ON THE FIRING LINE

Pulsebeats of the Warriors Shown by Tongue and Pen From Ocean to Ocean in Canada's Greatest Conflict.

"Ma, please may I have some more butter on my toast?" The boy was late for breakfast and his father had gone to his work. "No, my son," replied the mother, "don't forget that that great man Premier McBride says 'butter is a luxury on our tables.' Poor people can't afford much luxury." Thoughtful Willie studied a moment, then cheerfully broke out again, "But it will be cheaper when they take the duty off, won't it?" The mother (thinking of Premier McBride's speech at the picnic), "Well, you don't expect it will get any cheaper if Mr. McBride raises the duty still higher, do you?" Willie went to the foot of his class that day trying to figure out why Premier McBride should want to "raise the duties still higher."

LAURIER AND THE ISSUE

The Liberal chieftain makes as powerful an appeal as ever to the imagination of the multitude, and certainly those who saw and heard him yesterday at Simcoe must have felt well repaid for the trouble it cost them to be present. Never, surely, did man see the stroke of seventy-seven years so young, so debonair, so full of mirth, so graceful, and yet at the same time so positive, so assertive, so sure of himself, as did this veteran whose locks have been whitened but whose eye has not been dimmed by forty years of political battle. Reciprocity is the issue, yes. But the fact that it is Laurier who has made it the issue, and who has shaped it for presentation as an issue, is already seen to be counting as a mighty influence in favor of the argument.

LOGICAL CONCLUSION

(Senator Goss of Oklahoma.)
 "The right to sell what we don't need and the right to buy what we do need seems to be fraught with greater calamity than all the plagues that afflicted the Egyptians of old," he said with telling irony, referring to some of the objections raised to reciprocity. "The man who could tax the crust upon the hungry lip would, had he lived in the older times, have taxed the manna that fell from heaven. So long as Canadian wheat will feed the hungry, so long as Canadian lumber will shelter the homeless why should we refuse to accept the blessings placed at our door by Him who fashioned the universe himself?"

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB

Hamilton Times.
 "Remove the tariff against Canadian sheep and watch the Canadian sheep industry grow. I have voted Conservative for years, but I am for the reciprocity trade agreement." Henry Arkell (Conservative), Guelp, one of the largest sheep-breeders in Canada.

FACT-SIMILE

Winnipeg Tribune.
 It is more difficult for a paralyzed man to pick up a flea with a pair of boxing gloves on, than for a working man to vote against reciprocity.

ELECTION PREDICTIONS

Dispatches predicting a victory for Mr. Borden in the East are already appearing in the anti-reciprocity organ in Victoria. These unfounded reports will increase and multiply as the day of election approaches. They all emanate from the same source, the headquarters of "the interests" in Montreal. They are not new from an electioneering point of view. A review of the columns of our contemporary proves that the Conservatives professed to be just as confident in the year 1908, and everyone in Victoria remembers, or ought to remember, the result of that contest. It is not necessary to be a prophet in order to predict a victory for the Liberal government on the 21st of September. All independent authorities agree that Laurier will have a larger majority in the new parliament than he had in the old. Ontario, the banner province of the Dominion, has always voted in favor of reciprocity when reciprocity was an issue in Dominion elections. Sir Wilfrid, for the first time in his career as leader, will attain his oft-expressed ambition, a majority of the representatives from Ontario behind him in Parliament. No one attempts seriously to dispute the fact that the government, already strong in the Maritime Provinces, will increase its strength as a result of the voting on the 21st of September. Then reciprocity is so popular in the prairie provinces that Conservative candidates are declaring that they will vote for its ratification if elected. The Times asks its readers to make a note of what is stated here and compare it with the published results on the 22nd of September.

INCENDIARY AT WORK AT NELSON

BUILDINGS ON CHINESE RANCH DESTROYED

City Aroused by Recent Fires—Outbreaks Six Nights in Succession

Nelson, B. C., Aug. 22.—For the first time since he commenced work here, the firebug succeeded last night in starting a fire at a Chinese ranch in Fairview, which destroyed in a few minutes some thousand dollars worth of property. Several Chinamen escaped, thanks to the efforts of Alderman George Ferguson and Captain F. L. Orr, who gave the alarm, and also released two horses from the stable which was already on fire when the outbreak was discovered.

The Chinamen's ranch, upon which a number of buildings were totally destroyed, is located a few yards east of the Fairview brickyards and beyond the last water hydrant, and consequently beyond the reach of the Nelson fire brigade, which turned out, but finding that its efforts would be useless, returned to the station in order to be in readiness in case of another outbreak in a different part of the city.

The fire had been started in two places. A bale of hay had been taken from a hay barn, opened and lighted in front of the stable door, behind which were the two horses, while the second blaze was started in the barn itself. It was found that the door of the stable had been secured by several pieces of wire. The rescuers tore off the wire after giving the alarm to a number of Chinamen who were asleep in the two-story residence near the barn and stable. Then they released the horses which were almost crazy with fright, caused by the flames which were spreading about them.

CONVICTED WIRELESS OFFICIAL

George H. Parker Will Serve His Term at McNeill's Island.
 New York, Aug. 22.—George H. Parker, last of the convicted wireless quartette will, by his own request, serve his sentence at McNeill's Island on Puget Sound. He will leave this city for the prison Friday. Parker's request to serve his sentence at McNeill's Island is said to be due to his desire to be close to his large real estate holdings in Seattle. It is estimated that he has more than a million dollars invested in Seattle in apartment houses. Parker will serve his sentence almost in sight of the handsome house he built with the money acquired from the sale of United Wireless stock.

TWO FROZEN TO DEATH

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 22.—W. F. Skinner and wife, of Dallas, Texas, have been found frozen to death near the summit of Pike's Peak. Their bodies, almost covered by snow, were found side by side by a boy walking down the peak.

FAVOR LEMIEUX ACT

London, Aug. 22.—M. Barlow, M.P., and Alton Baker, M.P., both recommend the adoption of legislation similar to the Canadian Lemieux Act, as an improvement to British legislation in settling industrial disputes. In view of his appointment on the strike commission, Arthur Henderson, ex-chairman of the Labor party, is postponing his visit to Canada.

MEETING TO-NIGHT FOR WORKINGMEN

RECIPROCITY'S BENEFITS TO BE LAID BEFORE THEM

Speakers at Institute Hall Will Be Hon. W. Templeman, R. L. Drury and J. S. Cowper

The workingmen of Victoria, while welcome attendants at all Liberal meetings, will have an especial opportunity to-night of hearing addresses on reciprocity as it affects the great toiling classes of the community.

The meeting which has been arranged for this evening in Institute hall is intended to give the workingman a chance to learn just how reciprocity is going to benefit him and render his lot easier. It will begin promptly at eight o'clock, when A. R. Sherk, a prominent local labor man, will take the chair, and it is hoped to bring it to a close soon after ten.

REFUSED HEARING BY H. S. CLEMENTS

INVITED LIBERAL, BUT THEN CHANGED HIS MIND

Speaker Who Journeyed From Victoria to Alberni by Invitation Cannot Speak

Port Alberni, Aug. 22.—What Liberals here look on as an amusing incident, occurred last night, and they are asking to-day, whether the Tory candidate was trying a bluff or is in a blue funk.

H. S. Clements, late of Prince Rupert, the Conservative candidate in Comox-Atlin, having expressed a desire to meet a Liberal speaker on the platform, arrangements were made to send J. S. Cowper, editor of the Prince Rupert Daily News, to meet Mr. Clements at Port Alberni last night. Mr. Cowper cancelled a meeting at Victoria in order to attend.

ASSAULTS ALDERMAN

Police Sergeant Attacks Member of Kamloops Council at Meeting of Commissioners.

Kamloops, B. C., Aug. 22.—At a meeting of the police commissioners held last night, Sergeant Nottley of the city force, while giving evidence, sprang from the witness box and struck Alderman Baynton in the face. It took the combined efforts of Provincial Constable Simon, Alderman Graham and a spectator to bring the policeman to his senses and eventually to a cell in the city jail. The assault was the outcome of an investigation put under way by Alderman Baynton. Sergeant Nottley is now out on bail.

FRANCE AND GERMANY

CONSERVATIVES FOR RECIPROCITY

PACT IS POPULAR IN EAST KOOTENAY

Ranchers in Windermere Valley in Favor of Trade Agreement

Athlmer, B. C., Aug. 22.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the electors from Athlmer, Wilmer and Windermere, and the ranchers of the surrounding district in the Windermere Valley, was addressed yesterday by Dr. King, the Liberal candidate for Kootenay, and M. A. Macdonald of Cranbrook. The meeting was freely acknowledged to be the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in this part of the valley.

The chair was filled by Samuel Brower, one of the old timers and a brother of the late Mr. Justice Brower of the United States Supreme court. In a few vigorous sentences he declared in opening the meeting his approval of the reciprocity pact, stating that it would prove a great benefit to every man in the valley, and what was good for each one of them would be good for the country at large.

SIR WILFRID SPEAKS ON THE NAVAL LAW

Replies to Attack of Henri Bourassa—How Canada Will Benefit by Reciprocity—Hon. R. Lemieux Flays the Nationalists.

St. Eustache, Que., Aug. 22.—In the shade of a church, bullet-scarred by the English in the rebellion of 1867, Sir Wilfrid Laurier held one of the best meetings of his Quebec campaign yesterday afternoon.

Sir Wilfrid spoke with a fire and vigor astonishing many old men who had heard him during his last appearance in the district in 1896. Reciprocity was but lightly touched upon, but Sir Wilfrid took occasion to dissect the naval law, obviously to offset the vigorous campaign waged by Mr. Bourassa in this district against this plank of the Liberal platform. The premier replied to the attacks of Mr. Bristol of Toronto Centre.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux was in fine fighting form and attacked the Nationalists without mercy. There were about 30,000 at the meeting. The preparations were elaborate, the town being decorated and Sir Wilfrid was met by twenty-five youths and a band.

Sir Wilfrid remarked that it was his second appearance before the electorate of St. Eustache, the first occasion having been in 1896. He pointed out that when the Liberal government had replaced the Conservative administration ruin had not overwhelmed the manufacturers as the prophets of the day had promised. The most partisan of the Conservatives must admit that the country had never enjoyed such prosperity as to-day. He quoted statistics on natural products showing what Canada would save by the removal of tariff duties. Reciprocity had not been received unanimously on either side of the line. The United States farmers had objected to it on the ground that it benefited only the Canadian farmer, and President Taft had replied that it also benefited the American consumer.

"I now come to my ex-friend Mr. Bourassa." (Laughter). "He was a friend of mine once and some day will tell you how he ceased to be my friend. His object is to overthrow Laurier; but he is not alone. Mr. Borden says the same thing in Ontario—and Mr. Monk and Mr. Sifton. Mr. Monk is the shadow of Mr. Bourassa. He bears a trumpet on the floor of the House which Bourassa sounds. Mr. Sifton has separated from me on the reciprocity issue. He has said nothing except to disagree with me on that point. But when I see linked the names of Sifton and Bourassa I feel my revenge. If Bourassa does not like me, he detests Sifton more. But these two exchange the kiss of peace and cry, 'Overthrow Laurier!'"

PASSING SHOW

Princess Theatre.
When Manager Williams selected "King's Evidence" for the fourth week's bill of his engagement he showed great wisdom. The play is an excellent portrayal of English life, among the poor as well as the rich, the characters are well-drawn, comedy and pathos are finely mingled and, to cap all, the cast is one to the presentation of which the abilities of the members of the Williams Stock Company lend themselves admirably.

The theatre has been filled at every performance for the last two weeks and the company has made firm friends of a host of Victoria play-goers. Monday night and again last night the production of "King's Evidence" was witnessed by capacity houses, which showed their appreciation of the play by frequent and hearty applause. At the opening of the play it is learned that counterfeit money has been in circulation which Gilbert Medland is wrongfully suspected of having coined. Because this money was found in his drawer at the office, having been placed there by the real counterfeiter, he is accused, and in order that he may evade this trouble, he leaves his home and crosses to Canada. Returning to England eight years later, he assumes another name, and is even denied by his wife who is endeavoring to shield him from his alleged crime. The unravelling of the mystery of the counterfeiters, and the conviction of the rightful coiners involves a most interesting play which was well worked out by the different players.

Mr. Van Dyke makes a fine, manly Medland, Miss Pinkie Mullally a charming wife, in a part which presents many difficulties, all overcome by her artistic ability; G. L. Sweetser a realistic and convincing "Crown," and the other members all "make good" in their respective roles. Happy Dave Williams is a host in himself.

Empress Theatre.
The first appearance here of the Russell and Smith minstrels as the headline act at the Empress theatre was the signal for long continued applause Monday, and this quintette of black-face singers will never lack appreciative audiences here. The songs sung are from the following: An overture arranged by William McKenna; "The Girls in the Light House Ring Ding Dong"; "When the Wind Over the Sea Blows a Gale"; "Possum Pie," Joe McGee's own composition; "When You and I were Young, Maggie," and a host of others. The act is a fine singing combination and as a minstrel show has that snap about it that keeps the audience enthralled all the time.

Lew Orth and Lillah tour Egypt and take the audience along all enjoying the scenery on the stage and the absurdities of the tourists; Franz Meisel displays a power and ability with his violin that stamp him as in the first rank. There is a dance act by Mabel Howard and Shaw and Lee; and Welda and Serano do some very wonderful hand balancing.

Majestic Theatre.
"The Writing on the Wall" heads the list of features on the new bill. It's a story of unusual interest showing how justice works out its own ends in its own peculiar and frequently unexpected ways. "His Best Girl After All," a film that gives a sort of sermon or warning to men not to leave their wives for the society of other women. If ever one was vigorously punished in reality as this one was in his dream it is quite likely he would desert from such attentions. "A Visit to Nassau Bahama," a traveller; it gives good illustrations of the scenery on the Bahama Islands and the people who live there. "The Country Lovers," a Biograph drama. "Bertie's Reformation," a lively comedy played with spirit and appreciation. It tells a story of a young man who is dazzled by the lure of the city and how he is outwitted by his father. It is a good comedy well played, and the story is so clear there can be no misunderstanding it.

FACING THE FACTS.

(Fredericton Daily Mail).
The lessons of this painful and disheartening tale are so perfectly simple and obvious that he who runs may read. No one who loves this good old province of New Brunswick and cares for its future should fail to take them to heart and put them to practice at the polls when the reciprocity question comes to be decided. We have long been deprived of our natural market and have suffered greatly in consequence. The boon of reciprocal trade with the United States, which the greatest statesmen of both political parties have nearly fifty years put forth every effort to obtain, is now within our grasp. Shall we take advantage of this golden opportunity and open the doors to prosperity, or shall we reject it and continue a policy which has arrested the development of our resources and caused our population to decline?
Lever Brothers, Toronto, will send you a cake of their famous Plaiotto toilet soap, if you mention this paper.

LEADING ENGINEERS IN CONSTRUCTION CO.

Messrs. Case and Collins Are Now Associated With Pacific Coast Co.

The Pacific Coast Construction Company, Ltd., announce that Cecil B. Case and Percy S. Collins, civil engineers, are now interested in the company.

Messrs. Case and Collins have designed and constructed various large engineering works in the British Isles and for the British Guiana, Belgian, Russian, Egyptian, and Italian governments.

Mr. Case designed the Ross Bay sea wall, which is now in course of construction. The firm in future will undertake engineering and construction of works, also the erection of buildings on their ligno-concrete system. A small bungalow erected on this system will be seen at the forthcoming exhibition, and will give an excellent idea of the suitability of the new system to domestic architecture.

jecting an arrangement so plainly in their interests for fear annexation would result.

Dr. King also dwelt with the effect of the pact on the fruit industry, pointing out that increased values of fruit-growing lands in the Windermere Valley must follow the adoption of the pact in view of the high price of the lands on the other side of the line. He also referred to the development which would be bound to ensue in the coal mining towns along the Crow's Nest by the opening up of the American market from coke. All parties, Liberals and Conservatives alike agree that the foremost benefit would result to the coal mining industry from this one feature of the pact. Such developments in the Crow's Nest pass would open a market of easy access for the construction of the Kootenay Central railway, which is now under way to the Valley. Dr. King closed by asserting that there should be no party politics in this contest. It was simply a referendum to ascertain the views of the people on this one question.

M. A. Macdonald, the silver-tongued orator of the Kootenay, was the next speaker. He had his audience spell-bound for two hours, showing conclusively that the identical arrangement with the United States sought to-day was sought by the great leaders of the Conservative party in the past. He asked the Conservatives present, if they insisted on retaining their party allegiance, to vote for the old Conservativeism rather than the new, for the policy of Sir John A. Macdonald and his liegemen, who desired reciprocity with the United States rather than the policy of Mr. Borden, who, without consulting his own followers in the country by means of a convention or otherwise, undertook to oppose this pact at the instance of certain protected interests in Montreal and eighteen Liberal millionaires in the city of Toronto. Mr. Macdonald entered into an analysis of the agreement, showing its effect from a national standpoint in enlarging the markets of Canada and its particular effect so far as the Windermere districts was concerned. He claimed that party feeling should not, and he believed would not, enter into this contest. The farmers present, who consider this agreement just in the same way as they would do if the subject were up for discussion at one of their meetings in farmers' institutes or agricultural associations. If this were done and party feeling eliminated, he asserted that he believed that every farmer and rancher present would favor a resolution endorsing the pact, and the audience showed by their applause that they agreed with this view. The speaker further touched on the various arguments used by Mr. Goodeve throughout the riding, pointing out that he discussed everything else except the agreement and its possible effect on the community, and he showed that every industry in the province would be benefited by the arrangement, lumber by obtaining free access into American markets, without increasing one iota the competition by American lumbermen in the Canadian markets; the fishing industry will get free access to the American market, and would be as great a boon for the fishing interests at the coast that no opposition speaker to date had ever disputed it; the mining industry of the Crow's Nest, with the free admission of coke into the American market would also boom. It was a question of everything to gain and nothing to lose, and no rancher or business man present could vote against it without admitting that he placed party feelings ahead of his own personal interests.

At the close of the meeting the chairman called for cheers for reciprocity, and every one in the room responded except one individual at the back. The meeting showed conclusively that the Windermere Valley is for King and reciprocity.

Visits Golden.
Golden, B. C., Aug. 23.—Dr. J. H. King, Liberal candidate for Kootenay, reached Golden yesterday after a trip through the Windermere Valley from Cranbrook. He made the trip in an automobile and was accompanied by four other cars owned by Messrs. E. Small, James McKay, R. E. Beattie and F.

Patrick, of Cranbrook, who with a party of supporters made the trip through the valley. At various points throughout the trip Dr. King called on many ranchers personally, and he was assured by many of them who have been Conservatives heretofore that they were in favor of reciprocity, and intended to express their views at the ballot on the 21st of September. Many prominent Conservatives in East Kootenay, like Mr. Peter Lunde, of Warden, a prominent lumberman and owner of a large tract of land in East Kootenay, are in favor of reciprocity, and do not hesitate to say so. The Windermere Valley is rapidly developing. A new town is being built up at Inverness. Many ranchers have already located in the valley and are actively engaged in agriculture. Dr. King's election is conceded by all independent voters irrespective of party.

WARMER WEATHER PROBABLE IN WEST

Threshing Will Be General in Southern Manitoba by End of This Week

Winnipeg, Aug. 23.—Western Canada's crops had a narrow escape from broadcast injury Monday when temperatures fell after a cold day to within an ace of freezing point. At Broadview, Sask., the centre of a large agricultural belt, the lowest mark was attained when the government register recorded 32 above zero. At many places during the night the temperature dropped as low as 33 and 34, but no grain was nipped. Indications appear to promise warmer weather.

Thomas Atcheson, grain agent for the C. P. R., in an interview yesterday stated that between 50 and 75 per cent. of the wheat in southwestern Alberta and southern Alberta has already been cut and would not be affected by Sunday's storm. In southern Alberta about 40 per cent. has been cut.

D. W. McCuaig, chairman of the Manitoba Elevator Commission, verifies the figures of Mr. Atcheson and believes that in southern Manitoba threshing will be general by the end of this week. He now predicts a good average crop for Manitoba instead of the bumper yield forecasted at an earlier date.

A "LANDLADY" ON CHILDREN.

To the Editor:—In reply to the letter of T. Ames, may I say from my own experience that if the parents would only teach their children their rudiments of good behaviour and politeness and a little regard for the furniture, etc., of the rooms they occupy, there would be few objections to children. I have had children in my house, careful and polite, in short, well bred, and I liked having them, for I love children. Others, again, I have had who were dirty in their habits, very noisy, destructive, and a perpetual nuisance all the time.
But, Mr. Editor, I blame the laziness of the mothers in not bringing up their children properly, and, believe me, when parents study to train their children as well bred, respectable beings, there will be few or no objections to children in rented rooms.

Port Arthur, Ont., Aug. 22.—Jumping from the blind baggage of a train, on which they were stealing a ride, in order to avoid arrest on arrival at Port Arthur, may prove fatal to Andrew Sinclair and A. Both had been employed by W. C. Woodside at Pearl River as laborers.

VICTORIA WEST LIBERALS MEET

R. L. DRURY SPEAKS ON ORIENTAL QUESTION

T. D. Patullo and F. J. Stacpoole, K. C., on Benefits of Reciprocity Pact

A meeting of the Liberals of Victoria West was held last night in Semple's hall, when Lieut.-Col. Currie presided. Owing to continued indisposition Hon. William Templeman was unable to be present, and as J. S. Cowper, of Prince Rupert, had been requested to address a meeting at Alberni on behalf of the candidature of Duncan Ross for Comox-Atlin, he also was absent from the list of advertised speakers. The platform party consisted of the chairman, R. L. Drury, T. D. Patullo and F. J. Stacpoole, K. C.

In opening the proceedings Colonel Currie said that never in his experience had the Liberals of West Victoria been so anxious to participate in a fight. He regarded that as a good sign for reciprocity, although the ward had always been regarded as a Conservative stronghold. It was a tribute to the common sense of the electors. The Conservatives had forced the issue upon them, but they welcomed the fight heartily.

R. L. Drury, who was the first speaker called upon, devoted his remarks largely to a review of the Oriental question and demonstrated the justification and vindication of the government's policy. He said:

I am in perfect agreement with the chairman that the all absorbing topic will be reciprocity at this forthcoming election. The circumstances make it so. It is the issue upon which the verdict of the people will be delivered. I do not wish to depart from that issue or to divert attention from it, but I think it is also fitting, remembering the circumstances of the last election, that I should recall to-night something of what took place on that occasion. It must be within the memory of all of you here to-night that the issue at that time was the question of the Japanese immigration agreement which was fought so bitterly by our opponents upon every hustings and platform, day in and day out, and by the Conservative press—that was the question that was adopted and contorted by Mr. McBride. They claimed that our very existence as an Anglo-Saxon community was threatened by an influx of the Japanese. That question overshadowed all others. In the Colonist of the 25th October of that year there was an article headed "Final appeal of Mr. Barnard to the electors of Victoria," and if you care to examine that article you will find that almost every line of that appeal was based on the question of Japanese immigration. He said that the defeat of a cabinet minister upon that issue would be the most emphatic way of making a protest against the agreement, and that therefore the electors of the city and the workmen especially had the best opportunity of any constituency in British Columbia, because they had Mr. Barnard.

It is not necessary for me to enlarge upon that. I now want to read you something from the Colonist, not during the campaign, but after the smoke of battle had cleared away. This is the Colonist as to the cause of the defeat of Hon. William Templeman. It is dated the 27th October, 1908, and is to be found in a leading editorial. "The principal reason," it says, "is to be found in the determination of the majority of the voters of Victoria to place themselves on record as opposed to the Oriental immigration. This question, towards the close of the campaign, overshadowed all others, and it has been upon it that the verdict of this constituency has been pronounced. Notwithstanding the claims made on behalf of the Liberal government in regard to the Japanese question, all Canadians know that the people of this city are not satisfied. In view of the fact that Mr. Templeman had all the prestige attaching to a seat in the cabinet, his defeat on such an issue is a very notable thing."

That was written after the battle was over, and that is the calm judgment of the Colonist. Now let us review what has taken place since then. Has there been any complaint made of the violation of that agreement? Have any ship loads of Japanese yet arrived in Victoria, of which you saw pictures in the Colonist? I ask you to show me a man either in this province or in any other who will say that this agreement which was so vigorously denounced throughout the country has not been a success, or who will venture to say that one single prophecy made by the opponents of the agreement has been fulfilled. They said the agreement threatened us as an Anglo-Saxon community. Well, gentlemen, I put it to you, has it done so?

One of the claims they then made was similar in effect to what they are claiming now in regard to reciprocity. They claimed that we had surrendered the control of our Canadian immigration affairs to the government of Tokio; that we were completely at their mercy. That is what they say today in regard to the matter beyond reciprocity. It means the surrender of our fiscal autonomy they say. It was not true on the Japanese question gentlemen, nor is it true of reciprocity. What remedy had Mr. McBride to offer in lieu of the Japanese agreement of the Liberal government? The Natal Act. I ask you has not the agreement worked satisfactorily in the interest of the wage-earners of the province of British Columbia?

I hold in my hand a testimonial from the Trades and Labor Council of this city, a non-political organization, which I think places the matter beyond dispute. This document was sent to Sir Wilfrid Laurier by that body unsofited. Mr. Drury read the document which stated that the Trades and Labor Council regarded the agreement as enacted and enforced by the government as a sufficient check upon the arrivals of Orientals, and that, and therefore, offered a satisfactory settlement of a great and serious question. Remarking upon the document, the speaker said:

There is no organization in the city or the province that is more sensitive to a grievance of that kind, and therefore I think its unqualified commendation in this particular instance is very noteworthy.

What of Mr. McBride's Natal Act? What is a Natal Act? I have it here. It provides that before an immigrant can ship for this country he must submit himself to an educational test on the shipboard and write and read in the English language certain simple formulas specified. That is what Mr. McBride wanted to substitute for the Liberal government's agreement. That was the sort of remedy he intended to apply to keep out the Japanese in lieu of the agreement which the Trades and Labor council says has worked satisfactorily. It was my lot to share some of the experiences in connection with the Japanese question at that time.

I went to Japan along with others to supervise that agreement and to complete the regulations with the Japanese government for its enforcement. I then took the trouble not only to see the educational authorities but to visit the schools personally, that is high schools, intermediate schools and public schools, and I saw that the English language was taught everywhere with the exception of the elementary schools. It was a revelation to me to see the English language out of a reading book. I tell you gentlemen that English is made a compulsory subject in the schools of Japan, and I also tell you that the attendance of scholars in proportion to the population is greater than in any other country in the world.

THINKING THEMES BY DR. FRANK CRANE

Living is good, plain physical existence. I will inventory a few of the good things of my day. First of all is the feel of cold water on my body.

That morning bath, even when I have to take it with a great big sponge, as I do at present, sets a thousand lively nerves a-tinkling pleasantly. Then I go out of doors, and how luxurious those first draughts of morning air! People who do not get up early do not know the real taste of air. It's as superior to mid-day or evening air as champagne is superior to beer, or as cold water is to both. I'm always hungry for breakfast, and my hot coffee with milk is exquisite. Then I go to work, thanking God that I am not rich enough to have nothing to do. For the very solid enjoyment of my soul is found in my work. I feel a most keen sense of self-fulfillment in that I am doing something the world is willing to pay for. Good or Poor as it may be, at least I am serving the race, or think I am, which is all that is necessary. When my work-hours are over, I play. It doesn't matter how; but I enjoy it. Then there are so many stray bits of contentment during the day, a flower, a tree, the sky, the moon and stars, houses, children, animals, talk, laughter, glances, friendliness, love, reading, the acquisition of knowledge, hopes, prayer, everything of them good, good, good. And then at night the deliciousness of that first quarter hour in bed, that sweet pride of sleep, the drowsy sinking into the sea of unconsciousness. I am glad I was born into this glorious world.

VIRGINIA MURDER TRIAL

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Aug. 22.—Sheriff Gill summoned today an additional venire of thirty residents of the county for possible jury duty in the Beattie case. There was no session of the court to-day and Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., remained in the Henrico county jail at Richmond. When court adjourned last night until Wednesday noon the jury box was filled, but four of the twelve jurors were subject to peremptory challenge by the defence and it was said that all of those challenges would be exercised.

For the first time since his arrest a month ago on a charge of wife murder, there was made public to-day the list of witnesses who will be called in the defence of Beattie, who pleaded "not guilty" when arraigned yesterday. Beattie's lawyers have summoned 24 witnesses, five of them women. The majority of those summoned are former associates of former fellow employees of Paul Beattie, through whom Paul's story of having purchased the single-barrelled shotgun for Henry, three days before the murder.

Several persons who live near the scene of the crime will be called to testify to hearing calls for help and the sounding of a motor horn. The story of the prisoner is that his wife was shot at his side by a mysterious bearded man in the road, and that he (Henry) called for aid. Others to be called in the defendant's behalf are young women who lived near Beattie and his wife during their brief married life. They will be asked to support Henry's statements that their home life was all that it should be, and that quarrels between them were unknown.

TO WORKINGMEN.

The Colonist, having learned that it cannot frighten the more than ever well informed workingmen of Victoria with the false economic theory that "When the cost of living is reduced wages fall automatically" is endeavoring to frighten them with other scare-crowns.

We do not think we need utilize much space in pointing out to workingmen that the deplorable conditions overdrawn in the lurid pictures of the morning paper are the necessary and logical result of the high tariffs which the United States has had in operation ever since the days of President McKinley.

May we modestly and temperately point out that this sudden interest in the welfare of workingmen by the advocates of this fleeing policy is a modern miracle. How many times have the laboring men all over the world permitted themselves to be led by this party into the shambles and when these pirates of the workingmen's rights have been voted into power by their dupes, they have but turned and fleeced the consumers still more.

THE FARMERS' CASE.

The correspondent, a part of whose letter the Times analyzed yesterday, concludes his epistle with the remarkable declaration that "Locally, in many respects, the (reciprocity) agreement may work advantages, but nationally and broadly it can only work deep, vital, economical disadvantages, which would not be long in removing any local advantages so accruing."

The particular effect of reciprocity upon the farming industry appears to our correspondent to be feared from the fact that "it will not be a promiscuous competition . . . but a competition between a numerically large body of tradesmen politically united against a numerically small body of tradesmen also politically united."

is no need to argue the matter further. We simply have no patience with that class in society who live and apparently flourish upon suspicion of their foreign fellows and depreciation of the loyalty of their own.

As to the competitive aspect of the question Mr. L. seems to have overlooked that these two nations are already in competition, and both for the same markets. The mere fact that a protective duty interferes with the freedom of their trade with each other in no sense mitigates the competition.

Reading the lurid stories in Tory papers of hard times and business depression in the United States, one is tempted to remark that in the United States the protective tariffs are higher than in any country in the world except one. Clearly high tariffs do not cause prosperity. Had not our Conservative friends better try some story that won't work like a boomerang?

Mr. G. H. Barnard is announced to speak to-night on the interesting topic of the failure of the government to provide for the building of warships on the Pacific coast. He might go still further and explain how he would vote in parliament should Mr. Borden move to have the ships constructed in Nova Scotia, as he is pledged to do.

The stump orators who shout themselves hoarse declaring that reciprocity will entangle our trade with that of the United States should remember there is nothing in the reciprocity pact to compel Canadians to sell to Americans.

"I say to hon. gentlemen opposite: Suppose the United States had put a clause in their tariff act saying the very moment Canada makes natural products free the United States will make free, would we not have a pressure which it would be totally impossible for us to resist?"

As to opening Canada to the competition of many other countries under the "favored nations" treaties, we have only to say that these trade treaties with the favored nations were negotiated by Great Britain, some of them long before there was any Canada.

Mr. Charles Tupper, Geo. E. Foster and R. L. Borden all opposed it for the very same reasons—the favored nations treaties. Sir Wilfrid Laurier secured the immediate denunciation of the treaties affected by the preference and stopped the absurd wall at once.

We have yet to read the first valid argument against reciprocity. All intelligent Conservatives are aware of the facts which we have presented, and we are informed by many of these personally that they lament the ignorance of their political fellows who, in darkness, oppose the pact and they mightily deplore the conspiracy of fraud and hypocrisy with which their political leaders appear desirous of deceiving the uninformed.

"Keep both hands on the Union Jack," chortles the Toronto Mail and Empire. Yes! And sell all the agricultural land and timber limits in the country to the Americans. Quite so!

Premier McBriff speaking at Victoria, is credited by the Borden organ here with saying an annexation movement "was started" in this country. He lied and lied deliberately—Calgary Alberta.

If, as the Colonist says, "The fact of the case is that the export of saw logs from British Columbia is absolutely prohibited by law," perhaps our erudite contemporary will explain what is meant by the term "export royalty."

Our attention has been called to the fact that our morning contemporary assiduously warps the utterances of the Times in its attempts to combat arguments which cannot be met by fair statement. We have noticed it ourselves and are only flattered that the people are "catching on" as to our contemporary's weakness.

Reading the lurid stories in Tory papers of hard times and business depression in the United States, one is tempted to remark that in the United States the protective tariffs are higher than in any country in the world except one. Clearly high tariffs do not cause prosperity.

Is not that the very situation in Canada to-day? The United States has made the offer of free natural products. Can the Conservatives afford to resist the pressure of the farmers of Canada for its acceptance?—Ottawa Free Press.

FIVE APPEALS FROM CITY POLICE COURT

Judge Lampman to Hear Cases Decided Against Accused by the Police Magistrate

When the September county court opens before Judge Lampman after the vacation there will be five appeals from the city police court listed for hearing. Quock Sing, who was alleged to have stolen two chickens, one of which afterwards ran away and the other died, was found guilty of the theft by the police magistrate and was sentenced to serve two months' imprisonment. Quock Sing has decided to appeal against the sentence.

G. Anderson, a baker who was summoned at the instigation of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and charged with ill-treating a horse, which it was claimed he kicked in the face with his fist and kicked in the stomach, was fined $25 by the police magistrate. He appeals against the conviction and is represented by D. S. Brandon.

An appeal arising out of the labor disturbance at Yates street and Government street last month is down for hearing. The applicant is Mrs. M. McGregor, a Socialist, who was fined $20 for his share in the disturbance. Against J. M. Wood there is a fine of $20 for automobile speeding on the causeway. His solicitor, J. H. Austin, has entered an appeal against the conviction.

The fifth case is an appeal brought by Frances Smith, Discovery street, sentenced in the police court to serve one month in jail for keeping a disorderly house.

The winning number in the raffle of Tile-setters Local No. 62, Vancouver, was 3446.

Owing to the fact that many of the boys are still away on their vacations it was decided to hold the Boy Scouts' regatta next month. The sports were to have been held some time this month at Oak Bay.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather last Saturday the picnic which was to be held at "Ourappone" camp, Willows beach, was postponed till next Saturday, August 28. All the friends are invited to be present on that date.

The organization meeting of the Victoria Rugby Football Club will be held in the J. B. A. rooms on Monday evening, when officers for the ensuing season will be elected and plans for the trip south to play Stanford and California universities will be discussed. It has been suggested that the Vancouver and Victoria players be combined and a team representative of the province be sent south. This is being heartily supported by the local club. Secretary W. H. Spalding states that the majority of those players who represented Victoria last season and captured the B. C. championship, were prepared to make the tour. The southern universities have guaranteed $1,800 to pay the expenses of the visiting team.

SELLS ISLANDS TO ENGLISH INVESTORS

Victoria Financial Broker Returns From Coronation and Successful Business Trip

J. E. Smart, the financial broker, with offices in the Pemberton block, has returned from a business trip to England, during the course of which he sold to British investors three islands, St. James island, Pier island and Parker island, comprising 2,957 acres of land. St. James and Pier islands have been sold to companies for development purposes. The St. James Island Company, Ltd., originally intended laying out a private summer resort, or in fact a number of private summer cottages for stockholders in the company. The plans and specifications of these have been turned over to the English purchasers, who, Mr. Smart says, will carry out the full scope of the work contemplated by the former owners, and make it a public summer resort. The price paid by the English purchasers was $255,000. The property was formerly owned by Irving H. Wheatcroft, who kept a racing stable there. At the time of the sale to the St. James Island Company, Ltd., the purchase price was reported as about $100,000. Mr. Smart says an agent of the company will come from England in about two months to undertake the work of developing St. James island and turning it into a pleasure resort of summer homes. The Pier Island purchasers have 250 acres on their property, which is to be subdivided and offered for sale to those wanting summer homes on the island. Each home is provided with water frontage and the plans call for a general park in the centre of the island. Parker island, situated west of Active Pass, and comprising 407 acres, was sold for Dr. Stanier. Mr. Smart was home at the time of the coronation and says the historical pageant was most impressive and striking in its national significance.

An important business meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held tomorrow at the Store street mission at half-past two. The question of taking charge of the restaurant at the fair grounds will be considered. A good attendance is looked for.

The regular meeting of the Sons of England, Pride of the Island Lodge, was held last evening in the A. O. F. hall, Broad street. The business of the Red Rose degree was completed as quickly as possible, and was followed by a meeting of the White Rose, the second degree in the S. O. E. Eleven members of the Red Rose took the second degree.

Building permits were issued yesterday by the building inspector to W. Oliphant for two dwellings, Cook street, $1,560 each; to J. R. A. Todd, dwelling, Vancouver street, $1,500; to J. A. B. Robertson, dwelling, Hilda street, $2,500; to Brackman & Kor, alterations to premises on Broad street, $250; to Wilson Noble, dwelling, Simco street, $1,500; to Chung Lung, additions to premises on Fisguard street, $1,000.

ACTIVE LIBERAL WORKERS CONVENE

Executive Meetings Last Evening - Spirit of Enthusiasm Animates All Members

Executive meetings of the Liberals of Ward Three, Ward Two, and the part of Ward One on this side of the Arm, were held in the Liberal rooms last evening and electioneering arrangements were mapped out. There was a full turnout of the executives of each ward and great enthusiasm was displayed. With the coming of the voters' lists from Ottawa the members of the associations were enabled to draw up a definite programme of work, and it was for this purpose that the meetings had been called. Energetic workers in each ward have offered their services to the association and prospects for a successful campaign are felt to be very encouraging. From now on the Liberal rooms will be open from 9 a. m. until 10 p. m. every day and representatives of each ward will always be on hand to provide any information required by those not thoroughly versed in the advantages to be derived from reciprocity or in any other matter connected with the elections. All Liberals are invited to come up to the rooms and to supply any information they have concerning their wards.

Committees were appointed last evening and will be active canvassing in their respective wards immediately.

SUDDEN DEATH OF JAMES S. BAILEY

Port Missionary Succumbs to Heart Failure at Son's Residence Last Night

The death occurred last night at the residence of his son, 912 Caledonia Ave., of James Smith Bailey, prominent in Victoria for many years in connection with the Seaman's Institute. When the news of his demise goes abroad many a sailor on the seas will lift his cap in reverence to the man who for twelve years had made the betterment of the life of the sailor in the port of Victoria his principal ambition.

Working unceasingly at all times, ever with the view of the improvement of the local institution, the late Mr. Bailey had become a figure of the water front history of Victoria and Esquimalt. His death was a surprise to his relatives, for the grim reaper overtook him suddenly as a result of what appeared to be only a temporary indisposition lasting over the last few days. He succumbed to heart failure shortly before eleven o'clock last night.

Ambitious for the construction of a new seamen's institute here, Mr. Bailey had recently been looking forward with much gratification to the time when there would be a new building, the plans of development of which had been brought about largely by his untiring efforts. Only yesterday he spoke to friends of the satisfaction he felt at success in getting the matter well started.

It is now over a decade since Mr. Bailey first took up the Seaman's Institute work here, and during that time his life has been dedicated to getting results in looking after the sailor ashore, and he has laid the foundation of what will soon be an institution fully in keeping with the importance of Victoria as a sea port. He was born at Midden Hall, Suffolk, Eng., in 1848 and went to India two years before the Indian mutiny. There he was for many years a scripture-reader and held the posts of scripture-reader and school-master to the Great Indian Peninsular railway. At the Prince's Dock, Bombay, he was for six years manager and secretary of the Sailors' Institute. He came to Victoria in 1891, since when he has been a prominent lay reader in the Anglican church and frequently took the services at the Old Men's Home, at the jail, and at St. Marks.

When the Seaman's Institute was formed twelve years ago through the instrumentality of H. Rev. Bishop Perrin as a church adjunct Mr. Bailey was placed in charge. He later worked for the affiliation of the institute with the British and Foreign Sailors Society of London, and was successful in having the Victoria institute made a branch. He was also chaplain of Victoria Lodge, No. 84, I. O. G. T., since its inception here, nearly a year ago, and if he had been spared was to have received his commission as harbour deputy for Victoria next September, when the Grand Lodge met. He was a past-master in the Masonic Fraternity, and was master of Barton lodge in India for many years.

He is survived by a son Hedley H. Bailey, at whose residence he died, his daughter, Miss Marie Elizabeth Bailey, who is in charge of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel school at Bombay; and seven grandchildren, all of whom are residents of Victoria.

DIED AT PORCUPINE. Local Man Was Close Friend of Dead Hero of Fire.

The late Geo. Sulman, an Englishman who lost his life at the recent terrible fire at Porcupine, Ont., was a close friend of F. W. Bentley, of 1236 Stanley avenue, this city, who has received a letter from England giving the details of the horrors of the fire, and from which it appears that Mr. Sulman, who was employed at one of the mines, died of the injuries he received while successfully endeavoring to save the lives of some of his friends.

ISLANDERS LOST IN A THRILLING GAME

Passed Ball in Ninth Broke Tie—Was Replete With Excitement

With the assistance of two or three passed balls the Pippins were enabled to fatten their list of runs at the expense of the Islanders again yesterday by a score of 4 to 3. The rolling of thunder, intermingled with flashes of lightning, and the gathering of clouds, which obscured the sun and cast a gloomy shadow over the grounds, furnished a very appropriate setting to the climax of a most dramatic game. It was replete with thrills from beginning to end and although the locals lost was probably worth more than an ordinary victory as an incentive to the waning enthusiasm of the fans.

Moore's fly to Clementson, but changed his mind when "Clem" threw in perfectly. Casey journeyed to second on Clem's throw. Both third and second were now occupied and only one man was out. Coltrin grounded to Millon and Pettigrew dashed for the plate. It was not fated to happen just yet, though, and he was cut off by Millon's snappy peg. The fans' appreciation of the homesters' ginger work was suddenly nipped in the bud when Casey, who had succeeded Pettigrew on third, came in on another of Grindle's passed balls. That ended the excitement. Although the third man up was put out without further scoring, the game had already been made up for his bad break when the Islanders came to bat by pounding the leather for two bases and going to third without a man being retired, but he waited in vain for some one to beckon him home.

BEAVERS WON JAKKY QUIT

The Beavers broke the tie in the sixth inning at Vancouver yesterday and by shoving over 4 runs won 6 to 3. Cates was effective at all times. Jakky Baumgarten had one of the worst days of his career and was assailed on all sides. He finally requested President Brown to wire umpire Lindsay to send another umpire.

ANOTHER CAPTAIN FOR THE ISLANDERS

"Ducky" Holmes Will Join Team in Spokane—Pitching Staff to Be Strengthened

The Victoria Baseball club will shortly be placed under the command of its fourth playing-manager, Bill Goodman. It is a beautiful ball player but it is noticeable that of late his playing has fallen off, particularly at the bat, and it is thought that with a captain's responsibility off his shoulders he will get back into his stride.

INDIANS OUTRIT BUT WON

Schwenk pitched a mastery game at Spokane yesterday and was practically invincible in the pinches. Zimmerman batted in two of Spokane's runs in the first inning, scoring himself in the first inning and again in the seventh. Baker was ineffective after the first and Annis, replacing Baker as an emergency hitter in the ninth, drove home Tacoma's only run.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER OPENS FEDERAL CAMPAIGN

Speech of Prime Minister Firing First Gun at Simcoe, Ont. -- Broad Outline of the Issues Before Electors

Sir Wilfrid Laurier in his address opening the Liberal campaign at Simcoe, Ont., the historic seat of the late John Charlton, M. P., outlined the issues which are before the people of Canada in a masterly address. The plain spoken yet eloquent remarks of the courtly orator with the memory of his proud achievements for Canada since his party came into power, and the direct, forceful presentation of the case for his government made the event a memorable day to the people of Norfolk county.

There was a snap and a vim about Sir Wilfrid's speech that showed his heart and brain was behind his words. Never in the forty years of his political life has he been in better trim, mental or physical. Ever since his return from the Imperial Conference he has been keyed up to the highest pitch, and he settled into his campaign stride like the experienced runner he is.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech was as follows:

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: My first word to you upon this occasion must be one of heartfelt thanks to you all for the more than generous reception you have given me, and the all too flattering sentiments of your address. This is the first time it has been my good fortune to visit Simcoe and travel through a portion of the far-famed County of Norfolk. It is also the first occasion I have had of addressing my fellow-Canadian citizens in the present contest. Let me tell you that the selection of this beautiful town of Simcoe was no work of hazard; the choice of this spot to fire the first shot I am glad indeed to have the opportunity of greeting you all here in Norfolk, the seat of many a hard fought battle, and above all, the home of my old and esteemed friend John Charlton—(cheers)—who thirty years ago was so earnest and eloquent an apostle of freer trade between Canada and the United States.

"You say in your address that I have been in public life for forty years. Alas! it is true that forty years have elapsed since I first entered the public life of Canada. I had more hair on my head than I have now, and its color was more vivid. Yes, and if I had followed my own inclinations I would not to-day be where I am.

"In 1908 we opened the campaign at Niagara Falls. It was then my firm belief and sincere thought that the contest upon which we were then entering would be the last in which I would participate, that advancing years must soon compel my retirement. But Providence, kind Providence, always kind to me, has been especially kind in this case, and has given me up to the present strength and good health such as I have never experienced before. (Renewed cheers.) Thus I am again in the battle, devoting my life to the service of my country, and I may be privileged to see the completion of this great and long-looked-for policy of freer trade between our Dominion and the great Republic to the south; this policy, which it is well known, has received the endorsement, commendation, and active support of all public men who have been at the helm in Canada; the endorsement, commendation, and strong support of that incomparable tribune of the people, George Brown; the endorsement, commendation, and strong support of that incomparable guide of the nation in its days of earlier development, Sir John Macdonald; of Sir George Cartier, the leader in my own province; of Sir A. D. Laurier, and of Sir Leonard Tilley in New Brunswick; this policy, which has been at the topmast of the Liberal party for forty years, the goal not alone of the Liberal party, but of the Conservative party, at least until the month of February last. (Laughter and applause.) But, fellow-countrymen, the leaders of the Conservative party to-day have proved renegade to the teaching of their leaders of forty years; they have turned back upon the principles for which their great men in the past stood. Perhaps you ask me: How are the mighty fallen? Nay, I answer you, they are not fallen. (Laughter.) It is an old, sad story that on many occasions a man's courage has faltered when he was within sight of victory; that he has fallen from grace at the moment when he was within reach of the gates of paradise. (Cheers and laughter.)

Bourassa was blocked. "How is it that the elections have been brought on at the present time? It is only three years since we last consulted the people. Why, then, is parliament dissolved before its time? Let us look for reasons in the Conservative newspapers, especially the Toronto Conservative papers. According to these papers three or four weeks ago—not now, mark you—the course of parliament was being guided and characterized by the superior tactics of the opposition. These tactics were simply to block the progress of business in the House, to prevent a vote in parliament upon the issue now before you. The opposition took the position that they would prevent the progress of business, prevent the dealing with reciprocity, because the people were not consulted. They announced their intention to follow these tactics to the bitter end. They desired their purpose, and called upon the government, not once, but ten times over, to consult the people.

Called Conservative bluff. "But my fellow-countrymen, I am as old a bird as those gentlemen—(laughter and applause)—and I understand something of these superior tactics. The opposition did not want an election. (Hear, hear.) They had no mind to face their judges, and our judges—the people of Canada—on the issue. What they had in their mind was to compel the government to abandon reciprocity. But the government took them at their professions. We brought them before their masters, and our masters, too, and their straightway began to wail and squeal and squeak like young crows fallen from their nest. (Renewed laughter and applause.) Parliament was dissolved. The time of the House has been wasted for nearly four months, and we deemed it the best thing for them and the best thing for us that we should all come before the bar of public opinion, before our natural judges. There we are, and there I stand at the present time. (Cheers.)

Country Must Judge. "The issue is reciprocity. You, my fellow-countrymen, are the judges. You are to pass upon the issue. We believe it means much to our common country, our young and growing Dominion. We believe that in two countries, two great countries like Canada and the United States, situated as they are alongside of one another, reciprocal trade in natural products will produce a large measure of mutual benefit to the people of these countries. I do not hesitate to say that the greater benefit will be derived by Canada, in that the weaker will profit more than the stronger.

"This should never be a party question. Many of the other men in this gathering—and, I believe, some Conservative here to-day, and let me assure them they are more than welcome; this is a free country, and all opinion is free and worthy of respect the moment it is sincere—many of these men, I say, venerate the man who more than any other made their party great. If there was a man who gave all his mind, heart, and thought to this policy of reciprocity, that man was Sir John Macdonald. In fact, Sir John Macdonald was the Moses of the policy of reciprocity, but, like Moses, he was destined not to enter the promised land. And it is to be unworthy of the Joshua of the people of Canada to this goal of reciprocity and neighborly communication, which has been so long before the people of our country." (Cheers.)

Sir John A. Failed. Continuing, Sir Wilfrid pointed out that Sir John Macdonald's communication with Washington in 1868 with the view of developing trade relations. In 1871 he was in Washington himself, and did his best to obtain the policy of reciprocity without success. At frequent intervals he publicly recorded his convictions, and in 1877 introduced a resolution in the House of Commons defining his position.

But Sir John was not successful in the United States gave way to the McKinley tariff, followed in turn by the Dingley tariff, each stiffer than its predecessor. Eventually, in 1900, the Payne-Aldrich tariff came into being, but instead of having a downward tendency, it proved upward.

Duties Lopped Off. "In view of the attitude of our friends the enemy," continued the prime minister, "I desire to place before you a few salient features of the present United States tariff against Canadian products which will be removed under reciprocity.

"Here is the list: Cattle over, $14, 27 1/2 per cent.; horses over, $150, 25 per cent.; hogs, each, $1.50; sheep, each, $1.50; wheat, bushel, 35 cents; oats, bushel, 15 cents; barley, bushel, 30 cents; hay, ton, $4; straw, ton, $1; potatoes, bushel, 25 cents; onions, bushel, 40 cents; apples, bushel, 25 cents; peaches, bushel, 25 cents; butter, pound, 6 cents; cheese, pound, 6 cents; fresh milk, gallon, 2 cents; fresh cream, gallon, 5 cents; eggs, dozen, 5 cents. Under the reciprocity agreement all these commodities will secure free access to the neighboring market.

"Now, there are men both in the United States and in Canada who protested, who represented that it was unfortunate, it was ungenerous, unfriendly, unneighborly, that it was unworthy of a great nation like the United States to take advantage of a younger rival like Canada in a trade agreement.

"I know by the cheers that greeted his name to-day that the memory of Mr. John Charlton is still green among you. He has been years in his grave. He did yeoman service in influencing public opinion both in this country and in the United States, by articles in the magazines and newspapers, by lectures and speeches in different parts of the American Republic, towards tariff revision. Again and again he called the attention of the American people to the high and unjust character of the tariff.

Improved Relations With U. S. "Ideas are slow to germinate and fruitful. We know especially by this the story of the last century that reforms even the most beneficial, have taken years to come to fruition. Slowly but surely a great change has come over the relations between the Canadian and American people. A better feeling is now manifested among our neighbors, and a most striking effect of this better feeling was shown when commissioners were sent by President Taft from Washington to Ottawa to consult about our trade relations. This was something new in our country. Commissioners had gone again and again from Ottawa. They had gone so often that we had become discouraged, and stated that we would not go again, that the first step towards discussion of freer trade relations would have to be taken by our neighbors. Well, I am glad to say that the first step was taken by our neighbors. Crime Against Civilization. "Now, what were we to say to those commissioners? Men there are, and you will hear them from this platform before long, who say that we should have turned back the advances from across the border; that we should have said to the representatives of the United States: No, we don't want freer trade in natural products. I say to you it would have been a crime against civilization not to have listened to the advances of our neighbors, not to have accepted the opportunity of wider reciprocal trade with them. They were prepared to go far farther than we were prepared to go. They would have been prepared to enter into negotiations all along the line. But we were not prepared to go so far.

"It was part of our policy in 1893, when we met in convention, whereby all these articles I have mentioned to you—cattle, horses, hogs, sheep, wheat, oats, barley, milk, eggs, beans, and other products—shall be free of duty when they go from Canada into the United States. This is the policy we have adopted. Shouts For Reciprocity. "When the trade agreement was first announced it was not accepted readily on both sides of the line. In the United States it was received with serious opposition on the floor of congress. It was approved by the House of Representatives, but not by the Senate. President Taft called immediately another session, and shortly afterwards the compact was approved by both chambers. Reciprocity has become law in the United States, and you can have it to-morrow if the Canadian people will approve it. A voice—Let's have it. (Cheers.) "I say to you, will you have it or not?" A voice—We will. (Loud cheers.) "If you want to have it—elect my friend Mr. Charlton in Simcoe. If you want it in Haldimand, don't send Mr. Lalor back to Ottawa, but elect Mr. Miller (cheers); if you want it in Elgin, elect a Liberal. If the people of Ontario want it let them give us a majority of their members. With all the appeal to prejudice and in Quebec we shall get our majority in that province. Parliament will be summoned at the latest in November, and when the House has passed your decision into law we shall have reciprocity in Ontario." A voice—We'll have it now. (Cheers.) "At this point an eager listener shouted: 'Can't stand it any longer; let's have three cheers.' The crowd gave them most vigorously.

"Why should I expatiate on the advantages which this policy will give to the Canadian people?" Sir Wilfrid resumed, when quiet came, "especially to the Canadian farmers."

Conservative Turcoats. "The Conservative party have turned their coats and are now opposing what they advocated for forty years. They tell us it will lead us to annexation. I would like to know how it will do that. I want to discuss frankly, calmly, with the common sense we all have. How would it come about that this Canada of ours would be annexed to the United States? It could only be by two ways, by violence or by persuasion. No one has ever heard that it is the intention of the United States to conquer Canada; that they will declare war against us. Shall we then be reduced from our loyalty? I understand Mr. Borden will be here in a day or two. I say this to Mr. Borden, that if he will answer for the Tories I will answer for the Liberals. I say to you, 'You have heard a lot about annexation; that there is a suspicion that Canadian loyalty is to be undermined by the insidious prosperity which is to follow reciprocity. I would like to ask if any section of the community is going to benefit by this policy who is going to suffer? I say that no section of the community is going to benefit by the policy all will be benefited. If the farmers are to be benefited all sections of the community will be benefited, because agriculture is the foundation of Canada's prosperity. (Cheers.)

Pretty Girls Illustrate. Sir Wilfrid quoted the Toronto board of trade's resolution against reciprocity, which stated that Canada would be forced to closer trade relations which would still further weaken those ties (with the motherland), and make it more difficult to avert political union with the United States. "That means to say," said Sir Wilfrid, "you are told, don't do business, because if you do and are prosperous your business may fall some day, and so you had better not do business at all. (Laughter.)

"I see a lot of pretty girls about me," continued Sir Wilfrid, "and I see a lot of boys admiring them. If some one came to one of these girls and said, 'Don't marry a man like that; he may die or lose his job and where would you be then?' She would say, 'If he will risk it I will,' and so we say, 'We'll try the chances of reciprocity with our neighbors, because we see the prospects of greater prosperity in it.' (Cheers.) I don't understand that kind of logic which says that a man will lose his manhood by trading with his neighbor. We stand upon our manhood. (Cheers.) We will trade with our neighbors and make a good thing out of it. And if they will not trade with us we can get along without them.

No Sacrifice of Manhood. "A good deal has been made of some utterances in the United States Senate and in the House of Representatives by certain of the members. We know some said they voted for reciprocity because they thought it would lead to annexation. We know there are men in the United States who want annexation. But there are men in Canada who do not want annexation. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) If I were privileged to address an American audience I would tell them: 'We want to trade with you, but if the price we are to pay for it is the sacrifice of our manhood, keep your trade. We will have none of it.' (Cheers.) Remember your own history. When the Congress met at Philadelphia and passed the Declaration of Independence on the 4th of July, 1776, no man did it with a

Shipwrecked Crew of Empress of China Arrive Here on Canada Maru

Leaving what has been their home for some time still hard and fast on the rocks where she struck off the Japanese coast, fourteen members of the crew of the R. M. S. Empress of Japan returned to this city yesterday afternoon on the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Canada Maru, Capt. Korl. The good ship, however, was left in good hands by the crew and they expected that the salvage company will soon float the white liner from her present position, rush her to Hongkong and repair her as rapidly as possible so that she will be ready for the trans-Pacific run again in a very short time. The members of the crew who arrived here yesterday stood by the vessel for some time and when there was no further need for them they returned to this country. Among the shipwrecked crew were the following: Miss Mary Morrissey and Miss Alice Cleary, stewardesses; August Oberkrom, carpenter, and Paul Seldin, C. F. S. Ross, Jr., Johnsen, George King, Charles Grant, S. H. Cox, C. Jensen, C. E. Sharpe, D. Williams, Charles Emond, Felix Velde.

That the accident could not have been avoided was the opinion of the returning seamen. Following the terrific typhoon, which the ship had just weathered, the dense fog set in and in the strong currents while she was in the position of a storm of that kind, it was impossible to get the vessel's position. She was proceeding slowly and Captain Archibald, with his first officer, was on the bridge with sharp look-outs being kept. The scene of the grounding was thirty miles from the regular course set by mariners navigating that part and the strength of the currents can be imagined.

It is stated by several of the men that the Empress was the only steamship that felt the effects of the coasting ships of the Japanese fleet were carried in a similar manner by the currents and only the lifting of the fog, enabling the skippers to sight the shore and get their bearings, saved them from sharing the same fate as the Empress. Under the conditions it was impossible to avert the accident to the crack white liner and the evidence is sufficient to exonerate the skipper.

About three thousand tons of cargo was brought across the Pacific by the Canada Maru and she discharged nearly two hundred tons here. The local cargo included the following: Furniture, 250 packages; rice, 300 sacks; wheat, 60 sacks; sake, 130 casks; vinegar, 65 casks, and general merchandise, 774 packages.

Her sick cargo consisted of 750 bales valued at nearly half a million dollars.

GRAY NOW NAME OF

C. N. P. F. CO.'S BOAT

Arrives From Naden and Rose Harbor Stations—Big Cargo of Oil

Returning from a short trip to the northern whaling stations, the Canadian Northern Pacific Fisheries Company's steamer Gray arrived at the outer wharf last night. The vessel secured a full cargo of whale oil and fertilizer at Naden Harbor and Rose Harbor and is now discharging it at Pier B, where it will be taken aboard by one of the Blue Funnel liners. Since the steamer was in port last time her name has been changed. The former name Petriana on her bow and stern has been obliterated and the word Gray put on in its place. The Northern Steamship Company, which formerly owned the Gray, will call their new steamer the British Empire, the Petriana.

When she has completed discharging her cargo, the Gray will leave for the west coast to load more products of the whaling stations and bring them to this city. The Gray has been kept busy all summer in attending to the two northern stations and the ones at Sechart and Kyquoot. The officers of the steamer state that the vessels in the north are securing very large catches.

MANY FIRST CLASS PASSENGERS ARRIVE

Prince George Arrives This Morning—Making Last Trip Between Rupert and Stewart

With one of the largest first class passenger lists she has had southbound this season, the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince George, Capt. Frank Saunders, arrived in port early this morning from Stewart and Prince Rupert. In all she had one hundred and sixty passengers, of which one hundred and twenty-five were first-class. The George had a splendid trip south except for light fogs which prevailed at short intervals.

Among those who made the round trip on the George was William Molson MacPherson, J. P., president of the Molson Bank of Canada. Mr. MacPherson is also interested in shipping circles. In 1870 he formed the well known Dominion line and has been manager of the line at Quebec ever since. He was appointed as harbor commissioner of Quebec in 1888 and has also held various other positions in connection with steamship companies. Mr. MacPherson was much impressed with the trip to the far north and believes that the two towns he visited will be among the largest on the coast in a very few years.

Other passengers aboard the George included Mrs. Richard McBride and family, D'Arcy Tate, legal advisor of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and D. D. Dewar, who went inland to Hazelton on his arrival at Rupert.

When the George leaves port tomorrow morning she will start on her last trip to Stewart. According to the new schedule issued by the G. T. P. S. Co., the steamer will not go farther north than Prince Rupert again this winter owing to the falling off of travel to the Portland Canal city. The Prince Rupert will continue in the service to Stewart until later in the season, when she will also be withdrawn.

MARINE NOTES

Keels for two new revenue cutters for use on the Alaska coast and on Puget Sound are being laid in Newport News, according to dispatches.

The Kosmos steamer Absentia is now loading lumber at Danaher dock, Tacoma. The Chilean barque Ricard de Solar, loaded with 1,400,000 feet of lumber, left Tuesday for Port Ludlow.

The steamer Francis H. Leggett lost a long raft which was being towed from Astoria, Ore., to San Pedro a few miles north of Crescent City, Cal., today. A tug has been sent out from Eureka to help the steamer capture the raft.

The steamer Luceric, of the Bank line, arrived in Tacoma Monday from Portland and discharged what remained of an Oriental cargo after stops at Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle and Portland. She took on 130,000 sacks of flour at Portland and 8,000 sacks and some lumber here. She left yesterday for Seattle and Vancouver.

The first vessel to call at the new Milwaukie oil tanks, the Standard Oil steamer Col. E. L. Drake, yesterday arrived from San Francisco and discharged 39,000 barrels of fuel oil. At the Standard Oil dock 10,000 barrels more will be discharged. All this oil is to be used by the railroad. The Drake will return immediately to San Francisco.

CONVICTED OF MISCONDUCT

Executive Officer of U. S. Cruiser West Virginia Did Not Flight Charge.

Establishing a record as the shortest ever held here, the general court-martial of Lieut.-Commander Leland F. James, executive officer of the cruiser West Virginia, charged with misconduct in a foreign port, was concluded at noon yesterday.

The officer was accused by Captain J. M. Orchard, U. S. N., recently commander on the West Virginia, with having returned from a dinner in Vancouver, B. C., in a condition unfit for duty.

The shortness of the proceedings is explained by statements that the accused officer did not make a fight to resist the charges. Sentence was imposed by the court-martial board this morning. The action of the court with the proceedings in the case, were forwarded to the navy department to-day. The sentence will not be made public until it reaches the hands of the secretary of the navy.

Lieut.-Commander James has been relieved of duty pending word from the department.

The Residential Subdivision of Certainties—Certain of Improvements, Certain of Expansion
If Victoria Grows, and it Must, RICHMOND PARK Will Lead from a RESIDENTIAL STANDPOINT

If you come into our office and secure a map of Richmond Park, and carefully study it, you will find that this beautiful subdivision lies between Rockland avenue and Foul Bay Road, and that it is only two blocks from the Oak Bay car line. If you know Victoria, you will at once see that this is the very centre of Victoria's best residential district—surrounded by the best homes in the city.

Victoria will always be a residential city, and with the yearly increasing immigration of monied people from the East, the middle West, and in fact all over the world to this city, there will always be an ever increasing demand for choice residential property. This places well located residential lots in the front rank of profitable investments.

Richmond Park, being inside the city limits, and being also in line for all modern improvements, besides having the unique advantage of being practically surrounded by the best homes in the city, is therefore placed in the front position of these investment opportunities.

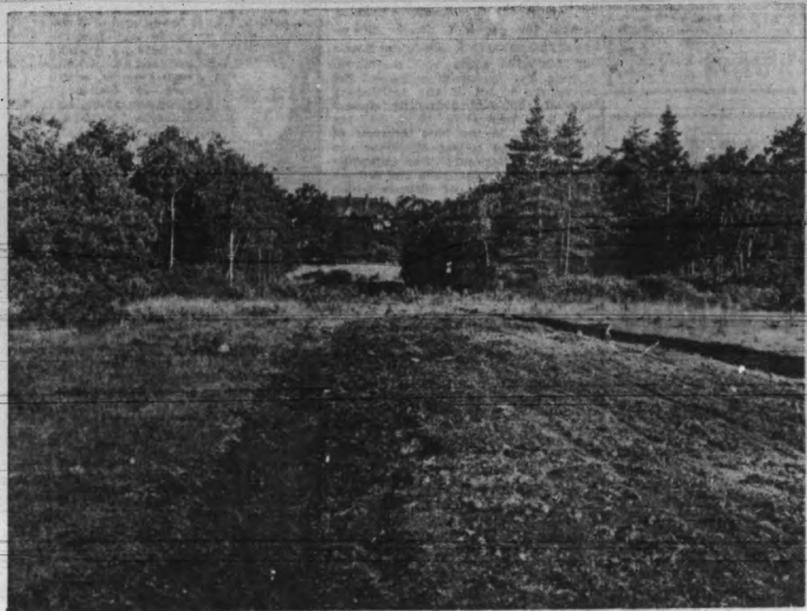

The growth of this district will be fast and thorough. The building restriction of $2,000 to $4,000, means a class of homes which will tend to increase values quickly and at the same time make Richmond Park a desirable place in which to live.

You can make no mistake by buying in this subdivision, either from a homesite or an investment standpoint. In either case you stand to make the profits of a naturally rapid increase in values, due to improvements, and a demand for this class of residential property.

If you are considering investments in Victoria, and you naturally are, come in and get particulars of Richmond Park to-day.

LIBERALS MEET

There is not a child turned out of school in Japan who is not taught to read and write the English language, and yet Mr. McBride comes here and holds up his educational test consisting of about four lines of English as the only barrier and obstacle to place between the country and the tens of thousands of Japanese coming in. Mr. McBride was one of those who denounced this agreement as a fraud and Mr. Barnard followed him to the same extent. My invitation to either or both of them is to get up in a public meeting and say that he would wipe out this agreement of the Liberal government and substitute his Natal act. I defy either Mr. McBride or Mr. Barnard to do that and yet it is the only course that can possibly make their positions consistent. Three years ago they denounced the agreement, and the whole province was carried by that issue, but now I challenge them to repeat their statements in view of the experience we have already had of the working of the agreement. The Natal Act? Such an act would not be worth the paper it was written on because the Japs could pass the examination of tens of thousands.

I feel very much in earnest about this question. On returning from Japan I was interviewed by the press and I gave it as my opinion that provided the regulations were carried out—and they have been carried out—the question of Japanese immigration to this country was settled for ever. At that time also I was the subject of no little attention and abuse at the hands of the opposition. I was held up to ridicule and called the wise man of the east. But, Mr. Chairman, I can stand before this audience to-day and challenge anybody to say that one word in that interview has not been completely fulfilled in the three intervening years.

The Colonist is crying for another issue. Well, I give them this. If they would be consistent they should come out now and take the stand they took before. They know themselves, however, that this question has been satisfactorily settled for all time. It is almost unbelievable in view of those circumstances that Mr. Templeman went down to defeat at the last election. Was ever a statesmanlike policy more triumphantly vindicated? They turned down the cabinet minister on a policy that is to-day vindicated to the last degree. What does that vindication mean? It means that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. William Templeman have also been vindicated, because it was their policy. It means that a verdict having been obtained against the Hon. William Templeman at the last election on false issues he is entitled to be returned by you now.

The Colonist I see has raised the issue of the Chinese headtax by suggesting that it is going to be wiped out and insinuating that Mr. Templeman is in favor of the idea. I would respectfully ask the Colonist to be more careful when touching on this question because they are apt to be skating on very thin ice. You all know that the tax of $500 was put on at the request of the people of B. C. by the Liberal government, and for some time it proved effectual, but now, as you are also aware, despite the imposition of that tax they are coming in in largely increasing numbers. This means that the tax is no longer as effective as it has been in the past and a scheme will have to be devised to make the exclusion more effective.

The matter is at present under discussion and it is probable that they return to power will formulate a scheme with this object in view. When Sir Wilfrid Laurier was here last I discussed the subject with him and he mentioned the possibility of being able to deal with the difficulty on the same lines as the Japanese agreement. There was nothing unreasonable about that idea. We know that last year there were 5,000 Chinese came into the country despite the head tax whereas only 300 Japs came in. Now it is for you gentlemen to say whether you prefer the 5,000 Chinese and their head taxes or the three hundred Japs. (Applause.)

T. D. Patullo, who was the next speaker to address the meeting, thought that the Liberal party was to be congratulated on going to the country on a question like reciprocity. It was a question in accord with the best traditions of Liberalism. Sir John A. Macdonald himself advocated it in the past, and no doubt if that old warrior was alive to-day he would be found on the same side of the fighting line as the advocates of reciprocity. It struck him as a rather remarkable thing that he never heard any economic argument against reciprocity. Even George E. Foster in Toronto declined to discuss the subject economically, contenting himself with the wild statement that it would mean the passing of Canada from the map. What really concerned these gentlemen was the passing of the Conservative party from the map. (Applause.)

Some of their opponents claimed that the reciprocity pact would change the railroad routes of the country from east and west to north and south. Just imagine. What business did B. C. do with Nova Scotia, for instance? Others wanted them to leave well enough alone. He agreed with that sentiment as applied to the retention of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the helm of the ship of state. Personally he believed that Sir Wilfrid would remain premier just as long as he lived, and that he would die in harness, as Sir John Macdonald had done before him. Mr. McBride and the other opponents asked them to quit from office the men who had devoted their lives to the building up of the country, the men who had brought the country out of obscurity and poverty to prosperity and to put in their places a bunch of political amateurs whose real grievance was that they had been out of office a long time and wanted to get in.

He declared that it was an open secret that at the first convention of the Conservatives at Ottawa Mr. Borden, the leader of the opposition, was in favor of reciprocity. Then he drifted about for a while and was ultimately picked up again by the Conservatives. Mr. Borden has an excellent second in Mr. McBride. The speaker concluded by asking his hearers to carefully consider the matter because he was sure if they did that they would vote for the Hon. William Templeman and reciprocity. (Applause.)

F. J. Stacpole, K.C., closed the meeting with a spirited speech on organization and the need of young men coming out to see that the dead from Ross Bay did not find their way to the polling booths to vote Conservative, as they had done on a former occasion. Getting down to reciprocity he said that the opposition objected to discussing the proposition from the point of view of dollars and cents. They wanted a higher value than that. Now, while they were certainly bound by ties of sentiment to the old land, they could not afford to let themselves be ruled by sentiment entirely. American domination was another dread fear of the opposition. Richard McBride was the last man in the world to fear that cry as a result of reciprocity, because he had himself instituted a far better method of bringing it about, in the giving away of the real estate of the country to American speculators.

While discussing reciprocity in connection with wages a questioner interrupted, "Will it lower wages?" and the speaker replied: "No, but it will increase their purchasing power by reducing the price of foodstuffs." (Cheers.)

Referring to local circumstances he stated that Mr. Cameron, of the Cameron Lumber Mills, had indicated that his business would be greatly benefited by reciprocity, and that R. P. Rithet had been reported as saying that if reciprocity passed he would build another wharf. These things were significant. And what was the effect elsewhere? What of Martin Burrell's apples, for instance. He understood that the value of his orchards had increased in value since reciprocity was mooted. More than that, he understood that most of that gentleman's apples were sold in Spokane. Well, if the duty against them what would happen when the duty was taken off? (Hear, hear.) Then he was currently reported that the Cudaby Packing Company had announced its intention of coming to locate in Vancouver in the event of reciprocity passing. The only possible conclusion to arrive at in view of these circumstances was that the opponents of the pact were seeing bogeys that did not exist, or were wilfully endeavoring to pervert the public point of view.

He referred to Mr. Barnard's action in the House of Commons in regard to the Alien Labor Act, pointing out that almost immediately after his statements in the House tending to show the impossibility of obtaining convictions under the act, a conviction was recorded in the city of Victoria. He also quoted the returns and surpluses of the Liberal and Conservative governments during their regimes, demonstrating conclusively that the country had prospered at a much greater speed under the Liberal administration than under the Conservative administration.

The meeting broke up with the National Anthem.

WHEAT MAN'S LETTER

(Calgary News-Telegram.)
The following is a splendid exhibit in the case against reciprocity from the Rapid City Milling Company, Rapid City, Manitoba, August 8:

To the Liberal Conservative Association, McArthur Building, Winnipeg, Man.:
Gentlemen,—Your letter of August 5 received and contents noted. There is one thing we are going to have some difficulty in explaining to the farmers—that is, at this present date our May wheat in Winnipeg is selling for $1.02 1/2 cents, and May wheat in Minneapolis is selling for $1.05 cents. This is about 7 cents per bushel more than in Winnipeg. Now it is a well-known fact to the farmers here that Minneapolis flour is sold in England in competition with ours. Why is it that wheat milled to the south of us to ship to England is worth 7 cents per bushel more than it is on this side of the boundary? This is a hard proposition for us to get over. There is another question we note in your letter. You refer to the success of Mr. Borden's trip in the west. Now many of us good Conservatives were a

G. H. Barnard Says He "Said So but Did Not Believe It."

At the conclusion of a short speech made last night at a meeting held at the Conservative rooms in the Hibben block, G. H. Barnard stated he was sure that the Liberal government were "going to be downed." Mr. Barnard said that last election he did not believe that would be the case, although he then said so. He was now, however, convinced that the downfall of the government was at hand. Previous to these remarks the candidate spoke on reciprocity.

John Dean also addressed the meeting on reciprocity. In regard to wheat exported from Canada to the United States, for which he said there was no market, he held that since 1905 it was subject only to duty of one-quarter of a cent, and not to twenty-five cents a bushel, as was generally supposed, as twenty-four and three-quarters of a cent was a drawback taken off by order of the treasury.

Messrs. Fielding and Patterson, he said, were not competent to draw up the negotiations if they were ignorant of this matter, while if they knew of it they should have given the information to the people. He thought it likely this move might have been duplicated in regard to other products. The whole reason of the desire on the part of the United States for reciprocity was that they wanted the pulp wood, and it was undoubtedly their intention, after getting control of other things, to get control of the manufacturing of the Dominion. They were trying to rob Canada of her heritage.

In regard to the fruit industry of the province, and to the matter of cheaper food, he suggested that anyone who was desirous of getting the cheaper articles which could be obtained in the United States could easily go there for $3, and stay there. In reference to taxation, he said that although tariff might be odious, they were the most honest way of raising money equitably, as they hit everyone. They ought to keep up the tariffs, and increase them on any particular articles if found necessary.

In connection with the remarks made by J. S. Cowper, on the previous evening, that he preferred the loyalty of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to that of Mr. McBride, the speaker stated that, in regard to timber, the provincial government had reserved the power to have raw material manufactured in the province, and to increase the stumpage tax. He considered that the people who did not believe in the tariff should be willing to pay their share of it rather than alter present conditions.

W. E. Blakemore also addressed the meeting.

INVESTIGATING MINERAL RESOURCES

Representatives of Big British Corporation Now on the Coast

Vancouver, Aug. 22. — Preliminary investigations of the mineral resources of the Dominion now being made may result in the investment of millions of pounds in Canadian mines by the Central Mining and Investment Corporation, Ltd., of London, England, a world-famous organization, owning the principal gold mines on the Rand as well as Diamond mines in South Africa.

Louis Ryersbach, a director, accompanied by Hugh F. Marriott, an eminent mining engineer in the service of the corporation, and G. S. Lindsey, third vice-president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, Toronto, reached Vancouver on Monday. The Central Mining and Investment Corporation is the successor of Werner, Belt & Co., and H. Eckstein of London and Johannesburg. Its wealth is enormous owing to its vast holdings including the principal gold mines on the Rand. Its gold output apart from its diamond mine interests, represents one-fifth of the world's annual gold production. Mr. Ryersbach is the directing hand of its financial affairs in London, and is now visiting Canada for the first time. Mr. Marriott has a world-wide reputation as an engineer. He occupies the position of chief consulting engineer to that corporation and was in the service of its predecessors on the Rand for over fifteen years.

Mr. Ryersbach, also did not disguise his favorable impression of the Dominion and the Canadian people, made it quite clear that he was not looking for mining prospects. He wants big propositions, no matter what the cost provided they pass the examinations of his engineer.

Mr. Marriott and Mr. Lindsey have gone north and will visit the new silver-lead camps in the vicinity of Hazelton before proceeding to the Portland Canal district.

Mr. Marshall is no stranger here. He accompanied the British mining institute when it crossed the continent three years ago. Members were tendered a public banquet at the Hotel Vancouver.

"I am out here on a little prospecting tour, a preliminary sort of inspection of the country so to speak. My impressions are of the most favorable character. Whether our corporations invest or not depends upon the advice of our chief engineer," Mr. Marriott. We move very slowly," said Mr. Ryersbach.

VICTORIA HOCKEY TEAM FORMIDABLE

Frank Patrick Announces the Names of Players Already Signed Coast League

Frank Patrick, who is organizing the Western Hockey League, has obtained the signature of Donald Smith of Cornwall, who figured on the Renfrew team last year, to a Victoria contract. The players now under contract for Victoria are, according to Patrick, Bobby Rowe, last year with Renfrew, but now located here; Walter Small, of the Wanderers; Donald Smith, and Lester Patrick.

"This makes a formidable nucleus and the Vancouver club, for which Frank Patrick himself will play, looks just as formidable. For Vancouver the following have signed: "Newey" Lalonde, Tom Phillips, St. Griffiths, the one time Kenora star; Sibby Nichol, the former Shamrock player, who is now playing lacrosse with Vancouver, and Frank Patrick himself.

ABOUT BASEBALL.

Ladies day to-morrow.

Goodman made a wonderful stop in the fifth inning of yesterday's game. Coltrin leaned on the ball and drove it with the speed of a bullet across third. Bill stuck that armor plate glove of his in the way and with admirable indifference threw the flabbergasted runner out.

Jockey Ward doubled up nicely in the seventh, taking a grounder from Tonneson's bat and throwing Coltrin out at second.

Coltrin, by the way, is some pumpkin himself on doubles. He figured in two yesterday.

Casey, the base deceiver, imposed on Clementson terribly in the fourth but fortunately Starkell was looking the other way and the craftiness of the Pippin went for naught. Nick Williams was playing Clementson for a bunt, presumably, and was in close, "Clem" hit down the third-base line and beat out the throw which Casey took. The cunning Irishman made a bluff at tossing the ball to the pitcher, but instead slipped it to Williams and innocent Clem, stepping off his sack, was caught by a good six feet. Hisumps would not believe it, however.

Bremen played his position poorly yesterday. By not covering second in the third inning he missed a chance for a double. Mondorf was on fire and Spies hit to Goodman. Bill swung around to each Mondorf at second.

but found the sack vacant and Brennan in a trance a dozen or so feet away. He had to be content with throwing Spies out at first. Million had covered first, Ward playing in for a bunt.

The Seattle P. I. says: Spokane is vitally interested in this and next week. Should the champions take the series from Tacoma and then fatten the following week on Victoria, while Vancouver failed to do better than hold Seattle over for two weeks' play, the champions would be well up in the running again. Taking it all in all this week is a hard one on the four leaders, as they are fighting each other.

Because he took the Tacoma team off the field at Spokane on Monday afternoon, following a decision on a ball that was hit over first and struck close to the foul line, Manager M. J. Lynch has been fined $100. Under the constitution of the Northwestern league this fine must be paid within seven days. President Lindsay took action last night upon receipt of Umpire McCarthy's report. This is the first time since he has been umpiring that McCarthy has had a forfeited game. When Lynch took his players off the diamond McCarthy awarded the game to Spokane by a score of 9 to 0. President Lindsay will call a meeting of the directors in a few days to consider the question of imposing a penalty upon the Tacoma club. The constitution limits this penalty to $200. McCarthy says that in his judgment Lynch's hit was a foul, and to satisfy Manager Lynch he asked Catcher Spiesman, who agreed with him. Then Lynch went up in the air and removed his team.

The North Ward and East End Juniors will play a ball game at the North Ward park this evening. The game will be called at 4:30 sharp. The following are the teams: North Ward: J. Williams, c.; Taylor, p.; Lane, lb.; H. Williams, 2b.; Menies, 3b.; McKinley, ss.; Cummings, r.f.; Duncan, c.f.; Dingdale, l. f. — East Ends: Robertson, c.; Hawke, p.; R. McMilloye, lb.; B. McMilloye, 2b.; Pascoe, 3b.; Baker, ss.; Morrey, r.f.; Cowan, c.f.; Lemmox, l. f. Uglity men are: Hill and Nobbs, North Ward; Byrn, East Ends.

ANTI-JEWISH RIOTS IN WELSH TOWN

Hoodlums Take Advantage of Absence of Police—Trouble Probably Over

Newport, Monmouthshire, Eng., Aug. 22.—The anti-Jewish rioting at Tredgar and adjacent towns have almost entirely been the work of hoodlums, who have obtained a strong foothold in those places because the forces of police stationed there are small.

Trouble Will Soon End.—London, Aug. 22.—In the opinion of Jewish residents here the riots at Tredgar and other Welsh mining towns were indirectly, if not directly, due to the strike ferment and that once the labor troubles have vanished, the present anti-Jewish feeling will die a natural death.

GERMAN ENGINEER RESCUED

Held Prisoner by Greek Bandits for Nearly Three Months

Berlin, Aug. 23.—A dispatch from Salonica, Turkey, to-day states that Dr. Edmund Richter, the German engineer, who was captured by Greek bandits and held for a ransom of $225,000 has been rescued on the Greek frontier and is returning to Salonica.

Dr. Richter was engaged in mapping on Mount Olympus in the wild frontier between Turkey and Greece, under the auspices of the German Geographical Society, when he fell into the hands of the brigands on May 25.

The German government acted promptly and a small army of Turkish soldiers was sent in pursuit of the bandits. At the same time representatives of the Geographical Society scoured the mountains, taking with them the gold for the ransom of the doctor.

VALUABLE PICTURE DISAPPEARS.—Paris, Aug. 23.—Louis Lepine, the prefect of police, frankly admits complete mystification in regard to the disappearance from the Louvre of Leonardo Davinci's most famous work, known generally as "Mona Lisa," but popularly called by the French "La Joconde."

Up to this afternoon not a trace of the picture nor the thief had been found. It is generally conceded that even a dull person could have perceived the this picture of, despite a work so well known and accordingly psychological explanations of the strange case are sought.

You simply can't imagine how pleasant and cooling this is, until you try it. Good for you, too.

KENTUCKY HORSES TO BE EXHIBITED

V. I. D. League's Display—May Establish Record for Number of Entries in Fair

One of the many attractions for horse breeders at the annual fair next month will be an exhibit of Kentucky-bred horses, a variety of horseflesh entirely unknown in this part of British Columbia.

The Vancouver Island Development League's display will be of interest to all, but to visitors from the mainland in particular. A cross section of native air, eight to ten feet in diameter, and a huge lump of Is-and coal will be among the exhibits.

Last evening the advance guard of the bronchos, which will constitute the principals in what will probably be one of the most entertaining features at the fair—the broncho busting competition—arrived from Kamloops. Another carload is on the way from Chilliwack.

Mr. Parker, manager of the Parker Carnival Company, which ranks among the largest of America's shows, is coming over from Vancouver this afternoon and will discuss terms with the agricultural association for the staging of part, if not all, of his 21 shows. Mr. Parker's company will perform in Vancouver during the fair there.

Discussing prospects for the exhibition this year Secretary George Sangster states that to date over 500 entries in all departments have been received and that he expects as many more before the fair opens. If his expectations are fulfilled a record for Victoria's annual fair will be established. The entry list for the poultry show is particularly large.

OWN YOUR HOME

There is a noticeable shortage of houses for rent in Victoria, and British Canadian Home Builders, Ltd., with a capital of $500,000, has been organized to build homes on a plan that will enable those looking for a home to purchase on monthly payments same as rent by paying a small sum down.

British Canadian Home Builders, Ltd., has its own building department, draws its own plans, pays cash for everything, and in this way gets the advantage of every discount known to the trader.

In the case of parties owning their lot and wishing to build British Canadian Home Builders will build for them on payment of ten per cent of the value of the house, and one per cent monthly. For example, a customer wishing a $2,500 house built, would be required to pay down only $250 cash and $25 monthly, which includes the interest at 7 per cent.

Arrangements can also be made where the lot is only partly paid for.

No Delay

British Canadian Home Builders do not ask you to make payments for one, two or three years before building your houses for you, but on agreement as to plans commence work immediately.

Where Profits will be Derived

The profits of the Company will be derived from building its own houses, dealing in real estate, paying cash for everything, insurance on all houses it builds, buying for cash and selling on easy payments, and the interest on deferred payments.

No Promotion Shares

A very important feature of British Canadian Home Builders, Ltd., is that every share will bring to the treasury $1 per share, or more, as all shares are treasury shares, not one share of promotion stock, in fact it is known as the Company without any promotion shares.

Wide striped black and white and most fashionable midsummer fabrics sleeve ends are satin and linen effeccut.

Persons who have travelled to any come loose, or they have a hook on one end which engages a big screw eye in the room. In the latter case they are

The Evening
Chit-Chat
By Ruth Cameron

Why is it, I wonder, that people of reserve and taste in most matters so frequently offend the canons of both by having their living rooms and reception rooms and even their dining rooms lavishly hung with photographs of their family and relatives and intimate friends?

That the rooms
which are used for the entertainment of general company should be decorated chiefly with impersonal pictures,
pictures of general interest, seems to me just as much a law of taste and politeness as that conversation with these people should be of general interest rather than on personal matters.

You would never think of cramming your relatives and intimates into your caller's ears by talking constantly about them. Why,
then, should you
foist them upon her eyes by covering the walls of the room
in which you entertain her, with nothing but their pictures.

The private den or study or workroom where only the most intimate friends are taken,
or the citadel of one's private personality, one's own chamber, seem to me the proper places
for these picture galleries, and yet how seldom we see a home where this rule is strictly adhered to.

I suppose it is partly because in these days of frequent and easy picture taking, most of us have so many photographs of our friends in our possession that they overflow our private quarters and in-flood the whole house.

Quite frequently the gift of a photograph, fond though we may be of its original and glad though we may be to receive it, brings a problem in its wake.

We show it to the people who will be especially interested in it. It lies about on our desk or table for a few days, and then what?
If we stand it up
or tack it up unframed it will surely spoil and discolor.
We do not feel like taking the money to buy a frame especially for it. And yet we would surely have been offended
if that friend had passed us by in the distribution of her
pictures.

I know one girl who solves this little problem in a way that is interesting for its uniqueness even if it does not appeal. She has about a half dozen frames which is all the space for them in her room. These frames are so made that the pictures can easily be slipped in and out. Every few weeks she changes the pictures in them so that she has all her friends looking down upon her from time to time.

In this connection
let me suggest that
for an inexpensive
birthday gift I know of nothing that will be more sure to fill a niche of need than
a small frame, suitable for a photograph.
Let it be of any sort,
an oval of brass or ivory or the simplest of wooden frames,
and it will undeniably find a welcome, for show me the person who has not more photographs than he has frames for them,
and I will show you
a rarity.

DISFIGURED FOR LIFE!

Mothers Should Realize What
Neglect of Skin-Troubles
May Mean to Children.

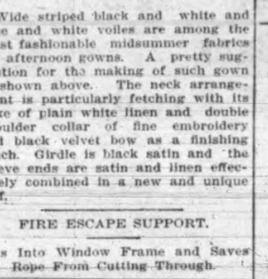

A lifetime of disfigurement and suffering, often results from the infancy of childhood, of minor affections of the skin and scalp. A mother overlooks a little rash or attempts some simple treatment and in a few days the little one is covered with severe sores or a similar distressing eruption.
Then the struggle for a cure begins.

A multitude of remedies are tried, doctor after doctor consulted and hospital visited, but too often the suffering extends, without substantial relief, from days to weeks, weeks to months and months to years. Added to this is the ever-present fear that the itching, burning and disfigurement will become chronic, marring future welfare and making life miserable.

In the prevention of the simple skin troubles in which all this suffering so often arises and in establishing a condition of skin health that makes eruptions impossible, mothers are assured that nothing is purer, sweeter or more effective than Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. And greater still, if possible, is the success of these simple household remedies in the treatment of the severer skin affections themselves. With the first warm bath with Cuticura Soap and gentle application of Cuticura Ointment, the itching and burning of eczema cease, the child falls into a refreshing sleep, the mother rests and for the first time, possibly, in many weeks peace falls on a distracted household. Frequently a single box of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are sufficient.

Positive as is this statement, it is justified by more than thirty years of pronounced success. To quote but a single instance, Robert Mann, of Proctor, Minnesota, says:
"Our boy was born in Toronto on Oct.
13, 1908, and when three months old a slight rash appeared on his cheek. What appeared to be a water blister would form. When it broke, matter would run out, starting new blisters until his entire face, head and shoulders were a mass of sores and you could not see a particle of clear skin. We tried about every advertised remedy without avail, including some of them added to his suffering and one in particular, the remedy, I believe, almost put the infant into convulsions. The same doctor prescribed for him and told us to bathe the baby in butter-milk. This did not do any good, so we took him to a hospital.
He was treated as an out-patient twice a week and it got worse. If anything, we decided that he could not be cured and must run his course and we just kept his arms bandaged to his side to prevent his tearing his flesh.
We left Toronto and shortly after our arrival in Duluth, Minn., Cuticura Soap and Ointment were recommended. We started using them in May, 1909, and soon the cure was complete.
You would not think he was the same child for Cuticura made his skin perfectly clear and he is entirely free from the skin disease. There has been no return. We still see only Cuticura Soap for baby's bath."

Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Pills are sold by drugstores everywhere. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Mass., for a free copy of subject to great strain at the point where they hang over the stone window ledge, and might be cut through if used by many people.

The chief fault, however, is the fact that they hang close to the wall of the building, and descent by them is more difficult than if they hung clear and a man might slide down without scraping against the wall. Two Ohio men have invented a support for these ropes which can be adjusted in the window frame in a few seconds, and which by means of a T-shaped tubing inclined outward, holds the rope entirely clear of the building.

cheerful heart, from General Washington down. It was with sorrow and bitterness of heart, on account of the folly and tyranny of the British Government of that day. But, thank the Lord, new counsels have prevailed since, and if your ancestors had to suffer, we, on the contrary, have nothing but thankfulness and gratitude to Britain because we are British subjects; we are a free nation. Talk Beneath Contempt.

"This talk of annexation is simply beneath the contempt and beneath the attention of a serious people. (Cheers.) The apostles of the policy of restriction to-day tell us that we cannot go into this agreement, because they say if we do we make it impossible to have a mutual preferential treaty with Great Britain. It seems to me that there should not be so much concern exhibited by the Conservative party for preferential trade with Great Britain, when at every step we took in that direction they opposed it. In 1897, in the first tariff which was introduced by my friend, Mr. Fielding, he made a cardinal feature of a preference to Great Britain. He stated, and it was enacted, that upon all goods which came from Great Britain there should be an abatement of 12 1/2 per cent. This was seriously opposed by the Conservative party. They said it would ruin our Canadian industries. We went on, all the same, and two years afterwards we increased it to 25 per cent, and later to 33 1/3 per cent, and it has remained there ever since.

Preference With Britain.
 "The Conservative party took the ground that we should not give a preference to the Motherland unless the Motherland were prepared to give us a preference in their own markets. We stated that we would not bargain with the Motherland. If the people of the United Kingdom said they would give us a preference we would accept it and do more than we have been doing, but we have refused steadily to bargain with them. (Hear, hear.) But there are people who imagine that Great Britain would be ready to give us a preference. The question has been submitted three times in elections, and they have refused it. We go on with our policy, and we say, if at any time it suits the British people to change their fiscal policy and they decide to give us a preference we are ready to give them one, and I say more, that the present arrangement is no interference with it, is not fatal against it.

Waiting for Motherland.
 "We have made an agreement with the United States that we shall give them an abatement of our tariff upon natural products, and they do the same to us. Is there anything in this agreement which would prevent the British people from giving us a preference if they wished to do so? Nothing of the kind, I say. But, then, if the British people were to give us a preference which we are to accept, upon what goods would they expect a preference? Would they expect it upon natural products, upon wheat, upon cattle, upon peaches or apples, all these articles which I have mentioned? Nothing of the kind. They do not export natural articles, they buy them, and we can give them a preference upon things not mentioned in this agreement, manufactured products. We could give them a preference on manufactured products, and there is nothing in this agreement which is hostile to it. (Cheers.)

"I say, further, there is still another reason. If the United States were to find fault with us because we gave a preference to Great Britain, to the Mother Country, and say: 'We will not maintain our agreement unless you refuse to give a preference to Great Britain,' we would say: 'Then take your binding in this agreement. It is not a treaty; it is an agreement which can be repealed to-morrow, at any time you want, fifteen years hence, twenty years hence, or next week.'

Canada Left Free.
 "Let me quote upon this point the very law. I quote from the letter of Mr. Fielding, addressed to Mr. Knox, which contained this agreement, dated January 21, 1911:

"Dear Mr. Secretary: It is agreed that the desired tariff changes shall not take the formal shape of a treaty, but that the government of the two countries will use their utmost efforts to bring about such changes by concurrent legislation at Washington and at Ottawa. The governments of the two countries having made this agreement through the conviction that being confined by the necessary legislative authorities it will benefit the people on both sides of the border line, we may reasonably hope and expect that the arrangement if so confirmed will remain in operation for a considerable period. Only this expectation on the part of both governments would justify the time and labor that have been employed in the maturing of the proposed measures. Nevertheless, it is distinctly understood that we do not attempt to bind for the future the action of the United States congress or the parliament of Canada; that each of these authorities shall be absolutely free to make any change of tariff policy or of any other matter covered by the present arrangement that may be deemed expedient."

"Now let me read you the letter from the United States secretary of state, the Hon. P. C. Knox, addressed to Mr. Fielding and Mr. Paterson, in reply to the letter I have just received: 'Gentlemen, I take great pleasure in replying that your statement of the proposed arrangement is entirely in accord with my own understanding of it.'

"So you see, gentlemen, what our policy is. It leaves our action absolutely free. It leaves nothing in a condition to fetter our standing with the Mother Country.

A Bird in the Hand.
 "Let me pass to another question. You are told: 'Ah, but why need the Government bind themselves? There was no necessity. The Democrats are coming into office and power at Washington, and they would reduce the tariff without any binding agreement on our side?' Sir, I admit that the Democrats are coming into power,

I admit that their policy is reduction of tariff, but I know from experience of the United States and other countries how difficult it is to reduce the duties of a protective tariff. The Democrats tried in 1892 and failed. The Republicans tried in 1910 and failed also. They may do it. It is possible, but not certain. But this agreement which we have is certain. This is a bird in our very hand. We can have it. We have it in our hands. The other birds are in the bush. We will not let the bird in the hand go for the bird in the bush.

"But there is another consideration. If the Democrats get into power and carry the policy there shall be a reduction of tariff not only to Canada, we are told, but to all the world. We shall meet in the United States. We know how it may be; but in this present arrangement the reduction is not given to all the world, but to Canada alone. Therefore, which is the better policy? That of the Democrats; with the possible competition of the whole world, or that of President Taft, which applies to Canada alone? For my own part I prefer this bird in the hand to the bird in the bush. (Cheers.)

Most Favored Nations.
 "But I have heard upon the floor of the House of Commons walls and lamentations, that in getting this agreement with the United States and taking away the duties on natural products we have opened our doors to the whole world. You have heard it, have you not? If not you will hear it a few days from to-day. But let me give you a little explanation. You say you shall have the competition of the whole world if we adopt this agreement. The whole world could send in their butter, barley, and some of the other products of the ancient ages; what we might call the barbarian age of the colonial regime, called the most-favored-nation treaties.

"What are the most-favored nations? The whole world is reduced to twelve countries. That is a little bit of Conservative exaggeration.

"There are some countries which, at the present time, shall be entitled, if this agreement goes into force, to have the same treatment as is given to the Americans. First of all, there is the Republic of Bolivia. (Laughter.) I don't wonder this strikes terror into your hearts. If there is a man in this audience who knows anything about Bolivia let him raise his hand. (Applause.) I don't wonder that no one does so. We never bought one dollar's worth from Bolivia, never sent one dollar's worth to them. Then there is the Republic of Colombia. Who knows anything about Colombia? No, you don't know about that any more than about Bolivia. But I must be honest. We have some trade with Colombia, amounting to $28,000, principally wool of a certain kind. Then there is the Republic of Argentina. There is a trade with Argentina amounting to $2,181,554. Was it wheat, or barley, or butter, or any of these things mentioned in the agreement? No, it was wool, which is free, hides, and cases. Undoubtedly you will agree that it is very bad to buy their cocoa. It would strike terror into your hearts.

Who is Afraid?
 "Then there is Austria-Hungary, with which our trade is $1,400,000. Was it wheat, or barley, or oats, or any natural product? No, it was lace, ladies' blouses and wearing apparel. Then comes Denmark. Our trade with it was $56,000, not any agricultural products. We have a trade with Japan, which was $2,401,309 last year; some agricultural products—these things have to be discussed frankly—it was rice. Do you think we care very much if we buy rice? Would it interfere with our trade? Then there is Norway. Our trade with this country was $125,000. Russia comes next, with $344,000. Spain, with $1,000,000 in fruits, almonds, and wines; surely nothing that would hurt Canada. Then there is Sweden, $207,000; Switzerland, $2,000,000, like Austria, chiefly in lace and wearing apparel for ladies. Venezuela, $53,000, chiefly coffee.

"Well, gentlemen, this is the competition we have to fear from these nations. It is simply ridiculous, an insult to the common sense of the Canadian people to pretend that there is any danger.

Provided for Future.
 "It is not apprehended that there is any competition now from these countries, but it is possible that in the course of time we may come into competition with them. This question came before the Imperial Conference in May and June last. I drew attention to those old treaties, and showed that they might be an obstacle some day to us, and then expressed the hope that the Imperial government would exempt us from the operation of these treaties. I moved this resolution: 'That his Majesty's government be requested to open negotiations with the several foreign governments in view of the fact that they apply to the self-governing dominions, with a view to securing liberty for those dominions which desire to withdraw from the operation of those treaties without interfering with the rest of the governments.'

"This was approved by all the members of the conference, and passed unanimously. If we have to complain at any time of undue competition, the British government upon our complaint, is ready to enter into negotiations in order to remove us from the operation of these treaties.

Denounced as a Traitor.
 "For this action I have been denounced as a traitor. Sir, let me discuss that simply in the light of common sense. At the present time the British government never negotiates a treaty with any nation without putting in a stipulation that this treaty does not apply to Canada, Australia, New Zealand, or South Africa, any of the self-governing dominions, unless they are willing to be bound by it. This summer his Britannic Majesty has passed a treaty with Japan, a commercial treaty, and we have refused to be bound by it because it does not suit us. By doing so we are not charged with sinister motives, and if we apply to the old treaties the same doctrine as to the new treaties, is there anything more out of reason than to accuse us of disloyalty?"

Queen Charlotte Island COAL AND OIL

THE CORNET COAL, MINERAL & OIL LANDS COMPANY, (LIMITED) (non-personal liability), has purchased the rights to FIVE COAL & PETROLEUM LEASES, containing about 3,200 acres of COAL AND OIL lands situated on LOUIS INLET, West Coast of Graham Island, which show excellent indications of large deposits of both Coal and Oil.

For a short time 25,000 shares are offered for public subscription at the par value of 25 cents per share; $4 cash on application and the balance three equal monthly payments. Get in on the ground floor. This is going to be good.

Important Features

LOUIS INLET is a land locked harbor capable of affording anchorage to any vessel on the Pacific seaboard. The LEASES front on deep water, thereby offering every advantage to the building of wharves, bunkers, etc.

The CAPITAL is low, being only $50,000, 100,000 shares in the Treasury for development purposes.

NO PERSONAL LIABILITY.

The OIL indications are highly satisfactory and COAL has been found within half a mile of the property.

BORING is being done on the claims immediately behind our holdings. OIL is expected to be found at any moment.

Speaking of the opportunities of Graham Island, Mr. J. W. Covert, a Civil and Mining Engineer of Portland, who for the past two months has been inspecting various properties on the island, lays his views very clearly before the public in an article to the Vancouver World under date of July 22nd, in which he says in part:

"I would like to have stayed a month longer, for, taken as a whole, Graham Island is the most wonderful undeveloped country I have ever seen."

"I found there a large area of coal lands, containing a bituminous product equal in quality to any coal mined on the Pacific Coast."

"Incidentally I visited the Oil fields on the northwestern portion of the island and found there conditions such as I have never before seen, and I have inspected most of the Oil fields on this continent. Never before have I seen surface showings so favorable, and you can see in that field all the knowledge gained by all the experts engaged in it, might well be set aside."

Our property is only a few miles south of the fields referred to by Mr. Covert. A complete description of the Company is on request.

Address all applications and make all cheques payable to the Secretary of the Company, 20 Promis Block, 1006 Government St., or P. O. Box 92, Victoria, B. C.

PRAIRIES SOLID FOR RECIPROCITY PACT

F. H. Stephenson, Home From Oxbow, Sask., Brings Most Gratifying News

That the prairies are solid for reciprocity is the news that comes from every quarter. F. H. Stephenson, Pembroke street, proprietor of the Horse Exchange, has just returned from Oxbow, Sask., where he has been looking after the preparations for harvesting on his farm, and he brings the same tidings.

It will be a case of every constituency in Saskatchewan and Alberta returning a supporter of the reciprocity agreement," said Mr. Stephenson to the Times this morning. "Liberals and Conservatives are all for it, and naturally so. They have been asking for it for 27 years, and does anyone think they are going to lose the chance to get it now? Some of them go further in opposition to tariffs. Even a stout Conservative like Sam McMurtrie, at a meeting at Oxbow, said he would like to see it all off. The grain-growers to a man are for reciprocity, and you have seen how the feeling in one constituency represented by a Conservative, John Heron, has forced him to support reciprocity, knowing he wouldn't have the ghost of a show if he didn't."

"Our No. 2 northern rates about equal in quality with No. 1 hard over the line from us, but they are right of nine cents more than we do. Reciprocity means from five to ten cents a bushel to us in Saskatchewan, and will increase the value of our land by $5 to $10 an acre."

Mr. Stephenson is a personal friend of J. G. Turfitt, again the Liberal nominee in Assiniboia riding, and while east he did some canvassing for him. Mr. Turfitt's reelection, he declares, would be assured on the reciprocity platform, even apart from his personal popularity.

The crop, Mr. Stephenson says, will be a good one. Wheat will be about a two-thirds crop in the south and east full. There is no danger in sight from frost, and little harm has been done by hail.

ANOTHER TORY FOR RECIPROCITY

Conservative Farmer Will Run Against H. Lennox in South Simcoe

Barrie, Ont., Aug. 22.—Thomas Hammett, of Beeton, a Conservative farmer, who favors reciprocity, is announced as an independent candidate against Houghton Lennox, Conservative, in South Simcoe. The Liberals will not put up a candidate.

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Alderman H. H. Stevens was last night selected as the Conservative candidate for the coming campaign. Speeches were delivered by Premier McBride, Attorney-General Bower, the retiring member, George H. Cowan, and the candidate.

Mr. Stevens was selected on the third ballot. The others who came before the convention were Messrs. James Findlay, J. J. Miller, C. M. Woodworth, and S. L. Horne.

The candidate was heartily cheered when he rose to return thanks for the nomination, and the convention hailed him with musical honors. Alderman Stevens declared that he felt convinced of the hearty support of every Conservative in the constituency.

LIVERPOOL STRIKES MAY BE SETTLED

Number of Striking Tramway Employees Reinstated—Dockmen Still Out

London, Aug. 22.—Progress toward a settlement of the labor troubles at Liverpool was made to-day when the chairman of the tramway committee reinstated several strikers on his own responsibility. The dockmen are still out pending a settlement with the tramway men, but the railroad men of Liverpool are resuming work in increasing numbers.

The trouble at Liverpool resulted from the refusal of the municipality to reinstate 250 strikers. The employees who had remained loyal throughout the strike threatened to quit work if the 250 men were taken back. To-day's action of the strikers will lead, it is believed, to an early agreement by all parties.

The weekly traffic returns testify to the enormous losses resulting to the railway companies from last week's strike. The London and Northwestern Railway's report alone shows a decrease of $505,000 in receipts for the week.

OBITUARY RECORD

Charles Bridges, a well known and highly respected resident of the Comox district, passed away at his residence, Sandwick, Comox Valley, last Friday evening. The funeral took place on Monday under the auspices of Hiram Lodge, No. 14, A. F. & A. M., of which he was a prominent member. Many Masons attended. A multitude of floral tributes were sent. The pallbearers, all members of the shriners, were J. B. Johnston, Courtenay; J. N. McLeod, L. A. Mounce, J. T. E. Palmer, John Matthews, Cumberland; Thos. Hudson, Union Bay. ## WELL KNOWN VESSEL BECOMES TOTAL LOSS

Schooner Redfield Pounding to Pieces in Alaskan Waters—Part of Cargo Saved

Seattle, Aug. 22.—Imbedded deep in the sandy shoal a half-mile north of Cape Prince of Wales, where the schooner Viking was lost a few years ago, the power schooner F. S. Redfield is being battered to pieces by the head sea and will be a total loss.

Wireless advices from the revenue cutter Bear, forwarded by the government cable station at Nome, are to the effect that part of the cargo has been saved, but the vessel in all probability will be destroyed. The revenue cutter Bear is standing by the wreck, and despite a heavy sea and a high wind, is making an attempt to save the rest of the cargo. All of the members of the crew have been rescued.

The Redfield had delivered her shipment for St. Lawrence Island, Kotzebue and Teller, but the cargo for other points in the Far North is still aboard the vessel.

In the morning wireless report from Dead Tree Point it was stated that a two-masted schooner was ashore in that vicinity and at noon it was learned that the unfortunate vessel was the Labajera. At 10 o'clock this morning she was floated off and proceeded to Skidegate. The vessel is owned by a concern on the Queen Charlotte Island and is used in doing general work there. Nothing was mentioned as to whether the schooner was badly injured or not.

SAANICH LIBERALS BANDED TOGETHER

Fred Pauline, President; A. E. Chandler, Secretary; Elected at Royal Oak Last Night

The Saanich Liberal Association held a splendid organization meeting at Royal Oak last night to prepare for the Dominion election in support of Ralph Smith, the Liberal candidate for No. 21, in the coming fight. All, however, agreed that the best plan for fighting a campaign is to get out and work hard and long for the candidate of the party, and this, it was determined, will be done by the Liberals at Royal Oak to a man for Mr. Smith.

The first business of the meeting was the election of a president and a secretary. By acclamation these two officers were elected; the presidency falling to Fred Pauline, and A. E. Chandler being elected to discharge the secretarial duties.

Short speeches were heard and applauded, and great enthusiasm was shown by all present, there being no doubt among the audience as to the result of the coming fight. All, however, agreed that the best plan for fighting a campaign is to get out and work hard and long for the candidate of the party, and this, it was determined, will be done by the Liberals at Royal Oak to a man for Mr. Smith.

SHIPS START OCEAN RACE

County of Lintlogan Leaves Sound For Valparaiso—Race Ready—Dinner for Winner

Port Townsend, Wash., Aug. 22.—An ocean race between two big square-rigged ships for the finest dinner in Valparaiso and a hundred dollars gold began last evening when the Chilean ship County of Lintlogan, Captain H. Mueller, was towed to sea. The County will race for the Chilean port with the French barque Max, Captain George Delahye, which sails from Tacoma within a few days.

The skippers met while loading lumber in Tacoma, became close friends, and the bet on parting, Captain Mueller admits that the Max is a smarter craft than the County, but is certain Delahye will lose.

BERTHA-CLEAR FOR NORTH

Leaves Seattle With Hunting Party Aboard for Alaska—Many Passengers

Seattle, Aug. 22.—With a passenger list of thirty-five and a capacity cargo of general shipments, the steamer Bertha of the Alaska Coast Company sailed last night for Seward, Kodiak, and way ports. Among the passengers on the Bertha was a hunting party, consisting of W. C. Chapin, W. W. Chapin, State Senator Joseph Collins and Jas. H. Kerr of the law firm of Kerr and McCord who are bound for Seward Peninsula in search of big game; W. G. Meagher an oil operator of Beaumont, Texas, who is going north to make an inspection of the Katalla oil fields with a view of interesting southern capitalists in their development, and Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Nash, government school teachers bound for Seldovia. Mrs. Nash will relieve Miss A. D. McMichael, formerly of the Carlisle Indian school who has been teaching at Seldovia two years.

On her present voyage the Bertha will go to Ship Creek, on Turnagain Arm; where she will discharge supplies for the Gold Bullion Mining Company.

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—F. W. Peters, assistant to Sir William Whyte, vice-president of the C. P. R., arrived this morning from Winnipeg and will probably spend ten days on the coast. He will attend next week's sittings of the railway commission in this city. Later he will accompany the commission on its circuit in Alberta. He will leave to-morrow for Victoria.

CONSIDERING NAVAL TENDERS

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—It will be a matter of some weeks before the contract is let for the construction of eleven vessels which will constitute the Canadian navy. Before Hon. L. P. Brodeur, former minister of the navy retired, he placed tenders received in the hands of technical officers of the naval branch to be reported on. These officials are now considering the merits of the various tenders received, and will report later.

D. R. A. AGGREGATE

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—The leader in the Dominion Rifle Association aggregate so far is Captain Crowe of Guelph, with 27.

DEFEND TREATIES OF ARBITRATION

U. S. Senators Submit Minority Report—Action Delayed Until Regular Session

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—The treaties of arbitration with Great Britain and France were defended in minority recommendations filed in the senate, in executive session, on Monday, by Senators Cullum, Root and Burton, of the senate committee on foreign relations. Mr. Burton contended that the agreements required no amendment because, as he declared, the prerogatives of the senate were sufficiently safeguarded.

Senators Cullum and Root, making the same contention, undertook to provide against any possible mishap by suggesting a declaration in connection with the resolution of ratification, explicitly excluding from the terms of the treaty all questions "involving the maintenance of the traditional attitude of the United States concerning American questions or other purely governmental policy."

When the reports were submitted to the senate the question of debating the treaties in public was raised. There was general agreement that public policy would not be violated by such a course, inasmuch as the ban of secrecy had been removed from the documents. No action on them was taken and they went over for further consideration at the regular session.

PROSECUTION FOR PERJURY.

Charges Will Be Laid Against Number of Witnesses at Trial of Camorristi.

Viterbo, Italy, Aug. 23.—After much contradictory testimony had been given at the Camorra trial to-day, Cavaliere Tullio, the king's procurator, announced that all witnesses suspected of perjury and of bearing false witness would be prosecuted when the Cuccolo trial was concluded. Particular attention had been given to the testimony of Barbelli, who swore that he had seen Giuseppe Salvi, a defendant, leave the Cuccolo home after the assassination of Maria Cuccolo, whose murder followed that of her husband.

The jury cross-examined the witness closely, and he became confused. His written deposition was carefully examined and when the jurors noted many discrepancies between that and his verbal testimony, they decided that he was not sincere.

Judge Fararone testified that he was satisfied from private information that Lucia Anastasi, one of the state's witnesses, was a confidant of the Carabiniere, Capt. Fambroini denied that this was true.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER OPENS FEDERAL CAMPAIGN

"I do not often parade my loyalty. I was born under British institutions. My people found liberty they would not have had under any other regime, and I could not but stand by that, because I value the liberty of my country. I have laid before you all the objections which are raised against this agreement. These objections, you will agree, do not stand discussion. As to the advantages, they are so obvious that they need no reiteration. But the more thoroughly they are discussed the clearer they appear. This agreement constitutes a bond of peace and a harmony of friendship between the two nations. It insures that there shall be and remain a bond of mutual respect between them. We share with our neighbors in this northern hemisphere. We spring practically from the same stock. Our common forefathers came from England, Scotland, Ireland, France, a certain extent, and Germany. We have inherited practically the same institutions.

"The day is not far removed from us many of you may remember it; I remember it very well myself—when there was a feeling of deep hostility between the two countries, fostered by the abuse of each other by the press of both sides. But such expressions of antipathy are heard no longer. We have seen the dawn of a new era. Better and nobler sentiments prevail. We have learned perhaps in spite of ourselves that 'blood is thicker than water.' (Hear, hear.)

"In 1898, at the battle of Manila, when the Americans were fighting the Spaniards, a European squadron was in Cuban waters and its commander wanted to show his sympathy in a practical way with the Spaniards. But the commander of a British squadron was also in those waters, and he stated that there would be no fair play between the combatants, and that if there was any interference he would line his ships by the side of Admiral Dewey's. This was the voice of the blood that is thicker than water. (Applause.)

"It was only last week that a treaty was signed by King George and the President of the United States which makes it impossible henceforth that there shall be war between Britain and the United States. It has been given to us to see that day—(loud cheers)—but, far-reaching as is that agreement, is it to be supposed, that it is the final and supreme expression of the friendship between the two countries? I harbor in my heart the belief that that treaty may be supplemented in a way which will endeavor to undo the mischief which was done in the 18th century by the violent separation of mother and children.

"A higher civilization.

"This agreement, which has been unfolded to your eyes, is constructive and a contribution toward that ideal. It will not only be a powerful factor in the material prosperity of our country, but it is an advance toward that higher civilization which recent events have shown to be within the range of practical politics. This agreement is before you to-day, and it was in accordance with the traditions of the country and the historic associations of the country that Mr. William Charlton should be the standard-bearer of this policy, and that Norfolk should be the banner county to carry it to victory." (Loud and continued cheers.)

FIGHT OVER CAR FARES

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 23.—Fifteen hundred residents of Rainier Valley, a southeastern suburban section, ignored a temporary restraining order issued by United States District Judge Cornelius H. Hanford and by demanding transfers and refusing to pay a second fare at Kenyon street, stopped, 27, at the corner of the Kenyon and Southern Railway yesterday. Incidentally the street car crews caused the arrest of fourteen car crews for failure to keep their cars moving and unceremoniously dropped George Hartung, superintendent of the street car line, out of a car window when he tried to eject a passenger.

The arrest of the car crews was ordered by George W. Dilling as soon as he was made acquainted with the circumstances, and the mayor, after conference with corporation counsel, Scott C. Calhoun, announced that the council would be asked to take action at once looking to relief of the residents of the valley from conditions brought about by the car company.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which is odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and promptness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh pills, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall-Store, D. E. Campbell, corner Fort and Douglas street.

A CHOICE OF PARTIES

At the head of the Liberal party is the political Bayard of the age, without fear and without stain, a leader of personal magnetism unapproached among living statesmen; and a political general whose peer is not living at this moment. A Fabius in bidding his time, a Napoleon in the comprehensiveness of his strategy and a Marlborough in battle, his party are ready to follow as one man wherever his white plume leads. Like Napoleon too, he has surrounded himself with men of the first calibre, ablest among whom is our own W. S. Fielding, the greatest master of finance which Canada has ever produced and a diplomat of many and greatest triumphs; a man who never entered a battle he did not win, who never tackled a problem which he did not solve, who never feared a foe or deserted a friend, a parliamentary debater of the highest order, and who, through the vicissitudes of a long and strenuous career, never made a personal enemy. Such are the Liberal accomplishments, such are the Liberal policies, such are the Liberal leaders. They are now appealing to the people for a mandate to set the seal of completion upon an agreement which at one stroke of the pen doubles our markets and provides opportunities for commerce whose profits shall stimulate this country to a development which shall make even the progress of the past ten years seem like a snail's pace.

Opposed to all this, what do we find? We find a leader dissatisfied with his followers, and followers dissatisfied with their leader. We find a condition of incipient rebellion and reluctant subordination among the rank and file of the Opposition. We find a party differing as the poles asunder on almost every question of importance during the past fifteen years and split and rent by jealousies, envies and mutual distrust to-day. An unpopular captain and a mutinous crew would be a poor outfit indeed with which to man the ship of state, and the Canadian electorate know this.
