DEFEAT OF THE BY-LAW.

There is nothing at all surprising in the defeat of the waterworks improvement by-law. The voice of the few people who took the trouble to vote was decisive enough, but, considering the apathy of the public in general and the activity of those who are deeply interested in the maintenance of the present state of affairs—rather of such a state of affairs as prevails every summer—until such time as it is believed the citizens will be ready to surrender to their demands, the thing to be wondered at is that the defeat was not even more decisive.

We do not think there is much division of opinion upon the main point in connection with the water question. We believe there is a general conviction that within two years, if possible, a new source of water supply must be secured—a source from which water in greater abundance, more fragrant in taste, will be available. But it is as to what shall be done to meet the requirements of the municipality in the interval that there is great divergence of opinion, a divergence that is partly demonstrated by the result of the voting on the by-law yesterday.

There are almost as many differences of opinion upon the details of any scheme providing for an amelioration of the conditions which prevail during the dry season as there are adherents around the council board. Many citizens cannot see why a reservoir on Smith's Hill is necessary? "Have we not got along very well during all the years of our civic existence with Elk Lake as the centre or the apex, or whatever you may please to call it, of our gravity system? Has anything serious happened? Is there any necessity for a reservoir at all? I have my doubts about it—and I will not vote for a by-law authorizing a waste of money. There has been altogether too much waste in pottering already."

That is one form of opinion that is very generally held. There are many others. There is a goodly company which does not believe in abandoning Elk Lake under any circumstances. They will not consider at all the fact that it has been demonstrated by experience that the city has outgrown the capacity of that source of supply. Attempts to confront them with the demonstrated fact that three million gallons of water per day cannot be drawn from a reservoir whose capacity is less than three million gallons per day, and they simply refuse to look at it. There are not a few who claim it can be scientifically demonstrated that water cannot be mechanically forced through supply pipes intended to be used in a gravity system without serious danger of bursting the mains. That was, we believe, raised by the Times when the suggestion in regard to the installation of a pump for the purpose of increasing the pressure in the pipes was first brought forward.

There are others who believe that the first thing to be done is to improve the system of distribution, finding out by such means the root trouble that is continually showing itself during the dry summer season. In fact, public opinion outside is almost as confusing a tangle as idiosyncratic opinion inside of the council chamber. There is neither unanimity of aim nor definiteness of purpose. And we fear nothing of material advantage can be accomplished by the present board. It might as well make up its mind that anything it may suggest with reference to waterworks improvement will be received with antagonism by the ratepayers. If the Mayor is of a different opinion, let him appeal to the court whose verdict we record to-day. He has the courage to do it, we doubt not, provided a majority of the aldermen will give him a chance. But if His Worship is discreet he will hesitate. Whatever can be done out of current revenue to improve the water supply during the ensuing summer ought to be done. Then when all things are ready bring on the general scheme of waterworks improvement. By that time public opinion may have undergone a change, or possibly the only thing needful is something definite for public opinion to concentrate itself upon. But whatever the state of public opinion, any scheme that does not contemplate the purchase of the Esquimalt waterworks system will have a hard time. There will be powerful interests arrayed against it. The wonderful thing to our mind is that the public does not see that it is being worked into the game and made to play against its own interests.

PROGRESS OF THE WEST.

Eastern cities have been laughing at the pretensions of Winnipeg, which with youthful confidence and exuberance has been claiming that within a few years it will be the commercial metropolis of Canada. If the bank clearings furnish a true indication of the volume of business transacted, Winnipeg will in a very short time be the chief commercial city of Canada, and it is now the greatest wheat exporting centre in the world. The growth of the trade of the West has been phenomenal. It was thought high water mark had been reached last year, but events prove that last year was merely the beginning of things. The people in the midst of the great activity have no time to consider what is going on. They are too busy. Outsiders are best able to judge of the progress of the game, because they have the records before them. And about all that is left for us to do is to wonder what the state of commercial and industrial affairs will be next year. The land has produced quite as abundantly as was anticipated. The reports sent out regarding its fertility have attracted the attention of the world. Up till the present year the immigration was restricted to a few districts in Europe and America. Now our fame has been spread abroad. Canada is going to be the country of the twentieth century, and from all quarters of the earth the very best in blood that can be produced is pouring in to share in the wealth that springs as by magic from our fertile soil. The new railways are preparing the way for these ambitious settlers. In some cases the settlers are anticipating the advent of the railways, which when constructed will find crops awaiting transportation. It is the most wonderful experience any country has ever undergone. The United States, with all its marvelous growth never went through anything exactly parallel with it. How long can such a state of affairs continue? Wheat of the finest quality, we are told, is being grown hundreds of miles north of Edmonton. So at the present time it may be said there are practically no limits to the possibilities of the great northwestern country. It cannot be filled up for years, and there is plenty of space for an overflow both to the East and the West. The resources of the prairies, rich as they are, are limited. Our resources in British Columbia are unlimited. We can produce in abundance all that the prairie-dwellers will require in abundance. The influence of the northwestern movement will therefore, be felt right to the waters of the Pacific. The West will be the most populous portion of the Dominion, the centre of all power, political and economic. The East is greatly concerned about what we shall make of that power, once we acquire it. Let them wait and see. One thing is sure: it will not be used in any manner inimical to the true interests of Canada. To those who fear a weakening of the bonds of empire, with a corresponding movement towards the great republic on the south, we think we can safely say they are giving their minds unnecessary concern.

THOSE NORTHERN LANDS.

The Times has no recollection of offering any opposition to the conveyance of three million and a half acres of land in British Columbia, transferred to the federal government by a former provincial government, back to the province of British Columbia. On the contrary, we hope the provincial delegates will succeed in their mission, if that is going to be one of the features of the demand for "better terms." We have argued that the demand of the Dominion should not have been acceded to in the first instance. It was resisted as long as the Walker government was in power, and would probably have been resisted successfully if an administration had not been set up for the apparent purpose of meeting the demands of the Dominion government and some other powerful interests. But we have protested, against misrepresentation of the facts relating to the manner in which the three million and a half acres was acquired on behalf of the Dominion. The Colonist has said the tract was handed over as part payment for the construction of the E. & N. railway, and has deduced from such an erroneous assumption the alleged fact that the Island Railway cost the province in the neighborhood of thirty million dollars—a property said to be worth only a very small fraction of that sum. This argument has already had a mischievous effect. It has led some of the mainland newspapers to comment upon the old subject of the greed of the islanders of those early days, and of later days; it has been held up as an example of the reckless prodigality of the island clique which so long held the reins of power and was always eager to sacrifice provincial assets with free hand in order to maintain the pre-eminence of a section. We have shown that the demand for this three and a half million acres of land was made because it was alleged that a large part of the original land grant for railway purposes on the mainland was practically valueless for agricultural or other economic uses. That transfer had nothing to do with the construction of the E. & N. railway. The terms of the contract on account of that line called for a land grant of two million acres and a cash subsidy of seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The Premier and his cabinet now on their way to Ottawa, may value the concessions to the E. & N. Railway at any figure they choose, but they cannot add to them the lands in northern British Columbia, which have suddenly been discovered to be of such great value, without endangering their case. That is the reason we have objected to the statement made in the Colonist with regard to the transfer of the lands in question. The case for better terms cannot be strengthened by attempts to misrepresent the facts of history.

Those blooming British colonies are a source of great trouble to His Majesty the Kaiser, don't you know. They are not at all amenable to autocratic discipline, but hit right back at the Imperial jaw with as resolute an air as though the blow were aimed at the vulnerable spot in the features of a common vulgar antagonist. "Treat me as your brother or I'll kick you," says the London Canadian Gazette. That was in effect the message the Kaiser's government sent to Canada, when the British preference came into operation, and it is now being urged to send the same message to Australia because of the proposed Australian preference of 16 per cent. to imports from the Mother Country. The Berlin Journalists claim equal tariff rates, and threaten "to treat Australia as we treated Canada." As the Berlin correspondent of the Morning Post says, the reference to Canada is a somewhat unfortunate one at this moment, for according to statistics just published by the Imperial German authorities the tariff war between Germany and the Dominion has developed in a manner highly favorable to Germany. Exports from Germany to Canada have decreased from 32.7 million marks in 1902 to 33.8 million marks in 1903, to 23.3 millions in 1904, and to 21.8 millions in 1905. Exports from Canada to Germany have, on the other hand, despite the autonomous tariff, increased from 5.9 in 1898 to 9.3 million marks in 1905. Under similar provocation Australia may be expected to go and do likewise.

Commenting on the German Kaiser's decree of amnesty to all persons convicted of lese majeste recently issued through the Imperial Ministry of Justice, the Berliner Tagblatt points out that modern thought regards lese majeste as an obsolete offence not worthy the serious notice of a great ruler. Instead of this, the amnesty emphasizes the existence of that which should be consigned to oblivion. Germans, continues the newspaper, are more in sympathy with the attitude of Frederick the Great on this matter. That ruler held that the term lese majeste was in itself an absurdity, inasmuch as a true king's dignity could not suffer offence. The fact that pardon is confined expressly to offenders convicted by the civil courts, excluding military prisoners, is also criticised.

GOOD PHEASANT BAGS HAVE BEEN REPORTED

No Scarcity in That Game Evident—Association Football Matches To-Morrow—Notes.

Reports from pheasant hunters are very satisfactory for the most part. They show, at any rate, that these birds are not as scarce as the grouse which, numerically speaking, have been such a disappointment this season.

Victoria to follow suit immediately if a credible place in the pending struggle is desired. Then there is another point in a second common query. "What does the Victoria club intend to do about the invitations received from California universities to play there this fall?"

ON THE MAINLAND. The various clubs entered for the J. E. Miller cup in the Rugby football schedule are discussing their strength, and it is rumored that one club has and their heads are coming to the game presented by J. P. Maguire will be sure to fit," says the Vancouver News-Advertiser.

It has been a surprise to many that the season has advanced so far without an arrest having been made under the newly inaugurated laws imposing restrictions upon hunters passed by the municipalities of Oak Bay, North and South Saanich. Apparently the Victoria hunters have taken the hint and have taken pains to avoid being troublesome.

YACHTING. PRESENTATION OF AWARDS.

An important meeting of the Victoria Yacht Club was held this evening for the purpose of presenting the awards to those who were successful in connection with the competitions of the past season.

THE RING. LIGHTWEIGHT FIGHT.

Winnipeg, Oct. 4.—W. Lander, a young Scotchman, boxer and wrestler, won the lightweight championship of Canada here to-night, knocking out Austin, of Port Arthur, who formerly held it, in the sixth round. Austin was quite outclassed.

RUGBY FOOTBALL. WAKE UP, VICTORIA!

What are members of the Victoria Rugby Club doing towards preparing for the ensuing season? This is a question which is being asked in many different quarters, and, unfortunately, always without eliciting a satisfactory reply. No person, even those most prominent in athletic circles, appear to know whether the association have done anything towards carrying out that exceedingly promising programme outlined at the organization meeting, if they haven't, then it is time something was done.

and American Rugby football teams playing on the Pacific Coast, and as a natural result of the International Rugby Football Union will be the outcome, which will tend to make and strengthen the grand old game, the most popular winter sport on the Coast.

HOCKEY. PRACTICE TO-MORROW.

The Victoria Hockey Club are starting in well. They have determined to make a determined effort to recapture the trophy lost last year to Vancouver, and with persistent training, and moderate luck should do so without much difficulty. Their first practice will take place at the Oak Bay grounds to-morrow afternoon, commencing at 7 o'clock. All members and outsiders are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL. Y. M. C. A. V. ROVERS.

A senior match will be played between the Y. M. C. A. and the Rovers to-morrow afternoon, and will start at 7 o'clock at Oak Bay grounds. The Y. M. C. A. team will be chosen from the following: J. Morrison, Petchey, Whyte, Shanks, Nute, Northcott, Dunn, Davidson, Ritchie, Harper, Mason, Egan, Baylis, Crompton, Winsby, Rutter, Gregory, Brace and McKittrick.

JUNIORS WILL PLAY.

To-morrow afternoon the first junior league match will take place between North Ward and Central teams at Oak Bay, commencing at 1:30 o'clock. A fast and exciting game is expected. The teams will line up as follows: North Ward—Goal, S. Ross; backs, T. Sweeney and R. Brown; half backs, Hickey, Lawson and Taylor; forwards, Peden (centre), McGregor, McCarter, Bishop and Sedger; substitutes, McDougall, Central—Goal, Johnson; backs, Campbell and Know; half backs, Bryndison, Meyers and Agnew; forwards, Sargison (centre), Soder, Molinas, Erb and Pullerton; substitute, T. O'Rourke.

BASEBALL. THE PENNANT WINNER.

The Chicago American League Baseball Club became the winner of the pennant for the season of 1906 when both games of the double-header at St. Louis on Wednesday, which the Chicago team was scheduled to play, were called off on account of wet grounds, while Philadelphia and New York split even in the two games played at Philadelphia. The Chicago club cannot be overtaken even though it loses the four games yet to be played. The best the New York team can do is win the remaining three games, in which event it will finish second, just half a game behind the pennant-winners. Only one game separates Cleveland and New York for second honors. Cleveland has four more games to play, and if it can win all four, losing one, the Cleveland team will take second honors for half a game.

de best; wine ain't none too good for dis coop. Altogether it was as though Destiny had found pleasant domicile in ancient clothing of Bill, and was using that same wearer as a protective agent to ward off evil from both Mortimer and the girl.

"You!" he cried, pulling hard at his horse's mouth; it's you, Miss. He stopped suddenly. "Godd! I'm glad I know this," he jerked between his set teeth, as he fought the Indian, who was nearly pulling him out of the saddle.

The boy remained silent, thinking over why he was on the Indian. There was a moral obliquity about his present position; the new light of his discovery showed him strongly. His feelings had been played upon by the owner of the Indian, at Langdon's instigation. He had been told that the Porters had not given him the mount on Lauzanne because they distrusted him.

Presently the boy spoke with sharp decision, in quick broken sentences, for they were nearing the starter. "I'm in to make the running; this crook's got no license so win. Don't you bother others fast enough; when he's done, when you want an opening to get through just come bang into me—I'll be next the rail; yell 'Lauzanne,' an' I'll pull out. I'll give them blasted crooks something to stare at. Don't gallop your mount's head off chasing this sprinter; he'll be beat when we swing into the stretch. Don't go wide at the turn; you can have my place; I'll make it wide for something else though."

They were at the post. Allis had not spoken, she had listened, gratefully, to Redpath's string of kindly directions. The presence of a friend in the race cheered her; the discovery she had dreaded came as a blessing. (To be Continued.)

What Other People Think
 RE BRONCO BUSTING.

To the Editor:—Many a time have I seen horses broken in the upper country, but seldom, if ever, accompanied by such brutality as I witnessed at the show grounds last week. It is perhaps hard for people who have never owned or cared for horses to understand the feelings of disgust aroused in a large number of the spectators at the barbarous manner in which some of the animals were treated.

I have always looked on a horse, as next to man, one of God's noblest creatures, and if some form of cruelty is to be considered an attraction in swelling the gate receipts at the exhibition, I think the torturing of a Spanish bull with lances is less objectionable than seeing a horse struck with the butt of a pistol and its head hanged with a heavy quirt.

A LOVER OF HORSES.

ACCUSED OF KILLING WIFE.
 Trial of John Hammond Began Two Weeks Ago but Jury is Not Complete.

(Associated Press.)
 Albany, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Two weeks have elapsed since the beginning of the trial of John Hammond, indicted for the murder of his wife in this city last November, but thus far all efforts to complete the jury have been unavailing. The record for this county, only ten have qualified as jurors. Several other panels have been drawn without success, which facts are basis for a motion for a change of venue by the defence to-day. Justice Fitz denied the motion.

The crime for which Hammond has been indicted was a somewhat sensational one. The body of his wife was found packed in a trunk at their home with strong evidence that she had been strangled to death. Her husband could not be found. While the police of the entire country were searching for Hammond, several months later he walked into police headquarters in this city, and surrendered himself, afterwards making a complete confession.

SANATORIUM FOR CONSUMPTIVES.
 To the Editor:—I was very pleased indeed to notice the Hon. Mr. Dunsbury's generous offer in aid of the above sanatorium. Such an institution will be of incalculable benefit, and whilst I am not a wealthy man, I feel sure that I can do a good deal to help along the cause. I will give $50 (fifty dollars) provided fifty others will each give a like sum before the 31st of this month. There should be no difficulty for I feel sure that amongst our well-to-do citizens there will be found at least fifty. If not double that number, who will willingly give that amount or more. If the matter is only brought to their notice, and I think that if you, sir, will use the influence of your paper to impress upon your readers the imperative necessity of such an institution, that it will not be long before the full amount required is raised.

DISARMING CUBANS.
 Brigadier-General Funston Says Work Will Be Completed in a Few Days.

(Associated Press.)
 Havana, Oct. 5.—Brigadier-General Funston said to-day that the process of disarming the insurgents through the island would be completed in two or three days. The disarmament is finished in Puerto Principe and almost finished in Santiago. There is some delay in Havana province because General Asbury's followers are largely scattered. It is expected that they will be concentrated to-day near Guines. Twenty-five marines have been sent to Guines to keep order.

NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERIES.
 Agreement Reached Between British Government and the States.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—It was announced at the state department to-day that a modus vivendi had been reached with the British government relative to the Newfoundland fisheries that will, it is believed, be satisfactory to the Gloucester fishermen.

The lot at the southeast corner of Yates and Quadra streets, on which W. J. Keller conducts a tile business, has been sold for the sum of $4,000.

The body of J. Woods, one of the crew of the steamer Columbian, who was killed in the disaster on the Yukon a week ago, arrived from the north via the Sound to-day, and will be interred in Ross Bay cemetery on Sunday. The funeral will take place from the Sons of England hall at 2 o'clock.

Among the old established financial institutions of Canada no company has had a more prosperous and successful record than the Mutual Life of Canada. It is a remarkable fact that since the company was organized in the year 1869, the interests alone that it has earned on its investments have been more than sufficient to pay all the death claims during that period of 36 years. But splendid as has been the history of the Mutual Life of Canada its present standing (which is even more important than its past) is unparalleled. The returns in the latest reports of the superintendent of insurance show that the Mutual Life of Canada earned in 1905 the highest percentage of profits of all Canadian companies, while its expense rate was the lowest of all Canadian companies. A. B. McNeill, special agent, R. L. Drury, manager, 34 Broad street.

WOMEN STORMED SCHOOL.
 Three Policemen Injured Before the Riot Was Quelled.

(Associated Press.)
 New York, Oct. 5.—Believing that "the murder doctors," as they called the board of health physicians, were cutting the throats of their children in a school in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, 1,500 women, nearly all of them Italian, stormed the school building to-day in a mad effort to reach the little ones. Before the riot had been quelled three policemen had been seriously injured by the women and one of the rioters had been arrested.

For several days physicians of the board of health have been examining the eyes and throats of the pupils. Contagious affection of the eyes had spread from the homes of the Italians in the vicinity of the school, and the doctors were directed to make an investigation to learn the cause and nature of the disease. A number of pupils on going to their homes told their parents that the "murder doctors" wanted to cut their throats, and frenzy that does not listen to reason spread among the mothers of the pupils.

To-day they decided to make an investigation in a body and marched to the school building. 1,500 strong. Teachers, who were warned of the approaching trouble, locked the doors and windows of the building and sent a call for assistance to a near-by police station.

Before the police had arrived the women rushed toward the main entrance of the school building, and finding the way barred against them made frantic efforts to batter down the doors. One panel had been smashed when the vanguard of the police squad approached the scene and sought to put an end to the trouble. The women turned upon the policemen, tore their clothes, scratched their faces and put them to rout before a detail of 35 more officers reached the scene. After the reinforcements came, nearly an hour was required to drive the rioters from the square.

When the woman who was arrested was arraigned in the police court and asked by the magistrate to account for her conduct, she replied: "What would you do if you knew the 'murder doctors' were cutting the throats of your children? I will not let them kill my little ones."

Several persons died of a similar nature to the one of to-day have occurred in various parts of the greater city. In every instance the trouble has occurred in districts inhabited almost exclusively by Italians and Slovaks. The examination by the health officers in the public schools will be temporarily discontinued.
