GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

SOCIAL CENTER TO BE ESTABLISHED IN CENTRAL AVE. SCHOOL

Early in December last a meeting for the purpose of launching the movement to establish a social center in the Central avenue school-house was largely attended, and decision made to apply to the trustees of Glendale City school district No. 1 for use of such portion of the buildings as they decided to grant under the provisions of the state law on the subject. The application made in behalf of the Central Avenue Parent-Teachers association was in due time granted, subject to the rules and regulations required by the statutes. The two large unused basement rooms in the west annex to the main school building were assigned for the purpose. The holidays interrupted the active work of raising funds, but since that time quiet, persistent efforts were put forth by the finance committee to meet the expenses of furnishing the rooms, until Mrs. N. C. Kelley, chairman, announced the success of the work and sufficient money and furniture donated to meet the preliminary requirements. On Saturday the executive committee of the Parent-Teacher association, comprising Mrs. F. S. Kurtz, Pres.; Mrs. N. C. Kelley, Vice Pres.; and Miss Annie McIntyre, principal of the school, made the purchase of furnishings and everything is expected to be ready for the opening reception to be held in the rooms on February 24. Plans are progressing for a fine entertainment to be given in the school auditorium on that date, details of which will be announced later. Thus, the Central avenue school will have the distinction of leading the van of that larger movement for a civic center in Glendale City school district in which other school buildings may be designated as social centers, all ready to co-operate in the utmost spirit of willingness to support a general civic center when such is established. Only as a contribution to public welfare have the Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association put through successfully the task undertaken and the social center is available, under the rules, for that portion of the community that may find it the convenient point for use and meetings, by individuals, groups or organizations. The many generous donors to this worthy cause deserve the thanks of the public.

Real Estate and Personal

Only two or three weeks before the death of Mrs. Anna F. Hinman, her property at 1420 Lorraine St. extending through to Stocker St. and comprising four lots was disposed of to C. L. Woodberry of Los Angeles who turned in a bungalow on West 54th St., Los Angeles as a part of the exchange consideration of $6500.

The bungalow property at 1212 Viola has been sold by Mrs. D. T. Davenport of Los Angeles, the owner, to Edwin Booth of Los Angeles, an employee of the county road department. George Mitchell, former occupant, made the deal and included the house furniture. Material is being assembled for a new garage on the rear of the lot.

Six months ago, Frank Owen and wife who had occupied the premises at 903 Melrose avenue, during the year previous, removed to a ranch. But with the proceeds of a Christmas windfall they negotiated the purchase of their former home and now they are back again to stay.

J. H. Tipps of 1600 Stocker St. made an exchange of properties on Ruth and Remington streets for the 10-acre George ranch located on the north side of 6th St. midway between Pacific and Grand View avenues.

The fine condition of the soil has tempted all vacant lot owners in Casa Verdugo to put them to use this year.

Mrs. Gertrude L. Kinnear of Vancouver, B. C., has taken a term lease on the handsome brick, plastered house at 809 Melrose avenue, owned by Henry Freed. Included in the family are Mrs. Blakney, a niece of Dr. Black of Kenneth Road, and her two children.

After sojourning several months in Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. West and children have returned to their home on Valley View Road considering the climate in the locality preferable.

Mr. H. J. Olmstead, his father, his son Ennis, and Mrs. Sluver, all of Colorado Springs are enjoying their annual winter sojourn in California, at 1121 Melrose avenue, as they have for many years past.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rees, formerly of San Rafael avenue, now residing on a 360-acre alfalfa ranch three miles from Perris, Cal. visited Mrs. Sluver, the mother of Mrs. Rees, last week. Mrs. Sluver returned to (Continued on Page 2)

GOD CANNOT LIE

SERMON SUBJECT AT OPENING MEETING OF METHODIST REVIVAL MISSION

The special services at the First Methodist church started yesterday with keen interest. A large congregation listened at the morning service to a message on "Fanning the Flame." Rev. Snudden took as his text, "Quench not the spirit," 1 Thess. 5:19. At the close of the service nearly all present pledged themselves to do what was in their power to help in the special campaign.

At the evening church hour, Rev. Snudden spoke on "Divine Impossibilities, the Hope of Men." He said in part:

Let me call your attention to two remarkable statements, "It is impossible for God to lie," Heb. 6:18; "He cannot deny himself," 2 Tim. 2:13. In our modern day, business houses use mottoes implying that they represent the principles of their concern. One of these is, "Honesty is the best policy." Sir Thomas Lipton because of his business has made that motto into "honest tea is the best policy." What men do from Policy, God does because of his character. A lying God would be a dreadful thing. I have lied and so have you but God is true.

God is unchangeable and therein is the hope of men. Men are like weather vane. God is like the magnetic pole; blow it north, blow it south, blow it east, blow it west, the weather vane is the sport of the wind. A great many people are like that. They are moved by the environment of the hour. It is with them, "Good Lord, Good Devil." Their morals are governed by the associates of the time.

You cannot change God by calling him names, even though they sound learned. Since when could teaching and phraseology change the nature and character of God? You may multiply philosophies and theologues and use various names for God but you have changed nothing.

Because of what you are and because of human destiny you should ask, not "What does this teacher say?" but "What does the Scripture say?" According to our texts, God cannot lie. He cannot write one thing in nature and another in a book even though that book be the Bible. The stars move in their courses, the seasons come and go, the tides beat time upon the shore, and all proclaim the unchangeableness of God. Two of the central teachings of the Bible are (1) Man is a sinner. (2) He may be changed or regenerated. "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." You may put the soft pedal on your name for sin, but that does not change the fact that men lie and steal, that they are dishonest, that they are mean and selfish, that they are corrupt in business practices, that they are profane, that they are impure, that they are godless.

Mr. C. Norman Guice, well known singer, will be in charge of the music as director and soloist. He has a splendid tenor voice and is likewise a great leader of congregational singing.

RECOVERS STOLEN AUTO

J. B. McBratney of the Irish Linen Store of Glendale and Monrovia whose 1916 Hupmobile touring car was stolen in Hollywood Tuesday afternoon, recovered the machine Thursday. Mr. McBratney received a telephone call from the Southern California Auto Club Thursday night advising him that his car was awaiting his disposition at club headquarters. He went to Los Angeles Friday morning and found his machine undamaged, though showing the signs of careless driving. Nothing had been removed from it, not even the parcel of fine linens in the tonneau, valued at more than $50, being disturbed. The car was found Thursday afternoon by an auto club official at the rear of the Seminole Apartments at Sixth and Flower streets, Los Angeles. The lady of the house said that two men and two women parked the car late Tuesday afternoon and left it. On Wednesday she notified the police, but made a mistake in giving the license number and headquarters reported no car of that number had been stolen. She phoned the auto club which sent an officer to the place at once. The mistake was immediately noticed and the owner of the car communicated with.

The Section of Parliamentary Usage of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet Tuesday, Feb. 13 at 1:30 o'clock in the Masonic Temple. The lesson will be on the ten questions sent out by the district chairman, Mrs. P. S. McNutt. A good attendance is requested.

PRESIDENT SENDS NOTE TO GERMANY

SUBMARINE DECREE MUST BE WITHDRAWN BEFORE AMERICA WILL DISCUSS WAR PREVENTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—President Wilson today notified Germany that America can enter into no negotiations tending to prevent war until the German submarine decree is withdrawn. ## START PEACE MOVEMENT

SOCIALISTS WOULD RESTORE PEACE AND RE-ESTABLISH NATIONS AS REPUBLICS

DELAYS DEPARTURE OF AMERICANS

GERMANY WOULD HOLD AMERICANS NOW IN BERLIN FOR RETALIATORY MEASURES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 12.—With the arrival of the American Ambassador Gerard from Berlin, it is learned that the German government intends to delay the departure of Americans now in Berlin in order to have such citizens on hand for retaliatory measures if America declares war and internes German citizens in America. Permission for the Americans eventually to depart was only obtained by Gerard's strong stand. Germany thought to force Gerard to sign an agreement whereby in case of war, German steamers in American ports would be allowed to leave. It was when Gerard refused to sign this that Germany threatened to deny newspaper men passports.

WILSON OFFICIALLY RE-ELECTED

BALLOTS OF PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS OPENED TODAY BEFORE BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—President Wilson was today officially declared the next President of the United States. Before both Houses of Congress assembled in the House of Representatives chamber—according to Constitutional provision—Vice-President Marshall formally opened and counted ballots of 531 Presidential electors, which—as known to the world for three months—placed President Wilson and himself at the helm of the government for another four years. The ballots, sealed and certified by the secretaries of state of the various states, were opened by clerks in the presence of the assembled members and senators, and checked up by tellers. The result was then announced, and the Senate returned to its chamber, the ceremony concluded.

ESCAPES DEATH BY STRATEGEM

LEOPOLD GALEVIZ, NATURALIZED MEXICAN, HELD AS VILLA SPY JUMPS ACROSS BOUNDARY LINE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 12.—By a clever stratagem Leopold Galeviz, a naturalized Mexican, escaped death before a firing squad in Juarez. Under arrest as a Villa spy and sentenced to death at sunrise, Galeviz affected a confession and offered to show the Carranza officer where Villa had cached ammunition.

He led them along the Rio Grande to where the states of Texas and New Mexico touch the International line. Suddenly he dismounted and jumped across the imaginary line into the arms of the Georgia national guard border patrol commanded by Sergeant Joseph Avans and demanded protection as an American citizen.

The Carranza officers angrily demanded his return as a traitor. The Americans gave the Mexicans a receipt for the prisoner. Upon delivery to the immigration station Galeviz proved to be an American citizen and was released.

CHINA BREAKS RELATIONS WITH GERMANY

LONDON, Feb. 12.—It is announced that China has broken relations with Germany.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES

A PATRIOTIC CO-OPERATION IS NECESSARY IN BUILDING A CITY

By Walt. Le Noir Church
What the Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina has become classic, on both sides the Dixie line.

What the Governor of Missouri lately said to all other governors will live longer, and fare better. It voiced a universal constructive principle instead of appealing to a selfish, de-citizenizing appetite.

The golden words of the "show-me" state governor were: "There is a growing necessity for business men to enter the field of politics"—or civics; including city government, both a science and an art. Furthermore, said Governor Gardner, such necessity arises from lack of mutuality between business and civics, to the detriment of both.

Good business and good government invite mutuality of investigation and suggestion for mutual benefit.

Distrust of either causes attempted restriction more hurtful than needful. But when good men take an active part, if only advisory, in municipal affairs, civic betterment soon follows such discharge of civic responsibility. But it is strange how many citizens habitually defraud their city of her right to their service and protection against hoodlums and grafters, who would scorn to defraud any one else of a dollar. It is merely a bad habit born of growing apathy.

The reason the city does not attempt to collect such dues is too often because those in control prefer not to arouse the debtors.

In our public schools, almost every useful thing is taught in a practical way, except practical good citizenship, in spite of the fact that the paramount object of public schools is to make good citizens. That is like trying to play basketball without a basket. It may be playing ball, all right, but surely not basketball.

In most of our cities there is on the part of the business man an absolute apathy regarding his municipal government, till some act bordering on civic atrocity arouses him by directly hurting him financially. So long as it is indirect, he does not appear to notice it. He may pay ten dollars indirectly, without a protest, while a direct holdup for even one dollar will send him out on the warpath.

The worldly wise children of mammon know this and govern themselves accordingly.

The alleged "good business man" thinks he has no time for such things and he governs himself accordingly.

It would take so little systematic co-operation with his fellow good-business associates to make such a big betterment in business.

Whenever there are needless numbers of stores, dwellings, apartments and rooms for rent in a city, it takes no Solomon to guess that "some one had blundered"; whether in omission, commission or both, the result is obvious. A wise doctor of civics might diagnose it as a case of poor circulation, due to mal-nutrition, or lack of nutrition; maybe to both. But certainly something needs fixing, pronto. Good municipal management, like everything else worth while, costs both time and money. Either without the other may prove inadequate to get it or to keep it.

You know how to sell merchandise, bonds, produce, live-stock, automobiles and your own services; why not apply the same genius and energy to sell your city to strangers seeking locations for home and business. That is simply salesmanship on a larger scale; but exactly the same principles apply; the identical seven essentials are necessary.

(1) Gain the favorable attention of such possible newcomers.

(2) Arouse their interest.

(3) Get them here to see "the goods."

(4) Convince them it will pay to locate here.

(5) Arouse in them a desire to stay here.

(6) Induce them to resolve to stay.

(7) Close the deal. That is all there is to it. Not a difficult job. A city can be sold, as certainly as a bill of hardware to a buyer needing what you have to sell, and having the price.

(NOTE: "Selling a city" is different from selling out a city.)

Furthermore, the law of business building based on good salesmanship applies just as well and as surely to building up a city.

City building depends on arousing patriotic co-operation among the citizens of that city. Where patriotism is apathetic, it is difficult to arouse in the older citizens, set in

THE C. E. CONVENTION

ENDEAVOR WORKERS EVERYWHERE IN COUNTY MANIFEST ENTHUSIASM

Although it is over a month until the Christian Endeavorers gather in Glendale for their annual convention great enthusiasm is being manifested by Endeavorers throughout the county and it is predicted that all attendance records will be surpassed.

A booster song set to the tune of "Brighten the Corner" has been adopted and reads:

We can hardly wait for Glendale,
Oh my, what a treat,
Just to be in that convention rare,
When the registration folks come 'round, let's all repeat
'Right in our corner we'll be there.'

Chorus—
'Right in our corner we'll be there,
Loads of Endeavorers, Glendale beware!

March sixteen to eighteen, whether stormy or fair,
Right in our corner, we'll be there.'

If you want your life to count for more this coming year,
Or for bigger, better work prepare,
Don't forget the Glendale Training school. Our course is clear
For, 'right in our corner, we'll be there.'

There's some one who needs to go but can't afford to pay,
Count your dollars, sure there's one to spare.

If we each take one think how many more can say,
'Right in our corner we'll be there.'

The convention committee are out to see that nothing is overlooked in giving our visitors a royal welcome and ask that every resident of Glendale extend to them their hospitality.

Plans have been made for decorating the streets and our fair city will be in gala attire when our friends arrive.

Splendid speakers have been secured for the sessions and a chorus of a hundred voices will assist with the music. Plans for a banquet to accommodate seven hundred are in charge of Mrs. Roy D. King, chairman of committee, assisted by Mrs. T. D. Ogg, business manager. Over fifty have signed up as pages and guides under the direction of Joseph Wilson. Mrs. Homer Miller, entertainment chairman, and her assistants will start canvassing in a short time to secure "housing" for the delegates. Mr. James Newton is looking after the finances. Lowell Donnell of Eagle Rock has completed plans for the registration and Ruth Pettitt is busy planning a glad reception to all who may attend the convention.

The Tuesday Afternoon club at the regular meeting, tomorrow at 2:30 at Masonic Temple, will have a real treat. Mr. James W. Foley, poet, humorist and philosopher will present the program. Mr. Foley has appeared before large clubs and in college and social circles, as a popular author-lecturer. Los Angeles people have heard him at the Friday Morning club and at Hotel Green. Tomorrow, Mr. Foley will give a lecture reading of human interest and educational value, selecting his own subject. Mr. Foley illustrates his lectures with his own poems which have appeared in such magazines as Colliers, Century, Youth's Companion and Saturday Evening Post.

Mrs. William Herman West will sing a group of songs accompanied by Mrs. H. R. Boyer.

their opinions and ways; especially those who are disposed to let well enough alone, and are easily satisfied, anyhow; too easily, may be.

Then the hope of a city is in its youth. Hence the "cosmic urge" to organize a model chamber of commerce in the Glendale Union High School, wherein the pupils may practically learn the principles and methods of city-building. Then they can leave school with an awakened patriotism which will move them to action; give them civic backbone instead of mere wishbone; resulting in such practical betterment of our beautiful city of homes that the then appreciative home owners will rise up and call them blessed. Why not? A simple proposition!

In such a crisis as now confronts Glendale—whether we admit it or not—what would be the advice of the great patriot whose birth a grateful Nation celebrates today, and who, in an hour that tried men's souls, wrote upon the hearts of the people, these living words: "A government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

VALUE OF DAILY PAPER

A daily newspaper in a city of the population of the Glendale community is a great convenience, and this fact is recognized by a majority of the citizens who are in a position to place advertising and job work with the Evening News.

The Evening News has gained a reputation of being a bright, newsy little daily and this reputation thus gained is only made possible by the enterprise of the citizens in giving support to the paper.

Any profit that may be derived from advertising belongs to the local newspaper just the same as a profit that may be derived from the sale of merchandise rightfully belongs to the various lines of business. The local hardware men are supposed to have a chance to sell all the hardware that is sold in the community in which he lives. In the same manner is the local shoe stores, the local dry-goods stores, and the local drug stores supposed to have all the profits to be gained by the sales of their respective lines of merchandise.

Should a club, society or church organization buy up a stock of shoes and set a day for a special sale of shoes, explaining that the profit from the sale of shoes on that day would be used to assist in building a club house, or for charity purposes, the shoe dealers and their friends would object to this method of procedure. If a local club or organization should set aside a day for the sale of dry goods, drugs or hardware the persons engaged in these various lines of business would ask immediate protection. At present a man is not allowed to sell candy or peanuts on the street because the profit he would derive from these sales would lessen the profits of the men regularly established in business who pay rent and other overhead expenses that tend to keep up the city.

Is it right for clubs and various organizations to sell advertising space for the purpose of financial gain any more than it is right for them to sell merchandise for financial gain?

It has become a habit of well organized clubs to arrange for an entertainment and not being satisfied with the admission receipts they sell advertising program space, and thus take from the advertising patronage of the local papers. Every well regulated business concern sets apart a stated amount of money at the beginning of the year for publicity purposes, and if a large per cent. of the money thus set apart is paid out for program advertising the local newspapers fail to get the patronage that from a business standpoint legitimately belongs to them.

How would a notice like this seem: "On Wednesday, February 28, 1920, the Twenty-four Day Club will hold a sale of shelf hardware in the XY building, Glendale. All profit derived from the sale of hardware on that date will be used to apply on a building fund. On the following Wednesday a shoe sale will be conducted by the same club, the profit of this sale will be used for charity purposes. Persons in need of hardware and shoes should lay in a year's supply as the cause for which this sale is held is a worthy one."

The merchants have become an easy mark for giving out donations under the pretense of paying for program advertising space. As a rule they do not approve of the plan, and the only way for them to protect themselves and allow advertising to be turned through proper channels is by co-operation.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Electricity is used to sort coffee beans.

Mine gas is detected with a portable electric outfit which miners carry.

Electrically produced violet rays are used to purify water used in a St. Louis swimming pool.

A 300,000 volt transformer is used to test insulators and insulating material at the University of Minnesota.

Electric flood lighting of an apartment house in Kansas City led to the renting of 44 apartments in one month.

A tug dispatcher is employed in New York to control by telephone the movement of a line of tugs in the harbor.

Tiny electric Mazda lamps fixed in policemen's helmets serve to direct traffic in the darkened London street in England.

A trap drummer has discovered that electric lights installed inside his drums keep the moisture out and make the drumheads tight.

A million dollars a day is the sum paid for electric light according to an electrical authority of the University of Pennsylvania.

The same amount of electrical energy required to move an ordinary street car one mile on level would raise it vertically to a height of 166 feet.

St. Patrick's cathedral of Norwich, Conn., is lighted with six electric projector units which bring out the chancel arch and altar in beautiful relief.

One-fourth of all the fires occurring in Waterbury, Conn., for a year might have been avoided by the use of electricity according to the report of Fire Chief Heitman.

Eggs may be fried in a griddle, toast may be prepared in a toast drawer, and bacon or chops may be broiled in another compartment all at the same time on a new type of electric table stove.

Mountain streams in the west give up their power and save thousands of tons of coal in Seattle and other cities of the Puget Sound district which are supplied with electricity for heat, light and power.

Electricification of the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad between Altoona and Bellwood, Pa., is under consideration by railroad engineers. It is planned to use the water power of the Alleghenies to move the trains.

Even the proverbially slow molasses is now accelerated in its movements by electric heaters. Arkansas stockmen who feed molasses to cattle use the heaters in molasses tanks to keep the sticky mass from freezing.

Graphite manufactured from carbon is made in the electric furnace. Although this process was discovered in 1906 its commercial development has been so rapid that the output of artificial graphite now exceeds the country's production of natural crystalline graphite by more than 900 tons.

TO LOVE IS TO POSSESS

The important thing is to BE. What we are determines in large measure what we possess.

"Birds of a feather flock together" is truth compressed into a homely saying.

When we desire clean, wholesome, inspiring associates we must not rush out seeking them.

Our first task is to be clean, wholesome, inspiring. We must be what we want our friends to be. When we do this they will spring into being—come to us magically out of the unknown.

We become like the things we love. To love is to possess.

Some men have their millions invested in friendships that yield profits in the form of love and neighborliness and warmth.

Some have their millions in Things that yield profits in Things.

Our possessions advertise to the world what our loves are—and what we are at the heart of us.—From Editor and Publisher.

Newcomer (at resort)—Is this a restful place?
 Native—Well, it used to be until folks began coming here for a rest.—Boston Transcript.

STUDIES IN PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

By Walt. Le Noir Church
 STUDY XXIII: GLENDALE'S DEVELOPMENT.

It has been shown that the same principles of human development apply also to a city development. With this difference, however: a man acts for himself, on his own initiative, impelled by his own will; and also develops his own personality direct; while Glendale's character is developed by her citizens as a whole. On them, therefore, is a great responsibility, whether they realize it or not. The simple fact of being a citizen incurs such obligations. You may shirk it: but yet you will be trailed by the ghosts of the things you did which you should not have done, and of things you failed to do which you should have done; and there will be "no health in you" till you stop casting your burthen on others, and do your part; which is something more than paying taxes, and other debts for which you have value received; and making an occasional donation to some citizen, since we are all FOR GLENDALE, first, last and all the time, if this does not apply to you, then I need not apologize but if it does rightly apply to YOU, then possibly something might be going from you to Glendale.

Wait just a minute. Is it not every citizen's business?

A workman was loafing on a contract job, with his hands in his pockets. Another partner on same job went up to him and politely requested: "Jim, take your hands out of my pockets."

Jim started to resent it. But after thinking a moment, he did unclasp his hands, and resume work; saying with an honest smile, "I guess you are right."

Long before man discovers the site Nature builds a city—all except the people, houses, churches, schools, streets, transportation and other public utilities and artificial incidentals; all which, however, sooner or later fail to make a permanently prosperous city, unless Nature has previously done her part. Nature treated Glendale all right. And, up to a certain point, the artificial part was well done. But—quite a number of her good business men reluctantly admit—yet, they do admit it; that "SOMETHING NEEDS FIXING." What is it? Please don't ask me—"Ask George."—(and the party in your mirror.)

Nature must have a lot to do with building real cities. Seven Troys have been discovered buried beneath the surface ruins of the Troy Homer sang. Maybe there are others deeper still.

Along the Thames in parts of London, are remains of ancient nameless cities dug up by deep excavating. Doubtless their citizens thought they were progressive; and looked back upon ante-ancient civilizations with as much complaisance as we consider them.

There are two kinds of cities: those partly manufacturing; like the Chicago of the Pacific Coast, Los Angeles. Then there are the wholly residential, as Glendale.

There are others, with a little of both, but not much of either; like—but names and tales do not always go nicely together.

Each kind of city requires certain essential conditions for growth AND prosperity. Note that conjunctive conjunction, AND. It is comparatively easy to make certain cities grow, for a time; but to insure their permanent prosperity, is a much more complicated and difficult problem. Hence the tears of many an enthusiastic victim of the city-building bug.

While growth and prosperity have certain essential requirements in common, there are other essentials peculiar to prosperity. Whenever they become lacking, in part, or wholly, then prosperity withers or dies—sometimes even before an abnormally forced growth has ceased. There's a reason—always; good reason.

Sometimes the removal of a very slight obstruction, commercial, financial, social, or otherwise, as the particular case may be, will start the wheels of prosperity into permanent humming that increases with age. The paramount problem for us to solve is, having a very rapid superficial growth over a large area inviting intensive internal growth, how shall we induce prosperity to catch up, and keep up with continuing growth, already far in advance, each stimulating the other to even better things.

This super-important problem rightly solved, we Glendallians could give an irresistible selling talk to the most desirable homeseekers, and have them flocking out to our unique and beautiful City of Homes, faster than our contractors and builders could prepare for their warmly welcomed coming.

Why cannot each and every one of us interested, send a suggestion to the newly organized Glendale Chamber of Commerce, with a determined purpose to solve the basic problem.

The Casa Verdugo boys and girls attending the Columbus avenue school in Miss Hook's room are mourning her departure for her home in Sioux City, Iowa, made necessary by the serious illness of her sister.

Mr. C. H. Hamilton, mother and brother, have removed from 1120 Melrose avenue after a two years' stay, to a house in the Verdugo park district in order that Mrs. Hamilton might be nearer her daughter for attention during convalescence from her recent illness.

Sunday School Teacher—What is conscience, Tommy?
 Tommy—An inward monitor.
 Sunday School Teacher—And what is a monitor, Johnny?
 Johnny—An ironclad boat.—Chicago News.

Along the Thames in parts of London, are remains of ancient nameless cities dug up by deep excavating. Doubtless their citizens thought they were progressive; and looked back upon ante-ancient civilizations with as much complaisance as we consider them.

There are two kinds of cities: those partly manufacturing; like the Chicago of the Pacific Coast, Los Angeles. Then there are the wholly residential, as Glendale.

There are others, with a little of both, but not much of either; like—but names and tales do not always go nicely together.

Each kind of city requires certain essential conditions for growth AND prosperity. Note that conjunctive conjunction, AND. It is comparatively easy to make certain cities grow, for a time; but to insure their permanent prosperity, is a much more complicated and difficult problem. Hence the tears of many an enthusiastic victim of the city-building bug.

While growth and prosperity have certain essential requirements in common, there are other essentials peculiar to prosperity. Whenever they become lacking, in part, or wholly, then prosperity withers or dies—sometimes even before an abnormally forced growth has ceased. There's a reason—always; good reason.

Sometimes the removal of a very slight obstruction, commercial, financial, social, or otherwise, as the particular case may be, will start the wheels of prosperity into permanent humming that increases with age. The paramount problem for us to solve is, having a very rapid superficial growth over a large area inviting intensive internal growth, how shall we induce prosperity to catch up, and keep up with continuing growth, already far in advance, each stimulating the other to even better things.

This super-important problem rightly solved, we Glendallians could give an irresistible selling talk to the most desirable homeseekers, and have them flocking out to our unique and beautiful City of Homes, faster than our contractors and builders could prepare for their warmly welcomed coming.

Why cannot each and every one of us interested, send a suggestion to the newly organized Glendale Chamber of Commerce, with a determined purpose to solve the basic problem.

If all the hearts in all the world could just love one another, If all of us where'er we met would call each man his brother, How happy each of us would be, From turmoil and from strife set free,

And then, each day, O heart of mine, Would be a great big Valentine.

If each of us would do his part and not shirk in the doing, There'd be no space for angry words, nor time for trouble brewing, But each would say to each "God speed,"

And mean it, living by his creed 'Of perfect love; O heart of mine 'Twould be the world's great Valentine.

If we united tried to walk, the right way, altogether, Yet halted for the faltering ones who felt Fate's stormy weather; If all the strong would firmly stand

For right, and lead the timid band Of weaker ones, oh, heart of mine 'Twould be the world's best Valentine.

At a recent mass meeting of the Los Angeles Chautauqua association it was announced that negotiations are afoot for the purchasing and remodeling of the old Occidental college building at Avenue 50 and Pasadena avenue as a Chautauqua auditorium capable of seating 6000. It is expected that this building will be reconstructed in time for the first general assembly of the Chautauqua next July. Apart from its advantages as an assembly hall, the auditorium will be a great public asset to all Los Angeles as being the only really capacious auditorium in the Southland.

HERO OF LADY ELGIN WRECK DIES

Edward W. Spencer passed away in Burbank Wednesday morning at the age of eighty years. He came to Los Angeles thirty years ago, where he was in the hardware business until five years ago, when he retired. The Burbank Review gives the following interesting account of the brave deed that won him fame:

"Spencer achieved fame that was world-wide when as the first student lifeguard of Northwestern university he saved 17 lives from the wreck of the steamer Lady Elgin.

"The Lady Elgin foundered in Lake Michigan off Evanston, Ill., September 18, 1860, 279 lives being lost in the great disaster.

"When the stricken ship was sinking, Spencer swam out in the teeth of the gale, breasting heavy seas, and rescuing one after another of the crew and passengers.

"Seventeen times he struggled through the waves and each time he took to land a human being.

"Collapsing, the hero murmured in his delirium again and again 'Did I do my best?'

"The phrase spread from coast to coast and became a part of the Methodist code. These five words have been used hundreds of times in Methodist churches as the text for sermons."

EPWORTH LEAGUE PICNIC

An all-day picnic was enjoyed by the members of the Epworth League of the Tropic M. E. church at Griffith Park on Saturday. Some of the party left at 9 o'clock in the morning and others joined the crowd in the afternoon and evening. The girls of the crowd furnished the dinner and the young men the supper. The party had secured a permit to stay in the park until 10:30 and in the evening a campfire was built, around which all gathered in a circle and contributed some entertainment feature. A larger space was cleared as the fire grew brighter and charades were played, Indian dances performed and Bill Hewitt and Will Marple had a wrestling match, Indian fashion which resulted in a tie. Some of the party went to Bee Rock to watch the moon come up, after which the crowd marched home, singing. About thirty-five enjoyed this pleasant outing.

HAPPY SOCIAL GATHERING

The Phillips and Daniels home at 1424 West Colorado street was the scene of a festive gathering on Sunday evening, February 11, the honored guests being Mr. and Mrs. Nate Desky of Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. M. Frankenstein, Miss Helen Frankenstein and Will Frankenstein of Chicago, who are spending the winter in Pasadena. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Salo Desky, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Desky, Victor W. Daniels, Miss Helen Daniels, Harold W. Phillips, Miss Reba Phillips and the hostesses, Mrs. G. Phillips and Miss Eva Daniels. A daintily appointed luncheon was followed by an evening of music and social conversation.

PROSPERITY

The best monument to the memory of men is not a marble shaft over their remains, but a thriving community which treasures memories of their active life. Cheerful citizens who are always finding good enterprises to be promoted and encouraging others to "come on" and get under the load of actual work—these citizens prosper, make prosperity, keep it moving and passing on to the last infant born as well as to the last grandparent living.

MUTUALLY MISTAKEN

"As I was crossing the bridge the other day," said Potts, "I met O'Connor. 'O'Connor,' says I, 'how are you?' 'Pretty well, thank you, Brady,' says he. 'Brady,' says I, 'that's not me name.' 'Faith,' says he, 'and mine's not O'Connor.' With that we again looked at each other an' sure enough it was nather of us."—Boston Transcript.

LEGAL MAZE

The late Gilman Marston, a celebrated lawyer of New Hampshire, was arguing a complicated case, says the Christian Register, and looked up authorities back to Julius Caesar. At the end of an hour and a half in the most intricate part of his plea he was pained to see what looked like inattention on the bench. It was as he feared. The judge was unable to appreciate the nice points of his argument.

"I beg your honor's pardon," he said, "but do you follow me?" "I have so far," answered the judge, shifting wearily about in his chair, "but I'll say frankly that I thought I could find my way back I'd quit right here."

MRS. GOODWIN ENTERTAINS CHAPTER A. H.

Chapter A. H. of P. E. O. spent a delightful afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. P. Goodwin, 142 West Tenth St., Tropic, Friday. The house was very attractively decorated with yellow acacia and blue lupines for the occasion. Mrs. Ida B. Ludden had charge of the program which followed the usual business meeting. The program consisted of a piano solo, "The Flatterer" by Chaminade beautifully rendered by Mrs. Van Etten, and a paper on "The Women of France," by Mrs. Ludden which was very interesting to her hearers. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon. Those present were Mrs. John Logan, Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. Wesley Bullis, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Emil Tholen, Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, Mrs. Wm. C. Mabry, Mrs. Sina Van Etten, Mrs. Ida B. Ludden, Mrs. W. C. Wattles, Mrs. Hal Davenport, Mrs. Alma Phillips and the hostess, Mrs. H. P. Goodwin.

TOO MUCH TIME

Pat had seen nearly every clock in the place, but had discarded all of them as not being good enough for his purpose. The weary shopman had exhausted his whole stock except a few cuckoo clocks, so he brought these forward as a last resource, and vowed he would do his best to sell one or know the reason why.

"Do the clocks strike the hours?" asked Pat, noticing their curious shape, and half doubting their capacity to do anything.

"I'll show you what they do," said the salesman; and he set the hand, of one to a few minutes to 12. When the little door flew open and the cuckoo thrust his head out, cuckooing for dear life, Pat was thunderstruck. But when the bird disappeared he looked glum and pondered in gloomy thought for a moment.

"Well, how do you like that?" asked the salesman. "That's a stager for you, isn't it?"

"Faith and begorra, I should think it is," declared Pat. "It's trouble enough to remember to wind it, without having to think of feeding the bird."

The telephone tintinnabulated. "Is this the office of the Daily Squawk?" a voice asked.

"It is."
"Well, then, I want you to insert this death notice: 'Colonel Jones has gone to rest,' in an appropriate place." The next morning it read: "Colonel Jones has gone to rest in an appropriate place."—Exchange.

ANNOUNCEMENT

This road was recently acquired for a trade for citrus property and while it serves one of the prettiest canyons in Southern California, it has never been a success financially.

The successful operation of this line means a great deal to the City of Glendale: it means that Glendale will profit largely through trading being done here by people in the Valley. We need the friendly support of our patrons and the public; a sentiment that will protect the railroad against any unjust competition such as paralleling auto stage lines, as well as a friendly attitude towards railroad operation generally.

Small railroads in California have become a joke as an investment, but each line serving a good territory can be made to pay if properly supported, and while this line loses more money per mile than any other small line in the State, it can be made to pay if given assistance until such a time as the greater forthcoming development affords more traffic.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Bicknell Young, C. S. B., of Chicago, Ill., delivered a lecture on Christian Science, Saturday evening at Foresters hall, Burbank, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Glendale. Dale G. Vaughan introduced the speaker. Mr. Young who is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts said in part:

Life necessarily includes the phenomena of Life in all its aspects. Christian Science being the Science of Life, nothing divine or human is ignored by its teachings, but on the contrary a proper and adequate provision is made for the observation, classification and disposal of all phenomena and experiences.

All systems of philosophy and religion practically agree that effects could not exist without a cause. Christian Science agrees with many of them as to the nature of cause, though even in this respect it is far more practical than they, but disagrees with them all as to the nature of all so-called effects. They on the one hand declare with Christian Science that cause must be infinite and eternal, and at the same time they teach that all seeming effects, however material, destructible or destructive, must have their source in the same infinite Cause. Christian Science shows that such conclusions are logically incorrect. It establishes the incontrovertible fact that there are true and permanent phenomena in the universe, and by means of them, when understood, it reveals divine Principle, which conclusively enables one to first recognize and then step by step dispose of phenomena which are not permanent, and which, consequently, in the last analysis, are not true.

That you and I can think—that we are thinking at the present moment, involves the primary fact that intelligence exists. It is self-evident also that our capacity to think is not a personal thing. Every human being has possessed it in some degree, and even the higher order of animals appear to have a measure of it, yet intelligence never belonged exclusively to any particular man or woman or race or creature. The history of humanity shows it to be something more than a limited possession. It is an universal heritage.

Intelligence is both a prerequisite and concomitant of all legitimate scientific and Christian endeavor. Its nature is unquestionably infinite, therefore primarily divine. In view of this fact how utterly unreasonable to disassociate God from science. Consequently, Christian Scientists, though ardent Christians, are not less, but more scientific than other scientists. When asked how Christian Science heals, they can truthfully answer, through intelligence and they can reasonably ask in their turn, is there any other way of doing anything correctly?

Divine intelligence is conceivable only as Spirit, omnipotence, omniscience, omnipresence. It is conceivable therefore that divine intelligence, Spirit, could not do anything directly that needs to be done, and consequently not conceivable that it could or would provide some indirect means for healing the sick.

Theories predicated upon the necessity for material remedies or methods in healing are wanting in reason and logic. Now observe that the method of Christian Science is diametrically opposite to them. It illustrates the scientific ideal; for even in the mechanical world there has always been the hope that some time or other power would become available by direct means and without waste of energy or loss in transmission. This idea has never been applied to the healing of the sick or the regeneration of mankind until the advent of Christian Science. In this practice alone we have it applied, and the ideal practically realized and illustrated. The power which heals disease in Christian Science is the divine Mind. It is available only as Mind. While the ordinary physician says that he believes in the intelligent use of drugs or other material remedies, we say and prove that we know how to rely upon divine intelligence itself. Where is the real thinker who can doubt that the latter system is far more scientific than the former?

The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science was the greatest of all modern thinkers along purely metaphysical and strictly philosophical lines. She was not only clear but fearlessly consistent. When other thinkers came face to face with the conflict between the ideals of life which point to the spiritual facts of being, and the material everyday experiences which conflict with such ideals, they yielded their ideals to the evidence of the material senses. In the light of pure reason it is not strange that, swayed by such inconsistency, they evolved contradictory theories of religion and philosophy. Mary Baker Eddy, on the other hand, saw that spiritual facts, though contrary to the evidence of the material senses, and though humanly idealistic, relate most nearly to the basic Principle and boundless Power which men call God. Consequently her scientific system of healing disease and overcoming sin requires that divine facts when discerned shall be maintained even in the face of any and all material evidence that appears to be contrary to them. ## ST. VALENTINE'S DAY

By Margaret Mason
(Written for the United Press.)

"Oh, Valentine wilt thou be mine?"
"Indeed I will," said she,
"If you can prove you'll be a mine
Of gold and jewels for me."

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Alas poor little Dan Cupid is trailing his rosy wings in the dust. He leans sad and discouraged on his quiver with a quiver of his underlip. Since munition millionaires are buying up hearts of rubies and scarves of Point de Venise to present to their fair Valentines this February 14th, Cupid feels red satin hearts and paper frills won't have a chance.

Oh, where are the paper lace and tinsel valentines of yesterday? The hand-painted satin hearts pierced with gilded darts, all amorously inscribed with some choice and burning sentiment fresh from a passionate poet's pen. They are in the dust heap of the gods along with the broken vows, shattered hearts and withered flowers.

The modern maid is educated up to more expensive love tokens. She insists that the tinsel of her valentine be at least fourteen karat, if not twenty-two. Her paper lace must be real lace and any hearts coming her way must be shiny jeweled ones instead of shiny satin.

Even the more sensible good old-fashioned girls (and there really are a few left) balk at a picture card token that is rich only in sentiment. They will be made blissfully happy however with a heart-shaped box of sweets, a heart-shaped beaded bag or one of those lovely lingerie pillows of Cluny and filet lace, heart shaped, over a slip of rosy satin.

Heart shaped pincushions to match are also appropos and there are packages of delicately tinted satin hearts of sachet that are to be sniffed at and yet won't be. Heart-shaped birch bark baskets and ones of tinted willow filled with flowers are most attractive gifts that one shop which is making a specialty of Valentine tokens is showing.

There are all sorts of heart shaped jewel boxes ranging from gold, silver and carved ivory down to equally effective and less expensive enamel, laquer, brass, ivorine and pewter. If you send one of these with this telling little sentiment borrowed from one of William Winter's poems—

"I send you, dear, an empty heart
But send it from a very full one."
you cannot fail to win the gratified adoration of your Valentine lady.

If you have the face to do it a heart-shaped picture frame of silver or colored leather makes a picturesque valentine and there are heart shaped crystal vials of perfume rare, fit for the most fastidious of noses. Love often smiles on one who exchanges dollars for scents.

To bag a heart with a heart shaped bag would seem to be a popular sport this Feb. 14 for the variety of valentine bags offered is most bewildering. There are sewing bags and darning bags and vanity bags and shopping bags and skating bags and slipper bags and bags for anything at all.

Not all of them are heartshaped by any means, although the majority are, but some, especially the beaded ones, carry out the valentine idea of having fat little cupids disport over their sides. A clever darning bag of cretonne is hung on arrow shaped rods instead of the plain brass lengths of curtain rod and it is trimmed in fat little stuffed hearts in lieu of the stuffed silk apples which have been borne so monotonously by every darning bag this season. An irresistible skating bag has a fat little kewpie in smiles and nothing else skating madly across its sides in yarn embroidery.

The most elaborate, ornate and expensive of the valentine tokens I have glimpsed is a heart shaped brooch of rubies pierced by an arrow of platinum from whose point drips a drop of ruby gore. The nicest valentine gift, I think, is a hand carved old gilt and blue wood frame enshrining the photograph of the only-man-in-the-world. And think what a practical and useful gift for next year. It will be so easy to change the photograph for another of the 1918 or more current only-man-in-the-world.

'Cause they ain't no use on earth.
You just be a booster rooster—
Crow and boost fer all you're

If your town needs boostin', boost'er
Don't hold back and wait to see
If some other feller's willin';
Sail right in—this country's free!
No one's got a mortgage on it;
It's just yours as much as his.
If your town needs boostin', boost 'er!

You get in the boostin' biz.

If things don't just seem to suit you od is in accordance with the methods of the greatest investigators of the world, although it was never adopted by metaphysicians or philosophers prior to her time. By means of this method, original with her, divine metaphysics became a practical science.

THE WORM TURNED

"You haven't done very well this month," said the boss. "Your orders were few and far between."
"I'm sorry," said the traveling salesman, "but—"
"I don't want excuses. I want orders."

Just then the door opened and the secretary entered and passed a card. "Humph," said the boss, "James Henry, salesman for the General Products company! Doesn't he know I never see traveling men at this hour?"
"He says he is in a hurry to leave town and would like to explain his proposition to you. He will be brief."

"I can't see him now. I'm busy. Tell him to wait."
"When shall I tell him to call again?"
"Tell him to wait there and I'll see him in about an hour. Now, then, young man, why is it that you fell down this month?"
"Because all the business men I called on insisted on treating your salesman the way you treat theirs."
—Exchange.
