INSTITUTIONS.

The New Orleans Female Seminary

DIRECTED BY MRS. W. HOOTEN.

Transferred to Plaquemine, Parish of Iberville, La., will be open for the reception of Boarders and Day Scholars on the 10th February, 1859.

MRS. VAN NOOTEN, having returned from Europe, and completed her arrangements for effecting permanently to her Institution teachers in every way competent and accomplished, respectfully solicits patronage for her establishment.

Parents and guardians are invited to visit the spacious and commodious buildings, go which, at the request of the vendor of the premises referred to below, the Seminary has been removed. For further information Mrs. Van Nooten begs leave to refer to her former friends, and to the Institutions and at the principal Bookstores in New Orleans, or to the following gentlemen:

JEFFERSON ACADEMY.

53 Bourbon street, New Orleans.

CONDUCTED BY J. G. LORD.

THE plan of this Institution comprises a general and extensive system of education. Pupils are admitted at six or seven years of age, and can continue till their education is complete, or till they are prepared for their future pursuits in life.

They are distributed into classes according to their talents and advancement.

The premises are perhaps the best to be found in the city, with ample space for exercise and recreation, whereby the country convenience is combined for an institution of learning on a large scale.

The Professors are gentlemen of talents, chosen with care. Good order reigns in the establishment, and strict attention is paid to the moral conduct and improvement of the pupils.

Day and Boarding School for Young Ladies.

Founded in 1838, by Madame Lairis, and conducted since 1840, by Mme. DESRAYAUX, Burgundy street, between Customhouse and Bienville streets, New Orleans.

MME. DESRAYAUX, formerly in the Rampart street, having removed their institution upwards of a year ago, to more extensive accommodations, acquaints parents and guardians of youth, that their new building in Burgundy st. has met their expectations, and supplies one great and almost unexceptionable requisite—ample accommodations, adapted to the object they had in view. It is scarcely necessary to state, that the building which they erected, is supplied with all the modern improvements for the comfort and convenience of domestic life, and for educational purposes. The apartments are spacious, airy, well lighted, and properly furnished. The large and well shaded garden in the rear of the building, purchased for the accommodation of their pupils, is found to be attended with many advantages, as regards health, exercise and amusement—it short, every arrangement has been made, at no small expense, to increase the facilities of education, to guard the health of the pupils, and to procure their comfort and happiness.

The Institution provides thorough and substantial instruction in every stage and department of education. It possesses great facilities for the acquirement of the French language, and for the cultivation of Music—if it were not sufficient to say, that no efforts will be wanting to sustain the reputation which the school has already acquired in these departments.

DR. MACAULAY, who has taught in the Institution for upwards of five years, and who divides his time equally between it and Mrs. Macaulay's, takes the entire charge of the department of English Literature, including Natural and Moral Philosophy, and declares not only the readiness, but enough of Mathematics, Chemistry, Geology and Astronomy, as to enable young ladies to understand all the ordinary phenomena which are constantly presenting themselves to their observation.

For further information, the proprietors of the Institution respectfully refer parents to their prospectus, published in pamphlet form, to be found at the book stores and at the Institution.

G. MOYER'S INSTITUTION,

No. 148 Conti street, between Dauphine and Burgundy.

MR. G. MOYER, founder of this establishment, the oldest in New Orleans, seizes this opportunity to make a new appeal to the confidence of parents.

The institution is conducted in a large mansion occupying a fine central position, being well ventilated, and not unhealthily salubrious.

The range of studies which engage the attention of the pupils, extends over all the branches of learning, which are necessary to a useful, polite and finished education, from primary instruction, to the more abstruse subjects which are specially the province of a collegiate course.

The elementary studies are attended to with more than ordinary care, and those who are destined to pass through the higher classes will find every facility for the successful prosecution of their branches of instruction.

Discipline, which must not be separated from the admission study, nor from a good education, is conducted with admirable. It is calculated according to the age and character of the students, and includes in its plan a system to give them an accurate idea of duty and good behaviour.

—Branches of Instruction.

The English, French, Spanish, Greca and Latin languages; Mathematics, History, Geography, Elements of Natural Philosophy, and Philosophical Science.
