Report of the School Committee

To the Citizens of Middleton and the Secretary of the State Board of Education:—

It is gratifying, indeed, that people from other towns and cities, who are well able to observe and judge, comment freely and favorably upon the standard of Middleton schools.

This standard has become possible only, through the co-operation of interested parents, efficient teachers and willing pupils. It is absolutely a three factor proposition; and the higher the standard the more dependent becomes the co-operation.

It has been our desire and aim to make the positions in our schools sufficiently attractive to enable us to retain teachers for as long periods as possible.

And while the salaries paid by the Town of Middleton are above the average paid by towns of its size, or even many larger, we are convinced that no department of a town's government has greater claim for liberal recognition than its schools.

As a result of our efforts we have, in the past years, had but few changes. Money, however, is not always the only consideration and it is with much regret that we are obliged to announce two resignations this year, viz.: Miss C. Alice Manning and Miss Hazel E. Weston.

Miss Manning leaves to accept a position in the 8th Grade in the School at Andover. At the time of her resignation in December, she had completed nine years in charge of our Grammar School. Her work has always been of a high order of efficiency, she has ever displayed a deep, impartial interest in every pupil, and the graduating class of 1911 was the largest in the history of our schools.

Miss Weston abandons the profession, and on December 27th became Mrs. Lloyd C. Ramer.

Miss Weston had been with us nearly five years in charge of the fourth and fifth grades. She was a tactful, conscientious worker, and the sincere expressions by her children, of disappointment at her going, emphasize her value more significantly than would any words of ours.

We regret the loss of Miss Manning and Miss Weston and feel confident that we speak for the citizens in publicly thanking them for their services of the past, and in wishing them happiness and prosperity in the future.

We have been fortunate in securing Miss Eva A. Fuller and Miss Mahan to fill the vacancies. Both were highly recommended and we are especially desirous that parents co-operate with us in making their stay as profitable, pleasant and long as possible.

We are also fortunate in being able to retain Mr. Stone as Instructor of Music.

In making a change of Instructor of Drawing, we secured Miss Genorie P. Solomon, who came highly recommended and her work amply justifies her recommendation.

Mr. Williams, our District Superintendent, is taking a deep interest in his chosen work, and is devoting considerable study and thought along progressive lines, applicable to our particular needs. His report, in detail, will treat with the progress of the school work.

An appropriation was made two years ago for the painting of the school building. Up to the present time, however, we have not considered it necessary to make use of it. The painting and some repairs to the gutters and water conductors should be done the coming summer.

In conclusion, we desire to express our sincere appreciation of the hearty co-operation by Superintendent, teachers and parents in making the schools of Middleton worthy of high commendation and our duty a pleasure.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT F. HENDERSON,
GEORGE W. EWING,
ANSEL P. TYLER,

School Committee.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools

To the School Committee of Middleton:

Gentlemen:

I have the honor to submit this, my second annual report of the schools of Middleton. The past year has been one of both pleasure and profit. This has been due to the interest and help of the School Committee and the hearty co-operation of teachers, children and parents. With such interest, help and co-operation, the work of the superintendent becomes, indeed, a pleasure and he cannot but feel that the best he can give of his ability, thought and study is none too good for the schools and the community which he serves.

I wish to record here my highest appreciation of all the assistance I have received from the Committee, the teachers, the children and the people.

Teachers

It is not pleasant to have to record a break in the excellent teaching corps of the Middleton school.

The first break came when Miss Hazel E. Weston resigned as teacher of the Intermediate school. Miss Weston was for over four years a popular and successful teacher in the school and she has the heartiest good wishes of all her co-workers and of her many pupils in the new life she has recently entered upon.

The second break came at the end of the fall term when we very suddenly received the resignation of Miss C. Alice Manning, to take a position in Andover. Miss Manning had been in the school just nine years at the close of the fall term and her excellent work with the boys and girls of Middleton is too well known to need any enlargement upon in this report. She, too, has the best wishes of all for her continued success in the work to which she gives abundantly of time, study and work.

Miss Mary A. Mulalley of Danvers is substituting in the Intermediate school until the teacher who is expected to take the school can come to begin her work.

We were exceptionally fortunate in securing as principal in Miss Manning's place, Miss Eva A. Fuller, a teacher of large and very successful experience.

At the close of last year we received the resignation of Miss Goldie London as Supervisor of Drawing and Miss Genorie P. Solomon of Malden was elected to the position. Miss Solomon brings to this work good training and exceptional ability. She also has charge of this department in the schools of Wenham and Essex.

Attendance

There are some facts and figures concerning attendance which it is a pleasure to record in this report. From September to Christmas in 1910 there were 1,444 half-day absences, 126 instances of tardiness and 37 dismissals. For the same time in 1911 there were only 1,039 half-day absences and 59 tardy marks, but there were 40 dismissals. The decrease in half-day absences was 28 per cent., in tardiness 53 per cent., while there was an increase of 8 per cent. in dismissals. It is very encouraging and a praiseworthy fact that the percentage of attendance for the fall term was 95.3 per cent., or above the average for Essex County. If this improvement continues, we may soon be justly proud of the record made by the school.

It is pleasing to note the interest the children are taking in this important matter of attendance. I would still urge that parents should not ask so frequently to have children dismissed, as every time this occurs some work is lost that it is not easy to make up. However, we wish the parents of the children to know that teachers and school officials highly appreciate the co-operation given in bringing the attendance to a respectable standard.

High School Pupils

As a rule the standing of the Middleton pupils in the Danvers High School is excellent. But it has been necessary for the agent of the State Board of Education to call our attention to a few pupils who were not doing as well as should be expected when the State is furnishing aid to be applied to the funds for paying tuition. The town could not afford to lose this fund from the State on account of the very few pupils who do not do good work, therefore it is necessary to require all to maintain a fair standard of work and regular attendance at the school in the interest of economy as well as for the greater interest of the pupils themselves.

Penmanship

The work in Penmanship has made excellent progress during the past year. Three teachers have taken the diploma in the Palmer Method of Business Penmanship and one has mastered the method sufficiently to be well qualified to teach it most successfully. One pupil in the ninth grade, Ethel Fuller, has received a Final Certificate, seven pupils in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades have received Progress Pins for one hundred drills completed as follows: Willis Hood, Frank Johnson, Carolyn Henderson, Ethel Fuller, Adelaide Morgan, Maud Bent and Emma Moen and more than fifty pupils from the fourth grade up have earned the Palmer Method Button for twenty-five drills completed. Most of the pupils in the four upper grades are now writing in all their work, an easy, rapid and legible hand.

The time required to teach this method of penmanship is the same as was given to the copy book system, which is but fifteen minutes a day. But with this rapid, easy movement, time is saved in all written work and other subjects receive the advantage of this time saved.

Music

The music, under the supervision of Mr. Henry L. Stone, has progressed very well during the past year. Mr. Stone's report will give an outline of the work done in this department.

In order that all subjects might have their proper share of time, the time given to music was shortened somewhat at the opening of the fall term, so that there are now in the upper grades, three thirty minute periods a week given to music, besides the period taken by the Supervisor. This is more than is allowed in most schools, but we cannot seem to get along with less under existing conditions.

Drawing

Miss Solomon, who begun her work as Supervisor of Drawing in November, has shown that she has definite and systematic plans for work, well adapted to all the grades. An outline of these plans is given in Miss Solomon's report which is submitted herewith.

Reading and Spelling

We now come to two of the most important subjects in the whole course of study. Without the ability to interpret the printed page and express on paper his own thought, the child is handicapped throughout his entire school life and his after life as well. Therefore, we are giving special attention to these subjects.

The Progressive Road to Reading, used in the lower grades, is producing excellent results. The children are led to read thoughts and give them with expression that means something to them and to those who listen.

In spelling the number of words to be learned daily has been reduced so that the children may be able to master them. There are constant reviews, both oral and written. The pupils are taught how to study and teachers are urged to teach spelling more and to test spelling only enough to find out whether or not they have taught effectively.

Other Subjects

The other subjects of the course are receiving their proper attention and time and the work is being done efficiently in all the grades. I believe it is only just to the teachers of the school to say that they have maintained a standard of work in your schools that will compare most favorably with that of any town in the county. In fact, I think the time is at hand when we should consider the advisability of reducing the system to eight grades. This can be done without in any degree lessening the value of the school to the children or endangering their preparation for taking up the work of the high school course.

Books

Some necessary additions to, and changes in the book lists have been made during the past year. The reading lists in the middle grades has been strengthened by the addition of books two, three and four of the Progressive Reading, Tell It Again Stories and Graded Literature Readers. The Man Without a Country and The Community and Citizen have been placed in the upper grammar grades. The remaining books of the Gulick Hygiene series have been adopted giving an excellent course in this subject in grades four to eight inclusive. Only one or two changes will be necessary during the coming year, but some books that are badly worn will need to be replaced with new editions.

District Meeting

A meeting of teachers was held at Wenham Oct. 28, 1911, which included all the teachers of Wenham, Essex and Middleton and most of the teachers of Hamilton; also members of the Committees of Wenham and Essex. The program consisted of conferences by grades and an excellent address by Mr. Julius E. Warren, agent of the State Board of Education upon the subject, Education for Efficiency. A dinner and social hour concluded the program.

To Parents

In closing this report, I wish to extend to all parents a cordial invitation to visit the schools often and to bring to our attention any matter that will be of advantage to us in making the schools of greater interest and value to the children and to the community. The teachers are always pleased to have parents come to the school and confer with them in relation to the work of the children. A few minutes talk with the teacher may be the means of changing the whole life of some child whom that teacher has failed to reach in the most helpful way.

If any person outside the family has the right to know the individual characteristics of the children, it is the teacher whose duty it is to deal with those children in her efforts to develop sterling character, power of mind and heart, and train them for efficient citizenship in after life.

The report of the Music and Drawing supervisors are found below and are made a part of this report.

Respectfully submitted,

Harvey R. Williams,
Superintendent of Schools.

Middleton, Mass., February 2, 1912.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The same grouping of grades for the music lesson has been adopted this year that was necessitated last year by the re-arrangement of grades in the various rooms.

The children of the first two grades have been given simple tonal and rhythmical exercises for the training of the ear, easy exercises for reading, and many attractive and appropriate songs for note-singing. These children do remarkably well in their music, and they take such pleasure in the work that it is a delight to visit them.

In their work for the training of the ear, the pupils of the third grade to the seventh have been called upon to solve numerous tonal and rhythmical combinations of varying degrees of difficulty. The chief work in these grades, however, has been the singing of the songs and exercises in their respective readers; and this work has been done very creditably. Occasionally biographical comments have been called for, particularly when the composer of a song is one on whom the world has put its stamp of greatness.

In the eighth and ninth grades the Fourth Reader has been used so far this year; and from this reader the pupils have received systematic instruction in all of the minor keys. From time to time little talks on the great composers and their works have been given. No opportunity has been lost for impressing on the minds of these pupils the importance of music in the education of the emotions.

The efficiency of the teachers in teaching music is gladly acknowledged and their efforts are highly appreciated. To them is due much credit for the attention the pupils give and for the love they evince for the work.

Respectfully submitted,

Henry L. Stone.

To the Superintendent of Schools,

Dear Sir:

I began the work of drawing teacher in the Middleton Schools last November, and have found the teachers, as a whole, responsive and eager to co-operate. The splendid spirit shown by the children has also helped greatly in the work.

I have tried in general to follow an outline which will accomplish these ends; increase the ability of the children in appreciating beauty; give them power to express that beauty; develop in them skill of hand and eye, and help them to be accurate in their observations.

We started in the autumn with the study of color; applied it to the drawing in color of autumn flowers and fruits; conventionalized the blossoms and fruit sprays into units of design, and applied the designs to the articles made in construction work.

Since the first of the year, object drawing has been our subject. In the lower grades much attention has been given to free-hand paper cutting.

In all cases, I have tried as far as possible to correlate the drawing with other studies.

Respectfully submitted,

Genorie P. Solomon,

Supervisor of Drawing.

Malden, Mass., January 17. 1912.
