279 FLORIO (J.) Queen Anna's New World of Words : or Dictionarie of the Italian and English Tongues. £7. 10s.

M. Bradwood (& W. Stansby) for E. Blount and W. Barret, 1611 Sm. fol., new half calf, old style, some waterstains towards end, large sound copy. Fine impression of the fine portrait of Florio by W. Hole, stated to be the 1st appearance of the only known engraving of Florio, here faces p. 1 and has its corresponding blank at beginning : woodcut border to title. Dedications in Italian and English (different) to Queen Anne of Denmark (to whom the author was Reader of the Italian) : the latter runs—" This braine-babe...with a travellers minde, as erst Colombus at command of glorious Isabella, it hath (at home) discovered neere half a new world : and therefore as of olde some called Scotia of Scota, and others lately Virginia," &c. This reference to the New World thus explains the title. Prel. verses by " Il Candido " [=Matt. Gwinne], Sam. Daniel, Alb. Gentili and others : long list of authors drawn upon. The Dictionary, useful for its obsolete expressions, has special types for indicating pronounciation. The " Necessary Rules," at end, though included in quiring, have a separate title with the imprint of W. Stansby for the same publishers. Sayle 3374 (U.L. Cambr. copy wants portr.). This 2nd ed. contains very many words not in that of 1598. Lee's Catal. of Shakesp. 320. S.T.C. 11099. Copy recently priced £23. Ownership : Jno. Kirkpatrick 1707 ; antiquary of Norwich (1686-1728), see D.N.B. Page 585 : " Vacalsuth a tree in America."

Hir humblest seruant I. F. wisheth all the true felicities, that this world may affoord, and the fullest fruition of the blessednesse that heauen can yeeld.

*His braine-babe (ô pardon me that title most absolute supreme Minerua)
brought with it into the world, now
thirteen yeers since, a world of words:
Since, following the fathers steps in all obseruant seruice of your most sacred Maiestie, yet with a trauellers minde, as erst Colombus at command of glorious Isabella, it hath (at home) discovered neere halfe a new world: and therefore as of olde some called Scotia of Scota, and others lately Virginia, of Queenes your Maiesties predecessors: so pardon again (ô most Gracious and Glorious) if it dare be entitled QUEEN ANNA'S New world of words, as vnder your protection and patronage sent and set foorth. It shall be my guard against the worst, if not grace with the best, if men may see I beare Minerua in my front, or as the Hart on my necke, I am Diana's, so with heart I may say, This is QUEEN ANNA'S, as the Author is, and shall euer be*

Your Soueraigne Maiesties inuiolablydeuoted subiect and most obliged seruant

ALBERICO GENTILI.

To my dearely-esteemed friend and fellow M. John Florio, Reader of the Italian tongue vnto the most Excellent Maiestie of our sacred Mistris.

I Am, all that I am, Florio, thy debter :
Many men owe thee more. yet thou of all
Oblig'd to thee in deepe affections fetter,
Doe'st for this testimoniall tribute call
But to three more ; who haue discharg'd it better :
I say but this (but this is too-too small)
Great is thy Masters-prize, thy MISTRIS greater,
At whose foot praises, phrases, poem's fall.
Th' analogie is short. SHE is of worth
A wondrous Anacephaliosis ;
A None-pareil, Sans parallel : set forth
To shew perfections Abstract. So is this.
Italian honor's hir, Italian SHE.
That language thou adorn'st, that language thee.

Il Cándido.

To

To my deare friend and brother M. Iohn Florio,
one of the Gentlemen of hir Maiesties Royall Priuy-chamber.

I Stand not to giue praise before the face
Of this great worke, that doth it selfe commend :
But to congratulate the good and grace
That England com's thereby to apprehend:
And in hir name to thanke your industry
Laborius Florio, who haue so much wrought
To honour hir in bringing Italy
To speake hir language, and to giue hir note
Of all the treasure that rich tongue containes :
Wherein I cannot but admire your paines
In gathering up this vniuersall store,
And furniture of words for enery arte,
And skill of man : So that there seem's no more
Beyond this search, that knowledge can impart.
Which being a worke that would take up the powers
Of more then one whole man, I wonder how
You could subtract so many serious howres
From that great summe of seruice that you owe.
But that it seemes the beaming Gracefulnessse
That lightens from the most refulgent QUEENE
Our sacred Mistris, work's that ablenessse
As mak's you more, then els you could haue beene.
Wherein the power of Princes well is seene
That can infuse such force, and make age greene.
And it were well, if in this season, when
They leaue erecting Churches, Colledges,
And pious monuments, they would build men
Who of their glory may be witnessses,
And what they doe be theirs : As Mazon's raise work's not for them, but for their masters praise
For, would they but be ples'd to know, how small
A portion of that ouer-flowing waste
Which run's from them, would turne the wheeles and all
The frame of wit, to make their glory last :

I thinke they would doe something : but the stirre
still about greatnesse, giues it not the space
To looke out from it selfe, or to conferre.
Grace but by chance, and as men are in place.
But that concern's not me, It is ynow
I doe applaud your worke. Thus from my Plow.

Samuel Daniel.

To my dearely-esteemed friend M.
John Florio.

Kinde friend; the striētnesse of these few-few lines
Can not expresse thy worth, nor my good will;
As for thy worke, I leaue it to the skill,
And sharpest censure of the best engyn's.
Nor can thy choise be better'd, who propynes
Th' industrious labor's of thy painefull quill
To one who is, and was, and shalbe still
That Phæbe, who in fulnesse euer shin's.
She shalbe great Protectrice of thy paines,
And she will weigh this worke at no small rate;
I know hir high Heroike heart disdain's
To show it selfe forgetfull or ingrate:
Els she should wrong that race from whence she spring's Bing Daughter, Sister, Mother, wife to Kings.

FLorio, thou doest deserue a world of flowers,
No garden can supply thy store of merit;
A garland made out of Parnassus bowers
Must girt thy temples and adorne thy spirit.
Thy F O R M E R W O R L D, built up thy Fames high-towers, Whereby eternall praise thou doest inherit;
But this N E W W O R L D, giuen thee by sacred powers
Doeth to a neuer-falling height now reare it.
What Name, but from the Font of Maiesty
Could haue bin giuen vnto so rare a child?
It's fit, whose Sire lues in the Princes eye,
He, should to all hir subiects passe, so stil'd.
The Q U E E N his praïses mak's hirs; hirs hirs are;
