Actus Primus.

Enter Ferdinand King of Navarre, Berowne, Longavill, and Dumane.

Ferdinand.

Et Fame, that all hunt after in their lives. Liueregistred vpon our brazen Tombes, And then grace vs in the difgrace of death: When spight of cormorant deuouring Time, Th'endeuour of this present breath may buy That honour which shall batehis sythes keene edge, And make vs heyres of all eternitie. Therefore braue conquerors, for so you are. That warre against your owne affections, And the huge Armie of the worlds defires. Our late edict shall strongly stand in force, Nauar shall be the wonder of the world. Our Court shall be a little Academe, Still and contemplative in living Art, You three, Berowne, Dumaine, and Long auill, Haue sworne for three yeeres terme, to live with me: My fellow schollers, and to keepe those statutes That are recorded in this scedule heere. Your oathes are past, and now subscribe your names That his owne hand may strike his honour downe, That violates the smallest branch herein: If you are armed to doe, as sworne to doe, Subscribe to your deepe oathes, and keepe it to.

A 2

Longauill.

Longanill. I am resolu'd, 'tis but a three yeeres fast: The minde shall banquet, though the body pine, Fat paunches haue leane pates: and daintie bits Make rich the ribs, but banquerout the wits.

Dumane. My louing Lord, Dumane is mortified, The groffer manner of these worlds delights, He throwes vpon the grolle worlds baser saues: To loue, to wealth, to pompe I pine and die,

With all these living in Philosophie.

Berowne. I can but say their protestation ouer. So much, deere Liege, I have already (worne, That is, to live and study heere three yeeres. But there are other strict observances: As not to see a woman in thatterme, Which I hope well is not enrolled there. And one day in a weeke to touch no food : And but one meale on every day beside: The which I hope is not enrolled there. And then to sleepe but three houses in the night, And not be seene to winke of all the day. When I was wont to thinke no harme all night, And make a darke night too of halfe the day : Which I hope well is not enrolled there. O, these are barren taskes, too hard to keepe, Not to see Ladyes, study, fast, not sleepe.

Ferd. Your oath is past, to passe away from these. Berow. Let mesay no my Liedge, and if you please,

I onely swore to study with your grace,

And flay heere in your Court for three yeeres space. Longa. Youswore to that Berowne, and tothe rest.

Berow. By yea and nay fir, then I swore in ielt,

What is the end of study, let me know?

Fer. Why that to know which else we should not know. Ber. Things hid & bard (you meane) from common lenle.

Ferd. I, that is studies god-like recompence. Bero. Come on then, I will sweare to study, so,

To know thething I am forbid to know: As thus, to study where I well may dine, When I too fast expressely am forbid,

Or study where to meete some Mistresse sine, when Mistresses from common sense are hid. Or having sworne too hard a keeping oath, studie to breake it, and not breake my troth. It studies gaine be thus, and this be soe, Studie knowes that which yet it doth not know, Sweare me to this, and I will nee're say no.

Ferd. These be the stops that hinder studie quite,

And traine our intellects to vaine delight.

Ber. Why? all delights are vaine, and that most vaine Which with paine purchas'd, doth inherit paine, Aspainefully to poare vpon a Booke, To seeke the light of truth, while truth the while Doth falsely blinde the eye-sight of his looke: Light seeking light, doth light of light beguile So ere you finde where light in darkenesse lies, Your light growes darke by loofing of your eyes. Studieme how to please the eye indeede, By fixing it upon a fairer eye, Who dazling so, that eye shall be his heed, And give him light that it was blinded by, Studic is like the heavens glorious Sunne, That will not be deepe fearch'd with fawcy lookes: Small haue continual plodders euer wonne, Saue bale authority from others Bookes. These Earthly Godfathers of heauenslights, That give a name to every fixed Starre, Haue no more profit of their shining nights, Then these that walke and wot not what they are, Too much to know, isto know nought but fame: And every Godfather can give a name,

Dum. Proceeded well, to stop all good proceeding.

Lon. Hee weedes the corne, and still less grow the weeding.

Ber. The spring is neare when greene geesse are abreeding.

Dum. How followes that?

Ber. Fit in his place and time.

Dum. In reason nothing.

Ber. Somethingthen in rime.

Ferd. Berowne is like an enuious sneaping Frost, That bites the first borne Infants of the Spring.

Refore the birds have any cause to sing?

Why should I joy in any abortive birth?

At Christmas I no more defire a rose,

Then wish a Snow in Mayes new sangled showes:

But like of each thing that in season growes.

So you to studie now it is too late,

That were to clymbe ore the house to valocke the gate.

Per. Well, sit you out, goehome Recome: adue.

Ber. No my good Lord, I have swerne to stay with you.

And though I have for Barbarisme spoke more, Then for that Angell knowledge you can say, Yet consident I lekeepe what I have sworne, And bide the penance of each three yeares daye. Give me the paper, let me reade the same, And to the strictest decrees I le write my name,

Fer. How well this yeelding rescues thee from shame.

Ber. Item. That no woman shall come within a mile of my

Hath this beene proclaimed?

Lon. Fouredayes agoc.
Ber. Let's see the penaltie.

On paine of looking her tongue. Who deuis'd this penaltie?

Lon. Marry that did I.

Ber. Sweete Lord, and why?

Lon. To fright them hence with that dread penaltie,

A dangerous law against gentilitie.

Item, If any man be scene to talke with a woman within the rearme of three yeeres, he shall endure such publike shame, as the rest of the Court shall possibly denise.

Ben: This Article my Liedge your selfe must breake, Forwell you know here comes in Embassie
The French Kings daughter, with your selfe to speake:
A Maide of grace and compleate maiestic,
About surrender up of Aquitaine:

To her decrepic, ficke, and bed-rid Father,

Therefore

Therefore this article is made in vaine, Or vainely comes th'admired Princelle hither.

Fer. What say you Lords? Why, this was quite forgot.

Ber. So Audie euermore is overshot, While it doth study to have what it would, It doth forget to doe the thing it should: And when it hath the thing it hunterh most, Tis won as townes with fire, so won, so lost.

Fer. Wee must of force dispence with this Decree;

She must lye here on meere necessity.

Ber. Necessity will make vs both forsworne.
Three thousand times within this three yeares space:
For every man with his affects is borne,
Notby might mastred, but by special grace.
If I breake faith, this word shall breake for me,
I am forsworne on meere necessitie.
So to the Lawes at large I write my name,
'And he that breakes them in the least degree,
Stands in attainder of eternallshame.
Suggestions are to others as to mee:
But I beleeve although I seeme so loth,
I am the last that will last keepe his oth.
But is there no quicker creation granted?

Fer. I that there is, our Court you know is hanted.
With a refined travailer of Spaine,
A man in all the worlds new fashion planted,
That hath a mint of phrases in his braine:
One, who the Musicke of his owne vaine tongue,
Doth rawish like inchanting harmonie:
A man of complements whom right and wrong.
Haue chose as ympire of their mutinie.
This childe of sancie that Armado hight,
For interim to our studies shall relate.
In high-borne words the worth of many a Knight:
From tawny Spaine lost in the worlds debate.
How you delight my Lords I know not I,
But I protest I loue to heare him sie,
And I will wie him for my Minstrelsie.

Rero. Armado is a most illustrious wight, A man of fire, new words, fashions owne Knight. Lon. Costard the swaine and he, shall be our sport, And so to studie, three yeeres is but short.

Enter a Constable with Costard with a Letter.

Const. Which is the Dukes owne person?

Ber. This fellow, What would's?

Con. I my selfereprehend his owne person, for I am his graces Tharborough: but I would see his owne person in flesh and blood.

Ber. This ishe.

Con. Signeor Arme, Arme commends you: There's villanie abroad, this letter will tell you more.

Clow. Sirthe Contempts the reof are as touching mee.

Fer. A letter from the magnificent Armado.

Ber. How low focuer the matter, I hope in God for high words.

Lon. A high hope for a low heaven, God grant vs patience.

Ber. To heare or forbeare hearing.

Lon. To heare meckely fir, and to laugh moderately, or to forbeare both.

Ber. Wellsir, be it as the stile shall give vs cause to clime in the merrinelle. " The entrape come O two displace with I

Clow. The matter is to me sir, as concerning laquenetta. The manner of it is, I was taken with the manner.

Ber. In what manner?

Clo. In manner and forme following sir, all those three. I was scene with her in the Mannor house, sitting with her vpon the Forme, and taken following her into the Parke: which put together is in manner and forme following. Now fir for the manner; it is the manner of a man to speake to a woman, for the forme in some forme.

Ber. For the following fir.

the rest to we to be a line. Clow. As it shall follow in my correction, and God defend the right.

Fer. Will you heare this Letter with attention?

Ber. As wee would heare an Oracle,

Clo. Such is the simplicatie of man to harken after the flesh.

Ferdinan.

GReat Deputie, the Welkins Vicegerent, and sole dominator of Nauar, my soules earths God, and bodies fostring patrone: Cost. Not a word of Costard yet.

Ferd. Soit is.

Cost. It may be so: but if he say it is so, he is in telling true; but so.

Ferd. Peace.

Clow. Be to me, and overy man that dares not fight. Ferd. No words,

Clow. Of other menssecrets I beseech you.

Ferd. So it is besieged with sable coloured melansholy, I did commend the blacke oppressing humour to the most wholesome Physicke of thy health-giving ayre: And as I am a Gentleman, betooke my selfe to walke: the time when ? about the fixt houre, when beasts most grase, birds best pecke, and mensit downe to that nourishment which is called supper: So much for the time When. Now for the ground which? which I meane I walkt upon, it is Jeliped, Thy Parke. Then for the place where ? where I meane I did encounter that obscene and most preposterous event that draweth from my (now-white pen the ebon coloured Inke, which heere thou viewest, beholdest, surneyest, or seest. But to the place where? It standeth North-east and by East from the West corner of thy curious knotted garden; there did I see that low spirited Swaine, that base Minow of thy myrth, (Clown. Mee?) that unlettered small knowing soule, (Clow.Mc?) that shallow vasfall (Clow. Still mee?) which as I remember, hight Costard, (Clow. Ome) sorted and consorted contrary to thy established proclaimed Edict and continent Cannon: Whichwith, o with, but with this I passion to say where with:

Clo. With a Wench.

Ferd. With a childe of our Grandmother Eue, a female; or for thy more sweete understanding a woman: him, I (as my eucr esteemed duty prickes me on) have sent to thee, to receive the meed of punishment by thy sweete Graces Officer Anthony Dull, a man of goodrepute, carriage, bearing, & estimation.

Anth. Mc, an't shall please you? I am Anthony Dull.

Ferd. For Iaquenetta (so is the weaker vessell called) which I apprehended

apprehended with the aforesaid Swaine, I keepe her as a vessell of thy Lawes furis, and shall at the least of thy sweet notice, bring ber to triall. Thine in all complements of denoted and heart-burning heat of dutie.

Don Adriano de Armado.

Ber. This is not so well as I looked for, but the best that euer I heard.

Fer. Ithe best for the worst. But sirra, What say you to this? Clow. Sir I confesse the Wench.

Fer. Didyou heare the Proclamation?

Clo. I doe confesse much of the hearing it, but little of the marking of it.

Fer. It was proclaimed a yeeres imprisonment to be taken with a Wench.

Clow. I was taken with none fir, I was taken with a Damosell.

Fer. Well, it was proclaimed Damosell.

Clow. This was no Damosell neyther sir, she was a Virgin. .. Fer. It is so varied too, for it was proclaimed Virgin.

Clow. If it were, I denie her Virginity: I was taken with a Maide.

Fer. This Maid shall not serue your turne fir. Clow. This Maide will ferue my turne fir.

Kin. Sir I will pronounce your sentence: You shall fast's Weeke with Branne and water.

Clow. I had rather pray a Moneth with Mutton & Porridge.

Kin. And Don Armado shall be your keeper.

My Lord Berowne, sec him deliver'dore, And goe we Lords to put in practice that,

Which each to other hath so strongly sworne. Bero. Ile lay my head to any good mans hat;

These oathes and lawes will proue an idle scorne.

Sirra comeon.

Clow. I suffer for the truth sir: for true it is, I was taken with Iaquenetta, & Iaquenetta is a true girle, and therefore welcome the source cup of prosperitie, as fliction may one day smile againe, and vntill then fit downe forrow. Exito

Enter Armado and Moth his page. Arma, Boy, What signe is it when a Man of great spirit growesgrowes melancholy?

Boy. A great signe sir, that he will looke sad.

Brag. Why? sadnesse is one and the selfe-same thing deare impe.

Boy. No no, O Lord arno.

Brag. How canst thou part sadnesse and melancholy my tend der Junenall?

Boy. By a familiar demonstration of the working, my tough figueur.

Brag. Why tough figneur? Why tough figneur?
Boy. Why tender Innenall? Why tender Innenall?

Brag. I spoke it tender Innenall, as a congruent apathaton, appertaining to thy yong daies, which we may nominate tender.

Boy. And I tough signeur, as an appertinent title to your olde time, which we may name tough,

Brag. Pretty and apt.

Boy. How meane you sir, I pretty, and my saying apt? or I apt, and my saying prettie?

Brag. Thou prettie because little.

Boy. Little pretty, because little: wherefore apt?

Brag. And therefore, because quicke.

Boy. Speake you this in my prayse Master?

Brag. In thy condigne praise.

Boy. I will praise an Eele with the same praise.

Brag. What? that an Ecleisingenuous.

Boy. That an Eele is quicke.

Brag. I doe say thou are quicke in answers. Thou heat 'st my bloud.

Boy. I am answer'd sir.

Brag. I loue not to be crost.

Boy. He speakes the meere contrary, crosses loue not him.

Br. I have promis'd to study injectes with the Duke.

Boy. You may doe it in an houre sir.

Brag. Impossible.

Boy. How many is one thrice tolde?

Bra. I am ill at reckning, it fits the spirit of a Tapster.

Boy. You are a gentleman and a gamester sir.

Brag. I confesse both, they are both the varnish of a com-

Boyo

Boy. Then I am sure you know how much the grosse sum of deus-accamounts to.

Br. g. It doth amount to one more then two.

Boy. Which the base vulgar call three.

Er. True. Boy. Why fir is this fuch a peece of fludy? Now here's three fludied, ere you'll thrice wink, & how easie it is to put yeeres to the word three, and fludy three yeeres in two words the dancing horse will tell you.

Brag. A molt fine Figure.
Boy. Toproue you 2 Cypher.

Brag. I will hereupon confesse I am in lone: and as it is base for a bouldier to lone; so am I in lone with a base Wench. If drawing my sword against the humour of affection, would deliner me from the reprobate thought of it, I would take Desire prisoner, and ransome him to any French Courtier for a new denis'd curtie. I thinke scorne to sigh, me thinks I should out-sweare Cupid. Comfort mee Boy, What great men have beenein lone?

Boy. Hercules Master.

Brag. Most sweet Hercules: more authoritie deere Boy? name more; and sweet my childe let them be men of good repute and carriage.

Boy. Sampson Master he was a man of good carriage, great carriage for he carried the Towne-gates on his backe like a Porzer: and he was in loue.

Brag. Owell-knit Sampson, strong ioynted Sampson; I doe excell thee in my rapier, as much as thou didst mee in carrying gates. I am in loue too. Who was Sampsons loue my deare Moth.

Brag. Of what complexion?

Boy. Of all the foure, or the three, or the two, or one of the soure.

Brag. Tell mee precisely of what complexion?

Boy. Of the sea-water Greene sir.

Brag. Is that one of the foure complexions?
Boy. As I have read fir, and the best of them too.

Brag. Greene indeed is the colour of Louers: but to have 2. Loue of that colour, me thinkes Sampson had small reason for it. He surely affected her for her wit.

Boy. It was so sir, for she had a greene wit.

Brag. Meloue is most immaculate white and red.

Boy. Most immaculate thoughts Master, are mask'd under such colours.

Brag. Define, define, well educated infant.

Boy. My fathers witte, and my mothers tongue affift mee.

Brag. Sweet inuocation of a childe, most pretty and patheticall.

Boy. If she be made of white and red, Her faults will nere be knowne: For blush-in checkes by faults are bred, And seares by pale white showne: Then if she feare, or be to blame, By this you shall not know, For still her checkes possesse fame, Which native she doth owe:

A dangerous rime master against the reason of white and red. Brag. Is there not a Ballet Boy, of the King and the Bogger

Boy. The world was very guilty of fuch a Ballet fome three ages fince, but I thinke now his not to be found: or if it were, it would neither ferue for the writing, northerune.

Brag. I will have that subject newly writ ore, that I may example my digression by some mighty president. Boy, I doe lour that Countrey girle that I tooke in the Parke with the rationall hinde Costard: the descries well.

Boy. To be whip'd: and yet a better love then my Master.

Brag. Sing Boy, my spirit growes heavy in loue.

Boy. And that's great martiell, louing a light wench.

Brag. I fay fing.

Boy. Forbeare ull this company be past.

Enter Clowne, Constable, and Wench.

Const. Sir, the Dukes pleasure, is that you keepe Costard fase, and you must let him take no delight, nor no penance, but hee must fast three dayes a weeke: for this Damsell, I must keepe her at the Parke, she is alowed for the Day-woman. Fare you well.

Exita

Brag. I doe betray my selfe with blushing: Maide.

Maid

Waid. Man.

Brag. I will visit thee at the Lodge.

Maid. That's hereby.

Brag. Iknow where it is situate. Mai. Lord how wile you are.

Brag. I will tell thee wonders.

Ma. With what face?

Brag. I loue thee.

Mai. So I heard you say.

Brag. And so farewell.

Mai. Faire weather after you.

Clo. Come Iaguenetta, away. Exeunt.

Brag. Villaine, thou shalt fast for thy offences ere thou be pardoned.

Clo. Well fir, I hope when I doe it, I shall doe it on a full stomacke.

Brag. Thoushalt be heavily punished.

Clo. I am more bound to you then your fellowes, for they are but lightly rewarded.

Brag. Take away this villaine, shut him vp. Roy. Come you transgressing slaue away.

Clow. Let me not be pent vp sir, I will fast being loose?

Boy. No sir, that were fast and loose: thou shalt to prison.

Clow. Well, if euer I doe see the merrie dayes of desolation that I have seene, some shall see.

Boy. What shall some see?

On. It is for prisoners to be filent in their words, and therefore I will say nothing: I thanke God, I have as little patience as another man, and therefore I can be quiet.

Exit.

Brag. I doe affest the very ground (which is base) where her shooe (which is baser) guided by her soote (which is basest) doth tread. I shall be forsworne (which is a great argument of falshood) it I loue. And how can that be true loue, which is falsely attempted? Loue is a familiar, Loue is a Diuell. There is no enill Angell but Lotte, yet Sampson was so tempted, and he had an excellent strength: Yet was Salomon so seduced, and he hast a very good witte. Cupids Butshaft is too hard for Hercules Clubbe, and therefore too much ods for a Spaniards Rapier: The first and second cause will not serue my turne: the Passado here respects not, the Duello he regards not; his disgrace is to be called Boy, but his glorie is to subdue men. Adue Valour, rust Rapier, be still Drum, for your manager is in loue; yea he loueth. Assist me some extemporall god of Rime, for I am sure I shall turne Sonnet. Deuise Wit, write pen, for I am for whole volumes in solio.

Exit.

Finis Allus Primus.

Actus Secundus.

Enter the Princesse of France, with three attending Ladies, and three Lords.

Boyet. Now Madam summon vp your dearest spirits,
Consider who the King your father sends:
To whom he sends, and what's his Embassie.
Your selfe held precious in the worlds esteems,
To parlee with the sole inheritour
Of all persections that a man may owe,
Matchlesse Nanarre, the plea of no lesse weight.
Then Aquitaine, a Downie for a Queene.
Be now as prodigall of all deare grace,
As Nature was in making Graces deare,
When she did statue the generall world beside,
And prodigally gaue them all to you.

Queene. Good L. Boyet, my thought but meane.

Needs not the painted flourish of your praise:

Beauty is bought by judgement of the eye,

Not vitered by base sayle of chapmens tongues:

Lam lesse proud to heare you tell my worth,

Then you much willing to be counted wise,

In spending your wit in the praise of mine.

But now to taske the tasker, good Boyet,

Prin. You are not ignorant all telling fame.

Doth noyse a broad Nauar hath made a yow,

Till paintfullstudie shall out-weare three yeeres,

30

No woman may approach his filent Court:
Therefore to's seemeth it a needfull course,
Before we enter his forbidden gates,
To know his pleasure, and in that behalfe
Bold of your worthinesse, we single you,
As our best mouing faire soliciter;
Tell him, the daughter of the King of France,
On serious businesse craving quicke dispatch,
Importunes personall conference with his grace.
Haste, signifie so much while we attend,
Like humble visaged success his high will.

Boy, Proud of imployment, willingly I goe, Extr.

Prin. All pride is willing pride, and yours is so:

Who are the Votaries my louing Lords, that are vowfellowes, with this vertuous Duke?

Lor, Longanill is one,

Princ. Know you theman?

The onely soile of his faire vertues glosse,

It vertues glosse will staine with any soyle,

It sa skarpe wit match'd with too blunt a Will:

Whose edge hath power to cut whose will shill wills,

It should none spare that come within his power.

Prin. Some merry mocking Lord belike, ift o?

Lad. 1. They say so most, that most his humors know.

Prin, Such short liu'd wits doe wither as they grow.

Who are the rest?

2. Lad. The yong Damaine, a well accomplishe youth, Of all that Vertue loue, for Vertue loued, Most power to doe most harme, least knowing ill: For he hath wit to make an ill shape good, And shape to win grace though she had no wit.

I saw him at the Duke Alansoes once,

And much too litle of that good I saw, Is my report to his great worthinesse.

Ross. Another of the Students at that time,
Was there with him as I have heard a truth.
Berowne they call him, but a merrier man,
Within the Limit of becomming mirth,
I never spent an houres talke withall.
His eye begets occasion for his wit,
For every object that the one doth catch,
The other turnes to a mirth-moving jest.
Which his faire tongue (conceits expositor)
Delivers in such apt and gracious words,
That aged eares play trevant at his tales,
And yonger hearings are quite ravished.
So sweet and voluble is his discourse.

Prin. Godblesse my Ladies, are they all in loue? That every one her owne hath garnished, With such bedecking ornaments of praise.

Ma. Heere comes Boyet.

Enter Boyet.

Prin. Now, what admittance Lord?

Boyet. Nauar had notice of your faire approach;
And he and his competitors in eath,
We re all addrest to meeteyou gentle Lady
Before I came: marry thus much I have learnt,
He rather meanes to lodge youin the field,
Like one that comes heere to besiege his Court,
Then seeke a dispensation for his eath:
To let you enter his unpeopled house.

Enter Nauar, Longauill, Dumaine, and Beromne.

Hecre comes N quar.

Nau. Faire Princetse, welcom to the Court of Nauar.

Prin. Faire I give you backe againe, and welcome I have not yet: the roofe of this Court is too high to be yours, and welcome to the wide fields, too base to be mine.

Nau. You shall be welcome Madam to my Court, Prin. I will be welcome then. Conduct me thither.

N ass.

Nau. Heare me deare Lady, I have sworne an oach, Prin. Our Lady belpe my Lord, hee'll beforsworne.

Nan, Not for the world faire Madam, by my will.

Prin, Why will shall breake it will, and nothing els.

Nan, Your Ladiship is ignorant what it is.

Prin. Were my Lord so, his ignorance were wile,

Where now his knowledge must proue gnorance. I heare your grace hath sworne out House-keeping:

Tis deadly sinneto keepe that oath my Lord,

And sinne to breake it:

But pardon me I am too fodaine bold, To teach a Teacher ill beseemeth me,

Vouchsafe to read the purpose of my comming,

And sodainly resolue me in my suite,

Nan, Madam, I will, if fodainly I may. Prin. You will the sooner that I were away, For you'le proue periur'd if vou make me stay.

Berow. Did not I dance with you in Brabant once? Rosa. Did not I dence with you in Brabans once?

Ber. I know you did.

Rosa. How needlelle was it then to a ke the question?

Ber. You must not be so quicke.

Rofa. 'Tislong of you that source mee with such questions?

Ber Your wit's too hot it foeeds too fast, 'twill tite.

Resa. Not till it leave the Rider in the mire,

Ber. What time a day?

Rola. The house that fooles should aske.

Ber. Now faire befall your marke,

Rola. Faire falls the face it couers,

Ber. And send you many Louers.

Resa. Amen, so you be none.

Ber. Nay then will I begone. Kir. Madame your father here doth intimate,

The payment of a hundred thousand Crownes, Being but th'one halfe of an intire summe, Dabursed by my father in his warres.

But say that he, or we, as neither haue

Receiu'd that summe ; yet there remaines vnpaid

A hundred thousand more: in surety of the which,

One part of Aquit ane is bound to vs, Although not valued to the moneys worth. If then the King your father will restore But that one halfe which is but satisfied, We will give vp our right in Aquitaine, And holdfaire friendship with his Maiestie: But that it seemes he little purposeth, For here he doth demand to have repaie, An hundred thousand Crownes, and not demands One payment of an hundred thousand Crownes, To have his title live in Aquitaine. Which we much rather had depart withall, And have the money by our fathers lent, Then Agustaine, so guelded as it is. Deare Princelle, were not his requests so farre From reasons yeelding, your faire selfe should make A yeelding 'gainst some reason in my brest, And goe well satisfied to France againe.

Prin. You doe the King my Father too much wrong, And wrong the reputation of your name, In formier to confesse receir

In so vnseeming to consessereceit

Of that which hath fo faithfully beene paid.

Kin. I doeprotest I neuer heard of it, Andifyou proue it, Ile repay it backe, Or yeeld vp Agnitaine.

Prin. Wearrest your word:

Boyet, You can produce acquittances For such a summe from specials Officers, Of Charles his Father.

Kin. Satisfie me soe.

Boyet. So please your grace the packet is not come Where that and other specialties are bound. To morrow you shall have a sight of them.

Kin. It shall suffice me; at which enterview,
All liberall reason would I yeeld vnto:
Meanetime, receive such welcome at my hand,
As Honour, without breach of Honour may Make tender of, to thy true worthinesse.
You may not come saire Princesse in my gares,

C₂

But here without you shall be so receiu'd;
As you shall deeme your selfelodg'd in my heart,
Though so deni'd farther harbour in my house:
Your owne good thoughts excuse me, and sarewell,
To morrow we shall visit you againe.

Prin. Sweet health and faire desires consort your grace.

Kin. Thy owne wish wish I thee, in euery place. Exit.

Boy. Lady, I will commend you to mine owne heart.

La. Ro. Pray you doe my commendations,

I would be glad to see it.

Boy. I would you heard it grone.

La.Ro. Is the soule ficke?.

Boy. Sickeat the heart.

La. Ro. Alacke, let it bloud.

Roy. Would that doe it good?

La.Ro. My Phylicke layes I.

Boy. Will you prick't with your eye.

La. Ro. No poynt, with my knife:

Boy. Now God sauethy life.

La. Ro. And yours from long living.

Ber. I cannot stay thanks-giving.

E'xit's

Enter Dumaine.

Dum. Sir, I pray you a word: What Lady is that same?

Boy. The heire of Alanson, Rosalin her name.

Dum. A gallant Lady, Mounsier fare you well.

Long. I beseech you a word: what is she in the white?

Boy. A woman sometime if you saw her in the light.

Long. Perchance light in the light I desire her name.

Boy. She hath but one for her selfe,

To desire that were a shame.

Long. Pray you sir whose daughter?

Boy. Her Mothers, I have heard.

Long. Gods bleffing on your beard ...

Roy. Good sir be not offended, .

Shee is an heyrc of Faulconbridge.

Long. Nay, my choller is ended:

Shee is a most sweet Lady.

Boy. Not vnlike fir, that may be.

Exit.Long.

Enter Berowne.

Ber. What's her name in the cap.

Boy. Katherine by good hap.

Ber. Is the wedded, or no.

Boy. To her will fir, or fo.

Ber. You are welcome fir, adiew.

Boy. Farewell to me sir, and welcome to you. Exist

La. Ma. That last is Berowne, the mery mad.cap Lord.

Not a word with him, but a ielt.

Boy. And cuery iest but a word.

Pri. It was well done of you to take him at his word.

Boy. I was as willing to grapple, as he was to boord.

La. Mn. Two hot sheepes marie,

And wherefore not Ships:

Boy. No Sheepe (sweet Lamb) vnlesse we feede on your lips.

La. You sheep & I pasture: shall that finish the iest?

Boy. So you grant pasture for me?

La. Not so gentle beast.

My lips are no Common, though feu erall they be,

Boy. Belonging to whom?

La. To my fortunes and me

Prin. Good wits will be iangling but Gentles agree.

This civill warre of wits were much better vsed.

On Nanarandhis Bookemen, for heere 'tis abus'd.

Bo. If my observation (which very seldome lies By the hearts still Rhetoricke, disclosed with eyes) Deceiue me not now, N auar is infected.

Prin. With what?

Bo. With that which we Louers in title affected.

Prin. Your reason.

Bo. Why all his behaulours doe make theretire, To the Court of his eye, peeping through desire. His heart like an Agot with your print impressed, Proud with his forme, in his eye pride expressed: His tongue all impatient to speake and not see. Did stumble with hastein his eye fight-to be, All sences to that sence did make their repaire, To feele onely looking on fairest of faire :

Methought all his senses were lockt in his eye,
As lewels in Christall for some Prince to buy. (glass,
Who tendring their own worth from whence they were Didpoint out to buy them along as you past.
Histaces owne margent did quote such amazes,
That all eyes saw his eyes inchanted with gazes.
Ile giue you Aquitaine, all that is his,
And you giue him formy sake, but one louing Kisse,

Prin. Come to our pauillion, Boyer is disposde.

Bro. But to speake that in words, which his eye hath disclosed.

I onely have made a mouth of his eye,

By adding a tongue which I know will not lie!

Lad. Ro. Thou are an old Loue-monger, and speakest skilful-

Lad. Ma. He is Cupids Grandfather, and learnes newes of him.

Lad. 2. Then was Venus like her mother, for her father is but grim.

Boy. Do you heare my mad Wenches?

Lad.I. No.

Boy. What then, do you see? Lad.2. I, our way to be gone. Boy. You are too hardfor me.

Exeunt omnes.

Actus Tertius.

Enter Braggart and By. Song.

Bra. Warble child, make passionate my sense of hearing.

Brag. Sweet ayre, go tendernelle of yeeres: take this Key, give enlargement to the swaine, bring him settinately hither: I must imploy him in a letter to my Loue.

Boy. Willyou win your loue with a French braule?

Bra. How meanest thou brauling in French?

Boy. No my compleat master, but to ligge off a tune at the tongues tongues end, canarie to it with the feete, humour it with turning vp your eye: fighta note and fing a note sometime through the throate: if you wallowed love with linging, love fometime through: noscarif you fnult vp loue by smelling loue with your hat penthouse-like ore the shop of your eyes, with your armes crost on your thinbellie doublet, like a Rabbet on a spir, or your hands in your pocket, like a man after the old painting, and keepenot too long in one tune, but a snip and away : these are complements, these are humours, these betray nice wenches that would be berrayed without these, and make them men of note: do you note men that most are affected to these ?

Brag. How halt thou purchas'd this experience?

Boy. By my pen of observation.

Brag. But O; but O.

Boy. The Hobbie horse isforgot.

Bra. Cal'Athou my loue Hobbie horse.

Boy. No Master the Hobbie-horse is buta Colt, and your Loue perhaps a Hacknie:

But have you forgot your Loue?

Brag. Almost I had.

Boy. Negligentstudent, learne her by heart,

Brag. By heart, and in heart Boy.

Boy. And out of heart Master: all those three I will proue.

Brag. What wilt thou proue?

Boy. A man, if I live (and this) by, in, and without, vpon the instant: by heart you loue her, because your heart cannot come by her: in heart you loue her, because your heart is in loue with her: and out of heart you loue her, being out of heart that you cannot eniov her.

Brag. I am all these three.

Boy. And three times as much more, and yet nothing at all.

Boy. Fetch hither the Swaine he must carrie mee a Letter. Boy. A mellage well sympathis'd, a Horseto be embassadour for an Affe.

Brag. Ha, ha, What saist thou?

Boy. Marrie fir, you must send the Alle vpon the Horse for he is verie flow gated : but I goe, Brag. The way is butshort, away.

Boy. Asswift as lead fir.

Brag. Thy meaning prettie ingenuous, is not Lead, a mettall beautedul, and flow?

Boy. Minime honest Master, or rather Master no.

Brag. I say Lead is slow.

Boy. You are too swift fir to say so.

Is that Lead flow which is fir'd from a Gunne?

Brag. Sweete smoake of Rhetoricke, He reputes me a Cannon, and the Bullet that's hee: Ishoote thee at the Swaine.

Boy. Thumpe then and I flee.

Bra. A most acute Iuuenall, voluble and free of grace, By thy fauour sweet Welkin, I must sigh in thy face: Most rude melanchollie, Valour gives thee place. My Herald is return'd.

Enter Page and Clowne.

Pag. A wonder Master, heere's a Costard broken in a shin. Ar. Some enigma, some Riddle, come, thy Lenuoy begin.

Clo. No egma, no riddle, no Lennoy, no salue, in thee male sir. Or sir, Plantan, a plaine Plantan: no lennoy, no lennoy, no

Salue fir, but a Plantan:

Ar. By vertue thou enforcest laughter, thy sillic thought, my spleene, the frequing of my lungs prouokes meto ridiculous smiling: O pardon memy stars, doth the vnconsiderate take salue for lenuo, and the word lenuo; for a salue?

Page. Doe the wife thinke them other, , is not lennoy a salne? Ar. No Page, it is an epilogue or discourse to make plaine,

Some obseure precedence that hath tofore bin faine.

Now will I begin your morall and doe you follow with my lennor.

The Foxe, the Ape, and the Humble-Bee. Were still at oddes being but three.

Arm. Vntill the Goose came out of doore,

Staying the oddes by adding foure.

Pag. A good Lenuoy, ending in the Goose: would you de-

Clo. The Boy hath fold him a bargaine, a Goofe, that's flat of Sir, your pennie-worth is good, and your Goofe befat.

To tell a Bargaine well is as cunning as fast and loofe;

Lee

Let me see a fat Lennoy, I that's a fat Goose.

Ar. Come hither, come hither:

How did this argument begin?

Boy. By saying that a Costord was broken in a shin.

Then cal'd you for the Lennoy.

Clow. True, and I for a Plantan:

Thus came your argument in:

Then the Boyes fat Lennoy, the Goose that you bought,

And he ended the market.

Ar. Buttell me: How was there a Costard broken in a shint

Pag. I will tell you fencibly.

Clow. Thou hast no feeling of it Moth.

I will speake that Lennoy.

I Coffard running out, that was safely within, Fell ouer the threshold, and broke my hin.

Arm. We will talke no more of this matter. Clow. Till there be more matter in the shin.

Arm. Sirra Costard I will infranchise thee.

Clow. O, marrie me to one Francis, I smell some Lenucy, some Goose in this.

Arm. By my sweet soule, I meane, setting thee at libertie. Enfreedoming thy person: thou were emured, restrained, captivated, bound.

Clow. True, true, and now you will be my purgation, and let me loofe.

Arm. I give thee thy libertie, set thee from durance, and in lieu thereof, impose on thee nothing but this: Beare this signisticant to the Countrey Maide Inquenetta: there is remuneration, for the best ward of my honours is rewarding my dependants. Woth, follow.

Pag. Like the sequell I. Signeur Costard adiew.

Exit.

Clow. My sweet ounce of mans flesh, my in-conie Iew: Now will I looke to hisremuneration. Remuneration, O, that's the Latine word for three farthings: three farthings remuneration, what's the price of this yncle? i.d.no, Ile give you a remuneration: Why? It carries it remuneration: Why? It is a fairer name then a French-Crowne. I will never buy and sell out of this word.

Enter Berowne.

Ber. O my good knaue Costard, exceedingly well met. Clow. Fray you fir, How much carnation Ribbon may a man buy for a remuneration?

Ber. What is a remureration?

Coft. Mar ielir, halfe penniefarthing.

Ber. O, why then three farthings worth of Silke.

Cast. I thanke your worship, God be wy you.

Ber. Oftay flaue, I must imploy thee; As thou wilt my fauour, good my knaue, Doe one thing for me that I shall intreate.

Clow. When would you have it done sir?

Ber Othisafter-noone.

Clo. Well, I will doe it fir: Fare you well.

Ber. O thou knowest not what it is.

Clow. I shall know sir, when I have done it. Ber. Why villaine thou must know first.

Clo. I will come to your worship to morrow mornings.

Ber's. It must be done this after-noone:

Harke saue, it is but this:

The Princes comes to hunt hecre in the Parke,

And in her traine there is a gentle Ladie:

When tongues speak sweetly then they name her name;

And Rosaline they call her, aske for her:

And to her whyte hand see thou doe commend This seal'd-vp counsaile, There's thy guerdon: goe.

Clow. Gardon, Oswect gardon, better then remuneration, a leuenpence-farthing better: most sweet gardon, I will docise fir in print: gardon, remuneration.

Exit.

Ber. O, and I for sooth in loue, I that have beene loues whip?

A verie Beadle to a humorous figh: A Criticke,

Nay, a night-watch Constable.

A domineering pedant ore the Boy,
Then whom no mortall so magnificent.

This wimpled, whyning, purblinde waward Boy,

This fignior Innios gyant dwarfe Don Cupid, Regent of Loue-rimes, Lord of folded armes,

Th'annointed soueraigne of sighes and groanes;

Liedge of all loyterers and malecontents: Dread Prince of Placcats, King of Codpeeces, Sole Emperator and great generall Of trotting Parritors (O my little heart) And I to be a Corporall of his field, And weare his Colours like a Tumblers hoope, Whar? I loue, I sue, I seeke a wife, A woman that is like a Germaine Cloake. Still a repairing: euer out of frame, And neuer going a right, being a Watch: But being watcht, that it may still goe right? Nay, to be periurde, which is worlt of all: And among three, to loue the worst of all, A whitly wanton, with a veluet brow. With two pitch bals stucke in her face for eyes? I, and by heaven one that will doe the deede, Though Argus were her Eunuch and her guarde And I to figh for her, to watch for her, To pray for her, go to : it is a plague That Cupid will impose for my neglect, Of his almighty dreadfull little might. Well, I will loue, write, figh, pray, fue grone, Some men must love my Lady, and some Ione.

Actus Quartus.

Enter the Princesse, a Forrester, her Ladies, and her Lords.

Qu. Was that the King that spurd his horse so hard, 'Against the steepe vprising of the hill?

Boy. I know not, but I thinke it was not he.

Qu. Who ere a was, a shew'd a mounting minde; Well Lord, to day we shall have our dispatch, On Saturday we will returne to France.

Then Forrester my friend, Where is the Bush,

That we must stand and play the murtherer in?

Fer. Hereby vpon the edge of yonder Coppice,
A Stand where you may make the fairest shoote.

Qu. I thanke my beautie, I am faire that shoote, And thereupon thou speak At the fairest shoote.

Fer. Pardon me Madam, for I meant not so.

Qu. What, what? First prasse me, and then again say no.
O short liu'd pride. Not saire? alackefor woe.

For. Yes Madam faire,

Qu. Nay, neuer paint menow,
Where faire is not, praise cannot mend the brow.
Here (good my glasse) take this for telling true:
Faire paiment for foule words, is more then due.

For. Nothing but faire is that which you inherit.

Oheresie in faire, sit for these dayes,
A giuing hand, though foule, shall have faire praise.
But come, the Bow: Now Mercy goes to kill,
And shooting well, is then accounted ill:
Thus will I saue my credit in the shoote,
Not wounding, pittle would not let me do't:
If wounding, then it was to shew my skill,
That more for praise, then purpose meant to kill.
And out of question, so it is sometimes:
Glorie growes guiltie of detested crimes,
When for Fames sake, for prayse an outward part,
We bend to that the working of the heart.
As I for praise alone now seeke to spill

The poore Decres blood, that my heart meanes no ill.

Boy. Do not curst wives hold that selfe-sourcigntie.

One'y for graife take, when shey thrius to be Lords ore their Lords?

Qu. Onely for praise, and praise we may afford, To any Lady that subdues a Lord.

Ester Clommes

Boy. Here comes a member of the common-wealth.

Clo. God dig-you-denall, pray you which is the head Lady?

Qu. Thou shalt know her fellow, by the rest that have no hears.

Clo. Which is the greatest Lady, the highest?

Loues Labour s lojt.

One a these Maides girdles for your waste should be fit.

Are not you the chiefe woman? You are the thickest here?

Qu. What's your will sir? What's your will? Clo. I have a Letter from Mounsier Berowne,

To one Lady Rosaline.

Qu. O thy letter, thy letter: He's a good friend of mine.

Standa side good bearer.

Boyet, you can carue, Breake vp this Capon.

Boyet. Iam bound to serue.

This Letter is mistooke: it importeth none heres.

It is writ to Iaquenetta:

Qu. We will reade it, I sweare.

Breake the necke of the Waxe, and every one give care.

Boyet reades.

Part beauteous, truth it selfe that thou art louely : more fairer then faire, beautifull then beauteous, truer then truth it selfe: have comiseration on thy heroicall Vasfall. The magnanimous & mostillustrious King Cophetras set eie vpon the pernicious & indubitate Beggar Zenelophon: and he it was, that might rightly lay, Veni, vidi, vici: Which to annothanize in the vulgar, O base and obscure vulgar; videlicet, He came, See, and ouercames he came one; fee two; ouercame three: Who camethe King. Why did he come? to see. Why did he see? to ouercome. To whom came he? to the Beggar. What saw he! the Beggar. Who ouercame he? the Beggar. The conclusion is victorie: on whose siderthe Kings: the captivitie is inricht: On whose side ithe Beggars. The catastrophe is a Nuptiall: on whose side? the King : no, on both in one, or one in both. I am the King (for so stands the comparison) thou the Beggar, for so witnesseth thy lowlines. -Shall I command thy loue ? I may. Shall I enforce thy loue? I could Shal I entreatethy loue? I will: What, shalt thou exchange for ragges, roabes: for tittles titles: for thy felfe mee. Thus exa peding thy reply, I prophane my lips on thy loote, my eyes on thy picture, and my heart on thy enery part.

Qu. Thousellow, a word. Who gauethee this Letter?

Clow. I toldyou my Lord.
Qu. To whom should st thou give it;

Clow. From my Lord to my Lady.

Qu. From which Lord, to which Lady.

Clo. From my Lord Berowne a good maller of mine,

To a Lady of France, that he call'd Rosaline.

Qu. Thou hast mistaken his Lette: Come Lords away. Heere sweet, put vp this, 'twill be thine another day. Exeunt.

Boy. Who is the shooter? Who is the shooter?

Rosa. Shall I teach you to know. Boy. I my continent of Beautie.

Rosa. Why she that beares the Bow. Finely put off.

Boy. My Lady goes to kill hornes, but if thou marrie, Hang me by the necke, if hornes that yeare miscarrie.

Finely put on.

Rosa. Well then, I am the shooter. Boy. And who is your Deare?

Rosa. If we choose by the hornes, your selfe come not neare. Finely put on indeede.

Maria. You fill wrangle with her Boyet, and the frikes at the row.

Boyet. But she her selfe is hit lower.

Haue I hit her now.

Rosa. Shall I come vpon thee with an oldsaying, that was a man when King Puppin of France was a little boy, as touching the hit it.

Boyet. So I may answere thee with one as old that was a woman when Queene Guinouer of Brittaine was a little wench, as touching the hit it.

Rosa. Thou canst not hit it, hit it, hit it, Thou canst not hit it my good man.

Boy. I cannot, cannot, cannot:

And I cannot, another can. Exit.

Clo. By my croth most pleasant, how both did fir it,

Mar. A marke maruellous well thor, for they both did hit.

Boy. A Mark, O marke but that marke: a marke fayes my Lady. Let the marke have a pricke in't, to meat at, if it may be.

Mar. Wide a'th bow hand, yfaith your hand is out.

Clo. Indeede a'must shoote nearer, or heele ne're hit the clout.

Boy. And if my hand be out, then belike your hand is in.

Clow. Then will she get the vpshoot by cleauing the is in.

Clow. She's too hard for you at pricks, fir challenge her to boule.

Boy. Iscare too much rubbing: good night my good Ouled

Clo. By my foule a Swaine, a most simple Clowne.

Enter Dull, Holofernes, the Pedant and Nathaniel.

Nat. Very reverent sport truely, and done in the testimony of a good conscience.

Fed.

Ped. The Deare was (as you know) sanguis in bleod tipe as a Pomewater, who now hangeth like a sewell in the eare of Ceto the skie; the welken, the heaven, and anon salleth like a Crab on the sace of Terra, the soyle, the land, the earth.

Curat. Nath. Truely M. Holofernes, the epithithes are sweetly varied like a scholler at the least; but Sir I assure ye it was a Bucke of the first head,

Hol. Sir, Nathaniel, haud cre do.

Dul. 'Twas not aband credo, 'twas a Pricket.

Hol. Most barbarous intimation: yet a kinde of infinuation, as it were in via, in way of explication facere: as it were replication, or rather ostentare, to show as it were his inclination after his vndressed, vnpolished, vneducated, vnpruned, vntrained, or rather vnlettered, or ratherest vnconfirmed fashion, to insert againse my hand credo for a Deare.

Dul. I said the Deare was not a hand credo, 'twas a Pricket. Ho!. Twice sod simplicitie, bis costus, O thou monster Ignorance, how deformed doit thou looke.

Nath. Sir, he hath neuer fed of the dainties that are bred in a booke.

He hath not eate paper as it were:

He hath not drunke inke.

His intellect is not replenished, he is onely an animall, onely fensible in the duller parts: and such barren plants are set before ve, that we thankfull should be: which we taste and feeling, are for those parts that fructifie in vamore then he.

For 2s it would ill become me to be vaine, indifcreet, or a foole; So were there a patch fet on Learning, to fee him in a Schoole.

But omne bene say I, being of an old Fathers minde; Many can brooke the weather, that love not the winde.

Dul. You two are booke-men: can you tell by your wit, What was a month old at Cains birth, that's not five weekes old as yet?

Hol. Distissima good man Dull, Distissima goodman Dull.
Dul. What is Distima?

Nath. A title to Phabe, to Luna, to the Moone.

Hol. The Moone was a month old when Adam was no more, And wrought not to five-weekes when he came to five score. Th'allusion holds in the Exchange.

Dul. 'Tis true indeed, the Collusion holds in the Exchange. Hol. God comfort thy capacity, I say th'allusion holds in the Exchange.

Dul. And I say the pollusion holds in the Exchange: for the Moone is never but a month old: and I say beside that,

'twas a Pricket that the Princelle kill'd,

Hol. Sir Nathaniel, will you heare an extemporall Epitaph on the death of the Deare, and to humour the ignorant call'd the Deare, the Princelle kill'd the Pricket.

Nath. Perge, good M. Holofernes, perge, soit shall please you to abrogate scurilinie.

Hol. I will something affect the Letter, for it argues facilitie.

The prayfull Princesse pearst and prickt
a prettie pleasing Pricket,
Some (ay a Sore, but not a sore, till now made fore with shooting.
The Dogges did yell, put ell to Sore,
then Sorell sumps from thicket:
Or Pricket-sore, or else Sorell,
The people fall a hooting,
If Sore be fore, then ell to Sore, makes sistie sores O sorell:
Of one sore I anhundred make by adding but one more L.

Nath. A rare talent.

Dul. If a talent be a claw, looke how he clawes him with a talent.

Nath. This is a gift that I have simple: simple, a foolish extrauagant spirit, sull of formes, sigures, shapes, obiects, Ideas, apprehensions, motions, revolutions,. These are begot in the ventricle of memorie, nourisht in the wombe of Primater, and delivered upon the mellowing of occasion: but the gift is good in those in whom it is acute, and I am thankfull for it.

Hel. Sir, I praylethe Lord for you, and soe may my parishioners, for their sonnes are well tutor'd by you, and their Daughters profit very greatly under you: you are a good member of the common-wealth.

Nath. Me hercle, If their sonnes be ingenuous, they shall want no instruction: If their Daughters be capable, I will put it to them. But Fir sapit qui pauca loquitur, a soule Feminine saluteth vs.

Let me superuise the cangener.

Nath. Here are onely numbers ratified, but for the elegancy, facilitie, and golden cadence of poesse caret: Ouidius IV aso was the man. And why indeede Naso, but for smelling out the odoriferous flowers of fancy? the ierkes of invention imitarieis nothing: so doth the Hound his Master, the Ape his keeper, the tyred Horse his rider: But Damosella Virgin, Wasthis directed to you?

Iaqu. I sir, from one Mounsier Berowne, one of the strange

Queenes Lords.

Nath. I will ouerglance the superscript.

To the snow-white hand of the most beauteous Lady Rosaline. I will looke againe on the intellect of the Letter, for the nomination of the partie written to the person written vnto.

Your Ladiships it all desired imployment, Berowne.

Per. Sir Holofernes, this Berowne is one of the Votaries with the King, and here he hath framed a Letter to a sequent of the stranger Queenes: which accidentally, or by the way of progression, hath miscarried. Trip and goe my sweete, deliuer this Paper into the hand of the King, it may concerne much: stay not thy complement, I forgive thy duetie, aduc.

Maid. Good Costard go with me:

Sir God saue your life.

Cost. Hauewith thee my girle. Exit.

Hol. Sir you have done this in the feare of God very religiously: and as a certaine Father faith.

Ped. Sweell me not of the Father, I doe seare colourable colors. But to return to the verses, did they please you sir Nathaniel?

Wat. Marueilous well for the pen.

Peda. I do dine to day at the fathers of a certaine Pupill of mine, where if (being repail) it shall please you to gratiste the table with a Grace, I will on my priviledge I have with the parents of the foresaid Childe or Pupill, undertake your bien vonuto, where I will prove those Verses to be very unlearned, neither savouring of Poetrie, Wit, nor Invention. I besech your Societie.

2Vat. And thanke you to: for societie (saith the text) is the happinesse of life.

Peda. And certes the text most infallibly concludes it. Sir I decinuite you too, you shall not say menay: paucaverba.

Away, the gentles are at their game, and we will to our recreation.

Execut.

Enter Berowne with a Paper inhis hand, alone.

Bero. The King he is hunting the Deare,

Lam courling my felfe. They have pitche a Toyle, I am toyling in a pytch, pitch that defiles, defilea foule word: Well, seithee downe sorrow; for so they say the soole said, and so say I, and I the soole : well proued wit. By the Lordthis Loue is as mad as Aian, it kils sheepe, it kills mee, lasheep: well proued againe a myside, I will not loue; if I doe hang mee: yfaith I will not. O but her eye; by this light, but for her eye, I would not loue her; yes, for her two eyes. Well, I doe nothing in the world but lye, and lye in my throate. By heaven I doe love, and it hath taught me to Rime, and to be mallichollie: and here is part of my Rime, and heere my mallicholie. Well, the hath one a my Sonners already, the Clowne boreit, the foole tentit, and the Lady hath it: sweet Clowne, sweeter Foole, sweetest Lady, By the world, I would not care a pin, if the other three were in. Here comes one with a paper, God give him grace to grone,

He Stands aside.

The King entreth.

Kin. Aymee!

Ber. Shot by heaven:proceede sweet Cupid, thou haft thumps him with thy Birdbolt vader the left pap: in faith secrets.

King. So sweet a kille the golden Sunne gines not. To those fresh morning drops upon the Rose, Asthy eye beames, when their tresh rayse have smot. The night of dew that on my cheekes downe slowes, Norshines the silver Moone one halfe so bright, Through the transparant bosome of the deepe, As doth thy face through teares of mine give light: Thou shin'st in every teare that I doe weepe, No drop, but as a Coach doth carry thee: So rides thou triumphing in my woe.

Do but behold the teares that swell in me, And they thy glory through my griese will show:

But doe not loue thy felfe, then thou wilt keepe My teares for glasses, and still make me weepe... O Queene of Queenes, how faire dost thou excell, No thought can thinke, nor tongue of mortall tell. How shall she know my griefes? He drop the paper. Sweet leaves shade folly. Who is he comes heer?

Enter Longanile.

The King steps aside.

What Longauill, and reading: listen eare.

Ber. Now in thy likenelle, one more foole appeare.

Long. Ay me, I am forsworne.

Ber. Why, he comes in like a periure, wearing papers.

Long. In loue I hope, sweet fellowship in shame.

Ber. One drunkard loues another of the name.

Lon. Am I the first, that have beene periur'd lo?

Ber. I could put thee in comfort not by two that I know, Thou makest the triumphery, the corner cap of societie, The shape of Loues Tiburne, that hangs up simplicitie.

Lon. I feare these Rubborn lines lack power to moue.

Osweet Maria, Empresse of my Loue,

These numbers will I teare, and write in prose.

Ber. O Rimes are gards on wanton Cupids hofe.

Disfigure not his Shop.

Lon. This same shall goes

Hereades the Sonnet:

Did not the heauenly Rhetorick of thine eye,
Gainst whom the world cannot hold argument,
Perswade my heart to this false periurie?
Ownes for thee broke deserves not punishment.
A woman I for swore; but I will prove,
Thou being a Goddesse, I for swore not thee.
My vow was earthly, thou a heavenly Love.
Thy grace being gain'd, cures all disorace in me.
Vowes are but breath, and breath a vapour is.
Then thousaire Sun, which on my earth doest shine;
Exhalest this vapor-vow, in thee it is:
If broken, then it is no fault of mine:
If by me broke, what soole is not so wise,
To lose anoath, to win a Paradise?

Bera

Ber. This is the liver veine, which makes flesh a deitic. A Greene Goose, a Coddesse, pure pure Idulatrie. God amend vs, God amend, we are much out o'th'way.

Enter Dumaine.

Lon. By whom shall I send this (company?) Stay.
Bero. All hid, all hid, an old infant play,
Like a demic God, here sit I in the skie,
And wretched sooles secrets heedfully ore-eye.
More Sackes to the myll. O heavens I have my wish,
Dumaine transform'd, soure Woodcocks in a dish.

Dum, Omost divine Kate.

Bero. Omost prophane coxcombe.

Dum. By heauen the wonder of a mortall eye.
Bero. By earth the is not, corporall, there you lye.
Dum. Her Amber haires for foule hath amber coted,

Ber. An Amber coloured Rauen was well noted.

Dum. As vpright as the Cedar.

Ber. Stoope I say her shoulder is with-child.

Dum. As faircas day.

Ber. I as some dayes, but then no Sunne must shine.

Dum. O that I had my wish?

Lon. And I had mine.

Kin. And mine too good Lord.

Ber. Amen, so I had mine: Is not that a good word?

Dum. I would forget her, but a Feuer she Raignes in my bloud, and will remembred be.

Ber. A Feuer in your bloud, why then incision Would let her out in Sawcers, sweet misprisson.

Dum. Once more lle read the Ode that I have writ. Ber. Once more lle marke how Loue can vary Wit.

Dumainereadeshis Sonnet.

On a day alack the day:

Loue, whose Month is every May,

Spical a blossome passing faire,

Playing in the wanton ayre:

Through the Veluct, leaves the winde,

All vaseene, can passage sinde.

That the Loner sicke to death, wish himselfe the heavens breath.

Ayre (quoth he) thy cheekes may blowe, Ayre, would I might triumph so.

But alacke my hand is sworne,

Nere to plucke thee from thy throne:

Vow alacke for youth vnmeete,

Youth so apt to plucke a sweete.

Doe not call it sinne in me,

That I am for sworne for thee.

Thou for whom Ioue would sweare,

Iuno but an Æthiope were,

And denie himselfe for Ioue.

Turning mortall for thy Lone.

This will I fend, and something else more plaine, That shall expresse my true-loues fasting paine. O would the King, Berowne and Longavill, Were Louers two, ill to example ill, Would from my forehead wipe a periur'd note: For none offend, where all alike doe dote.

Lon. Dumaine, thy Loue is farrefrom charitie, That in Loues griefe desir's focietie: You may looke pale, but I should blush I know, To be ore-heard, and taken napping so.

Kin. Come sir, you blush: as his your case is such a You chide at him, offending twice as much, You doe not Loue Maria? Longanile,
Did never Sonnet for hersake compile;
Nor never lay his wreathed armes at what His louing bosome, to keepe downe his heart.
I have beene closely shrowded in this bush.
And markt you both, and for you both did blush.
I heard your guilty Rimes, observed you sashion:
Saw sighes reeke from you, noted well your passion.
Aye me, sayes one! O some I the other cries!
On her haires were gold, Christall the others eyes.
You would for Paradise breake Faith and troth,
And some for your Love, would instringe an oath.
What will Berowne say when that he shall heare.

Faith infringed: which such zeale did sweare.
How will he scorne? how will he spend his wit?
How will he riumph, leape, and laugh at it?
For all the wealth that euer I didsee,
I would not have him know so much by me.

Bero. Now step I forth to whip Hypocrise. Ah good my Liedge, I pray thee pardon me. Good heart, What Grace hast thou thus to reproue These wormes for louing, that art most in loue? Your eyes doe make mo couches in your teares. There is no certaine Princesse that appeares. You'll not be periur'd, 'cis a hatefull thing: Tush, none but Minstrels like of Sonneting. But are you not asham'd? nay, are you not All three of you, to be thus much ore'shot? You found his Moth, the King your Moth did fee: But I a beame doe finde in each of three. O what a Scene of fool'ry haue I seene. Of lighes, of grones, of forrow, and of teene: O me, with what strict patience haue I sat, To see a Kingtranformed to a Gnat? To see great Hercules whipping a Gigge, And profound Salomontuning a lygge? And Nefter play at pulli-pin with the Boyes, And Criticke Timor laugh at idle toyles. Where liesthy griefe? O tell megood Dumaine; And gentle Longanill, where lies thy paine? And wheremy Liedges? all about the brest: A Candle hoa!

Kin. Toobitter is thy iest.

Are wee betrayed thus to thy ouer-view?

Ber Notyou by me, but I betrayed to you.

I that am honest, I that hold it sinne

To breake the yow I am ingaged in.

I am betrayed by keeping company

With men, like men of inconstancie.

When shall you see me write a thing in rime?

Or grone for Ioane? or spend a minutes time,

Inpruning mee, when shall you heare that I will praise a hand, a foote

foot, a face, an eye: a gate, a state, a brow, a brest, a waste, a legge, a limme.

Kin. Soft, Whither a-way fo fast?
A true man, or a theefe, that gallops fo.

Ber I post from Loue, good Louer let me go.

Enter Iaquenetta and C!owne.

Iaque. God blesse the King.

Kin. What present hast thou there?

Clow. Some certaine treason.

Kin. What makes treason here?

Clo. Nay it makes nothing fir.

Kin. If it marre nothing neither.

The treason and you goe in peace away together.

Iaque. I beseech your Grace let this Letter be read,

Our person mis doubtsit: it was treason he said.

Kin. Beremne, read it ouer.

Hereads the Letter.

Kin. Where hadft thou it?

Iaque. Of Costard.

King-Where hadst thou it?

Cost. Of Dun Adramadio, Dun Adrimadio.

Kin. How now, what is in you? why dost thou teare it?

Ber. A toy my Liedge, a toy: your grace needes not feare it.

Lorg. It did moue him to passion, and therefore let's heare it.

Dum. It is Berownes writing, and heere is his name.

Ber. Ah you wherefon logger head you were borne to doe me shame.

Guilty my Lord, guilty: I confesse, I confesse.

Kin. What?

Ber. That you three fooles, lackt mee foole, to make vp the messe.

He,he, and you: and you my Liedge, and I,
Are picke-purses in loue, and we deserue to die.
O dismisse this audience, and I shall tell you more.

Dum. Now the number is euen.

Rerow. True rue, we are foure: will these Turtles be gone

Kin. Hencesirs, away.

Clo. Walk aside the true folke, and let the traytors stay. Ber. Sweet Lords, sweet Louers, Olet vs imbrace,

AS

As true we are as flesh and bloud can be,
The Sea will ebbe and flow, heaven will shew his face:
Young bloud doth not obey an old decree,
We cannot crosse the cause why we are borne:
Therefore of all hands must we be for sworne.

King. What, did these rent lines shew some love of thine?

Ber. Did they quoth you? Who sees the heavenly Rosaline,

That (like a rude and savage man of Inde.)

At the first opening of the Gorgeous East,

Bowes not his vassall head, and strooken blinde.

Kisses the base ground with obedient breast?

What peremptorie Eagle-sighted eye

Dares looke vpon the heaven of her brow.

That is not blinded by her Maissie?

Kin. What zeale, what furie, hath inspir'd thee now? My Loue (her Millresse) is a gracious Moone, Shee (an attending Starre) scarce seene a light,

Rer. My eyes are then no eyes, nor I Berowne,
O, but for my Loue day would turne to night,
Of all complexions the cul'd soueraignety,
Doe meet as at a Faire in her faire cheeke,
Where severall Worthies make one dignity,
Where nothing wants, that want it selfe doth seeke.
Lend me the florish of all gentle tongues,
Fie painted Rhetoricke, O she needs it not,
To things of Sale a sellers praise belongs:
She passes praise, then praise too short doth blot,
A withered Hermite, shuescore winters worne,
Might shake of sifty, looking in her eye:
Beauty doth varnish Age, as if new borne,
And gives the Crutch the Cradles infancie.
O'tis the Sunne, that makethall things shine.

King. By heauen, thy Loue is blacke as Ebonie.

Berow. Is Ebonie like her? O word divine?

A wife of such wood were felicitie.

O who can give an oath? Where is a Booke?

That I may sweare beauty doth beauty lacke,

If that he learne not of her eye to looke:

No face is faire that is not full soblacke.

Kin. O Paradoxe, Blacke is the badge of hell. The hue of dungeons, and the Schoole of night: And beauties creft becomes the heavens well.

Ber. Deuils wonest tempt resembling spirits of light.

O if in blacke my Ladies browes be deckt, It mournes, that painting vsurping haire Should rauish doters with a falle aspect: And therefore is the borne to make black, faire, Her fauour turnes the fashion of the dayes, Fornatiue bloud is counted painting now. And therefore red, that would anough dispraise, Paints it selfe blacke, to imitate her brow.

Dum. To looke like her are Chimny-sweepers blacke. Lon. And since her time, are Colliers counted bright. King. And Æthiops of their sweet complexion cracke . Dum. Darkneeds no Candles now, for darkis light.

Ber. Your Mistresses dare neuer come in raine,

For feare her colours should be washt away.

Kin. 'Twere good yours did: for sireo tell you plaine,

Ile finde a fairer face not washt to day.

Ber. Ile proue her faire, or talke till doomes-day here. Kin. No Duell will fright thee then so much as shee. Duma. I neuer knew man hold vile stuffe so deere. Lon. Looke heer's thy Loue, my foot and her face see.

Ber. O if the streetes were paued with thine eyes.

Her feet were much too dainty for such tread.

Duma. O vile, then as she goes what vpwardlies?

The street should see as the walk'd ouer head.

Kin. But what of this are we not all in loue?

Ber. O nothing so sure, and thereby all forsworne.

Kin. Then leave this chat, and good Berowne now proue

Our louing, lawfull, and our faith not torne.

Dum. I marry there, some flattery for this cuill.

Long. O some authority how to proceed,

Some tricks, some quillers, how to cheat the Diuell.

Dum. Some salue for periurie. Ber. O'tis more then neede.

To

To fast, to study, and to see no woman: Flat treason against the Kingly state of youth. Say, can you fast? your stomacks are too young. And abstinence ingenders maladies. And where that you have vowed to fludie (Lords) In that each of you have for sworne his Booke. Can you still dreame and pore, and thereon looke. For when would you my Lord, or you, or you, Haue found the ground of Rudies excellence, Without the beautie of a womans face, From womens eyes this doctrine I deriue, They are the Ground, the Bookes, the Academs, From whence doe spring the true Promethean fire, Why, vniuerfall plodding poylons vp, The nimble spirits in the arteries, As motion and long during action tyres The sinnowy vigour of the traueller. Now for not looking on a womans face, You have in that for sworne the vse of eyes. And studie too, the causer of your vow. For where is any Author in the world, Teaches such beautie as a womans eye: Learning is but an adiunct to our selfe, And where we are, our Learning likewise is. Then when our selues we see in Ladies eye, With our selues. Doe we not likewise see our Learning there? Owe have made a Vow to studie, Lords, And in that you we have for fworne our Bookes : For when would you (my Liege) or you, or you? In leaden contemplation have found out, Such'fiery numbers, asthe prompting eyes Of beauties tutors have inricht you with: Other flow Arts intirely keepe the braine: And therfore finding barren practizers, Scarce shew a haruest of their heavie toyle. But Loue first learned in a Ladies eyes, Liues not alone emuredin the braine: But with the motion of all Elements.

Courses as swift as thought in euery power. And giues to enery power a double power, Aboue their functions and their offices. It addes a precious feeing to the eye: A Louers eyes will gaze an Eagle blind. A Louers eare will heare the lowest found. When the suspitious head of thest is stopt. Loues feeling is more soft and sensible, Then are the tender hornes of Cockled Snailes. Louestongue proues dainty, Bacchus groffe in tafte, For Valour, is not Loue a Hercules? Still climing trees in the Hesporides. Subtill as Sphinx: as sweet and musicall As bright Apollo's Lute, Arung with his haire. And when Loue speakes, the voyce of all the Gods, Make heaven drowsie with the harmonie. Neuer durst Poet touch a pen to write. Vntill his Inke were tempred with Loues fighes :: O then his lines would rauish sauage eares, And plant in Tyrantsmilde humilitie. From weomens eyes this doctrine I deriue. They sparkle still the right Promethean fire, They are the Bookes, the Arts, the Academes, That shew, containe, and nourish all the world. Ellenone at all in ought proues excellent. Then foolesyou were, these women to forsweare Or keeping what is fworne, you will proue fooles, For wildomes fake a word, that all men loue: Or for loues fake, a word that loues all men. Or for Mens sake, the author of these Women: Or Womens sake, by whom we men, are Men. Let's once loofe our oathesto find our selues, Or else we loose our selues, to keepe our oathes: It is religion to be thus for sworne. For Charitie it selfe fulfills the Law: And who can seuer Loue from Charitie. Kin. Saint Cupid then, and Souldiers to the field. Ber. Aduance your standards, and vpon them Lords,

Pell, mell, downe with them: but be first aduised,

7n:

In conflict that you get the Sunne of them.

Long. Now to plaine dealing, Lay these glozes by, Shall we resolute to woethese gules of France?

Kin. And winne them too, therefore let vs deuise,

Some entertainment for them in their Tents.

Ber. Fussfrom the Park, let vs conduct them thither,
Then homeward every man attach the hand
Of his faire Mistresse, in the atternoone
We will with some strange passime solace them:
Such as the shortnesse of the time can shape,
For Reuels, Dances, Maskes, and merrie houres,
Fore-runne saire Loue, strewing her way with slowers.

Kin. Away, away, no time shall be omitted,

That will be time, and may by vsbe fitted.

Ber. Alone, alone fowed Cockell, reap'd no Corne, And Iustice alwayes whirles in equal measure: Light Wenches may proue plagues to men for sworne, If so our Copper buyes no better rreasure.

Exeunt.

Curat. I praise God for you, your reasons at dinner have beene sharpe and sententious: pleasant without scurrillitie, witty without affection, audacious without impudencie, learned without opinion, and strange without heresic. I did converse this quendam day with a companion of the Kings, who is intituled, nominated, or cassed. Don Adriano, de Armatho.

Ped. Nouihominum tanquate, Hishumour is losty his discourse peremptorie, his tongue filed, his eye ambitious, his gate maiesticall, and his generall behauiour vaine, ridiculous, and thrafonicall. He is too picked, too spruce, too assected, too odde, as Brag. Arts-man preambulat, we will be singled from the barbarous. Do you not educate youth at the Charge-house on the top of the Mountaine?

Peda. Or Monsthe hill.

Brag. At your sweete pleasure, for the Mountaine.

Peda. I doe sans question.

Bra. Sir, it is the Kings fweet pleasure and affection, to congratulate the Princesse at her Pauillion, in the posteriors of this day, which the rude multitude call the after-noone.

Ped. The Posterior of the day, most generous sir, is liable, congruent, and measureable for the afternoon: the word is well culd, chose sweet, and apt I doe assure sir, I doe assure.

Brag. Sir, the King is a noble Gentleman, and my familiar, I doe assure you very good friend: for what is inward betweene vs, let it passe. I doe beseech thee remeber thy curtesse. I beseech thee apparrell thy head and among other importunate & most serious designs, & of great import indeed too: but let that passe, for I must tell thee it will please his Grace (by the world) sometime to leane vpon my poore shoulder, and with his royall singer thus dallie with my excrement, with my mustachio: but sweete heart let that passe. By the world I recount no sable, some certaine speciall honoursic pleaseth his greatnesse to impart to Armads a Souldier, a man of trauelt, that hath seene the world: but let that passe; the very all of all is: but sweet heart I doe implore secrecie fecrecie, that the King would have mee present the Princesse (sweet chucke) with some delightfull oftentation, or show or page ant, or anticke, or fire-worke: Now, vnderstanding that the Curate and your sweet selfe are good at such eruptions, and sodaine breaking out of myrth (as it were) I have acquainted you withall, to the end to crave your assistance.

Peda. Sir, you shall present before her the nine Worthies. Sir, Holofernes, as concerning some entertainment of time, some show in the posterior of this day, to be rendred by our affistants the Kings command: and this most gallant, illustrate and learned Gentleman, before the Princesse: I say none so sit as to present the Nine Worthies.

Curat. Where will you finde men worthic enough to present them?

Peda. Iosua, your selfe: my selfe, and this Gallant gentleman Iudas Maccabem; this Swaine (because of his great limme or joynt) shall passe Pompey the great, the Page Hercules.

Brag. Pardon sir error: He is not quantitie enough for that Worthies thumb, he is not so big as the end of his Club.

Peda, Shall I have audience? he shall present Hercules in minoritie: his enter and exit shall be strangling a Snake; and I will haue an Apologie for that purpose.

Pag. An excellent deuice: so if any of the audience hisse, you may cry, Well done Hercules, now thou crushest the Snake; that is the way to make an offence gracious, though few haue the grace to doe it.

Brag. For the rest of the Worthies? Peda. I will play three my selfe.

Pag. Thrice worthie Gentleman.

Brag. Shall I tell you athing.

Peda. We attend.

Brag. We will haue, if this sadge not, an Antique, I beseech you follow.

Ped. Via good-man Dull, thou hast spoken no word all this while.

Dull. Nor understood none neither sir.

Ped. Alone, we will imploy thee.

Dull. Ile make one in a dance, or so: or I will play on the Tabor to the Worthies, and let them dance the hey.

I am compar'd to twenty thousand fairs.

O he hath drawne my picture in his letter.

Qu. Anything like?

Ros. Much in the letters, nothing in the praise. Qu. Beauteous, as Incke: a good conclusion.

Kat. Faire as a text B. in a Coppie booke.

Ros. Ware pensils. How! Let me not die your debtor, My red Dominicall, my golden Letter.

O that your face were full of Oes.

Qu. A Pox of that iest, and I besbrewall Shrowes:
But Katherine, what was sent to you
From faire Dumaine?

Kat. Madame, this Gloue.

Qu. Did he not send you twaine?

Kat. Yes Madame and moreouer, Some thousand Verses of a faithfull Louer. A huge translation of Hypocrisie, Vildly compiled, prosound simplicitie.

Mar. This, and these Pearls, to me sent Longanile.

The Letter is too long by halfe a mile.

Qu. I thinke no lesse: dost thou wish in heart. The Chaine were Longer, and the Letter short.

Mar. I, or I would these hands might neuer part. Quee. We are wise girles to mocke our Louers so.

Ros. They are worse sooles to purchase mocking so. That same Berowne ile torture ere I goe. O that I knew he were but in by th'weeke, How I would make him sawne, and begge, and seeke, And waite the season, and observe the times, And spend his prodigall wits in bootles rimes. And shape his service wholly to my device, And make him proud, to make me proud that iests. So pertaunt like would I o'resway his state, That he should be my soole, and I his state.

Qu. None are so surely caught, when they are catcht, As wit turn'd soole, sollie in Wisdome hatch'd:
Hath wisdomes warrant, and the helpe of Schoole,
And Wits one grace to grace a learned Foole?

Rof. The bloud of youth burns not with fuch excelle,

G2

As Grauisies reuole to wantons be:

Mar. Follie in Fooles beares not fo strong a note, As fool'ry in the wife, when Wit doth dote: Since all the power thereof it doth apply, To proue by Wit, worth in simplicitie.

Enter Boyet.

Qu. Heere comes Boyer, and mirth in his face. Boy. O I am stab'd with laughter, Whet's her grace?

Qu. Thy newes Boyet?

Boy. Prepare Madame, prepare.

'Arme Wenches, arme, incounters mounted are Against your peace, Loue doth approach, disguis'd:
Armed in arguments, you'll be surpriz'd.

Muster your Wits, standin your owne defence,
Or hide your heads like Cowards, and slie hence.

Qu. Saint Dennis to S. Cupid: What are they That charge their breath against vs? Say scout say.

Boy. Vnder the cooleshade of a Siccamore, Ithought to close mine eyes some halfe an houre : When lo to interrupt my purpos'd rest, Toward that shade I might behold addrest The King and his companions: warely I stole into a neighbour thicker by, And ouer-heard, what you shall ouer-heare : That by and by difguis'd they will be heere. Their Herald is a prettie knauish Page: That well by heart hath con'd his Embassage, Action and accent did they teach him there. Thus must thou speake, and thus thy body beare, And euer and anon they made a doubt, Presence Maiesticall would put him out: For quoth the King, an Angell shalt thou see: Yet feare not thou, but speake audaciously. The Boy reply'd, an Angell is not cuill: I should have fear'd her, had shee beene a deuill. With that all laugh'd, and clap'd him on the shoulder. Making the bold wagg by their prayles bolder. One rub'd his elboe thus, and fleer'd, and swore,

A better speech was neuer spoke before.

Another with his singer and his thumb,

Cry'd via, we will doo't, come what will come.

The third he caper'd and cried all goes well.

The fourth turn'd on the toe, and downe he fell:

With that they all did tumble on the ground,

With such a zealous laughter so prosound,

That in this spleene ridiculous appeares,

To checke their folly passions solemne teares.

Quee. But what, but what, comethey to visit vs?

Bog. They do, they do; and are apparel'd thus,

Like Muscouites, or Russians, as I gelle.

Their purpose is to parlee, to court, and dance,

Andeuery one his Loue seat will advance,

Vnto his severall Mistres: which they'll know

By fauors seuerall, which they did bestow.

Queen. And will they for the Gallants shall be taskt:
For Ladies; we will energy one be maskt,
And not a man of them shall have the grace
Despight of sute, to see a Ladies face.
Hold Rosaline, this Fauour thou shalt weare,
And then the King will court thee for his Deare:
Hold, take thou this my Sweet, and give me thine;
So shall Beranne take me for Rosaline.
And change your Fauours too, so shall your Loues

Woo contrary, deceived by these removes.

Rosa. Come on then, weare the favours most in sight.

Kath. But in this changing, What is your intent?

Queene. The effect of my intentisto crosse theirs:
They doe it but in mocking merriment,
And mockefor mocke is onely my intent.
Their seuerall counsels they vnbosome shall,
To Loues mistooke, and so be mockt withall.
Vpon the next occasion that we meete,
With Visages displayd, to talke and greete,

Rosa. But shall we dance, if they defire vs too't?

Queen. No, to the death we will not move a foot,

Nor to their pen'd speech render we no grace:

But while 'tis spoke, each turne away his face.

G 3

Boy. Why that contempt will kill the keepersheart,

And quite divorce his memory from his part.

The rest will ere come in, if he be out.
Theres no such sport, as sport by sport orethrowne:
To make theirs ours, and ours none but our owne.
So shall we stay mocking intended Game,
And they well mockt, depart away with shame. Sound.

Bez. The Trumpet sounds, be maskt, the maskers come.

Enter Black-moores with musicke the Boy with a speech, and the rest of the Lords disguised.

Page, All haile the richest Beauties on the earth. Ber. Beauties no richer then rich Taffata.

Pag. A holy parcell of the fairest dames that ever turn'd their backes to mortall viewes.

The Ladies turne their backes to him.

Ber. Their eyesvillaine, their eyes.

Pag. That ever turn'd their eyes to mortall viewes. Out

Boy. True, out indeed.

Pag. Out of your fanours heavenly spirits vouchsafe Not to beholde.

Ber. Once to behold, rogue.

Pag. Onse to behold mith your Sunne-beamed eyes, With your Sunne-beamed eyes.

Boy. They will not answer to that Epithite, You were best call it daughter beamed eyes.

Pag. They doe not marke me, and that brings me out. Bero. Is this your perfectnesse? be gon you roque.

Rosa. What would these strangers?

Know their mindes Boyet.

If they doe speake our language, 'tis our will That some plaine man recount their purposes. Know what they would?

Boyet. What would you with the Princes? Ber. Nothing but peace, and gentle visitation.

Ross. What would they, say they?

Boy. Nothing but peace, and gentle visitation.
Rosa. Why that they have, and bid them to be gon.

Boy.

Boy. Shee fayes you have it, and you may be gon.

Kin. Say to her we have measur'd many miles,

To tread a Measure with you on the grasse.

Boy. They say that they have measur'd many a mile,

To tread a Measure with you on this grasse.

Rosa. It is not so. Aske them how many inches Is in one mile' If they have measur'd many,
The measure then of one is easlie told.

Boy. It to come hither you have measur'd miles, And many miles: the Princesse bids you tell, How many inches doth fill up one mile!

Ber. Tell her we measure them by weary steps.

Boy. She heares her selfe.

Rosa. How many weary steps,
Of many weary miles you have ore-gone,
Are numbred in the travell of one mile:

Rero. We number nothing that we spend for you, Ourdutiers so rich, so infinite,

That we may doe it still without accompt, Vouchsafe to shew the Sunshine of your face,

That we(like fauages) may worship it.

Rosa. My face is but a Moone and clouded too.

Kin. Blessed are clouds, to doe as such clouds do.

Vouchsafe bright moone, and these thy stars to shine,

(Those clouds removed) vpon our waterie eyne.

Rosa. O vaine pericioner, beg a greater matter,

Thou now requests but Mooneshine in the water.

Kin. Then in our measure, vouchsafe but one change.

Thou bid'st me begge, this begging is not strange.

Rosa. Play musicke then, nay you must doe it soone.

Not yet no dance: thus change I like the Moone.

Kin. Will you not dance? How come you thus estranged? Rosa. You tooke the Moone at full, but now she's changed?

Kin. Yet fill she is the Moone, and I the Man.

Rosa. The musicke playes, vouchsafe some motion to it? Our earesvouchsafe it.

Kin. But your legges should doe it.

Rof. Since you are strangers, and come heere by chance, Wee'll not be nice, take hands, we will not dance.

Kin,

Kin. Why take you hands then?

Rosa. Onely to part friends.

Curtesie sweet hearts, and so the Measure endsi

Kin. More measure of this measure, be not nice.

Rosa. We can afford no more at such a price.

Kin Prise your selues: What buyes your companie?

Rosa. Your absence onely.

Kin. That can neuer be.

Rosa. Then cannot we be bought: and so adue,

Twice to your Visore, and halfe once to you.

Kin. If you denie to dance, let's hold more chat.

Rosa. In private then.

Kin. I am best pleas'd with that.

Be. White-handed Mistris, one sweet word with thee.

Qu. Hony, and Milke, and Suger: there is three.

Ber. Nay then two treyes, and if you grow so nice

Methegline, Wort, and Malmesey; well runne dice:

There's halfe a dozen sweets.

Qu. Seuenth sweet adue, since you can cogg,

He play no more with you.

Ber. One word in secret. Qu. Let it not be sweet.

Ber. Thou grieu'st my gall.

Qu. Gall bitter.

Ber. Therefore meete.

Du. Will you vouchsafe with meeto change a word?

Mar. Nameit.

Dum. Faire Ladie.

Mar. Say you so? Faire Lord:

Take you that for your faire Lady.

Du. Pleaseit you,

As much in private, and Ile bid adieu.

Mar. What, was your Vizard made without a tong?

Long. I know the reason Lady why you aske.

Mar. O for your reason, quickly sir, Ilong.

Long. You have a double tongue within your mask.

And would affoord my speechlesse vizard halfe.

Mar. Veale quoth the Dutch-man; is not Veale a Calfe?

Long. A Calfefaire Ladie?

Mar. No, a faire Lord Calfe.

Long. Let"s part the word.

Mar. No, Henot beyourhalfe:

Take all and weaneit, it may proue an Oxe.

Long. Looke how you but your selfe in these sharpe mockes. Will you give homes chast Ladie? Do not so.

Mar. Then die a Calfebefore your horns do grow.

Lon. Onewordin private with you ere I die.

Mar. Bleat softly then; the Butcher heares you cry.

Boyet. The tongues of mocking wenches are as keene

As is the Razors edge, inuifible:

Cutting a smaller haire then may be seene,

Aboue the sence of sence so sensible:

Seemeth their conference, their conceits have wings,

Fleeter then arrowes, bullets, wind, thought, swifter things.

Rosa. Not one word more, my maides, breake off, breake off.

Ber. By heaven, all drie beaten with pure scoffe.

King. Farewell madde Wenches you have simple wits.

Exeunt.

Qu. Twentie adieus my frozen Muscouites. Are these the breed of wits so wondred at?

Boyet. Tapers they are, with your sweet breathes pust out. Rosa. Wel-liking wits they have, grosse, grosse, fat, fat.

Qu. O pouertiein wit, Kingly pooreflout,

Will they not (thinke you) hang themselues to night?

Or ever but in vizardes shew their faces:

This pert Berowne was out of count'nance quite.

Roja. They were all in lamentable cases.

The King was weeping ripe for a good word.

In. Rerowne did sweare himselfe out of all sute. Mar. Dumaine was at my service, and his sword:

No poynt (quoth I:) my seruant straight was mute.

Ka. Lord Longanill said I came ore his heart:

Andtrow you what he call'd me?

Qu. Qualme perhaps.

Kat. Yes in good faith. Qu. Go sicknesse as thou art.

Ros. Wellbetter wits haue worne plaine statute caps, But will you heare; the King is my loue sworne.

H

2860

Qu. And quicke Berowne hath plighted faith to me. Kat. And Longauill was for my service borne.

Mar. Dumaine is mine as fure as barke on tree.

Boyer. Madam, and pretty Mistresses giuecare, Immediately they will againe be heere In their owne shapes: for it can neuer be, They will digest this harsh indignitie.

Qu. Willthey returne?

Boy. They will, they will, God knowes; Andleape for ioy, though they are lame with blowes; Therefore change Fauours, and when they repaire, Blow like sweet Rosesin this summer aire, Qu. How blow? how blow? Speake to be understood.

Boy. Faire Ladies maskt, are Roses in their bud:

Dismaskt, their damaske sweet commixture showne.

Are Angels vailing clouds, or Roses blowne.

Qu. Auant perplexitie; What shall we do, If they returne in their owne shapes to wo?

Rosa. Good Madam, if by me you'lbe adui'sd,
Let's mocke them still as well knowne as disguis'd:
Let vs complaine to them what sooles were heere.
Disguis'd like Muscouites in shapelesse geare:
And wonder what they weare, and to what end
Their shallow showes, and prologue vildely pen'd:
And their rough carriage so ridiculous,
Should be presented at our Tent to vs.

Boyes. Ladics, with draw: the gallants are at hand.

Quee. Whip to our Tents, as Roes runnes ore Land.

Exeunt. Enter the King and the rest.

King. Faire sir, God saue you. Wher's the Princesse?

Boy. Gone to her tent.

Please it your Maiestie command me any service to her, King. That she vouchsafe me audience for one word. Boy. I will and so will she, I know my Lord. Exit.

Ber. This fellow pickes vp wit, as Pigeons peafe.

And veters it againe, when Ioue doth pleafe.

He is Wits Pedler, and retailes his Wares.

Ar Wakes, and Wallels, Meetings, Markets, Faires And we that fell by groffe, the Lord doth know. Haue not the grace to grace it with such show. This Gallant pins the Wenches on his sleeue. Had he bin Adam, he had tempted Eue. He can carge too, and life: Why this is he. That kist away his hand in courtesie. This is the Ape of forme, Mounsier the nice. That when he playes at Tables, chides the Dice In honourable tearmes, nay he can fing A meane most meanly, and in Vshering Mend him who can : the Ladies call him sweet. The flaires as he treads on them kille hisfecte. This is the flower that smiles on every one, To shew his teeth as white as Whalesbone. And consciences that will not die in debt. Pay him the duty of honie-tongued Bojet.

King. A blifter on his sweet tongue with my hart,

That put Armathoes Page out of his part,

Enter the Ladies.

Ber. See where it comes. Behauiour what wer't thou.
Till this madman shew'd thee? And what are thou now?

King. All haile sweet Madame, and faire time of day.

Qu. Faire in all Halle is soule, as I conceiue. King. Construe my speeches better, if you may. Qu. Then wish me better, I will give leave.

King. We came to visit you and purpose now To leade you to our Court, vouchsafe it then.

Qu. This field shall hold me, and so hold your yow,

Nor God, nor I, delights in periur'd men.

King. Rebuke me not for that which you prouoke:

The vertue of your eye must breake my oath,

Qu. You nickname vertue: vice you should hauespoke:
For vertues office neuer breakes men troth.
Now by my maiden honour, yet as pure
As the vasallied Lilly, I protest,
A world of torments though I should endure,
I would not yeeld to be your houses guest:

H 2

Se

So much I hate a breaking cause to be Of heavenly oath, vow'd with integritie.

Kin. O you haue liu'd in desolation heere,

Vascene, vauisited, much to our shame.

Qu. Not so my Lord, it is not so I sweare, We have had passimes heere and pleasant game, A messe of Russion sleft vs but of late.

Kin. How Madam? Russians?

Qu. lintruth my Lord.

Trim gallants, full of Courthip and of state.

Rosa. Madam speake true. It is not so my Lord?

My Ladie (to the manner of the daies)
In curtesie gives undescruing praise.

We foure indeed confronted were with foure.
In Russia habit: Heere they stayed an houre,
And talk'dapace: and in that houre (my Lord)
They did not blesse with one happy word.
I dare not easilthem sooles: but this I thinke.

When they are thirstie, fooles would saine have drinked Ber. This iest is drie to me. Gentlesweet,
Your wits makes wise things foolish when we greet
With eyes best seeing, heavens fiery eye:
By light we loose light your capacity

By light we loose light: your capacity.
Is of that nature, that to your huge store,

Wise things seeme foolish, and rich things but poore.

Rof. This proues you wife and rich: for in my eye.

Ber. I ama soole, and full of povertie.

Ros. But that you take what doth to you belong, It were a fault to fnatch words from my tongue.

Ber. O, I am yours, and all that I possesse.

Ros. All the soole mine. Ber. I cannot give you lesse.

Ros. Which of the Vizards was it that you wore?

Ber. Where? when? what Vizard?

Why demand you this?

Ross. There, then, that vizard, that superfluous case, That hid the worse, and shew'd the better face.

Kin. Weare diferied,

They'll mocke vs now downeright.

Du. Letvsconfesse and turne it to aiest.

Oue. Amaz'd my Lord, Why lookes your Hignesse sadde:

Rosa. Helpe hold his browes, he'l sound: why looke you pale:

Sea-ficke I thinke, comming from Muscouie.

Ber. Thus poure the stars down plagues for periury, Can any face of braffe hold longer out, Heerestand I, Ladiedart thy skill at me, Bruise me with scorne, confound me with a flout. Thrust thy scarpe wit quite through my ignorance Cut me to peeces with thy keene conceit: And I will wish thee neuer more to dance,. Nor neuer more in Russian habit waite, O! neuer will I trust to speeches pen'd, Norto the motion of a Schoole-boyes tongue, Nor neuer come in vizard to my friend,. Nor woo in rime like a blind-harpers song. Taffata phrases, filken tearmes precise, Three-pil'd Hyperboles, spruce affection; Figures pedanticall, these summer flies, Haue blowne me full of maggot oftentation. I do forsweare them, and I heere protest, By this white Gloue (how white the hand God knows) Henceforth my woing minde shall be exprest In rustet yeas, and honest kersie noes. And to begin Wench, so God helpe me law, My loue to thee is found, sans cracke or flaw.

Rosa. Sans, sans, I pray you.

Ber. Yet I haue a tricke

Of the old rage: beare with me, I am sicke.

Ile leaue it by degrees: soft, let vs see,

Write Lord haue mercy on vs, on those three,

They are insected, in their hearts it lies:

They haue the plague, and caught of your eyes:

These Lords are visited, you are not free:

For the Lords tokenson you doe I see.

Qu. No, they are free that gave the setokens to vs.

Ber. Our states are for seit, seeke not to vndoe vs.

Rof. It is not so, for how can this be true, That you stand for feit, being those that sue.

Bers

Ber. Peace, for I will not have to doe with you.

Rose Nor shall not, if I doe as I intend.

Ber. Speakefor your selues, my wit is at an end.

King. Teach vs sweet Madame, for our rude transgression, some faire excuse.

Qu. The fairest is confession.

Were you not here but even now disguis'd?

Kin. Madam, I was.

Qu. And were you well aduis'd?

Kin. I was faire Madam.

Qu. When you then were heere,

What did you whisper in your Ladies eare?

King. That more then all the world I did respect her. Qu. When she shall challenge this you will reiect her.

King. V pon mine Honour no.

Qu. Peace, peace, forbeare:

Your oath once broke, you forcenot to forsweare.

King. Despise me when I breake this oath of mine.

Qu. I will and therefore keeps it Rofaline, What did the Russian whisper in your care?

Ros. Madam, heswore that he did hold me deare

As preciouseye fight, and did value me

Aboue this world: adding thereto moreouer, That he would wed me, or elfe die my Louer.

Qu. God give thee joy of him: the Noble Lord Most honourably doth vehold his word.

Kin. What meane you Madame?

By my life, my troth,

I neuer swore this Ladie such an oth.

Rof. By heaven you did; and to confirme it plaine you gave me this: But take it fir againe.

King. My faith and this, the Princesse I did give,

I knew her by this Iewell on her seeue.

Qu. Pardon me sir, this Iewell did she weare, And Lord Berowne (I thanke him) is my deare. What? Will you have me, or your Pearle againe?

Ber. Neither of either I remit both twaine. I see the tricke on't: Heere was a consent, Knowing aforehand of our merriment,

To dash it like a Christmas Comedie. Some carry-tale, some please-man, some slight Zanie, Some mumble-newes, some trencher-knight, some Dick, That smiles his cheeke in yeeres, and knowes the trick To make my Ladie laugh, when she's dispos'd; Told our intents before: which once disclos'd, The Ladies did change Fauours, and then we Following the signes, woo'd but the signe of she. Now to our periurie, to adde more terror, We are againe for fworne in will and error. Much vpon this tis: and might not you Forestall our sport, to make vs thus vntrue? Doc you not know my Ladies foot by'th squier? And laugh vpon the apple of her eye. And stand betweene her backe fir, and the fire, Holding a trencher, iesting merrilie? You put our Page out : go, you are alowd. Die when you will, a smocke shall beyour shrowd. You lecrevpon me, doc you? there's an eye Wounds like a leaden sword.

Boy. Full merrily hath this braue Manager, this carreeres benerun.

Ber. Loe, he is tilting straight. Peace, I have don.

Enter Clowne.

Welcome pure wit, thou part'st a faire fray.

Clo. O Lordsir, they would know.

Whether the three Worthies shall come in, or no.

Ber. What, are there but three?

Clo. No fir, but it is vara fine,

For cuerie one purfents three.

Ber. And three timesthrice is nine.

Cho. Notio sir, vnder correction sir, I hope it is not so. You cannot beg vs sir, I can assure you sir, we know what we know: I hope sir three times thrice sir.

Ber. Is not nine.

Clow. Vnder correction fir, we know where-vntill it doth

Ber. By Ioue, I alwayes tooke three threes for nine.

Clons.

Clow. O'Lord sir, it were pittie you should get your liuing by reckning sir.

Ber. How much is it?

Clow. O Lord sir, the parties themselves, the actors sir will shew where-vntill it doth amount: for mine owne part, I am (as they say, butto perfect one man in one poore man) Pompson the great sir.

Ber. Artthou one of the Worthies?

Clow. It pleased them to thinke me worthy of Pompey the great: for mine owne part, I know not the degree of the Worthie, but I am to stand for him.

Ber. Go, bid them prepare. Exit.

Clo. We will turne it finely off sir, we will take some care.

King. Berowne, they will shame vs :

Let them not approach.

Ber. We are shame-proofe my Lord: and 'tis some policie, to have one shew worse then the Kings and his company.

Kin. I say they shall not come.

Que. Nay my good Lord, let me ore rule you now;
That sport best pleases, that doth least know how.
Where Zeale striues to content, and the contents
Dies in the Zeale of that which it presents:
Their forme confounded, makes most forme in mirth,
When great things labouring perish in their birth,

Ber. A right description of our sport my Lord.

Enter Braggart.

Brag. Annoynted, I implore so much expense of thy royall sweet breath, as will veter a brace of words.

Qu. Doth this man serue God?

Ber. Why askeyou?

Qu. Hespeak's not like a man of God's making.

Brag. That's all one, my faire sweet honie Monarch: For I protest the Schoolmaster is exceeding fantasticals: Too too vaine, too too vaine. But we will put it (as they say) to Fortuna dela guar, I wish you the peace of minde most royall complement.

King. Here is like to be a good presence of Worthies; He presents Hector of Troy, the Swaine Pompey the great, the Parish

Parish Curate Alexander, Armadoes Page Hercules, the Pedant Indas Machabeus: And if these foure Worthies in their first shew thrine, these foure will change habites, and present the other fine.

Ber. There is fine in the first shew. Kin. You are deceived tis not so.

Ber. The Pedant, the Braggart, the Hedge-Priest, the foole, and the Boy,

Abate throw at Novum, and the whole world againe, Cannot pricke out fue fuch, take each one in's vaine.

Kin. The thip is vnder faile, and here the comes amain.

Enter Pompey.

Clom. I Pompey am.

Ber. You lie, you are nothe.

Clow. I Pompey am.

Boy. With Libbards head on knee.

Ber. Weilsai oldmocker,

I must needs be friends with thee.

Clow. I Tompey am, Pompey Surnam'd the big.

Du. The great.

Clow. It is great sir: Pompey surnam'd the great:

That oft in field, with Targe and Shield,

did make my foe to sweat:

And travelling along this coast, I heere am come by chance, And lay my Armes before the legs of this sweet Lasse of France. If your Ladiship would say thankes Pompey, I had donc.

La. Great thankes great Pompey.

Clow. Tis not so much worth: but I hope I was persect. I made a litle fault in great.

Ber. My hat to a halfe-penie, Pompey proues the best Worthie,

Enter Curate for Alexander.

Curat. When in the world I lin'd, I was the worlds Commander' By East, West, North, & South, I spred my conquering might. My Scutcheon plaine declares that I am Alisander.

Boyet. Your nose sayes no, you are not:

For it stands too right.

Ber. Your nole smels no, in this most tender smelling Knight.

Qu. The Conqueror is dismaid:

Proceed good Alexander.

Cur. When in the world I lined, I was the world's Commander.

Boyit. Most true, 'tis right : you were so Alisander.

Ber. Pompey the great.

(lo. Your servant and Costard.

Ber. Take away the Conqueror, take away Alisander.

Clow. O sir you have overthrowne Alifarder the conqueror: you will be scrap'd out of the painted cloth for this: your lion that holds his Pollax sitting on a close-stoole, will be given to Aiax. He will be the ninth worthie. A Conqueror? and affreid to speake? Runne away for shame Alifarder. There an't shall please you: a foolish milde min, an honest man, looke you, and sooned asht. He is a marvellous good neighbour infooth, and a very good Bowler: but for Alifardar, alas you see, how it's a little ore-parted. But there are Worthies a comming will speake their minde in some other fort. Exit (n.

Qu. Standaside good Pompey.

Enter Pedant for Indas, and the Boy for Heroules.

Ped. Great Hercules is presented by this Impe. Whose Club kil'd Cerberns that three-headed Canus, And when he was a babe, a childe, ashrimpe, Thus did he strangle Serpents in his Manus:

Quoniam, he seemeth in minoritie,

Erga, I come with this Apologie.

Keepe some state in thy Exit, and vanish.

Exit Boys

Ped. ludas I am.

Dum. Aludas?

Ped. Not Iscariot fir.

Indas I am, yelyped Machabeus.

Dum. Indas Machabeus clipt, is plaine Iudas.

Ber. A kilsing Traitor. How art thou prou'd Indas?

Ped. Indas I am.

Dum. The more shame for you Indas.

Pea. What meane you sir. ?

Boy. To make Indas bang himselfe.

Ped. Beginsir, you are my elder.

Bers. Weitfollow'd, Indus was hang'd on an Elder.

Pea.

Ped. I will not be put of countenance.

Ber. Because thou halt no face.

Ped. What is this?

Boy. A Citterne head.

Dum. The head of a bodkin.

Ber. A deathsface in a ring.

Lon. The face of an old Roman coine, scarce seene.

Boy. The Pummell of Casars Faulchion. Dum. The caru'd-bone face on a Flaske.

Ber. Saint Georges halfe cheeke in a brooch.

Dum. I, and in a brooch of Lead.

Ber. I, and worne in the cap of a Tooth-drawer.

And now forward, for we have put thee in countenance.

Ped. You have put me out of countenance.

Ber. False, we haue giuen thee faces.

Ped. But you hauc out-fac'd them all.

Ber. And theu wert a Lion, we would do fo.

Boy. Therefore as he is an Alle, lethim goe: And so adieu sweet Inde. Nay, why dost thou stay?

Dum. For the latter end of his name.

Ber. For the Asse to the Inde: giue it him. Ind-as away.

Ped. This is not generous, not gentle, not humble.

Boy. A light for mountier Iudas, it growes dark, he may stumble. Que. Alas poore Machabeus, how hath he beene baited.

Enter Braggart.

Ber. Hide thy head Achilles, heere comes Helt or in Armes.

Dum. Though my mockes come home by me, I will now be merrie.

King. Hector was but a Troyan inrespect of this.

Boy. But isthis Hector?

Kin. I thinke Hector was not so cleane timber'd.

Lon. His legge is too big for Hettor.

Dum. More Calfe certaine.

Boy. No he is best indued in the small.

Ber. This cannot be Hettor.

Dum. He's a God or a Painter, for he makes faces.

Ber. The Armipotent Mars, of Launces the almighty, gaue Rector a gift.

D um.

Dum. A gilt Nutmegge.

Ber. A Lemmon.

Lon. Stucke with Cloues.

Dum. No clouen.

Brag. The Armipotent Mars of Launces the almight y,

Gaue Hector a gift, the heire of Illion;

A man so breathed, that certaine he would fight: yea From morne till night, out of his Pauillion.

I am that Flower.

Dum. That Mint.,
Long. That Cullambine.

Brag. Sweet Lord L'onganill, reinethy tongue.

Lon. I must rather gitte it the reine: for it runs against Heltor.

Dum. I, and Hector's a Grey-hound.

Brag. The sweet War-man is dead and rotten, Sweet chuckes, beat not the bones of the buried: But I will forward with my deuice; Sweet Royaltie bestow on me the sence of hearing.

Berowne steps forth.

Qu. Speake braue Hector, we are much delighted.

Brag. I doe adore thy sweet Graces slipper.

Boy. Loues her by the foot.

Dum. He may not by the yard.

Brag. This Hettor farre surmounted Hanniball.

The partie is gone.

Clow. Fellow Hettor, the is gone; the is two moneths on her way.

Brag. What meanest thou?

Clow. Faith vnlesse you play the honest Troyan, the poore Wench is cast away: she's quicke, the child brags in her belly already: tis yours.

Brag. Dost thou infamonize me among Potentates?

Thou shalt die.

Clow. Then shall Hector be whipt for Inquenetta that is quicke by him, and hang'd for Pompey, that is dead by him.

Dum. Most rare Pompey. Boy. Renowned Pompey.

Ber. Greater then great, great, great, great, Pompey: Pompey the huge.

Dum. Hector trembles.

Ber. Pompey is moued, more Atces more Atces stirre them, or stirre them on.

Dum. Hector will challenge him.

Ber. I, if a'haue no more mans blood in's belly, then will sup a Flea.

Brag. By the North-pole I do challenge thee.

Clo. I will not fight with a pole like a Northern man; Ile flash, Ile doe it by the sword: I pray you let me borrow my Armes againc.

Dum. Roome for the incensed Worthics.

Clo. Ile doe it in my shirt.

Dum. Most resolute Pompey.

Pag. Master, let me take you a butten hoole lower: Do you not see Pompey is vncasing for the combat: what meane you? you will lose your reputation.

Brag. Gentlemen and Souldiers pardon me, I will not combat in my shirt.

Du. You may not denieit, Pompey hath made the challenge.

Brag. Sweet bloods, I both may, and will.

Ber. What reason have you for't?

Brag. The naked truth of it is, I have no shirt.

I go woolward for penance.

Boy. True, and it was iniouned him in Rome for want of Linnen: since when, He besworne he wore none, but a dishclout of Inquenettas, and that he weares next his heart for a fauour.

Enter a Messenger, Mounsier Marcade.

Mar. Godsaueyou Madame.

20, Welcome Marcade, but that thou interruptest our merriment.

Marc. I am forric Madam, for the newes I bring is heavy in my tongue. The King your father.

Qu. Dead for my life.

Mar. Euen fo: My tale is told.

Ber. Worthies away, the Scene begins to cloud.

Brag. For mine owne part I breath free breath: I have seene the day of wrong through the little hole of discretion, and I will right my selfelike a Souldier. Exunt Worthies.

Kin. How tare's your Maiestie?

I 3

Qu. Boyet prepare, I will away to night.

Kin. Madam not so, I doe beseech you stay.

On Prepare I say. I thanke you gracious Lords
For all your faire endeuours and intreats:
Out of a new sad-soule, that you vouch safe,
In your rich wisdome to excuse, or hide,
The liberall opposition of our spirits,
If ouer-boldly we have borne our selves,
In the converse of breath your gentlenesse
Was guiltie of it.) Farewell worthic Lord:
A heavy heart beares not a humble tongue.
Excuse me so, comming so short of thankes,
For my great suite so early obtain'd.

All causes to the purpose of his speed:
And often at his vericloose decides
That, which long processe could not arbitrate.
And though the mourning brow of progenie
Forbid the similing curtese of Lone:
The holy suite which saine it would contince,
Yet since Loues argument was first on soote,
Let not the cloud of sorrow instelle it
From what it purpos'd since to waite friends lost,
Is not by much so wholsome, prostable,
As to rejoyce at friends but newly found.

Ber. Honest plaine words best pierce the eares of griefe
And by these badges understand the King.
For your faire sakes have we neglected time,
Plaid soule play with our oathes: your beautie Ladies
Hath much deformed us, fashioning our humors
Even to the opposed end of our intents.
And what invs hath seem'd ridiculous:
As Love is full of unbestiting straines,
All wanton as a childe, skipping and vaine.
Form'd by the eye, and therefore like the cie.
Full of straying shapes, of habits, and of formes
Varying in subjects as the cie doth roule,
To everievaried object in his glance:

Which partie-coated presence of loose loue.
Put on by vs, if in your heavenly cies,
Have misbecomm'd our oathes and gravities.
Those heavenly eyes that looke into these faults,
Suggested vs to make: therefore Ladies
Our Loue being yours, the error that Loue makes
Is likewise yours, we to our selves prove false,
By being once false, for ever to be true
To those that make vs both, Faire Ladies you,
And even that falshood in it selse a sinne,
Thus purifies it selse, and turnes to grace.

Your Fauours, the Ambassadors of Loue,
Your Fauours, the Ambassadors of Loue,
And in our maiden counsaile rated them,
At courtship, pleasant, iest, and curteste,
As bumbast and as lining to the time,
But more deuout then these are our respects
Haue we not beene, and therefore met your loues
In their owne fashion, like a merriment.

Du. Our Letters Madam, shew'd much more then iest.

Lon. So did our lookes.

Rosa. We did not coat them so.

Kin. Now at the latest minute of the houre,

Grant vs your lones.

To make a world-without-end bargaine in;
No, no my Lord your grace is periur'd much,
Full of deare guiltinesse, and therefore this:
If for my Loue (as there is no such cause)
You will doe ought, this shall you doe for me.
Your oath I will not trust: but goe with speed
To some for lorne and naked Hermitage
Remote from all the pleasures of the world:
There stay, vntill the twelve Celestiall Signes
Haue brought about their annuall reckoning,
If this austere insociable life,
Change not your offer made in heate of blood:
If frosts, and fasts, hard lodging, and thin weeds.
Nip not the gaudic blossomes of your Loue,

But that it beare this triall, and last loue:
Then at the expiration of the yeare,
Come challenge me, challenge me by these deserts,
And by this Virgin Palme, now kissing thine,
I will be thine: and till that instant shut
My wofull selfe vp in a mourning house,
Raining the teares of lamentation,
For the remembrance of my Fathers death,
If this thou doe denie, let our hands part,
Neither intitled in the others heart.

Kin. If this, or more then this I would denie. To flatter up these powers of mine with rest, The sodaine hand of death close up mine eye, Hence euer then, my heartism thy brest.

Ber. And what to memy Loue? and what to me? Rose. You must be purged too, your sins are rack'd.

You are attaint with faults and periurie:
Therefore if you my fauour meane to get,
A twelve moneth shall you spend, and never rest,
But seeke the wearie beds of people sicke.

Du. But what to me my Loue? but what to me?

Kas. A wife? a beard, faire health, and honellie,
With three-fold loue, I wish you all these three.

Dn. O shall I say, I thankeyou gentle wife:

Kat. Notso my Lord, atweluemoneth and a day,
Ile marke no words that smoothfac'd wooers say.

Come when the King doth to my Ladie come: Then if I have much love, He give you some.

Dum. Ile serue thee true and faithfully till then.

Kath. Yetsweare not least ye beforsworne agen.

Lon. What saies Maria?

Mari. At the twelvemoneths end,

Ile change my blacke Gowne, for a faithfull friend.

Lin. 11e stay with patience: but the time is long.

Mari. The liker you, few taller are so yong.

Ber. Studies my Lady? Missresse, looke on me, Behold the window of my heart, mine eye:
What humble suite attends thy answere there,
Impose some service on me for my loue

Ros. Oft haue I heard of you my Lord Berowne,
Before I saw you, and the worlds large tongue
Proclaimes you for a man repleate with mockes,
Full of comparisons, and wounding floutes:
Which you on all estates will execute,
That lie within the merey of your wit,
To weed this Wormewood from your fruitfull braine,
And therewithall to win me, if you please,
Without the which I am not to be won:
You shall this twelmoneth terme from day to day,
Visite the speechlesse sind your taske shall be,
With groaning wretches: and your taske shall be,
With all the fierce endeuour of your wit,
To enforce the pained impotent to smile.

Ber. To moue wilde laughter in the throate of death?

It cannot be, it is impossible.

Mirch cannot moue a foule in agony.

Ros. Why that's the way to choake a gibing spirit, Whose influence is begot of that loose grace, Which shallow laughing hearers give to fooles:

A iests prosperitie lies in the eare
Of him that heares it, never in the tongue
Of him that makes it: then, if sickly eares,
Deast with the clamors of their owne deare grones,
Will heare your idlescornes; continue then,
And I will have you, and that fault withall.
But if they will not, throw away that spirit,
And I shall sinde you emptie of that sault,
Right ioughlof your reformation.

Ber. A tweluemoneth: Well: befall what will befall,

Ileiest a tweluemoneth in an Hospitall.

Qu. I sweet my Lord, and so I take my leaue.

King. No Madam, we will bring you on your way.

Ber. Out wooing doth not end like an old Play:

Iacke hath not Gill: these Ladies curtesse

Might well have made our sport a Comedic.

Kin. Come sir, it wants a tweluemoneth and a day, And then 'twill end.

Ber. That's too long for a play.

Enger

Enter Braggart.

Brag. Sweet Maiestie vouchsafe me.

Qu. Was that Hector?

Dum. The worthie Knight of Troy.

Brag. I will kisse thy royall finger, and take seaue,
I am a Votarie, I haue vow'd to Iaquenetta to hold the Plough for her sweet soue three yeares. But most esteemed greatnesse, will you heare the Dialogue that the two Learned men haue compiled, in praise of the Owle and the Cuckow? It should haue followed in the end of our shew.

Kin. Call them forth quickely, we will doe fo.

Brag. Holla, approach.

Enter all.

This side is Hiems, Winter.
This Ver, the Spring: the one maintained by the Owle, Th'other by the Cuckow.
Ver, begin.

The Song.

When Dasies pied, and Violets blew, And Cuckow-buds of yellow hew: And Ladie-smockes all silver white, Doe paint the Medowes with delight. The Cuckow then on every tree, Mockes married men, for thus sings he, Cuckow. Cuckow: O word of feare, Vnpleasing to a married eare.

When Shepheards pipe on Oaten strawes, Andmerrie Larkes are Ploughmens clockes: When Turtles tread, and Rookes and Dawes, And Maidens bleach their summer Smockes: The Cuckow then on euery tree Mockes married men; for thus singshe, Cuckow. Cuckow, Cuckow: O word of scare, Vnpleasing to a married eare.

Winter.

When Ificles hang by the wall,
And Dicke the Shepheard blowes his naile;
And Tom beares Logges into the hall,
And Milke comes frozen home in paile:
When blood is nipt, and waies be fowle,
Then nightly fings the staring Owle
Tu-whit to-who.

A merrie note, While greafie Ione doth keele the pot

When all sloud the winde doth blow,
And coffing drownes the Parsons saw:
And birds six brooding in the snow,
And Marrians nose lookes red and raw:
When rossted Crabs hisse in the bowle,
Then nightly sings the staring Owle,
Tu-whit to-who:
A merrie note.
While greasse Ione doth keele the pot

Brag. The words of Mercurie, Are harthafter the fongs of Apollo: You that way; we this way.

Exunt omnes

FINIS.
