INTRODUCTION.

Domesday Book, or the Great Survey of England, was made by order of William the Conqueror, A.D. 1086.

It is contained in two volumes, the first of which is a folio of 760 pages, of the exact same size as this copy, the second is of the size of a large octavo of 900 pages.

These volumes contain the Census of the Kingdom, made up from Returns from each County of England, excepting the four northern counties, viz:—Northumberland, Cumberland, Westmorland, and Durham.

The Book of Exeter and the Book of Ely are of the same date, and no doubt copied from the same returns as Domesday Book itself, but they contain more details than are given in Domesday.

The Book of Winchester was made A.D. 1148.

Boldon Book, containing returns for the County of Durham, was made A.D. 1183.

These five Books, with valuable Indexes and very interesting explanatory Introductions, have been published in four folio volumes in modern type, but with all the contractions in the original. The two first volumes contain the Great Domesday, and were published in 1783.

The other four Books were published in 1816 in the third and fourth volumes, by order of the Royal Commissioners who were appointed for the purpose of carrying into execution the measures recommended by the House of Commons respecting the Public Records of the Kingdom, and under the immediate direction of Sir Henry Ellis, late Principal Librarian of the British Museum, to whom we are indebted for the valuable introductions and indexes. To these Introductions, and to the enlarged General Introduction published separately in two octavo volumes in 1833, by the same author, I must refer those who desire to have more detailed information respecting Domesday Book than it is my object in these few preliminary remarks to enter upon.

The following remarkable passage from the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle is taken from the Translation by Mr. Benjamin Thorpe, published under the direction of the Right Hon. the Master of the Rolls.—Vol. II. (Translation) pp. 185, 186.

"A.D. MLXXXV. In this year men declared, and for sooth said, that Cnut King of Denmark, son of King Svein, was bound hitherward, and would win this land with the aid of Robert Count of Flanders; because Cnut had Robert's daughter to wife. When William King of England, who was then residing in Normandy,—because he owned both England and Normandy,—was apprized of this, he went into England with so large an army of horsemen and foot, from France and from Brittany, as never before had sought this land, so that men wondered how this land could feed all that army. But the king caused the army to be distributed through all this land among his vassals: and they fed the army, each according to the measure of his land. And men had great affliction this year; and the king caused the land about the sea to be laid waste, so that if his foes should land, they might not have whereon they might so readily seize. But when the king was informed in sooth that his foes were hindered, and could not further their expedition, he let some of the army go to their own land: and some he held in this land over the winter. Then at midwinter the king was at Gloucester with his 'witan' and there held his court five days; and afterwards the archbishop and clergy had a synod three days. There was Maurice chosen bishop of London, and William to Norfolk, and Robert to Cheshire. They were all the king's clerks. After this the king had a great council, and very deep speech with his 'witan' about this land, how it was peopled, or by what men; then sent his men over all England, into every shire, and caused to be ascertained how many hundred hides were in the shire, or what land the king himself had, and cattle within the land, or what dues he ought to have, in twelve months, from the shire. Also he caused to be written how much land his archbishops had, and his suffragan bishops, and his abbots, and his earls; and—though I may narrate somewhat prolixly—what or how much each man had who was a holder of land in England, in land, or in cattle, and how much money it might be worth. So very narrowly he caused it to be traced out, that there was not one single hide, nor one yard of land, nor even—it is shame to tell, though it seemed to him no shame to do—an ox, nor a cow, nor a swine, was left, that was not set down in his writ. And all the writings were brought to him afterwards."

For the execution of the Survey, Commissioners called King's Justiciaries, or Legati Regis, were appointed to go into each county, these Commissioners, or to quote from Sir H. Ellis, p. 21 :—

"The Inquisitors, it appears, upon the oaths of the Sheriffs, the Lords of each Manor, the Presbyters of every Church, the Reves of every Hundred, the Bailiffs and six Villans of every village, were to enquire into the name of the place, who held it in the time of King Edward, who was the present possessor, how many hides in the Manor, how many carrucates in demesne, how many homagers, how many villans, how many cotarii, how many servi, what free-men, how many tenants in socage, what quantity of wood, how much meadow and pasture, what mills and fish-ponds, how much added or taken away, what the gross value in King Edward's time, what the present value, and how much each free-man or soch-man had or has. All this was to be triply estimated: first, as the estate was held in the time of the Confessor; then, as it was bestowed by King William; and thirdly, as its value stood at the formation of the Survey. The jurors were moreover to state whether any advance could be made in the value."

As regards the measures of land in Domesday,

"The truth" Sir H. Ellis says "seems to be that a hide, a yardland, a knight's fee, &c., contained no certain number of acres, but varied in different places," but it has been described to be "as much as was sufficient to the cultivation of one plough, whence our term of plough-land."

"The Carucata, which is also to be interpreted the plough-land, was as much arable as could be managed with one plough and the beasts belonging thereto in a year; having meadow, pasture, and houses for the house-holders and cattle belonging to it;" and it appears that "the hide was the measure of land in the Confessor's reign, the carucate that to which it was reduced by the Conqueror's new standard."

The Hide is generally supposed to be equal to 120 acres.

Money is generally estimated as at thirty times its present value.

In the year 1855 I introduced Photography for the purpose of making accurate reductions of the Ordnance plans from the larger to the smaller scales required, and by which a saving of upwards of £2000 a-year is effected.

In 1859 we improved and adapted the Chromo-carbon process to our requirements in such a way that the Photographs could be at once transferred to the waxed surface of a copper plate to guide the engraver, or to plates of zinc or to stone for printing as by the ordinary methods—and as we generally use zinc plates, I named this art Photo-zincography. To Captain A. de C. Scott, R.E., who has charge of this branch of the work, we are chiefly indebted for this success.

In an interview with the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Chancellor of the Exchequer, he asked my opinion as to the applicability of this art to the copying of some of our ancient MS. records, and I at once expressed my belief that we could produce fac-similes of them at a very trifling cost. But with the view of testing this, I had a small deed of the time of Edward the first copied and printed by this process, and with the sanction of the Right Hon. Lord Herbert of Lea, Secretary of State for War, copies of it were bound up with my annual Report of the Progress of the Ordnance Survey to the 31st December 1859, which has been presented to both Houses of Parliament.

Having established the fact, that Photo-zincography is applicable for the purpose of producing any number of copies of ancient MSS., the Lords of the Treasury, with the concurrence of the Right Hon. Sir John Romilly, Master of the Rolls, directed me to copy that part of Domesday Book which relates to Cornwall; and the publication of that part having excited great interest, and a desire for the continuance of the publication of the work county by county, having been very generally expressed, I have been directed to publish the whole work in that manner, and all the counties in Great Domesday Book, excepting Kent, have now been published.

In examining copies made by Photo-zincography, it must always be remembered that the original document is not even handled or touched by the copyist, each leaf of the book is placed in succession before the camera by the officer from the Public Record Office, in whose charge it constantly remains, and sometimes after an exposure of only twenty seconds, the copy is taken.

I have placed in juxtaposition a copy of some paragraphs from the original manuscript, and a copy of the same paragraphs from the edition of 1783, to which I have added a translation made by Mr. Burtt of the Public Record Office, in whose charge the book has been whilst the copying was in progress.

Here are noted those holding lands in Cornwall.

I. The King William.
II. The Bishop of Exeter.
III. The Church of Tavistock.
IIII. The Churches of certain Saints
V. The Earl of Moriton.
VI. Judhail de Totenais.
VII. Goscelin.

The King holds Winetone. There were fifteen hides in the time of King Edward. The land is sixty carucates. Of it there is in demesne one hide, and there are two carucates, and the villani have three hides and twenty-four carucates. There are twenty-four villani and forty-one coliberti and thirty-three bordarii and fourteen servi. There are six acres of meadow. Pasture four miles long and two miles wide. Wood one mile long and half a mile wide. It renders twelve pounds weighed and burnt.

Of these fifteen hides the Earl of Moriton holds eleven hides. These were held by seventeen Taini in the time of King Edward, who could not be separated from the Manor. Of this land the same Earl has in demesne one manor, and it is called Renti. There is one virgate of land. The land is two carucates. It is worth fifteen shillings.

Of the Earl Vluuard holds one manor Renti. There is one hide. The land is twelve carucates. There Vluuard has one plough and eight coliberti and four servi. Pasture half a mile long and as much wide. It is worth ten shillings.

These twelve lands above-written Earl Harold held in the time of King Edward. But the under-written [lands] Brictric held, and afterwards Mathilda the Queen.

It will be observed that a red line is run through the names of places, and this is also sometimes done to the names of persons, and to paragraphs to which it is desired to direct particular attention. This is peculiar to Domesday Book, and is equivalent to the modern method of underlining a passage for the same purpose.

The old letters in the title page have been copied from letters in Domesday Book itself.

The woodcuts represent the manner in which Domesday Book was bound, and the chest in which it was formerly kept, these have been copied by the Anastatic process from a woodcut in the Illustrated London News.

The Photographs were transferred to zinc by Mr. Appel, of the Ordnance Survey.

In Sir Henry Ellis' Introduction to Domesday, an estimate for publishing a fac-simile of the work in 1767 is given at page 359; it amounts to £18,443 12s., and the time for executing the work is estimated at five years. This estimate does not include the cost of supervision, and therefore the work, if it had been executed, would certainly have cost the Government not less than £20,000.

The folio edition of 1783 was printed with types made expressly for the purpose in 1768, but Sir H. Ellis tells us—

"It was not, however, till after 1770 that the work was actually commenced. It was completed early in 1783, having been ten years in passing through the press. The type with which it was executed was destroyed in the fire which consumed Mr. Nichols' printing-office in the month of February, 1808."

The cost of this edition is said to have been £38,000, and the cost of a copy of the work so great that very few persons could afford to purchase one, but by the application of Photo-zincography to copying and printing MSS., and by publishing the work in parts, any one can now procure at a trifling cost, an exact fac-simile of the part of the original MS. in which he may be more particularly interested, and whilst the public is gratified by this, Her Majesty's Government will not be put to the cost of a single shilling for the production of the work.
