficial society. Now, when this bill goes to the Governor, what evidence has he that they are not citizens of the Commonwealth? If it was stated that no person belonging to this association was to be a citizen, then the Governor would know whether he could sign the bill or not. There should be a preamble stating it as a fact, that the persons desiring to be incorporated are not citizens.

Upon a motion to adjourn the Chair cleared the table before announcing the result.

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The SPEAKER cleared his table of bills numbered and entitled as follows:

Senate bill, No. 847, an act for the protection of farmers in the markets of Philadelphia.

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

Senate bill No. 1027, an act to incorporate the Review Printing House company of the city of Philadelphia.

Laid on the table.

Senate bill No. 562, an act relating to the coroner of the city and county of Philadelphia.

On motion,

The House insisted in its amendment, non-concurred in by the Senate, to said bill;

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Senate bill No. 847, an act for the protection of farmers in the markets of Philadelphia.

Senate bill No. 1027, an act to incorporate the Review Printing House company of Philadelphia.

He also informed that the Senate has concurred in all the amendments, but the last, made by the House of Representatives to Senate bill No. 562, entitled An act relating to the coroner of the city and county of Philadelphia.

In which last amendment the Senate has non-concurred.

He also informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution passed by the House of Representatives (on the 19th instant) requesting the Governor to return to the House for amendment House bill No. 587, entitled An act to incorporate the Greensburg Masonic fund.

In accordance with the action upon the motion to adjourn, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until to-morrow (Wednesday) morning, at ten o'clock.

Mr. JACKSON, a petition of citizens of Dushore borough, Sullivan county, praying for the passage of an act providing that the election of corporate officers of said borough be held on the third Friday of July instead of the first Monday in August.

Referred to the Committee on Election Districts.

Also, petition of citizens of Bloomsburg, Columbia county, in favor of the erection of a poor house in Bloom township.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

Also, eleven petitions, numerously signed by citizens of Sullivan county, praying that the venue in the case of Jesse M'Carty and others, election officers of Elkland district, in said county, changed under a recent act of Assembly to the county of Bradford, be changed to the county of Lycoming.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

The petition was read as follows, viz:

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met.

The petition of the undersigned, citizens of the county of Sullivan, respectfully represents:

That the venue has been changed, under a recent act of Assembly, from this to the county of Bradford, in the case of Jesse M'Carty and other election officers of Elkland district (who had been indicted in our court of quarter sessions for an alleged violation of the election laws), by the terms of which act of Assembly, the expenses are to be paid by the people of Sullivan. Four petitioners, thus interested, are of the opinion, in view of the principles upon which the act to which we refer is based, that a fair trial cannot be had in the said county of Bradford, for the following reasons—in setting forth which, we not only regard the principles of the law changing the venue, but follow closely the reasoning of the one hundred and twenty-one citizens of Sullivan who asked for this law; and we even copy the intensity of expression to which they resorted, that found such sudden favor in our Legislative Halls:

First, Bradford county is intensely "Republican" in its politics; and these political sentiments, judging from the temper exhibited by the representatives of Bradford in both branches of the Assembly, in their advocacy of the change of venue in question, induces the honest belief in our minds, that the people of Sullivan have no rights which Bradford Republicanism would feel bound to respect, since our judges and jurors have no feeling or reputation to be regarded because they consent to concur with a majority of the people here in their political preferences.

These views have been impressed upon the minds of the people of Bradford from the stump, not only by leading Republicans, but judges there have often been known to leave the bench of justice for the purpose of making excited political harangues! In remarking thus, we feel bound to except the president judge lately elected in that district—whatever may be the fact in regard to his associates, we have just passed through the fires of an excited election contest, in the course of which, printed lists, with strenuous instructions to exclude from the sacred rights of suffrage those whose names were blackened as "deserters" without having had a trial—many of whom were known to have faithfully reported themselves at their country's call, and proved their loyalty in some of the bloodiest struggles of the war.

Second. The sheriff and Commissioners of Bradford county are "intense" Republicans of the modern school, and have, in all human probability, carried out their political partialities in making up the jury box; at least, we venture to assume they would be quite as likely to do so as those public officers of Sullivan county, who have been proscribed by the late act of Assembly as naïfs, because they are Democrats, to be trusted to perform their sworn duties.

Again—We humbly submit, in support of our prayer, that if the remarkable precedent likely to be established by a solemn act of the Assembly, to which we have reference, that the honestly entertained political opinions of the majority of the people of a county, is a good cause for interference in the usual course of administering our criminal law—if, in other words, an "intensely" Democratic community, as that of Sullivan has been declared to be, is not to try offenses alleged to have been committed within its limits, where is the propriety of sending them to the "intensely" Republican county of Bradford? The logic of the reasoning which asks such a procedure, and the law which followed, are their own, only parallels!

Finally—For the reasons we have set forth, and others which must occur to every candid mind, we pray that an act of Assembly be passed providing for a change in the venue of this case to the court of quarter sessions of our mother county, Lycoming, whose politics, we sincerely trust, may not be found so "intense," on either side of the public questions of the day, as ever to exclude its citizens from their lawful privileges, or its courts and jurors from usual legislative comity and confidence.

— And we will ever pray.

ROAD DAMAGES IN COLUMBIA.

On motion of Mr. BILLINGFELT, the rule was dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled A supplement to an act to incorporate the borough of Columbia.

Mr. WALLS hoped the Senate would not consider the bill at this time.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, this bill is of more importance to my constituents than all the bills together that we have yet acted on. Unless we take up this bill now and pass it, it will not be of any avail to my constituents. It is a matter of much moment to them, and I hope, in justice to myself and to my constituency, that the Senator from Union [Mr. WALLS] will not object to the consideration of the bill, in which his people have no interest at all. It concerns every taxpayer in Lancaster, and I will ask that the Clerk read a letter which I have in my possession.

The bill was read a second time and

Agreed to.

The question recurring on suspending the rules I read the bill a third time.

Mr. COWLES said, Mr. Speaker, I am aware that Mr. FISHER, who is not on the floor, is very much opposed to this bill, and it seems to me the passage of it would work gross injustice to the borough of Columbia.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, it is the duty of my colleague, as well as my duty, to present here and attend to the duties of the office for which he was elected. My constituents are complaining universally that this bill has been detained too long, and Mr. FISHER knew before he left this Chamber, sir, that I was going to call up this bill at the earliest possible moment; and, sir, he had no business to go to any member of this Senate and tell him to stop the passage of this bill while he was absent. I again ask the Clerk to read the following letter. It is only one of many that I am receiving every day.

The letter was read by the Clerk as follows:

MARSH, Pa., March 18, 1867.

Hon. E. Billingsfelt,

DEAR SIR—There is considerable excitement in regard to a bill which was allowed to pass the last session, in regard to Columbia borough, which, it seems, is calculated to saddle a large amount of taxes on our county. The people think there is about tax enough. I think, myself, the bill which passed the House is quite liberal enough for said locality, and I hope the Senate will pass it at once. Some think that friend FISHER will be able to save it off, but I trust that in this case he will not forget that he has interests to represent outside of Columbia.

I have no doubt but that in this case you will be found, as usual, on the side of the great taxing community of the county. I should be pleased to visit the capital, but cannot now. Respectfully yours.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Mr. Speaker, I think it is due to the Senator who is absent to have this bill laid over on third reading. I should certainly not like one of my colleagues to call up a bill, while I was absent, to which I was opposed.

[Mr. FISHER here entered the chamber.]

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I am glad the Senator is now present. This is a contest, between the taxpayers of Lancaster county and the residents of the town in which my colleague lives.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I trust the rules will not be suspended. This is the most extraordinary proceeding that I have yet witnessed in this Senate. I am not much surprised at some things done here, but I am at this—extremely so. Yesterday two of the county commissioners of the county were here; their solicitor drew up a bill as substitute for this, and handed it to me. Held it here with the clear understanding that if any action was taken upon the bill, that it should have an opportunity to be submitted to our councils, who meet to-morrow night. I do not believe it would have been called up during my presence. I was temporarily absent, and I suppose my colleague thinks he was practicing a little "sharp practice." But I trust, with this statement, the Senate will see the propriety of proceeding no further in this matter, when there is the clear, well-defined understanding by the commissioners and county solicitor that, before any action was taken upon this bill, I should have an opportunity of laying before the councils a substitute drawn up by the solicitor himself. I believe, sir, my colleague was cognizant of these facts at the time, but I suppose he thought he could steal a march upon me and capture my camp during my absence. And in view of these facts, if the Senate chooses to pass this bill, be it so.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, as to the charge of "sharp practice," I leave the Senate of Pennsylvania to decide that matter for themselves. You know, Mr. Speaker, and every other Senator on this floor can bear me out, when I say that I endeavored to call this bill up yesterday and the day before.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I will ask my colleague to state whether he does not know that the statement I have made in regard to that substitute—whether he does not know that there was an agreement with the commissioners that before any action should be taken I shall have an opportunity to submit that substitute to the borough authorities?

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I would have answered that question without being called upon by my colleague to do so. The county authorities of Lancaster were here for the second time yesterday, asking for the passage of this bill. We had a meeting, at which my colleague was present, and he said: "If you will consent that this bill shall be postponed until the councils meet, I will agree to it." They urged me to press the passage of this bill, for fear the actions of the councils might be delayed too long, and thereby delay the passage of the bill. I claim, sir, that I stand upon this floor representing the county commissioners on this question, and they gave me instructions to take the first opportunity of calling up this bill. I deny that there was a different understanding. I was present, and know that they so instructed me; and the last words they uttered were that I should call up the bill and not refer the matter to the councils of Columbia, because they alone are interested in the defeat of this bill.

Mr. FISHER. Do I understand my colleague to say that he denies—

Mr. BILLINGFELT. I deny, sir, that the county commissioners gave their consent to this delay. I know a conversation was had upon this matter, but, sir, they did not agree on any postponement of the bill, and urged me repeatedly that I should press its passage.

Mr. FISHER. It is a question of veracity. Now, sir, I assert, without any idea of successful contradiction, that there was such an agreement, and I re-assert that my colleague knows there was such an agreement. He was present, and cognizant of these facts; and I ask him to say if this substitute is not in the hand-writing of the solicitor of Lancaster county? And I assert here, most decidedly, and most emphatically and emphatically, without fear of contradiction from any other quarter, that such was the agreement, and my colleague knows that to be the fact.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to get into a quarrel about this matter. What little tax I have to pay in Lancaster county, I can pay. I stand here as the representative of the county commissioners of Lancaster county upon this question. I confess that the proposition was submitted and entertained, but was not agreed to.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. They offered to agree to this substitute, but they did not agree to have the question postponed. The session is so far advanced, that they knew that if any question should be brought here which meets with the objection of a single member of either branch, it will take one month before it can be finally passed. Our session will only extend for the space of three weeks, and it will be utterly impossible to pass this bill, if it meets with a single objection, unless we take it up and pass it now or within a day or two. Hence, it was very necessary for the county commissioners to agree to refer the matter to the councils of the borough of Columbia. The county commissioners brought this bill here, and they will not submit to be governed by the action of the borough authorities of Columbia; and it is a question for the Senate to say whether this act of justice shall be done to the county of Lancaster or not. I will agree to have the bill laid over to a certain day, if it is not deferred too long.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to make a little explanation of our position here in regard to this agreement. In the conversations we have had, I made this proposition, and I again assert that it was agreed to; and I will further assert that my colleague knew it, and, in addition to that, I will submit it to the commissioners if this is not in their hand-writing. It was suggested that this might take time, and I suggested, to avoid that difficulty, if it was very satisfactory to them, I would move for the discharge of the committee; and if not so satisfactory, I would throw no impediment in the way of this bill, so as not to delay it beyond the term of the session. I said then, and I say now, I will not throw any obstacle in the way of it; and the only reason why the bill has been kept in the hands of the committee was, that I was unable to make myself acquainted, so far as road damages are paid in the city of Lancaster; that I was perfectly willing the town of Columbia should come under the same provisions which are in Lancaster on this question. I say so now, as Lancaster to decide so important a matter without consulting its constituents. It was so understood by the commissioners, and the solicitor and myself, and it was so stated.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I will not deny that the county commissioners may have agreed to submit the matter to the councils, but they did not agree that the passage of this bill shall be delayed on account of that. They told me that I should avail myself of the first opportunity to pass it, and let the borough authorities do as they please. He lives in the town of Columbia, and sees his people there every week; he has had time to see the commissioners of Lancaster county; he has had ample time to examine this subject; and why delay it longer.

Mr. BIGHAM moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill until Tuesday next, and that it be made the special order for that day.

The motion was Agreed to.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was read as follows, viz:

Resolved (if the Senate concur). That the Governor be requested to return House Bill No. 544, entitled an act relative to the purchase of a law library, in the county of Washington, for the purpose of amendment.

On motion of Mr. TAYLOR, said resolution was concurred in.

He also returned bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 45, a supplement to an act to incorporate the Lykens Valley coal company, in Dauphin county, Pennsylvania, to authorize the opening of a road in Honesdale, Wayne county, authorizing them to dispose of the stock of said company.

No. 617, joint resolution relative to the revision of the civil laws of Pennsylvania,

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

On motion, the amendments were concurred in.

DIVORCE BILL.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of bill entitled An act to amend the marriage contract between William Riley and Martha Willets.

Mr. WALLS said the committee had examined the matter, and that there was no objection; the parties have been separated for seven and a half years.

[The papers in the case were read by the Clerk.]

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, the Senator from Clearfield [Mr. WALLACE] knows something of the condition of the parties. I do not think any good will be done by compelling them to live together. The courts have clearly no power in the case. I know there are objections to granting these divorces under ordinary circumstances; but this is an exceptional case.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, this matter was before the Judiciary Committee, and they were satisfied, from the statements produced, that it was a case where the courts had no control. It appears that the man is an industrious laboring man, who had done his duty to his children, and had settled upon his wife about half of his property, and had done his duty toward her, and that wife was unwilling to perform her marital duties. That being the case, why should we perpetuate the misery of these people?

It is simply a perpetuation of their misery. It seems to me that this is a case in which legislative interference is called for. Therefore, we recommended the bill to pass.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I do not like to be factious in these things. Everybody knows that I have always been opposed to granting divorces unless there was good cause therefor; because, in the proportion that we increase the facility in getting divorces, in that proportion do we increase the number of applications. When a case is presented before the Legislature, there should be such a case made out as will support the application in a court. We ought to require something like the testimony that is required in a court of justice, supposing the case was before them. We have the petition of the applicant, but we have not heard anything from the other side. This is an ex parte proceeding entirely.

Mr. BIGHAM. The agreement between the parties is here; it is not an ex parte proceeding at all; the articles of separation are here.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to delay the Senate by having it read. I do not see that there is prima facie case made out. These parties have separated; I do not know whether this money has been paid or not. The children of these parties have a right in the matter, and I do not think the Legislature ought to interfere and grant divorces unless the case is a clear one.

A SENATOR stated that there was a receipt from the wife for the money among these papers.

On the final passage of the bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WHITE and Mr. SEARIGHT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Brown (Mercer), Burnett, Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Davis, Donovan, Fisher, James, Landon, M' Candless, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Shoemaker, Wallace, Walls and Hall, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Searight, Taylor and White—5.

So the bill Passed finally.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of bill entitled An act repealing the tax on sales of loans and stock by auctioneers.

The bill

Passed finally.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of bill entitled a further supplement to an act to lay out a State road from Karthans, in Clearfield county, to Condorsport, in Potter county, by way of Sinnemahoning, and for other purposes, approved March 31st, 1845, renewing the powers, appointing new commissioners and appropriating taxes for its completion.

The bill

Passed finally.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. GRAHAM, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to authorize the school directors of the borough of Sewickley to borrow money and levy additional school tax.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence) called the orders of the day.

Mr. WORTHINGTON. Mr. Speaker, it ought to be recollected by Senators that we have a large number of public bills yet to pass, some of which are very important.— There is time enough for all the Senators to have their private legislation passed this session if we only pursue the orders. I do not think there is any necessity for this press, and I trust we will take up the public calendar. These private bills go upon the calendar next week; we are frittering away the time which ought actually to be devoted to public bills. Now, I have myself indulged my friends upon this subject until I think it is time to stop.

THE SPEAKER. If you do it for one Senator, you cannot help doing it for another.

Mr. COWLES moved that the Senate do now adjourn.

The motion was not

Agreed to.

On motion, the consideration of the public calendar was postponed till this afternoon.

On motion of Mr. JACKSON, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to incorporate the American University of Philadelphia.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act supplementary to an act entitled An act to incorporate the city of Williamsport, which became a law on the 15th of January, 1866.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. DAVIS, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Neversink insurance company of Berks county.

The bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. COWLES, the Committee on Education was discharged from the further consideration of bill entitled An act to attach certain real estate to the borough of Smethport, M'Kean county, for school purposes.

The rules having been dispensed with, the bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. DONOVAN, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Oakland Skating Park and Physical Institute of Philadelphia.

And the bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. LOWRY, the Committee on Banks was discharged from the further consideration of bill entitled An act to incorporate the Conneautville Savings Bank.

And the rules having been dispensed with, the bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. RIDGWAY, the Committee on Corporations was discharged from the further consideration of bill entitled An act to incorporate the American buttonhole, overseaming and sewing machine company.

And the rules having been dispensed with, the bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. CONNELL, the rule was dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act for the better protection of seamen in the port and harbor of Philadelphia.

The bill was read a second time, and laid over to a third reading.

On motion of Mr. SEARIGHT, the Senate resumed the second reading and consideration of bill entitled An act relating to evidence in actions of ejectment.

The first and only section was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in all actions of ejectment against two or more persons, any of the defendants shall be competent as a witness for either plaintiff or defendant as effectually as if not made a party to the record: Provided, That it shall appear to the court, upon the trial, that the party so offered as a witness has disclaimed, upon so record, all title to the premises in controversy, and paid into court the costs already accrued or given security for the payment thereof, at the discretion of the court.

On the question?

Will the Senate agree to the first and only section?

Mr. M'CONAUGHY moved to amend the same by inserting after the word "controversy," the words "at the time of action brought."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

The section as amended was

Agreed to.

The bill was read a third time, and

Passed finally.

The hour of one o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Senate reassembled at 3 o'clock, P. M. COMMUNICATION FROM THE PENNSYLVANIA AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The SPEAKER laid before the Senate a communication, which was read as follows:

To the Speaker of the Senate of Pennsylvania:

I was directed by the Pennsylvania State Agricultural society, at its meeting in Harrisburg, on the 20th day of March, 1867, to lay before your honorable body the following extract from its proceedings, with the request that the subject be referred to the appropriate committee for consideration.

On motion of Mr. Rhey, of Westmoreland county,

Resolved, That the Legislature of the State be requested to appropriate a sum sufficient to defray the expenses of Professor S. S. Haldeman, chemist and geologist of this society, and of a competent assistant, to be selected by him, in ascertaining the best method of rendering night soil and sewerage of this State available in enriching exhausted or other lands, and make report not later than the next session of the Legislature, provided the cost does not exceed one thousand dollars.

The society has had its attention turned to this subject on several occasions. It is one of so much importance, that after full consideration it was deemed the wisest course to recommend the subject to the Legislature in the form of a resolution above, with the hope that favorable action will be had upon it.

With very great respect,

A. BOYD HAMILTON,
Pres't P. S. A. Society.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bill numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 1391, an act authorizing the school directors of the borough of Ashland to borrow money.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

He also returned bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows:

No. 1115, an act supplementary to an act entitled An act to incorporate the city of Williamsport, which became a law the 15th day of January, A. D. 1866, changing the wards, and authorizing said city to borrow money.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

He also returned bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows:

No. 723, an act to incorporate the Caladonia Iron and coal company.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

On motion of Mr. COLEMAN, the amendments were twice read and concurred in.

He also informed that the House of Representatives has concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to House bill No. 1085, an act to increase the revenue of the Commonwealth.

Also, that the House of Representatives has concurred in the resolution from the Senate relating to the recalling from the Governor Senate bill No. 311, entitled A supplement to an act to establish a ferry over the Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers, approved the 5th day of February, 1784.

INCREASE OF THE REVENUE.

On leave.

Mr. CONNELL, from the Committee on Finance, reported, with amendments, a bill entitled An act to increase the revenue of the Commonwealth.

Mr. CONNELL moved that the rules be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act every railroad, canal, or transportation company, which possesses the right to mine coal, or purchase, or lease, and sell the same, shall quarterly, on the first days of January, April, July and October, make a report, under oath, or affirmation, stating the amount of coal mined by them and from property owned and leased by them, and also the amount of coal purchased by them, or mined from property owned by them that may be leased by other parties during the preceding three months, and shall pay to the Commonwealth, within thirty days thereafter, a tax of four cents per ton upon each and every ton of anthracite coal so purchased or mined, the account to be settled by the Auditor General and State Treasurer, and in case of default in payment, to be recoverable as other taxes due the Commonwealth, that the amount of coal consumed in the transaction of their business shall not be included in their return: And provided further, That said corporation shall be exempt from the payment of the tax upon tonnage as imposed by an act entitled An act to provide additional revenue for the use of the Commonwealth, approved twenty-fifth August, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, upon all coal upon which a tax shall be paid under the provisions of this act, and also from the tax on net earnings or income as imposed by the act of April thirtieth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, and also from the tax upon gross receipts, imposed by the act of twenty-third February, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, so far as the net earnings and gross receipts are derived from the mining, transportation and sale of the said coal.

Mr. DAVIS moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill until Tuesday next.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, in 1864 a tonnage act was passed, and the object of this bill is to enforce the act of 1864. I believe, if they pay the tax under the act of 1864, they are exempt from this.

Companies that mine within the State and ship to points where the rate are exempt, under the decision of Judge Pearson. I do not know whether it has been affirmed by the Supreme Court, but I suppose it will be.

Mr. CONNELL. It is not to enforce the act of 1864, as stated by the Senator, which act was inapplicable to these companies, but it is a new bill, which imposes the same amount of tax upon them as by the act of 1864. We have been in consultation with the State Treasurer in regard to this bill. The House bill imposed a tax of ten cents a ton; after consultation with gentlemen representing these large coal interests, we have arrived at the conclusion that four cents is about the fair average. The State Treasurer thinks it is about fair, and wishes the bill to pass.

Mr. LANDON. Mr. Speaker, by the laws referred to by the Senator from Allegheny, mining and transportation companies taking coal out of the State, were subject to a tax on gross receipts, and an income tax. Certain companies took exception to that law, and brought the case before the court. The court held that they were exempt from this tax, being miners and carriers. The result was that the treasurer received no income from it; hence his object was to put a tax directly upon the coal transported; hence this bill was originated by the State Treasurer. It passed the House. The representatives of those companies have been here, and an agreement was made with the treasurer, on an agreement upon this bill as it is, and the Finance Committee recommended it unanimously. So it is agreed upon by all parties.

Mr. DAVIS. I do not say that this is not all right; very likely I will vote for it. But I cannot see what harm would be done in letting it lie over until Tuesday.

Mr. LANDON. I heard the treasurer request the chairman of the Finance Committee to have it pressed through.

Mr. DAVIS. The State Treasurer may wait if he liked to-day, but I may not; I wish to examine it.

Mr. SHOEMAKER. Mr. Speaker, I have not had the pleasure of seeing this bill at all. It affects my constituents more than any others in the Commonwealth.

Mr. CONNELL. Which company?

Mr. SHOEMAKER. The Delaware and Hudson and other companies.

Mr. CONNELL. They were here this morning, and asked to have the bill passed in its present shape.

Mr. SHOEMAKER. Mr. Speaker, I think the mere fact that the State Treasurer wants the bill is of no importance. He is of no more importance than any Senator on this floor. Some gentlemen, for some particular reasons, may be in a wonderful hurry; and I would second the motion of the Senator from Berks [Mr. DAVIS], that we may have an opportunity at least of seeing the bill we are to vote for. It is not on our file. We have got to go to it blindly, if we vote for it now. It may be all right; but, before I vote for it, I would like to see the bill, and if it is postponed, I shall have an opportunity of doing so. If it is insisted upon now, other gentlemen may vote it up or down, without regard to my vote.

Mr. COLEMAN. The only objection I have to this bill is, that it is too moderate. I would like to have had the bill passed as it came from the House, and tax the constituents of the Senator from Luzerne [Mr. SHOEMAKER] ten cents.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, if one sound reason can be given why this bill should pass to-day, rather than next Tuesday, I will not insist.

Mr. CONNELL. We are assured by the treasurer that it will bring us a revenue of two hundred thousand dollars, probably from Luzerne county. We are asked to make an appropriation for an insane asylum in that county, and to-day the Committee on Finance refuse to act upon that bill until they know the fate of this one. We are not going to vote money out of the treasury until we have some provision for bringing it in.

Mr. DAVIS. I see no reason why the bill should pass to-day.

The motion of Mr. DAVIS to postpone was

Not agreed to.

Mr. RANDALL. Mr. Speaker the companies proposed to be taxed here are companies that do a New York trade exclusively, and in their business operations act very seriously against the interests of the county I represent. This tax of four cents per ton will not begin to amount to the incidental taxes in Schuylkill county.

I move to amend by striking out the word "four," after the words "a tax of," and inserting in lieu thereof the word "ten."

Mr. CONNELL. The State Treasurer has given a great deal of attention to this matter, and he says four cents is sufficient. I think we should be satisfied with that.

Mr. SHOEMAKER. Mr. Speaker, if this matter has been investigated by the Finance Committee, and given that consideration which it requires, and the parties affected by it have consented to the infliction of this tax, which is really onerous, I have nothing to say. I move to amend by striking out the word "outrage which I hardly think the Senator from Schuylkill county [Mr. RANDALL] would dare to sustain in this Senate. I know that it would be a little short of robbery, and I am somewhat surprised that a man from an anthracite region should suggest it.

Mr. CONNELL. The Senator from Schuylkill [Mr. RANDALL] would impose a tax greater than the coal is worth.

Mr. LANDON. Mr. Speaker, I have no interest in this matter. These parties have been before the committee on different occasions, and have made notes, made arguments, and exhibited their figures and statements. If the Senate will please pause a moment, they will see that here is the point: If these companies had continued to pay their tonnage tax, and their tax upon gross receipts, everything would have been all right. The Senate will have to exercise a little mathematics upon this point. The question was how many cents per ton must be put on coal, in order to amount in the aggregate to the same as this other tax would have amounted to. I asked the State Treasurer to figure it out. These gentlemen figured that two and one-half cents would make as much as the other tax would have amounted to; the treasurer said four cents, and we took the treasurer's figures. Really, I think ten cents would be an utter robbery, and I thought four cents was a heavy embargo; but the other party assented to that. I would have voted for a smaller figure, believing, with the Senator from Luzerne [Mr. SHOEMAKER], that four cents per ton is a heavy embargo; but, as they agreed to that, the committee accepted what they agreed to. In regard to postponing it, both parties, within an hour united in the request that the bill might be passed.

Mr. RANDALL's amendment was

Not agreed to.

The section was then

Agreed to.

The remaining sections and title were

Agreed to.

And the bill was read a third time and

Passed finally.

BILLS IN PLACE.

On leave.

Mr. SHOEMAKER read in his place and presented to the Chair a bill entitled An act relative to the account of John Hines, late mercantile appraiser of Lycoming county.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. CONNELL, a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Union Car manufacturing company.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. BURNETT, a bill entitled An act to authorize county surveyors to take the acknowledgment of deeds, mortgages, letters of attorney and other instruments of writing.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary General.

THE LICENSE LAW.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of a bill entitled A further supplement to an act to regulate the granting of licenses to hotels and eating houses, approved March 21, 1856.

The bill was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That when an application is made to any court of quarter sessions of this Commonwealth for license to sell intoxicating drinks, it shall be lawful for said court to hear petitions, in addition to that of the applicant in favor of, and remonstrances against the application for such license, and in all cases to refuse the same, whenever, in the opinion of said court (having due regard to the number and character of the petitioners for and against such application), such license is not necessary for the accommodation of the public and entertainment of strangers and travelers, and upon sufficient cause being shown, the said courts shall have power to revoke any license granted by them; and all laws inconsistent with this section are hereby repealed: Provided, That the sureties in the bond required of the applicant for license shall be signed to his petition.

SEC. 2. That applications for license to keep an eating house, beer-house or restaurant authorizing the sale of domestic wines, malt and brewed liquors, shall hereafter be made in the same manner, and to the same authority as application for license to keep a hotel: Provided, That the regulation in relation to bed rooms and beds, shall not apply to applicants for an eating house, beer house and restaurant license; and the tenth section of the act of twentieth of April, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, authorizing county treasurers to grant an eating house or retail brewery license, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. No license to keep an eating house, beer house, or restaurant, under the provisions of the second section of this act, shall be granted in any incorporated city for a less sum than fifty dollars, nor elsewhere for a less sum than twenty dollars.

SEC. 4. If any person, after the passage of this act, shall sell spirituous and vinous liquors, domestic wines, malt or brewed liquors, without having obtained a license authorizing him so to do, such person shall, on conviction in the court of quarter sessions, be fined, for the first offense, in any sum not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars, and for the second or any subsequent offense, such person shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars, and in the discretion of the said court, be imprisoned in the county jail not less than thirty days, nor more than ninety days: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to repeal the provisions of the act of Assembly passed March thirty-first, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, relating to sales by druggists and apothecaries.

SEC. 5. That the provisions of the first section of this act shall not apply to the city of Philadelphia or to the county of Allegheny: Provided, That nothing in this act shall authorize the granting of licenses to hotel and inn keepers to vend vinous, spirituous and malt liquors, and to license beer-houses, eating houses and restaurants, in any locality where licensing of hotels, inns, beer houses, eating houses or restaurants is now prohibited by law.

Mr. SEARIGHT moved to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of striking out the proviso at the end of the first section.

Mr. WHITE. We have had a most extended discussion upon this subject, and I trust we will vote this motion down, and pass this bill as it is.

Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence). I hope the Senate will not go into committee of the whole.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I think that this is one of the most important features of this bill. This proviso requires that the sureties must be signers of the petition. That will require them to have responsible persons to sign the petition, and I hope this motion to go into committee of the whole will not prevail.

Mr. SEARIGHT. Mr. Speaker, the object of the bond is entirely different from the object of the petition. A responsible man might sign the application or recommendation of the applicant and refuse to sign the bond. I cannot see why one of the sureties should be required to sign the petition or recommendation of the applicant. He might have some good reason for refusing to sign the petition, and yet be willing to sign the bond. I cannot see any reason why this provision should be retained. The petition and bond are two separate things; a bond is for a different thing; it is simply to cover up any violation of the license law. If an applicant gets his bond signed by a responsible man, and gets it approved by the court, that is all he ought to be required to do. It is against the policy of the law and it is against the practice of the courts, and against common sense, to require a man to do a particular thing before he can sign a man's bond.

Mr. SCHALL. Mr. Speaker, I notice, in the second section, that the application for a license for a restaurant shall be made in the same way as for those of hotel keepers, and provides that the regulation as to bed rooms and beds shall not be applied to beer houses. If I understand it, the license law, as it now stands, requires some stabling.

Mr. SEARIGHT. I see that the sureties in the bond required of the applicant shall be signed to his petition. Now, the applicant for license might get twelve respectable, honest and upright men in his township or borough to sign the certificate accompanying his application for license, and yet the court might not approve a single one of those signers as sureties, because they might not have a sufficient amount of property. A man might be competent as a signer, and yet not have sufficient property to be approved as a surety in the bond.

Mr. WHITE. If a man cannot get two men to sign his application, who would be approved by the court, upon a bond, he is not competent to have a license.

Mr. SEARIGHT. That is not the question.

Mr. WHITE. It is the exact question.

Mr. SEARIGHT. That has nothing to do with it. You may get responsible men to sign, and then get two responsible men as sureties; it strikes me that is a sensible way.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Let me inquire of the Senator any supposable reason for signing the one, and not the other.

Mr. SEARIGHT. I do not know of any supposable reason, but I cannot see why they should sign his petition without they can be made competent to sign his bond.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. I think the answer to that is, that this requirement constitutes an assurance of good faith and character. A man may sign a petition for anything, entirely irrespective of its merits, as thousands do; but the requirement here is a guaranty to the community that the signer is in earnest.

Mr. SEARIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I believe that an applicant for a license in my district, or any other part of the State, can get any gentleman who signs his bond to sign his certificate. I feel satisfied of that. But it is so strange and so unprecedented a thing to require it, that I cannot see the propriety of it. This is not the only amendment I propose to offer; and I think the Senate ought to give us an opportunity to offer these amendments. I propose to offer an amendment to the last section, and unless the motion prevails, I shall not have that opportunity. It is probably immaterial as to retaining this proviso; it is only unusual.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer). Mr. Speaker, I would be glad to hear the character of the Senator's amendments. As the matter now stands, I would vote against going into committee of the whole, from the fact that the proviso which he proposes to strike out looks like a wise precaution in the bill; having no knowledge of the other amendments proposed, I object to going into committee of the whole.

Mr. SEARIGHT. I propose to offer an amendment to the first section, which affects my district.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer). If the Senator can offer an amendment which will make the bill more effective as a temperance measure, I will vote with him.

Mr. SEARIGHT. That is what I propose to do.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion to go into committee of the whole?
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEARIGHT and Mr. DAVIS, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Davis, Donovan, Glatz, James, M'Candless, Randall, Ridgway, Schall, Wallace and Walls—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White and Worthington—10.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SEARIGHT. I move to go into committee of the whole for special amendment. I propose to except the county of Westmoreland from the operations of the fifth section, in regard to hotel keepers.

Messrs. SCHALL and GLATZ also desired their districts to be exempted.

Mr. WHITE. I trust that motion will be voted down.

Mr. BIGHAM. York and Westmoreland are good and substantial counties, and able to pay licenses. I hope they don't put in the plea of poverty. I do not see why they should pay less license than the rest.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I hope this amendment will prevail. I had intended, when we came to the fifth section, to make the same motion to amend and except my county from the operations of this section; and the reason I desire that is, that I am satisfied that the vast majority of my constituents, of all particular parties and creeds, would vote in favor of exempting the county from the operations of this section, had they a voice upon this floor. We believe that the drinking of malt liquor is not injurious in any shape, morally or physically.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. How is it politically?

Mr. DAVIS. Politically it has a very good effect, I believe. In so far as its physical effects are concerned, I know of numerous individuals, of all ages—men of sedentary habits, especially lawyers and others—who are unable to take that amount of bodily exercise which is necessary to preserve health, and who have been advised by their physicians to take a glass of beer or two a day, and they now find it necessary to do so. I know clergymen who have been advised to do so, and find it exceedingly beneficial. This is no joke; it is a reality. As a matter of course, the passage of this bill cannot break up the traffic in lager beer. If it did, I should tremble almost for the consequences. It is said that in Havana an annual tax of one penny on beer will cause a revolution. I do not suppose any result of that kind would follow here; but I do not think it is good policy to throw anything in the way of the consumption of malt liquor, and thereby encourage a greater consumption of whisky. We must take the people as we find them, and as they are constituted by nature; they will indulge at times in some stimulant or other. I am certainly opposed, as much as any man upon this floor, to the indiscreet use of intoxicating liquors.

Mr. CLEMAN. Do you understand this bill as preventing the clergymen and lawyers of Berks county from taking two glasses of lager a day? If that is the case, I should be rather opposed to the bill myself; I do not understand the bill in that way.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I object to this bill unless it is amended. The second section requires that the application for license to keep an eating house, beer house, or restaurant, authorizing the sale of domestic wines, malt or brewed liquors, shall hereafter be made in the same manner, and to the same authority as application for license to keep a hotel, pro-vice, &c. The regulation in relation to bed rooms and beds will not apply to applicants for an eating house, beer house, and restaurant license.

I do not know as there is any necessity for making this allusion to bed rooms and beds. I do not know how it is in other counties, but in my county lager beer licenses are not bed houses. The answer which I intended to make to the Senator is this, that an applicant for license must show that his house has sufficient stabling. If the bill passes as it stands, it may be contended that when application is made for eating houses, the applicant must show that he has a sufficient amount of stabling, which position might be maintained.

I do not believe at all in the policy of discouraging the use of malt liquor. It is the experience of all countries where the consumption of that article is large, that there is little intoxication if any. Travelers have informed us; that there is scarcely ever a drunken man to be seen in Germany, where they drink beer and light wines, but when you come to the United States, where strong liquors are drunk, you can scarcely pass a square in any town but you meet an individual more or less under the influence of liquor. The more the consumption of malt liquor is encouraged, the less strong liquor will be consumed.

I think that it is the policy of Congress, from the fact that they have not attempted to put a severe tax upon malt liquors, but have taxed spirituous liquors heavily. We undertake to make war upon malt liquors. I hope, Mr. Speaker, that the motion of the Senator from Fayette [Mr. SEARIGHT] will prevail, for I am exceedingly anxious to exempt my county from this bill.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, I should like to make an inquiry of the Senator. He thinks the operation of this bill will prevent the facilities for the public drinking of lager beer. What is the peculiar provision of this bill which he judges will reduce the consumption of lager beer?

Mr. DAVIS. Any difficulty thrown in the way of the sale of malt liquor certainly will be very apt to have a tendency to interfere with this consumption.

Mr. SEARIGHT. I merely want an opportunity to amend; that is what gentlemen will not let me have.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I trust the Senate will not go into committee for special amendment, for this reason: I believe the proposition is to exempt Berks, Fayette and York. Now, we have seen the effects of lager beer in these counties, and I trust the door will not be opened to them now. The provisions of this law are in operation in Lancaster county now. We have the same provisions in our county that are proposed to be put into this bill, and nobody is hurt there. The only trouble is, that we get too many persons to sell lager beer in our county.

Mr. LOWRY. Last winter there was a special law passed relative to my district. It found some opposition at home, but upon the whole I think our people are well satisfied with it, and desire it to remain as it is. I have received information to that effect. I have not been paying that attention to this bill which I should probably pay, and I wish to inquire of the gentleman having it in charge if this bill is to affect my county.

Mr. WHITE. It is not; there is a provision, over which we had a contest when it was up before, exempting that county from this special law.

Mr. LOWRY. I am satisfied, sir.

Mr. SEARIGHT. In reply to the Senator from Lancaster [Mr. FISHER], I do not propose to exempt Fayette from the operations of this bill. It is the county of Westmoreland which I propose to exempt, and for this reason: I am requested to do so by numerous gentlemen there of high reputation and influence. That is the reason why I ask to have Westmoreland exempted from this bill. I am willing it should apply to my county, but, Mr. Speaker, if the courts construe the existing law relating to the granting of licenses as I am informed by the Senator from Indiana [Mr. WHITE] that they construe it in his county, why, then, in my opinion, the bill under consideration prohibits entirely the granting of licenses to eating houses and restaurants. Under this bill, it is proposed, that applicants for eating house licenses shall make their application in the same manner that tavern keepers have to, except as to the matter of petitions. Now, applicants for hotel licenses are pledged to produce a certificate in court, stating that the license is entirely for entertaining strangers and travelers. I know no eating house keeper in my district could get such a certificate as this, because it is not expected, in that section, that eating houses are necessary for the public entertainment. This is the qualification for a hotel; they are necessary to entertain travelers, but it is not understood that eating houses are. Therefore, in that view, the licensing of beer houses would be totally prohibited. In my county it is not necessary at all to pass this first section, because the courts act as provided by this section already. They use their discretion, after hearing petitions and remonstrances.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, I trust, sir, that this motion to go into committee of the whole will not prevail. I think, after what we heard the other evening, that we should hear no more about exempting districts. I appealed for half an hour to have my district exempted from the operations of a certain bill, and the Senator was deaf to it.

Mr. SEARIGHT. The Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. DONOVAN] can act as he pleases under his responsibility. I do not undertake to dictate to him; he is at liberty to vote as he pleases, and so am I.

There is no misunderstanding between us; we will not quarrel.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I will merely remark that I have listened with pleasure to the eulogium of my friend, the Senator from Berks [Mr. DAVIS], upon lager beer men; I am glad he had an opportunity of doing so.

Mr. DAVIS. My eulogy was on lager beer, not on lager beer men.

Mr. WHITE. I did not hear the Senator refer to anything but lager beer saloons, and I trust he will have his due reward for looking after their interests. I cannot conceive, as my friend, the Senator from Adams [Mr. M'CONAUGHY] has said, that this bill would interfere with the selling of lager beer, except in this—that it would put it in the hands of better men. It will require a better class of men, and it will require more caution or circumspection in the granting of licenses; and one of the main objects of this bill is to restrict that class of lager beer vendors with more guards than they have had, because they have been the most fruitful sources of crime. I trust this feature of it will not be interfered with.

The only question before the Senate is as to the exemption of certain counties from the operations of this bill. I trust the Senate will not entertain that for a moment. If we recognize this exemption in one case, we will have to recognize it in all, and the result will be that, instead of this being a supplement to a general law, it will be a special law for a few counties. I trust that the Senate will not vote on the counties indicated, for courtesy. The Senator from Fayette [Mr. SEARIGHT] will understand that although Westmoreland is not in my Senatorial district, yet it is in my Representative district. Every one of the representatives, who are as much the representatives of Westmoreland as the Senator from Fayette, would of course be opposed to excepting that county.

Mr. BURNETT. Mr. Speaker, I regret that the motion to go into committee of the whole for general amendment has failed.

The lager beer establishments in the rural districts, as a general thing, have to pay, I think, about ten dollars government revenue tax, and now this bill proposes to increase their rate of license from ten dollars to twenty dollars, making keepers of lager beer saloons pay a license to the amount of thirty dollars. However, the motion having failed, I desire to say that I hope the Senate will go into committee of the whole for the purpose of giving me an opportunity to amend by excepting the counties of Carbon, Monroe, Pike and Wayne from the operations of this bill.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of excepting from the operations of the bill the counties of Westmoreland, Lehigh, York, Berks, Carbon, Monroe, Pike and Wayne?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BURNETT and Mr. DAVIS, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Jackson, James, M'Callister, Randall, Schall, Searight and Wallace—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billington, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Jackson, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—21.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. SCHALL moved that the Senate go into committee of the whole for the purpose of amending the second section by inserting, after the words "bed rooms and beds," the words "and stabling."

The motion was

Not agreed to.

Mr. BURNETT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Senate go into committee of the whole for special amendment, by striking out, at the end of the third section, the words "twenty dollars," and inserting in lieu thereof the words "ten dollars."

Mr. WHITE. This would deprive the Commonwealth of a large amount of revenue. I am surprised that my friend on the other side should make any motion to deprive the Commonwealth of revenue. I trust it will be voted down.

Mr. SCHALL. Mr. Speaker, I beg leave to differ with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. WHITE]. I think that this amount makes a discrimination in favor of the rich man. There are a great many poor people who keep respectable lager beer saloons, who are able to pay this license of ten dollars, who will now be deprived of keeping their saloons under this heavy license; and I maintain that these poor people keep just as respectable places as any of the rich ones, and perhaps better lager.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion of Mr. BURNETT?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCHALL and Mr. BURNETT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, James, M'Callister, Schall, Searight and Wallace—9.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billington, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Jackson, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—22. So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Senate go into committee of the whole for the purpose of amending the third section, in order to increase the revenue of the Commonwealth, by striking out the word "City" after the words "incorporated city for a less sum than," and inserting in lieu thereof the words "twenty-five."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DAVIS and Mr. BURNETT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, James, M'Callister, Randall, Schall, Searight and Wallace—10.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billington, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Jackson, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White and Worthington—21.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. BIGHAM moved that the Senate go into committee of the whole for the purpose of amending by striking out the proviso at the end of the last section, as follows:

Provided, That nothing in this act shall authorize the granting of licenses to hotel and inn keepers to vend vinous, spirituous and malt liquors, and to license beer houses, eating houses and restaurants, in any locality where licensing of hotels, inns, beer houses, eating houses, or restaurants, is now prohibited by law.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, we had this question before us the other day. This proviso was carefully prepared, and I trust it will not be stricken out.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I hope the Senate will not go into committee of the whole for the purpose of striking out this proviso, because the bill would then interfere with the laws in the lower end of my district, which I do not want disturbed.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion of Mr. BIGHAM?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BIGHAM and Mr. HAINES, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Durnett, Davis, Glatz, Graham, Jackson, James, Randall, Schall, Seairight, Wallace, White and Hall, Speaker—13.

NAYS—Messrs. Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Donovan, Fisher, Haines, Landon, Lowry, M' Candless, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White and Worthington—20.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring,
Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GLATZ and Mr. SCHALL, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Jackson, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—22.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, James, M' Candless, Randall, Schall, Seairight and Wallace—10.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill
Passed finally.

THE MARINE HOSPITAL AT ERIE.

On motion of Mr. LOWRY, the Senate resumed the reconsideration of a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Marine hospital of Pennsylvania, in the county of Erie, to fix the location of hospital, and to grant real estate to said hospital (which bill had been returned by the Governor to the Senate, with his objections thereto).

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that I am deeply interested in, because humanity is interested in it. The bill was vetoed by the Governor, and I desire to present a bill which will obviate the objections which the Governor makes. I want the Governor to be sustained in his veto. He has indicated how it is desired to amend it.

Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence). Mr. Speaker, I understand that the new bill proposed has been agreed to by the citizens of Erie. They want some use made of this public property; they wish to prevent this valuable property from becoming a matter of private speculation. There are some objections that have induced the Governor to veto the bill. The objections, however, can be met in the new bill which the Senator from Erie [Mr. Lowry] proposes. I think it is fair that he should have the opportunity now of obviating the difficulties in the former bill.

Mr. LOWRY. I would state that the objections of the Governor have been obviated by a section prepared by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and I desire the Governor to be sustained by passing the old bill with a new section.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

The yeas and nays were taken, agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Mr. Donovan—1.
NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Davis, Fisher, Glatz, Graham, Haines, Jackson, James, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughy, Randall, Edgway, Royer, Schall, Seairight, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—30.

So the question was determined in the negative.

On leave given at this time,
Mr. LOWRY read in his place and presented to the Chair bill entitled An act to incorporate the Marine hospital of Pennsylvania, in the county of Erie, to fix location of hospital in Erie city, and to grant real estate to said hospital.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.
On motion of Mr. LOWRY, the Committee on Finance was discharged from the further consideration of said bill, and the rules having been dispensed with, the bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

AN EVENING SESSION.

Mr. CONNELL moved that the Senate adjourn, it will adjourn to meet at 7 o'clock this evening.

The motion was
Agreed to.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, the Committee on Education was discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled An act authorizing the school directors of the school district of the borough of Ashland to borrow money.

And the rules having been dispensed with,
The bill was read a second and third time, and
Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. CONNELL, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act relative to contested elections in the city of Philadelphia.

The bill was read a second time, and laid over to a third reading.

On motion of Mr. FISHER, the Senate adjourned until this evening, at 7 o'clock.

EVENING SESSION.

The Senate reassembled at 7 o'clock.
There not being a quorum of Senators present,

Mr. RIDGWAY moved that the Senate do now adjourn.

The motion was
Agreed to.

And the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

CORRECTION.

In the proceedings of the Senate of Tuesday evening last no mention was made of the remarks of Messrs. Brown (Mercer) and Taylor, on the bill entitled An act to exempt the county of Beaver from the operations of an act entitled An act to provide for the enlargement of the Erie canal, and other purposes.

The following are the proceedings in full as they occurred at the time:

THE ERIE CANAL.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I ask the indulgence of the Senate to read a bill in place.

Leave was granted.

Mr. TAYLOR. I read in my place and present to the Chair a bill entitled An act to exempt the county of Beaver from the operations of an act to provide for the enlargement of the Erie canal, and other purposes.

Referred to the Committee on Canals and Inland Navigation.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I move that the committee be discharged and the Senate proceed to consider it now.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer). Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that very materially affects the interests of the people of the county which I more immediately resent. It is a bill, too, which materially affects the constituents of the Senator from Erie, who, on account of indisposition, is now at his room. I trust the Senate will not agree to consider the bill at this time. It is a bill, as I understand, to exempt the county of Beaver from the operations of a bill which was passed the other day, authorizing the Erie canal company to enlarge their canal. It is a bill which, if passed, would in a great measure destroy the value of the bill which we passed a few days ago, and which received the signature of the Governor on last Friday. I trust that it will not be passed in the absence of the Senator from Erie.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say that I withdrew my objections to the bill which passed the other day. I was opposed to it and had not heard from my constituents in regard to it, but an agreement was made between the Senator from Erie and myself, that we should go to the House of Representatives and speak to our representatives there, and the bill should be laid over until we could hear from our constituents; the superintendent of this canal having made some agreement with the member from Beaver, I think to this effect, that he would see the people of that county along the canal, and that the company would make some arrangements with those people (who would be very materially damaged in their manufacturing interests by that bill), and that he would satisfy them in this respect. He agreed that some supplementary legislation should be had, or in some way the people should be satisfied.

With that understanding the bill was allowed to pass through the House without incorporating any such provisions as should have been incorporated in the bill. We received letters from our constituents complaining that we did not act in this matter, and all that we propose to do by this bill is to compel that company to do what they agreed to do. We want the bill to pass here and to hold it in the House until the superintendent satisfies the people. If he does so, it will go no further, but if not, then we want our county exempted from the operations of the bill. I shall insist upon my motion for a suspension of the rules to consider the bill at this time.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer). I desire to call the attention of the Senate to this fact. The remarks of the Senator from Beaver may create an impression that there is a disposition on the part of the superintendent of this canal to get rid of some agreement that he may have made with the representatives of Beaver in regard to this bill authorizing the enlargement of the canal prior to its passage.

Now, I desire to say that that gentleman did not leave here until last Friday evening, and since that he has not had time to go to Beaver county and make the arrangements which it is alleged he proposed to make in order to satisfy the people of Beaver county. He has had no time yet to do so, and I say it is not dealing justly with him to come in here now with a bill exempting Beaver county from the operations of the bill referred to until he has been afforded an opportunity to carry out his agreement. I know, sir, that that gentleman is a gentleman of honor, and I know that he will fulfill to the letter any agreement that he made with the Senator from Beaver, and I take it that the Senator from Beaver has no right to suspect that he is not going to do so. After sufficient notice has been granted to enable him to make any arrangement that he may have agreed to make, if he then refuses or neglects to do so, I will unite with the Senator from Beaver in compelling him, by proper legislation, to make good the agreement with the representatives of Beaver, under which this bill passed; but until he has time, I take it that it is not right to pass a bill of that kind. I trust that Senators will look at this matter in its proper light, and will excuse me for manifesting so much interest in this matter, because I look upon the bill authorizing the enlargement of the Erie canal as of more importance to the people of Mercer county than any other bill that has been passed by this body this winter. It is proposed by the canal company to enlarge the Erie canal from Erie to the Ohio river, so as to permit the passage of crafts, through its entire length, of some two hundred and fifty tons burden; and the Senator from Beaver offers a bill to exempt his county from the operations of the bill which passed providing for this enlargement; in other words, he proposes that the canals may be enlarged down to the Beaver county line, and must stop there. Why, sir, I look upon it as a measure of the greatest injustice to the people of Beaver county. I know that a majority of the people of Beaver county are anxious that the enlargement should be made, and the superintendent came here and procured the passage of that bill in good faith, intending to have it enlarged from Erie to the Ohio river at the earliest practicable day.

Mr. BIGHAM. I would suggest that this bill be referred to a select committee consisting of the Senators from Beaver, Lawrence and Mercer.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer). I am unwilling to accept of anything of that kind.

Mr. TAYLOR. I am willing that this bill shall go to the second reading and there stop, but I insist on my motion.

The question being on suspending the rules and the consideration of the bill,

It was agreed to.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BROWN (Mercer) and Mr. TAYLOR, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Cowles, M' Candless and Walls—7.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Coleman, Connell, Fisher, Glatz, Graham, Haines, Jackson, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaghy, Mandall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Seairight, Shoemaker, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—20.

So the question was determined in the negative.

During the call,
Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, the Senate having established the rule that on account of the absence of any Senator no bill be postponed, I shall have no regard for that in casting my vote. As a local bill I would like to accommodate the gentleman from Beaver, but considering that we have local bills no further, I shall dodge this question and not vote at all.

SENATE.

FRIDAY, March 22, 1867.

The Senate met and was called to order at 10 o'clock, A. M., by the SPEAKER.
Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Bailey.
On motion of Mr. CONNELL, the reading of the Journal of yesterday was dispensed with.

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The SPEAKER laid before the Senate the annual statement of the Delaware coal company.

Laid on the table.
Also, the resolutions of the councils of Philadelphia in favor of the passage of an act by the Legislature entitled A further supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Philadelphia.

The communication was read as follows:
CLERK'S OFFICE, SELECT COUNCIL,
Philadelphia, March 21, 1867. }

To Hon. Louis W. Hall, Speaker of the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

SIR—This is to certify that the following is a true and correct copy of the original resolution approved by his honor, the Mayor, the sixteenth day of March, A. D. 1867, to wit: Resolution of Request to the State Legislature.

Resolved, By the select and common councils of the city of Philadelphia, that the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania be asked to pass the annexed bill entitled "A further supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Philadelphia."

A FURTHER SUPPLEMENT to an act to incorporate the city of Philadelphia in Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the select and common councils of the city of Philadelphia shall fix the rate and levy all the taxes now authorized by law within the limits of the said city and county, upon the assessed value of the real and personal property in such sum as shall be sufficient to meet all the expenses (including interest on the funded debt) of the city government for the year for which the same shall have been levied.

Sec. 2. That no salary of any officer elected or to be elected according to the provisions of the act to which this is supplemental by the qualified voters of the said city, or of any of the officers, heads of departments, or employees of the city, shall be increased by any ordinance or ordinances to take effect during the time for which he shall have been elected, appointed or employed.

Sec. 3. That it shall not be lawful for said councils at any time to pass an ordinance, or by other means provide for the payment of any money or compensation for extra service rendered by any of the city officers (whether elected or appointed), in the discharge of their duties.

Sec. 4. That no person holding any office of trust, profit or emolument under the city government or any department thereof, or in the Gas Trust, or in any other trust in which the said city or the councils have an interest, or over which the said councils exercise a control or supervision shall be eligible as a member of councils, nor shall any member or members of councils be eligible to any such office, trust or appointment: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall apply to directors or controllers of public schools.

Sec. 5. That each member of the city councils shall be sworn or affirmed to support the Constitution of the United States and of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; that he will not, during his term of office, accept or receive any gratuity, gift money, property compensation, commission or profit, whatever, for his services, either as councilman or as a member of any committee thereof, and that he will not be interested, directly or indirectly, in any sale or contract for supplying the city with work, labor, or merchandise of any kind, or in any contract or contracts in which the city may be a party, and in all respects to discharge his duties with fidelity; the said oath to be administered by the presiding officer of each branch of the said city councils.

Sec. 6. That all officers elected by councils, heads of departments, and clerks therein, shall, before entering upon their duties, subscribe to an oath or affirmation before the mayor that he or they will not, at any time, during his or their term of office or appointment be directly or indirectly interested in any sale or contract for supplies to be furnished to said city, or to any department or trust under the control and supervision of councils, or receive any gratuity, money or property, whatsoever, by reason of such sale or contract, or take any fee beyond that prescribed by law.

Sec. 7. That no member of the Legislature, or officer thereof, shall be eligible to any office under the city government, to and department thereof, or department therein or connected therewith.

Sec. 8. That the presidents of select and common councils, or either of them, or the chairman of any special or joint committee appointed by them, are hereby authorized and empowered to issue subpoenas for witnesses, and require the production for inspection and examination of any books, papers, documents and vouchers to examine said witnesses under oath or affirmation, and in case of refusal or neglect on the part of any witness or witnesses to appear upon the service of any such subpoena, the court of common pleas of Philadelphia county shall, upon proof of such service, issue an attachment compelling the appearance of such witness or witnesses.—When any witness or witnesses shall appear but refuse to testify before the said president or chairman of committees, or either or any of them, he or they shall report the same to the said court of common pleas, whereupon the said court shall commit the said witness or witnesses for contempt, and impose such fine as in its discretion shall seem meet.

Sec. 9. That it shall not be lawful for any member of said councils to enter into any contract, either in his own name or in the name of any other person in his service or interest, for the construction of any building, schoolhouse, bridge, sewer or other structure, or for the furnishing of supplies or material of any kind whatsoever to the said city or any department thereof, or to the Gas Trust.

JOSEPH W. MARCEB,
President of Common Council,
Attest—ROBT. BETHELL,
Assistant Clerk of Select Council,
JOSHUA SPERING,
President of Select Council.
Approved this sixteenth day of March, Anno Domini eighteen hundred and sixty-seven (A. D. 1867).

MORTON M'MICHAEL,
Mayor of Philadelphia.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned bill from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 891, joint resolution authorizing the appointment of a special agent to collect disallowed and suspended claims against the United States,

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendments.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD BILL.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, in order to settle some difference between the Legislature and the Governor in regard to a bill passed here a few days ago, I now move that the Committee on Railroads be discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled An act to repeal an act entitled A further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania railroad company, authorizing an increase of capital stock and to borrow money, approved the twenty-first day of March, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and also to authorize the Pennsylvania railroad company, by this act, to increase its capital stock, to issue bonds and secure the same by mortgage, and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the same.

Mr. COLEMAN. Is that bill printed?
Mr. CONNELL. Yes, sir; and I understand it meets the objections of the Governor fully.

The bill was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the same be and it be a further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania railroad company, authorizing an increase of capital stock and to borrow money, approved the 21st day of March, A. D. 1866, be and the same is hereby repealed: Provided however, That no rights that shall have been acquired by virtue of the same shall be in any manner affected by such repeal.

SEC. 2. That for the purpose of retiring the present indebtedness of the Pennsylvania railroad company, whether by bond, or otherwise, and providing the facilities required by the increase of the business of said company, upon its road and connections, and the management and operation of the same, it shall be lawful for the said company, from time to time, to issue, not exceeding three hundred thousand additional shares of capital stock of said company, but the board of directors shall not have the power to issue all, or any part of said stock, unless they are authorized so to do by a resolution of the stockholders, passed at any regular or special meeting. Due notice of said proposed increase, having first been given to the stockholders, before the meeting is held, at which any increase of stock may be granted, and to apportion, or dispose of the said shares in such a manner, and upon such terms, as they may think best; and also, for either, or all of the said purposes, to issue, from time to time, bonds of the said company, payable at such time as they may appoint, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding six per centum per annum, with or without provision for the payment by the company, of any or more taxes on the principal or interest thereof, and to secure the said bonds by one or more mortgages of the whole or any portion of the railroad's estate, real, and personal, and corporate rights, and franchises, acquired, and to be acquired of the said company: Provided, however, That no bond shall at any time be issued in excess of the amount of the capital stock of the said company outstanding at the time of issue, but any such mortgage, or mortgages, may at the option of the said company, be made to secure with the same rights, lien and privileges, bonds, which a subsequent increase of capital stock may enable the said company to issue, as well as to those which may lawfully be issued at the date of the execution of said mortgage.

SEC. 3. That any mortgage or mortgages, executed and delivered as authorized by this act, shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds for the city and county of Philadelphia, and shall, thereupon, without further record, be a lien on the property mortgaged, wherever situated, as fully and effectually as if it had been recorded in each of the several counties in which the mortgaged premises, or any part thereof, are or may be situated.

Mr. COLEMAN. Has there been any petition from the stockholders for this bill?
Mr. CONNELL. There are no petitions, but there have been letters.

Mr. COLEMAN. There may be two or three stockholders in favor of this bill, but it seems to me there should be petitions from some of the stockholders if they want it.

Mr. CONNELL. This question was recently discussed at a meeting of the stockholders, and they decided that some additional supplement to the charter was necessary. They certainly decided there that everything in this bill was for the interest of the company.

Mr. RIDGWAY. This bill has been before the Legislature for four or five weeks and we have not had a remonstrance from the stockholders; and I think it is fair to presume that the bill is all right.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, I have understood that there were some arrangements being made for making a branch road by this company in Clearfield county, and that this movement is in aid of that intention of the company.

Mr. CONNELL. I have so understood.
Mr. SEARIGHT. I have that understanding also.

Mr. COLEMAN. I am well aware, Mr. Speaker, that there is no use in raising difficulties to delay the passage of this bill. I know that public business must give way when it is demanded by the corporation. I know that this bill will be put through by a majority, but I protest against the legislation of the State—public bills and everything—being stepped whenever they come in and demand legislation. I know it is useless to do so, but I protest against it.

The bill was read a third time, and Passed finally.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the following message in writing from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 21, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—I have been waited upon this afternoon by a large delegation of respectable citizens of Schuylkill county, who have come here in pursuance to instructions contained in a resolution adopted by a mass meeting of citizens held in Pottsville last evening, for the purpose of obtaining legislation which will terminate the scenes of murder and outrage which are now shocking the community with their enormity. In obedience to their request, and in accordance with my own wishes, I call your attention to the resolutions passed at the meeting last evening, a copy of which is herewith transmitted, and urge upon you the necessity and importance of immediate action.

The petitioners simply ask at your hands protection for their persons and property, a right which should be willingly and promptly granted because the soil of their county is again reddened with the blood of a peaceable and inoffensive resident. During the last three or four years nearly fifty murders have been committed in Schuylkill county, and the murderer, in almost every instance, was allowed to escape almost entirely, from the fear of the citizens to take any action towards the detection and conviction of the criminal.

The people of that section, as of all others of this Commonwealth, should and must be protected by the authorities of the State, and respectfully urge you to listen to the appeal herewith enclosed, and take such action as in your wisdom you deem best suited to ensure to them security of life and property, and to secure the speedy and certain punishment of crime. J. S. W. GEARY.

PROTECTION FOR LIFE AND PROPERTY IN SCHUYLKILL COUNTY.

The following were the officers of a meeting of the citizens of Schuylkill county, held in Pottsville, on Wednesday evening, March 20th, 1867, to adopt measures to secure protection for life and property in the county.

President—Jeremiah Reed, Esq.
Vice Presidents—Benjamin Bannan, Samuel Morris, Eli Bowen, John Lucas, George W. Pomeroy, Charles Biddle, Joseph S. Patterson, Alexander Morehead, George Martz.
Secretary—Francis B. Wallace.

WHEREAS, Schuylkill county is infested by bands of assassins and robbers, who murder our best citizens, keep the people of the entire district in a perfect state of terror, drive the respectable working people from the county and render it dangerous to travel in the region—keep capital from seeking investment here, and who defy alike the laws of God and man; therefore,

Resolved, That the people of this county earnestly ask the Legislature to accord them protection here, in the heart of the Commonwealth, for their persons and their property.

Resolved, That we urge upon the Legislature to promptly pass the bills adopted by this meeting and submitted with these proceedings, and thus give us the measure of protection which is due from the State to her citizens.

Resolved, That if the Legislature should again refuse to listen to and act upon our just appeal, the citizens of Schuylkill county will be compelled to defend themselves in the most effective manner known to men who have not the protection of the laws, and that the Legislature will be held responsible therefor.

WHEREAS, There is a radical defect in the present mode of selecting jurors in the different counties of the State which ought to be changed; therefore,

Resolved, That we most earnestly call upon the Legislature to pass the jury bill now before the Senate, authorizing the election of two jury commissioners in each county of the State, independent of the clause including the sheriff, so far as at least as Schuylkill county is concerned, as said clause would destroy all its beneficial effects in the county of Schuylkill.

Resolved, That in order to meet the terrible state of affairs that exist in this county as speedily as possible, a section be added to said bill authorizing the Governor, immediately after its passage, to appoint said commissioners, select one from each party, who shall immediately thereafter enter upon and perform the duties of the office until the next general election.

Resolved, That we do not desire to enforce these features of the jury bill on other counties, if objectionable, but only ask it for ourselves in our present necessities.

Resolved, That a committee of not less than fifty citizens be appointed to proceed to Harrisburg to-morrow morning, Thursday, March 21st, to lay the grievances of our people before the Legislature and the Governor of the State.

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS.

The House has insisted on its amendments, non-concurred in by the Senate, to bill entitled Joint resolution relative to the revival of the civil laws of Pennsylvania.

Mr. BIGHAM moved that the Senate con-

our in the House amendments. [The House amended by adding the Attorney General to the commission for collating the laws, and also by adding six thousand dollars to the appropriation for that purpose.]

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. I hope the Senate will not recede. I see no reason why it should. On the contrary, I move that it insist, and that the committee of conference be appointed. It is obvious that the Attorney General has public duties occupying his whole time. I do not believe that he desires it; there is a peculiar propriety in it; the usage has been, on several occasions, to appoint three men, which is an abundant number to do the work. And again, sir, it is peculiarly appropriate that no member of the administration of the State should be placed upon the commission.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, when this question came up yesterday, I knew nothing about it, except the recommendation had been made in the House. I do not know that the Attorney General is even willing to serve; I understand that the Judiciary Committee of the House consulted him on that subject. From the chairman of that committee I have learned that he said he would be glad to cooperate, and would take no salary. I think he glad to have him co-operate, and I think it applies, to some extent, to his office. I do not anticipate that the labor is to be imposed upon him, and I think there is an eminent propriety that the law officers of the Commonwealth should be consulted in regard to the matter. It involves no additional expense, and I hope the Senate will recede.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, I was not in my seat yesterday when this subject was before the Senate, or I should have insisted that the Senate concur in the House amendment. Now, sir, it is eminently proper that the Attorney General of the Commonwealth should be an ex officio member of this commission. It adds no expense to the Commonwealth; it gives those gentlemen the aid and advice of the clearest minds, and, in my judgment, the ablest men in the Commonwealth. It is a duty, sir, that he is willing to perform, and it is the conviction of the administration and those who know him that the interests of the Commonwealth would be best promoted by his being on the commission, and I was sorry to learn that there was any opposition from any quarter to his being placed in that position; and I cannot believe that this Senate, after becoming conversant with the facts, will refuse to recede from the position taken by the House, and insisted upon by the House. It certainly, sir, would look like an unfriendly act towards one whom I know no one here would wish to show disrespect to hereafter. I hope that the proposition of the Senator from Allegheny, that we recede, and that the Attorney General shall act as a member ex officio of that commission, will be agreed to.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, my personal relations to the Attorney General are such, and I have such feelings of kindly friendship towards him, and admiration for his abilities, that I cannot remain silent after the remarks of the Senator from Erie [Mr. Lowry]. I do not know, sir, but we may differ, but to me there is a seeming indelicacy in the attitude in which the action of personal friends has placed the Attorney General in this connection. I know of no gentleman of a higher sense of propriety; no man of a more acute sense of ability; no man of more brilliant talents, either in this Commonwealth or elsewhere; and I cannot believe that, of his own personal consent, he is in the attitude which the kind zeal of personal friends appears to be placing him. It would seem that the judgment of the gentlemen of the legal profession, who feel an interest in this subject, is to be controlled by a peculiar appeal— one which is wholly unnecessary, in my judgment. Now, sir, I yield to no man in regard to my personal feelings towards the Attorney General, in my respect for him. I desire that the Senate shall stand upon its own conviction in this matter. If a committee of conference was appointed, it does not necessarily follow that there can be no yielding on the part of the Senate; but I do not wish a matter of such importance to be controlled by mere personal considerations. I do not believe, sir, that the Attorney General of the Commonwealth is here, upon the floor of this Senate, volunteering to be a member of this commission.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me, sir, that this matter may be settled without difficulty. I recognize the duty imposed by this bill to be more the duty of clerks, of skilled legal clerks, than that of gentlemen of great legal ability. Their duty is to collate and digest; it is not to construct and create; it is merely to put the laws as they are into form—a duty which is not conversant with form, who know the written law, is competent to perform. Now, why should we impose upon the Attorney General of the State, a duty which can mainly be performed by other gentlemen of the profession? I think it would be entirely proper, after the committee had collated and digested the laws, that they should be submitted to him for approval, before reporting, and I think a settlement of this difficulty could be arranged in a committee of conference. I am entirely willing to have the opinion of the Attorney General upon any question of arrangement of the laws.

Let the committee go on and collate the laws, and then submit them to the approval of the Attorney General. But I do not think it is right to put him upon this committee; it seems to me unnecessary, and onerous to him.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, I might be mistaken in the object of this bill. I thought, when I heard the gentlemen around me speaking of the compensation, that the bill required men of talent. If it is a mere clerkship, sir, then give some person twelve hundred dollars a year instead of thousands. But I deny it. That, sir, is not the intention of this bill. Had I believed it was, I know it would never have been reported, and I would not have voted for it. This bill requires the ablest, strongest and greatest minds in the State; and because it is proposed that the Attorney General shall be placed upon that commission without any additional expense to the Commonwealth, gentlemen rise up here and tell us that it is a simple clerkship, and that they do not wish to put such drudgery upon the Attorney General. The argument, sir, will not hold together; it will not be credited that this is the cause. I trust, sir, that the Senate will recede. It is always honorable to recede when Senators are wrong. This, sir, was voted upon yesterday, when, perhaps, not half a dozen Senators knew what it was; I was not in my seat; I knew nothing of it. We have a great interest in the codification of our laws, and the Attorney General should be consulted in regard to it at all events—not only in its inception, but at every step.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, the Senator misunderstands my position; I did not say that it was a simple clerkship, but I said that it required a man who knew the law, and possessed clerical qualities. When we require a man who is skilled in law, we expect to pay him. I asserted that the duties were more than those of a clerk; and that they were not the duties required of a man skilled in creating laws. What we want is not a man to suggest, but to digest and put them into form. We want men skilled in moulding laws, who know what the law is. The undoubted legal ability of the Attorney General will be useful in passing upon them after they are collated. No one desires the origination of new laws; what we wish, is to have those we have simplified and put in form—all laws upon one subject put under one head. This, I assert, more the duty of a man skilled in digesting the laws than of one skilled in creating laws. Yet I am willing to say that the Attorney General should be called upon to aid in passing upon them, and that all new suggestions may receive the benefit of his ability. We do not need to put upon him the drudgery which this would impose upon him. Shall we require these men to come here, and require him to sit with them all summer? Let the duty of collating one branch be given to one man, and the collating of another branch to another man, and then let their recommendations be submitted to the Attorney General. This is my view in regard to it, and it seems to me it is reasonable.

Mr. WHITE said he sympathized in the main with the remarks of the Senator from Erie.

Mr. BIGHAM. The chairman of the House committee told me they had increased the amount, and that the Attorney General would act, but would accept no consideration beyond his salary.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. Speaker, we all have our feelings in regard to this matter, and we have a right to express them in our own way. I will just say here, that I think it to be eminently proper, after the laws have been taken up after the House has seen fit to insert the name of the Attorney General in these joint resolutions—that the Senate, in view of its official relation to the Governor, should concur in that recommendation. There is no question but that he is eminently fitted for this work. We all concede his legal ability, and we concede, furthermore, the fact that he is largely interested in the codification and collation of the civil laws of this Commonwealth. No man is likely to be more competent to discharge this duty than one that has been so largely connected with the practice of the law. I do not consider, myself, that the duties imposed by this bill are clerical. I discover the duty of these revisors to be to carefully collate and reduce into one act the different acts, and parts of acts, which, from similarity, ought to be so arranged and consolidated, and to divest said acts of all useless verbiage, and arrange the several acts under proper titles and omit all such acts as shall have been repealed; also to designate the acts which ought to be repealed, and suggest to the Legislature such contractions, omissions, or imperfections as may appear in the statutes, and the mode in which the same may be reconciled, supplied, or amended.

Now, this contemplates the exercise of judicial functions. This contemplates the exercise of high professional powers, of high discretion, and I do not concur that the duties are merely clerical, in view of the provisions of this bill. I trust, then, that in view of the deference due to the legal adviser of the Commonwealth, after the more popular branch has insisted upon having his name in, that we concur. They can agree upon the time and manner in which these duties shall be discharged. The commission can meet in Philadelphia if they please, and confer with the Attorney General. I trust that in view of these facts, that we will allow the name of the Attorney General to remain in the bill.

Mr. BURNETT. Mr. Speaker, I am friendly to this bill. The last edition of Purdon's Digest is of enormous proportions; rendered so by a large amount of superfluous matter that ought to be expunged. There are many acts of Assembly now embodied in every new edition of Purdon that have been modified or repealed, either by express enactments, or by the process known among lawyers as silent legislation, that is, by non-observance for a long period of time. I agree with the Senator from Clearfield [Mr. WALLACE] that the duties required under this act are of a clerical character. It does not require the highest order of professional ability to secure a full and prompt discharge of the duties, which this act would impose.

Frederick C. Brightly, Esq., of Philadelphia, may not rank as high in the Commonwealth. Purdon's Digest is a monument to his unflagging industry, research, energy and skill. But, Mr. Speaker, I can see no good reason why the Attorney General should not be a member of the commission. Benjamin Harris Brewster is one of the ablest lawyers in the Commonwealth. His varied accomplishments may be of great service to the execution of the commission.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, my first impulse was to vote against this motion made by the Senator from Adams [Mr. M'CONAUGHY], but when I saw that six thousand dollars were added to the expenses of this work it changed my mind. I shall now vote for non-concurrence.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, there is an idea connected with this subject which has not been explained. The understanding of that House committee, in making this increase, was that this commission shall extend over two years, and that it shall pay two thousand five hundred dollars a year to each of the revisers.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Mr. Speaker, I understand the idea then to be to invite this commission to spend two years when it could be done in one year.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, when the question was up before the Senate, we understood that it would take two years.

Mr. SHOEMAKER. As a general thing, the larger the committee the less likely you are to have any result at all. If you put in three men, perhaps you will get a report in the requisite time; if you put in six, it will take perhaps five or ten years. Another consideration is, that the larger the committee the more expensive it will be. Now, it is true, the Attorney General is a patriotic gentleman, and says he will not receive any pay; but we do not ask anybody to work for the State without pay, and it is altogether likely that we will insist upon his taking pay if he is put on the commission.

Mr. LOWRY. The Commonwealth pays his salary.

Mr. SHOEMAKER. That is true, but this would be extra work. All these laws which this committee would act upon would go before the Governor and Attorney General; it is for the administration to accept this code which may be made out. It is known to all of us that whenever our laws are reduced to a system, they come before the Senate and the House, and every one is scanned first by the Legislature, and then by the Attorney General. Now, I submit that it is not worth while that the Attorney General should be bothered with them twice; it seems to me that it is sufficient for him to examine them once. Therefore, I shall vote to have this committee of conference appointed.

On the question,

Shall the Senate insist upon its non-concurrence, and appoint a committee of conference?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

LOWRY and Mr. M'CONAUGHY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Glatz, Graham, Haines, Jackson, James, Landon, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Shoemaker, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Brown (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Barnett, Davis, Lowry, M'Candless, Searight, Stutzman and White—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Messrs. M'CONAUGHY, WALLACE and CONNELL were appointed a committee on part of the Senate.

LIMITATION OF SPEECHES.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, in order to facilitate business, I offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That, from this day to the end of the session, speeches shall be limited to five minutes.

The SPEAKER said he never knew that rule to be adopted in the Senate.

Mr. CONNELL. Yes, sir; it has been adopted several times. It was adopted in 1864.

Mr. LOWRY. It was two or three days before the adjournment of the session, if at all.

The SPEAKER. We are far ahead of the House in our business.

Mr. SHOEMAKER. I think a gentleman can say all that is necessary in five minutes, and the balance he can put in the Record.

Mr. LOWRY. They have adopted a ten minute rule in the House.

The SPEAKER. I have never seen this Senate so far ahead in business as it is now, and I think the Clerk will agree with me. We have passed every bill except what have come over for the past day or two.

Mr. COLEMAN. We have some very important bills before us. We have the jury bill and registry law, and other important bills.

Mr. WORTHINGTON suggested that the resolution be modified so as to apply only to public bills.

The SPEAKER. In that case, there would be no use in passing it.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, I think all we want to say can be said in ten minutes.

Mr. LANDON. Mr. Speaker, one fact is very plain in this body, and that is, sir, that the character and length of our speeches are governed by great propriety. No one has called us a boisterous, talking body; and since we have abundant time to keep ourselves within the rules of propriety, I must say, frankly, that, as we are to have a jury bill, the appropriation bill and other important bills before us, the proposition to tie us down to ten minutes is preposterous. If any Senator wishes to speak twenty minutes, I am willing to let him; but I generally make short speeches; but if I want to make a long speech, I desire the opportunity; and I believe that the importance of the subject will control us in the matter.

The SPEAKER said he disliked the resolution because he should not feel like enforcing the rule, and have to say to Senators, your time is up.

Mr. BIGHAM. Perhaps generally there is no excess of talking in our Legislature; the tendency should be in the opposite direction. For the amount of legislation we pass, we certainly do a very limited amount of talking—I speak of the members generally; I will not speak of myself.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, as this discussion is just defeating my own measure, I will withdraw the resolution.

AN AFTERNOON SESSION.

Mr. CONNELL moved that when the Senate adjourns, it will adjourn to meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. RIDGWAY. There are several Senators present, and more will be absent this afternoon. At such times, important bills ought not to be acted upon. I hope the Senate will not hold an afternoon session.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CONNELL and Mr. RIDGWAY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Brown (Lawrence), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Haines, James, Landon, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Brown (Mercer), Barnett, Davis, Donovan, Fisher, Glatz, Graham, Jackson, Lowry, M'Candless, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Searight, Shoemaker, Stutzman and White—20.

So the question was determined in the negative.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented the following message from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

HARRISBURG, March 22, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—I have approved and signed the following acts of the General Assembly, to wit:

On the 19th instant:

An act to vacate a part of Schuylkill street, in the borough of Norristown.

An act to fix the time of commencement of the June term of the several courts of Beaver county.

On the 20th instant:

An act to authorize the chief burgess and town council of the borough of Lebanon to borrow money for the purpose of building an engine house for the use of the Pennsylvania steam fire engine and hose company, and the purchasing of hose for use in the fire department of said borough.

An act to annex the farms of Samuel Powers, John Hunter, James Cunningham, John Conway and James Rutledge, of Derry township, to Livermore borough, in Westmoreland county, for school purposes.

An act relating to hawkers and peddlers of ready-made clothing in the county of Greene.

An act appropriating moneys arising from fines and forfeitures in Chester county.

A supplement to an act to authorize the school directors of the borough of West Greenville, Mercer county, to borrow money to erect a public school house in said borough.

An act to authorize the clerk of the courts of quarter sessions and oyer and terminer, and orphans' court of Lehigh county to appoint deputies.

A supplement to an act to increase the compensation of the county commissioners, auditors, jurors, assessors, witnesses and supervisors of Indiana county, and to authorize the collection of road taxes in Burrell township, in said county, in money.

An act to change the venue in the case of Jesse Christner versus Howard Miller, George Hollinger and Daniel Harbolt, from the court of common pleas of Adams county to the court of common pleas of Dauphin county.

An act for vesting the old burial grounds in the borough of Sewickley, and removing the bodies therefrom.

On the 21st instant:

An act for the sale of certain real estate of Drusilla Hnas.

An act regulating the granting of licenses to eating houses and taverns in the county of Allegheny, and enforcing order therein.

An act to incorporate the Superior iron company.

An act to authorize the Governor to appoint two additional notaries public for the county of Dauphin, one for the Nineteenth ward of the city of Philadelphia, and one to reside in the county of York, and one in the city of Williamsport.

An act supplementary to an act entitled An act to incorporate the city of Williamsport, which became a law January 15, A. D. 1866, changing the wards and authorizing said city to borrow money.

JNO. W. GEARY.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of a bill entitled "An act to repeal part of an act approved the 11th day of April, 1866, entitled A further supplement to an act to authorize the Governor to incorporate the Susquehanna canal company, approved April 15, 1865.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a few words in explanation of this bill. In 1835 an act of incorporation was passed by the Legislature for the purpose of enabling the Susquehanna canal company to construct a canal between Columbia and Tide Water.

On the 21st of March, 1836, that company applied for the right to amend the act in relation to the act of incorporation, so as to enable said company to construct their canal on the western shore of the Susquehanna river.

In consideration of that privilege, they then incorporated a provision in the bill that they should make connection with the Conestoga navigation, which required the building of a dam at Safe Harbor. Last session, by some means, they passed a further supplement to said act, which relieved them from the requirement of rebuilding or raising any other dam but the dam at Columbia, which enabled them to connect with the Pennsylvania canal. Unless this bill is passed, the Conestoga navigation is entirely worthless; it prevents and cuts off all communication between the Lancaster county shore and the York county shore. What possible objection the Senator from York [Mr. GLATZ] has to this bill I cannot determine. He knows that the bridges were down along the Susquehanna river, and that the rebuilding of the dam at Safe Harbor will open a communication with Lancaster and the York county line.

The Conestoga navigation extends from Seneca to the city of Lancaster, and is of immense benefit to the people all along that canal and even to the citizens of Lancaster. Why this corporation should be enabled to violate a contract which was made and entered into on their behalf and on behalf of the Conestoga navigation company, merely for the sake of relieving them of the expense of a few thousand dollars to raise that dam, is a mystery to me. The Susquehanna canal company should, in good faith, fulfill their original contract and restore navigation between the Susquehanna and the Conestoga navigations. They have no right to ask the Legislature to relieve them of this obligation. It is a breach of faith and a breach of contract. The act of Assembly is very plain upon that point. It says " * * * and the said company shall connect said canal with the Conestoga navigation, so as to secure a safe and easy passage from the one to the other, and shall keep the same in repair."

Those are the considerations for which the Susquehanna canal company were enabled to run down and construct their canal upon the western shore, because they agreed to keep up communication between the two shores by building a dam at Safe Harbor, which is partially destroyed, and which we propose by this supplement to require them to rebuild, as well as the other dam at Columbia, which enables them to connect with the Pennsylvania canal. It is their duty to keep up that communication, so that that canal shall have connection with the Susquehanna canal, thereby completing the connection, as was the original intention before this supplement of last session was passed. I hope this Senate will do justice to the citizens of Lancaster, as well as to the citizens of York county, by passing this bill.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to give a few reasons why this bill should not pass. The only reason that I can understand the Senator on the other side to give why it should pass, is that it will benefit a defunct, broken down and sold out company—the Conestoga navigation company, which has existed for several years past. The Susquehanna canal company, at the last session of the Legislature, entered into a contract with this Commonwealth, which may be found on page 706 of the laws of last year, the Legislature having passed an act compelling the companies which had placed any obstruction in the Susquehanna river to remove them, which the Susquehanna canal company thought was a violation of their rights; as they had expended a large amount of money in erecting their dam, an act passed which would render that money void.

"That in order to enable the Susquehanna canal company to construct proper sluiceways for the free passage of fish in the dam or dams owned by said company, at Columbia and Safe Harbor, in compliance with the provisions and requirements of an act of Assembly, entitled An act relating to the passage of fish in the Susquehanna river, and certain of its tributaries, approved March thirteenth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and in consideration thereof, the said Susquehanna canal company shall have the right to raise their feeder-dam, not exceeding three feet, if they shall find it necessary to do so in the enlargement of their canal; but they shall not be required to rebuild or raise any other than said feeder-dam."

That, sir, I take it, is a square contract, and in compliance with that act, the Susquehanna company have gone on and expended ten thousand dollars, and I call upon you, Mr. Speaker, and every lawyer in the Senate to stand by that contract. Now, sir, that company assumed that obligation, and I would like to know why this Senate should violate that contract.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the first argument, I would merely ask if, because this company is broken down, it shall be kept down in violation of all decency?

It is true that this act was passed last session, but, sir, it enabled them to get out of the scrape, and enabled them to relieve themselves of the responsibility which they had solemnly entered into between the two companies; and the Legislature of Pennsylvania had no right to step in and violate the rights and privileges of one company, and because the other company agreed to construct their dam in such a manner as will give free passage there.

Mr. CONNELL. Had not that company been sold out at that time?

Mr. BILLINGFELT. I have nothing to do with that company. That company may be up or down, but we have no right to strike down the rights of the other, and this act of last winter was passed without the knowledge of any person who had an interest in it. This act of last session relieves them from the repairing of that dam, in violation of the contract that was entered into between the two companies in 1835. This is simply a contract at the instance of the Susquehanna canal company, without consulting either the rights of the Conestoga company, or the rights of the people, who are especially and directly interested; and the Legislature had no right to enact a law to deprive any corporation of the rights that were originally granted to them because of these or any other abuses.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, my views entirely coincide with those of the Senator from Lancaster [Mr. BILLINGFELT]. I agree that that contract was made with the Conestoga navigation company to keep up that dam, and it is a contract which this Legislature has no power to abrogate. The Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL] says that the Conestoga navigation company is a bankrupt concern, and has been sold out—that, that, it has a certain degree, as true; it was bankrupt to certain extent, because the dam that company did not keep the canal in the proper condition. The transportation became so inconvenient that there was no access to the canal. The Tide Water canal was a poor concern, and had not money to put it in repair; but Reeves, Buck & Co., of Philadelphia, when the Pennsylvania railroad was chartered, entered into a contract with that company to supply them with the iron that was laid upon the road. Advances were made to them, and they selected Safe Harbor as the location of these works.

I wrote to Mr. Reeves, and in answer to my letter, and I am very sorry that I have not the letter with me. It would explain the whole question much better than I am able to do; but I will say on this occasion, that when the Conestoga navigation company was sold out, Mr. Reeves bought it at sheriff's sale. Now, to my certain knowledge, that dam has been in such a condition for years that boats could not cross either in high or low water; there had to be a middle stage. Messrs. Reeves & Co. spent over half a million of dollars to improve their property there, by the action of the Tide Water canal company, is at present valueless; I would not give them the price of old bricks and iron for the property to-day, because they have no means of access to it. They are in hopes of getting a railroad along the Lancaster side, when the property will become worth something. The Tide Water canal come here and say they are unable to build it. I might as well come here and ask the Legislature, without any examination, to declare me bankrupt, and relieve me from paying my debts, and of the necessity of going through the bankrupt courts. It is no contract at all.

Mr. CONNELL. Will you agree to refer this question to the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, and abide by their decision?

Mr. COLEMAN. I will, if they will give it a proper hearing.

Mr. CONNELL. I make that motion, and ask the friends of the bill to agree to it. I move that it be recommitted.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I will merely say that this, in my opinion, is one of the curious acts of the Legislature, very much resembling the repeal of the Conellsville railroad charter, in which the Legislature undertakes to abrogate a solemn contract. It is nothing more or less. This is a contract between the Tide Water and Conestoga companies, and the Legislature abrogates the contract, and makes a contract with some "shad."

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I do not think, sir, that there is an analogy between this matter and the Connellville railroad. That has now become a defunct issue. But it does seem to me as a breach of faith on the part of this Susquehanna company. There was a contract entered into between these companies in 1836, giving them power and the privilege of constructing this canal, with certain limitations and conditions.

One of these limitations and conditions was that they should put a dam across the Susquehanna river at Safe Harbor, for the purpose of crossing boats to run up the Conestoga navigation. That navigation has been unfortunate; it is the misfortune of that company to be poor. I happen to be in that category myself. In consequence of the damage to the dam, caused by the ice and freshet, the Conestoga navigation has become worthless, and has been sold under the hammer of the sheriff, but that is no reason why they should be trampled upon. And, in addition to that, sir, Reeves, Bueck and Company have invested over half a million of dollars at Safe Harbor in the construction of large iron works. In consequence of the breaches in this dam, these works have been rendered entirely useless; and, as has been well said by the Senator from Lebanon [Mr. COLEMAN], they are worth no more than the rubbish would be worth in any other place.—They employed a large number of hands—some five or six hundred men. They have built up a flourishing village at the mouth of the creek called Safe Harbor, but in consequence of the worthlessness of the improvement that their works have become useless; their men have been thrown out of employment and have gone elsewhere. Now, is it right for the Legislature of Pennsylvania, after having entered into a solemn contract with those people for furnishing the same facilities furnished by this Conestoga company, that that property should be entirely destroyed? It has been virtually so. The Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL] says this company has been sold out; and why? Because the very life-blood of that corporation has been destroyed, the consequence of the breaches in this dam. Now, this corporation, having entered into a contract to keep up that dam, are to be allowed to break up another corporation and take away all the facilities of these people living along that Conestoga navigation, because they have been derelict in their duty, and violated their contract. We want the means of developing those material interests throughout that section of our country; there are large deposits of iron ore. We have furnaces, we have rolling-mills; and now, in consequence of the destruction of this dam, those works have become utterly useless, and in addition to that, the Conestoga navigation might as well tear up their locks and destroy their navigation, because it is utterly useless to them unless this dam is rebuilt. It is very true that last winter they did snake a bill through exempting them from the duties they owed to the people; by some improper means they did get an act passed through this Legislature not requiring them to construct that dam. That was a breach of faith, and ought to receive proper attention here.

Mr. SCHALL moved that the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I hope the Senate will remember that unless we pass this bill to day it will be worthless. The only question in the whole matter is whether the Susquehanna canal company shall keep their original contract and build a dam, as to enable us to connect with that navigation. If this bill is passed, we are entirely cut off from all connection. I presume the Senator from Lehigh [Mr.

SCHALL] has no further legislation here, as he moves to adjourn.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion of Mr. SCHALL?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SCHALL and Mr. GLATZ, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Connell, Donovan, Glaz, Haines, James, M' Candless, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Searith and Wallace—12.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Brown (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Cowles, Davis, Fisher, Graham, Landon, M'Conoughy, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—17.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question then recurred on recommending the bill to the Committee on Local Judiciary.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, this bill originated in this body, and I will agree, if it passes here, that the question shall be submitted to the Judiciary in the House.

Mr. COLEMAN. I appeal to the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. CONNELL] to give the Attorney General an opportunity of seeing this bill before it is signed.

Mr. CONNELL. We are not in the habit of submitting every bill to the Attorney General.

Mr. BIGHAM. On behalf of the General Judiciary, I hope the bill will not go there.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. I call this factious opposition to the bill.

Mr. CONNELL. I have made no factious opposition.

On the question,
Shall the bill be recommitted to the Committee on the Judiciary Local?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CONNELL and Mr. RIDGWAY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Connell, Cowles, Davis, Donovan, Glaz, Haines, James, M' Candless, M'Conoughy, Ridgway, Schall, Searith, Stutzman and Wallace—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Coleman, Fisher, Graham, Landon, Lowry, Royer, Shoemaker, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—13.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

During the call,
Mr. COWLES said: Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as this is a question which I wish to examine carefully, and thinking that it involves legal questions, I shall have to vote "aye."

THE VETO MESSAGE.

Mr. BIGHAM offered the following resolution, which was read:

Resolved, That the House of Representatives be requested to return to the Senate bill No. 324, entitled an act supplementary to an act entitled a further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania railroad company, authorizing an increase of capital stock and to borrow money, approved the 21st day of March, 1866, and to authorize the Pennsylvania railroad company to increase its capital stock, to issue bonds, to secure the same by mortgage, together with the message of the Governor in relation thereto.

Mr. CONNELL. Who ever heard of such a thing as recalling a veto message?

Mr. LOWRY. When we do a wrong act, let us undo it as soon as we can.

The SPEAKER stated that the bill vetoed by the Governor could not be again reconsidered.

Mr. WALLACE. We cannot discuss it until we have the question before us, it seems to me.

Mr. CONNELL. I should like to know the object of this resolution. I call upon the Senator to be seated if he wishes to explain.

Mr. BIGHAM. I am not instructed to say what the object is.

Mr. CONNELL. I would like to know what is to be done when it is again in the Senate chamber.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to the recalling of this bill, but if I am to be put in the position suggested by the Senator from Erie [Mr. LOWRY], in acknowledging that I have done wrong, I am not going to vote for it.

Mr. LOWRY. I was not expecting that the Senator would back out from a wrong position.

Mr. RIDGWAY. When I take a position and think I am right, I stick to it, and I shall not vote to reconsider my vote on this subject.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, the object in recalling the bill and message, I presume, is that the Senate may reconsider its action in carrying that bill over the veto of the Governor.

Now, sir, it is well known that when that bill was carried over the veto of the Governor, the Senate was not full; if it had been the result, doubtless, would have been different; and if that bill were again before a full Senate, I have no doubt, sir, that the veto of the Governor would be sustained.

On the question,
Will the Senate proceed to the second reading and consideration of the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LOWRY and Mr. DONOVAN, and were as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Brown (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Cowles, Graham, Landon, Lowry, M' Candless, Searith, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, Wallace, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Donovan, Glaz, Haines, James and Ridgway—6.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The resolution was then read a second time and Adopted.

BILL OF THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of a bill entitled an act for the better protection of seamen in the port and harbor of Philadelphia.

Mr. DONOVAN. I trust that, in the absence of my colleague [Mr. M' CANDLESS], this bill will not be considered.

Mr. RIDGWAY. I object to this bill, and I think it is due to the Senator from Philadelphia that there should be a full Senate when it is considered.

Mr. COLEMAN. It was made the special order for the day, and it is their own fault if Senators are not here.

Mr. DONOVAN. I trust that this bill will not be pressed to a vote to-day. There is no bill before the Senate in which my colleagues are more interested than in this. I trust it will be postponed for the present.

Mr. COLEMAN. This is only a question of morality—and that is about all.

Mr. DONOVAN. I think I will be able to show, when it comes up on final passage, the morality of it. I move that the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DONOVAN and Mr. CONNELL, and were as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Donovan, Glaz, Haines, James, Lowry, Ridgway, Shoemaker, ker, Stutzman, Wallace and Hall, Speaker —11.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Landon, M'Conaughy, Royer, Taylor, White and Worthington—15.

So the question was determined in the negative.

During the call,

Mr. M'CONAUGHY said: Mr. Speaker, I think it a pure question of humanity. I vote "no."

Also, during the call,

Mr. WHITE said: Mr. Speaker, I am a great friend of the seamen, and I think this a matter of humanity which ought to be disposed of. I vote "no."

Mr. DONOVAN moved to postpone the further consideration of the bill until next Monday evening.

The motion was

Agreed to.
The hour of one o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the Senate, until half past 7 o'clock next Monday evening.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, March 20, 1867.

The House met, pursuant to adjournment, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

The following

PRAYER

was offered by the Rev. Franklin Moore, D. D., of Philadelphia.

"Almighty and most merciful God, we would devoutly worship Thee through Jesus Christ, as the Source of all being, the Father of Glory. We would beseech Thee to bless these representatives of the people of Pennsylvania. Make their lives and health and all their innocent interests precious in Thy sight. Grant that they may realize the majesty of the interests committed, for the time being, to their care. Receive our thanks, as, for the grandeur of the nation, so for the grandeur of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We thank Thee for her vast material resources, for her geographical position, and for her historic glory. We beseech Thee to grant that, evermore, there may pulse forth from throughout the nation the spirit of devotion toward God, and also the spirit of a lofty and pure patriotism. We pray Thee to look graciously on the Speaker of the House of Representatives; to be wisdom and strength to him in the discharge of his responsible duties. We pray Thee to bless all the officers of this House, and all its members. Grant that the friendships formed between them here may, through the blood of the Covenant washing their souls, be perpetuated beyond this life, and exist through eternity. Guide us all unto death, and when the struggles of life are o'past, receive us to thyself—permit us to rest and rejoice in Thee forever, through Jesus Christ, our Mediator, to whom, with Thee, O Father! and Thee, Holy Ghost, be honor and glory everlasting. Amen.

The reading of the Journal of the previous session was dispensed with.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. CHASE asked and obtained leave to offer the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and

Adopted:

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House, in connection with two members of the House of Representatives, be instructed to inquire what alterations are necessary to improve the heating and ventilation of the hall of the House of Representatives; and that they be authorized to make such changes as they may deem necessary to attain this object, and, if possible, to increase the comfort and enlarge the accommodation of the hall.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. WRIGHT:

Resolved, That Hon. D. B. M'CREARY deserves and should receive the thanks of the House for the firm and gentlemanly manner in which he discharged his duty as Speaker pro tempore, on Monday evening last, when the House under consideration passed Senate bill No. 235, entitled An act to punish, by fine, any railroad corporation within this Commonwealth that shall exclude, or allow to be excluded by their agents, conductors or employees, from any of their passenger cars, any person or persons on account of color or race.

Adopted.

During the reading of the resolution, remarks, which will appear in the Appendix of the Record, were made Messrs. QUIGLEY, MANN, HEADMAN, GREGORY, M'CREARY, BOYLE, SYLVESTER, PENNYPACKER and DAVIS. The following communication from the Methodist Episcopal Conference was presented and read:

SEAT OF THE PHILADELPHIA ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE M. E. CHURCH,

LOTTEN SWERTY, M. E. CHURCH,
HARRISBURG, March 19, 1867.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met: By direction of the body herein mentioned we are authorized to forward the following communication, embracing the action of the Philadelphia Annual Conference of the M. E. Church in its morning session of this date, to His Excellency, the Governor, and the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Report of the Committee on the Sabbath.

Your committee beg leave to report, that the Christian Sabbath, by the acknowledged verdict of the Evangelical Christian world—a verdict founded on the teachings of the Holy Scriptures—a necessity alike for the physical, intellectual and religious welfare of men. It is, moreover, observed, not by the authority of human opinion, which is variable, but in accordance with expressed Divine law, and inspired example, which law enjoins the Sabbath of the Lord to be kept holy by all men, and through all time, inasmuch as it was made for man, to secure the well-being of man, in time and in eternity; therefore,

Be it resolved by the Philadelphia Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church,

First. That so far as our influence extends we will never cease to contend boldly for the glory of God and the majesty and authority of his law concerning the Holy Sabbath.

Second. That in charity to all and malice to none, we do hereby pledge ourselves to oppose without compromise and without ceasing all men, whether in high or low places, who by assailing the sanctity of the Christian Sabbath assail Christianity in the very eye.

Third. That we regard the proposed running of the street cars in the city of Philadelphia as a clear violation of the sanctity of the Sabbath day and as an infraction of the rights of the poor laboring men employed in the running of said cars, God having distinctly enjoined one day in seven as a day of rest for man and beast.

Fourth. That we respectfully and urgently request the members of the Legislature and the Governor of this State and other States to refuse all legislative and executive action which would expose human encroachments to the express law of God, reminding them solemnly that divine laws cannot be repealed with impunity by human legislation, even if such legislation be sanctioned by vast majorities of men.

The above report was adopted by the Conference, and a copy ordered to be forwarded to His Excellency, Governor Geary, and the honorable Senate and House of Representatives.

L. SCOTT,

BISHOP.

Secretary.

During the reading of the same, Mr. QUIGLEY said: Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. I believe this communication is a direct insult to the majority of this House, who voted in favor of the cars running on Sunday.

I object to the further reading of the communication, and move that it be postponed.

Mr. JENKS. Mr. Speaker, I hope the motion will not prevail. It is no insult and no disrespect to this or any other body for their constituents, in an assemblage of any kind, to give their opinion as to what is right and as to what is wrong.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, in making that motion I intended no disrespect to the gentlemen, but I take it in this way:

They start out with the intimation that they will oppose all men in high or low places who say they are in favor of running cars on Sunday. I view this as a direct insult to the majority of this House, who voted in favor of that bill. I think they should confine themselves to the business of their conference. A majority of this House have declared, by their votes, that the running of cars in the city of Philadelphia was not a desecration of the Sabbath and they know it; it is on record. The bill is already pending in the other chamber.

I view this communication as a direct insult to the majority of this House.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I am in favor of running the cars on Sunday. I so vote and so work. I hold it to be my right so to vote and so to think. While I claim that right for myself, I am perfectly willing to accord to every other gentleman the right to think as he pleases, and the right to express his views upon any matter in the way that he may deem most fitting to make them potent and efficient. I cannot, although a friend of this bill, permit the occasion to pass without saying that I regret very much that my colleague from Philadelphia has made this assault upon a body of men who stand perhaps as high in this and every other community as any other body which can assemble.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have made no assault upon them. I was defending and maintaining for this body the highest respect, but I hold that they step outside of their duties when they attempt to say what kind of legislation we want.

Mr. LEE. I understood that the conference was charged with offering a direct insult to this House; if the gentleman did not say that he meant it.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I said that the communication was a direct insult to the majority of this House who voted in favor of it.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, then if it is a direct insult by the parties who sent it here—al of us being legislators, it is a charge against that body of men, and a charge which I do not feel disposed to answer. I say that the very highest interest that a gentleman can have in this or the world to come, would be promoted by that body of men if it was in their power to do so. This charge should not be made. The persons to whom it relates are a portion of the people, and the gentleman who originated this charge was sent here by them. They have a perfect right to be heard in the expression of every fair and conscientious opinion. If they do not agree with me (and in fact they do not) upon this subject, I, nevertheless, accord to them the right, as their representative, to tell me what is their opinion, what is their desire. They ought not to be charged with insulting this House when they come here in that capacity. I hold they should come here and talk to their representatives. We are not their masters; we are here their servants, and it is no insult to us if they should tell us what is their wish and what is their conscientious conviction upon this or any other proposition. I shall not vote to stop the reading of this communication. I trust that the House will show its good sense by not agreeing to the motion.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, there is one question I would like to ask, and that is, what is more insulting in the matter that is now being read to this House than there was in the dozens of petitions and remonstrances that were forwarded to us during the discussion of the question, from all parts of the country?

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman desires an answer I will give him one. I do not dispute the truth of what any man, but I say that no body of men constituting an exclusive denomination, as a body, can send up a communication to this House after a bill is passed and denounce, indirectly if not directly, the members who voted for that bill without insulting the majority.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state that he has entertained the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia without due reflection; upon further reflection he is clearly of the opinion that gentlemen have a right to petition this House, and that it is right and due to them that the House should hear their petition; therefore, it decides the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia is not in order. The Clerk will continue the reading of the communication.

THE FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

On motion, the orders were suspended. Mr. WADDELL offered the following joint resolution providing for the final adjournment of the Legislature:

Resolved, That (if the House concur) the Legislature will adjourn sine die at twelve o'clock, m., on Wednesday, the 3d day of April next.

The resolution was numbered Senate bill No. 103.

On motion of Mr. WADDELL, the resolution was amended so as to provide for the final adjournment on Thursday, the 11th of April, at 12 o'clock, m.

The amendment was Agreed to. The rules being suspended, The bill was read a second and a third time and Passed finally.

BILL PASSED.

Mr. CAMERON asked and obtained leave to read a bill in place—the bill being numbered 1388.

On motion, the rules were suspended, and the House proceeded to its consideration. It was read and Agreed to. The rules being again suspended, the bill was read a second and third time, and Passed finally.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. THARP asked and obtained leave to read in place and present to the Chair bill No. 1390, an act to empower the court of quarter sessions of Northumberland county to grant a license to Nicholas Stenck to keep a hotel.

Laid on the table. Mr. CAMERON, bill No. 1389, an act authorizing the commissioners of Susquehanna county to erect new jail in that county.

Laid on the table. On motion, the orders were suspended to enable Mr. GHEGAN to offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That for the remainder of this session no member shall be allowed to speak for more than five minutes at one time, nor more than twice on the same bill or subject. On motion of Mr. JENKS, the resolution was amended by striking out the word "five," and inserting the word "ten."

On motion of Mr. STUMBAUGH, the resolution was further amended by striking out the limitation of speaking but twice on the same subject.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

On motion of Mr. M'PHERRIN, Senate bill No. 287, an act relative to livery stable keepers in Mercer county, was recommitted to the Committee on the Judiciary Local. The House then proceeded with the orders of the day.

The first bill in order on the private calendar was House bill No. 1032, an act to incorporate the Rev. Hugh M'Laughlin beneficial society of Philadelphia. The question was on the bill.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, the objection I have to this preamble is that it asserts in the last part that the courts have not jurisdiction; it also states the fact that these parties are not citizens.

I will agree to vote for that, but I am not willing to vote that the courts have not power to grant the charter, because I contend it is not true. I hold that part of the preamble ought to be stricken out.

By request, the preamble was again read for the information of the House.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by striking out that part of the preamble.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I know that the courts have not jurisdiction in such cases.

Mr. MANN. That is the question to be determined.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Potter admits the first part of the preamble the other follows.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, what I object to is that it is attempted to argue that because the courts have not authority, therefore the Legislature has; that is the inference I am resisting. I do not question the fact that a court has no power to incorporate societies of persons who are not citizens. I object to the inference drawn from this preamble, that because the courts have not authority to do that particular thing, therefore the Legislature has.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I will modify the preamble.

The preamble was modified. Modification not stated.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the preamble does not remove the objection raised last night. The preamble and the bill have no reference to each other at all. The preamble would seem to indicate that the persons who are to be incorporated in this society were not to be citizens in order to take the matter out of the jurisdiction of the courts, but the bill does not set forth that as one of the objects of the society—that the persons connected with this proposed association are not to be citizens. The preamble must be still further amended, because the bill does not set out that one of the objects of the association is that persons who are not citizens shall be incorporated.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, it says so. Mr. M'CREARY. The bill does not say so.

Mr. QUIGLEY. The preamble is a part of the bill.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I believe it is stated that the persons who wish to be incorporated are not to be citizens.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would ask if the preamble is not a part of the bill?

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, it may be, but it must agree with the bill.

I would say, while on the floor, that I am not in favor of granting an incorporation to associations of this kind. A man who is a citizen of New York or some other portion of the country may come here to claim rights that our citizens cannot.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill where some of the corporators are citizens and some are not.

I do not think that the objection of the gentleman from Erie applies to this case.

On agreeing to the amendment to the preamble,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. QUIGLEY and Mr. MULLIN, and were as follow, viz:

Yeas—Messrs. Barrington, Boyle, Ereen, Brennan, Calvin, Collins, Craig, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kainc, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Maise, Meyers, Mullin, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp, Westbrook, Wingard and Glass, Speakers—35.

NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Chadwick, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Ewing, Freeborn, Ghegan, Gordon, Hoffman, Kimmell, Kinney, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Kee, M'Pherrin, Pennapacker, Peter, Pillow, Roath, Seiler, Steacy, Stichman, Watt, Webb, Weller and Wright—31.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question was then on the bill as amended.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker: I hope this bill will not pass; it still leaves it as a bill, the objects of which the courts could not grant, and by implication the Legislature should not. Because, if they do, it will simply appear to us that the Legislature would do for those who are not citizens what they will not do for those who are citizens. That point was well made by the gentleman from Erie. It cannot be supposed that the Legislature intended to tie up their own hands so that they could not grant a charter of incorporation for their own citizens. I would grant to foreigners whatever is just, what the gentleman from Philadelphia asks us to do in this bill; but I object to granting to foreigners privileges which the Constitution provides we shall not grant to our own citizens. I hope, therefore, the House will not pass the bill.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN] certainly knows that we pass bills every day incorporating companies where a number of the persons incorporators are not citizens of this State.

Now, the law gave the right to the courts to grant charters, but it says such charters must be granted only to citizens of this Commonwealth. This preamble sets forth that some of these gentlemen are not citizens of the Commonwealth, and therefore the courts have not jurisdiction, and cannot grant them a charter. Now, every day we pass railroad bills and printing bills, and others, where a number of the names in the bill are those of incorporators who are not citizens of the State. We have frequently passed such bills giving the rights of incorporation to three or four parties from another State, among others who were to be directors of the association so incorporated.

I see nothing in the argument of the gentleman from Potter.

Mr. MANN. The object is just this: Men who are citizens could associate with these other men who are not citizens, thus evading the jurisdiction of the court and present themselves here with an application for an act of incorporation.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the word "foreigner" proves to be a great bugbear in regard to this bill.

Not the whole circumstances connected with this question are simple these: This society, which my friend from Philadelphia has stated was gotten up for financial purposes, is to be named after a Catholic priest who resided in the neighborhood of my friend from Philadelphia. The persons who created that church are foreigners, still not all of them. Others have come into this country and resided in that district probably ten or fifteen years without having been naturalized. This bill is simply to allow those men who belong to that church who are not naturalized to become citizens of the country and participate in the affairs of this society.

The question being on the bill,
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. QUIGLEY and Mr. GREGORY, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Barrington, Boyd,

Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Cameron, Collins, Craig, Ewing, Fogel, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Helzell, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Henry, Meyers, Mullin, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Tharp, Westbrook, Whann and Wingard—36.

NAYS—Messrs. Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Brown, Chadwick, Day, DeHaven, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Hoffmann, Kimmell, Kinney, Leech, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Pherrin, Mann, Pennapacker, Peter, Pillow, Roath, Steacy, Stichman, Watt, Webb, Weller and Wright—30.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Passed finally.

During the second reading of the private calendar the following remarks were made:

On bill No. 1071, an act to annul the marriage contract between James R. Weyman and Ida M., his wife.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, no reason is given why we should grant this divorce. I hope it will not pass.

Mr. COLVILLE. I hope the petition accompanying that bill will be read for the information of the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN].

Mr. MANN. The bill itself ought to give the ground for the divorce.

The petition was read, but could not be found for insertion in the Record.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, as that petition sets forth reasons which a court can ascertain, and it being a case over which they have jurisdiction, I shall call the eyes and nays on the passage of the bill.

Mr. COLVILLE. Mr. Speaker, I am quite well acquainted with this case. I have known the man quite a number of years. He is at present serving out a term of imprisonment in the Western penitentiary for burglary.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if that is not a form of divorce?

Mr. COLVILLE. Mr. Speaker, I believe it requires a two years' sentence. He is sentenced for but one year and three months. The wife of this man has made application to several eminent lawyers of Pittsburg and they informed her that she had no redress from the courts, because she had voluntarily left him. That petition states she was compelled to leave him for her own safety. I consider the opinion of the lawyers of Pittsburg is entitled to as much weight as the opinion of any gentleman on this floor.

I hope the bill will be considered and acted upon.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, I have a high regard for the opinion of the profession in Pittsburg. No man entertains a higher respect for gentlemen of the bar there. And so far as their opinion has been expressed to this House, it is worthy of all credit and respect. I do not apprehend any lawyer here would say that where a woman voluntarily left her husband she was entitled to a divorce on the ground of desertion. In the petition she does not base her application to the Legislature on the ground of desertion. The simple statement is that she has been cruelly and barbarously treated by this man. Her life has been rendered unbearable and endangered by reason of personal attacks on his part. Now, I will venture to say, there is no lawyer in the city of Pittsburg but what will see, if he examine the act of Assembly, and then the petition which sets forth the grounds upon which the divorce is asked, that it comes under the provisions of the act of 1854.

I will read from that act: "The cruelty which entitles a wife to a divorce is actual personal violence, or reasonable apprehension of it; or such a course of treatment as endangers her life and health, and renders cohabitation unsafe. It is not every single touching of the wife's person in anger, at a moment of sudden excitement or passion, that will authorize the granting of a divorce. But violent temper, intemperate habits, and repeated indignities to the person of the wife—in particular, an assault upon her, with a knife—are sufficient grounds for a divorce. So, also, frequent intoxication of the husband, inducing the use of profane, threatening and abusive language towards his wife, by which she was held in fear and terror, neglecting to provide her with the necessities of life, and finally assaulting and beating her, without provocation, though but once, will entitle the wife to a divorce.

"Or when any husband shall have, by cruel and barbarous treatment, endangered his wife's life, or offered such indignities to her person, as to render her condition intolerable, and life burdensome, and thereby force her to withdraw from his house and family, in every such case it shall and may be lawful for the innocent and injured person to obtain a divorce from the bond of matrimony."

Is there any allegation in the petition of this woman, unfortunate as she is, and sympathizing with her as I do, that is not fully covered by the act of Assembly?

Can this Legislature, with the act of Assembly and this petition before them, grant the prayer of the wife?

In agreeing to the bill.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MANN and Mr. MEYERS, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Calvin, Chalfant, Colville, Davis, DeHaven, Donohugh, Fogel, Gregory, Josephs, Kline, Koon, M'Pherrin, Meily, Peter, Pillow, Westbrook, Wingard and Worrall—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barrington, Barton, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Day, Ewing, Freeborn, Gordon, Harner, Healdman, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Hunt, Jenkins, Jones, Kimmell, Kinney, Kurtz, Leech, Linton, Long, M'Creary, M'Henry, Maish, Mann, Meyers, Rhoads, Richards, Roath, Roush, Sharples, Shuman, Waddell, Watt, Webb, Weller, Woodward, Wright and Glass, Speaker—44.

So the question was determined in the negative.

So the bill was not agreed to.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to joint resolution providing for the final adjournment of the Legislature.

APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. WADDELL, asked and obtained leave to read in place and present to the Chair a general appropriation bill.

On motion, the House then adjourned till 3 o'clock this P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met at 3 o'clock, P. M., pursuant to adjournment.

FULL CALENDAR.

The special order being the consideration of bills on the public calendar,

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I move to dispense with the special order for this afternoon, until the private calendar is gone through with.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, there are a few bills on the public calendar in which I feel a very great interest that cannot be reached if that order of business is set aside every little while. The last day it was set aside for the whole day, and last week we got only half a day in which to consider the public calendar. In order to obviate any difficulty I propose to ask that two bills of the public calendar be considered now, and if they are, I will then make no objection myself to any other business being taken up. If the House will take up Senate bill No. 173 and House bill No. 609, and consider them, I will make no further objections to any business being considered.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to take up Senate bill No. 173.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I object to that. One man can't dictate to this House.

Mr. MANN. I don't propose to.

I then object to any business being taken up except bills on the public calendar.

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 373, Mr. FREEBORN in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

A SUPPLEMENT to the act relating to actioneers.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall and may be lawful for any licensed auctioneer of this Commonwealth to sell, transfer and assign his license and commission to any citizen, or citizens of this Commonwealth, subject to the approval of the Governor: Provided, That the person or persons to whom the same may be assigned shall take the oath of office, give bond, and in all things conform to the existing laws of this Commonwealth relating to actioneers, before acting under said transfer license or commission.

SEC. 2. Upon the return to, and the filing in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, of any such assignment, together with said commission, the proper bond and affidavit required by law, the Governor shall issue to said assignee a commission for the unexpired term of said original commission, upon payment of the office fees allowed by law.

The bill was Agreed to. In the House,

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. FREEBORN, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill without amendment.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, The bill read a third time by its title, and Passed finally.

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 172, Mr. DEHAVEN in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

AN ACT regulating the jurisdiction of courts in proceedings by bills for injunctions and other relief in equity, and the service of process.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That all bills for injunctions and other relief in equity, shall be filed and applied for in the courts of the county where the subject matter in controversy may exist, and should there be no one in said county on whom the service of a writ regularly issued can be made according to existing laws, the same may be served on the proper person in any other county of the State, by the sheriff or other officer to whom the writ is directed, or by his deputy; and if there should be no such person within the State, the court, if in session, or a judge thereof, in vacation, may order and direct publication of notice in such manner as may best serve to bring home notice to the respondent or respondents, and the sheriff, or other officer, shall make return thereunder oath; and so much of any law or laws of this State as is hereby altered or modified, is hereby repealed.

The bill was

Agreed to.

In the House,

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. DEHAVEN, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill without amendment.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and

Passed finally.

The House went into committee of the whole on Senate bill No. 617, Mr. GORDON in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

JOINT RESOLUTION relative to the revival of the civil laws of Pennsylvania.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, That the Governor be and he is hereby authorized and required to appoint three persons, learned in the law of this Commonwealth, as commissioners to revise, collate, and digest, all such public acts and statutes of the civil code of this State, as are general and permanent in their nature, excepting those statutes revised, codified, and enacted, under the resolution approved March twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and thirty.

SEC. 2. That it shall be the duty of the revisers to carefully collate and reduce into one act the different acts and parts of acts, which, from similarity of subjects, ought to be so arranged and consolidated; to divest the said acts of all useless verbiage; to arrange the several acts under proper titles and sections; to omit all such acts or parts of acts as shall have been repealed, or supplied, or which have expired; to suggest to the Legislature such contractions, omissions, or imperfections as may appear in the statutes, and the mode in which the same may be reconciled, supplied, or amended; to designate the acts, or parts of acts, which ought to be repealed, and recommend the passage of such new acts as such repeal may render necessary, and generally to execute the duties hereby confided to them in such a manner as to render the statute laws of Pennsylvania more simple, plain and perfect: Provided, That in such revision of the statutes no change shall be made in their phrasing so as will require any impairment or affect their true intent and meaning, except in those instances in which it shall be expressly proposed to amend or change the existing provisions of said statute.

SEC. 3. That the said revisers shall, immediately upon the completion of their labors upon each specific head, or subject embraced in said statutes, make report thereof to the Legislature, with the necessary bill prepared and notes of the changes proposed, if any, and shall also revise, collate and digest, in connection with the statutes revised and enacted under the resolution approved March twenty-third, one thousand eight hundred and thirty, all legislation enacted upon those subjects since the date of said enactment, in such form that the Legislature may, if it deem proper, re-enact the whole in one code, and upon the entire completion of their labors they shall make a final report embodying the whole of the duties by them performed.

SEC. 4. That the said revisers shall be allowed the term of two years, if necessary, to complete the duties assigned to them in and by these resolutions; and, in the execution thereof, they shall have free access to any public records or papers of the State, without fee or reward.

SEC. 5. That the sum of fifteen thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby, appropriated to be expended, under the direction of the Governor and the Auditor General, in payment of the compensation to the revisers appointed under the provisions of these resolutions, and the manner of the expenditure thereof shall be, by the Auditor General, reported to the next Legislature.

The bill was

Agreed to.

In the House,

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. GORDON, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill without amendment.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and

Passed finally.

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 374, Mr. HARBISON in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

AN ACT for the better protection of deer and wild turkeys in this Commonwealth, and for the transportation of deer and venison within and through the same.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act it shall not be lawful for any railroad, express or transportation company to carry, or convey, or to receive, for the purpose of carrying or conveying from any place within this Commonwealth to any place within or without the same, any deer or venison taken or killed within said Commonwealth, between the first day of January and the first day of August in each year, and the possession by said railroad, express or other transportation company or companies, their agent or agents, or employees for the purpose of carrying or transporting of any deer or venison from the tenth day of January until the first day in August, in each year, shall be deemed and taken as evidence prima facie that the same was taken or killed within the period first before mentioned, and within this Commonwealth.

SEC. 2. That if any railroad, express, or other transportation company, or companies, their agents or employees, shall violate the provisions of the first section of this act, such railroad, express or transportation company, or companies, shall forfeit and pay one hundred dollars, with costs of suit, for each deer or piece of venison so transported, or carried, or taken for transportation or carriage, in violation of the provisions of said section, to be recovered in an action of debt, in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the use of any person suing for the same, in the court of common pleas of any county in which said deer or venison may be taken for carriage or transportation, or through which the same may be carried or transported: Provided, That one-half the penalty aforesaid shall go to the use of the poor of the county in which suit shall be brought for the same: And provided further, That a recovery in a suit in any one county shall be a bar to any subsequent suit for the same offense in any other county.

SEC. 3. That the penalty for killing any buck, doe or fawn out of the season shall hereafter be fifty dollars for each and every offense, and so much of third section of the act of ninth of April, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and sixty, relating to the hunting and killing of deer, as is inconsistent herewith, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 4. That whoever it shall not be lawful for any person or persons in this Commonwealth to take or kill any wild turkey between the first day of January and the first day of September in each year, nor shall any person or persons at any time take or kill any wild turkey or turkeys by means of any snare, gin, trap or pen, and any person or persons violating the provisions of this section shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for each and every such offense, to any person suing for the same, for every wild turkey so unlawfully taken or killed, to be recovered in an action of debt as sums of like amount are now by law recoverable, except that there shall be no exemption from execution, levy and sale of any property, goods, or chattels for the recovery of said sum with costs.

SEC. 5. That all suits or actions hereafter to be brought under this act and the act or acts which it supplies, shall be commenced within three months from the time such suit or action shall accrue, and not afterwards.

The bill was

Agreed to.

In the House,

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. HARBISON, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill without amendments.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and

Passed finally.

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 609, Mr. HARVEY in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

AN ACT to prevent fraudulent insolvencies.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall be the duty of any prothonotary of a court of record in Pennsylvania, having jurisdiction, of the cases of actions, to issue an attachment against any defendant or defendants, upon the application of any plaintiff or plaintiffs, upon proof by the affidavit of said plaintiff, or any of them, or of any other person for him, her or them, that said defendant or defendants are justly indebted to him, her or them in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, the nature and amount of such indebtedness being set forth in such affidavit, and that said party defendant is then to remove his, her or their property out of the jurisdiction of the court in which said attachment is applied for with intent to defraud his, her or their creditors, or that said party defendant has property rights in action or interest in any public or corporate stock, money or evidences of debt which he, she or they fraudulently conceal, or that said party defendant has or have assigned, disposed of or removed, or is about to assign, dispose of or remove, any such property, money, rights in action, interest in public or corporate stock, or evidences of debt, with the intent to defraud his, her or their creditors, or that he, she or they fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation for which such claim is made: Provided, That before such attachment shall issue, the party plaintiff, or some one in his, her or their behalf, shall execute and file with the said prothonotary a bond in a penalty of at least double the amount claimed, with good and sufficient surety, conditioned that if the plaintiff or plaintiffs shall fail to prosecute his, her or their action to a final judgment and recover a judgment against such defendant or defendants, he, she or they shall pay to said defendant or defendants all legal costs and damages which said party defendant may sustain by reason of said attachment, and which said bond shall remain in the office of said prothonotary for the use of any party injured as aforesaid.

SEC. 2. Every such attachment shall be made returnable on the first return day of said court, next after the time of issuing thereof, and be served by the sheriff of the proper county, or by some other special deputy by him made, by attaching so much of the money, stocks, rights in action, evidences of debt or other property of said party defendant not exempt by law from sale upon execution as will be sufficient to pay the debt demanded, with costs, and shall deliver to said defendant or defendants, or one of them, a copy of said attachment, with an inventory of the property or other thing attached, if said party defendant can be found within the county, and if not found, then by leaving a copy of the same at his, her or their residence, with some adult member of the family where he, she or they reside; or if said party defendant do not reside in the county, and cannot be found, then by leaving a copy of said attachment and inventory with the person in whose possession or care said property may be, or in whose hands it may be attached; and in case such money, rights in action, interest in public or corporate stock, evidences of debt or other property shall be found in the hands or possession of any person, persons or corporation other than the party defendant, such person, persons or corporation shall be summoned as a garnishee.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the officer, serving said attachment, to take the property attached into his possession, when the same is capable of manual seizure, and when not, the same shall be bound by such attachment, in the hands or possession of such party, from whom it is due or owing, or whose duty it is to account for the same, unless the party defendant or some one for him, her or them shall enter in a bond with sufficient surety, to be approved by the court from which said attachment shall issue, or a judge thereof, in double the amount of the debt or demand claimed, conditioned, that in the event of the plaintiff or plaintiffs recovering judgment in said attachment that he, she or they, will pay the debt and costs at the expiration of the stay of execution, on sums of like amount, given to freeholders; or that he, she or they, will surrender up said property, in as good condition as when attached, to any officer having an execution against said party defendant on any judgment rendered in said attachment in favor of the plaintiff.

SEC. 4. In case of a personal service of said attachment upon the party defendant, or if he, she or they, shall be residents of the county at the time the attachment was issued, or shall appear to the action, the court shall proceed in the case in like manner as in a case of summons for debt regularly issued and duly served, and in case there shall not be a personal service, residence, or appearance as aforesaid, the plaintiff or plaintiffs may at any time, after the first day of the second term, after issuing said attachment, proceed in like manner against the party defendant, and against the garnishee or garnishees by rules, interrogatories or otherwise, as is now practiced in cases of foreign attachment and attachment execution, and the court shall have like powers to decree the sale of perishable property, as they now have in foreign attachment.

SEC. 5. In case two or more attachments are issued against the same party defendant and levied upon the same property, the one first issued and served shall have the prior lien: Provided, That attachments issued and served at the same time, or upon the same day, shall have the same lien, and in case there is not a sufficient amount of property attached to pay the same, they shall be paid pro rata according to the amount of the judgment recovered in each.

SEC. 6. In all cases in which a writ of attachment shall have issued, pursuant to the foregoing provisions, it shall be lawful for the defendant to apply to the court of common pleas of the proper county, when in session, or to a judge thereof in vacation, to dissolve said attachment; and upon the hearing of such application, the said court or judge thereof in vacation, shall have power to hear evidence, or determine the truth of the allegations contained in the affidavit, upon which said writ issued, and to dissolve or continue the time of such attachment, according as he shall find the allegation of such affidavit sustained or otherwise.

Mr. MEYERS moved to amend in the fifth line of the fifth section by striking out the words "at the same time or."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

The bill as amended was

Agreed to.

In the House,

The Speaker having resumed the chair.

Mr. HARNER, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill to the House as amended.

The first, second, third and fourth sections were read and

Agreed to.

The fifth section was read.

The question being on agreeing to the section,

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by inserting at the end of the section the following:

"Provided, The officer executing said attachment shall endorse thereon the hour and day of executing the attachment."
The speaker then read the first part of the section provided that the party liening the property first shall have the prior lien. The proviso as it stands seems to put those liened on the same day on the same footing. It strikes me that in a day of twenty-four hours, where one party is diligent in serving out an attachment in the early part of the day, he should have a lien prior to one served later in the day.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest to the gentleman from Northampton [Mr. MEYERS], that it would be better to establish the rule the same as in fi fas, that the sheriff indicate the time and receipt of the writ of attachment by him. There ought to be no opportunity for the sheriff to discriminate as to which attachment shall be first served. This amendment does not require him to serve first the first attachment that comes into his hands. I think it would be much better to apply the same rule here that is now applicable to fi fas.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, I think it would be well to incorporate both the amendments offered by the gentleman from Northampton [Mr. MEYERS] and the suggestion by the gentleman from Fayette [Mr. BOYLE].

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, if this section is to be amended at all I should decidedly prefer the amendment indicated by the gentleman from Fayette [Mr. BOYLE]; but I am not clear that it ought to be amended at all. Still, if gentlemen desire to have it conform with the present law in regard to executions I am satisfied. But it seems to me there might be objections to that feature.

It might make a scramble about the matter which would be unpleasant to all the officers concerned, and occasion disputes as to the correct time entered on the writ. I would prefer to have the section stand as it is, and give all the parties, whose attachments are made on the same day, an equal claim, just as judgments on the same day in the court of common pleas have equal claim upon the real estate for which they are a lien. That is the law with regard to liens generally—with regard to entering mortgages and judgments upon the prothonotary's docket. All judgments entered on the same day take pro rata. This provision in this bill was formed in accordance with that idea. I have, however, no feeling on this subject.

If the House see fit to alter it so as to encourage this scrambling that must ensue in that case, I think it would be decidedly better to adopt the amendment proposed by the gentleman from Fayette, because that will not give the sheriff the power to secure a priority of lien by serving a writ coming into his hands in the afternoon before one coming into his hands in the morning. If there is to be any priority of liens on writs issued on the same day, the priority ought to take from the time the writ goes into the hands of the sheriff. For myself, however, I would prefer to let the section stand as it is.

Mr. HOOD. Mr. Speaker, I understand the object of this bill is that this writ of attachment shall have the same effect as a fi fas. If such is the intention, then the first attachment placed in the hands of the sheriff ought to take priority. If you fix the time on the same day it will lead to an irremediable amount of confusion, and it will be a difficult question to determine who is entitled to this priority of lien. I understand the intention of this act is to enable persons to secure a lien upon personal property from the time of the issue of the writ of attachment. I would, therefore, prefer to have the word "day" stricken out and the word "time" inserted.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, I offer a substitute for the amendment of the gentleman from Northampton [Mr. MEYERS], as follows:

"That the officer to whom said attachment shall be directed shall endorse thereon the day and the hour on which the same was received, and the lien of said writ shall attach at the time of so being received."

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my amendment.

The question being on the amendment offered by Mr. WADDELL,

It was

Agreed to.

The question recurring on agreeing to the section as amended,

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by striking out all the section except the amendment just made.

The amendment was

Agreed to.

The question recurring on the section as amended,

It was

Agreed to.

The sixth section was read.

The question being on agreeing to the section,

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by adding the following:

"Provided, That the lien of the attachment shall not continue longer than five years, unless revived by scire facias."

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that that is too long a time. You allow, by this bill, the plaintiff to attach a man's movable property without having established any cause of action at all, and now by this amendment you propose to allow him to continue to hold this property, in case the parties do not come to trial, for five years. There ought to be a period fixed, but I would suggest to the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN] it ought to be much shorter than that.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, my aim was to fix a time beyond which the lien should not extend. I take it that the defendant, who intends to prosecute his claim, can bring this matter to an issue and have it decided in court just as soon as the legal steps can be taken. This proviso would not affect the defendant who was prepared to urge his claim. It would only affect those cases where the defendant abandons the property entirely and no proceedings are taken. The defendant could not be affected. He would have all his rights. He would have the right to ask the court to try the case as soon as he would be prepared to meet it. Still, I have no objection to a shorter time and will modify my amendment, making it three years instead of five.

The question being on agreeing to the amendment of Mr. MANN, it was

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, and the bill

Passed finally.

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to offer a resolution.

Consent was given.

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor be requested to return to the House, House bill No. 544, for the purpose of amendment.

The resolution was

OBJECTED BILLS OF LAST WEEK.

The following objected bills on the private calendar, were taken up, read the second time, and disposed of as stated:

No. 796, an act to repeal an act entitled An act extending the act relating to the selling of the repairing of public roads in certain townships in Schuylkill county, to Mauch Chunk township, in Carbon county, approved the 5th day of March, A. D. 1863.

On motion of Mr. CRAIG, postponed indefinitely.

No. 736, an act to authorize the appointment of controllers of the First school district of Philadelphia.

Amended by Mr. MARES.

The question being on the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ADAIRE and Mr. DONOHUE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Boyd, Boyle, Brennan, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chalfant, Collins, Craig, Davis, Day, Ewing, Fogel, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Harner, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kinney, Koon, Kurtz, Lee, M. Camant, M'Creary, M'Henry, Mann, Marks, Peter, Pillow, Quay, Richards, Roath, Roush, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Stehman, Waddell, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wharton, Wingard, Woodward, Wright and Glass, Speaker—56.

NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Barrington, Donohue, Linton, M'Pherrin, Meyers, Mullin, Quigley, Subers, Wallace, Westbrook and Worrall—12.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill

Passed finally.

No. 778, an act to incorporate the Pittsburgh tunnel company.

Amended by Mr. M'KEE, and

Passed finally.

Senate bill No. 720, an act to repeal an act for the repeal of an act changing the venue of certain actions of ejectment from Armstrong to Allegheny county.

The question being on agreeing to the bill,

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I trust that in this case the House will not agree to the passage of this bill. We had read yesterday to this House the reasons why the parties in this matter should not have this bill passed. This is one of those peculiar kind of cases that originated in our county. Benjamin Rush Bradford is a gentleman who is well known in this Commonwealth as a very wealthy man. He is a gentleman who is supposed to be a millionaire, and he has brought actions of ejectment against persons living in an Armstrong county—persons who have lived on their lands forty odd years—since the year 1818. He brought actions of ejectment in 1858. These suits were not brought to trial until 1864.

In 1864, a trial was had in Armstrong county against one of the parties, a James Guthrie, and a verdict was then had against Benjamin Rush Bradford, the plaintiff. The judge who held the court was Judge Campbell, of the Clarion county district. It was a special court and a special case. The jury was a struck jury. That jury went upon the premises and took all the evidence that they could obtain, and a verdict was had against Mr. Bradford. Pending that verdict, and before judgment could be had upon it, and on a motion for a new trial, Mr. Bradford came here to the Legislature of Pennsylvania and had the member from Armstrong county, in 1864, pass a bill changing the venue of both these cases to Allegheny county. This was done without the knowledge or consent of the defendants in the case, and notwithstanding the assertion of the gentleman himself, that all the parties had legal notice in this matter. He states in the affidavit read here, that all the parties were represented before this Legislature. It is not the fact. Not one of the parties, not even the counsel, had notice of this matter. It was sprung upon them in 1864, and the venue was taken from Armstrong county to Allegheny county. The only action that was taken upon it was a motion for a new trial, and Judge Campbell, in connection with the judge of the district court of that county, granted him a new trial. Remember, Mr. Speaker, a judge of his own choice, granted him a new trial. It is now down in the list of causes in Armstrong county for the eighth day of next month. The jury is summoned and the witnesses are subpoenaed, everything is ready for the trial of this case, and the gentleman now comes in here and asks the passage of this bill to compel these parties to go down into Allegheny county to defend the title of the homes in which they were born. Now, I ask the members of this Legislature if this is not a great wrong? Is an outrage upon the people of Armstrong county, who are the defendants in this case, to compel them to go to another county to defend the title to their lands which they have occupied for over forty years? Benjamin Rush Bradford, when he finds that he is defeated by a jury and a court in his own county, comes here and attempts to pass an act compelling these parties to go into another district. Now, I appeal to the members from Allegheny county—and to each one of them—is there one of them that will not remonstrate against this case going into their county to try the titles to land in other counties, and thus take up the time of their juries and their lawyers? I say, sir, that this is not right; the whole thing is wrong from beginning to end. Mr. Bradford, when he finds that he cannot get justice in Armstrong county, he says (and I would like to know why he cannot get justice there—there is no personal feeling in this matter), desires to take the case to the court of another county. It is just this way, Mr. Speaker: He is defeated in his efforts to cheat men out of their lands and property that they have occupied for forty odd years; and because he cannot gain his suit there, he wants this Legislature to interfere and change the case to another county. I would like to hear any gentleman make any statement in favor of this bill. If he can, I will then be prepared to answer him.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Armstrong [Mr. MECHLING] has given a correct general outline of the facts in reference to this change of venue, but he is mistaken as to some of the minor features. The facts are that in 1858 Benjamin Rush Bradford, who was the owner of the paper titles of certain lands in Armstrong county which were adversely claimed by the settlers thereon by squatter rights, brought actions of ejectment against the parties occupying the land. The sentiment of the surrounding neighborhood was in favor of the occupants. Mr. Bradford resides in Beaver county. Two actions of ejectment were instituted in Armstrong county—as the gentleman states—to contest the title of the land. They came on for trial, and the verdict in one case was rendered against the plaintiffs. The trial, as he states, was presided over by Judge Campbell. Mr. Bradford, after finding that the popular sentiment against him in Armstrong county was so strong that he could not secure a fair trial, came to this Legislature and asked for a change of venue to Allegheny county. He did so by the advice of Judge Campbell, and bearing a letter from him stating that owing to the sentiment of the people in Armstrong county he did not believe Mr. Bradford could have a fair trial there. The bill was presented in the Senate, and the counsel of the defendant was present in the interest of his client, as established by the affidavit of Mr. Bradford which was read here yesterday. The matter was fully investigated in the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, and the bill passed there unanimously. It came over to the House and was called up by the then member from Armstrong. It passed here without opposition except as to one feature, providing that Judge Campbell should assist in the trial in Allegheny county. I find by the report in the Record that a letter was produced and read by Mr. ENOY, from Mr. Phelps (a legal gentleman from the Western part of the State), who was the attorney for the plaintiffs in the trial already had. The letter was to the following effect:

"A bill will come before your House to change the venue in two actions in ejectment, wherein Benjamin Rush Bradford is plaintiff, to the district court of Allegheny. Such is the feeling in the neighborhood of the land, and the outside pressure here, that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had in this court. Means have been, and will be used to tamper with the jury; and as he does not reside here, I am satisfied that he cannot get justice without removing the case to some other county."

As before stated, one of the cases was tried in Armstrong county, and a verdict rendered against Mr. Bradford.

A motion for a new trial was entertained and argued in Allegheny county, after a change of the venue, at the hearing of which Judge Campbell assisted. The new trial was granted on the ground that the jury in their verdict had over-ridden the law and the evidence. The defendants were in possession of the property and, of course, were not anxious to force the cases to trial. On account of private business the plaintiff was unable to go on with them until 1866. Last winter the member from Armstrong, for some reason or other, being interested against Mr. Bradford and in favor of these claimants, introduced a bill here providing for the repeal of the act changing the venue in these cases to Allegheny county. The bill was passed without mentioning either of the parties. I knew nothing of the previous legislation on the subject, and not being informed of the character of this bill it passed before my eyes. I not knowing that one of my constituents was gravely interested in it. Although the gentleman from Armstrong knew that it was a direct attack on Mr. Bradford, one of my constituents, he never mentioned its character to me. It went through, as I said, in the dark. It skulked through the other branch of the Legislature in the dark, and through the Executive Chamber—like some guilty thing which shuns the light; and the gentleman from Armstrong covered its tracks so carefully, that it was not until I returned home that I ascertained its character.

In the original bill, Mr. Bradford agreed with the defendant's counsel that he would pay all the defendant's cost in the action by reason of the change of venue. As soon as this bill of last year was passed, the defendant issued an execution for the cost and collected six hundred dollars.

Now, these are the facts connected with this case, and I hope this Legislature will pass this bill, notwithstanding the objections of the gentleman from Armstrong [Mr. MECHLING].

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Beaver [Mr. QUAY] I will state this fact, that when this bill was sent to me last winter to repeal the act changing the venue from Armstrong county to Allegheny county I read it in place just exactly as it was presented to me. It was put on the file of the House, like any other bill; passed through both Houses and was signed by the Governor. I ask any gentleman if it is in the place of a gentleman who presents a bill here to go and hunt up opposition to that bill? Was it my place to go to the gentleman from Beaver and say to him that I had a bill I wanted him to approve? Every gentleman who is in the style of business that the gentleman from Beaver pursues, knows that he never asks any person when he wants to snake a bill through this House.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman state when I ever interfered with the local legislation of any member of this House?

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I do not make any charge, but I do say it is not the place of a member who has a bill in charge to go and hound up opposition to it. I declare that there was merit in this bill of mine. As I said before, Mr. Bradford sneaked a bill through this Legislature in 1864, changing the venue of these causes from Armstrong to Allegheny county.

The gentleman talks about my taking advantage of his constituents last winter, but he does not say anything about his taking advantage of my constituents in 1864, when he got a bill passed here without giving notice to any of the parties concerned, when the case was at issue in the court, pending a motion for a new trial, changing the venue from Armstrong to Allegheny county. I say here was a great wrong, and if the Legislature of Pennsylvania will allow a man who can bring his action of ejectment against parties who have lived there all their lives, whose sons have grown up there and have died fighting for their country, to come here and force those parties to go into another county to defend the titles to the homes which they have purchased and resided upon for more than forty years? If this Legislature will do that, then I would like to have every gentleman express his opinion on the subject by his ye or his nay.

Benjamin Rush Bradford, I suppose and know, is an honorable man. He lives in Beaver county, and has a wide spread reputation. In fact, he was once the Know Nothing candidate for Governor of this State. He is a wealthy man, and if not a millionaire, he is worth his hundreds of thousands of dollars. He brings his action of ejectment against these parties after they have occupied the premises for forty years. This is not an untrue statement, but it is the fact. They have lived there since 1818, and no suit was brought until 1868. And now that he is defeated upon the verdict of a jury in the county in which the suit is brought, and because he is defeated there, he now asks that the case shall be tried in another county. He asks that the time of their court, and jury, and lawyers should be taken up investigating a matter that properly belongs to Armstrong county. I ask the members from Allegheny county if they are willing to have a suit forced into their courts, at their expense, when there is but a single man interested asking for it, and that single man Benjamin Rush Bradford, of Beaver county? Mr. Bradford can get as fair a trial in Armstrong county as he can in any other county in this Commonwealth. It is not a question with him, "I have not justice, I have not my rights, but I cannot win my cause in the place where it belongs; but if I can get these parties away my money can buy them, and my counsel tells me so." The affidavit was read here to-day was an ex parte affidavit made on his own oath.

What is that worth, as he is sworn to his own interests?

Mr. EWING. Did not Judge Campbell, who tried the case, say that Mr. Bradford could not get a fair trial in Armstrong county?

Mr. MECHLING. I do not know that. I know that Judge Campbell is the judge of Mr. Bradford's own choice to try this case. It is one of those special cases which cannot be tried by our resident judge. The defendant made an affidavit that these cases could not be tried without a special jury. That jury was appointed and was a struck jury. They went upon the premises, examined the lines, and gave their verdict against Mr. Bradford. Pending that verdict Mr. Bradford came here and sneaked a bill through this Legislature, without the knowledge of any of the parties, changing the venue into Allegheny county, thus defeating the ends of justice. From the information that I have received from the counsel of the defendants, and from the defendants themselves, I say that this case cannot be tried in Allegheny on account of the age and feebleness of the witnesses on the part of the deceased. There is not one of them who is less than sixty years of age, and some of them are over eighty years of age. I submit the question to the House, and trust this bill will not pass.

Mr. QUAY, Mr. Speaker, the feeling manifested by the gentleman from Armstrong [Mr. MECHLING], and his version of the case, would seem to indicate sufficiently the sentiments in Armstrong county to satisfy this House that Mr. Bradford cannot receive a fair trial there, and that Mr. Bradford ought to be granted this trial in Allegheny county; particularly as he pays all the expense of the change of venue. The legislation in reference to this matter last winter was a fraud, and an outrage upon myself personally.

Mr. MECHLING. Mr. Speaker, I deny that assertion of the gentleman from Beaver, most emphatically. There was no fraud committed in the passage of this bill last winter. It was the gentleman's business to understand the legislation that was going on here. There was no fraud committed. There is no excitement about this matter in Armstrong county. The fact is that from 1864 to 1867 the cases here never came up for trial. They are now down for trial on the 8th of next month. The jury is summoned, the witnesses are subpoenaed, the parties ready, and if these cases are now to be changed into Allegheny it will be an outrage upon those parties.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. MECHLING and Mr. KLINE, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Allen, Barrington, Barton, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Calvin, Collins, Craig, Davis, Day, Ewing, Freeborn, Gregory, Harbison, Headman, Helzel, Jones, Josephs, Kinney, Kline, Lee, M'Pherin, Meyers, Peter, Pellow, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Seiler, Shuman, Stehman, Subers, Wallace, Webb, Woodward, Worrall and Wright—40.

PUBLIC CALENDAR.

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 456, Mr. HOFFMAN in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

AN ACT to declare the true intent and meaning of the first section of the act of May four, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five, entitled An act relating to certain duties and rights of husband and wife and parents and children.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That it is hereby declared to be the true intent and meaning of the first section of the act of May four, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five, entitled An act relating to certain duties and rights of husband and wife and parent and child, that any devise or bequest by a wife to her husband of any portion of her estate or property shall be held and taken to bar his right to such part of, or interest in, her real and personal estate, as he would have been entitled to had she died intestate, and that in case the husband shall decline to take under his wife's will, he may have and take such part of and interest in her estate, real and personal, as he would have been entitled to under the laws of this Commonwealth had no such will been made.

The bill was

Agreed to.

In the House,

The SPEAKER having resumed the chair, Mr. HOFFMAN, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill without amendment.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and

Passed finally.

The House went into the committee of the whole on House bill No. 877, Mr. HOOD in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

AN ACT authorizing courts to receive certified copies of military records in evidence.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That copies of all records, documents and papers kept by provost marshals in this State, and in the military departments at Harrisburg, in this State, and at Washington, District of Columbia, when duly certified by officers in charge of said documents and papers, shall be received in evidence in the several courts of this Commonwealth, in all cases where the original documents, records and papers would be admitted in evidence.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, Mr. BOYLE, Mr. Chairman, I move to amend by inserting after the word "this," in the fourth line, the words "or other."

The amendment was

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 856, Mr. JENKS in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

AN ACT to permit disabled soldiers to peddle without procuring a license therefor.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That every honorably discharged soldier who is a resident of this State, and who, from wounds or on account of disease contracted while in the military or naval service of the United States, and on account of such disability is unable to procure a livelihood by manual labor, shall have the right to hawk, peddle and vend any goods, wares or merchandise, within this Commonwealth without procuring a license for that purpose: Provided, That before any such soldier shall be entitled to the benefits of this act he shall obtain a certificate, from an examining surgeon of the United States, that he is unable to procure his living by manual labor, and shall also procure a certificate, from the probatory of any county in the State, that he has filed, in the office of said probatory, his affidavit, setting forth that he is the bona fide owner, in his own right, of all the goods, wares and merchandise, which he proposes to hawk, peddle and vend, and that he will not engage to sell the same for any other person or persons whatever: And provided further, That the aforesaid certificates, together with such person's discharge from the military service, or an exemplified copy thereof, shall be full and conclusive evidence of such person's rights to the benefits of this act.

The bill was

Agreed to.

In the House,

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. JENKS, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill without amendment.

The bill was read.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, Mr. KURTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether this act gives the right to sell intoxicating liquors without a license?

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I will merely state in reply to the gentleman from Centre [Mr. Kurtz], that the word "peddle" does not include the right to sell liquors. There is a legal definition of the word peddle that would exclude the idea of selling liquors.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker it may appear a little out of the ordinary course, and against the popular sentiment, that a member should undertake to object to this character of a bill. While I have every sympathy for the soldiers, I confess I am loath to remove the restrictions that the law throws around the traffic in merchandise in this community, simply because the party is a wounded soldier. I am at a loss to see the hardship of requiring a wounded soldier to take a license to peddle any more than anybody else. With the same propriety, it seems to me, we might repeal that part of the law which requires a person to procure a license to carry on any other business, simply because he is a soldier. There are certain restrictions thrown around all branches of business in this Commonwealth, that at least ought to be observed by all engaged in them. I do not see any particular hardship in requiring a wounded soldier to take out a licence any more than any other person. The cost is but little, and I would be willing to allow him to take out a license without being compelled to pay for it. But I think we should be careful about removing the restrictions we have by law thrown around business, simply on account of particular likes and wishes.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I would have no objection to changing the bill so as to require them to take out their licenses, provided they are not required to pay for them, and perhaps that could be so arranged. But there is a difference between entering into business and peddling. To enter into business requires considerable capital, but a man can peddle on a very small capital. A man can start out with twenty or twenty-five dollars' worth of trinkets, and by frequently replenishing his stock, can make a fair living. There are a great many soldiers throughout the Commonwealth who have lost a limb, and are receiving a small pension from the Government. It is not sufficient to enter into most kinds of business, but sufficient for them to purchase a small peddling outfit, and there is a sort of sympathy for them which will cause people to buy from them. It occurs to me that the State ought to be very willing to extend this small benefit to soldiers who have given the best part of their lives to their country, by allowing them to try to make a living without asking a revenue from their business. If the bill can be so arranged as to give them a license without requiring them to pay for it, I have no objections to that modification.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, if it is the disposition of the House to pass this bill I desire at least to have it amended. There have been a number of bills passed by this House this winter prohibiting hawking and peddling in a number of different counties in the Commonwealth. The difficulty that strikes my mind is that if we permit this bill to pass as it is now it will supersede these local bills and will give this class of people the same right to traffic in those counties. I would suggest that it be amended so as not to interfere with those counties where hawking and peddling is prohibited by local laws. The bill, as at present, would place the business of peddling in those counties exclusively in the hands of disabled soldiers. I only desire to make that amendment, so that I may be right with my own people, for we have a local law in our county prohibiting hawking and peddling.

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend in the ninth line, by striking out the word "without" and inserting "by," and by inserting the after word "impose" the words "to be issued without cost."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by adding the following proviso:

"And provided further, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to those counties where hawking and peddling is now prohibited by law."

Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I hope that amendment will not prevail. It would have the effect of excluding a number of very worthy men throughout the Commonwealth entirely from doing this business. The man who has lost a limb in the service of his country should be entitled to the same benefit in one county as in another.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Speaker, I only desire to say that for my own county we have just passed a law strictly prohibiting hawking and peddling in the county. If this general amendment will supersede that law so far as disabled soldiers are concerned, and will give them the exclusive right to hawk and peddle there. I feel desirous that my people should be protected in this respect, if it is the wish of the House.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the people of Chester county are less patriotic than those of other counties, and while they may desire to stop hawking and peddling which is to the detriment of those in regular business, I do not believe they would object to a poor, lame soldier doing so.

Mr. SHARPLES. Mr. Speaker, the position we are placed in, that our constituents ask of us consistency, and the question is not how far our patriotism shall be allowed to carry us away in this matter.

The question being on the amendment of Mr. WADDELL,

It was

The question recurring on the section as amended,

The question being on agreeing to the title, Mr. McCREARY. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend the title by striking out the word "without," and inserting the word "by," and adding the words, "without charge."

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 379, Mr. JORJES in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

AN ACT validating the title to real estate heretofore sold and conveyed by executors or administrators.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That where an executor or executor, or an administrator or administrators, cum testamento annexo, have heretofore sold and conveyed the real estate of their testator, under a power contained in any last will and testament not sufficiently authorizing the same, the said will having been duly proved and letters testamentary granted as prescribed by the laws of this State, and have filed their account in the register's office of the proper county, charging themselves with the proceeds of such sale, and the said account has been duly confirmed by the orphans' court of said county, such sale and conveyance shall be held to pass and convey the estate that was in the testator at the time of his decease, and intended to be conveyed by the deed or conveyance as aforesaid, unless an action for the recovery of such real estate shall have been brought by the heirs or devisees of said testator, within ten years after the confirmation of such account: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall affect the rights of parties to any suit now pending.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Chairman, the general character of this bill, in my judgment, is right and proper, but it strikes me that there is a provision in it that is wrong. For example, it declares that "the said will having been proved and letters testamentary granted as prescribed by the laws of this State, and have filed their accounts in the register's office of the proper county, charging themselves with the proceeds of such sale, and the account has been confirmed," notwithstanding this the heirs or devisees can bring an action of ejectment any time within ten years for the recovery of the real estate. It seems to me there is an injustice in this, and I therefore move to amend as follows:

After the word "accout," first section, sixteenth line, add the words, "and the said heirs or devisees have not received the proceeds of such sale."

Mr. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I believe the gentleman from Clinton [Mr. Daise] preferred this bill and is very anxious it should pass, but he is not now in his seat. I shall vote against this amendment, because this bill, as it stands, very much changes the laws of this Commonwealth upon this question, and I think quite sufficiently. I am not very well satisfied that we can do what this bill attempts to accomplish, and yet it very frequently occurs that a man making his will authorizes the sale of his property, but in his will does not authorize any particular person to sell it. And yet executors have proceeded under such wills to sell the property.

This bill, as I understand it, is simply to cure this defect in the will. Under the will, if the executor had come into court and applied for that authority, they would have given it. I would prefer that this act should be confined to sales that have already taken place, and compel the executor who has not sufficient authority in the will to come into court and get it. But where a man makes a will authorizing the sale to be made and the executor has gone on in good faith and made the sale, and has had his account submitted to the court, as required in this bill, I cannot see any great harm in trying to cure the defect. And that is all this bill attempts to do. I do not understand very clearly the effect of the amendment which the gentleman proposes. But it seems to me that it is an attempt to change the law still further. I think we have gone far enough in this bill.

Again, this amendment is unnecessary, for, as the law now stands, if I understand it correctly, if the heirs would come into court and take the money they would be satisfied. I think the courts have so decided, that if they propose to bring suit they must not take the money. If they do they are estopped, and cannot receive the lands by ejectment. I understand that to be the plain, settled law of the State, and the amendment will merely enact a decision of the Supreme Court which, it seems to me, is unnecessary.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Chairman, it seems to me that the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN], by refusing to allow this amendment to be put in, allows the law to go further than it would with the amendment. The object is to restrain the heirs to some degree from interfering with the estate in particular cases. It may be true that when the parties resolve to proceed to sell an estate, after they have received the money they may be estopped, but it will certainly do no harm to embrace that in the bill and make it clear what the law is on the subject. My object in offering that amendment was to make the bill as harmless as possible, for I am really opposed to the entire bill, even with the amendment in it.

As the law now stands, a party who has not positive authority to sell under a will, can go into the orphans' court, or the court of common pleas, and the court can give him that authority. If this bill is passed, I want it passed with this amendment, so as not to allow parties to go into court and bring an action of ejectment with the money in their pockets, notwithstanding the decision of the Supreme Court that these parties might be estopped. I do not like to leave acts of Assembly to the mere interpretation of the Supreme Court upon general principles. I would like to embody in the bill all the provisions that are necessary to protect purchasers and heirs and devisees.

The question being on the amendment of Mr. MEYERS, it was

Not agreed to.

Mr. BOYLE. Mr. Chairman, I understand this bill to be strictly a curing act, and is intended for just such cases as have been cited by the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN]. The testator makes his will and directs his property to be sold, but he fails to appoint any particular person to execute that will. The executor takes charge of the property and executes it without authority, the purchaser thinking, doubtless, he has a good title to the property, when, in fact, he has no title at all. This bill says that in cases of that kind the purchaser should have a good title. Now, sir, I say that there should be no restriction upon that. I say that this act is proper in that view. Where wills have been made in that way, and the money received by the proper persons, the title ought to be good to the purchaser. At least we have a right, and it is our duty, to pass a curing act to cure these titles. This act, however, contains a limitation, and only cures those titles where no suit has been brought within ten years. Now, I desire to strike that out, so that every sale hereafter made shall convey a good title in cases of this kind. I, therefore, move to strike out all after the word "aforesaid" in the fourteenth line down to and including the word "accout" in the sixteenth line.

The amendment was

Agreed to.

To the House,

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. JOSEPHS, chairman committee of the whole, reported the bill with amendments. The bill was read as amended and

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 20, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—My attention has been called to the fact that on the 8th of March, 1867, I signed an act entitled An act to authorize the Allegheny Valley railroad to mortgage its road and branches to complete the same.

Since I signed that act I have discovered that it authorized the directors of said company "to create bonds payable at such time as they may determine upon, with coupons attached bearing interest not exceeding seven and three-tenths per cent. per annum, to an amount sufficient to meet the necessary outlay upon any branch road, or roads, to be hereafter constructed under the provisions of the charter of the Allegheny Valley railroad company, its supplements or laws affecting said company." This power to borrow an unlimited amount and at the absolute discretion of the directors, is an improvident and impolitic grant, and had I observed it at the time the bill was presented, I would not have signed it. It is a power to be exercised in public business, and the first duty I owe you and the people of the State is to say this and to request you to repeal the act, or modify it with proper restrictions.

I have directed special notice of this message to be sent to the president and directors of the company. JNO. W. GEARY.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Senate bill No. 601, an act to authorize the school directors of Marshall township, Allegheny county, to apply the surplus of bounty tax in their hands to school purposes.

CORRECTION.

In House proceedings, March 15, on page 688 of the Record, in discussion of bill No. 1801, the remarks there credited to Mr. KIMMELL should read as follows:

Mr. KIMMELL. Mr. Speaker, I trust the House will extend to me the same kindness that it has extended so frequently this session to other members, and permit this bill to be passed under a suspension of the rules. A necessity for its immediate passage exists, in consequence of the near approach of the time of the court. My people are very anxious to have this bill passed.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, there is one township in my county included in that bill in which liquor is now sold to which that bill will apply, and there are three "hell holes" in that township selling liquor. The people are opposed to it. The special court meets next week, and they will be licensed for another year unless this bill is passed. If this Legislature cannot take five minutes to prevent another year of that iniquitous traffic in that township I want to know it.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, March 20, 1867.

NIGHT SESSION.

The House met at 7½ o'clock, pursuant to adjournment.

Agreeably to order, The House proceeded to the consideration of the following resolution, offered by Mr. WESTBROOK March 14, and made the special order for to-night:

WHEREAS, During the American struggle for independence, the Irish nation expressed its warmest sympathy, and sent some of her brightest and most intellectual sons across the sea to aid in the establishment of our republican government; and

Whereas, Ireland is now struggling for the same principles as America in 1776; therefore,

Resolved, That we, as American citizens, express our sympathy for the brave and patriotic in Ireland who are endeavoring to make their country what America now is, the freest government on earth.

The question being on an amendment offered by Mr. KOON to strike out the words "now is" and insert the word "was,"

Mr. KOON. Mr. Speaker, I am too much in favor of the resolution to embarrass it by amendments, and I, therefore, feel it proper to withdraw the amendment.

Mr. Speaker, I am heartily in favor of the resolution as it stands. I cordially sympathize with the spirit of the paper just read to the House. It is true, sir, that while this country, when only colonies, was struggling with the parent country, that the sons of Ireland lent a helping hand in achieving our liberty. Their names are recorded on the pages of our history as men who did valiant deeds in the field, and who contributed largely to the establishment of our liberty.

Again, in the struggle of 1812, we had the aid of their services. Not only can we recount the services those brave people have rendered to this country, but you may take the history of the world, in almost every clime, and you will find the brave and chivalrous Irish people arrayed on the side of liberty and justice. You will find theirs a glorious record on nearly every battle field of the world; and why cannot they concentrate their energies and fire their own country? They are a brave people of some six millions—competent as soldiers, and competent as statesmen to create and maintain a government of their own.

I do, therefore, hope that this House, speaking for the people of Pennsylvania, and speaking it as the sense of the people of Pennsylvania, will say that this resolution is right, and unanimously adopt it. And I would go a little further, and say that we should not only express sympathy, but so far as we can, without involving ourselves in the entanglement of the neutrality laws, we should give countenance and aid to that struggling people.

My sympathies are with them, my heart goes out toward them, and I say that we ought not to withhold our sympathy nor material aid when we can legally render it.

Not prepared to make a speech, I merely rose to withdraw my amendment, and I leave the question for others to discuss.

Mr. WESTBROOK. Mr. Speaker, in offering this preamble and resolution to the House, I wish it to be distinctly understood that I am actuated purely by patriotic motives.

In our struggles for independence poor, down-trodden Ireland not only gave us her warmest and liveliest sympathies, but sent her sons across the sea to assist us. The names of Irishmen are found enrolled in the brightest pages of our country's history.

Commencing with the early dawn of the Revolution, Matthew Thornton, James Smith and George Taylor, three brave and patriotic Irishmen, boldly espoused our cause for freedom and signed our Declaration of Independence. Can we forget the first campaign of the Revolutionary war was signalized by the invasion of Canada with the hope of wresting that province from England? Can we forget that General Montgomery, as brave and accomplished a soldier as ever unsheathed a sword, was an Irishman?

Following rapidly after the battle of Bunker Hill he, in command of an army of three thousand men, forced the strong garrison at Montreal to a surrender.

Can we forget that General Montgomery led the assault on Quebec, the strongest fortress in North America, and then gave up his life in defense of American liberty? All through the dark and dreary days of the war of 1776, Irishmen flocked to our standard under the immortal Washington, and laid down their lives in our country's cause.

Look at the history of Ireland. Oppressed as she has been and now is, she has given birth to some of the greatest intellects the world ever saw. She has produced the greatest statesmen, poets and orators that ever lived in history. Ireland, too, has given birth to some of the bravest soldiers that ever went into battle. Look back at our late rebellion and you will find every battle-field stained with the best blood of the Irish nation, and I point with patriotic pride to their noble bearing and unflinching bravery and courage.

Ireland has ever sympathized with America in her hour of distress, and it is our duty now as American citizens to sympathize with Ireland in her struggle for liberty. That she may gain her independence is my most earnest prayer. The prospect looks dark and gloomy at the present time; but the time will come sooner or later when the Green Isle will be a free and happy country—but she is too proud and haughty to acknowledge it. The time must come when every hill top in Ireland will bristle with bayonets in the hands of her brave sons, who will drive their oppressors from her shores and establish, like America, one of the freest governments on earth. It is the duty of every true friend to liberty to tear the mask from the fiend who has usurped it. And say to every Irishman and every lover of freedom, England will yet see the vengeance of the Almighty blazed upon the wall of Erin,

Like the bright lamp that shines in Kildare's holy flame.

And burned through long ages of darkness and storm,

In the heart that afflictions have come o'er in vain,

Whose spirits outlive them, unfading and warm;

Erin, oh Erin! thus bright through the years, Of a long night of bondage thy spirit appear,

The nations have fallen, and thou still art young,

Thy sun is but rising, when others are set, And though slavery's cloud o'er thy morning hath hung,

The full noon of freedom shall beam 'round thee yet;

Erin, oh Erin! tho' long in the shade,

Thy star will shine out when the proudest shall fade.

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. Speaker, I shall be very brief in my remarks upon this resolution. I sympathize with the brave Irish in their efforts to free their native land from the heels of the oppressor. The green flag is waving for liberty, and every true American heart will beat in sympathy with it. If there is a nation or a people in the Old World, devoted to freedom, and which really deserves to be free, that nation is the Irish nation. No other people have sacrificed more and struggled more persistently to be a nation of freemen, than have the people of Ireland. Irish blood was shed profusely to free America.

In every conflict we have had since we gained our independence, the noble sons of Erin bore a conspicuous share. In every army, in every brigade, in every regiment that ever belonged to the service of the United States, we found the brave Irish boys battling for us. Their names, therefore, are entitled to our sympathy and to a place on the green flag of the Emerald Isle deserves to be cheered on by every American, and it has our best wishes and prayers that it may win in triumph over, and bring liberty to a down-trodden race, which for centuries has been oppressed by the Crown and Parliament of Britain.

We have sent words of cheer and encouragement, and even material aid, to Poland, Hungary, and the people of other down-trodden lands, and should we deny these to the brave Irish who are now struggling to free themselves from the British oppressor? No; Americans will stand by the Irish as the Irish have stood by the Americans.

Ireland has as good a reason to cut itself loose from the British yoke as the American colonies had, and with the blessing of God, she will succeed in breaking the chains. She has a right to be free, I repeat, for if I mistake not, she was free in 1782, and even acknowledged so by England. Some eighteen years afterwards, England again took from these people their liberties, and has kept the tyrant's heel upon them since the year 1800. The Irish have many and heavy grievances, and their determination is to wipe them out. A noble race of men never lived—true and faithful to every principle of right, full of valor and bravery, as our own American battle-fields will abundantly testify. May Providence will it that the Irish Republic shall become an established fact, and that the Fenian brotherhood may gain the longings of their souls, and succeed in establishing a free nationality for their native land, and that sic semper tyrannis may become a truth and an established motto upon every foot of the green sod of Ireland.

Mr. Speaker, I hope this resolution will pass without a dissenting voice. I might have changed the wording of it, but the spirit of it is right, and I shall vote for it. It is due to the thousands of brave Irish sons who helped fill up Pennsylvania regiments whenever called by the Irish people in their struggle for liberty—the whole American heart beats in unison with that of the bravest of Erin's sons for Irish independence. Bunker Hill, and Yorktown, and New Orleans, and Lundy's Lane, and Cerro Gordo, and Chapultepec, and hundreds of battle-fields in the recent war are red with Celtic blood. They are monuments of Irish valor and heroism, and it now becomes us to express, to this noble race, our warmest sympathies in their struggles for freedom and an Irish republic, and God grant them success.

Mr. BREEN. Mr. Speaker, I am an Irishman. It is natural to love the land where one was born—natural to sympathize with one's own kindred. Did I not sympathize with my countrymen I would be false to my own blood—false to the instincts of nature. Ireland is down-trodden. The cup of suffering is now, and for years has been hers. She has long prayed for freedom. Her prayers have not been answered. The iron heel of her oppressors is upon her. Her children mourn for her in every land. They pray for her. They ask for her the sympathies of the world. Wherever her children are found they remember her woes—remember her oppressors. They feel that the day of redemption will come. That the might of her enemies will be broken. I shall vote for the resolution. It is an expression of the just sentiments of an enlightened people—a people true to the oppressed. Here Irishmen find a home, friends and sympathy.

The question being on agreeing to the resolution,

He also returned bills from the Senate numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 772, an act to exempt the property of the German Reformed congregation of New Goshenpopen, in the county of Montgomery, from taxation.

No. 987, a supplement to an act incorporating the Lawrenceville and Oswego railroad company, approved the 1st day of May, A. D. 1855, reviving said act and making new considerations.

No. 1164, an act enabling the Hazleton railroad company to avoid inclined planes.

No. 1236, an act to incorporate the Clarion coal company.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendments.

He also returned (in pursuance of resolution of the Senate requesting its return) Senate bill No. 324, entitled "An act to repeal an act entitled 'A further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania railroad company, authorizing an increase of capital stock, and to borrow money, approved the 21st day of March, 1866, to authorize the Pennsylvania railroad company to increase its capital stock, to issue bonds, and to secure the same by mortgages,'

With the objections of the Governor accompanying the same.

He also informed that the House of Representatives has concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 641, an act to authorize the Governor to appoint two additional notaries public for the county of Dauphin.

No. 490, an act to incorporate the People's Savings Fund and Safe Deposit company.

No. 680, an act to incorporate the Teachers' institute of the city and county of Philadelphia.

No. 694, an act to authorize and empower the Governor to issue a commission to Thomas W. Welch.

No. 664, an act appropriating grounds for public purposes in the city of Philadelphia.

No. 251, an act relating to evidence in actions of ejectment.

THE SUSQUEHANNA CANAL COMPANY.

Mr. BILLINGFELT moved that the Committee on the Judiciary Local, to which was recommitted bill entitled "An act to repeal parts of an act approved the 11th of April, A. D. 1866, entitled 'A further supplement to an act to authorize the Governor to incorporate the Susquehanna canal company,' approved April 15th, A. D. 1835, be instructed to report said bill forthwith.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I have been informed by one of the members of that committee who was present at the meeting of the committee to-day, that they agreed to report the bill with a negative recommendation. I would not say anything more were it not for the fact that we are within a little more than three weeks of the final adjournment.

That bill originated in this body, and was passed to a third reading, and then, unexpectedly to me, referred back to the Committee on Local Judiciary, on account of some alleged constitutional objections raised against it, which I cannot see would apply to the bill which I offered here. If there are any constitutional objections, they must certainly apply to the act passed last session, which repealed a contract solemnly entered into between the Conestoga and Susquehanna canal companies. When the Susquehanna company undertook to build their works on the western side of the Susquehanna river, along the York county shore, there was no law in existence to enable them to do so. They entered into a contract with the officers of the Conestoga canal company, providing they would agree, so as to enable them to construct their works along the York county shore, they would, in consideration thereof, build a dam at Safe Harbor in order, as the act of Assembly expressed in brief terms, to form a connection with the Conestoga navigation. This Conestoga navigation company agreed to it, and the agreement was incorporated into an act of Assembly, which was passed in the session of 1836. That act enabled the Susquehanna company to construct their works along the York county shore. The Conestoga navigation entered into it in good faith, and put up their works and buildings alongside of the river on the Lancaster county side. The dam was built. The works of the Conestoga company were partially destroyed, as was the dam at Safe Harbor. Last session the owners of dams along the Susquehanna river were called upon by the people and the Legislature to construct their dams in such a manner as to enable fish to pass up the same.

That same act applied to the Susquehanna canal company, who were obliged to construct their dams so that the fish could pass, and that act relieved them in the following words: "But they shall not be required to raise any other but the said feeder dam;" meaning the Columbia dam only, and hence relieving said company from rebuilding or repairing the dam at Safe Harbor, which is indispensable to the Conestoga navigation company, to effect a crossing and a connection with the Susquehanna canal on the opposite side of the river.

Is it right, is it fair, is it constitutional, to impair any contract entered into by both parties? I submit this matter to the Senate of Pennsylvania, and ask them to reflect upon the matter before them, and not to stultify themselves in refusing to pass this just measure. Must I go back to my constituents and say, because there is a corporation opposed to it, because Philadelphia members are opposed to it, you shall be denied all your original franchises which were granted to you, just because this company is called upon to erect the dams? I ask, if I the rights and franchises of any corporation should be forever despoiled? I submit the matter to the Senate, and I ask them to deliberate before they give their consent, and vote down a bill of this character, which is merely restoring the act to which both parties agreed at the time it was passed.

Mr. COWLES. Mr. Speaker, as chairman of the committee to which this bill was referred, I would explain in regard to the action of the committee. We met to-day, at the time fixed for the hearing upon the subject. Three members of the committee only were present; we heard only one side of the question. We made up our minds how we would report upon the facts submitted; after having consultation with them, sir, and, as a matter of courtesy to the Senator from Lancaster [Mr. FISHER], and the Senator from Lebanon [Mr. COLEMAN], we thought we would lay the matter over until to-morrow, when they could appear before the committee, if they choose to do so. If those two Senators, however, insist upon a report to-night, I will make a report.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, what the chairman of the committee says is strange news to me. I appeared before that committee this afternoon, after they had heard the president of the Susquehanna canal company. I stated my reasons why I thought this bill should be reported affirmatively; hence it is not necessary for me to go over the same ground again. But, sir, it is a very strange piece of news to me now, to hear the chairman of that committee get up in the Senate and say that the committee thought proper to give us a hearing to-morrow morning. I myself was kept ignorant of it, and was told that they were going to report the bill to-night with a negative recommendation.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I was not present when this resolution was offered. I trust the bill will be reported as committed, and allowed to come up here to-morrow on a hearing. It really cannot see what argument can be brought to bear against the passage of this bill. It seems to me there was a breach of faith on the part of the last Legislature in repealing that clause in the law. I happen to be a member of this committee and was not present to-day, and could not participate in the action of the committee; but I trust the bill will be reported as committed, so that it can have a hearing, and I should like to hear any sufficient reason why it should not pass. "I cannot see why there should be any hesitation on the part of the Senate in passing it; but I suppose it has not been allowed to rest in the hands of the committee until to-morrow morning.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I think the Senator from Lancaster [Mr. BILLINGFELT] must have misunderstood me. He inquired what we were going to do about the bill under consideration; I answered him by saying that we—meaning the three members of the committee who heard the Senator this afternoon—were in favor of reporting the bill with a negative recommendation; I did not say, so far as my recollection is concerned, that we should report it to-night.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. The Senator from Berks [Mr. DAVIS] is right. I did not understand him to say that it should be reported to-night. But my understanding of legislative history is that whenever a committee agree to report a bill, whether negatively or affirmatively, they have no right to defer reporting it, especially when the bill has been passed to a third reading before, and after it is so late in the session. Told the Senator from Berks that there was consistency in reporting it immediately. It is due to me, sir, and the constituents I represent here, that the committee should not withhold or suppress the bill, but let it come up on the floor of the Senate and have its merits discussed, and then, if the Senate choose to vote it down, let them do so. But I do object to any committee suppressing a bill, especially when they have agreed to report it. I want to let it come out, and if it is to be killed, let it be done in open daylight, and not be smothered in committee. I object to that. I claim it as a right to my constituents that this bill shall come out without any further delay.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, in this matter I am a guerrilla. I have been appealed to as to whether I want a further hearing upon this bill. I did feel an interest in it and I have received a letter from a gentleman in Philadelphia—one of the owners of these works—who thinks his rights have been violated by this bill of last winter; and I sent the letter to the chairman of the committee. I differ with him in regard to it, but he has a right to his opinion. I have no desire to say anything further than to submit the letter to the committee.

Mr. FISHER. Therefore, I trust that this bill will not be forced out of the committee to-night. I would like my friend from Lebanon [Mr. COLEMAN] to appear before the committee. I think there can be a state of facts brought before the committee which will induce them to report the bill as committed.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I will say a few words more. When I appeared before the committee there was no one in the room save the three members of the Local Judiciary. They had the president of that corporation before them two or three hours. At the request of the Senator from York [Mr. GLATZ], I gave way in order to give him time to hear from the president of the company. The Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. COLEMAN] asked me again and again to give them a little more time to consult the corporation in Philadelphia. I gave them more time; I gave them the longest possible time—until last Friday—until I could not postpone it longer. I called it up and passed it to a third reading.

They had the head of the corporation before them this afternoon; when I came into that room of course they were ready to hear me, and they heard me. I have not another word to say before that committee; they may hear the president of that corporation as long as they please; but, for my part, I shall not again appear before the committee, because they said they had agreed to report the bill, and I demand it as a right, of that committee, to say whether they are willing to report the bill either affirmatively or negatively, or whether they are determined to squelch it effectively.

Mr. GLATZ. Mr. Speaker, the only interest I have in this bill is for the protection to my constituents in the county of York. What the Senator has said before the committee I do not know; the committee will answer that. So far as the president of the Susquehanna canal company is concerned, I have had no conversation with him.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Did not the Senator from York [Mr. GLATZ] ask me for three days' time in order to consult the president of the Susquehanna company?

Mr. GLATZ. No, sir; I said the friends of the company.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Did not the Senator from York tell me that unless the president of that company should make his appearance on a certain day, he would not make any further opposition to it?

Mr. GLATZ. I most certainly deny that.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Then I am satisfied with the Senator from York.

Mr. GLATZ. I can assure the Senator that I am very well satisfied with myself. The only reason why I manifested any feeling in this case is because the canal goes through my county. The question as to the merits of the bill is not before the Senate, and I do not feel ready to discuss it.

On the question.

Shall the committee be instructed to report the bill?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BILLINGFELT and Mr. GLATZ, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Cowles, Finker, Graham, Lowry, M'Conaugby, Ridgway, Sheemaker, Stutzman Taylor, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Connell, Donovan, Haines, James, Landon, M'Candless and Randall—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

During the call.

Mr. FISHER said: Mr. Speaker, as my colleague [Mr. BILLINGFELT], who has this bill in charge, seems determined to have a report (which I know will be with a negative recommendation), in order to accommodate him I will vote "aye."

Mr. COWLEY. Mr. Speaker, in accordance with the instruction of the Senate, and also in obedience to the wishes of the committee, I report bill entitled An act to repeal part of an act approved the 11th of April, A. D. 1866, entitled A further supplement to an act to authorize the Governor to incorporate the Susquehanna canal company, approved April 15, A. D. 1835, which was committed to the committee the other day, with a negative recommendation.

ATLANTIC AND GREAT WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

Mr. LOWRY offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

WHEREAS, The Atlantic and Great Western railroad company of Pennsylvania has authorized, by the acts approved May 20, 1857, and April 16th, 1858, "to build and construct a railroad, beginning at or near the borough of Meadville, or by connection with any other railroad in the county of Erie, to the city of Erie," and were further required to complete the same within ten years from the passage of the act first mentioned;

And whereas, It is alleged that the said Atlantic and Great Western railroad company did, on the 22d day of December, Anno Domini 1855, contract and agree with the (now) Erie and Allegheny railroad company of Pennsylvania, to guarantee their first mortgage bonds, "to enable them to construct a railroad from the city of Erie to a point on the line of the Atlantic and Great Western road, at or near Millville, in the county of Erie, and there connect the two roads by a corresponding track, and stock, work, run and keep in repair said road, upon terms specified, and thus comply with that portion of the charter of the Atlantic and Great Western road requiring the road to go to the city of Erie;

And whereas, It is further alleged that the said Erie and Allegheny railroad company did, in compliance with their duty by virtue of said agreement, proceed at once to make surveys, procure rights of way, and generally to do all of those things necessary and preliminary to the construction of a railroad, and also to execute under contract to responsible parties, payable in the guaranteed bonds of the Erie and Allegheny railroad company, and also did procure and execute the proper mortgage and coupon bonds to be guaranteed as aforesaid;

And whereas, It is alleged that when the said bonds were presented to the proper officers of the said Atlantic and Great Western road, to be by them signed as guarantees, they, wholly refused to sign and execute the same, in open violation of their agreement aforesaid, and in total disregard of their chartered obligation and to the great injury of the public interests involved;

And whereas, It is further alleged that the said Atlantic and Great Western railroad company are not constructing a railroad by any route in the county of Erie, or elsewhere, to the city of Erie, and that there is no railroad leading to the said city with which the contemplated connection authorized by the act of May 20th, 1857, could be made, by reason of difference in width of gauges, and which is alleged to be in violation of their chartered covenants and written obligations, and to the great injury of the commerce of the State;

And whereas, The ten years limited for the performance of the above recited duty of the Atlantic and Great Western railroad company is soon about to expire, the said road, it is alleged, having practiced a fraud by constructing its branches, but has done nothing towards building the main line, for which it was created; therefore be it,

Resolved by the Senate of Pennsylvania, That the subject matter of the above preamble be referred to the Attorney General of the State for his written opinion, to be presented to the Senate at its next session, advising that body of the rights of the State in the premises, and recommending such action, legislative and judicial, as in his judgment shall seem proper to vindicate the laws, secure the public interests, and properly protect the private rights therein involved. And for the more full and convenient performance of his duties in this behalf, he is hereby authorized to request persons to appear before him for examination, under oath, if he shall deem it necessary and lawful, and to require, for his use, authenticated copies of all papers or documents in his judgment pertinent to the investigation; and further, if the course of justice requires it, he is requested to take such legal steps in the premises as the interest of the State and her citizens may require before the meeting of the next Legislature, to compel said Atlantic and Great Western railroad to construct its road to Erie, in accordance with the terms of its charter and its covenants with the Erie and Allegheny railroad company.

The resolution was adopted.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTION.

Mr. GRAHAM offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, That the House of Representatives be requested to return to the Senate bill No. 908 of the file of the Senate, entitled as follows: An act to change the venue in certain suits from the county of Allegheny to the city of Philadelphia.

The resolution was adopted.

PROTECTION OF SEAMEN IN PHILADELPHIA.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to third reading and consideration of bill entitled An act for the better protection of seamen in the port and harbor of Philadelphia.

Mr. McCANDLESS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to give some reason why, in my judgment, this bill ought not to pass. I find several objectionable sections in it, sir, in relation to the conduct of the business known as the keeping of sailors' boarding houses in the several districts of the city of Philadelphia; and I desire to call the attention of Senators to these objectionable sections, which give, in my judgment, in plain terms, the entire control of this kind of business into the hands of five commissioners, selected in the way specified in the bill, and interfering with the present method of granting licenses and conducting hotel business in the city of Philadelphia.

Now, there are a number of these sailors' boarding houses in my district, and there are a large number of this class of men in my district; but from neither of these have I ever received a line in relation to this proposed change of the law, which places in the hands of these five commissioners the entire control of the seamen who visit the port and the city of Philadelphia.

Now, I desire Senators particularly to look over this bill. If there is any benefit in it, I think it can be shown in this chamber. It is alleged here to be for the purpose of taking care of the seamen who visit the city, and saving them from land-sharks, who are awaiting their arrival, in order to take from them the proceeds of their voyage.

Now, this second section says: "It shall not be lawful for any person having charge of any vessel arriving in the port or harbor of the said city of Philadelphia, nor for any owner, agent or consignee of such vessel, to grant to any person or persons leave to board his or their vessel." That is merely ridiculous, because if I am an owner of a vessel there is no person to prevent me from taking any person upon my vessel that I choose. If I am going into the port of Philadelphia, I can make my own selection as to who can come on board of my vessel, unless it is in conflict with the custom laws. "Unless this person shall obtain a license as hereinafter described." Now, this gives to this board entire control in this matter, and a man cannot permit a friend of his to come upon his vessel when entering the port of Philadelphia, unless that friend has received a license from this board, who are to grant licenses. I wish Senators to look over this bill, because I think it is an improper bill from beginning to end.

The other sections are equally objectionable. The third says: "It shall not be lawful for any boarding house keeper or hotel keeper, licensed under the provisions of this act, or for any runner of such keeper, to neglect or refuse to leave any vessel moored at any wharf, when ordered so to do by the master."

Now, who desires a section of that kind in any law? Does not any gentleman, familiar with the first principle in law, know that the master of a vessel has authority to eject any person from his vessel? But here is a section, written out in broad terms, that this master shall have this right, when this is already a right granted by common law, on account of which there is no necessity for a section of this kind in the bill. But, if you will examine other sections, you will find them more objectionable than this to which I have referred. There is a specified method of granting licenses to hotel keepers in Philadelphia.

Now, this bill proposes to make a specialty. You take it out of the general law, and put it under the commission selected for this purpose alone. Now, has there been a statement made upon the floor of the Senate that any sailor has been robbed or fleeced by any of these hotel keepers? On the contrary, they are perfectly satisfied with the present law, because, as I have been informed, by some of them, in my recent visit, these hotel keepers keep them when they have not made a cruise, and take their chance of getting their money back after they shall have made a cruise; they have been treating them liberally in that regard. Under the provisions of this act they will be compelled to board where these commissioners declare. They are to have sole control of the seamen who visit Philadelphia. It is not a matter by which any money gets into the treasury, because it states specifically in section seven, "that every person who shall be licensed under the provisions of this act, shall pay to the treasurer of said board, at the time of receiving such license, the sum of twenty-five dollars"—so there is a little pecuniary interest in this, I notice—"the money thus obtained shall be used to defray the necessary expenses of said board; if no surplus remain"—which is very improbable—"it shall be appropriated and paid over to any society in the city of Philadelphia that has, as one of its objects, the caring for the families of seamen," &c.

Now, I think, Mr. Speaker, no candid man, who will examine the provisions of this bill, and who is familiar with the license laws in Philadelphia, but will vote against it, because the sole control of this class of men is given into the hands of this board, and under this act they may or may not, according to their discretion—notwithstanding the general law of the city—grant a license. If there is any friend of this bill here, I would like to hear what he has to say upon the subject, and I am prepared to discuss it; however, the simple reading of it will satisfy any candid man that it should not pass.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say a word in favor of this bill. The provisions of this bill are necessarily stringent, because they are absolutely required to prevent cases of gross imposition upon sailors in Philadelphia. The bill is almost an identical copy of the New York law, which I have at hand, the only difference being that the board of commissioners are appointed differently.

This bill creates a board of commissioners for licensing sailors' boarding houses in Philadelphia, the commission being composed of five members who shall hold said office for the period of one year, and shall be designated and elected, one by each of the following named corporations, or associations, to wit: The Pennsylvania Seamen's Friend society, the Ship Masters' society, the Board of Trade, the Board of Underwriters and one from the Wardens of the Port, said bodies all being located in the city of Philadelphia."

Now, sir, any one who knows anything about the city of Philadelphia, will know that any commission thus formed would be composed of persons of respectability and high character, therefore I think we are safe in trusting the sailors who go there, in the hands of such men. I would say, in addition, that this bill, besides being an exact copy of the New York law, is approved by nearly all the ship merchants of Philadelphia. I hope, sir, that this Senate will not hesitate to pass this bill, as it is necessary to protect these men from the land sharks, who are ready to fleece them and give them bad whisky as soon as they get into the port.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, I think my colleague [Mr. McCANDLESS] made a mistake in discussing this bill on its merits. It has no merits. It has been kicked out of Senate for years, and I trust it will be kicked out again. What is the proposition here? It is, sir, in a simple word to appoint five commissioners to board every vessel entering Philadelphia, to take charge of the emigrants and take them where they please, after, perhaps, making contracts with railroad companies to take them there.

In the fifth section it says: "There shall be, and is hereby created, a board which shall be known as the board of commissioners for licensing sailors' boarding houses or hotels." This virtually takes the power from the commissioners of Philadelphia; it is establishing a new law entirely. The bill is for the benefit of the Pennsylvania Seamen's Friend society, where no sailor can be boarded if he is short of funds; he must pay. As my colleague [Mr. M'CANDESS] remarked, a sailor out of funds is now boarded in the sailors' boarding houses, and they take the responsibility of getting their pay. Many of these men are obliged to lay over for months, and board at the sailors' boarding houses. If the title of the bill should be anything it should be an act for the destruction of seamen in Philadelphia; and why should you create a monopoly of four or five gentlemen to locate emigrants where they please, and take away these unfortunate people and trade them and ship them off.

Why, Mr. Speaker, a more absurd proposition was never submitted to the Senate than this bill. My colleague, I do not think, ever dreamed of this bill passing. There is no merit in the bill, sir. It is a proposition to give a fat job to some four or five gentlemen, and for the Seamen's Friend society of Philadelphia. I do not intend to describe this bill any further, because I have no idea it can pass. It may be of some benefit to the shippers, but when the sailors want a law like this, we shall hear from them. It is not a protection to them, sir. I am here to protect that class of people; I am here for the purpose of benefiting the Sailors' Benevolent association.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I am surprised that my colleague should impugn the integrity of the Seamen's society of Philadelphia. It was founded by the best men in Philadelphia, and the Senator from Lebanon [Mr. COLEMAN] has given that society a very handsome mansion. The Senator might as well impugn the Senator from Lebanon as these men. The whole thing is found in the petition praying for the passage of this bill.

Mr. DONOVAN. I have nothing to say against the liberality of the Senator from Lebanon [Mr. COLEMAN], but if a sailor is out of funds, can he be boarded there, under the regulations?

Mr. CONNELL. Yes, sir, he can.

Mr. DONOVAN. I deny that most emphatically. They cannot take them in under the regulations.

Mr. M'CANDESS. Mr. Speaker, myself, together with many other Philadelphians, are very much obliged to the gentleman from Lebanon [Mr. COLEMAN] for his characteristic liberality in donating a building for the use of the seamen in Philadelphia; but when that is given we do not desire that there shall be appointed a board of commissioners who shall create a monopoly in the city, in relation to that class of persons. If Mr. COLEMAN desires to go there and expend his bounty in their behalf, that is all right, but we do not desire that our constituents shall be compelled to pay a special license. I desire to say, right here, sir, that this class of people live entirely in the districts represented by my colleague and myself, and do not reside in any other of the districts of the gentlemen who are our colleagues on this floor. Now, this class of people have made no application for any change in the law on this subject, nor do they desire it, and are opposed to this act as proposed here. The bill could be amended as to hotels, but that section will turn over the whole matter of granting licenses. I think we should have some stability in law. The bill does not propose to change the license law, but it does so in effect.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to interfere in local legislation in Philadelphia, but I have been informed within the last few minutes by a gentleman connected with the Seamen's association in Philadelphia, that they do always receive shipwrecked sailors there, and care for them free of charge.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. Speaker, my name has been very unnecessarily drawn into this discussion. I have had nothing to do with preparing this bill. I know that there is an institution in the city of Philadelphia, which this Seamen's Friend society started purely by charity. It is certainly not an institution intended for anything else but a charitable object. It is supported by the best men in Philadelphia, merchants and others, and this bill is prepared by them. It is not likely that a transient population like seamen will come here and present petitions, but I imagine that the better class of them could be got to ask for a law for protection. I look upon this bill as simply an act of charity.

Mr. LOWRY. Mr. Speaker, mankind cannot look at the same object alike and come to the same conclusion. I have looked at this bill again and again, with a sincere desire to be able to vote for it; but, sir, the more I look at it, and hear it discussed, the more I am satisfied that my first impressions were right. My first impression in relation to this bill were that it was a prison for seamen—that seamen could board only where they were sent, and only with those who were licensed to keep them—that seamen could not go among their friends. I think the bill all wrong, every section and every line in it. Now, Mr. Speaker, what would be thought of a bill of this kind on the lakes? We have a commerce there as large as they have upon the seas, and as many men in service as they have upon the seas; and yet, sir, I cannot think for a moment but that the constituency I represent, or the constituency near the inland seas, would be horror-struck with the idea. The whole bill, to my judgment, is wrong. It is got up, I have no doubt, for charitable purposes, but I can readily see how it is an engine of wrong to the seamen. Emigrants, when they come to this country, are uninformed, and very apt, it is true, perhaps too apt, to yield to first impressions, and this bill licenses certain men who can have access to them, while others cannot have access to them. This is my objection to the bill. I told the gentleman who had it in charge that my impressions were against it; that I would hear arguments for and against it; but the more I look at it the more strong am I in the belief that my first impressions were right.

Mr. DONOVAN. Suppose the board of commissioners should create a monopoly, and refuse to license only five or six boarding houses, who should club together and charge five, six and seven dollars a week for boarding these people. They must either go there or stop in the street.

Mr. CONNELL. I would like to inquire why these impositions have never occurred in New York. If emigrants are sold off, why has it not been done in New York? The object of this bill is to put the power in the hands of men who are fit to do the business. Men who have some character—and not let these land pirates take the sailors off where they will be dragged and robbed.

Mr. DONOVAN. Mr. Speaker, when an emigrant vessel enters the port of Philadelphia now, the relatives of the emigrants can board the vessel, and state the best places for them to go. If you allow the land sharks to go aboard, the emigrants will not get that information. They will be entirely at the mercy of the persons that my colleague [Mr. CONNELL] objects to. Under the present regulations, their relatives post them against this class of people.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingfelt, Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Graham, Haines, Landon, M'Conaughy, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Taylor, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—15.

NAYS—Messrs. Barnett, Davis, Donovan, James, Lowry, M' Candless, Randall, Schall, Searight, Stutzman and Wallace—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

So the bill

Passed finally.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was read as follows:

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
MARCH 25, 1867.

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Governor be requested to return to the House, House bill No. 570, entitled an act to incorporate the Shickshinny and New Columbus turnpike road company in the county of Luzerne.

On motion of Mr. SHOEMAKER, said resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in.

He also returned bill numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

No. 886, an act supplementary to an act entitled An act to enable the Pennsylvania canal, coal and railroad company to borrow money, and to change the corporate name of said company, and confirm the title to real estate belonging to said company, and directing in what manner the mortgage authorizing in said act shall be approved by the stockholders of said company, and to ratify the consolidation of certain companies under said act of Assembly.

With information that the House of Representatives has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

On motion of Mr. WALLACE, said amendments were twice read and concurred in.

RETURN OF THE VETO BILL FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House having returned the bill in relation to the issuing of the stock of the Pennsylvania railroad company, together with the message of the Governor vetoing the same, Mr. BIGHAM said: Mr. Speaker, there seems to be some difference of opinion as to the right to reconsider. Probably that question will not be raised. It is a dead issue now, but I think we should carry out the understanding.

THE SPEAKER. The rule is that it cannot be again reconsidered, therefore I am obliged so to rule. The reconsideration is had when you proceed to reconsider the message. You cannot reconsider a bill twice—that is the end of that question.

Mr. LOWRY. What becomes of the bill?

THE SPEAKER. It lies on the table.

Mr. LOWRY. And does not go to the House?

THE SPEAKER. No, sir; it has been to the House.

Mr. LOWRY. Does that carry out the provisions of the Constitution?

THE SPEAKER. Yes, sir; so far as we are concerned, we have done what we are required to do.

BILLS CONSIDERED AND PASSED.

On motion of Mr. M'CONAUGHY, the Committee on Roads and Bridges was discharged, with the further consideration of a bill entitled A supplement to an act relative to roads in the county of Franklin, approved 14th of March, A. D. 1867.

And the rules having been dispensed with, the bill was read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.
On motion of Mr. CONNELL, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to levy a tax upon horses kept for pleasure or hire in the city of Philadelphia.
The bill was read a second and third time, and Laid over for a third reading.

On motion of Mr. COLEMAN, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to extend the provisions of an act relating to costs in Luzerne county, approved April 22, 1863, to the county of Dauphin, with a proviso.

The bill was read a second time.
Mr. COLEMAN moved to amend the bill by adding a new proviso.

The motion was
Agreed to.
The bill was read a third time, and
Passed finally.
On motion of Mr. GLATZ,
The SPEAKER adjourned the Senate until to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, March 21, 1867.

The House met at 10 o'clock, A. M.
Prayer was offered by Rev. J. KENNEDY, member from Wyoming.

The SPEAKER announced a quorum of members present.

The Journal of yesterday was partly read, when,

On motion of Mr. ADAIRE, the further reading of the same was dispensed with.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a privileged question. I desire to move a reconsideration of Senate bill No. 617, joint resolution relative to the revival of the civil laws of Pennsylvania. I desire this reconsideration for the purpose of moving an amendment, that the three persons be appointed by the Governor, in conjunction with the Attorney General, to make this revision.

The motion to reconsider was
Agreed to.

The bill being again before the House, Mr. MANN moved to amend in the fourth line by inserting, after the word "Commonwealth," the words, "who, in conjunction with the Attorney General, shall act."

The amendment was
Agreed to.

And the bill as amended was Agreed to, and
Passed finally.

On motion of Mr. HELTZEL, the orders were suspended, and the House proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 729, an act to incorporate the Caledonia iron and coal company.

The bill was amended by Mr. STUMBAUGH, and

Passed finally.

Mr. DEHAVEN. Mr. Speaker, House bill No. 321 was reported from the Committee on Roads, Bridges and Ferries with a negative recommendation. The parties interested in this bill are present and desire to be heard. I therefore move a suspension of the orders to enable me to make a motion to recommit the bill.

The question was on suspending the rules.
It was
Agreed to.

Mr. DEHAVEN. Mr. Speaker, I now move to recommit House bill No. 321 to the Committee on Roads, Bridges and Ferries.

The motion was
Agreed to.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. KLINE, on leave, read in place an act allowing the school directors of Ashland, Schuylkill county, to borrow money.
Laid on the table.

PUBLIC CALENDAR.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration of bills on the public calendar.

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 372, Mr. KENNEDY in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:
AN Act to explain and construe an act compelling railroad and other corporations to pay counsel fees of plaintiffs in certain cases.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the true intent and meaning of an act entitled An act compelling railroad and other corporations to pay counsel fees of plaintiffs in certain cases, approved May third, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, is hereby declared to be, that said counsel fees shall not be recoverable or collectible in or under any suit or judgment heretofore, or which may be hereafter, brought or rendered, unless the validity of the bonds for the interest in which the suit is brought shall have been, or shall be, drawn in question by said corporation and established in that or some prior suit or proceeding.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Chairman, I move to amend by inserting in the tenth line, after the word "brought," the words "or of the guarantee of such bonds."

The amendment was
Agreed to.

The question recurring on the bill as amended,
It was
Agreed to.

In the House,
The SPEAKER having resumed the chair, Mr. KENNEDY, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill with amendment.

The bill was read as amended, and
Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and
Passed finally.

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 380, reported negatively from the Committee on the Judiciary General, Mr. KERNS in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:
AN Act relating to laborers in the State of Pennsylvania.

WHEREAS, The interests of those engaged in manual labor require that their rights should be better secured, and that the hours of labor be better ascertained and so reduced that further opportunity may be afforded for mental culture and social improvement; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That after July first, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, labor performed during a period of eight hours on any secular day, in all cotton, woolen, silk, paper, bagging and flax factories, shall be considered a legal day's labor; and after said date contracts made for the employment of mechanics in all the various branches of trade or daily laborers shall be construed to be for eight working hours to the day in any employment, unless otherwise stipulated.

The bill was
Agreed to.

In the House,
The SPEAKER having resumed the chair, Mr. KERNS, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill without amendments.

The bill was read, and the question being on agreeing to the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. ADAIRE and Mr. ROATH, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Barrington, Boyd, Breen, Brennan, Brown, Calvin, Cameron, Chadwick, Chalfant, Chase, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Fogel, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gordon, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hoffman, Hood, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmel, Kinney, Kline, Koon, Lee, Linton, Long, McCreary, M'Henry, M'Kee, Markley, Marks, Meily, Meyers, Mullin, Peter, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Sharples, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Watt, Webb, Westbrook, Wharton, Wilson, Woodward, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—60.

NAYS—Messrs. Armstrong, Barton, Harbison, Kurts, Mann, Richards, Roath and Steacy—8.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and

Passed finally.
The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 492, Mr. KIMMELL in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

A FURTHER SUPPLEMENT to an act to provide for the adjudication and payment of certain military claims, approved April sixteenth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the benefit of the act approved April sixteenth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, and supplements thereto, granting pay and emoluments to certain officers for recruiting, et cetera, be, and is hereby, extended to officers who recruited after April twenty-second, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and prior to April first, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and to secure the benefits of said act and supplements thereto, all applications shall be made within one year from the passage of this act: Provided, That any sum received by said officers for Government or local bounty shall be deducted from the amount payable to them under the provisions of this act.

Mr. DONOHUGH. Mr. Chairman, I move to amend by striking out in the eleventh line the words "or local."

The amendment was
Not agreed to.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Chairman, I move to amend by adding the following proviso:

"And provided also, That the amount to be paid for the military claims shall not exceed the sum of fifty thousand dollars during any single fiscal year."

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Chairman, I hope that amendment will not prevail. The effect of it would be to allow some officers to get their pay, and others would not. That would certainly be unfair, and I hope it will not be adopted.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Chairman, the whole operation of this act may be questionable. The effect of it may be questionable, opening up these old claims again to be brought against the Commonwealth. In other words, enlarging the time when these claims should be presented. Now, the presumption is that a majority of these claims are in.

We have had complaints with regard to these bonds for the soldiers of 1812, that it is draining the treasury of between three and four hundred thousand dollars per year. All my proviso provides for that in any one fiscal year not more than fifty thousand dollars should be taken out of the treasury for that purpose. But it does not prevent these claims being paid. It only asks that those that come in subsequently shall wait until the next fiscal year. Just as they are filed in their rotation they will be paid. The demands on the treasury should be protected, to some extent at least, so that the officers of the Government may know just exactly how their finances are to stand each year. It does not deprive any one of his rights, but merely puts a guard around the treasury, so that the officers can make their calculations for each year.

MR. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I hope that amendment will not be agreed to. If we intend to pay any of these claims let us pay them all. Now, if that amendment of the gentleman from Chester [Mr. WADDELL] is adopted, those that get their applications in first will be paid first, and those that come in afterwards will get nothing or will have to wait a year at any rate. We pass every year special acts paying these officers for recruiting. There are quite a number of claims now pending before the board of claims for this service, and under the present act of Assembly that board cannot pay—it can only adjudicate. If we are to pay any of these claims, let us pay them all. Let us not discriminate in favor of the smarter ones who get their claims in first. Suppose it does like two or five hundred thousand or a million of dollars in a year, they will demand all be settled up, and we will have nothing to pay next year. This is only putting off the debt we should pay this year until the next year, or the next after, or the next after that. I hope the amendment will not prevail. If it does, the bill will not meet the object intended, and will be entirely worthless.

MR. WADDELL. Mr. Chairman, it is very easy to get up and say what difference does it make, whether it would amount to five hundred, or ten thousand, or a million of dollars. But if ten thousand will point out the way by which this million of dollars is to get into the treasury to meet these claims, then I am just as much in favor of it as any one. Now, sir, it seems to me that in claims of this kind, or claims of any kind, that will be presented for payment, there should be some such restrictions about it as will enable the State Treasurer to know how his finances are to come out at the end of the year. If this Legislature is to throw wide open the door, so that claims to the extent of thousands upon thousands of dollars may be presented upon the treasurer, and he has not the wherewithal to pay them, these parties would be in precisely the same condition, and would be compelled to wait. But with this proviso we enable him to make up his financial calculations each year. He knows what he is to provide for meeting these claims. He makes his arrangements according to what he knows will be the demand upon the treasury, and when a bill is presented he pays it, like any other financial gentleman would in making up his financial arrangements for twelve months. It is all folly to say that these gentlemen will not get their money if they do not get it within a year. It provides that they shall have their money; but that the treasurer shall pay out only so much for this purpose each fiscal year. The first shall be paid first; the last shall be paid last. It is nothing more than Scriptural doctrine applied to financial operations. It is not opposition to these claims. I do not make any opposition to them. I am satisfied that they shall be paid if they are legitimate, and I only ask the House to put into the bill some provision whereby the treasurer may know what he will be called upon to do.

MR. QUIGLEY. Mr. Chairman, that is just the reason why I am opposed to the amendment. We have passed a number of those military claim acts, and we have restricted them in such a way that the year after we must pass another act. There are now whole piles of claims lying in the office of the board of claims that have been adjudicated, but cannot be paid because the bills providing for their adjudication do not provide for their being paid. They were restricted as the gentleman from Chester [Mr. WADDELL] proposes to restrict this, and I therefore hope the amendment will be voted down.

MR. WEBB. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment to the amendment to add the following: "which sum shall be applied pro rata upon such claims as shall be allowed in any one year."

MR. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I do not see the necessity for this amendment to the amendment. It seems to me that the proviso of the gentleman from Chester [Mr. WADDELL] will do no injury to anybody, but this last amendment would be awkward, inconsistent and of no special benefit. I hope it will not be adopted. It would embarrass the treasurer in the payment of those claims, and it will also prevent his paying any claims until the close of the year; because, if they are to be paid pro rata, none can be paid until the end of the year. There can be no reason why, when a claim has been adjudicated, and so much is found due an officer, why he should not be paid if the treasurer can pay it. That, it seems to me, is sufficient reason for adopting this amendment.

The question being on the amendment offered by Mr. WEBB, to the amendment offered by Mr. WADDELL,

It was

Not agreed to.

The question recurring on the amendment offered by Mr. WADDELL,
MR. MANN. Mr. Chairman, I desire to make a few remarks to show why I think the proviso offered by the gentleman from Chester ought to be adopted.

This proviso comes from the chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, whose duty it is to examine the finances of the State. He has, no doubt, made that examination. He has, in the discharge of his duty, prepared the appropriation bill, and he is presumed to know what are the abilities of the treasurer to meet these claims. He certainly knows what drafts are imposed on the treasurer by the preparation of this appropriation bill. That bill having been sent to the printer, I may say, without being premature, that the appropriations in it are very large, and I call the attention of the House to the fact that the receipts for the present year will not be so large as they were for the last year which was of extraordinary receipts of last year which will not be received during the present year.—There were two items last year which amounted to over thirteen hundred thousand dollars, to wit: The reimbursement made by the General Government of the United States for the claims of Pennsylvania, amounting to over eight hundred thousand dollars, and an additional item from the city of Philadelphia, for arrears of taxes on real estate, of over four hundred thousand dollars, altogether amounting to over two hundred thousand dollars. Neither of these two items will come into the treasury for this present year, and there is no assurance that any other one of the receipts will be very largely increased. There has just been a bill passed which is an experiment, however, by which the treasurer hopes he will increase the receipts; but the appropriations already made will move than cover all that his estimates will come from that source, if the House sustain the appropriation bill as acted upon by the committee.

Now, in view of these facts, I ask this House whether it is not of some consequence whether we make provisions limiting the amount to be paid for these claims? Has it come to that, that we are to legislate in this loose way, and act upon the principle that these claims must be paid when they are presented, whether the bill calls for five hundred thousand or a million of dollars? It seems to me that that is a dangerous precedent to act upon, and especially dangerous at this time, when the State, by its conduct, has been in fact repudiating its debts, when there are twenty three millions of debt over due; when she has been disowning her debts before the world, I say that such legislation and such talk is not of a character that ought to be witnessed on this floor.

MR. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I confess that the remarks of the gentleman from Chester, and the remarks of the gentleman from Potter, present, to my mind, a very curious state of affairs. They are exceedingly anxious about guarding the treasury from incursions by the men who defended their country and saved their Government in the time of its peril; yet, last year, at the instance of this same gentleman, who has the treasury in his hands, this House was asked that the tax be taken off of real estate, thereby depriving the State of an immense revenue. For what purpose did they do that, and now undertake to close the treasury and say to those men, who were the means of preserving this country, you shall not get even a dollar for that which you expended in defending and preserving the country.

I say these positions are inconsistent; if they intend to do that which is right, they ought to provide the ways and means for doing so; they ought not last year to have thrown away this great source of revenue, and say to the men who have done what they could to save their country, you shall not be paid for your services.

The question before the House is simply one of allowing officers who recruited for the service from the 22d of April, 1863, to the 1st of April, 1865, the same privileges that were extended to those who recruited from the 15th of April, 1861, to the 22d of April, 1863.

I do not understand the bill as absolutely requiring the payment of these claims as soon as they are presented, but as simply extending the same act that was applied to these men during this former period, and after their claims are adjudicated, to provide for their payment.

I do not understand that any man's claim is to be paid until after it has been adjudicated and found right by the board of claims. I only understand the bill to mean that those men who have rendered this service, after their claims have been adjudicated and found correct by the board of claims, shall be paid by the treasurer. All I desire is that these men shall be paid upon the same principle as those who recruited during this former period.

MR. MANN. Mr. Chairman, as nobody is objecting to their being paid, I do not see the force of the gentleman's argument. Nobody objects to paying the men upon the same footing as the others; nobody objects to the features of this bill.

We are simply asking that the treasurer of the State shall know what claims he will have to meet, and is it very great hardship to wait for the next fiscal year for the payment of their claims after they have been adjudicated upon by him.

This proviso does not injure the validity of those claims in any way; it simply provides that the treasurer shall know what provision he will have to make for their payment, and that beyond such an amount he shall not be called upon this year.

It allows all the other provisions of the bill to be carried out; the claims can go on being adjudicated just the same. It will not prejudice the claim of a single officer; it will do no injustice to any one, but will simply enable the treasurer to know what will be required of him.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Chairman, I simply desire to say that it will discriminate, because it allows one man to get his pay this year, and requires another to wait until next year, and that provision was not made in the previous law on this subject.

Mr. WEBB. Mr. Chairman, the gentleman from Franklin [Mr. STUMBAUGH] makes himself eloquent in advocating that a person who has served his country shall be paid. I think we are united in reference to paying all men for their services. This bill, however, is for a class of men who, to speak honestly about many of them, spent their time loitering around places under the pretext of recruiting men and really doing nothing. I am willing to vote to pay any man who has done his duty on the field, but these men who spent their time loitering around the country and doing nothing are receiving no injustice if they are required to wait a little.

I trust the amendment will be sustained by the House.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Chairman, I am in favor of throwing safeguards around the treasury of the State as much so, probably, as any man on this floor; and consider the bill now before the committee as one worthy and deserving of our attention. The merits of the bill, however, I do not understand to be properly under discussion at this time; the subject under consideration is the amendment of the gentleman from Chester.

If I understand the matter aright, I hope that that amendment will not prevail, for the reason that I cannot conceive why this occasion should be taken being selected as the one in which to display our care of the public treasury.

We have been legislating on various subjects, and as we are now charged with throwing the door of the treasury wide open, I will say, sir, that I consider that the door has already been thrown very widely open; if it is the intention of the members on this floor to close that door, let it be understood; but if this is the time selected to commence it, I shall, for one, raise my voice against it. I say that there have been occasions, numberless, when resolutions that have been under consideration have offered a far more proper occasion for protecting the treasury than at the present time.

The claims of these men are doubtless in the main just; whether a few have been guilty of loitering around the country and spending their time in trifling, is a matter to be attended to by the proper parties, when adjudicating those claims; but we do know that we all felt very willing to have recruiting officers—men who left their business, who sacrificed the comforts of their homes to take upon themselves the responsible duty of raising men to defend our country in the time of its need, and I think it comes with very poor grace from any gentleman on this floor at this time to raise his voice against those claims, just and right as they are. I hope this amendment will not be voted down.

The way this bill stands, before us I cannot see that such a very heavy drain upon the public treasury can be made by it. There is no doubt there is quite a number of claims, but by the time these claims come to be adjudicated, as local bounties are not included in the estimation, the amount will not be so much.

I hope the amendment will not pass.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Chairman, I have said before, sir, that a man who puts himself upon this floor apparently in opposition to what is termed soldiers' claims, occupies no evasive position; and, sir, the sentiment has almost come to be that a man who attempts property to legislate upon anything connected with the soldier occupies almost the same position.

Now, sir, I am getting tired of this hue and cry which may be called demagoguism; I have certain duties here to perform as a member of this Legislature, and I propose to endeavor to perform those duties, let the consequences be what they may, and let the sentiment entertained by the gentlemen of this House be what it may.

Now, sir, I am at a loss to see where any gentleman on this floor has yet raised his voice in opposition to the bill under consideration; I have not heard a gentleman yet speak upon the subject, who has dared to say that these claims should not be paid; I have not said so. I have said that I entertained serious doubts as to the propriety of this bill on the whole; but, sir, I have not yet raised my voice in opposition to its provisions. If these claims are meritorious, I say pay them; if they are not meritorious, I say refuse to pay them, and I apprehend, in the advocacy of that principle, every gentleman upon the floor of this House will join with me.

Some gentlemen, I regret to say, have been thrown out that this is an attempt to prevent these honest claims being paid are not true in principle, and I throw their back to the gentlemen who have made such allegations here. Because, forsooth, gentlemen may now see the propriety of attempting to throw some guards around the treasury, and have attempted to do so; and because, forsooth, this Legislature has heretofore done what it probably should not have done, gentlemen say it is not right, at this late hour, to arrest such legislation. That is not the true theory of gentlemen to entertain upon this floor of this House. Even if at this late hour, we discover that in some particulars we have been wrong, I contend that it is the duty of gentlemen here, in justice to themselves, to attempt to remedy the evil so far as possible. I do not pretend to say under what auspices this bill comes before this House. I have my own opinion about it, but it may be simply an opinion, and I do not wish to do anybody any wrong by expressing it. I do not here attempt to defeat the bill itself. I distinctly discard any such insinuation from Chester from being tempting, as a member of this House, to throw proper guards and restrictions around the expenditure of the treasury, and I am not to be deterred in my efforts in so doing by any insinuations that I am opposed to the soldiers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I think, sir, I can discharge my duty to both this Commonwealth and the soldiers, and I shall endeavor to do so.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Chairman, I desire to say that, as far as I am concerned, in my remarks, I had no desire to deter the gentleman from Chester from doing his duty; but I would like to know what he meant by demagoguism; whether he meant to apply that to myself or to whom he meant to apply it?

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Chairman, I referred to what has been done during the whole session, and not to any one in particular.

Now, sir, I have not a bit of objection to every soldier in the Commonwealth being paid every dollar that is due him, and my proviso simply asks that the drain upon the treasury, for each fiscal year, shall not exceed a certain amount. I am satisfied with the amendment that is proposed to be added, that these claims shall be paid on the order in which they are filed. If the fifty thousand dollars is spent, let those other parties wait until the next fiscal year begins, and let them be paid in the order in which their claims are filed. I am at a loss to see anything unreasonable in the request that the expenditure shall be restricted in the way in which the proviso demands. I only ask the House to consider this matter coolly and calmly, as any business transaction. I have no interest in this matter beyond any other gentleman on this floor, but if gentlemen think a restriction of this kind should be thrown around this matter, I simply ask the adoption of this proviso so as to aid the treasurer in meeting the demands which will be made upon him.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Chairman, it seems to me that there is some inconsistency between the remarks of the gentleman from Chester and his amendment. I understood him to say, in his remarks, that he believed the greater portion of the claims had already been presented, and he gave that as a reason against the general features of this bill.

Mr. WADDELL. Mr. Chairman, I made no such allegations. I have no knowledge of the claims to be presented.

Mr. MEYERS. Mr. Chairman, it is evident that under this act of 1862, with its various acts and amendments, the claims have been as far settled that there cannot be many more of this character to be presented to the treasurer. If, during the dark days of the rebellion, when the people of this Commonwealth were called upon in their various capacities to respond to the nation's call for men, money and means; if no provision was made at that time in the passage of laws on the subject of paying men and their widows and orphans for services rendered in recruiting, for the time spent in the service of their country, why shall we establish a limit at this time, when the expenses attendant upon a state of war are withdrawn to a great extent, and the claims have been adjudicated and paid to a very considerable amount? Why shall these claims, which, for some reason, have been delayed four or five years, be restricted, and the parties prevented from receiving their money, perhaps, for years to come?

Now, sir, we have made an appropriation of five hundred thousand dollars to the Chambersburg sufferers by the war, not in instalments, but in one round sum of money. We are appropriating, year after year, to the various charitable institutions of this Commonwealth, in Philadelphia and in Pittsburg, and elsewhere, large sums of money.

Why, Mr. Chairman, shall these persons and these institutions have preference over the claims of these men? Why make a distinction between the claims under these bills and the bills of 1862 and 1863, and say you shall not have your claims paid in full, when you made no restrictions in previous legislation in reference to this matter? These arguments by the opposite side would have been very well in 1862 and 1863, when the treasury was not in so good a condition as it is to-day; when the finances of the State were drained by the war. If, at that time, such a restriction and discrimination had been made then these arguments would be pertinent, but they chose not to do so then; and I ask you why you should now discriminate against the men who come here at this late date day when you made no distinction before? I have myself had a claim before the Committee of Ways and Means for the purpose of paying a widow lady, a constituent of mine, a claim of this kind, and if for some reason that poor widow should not present her claim until after the fifty thousand dollars were absorbed, she would be obliged to wait another year and perhaps for two years. I say give this money to the men who stood up for their country, and if anybody is to wait, let the members of this House and the officers of this House and these pastors and folders, these civil cormorants, wait.

Mr. MANN. Are the persons who are provided for in this bill, persons who have stood up in battle for their country?

Mr. MIFTERS. The presumption is that they are. They are men who recruited and men who did certain acts in the military departments.

Mr. SHUMAN. Mr. Chairman, there appears to be a great many speeches made this morning for buncombe. Now, in all these speeches no person seems to have the courage to take up against this bill. I am opposed to this whole bill. There is not one claim in twenty for which pay is asked where the claimant has been a soldier. There is a set of men who have recruited companies, with the expectation of getting a commission, and if they did not get a commission, they went home again; they had not spunk enough to go as soldiers. For myself, I recruited thirty-six men, and did not ask for a commission, but went in with them and was a soldier for four years, and I think I can afford to oppose this bill. This bill is not for the benefit of men who were soldiers. I do not believe that there is a man who has been a soldier that has a claim of this kind.

I am opposed to the whole bill and hope it will be defeated.

Mr. DONOHUGH. Mr. Chairman, the original bill provides that they must be mustered into the service of the United States in order to receive one cent of their pay. They receive pay from the time they were commissioned by the Governor to the day of such muster.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Chairman, in reply to the gentleman from Perry [Mr. SHUMAN] I will state that there is no doubt that some of these officers did not go into the service, and there are many who did go into the service and never received a cent for their recruiting.—There are a number in my section who paid all their expenses while recruiting, out of their pocket, expecting to be reimbursed by the State. I trust that because there are a few of that kind who never went into the service, it will not be any objection to this bill.

The question being on the amendment of Mr. WADDELL,

It was

Agreed to.
Mr. DONOHUGH. Mr. Chairman, I offer the following amendment, to come in at the end of the section:

"And they shall be paid in the order in which they are filed."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

Mr. DAY. Mr. Chairman, I offer the following amendment, to come in at the end of the section:

"Provided further, That this act shall not apply to officers who were not in active service in the field."

Mr. DONOHUGH. Mr. Chairman, that is entirely unnecessary. The original act provides that they shall be mustered into the service. Section ten says:

"That the provisions of this act, so far as applicable, shall be extended to all citizens or residents of Pennsylvania, who have heretofore entered into the active service of the United States or any other State of this Union."

Mr. MANN. That is just what the bill before us is overriding; that is what this bill is for—to extend the provisions of this act to men who were not in service. It reads:

"That the benefit of the act approved April 16, 1862, and supplements thereto, granting pay and emoluments to certain officers for recruiting, &c., be and is hereby extended to—whom? "officers who recruited." Nothing else. That is what this bill before us does.

Mr. DAY. Mr. Chairman, it is a well known fact that there were officers who recruited and were mustered into the United States service, but did not go into the field—did not see active service; and I cannot see why this discrimination should be made.

Mr. LINTON. Mr. Chairman, I think this amendment ought not to be adopted. My impression is that it ought not to be confined to the class of officers designated in the amendment. I see a great many practical difficulties in enforcing that provision, if it is adopted. What does the gentleman mean by being in active service in the field? Suppose he was out in camp, or detailed on garrison duty, would he come within this provision of the gentleman's amendment? I think not, and I think persons of that description are as much in the service as any class of officers who served their time in the army. As soon as a man was mustered into the service he became subject to be ordered wherever the War Department chose to order him; as soon as men were mustered in they became subject to the authority of those placed in authority over them. Now, this amendment requires that they shall have been in active service in the field before they can receive the benefit of this act. It seems to me to be an unjust to deter men who were mustered into the service from the benefits of this act because the War Department chose to put them on some duty other than active service in the field.

Mr. HUMPHREY. Mr. Chairman, I move to amend the amendment, by striking out all after the words "Provided further," and inserting the following: "that the provisions of this act shall apply only to officers who were mustered into the United States service."

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Chairman, I am in favor of that. I know personally some officers who spent some two or three hundred dollars of their own money recruiting, and who were never in active service in the field, although in the United States service. I think it would be manifest injustice to deprive such persons of the benefits of this act.

Mr. DONOHUGH. Mr. Chairman, upon examination I think I was somewhat mistaken in saying that the original act covers this matter entirely, and I therefore hope this amendment will be inserted. I understand that the friends of the bill are in favor of it.

Mr. WORRALL. Mr. Chairman, I trust that the House will adopt this amendment of the gentleman from Tioga [Mr. HUMPHREY]. It makes a proper discrimination, and one that ought to be made.

The bill as amended was read.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by adding the following proviso: "Provided, That no claim under the provisions of this act shall be considered if presented through or by the hands of any claim agent or agency; and all moneys shall be paid directly to the party to whom the award is made."

The amendment was

Agreed to.

Mr. HEADMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by striking out the words "or local" in the eleventh line.

Mr. Speaker, I hardly think gentlemen understand this amendment correctly. I cannot see why local bounties should be deducted when they were a voluntary contribution on the part of the people of that locality. I know of a gentleman in my neighborhood who went into the service, served three years, and came home with an honorable discharge.

After his return he was solicited by the people in that locality to recruit a company. He did so, and he spent his own money for that purpose. After six weeks he accomplished his object and the company was mustered into the service of the United States. He only claims, sir, pay from the time he commenced recruiting this company until the time they were mustered into the service.

We raised a local bounty in our county for the purpose of encouraging men in these acts. We voluntarily contributed our mite for that purpose, and I cannot see how it is that money voluntarily contributed by the people of that section should be deducted out of the pay that is to be given them by the Government. I am satisfied that all money paid by the Government should be deducted, but local bounties have nothing to do with that at all.

Mr. SHARPLES. Mr. Speaker, I cannot see the difference where the money comes from, whether it comes from a particular locality or from the State.

Mr. HEADMAN. If a man voluntarily contributes to you five dollars, it is no reason why it should be deducted out of your pay as a legislator.

The House went into committee of the whole on the bill No. 500, recommended negatively from the Committee on Federal Relations, Mr. KINNEY in the chair,

The bill was read as follows:

JOINT RESOLUTION instructing our Senators and requesting our members in Congress to procure the passage of a law authorizing the national government to reimburse the loyal States for all moneys advanced for the payment of bounties to volunteers during the late rebellion.

WHEREAS, Large sums of money have been expended by the several cities, counties, boroughs and districts of the loyal States in payment of bounties to volunteers during the late war for the suppression of the rebellion;

And whereas, Said sums of money were expended, not for the benefit of any special locality, but for the general benefit of the whole nation; therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, That our Senators be instructed and our Congressmen be requested to procure the passage of an act authorizing the assumption and payment, by the National Government, of all moneys so expended by the several cities, counties, boroughs and districts in the loyal States, and reimburse them by issuing to them the bonds of the National Government in such manner as to them shall seem just and right.

The bill was read as follows:

JOINT RESOLUTION instructing our Senators and requesting our representatives in Congress from this State relative to the American Atlantic Cable telegraph company for right of way from Bermuda to Cape Charles.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly met, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State are requested to favor the passage of the bill, now before their body, relative to granting the right of way to the American Atlantic Cable telegraph company from Bermuda to Cape Charles.

The bill was

In the House,

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. KLINE, chairman of the committee of the whole, reported the bill without amendment.

The question being on agreeing to the bill, Mr. BOYD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know something of the nature of this bill. Will the gentleman who introduced it tell us what it is?

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, I will give the gentleman all the information I have in reference to it. A resolution similar to this one now before the House has been presented to and has been passed by several legislative bodies in other States. As I understand it, the English company who now have control of the telegraph from Europe to this country are endeavoring to prevent the passage of this bill by Congress granting the right of way to this American enterprise. This resolution is for the purpose of urging our Senators and Representatives to favor the passage of this bill. It is purely an American affair in opposition to this great English concern.

Mr. BOYD. There is no snake in it?

Mr. KERNS. Not that I am aware of.

The rules were suspended,

The bill read a third time by its title, and Passed finally.

The House went into committee of the whole on House bill No. 505, Mr. KOON in the chair.

The bill was read as follows:

JOINT RESOLUTION instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives to favor a repeal of the neutrality laws.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, That our Senators be instructed and our Representatives in Congress be requested to take such measures as they may deem expedient to repeal the neutrality laws so far as they apply to the British Possessions in North America.

The bill was

Agreed to.

In the House,

The Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. KOON, chairman committee of the whole, reported the bill without amendment. The question being on agreeing to the bill.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I doubt whether any member of this House examined these neutrality laws sufficiently to know what was being done. I am free to say that I have not. It may be that this bill is all right, and it may be that it is not. I take it that the Pennsylvania Legislature ought to be a little careful about what instructions they give to their Senators and members in Congress. I do not know what these neutrality laws apply to. It seems to me that before we attempt to give the weight of the influence of the State of Pennsylvania in favor of any measure, we should examine the measure and know what it is.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Erie [Mr. M'CREARY] will read this resolution he will see that it says: "That our Senators be instructed and our Representatives in Congress be requested to take such measures as they may deem expedient to repeal the neutrality laws so far as they apply to the British Possessions in North America." Now, sir, we are not asking them to repeal the neutrality laws, but we are merely instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives "to take such measures as they may deem expedient" to repeal those laws. At the last session of Congress a bill of that kind was introduced and passed the lower House with but three dissenting voices, but from want of time, or some other cause, it failed in the Senate. As a matter of course the Legislature of Pennsylvania cannot repeal those laws. If we could I would be very willing to vote to repeal all of them. They were forced upon us in the hour of our weakness. They were forced upon us years ago, when we were not strong, so weak that we could not refuse to accept them. They were forced upon us when the States of the South were in revolution, and it is for Congress to repeal them if they wish. By this resolution we merely request them to take such measures to repeal these laws, or parts of them, as they may see fit.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, the resolution is more objectionable now than I at first considered it. I see, from the reading of the resolution, that our Senators are instructed and our Representatives requested to take such measures as they deem expedient to repeal these neutrality laws. I think Congress is able to do that without instruction. If it was anything pertaining to national policy at home, as between States, or pertaining to one State, we might very properly ask Congress to pass such a law. But here is a question simply between one nation and another nation, which is to affect our character as a nation, and by this resolution we ask Congress to take such measures as they deem expedient in regard to it.—The probability is that Congress is capable of taking such measures as they may deem expedient without instructions from us. I think this Legislature should be a little careful about what instructions it gives to Congress; that we should maintain our dignity, and that such measures should be well considered before we act upon them.

Mr. KURTZ. I would like to know if the gentleman has not changed his views somewhat since he voted for the resolution urging our Representatives to use their influence for the rejection of the nomination of Senator Cowan as Minister to Austria.

Mr. M'CREARY. No, sir. I said that anything that affects us as a State we could very properly instruct our Representatives in reference thereto, and I think the rejection of Edgar Cowan affected every man in the State. There was no man who had the honor and dignity of the State at heart who did not rejoice at his rejection.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I can see no reason for the anxiety of the gentlemen on the other side of the House to discuss this matter, unless they propose to discuss it on general principles. If that is the purpose, I ask that we may have a special session for its discussion. I think the House is not ready to consider it now.

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I am in favor of the proposition of the gentleman from Warren [Mr. ALLEN]. I am also in favor of the resolution, because I think that gentlemen we elect to Congress have the right to do just exactly what this resolution requests them to do—just as they please—and I do not see that there is any harm in our saying so. What earthly harm can there be in our telling Congress upon this or any other subject that may come before them: "Gentlemen, so far as the Legislature of Pennsylvania is concerned, we are perfectly willing that you shall do just as you are a mind to?" There is nothing else in the resolution.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to make very many remarks on this resolution. I am exceedingly gratified that the gentlemen on the other side of the House have changed their minds upon this question of requesting Congress how to act. I understood them to object very seriously a short time ago, and to charge upon us that we were not exactly minding our own business when we offered a certain resolution. I am very happy to find that I was mistaken, and that they do believe in instructing Congress. I fear, however, that the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. QUIGLEY] does not speak for his whole party, and I shall, therefore, call the yeas and nays on the question.

Mr. MAISE. Mr. Speaker, I move to postpone this whole matter, and make it the special order for next Wednesday evening.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend the motion by moving to postpone the bill indefinitely.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I am not the framer of this resolution. If I had been, I think I would have made it much stronger than it is. The resolution was introduced, I think, by the gentleman from Schuylkill [Mr. BREX], and is certainly not as strong as I would like to vote upon, but I suppose the gentleman, in introducing this resolution, had in view the repealing of so much of these laws as has forced the officers of the United States Government to be police officers of the British Government. I have no doubt that was the idea of the gentleman from Schuylkill, and I do not suppose he introduced it for the purpose of making a lengthy speech, or making political capital out of it. We all know that prior to the election in last October, during the political campaign, in nearly every discussion on the camp, both parties claimed to be great friends of Irish nationality, for they were both fishing for the great Fenian vote. That may have been the reason why Mr. Banks, of Massachusetts, introduced that resolution into Congress to repeal the neutrality laws. It may have been a bid for that vote, and judging from the feeling manifested on this floor by the members on the other side of the House, I think it was a bid for that vote.

Now, sir, as I said before, I do not believe this resolution was introduced for Hancock, or for political effect, or for anything of that kind. I believe it was introduced for the purpose of having some effect upon the gentlemen to whom it applies. I believe it was introduced for the purpose of securing the repeal of so much of the neutrality laws as would compel the United States army to be police officers for the British Government, as they were last summer.

Now, I happened to be in Buffalo at the time that Fenian said to do so. I happened to be there visiting at the time, and the feeling in reference to this matter was in tense. I did not find a man of either party whose feelings were not enlisted in favor of those brave men who crossed the border, and who, if it had not been for the interference of our army, would never have returned without gaining possession of Canada and establishing a government that they could call their own. And now let us do with England as they did with us during the rebellion. Let us pay them back in their own coin. In England and in British ports all the vessels of war for the Southern confederacy were fitted out, and they were armed and manned there. But how was it with our Government? When the Fenians made their raid from Buffalo and Erie, the British forces were paralyzed. Determined men were rushing to the border by thousands—men who were determined to gain a permanent foothold there. But what did we do? Why, these neutrality laws, forced upon us in our weakness, were carried out by our Government, because we had to enforce them. I take it that is the portion of the neutrality laws that my friend from Schuylkill desires to have repealed. And I say that the Republican party, or any other party that vote against this resolution, stultify themselves in view of the pledges they made last fall during the political canvass.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the charge that the gentleman made in reference to this side of the House having been fishing after the Fenian vote last fall, I would say that I certainly thought last night that there was an effort to fish after the Fenian influence, but the fishing party was not out, and being present they had my sympathies then, and they are now extended to the party.

Mr. COLLINS. Mr. Speaker, I hope gentlemen will give us the privilege of an expression to discuss this matter. I do not think there is another nation in the world that has done so much for America as Ireland has. I think we should have an opportunity to be heard on this question. Special sessions here have been made for almost everything, and I hope one will be granted in this case.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I think it but just, as the members on the other side of the House seem to feel so much interest in this question, and desire to discuss it, that we should allow them to do so. I thought, at first, as there was really nothing in this resolution, that it would be sufficient to let it pass without discussion. But as they feel disposed to say what they can to excite the sympathy of the Fenians, I am perfectly willing they should have that opportunity. We, of course, all feel the same kind of sympathy for all who are wronged. For my part, I shall be in favor of a special session under existing circumstances, and I hope it will be granted.

The question being on the motion of Mr. Barton, to indefinitely postpone the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr.

HEADMAN and Mr. HOOD, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Burton, Chadwick, Colville, Day, Gibson and Sherman—6.
NAYS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Harrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breun, Brennan, Calvin, Cameron, Chalfant, Collins, DeHaven, Donoghugh, Espy, Ewing, Fogel, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Camant, M'Henry, M'Kee, M'Pherrin, Maish, Mann, Marley, Marks, Melly, Meyers, Mullin, Peter, Pellow, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Richards, Roath, Robinson, Roush, Seiler, Steacy, Stohman, Subers, Tharp, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Westbrook, Whann, Wharton, Wilson, Woodward, Wright and Glass, Speaker—74.

So the question was determined in the negative.

The question recurring on the motion of Mr. MAISH, that the further consideration of the bill be made the special order for Wednesday evening next at 7½ o'clock,

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend the making it Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday evening.

Mr. MAISH. Mr. Speaker, I accept the amendment.

Mr. KIMMELL. Mr. Speaker, I believe this House is now prepared to vote upon this resolution, and I do not think any further discussion will throw any further light on it. I hope the House will come to a vote at once.

Mr. SHARPLES. Mr. Speaker, I think the experience of last evening ought to teach us that we had no use in making special sessions for the discussion of questions on which the House is almost unanimous.

Mr. MAISH. Mr. Speaker, as I find the House seems to be unanimous on this resolution, I will withdraw my motion for a special session.

The question recurring on agreeing to the resolution.

Mr. GREGORY moved to amend in the second line by inserting after the word "to" the following: "use all honorable means to secure the bill."

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, I think the resolution, if passed in the way I propose, will be of some practical benefit, and will give gentlemen an opportunity to express their sincerity in regard to this matter. I therefore call the yeas and nays on the adoption of the amendment.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I simply desire to say to the House that this amendment would give to Congress no discretion in this matter. It is an attempt to instruct their majority on Foreign Relations to repeal these neutrality laws, and so far as we are concerned, gives them no discretion whatever. For myself, I am unwilling to be put in that position. I am willing to vote for the resolution as it stood before this amendment was attempted to be put on it, for the reason that it leaves it to their discretion as to what they shall do. It seems to me that it is hardly the thing for the Legislature of Pennsylvania to attempt to tie up the hands of Congress, and so far as they are concerned, giving them no discretion whatever, and instructing them to go forward without taking into consideration any of the circumstances, and to use all honorable means to repeal these neutrality laws. I hope the Legislature of Pennsylvania will not put themselves into any such position.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN] has changed his base. In the first place he objected to the resolution because it amounted to nothing. Now, after the gentleman from Philadelphia [Mr. GREGORY] has offered an amendment, making it more effective and making it amount to something, the same gentleman objects to it. Now, if the resolution is worth passing at all, it is worth passing in the manner proposed to be adopted by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The gentleman from Potter has also changed his base on the question of instructing our representatives how to vote on certain questions. That has been the gentleman's "hobby" ever since he has been a member of this House. Whenever a resolution has been introduced instructing our representatives how to vote on any question having a political bearing, he has been the very first to take the floor in its advocacy, and the very last to leave it. During the discussion on the resolution instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress to vote against the confirmation of the Hon. Edgar Cowan as Minister to Austria, that gentleman took a very prominent part, and this side of the House objected to that resolution then for the very reason now urged by the gentleman from Potter against this resolution, that our Senators and Representatives from this State could attend to their own business. That resolution left our representatives in Congress no discretionary power whatever. Yet the gentleman from Potter advocated that resolution strongly and persistently, and it passed this House by his vote. Now, when on a different question, the gentleman from Potter gets up and says he objects because we leave our representatives no discretion whatever! That is consistency, I think! I am willing to let the gentleman stand on his own record, so far as that is concerned.

A word about the amendment. I have no doubt, sir, and no gentleman here means to say to the contrary, that this resolution of instruction will not affect a vote. I do not think in the entire Congress there will be half a dozen votes against repealing these neutrality laws. But I think coming, as it does, from the representatives of this State in the State Legislature to the representatives of our State in the National Congress, that if there are any weak-kneed ones among them it will bolster them up. That is why I am in favor of the amendment of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The question being on agreeing to the amendment of Mr. GREGORY,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. MULLIN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Harrington, Boyd, Boyle, Breun, Brennan, Calvin, Cameron, Chalfant, Chase, Collins, Colville, Day, DeHaven, Donoghugh, Espy, Ewing, Fogel, Freeborn, Gallagher, Ghegan, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Heltzel, Hood, Humphrey, Jones, Josephs, Kennedy, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, Long, M'Camant, M'Henry, M'Kee, M'Pherrin, Maish, Marley, Meyers, Mullin, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Robinson, Roush, Stumbaugh, Subers, Webb, Weller, Westbrook, Whann, Wharton, Worrall, Wright and Glass, Speaker—62.

NAYS—Messrs. Armstrong, Gordon, Hoffman, M'Creary, Mann, Melly, Peter, Roath, Seiler, Sherman, Steacy, Stohman, Tharp and Wilson—14.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The question recurring on agreeing to the resolution as amended.

Mr. LINTON offered an amendment, to add the following: "That a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded to each of our Senators and Representatives at Washington, to be laid before Congress."
The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. KOON offered an amendment, to add the following: "And that as soon as the revolution shall have been inaugurated, our Government shall accord to Ireland belligerent rights."

Mr. LINTON moved to amend the amendment, by striking out the words "revolution inaugurated" and insert the words "defacto government established."

The question being on the amendment of Mr. LINTON to the amendment of Mr. KOON, it was

The question recurring on the amendment of Mr. KOON,

Returned by the Governor to the Senate yesterday, with his objections thereto.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the House proceeded to the reconsideration of said bill.

On the question,
Shall this bill pass notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?

Agreeably to the rules,
The further consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the municipal election takes place in the city of Williamsport in a few days, it is important that a bill now lying on your table—Senate bill No. 1115—should be taken up and passed.

I move that the House proceed to its consideration.

The motion was
Agreed to.
The bill entitled An act supplementary to an act entitled An act to incorporate the city of Williamsport, which became a law the 13th January, 1866, changing the wards, and authorizing said city to borrow money, was read and

Agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass?
Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, the statement of the gentleman from Franklin is incorrect, and the gentleman has been misinformed—there is no election near.

It will be remembered by those gentlemen of the House who were members last year, that there was a contest on a bill which I introduced, entitled A supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Williamsport. The contest was characterized by considerable spirit if not ascerbity. I had the bill passed then. The House reconsidered the vote, the bill was sent to committee, reported favorably and passed this House. It failed in the Senate for want of time.

Now, sir, there is the supplement under consideration.

I believe, as far as I can understand it, this supplement would not be objectionable to the eastern and more populous portion of the city. But it extends the boundaries westwardly to include the town or village of Newberry and a large portion of farm land. There is a petition here from this section, in favor of the annexation. I have written home and to Newberry on the subject, but as the bill has been sprung upon me, the people have not had time to respond. I am satisfied that large remonstrances will be sent here against the passage of the supplement in its present form, and I most earnestly protest against the passage until it can be understood by my people.

There is another important section in the bill, providing for the issue of city bonds and the sale thereof at a discount. This is a grave proposition, involving the taxation of the whole corporation, and it is of the most serious importance that time should be given to consider it.

Sir, this bill was only read in the Senate night before last and referred to committee. I supposed that committee would hold the bill a reasonable time at least—but it has been hastened through the Senate, and the House is now asked to sweep it through here without an hour's hesitation.

Sir, I can never countenance this haste. It is the great cause of local discord as well as general peril that laws are passed here in the precipitous way. Give the people a chance to be heard, and after that let the House take such action as they deem proper after a full hearing.

Mr. Speaker, I protest against the action of the House on this measure at this time and I call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. WADELL. Mr. Speaker, this, I believe, sir, is a Senate bill. So far as I can learn it has taken its regular course through that body. The friends of this measure are exceedingly anxious to have it disposed of at once. They have taken no undue advantage of those who may oppose it. I think, sir, it is the duty of this House to dispose of the question at this time.

There are parties here who are very anxious that we should pass the bill. I make no reflections against the gentlemen who represent a part of that district. I think he has been informed by those who are opposed to it in reference to the statements he has made.

We have a right to apprehend that there may be some opposition on the part of those parties when they have taken no trouble to furnish themselves with information on the subject.

I hope, therefore, the House will be pleased to do what the friends of this bill ask and dispose of it without further delay.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. WINGARD and Mr. KURTZ, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barrington, Barton, Boyle, Breen, Brennan, Chadwick, Chalfant, Colville, Davis, Day, DeHaven, Donohugh, Ewing, Fogel, Freeborn, Ghegan, Gordon, Gregory, Headman, Heltzel, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Hunt, Jenks, Josepha, Kerns, Kimmell, Kinney, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, McCreary, M'Henry, M'Kee, Maish, Mann, Marks, McMeching, Meyers, Mullin, Pillow, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Richards, Roath, Robinson, Roush, Seiler, Sharples, Shuman, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Waddell, Wallace, Watt, Webb, Weller, Whann, Wilson and Glass, Speaker—55.

NAYS—Messrs. Cameron, Espy, Harbison, Logg, Mc'Camant, M'Pherrin and Wingard 7.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

PUBLIC CALENDAR.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the bills on the public calendar. Several bills were disposed of, the whole of the proceedings on which will appear in the appendix to the Record.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Which was read and
Laid on the table.

BILL PASSED.

On motion of Mr. COLLINS, the rule for going into committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with, bill No. 1391, an act authorizing the school directors of the school district of the borough of Ashland to borrow money,

Was read the second time, considered and agreed to, and Passed finally.

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to offer the following resolution.

Leave was granted.

The resolution was read as follows:

Resolved, That the Hall be tendered to Prof. T. W. Braidwood, on Tuesday evening next, to deliver a lecture on "Art Education, and the Application of Art to American Manufactures," the lecture to be illustrated by drawings, paintings, &c.; and also, to present to the Legislature a portrait of President Jackson.

The resolution was Agreed to.

Mr. QUAY asked and obtained leave to read in place a bill entitled An act to repeal an act entitled A further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania railroad company, authorizing an increase of capital stock, and to borrow money, approved the 21st day of March, A. D. 1866, and also to authorize the Pennsylvania railroad company, by this act, to increase its capital stock, to issue bonds, and to secure the same by mortgage.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House proceed to the consideration of that bill.

The debate which arose on the question, and on the consideration of the bill, will appear in the Appendix to the Record.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, presented a message from the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 21, 1867.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—I have been waited upon this afternoon by a large delegation of respectable citizens of Schuylkill county, who have come here in pursuance to instructions contained in a resolution adopted at a mass meeting of citizens held in Pottsville last evening, for the purpose of obtaining legislation which will terminate the scenes of murder and outrage which are now shocking the community with their enormity. In obedience to their request, and in accordance with my wishes, I call your attention to the resolutions passed at the meeting last evening, a copy of which is herewith transmitted, and urge upon you the necessity and importance of immediate action. The petitioners simply ask at your hands protection for their persons and their property, a right which should be willingly and promptly granted before the soil of their county is again reddened with the blood of a peaceable and inoffensive resident.

During the last three or four years, nearly fifty murders have been committed in Schuylkill county, and the murderer in almost every instance was allowed to escape almost entirely, from the fear of the citizens to take any action toward the detection and conviction of the criminal.

The people of that section, as of all others of this Commonwealth, should and must be protected by the authorities of the State, and I respectfully urge you to listen to the appeal herewith enclosed, and take such action as in your wisdom you deem best suited to ensure to them security of life and property, and to secure the speedy and certain punishment of crime.

JNO. W. GEART.

"PROTECTION FOR LIFE AND PROPERTY IN SCHUYLKILL COUNTY.

"The following were the officers of a meeting of the citizens of Schuylkill county, held in Pottsville, on Wednesday evening, March 20th, 1867, to adopt measures to secure protection for life and property in the county:

"President—Jeremiah Reed, Esq.

"Vice Presidents—Benjamin Bannan, Samuel Harris, Eli Bowen, John Lucas, George W. Pomeroy, Charles Biddle, Joseph S. Patterson, Alexander Moorhead and George Hiers.

"Secretary—Francis R. Wallace.

"WHEREAS, Schuylkill county is infested by bands of assassins and robbers who murder our best citizens, keep the people of the outer districts in a perfect state of terror, drive the respectable working people from the county, and render it dangerous to travel in the region; keep capital from seeking investment here, and who defy alike the laws of God and man; therefore,

"Resolved, That the people of this county earnestly ask the Legislature to accord them protection here, in the heart of the Commonwealth, for their persons and their property.

"Resolved, That we urge upon the Legislature to promptly pass the bills adopted by this meeting and submitted with these proceedings, and thus give us the measure of protection which is due from the State to her citizens.

"Resolved, That, if the Legislature should again refuse to listen to and act upon our just appeal, the citizens of Schuylkill county will be compelled to defend themselves in the most effective manner known to men who have not the protection of the laws, and that the Legislature will be held responsible therefor.

"Whereas, There is a radical defect in the mode of selecting jurors in the different counties of the State which ought to be changed; therefore,

Resolved That we most earnestly call upon the Legislature to pass the jury bill, now before the Senate, authorizing the election of two jury commissioners in each county of the State, independent of the clause including the sheriff, so far, at least, as Schuylkill county is concerned, as said clause would destroy all its beneficial effects in the county of Schuylkill.

"Resolved, That in order to meet the terrible state of affairs that exist in this county, as speedily as possible, a section be added to said bill, authorizing the Governor, immediately after its passage, to appoint said commissioners, select one from each party, who shall immediately thereafter enter upon and perform the duties of the office until the next general election.

"Resolved, That we do not desire to enforce these features of the jury bill on other counties, if objectionable, but only ask it for ourselves in our present necessities.

"Resolved, That a committee of not less than fifty citizens be appointed to proceed to Harrisburg to-morrow morning, Thursday, March 21, to lay the grievances of our people before the Legislature and the Governor of the State."

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The SPEAKER cleared his table of bills numbered and entitled as follows:

Senate bill No. 1163, an act relative to the leasing of the Kersey oil and mineral company's railroad by the Farmers' railroad company of Venango county.

Referred to the Committee on Railroads. Senate bill No. 1166, an act to authorize the directors of the Kaska William coal company to sell or mortgage any portion of their real estate, to decrease the amount of capital stock, and to fix the location of their office, and the residence of the president and a majority of the directors.

Referred to the Committee on Iron and Coal Companies.

Senate bill No. 1166, an act authorizing the school board of the Fourth ward in the Allegheny city school district, to close up their bounty business, and to use surplus bounty money for the purpose of purchasing ground, and erecting a new school house in said ward, and to borrow twenty thousand dollars for the purpose aforesaid.

Referred to the Committee on Iron and Coal Companies.

Senate bill No. 1168, a supplement to the act entitled An act authorizing the Columbia water company to hold real estate, &c., approved the 10th of February, 1865.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Also, House bills numbered and entitled as follows:

No. 316, an act further to regulate the granting of licenses to hotels and eating houses.

No. 1085, an act to increase the revenues of the Commonwealth.

Returned from the Senate with amendments.

The amendments made by the Senate to said bills were twice read, considered and concurred in; and

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

Also, Senate bill No. 45, a supplement to an act approved the 9th day of February, 1849, entitled A supplement to an act entitled An act to incorporate the Lykens Valley coal company, in Dauphin county, Pennsylvania, and to authorize the opening of a road in Honesdale, Wayne county, authorizing them to dispose of the stock of said company.

On motion,

The House receded from the amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to said bill.

No. 617, joint resolution relative to the revival of the civil laws of Pennsylvania.

On motion,

The House insisted on its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to said bill; and

Ordered, That Messrs. MANN, MYERS and WADELL be a committee on the part of House, to act in conjunction with a similar committee on the part of the Senate (if the Senate should appoint such committee), in relation to the difference existing between the two houses in relation to said bill; and

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

The following extract from the Senate Journal was read:

IN THE SENATE, March 21, 1867.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor be requested to return Senate bill No. 311, entitled A supplement to an act to establish a ferry over the Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers, approved the 6th day of February, 1864.

On motion,

Said resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in; and

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

On motion,

The House adjourned until to-morrow morning at nine o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FRIDAY, March 22, 1867.

The House met at 9 o'clock, A. M. Prayer was offered by the Rev. J. KENNEDY, member from Wyoming.

The SPEAKER announced a quorum of members present.

(On motion of Mr. LEE, the reading of the Journal was dispensed with.)

The special order was the consideration of the act relative to the Pennsylvania railroad company, entitled An act to repeal an act entitled A further supplement to the act incorporating the Pennsylvania-railroad company, authorizing an increase of capital stock, and to borrow money, approved March 21st, 1866, and also to authorize the Pennsylvania railroad company, by this act, to increase its capital stock, to issue bonds, and to secure the same by mortgage.

Considerable discussion arose upon the bill, all of which will appear in the Appendix to the Record.

On the final passage of the bill, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LEE and Mr. MANN and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Barton, Breck, Brennan, Brown, Calvin, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Collins, Colville, Davis, DeHaven, Donohag, Espy, Freeborn, Ghegan, Gordon, Gregory, Harbison, Harner, Heltzel, Hood, Humphrey, Hunt, Jones, Josephs, Kennedy, Keras, Kinney, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Lee, Linton, Long, M'Comant, M'Creary, M'Henry M'Kee, Markley, Marks, Meachling, Metly, Mullin, Pennypacker, Pihow, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Roath, Robinson, Roach, Sailer, Sharples, Sherman, Steacy, Stickman, Stumbaugh, Sabers, Wadell, Wallace, Watt, Webb, Westbrock, Whann, Wharton, Wilson, Wingard, Worral, Wright and Glass, Speaker—74.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Boyle, Chalfant, Day, Ewing, Gallagher, Jenks, Kimmell, Maish, Mann, Meyers, Peter, Richards, Tharp, Waller, and Woodward—17.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And the bill Passed finally.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. CHASE asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Watson for a few days from to-day.

MEMORIAL FROM THE RELIGIOUS SOCIETY OF FRIENDS.

Mr. KERNS presented the following memorial, which was read and Laid on the table:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania:

The memorial of the representatives of the Religious Society of Friends in the said State respectfully sheweth:

That a bill now pending in the Legislature imposes a fine on all persons between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five years of age, who, being enrolled and not joining a volunteer company, decline or neglect performing military duty, which, if enacted into a law and carried into effect, must operate oppressively upon the members of our religious society in Pennsylvania.

It is well known that from its beginning—more than two hundred years ago—the Society of Friends has uniformly borne a testimony against all wars and fightings, as being contrary to the benign precepts of the Gospel and the express commands of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Believing ourselves bound to obey these, and to do nothing directly or indirectly that would prevent the spread or lay waste the Kingdom of the Prince of Peace, we cannot engage in warlike measures, or take part in military training or preparations.

The Constitution of our State provides that "such as conscientiously scruple to bear arms, shall not be compelled to do so, but shall pay an equivalent for personal service. In the Declaration of Rights prefacing the Constitution, it is declared, "No human authority can, in any case whatever, control or interfere with the right of conscience, and no provision shall ever be given by law to any establishments or modes of worship." The noble provision was originally made by William Penn, the founder of our State, and so long as Friends held control in the legislative councils, it was never infringed.

Now, the fine proposed in this bill to be inflicted on those who do not comply with its provisions, would be a penalty exacted from Friends on account of their conscientious scruples, inasmuch as those scruples are the cause of their non-compliance; and we respectfully submit, that there is a manifest inconsistency in first exempting persons from such service because of their being no right to conscript them with conscience, then subjecting them to pecuniary infliction because they act in accordance with their conscientious belief. Certainly to compel those who cannot bear arms because they believe it to be contrary to the religion of Christ, to pay a fine, however small, would be a direct infringement of their right to enjoy their religious belief, and an entire disregard of the clear declaration already quoted from the great charter of our liberties as citizens of this Commonwealth.

Fully convinced that it would be a sin for us, or for any others who sincerely believe war and all military service to be contrary to the religion which breathes peace on earth, good will to men, to take any part in either, we cannot comply with the requirements in the bill, either by rendering the service called for, or by paying a fine in commutation therefor. We claim the right to keep a conscience void of offense in this as in all other matters, and that as the Almighty is the alone Ruler of conscience, human governments may not control or coerce it. To secure this we ask no partial legislation, but equal liberty for all who are conscientiously restrained by their religious principles from participating in military training or militia service. Thus we shall only enjoy the same rights as our fellow citizens who, professing that war is proper and necessary, claim the right to carry it out and willingly engage in military duty.

Past experience has shown that where such fines have been imposed and collected from Friends, resort has almost uniformly to be made to seizures of property, which—as there are few willing to buy goods thus taken from their neighbors—is often sold greatly below its worth, and thus, by repeated or excessive distrains, the property of nonresisting and industrious citizens is frequently wasted, while little, if any, of the proceeds ever reaches the public treasury.

Friends have always been a loyal people, and in the late rebellion, wherever located, they remained firm in their allegiance to the United States. They are ever willing to bear their full proportion of the burdens requisite to support the civil government under which they live, and to perform their duties as good citizens; and on behalf of those of them who live in this noble Commonwealth, we respectfully entreat that in the present bill, or any other that may come before you, nothing may be enacted that will press hardly upon the consciences of peaceable and loyal citizens.

Signed on behalf and by direction of a meeting of the representatives aforesaid, held in Philadelphia, the 20th day of the Third month, 1867.

JOSEPH SCATTERGOOD,
Clerk.

The committee report that they have examined the foregoing bill and find it to be correct, and recommend the passage of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House be directed to draw a warrant in favor of Joseph F. Knife, postmaster, for the sum of three thousand eight hundred and fifty-five dollars and fifty five cents ($3,855 55), being the amount due for postage on letters and documents sent and received during and for the month of February, 1867.

On motion,
 Said resolution was twice read, considered and Agreed to.

BILL PASSED.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the rules be suspended, and that the House proceed to the consideration of the following bill:

No. 141, an act for the payment of Enos C. Renner, contestant for the seat of Michael Mullin.

The motion was Agreed to.
 The bill was read.

On the question,
 Will the House agree to the bill? -
 A discussion arose, which will appear in the Appendix.

The bill was amended by Mr. M'CREARY and Agreed to.

The bill Passed finally.

SPECIAL SESSION ORDERED.

On motion of Mr. STUMBAUGH, the House ordered a special session for Thursday evening, Mar. h 28, at 7 1/2 o'clock, for the purpose of considering the following bill:

No. 1416, an act for the relief of citizens of the counties of Adams, Franklin, Fulton, Bedford, Perry, York and Cumberland, whose property was destroyed, damaged or appropriated for the public service and in the common defense, in the war to suppress the rebellion.

PAYMENT OF OFFICERS OF THE HOUSE.

Mr. WADDELL, from the Committee of Ways and Means, presented the following resolution, which was twice read, viz:

WHEREAS, The act of Assembly of April 14, 1863, provides that the officers of the House shall be one chief clerk, one assistant clerk, four transcribing clerks, one sergeant-at-arms, and two assistants, one door keeper and two assistants, one messenger and two assistants, one postmaster, four pastors, four folders, eight pages, one fireman and one doorkeeper in the rotunda, in all, which is a sufficient number in the opinion of this committee, to transact all the business required of officers of this House, except one assistant clerk; and

Whereas, It is estimated there are over seventy officers and pages of the House now employed, or drawing pay from the treasury, a large number of whom are absent most of the time; and

Whereas, The said act of 1863 provides that but nine officers shall return, as such, at the next meeting of the Legislature, and yet twenty three did return at the commencement of the present session, and were paid for ten days' services; therefore,

Resolved, That the interests of the people, and the integrity of the Legislature, call for the observance and enforcement of the said act of Assembly, and the Clerk of this House is directed not to certify to the account of any officer or employee for more time than such officer or employee was actually in attendance on duty, unless leave of absence was given by the House.

Resolved, That the Clerk is hereby directed to notify all the officers of this House, except those named in the act of 1863, as authorized to return, that they will cease to be officers of the House on the expiration of the present session, and that they are not authorized to return as officers at the commencement of the next session.

On the question,
 Will the House agree to the resolution? Various amendments were offered and considerable debate arose, all of which will appear in the Appendix.

The resolution as amended was Agreed to.
 On motion of Mr. DAVIS, the following bill was taken up and considered:

Senate bill No. 891, joint resolution authorizing the appointment of a special agent to collect disallowed and suspended claims against the United States.

The bill was Agreed to.
 The rules were suspended,
 The bill was read a second and third time, and Passed finally.

AFTERNOON SESSION ORDERED.

Mr. FREEBORN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House hold a session this afternoon, beginning at 2 1/2 o'clock, for the purpose of reading bills in place and going through the regular orders.

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, I call for a division of the question.

The question being on the first division of the motion, to hold an afternoon session,
 The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GREGORY and Mr. QUIGLEY, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Allen, Armstrong, Brennan, Brown, Cameron, Chadwick, Chase, Colville, Day, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Harbison, Harner, Heltzel, Hoffman, Humphrey, Jenks, Joseph, Kennedy, Kimmel, Kinney, Koon, Kurtz, Lee, M'Creary, M'Henry, M'Kee, M'Pherin, Mann, Mealy, Pennypacker, Pillow, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Richards, Selser, Sharples, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Webb, Weller, Wilson, Wingard and Worrall—50.

NAYS—Messrs. Barrington, Boyd, Breen, Calvin, Collins, DeHaven, Donohugh, Ghecan, Gregory, Headman, Hood, Hunt, Jones, Kerns, Kline, Linton, Long, Maish, Meching, Mullin, Peter, Routh, Robinson, Roush, Tharp, Waddell, Watt, Westbrock, Whann, Woodward and Glass, Speaker—31.

On motion of Mr. MARKLEY, the House proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 772, an act to exempt the property of the German Reformed congregation of New Goshenpenn, in the county of Montgomery, from taxation.

The bill was read and

Agreed to.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend by adding at the close of the section the words "except for State or school purposes."

Mr. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, there are but about six hundred dollars involved. If this amendment carries the bill will be worthless.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker, I hope it will prevail, from the fact that there are so many claims of this kind presented. If we exempt one we should exempt all. The congregation must be very poor if they can not afford to pay State and school tax when they are exempt from all other taxes.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not like to oppose this bill, it being a local matter, but if I understand it aright, it exempts from taxation not only the property they now possess, but all the property they may acquire or that may be bequeathed to them hereafter.

The question being on agreeing to the amendment.

It was

Not agreed to.

The bill was

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, and the bill

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The SPEAKER cleared his table of bills numbered and entitled as follows:

Senate bill No. 486, an act relative to contested elections in the city of Philadelphia.

Referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

Senate bill No. 984, an act to authorize the Southwark railroad company to renew their road in Swanson street.

Referred to the Committee on Railroads.

Senate bill No. 1206, an act authorizing the Sacon iron company to construct branch railroads to certain ore beds.

Referred to the Committee on Iron and Coal Companies.

Senate bill No. 1227, joint resolution relative to the purchasing of books for the State library.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Also, annual report of the Delaware coal company.

Laid on the table.

The SPEAKER then adjourned the House until Monday evening at 7½ o'clock.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, March 26, 1867.

The Senate met and was called to order at 10 A. M., by the SPEAKER.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Bailey.

On motion of Mr. CONNELL, the reading of the Journal of yesterday was dispensed with.

PETITIONS, REMONSTRANCES, & C.

Mr. CONNELL presented a memorial of the overseers of the public school founded by charter in the town and county of Philadelphia, in 1697, praying for the passage of an act exempting their property from taxation.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Also, a remonstrance from all the manufacturers and dealers in lumber in the city of Philadelphia, against the passage of an act relative to the inspection of lumber, now pending in the House of Representatives.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

Mr. COLEMAN presented a memorial of eighty-seven citizens of Juniata county residing along the line of the Pennsylvania railroad, complaining that they are seriously injured by the discriminating freight list of that company against them by its construction of the act of March 7th, 1861, asking for an amendment of the act, which was read as follows, and

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania:

The memorial of the undersigned, inhabitants of this State, on the line of the Pennsylvania railroad, represents: That they are seriously injured by the discriminating freight list of that company against them, by their construction of the following paragraph in the act of Assembly of March 7th, 1861:

"The local rates from Philadelphia to Pittsburg, to stations on line of Pennsylvania railroad, shall at no time exceed the gross rates charged between Philadelphia and Pittsburg. Nor shall local rates between any two stations on the road exceed the through rates."

The Pennsylvania railroad company assume, by their interpretation of these words, that they may charge full rates for any distance they please on the road. They now charge, by their freight list (which we append), full rates for half distance and less than half distance.

We ask your honorable body to amend this act, and prevent the discrimination of this company against the State that confers their privileges, and fix the local rates per mile on the ratio of through rates.

This "freight list" shows that on going westward they charge an average of fifty per centum more for the fourteen miles from Harrisburg to Duncaannon than for the one hundred and twelve miles from Philadelphia to Harrisburg, which is charging four times more, or four hundred per centum more per mile, for these fourteen miles, than for the one hundred and twelve.

Nearly the same ratio extends up the valley of Juniata, until the heavy fourth class freight reaches the maximum at Mapleton, two hundred and one miles. From these this company carry the same goods one hundred and fifty-nine miles, to Pittsburg, for nothing—as per the freight list.

The same evil system obtains eastward.—Heavy class goods are charged full freight for less than half distance.

We are borne to the earth by these discriminating charges of the Pennsylvania railroad company. No man can carry on a manufacturing business near the centre of the line of this railroad to advantage. He has to pay a full freight on the whole amount of his supplies from either end of the road. After he manufactures he has to pay a full freight again to either end of the road. This system is like a two edged sword—it cuts him both ways. No farmer's land is worth any more in the centre of this railroad than at its Western terminus. It costs full rates to ship his produce, and there are no manufactures to consume it. Our immense water power is lying valueless—our coal and ores undeveloped—or shipped at no profit—our timber is rotting—our towns are lying dead or dormant, and the greater part of our young population are emigrating. We are crushed by these charges, and we appeal to you for relief.

We ask you to legislate for the interests of the State of Pennsylvania—the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg—and those of the Pennsylvania railroad company—which we assert are identical. We insist that neither of these can thrive so well as by having a thriving "interior." That if our manufactures and population are doubled, their interests are doubled also.

The Pennsylvania railroad company aver that the coal freights do not pay so well as other freights. We ask that you will give us regular ratio "per mile" rates. We can then erect works to smelt our ores with our coal, and instead of sending the raw material to tide water, at no profit to us, can make the such manufacturers of iron and steel as the Pennsylvania railroad company can double their money by carrying, and Philadelphia shall become as much greater iron and steel shipping port than Liverpool, as the coal and ores of Pennsylvania exceed those of England.

When, by a system of manufacturing, we double our population, their passenger list will also double.

We also ask you to revise the passenger list, that there may be no discrimination in that.

We, of the interior, are charged, on this line, one dollar and forty-five cents more than the regular through rates for each passenger.

We desire to call the especial attention of your honorable body to the cunningly devised scheme of this local freight list, as set forth in the note at the bottom of it. For instance: lumber, coal, iron, grain, &c., as fourth class, are charged, from Tyrone to Lancaster (one hundred and fifty-eight miles), thirty-six cents per hundred pounds, being full through freight charges from Pittsburg to Philadelphia, three hundred and sixty miles. Also, from Huntingdon to Penningtonville (one hundred and sixty miles), fourth class is charged the same, thirty-six cents. This note makes the charges far more unbearable than the columns of figures would show on the face of them. We cannot think it was the intention of the Legislature to permit this company to cripple the resources of the interior in this manner.

And we pray you to grant us a deliverance from these discriminating charges.

And we ever pray, &c.

Mr. ROYER presented a petition of citizens of Chester county, for the passage of an act authorizing the recording of soldiers' discharges and officers' commissions, and exempting the same from the State tax for recording the same.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary General.

Also, a petition of the stockholders of the Green Lane and Goshenhoppen turnpike company, for the repeal of the part of said charter authorizing the voting by proxy in the elections of said company.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. LANDON presented twelve petitions from Wyoming county, praying for the passage of a law prohibiting cattle, horses, &c., ranging at large.

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Domestic Manufactures.

Also, a petition of citizens of Wyoming county, praying for a law prohibiting the hunting of deer with dogs in said county.

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Domestic Manufactures.

Also, twenty petitions from Wyoming county, praying for a prohibitory liquor law, signed by six hundred and ninety-eight names.

Referred to the Committee on Vice and Immorality.

Also, a remonstrance signed by one hundred and ten citizens of Wyoming county, against the passage of a prohibitory liquor law.

Referred to the Committee on Vice and Immorality.

Mr. SEARIGHT presented a petition of citizens of West Newton, in relation to a law about hawkers and peddlers.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

Mr. JACKSON presented a remonstrance of citizens of Bloomsburg, Columbia county, against the passage of a law prohibiting fishing with nets and seines in Big Fishing creek, &c., so far as said township is concerned.

Referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Domestic Manufactures.

Mr. GRAHAM presented a remonstrance of citizens of Collins township, Allegheny county, against the passage of a law empowering supervisors to collect an extra tax for plank walk in said township.

Which was read as follows, and

Referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges:

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania:

We, the undersigned, citizens and taxpayers of the township of Collins, in the county of Allegheny, in no spirit of hostility to the useful improvements commonly known as plank walks, do most respectfully but earnestly remonstrate against the passage into a law, a certain proposition now before your honorable body, the object of which is to empower the supervisors of said township to plank five (5) miles extra tax for use of plank walks, &c., &c.:

1. Because we are opposed to any addition to our already numerous burthensome taxes.

2. Because we believe the supervisors already have discretionary powers to act in the matter of plank walks.

3. Because we believe the tax would bear inequitably, inasmuch as all the taxpayers along the line of the Pittsburg and Greensburg turnpike road and those along the line of the so-called East Lynn and Penn Township plank road company could not claim, under the law, any levy therefrom, they not being township roads; and, furthermore, that the liberal and enterprising citizens, who have already contributed of their means and put down plank walks at their own expense in their own neighborhood, would be equally taxed for the benefit of those who have not paid anything and who live in other localities.

Signed by George Finley, Wm. Hickler, Henry Brown, and others.

Mr. JAMES presented a remonstrance, signed by citizens of Bucks and Montgomery counties, against laying out and opening Broad street.

Referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer) presented a petition of the burgess, and town council, and citizens of the borough of Sharon, in the county of Mercer, praying for the passage of a law authorizing the levy and collection of a tax for bridge purposes.

Referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

Mr. RIDGWAY presented petitions from citizens of the Commonwealth, praying for the passage of a law making persons in interest competent to testify in their own suits in law, without regard to their interests therein.

Laid on the table.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bills numbered and entitled as follows, viz: No. 1665, an act to legitimize John Herring of Millfin county, and confer on him the rights and privileges of a child born in wedlock.

BILLS IN PLACE.

Mr. WALLACE read in his place and presented to the Chair a bill entitled An act to exempt certain lands in Cameron county from taxation.

Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. WHITE, a bill entitled An act relating to dower.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary General.

Mr. WHITE. I want to call the attention of the Judiciary Committee to that act. Some time since an act was passed of a similar title, which, to my mind (and I have consulted some legal gentlemen in reference to the matter), affects vested rights, and is in some other respects impracticable. I would be very glad if the Judiciary Committee would look at and examine this bill.

Also, a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Equitable gold and silver mining company of Nevada.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. FISHER, a bill entitled An act to increase the pay of township auditors.

Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary Local.

Mr. GRAHAM, a bill entitled A supplement to the act to incorporate the Superior iron company.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY, a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Battle Hotel company of Gettysburg.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Also, a bill entitled An act to incorporate the Sheffield iron, steel and lead company.

Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. GRAHAM, a bill entitled An act to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage in the townships of East Dear, Fawn and Harrison, and borough of Tarentun, Allegheny county.

Referred to the Committee on Vice and Immorality.

Mr. DAVIS, a bill entitled A supplement to an act entitled An act amendatory of the license laws of the State, approved April 11, 1862, in relation to the county of Berks.

Referred to the Committee on Vice and Immorality.

BOROUGH OF COLUMBIA.

Agreeably to order,
The Senate proceeded to consider House bill, a supplement to an act to incorporate the borough of Columbia.

The bill was read as follows:
A SUPPLEMENT to an act to incorporate the borough of Columbia.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That so much of the twenty-fifth section of the act entitled An act to incorporate the borough of Columbia, passed the sixteenth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, that refers to the payment of road damages by the county aforesaid, be amended by striking out the words "by the county," and that all damages, assessed agreeably to the provisions of said section twenty-fifth, shall be said as follows, viz: one-third thereof by the said county of Lancaster, and the remaining two-thirds by the said borough of Columbia.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House resolve itself into committee of the whole for special amendment, as follows: to strike out, in the tenth line, the words "one-third" and to insert the words "two-fifths"; and, in the same line, to strike out the words "two-thirds" and to insert "three-fifths."

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, that amendment will necessarily bring up discussion on the merits of the whole bill.

The CHAIR. I cannot permit that.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. I am opposed, then, to amending this bill, and desire that it should remain as it now stands on the file.

I would, however, prefer discussing its merits, so that the Senate might thereby see it in its proper light before proceeding to vote.

I do not approve of the amendment, for this special reason: There has never been before the Legislature of this State a bill which caused more excitement among the taxpayers of Lancaster county than he bill passed last year, and to which this is a supplement. Now, it is here proposed, not exactly to repeal a portion thereof, but to go farther for the undue interests of the borough of Columbia than what either justice or fairness demand.

I cannot, therefore, see the necessity of going into committee of the whole for the amendment of this bill, since it is now in a condition most acceptable to our constituents. They want nothing more; they want nothing less.

Mr. FISHER. In regard to the excitement in Lancaster county resulting from the passage of that bill, I have failed to see it or to hear of it. The natural current of affairs appears undisturbed, though it has flowed slowly of late. I have not heard a single man, woman or child utter a complaint. But in order to meet the objection I will simply ask to have the following statement read:

LANCASTER, March 25, 1867.

Wm. Joseph S. Fisher:

DEAR SIR—It has been agreed upon by the commissioners of Lancaster county that they will be satisfied to amend the bill now before the Legislature, entitled A supplement to an act to incorporate the borough of Columbia, so as to read three-fifths damages to be paid by the borough of Columbia and two-fifths by the county of Lancaster.

(Signed) J. B. SHUMAN,
S. SLOCUM,
County Commissioners.

Attested by their Solicitor.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, I shall not contradict that document at all. I take it for granted that the county commissioners have expressed themselves accordingly.

A week ago, when this matter was up before the Senate, a discussion arose as to a certain other amendment. That has nothing, however, to do with this question now.

But as to that paper, sir, the signatures affixed to it were obtained under duress; those gentlemen were threatened by my colleague that unless they agreed to two-fifths he would defeat the bill. They told me, sir, that they were afraid of losing the whole bill, so they were compelled to accept this as the best that could be done in the matter.

The CHAIR reminded the speaker that it was not permitted to members to reflect upon gentlemen.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. I desire only to state the truth, that because of threats made to defeat this bill, the commissioners gave their consent to this compromise.

Mr. FISHER would inquire of my colleague whether he has read the ninth rule.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Yes, sir, and all of them.

On the motion to go into committee of the whole,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BILLINGFELT and Mr. FISHER, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Burnett, Connell, Cowles, Davis, Donovan, Fisher, Glatz, Haines, Jackson, James, Landon, McCandless, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Shoemaker and Hall, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Graham, M'Conaughey, Stutzman, Taylor, White and Worthington—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The Senate then resolved itself into committee of the whole (Mr. STUTZMAN in the chair), and the bill was considered and reported to the Senate, with an amendment.

The question then recurred on the final passage of the bill.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. Mr. Speaker, during the session of 1866, the borough charter of the town of Columbia was entirely remodelled. In that charter there is a provision that whenever any streets were to be opened in said borough there should be six disinterested men appointed, whose duty it was to appraise or assess the damages caused by road opening. Some time ago the borough council of Columbia gave notice to our county commissioners, in writing, that they were about opening twenty-one streets, as follows:

"Council proposes that Commerce street be opened in a straight line to the Marietta turnpike; and that Blunston street be opened to Eighth street, and Gay street to the borough line; that Second street be opened to the turnpike; Third, Fourth and Fifth streets to the borough line. The above streets to be opened in the northern part of the borough. Also, Fourth, Manor, Mill and Washington streets, to the borough line; and Florence, Shawnee, Penn, Franklin, Barber and Hempfield streets; Cherry from Second to Front, and from Lancaster street to Cemetery road, forty feet; Wright street from Shawnee to the borough line, south; also the alley between Second and Front streets, from Locust to Union; also, Cemetery road and South street, from Locust to Cemetery road."

Sir, such a thing as that, I believe, is unprecedented in the history of any town in the United States. Twenty-one streets at a single stroke! They have already opened or extended a certain street, named Commerce street, to the addition of two hundred and eighty feet, and the jury has assessed, in connection with that street, four thousand dollars in damages. The whole of that damage is provided for in the act of last winter, namely, that it shall be paid by the county of Lancaster. Now, in addition to what has been done, it is proposed to maul our county in at least one hundred and fifty or two hundred thousand dollars, to benefit whom? A certain party who bought up the lands around the town of Columbia, and who now are to enrich themselves at the expense of the county treasury of Lancaster. We agreed in this bill that the county of Lancaster should pay one-third, which is more than they are entitled to receive. Our county taxes have recently been raised from three mills to five, so that the Senate must see we are loaded down with taxes; and yet it is proposed to inflict this additional and onerous burden to benefit a set of speculators around the town of Columbia and fleece us out of two hundred thousand dollars more.

Now, I ask this Senate whether this is right—that the county of Lancaster should pay all this damage?

I have already explained how that paper was obtained, and on behalf of my constituents I protest against it. I desire to relieve myself of all responsibility in the matter, if the Senate shall, notwithstanding, agree to adopt the amendment of my colleague. I shall, therefore, move to strike out "two-fifths" and insert "one-third."

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, my colleague is as well informed as to the rules of this Senate as he is of the facts and allegations he has chosen to make. The proposition now is to strike out what has just been inserted. If I understand the rules, that cannot be done.

Now, sir, the facts are these: The proposition to open several streets in the borough of Columbia is about as likely to be acted upon as the opening of a cast-iron bridge—just about and no more. There will probably be two streets opened, and it is very doubtful whether there will be any real expense at all in opening these, because, by referring to their charter, it will be discovered that in assessing the damages the advantages as well as the disadvantages to the property are to be taken into account. Therefore the value of the property of the farmers, living in the immediate neighborhood will be so much enhanced by the opening of these streets. Again, sir, it is not very likely that these appraisers appointed within the bounds of Columbia, knowing that they will have to pay three-fifths of all the expense, will be inclined to make damages heavy. You know, Mr. Speaker, and every Senator on this floor knows, that opening the roads generally, unless there is a special act regulating the subject, are paid for out of the county treasury. Well, the opening of roads in a township does not enhance the value of the property, and hence the benefit derived from the assessments are not increased in consequence. But when you find a large, flourishing borough divided up into building lots, and it becomes necessary to open and develop the streets, it always increases very largely the revenues. That will unquestionably be the case in the borough of Columbia should these streets be opened. That has always been understood by the commissioners of the county, and by their solicitor, who is here.

Now, sir, my colleague says that I hold them in duress. That reminds me of the Paddy who surrounded three Hessians. Well, if one man can hold three commissioners in duress, he must have more power than I ever had or expected to have. But, seriously, that is not really the fact. There was nothing like duress in the matter. I did say I would oppose this bill, and I did say I would use all my power to defeat it unless they agreed upon this compromise. I was instructed to stand up for two-thirds, and they have compromised on the terms I have offered. Now, as this duress is concerned, that is a myth. Certainly there is no truth in it, whatever it else may be. Their solicitor is here, and if he were allowed to speak he could corroborate what I have said.

Mr. BILLINGFELT. The gentleman states that the damages will be low. I would call his attention to one instance of a street being opened two hundred and eighty feet, in which four thousand dollars were assessed. That is merely a start; but there are twenty more streets to follow this, sir.

Now, I repeat, the gentleman threatened the defeat of the bill, thereby extorting the signatures read, and the solicitor of the commissioners is here to attest the truthfulness of what I say.

I contend that neither my colleague nor any other Senator has a right to compromise the interests of his constituents in this instance—the taxpayers of Lancaster county. It is for the Senate, for both sides, to determine what is just and right for the people of Lancaster county, as well as for the borough of Columbia. It matters very little what the commissioners have said, have done or have agreed to; it is for this entire body to speak, weighing the fact that Lancaster county pays more taxes, with one exception, Philadelphia, into the treasury, than any other county of the State. I appeal to them, therefore, not to swell our debt hundreds of thousands more, but to reflect before taking any step of so great magnitude. In that, every constituent of mine has an interest, I have an interest, and my colleague has an interest. And I inform him, if he has not heard any excitement, he will hear it at his peril.

I wash my hands of this proceeding, and shift all responsibility upon him and those who coincide with him to prevent the passage of such a just and reasonable measure. I ask that the bill be allowed to proceed in its original character.

On the bill then

Passed finally.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to consider Senate bill entitled An act to levy a tax upon horses kept for pleasure or hire in the city of Philadelphia.

The bill was read.

Mr. CONNELL moved to strike out "ten" and insert "three," making the bill read "a tax of three dollars shall be levied," &c.

The amendment was

Agreed to.

Mr. M'CANDESS. I move to go into committee of the whole for the purpose of striking out the fifth line "for pleasure or."

Mr. RIDGWAY. This would relieve persons who keep horses for pleasure, and lay the burden upon the poorer class of people.

Mr. M'CANDESS. I desire to state that similar taxes to these are very onerous in the city of Philadelphia at present. Besides, there are few men keeping horses who could not allege that they employed them in their business, thus reducing the bill to a dead letter practically.

Mr. CONNELL. Justices are empowered to administer oaths to such parties.

Mr. M'CANDESS. Mr. Speaker, the highway department of Philadelphia has ample power to take care of all the roads at present; again, gentlemen driving out into the country, do not relish being obliged to pay to keep their countrymen's roads in good condition.

The motion to go into committee of the whole was

Not agreed to.

On the final passage of the bill,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. M'CANDESS and Mr. CONNELL, and were as follow, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Billingsfelt, Browne (Lawrence), Brown (Mercer), Coleman, Connell, Cowles, Fisher, Graham, Haines, Landon, Lowry, M'Conaughey, Ridgway, Royer, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—31.

NAYS—Messrs. Burnett, Davis, Donovan, Glatz, Jackson, James, M'Canless, Randall, Schall, Seagriff and Wallace—11.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Mr. CONNELL. I move that when this Senate adjourn, it adjourn to meet at three o'clock this afternoon.

Agreed to.

JNO. W. GEARY.

Laid on the table.

SELECTION OF JURORS.

On motion of Mr. SFOEMAKER, the Senate proceeded to consider Senate bill No. 89, entitled An act for the better and more impartial selection of persons to serve as jurors in the several courts of this Commonwealth.

The bill came up on second reading, and was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That at the general election to be held on the second Tuesday of October, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, and triennially thereafter, at such election, the qualified electors of the several counties of this Commonwealth shall elect, in the manner now provided by law for the election of other county officers, two sober, intelligent and judicious persons, to serve as jury commissioners, in each of said counties, for the period of three years ensuing their election; but the same person, or persons, shall not be eligible for re-election more than once in any period of six years: Provided, That each of said qualified electors shall vote for one person only as jury commissioner, and the two persons having the greatest number of votes for jury commissioner shall be duly elected jury commissioners for such county.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of said jury commissioners to meet at the seat of justice of the respective counties, at least thirty days before the first term of the court of common pleas in every year, and thereupon proceed, with due diligence, to select from the whole male taxable citizens of the respective county at large, a number, such as at the term of the court, of pleas next preceding shall, by the said court, be designated, of sober, intelligent and judicious persons, to serve as jurors in the several courts of such county, during that year; and if the said commissioners cannot agree upon the names of the persons to be selected by them as jurors, they shall proceed as follows: Each of the commissioners shall make a list containing the names of one half of the taxable number of persons, and ten per centum in addition thereto, and the proper number shall be obtained by each of said commissioners, striking from the list furnished by the other, a number equal to the said addition; and the names not stricken out shall be the selection of the names of jurors, and the said jury commissioners shall, in the mode and manner now directed by law, place the names of persons so selected, in the proper jury wheel, and the said jury wheel locked, as now required by law, shall remain in the custody of the said jury commissioners and the keys thereof in the custody of the sheriff of said county.

SEC. 3. The said jury commissioners and the sheriff of the respective county, or any two of them, shall draw from the proper jury wheel panels of jurors, as grand jurors of the proper county, and as petit and traverse jurors, for the trial of issues in fact which may be taken in any action in any of the courts, civil and criminal, in the several counties aforesaid, in the manner now practiced and allowed; but before the said jury commissioners and sheriff shall proceed to select the draw jurors in the manner aforesaid, they shall severally take the oath or affirmation now prescribed by law to be taken by the sheriff and county commissioners before selecting and drawing jurors.

SEC. 4. That so much of any act or acts of Assembly of this Commonwealth, as makes it the duty of the sheriff and county commissioners of any of said counties to select and draw jurors, shall be repealed, and cease to have any force or effect from and after the first day of December next, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven: Provided, That all acts, and parts of acts of Assembly, now in force, in relation to the custody, sealing and unsealing, locking and opening of the jury wheel of the respective county, and all acts, and parts of acts of Assembly, now in force, imposing any penalty or punishment on the sheriff and county commissioners, or either of them, for anything done or omitted by them in relation to the keeping, locking, opening, sealing or breaking the seal of any jury wheel, or in relation to the selecting or drawing of jurors, shall be taken, deemed and held to apply to the said jury commissioners and sheriff.

SEC. 5. Each of said jury commissioners shall be allowed and paid out of the respective county treasury two dollars and fifty cents per day, and four cents per mile, circular, from the residence of the commissioners to the court house.

SEC. 6. It shall be the duty of each of said jury commissioners to take upon himself and discharge the duties of his said office, unless he be excused by the said court, for each and every neglect or refusal to attend the same, to be sued for and recovered before any justice of the peace of the proper county, as debts of like amount are now by law recoverable, ten dollars of which shall go to the person suing and the residue to be paid by the said justice to the treasurer of the respective county for the use of the same.

SEC. 7. In case of the inability of either or both of the said jury commissioners, by sickness or death, or other unavoidable causes, to discharge the duties of said office, or in case of neglect or refusal to serve thereon, it shall be the duty of the president judge in such county, wherein said vacancy may have occurred, to appoint a suitable person or persons, as the case may be, possessing the qualifications aforesaid, to perform the duties of said office during such vacancy, and such person or persons, after having complied with the requirements of the third section of this act, shall proceed to discharge the duties of said office the same as if elected by the people, until the next general election, when the people shall elect a commissioner in lieu thereof.

Pending the consideration of this bill the Senate

Adjourned.

REGISTRATION OF VOTERS.

On motion of Mr. SHOEMAKER, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 877, entitled A further supplement to the act relating to the elections of this Commonwealth.

The Senate having resolved itself into committee of the whole (Mr. COWLES in the chair), the bill was read as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act it shall be the duty of the several assessors within this Commonwealth, on receiving their transcripts from the county commissioners, to proceed to make out a list in alphabetical order of the white freemen above twenty-one years of age, who they shall know, or who shall make claim to said assessors to be qualified voters within their respective townships, boroughs, wards, or other election districts, and opposite said names state whether the said freeman is or is not a housekeeper, and if he is, the number of his residence in towns where the same are numbered, with the street, alley, or court in which situated, and if in a city or town where there are no numbers, the name of the street, alley, or court, on which said house fronts; also, the occupation of the party; and where he is not a housekeeper, the occupation, place of boarding, and with whom, and if working for another the name of the employer. Where said party is a foreigner, and claims to vote by reason of naturalization, he shall exhibit his certificate thereof to the assessor, unless he shall have voted in the township, borough, ward, or district, at a preceding general election, and on exhibition of the certificate the name shall be marked with the letter N; where the party has merely declared his intention to become a citizen and designs to be naturalized before the next election the name shall be marked D I; where the claim is to vote by reason of being between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-two, as provided by law, the word "age" shall be entered, and if the party has moved into the election district to reside since the last general election the letter "R" shall be placed opposite the name, and in all of the cases enumerated a tax shall forthwith be assessed against the person.

SEC. 2. On the lists being completed and assessments made as aforesaid, the same shall forthwith be returned to the county commissioners, who shall cause duplicate copies of said lists, with the observations and explanations required to be noted, as aforesaid, to be made out, as soon as practicable, and placed in the hands of the assessor, who shall, prior to the first of August next ensuing said assessment, put one copy thereof on the door of the house where the election of the respective district is required to be held, and retain the other in his possession for the inspection, free of charge, of any person, resident within the said election district, who shall desire to see the same; and it shall be the duty of said assessor to add, from time to time, on personal application of any one claiming the right to vote, the name of such claimant, and mark opposite the name "C. V.," and immediately assess him with a tax. On the fourteenth day preceding the general election in October next, thereafter, it shall be the duty of the assessor to produce the list, in his possession to the inspectors and judges of the election of the proper district, at a meeting to be held by them as hereinafter directed.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the inspectors and judge of the election, together with the assessor, to attend at the place of holding the general elections for the respective districts, on Thursday, the twelfth day preceding the second Tuesday in October, and on the other days hereinafter mentioned, and continue in open session at said place from nine o'clock, a. m., to six o'clock, p. m., of said day, for the purpose of receiving and inspecting persons to vote whose names are contained in the assessor's list, as before mentioned, or who shall apply to them to have their names registered; and all persons who have not previously voted in the election district shall make due proof in the manner now prescribed by the election laws of their right to vote in said district, and like proof shall be made in all cases, by those applying for registry, whose names are not enrolled by the assessor, and it shall then be the duty of the assessor to forthwith assess said person with a tax, as required by law, on the proof being made to the satisfaction of the election board; on the list of voters in the township being complete, it shall be the duty of the election officers, aforesaid, to cause duplicate copies thereof to be made out forthwith, in alphabetical order, one of which shall be placed on the door of the house, where the elections are to be held, and the other retained by the judge of the election, who shall hold the same, subject to the inspection of and citation of said district, until the day of the general election, and produce the same thereat, and as each person, whose name is enrolled, votes at such election, one of the clerks thereof shall mark on or opposite to the name "voted;" and it shall not be lawful for the officers of the election to receive the vote of any person whose name was not contained in said registry, made out and put up ten days before the election, as aforesaid, and the reception of the vote of any person not so registered shall constitute a misdemeanor in the election officers so receiving it, and on conviction thereof of the election officers so offending shall be subject to fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4. It shall be lawful for any qualified citizen of the district, notwithstanding the name of the proposed voter is contained in the registry, and the right to vote has been passed on by the election board, to challenge the vote of such person, whereupon the same proof of the right of suffrage as is now required by law, shall be publicly made and again acted upon by the election board, and the vote admitted or rejected, according to the evidence. Every foreigner shall be required to produce his naturalization certificate at the election before voting, as required by existing laws, although the same may have been exhibited to the election board before registry, and on the vote of such person being received, it shall be the duty of the election officers to cause to be distinctly written thereon the word "voted," with the month and year; and if any election officers at the same, or any other district, shall receive a second vote on the same day, by virtue of such certificate, the persons so offending shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, be fined and imprisoned, at the discretion of the court: Provided, Said fine shall not exceed one hundred dollars, and the imprisonment shall not exceed one year; and like punishment may be inflicted on the officers of the election who shall neglect or refuse to make, or cause to be made, the endorsement required, as aforesaid, on said naturalization certificate.

SEC. 5. On the close of the polls the registry list of white freemen of the day of voting has been kept as before directed, shall be sealed up with and preserved in the same manner now required by law, as to the tally papers, and not taken out until after the next meeting of the Legislature, unless required on the hearing of a contested election, or for the purpose of being used at the election of presidential electors, or preparatory thereto, as hereafter provided, after which it shall again be sealed up and carefully preserved as before directed.

SEC. 6. On the Thursday twelve days preceding every election for electors of President and Vice President of the United States, it shall be the duty of the election board and the proper assessor to meet at the place of holding the general election in the district, for the same length of time and in the manner directed in the third section of this act, and then and there hear all applications of persons whose names have been omitted from the registry and who claim the right to vote, or whose rights have originated since the same was made out, and add thereto the names of such persons as shall show that they are entitled to the right of suffrage in such district on the personal application of the claimant only; and if the person shall not have been previously assessed, it shall be the duty of the assessor forthwith to assess him with the proper tax; after completing the list, a copy thereof shall be placed on the door of the house where the election is to be held, at least ten days prior to holding the same, when the same course shall be pursued as in and to the extent directed to receiving or rejecting votes, marking the same on the registry list, endorsing the naturalization papers with the proper month and year, preserving the paper, et cetera, as is required by this act, at the general elections in October.

Sec. 7. At every special election directed by law, and at every city, ward, borough or township election, the registry required to be kept as aforesaid, may be used by the proper officers as evidence of the persons entitled to vote thereat, and said officers shall require all persons whose names are not on the registry, whether they are challenged or not, to show that they possess the right of suffrage at said election; but nothing herein contained shall make said registry conclusive of the right of the person to vote at such election, but the same shall be judged of and decided as in other cases.

Sec. 8. Before entering on the duties of their offices under this act, the respective assessors and inspectors and judges of the elections shall take an oath, before some competent authority, in addition to the oaths now required by law, "to perform the several duties enjoined by this act, with fidelity, and according to the requirements thereof in every particular to the best of their ability;" they shall each have the power to administer oaths to every person claiming the right to be assessed or enrolled, or the right of suffrage, or in regard to any other matter or thing required to be done or inquired into by said officers under this act, and any willful false swearing by any person in relation to any matter or thing, concerning which they shall be lawfully interrogated by any of said officers, under this act, shall be punished as perjury. Said assessors, inspectors and judges shall each receive the same compensation, for the time necessarily spent in performing the duties hereby enjoined, as is provided by law, for the performance of their other duties, to be paid by the county commissioners, as in other cases, with a proper allowance, to be judged of by the said commissioners, for the expense of making the lists or registries hereby required to be made out.

Sec. 9. On the petition of five or more citizens of the election district, stating, under oath, that they verily believe that frauds will be practiced at the election about to be held in said district, it shall be lawful for the court of common pleas, if in session, or if not, a judge thereof in vacation, to appoint two persons, judicious, sober and intelligent citizens of the district, to act as overseers at said election. Said persons shall be selected from different political parties where the inspectors belong to different parties, and where both of said inspectors belong to the same political party, both of the overseers shall be taken from the opposite political party. Said overseers shall have the right to be present with the officers of the election during the whole time the same is held, the votes counted and returns made out and signed by the election officers; to keep a list of the voters, if they see proper; to challenge any person offering to vote, and interrogate him and his witnesses under oath, in regard to the right of suffrage at said election; to examine his papers produced; and the officers of said election are required to afford to said overseers so selected and appointed every convenience and facility for the discharge of their duty; and if said officers shall refuse to permit said overseers to be present and perform their duty as aforesaid, or they shall be driven away from the polls by violence or unreasonable intimidation, all of the votes polled at said election district, shall be rejected by any tribunal trying a contest under said election.

Sec. 10. If it shall be made to appear, before any tribunal trying a contested election, that more votes have been polled and returned, or returned only, than there are legal voters in the district, including those who were absent from the election, it shall be conclusive evidence of fraud in conducting the same, and the entire vote of the district shall be rejected.

Sec. 11. If any prothonotary, clerk, or the deputy of either, or any other person, shall affix the seal of office to any naturalization paper, and give out the same in blank, whereby it may be fraudulently used, or furnish a naturalization certificate to any person who shall not have been duly examined and sworn in open court, in presence of some of the judges thereof, according to the act of Congress, he shall be guilty of high misdemeanor; and if any person shall fraudulently use any such certificate of naturalization, knowing that it was fraudulently issued, and shall vote, or attempt to vote thereon, he shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and either or any of the persons, their aiders or abettors, guilty of either of the misdemeanors aforesaid, shall, on conviction, be fined a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars and imprisoned in the proper penitentiary for a period not exceeding three years.

Sec. 12. If any inspector or judge of the election shall, from any cause, be entirely unable to attend at the place, or perform the duties of his appointment, he may be at liberty to nominate a suitable qualified citizen of the district, to act in his stead. If from death or legal inability no such nomination can be made, it shall be lawful for the inspector having the highest number of votes to appoint a person for judge, to perform the duties enjoined; and if it is the inspector having the highest number of votes who is absent, it shall be lawful for the judge to supply his place by appointment. If the inspector having the smallest number of votes is from any cause unable to attend, a judge of the court of the proper county shall, on the petition of three or more citizens, fill his place by appointment, and shall make his selection from the opposite political party from the inspector having the highest number of votes. Such judge may also, by appointment, in case of a vacancy in the board, from any cause, fill the same. Provided, There is no person designated by law to make the appointment, and in every case the person selected shall be a sober, judicious and qualified voter of the district.

Sec. 13. Any assessor, election officer or person appointed as an overseer, who shall neglect or refuse to perform any duty enjoined by this act, without reasonable, legal cause, shall be subject to a penalty of one hundred dollars; and if any assessor or election officer shall enroll any person as a voter who he shall know is disqualified, or refuse to enroll any one who he shall know is qualified, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and on conviction, be punished by fine and imprisonment, and also be subject to an action for damages by the party aggrieved. And if any person shall fraudulently alter, add to, deface, or destroy any registry of voters, made out as directed by this act, or tear down or remove the same from the place where it has been fixed by or under the direction of the election officers; with like fraudulent or mischievous intent, or for any improper purpose, the person so offending shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and on conviction, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars and imprisonment not exceeding two years.

Sec. 14. None of the provisions of this act shall apply to the city of Philadelphia.

The committee of the whole having arisen the bill went over on second reading.

[For the complete action of the committee on this bill see Appendix.]

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

On leave

Mr. M'CONAUGHY, from the Committee on Estates and Hebeats, reported, with amendment, a bill entitled An act to authorize Catharine Floto, Mary K. Floto, George H. Floto and Emma G. Floto to sell and convey certain real estate.

Also (same), as committed, a bill entitled An act to authorize the city of Philadelphia to sell certain ground in the Eleventh ward.

Mr. COWLES (same), as committed, a bill entitled An act to authorize the Evangelical Lutheran congregation of Berlin, in the county of Somerset, to sell certain real estate.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

On motion of Mr. SCHALL, the rules were dispensed with, and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of a bill entitled An act to authorize Catharine Floto, Mary K. Floto, George H. Floto and Emma G. Floto to sell and convey certain real estate.

The bill was then read a second and third time, and

Passed finally.

Mr. M'CANDLESS moved that the Committee on Estates and Hebeats be discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled An act to authorize the conveyance of certain real estate in the city of Philadelphia, by the committee of Samuel Griffith, a lunatic, and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the same.

Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence). Mr. Speaker, to preserve consistency, I feel impelled to object to this motion. On more than one occasion my privilege of a call has been lost by the undue intervention of motions of this kind.

Mr. M'CANDLESS. Notwithstanding the gentleman's uniform observance of rules, I must, in this instance, ask the Senate to afford me this indulgence.

Mr. M'CONAUGHY. Does the Senator know that the courts have no power in this case?

Mr. M'CANDLESS. The courts have acted upon this matter to the verge of their jurisdiction, and it is sent here with letters from the attorneys on each side, requesting that it be passed, on account of the inability of the courts to act.

On the motion to suspend the rules, and proceed to the consideration of the bill.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BROWNE (Lawrence) and Mr. BILLINGFELT, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Bigham, Brown (Mercer), Burnett, Coleman, Connell, Davis, Donovan, Fisher, Glatz, Graham, Haizes, Jackson, Landon, M'Candless, M'Conaughy, Randall, Ridgway, Royer, Schall, Searight, Shoemaker, Stutzman, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, White, Worthington and Hall, Speaker—28.

NAYS—Messrs. Billingsfelt and Browne (Lawrence)—2.

On the question was determined in the affirmative.

The bill was then read the second and third time, and,

Passed finally.

Mr. BIGHAM moved that the Committee on Railroads be discharged from the further consideration of a bill entitled An act to authorize the Allegheny Valley railroad company to issue additional stock and bonds, and to repeal the act entitled An act to authorize the Allegheny Valley railroad company to mortgage its road and branches to complete the same, approved the 8th day of March, 1867.

Mr. RIDGWAY. Mr. Speaker, it appears to me that the bill is not what it appears on its face. It pretends to repeal the other bill and to give branching privileges.

Mr. GRAHAM. I believe, sir, that this is a similar bill precisely to the one now passed and become a law; it is subject, however, to limitations. It is virtually an abridgment of privileges, at present guaranteed to that company by the existing law, and is proposed pursuant to a recommendation of the Governor, and to meet his wishes.

*The motion was

Agreed to.

The Senate then adjourned.

CORRECTIONS.

On page 662 of the Record, among the names of the gentlemen called by the Speaker as being in contempt of the House, appears that of Mr. WELLES; it should read as the name of Mr. WESTBROOK.

In the Senate proceedings of March 15, Mr. BROWN, Senator from Mercer county, is made to appear as making a motion for a special session, for the consideration of the bill entitled An act to ascertain the views of the qualified electors of the city and county of Philadelphia, upon the subject of allowing the passenger railway companies of said city to run their cars on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday.

The motion was made by the Rev. Mr. BROWNE, Senator from Lawrence county, and should have so appeared.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, March 25, 1867.

The House met at 7 o'clock, P. M.

Prayer was offered by Rev. J. KENNEDY, member from Wyoming.

The SPEAKER announced a quorum of members present.

The Journal of yesterday was partly read, when,

On motion, the further reading of the same was dispensed with.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to read a bill in place.

Leave was granted.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I read in my place,

An act to establish a depot for the sale of cattle, calves, sheep and hogs in the city of Philadelphia, and to provide for the inspection of the same, and ask for a suspension of the rules to consider the bill at this time.

On the question of suspending the rules.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SATTERTHWAIT and Mr. PENNYPACKER, and were as follow, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Adair, Barton, Brown, Brennan, Brown, Calvin, Cameron, Chase, Collins, Colville, Davis, Donoghue, Espy, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gheen, Gordon, Gregory, Harrison, Headman, Heltzel, Hoffman, Hood, Humphrey, Josephs, Kennedy, Kerns, Kinne, Kinney, Koon, Kurtz, Lee, Long, M'Camant, M'Creary, M'Henry, Maish, Mechling, Mullin, Pillow, Quigley, Rhoads, Roatz, Robinson, Roush, Seiler, Shuman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Watt, Webb, Westbrook, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall and Glass, Speaker—56.

NAYS—Messrs. Armstrong, Boyle, Chadwick, Dey, Deise, Ewing, Harner, Hunt, Jenks,

Jones, Kline, Linton, M'Pherrin, Mann, Marks, Pennypacker, Phelan, Quay, Richards, Satterthwait, Sharples, Steacy, Stehman, Tharp, Waddell, Wallace, Weller and Wharton—28. So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The first section was read, and

Agreed to.

The second section was read, and

On the question, Will the House agree to the section?

A prolonged discussion was had, the report of which will appear in the Appendix to the Record.

During the discussion, Mr. ARMISTONG moved the indefinite postponement of the bill.

On that question, The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KURTZ and Mr. BOYLE, and were as follows, viz :

YEAS—Messrs. Adaire, Armstrong, Barton, Boyd, Boyle, Breen, Brown, Calvin, Chadwick, Collins, Craig, Davis, Day, Deise, Donohugh, Espy, Ewing, Freeborn, Gallagher, Gordon, Gregory, Harner, Headman, Helzel, Hood, Humphrey, Hunt, Jenks, Jones, Josephs, Kennedy, Kimmell, Kline, Koon, Kurtz, Linton, M'Creary, M'Henry, Maish, Mann, Marks, Meigs, Pennypacker, Phelan, Pillow, Quay, Quigley, Rhoads, Richards, Rost, Roush, Satterthwait, Sharples, Steacy, Stehman, Stumbaugh, Subers, Tharp, Waddell, Wallace, Webb, Weller, Westbrook, Whann, Wharton, Wilson, Wingard, Woodward, Worrall and Glass, Speaker—70.

NAYS—Messrs. Cameron, Chase, Colville, Ghegan, Harbison, Hoffman, Kerna, Kinney, Lee, M'Pherrin, Mechling, Mullis, Seiler, Shuman and Watt—15.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. M'HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to offer a resolution.

Leave was granted.

Mr. M'HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Governor be requested to return to the House House bill No. 570, entitled An act to incorporate the Shickshinny and New Columbus turnpike road company, in the county of Luzerne.

The resolution was twice read, and

Agreed to.

Mr. HARBISON. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to make a statement.

Leave was granted.

Mr. HARBISON. Mr. Speaker, the Pennsylvania and Ohio canal company are now in a condition that they are liable to lose their charter, for the reason that the middle section of the canal is not in a navigable condition.

The eastern terminus is in good condition, and is a portion in which my constituents are deeply interested. That portion pays its way. I, therefore, ask leave to read a bill in place in reference to this matter, and have it put on its passage.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The bill was read as follows:

No. 1664, an act concurrent with an act passed by the Legislature of Ohio, on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1867, in relation to the Ohio and Pennsylvania canal company.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill?

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I want to know if we are to be asked to enact a law of Ohio without knowing what it is? I hope we will not be asked to do so monstrous a thing as that. We do not know what a single one of the provisions of that bill is.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I understand there is a copy of the act passed by the Legislature of Ohio in the hands of the Clerk. I ask for the reading of it that we may understand what we are voting upon.

The bill was read by the Clerk as follows:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That the board of directors of the Pennsylvania and Ohio canal company be, and they are hereby, authorized and empowered to lease, sell or abandon such portion or portions of said canal and its appendages as may, in their opinion, be for the interest of said company, and not prejudicial to the public interest, to so lease, sell or abandon, and thereafter the portion or portions so abandoned, shall cease to be a public highway or thoroughfare: Provided, That such abandonment shall not be construed to release the said Pennsylvania and Ohio canal company from any liability or contract incurred or entered into, nor defeat the rights of any person or persons, company or corporation, nor to prevent the collection of tolls, as now authorized by law, upon any portion of said canal not so abandoned.

Sec. 2. Before any action shall be taken by the board of directors under this act, a meeting of the stockholders shall be called, and a vote of a majority of stock shall be necessary to authorize the board of directors to act under authority conferred by this act. A notice of such meeting shall be published at least thirty days in the counties of Summit, Portage, Trumbull and Mahoning, in the State of Ohio, and in the counties of Lawrence and Beaver, in the State of Pennsylvania, stating the time, place and purpose of such meeting.

Sec. 3. Before abandoning any portion or portions of said canal, said company shall advertise its intention to do so, for four consecutive weeks, in at least one newspaper in each of the said counties of Summit, Portage, Trumbull, Mahoning, Lawrence and Beaver, stating therein what portions of said canal will be, and at what time, abandoned, unless previous thereto other responsible persons, companies or corporations shall contract and agree to take and keep the same in repair and navigable condition, at their expense and risk, and subject to all damages on their account thereof, and save said canal company harmless therefrom; and for the purpose of giving other persons, companies or corporations a reasonable opportunity of leasing, purchasing or contracting to maintain portions of said canal in navigable order, said company may divide said canal into portions or divisions, as follows, to wit: First, From Akron to the Little Cuyahoga feeder, at Middlebury, and including said feeder. Second, Thence to the lock in the dam of the Cuyahoga river at Franklin, and including the reservoirs in Portage county, with such portions of the feeders and canal as may be required to conduct the water therefrom to said division. Third, Thence to the crossing of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad. Fourth, Thence to Warren, in Trumbull county. Fifth, Thence to Girard, in Trumbull county. Sixth, Thence to the junction with Pennsylvania canals in Lawrence county: Provided, No portion of any division of said canal shall be abandoned for which responsible parties will enter into bonds with the said canal company, as provided in section three of this act.

Sec. 4. This act shall take effect from and after its passage.

ED. A. PARROTT,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

ANDREW G. M'ETNEY,

President of the Senate.

Passed March 20th, 1867.

STATE OF OHIO,

Office of the Secretary of State.

I, William Henry Smith, Secretary of the State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an act therein named, passed by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, on the 20th day of March, A. D. 1867, taken from the original rolls on file in this office.

In testimony whereof, I have herewith subscribed my name and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Ohio, at Columbus, the 21st day of March, A. D. 1867.

[L. S.]

WM. HENRY SMITH,
Secretary of State.

Mr. HARBISON. Mr. Speaker, I simply wish to say that the nature of this case is something like this: This canal has been in such a condition, having come in competition with railroad companies, that the middle and western portions of it have not been paying. Those parts are getting into a dilapidated condition on account of the business not paying to keep the canal up in those portions. But the eastern section from Girard, Ohio, to the intersection of the Erie canal, at New Castle, is paying. Our people in Lawrence county are very much interested in that portion of the canal. A large amount of limestone, iron and coal is transported by means of this canal, and unless the company is allowed to abandon the dilapidated portions, they will be compelled to abandon the whole thing. If they are allowed to abandon that portion they propose to keep up that portion which does pay. They have procured an act from the Ohio Legislature allowing them to do so in the State of Ohio. There are about ten or twelve miles in Pennsylvania, and I hope this bill will pass here.

Mr. M'PHERRIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to state to the House that I know the statement made by the gentleman from Lawrence [Mr. HARBISON] is correct. It is very proper this bill should pass, and I trust the House will see fit to pass it.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I do not know that I have any objection to the passage of this bill, but it is one that may affect, indirectly, some of my constituents. I would be glad if the gentleman from Lawrence [Mr. HARBISON] would allow the bill to go over on third reading for a day or two, until I can have an opportunity to examine it.

Mr. HARBISON. I would prefer it should not go over unless it is made a special order.

Mr. QUAY. Mr. Speaker, I then move that the bill be postponed and be made the special order for next Friday morning, at 10 o'clock.

The motion was

Agreed to.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to read a bill in place.

Leave was granted.

Mr. BROWN read in place,

An act to legitimate John Horning, of Mifflin county, and confer on him the rights and privileges of a child born in wedlock, and moved that the House proceed at once to the consideration of the bill.

The motion was

Agreed to.

The bill was read a second time, and

Agreed to.

The rules were suspended,

The bill read a third time by its title, and

Passed finally.

Mr. KOON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a privileged question. I was detained on account of sickness from being present at the time Senate bill No. 306 was before the House, and I supposed the bill had passed. I find, however, that the bill did not pass.

I now move for a reconsideration of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Luzerne [Mr. Kook] that this being a Senate bill, and not being agreed to, it is not in order to move its reconsideration now, more than six days having elapsed since the time.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to make a statement.

Leave was granted.

Mr. WINGARD. Mr. Speaker, during the session of the Legislature last winter there was an act passed establishing a ferry across the Susquehanna river in my county, but there was no penal section to the bill, and there was no protection to this corporation. Anybody can ferry there as much as they could before. I therefore ask leave to read in place a supplement to that act remedying this defect, and ask that it be put upon its final passage.

There being no objection,
Mr. WINGARD read in place a supplement to an act establishing a ferry across the West Branch of the Susquehanna river, in Lycoming county.

The bill was
Agreed to.

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and

Passed finally.
Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to make a statement.

Leave was granted.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, there are several Masonic lodges in the city of Reading that are desirous of erecting a hall to be used for their own purposes and for other general business purposes. The site they propose to purchase is now offered for sale, and is to be sold on the first of April. The trustees of these lodges desire to be incorporated for the purpose of purchasing that site and erecting their hall there. Unless the bill incorporating them is passed now, the property will be disposed of otherwise, and their organization defeated. Such a bill has passed the Senate. It is numbered 1002, and I move a suspension of the orders for the consideration of the bill at this time.

The motion was agreed to, and the House proceeded to the consideration of Senate bill No. 1002, an act to incorporate the Masonic Hall association of the city of Reading, Pennsylvania, for the purpose of erecting a building for the use of said Masonic association, and other uses.

The bill was agreed to, the rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and

Passed finally.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask the privilege of voting against this bill, unless it can be explained. It seems to me to be precisely of the same character as the one vetoed by the Governor a few days ago. The gentleman who has it in charge is a good lawyer, and can probably inform us wherein it does differ from the one that was vetoed.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, the hall which this association is organized to erect is not intended exclusively for their own use, as the title expresses, and, therefore, does not come within the jurisdiction of the courts.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, if that is all that is to be said on this subject, I suppose it is one of those means of getting around the constitutional provisions to which the Governor referred in one of his messages. I do not think this ought to over-ride the constitutional provisions, because there is introduced into the bill some provisions which are not within the scope of the authority of the courts. If I understand the gentleman from Berks [Mr. JONES], that is simply the case in this bill. It attempts to avoid the constitutional provision by introducing some question not provided for.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Potter [Mr. MANN] did not understand me to say any such thing, and he knows that he did not so understand me. I had no idea of saying, and he could not have understood me to say that this hall was intended for other uses, and that the provision appropriating it to Masonic uses was only intended to avoid the jurisdiction of the courts. I said nothing of the sort, and the gentleman could not have so understood me. This bill was examined very carefully in the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, I am informed, in all its provisions, and that committee decided that the court had no jurisdiction, and that this association could be organized and incorporated in no other way than by an act of Assembly.

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker —
Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. The Speaker has not withdrawn his decision, and the bill has passed.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already decided that the bill has passed. The Chair would, however, say that if he had recognized the gentleman in time he would not have decided the bill as having passed.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to read a bill in place.

Leave was granted.

Mr. M'CREARY. Mr. Speaker, I read in place an act relative to the residence of justices of the peace in the city of Erie, and move that the House proceed to the consideration of this bill.

The motion was
Agreed to.

The bill was Agreed.

The rules were suspended, the bill read a third time by its title, and

Passed finally.

Jno. W. GEARY.

The Deputy Secretary of the Common- wealth also presented a message from the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
HARRISBURG, March 22, 1867. }

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN—Herewith is returned, with my objections, bill No. 249, entitled An act to extend the provisions of the act entitled An act relating to corporations for mechanical, manufacturing, mining and quarrying purposes to fire insurance companies.

The general law for the incorporation of insurance companies, approved April 2, 1866, appears to have been prepared with much care, and to be well suited to attain the objects intended; and has been tested by over ten years' experience. Nearly, if not quite all companies formed since its enactment have been organized under it; and I have heard no just cause of complaint against it. Uniformity in the laws on any subject is desirable, being calculated to simplify them and make them easily understood. Gross departures from established precedents should only be sanctioned for good reasons. The bill herewith returned proposes the organization of fire insurance companies under the act approved 18th July, 1863, entitled An act relating to corporations for mechanical, manufacturing, mining and quarrying purposes. These purposes are as totally different from that of fire insurance as can well be imagined; and it strikes me as wholly incon- gruous for an insurance company to be de- clared "entitled to all the privileges and subject to all the restrictions created by said act" of 1863. Then, as if to make "confu- sion worse confounded," a concluding section is added to the bill now under considera- tion, as follows:

"The corporations organized under this act shall be subject to the laws of this Common- wealth regulating fire insurance companies in respect to taxation, and for all other purposes, so far as the same may be applicable."

Hence, the corporations created under this law, formed for the purpose of fire insurance alone, would be "subject to" all the habilitee and restrictions, not only for the whole system of fire insurance laws, but also of the "forty- eighth section of the act of 1863," relating to corporations for mechanical, manufacturing, mining and quarrying purposes."

I will not undertake to affirm that cor- porations could not live under all these discord- ant laws, but I must be permitted to doubt the wisdom of subjecting them to such ques- tionable experiments.

By the 23rd section of said act of 1863 it is provided that corporations may be formed thereunder with a capital stock of not less than five thousand dollars, and not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars.

Here, I apprehend, is the key to this new bill. The practical result of its passage would, no doubt, be the creation of a large number of new companies, by irresponsible parties and with small capital, totally inade- quate to the grave responsibilities of the busi- ness and demands of the public welfare.

Unwilling to change our present insurance laws in the manner proposed, and believing this enactment, if approved, would be highly prejudicial to great public interests involved, I return the same without my approval.

Jno. W. GEARY.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Consti- tution, the House proceeded to the reconsid- eration of said bill; and

On the question,
Shall the bill pass, notwithstanding the ob- jections of the Governor? when,

Agreeably to the rules,
The further consideration of the same was postponed for the present.

SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The Speaker cleared his table of bills num- bered and entitled as follows, viz:
Senate bill No. 791, an act for the better protection of seamen in the port and harbor of Philadelphia.

Referred to the Committee on Corpora- tions.

No. 118, an act to extend the provisions of an act relating to costs in Luzerne county, approved the 2d day of April A. D. 1863, to the county of Dauphin, with a proviso.

Returned from the Senate with amend- ment.

The amendment made by the Senate to said bill was twice read, considered and con- curred in; and

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

The following extract from the Journal of the Senate was read:

IN THE SENATE, March 25, 1867.

Resolved, That the House of Representa- tives be requested to return to the Senate bill No. 908, of the file of the Senate, entitled An act to change the venue, in certain suits from the county of Allegheny to the city of Philadelphia.

On motion, said resolution was twice read, considered and concurred in; and

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the same.

The hour of one o'clock having arrived, the SPEAKER adjourned the House until three o'clock this afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met at 3 o'clock.

PRIVATE CALENDAR CONTINUED.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a privileged question. I wish to make a motion to reconsider the vote by which House bill No. 1192 was passed this morning. There is no such railroad as is named in that bill.

The motion to reconsider was agreed to.
 Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move the indefinite postponement of the bill.
 Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I have not. I have no objections, however, to letting the bill go over.

I have no interest in it personally, but a gentleman handed me the bill and I read it in place. It was examined in committee, passed there and came up here and passed this morning without any objection at all.

I hope that the bill may go over, so that I can consult with the gentlemen who desired me to read it in place.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I said that this bill was introduced in this way for the purpose of having it passed through without anybody taking any notice of it. The company to which it refers is located in our end of the county, but has no such name as is here stated. If it should go into the Senate, they could there easily amend the title, and it would pass through and become a law.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I do not know that I am in favor of the bill, but I wish to have an opportunity to examine it. It strikes me that this is a very singular way to attempt to defeat a bill. This bill was read in place and reported from committee. I read it in place, and did not do it secretly, for every member in the House at the time heard me read it, and now that the gentleman who defeated his passage is not here, an attempt to defeat this bill without any hearing from him, does not seem to me to be right. If the bill is not right, I will certainly be the last man to endeavor to force it through the House.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill states that the road is in Schuylkill county and in the adjoining county, while the whole of the road is in Dauphin county. This bill was introduced in this shape for the purpose of having it slipped through the House without any attention being called to it.

The motion to indefinitely postpone was not agreed to.

Mr. STUMBAUGH. I move to postpone the bill for the present.

The motion was agreed to.

OBJECTIONS WITHDRAWN.

Mr. WORRALL. Mr. Speaker, I wish to withdraw my objection to House bill No. 1177, a further supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Carbondale.

With information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the

OBJECTED BILLS OF LAST WEEK.

On the private calendar.
The following bills were read the first time, and acted upon as indicated:

No. 806, an act relating to the payment of indebtedness for bounty purposes by the township of Lower Mount Bethel, in the county of Lehigh.

On the question.
Will the House lay the bill aside for a second reading?

It was
Not agreed to.

No. 954, an act to vacate part of Vine street, in the city of Pittsburg.

On the question.
Will the House lay the bill aside for a third reading?

It was
Not agreed to.

No. 998, a further supplement to an act to incorporate the city of Carbondale.

On the question.
Will the House lay the bill aside for a second reading?

It was
Not agreed to.

No. 934, an act authorizing the gas committee of councils of the city of Philadelphia to attend all meetings of the Philadelphia gas trust.

On the question.
Will the House lay the bill aside?

Mr. DEHAVEN. I offer the following amendment, to come in at the end of preamble:

"And have asked the said trustees to permit their committees to be present at the meetings of said trustees, which the said trustees have refused."

At end of first section:

"And it shall be the duty of the said trustees, and they are hereby required to permit the committee on gas to attend all their meetings."

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, there is no necessity for the amendment, or for the bill itself.

This Legislature has no right to say that the common council shall appoint a committee to attend the meetings of this gas trust. The gas trust has no charter from this Legislature. This whole thing is brought forward merely for buncombe, and I trust the bill will be voted down.

Mr. DEHAVEN. Mr. Speaker, I hope the bill will be laid aside. I have the opinion of legal gentlemen of Philadelphia, and they say that the Legislature has a right to authorize a committee of councils to attend the meetings of this gas trust.

The gas trust was established to represent the city of Philadelphia, and I think we should have an opportunity to attend the meetings of this company and know what they are doing.

I think the bill ought to pass.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I think this is a very strange doctrine charged by my colleague from the Eleventh district, that the city councils of Philadelphia have nothing to do with an institution of their own creation.

Now, sir, the trustees of the gas works are elected by and are the servants of the city councils and of the people. Grant that they are a close corporation; yet the very power that creates has the right, and should have the power, to investigate the manner in which the business of that corporation is transacted.

Now, sir, how is it now? Twelve gentlemen, who are the creatures of the people, in joint convention with the common councils, manage these works, and they have, from time to time, refused to give to a committee of councils the right to investigate the affairs of these works.

A committee was appointed in council to investigate their affairs last year, and that committee reported to councils very fully that these works were managed improperly. They reported that they were managed in such a way that the city of Philadelphia did not reap the benefit from them that she ought. Then, sir, a resolution was introduced into the councils, and referred to the committee of laws. That resolution was examined by the committee of laws, composed of some of the best legal gentlemen in the State, and they reported that we have the right, and they instructed us to pass this bill.

Now, I trust that this bill will pass, and I think it is a very strange doctrine for any member from the city of Philadelphia to rise in his place and say that a creature of the people, a corporation that belongs to the people, where the money of the people is expended, have the right to deprive the people of the power of being present at the meetings of that corporation.

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the question to which the gentleman refers, was in reference to the increase in the price of gas; that was referred to the committee of laws, and the opinion they gave I have before me. I will pass this opinion up to the Clerk's desk, so that it may be read.

The opinion was read as follows:

CITY SOLICITOR'S OFFICE,
No. 212 SOUTH FIFTH STREET,
PHILADELPHIA, June 27, 1864.
To the Select and Common Councils of Philadelphia:
GENTLEMEN—I am in receipt of a copy of a resolution, adopted by your honorable bodies, on the 23d instant, in which you request my opinion, as to the right of the trustees of the gas works to increase the price of gas above the rate fixed by ordinance, without the consent of councils.

I have carefully considered the question thus presented, and am of opinion that the trustees of the gas works have the undoubted right to increase the price of gas above any rate fixed by ordinance, and without the consent of councils.

The city of Philadelphia has committed to the trustees of the gas works the "whole control" and management "of said works."

(Ordinance June 17, 1841—see section three.) This grant clearly carries the power to fix the rates of gas to be furnished to the consumers.

As I understand your resolution of last week, stress is, however, laid upon the fact that councils, subsequently to the passage of the ordinance, I have quoted, of 1841, viz: on the 10th day of May, 1858, prohibited a higher rate than two dollars and twenty-five cents per thousand feet. The question is thus presented as to the effect of the ordinance of May 10th, 1858, upon the ordinance of June 17, 1841.

The ordinance first adopted gives to the trustees "the whole control" of the works. The subsequent ordinance attempts to hamper that control by fixing a limit to the power of charge. But in my opinion the ordinance of 1841 was no temporary legislation, which the corporation could change at pleasure.

It was published to the world as "for the further security of the loanholders," whose money built the works, and upon the faith of that grant, to these trustees, the city has since that date borrowed.

If a man should invite another to lend money upon the pledge of property, over which a certain trustee created by the mortgage should have, according to the terms of the contract, "the whole control," how could the borrower, after he had received the loan, dictate to the trustee that only a certain rent should be charged for the property? It is clear, therefore, that the councils cannot now interfere, without the consent of those whose funds they borrowed upon the faith of this pledge.

To do so, would be to strike a dangerous blow at all public credit, which it should ever be our anxious study to strengthen and uphold.

Accordingly we find that the Supreme Court has twice pronounced against any interference by councils with the management of this trust.

Mr. KERNS. Mr. Speaker, that is the opinion to which the gentleman refers, and when they got that opinion the whole matter was dropped.

There has been some agitation in the city of Philadelphia in reference to that gas trust, but this is not the way to obtain redress, to ask the Legislature to pass a bill of this kind. If the city of Philadelphia have been bitten by the gentlemen who have charge of that institution the city of Philadelphia can remove them—they have the power.—

But I can say for the gentlemen who compose that trust they are high minded men composed of integrity; and when I name such men as Joseph Kelly and Charles Miller, men of high standing in the city of Philadelphia, whose character will compare favorably with any member of the city councils, I think I am doing these men but justice.

There are twelve trustees elected by the councils of Philadelphia to represent their interest in that trust; if they are not good men put them out and get good men in. But they want to force now another twelve men into that body, and instead of having twelve men to represent the city councils they wish to have twenty-four.

Now, as it is alleged that the works are being carried on improperly and that the interests of the city are not protected, if twelve men cannot protect the interests of the city certainly twenty-four cannot. There must be some other reason for this bill, and certainly this Legislature has nothing to do with this matter.

Mr. DEHAVEN. Mr. Speaker, I say that the citizens of Philadelphia are interested in this gas trust, and I am speaking for the whole community of the city of Philadelphia. I have no personal feeling at all in this matter, but I think the people of the city ought to know what this gas trust is doing.

Mr. GREGORY. Mr. Speaker, the people of Philadelphia want the councils to be present when the dividends of this company are made. That is where the people are interested. This corporation is so close that these men, who are elected to represent the councils of the city of Philadelphia in this gas trust have not a vote or a voice in saying how the fund shall be expended, or of ascertaining how it is that when bricks in the market are selling at forty dollars a thousand, the gas trust contracts and pays for bricks at sixty dollars a thousand. The people want to know why it is, that when bricks can be bought for forty dollars a thousand in the market, they pay sixty dollars a thousand for them; but the corporation is so close that they will not even allow their books to be examined, and the people have no supervision over them. The people want to get some light on this subject.

Talk of the Pennsylvania railroad company! Its powers are nothing compared with those of this gas trust.

One of the gentlemen from Philadelphia has stated that the Legislature cannot reach them in this way. I think the people of Philadelphia are willing to pay all the cost of litigation to test the constitutionality of this law if the Legislature will pass it. The people of Philadelphia have been agitating this subject, and as some little evidence of that fact, this gas trust has lately reduced the price of gas, not that the price of material is less, but to attempt to satisfy, a little, the people of Philadelphia. If this question were submitted to the people of Philadelphia there would not be a single opposing vote cast, except by the trustees of this gas trust and their immediate friends.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, in reference to the paper which was read a few moments ago, I would state that it has nothing whatever to do with this bill. I agree with the statement that the councils have no right by ordinance to attend the meetings of the gas trust, and that is the reason why we introduce this bill to give them that right. It is time that the people should have an opportunity to investigate the affairs of this gas trust when it is proven that they could go into the market and buy bricks for forty dollars a thousand, and at the same time allowed one of their number to buy at sixty dollars per thousand.

The question being on the amendment of Mr. DEHAVEN,

It was

Agreed to.

The question recurring on laying the bill aside,

Mr. LEE. Mr. Speaker, it has been said that this gas trust has reduced the price of gas in order to allay this feeling, and not on account of the reduced price in coal. I do not know the gentleman's motive in saying that, for if he was informed he would know that such was not the case, but that the price was reduced on account of a reduction in the price of material. The gas trust is managing this business for the bondholders—for men who loaned this money upon the condition that it should be so managed. This ordinance of 1841 was passed in order to enable the city of Philadelphia to borrow money in order that the city might enjoy the comforts and conveniences of gas.—Upon that gas trust was established and these bondholders loaned their money for these purposes, and it is for those bondholders that these men are managing that trust. Now, I ask, what is the purpose, object, design or intention of snaking these men into the meetings of this trust? They cannot have any voice in the meetings; they cannot speak a word; they cannot vote, because the law does not permit; the law established that trust for a specific purpose, and cannot be violated by anybody. As well might this Legislature appoint a committee, and send them down there to inquire of that gas trust what they are doing, and how they are spending the people's money. The gentleman says that if they can get bricks for forty dollars a thousand, and that gas trust pay sixty dollars a thousand, that is not right.

I say that the assertion that this gas trust do pay for bricks that would answer the price sixty dollars a thousand, when they could get them for forty dollars a thousand, is a reproach upon the men who are the peers of those who make the assertion in every respect. This is not true. You can get bricks for almost any price, but you cannot get them that will answer for this purpose. I know the man who has this matter under control, and that nobody would get sixty dollars a thousand for bricks out of him when he could buy as good in the market for forty dollars a thousand. The gentleman did not pretend to aver that, but sought, by intending, to affect that. These men have no right at the meetings of this gas trust, and we have no business to send them there, because this trust is being managed by these trustees for the bondholders, and they hold the money on this very condition.

I trust this bill will not be laid over.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. Speaker, in reference to the purchase of bricks I mentioned no names, but, if my memory serves me, the party who sold these bricks testified that he had sold the bricks for forty dollars a thousand, and this gas trust was charged sixty dollars a thousand for those bricks.

The gentleman says that the committee of the city councils have no right there because this gas trust is created for a specific purpose. So are the boards of control and the city councils for specific purposes, and yet nobody is refused admittance. The Legislature of Pennsylvania is for a specific purpose, but will the gentleman, for a moment, say that those gentlemen in the lobby have no right to attend its meetings? All bodies are for specific purposes, but this body, which is for the specific purpose of managing this trust for the benefit of those bondholders and the citizens of Philadelphia, object to members of the city councils or any persons attending their meetings. There must be something wrong when this gas trust comes here and opposes this bill. This bill is in accordance with the wishes of nearly every man, woman and child in the city of Philadelphia, and if I mistake not, it was submitted to the city councils and endorsed by them.

Now, if the business of this gas trust is managed judiciously, fairly, properly, for the benefit of the bondholders, and for the benefit of the people of the city of Philadelphia, I ask in the name of justice why they should object to having a standing committee of the city councils present at their meetings? There is something wrong, something that the people of Philadelphia do not understand, something that the trustees are afraid will leak out, or they would never oppose a bill so fair and just. I maintain that the people have a right to be present at their meetings, that they have a right to expose their wrongs, and I trust that the members from the city of Philadelphia will not so far stultify themselves on this floor as to let the bill be defeated by any such influences.

Pending further action.

On motion of Mr. M'CREARY, the House adjourned until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

No. 1221, a supplement to an act to increase the boundaries of Forest county.

The bill was read.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer). Mr. Speaker, it will be remembered that the Legislature of 1855 passed an act enlarging the boundaries of Forest county. By that act a portion of Venango county was stricken off into Forest county. The constitutionality of that act has been called in question, and a case involving the whole matter will be argued before the Supreme Court this week. The act referred to is probably defective in this—that it makes no provision for validating nor enforcing liens recorded in Venango against lands then in that county, but after the passage of the act in Forest county. The question has arisen whether such judgments or mortgages are valid; and if valid, whether processes for their enforcement should be commenced in Venango or Forest. This bill is intended to settle such questions, and certainly ought to pass. The amendment which I offer to the bill is intended to validate judicial sales of real or personal property that may have taken place in that part of Forest county, which was formerly a part of Venango, since the passage of the act referred to, upon processes issued out of the courts of the latter county.

The original bill and the amendment are alike eminently proper, and if fully understood, I am satisfied would not elicit opposition from any quarter.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I represent that county, and I am opposed to this bill. We do not recognize that act of last year, and we do not want any legislation which could prejudice the action of the courts on that question.

Mr. BROWN (Mercer). Mr. Speaker, the Senator from Clearfield [Mr. WALLACE] objects to the title on account of the fact that his language may be construed so as to recognize the validity of the act of 1856. That I do not regard as any purpose of the bill or its title. I therefore propose to amend the title so as to make it read as follows:

An act to protect certain liens in Venango county.

The amendment was Agreed to, and

The bill

Passed finally.

No. 1233, an act relative to certain taxes in Montgomery county.

Laid over.

No. 1234, an act to authorize the board of school directors of Fawn township, Allegheny county, to borrow money.

Passed finally.

No. 1240, a supplement to an act to legalize bounties paid to volunteers, and the bonds issued therefor, in certain townships in the county of Franklin, approved the 4th day of April, 1856, extending the provisions of the second section thereof to the township of Ayer, in the county of Fulton.

Passed finally.

No. 1241, an act to authorize the trustees of certain lands in Venango county to borrow money.

Referred to the Committee on Estates and Escheats.

No. 1242, an act authorizing the directors of the poor to erect an almshouse in the county of Bedford, and to borrow money.

Objected off.

Passed finally.

No. 1249, an act to incorporate the Greenville savings and loan company.

Passed finally.

No. 1250, a further supplement to an act incorporating the town of Lawrenceville into a borough, approved February 13, A. D. 1834, being an act authorizing said borough to borrow money, and take real estate not exceeding in value a certain amount.

Passed finally.

No. 1251, an act to empower the court of quarter sessions of the peace of Adams county to appoint auditors to audit bounty accounts in the several boroughs and townships in said county, and in re auditing the bounty accounts of Cumberland township, in said county.

Passed finally.

No. 1252, an act in relation to the appointment of an auctioneer for the borough of Tarentum, in Allegheny county.

Passed finally.

No. 1253, an act to change the venue in certain cases from Allegheny to Jefferson county.

Objected off.

No. 1316, a further supplement to an act to incorporate Union coal and iron company, approved May 4, 1857, now the Osceola coal company, increasing the privileges of said company.

Passed finally.

The following Senate bills, laid over from calendar of March 20th, were read a second time and disposed of as stated:

No. 115, an act for the more impartial selection of persons to serve as jurors in York county.

Objected off.

No. 714, an act to prevent the destruction of bass in Eruit's creek and tributaries, and the Raystown Branch of the Juniata and tributaries, in the county of Bedford.

Laid over.

Senate bill No. 1000, entitled An act to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors in the county of Allegheny.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker, a bill has been passed by this Legislature in reference to this subject, but it does not seem to give general satisfaction, and as the bill now before the Senate may possibly meet the wishes of the larger number of citizens in Allegheny county, I move that we proceed to its consideration.

Mr. BIGHAM. Mr. Speaker, I think that all in all we will have ample legislation on this subject this winter without this. I believe that the editor of one of our papers, the author of this bill, I think, when he received a copy of it pitched into it as not being orthodox.

The motion was

Not agreed to.

THE LICENSE LAW.

Mr. COLEMAN moved that one thousand copies of the license law, lately passed, be printed for the use of the Senate.

The motion was

Agreed to.
