

POPULATION INCREASE BY POSTOFFICE

Many New Clerks Come Here to Make Their Homes ALL DELIGHTED HERE Want Citizens to Have Mail Addressed Properly

It is known to most Glendale residents that there has never been anything but a branch postoffice in Glendale until December 28, 1921, when a fourth class independent office was organized for four days up to December 31. On January 1, 1922, this same office was made a first-class postoffice with D. Ripley Jackson acting as postmaster.

The four days of the fourth class office were very satisfactory and one of the first orders during this time was from Dr. Henry R. Harrower in the amount of $4200.

This new postoffice of Glendale's own has brought several new residents to the city, all of whom are well satisfied and pleased with the city and conditions here in general.

George Hallett, assistant postmaster, is building a new home at 708 North Kenwood street. Mrs. Fattie B. Ellis of Los Angeles, Mr. Jackson's private secretary, has moved to Glendale and lives at 436 West California avenue. Miss Lucille Growell, who has for three years been an employee of the Los Angeles postoffice, has been transferred to the Glendale office and lives at 125 West Maple street, where she has resided for years.

Miss Catherine Tyrer, recently from Chicago, who is a clerk in the new office, has moved to Glendale with her mother, and they are living at the De Lux apartments, corner Brand and California. Miss Nellie M. Black is another new employee and expects to locate permanently in Glendale.

Robert A. Ladd and family, recently of Chicago, are now residing at 1116 Melrose avenue. C. A. Noyer and wife have moved here from Los Angeles and are living at 630 West Salem street. Charles F. Newton and family expect to make their permanent home here, having come from Los Angeles. Shirley T. Brown and wife are residing at 907 Los Angeles street, Los Angeles. Earl C. Hoffman of Long Beach has come to Glendale to live. Arthur A. Roach is a resident of Ontario, Calif., but is making arrangements to move to Glendale. Frank C. Stroger of Mason City, Iowa, is one of the new employees whose family will join him at once in Glendale. Ray E. Tuttle, an employee of the Berkeley postoffice, has been transferred to this city and expects to reside here.

All these newcomers to the city will mean quite a boost for Glendale and they are all pleased with their work and homes here.

Life on Venus? No, Assert Astronomers Others Are in Doubt

Astronomers state that they can find no sign of life on Venus. They say it could not exist there. With this for comment, Henry James in his column on the editorial page this morning asks the question, "Who knows?" and what he says is interesting.

He also touches other subjects with that clever understanding so characteristic of Mr. James.

James W. Foley tonight in "The Listening Post," writes of "The Master Key," and draws a lesson from it—a strong lesson that it would be well for you to read and ponder over.

Dr. Frank Crane writes of Diogenes and this is appropriate, for in the upper left-hand corner of the editorial page each day this paper carries a picture of Diogenes looking for an honest man with his lantern, and with it the sayings of wise men of all ages are published.

ECKLES ASKS THAT PERMIT BE REVOKED

Health Officer Says Children's Home Poorly Managed

CHILDREN EXAMINED

Find Number Are Not Properly Nourished, Gives Cases

Dr. J. E. Eckles, city health officer, in a communication to the city council last night complained against the children's rest home located at 417 East Palmer avenue and asked that the city take some action in the matter of revoking the permit to operate it.

Dr. Eckles stated that he inspected the institution and found that the lady in charge is unfit to have anything to do with the home in any way, in his opinion. He said that he found the general appearance of the home slovenly and poorly conducted. He examined two of the children in the home, and stated that he found signs of malnutrition in both children. He also said that his casual observation of other children would indicate that this condition is general.

The children examined were Tom Samardzich, age 8 years, and his 6-year-old brother Russell. Following is a detailed report of the condition of Tom Samardzich: General appearance: Thin, pale, anemic; shoulders drooping; under nourished. Physical examination: Heart action rapid but regular; pulse, 96; no evidence of organic lesions present; lungs negative. Abdominal examination negative. Tonsils slightly enlarged and inflamed. A few decayed teeth and one or two possibly need extraction. Temperature, 98.8.

A general resume of the examination according to the doctor indicates a case of malnutrition due to improper care and feeding. Practically the same report was made in the case of Russell Samardzich. Mrs. Emma Decker, who conducts the institution, stated that she purchases one quart of milk daily for the five children under her care. The children told the officials that the milk makes them sick every time they drink it, as they do not care for milk.

In his report on conditions at the home Dr. Eckles requested the city council to revoke the permit. The council named Chief of Police Martin, Dr. Eckles and City Manager Reeves as a committee to investigate further and take whatever action seems necessary. The committee this morning communicated with Mrs. McLaughlin, director of outdoor relief for the associated charities and were in turn referred to the county welfare association, who assured the committee that some action would in all probability be taken on the matter at once.

NEWBERRY TO TALK TO SENATE SELF DEFENSE NOW
Will Deliver Short Speech Defending His Election
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Truman H. Newberry of Michigan today held his senatorial fate in his own hands. His own defense before the senate against charges of too lavish expenditures in connection with his election probably will decide whether he retains or loses his seat.
Half a dozen senators will determine the issue. If Newberry convinces them with his defense, which he is now preparing, he will keep his place. If his personal appeal to the senate fails to move them he will be ousted.
Newberry's defense "managers" will have seen the speech he will deliver in person to the senate late this week or early next, predicted today the mere fact that he defends himself will satisfy the "doubtful" senators.
Meantime it is becoming apparent to the senate that the country feels more deeply about the Newberry matter than either republican or democratic leaders suspected. The result has been to put several senators who next November will seek re-election in uncomfortable places. Cummins of Iowa is one; Johnson of California is another.
Cummins insists he has not committed himself. Johnson is now on his way to Washington from the Pacific coast and is expected here in time to vote on Newberry. Point dexter of Washington, who is still on the coast, has sent word he will leave for the capital the middle of January. He said he expects to be here in time for the vote.

Salary of $100,000 a Year for Three Years Is Offer Made

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Postmaster General Hays is personally disposed toward accepting the offer to become head of the motion picture industry of America, although his final decision is still under consideration. While the offer of a 3-year contract at a net salary of $100,000 a year, exclusive of all income taxes, is admittedly appealing, Hays does not want to make a move at this time which might be construed as a desertion of the Harding administration.

He is also in the midst of working out a number of policies in the postoffice department which he wants to see realized before he leaves the cabinet. Whether these policies will be carried out if he resigns is understood to be the question on which his decision is hanging.

Hays spent two hours at the White House on his return here yesterday and he will hold another conference with the president within the next few days.

President Harding is said to be reluctant to have his cabinet disarranged so soon after the beginning of his administration, but Hays has assurance that the president will interpose no obstacle in the way of a resignation if Hays decides upon that course.
Hays is attracted by the educational feature of the proposed job. The movie industry, now fourth in the United States, offers opportunities for educational work yet scarcely touched, he thinks. Speculation as to the next postmaster general in event Hays resigns is already being widely indulged in here. William Boyce Thompson of New York, a close friend of Hays and prominent in the republican party, is mentioned as a possibility.
Others whose names are being discussed include Senator New, Indiana; Fred W. Upham, Chicago; treasurer of the republican national committee; John T. Adams, who succeeded Hays as chairman of the national committee, and John T. King, former national committee-man of Connecticut.

SUIT MAKE CITY PERMIT CEMETERY

Oak Ridge Land & Water Company Files Complaint

DENY CEMETERY SITE

City Attorney Asked to Fight Suit to Last Ditch

The city council was informed on Tuesday night that suit has been filed against the city of Glendale by the Oak Ridge Land and Water Company to have the present cemetery ordinance of the city declared null and void and to be granted permission to operate a cemetery in Shoal Canyon.

The city of Glendale was asked at one time by this company for permission to conduct a cemetery in the canyon and was denied the permit. It is said that the suit recently filed is the outcome of the refusal to allow the cemetery permit.

After discussing the matter for some time the city attorney was ordered to fight the suit vigorously and was authorized to secure the co-operation of another attorney in the case if City Attorney Woodard thinks assistance required.

HAYS INCLINED TO TAKE MOVIE JOB SEES HARDING

RAILWAYS COMMITTEE GIVEN TASK

Instructed to Aid Council in Getting Rate Rehearing

WANT TRACKS LEVEL

Gate Is Asked at Railroad Crossing on Brand Boulevard

The weekly meeting of the chamber of commerce board of directors yesterday was marked by a conference of the directors and the newly railroad committee. George H. King, chairman of the committee, was introduced to the directors, after lunch and he, in turn, introduced the other members of the committee. They are L. T. Rowley, secretary; W. C. Wattles, Dr. Henry Harrower, G. F. Heisser, J. P. Baime and Dave G. Crofton.

Several railroad matters of importance to the city of Glendale, were informally discussed and later referred to the new committee for action and reports. The first matter discussed was that of having the Pacific Electric lower the tracks on Brand boulevard to conform with the existing street grade. This was first called to the attention of the chamber by the city council, who asked that the chamber, through its organization and with the use of its railroad committee, confer with the Pacific Electric officials in the matter.

The increased rates of the Pacific Electric for passenger transportation between this city and Los Angeles was also given attention. The company has increased the rates between Glendale and Los Angeles from 30 cents for a round trip to 38 cents. This increase was protested by the city council who ordered City Attorney Woodard to file a complaint and to request a rehearing of the matter on the grounds that when the railroad company announced the increased rates it did not, as in the case of other cities, where the rate was raised, announce intention to increase the service or to make adequate arrangements for accommodations. This was referred to the chamber by the council and that organization was asked to cooperate with the city in the matter of securing a rehearing and in an attempt to have the rate increase rescinded. "This was discussed and the railroad committee instructed to act. In carrying out the city's campaign against the increased rate, City Attorney Woodard yesterday filed a complaint against the proposed increase and requested reopening.

Another matter referred to the railroad committee was that of securing a gate across the Southern Pacific crossing at Brand boulevard. In the discussion that followed, it was pointed out that this gate has been needed for some time as several accidents have occurred there and recently one man was killed and two others severely injured in a collision between an automobile and a Southern Pacific train.

FLOAT AWARD IS STILL DISCUSSED

The chamber of commerce directors at their meeting yesterday discussed the matter of Glendale's float in the tournament of roses at Pasadena on New Year's day and were unanimous in the opinion that Glendale did not get a square deal in the award. It was pointed out that Glendale was awarded second prize and the first was given to Portland, Ore.

The board, after some discussion voted that a committee be appointed to draft a letter to the association in charge of the rose tournament and state their views in the matter. This committee is composed of President Hollister of the chamber, Vice President Smith and Secretary J. M. Rhoades.

CALDER IS GETTING COLD IN THE FEET

So he declared war today when White House reporters asked him if the Lady Hank Drivers of Brooklyn had renewed their request that President Harding attend their annual convention. "I'm through extending invitations," he announced. "I send them in by mail now."

"Pardon me," said the stranger, "are you a resident of this town?" "Yes, sir," was the ready rejoinder of the other.

For, in the land of Nottingham, had she not labored long and with great faith, and had not her labors built a great sanatorium where the great and good from the far countries gathered to bathe and to steam off the juice of the grape.

And when later the teller of this tale asked about the pictures, the great and good lady repeated the story, adding, "And we are going to give the money we get from the picture to charity."

LEGION NOTES

Every rural school center and village in Oklahoma will have a detachment of American Legion members.

The placing of a "trained sympathetic war mother" at Ellis Island to aid women immigrants to get suitably located in the United States is being considered by the American Legion Auxiliary.

As a part of its Christmas program, the American Legion of Omaha, Neb., sent Mrs. Marie Anderson, 60 years old, to Leavenworth, Kan., to visit her son.

An order issued by the secretary of the navy and construed as affecting adversely the retention of disabled men working in government shipyards was protested in a resolution passed by District Lodge No. 44, International Association of Machinists.

Many sick and wounded ex-soldiers who traveled far to obtain treatment in the army and navy hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., are in destitute circumstances after they have been refused admission to the hospital.

Members of the American Legion post at Greenville, South Carolina, will serve as policemen during the annual banquet of the police department of the city.

All disabled veterans of the world war under care in government hospitals and institutions will receive adequate clothing and equipment under a bill favorably reported by the house military affairs committee.

The bill authorizes the secretary of war to co-operate with the surgeon general of the United States in the distribution of government patients. Thousands of dollars worth of this surplus war material is now stored away in warehouses.

Plans for a big rotating fund to provide loans to sick and wounded ex-service men in each state are being worked out at national headquarters of the American Legion at Indianapolis.

Ex-soldiers who do not need the ready cash that would come to them from the government's payment of adjusted compensation would contribute their bonus to the rotating fund.

The principal beneficiaries of the loan fund would be "our buddies who are broken in health," that they may take care of themselves and their families.

There are hundreds of instances in which sick and wounded ex-service men, unable to get government aid, have had to depend upon charity while their claims were being reviewed.

COOPER RESIGNS FIRST NATIONAL

Well Known Citizens Purchase Stock of Retiring President

C. C. Cooper, president of the First National Bank of Glendale, has sold his interest in the bank to W. W. Lee, M. P. Harrison, Edward M. Lee, George T. Paine, E. U. Emery and R. F. Kitterman.

Mr. Cooper in retiring from the First National Bank announces that he has no thought of leaving Glendale but is retiring from the organization as other business interests demand his full time and attention.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the bank W. W. Lee was appointed president to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. Cooper and Mr. Emery was appointed director. The directors also appointed Mr. Lee as president of the First National Bank.

The purchasers of the stock in the First National Bank need no introduction to Glendaleans as Messrs. Lee, Harrison, Lee and Paine have been connected with the bank for the past 10 years and Mr. Kitterman has been cashier of

The bank paid a dividend of 20 per cent upon its capital stock and earned an additional 20 per cent.

During the year 1921 the stockholders of the First National bank organized the First Savings bank with a paid in capital stock of $50,000 and this bank now has total deposits of more than $125,000.

Government Tax Revision Is Effective First of Year

The following is another of a series of articles which the Internal Revenue office is issuing in an endeavor to acquaint the taxpaying public with the requirements of the new revenue act and particularly as regards income tax, and the liability for filing income tax returns.

Taxpayers are advised that certain taxes, among them the so-called "nuisance" and "luxury" taxes, are repealed, effective January 1, 1922, by the revenue act of 1921.

Patrons of soda-water fountains, ice cream parlors and "similar places of business" no longer are required to pay the tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof on the amount expended for sodas, sundaes, "or similar articles of food or drink." The small boy may rejoice in the fact that an ice cream cone doesn't cost an extra penny. The tax imposed by the revenue act of 1921 is on "beverages and constituent parts thereof" and is paid by the manufacturer.

The tax on the transportation of freight and passengers is repealed, effective January 1, 1922, also the tax paid by the purchaser on amounts paid for men's and women's wearing apparel (shoes, hats, caps, neckwear, shirts, hose, etc.) in excess of a specified price.

Taxes imposed under section 904 (which, under the revenue act of 1918, included the taxes on wearing apparel), are now confined to a 5 per cent tax on the following articles: Carpets, on the amount in excess of $4.50 a square yard; rugs, on the amount in excess of $6 a square yard; trunks, on the amount in excess of $35 each; valises, traveling bags, suit cases, hat boxes used by travelers and fitted toilet cases, on the amount in excess of $25 each; portable lighting fixtures, including lamps of all kinds, on the amount in excess of $10 each; fans, on the amount in excess of $1 each.

These taxes are included in the manufacturers' excise taxes, and are payable by the manufacturer, producer or importer, and not by the purchaser, as required by the revenue act of 1918. The manufacturer may reimburse himself, by agreement with the purchaser, by quoting the selling price and tax in separate and exact amounts.

or by stating to the purchaser in advance of the sale, what portion of the quoted price represents the price charged for the article, and what portion represents the tax.

The taxes on sporting goods (tennis rackets, fishing rods, baseball and football uniforms, etc.), are repealed, also the taxes on chewing gum, portable electric fans, thermostatic containers, articles made of fur, and toilet articles and musical instruments.

The tax on sales of jewelry, real or imitation, is 5 per cent and is payable by the vendor. The tax on the sale of works of art (paintings, statuary, art porcelains and bronzes), is reduced from 10 to 5 per cent. This tax, payable by the vendor, applies except in the original sale by the artist, or to an educational institution or public art museum, or a sale by a recognized dealer in such articles to another such dealer for resale.

When payable by the manufacturer or vendor, taxes must be in the hands of the collector of internal revenue on or before the last day of the month following the month in which the sale was made.

Following are forms for making returns and regulations relating to taxes, which may be had on application to offices of collectors of internal revenue: Manufacturers' excise tax, form 728, revised, regulations 47, revised; taxes on works of art and jewelry, form 728-A, revised, regulations 48, revised; tax on beverages, form 726, revised, regulations 52, revised.

Opening Sale Fifth Unit at FAIRVIEW

Large lots as low as $465⁵⁰

$46.55 Cash $15.00 per Month

Take advantage of the 5 per cent discount which we are giving during our opening sales. This sixth unit is the last we will have for sale at prices anywhere near those we are now offering. Nearly one year ago we obtained an option on sixty acres of land where our FAIRVIEW subdivision is now located. As soon as we had sold the first unit acreage prices began to advance very rapidly until now it is impossible to buy any land in this beautiful section at prices that would enable anybody to make the lots as low as they are at FAIRVIEW.

Not only is this the last opportunity to buy from us or anybody else in this section, lots as low as $500.00, but it is also true that the lots in FAIRVIEW will advance proportionately in value when this last unit has been sold, and there are no more to be had.

Other subdivisions in this section are now selling at very much higher prices.

We predict that the Sixth Unit of FAIRVIEW will be sold out in a very short time. If you want to buy a lot in a beautiful location, close to transportation where a great development is taking place, come out today. Bring $50.00 and get a lot.

Reasonable restrictions. Water, gas, electricity and street work. Temporary homes permitted. Drive out West Broadway and San Fernando Rd. to Vine Ave. (opposite F. L. Meneley Window Shade Factory), then one block to right to tract office at Vine Ave. and 4th St., or phone and we will call and take you out to the tract. The Tract Agent is on the ground every day.

Senate Inquiry Finds That Ghastly Acts Were Committed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—American soldiers were hanged in France and their bodies sent home to the United States with the hangman's "black cap" still over their heads, the senate investigating committee was told today by Rufus P. Hubbard of New York.

Hubbard, formerly with the army graves registration service, said he came across the bodies of three hanged privates at the Bazailles-Sur-Meuse cemetery in France about January 1, 1921.

"The ropes were still around their necks and the black caps still over their heads," Hubbard declared. "We sent the bodies just that way to the soldiers' homes in the United States." Hubbard said he thought two of the soldiers were negroes and the other white.

Grave charges against Major H. L. Opie of Staunton, Va., were to be put under the congressional searchlight today as the senate committee resumed its investigation of alleged illegal hangings and killings in the A. E. F.

When Opie will be called to defend himself was in doubt today, but members of the investigating committee said it probably will be after about 20 accusing witnesses have been heard, and these are increasing in number daily.

Alleged cold-blooded shootings of two American soldiers in France, one by a private at the direction of an officer and the other by a lieutenant, were described today by Holk Golden of Newman, Ga., a former soldier, before the committee.

Golden swore he witnessed both shootings. One of the soldiers, Golden charged, was shot by a guard, at an officer's command, because he started for a spring to get a drink of water. He had gone without a drink for 24 hours, Golden said. The other soldier, the witness declared, was shot down by a lieutenant because he had straggled behind in a march.

"We were on the way from Saint Mihiel into the Argonne sector when the first shooting occurred," Golden said. "We had gone for 24 hours without water when we stopped to rest near a spring. Guards were posted to keep the men from going to the spring, but one man took his canteen and said he was going anyway." He started out and when he refused to halt, the guard shot him.

The second alleged shooting, Golden said, came when his company was on the march.

"A man who had dropped behind failed to report to the lieutenant, and when he finally came up the lieutenant pulled his .45 and shot him dead," Golden said.

Emmett Cockran of Savannah, Ga., former lieutenant with the 369th (negro) infantry of New York, appeared before the committee to refute charges he said had been made against him in connection with the investigation.

Cockran shot a negro soldier who was creating a disturbance in a French town, was tried by court martial for murder and acquitted.

"The negroes were terrorizing the town," Cockran said, "and I was ordered to quell the disturbance and put the disorderly men under arrest. I shot a negro just as he was leveling a carbine at me. It was his life or mine and I got him, and the court martial cleared me."

Earl D. Watson of Flint, Mich., told the committee he saw three soldiers hanged at Is-Sur-Tille, France. Samuel H. Fierbaugh, Detroit, said he saw one white soldier and one negro hanged at the same place. He said another negro was hanged there but he didn't see it.

Charles P. Green, Minneapolis, told of seeing two dead negro sol-

IMPROVEMENTS ASKED GENEVA ST.

Petition Filed With City Council Thorn Would Not Sign

A petition was presented to the city council Tuesday night by property owners along Geneva street asking the city to start proceedings to improve that street. The petition was signed by all of the property owners along the street with the exception of C. Thom who stated that he did not care to sign the petition. As Mr. Thom is the owner of practically half of the property on the street the council will await a conference with Mr. Thom before acting on the request of other residents of the street.

Mr. Thom has arranged for a conference with City Manager Reeves for Thursday afternoon when the matter for improvements for Geneva street will be thoroughly discussed. A report of this conference will in all probability be presented to the city council at the Thursday night meeting.

Get-Together.—A get-together meeting of the San Fernando boulevard Association has been called for Thursday night by the officers of the organization. The officers are W. Griffin, president; A. Anderson, vice president; A. M. Salver, treasurer, and L. H. Wilson, secretary. The meeting will be held at 806 South San Fernando boulevard.

Truths in Epigram

Who never wins can rarely lose, who never climbs as rarely falls. — Whittier (1807-1892). Selfishness is the greatest curse of the human race. — Gladstone (1809-1898). Every joy is gain and gain is gain, however small. — Browning (1812-1890).

CONTRASTS IN RUSSIA

Only a few days ago Senator Borah was credited with saying that Lenin was one of the great intellects developed by the war.

Regarding the bolshevik leader in this light, he becomes nothing to admire. On the contrary he appears as a monstrosity. Selfish, brutal, treacherous, there cannot be made for him the excuse that circumstances have driven him into enactment of a hateful role. He is the captain of his own soul, such as it is.

A dazzling intellect devoted to crime does not appear to the average person as admirable. Borah may not be the average person. Whether above or below the normal standard does not matter here. If he finds anything to praise in the hideous Lenin, that is his affair; only it is unreasonable to ask that the public swell the chorus.

Just back from Russia is a member of the American relief commission. He tells an awful story of famished millions, of heaps of dead babies that nobody has time to bury. He says the whole country is starving to support the 600,000 communists who are running it.

But with the country plunged to a level of wretchedness and woe such as no other land has known within the memory of man, Lenin and his associates live in wanton luxury. They have plenty to eat and to drink. They are clothed in soft raiment, they flash with jewels. Luxury pervades the inner circles of Moscow and Petrograd. Outside those circles the people may die and rot without causing concern in the coterie of lavish splendor.

So Lenin, author of misery untold, is one of the great intellects of the age! Great fiddlesticks! He is the most gigantic and repulsive tyrant that ever stole authority and gloried in unspeakable shame.

AN ENDLESS PROCESS

Evolution is studied from the records of the past. These disclose that for millions of years there has been a succession of changes. Plants or animals have appeared in a certain form, have developed to other form, or have passed from the scene. All growth the eye beholds, is not the growth of a season, or of the brief span that covers human life, but the growth of measureless ages.

Existing in the midst of the evolutionary process, mortals fail to recognize that which is going on about them. Their senses do not grasp the fact that the forces that have shaped destiny, eliminated the useless, kept the strong, are operating still with undiminished potency.

If there were full realization of this truth, there would be a less tenacious grip upon some theories that prevail; theories that as a rule are accepted without debate. There is, for example, the theory that man is a fighting animal, and that war is the logical and inevitable consequence of his inherent attributes.

Man once went unclad, save as a coating of hair served to shield him. He killed and ate his enemies. In a far later stage of development, he took into the slavery the captives of his prowess. After he had reached what then seemed a high state of culture, it was his habit to throw men and women to the lions, or to light his festivals with human bodies that served as torches. But evolution has produced men of a different outlook, a different perception. The ancient practices have vanished and become tradition.

To say that the time is not coming when war shall be no more is to declare evolution has been completed. Yet evolution must go on. It is the concomitant of the passing of time.

CURBING THE SANE LUNATIC

It is a pressing duty to curb the tendency of the courts to let themselves be overcome by bogus pleas of insanity. The status that has been permitted in respect of this practice has reached the point of actual scandal. Long ago it had attained to the point of being ridiculous.

Recently a Los Angeles man hid in the closet of his wife's home until an opportunity came for him to shoot her. He shot her and her sister, both women being killed. He has procured a lawyer. Already the intimation is given out that the plea on his behalf will be that of insanity.

Even the incident of murder might, in an isolated case, be such as to justify the plea. But every cold-blooded assassin, no matter what the inspiration of his crime, whether jealousy, passion, hatred, robbery, not only is allowed with solemn mein, as though the whole proceeding were not a farce, to plead insanity, but alienists will swear to the truth of a palpably false averment.

There are alienists, at least so-called, ready to swear on behalf of the side that reaches them first with a retaining fee. Their presence robs many a trial of dignity, and leads to confusion and the defeat of justice.

The man who is able to plan a crime in every detail, and to arrange a mode of escape, should be held fully responsible for his deed, because morally he is responsible. Not the slightest attention should be paid to the hired alienist, whose business, exactly as that of the criminal lawyer, is to procure acquittal, often of men known to be guilty.

Doublets the deliberate criminal is not normal. Very few persons are absolutely normal. They do not thus become immune to penalty for their own acts.

Either bogus insanity will have to be checked, or the law penalizing murder admitted to be impossible of enforcement.

Four prohibition officers of San Francisco are reported as poisoned "in line of duty." It appears that after capturing certain measures of moonshine whisky they had partaken freely of the same to discover whether it was intoxicating. They had no desire to hold the prisoners if the beverage turned out to be root beer. The "line of duty" seems to lead to strange places.

An Ontario magistrate sent a man to prison for forty years for smashing twenty-one windows "in order to earn a term in a nice warm jail for the winter." The defendant's activities were divided into ten offenses, he was found guilty of all and sentenced to four years on each. The moral seems to be that it is unwise to trifle with the law in Canada.

California club women propose a campaign in promoting home products. The purpose is not purely economic. Their idea is that manufacture will be stimulated, the field of employment widened, and crime made less because there will be fewer idle. It may be true that lack of work stimulates crime, and yet most of the desperate criminals are known to come of the class that never works.

The Reds who tried to organize a political party must be even a tougher lot than had been supposed. The I. W. W. organization repudiates them. No harder slam than this could have been devised. Repudiation by respectable bodies had been expected as a matter of course.

There is frequent mention of the discovery of some gigantic bootlegging conspiracy. That is likely to be the last heard concerning it. Possibly careless representatives of the law neglect to replace the cork, and the evidence evaporates.

The purity conference at Chicago denounced several things not acceptable to its tastes. Nobody cares particularly. The world may be jazzy, and a little coarse in spots, but it is far more comfortable, and closer to normal, than it would be if the professional purity purveyors had things their own way.

The dressmaker's work is a matter of form.

Fortunate is the liar who loses his reputation.

Lots of people live all their lives without learning to live.

Lawyers occasionally make mistakes, but they seldom bring suit against one another.

No man ever worries half as much about his inability to pay his debts as the men he owes do.

DIOGENES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

In one of Mr. H. G. Wells' first letters in regard to the disarmament conference he uses these words: "Wars, preparations for war, and the threat of war are only the more striking aspect of human disunion at the present time. The smashing-up of the world's currency system is a much more immediate disaster. That is rushing upon us. This war talk between Japan and America may end as abruptly as the snarling of two dogs overtaken by a flood. There may not be another great war after all, because both in Japan and America social disruption may come first."

"Upon financial and economic questions the powers of the earth must get together very quickly now or perish; the signs get more imperative every day; and if they get together upon these common issues, then they will have little reason or excuse for not taking up the merely international issues at the same time." After all, governments can no more save the world than a man can lift himself up by his boot straps, which task is all the more difficult when the boot straps are rotten. The world cannot be cured by statesmen and politicians any more than a man can be cured by a doctor. People get well of themselves, because of their recuperative power, or the excess of vital force over morbidities. And nations get well the same way.

Mr. Vanderlip's plan of a sort of bank which would do for the world what the federal reserve system has done for the United States is even a more fundamental move than the proposition for disarmament. For if the world can get thoroughly united in its business, war will automatically cease. Mr. Vanderlip proposes simply to give the nations a dollar that is worth a dollar, a franc that is worth a franc, and a mark that is worth a mark, and so on. That is, to supply them with another kind of money which will operate to tone up and bring back the national currencies which have been shot to pieces.

We have to quit looking to governments to help us. Nations can make war, but nations cannot cure war.

Nations can punish and kill people wholesale and retail. But they cannot add one jot or tittle to life's forces in our national resources.

There never has been any progress in the world under the leadership of governments. All the progress has been made by the people themselves through their native spirit and their voluntary organizations.

All national governments can do is to step in once in a while and wreck the train. What the business and intellectual world ought to ask of governments is simply to get out of the road and quit meddling. If they will let the people alone, take away their artificial barriers of trade and thought and travel, and allow natural forces to operate, the world would cure itself.

If it had not been for pernicious and crazy nationalisms there would have been no war. And if the nations will now let up a little and give the people a chance, they will get over the war's dire consequences.

Mr. Godkin of the New York Post used to have a very subtle way of getting rid of a nuisance or a bore. He would look the man smilingly in the eye and say, "Will you please go away?"

When Diogenes was asked by Alexander the Great what he could do for him, the philosopher in his tub replied: "Get out of my light."

All the world asks of the various nations is some such thing.

THE LISTENING POST

The Master Key. Perhaps you have seen one. Or you may use one in your business of going about through the building. It combines all the attributes of the other keys.

There are twenty locks on the floor of the building. Each requiring its separate key. Twenty keys needed to get in as many doors. But twenty keys are a lot to have on a ring.

The Boss may need to have a key to every door. Or the Janitor. Or the night watchman or some other functionary.

And somebody sometime invented a Master Key. A single bit of metal, but having the attributes of all the other keys. That will unlock twenty doors.

That was a clever bit of designing. And invention. To set all the little projections and depressions and grooves of twenty keys in one. So the one will do the work of twenty.

And instead of carrying twenty keys on a ring the Boss or the Janitor or the Night Watchman needs but the one. But it must be a Master Key.

There are more locks in the world than there are on doors. Many human beings kept locks on themselves. Shut themselves back of a closed and locked door.

They retire into the secret chamber of themselves. And shut all possible visitors out. They put their worst sides outside. And their best sides they keep inside. Away from view.

And you often see the man with a crusty and gruff exterior. But his friends say he has a very kindly heart. He keeps his worst side outside. And it seems a pity sometimes that he does not turn himself partly inside out. So the best side will show.

And then there is achievement. Success. Advancement in business or service. These things remain often back of locked doors. Through which it is necessary to go before you can make progress.

Then is when you need the Master Key. For there are many doors. But there is one key that will open all of them. A key with many projections and notches and grooves.

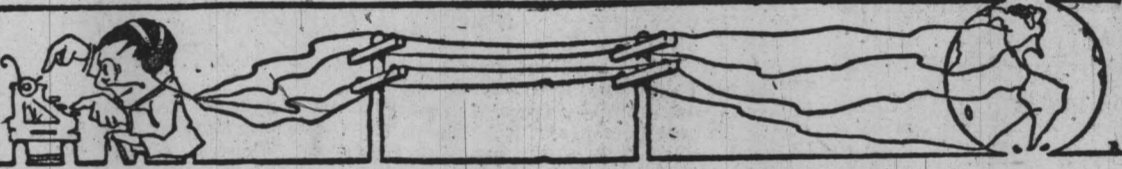

There is the notch of friendliness. Of frankness. Of good nature. Of sympathy. Of willingness to serve. Of industry. Of cheerfulness.

Oh, there are many notches and grooves on the Master Key. And you must be sure you know them. Otherwise the doors may remain locked against you. A little child has the Master Key. The Master Key of a frank, loving and engaging smile.

It finds its way through any locked door. Nothing remains closed and barred against it.

So when seeking to find your way through the world with its sometimes locked doors, remember the Master Key. It will serve you well. Little notches and grooves and projections in the completeness of your soul.

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Parting of the Ways—By Joseph B. Gilder (1858—)

Untrammelled Giant of the West, With all of Nature's gifts endowed, With all of Heaven's mercies blessed, Nor of thy power unduly proud— Peerless in courage, force, and skill, And godlike in thy strength of will,— Before thy feet the ways divide: One path leads up 't' heights sublime; Downward the other slopes, where bide

The refuse and the wrecks of Time. Choose then nor falter at the start, O chose the nobler path and part! Be thou the guardian of the weak. Of the unfriended, thou the friend; No guerdon for thy valor seek, No end, beyond the avowed end. Wouldst thou thy godlike power preserve, Be godlike in the will to serve!

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

With the new rates in force conductors of P. E. cars will have to learn to be ready in debate.

A still has been discovered in a hearse, a vehicle more likely to be utilized by the patron of the still.

Debs would be in error were he to construe his liberty as license.

The Santa Monica who paid $13,000 for jewelry of which he was robbed the same night, doubtless feels that he did not get the worth of his money.

Reports from Moscow are that Lenin himself is a considerable remove from having been reduced to cannibalism.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

PARDON FOR RADICALS [Minneapolis Journal]

Mr. Debs was legally convicted for violation of the espionage act, June 15, 1918. Specifically he was charged with the attempt to incite insubordination to the civil and military authorities of the nation. The validity of his conviction was affirmed by the supreme court of the United States.

To associate the imprisonment of Mr. Debs with martyrdom or persecuted innocence, is to indulge in unjustifiable sentimentalism. This nation, facing a momentous crisis, was in self-protection bound to suppress seditious propaganda. It could not call upon parents to sacrifice their sons on the field of battle, and at the same time permit disloyalty to preach its doctrines. The course of justice put Mr. Debs in prison, and there was no shadow of martyrdom or persecution in his case, or in others like it.

The question naturally arises, if the sentence was just at the time, why should it be lifted? These war prisoners have been punished and restrained. The war is over, and with its passing should come forgiveness and the work of healing forces. If the war proved conclusively the right and necessity of the government to set limits to discussion, the logic and strategy of peace is to forget and forgive, in the hope that the lesson has been learned. The status of free speech in time of war differs from its status in time of peace. Apparently, President Harding has made the proper exceptions to this rule.

Freedom may easily become license and work its own undoing. If liberty is to be perpetuated through wise self-restraint, it must be grounded in the essential character and sanity of a nation.

SPIRIT AND LETTER [Pittsburg Dispatch]

President Harding takes the common sense view of it when he insists that the really important thing about the Washington conference is that it is being held, rather than the literal text of the agreements

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELIA STEWART

If we don't know what's the matter with the world today, it isn't because we haven't been told. The jeremiads of the hopeless pessimists have been flooding our literature and our platforms. To heed only those would be to decide that there is no use to hold up the head and attempt to remedy matters.

These assorted reasons for believing that the downfall of all things good is at hand might as well be put in the coal cellar out of sight forever. They are deadening. It's time we climbed down from the conning tower of intolerance and pessimism, for we have a hard task before us—hard, but not impossible. These walls are a bequest from the immediate past, when we got to believing that everything should go easily with us, no matter what we did, what the trend of our reasoning. Sometimes we never even stopped to reason at all. Things were right because we wanted them to be so, we unconsciously insisted. We were going to do thus and so, and that was all there was to it.

Well, we have found out that we were not right. But very few of us are so blindly ignorant that we do not learn from experience. What's the use of "rubbing it in"—the sense of mistakes of judgment and of action? We've seen the folly of expecting the impossible, or of ignoring the sure consequences of foolish or mistaken action.

We're thinking today, more than we did in pre-war days. We're slowly getting our new pact. We need encouragement—not censure. Pessimists, please take notice.

reached. It is the spirit that counts, rather than the letter. The agreements will be of value only so long as there is the spirit to respect them. If the spirit is wanting they are only so many scraps of paper.

Take the inclusion of Japan among the islands in the Pacific pact. Mr. Harding says it is not important either way. It is only so to those who think not of peace, but of war and if war came what value would the pact have? As to our being entangled in an alliance or agreement to defend Japan by force the President can remind his critics that no President is going to make war without the approval of congress.

The failure to face facts is accountable for most of the controversy even in the conference itself. They speak of limiting armament to defensive weapons, ignoring that if this is possible the question must arise what need for defensive weapons if there are no offensive weapons to be defended against? The submarine, poison gas and aerial bombing are deplored as inhuman, but necessary for defense. Defense against whom, if offensive weapons are barred?

This timidity about looking the outlawing in war squarely in the face as the real goal of a peace conference, this tinkering around naval ratio, and regional pacts, is sought to be excused by the plea that the world is not ready for it. The world, the plain people of the world are ready for it any time, in fact, demanding it, if the statesmen have the courage and sense to go to it.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Astronomers state that they find no sign of life on Venus. Of course they could not expect to see actual indications of life, even were life there. The utmost they could do would be to ascertain conditions, and from these deduce their conclusions concerning the possibility of life being sustained in such environment. Their verdict is against the chance of life on Venus. They say it could not exist there.

These wise men mean, of course, the type of life with which they are in contact. That such type, flourishing in the atmosphere that constitutes the mundane envelope, could not flourish in a planet lacking a similar envelope, is a logical conclusion.

Why should it follow that a wholly different type of life does not exist there? Who knows but there are organisms nourished by conditions that would be fatal to the human organism, or to the inferior living structures with which the earthly races are familiar?

There may be worlds in which matter is so tenuous as almost to disappear, and yet remain intensely vitalized. Who knows? Nobody.

It is possible to conceive of intellectual creatures, peering across the void, even as earthlings are doing, and deciding gravely that no life is here, because the atmosphere is different from that of their own habitat, experience and comprehension.

Two aviators stayed in the air recently for more than twenty-six hours. They descended then only because of the development of a defect in part of the mechanism. They went up in a blinding storm and bitter cold.

This achievement represents a considerable advance since the first experimenters succeeded in rising to a height of eight feet, and scientists were telling them that even that was impossible.

The public is informed that something has gone wrong with the solar system, but feels no deep concern. The solar system has been in operation a long time without being subject to error.

It is said that the slip in the machinery is evidenced by fact that days are longer. The extension noted by the discerning skyscraper is given as less than a 100th of a second a year. Apparently there is no acute need for alarm, nor even need for believing the report.

An Oakland business man killed himself in his office. Over his desk was the motto: "The only honorable way to commit suicide is to work yourself to death."

To work one's self to death would be a mere bit of foolishness. It seldom is done, however. Work has a tendency to prolong life. Where the worker is overtaxing strength that might be conserved, and constitute a fund to be drawn upon for a longer period, he is wasting his opportunities.

As a rule, suicide is neither honorable nor dishonorable. It is the result of impulses that have no relation to these qualities.

Mrs. Mitchell, who was Lolita Armour, comes to defense of Dr. Adolph Lorenz. It is not singular that she should do this, except that the fact that the doctor should need defending, is singular.

As a child Mrs. Mitchell had been regarded as a hopeless cripple. Lorenz treated her and cured her. Naturally she is grateful. It seems, however, that his methods do not accord with certain codes laid down for practitioners of the healing art, and other members of the profession this doctor adorns, seem inclined to shut the door in his face. In this they will lack the endorsement of the unfortunates relieved by him, or still hopeful of his treatment.

Sam. Weller said, "Beware of the widders." It would seem that in modern times, somebody ought to issue a warning to the widows. They need to be beware of the male who comes snooping around, especially if there is an estate among the appurtenances of widowhood.

Down at Venice there was a widow, and a man who came a'woo'ing, and a little sum of $26,000, which seems to have been the real object of his affections.

The widow has her memories, the police have the man, and so far as ascertained yet, the $26,000 has disappeared.

Two youngsters of eighteen eloped in a stolen automobile. The bride did not know of the theft, but found it out, and the honeymoon went into eclipse. At this writing they are in jail.

The episode is mentioned as indicating that if one must rush into matrimony it is well not to rush in a stolen machine.

A resident of Vernon beat his wife so severely as to incur the displeasure of the law, as evidenced by a jail sentence of 180 days. Then came the glad New Year. The bruises of the wife having faded, and her aches been assuaged, she wanted to celebrate. So she directed her energies to getting hubby out of jail, that he might join in celebrating.

He seems to have been appreciative. After having been at liberty several hours he was believed not to have knocked her about any more. Of course he will, when the novelty of being free has worn off.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Last week, because God is often very good to me, I got back on Main Street. I had forgotten what it is to have real neighbors. I met men in the club car and later ran across them on the golf course. My wife said their wives were cats and I have not the slightest doubt they detected a resemblance to one of our softest domestic animals in Mrs. Pilgrim. We were all on the defensive. The moment one of the good fellows at the club began to get the least bit cordial I avoided him.

"No one is ever neighborly unless he has a skinning in prospect," was my reaction to friendly approaches.

Last week I visited a little town in the interior of a western state. A friend I had met a few times met me with his car at the black hour of 6 a. m., when my train reached that town. The hotel keeper saw to it personally that my room was what it ought to be. We had a luncheon at which the wives were welcome guests.

"I wouldn't live in a big town," more than one man and woman said with every appearance of sincerity.

They had all read Sinclair Lewis and pleaded guilty frankly to certain counts in his indictment. Main Street is in some ways just what he said it is. But back of that is a cordial kindness toward each other that we haven't got along the Great White Ways. The women said they were reading this up-to-date novel and that. They might not be abreast of the current of modern thought—at least, not of all the currents—but they were in the current. They know what was going on and why. To top it all there was a neighborliness, we miss entirely in the cities. The two commercial clubs of the town—the Kiwanis and the Rotarians—met with their wives in a joint dinner that night. It was a combination of old-fashioned singing school and business meeting and civic boost. One could trace the ancestry of that gathering right back to the old town meetings which helped make New England character and through it the American character what it is.

"Most of us are big-city people, too," said these dwellers on Main Street. "But we prefer the small town. Life means more here."

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

The New Madrid earthquake, which occurred in the middle-Mississippi valley early in the nineteenth century, consisted of a series of nearly 1900 separate shocks, extending over a period of some months. Eight of these were very severe and were felt more or less distinctly over a whole of the then settled parts of the United States. Occasional aftershocks have been experienced in the same region almost every year down to the present time.

The finger prints of Leonardo da Vinci, who used his fingers freely in laying on paint, have been utilized to identify some of his paintings.

FINE ADDRESSES BEFORE TUESDAY CLUB
The open forum of the Tuesday Afternoon club, which was held Tuesday, proved a highly interesting and profitable session, over which Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson presided, introducing the speakers who were Judge J. W. Summerfield, who presides over one of the divorce courts of Los Angeles, and S. L. Roland, manager of the Southern California Metropolitan Building and Loan association, which has a branch in this city.

Judge Summerfield was the first to be heard. His theme was: "More uniform laws to govern marriage and divorce," and out of his extended and minute observations of the miseries that grow out of hasty marriages he had some suggestions to make.
As a reason for uniform divorce laws he mentioned the wide variation in the statutes of the different states not only in the causes which are recognized as grounds for divorce, but in regard to the period which must elapse before a marriage is permitted. As a result of this variation the residents of one state cross the border to contract marriages under the looser laws of other states, notably Nevada, which would not be legal in the states in which they have their permanent residence. These evasions of statutes tend to promote lack of respect for all law, which he considers most dangerous.

The hasty, ill-considered marriage is the one most likely to end in the divorce court, he said, and for that reason he advocates the revival of the old-fashioned custom of publishing the bans. Said he: "I believe if persons were first required to go before the county clerk and publish their declaration of intention, giving the statutory statistics, their ages, the names of father and mother, and if it were published fifteen days prior to the marriage, we would have fewer divorces. If this should be done you would find they would 'stop, look and listen.' It would act like the sign post on the railroad crossing. Some people come into our courts who have known each other but a few days. Marriage bans should be published to the world. It is an honorable relation and no one with honorable intentions would object to the publication."

"In addition to this requirement of publishing the bans I believe that every man and every woman who present themselves for a marriage license should first have a bill of health showing mental and

DISCUSSED DR. WHITOCK HAS EXPECTING GREAT THINGS FROM NEW ROYAL RULER

Car Demolished in Collision With P. E. Train Here

A Pacific Electric train and a stalled engine are, according to eye-witnesses, responsible for the wrecking of an automobile owned by Dr. J. Whytock of Glendale and the narrow escape of the owner from death.
The collision occurred at the intersection of Brand boulevard and Park avenue shortly after 1 o'clock today. According to witnesses the doctor was driving his new car west on Park avenue and attempted to cross the Pacific Electric tracks. A Los Angeles bound car was approaching. Dr. Whytock stopped his car for his wife to alight in order to catch the train. The engine of Dr. Whytock's car stalled and before he could start it again the oncoming train crashed into it and hurled the machine 38 feet. Dr. Whytock was forced to jump for his life.
According to witnesses the Pacific Electric train was late and did not stop at the Park avenue crossing, in spite of the fact that there were several people waiting for the car. Half the car stopped, the consensus of opinion is that Dr. Whytock would have had ample time to start his motor and reach safety. It is said that the motorist did not even blow his whistle for the crossing.

EXECUTIVE BOARD WILL GET REST ROOM FOR MEMBERS

Members of the executive board and council of the Business and Professional Women's club of this city met Tuesday night in the office of Dr. Laura Brown to discuss plans for the club banquet which is to be held in the banquet hall of the chamber of commerce, Tuesday evening, January 24, at 6:30 o'clock. This function, which will cost $1 per plate, will be open to all the business women of the city. A fine dinner will be followed by a fine program and the announcement of plans for big undertakings on the part of the club which will be of interest to employers and women employees of this city. Dr. Laura Brown, chairman of the social committee, has the arrangements in charge. The board also discussed in a tentative way, plans for the establishment of a rest room for the benefit of business women.

SHRINERS MEET TO EAT AND TALK

Tonight the Shrine club will hold its first get-together feed and entertainment in the chamber of commerce assembly room. President C. E. Neale announces that a program has been arranged that will please everyone present and if it were made public there would be a crowd at the doors that would require several officers to clear a pathway. Several snappy speakers with reputations unexcelled will address the meeting and there will be a feed hard to beat.

ASKED ORDINANCE BE MADE LAW AT LAST SESSION

The recently adopted 25 foot setback ordinance governing the building line for residences in this city was the basis of several disputes at the city council meeting Tuesday night.
Mr. Lundregan appeared before the city council and announced that since the passage of the ordinance, a property owner near his residence on the corner of Louise street and Maple has hastened to start work on a new house that, according to the foundation lines as laid down, will not be back of the 25 foot line as described by the new ordinance.
The ordinance will not be in effect until after 30 days from the date of passage. Mr. Lundregan stated that he interviewed Building Inspector Marek regarding granting a permit to build a house that would extend over the line and was told that the building inspector could not refuse a permit until after the ordinance is effective.
Mr. Lundregan addressed the council and asked that the ordinance be made an emergency measure to become effective at once. The matter was placed before City Attorney Woodard who gave the opinion that such an emergency ordinance could not be passed and regarded as legal. City Manager Reeves gave his opinion that the ordinance could be passed as an emergency measure and would stand if attacked in court. The matter was under discussion for several minutes, council taking no final action.
According to the new ordinance, all buildings must set back 25 feet from all public streets or thoroughfares including alleys. The matter was also discussed. On a lot 50x150 feet situated on a corner it was pointed out that the property owner would have only 21x100 feet remaining to build his dwelling after all requirements of the ordinance had been complied with. The house would have to be 25 feet from the street on which it fronts 25 feet from the street along the side, four feet along this same street for parkway, required by the state and 25 feet from the alley.
This fact seems to have been overlooked when the ordinance was drafted, and works a hardship on property owners that was not intended by the council when the ordinance was proposed.

COUNCIL TO LOOK INTO WATER CHECK

Members of the city council are conferring with Judge Erskine M. Ross, owner of the Ross ranch relative to repairing water check bank on his property, that is said to be in a weakened condition and breaks every time there is a heavy rain. It is said that when the break occurs, the water held in check by the structure rushes down over the adjoining property. This action on the part of the council was decided upon at the meeting of the city council on Tuesday night.
A letter, from officials of the Pacific Electric railroad was read to the council on Tuesday night stating that the railroad has relinquished all rights to their right-of-way for an electric railroad on the Sycamore Canyon boulevard. The latter stated that from the date of reading the company will consider its right relinquished.

Very few black evening slippers will be seen unless the gown calls for them.

For hat pins the concentric circles are popular, white glass jewels in color matching the hat are seen.

A XMAS PICTURE that is in itself entirely beautiful but framed in an unharmonizing mold is of no use to you! You'd better take those Xmas pictures down to BOTT'S BOOK STORE—113 S. WRESTLING BOUT

BE HELD SATURDAY Hackenschmidt Will Meet Champion Heavyweight of Canada

JACK McDONALD, Canadian Heavyweight Wrestler

The wrestling match between Jack McDonald, Canadian heavyweight champion and John Hackenschmidt of Glendale, will be held Saturday night in Pasadena under the auspices of the Glendale companies of the National guard. The entire proceeds of the match will be given to the Glendale companies of the regiment. The Pasadena armory has been placed at the disposal of the Glendale companies on that night. The location of the match was changed because it was impossible to secure a hall in Glendale that was large enough to accommodate the fans who will wish to attend the match.

In addition to the main event there will be two good preliminary bouts between local wrestlers, their names to be announced later. Lieut. Hayhurst, commander of Headquarters Company in Glendale and athletic director at the Glendale high school will referee the matches.

Jack McDonald announced yesterday that he would make 195 pounds ringside weight for the match on Saturday night and Hackenschmidt will give away five pounds and will enter the ring weighing 190 pounds.

As soon as the match in Pasadena is over McDonald will arrange a return match with Constantine Romanoff to take the place of the no decision match for the Pacific Coast title between the two on December 28. On January 27 he will meet Pestina in El Paso, Texas, and on January 22 will wrestle Szbyzsko at Madison Square Gardens in New York.

Hackenschmidt will meet "Bull" Montana in a match as soon as the "boon" returns from Honolulu and a

BEST CHILDREN IN COUNTRY FOUND IN CALIFORNIA

Larger and Better and Good Looking and Everything

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—California, sunny land of fruits and flowers, also produces the best children of any section of the Union.

The children of the far western state six years of age and under are slightly taller and heavier than those of any other group at the same age. It has been found by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, which has just completed a compilation of the largest mass of data along this line ever gathered in the United States. A total of 172,000 records were tabulated.

The reason attributed by the bureau is the favorable climate of California. The children of smallest stature, on the other hand, are found in the other corner of the country, in New York City. The presence there of so large a number of short-statured races, such as the Italian and Jewish, is the cause, the bureau believes. As to city and country, the records show that children who grow up in the freedom of the rural districts are slightly taller and heavier on the average than their city-bred cousins.

It is also shown by the investigation that negro children under four years of age are slightly lighter in weight and smaller of stature than white children of the same age, though at five years of age practically no difference is noticeable. The deficiency at the early age, the bureau believes, is due to poor nutrition and unfavorable social and economic conditions that cause a high mortality among colored infants, and also to a possible racial difference in ratio of growth.

As to difference in male and female, it was found by the bureau that boys under six years of age average from one-third to one-half an inch taller and weigh about a pound more than girls of the same age.

TAG DAY JAN. 7 FOR VOLUNTEERS

Permission has been given to a representative of the Volunteers of America to hold a tag day in Glendale on Saturday, January 7. The affair will be in charge of a local committee and headquarters will be in the salesroom of the Dodge Brothers Motor Car Co., 145 South Brand boulevard. The work of the Volunteers is supported by voluntary contributions. No sum will be too large and none too small to help along the work that is being carried on in the interest of California's future citizenship.

"Augh—waugh—gr-r!" It was the baby, and he had made similar remarks steadily for the last hour. Mr. Newport's hair—what was left of it—stood on end. "Gnow ahwb wongdon, your-r-r," remarked the baby, lustily, while the people living across the way rose from their beds and closed their windows ostentatiously. Mr. Newport ground his teeth. "To think," he murmured, wearily, "that I should live to become the father of a train announcer!"

Foley's Friendly Fancies

FROM THE CROSS

I think of all the words come out of time,
To make men weep and touch them with the truth,
Those were most pitiful and yet sublime
He spoke when dying in His beauty's youth;
When they had scoured and jeered Him and reviled,
And when the nails those gentle hands pierced through,
In agony, His voice with pity mild:
"Forgive them for they know not what they do!"

JAMES W. FOLEY

The dew of bloody sweat were on His brow,
His side gashed open with the upthrust spear,
And brutal voices gibed Him: "Speak Thou now,
And bid the God Thou claimest to draw near
And loose Thee from this cross and let Thee go
Unharm'd upon Thy way if it be true
Thou are the Christ!" And that voice, breathing low:
"Forgive them for they know not what they do!"

And we, with little taunts and gibes and jeers,
Who thrust with hateful spears and crucify
With cruel thoughtlessness, who bring the tears,
Who lust for place or gain and pass them by
Who bear their crosses up Golgotha's hill,
We, with the cruel thorns to weave and shew—
Thy mercy, that we may remember still:
"Forgive us, for we know not what we do!"

And bid the God Thou claimest to draw near
And loose Thee from this cross and let Thee go
Unharm'd upon Thy way if it be true
Thou are the Christ!" And that voice, breathing low:
"Forgive them for they know not what they do!"

And we, with little taunts and gibes and jeers,
Who thrust with hateful spears and crucify

WRECK REVEALED CARGO WHISKY CONSUMERS TOLD PAYING TOO MUCH

Two Bodies Found When Launch Is Cast Up on Beach Robbery Is Going on Somewhere Department Head Finds

HOQUIAM, Wash., Jan. 4.—The launch Milkmaid of San Francisco, found wrecked on the beach four miles south of Westport last night, was discovered today to have 300 cases of whisky, worth about $30,000, on board. Two bodies were found by the Westport lifesaving crew. One of them has been identified as Hjalmur Bjorkholm, 421 Druff street, San Francisco. The identity of the other is unknown. Both bodies were found in the launch, covered with sand.

The craft was thought to have lost her bearings in a light fog. Captain O. C. Hawthorne of the lifesaving station turned the liquor over to the authorities. According to Hawthorne, several more men who must have been members of the crew, escaped when the vessel beached.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The consumer is paying too much for meats, groceries, fuel, clothing and other household necessities and building materials. Somewhere between the producer and the consumer an exorbitant toll is being exacted—a toll amounting to profiteering and robbery of the consumer.

This is the conclusion of investigators for Attorney General Daugherty in his drive to lower retail prices. Data on necessities has been gathered in all parts of the country and now is being whipped into shape for Daugherty's consideration. Daugherty believes that retailers, particularly grocers and butcher shops, are largely responsible for high provision prices.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—A 35 percent reduction was made in the personnel of the Panama canal between March 2 and December 7, 1921, Secretary of War Weeks announced today. During a Dublin riot two old Irish women who had sacked a shoe store were seated on the curb trying on the footwear they had purloined. One of them, whose shoes did not fit, returned to the store to get another size. During her absence the other woman disappeared with all the loot. When the first woman discovered what had happened, she was loud in her complaint of the inaction of the Dublin police, who allowed thefts with such impunity.

Desiring of buying a camera, the pretty girl inspected the stock of a local dealer. Is this a good one? she asked as she picked up a dainty little machine. "What is that called?" "That's the Belvedere," said the handsome young salesman, politely. There was a chilly silence. Then the girl drew herself erect, fixed him with an icy stare, and asked again:

"Er—and can you recommend the Belva?"
