CHANGE IN BANKING DRAWS ATTENTION

Withdrawals Without Notice
From Postal Bank to be Debated at Ottawa

Ladner, S. Vancouver, Has Been Advocating Insurance For Savings Deposits

Ottawa, April 21 (Canadian Press)—There is an interesting connection between the Home Bank failure and the recent change made in the regulations of the postoffice saving banks. One of the chief demands heard here as a result of the Home Bank failure has been that security should be provided for savings of small depositors.

This demand has been based on the complaint that the existing banking system does not provide for safe deposits for those of small means, and in response those making the complaint have been asked why they did not use the post office saving banks. The small depositors in return have stated that the post office saving banks were not used because of the necessity of giving long notice of withdrawal of savings. The new regulation just announced (concluded on page 2.)

HUSBAND SHOT BY BANDIT OUTLAWS

Mrs. H. B. Huff Brings Tragic Story From Central
China

Awful Experiences When Compound is Rushed by Robbers

A bride of four months, herself just recovered from hospital treatment, Mrs. Hannah B. Huff, of Grand Forks, North Dakota, who arrived on the liner Empress of Russia this morning from the Orient, mourns both her husband and the loss of her friend. It is a story of lawless banditry in Hupsh province of China.

Her husband, Mr. Huff, of Abercrombie, North Dakota, went out to China in 1922 to teach, and married Mrs. Huff, whom he had known from childhood, and who had been engaged in missionary work there since 1920.

OUTLAWS' ATTACK

Christmas came with the shadow of lawlessness hanging heavily over the compound, because it was known that the marauding bands of Lao Yang Hsueh were in the vicinity. On the day following the festival the residents of the compound, who included Mr. and Mrs. Huff, and Mrs.
Kielan, also a missionary worker, removed the native convert girls from the mission compound to an adjoining one, which was connected by a ladder.
On December 26, when in the early morning there came the sound of drums, and the bandits rushed the town, and attacked the compound.

In the darkness cries of "run" in Chinese led them to expose themselves as they sought shelter in the adjoining compound. Mrs. Huff was struck by rifle fire in the back, the bullet passing into the lungs, and also in the thigh. Mrs. Huff was shot in the breast, but it was a glancing blow, and the bullet passed out of the flesh. Mrs. Kielan was not hurt, and was carried off by the bandits.

DAYS OF TERROR

Dragging themselves into a Chinese house near the place where they had been shot, Mr. Huff and his wife spent three days there, without food, and little to drink. She had meanwhile (concluded on page 15.)

was recently sentenced by Judge Monet here to serve twenty-five years in the penitentiary and receive twenty strokes of the lash.

MACDONALD DECLARES HIS CABINET AIDING WORLD TO FORM NEW POINTS OF VIEW

York, Eng., April 21.—Premier MacDonald told the Independent Labor Party conference here today that the Labor Government, while doing its best, would not necessarily always come up to the expectations of the party he was addressing.

Mr. MacDonald said he did not know how long the Labor Cabinet was going to be in office, "and I don't very much care," he added, "so long as we do good work. We are helping the world to a new frame of mind and getting people to see that a different viewpoint may be to their benefit, and so long as we do that we are perfectly willing to go on."

Mr. MacDonald did not attend yesterday's meeting, at which his attitude towards the party was subjected to much adverse criticism and the need for amending up the Labor Government was generally emphasized. An anti-revolutionist vote was defeated only by a narrow majority.

below the main deck of the bridge.
After being rescued by local firemen to a hospital, where she is reported to be improving rapidly. She suf-sician here, who had been missing her husband left her for a few on the top of a concrete pier on one of the high level bridges crossing the Saskatchewan River, 150 feet above the frozen surface and 40 feet

FIRST BOOK IN 1886

Her first book, "A Romance of Two Worlds," was published in 1886, and was followed by "Vendetta,"
"Thelma," "Barabbas" and others.
Her works, which were mostly tinged with melodrama, enjoyed popularity and a wide sale from the start. Her style was far from flawless, and her literary lapses drew sarcastic references from the reviewers, but her reply to them was that no books hers were sent to the press for criticism.

IN A CONTROVERSY

Marie Corelli's home was near the birthplace of Shakespeare at Stratford-on-Avon, and she waged a ceaseless warfare against any innovation in connection with Shakespearean relics, and buildings associated with the master poet.
She got into a controversy over her insistence that no monument should be placed in the church of Holy Trinity Church, Stratford, where is located that of the immortal Bard of Avon, as she held it would compete with the famous mural memorial which is annually visited by thousands.

SUNRISE SERVICE ON MOUNT TOLMIE DRAWS THOUSANDS

Second Eastertime Community Gathering is Great Success

Rev. Dr. Davies Contrasts the Physical and the Spiritual Christ

The symbol of the Cross glistening with the bright sunshine of the Easter morning, was first to catch the vision of early arrivals at Mount Tolmie yesterday morning for the annual sunrise service. Automobiles and street cars discharged their crowds at the base of the hill, while pedestrians clambered over rocks and through patches of snow to secure a vantage point long before the opening hymn. Estimates of the attendance vary with the optimism of the calculator, and while some went as high as 7,000 persons, probably a closer approximation would be between 6,000 and 6,500 persons, at any rate an increase of at least 2,000 on the figures of 1923.

Every detail had been well thought-out, and the proceedings passed off with perfect unanimity.
The platform erected by the Victoria Spanish beaches and parks committee for the lookout point was used for the first time, and proved a valuable acquisition. There was muzzed the Gleez Temple band of the Shrine, which with the choir of Centennial Methodist Church contributed to stage effectively the musi-teries of church union and anti-church union argument will be raised by the bill for the union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches of Canada is brought before the

the battle will be fought all over

Cases of Malignant Heart Disease Are Believed Cured

Hartford, Conn., April 21.—Application of a new mercurial formula, said to have been discovered by physicians of the Johns Hopkins Medical School and generally administered in cases of kidney and some inflammation, has apparently effected cures in two cases of malignant heart disease, usually fatal, according to announcement at St.
Francis Hospital here. The patients, one a boy and the other a young man of twenty-five, were suffering with high temperature and had little chance of recovery, the doctors stated. After the remedy was supplied the temperatures returned to normal and both patients are believed to be out of danger.

RESOLUTIONS OF PROTEST AGAINST U.S. EXCLUSION ARE PASSED BY JAPANESE

Bill Approved by Congress of Republic Cause of Great Mass Meetings in Oriental Country; Japan Printers' Association Declares Boycott on Goods From State of California

Tokyo, April 21.—A two-hour conference between Foreign Minister Matsui and Marquis Saionji, one of Japan's two Elder Statesmen, and an open-air meeting, which protested against the exclusion of Japanese from the United States, were features today in the Japanese-American immigration situation.

Marquis Saionji returned to Tokyo from Okitsu solely because of the political situation which has developed since the United States Senate voted to bar from the United States persons ineligible to United States citizenship.

Approximately 100,000 persons attended to-day's mass meeting here, which was under the auspices of several patriotic organizations. Resolutions were passed urging the "rise of the Japanese people, resolved to sacrifice everything if necessary to protect the national prestige."

In an interview with newspapermen, Foreign Minister Matsui admitted the Government considered the situation of sufficient gravity to merit the attention of both the Elder Statesmen, Saionji and Matsukata, and that the matter had been reported to them.

BOYCOTT DECLARED

Tokyo, April 21.—The Japan
Printing Association at a general meeting here yesterday voted to place a boycott on all goods from the State of California.

This is the first official notice in connection with the passage by the United States Congress of an immigration bill barring persons ineligible to citizenship from entrance into that country.
The Senate's action of last week aroused much public feeling here.

Labor elements, hardest hit by the United States ruling, are preparing demonstrations against the exclusion.
The Japan Federation of Labor and the Government Workers Association are planning joint mass meetings in both Tokyo and Osaka at which the immigration bill will be considered.

The four major political parties of Japan held meetings on Sunday and adopted resolutions of protest against the Japanese exclusion legislation passed by the United States Congress.

TO SEND MESSAGES

The Japanese, however, are not the only protestants. The American Association of Japanese-Americans at Merchants Association of Tokyo and American members of the American Society all are sending telegrams to be sent to the United States State Department representing the situation as serious and urging re-consideration of the exclusion measure.

In addition, commercial representatives here of leading American business concerns and banks are said to be urging their respective organizations along the same lines.

A CHURCH REQUEST

Washington, April 21.—The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America yesterday asked the Senate of the House to reconsider the Japanese exclusion section of the immigration bill and to join with the executive department of the Government in solving the problem "in a mutually satisfactory way."

YEARS TO FORGET

Tokyo, April 21.—Flat declaration that war with the United States over the immigration question is impossible, but assertion that would take years for Japan to forget the "insult" imposed by the United States Congress when it voted to exclude Japanese from the United States, were among statements made to-day by Admiral Count Gombel Yamamoto, former Premier of Japan, in an interview with the correspondent of the Associated Press here.

"There is no possibility of war resulting from the action of the United States Congress," Yamamoto asserted. "Our sword leans from the scabbard only when the motherland is menaced or our obligations to our allies call it forth, but the immigration issue does not involve the national safety. With such an affront hurled toward Japan our attitude

Mrs. Eleanora Duse, famous Italian tragedienne, died this ber of performances.

Eleanora Duse, famous Italian tragedienne, emerged from fifteen years' retirement in a triumph at Turin, Italy, on May 6, 1921, by appearing in Messini's "Lady of the Sea."
Her reappearance in public was the signal for an enthusiastic greeting from a distinguished audience which showered her with roses amid frantic cheers for Italy. "La Duse," as she was popularly known, and for

Quebec Liquor Sales Reported

Quebec, April 21.—In the course of the three years of operations of the Quebec liquor law, which will come to a close on April 30, liquor estimated at about $60,000,000 has been sold in the province of Quebec under government control and profits reaching more than $12,000,000 realized by the commission. This includes a $4,000,000 surplus expected to be announced by the commission for the past year's operations.

There has been a big decrease in the sale of high percentage liquor since the law was passed. An increase of from 600 to 700 per cent. in the sale of wine, and a decrease of 50 per cent. in the sale of beer, which though in the hands of the brewers, is under control of the commission through the taverns.

TWO DEPUTIES IN BAGDAD WERE STABBED IN STREET

Excitement Caused by Debate of Treaty With Britain Reaches Climax

Only Fourteen of 100 Deputies Expected to Vote For Ratification of Pact

Bagdad, April 21.—Two deputies known to favor ratification of the treaty between Great Britain and the Kingdom of Iraq were stabbed and seriously wounded while in a street yesterday.

The political situation, accentuated by the emotionalism connected with the Ramadan festival, is rapidly approaching a crisis.

The agitation against acceptance of the treaty indicates that the Constituent Assembly will refuse to ratify all pacts unless they are substantially modified.

One of the main points is that Great Britain fails to guarantee that the Mosul district will not be surrendered to Turkey.

MAJORITY OPPOSED

Agitation against the treaty has been largely conducted by lawyers who King Feisal and some of his Ministers attempting to counteract the campaign, but without apparent success. It is stated only fourteen of the 100 deputies in the Constituent Assembly will vote for the treaty.

M.P.'S WILL MEET NEXT THURSDAY

Will Resume the Debate on Budget Proposals Following Easter Recess

Ottawa, April 21.—The House of Commons, following the Easter recess, will reassemble on Thursday of this week. The members will meet at 2:15 p.m. instead of 3 p.m. for the reading of a tablet in memory of Sir John A. Macdonald, who died on this day in 1891.

The budget debate will be continued after day after day the division is reached.

GUARANTEES ARE ASKED BY FRANCE

Government Wishes to be Sure Germany Will be Forced to Pay

Paris, April 21.—Acceptance by the French Government of the reparations experts' report as a basis for a new reparations settlement has been formally registered with the Reparations Commission in the form of a letter from Premier Poincare to Louis Barthou, president of the commission.

The Premier makes no reservation in his acceptance, but points out that the experts' report presupposes it is understood that all the details insuring realization of the guarantees are to be worked out before the allies are called upon to give up the pledges they now hold.

M. Poincare tells Barthou he hopes the commission will with all diligence proceed with the necessary preliminary negotiations for putting the experts' plan into operation, intimating that their friendship although each always freely acknowledged the genius of the other.

Following her Paris success came Duse's debut in the United States, where her popularity gained at the result of a second tour in which she appeared in the play "The Sign of the Cross" for her by D'Annunzio and which were not altogether well received.

Later D'Annunzio planned a fine playhouse for her on Lake Albano, but after the site had been obtained and the capital pledged.

"La Locandiera" by Goldoni, which Duse scored her initial success in 1880, was one of the five or six pieces she usually included in her repertoire when acting in her native Italy. Duse was regarded by many as at her best as an artist.

ALBERTA LABOR PARTY MEN MET

Calgary, April 21.—George Latham, Edmonton, was re-elected president of the Alberta section of the Canadian Labor Party at Saturday's session of the convention. E. E. Owens, Edmonton, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

It was decided to affiliate with the national body of the Canadian Labor Party and George Latham was appointed delegate to the convention which it is expected will be held next fall.

The convention refused to accept the offer of William Irvine, M.P.F. for East Calgary, to be a delegate for Alberta to the Imperial Labor Conference in London, England, even though Mr. Irvine offered to go at his own expense. The reason given for the refusal was that "he is beneath the dignity of the party."

The executive was instructed to watch closely the Federal redistribution bill and to endeavor to arrange for constituencies which might be carried by labor under proportional representation.

The convention went on record as favoring free education for all right through to the end of the university course and advocated nationalization of the health services of the province.

A resolution was passed calling upon the Dominion Government to provide work and maintenance for the unemployed by a tax upon industry. Another resolution calls for the establishment of schools for the children of workers where they might be taught along social, economic and working class lines.

BOBBED HAIR BANQUET CAUGHT

Jacksonville, Fla., April 21.—Cecilia Cooney, twenty, believed to be the bobbed-hair bandit wanted in New York, was arrested here early today.

Edward Cooney, twenty-seven, who she was the young woman's husband, was also arrested. He is said to have confessed that he was responsible for the shooting of Mrs. Cooney's hair.

Two New York detectives broke down the door of their room in a lodging house, only to be confronted with a pistol in the woman's hands and two held by the man, but the girl shouted that they would not fire unless the officers shot and she was taken without further trouble.

The girl's hair, naturally blond, had been dyed bruisé, and she said. The girl, according to the police, said Cooney had wanted to shoot her and commit suicide when they were taking entrance, but she told him not to fire unless the officers fired.

FOUR KILLED BY RUNAWAY ENGINE

Chicago, April 21.—Police and railroad officials to-day are continuing an investigation into the starting of a Baltimore and Ohio switch engine which tore at high speed through three miles of switch tracks early Sunday, killing four persons and injuring two others before it wrecked itself.

The locomotive starting at the company's coal chute in the South Side switching district, soon gathered speed of more than fifty miles an hour. Those killed and injured were occupants of an automobile the engine tossed aside at a grade crossing in its runaway path.

ELEANORA DUSE, ACTRESS, DIED TO-DAY

For many years until estranged by a quarrel in which all Italy took a sympathetic interest, she has been a family of actors.

Mme. Duse's father and grandfather were Italian actors. Her grandfather, Luigi Duse, established the Garibaldi Theatre in Padua. She first appeared as an actor in minor parts with strolling players. She was born in a wagon on October 3, 1858, at Vigevano, Pavia, a village on the outskirts of Venice. At the time she had reached the age of twenty she had won recognition in Naples as an actress of great power. Her successes called her to Rome in the early 80's, to Paris in 1885, to Vienna and Berlin in 1892 and London and New York in 1893. In 1897 she acted in an actor's company of which she was at the time a member, a Signor Cecchi, from whom she separated some years later. In South America, where her husband abandoned her, she became Consul-General to Argentina. The actress later resumed her maiden name.

RESOLUTIONS OF PROTEST AGAINST U.S. EXCLUSION ARE PASSED BY JAPANESE

Washington, April 21.—Realization that the "Gentlemen's Agreement" with Japan had failed to accomplish its purpose and not to write a Japanese exclusion provision in the immigration bill, Chairman Johnson of the House Immigration Committee declared in a statement to-day.

Long before the Hanjira letter appeared, he said, the measure was assured of passage in the House and a bill in the Senate of the day before showed, he understood, at least fifty-four votes certain for the exclusion feature. The Hanjira letter had forced a practically unanimous action on the part of the Senate. The House, however, had voted four to one before the letter appeared.

Representative Johnson said Congress had decided to terminate the agreement because it had failed to accomplish the purpose for which it was made, which was to prevent an increase of unassimilable Japanese population in the continental United States as the Exclusion Act had done with the Chinese population.

Roosevelt's understanding with the Japanese, he said, was that if the "Gentlemen's Agreement" in operation failed to accomplish the agreed purpose, an exclusion act would be put in force.

LADNER'S PLAN

It is probable a good deal will be heard of this new regulation when

APPEARED IN LONDON

Her last two public appearances, prior to her long retirement, were as a participant in the Ellen Terry theatrical jubilee in London in 1906 and in "La Gioconda" at Cannes, France, in 1907. About this time she had arranged to tour South America but was stricken with an illness in Genoa which caused her to abandon the project.

Shortly afterward she purchased the Capponi Villa, a beautiful Seventeenth Century estate in Florence, where with her daughter, Enrichetta, she made her home. The daughter, in 1908, was married to Edward Bullock of Guisford, England. It was in Florence that "La Duse" really began her artistic career, when at the age of less than twenty she made her original stock company in the theatre, the Arena Nazionale, by her fine acting and youthful beauty in an unimpaired ingenue part in the "Vita Nuova" of Gherardo del Testa.

Three Brothers Are Charged With Theft of Liquor

Cloverdale, B.C., April 21.—Boring a hole in the back door and unfastening the lock, three brothers, Roy, Arthur and Robert Lawrence, of Vancouver, are alleged to have raided the local Government liquor store this morning, securing seven cases of liquor.

Chief of Police Matheson gave chase and caught the three young men as they were crossing the New Westminster bridge. On examination of their car he found the stolen cases of liquor.

INDIAN WHEAT CROP REPORTED

London, April 21. (Canadian Press Cable)—According to a cablegram received at the Department of Agriculture from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, an official report referring to eighty-five per cent of the wheat territory of India states that production of wheat in that territory is 321,400,000 bushels as against 313,000,000 for the same territory last year. This would indicate a crop of 378,000,000 bushels for all India as against 369,000,000 last year. The first report for India last year was 425,000,000 bushels.

CHURCH UNION AS ELECTION ISSUE

Christian Guardian Speaks of Outlook Following the Withdrawal of Bill in Ontario

Scores Anglican Members of Private Bills Committee of Legislature

Toronto, April 21.—The Christian Guardian, the principal organ of the Methodist Church in Canada, states the action of the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature in seeking to amend the Church Union Bill, which resulted in its withdrawal by its sponsors, has raised the prospect of "one of the liveliest religious controversies being thrown into the political arena and fought to a finish at the next election."

The article scores Attorney-General Nicks and other Anglican members of the committee for their attitude on the question, and continues: "When, after some twenty years of negotiation, the Congregational, Presbyterian and Methodist Churches in Canada decided to unite they assumed that it was nobody's business but their own, and that if they properly safeguarded the interests of the minority the Legislature would, without any hesitation, give their sanction to this great forward movement in the religious world. It was with great astonishment, therefore, that we heard that the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature had positively refused to pass the bill to validate the union so far as church property in the province was concerned.

LOBBY ALLEGED

"We knew the small Presbyterian minority had been lobbying persistently to this end, but we did not for a moment dream a committee of the Ontario Legislature would make the mistake of thinking this minority, rather than the presbyteries and the General Assembly, represented the Presbyterian Church, and we do not think they did, and the reason for the rejection of the union bill must be sought elsewhere."

"It is well-known that a number of ambitious Anglicans are bitterly opposed to the union of the three churches on denominational grounds, but no one dreamed that any legislative would ever stand up in our Legislative Assembly and declare that 'We Anglicans would refuse to allow the union bill to become law. We are very reluctant to think religious differences would be allowed to interfere in such a case, but when we are told that fifteen out of seventeen Anglicans voted against the bill, it is hard to resist the conclusion that our Anglican friends, for some reason or other, are not anxious to see church union as an accomplished fact."

LIQUOR ADVOCATES

"Another fact also emerged in the struggle in the Legislature. It is very significant that every well-known defender of the liquor traffic, so far as we know, stood opposed to church union. Possibly not all its opponents were wets, but we do not think there were many dries amongst them. The Liberty Leaguers and the Moderationists are all, so far as we know, opposed to church union. They believe in liberty embraces booze, but not religion. Candidly, we did not expect that our friends the 'antis' would line up against church union. We did not expect their support, but at least we thought they would know too much to meddle with a purely religious question."

$1,000,000 FOR ORANGE ORDER

That Amount May be Raised As Endowment of Organization in Canada

St. John, N.E., April 21.—The probability of $1,000,000 being raised as an endowment fund for the Royal Orange Order was mentioned in an address here yesterday by Hon. J. W. Edwards, Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America.

The former minister of immigration said it was hoped to raise twenty-five per cent of this amount in the Order and the other seventy-five per cent among other Protestants. The amount to be raised in three years. It was planned to use only the interest, which would amount to between $40,000 and $50,000.

With $50,000 at its disposal annually, Dr. Edwards said the Order would be the most powerful and effective organization, not only for the defending of Protestantism, but for the preservation of British citizenship in Canada.

MR. HIGGINS'S WARNING

To the Editor:—It really does seem too bad, Mr. Editor, that whenever an earnest endeavor is made to render honest public service and do something in the interests of the community, there is always someone ready with the hammer to knock and destroy, doing his best to make the enterprise that is launched a failure, and create a feeling of distrust, instead of getting in and doing his bit to make it a success.

Another example of the above is Frank Higgins's letter in the Times of April 17, which contains many inaccuracies. As chairman of the Board of Cemetery Trustees during the period to which Mr. Higgins refers, I do not think it would be right to let his letter go unanswered.

I do not object to fair criticism, as a public man must look for it, but I do think Mr. Higgins should do as his clients are sworn to do, in course of justice, stating the facts, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

Mr. Higgins says "he warns the public about the Royal Oak Burial Park." What has he to warn the public about? Has the board been dishonest? Has he mismanaged its affairs? Has he been dishonest in his conduct? Has the venture cost the city any money? Wherein lies the danger Mr. Higgins refers to?

One is fair to believe that your correspondent is disappointed at his failure to get a cemetery operating here, as he tried to do a few years ago, by the Ocean View Burial Park of Vancouver, of which he is a director, thereby losing the huge profits that private companies acknowledge anticipating making, and thus does not wish anyone else to follow his lead.

Mr. Higgins states "He repeatedly warned Ex-Mayor Marchant and myself on the matter of a municipally owned cemetery. I cannot speak for my co-trustee who was on the board with me in 1922 and 1923, but as for myself, at no time have I ever had any conversation with Mr. Higgins on cemetery matters, nor was I ever offered any free advice from him or his company regarding cemeteries, but I do recall that of many enquiries sent out by me, as chairman, to several cemetery boards in the early stages of our board's activities, the Ocean View Burial Park Co. of Vancouver, was the only corporation that did not answer my enquiries, all of which were of a general character, and in no way touching on the privacy of their business."

The letter states, "Mayor Hayward headed a committee that inspected burial parks in New York, Vancouver and various places in Washington and Oregon, and returned with the idea that they knew all about burial parks." The committee traveled only to gain knowledge; to this day no member of the board thinks he knows all about modern cemeteries, and it was because of this fact that the board engaged for a period a consulting engineer, who was a civil engineer, and it was only because the cemetery had not yet got properly into operation at the end of the year, and proper accounts duly opened, that this was not started by December 31, 1923, and as only nine graves had been set out, that date, the amount that should have been to the credit of the maintenance fund, would have been $1 per grave of $1 in all—shocking state of affairs to be sure.

All accounts are now operating in accordance with the Act. The owners of graves in the new cemetery can rest assured that their interests are properly safeguarded in every respect, and the debenture holders need only refer to their debentures to see that they are guaranteed.

The development of Royal Oak Burial Park has not cost the citizens of Victoria—nor Saanich a cent. In fact, the reverse is the case; they have made money through the board, a rental of machinery and sale of certain supplies, water, etc.

The board's funds have been raised by debenture issue, which will not be a civic liability, unless the cemetery is an utter failure, which is most highly improbable, unless the public take Mr. Higgins's attitude of knocking it, which is also improbable.

The board has fully taken care of its sinking fund, and coupon interest has been paid in full to date.

Victoria and Saanich can never be called upon to give the board any money, but the Act provides that it shall loan them money should at any time their revenue fall short of requirements, and this must be repaid with interest. If a call is made on the municipalities it would be on a fifty-fifty basis.

As soon as Ross Bay Cemetery is filled up, which is now nearly the case, the board's revenue should more than take care of every requirement under the Act.

THE BURIAL PARK
To the Editor:—There appears in your issue of the 17th instant a letter signed by Mr. Frank Higgins which purports to be a warning re the condition of affairs of the Royal Oak Burial Park. This, in my opinion, calls for a reply.
So far as I am aware no financial report has appeared in the press. There is nothing wrong with the finances and there will not be provided we have the support of the citizens of Victoria in this undertaking.
It is true that Mr. Higgins appeared before the Saanich Council in 1918, not, as I remember, to utter any warning, but as one of the spokesmen for a group of cemetery promoters. It appears that Mr. Higgins, and his company approached the Vancouver City Council, and as a result the municipality "was relieved of the financial burdens of cemetery operation." Have the individuals in and around Vancouver been relieved of the financial burden in this regard?
"We are next told that Mr. Higgins offered his advice and also that of the expert of the burial park committee free of charge! I have no recollection of such an offer, but I do remember that the expert he speaks of offered his services to the Greater Victoria Cemetery Board at a figure which the board decided it could not pay."
Mr. Higgins tells us that the cemetery is a long way from a water main. Well, half a mile may be a long way—it depends on your frame of mind.
Further—it is not true that the greater part of the land cannot be used for burial purposes. It is true that we were offered a site four minutes drive nearer the city than the site chosen, and also at more than four times the price paid for the Royal Oak area. In the opinion of men well qualified to judge, there was as much land available for burial purposes on one site as the other. This was proved by actual tests.

We are next informed that we succeeded in laying out only ten acres for burial purposes. However, Mr. Higgins does not tell that at least another ten acres could be laid out without the expenditure of one cent for roadways, which is by far the largest single item of expense in work of this kind. He does not tell you that the water mains for the whole cemetery are in place, that the main drains and also a large portion of the laterals have been installed.
The small portions which cannot be used are on the whole natural beauty spots, and to anyone whose nature is as aesthetic as it could easily be seen that these are one of the most valuable assets to any burial park.
Under the Act on which we operate, the board is compelled to set aside $3 per plot, for maintenance, and this is being done.
The shortage which Mr. Higgins harps on amounted to $27 in 1923, when the cemetery had been in operation a trifle over one month, and it was not deemed necessary to open operating accounts until this year.
Instead of having "a brief statement of facts," in Mr. Higgins's letter, we have, in my opinion, what is largely a tissue of inaccuracies, which may mislead the public.
I once heard Mr. Higgins give a talk on "What Is the Matter With Victoria?" In this he stated that in his opinion the "mass psychology" of this city had not the right viewpoint. At that time he suggested that the newspapers refuse to publish anything which would be detrimental to the city's interests. He also advocated that we adopt as a motto for the city's good, "I pull for Victoria or pull out!"
Might I suggest that he now set the example?
G. F. WATSON,
Chairman Greater Victoria Board of Cemetery Trustees.

Lubrication Lends Wings to The Wheels of Commerce

In the busy marts of the world, the giant motor truck, the flashing delivery car and the convenient taxi are the accelerators of modern business. For speed and sureness they depend upon perfect lubrication. Should lubrication falter, the wheels of commerce would slow down and come to a stand still.

Scientists are agreed that perfect automobile lubricants can be made only from crude oil possessing certain natural characteristics required for this highly specialized type of lubrication. Yet the occurrence of such oils is rare and the quantities are limited.

Canada is one country that has access to an unlimited supply of perfect crude oil. Through Imperial Oil Limited it controls Peruvian Oil Fields which are the source of the finest crude petroleum obtainable anywhere.

Imperial Polarine Motor Oils are an achievement in the production, transportation and refining of lubricants. You will realize their full efficiency when you have your crank case cleaned and refilled with the grade recommended for your car or truck.

A document, dated 1702, records the sale of practically the entire petroleum resources of Northern Peru for 180 pesos of eight reals (about $180). Little they knew the value of petroleum then!
Today, this treasure, once so lightly bartered away, constitutes the Canadian source of supply of superfine lubricating oils which make a great system of motor car transportation function more smoothly and efficiently.

WHO OWNS CANADA'S FORESTS?

THE forests of Canada are owned by the people to the extent of eighty-five per cent. It is true that the timber cutting rights on a portion of the forests are leased to companies, thereby providing 125,000 men with steady and well-paid jobs, but the ownership remains in the name of the Canadian people.

This is in happy contrast to conditions in the United States where three-fourths of the forest area is privately owned. The people of Canada not only gain about twelve million dollars a year for their public treasuries from taxes on the cutting rights but what is even more important they have ample power to ensure that timber crops shall be made the inheritance of future generations.

In the last year for which figures are available in Britain there were eighty-two Acts passed. That does not seem too many. Besides these which went through the House of Commons, however, there were 2,500 regulations and orders-in-council which did not go through the House, but are none the less laws in purpose and effect.

With sixty-three Coolidge delegates now chosen for the Republican convention, eight more than is necessary for victory, the Republican nomination race seems to be over already.

Navigation on the Great Lakes which has been suspended all Winter opened yesterday for this year with two boats passing through the Soo locks. On this coast the year's navigation starts on January 1 and ends only on December 31.

France has paid 85,000,000,000 francs in claims for war damages. Now charges are made in the Chamber of Deputies that only 15,000,000,000 of this amount went into the pockets of genuine victims of the war. What a chance Doheny missed!

DID HE HOAX THEM?

ACCORDING to The New York World Dr. Orloff N. Orlov who died the other day and who it is claimed by some is none other than the Archduke Johann Salvator of Austria, mingling since 1889, told a number of sadly conflicting stories of his family origin and associations. To some he said he was the archduke; to others he declared he was a member of the Russian royal family. From each in turn he courteously accepted little monetary favors. He lived off the bounty of those who believed he was either a Hapsburg or a Romanoff. He had two groups of credulous ones—a Hapsburg group and a Romanoff group.

There was one serious flaw in the Hapsburg story. The Archduke Johann Salvator had a very bald head. He was one of the balded members of the Hapsburg family. Dr. Orloff N. Orlov went to his grave with a waving luxuriance of real hair. Of course it is possible the missing archduke discovered the art of restoring hair. But in that case he would have been affluent, because there is one millionaire in New York who has a standing offer of a million dollars to anyone who will make hair grow on his head.

People like to believe far-fetched things which have to do with mystery or romance. If Orlov, who claimed to be both a Hapsburg and a Romanoff, had said he also was a Bourbon or Braganza, he would have had still another group of believers. Curiously enough, those who will accept as gospel hoaxes which will not stand a few moments investigation will promptly ridicule truths that are readily obvious.

RESTORING BRITAIN'S TRADE

FRANCE may get her reparations, but Britain will be the big gainer industrially, if the German reparations issue is settled. British industry, in its present depressed state, is vitally interested in the negotiations now taking place. Six per cent. of Britain's trade last year was with Germany. This year it is estimated that it will be nearly twice as much. Before the war it amounted to more than fifteen per cent. German buyers are now becoming busy in Britain and Germany's exports are again being financed through London banks as they were before 1914.

Britain does not mind competition, but what has hit her hard during the last few years is that competition by Germany has been largely unfair. British industry has had to bear a burden of taxation five times as great as German industry has. This is instanced in the case of locomotives. India and South Africa have been buying from Germany because the Krupp price has been twenty-three per cent. lower than the lowest British prices. This difference is not due to exchange, but chiefly to the fact that British manufacturers have to pay more in taxes in one year than the German manufacturer does in five.

That is the inside reason why Britain is especially anxious to see 'stable and effective government restored in Germany, with an end of the conditions of free industrialism and cheap production there. The reparations commission in its report recognizes this factor and has set down as one of the cardinal principles of settlement that German taxation should be at least as heavy as that borne by any of the Allied nations.

PROSPERITY DEPENDS ON GERMANY

JOHN MOODY, the business analyst, makes a forecast of what the effect on the business world will be if Germany accepts the reparations terms and begins to pay up.

"If Germany should energetically pay up, the prosperity of the world would be much increased for some time," Mr. Moody says. "In such a case, one might look for a general rise in the prices of cotton, copper, petroleum products, steel, wheat, meat products, tobacco and other international commodities."

Europe needs quantities of raw and semi-finished products and would buy them if the international political tangle could be straightened out. This continent has such goods to sell and is awaiting the buyer. It ought to be time to do business.

TOO MUCH LAW

BRITAIN also has been suffering from a complaint that has caused comment in all parts of this continent—the complaint that during the last few years there has been too much legislation.

Sir Donald Maclean, a leading Liberal speaking at the London Commercial Club, says that this over-production of laws has tended to bring the law in general into contempt because one-half is not administered and the other half not obeyed.

In the last year for which figures are available in Britain there were eighty-two Acts passed. That does not seem too many. Besides these which went through the House of Commons, however, there were 2,500 regulations and orders-in-council which did not go through the House, but are none the less laws in purpose and effect.

With sixty-three Coolidge delegates now chosen for the Republican convention, eight more than is necessary for victory, the Republican nomination race seems to be over already.

Navigation on the Great Lakes which has been suspended all Winter opened yesterday for this year with two boats passing through the Soo locks. On this coast the year's navigation starts on January 1 and ends only on December 31.

France has paid 85,000,000,000 francs in claims for war damages. Now charges are made in the Chamber of Deputies that only 15,000,000,000 of this amount went into the pockets of genuine victims of the war. What a chance Doheny missed!

France is willing to accept the recommendations of the Dawes reparations committee if they are accompanied by pledges for enforcement if Germany should default again. There can be no just quarrel with that attitude. If France abandoned her grip everybody could say goodbye to German reparations. Germany will pay only what she has to pay and France is the only country so far which has put herself in the position of making her pay.

The president of the Daughters of the Empire in Manitoba suggests that Canadians ban oranges and grapefruit imported from the United States and substitute the British Columbia apple. We appreciate the lady's sympathetic concern for our apple industry, but banning oranges and grapefruit would not help it. You might more safely ban tea and coffee to assist the Canadian sarsaparilla and coca cola industries. And what about bananas? Yes, we have none of our own. Or peanuts and cocoanuts?

One of the party of Prairie Members of Parliament who have been visiting the Maritime Provinces says several of them "have eaten lobsters boiled alive and seen the lobsters in their native state for the first time." At first blush this would seem to be a case for investigation by the S.P.C.A., but on second thought we are reminded that the lobster is not an animal. On third thought we are reminded also that the gratification of our carnal appetite involves the slow torture of many other forms of life besides that of lobsters. Everything we eat has life in it before it is prepared for the table.

NOT AFRAID TO TAKE A CHANGE

From The Interior News, Summers. A FEW years back there was a big hue and cry from the purity squad about the germ-carrying facilities of paper currency. The fear is dying hard and we hear the suggestion that money should be fumigated in the banks. I bring the question up at this time because it is the intention to send out statements next week covering subscriptions, and I want to assure subscribers that I am willing to take any and all chances on the germs; to face the need of funds for the months of April and May are such that I agree to walk right up and stare the most terrible germs in the green eye and put a padlock on its disease-gathering mechanism.

THE NECESSITY OF WILD BEAUTY. As the art of life is learned, it will be found at last that all lovely things are also necessary; the wild flower by the wayside as well as the tender corn; and the wild birds and creatures of the forest, as well as the tamed cattle; because man doth not live by bread alone, but also by the desert manna; by every wondrous word and unknowable work of God.—Ruskin.

FAITH WITHOUT WORKS

As the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.—James II, 26.

TO A SEAQUILL OVER THE CITY

On level and illumined wings, high over Our disquiet, you stoote in the void— And staines air; the meagre Winter sunlight Lays on your wings its only flakes of gold. Above our noise, our broken loves, our harter You move in lonely and serene delight— The tears that would not fall for my own sorrow Have blessed the crew, that lift to watch your flight.—Sara Teasdale.

Dr. Frank Crane on "Scandal"

(Copyright)

THE heaviest item of news for some time past has consisted of scandal.

There is the Teapot Dome scandal. It was charged that lands belonging to the Government, which contained petroleum supplies, had been sold to private parties and that the transaction had been tainted with fraud.

Then there was the scandal connected with the Veterans Bureau.

Investigating committees of the United States Senate have been unearthing all sorts of transactions, more or less crooked.

Sensational Representatives prominent business men, members of the Cabinet, Presidents and Ex-Presidents have been more or less spattered by the flying mud. The National Nominating Conventions of the two parties are approaching, and unfortunately scandal-mongering is not yet about its uses in those bitterly partisan bodies. It is time for sober citizens to keep their heads and to seek to do justice in a way that will not produce more injustice as a by-product.

If any man has been guilty of wrong-doing, he should be punished, so long as we are operating under the law of rewards and punishments.

It might be well, however, to bear in mind that there is a great deal of difference between charging one with a crime and proving it.

Senators and Representatives are privileged to say things that no outside citizen would dare to say. The temptation is very great to make reckless statements. Unfortunately, there are plenty of blatherers in both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

For this reason the public should suspend judgment until the facts have been proved.

Scandal is like mud; it is easy to throw and hard to scrape off.

Only too many people are anxious and willing to believe any sort of evil of prominent persons.

I have been in Washington; I have attended the sessions of the Senate and the House, and also those of the investigating committees. My own judgment is that the majority of public men are honest. It is difficult for a dishonest man to remain very long in public life on account of the blaze of publicity under which he constantly acts and accounts for the vigor with which his record is scrutinized by the opposing party.

I think the people of the country should be assured that the majority of their public servants are conscientious and trustworthy. If occasionally a rascal gets into high office he does not last long.

Partisanship tends to inflame passions and puts a premium upon reckless and starting charges.

After all this tumult has died down I think it will be found that, far from being widespread, crookedness and graft among high officials of the Government have been confined to very few.

We should not minimize the turpitude of the betrayal of a public trust, but on the other hand we should remember that starting a scandal is very easy and news of scandal is very interesting, and the public will do well to suspend judgment on scandalous charges until proof is forthcoming.

Also, that the atmosphere of the national legislatures, where senators and representatives call indictments of wild-charge and not be in danger of being used for libel, is very favorable to the spread of scandal.

'Twas a Cruel Winter

THE Winter of 1917-18, which has been a bitter but interesting one for them. Their position was precarious, still outnumbered by the enemy, quartered in the midst of a hostile population which betrayed their every movement, holding a fortress, well-entrenched, defensible by reason of the battering their own guns had given it and of the dilapidated and flimsy nature of the fortifications. At the end of the Winter they were to fight a bloodier battle on the Plains of Abraham than that which gave to England Quebec and to Wolfe an immortal name. Yet, in the meantime, they made themselves at home amid the universal ruins and in a Winter of exceptional severity with the famous adaptability of the British. Tommy, indeed, a journal of those days reads most strikingly like a diary kept anywhere in Flanders within our recent memory.

In October, little more than a month after the battle of the Plains, the fleet sailed for England bearing the body of Wolfe embalmed. Seven thousand soldiers stayed behind under command of General Murray. Of these 700 were to lie beneath the snow before the sun touched the land again, and 3,000 were to be set down as too ill to parade on the day of battle in the coming April.

ANY Autumn day there might be seen a British Highlander reaping in the fields beside his French-Canadian hosts; or a Tommy making himself useful with ax and hammer on a shattered roof; or dividing his last ration of tobacco with the destitute men of the family on which he was billeted. The British soldier admired the spirit of the Frenchman. Reduced from luxury to want, he was so nonchalantly cheerful with his shrug and smile, "Fortune de guerre"—even as his relation so familiar to our troops in France with his everlasting and indomitable, "C'est la guerre!" Also, both British soldier and officer admired the girls and ladies of Quebec. These, gracious and most winning, taught French to the British propaganda, but with rare enthusiasm for their work.

To their uniforms they added what extra rags they could acquire, and the main guard presented a ludicrous appearance. The Highlanders, who had hitherto gloried in their trouserless condition found their traditions inconvenient in zero weather and below. When detachments of them stood guard at the General Hospital out on the banks of the St. Charles, the gentle, modest nuns, shocked at the frank display of hairy legs, pitying the inevitable suffering, knitted long grey woolen stockings which were gratefully if amusedly accepted.

Civilians drew to an end as Spring and battle approached. Many warnings had come in of the preparations which the brilliant and energetic Chevalier de Lévis was making at Montreal. Already numerous skirmishes had taken place in deepest snow and coldest weather on the outskirts of Quebec. Then came certain advice that the enemy from within the break-up of the ice, leading to the men. Murray took swift action. Half his garrison lay sick in hospital and in quarters. He could barely parade 3,500 men. His situation and the state of his dispositions he felt sure, were daily reported to the enemy from within the city. Necessity of war is stern. On April 17th he ordered all French-Canadian, pleasant companions of the Winter's hardships, to leave within three days. Thus he was assured that there would be no treachery behind him when he marched out to fight.

A comparison between religious conditions in England and America has recently been carried out by a committee from the various Protestant churches in each country. A questionnaire sent to English bookstores and libraries inquired that religious books rank next in fiction in popularity. "The space given in American newspapers and magazines to religious news is not moderate," says the committee, "merely the sensational desire of their subscribers to stir up the ultra religious, but is the result of a very earnest search for truth."

Word comes from the American headquarters of the Palestine Foundation Fund that Chaim Nachum Bialik, recognized as the world's foremost living Hebrew poet, has left his home in Berlin to establish a Hebrew book publishing company in Jerusalem. Bialik is a leader in the movement which has resulted in ancient Hebrew once more becoming a living language, particularly in Palestine, where it is fostered by the school system of the Palestine Foundation Fund.

NOTED AUTHOR IS PASSENGER ABOARD EMPRESS OF RUSSIA

J. H. Fassett Returns From Orient by Canadian Pacific Liner

Prominent among the first class passengers aboard the Empress of Russia, which docked here this morning, was James H. Fassett, of Elmira, New York, a well known American author. He has been touring the Orient in search of new material for future writings.

On board the liner was F. M. Hood, of the Hardy Clothing Co., Ltd., London. Mr. Hood is completing his twentieth trip around the world and after concluding business in London will plan another trip when he will go direct to India.

Rev. J. A. MacKenzie is returning from long service at the leper colony in Korea. He is returning to Scotland to retire.

JACKSON HAS BIG LIST FROM ORIENT

A new record for passenger travel from the Orient aboard 525-type liners will be created when the Admiral Oriental liner President Jackson arrives here from the Far East on April 29.

A little over a year ago the Jackson brought 690 passengers from the Orient. This at the time was considered a record but this trip the same vessel is bringing in 720 passengers in her cabins and steerage, thus making up a new mark for traffic between the Orient and this port for Admiral Oriental ships.

In addition to her passengers the liner also has a capacity cargo including a shipment of silk valued at $5,000,000. Another delegation of Filipinos en route to Washington is also aboard the Jackson.

EMPERESS OF RUSSIA HAS BIG SHIPMENT OF SIBERIAN FURS

88,000 Skins Stowed Away in Holds; Cargo Includes 3,500 Bales Silk

With the largest shipment of Siberian furs that has been brought across the Pacific in a trans-Pacific liner, a consignment of raw silk of over 3000 bales and a passenger list totaling over 700, the Canadian Pacific Empress of Russia, Capt. A. J. Hosken, R.N.R., docked at pier 2 of the Outer Wharf, 6:30 o'clock this morning, thus completing one of the most successful trips for some years.

Included in the 3,000-ton cargo aboard the liner was a consignment of 174 bales of furs containing approximately 88,000 skins of various varieties, for trans-shipment to New York and London.

The silk shipment this trip amounted to 3,500 bales valued at approximately $5,000,000. Immediately on arrival in Vancouver the cargo will be loaded aboard the special silk train and rushed to New York. The Vancouver cargo consignment totaled 2,850 tons of cargo while 150 tons of cargo were discharged here. Mail put off here amounted to 1,200 bags, most of which will be trans-shipped to the United States.

The passenger list aboard the liner totaled 740 all told. There were 120 first class passengers, 110 third class passengers and 500 hundred steerage.

Finds New Method Of Disposing of Excess Liquors

New York, April 21.—Captain F. Muras, of the French liner Paris, arriving Saturday announced the discovery of a new method for disposing of liquors in excess of the medicinal allotment which his vessel had brought to the twelve-mile limit.

Instead of dumping to the fish, as has been the practice, he stood treat to all the second and third class passengers aboard. The French skipper reported a gay-time prevailing on his ship as she came within territorial waters.

Navigation Open At Head of Lakes

Port Arthur, Ont., April 21.—In-bound navigation at the head of the Lakes was opened at 8:30 this morning with the arrival at Port Arthur of the steamer Huron of the Northern Navigation Company from Sarnia. This is the first time a passenger boat has opened the inbound season from the lower lakes. She left Sarnia at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. En route across Lake Superior she passed a number of freighters which followed her into Port Arthur and Fort William at various hours to-day. The shipping season is now in full swing.

SEA CHIEFS KEPT ON BRITISH SHIP

Knives and Cudgels Flay Sleeping Man on Tanker Santa Maria

Three Chileans under arrest, charged with wounding a sleeping man on the tanker Santa Maria, were awakened from sleep to find themselves the centre of an infuriated attack by five Chilean seamen, Michael McMahon, seaman of the tanker Santa Maria, lies at the Immigration Building with four knife wounds in his body, and a battered head.

Three Chileans, Teodoro Sanibanes, seaman; Pedro Maturana, fisherman, and Daniel Navo Parral, a policeman, were arrested in the Provincial police cells, under charge of wounding McMahon in a fracas which threatened to assume the proportions of a riot. McMahon, who was sleeping in the cabin of the Santa Maria at 10 o'clock Saturday night, as she lay alongside the Imperial Oil Company's wharf.

McMahon joined the ship at Vancouver the day previous and was promoted to quartermaster when the watches were set. His promotion displaced Teodoro Sanibanes, though the newcomer was unacquainted with the fact. To him it was a fine ship and good pay, with the prospect of a good berth for the next few years.

McMahon was awakened when he was grasped by the hair of his head and dragged to the bulkhead. He had no more than got his eyes open when from left and right and all around came blows. Forceful blind blows which drove him to the deck as they took in the sight of five Chilean seamen milling around his semi-conscious body.

McMahon was next dragged from his bunk to the corner of the cabin where he felt himself slugged with a heavy iron bar. He was then thrown on the deck and thrashed about by the seamen. It was at this instant that his room mate awoke to see the milling men and the flash of steel. With one blow the seaman's head was split and he was thrown overboard. The other three were bound and taken to the Immigration Building where they are now being held.

The injured man caught sight of two knives in the hands of the seamen who had passed into unconsciousness. What happened later was told to the provincial police by the ship's company. The youngsters in the bunk from the cabin gave the alarm. Seamen and engineers rushed to the aid of their comrade. The seamen fought their way through a mob of Chileans into the cabin where McMahon arrived in time to save McMahon from more serious injury.

McMahon was lying on the floor in a welter of blood. He was stabbed in three or four places. His right eye was hit but cut free from the socket. Raised in the scuffle his left foot was slashed open at the toes, while he had received more perforating lacerations at other parts of his body. His face was battered from first and cudgel blows piled before the knife finished off.

Order was restored by a liberal use of seamanlike persuasion and the injured man taken ashore to be rushed to the St. Joseph's Hospital. So passed Saturday night. On Sunday the Provincial police were notified and arrested the three seamen now in custody. They will be arraigned before Magistrate Jay in the Provincial Police court to-morrow.

While the ship was waiting to clear, the master asking to be freed from further delay in the matter. Attended by Dr. J. J. Macdonald, McMahon made a plucky attempt to rejoin his ship but landed instead in the Immigration Building where he is recovering from the wounds he received.

The Santa Maria, of British register, but chartered to the Imperial Oil Company, called here with 25,000 barrels of fuel oil for the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway. She was permitted to clear last night for San Pedro.

Seen by The Times this morning at the Immigration Building McMahon gave his story of the fight though obviously puzzled to account for the object of the unpleasant attentions.

"I reckon it was jealousy," he said, "though I had never spoken to them in my life. When I woke up they had me by the hair of the head and were pounding me. They were jabbering in their own lingo but I couldn't make it out. They dragged me from the bunk to the floor. I saw two of them with knives and then I was battered over the head. I just remember the others breaking in and then I lost consciousness."

Michael McMahon, unwittingly playing the lead in this drama of sea life, was born in Dublin, Ireland, thirty-two years ago. He shipped at eighteen years of age and has followed the sea without intermission since. He is an ex-yankee man with four medals won in the Great War where he served on torpedo boats and mine-sweepers. It was on the Lyndra III, that he got his first close call, when that ship ran on a mine off the Sicily Isles in 1915. McMahon was the leading seaman gunner were the sole survivors picked up by rescuing boats after the disaster.

The fight on the Santa Maria, declares McMahon, was the worst piece of luck he was ever in. With a wife and four children at Liverpool he received the $12 a month on the Santa Maria as a change from a $40 berth on another ship. He changed ships at Vancouver just before the Santa Maria left for Esquimalt, and was beginning to congratulate himself on finding a first class berth.

Now his ship has left him, and perhaps he is at the Immigration Building not certain what is to be done for him or to whom by the authorities. His interest in his assailants' aspect is but recent from their hands, and his chief concern is to secure another berth with the least possible delay.

PASSENGER TRAVEL FROM ORIENT WILL BE BIG THIS YEAR

All Inbound Liners Are Bringing Large Passenger Lists

Blue Funnel Liner Has 400 Steerage Aboard

For Seattle there are thirty-two first class passengers, forty steerage passengers and a party of one hundred Japanese tourists, who will tour the United States. For Vancouver the Africa Maru has 600 tons cargo for discharge at Victoria.

The Blue Funnel liner Philoctetes is due here April 29 with fifty tons of cargo and 400 steerage passengers.

Stop! Look!! Listen!!!

This splendid advice and no doubt has saved many lives, but after it is saved it is really worth living in a dingy, unhealthy place which could never be called a home? Do you know that there is a great move among Victoria citizens to build homes for themselves? This move has been created by the "Star Construction Co., Ltd." Victoria people may be termed sleepy but they know a good thing when they see it and they have evidently been examining our new bungalows.

May Queen Contest Scheduled to Close For Entries on Saturday

Good progress is being made with the May Queen contest preparation for which entries close next Saturday.

The Retail Merchants Association through the Victoria branch will this evening choose a manager for Miss Barker, candidate of the branch for Queen of Progress.

Efforts are still being made to interest the various branches of the Canadian Pacific Railway, steamship, railway, and hotel, in Queen of Utilities.

The Indian races that have always been the main attraction at the May 24 regatta at the Gorge will be held this year as usual with all their old-time picturesque features. Chief Michael Cooper, head of the Songhees tribe, with whom the celebrations committee have been keeping closely in touch during the past few days, has been spreading the annual tidings that $10 per paddle awaits the winning canoes, and the interest taken in the news, according to the chief, is just as keen as in past years. The Anacortes Indians, who came over from the American side a year ago, and paddled in the Gorge contests, are expected back again, while the Point Grey, Cowichan and Saanich tribes will be in the limelight as they have been regularly for many successive celebrations.

Tandem canoe races for the Indians will also be on the programme at the regatta, in addition to the various canoe competitions. This will be an improvement over the events arranged last year when no tandem races for the red men were included.

In addition to the Indian events there will be the usual lapetrek races and other contests. A trial of strength between four-oared mixed strokes is also being arranged as a result of the excellent showing made in club regattas by the lady rows of the J.B.A.A. last Summer.

Knocked Down BY DERRICK BOOM

Lincoln Smith Has Narrow Escape From Serious Accident on Ss. Suruga

Standing on the deck of the Ss. Suruga, at the Canadian Puget Sound Company's wharf shortly after 10:30 this morning, Lincoln Smith, well known ship or chandler, was caught by a freight derrick which rammed against the rail of the ship. A gash two inches long was torn in the right side of his head. With presence of mind that probably saved him from more serious consequences, Mr. Smith caught hold of the stanchions and held on. The boom passed on.

Dr. E. W. Boak was summoned and ordered his removal to the Jubilee Hospital. Mr. Smith was waiting for his removal by his brother, Walker, at the time, and had not noticed preparations under way to load lumber. The boom caught him as he was about to descend the stairs. He was thrust him over the side, if it had not been for his grip on the rail.

OKANAGAN SAFE BARROW FINDS

Investigates Dairy Possibilities in Big Fruit Raising Area

Confidence that the Government will hold its present strength in the central interior at the next election and capture seats now held by the Opposition, Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, returned to Victoria yesterday after a tour through the Okanagan.

Mr. Barrow's political observations were incidental as his purpose in going to the Okanagan country was to investigate the request of the fruit growers there for assistance in securing "dairy" herds. After looking into the situation himself, Mr. Barrow instructed W. T. Macdonald, livestock commissioner, to proceed to the Okanagan district immediately and report on the growers' proposal.

AMAZINGLY LOVELY TONE

Anyone who possesses a knowledge of music, or who is accustomed to playing upon an instrument of the better quality, just cannot fail to be impressed with the magnificent quality of the

BRAMBACH BABY GRAND

The Brambach occupies no more space than an upright piano; but it is a grand in its tone value and tone quality. Its price, only $950, will be materially reduced if you have an ordinary piano to give as part payment.

Let your fingers sweep the keyboard, and at once you will marvel at the ingenuity which has enclosed a tone of such inspiring volume in a case so small.

FAMOUS ACTOR MANAGED HERE

Sir John Martin-Harvey Arrives For Week's Engagement

Sir John and Lady Martin-Harvey arrived in the city this afternoon from Calgary, in the course of a tour of Canada touring the theatre, which has been a great success in the cities which his company has visited.

The famous British actor manager will be seen in a new play, during which he will appear in five plays. The present tour is made in fulfillment of the promise of 1921 when he was last in Canada.

For twenty years Sir John has been playing Shakespearean roles, and on this occasion he will be seen in "Hamlet" while "The Taming of the Shrew" has also been given on this tour, but is not in the repertoire here.

The Victoria public is anxious to see how Sir John has adopted the Sophoclean tragedy of the Oedipus Rex, which has been received from other parts of the world indicate how the production has stirred the great dramatic centres, and have admired the way in which the great Athenian playwright stimulated the audiences of twenty-five centuries ago to the admiration of his tragic art.

The three other plays to be presented are all those in which he has been appearing for some years, and which have won the approval of audiences here on his prior visit.

His son, who shares his father's love for art, accompanies Sir John to Victoria.

WILL NOT BE SUBSTANTIAL FACTOR IN ELECTION, W. J. BOWSER DECLARES

Opposition Chieftain Optimistic Over His Prospects After Tour

The Provincial Party will not be a substantial factor in the next provincial election and will not elect a single member to the Provincial Legislature, in the opinion of W. J. Bowser, K.C., leader of the Conservative Party who reached home here yesterday after a tour which took him to most of the interior ridings of the Province.

"The Royal Commission on Pacific Great Eastern Railway affairs simply thought they were strong, they are having a hard time to get even a duffer to run as their candidate and the electors of this country are not voting for duffers nowadays."

"When the Provincial Party first started many people were carried away with the idea that the prominent lawyers who were leading the party must be able to prove their charges. Then when they failed utterly to do so the people who had believed in them came to the conclusion that they were just silly old blackguards."

"There is no doubt, however," Mr. Bowser added, "that the Provincials will take some votes although I do not believe that they will elect a single member."

Contrary to the general estimate of the Provincials' probable effect on the election, Mr. Bowser thinks that they will not take Conservative but Liberal votes.

IS OPTIMISTIC

Mr. Bowser returns from his tour highly optimistic over the prospects of his party in the next provincial election, to take place in the Summer. Never before, he said, has the party nominated such a fine type of men as candidates.

"They are all of cabinet calibre," he asserted.

Mr. Bowser plans to attend a number of conventions on the coast in the next few days and then to go into the Kootenay country. By the end of next month, he stated, the Conservative Party will have all its candidates in the field.

REGULATIONS WILL NOT HOLD BACK AUTOMOBILE PARTIES

Victoria is Being Widely Advertised in South

Summer tourists from California will meet with no irksome regulations that should deter them from coming to Victoria this summer as a result of the precautions against the spread of the foot and mouth disease, which has reached such proportions as to become a serious menace in the South.

Writing from Los Angeles, O. Hollingsworth, the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau representative in the South, who was recently made representative for the Puget Sound and British Columbia Association handling inquiries received as a result of the joint advertising campaign, states that he has secured information on the measures taken at the boundary line before automobile tourists are allowed to pass from California to the Northwest states. There was some delay at first owing to the fact that the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau had not started early, and there was not the staff to handle the cars on arrival. This has now been increased, and motorist complying with the regulations which, among other things, prohibit the bringing of any livestock are speedily passed along.

NAME COMMITTEE ON TOLL TELEPHONE

Will Consider Complaints of Cedar Hill and Cadboro Bay

The committee of the Chamber of Commerce named to consider the complaints made at the last meeting of the board of directors by a deputation from Cedar Hill and Cadboro Bay districts to be incorporated with Gordon Head zone under a toll system, declared that it would meet on the 23rd inst. at 10 o'clock. At the directors' meeting the deputation asked the chamber to operate in resisting the proposed toll, and declared that it would mean a loss of business to Victoria owing to the fact that subscribers telephoning orders to city stores would be called upon to pay five cents for the call. It was stated that some of the subscribers were prepared to have their telephones taken out rather than to conform to the new regulations.

On the other hand it is pointed out that a reduction in the monthly rate of the toll system would be effected with the introduction of a toll system, which would allow for an average of about one call a day to be made to Victoria to even up the proposed toll system.

The committee named by the Chamber of Commerce comprises H. O. Kirkham, H. S. Pringle, R. J. Jamieson and A. E. Mallet.

DISCUSS QUESTION OF BIRD SANCTUARIES; OFFICERS CHOSEN

The second annual convention of the British Columbia Ornithologists' Union is in progress to-day at the Provincial Museum.

The officers selected to-day for 1924 are: Hon. president, the Minister of Agriculture, for Island, Theodor Pearce, Courtenay, and W. N. Kelly, Victoria; chairman, R. W. Kelly, Courtenay; R. G. Glendinning, Agassiz; secretary, J. A. Munro, and Dr. Kelso, of Arrow Lakes; editorial committee, Messrs. Winslow, Racey and Thacker.

The main discussion of this morning was to emphasize with children the necessity of conserving the bird life in the interests of agriculture and horticulture, with competitions for bird boxes and lantern lectures, and popular magazine articles. The urgency for establishing bird sanctuaries as breeding ground was reported by the committee, who have been reported for that purpose.

No Military Rites For Col. Andrews in Accordance With His Wishes

With impressive simplicity, according to his own expressed wish, and to the accompaniment of the magnificent choir of the St. Mary's church, the late Col. R. G. H. Andrews was laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The congregation which filled the doors of the late "Padre's" church, St. Mary's, Oak Bay, to overflowing, were representatives of all denominations, returned soldiers and citizens who retained kindly memories of his unflinching cheerfulness and sympathy.

The choir, under the direction of Rev. R. G. H. Andrews, and in the presence of the late Col. Andrews' military cap and Sam Brown belt, together with a cross of flowers from his sisters and friends, gathered from his own garden by his housekeeper. Hitchcox, W. Carroll, R. Connell, N. E. Smith, F. C. Chapman and W. E. Cockshutt.

IMPRESSIVE SCENE MARKED FUNERAL OF LATE "PADRE"

No Military Rites For Col. Andrews in Accordance With His Wishes

With impressive simplicity, according to his own expressed wish, and to the accompaniment of the magnificent choir of the St. Mary's church, the late Col. R. G. H. Andrews was laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The congregation which filled the doors of the late "Padre's" church, St. Mary's, Oak Bay, to overflowing, were representatives of all denominations, returned soldiers and citizens who retained kindly memories of his unflinching cheerfulness and sympathy.

The choir, under the direction of Rev. R. G. H. Andrews, and in the presence of the late Col. Andrews' military cap and Sam Brown belt, together with a cross of flowers from his sisters and friends, gathered from his own garden by his housekeeper. Grouped around the coffin were many beautiful floral tributes sent by sorrowing friends. The pallbearers included the following Anglican clergymen, all in surplice and sancocks: Revs. H. W. Hitchcox, W. Carroll, R. Connell, N. E. Smith, F. C. Chapman and W. E. Cockshutt.

The choir accompanied the procession to the grave and at the graveside sang the hymn "Abide With Me," which the Bishop of Columbia pronounced the last solemn rite.

TOURISTS TO INCONVENIENCE

Regulations Will Not Hold Back Automobile Parties

Victoria is Being Widely Advertised in South

Summer tourists from California will meet with no irksome regulations that should deter them from coming to Victoria this summer as a result of the precautions against the spread of the foot and mouth disease, which has reached such proportions as to become a serious menace in the South.

Writing from Los Angeles, O. Hollingsworth, the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau representative in the South, who was recently made representative for the Puget Sound and British Columbia Association handling inquiries received as a result of the joint advertising campaign, states that he has secured information on the measures taken at the boundary line before automobile tourists are allowed to pass from California to the Northwest states. There was some delay at first owing to the fact that the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau had not started early, and there was not the staff to handle the cars on arrival. This has now been increased, and motorist complying with the regulations which, among other things, prohibit the bringing of any livestock are speedily passed along.

cal portion of the function. The band uniforms gave an attractive color effect to the scene. An amplifier was utilized with advantage, and motion picture men and many amateur photographers were to be seen in the crowd, the conditions being ideal for photography. It is expected the motion picture re-

suits will be thoroughly satisfactory. REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING
The gathering embraced every walk of life in the city, and particularly a large number of young people. The collection for the Jubilee Hospital and for the Centennial Church radio was made by a group of ushers. Among those noticed were Mayor Hayward, Aldermen Woodward and Todd, and Reeve Macnicol. Alderman Todd and Mr. Macnicol represented the beaches and parks committee who desire to see Mount Tolmie used more by the public, and came to see how the public appreciated the opportunity. Four hymns were sung, a responsive reading from St. John, and prayers with the sermon by Rev. Dr. Davies, pastor of Centennial Methodist Church, made up the form of service, which was printed in souvenir booklets. The service was just an hour in duration, and so attentive was the whole audience during the preacher's discourse that the low call of the pheasant to his mate could be distinctly noted in the scrub. The magnificent panorama spread out in the valley below naturally stirred the allusion of the preacher, as it had won the admiration of hundreds prior to the beginning of the service. The "sun-blossoms in the orchards of Cedar Hill, the sun-kissed waters to the South and East, the Gulf marked here and there with steamers, or motor boat, or fishing smack, and the columns of slow rising smoke from citystacks, made a picture which will live long in the memories of those who attended the service. Lovely as are some of the locations elsewhere that thousands gather for sunrise services of Easter day, Victoria finds in Mount Tolmie a truly rival to the most picturesque of its peers.

"Unlimited by time or space the Christ walks the earth ever present, and everywhere present. The grave of Jesus was the birthplace of an indestructible belief in immortality of the soul. Immortality as affirmed by Jesus and illustrated by His resurrection is the fundamental fact of the New Testament. If the granite door of death has opened for one man to pass through, it is open for all. Christ has become the first fruits of them that slept."
"Physical truths could not be comprehended so long as the disciples clung to the physical Christ. Thomas said: "Except I see in His hands the print of the nails I will not believe." The voice of the spiritual Christ replies: "Blessed are ye who have not seen, and yet have believed." The Christ of God is here on this mountain top this glad Easter day.

"The Christ of God walks on every street in the home, the workshop, the church, the office, the factory, the halls of government, ready to help in every daily avocation, yearning to as-ist every redemptive effort for humanity. "Walk then with this great spiritual companion of the resurrection morning. The Christ stands near, and you cannot see Him for your tears, heartaches, worries, worldly cares, abstractions and distractions. May God help you all to see and to know Him, and His touch upon your lives to-day."

Dr. Davies concluded with an appeal for the audience to attend their places of worship that day, in the spirit of Easter thanksgiving.

THE FOREWORD
In a foreword, before commencing his sermon, Dr. Davies congratulated them on the wonderful Easter morning, a response to the sympathetic vibrations of prayer. After quoting the simple greeting of the Russian peasantry on Easter morning, he reminded the audience of the heritage that mountain gave to the Victorians, with its prospect of snow-capped hills, of seascape, of a marvellous valley below, and the sky line of those buildings which they had lived and worked. Other cities might be attractive, but they would agree Victoria had possessions greater than those of other places.
His text that morning, Dr. Davies said, would be drawn from two passages. "It is expedient for you that I go away," and, "They have taken away His body."
RELICS OF PROPHET AND MARTYR
"All over the world to-day can be found relics of saints, prophets, martyrs and heroes," he began. "These relics have been a source of inspiration to the human race in all parts of the world. There is a part of the manger of Bethlehem, a table upon which the last supper was celebrated, the cradle of Christ, the wooden table placed on the cross by Pilate, the slab on which the soldiers cast lots for the garments of Our Lord; the spear of the lance which pierced the side of Christ, a piece of the Cross, a thorn from the crown of thorns, a crystal vase containing a drop of Christ's blood, an iron crown—a circle which is beaten out of the nails used at the Crucifixion.
"Who can be indifferent to the clamor of the past? The bones of heroes and martyrs and saints bring to us a sense of nearness to them. It is well in this Easter service to note the fact that perhaps the most dangerous relic which Jesus could have left the world would have been His own body. When Jesus ascended he took his body with him, and before his death he said, 'It is expedient for you that I go away.' The absence of a relic in connection with the body of Christ is the most remarkable fact in the New Testament history, one of the most remarkable in history.
THE SPIRITUAL BODY
"This resurrection reminds us this morning," observed Dr. Davies, "that while the physical body of Our blessed Lord is not with us yet thank God he is universally with us in the spirit. How fortunate for us that Jesus took away his physical body and left us his spiritual body. In his spiritual resurrection he becomes the possession and great companion of us all. Had Jesus stayed with us in the body, we might most of us never have seen him. What a vast audience is here this morning! I suppose it would take hours for me to shake them each by the hands. When the Prince of Wales visited Canada his hand was spained shaking hands with the thousands who greeted him, and yet millions in Canada were unable even to see him, let alone to touch him.
"If Christ were here in bodily form on this mountain this morning, every ship would be crowded with pilgrims to the port of Victoria. Every train flying across the American continent would be crowded with Christian people.
A PICTURESQUE SIMILE
"Every ship that started from Europe would be packed with people sailing to see Jesus at Victoria. Every mail bag would be full of letters from those in difficulty and trial, and with gifts of homage to manifest men's love and gratitude. When the ships arrived at the port of Victoria the bay would be blocked with vessels of every flag, with much difficulty the people would land, and as far as the eye could reach there would be an endless caravan of people coming to see Jesus. Thousands would come from the North, and the East, and the South, and the West to look on their Lord. They would come, but they would not see him. They would remain weeks, and months, and perhaps years, and never see Jesus. The thing would be impossible. The world could never get near, and worship a physical Christ. A physical Christ is a physical impossibility. Therefore 'It is expedient that I go away.'
"A physical Christ is national, a spiritual Christ is non-national. A resurrected Christ is worshipped by Oriental and Occidental," said the preacher.
THE "NATIONAL" CHRIST
"Whenever painters have painted the Christ, He is described on canvas in the form and feature of their own nation. To the Latin fathers and sculptors He is an Italian Christ, to the Hebrews a Jew, to the Japanese an Oriental, to the Russians a Russian, while the English artists picture Him as a fair Christ. Every one conceives the physical Christ in his own nationality, color and race.
"We ought to thank God that His body went away. Would the Christian world be ready to worship the physical form of a Jew? Would Americans be content with a Japanese Christ? Would England be satisfied with a Chinese Christ? Would Orientals feel at ease in worshipping an Occidental Christ? In the resurrection His body was taken away. The spiritual Christ displaced the physical Christ. It was expedient that Christ should go away that in His spirit He might be a universal possession. If Jesus were in Victoria in physical form, millions of the race the world over could never get near Him. Think of the broken hearted who could not touch Him. Think of the mothers with babes in their arms who could never touch His garment. Something better has happened. He has risen in the spirit. He has become the world's greatest possession. He went away that He might be near us, and His healing life can be secured by all.
"In the spirit He has become the creative good will at the heart of the universe. In Him we live and move, and have our being. Closer is He than breathing, nearer than hands and feet.

Latest Film Spectacle "Triumph," Produced by De Mille, Showing Here

Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque and Theodore Kosloff are Favorites Appearing in Cast of This Famous Picture Showing at Dominion Theatre

Cecil B. De Mille's super production "Triumph" to play at the Dominion Theatre this week, is adapted from the Saturday Evening Post story by May Edginton. Cast includes such favorites as Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque and Theodore Kosloff. Also first of a series of British scenic films, showing the grandeur and beauty of the British Isles.

In "Triumph" Cecil B. De Mille returns to the gorgeous girls, gowns and settings. The theme is an ultra modern society love story and in direction and production is up to and even surpasses the peak of the De Mille standard. The cast is a notable one.

Leatrice Joy who created such a sensation in Manslaughter, and now a star to be reckoned with, has the role of a pretty girl worker in a big factory. Rod La Rocque, who stars in The Ten Commandments is in the role of a young millionaire who has inherited his father's factory, but doesn't know anything about business and doesn't want to. Victor Yarcon, a brand-new fine young actor from Hungary, whom De Mille has taken under wing to develop as he did Meighan, Miss Swanson and others is disconcerted factory foreman in love with Miss Joy.

La Rocque happens into his factory and falls in love with Joy at first sight. She scorns him. By force of circumstances La Rocque loses all his money, and Yarcon becomes rich and owner of the factory. The latter is ruined by sudden loss of it. Joy is induced into high life. But eventually she marries La Rocque.

The big scenes in "Triumph" include an elaborate burlesque of the ultra-modern beauty parlor type of barber shop, a big cafe set, a lavish flashback to the balcony scene in "Romeo and Juliet," a big exotic banquet in Paris, and La Rocque and Yarcon fighting in a close limousine at ninety miles an hour.

Turf and Ring Are Themes of Sporting Film
 "The Great White Way" at Capitol Mirrors Broadway Life

"The Great White Way" a new photoplay that mirrors life on Broadway, plays this week at the Capitol Theatre. Leading celebrities of the prize ring, the race track, prominent sports writers and other quarter of miles of sportdom make their film debut in the picture.

The turf and the ring, along with the leaders in these two branches of sport, are graphically brought to the screen in this picture of life in the great metropolis. One of the big features is a realistic prize fight in which Pete Hartley, well known lightweight contender, battles Oscar Shaw, leading man of the film. This scene includes such sporting celebrities as Tex Rickard, who appears as promoter; Joe Humphreys, announcer; and Johnny Gallagher as referee. Others who appear around the ring or in training quarters of Madison Square Garden are Irvin S. Cobb, Damon Runyon, "Bugs" Baer, Billy De Beck, "Kid" Broad, Tammany Young and H. C. Witwer, author of the story.

Another thrilling feature of "The Great White Way" is a big race track scene, filmed at Belmont Park on Futurity Day. It discloses a realistic steeplechase, specially staged for the picture, and many other phases of turf life. Earl Sande, world's premier jockey, is another of the many sporting celebrities who appears.

The regular cast, in addition to Oscar Shaw, includes Anita Stewart, T. Roy Barnes, Tom Lewis, Olin Howland, Harry Watson, Dore Davidson, Hal Ford, Stanley Ford and Frank Wonderley.

Opens To-night With the Famous Crawford Romance

Sir John Martin Harvey Will Appear in "A Cigarette Maker's Romance"

Sir John Martin-Harvey and his company arrived in the city this afternoon, coming direct from Calgary, where a tremendously successful few days' engagement was completed on Saturday evening. Sir John was in splendid spirits after his long trip, and to look at him no one would think that he was finishing a trans-continental tour which called for the presentation of the heaviest series of plays which has ever been attempted by any artist. As an example of the magnitude of Sir John's undertaking it was found necessary to send part of the equipment ahead from Calgary in order to have it reach here this morning so that there would be no delay in staging to-night's production of "A Cigarette-maker's Romance," a play in which great interest has been aroused since the success in the movie stories of its author, F. Marion Crawford. "A Cigarette Maker's Romance" will also be given on Friday evening.

To-morrow evening and Wednesday afternoon Sir John will be seen in what is considered by many his greatest achievement, Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex," and on Thursday "Haniel," which will be followed on Wednesday by "The Burgomaster of Stillemonde." Saturday the famous actor will bid farewell in his performances of "The Breed of the Freshams."

"Ali Baba" Pantomime Opens At the Playhouse

Feature Picture Stars Laddie Cliff in "The Card"

Big preparations for the holiday season have been the order of the day at the Playhouse Theatre, and, judging from this afternoon's performance, the results must be most gratifying to the management. "Ali Baba or the Naughty Elves" has the real pantomime spirit, with irresistible comedy both in dialogue and song.

Erlie Petch is resplendent in Eastern costume as Mrs. Ali Baba, the real ruler of the province, due to her despotic influence over her unfortunate husband Ali Baba, a part excellently taken by Reginald Lincks.

Her final overthrow due to her fatal attachment to the municipal policeman provides a situation that no one is able to resist, as does her jovialism, in which she sings him a song glowing with passion much to his latent discomfort.

The Caliph in the midst of all this is taking a tour of his provinces disguised as a minstrel for the purpose of checking up on his agents and activities on this hotbed of graft and maladministration. He also stumbles onto a very charming lady in the person of Fatima, Mrs. Ali's maid, charmingly represented by Miss Mamie Fraser, with the result that although he is inclined to visit dire vengeance on all concerned, at the earnest request of Fatima everyone is forgiven, and they all live happily ever after. The part of the Caliph is in the able hands of Will Marshall, while Peggy Lewis is as perky as ever as a lover of anything in a uniform.

The feature picture, "The Card," is one of the greatest of English comedies and Leatrice Joy, in brilliant company with Laddie Cliff, "The Card" is a diverting tale of a youthful young man, who manages by sheer cheek of most humorous kind to become one of the celebrities of his town. Laddie Cliff, although still young, has been before the public for twenty-five years. While still lad of sixteen he toured the world. As a laughter maker he is unequalled, and his work in "The Card" his first appearance on the screen, strikes a new and happy note in picture production.

"The Eleventh Hour" Coming Next Week to Columbia Theatre

"The Eleventh Hour," the new Fox production to be shown at the Columbia Theatre to-day, is probably one of the most colorful and fantastic films ever shown upon a screen. Thrills and action cover every square inch, all carefully and deftly woven into an exciting story, that keeps two stars, Charles Jones and Shirley Mason, dashing from one nerve-tugging incident to another.

The story contains such highly interesting characters as a mysterious foreign prince, a weird old chemist and "the wildest Irishman in the world." A submarine, a torpedo boat, a motor boat and an airplane—also figure in various exciting rescues and captures of a little heiress to a vast estate.

'TRIUMPH'

FEATURING
Leatrice Joy, Rod La Rocque, Julia Faye, and Theodore Kosloff

"Triumph" has a bigger theme than "Manslaughter," a more dramatic story. It shows you a factory girl in the whirl and thunder of modern machinery, then swept suddenly into a tinseled atmosphere of wealth, jewels, lovers, applause. It shows you a millionaire's son, soft and lax, hurled suddenly into the gutter and made to die for a living. It shows you a horny-handed young son of toil suddenly showered with millions and huge power and what it does to him. It says to the poor, "What would you do with the wealth of a Rockefeller? I'll show you." It says to the rich, "Where would you be without your money? I'll show you." It says to all women, "Would you really be happy with fine gowns, a handsome lover, Rolls-Royces? I'll show you." And it does.

Is Rushing Tornado of Whirling Action

Every Type of Sensational Movement Occupies Columbia Screen

A rushing tornado of whirling action that moves as swiftly as the speeding seconds! Briefly, that describes the Fox production, "The Eleventh Hour," which began a six-day run at the Columbia theatre today. Charles Jones goes through a lifetime of adventure within less than two days counted on the calendar. He had need of all his iron muscles and nerve to do the stunts required of him in this high-geared melodrama. Submarines, airplanes, speed boats, roaring lions, pirates and high explosives are elements in the fast-moving plot. Nor did the producer forget the charming feminine side of the photoplay. Shirley Mason, dainty as ever, is seen as a talented society girl, whose ability as a dancer and whose attractiveness in a variety of rich costumes, added considerably to the evening's enjoyment.

Remember when Lincoln J. Carter had his thrilling productions touring the country? Well, Mr. Carter is now doing stories for the screen and he supervises the various thrill-producing stunts in the picture, so that his old stage technique is not only kept on the screen, but is greatly enhanced. Hair-raising escapes, fights with lions, leaps from airplanes to boats and back again—a whole raft of excitement is provided in the entertainment offered at the Columbia Theatre.

Japanese With a Multiple Mind is Pantages Headliner

Jameo Kajiyama Gives Remarkable Demonstration of Her Good Acts

Here is a man who can do not only two things but several things at once. His name is Jameo Kajiyama, and to prove that all the remarkable things said of him are founded on fact he will give a demonstration for Victorians this week. Jameo Kajiyama, world celebrated multiple mind worker, one of the few persons in the world whose powers of concentration are so developed that he is able to read a newspaper, answer questions and write on a blackboard simultaneously, provides the headline attraction at Pantages Theatre this week. Several years ago he mysteriously disappeared with his seemingly unimpaired talent, and since then he has added several new features, far surpassing those which brought him his original fame.

There will be three shows daily on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday this week, the matinee commencing at 3 o'clock and the evening performances at 7 and 9 o'clock respectively. A bill of all round merit is promised. One of the most spectacular of illusions is Roland Travers, who is billed as the special added attraction for this week's show. His act is surrounded by deep mystery and audiences in other cities have wondered how he manages to originate such an unusual and gripping entertainment.

Bailey and Thompson are colored gentlemen who radiate the spirit of the real South—blackface artists who have a breezy line of refreshingly funny and several captivating melodies. Then there's a new Century comedy as the motion picture item.

Green Room Notes

The long expected visit of Sir John Martin Harvey's Company to Victoria, after an exceptionally successful tour in Western Canada, has at length arrived, and the company is assured of the same hearty welcome which has been demonstrated at previous points. Sir John comes here direct from Calgary, his Vancouver engagement commencing next week. Students of the Greek classics are particularly anxious to see him in the Oedipus Rex of Sophocles.

To the three great Greek poets, Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides, tragedy owes its beginning, and in Athens more than 2,000 years ago the drama reached its perfection.

Pola Negri is going to write the story of her life at the suggestion of a big publishing house. But before she settles down to write, the actress is going back to her birthplace for a visit. Bromberg, Poland, is the town and her aged mother lives there.

Predictions that an actor's strike would be started through out the United States, June 1, are freely made in theatrical circles after the statement issued by the Actors' Equity Association that it had terminated negotiations with the Producing Managers' Association. The main point at issue is the insistence on the part of the actors that theatrical casts be recruited in the main from the members of their association.

In his English experience with the F. R. Benson Company, Walker Hampden who is now playing "Cyrano de Bergerac" in New York, played over seventy Shakespearean parts, large and small, and all this in three years, and when twenty-five years ago. These roles, included Romeo, Laertes, Orlando, Marc Antony, Aago, Macbeth, Macduff, Bassanio, and Petruchio. His success as Romeo was meteoric, it making such a hit in Glasgow that what was to have been a repertoire engagement turned into a run of "Romeo and Juliet" lasting eleven weeks, a departure such as the Benson Company never made before or since.

Mr. Hampden's crowning English success, however, was in "Hamlet" in London. Engaged to play Laertes to H. B. Irving's Hamlet, Mr. Irving became ill during the early part of the engagement and Walter Hampden succeeded him in the title role. He was then in his twenty-fifth year—the youngest stage actor to succeed in an important engagement since the youth of Edwin Booth.

Ernest Lubitch, motion picture director, has filed application in the United States district court at Los Angeles for citizenship papers. He gave his age as thirty-two, and his birthplace as Berlin.

It has been decided to give dramatic, music and dancing performances in connection with the Olympic Games, which open in Paris on May 3, and continue until July 27. The artistic entertainments will begin on May 1, and will last until the end of July. They will be in the hands of a distinguished French committee, who will have the assistance of the French Ministries of Foreign Affairs and of Fine Arts.

They are to be international in scope and appeal, and the Theatre des Champs Elysees is to be taken over for the whole of the three months for the purpose. The plans are not yet complete, but it is hoped to present comedy, serious drama, music and dancing, from the different countries, during the time. Special "gala" performances of music are to be given; there will also be orchestral concerts and performances by massed choirs.

A Jewish theatrical alliance has been formed at the close of a memorial meeting for the late Barney Bernard, stage creator of Montague Glass's Abe Potash. The new organization plans to build a memorial hall to Jewish actors with an adjoining chapel, and to start a fund for needy members.

CHORAL SERVICE
The services in the South Saanich Union Church on Easter Sunday were attended by large audiences. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of Easter hills and ferns by the young ladies of the congregation.

At the service was largely choral, the pastor of the church, the Rev. T. G. Griffiths, made brief reference to the topic that was uppermost in the minds of his hearers, "The Resurrection of Jesus."
The choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Morrow, besides leading the congregational singing of the hymns selected, also rendered several Easter anthems in a very impressive manner.
An added feature was the singing of the solo "Jerusalem" by Mr. Ames, also Mr. Somerville sang "Calvary."

Prizes Presented to Boys of Navy League

A very pleasing ceremony took place at the old Drill Hall, Menzies Street, on Thursday evening, when the prizes given by J. B. Warnicker to the boys of the Navy League Boys' Naval Brigades were presented by Mrs. Curtis Sampson. The competition in which all the boys were invited to participate was to increase the membership of the league by a personal canvass by the boys themselves, and the most energetic workers were Richard Rowlinson and Llewellyn King, to whom the prizes were given.

Mrs. Curtis Sampson congratulated the winners on their success in the competition and the boys in general for their enthusiasm in the work which are performing in the brigade. The brigade's appreciation was fittingly reciprocated when the smallest boy of the unit presented Mrs. Curtis Sampson with a bouquet of carnations.

Following this ceremony exercises were performed by the brigade with the band in attendance, and the manner in which the derrick crew erected the forty-foot sheer-legs was really equal to that of a crew of trained tars.
On Sunday, April 27, the band and brigade will lead the Odd Fellows to their annual church parade. All ratings will therefore muster at the drill hall at 10 a.m. on that day. This will be the first public appearance of the band since its reorganization, and it is a pleasing fact that ninety per cent of its members are under the age of thirteen. Great praise is due to Albert Rumsby for the able manner in which he has created and trained this promising band out of raw material.

LONG PRAIRIE FLIGHT PLANNED

Aviator to Take Passenger From Saskatoon to Winnipeg and Back

Saskatoon, April 21.—Lieut. O. H. Clearwater, aviator, beat the first robin into the air here when he took the initial flight of the 1924 season over Saskatoon and thus ran up the curtain on what is expected to be a busy Spring and Summer's flying.

Commercial aviation has not started in Saskatoon although this is its sixth successive year. Already Lieut. Clearwater has in the neighborhood of 500 applications for flights. The big feature of the Spring programme will be the 1,000-mile jaunt in May to Winnipeg and return, the passenger for which will be picked this week, and as the trip is to be given free to the person holding the ticket bearing the lucky number, each of the large number of citizens who have made flying dates are keen to go. The trip from Saskatoon to Winnipeg and return will be the first of its kind attempted, although other planes manned noisily by flying men have done it.

With three ships in commission Lieut. Clearwater, who was formerly with the Royal Air Force, and his associates will handle country fair and sports day engagements and city passenger-carrying simultaneously.

Lieut. Clearwater's brother, Corpl. R. W. Clearwater of the R.C.M.P., is well known in Northern British Columbia and Vancouver Island.
EVENTS TO COME
The lecture entitled "The Romance of a Daily Newspaper," by E. C. Nichols, will be given on April 23, at 8 p.m., under the auspices of the Emmanuel Baptist Young People's Society.
Victoria Miscellany, No. 11 W.B.A. will hold a miscellaneous social and homecoming stall in the K. of C. Hall, Government Street, on Tuesday evening, April 23, at 7.30 p.m. There will be for sale aprons and other useful articles, also a table of home-cooking and vocal and instrumental music will be dispensed during the evening, and the refreshments will be served in cafeteria fashion.

Peter Smith in Jail and Bank Slips Showing His Deposits After Farmers' Government Came Into Power

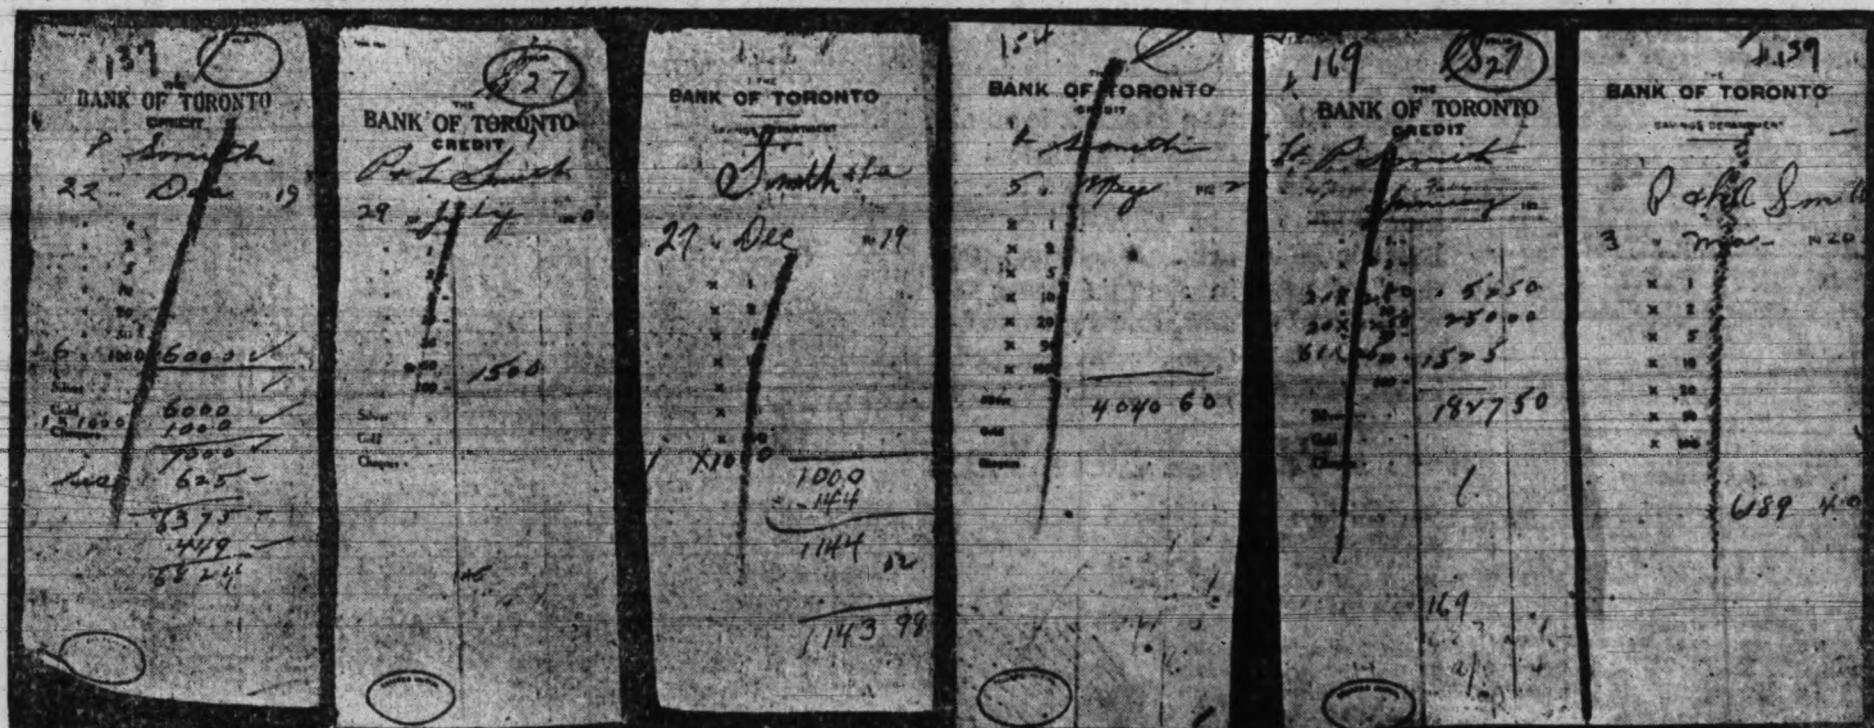

When Hon. Peter Smith, former Provincial Treasurer, appeared in police court in Toronto last Tuesday to answer a charge of conspiring against the Province in connection with alleged receipt of commissions in the sale of provincial bonds, he was remanded eight days for trial. On the left is shown Mr. Smith as he appeared in court. On the right is Mr. Smith, surrounded by his bondsmen, all who have known the defendant in Stratford for many years and who put implicit faith in the outcome of the trial of the former Cabinet Minister.

At the extreme right is one of the most important exhibits tabled, a deposit slip dated March 2, 1920, for $6,189.40. It was brought out in evidence recently that "Andy" Peppal, a friend of Hon. Peter Smith's gave Mr. Smith a note for $6,250, which was cashed by him in the Stratford branch of the Bank of Toronto.

Oh, please come and help me! you, as your brother Sammie had yesterday, to trip up old ladies—you haven't a hoop, have you, Susie?" he asked.

Are your dairy cows and heifers causing you trouble? Are you obtaining results in calves and milk that satisfy you? Do your cows (according to your knowledge of their capacity) produce as much milk as they should—or are you marking time and feeding a number of boarders that should be sent to the butcher? These are matters that can be put right. Delays are fatal. ALL CITY SINGERS INVITED TO CHORUS

Huge Body of Vocalists Will Render Part of Victoria Day Programme

The Festival Chorus which will entertain Victorians on Sunday, May 25, as a part of the Victoria Day celebration, and which will be composed of over 1,000 voices, will hold its first rehearsal Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, in the Girls' Central School Auditorium. All singers of the city and surrounding districts are invited to join the chorus. Dr. Hodgson is the conductor of this huge body of singers, Miss L. Moore acting as accompanist, and Drury Pryce acting as leader of the orchestra. Besides this large chorus of voices, the Salvation Army Band will lend its aid to the entertainment. The choral numbers have been announced as follows: Sullivan's "O Gladsome Light," "Round About the Starry Throne," "Let the Bright Seraphim," and "Let Their Celestial Concerts All Unite" all three being taken from Handel's "Samson" and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah."

Those wishing to join this gigantic chorus are asked to be present at the Central School half an hour before the rehearsal commences, in order that they may have time to register. SURPRISE PARTY A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, 584 Niagara Street, in honor of Mr. P. Deybrough, whose birthday it was. The self-invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Primrose, Mr. and Mrs. H. Reson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Keimann, Mrs. Craigdellie, Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. J. Sankey, Miss Reson, Miss Mary McNeil, Mr. Joe McNeil, and Messrs. Carmichael, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, of Vancouver. A very enjoyable evening was spent with dancing and games.

SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT PROVES SUCCESSFUL

The Quadra Street School entertainment given on Thursday night proved a great success. The first half of the programme was in the care of Miss Clare Powell, whose gifted pupils charmed the hearts of all with dance and song. A Fairy Play arranged by Miss Powell is worthy of special mention, it being very attractive both in spirit and execution. Recitations were also given by the pupils and a novel feature was the spontaneous dance by a group of girls to the accompaniment of two young pianists. The second half of the programme, who with her lantern lecture on "A Trip Through British Columbia," brought her audience closely in touch with some of the most beautiful and varied aspects of the natural grace and magnificence of this Province. Streams, lakes and mountains were described and depicted in a telling manner. To the children perhaps the pictures of the creature world afforded the greatest delight, especially those of bears, afoot and climbing. Jasper Park marked perhaps the climax of wonder and beauty, and the pictures of this great natural playground were much appreciated. A vote of thanks from the school to the various artists who had provided the entertainment brought the evening to a close.

ROADWORKERS ASKED TO KEEP OFF MALAHAT

Traffic Now Will Spoil Road-work Now Proceeding

For the next two weeks the public is asked as far as possible to refrain from using the Malahat road, to give workmen of the Department of Public Works an opportunity to keep the road in smooth condition. Heavy drags and graders have been used for the last two months to get the drive in condition and keep it smooth for the preparation of liquid asphalt which is to be sprayed on it. While no cars are being stopped until the asphalt is put on the drive, which will be possible before the end of the week, conditions are suitable. It will prove of great advantage for the permanent condition of the road if motorists will avoid the road from using it from now on. During the actual process of spraying the road will be closed entirely to give the mixture a chance to solidify, and will remain closed from eight to ten days.

MINING NEWS CHU CHUA MINES A Pittsburg corporation has become interested in the Chu Chua mining property in the North Thompson valley in the interest of the by-products that analysts have discovered in the coal, and there is now certainty of development, with the possibility of very extensive development operations in the near future. For the purpose of proving-out the property the Pittsburg people have arranged to begin drilling operations at once, the operations to be carried out by the Boyle Bros. of Spokane, who will exploit the property with diamond drills, covering the field to the limit. It is claimed by expert examiners that these will realize, if the diamond drilling operations prove successful, a net profit of $13.50 the ton, which makes them many times more valuable than straight coal. CUMBERLAND DISASTER Subscriptions from all sources to the Cumberland Mine Disaster fund total $2,748.49, according to the report of the board of trustees submitted to the first annual meeting, which also shows that the beneficiaries at the time of the institution of the fund comprised eleven widows and thirty-two children under sixteen years of age. This has been reduced to eight widows and twelve children and the monthly payments total $168. At the present rate of disbursement it is estimated that the fund will not be exhausted for another five years. The statement of receipts and expenditures for the year ended December 31 are: Donations and bank interest, $2,748.49; expenditure, $2,060.80, leaving a balance in the bank of $688.69. IN COLVILLE BASIN Through the bitter weather of late Winter the Arctic Circle—and the peril of an unsettled, unknown region, a party of the United States Geological Survey, headed by Dr. Philip S. Smith, is bound for the remote Colville river basin. This is probably the most hazardous mission ever undertaken by this branch of the government service. The purpose is to fill in a big blank spot on the map of Alaska, containing 35,000 square miles of unexplored wilderness and also to determine by mineralogical tests the scope of an oil-bearing structure known to exist between Point Barrow, on the Arctic Coast and the Colville Basin. According to Gerald Fitzgerald, topographical engineer with the party, the barren stretch is uninhabited except along the Arctic shores, isolated bands of Eskimos eke out a living by beach-combing. The country is devoid of timber, but overlain by tundra moss save where streams cut the structure and reveal coal beds and oil seepages. It is a territory calculated to test the stamina of the most hardy explorer. Fitzgerald has penetrated far enough in the direction to learn that game is apparently negligible, except for ptarmigan and an occasional colony of lewaver and muskrat. Without timber, the party will be compelled to rely on exposed coal for fuel, and lacking that, on the meagre supply of gasoline and alcohol they can transport. The fares "Engaged by Wednesday" will be presented by the Wesley Church Y.P.S. at the Metropolitan Methodist Sunday School on Tuesday, April 23, at 3 p.m.
