

One Librarian, One Reference

#1lib1ref

Peter Gallert

Goethe Institut
Windhoek

26 May 2020

Outline

- 1 Introduction
- 2 Demonstration
- 3 Introduction

The 21st century encyclopedia

WIKIPEDIA

- Started 2001, open source, content licensed under CC-BY-SA
- 50 million articles, 299 languages
- Written by about 90,000 volunteers
- 2005: accuracy comparable to Encyclopædia Britannica
- 16 billion page views, largest edition: English, 6 million articles
- the Internet's largest and most popular general reference work
- Imagine a World where Every Librarian Added One More Reference to Wikipedia

The 21st century encyclopedia

WIKIPEDIA

- Started 2001, open source, content licensed under CC-BY-SA
- 50 million articles, 299 languages
- Written by about 90,000 volunteers
- 2005: accuracy comparable to Encyclopædia Britannica
- 16 billion page views, largest edition: English, 6 million articles
- the Internet's largest and most popular general reference work
- Imagine a World where Every Librarian Added One More Reference to Wikipedia

Why #1lib1ref?

- 1 Wikipedia relies on its references—You are the experts on that!
- 2 Wikipedians don't have access to books—You do!
- 3 Wikipedians have a passion for knowledge—And so do you!
- 4 More about the #1lib1ref campaign on Wikimedia Meta

Rightarrow Video on #1lib1ref

Why #1lib1ref?

- 1 Wikipedia relies on its references—You are the experts on that!
- 2 Wikipedians don't have access to books—You do!
- 3 Wikipedians have a passion for knowledge—And so do you!
- 4 More about the #1lib1ref campaign on Wikimedia Meta

Rightarrow Video on #1lib1ref

Why #1lib1ref?

- 1 Wikipedia relies on its references—You are the experts on that!
- 2 Wikipedians don't have access to books—You do!
- 3 Wikipedians have a passion for knowledge—And so do you!
- 4 More about the #1lib1ref campaign on Wikimedia Meta

Rightarrow Video on #1lib1ref

Why #1lib1ref?

- 1 Wikipedia relies on its references—You are the experts on that!
- 2 Wikipedians don't have access to books—You do!
- 3 Wikipedians have a passion for knowledge—And so do you!
- 4 More about the #1lib1ref campaign on Wikimedia Meta

Rightarrow Video on #1lib1ref

How to #1lib1ref?

- 1 Find a weak article on Wikipedia
 - Tool: Citation Hunt
 - List: Namibia articles needing cleanup
 - While reading on Wikipedia
 - While browsing your library
- 2 Find the place in the article that needs improvement
- 3 Add a reference
 - Click 'Edit'
 - Click on the place where the citation should be
 - Click 'Cite'
 - Enter reference details (author, title, publisher. . .)
- 4 Give an edit summary (optionally containing #1lib1ref)
- 5 Click 'Save'

How to #1lib1ref?

- 1 Find a weak article on Wikipedia
 - Tool: Citation Hunt
 - List: Namibia articles needing cleanup
 - While reading on Wikipedia
 - While browsing your library
- 2 Find the place in the article that needs improvement
- 3 Add a reference
 - Click 'Edit'
 - Click on the place where the citation should be
 - Click 'Cite'
 - Enter reference details (author, title, publisher. . .)
- 4 Give an edit summary (optionally containing #1lib1ref)
- 5 Click 'Save'

How to #1lib1ref?

- 1 Find a weak article on Wikipedia
 - Tool: Citation Hunt
 - List: Namibia articles needing cleanup
 - While reading on Wikipedia
 - While browsing your library
- 2 Find the place in the article that needs improvement
- 3 Add a reference
 - Click 'Edit'
 - Click on the place where the citation should be
 - Click 'Cite'
 - Enter reference details (author, title, publisher...)
- 4 Give an edit summary (optionally containing #1lib1ref)
- 5 Click 'Save'

How to #1lib1ref?

- 1 Find a weak article on Wikipedia
 - Tool: Citation Hunt
 - List: Namibia articles needing cleanup
 - While reading on Wikipedia
 - While browsing your library
- 2 Find the place in the article that needs improvement
- 3 Add a reference
 - Click 'Edit'
 - Click on the place where the citation should be
 - Click 'Cite'
 - Enter reference details (author, title, publisher...)
- 4 Give an edit summary (optionally containing #1lib1ref)
- 5 Click 'Save'

How to #1lib1ref?

- 1 Find a weak article on Wikipedia
 - Tool: Citation Hunt
 - List: Namibia articles needing cleanup
 - While reading on Wikipedia
 - While browsing your library
- 2 Find the place in the article that needs improvement
- 3 Add a reference
 - Click 'Edit'
 - Click on the place where the citation should be
 - Click 'Cite'
 - Enter reference details (author, title, publisher...)
- 4 Give an edit summary (optionally containing #1lib1ref)
- 5 Click 'Save'

Q&A

Any questions?

- These slides are available on Wikimedia Commons under CC-BY-SA 4.0