SAINT PETERSBURG

The Sunshine City of Florida. The big little city fit and the Gulf of Mexico.

Twenty-five to fifty thousand annual visitors from all parts of the healthiest and most charming tourist city in America visited this beautiful city and learned of its wonderful and charming bungalows costing from one to five thousand dollars make your winter vacation doubly enjoyable.

Fifty miles of wide avenues paved with vitrified brick, an abundant supply of clean and tasteless artesian well water, electric light and trolley service everywhere, stores and banking institutions that rival those of any city, and the Gulf of Mexico steaming daily and Sunday papers, delightful one-day trips by the Gulf Stream steamers up the Manatee River and to other points. In fact, everything and more than you have been accustomed to await you in this Beautiful City.

I offer gilt edge and safe investments up to $50,000.00, yielding eight per cent. per annum, guaranteeing both principal and interest.

An attractive booklet telling more of this wonder city will be mailed free to those sending name and address to—

ST. PETERSBURG
FLORIDA

If you are anticipating a visit to Florida, either for pleasure or investment, do not overlook St. Petersburg. This city is situated on high, rolling pine land, located between Tampa Bay and the Gulf of Mexico.

A most desirable location with the finest climatic conditions possible, and one of the most beautiful and healthful places in the world, having the combination of bracing salt water breezes of the Gulf of Mexico and the resinous piney woods air. This is a spot where the sun shines all day long, practically every day in the year, and therefore St. Petersburg is known as the Sunshine City. Added to this climate it has provision for all the out-door sports, shooting where there is plenty of game, fishing where there are plenty of the finest of fish. Salt water bathing all the year round, because the salt water of the gulf stream is warm; the finest boating; good automobiling and one of the finest golf links in the world is located near the city.

Many daily steamboat trips may be taken to interesting points. There are twenty miles of street car lines and numerous and attractive drives. The most fascinating attraction about St. Petersburg is the unusual opportunity for investment with profit. Many people have made fortunes within a short space of time; many others have made large profits on small investments. We think there is no place like St. Petersburg in the world in this respect, and many others think the same—the consequence being that the city is continually growing and has unusually bright prospects for the future.

TWENTY MILES OF STREET RAILWAY

Central Avenue, a great boulevard one hundred feet wide, six miles long, straight as an arrow, running due west from Tampa Bay to the Gulf of Mexico, starting through the very heart of the business centre of St. Petersburg, and running west through the entire length of the city proper, and from then on perfectly straight through beautiful high, rolling woodlands to the Boca Ceiga Bay and the Gulf of Mexico. This avenue, just opened by the St. Petersburg Street Railway system, is the principal thoroughfare of St. Petersburg.

Most of the lands traversed by the St. Petersburg Ry. are owned by the St. Petersburg Investment Co., whose offices are located at the corner of Central Avenue and Fourth Street. Part of this property is laid out into building lots, which are being sold at reasonable figures, and other portions are being sold by acres to be sub-divided by the purchasers. These lots are rapidly increasing in value on account of their superior location and transportation facilities. This city is a most desirable place in which to live. It is steadily increasing in permanent population, together with the thousands of tourists who visit there regularly, many of whom have made fortunes in the purchase of real estate. The increasing improvements which are constantly going on, requiring an enormous expenditure of money and the projection of new transportation facilities, are some of the many advantages which tend to develop this beautiful city. A total of nearly a million dollars is now being put into good automobile roads through the country and brick paving in the city. Fine boating, plenty of game and abundance of fish. Salt water bathing all the year around. Daily steamboat excursions to attractive points, etc. No other place like it. Come to see us, or write for further information to

PREFACE

In promulgating the information which is contained in this book we have endeavored to keep the following objects in view:

FIRST.—To furnish such information as will be of general assistance to the shippers and other patrons of the Railway.

SECOND.—To publish lists and advertisements of concerns which it is thought would be advantageous for buyers to patronize, thus bringing the seller and the buyer into direct communication.

THIRD.—To furnish such facts pertaining to the great natural resources of the States of Florida, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia as might enable prospective investors and settlers to form an intelligent opinion of the advantages that will accrue from their location in this field of endeavor.

That those sections of the aforementioned States traversed by the Seaboard Air Line Railway are unexcelled for the various purposes hereinafter enumerated there can be no doubt in the minds of those who follow the reading of these pages with a personal visit, by virtue of which they will be enabled to obtain the minutest details not practicable to exploit within the space allotted. Several months have been consumed in obtaining the data at hand, and notwithstanding this fact it must of necessity be but an abridgement of the history of a territory so bountifully endowed by nature.

The policy of the Seaboard Air Line Railway in recent years has been to co-operate with, and extend reliable information to all those who desired to locate on this great artery of traffic. That policy is still carried out, and the Company's agents in different sections of the country are ever ready to supply prospective investment and home-seekers with valuable data regarding this healthful and fertile section of the Union.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY CITIES AND TOWNS REPRESENTED BY AGENCIES

Manatee Section.—This section comprises that portion of Manatee county traversed by the Seaboard Air Line Railway.—The Manatee lands cover a large portion of the west coast of Florida below the central part of the State. On the north it is bounded by Hillsborough county and by the Tampa bay; it is bounded on the west partly each by Sarasota bay, Tampa bay and the Gulf of Mexico. The name of the county is taken from the Manatee river, which is one of the most beautiful streams in this country. It is nearly one mile wide near its mouth where it empties into Tampa bay. The breezes from and tempered by the above large bodies of warm water have served as an adjunct are of great advantage in that the progress of vegetation is practically never interfered with, as is frequently the case in other climes; but once having a fair start, and with the great advantage of a magnificent soil perfectly adapted, it continues to a luxuriant growth. Manatee is one of the finest trucking centers in all of southern Florida. Here are found great stretches of fine hammock lands which, when placed under proper cultivation, irrigated when necessary, and continuously farmed in an intelligent manner, are always found to be productive of the most superior fruits and vegetables that it is possible to obtain. These lands now cost, when within a reasonable distance from the railway, from $50 to in accelerating the growth of vegetables as well as protecting the orange and grapefruit trees from frost. A freeze is an unknown quantity in Manatee. This county has 50 miles of gulf border, with Tampa bay located on the north, while the Manatee river penetrates the interior. The beneficent breezes, tempered by the Gulf stream, that blow from these large bodies of salt water, together with the salubrious climate, make this county an ideal place in which to live and successfully grow practically all the delicious fruits as well as vegetables that are grown on any other part of the face of the civilized globe. The uniformity of the climate; as well as its mildness,

$1,000 per acre, according to location and quality. The soil here is peculiarly adapted to the production of most delightfully flavored fruits and vegetables, which find a ready market, and bring better prices than the fruits and vegetables raised in any other section of the United States. The Seaboard Air Line Railway carries, during the fruit and vegetable season, many long trainloads of perishables. A view is shown of one of such trains in process of being iced at Palmetto by a refrigerating plant, operated at this point exclusively for the use of icing the Seaboard Air Line Railway cars containing fruits and vegetables grown in Manatee county and shipped to the principal markets of the country. The fast freight schedules operated daily from this section enable growers to reach the New York market in 3 days. The most important industry in Manatee county is that of citrus fruit growing: The Manatee County Orange and Grapefruit are famous the country over. These two crops are principally gathered during the late fall and winter months. The citrus fruit dealers now handle a large portion of the crop in such a manner as to bring to the grower much larger profits than in former years. In the land of Manatee, along the grove has paid to the owner more than $31,000 for two successive crops. Here nature is at her best. Photographs especially taken for this publication will give the reader a clear insight into the true facts and opportunities that exist in Florida at the present time on the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The illustration showing a combination of views of two grapefruit trees burdened with their precious wealth is still further evidence of what is being accomplished in this section of Florida. The cut showing 52 grapefruit on one limb is interesting to prospective

Seaboard Air Line Railway, the orange and the grapefruit reach the highest perfection, and recognizing these values many large groves have been and are continually being planted here, this being the largest fruit shipping county in the State of Florida. A citrus grove begins bearing fruit at 3 years of age, and increases in production, under proper treatment, for 30 years or more. The two largest grapefruit-bearing groves in the world are located here, and there are, of course, an enormous number of other successful groves. A view is given in these pages of a section of a large full-bearing grove in which there are nearly 100 rows each about a mile in length. In addition to having the largest groves, this county has the distinction of having the most productive grove per acre in the State. A 10-acre settlers. Large and magnificent orange groves are scattered all over Manatee, there being no spot in this county on which this juicy fruit will not furnish an opportunity for the profitable investment of money by the grower. Two full pages of orange grove views are given in this book. One of these cuts shows two photographs of the growing of the orange; one featuring the oranges in their early stages, and the other showing the fruit at maturity. The other page cut shows harvesting the fruit. These are splendid living examples of what is being accomplished in the orange industry along the line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway throughout this section of Florida. Further on is to be found a nursery view showing how the young orange trees are grown for replanting; and from this process it

ber; seed beds sown in July and August. This county produces the largest and best quality of celery that goes to the market. The average grower makes from 600 to 1,000 crates per acre. One of the illustrations contained herein shows a section of a field of 35 acres of celery under one cultivation in Manatee county. This is indeed a very fine sight. This special field is located near Sarasota, but in this vicinity other fields of large acreage are being cultivated successfully. In fact, there is no place in Manatee county along the Seaboard Air Line Railway in which this excellent vegetable is not grown with ease and much profit to the growers. Celery is one of the large producers of revenue in the county of Manatee. Lettuce.—Sown in September and transplanted in October and November. The yield of this fine vegetable runs from 400 to 800 hampers per acre. There is an abundant amount of money to be made out of lettuce, as has been demonstrated by the many growers of this vegetable in Manatee county. There is depicted on Pineapples are cultivated and extensively produced in Florida along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The climate and soil are conducive to giving this fruit an exquisite flavor. The cut printed on page 32 shows how they grow.

Guava is a sub-tropical fruit. It makes an excellent jelly; the Guava jelly having a world-wide reputation. Peaches.—The illustration which appears in this publication shows to what extent the peach can be cultivated in this section of Florida on the line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. While Manatee county has become famous as a citrus growing center, the fact must not be overlooked that its fame is now being heralded from one end of the country to the other as the most successful vegetable-producing section to be found in the world. Here are produced celery, tomatoes, cabbage, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, cucumbers, lettuce, beans, egg plant, peppers, cauliflower, onions, squash, okra, peas, beets, carrots, and, in fact, practically every known vegetable for early table use. Celery.—Planted in October and November; seed beds sown in July and August. This county produces the largest and best quality of celery that goes to the market. The average grower makes from 600 to 1,000 crates per acre. vegetable attains in Florida. Egg Plant.—Sown in October and November, transplanted in November, December and January. Yields from 600 to 1,000 crates per acre. For the benefit of our readers, a full-page illustration is given showing the growing and harvesting of egg plant, which represents an important branch of vegetable cultivation in this part of Florida. As will be seen from the photograph of the egg plant field, one of the new methods of irrigation has been adopted. This precaution taken, together with the proper preparation of the ground in the beginning and care of the crop at each successive step of its growth by educated and experienced farmers, result in great success being obtained in the production of this particular vegetable. There is a large quantity of cauliflower grown here and marketed with a good profit. Potatoes.—Irish and sweet potatoes grow luxuriantly in Manatee county. Sweet potatoes are raised for shipment as well as for local consumption. Great quantities of Irish potatoes are raised throughout this entire section and the revenue produced is worthy of note. Squash.—Planted in January; yield from 150 to 200 crates per acre. This vegetable has a ready sale in the various markets at a fair profit to the grower. Okra.—One of the many fine paying crops, and the production of this vegetable here is on the increase. Peas, Beets, Carrots, as well as the various other vegetables which may in the production of this particular vegetable. It is considered an exceedingly profitable industry. Peppers.—In the month of September sweet peppers are sown, then transplanted in October and November. Yield from 500 to 1,000 crates per acre. Views of two fine fields of peppers are shown in a composite picture with the other illustrations. Here, again, the irrigation system comes into play, which at times is a very necessary adjunct to the most extensive production of this valuable vegetable. Peppers are cultivated at a comparatively low cost, and as the prices they bring are exceedingly good there is consequently large profit in raising them. Cauliflower.—Set out in September, October and No-

be grown any place in the country, are grown successfully here, and the profit on the different varieties of vegetables raised in the Manatee section is large in proportion to the amount of capital invested and the labor required. The various vegetables referred to are raised here with much more ease and, consequently, at much less expense than in any other section known. The beet field view, which is combined in the same cut as the lettuce view heretofore referred to, demonstrates how superbly this vegetable grows in Manatee county. Pera Grass.—Yields from 5 to 8 tons of hay per acre. It is fine for pasture. Bermuda Grass.—The yield in this section is good and furnishes excellent pasturage.

Velvet Beans.—Belong to the family of legumes and add nitrogen to the soil. It is one of the largest as well as one of the best hay crops raised in the State. Pertinent to Manatee county for the homeseeker, the Manatee Journal says: "During the past season the truckers reaped a golden harvest. Manatee county offers some exceptional advantages for the homeseeker. The fact that this county is in the southern part of the State and practically immune from devastating frosts and the chilly embraces of winter make it an ideal spot for the truck farmer and fruit grower. One of the strongest points that should be considered by the prospective homeseeker is the long coast line on the Gulf of Mexico, which assures a cool, balmy breeze throughout the summer and is a protection in the winter. Celery, lettuce, tomatoes, peppers, egg-plant, cabbage, cucumbers, beans, etc., are being successfully grown in Manatee county on an enormous scale. The past season a bumper crop of celery was marketed at top-notch prices, and was immediately followed by a record-breaking tomato crop, the latter crop alone bringing in something like $1,000,000. It should be remembered that Manatee county vegetables are matured and shipped to the northern markets many weeks ahead of similar vegetables from any part of the country north of us. These crops reach the markets when there is a big demand for them and when the prices are highest. The Florida truck grower has a real monopoly of the market for many weeks before any other part of the country can possibly come into competition with its products. This county has an established reputation for the excellent quality of its citrus fruit, many of the associations having standing orders from fruit houses in the north. If settlers intend coming to the 'Land of Manatee' they should not put it off too long. Homeseekers are coming here every day and naturally the price of real estate is advancing."

Sarasota, MANATEE COUNTY.—Population 2,000; ten miles south of Bradentown, the county seat. There is perhaps no section of Florida more charming or more important than Sarasota, which is an important integral part of the great county of Manatee. The city of Sarasota is situated on the beautiful Sarasota bay, which extends from the Manatee river to Venice. Sarasota is the first large town in Florida on the Seaboard Air Line Railway north of the southern terminus of the line. This railway extends, however, 24 miles further South, through to Venice. Sarasota has water works, sewerage system, electric light plant, yacht and woman's clubs, schools, churches, low tax rate, and good social conditions. It has many mercantile establishments, several commercial and tourist hotels, two fine club houses, golf course, numerous brick and stone office buildings, newspapers, banks, a number of progressive real estate operators, ice factory, planing mill and lumber concerns, machine and repair shops. The fish industry is also a very important one, and throughout this entire section there are a great many fishermen, as well as large buyers and shippers of fish, who have amassed good-sized fortunes in the last few years. Fishing and hunting are pastimes for which lovers of this sport from afar travel thousands of miles to enjoy in the Sarasota bay district. The waters of Sarasota bay and the gulf are termed by globe-girdling anglers the most alluring fishing places on earth. The illustrations shown give an idea of the fine fish to be found in this locality. Oysters, clams, stone crab and other shellfish are here in quantities. Other principal pursuits—in fact, the greatest of all—engaged in by the citizens of the city and the contiguous territory are the growing of early vegetables and the cultivation of citrus fruit. On the Seaboard Air Line Railway's side tracks are packing-houses capable of handling large quantities of fruits and vegetables. Every farm and packing-house practically in the Sarasota bay district enjoys the advantage of the telephone, bringing them in close communication. The shipping facilities offered by the Seaboard Air Line Railway are unexcelled, which means that the Florida fruit and trucking products reach the New York markets much quicker than do the slightly competitive products of southern California. At Sarasota the outlying keys are crescent-shaped and have good beaches of white sand on both the gulf and bay shores. The charms of this section have been known for some years, but on account of lack of transportation facilities heretofore existing the development was retarded until a few years since. Twenty years ago a Scotch company, seeing the possibilities of this locality, purchased thousands of acres of land within this territory and laid great plans for development. The only means of access was through a small steamboat plying between the then village of Sarasota and Tampa, and under these conditions growth was almost impossible, with the result that the first evidence of a necessity for a railway in this part of the county was shown in the fact that the plans of the Scotch company were "side-tracked." Time passed until 1903, when the Seaboard Air Line Railway completed a line to Sarasota, and, as a result, this place has grown into a town of 2,000 residents, augmented during the winter season by many visitors, for Sarasota is one of Florida's most charming winter resorts for tourists from the North and West. In the meantime the rural lands contiguous to Sarasota have settled rapidly with intelligent farmers, and the surrounding country is dotted with many fine orange groves and wealth-producing truck gardens. In the Sarasota bay district the soil and climate are peculiarly adapted to successful agricultural and fruit culture pursuits. On both mainland and keys there are beautiful locations for winter homes, with adjoining gardens and groves that may be had for prices surprising to those who have invested in water frontage in older localities; yet it is not a case of pioneering to come to Sarasota district. Hard-surfaced roads lead north and south along the mainland shores. There will finally be completed a causeway and bridge across the bay to Sarasota Key and the gulf beach. This will be part of the Manatee county system to be built under a $500,000 bond issue, to connect with those of adjoining counties. The county is now finishing roads under a $250,000 issue, and Sarasota during last summer spent $100,000 on street work. No stronger testimony could be given of the progressive people in this territory. Along the city bay front a sea wall was recently completed, with filling that is being parked for public benefit. Over a mile of space for viewing the scenic wonders of the bay is now complete. Among the numerous handsome illustrations made from photographs of fruits, vegetables and other industries in Manatee county there may be seen displayed in this publication a view of a section of a 35-acre field of celery near Sarasota. This is one of the great vegetables of Florida, and it is hard to find any trucking product which is more easily cultivated, or with more profit to the grower, than this vegetable, which is so splendidly, so successfully, and so largely raised in this part of Florida, traversed by the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

Various fruits and vegetables, as in the case of the views heterogeneously assembled on one of these pages, illustrates the magnificent growth, successful harvesting and profitable marketing of these products. They are the living examples of what is being accomplished in Manatee county, Florida, of which this, the Sarasota section, is playing so important a part. They are, therefore, reliable indexes to the existing conditions and serve better than a longer discourse on this subject. The best advice to be given to prospective settlers is to the effect that they should get in touch with the various real estate men in each locality in Florida, either through correspondence or by a personal visit to Florida. eastern side of the railway are muck and saw grass lands and on the western side are pine and hammock lands. Development of these lands is now going on at a rapid rate, and here are to be found opportunities for the profitable investment of money. These lands at the present time are largely employed for the purpose of raising cattle. One of the great ranches of the South is located in this region. Naturally the lands are good for grazing, but when they have undergone the proper cultivation they become very valuable for the still more successful raising and marketing of beef cattle. These lands are superior for trucking and unexcelled for the purpose of producing the finest of oranges, grape-will also be gladly furnished by the Industrial Department of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The Sarasota section is a sub-section of the famous territory embraced by Manatee and portions of adjoining counties known as the "Manatee section." The Sarasota section borders the Gulf of Mexico from the Manatee river to Lemon bay. One of the most attractive and productive regions opened up by the Seaboard Air Line Railway are those lands embraced in the territory between Sarasota and Venice. By including the territory contiguous to the railway, there are more than one hundred square miles benefited by this extension. The railway terminates on the south side of the Bay of Venice. On the

A portion of the land is covered with palmetto and native grasses, but these are being gradually replaced by cowpeas, velvet beans, the Bermuda, Pera and Crab grasses, cassava, peanuts, rice, sugar cane, etc. Not only are they well adapted for the products mentioned, but they are also peculiarly adapted to the raising of various kinds of vegetables, such as tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce, potatoes, beans, peas and celery; of the latter there is produced a larger quantity than grown on the same amount of land in any other section of the United States. These lands are easily drained, as numerous creeks are found, and wells are being driven from time to time. In addition to these fine flowing wells, the latest improved system of irrigation is being installed. This system consists of numerous overhead pipes generally supported about seven feet above the surface of the ground. These pipes are fed primarily from a 4-inch main which extends through the center of the field, or at intervals of considerable distances in cases where an extra large acreage is under one cultivation. From this main, about fifty feet apart, extend the laterals of 1-inch pipe. There are nozzles on these laterals every four feet, which afford a passage of water in spray form. The present rapid development heretofore mentioned of these lands furnishes a splendid opportunity for settlers to locate here for the purpose of engaging in the fruit and vegetable industry. Oneco, MANATEE COUNTY.—Pop. 400; 7 miles north of Sarasota. Fine fruits and vegetables. There is located here a wonderful nursery, affording a lavish display of semi-tropical and tropical plants, shrubs and flowers. About 80 varieties of palms are scattered through this nursery. Here the banana shrub bears its sweetness in the form of little budding flowers and scents the air with a delightful and restful fragrance. Some of the hot-houses are an acre each in extent; some of glass and some of lath. Only the propagation houses are necessary to be under glass, as the climate is exceedingly mild and salubrious. Practically all of the citrus fruits and temperate zone plants of rare beauty are to be seen here, and the various heated houses are filled to overflowing with plants. Among some of the tropical trees and fruit plants grown here may be mentioned the following varieties: Pineapple, date, cocoanut, cherimoya or Jamaica apple, custard apple, sugar apple, antidema bunius, averrhœa carambola, melon fruit, carissa arduina, shakewood tree, cupania supida kai-apple, surinam cherry, rose apple, grewia denticulata, barbadoa cherry, mango, bananas of various kinds, avocado pear, guava, sapodilla, tamarind, limeberry, java plum and scores of others.

Bradentown, MANATEE COUNTY.—Population 3,000. This is the capital of the great county of Manatee, famous for its fruit and vegetable productiveness. As the governments of the towns of Bradentown and Manatee, as well as that of Manatee county, are so closely allied, it might seem appropriate to state that the continued wealth floating into this county by virtue of the enormous shipments of perishables is the greatest of all reasons for the prosperity which exists in these enterprising towns. The splendid railway facilities offered by the Seaboard Air Line Railway furnish the necessary outlet for the prompt marketing of perishables. The output of fruit and vegetables from Manatee county is now annually from one and one-half million to two million packages. These two products represent approximately one to two million dollars to the growers and farmers cultivating Manatee lands. In addition to this source of revenue there are other important industries of great value, such as those of the raising of cattle and hogs. Naval stores, lumber and fisheries afford an additional and enormous influx of money to the coffers of the owners of these enterprises. Millions of pounds of fish are shipped annually from points on the river, bays and gulf along the Manatee coast. Throughout this entire section the people are cultured and hospitable. The schools of Bradentown, Manatee and adjoining towns compare favorably with the grade schools of any State, North, East or West. Both the grammar and high schools are under the supervision of a competent superintendent and a corps of teachers. These schools are open to the children of tourists free of charge. All the towns in this vicinity have good streets, good sidewalks and fine hard surfaced roads, running to Sarasota and, in fact, not only to practically all parts of Manatee and adjacent counties, but through and between all the large bodies of lands which are all extensively cultivated by the successful fruit and vegetable growers. Bradentown has several banks, opera-house, quite a number of hotels and boarding-houses. A number of progressive real estate dealers are located here, and no set of men at any point have ever done more than these operators to build up the center of the greatest fruit and vegetable producing section known to exist. They have, with unabated fervor, continued their efforts in this direction, which, combined with the hearty support and co-operation of the other substantial citizens of the city, have resulted in building up a town valuable as a point of business and delightful as a place of residence. There are numerous opportunities here for the investment of money in real estate, as well as in manufacturing plants requiring only limited capital, which will fill the present requirements of the city. With the town increasing so rapidly, the demands for additional plants for the manufacture of a variety of articles would seem to be the natural conclusion. Sectional long-distance views of Bradentown, forming a composite cut, are shown on one of these pages, and from this it will be observed that the town has a fine waterfront. It will be readily seen that the geographical location of a town in this vicinity is superior to the average, and as the real estate values at present are far below what they will naturally be in the not far distant future, we speak advisedly when we say that the lands may be purchased at the present time for less than their true value, as it is a foregone conclusion that a land so wonderfully endowed by nature must, of necessity, become more in demand as time progresses, and as the ever-increasing population clamor for the delicious fruits and superior vegetables which are raised on these lands. In 1900 Bradentown was an unincorporated village of 350 people; in 1910, according to the United States census, there were located here in round numbers 1,900 people. The city's increase in population is indicative of its rapid growth and prosperity. Surrounded as all the towns are in this section with such productive lands and climatic conditions, there is no question about the ultimate future of Bradentown. Manatee, MANATEE COUNTY.—This enterprising town is located on a spot of unusual natural beauty, attractive and easily accessible by land or water. Its interests are identical with Bradentown, and these two towns are located only a little more than a mile apart. What has been said in regard to Bradentown applies to Manatee. They are beneficiaries of the large influx of money resulting from the cultivation, harvesting and marketing of the products of this county. Both have fine residential and good business locations. The streets, in regular square blocks, run east and west along the Manatee river, lined on either side with stately rows of venerable live oaks with streamers of Spanish moss dangling from their limbs. These rows of oaks are interspersed with fine hedges of oleander and gorgeous clusters of palmettos, which scene is further embellished with garlands of sub-tropical plants of numerous varieties. Here are found the golden fruits—the fine guava, sapodillas, winding fringes of banana trees, mangoes, tamarinds. Real estate investments in the way of town property or in the outlying farm lands should prove exceedingly remunerative, as values throughout this entire section are increasing rapidly. Manavista, MANATEE COUNTY.—Pop. 100. This is the location of one of the largest grapefruit groves in the world, and is one of the most beautiful estates in the county. It has an output of grapefruit of wonderful magnitude.

There are also numerous other equally fine producing grapefruit groves in this locality. The citrus fruits in this section have never been killed by a freeze or injured by a frost. Palmetto, MANATEE COUNTY.—Pop. 1,500. This town is headquarters for a number of the citrus growers and operators of the trucking lands, many acres being under cultivation nearby. Not only are the most fertile citrus and trucking lands under cultivation here, but thousands of acres are still undeveloped awaiting the hand of capital and labor. The opportunities for the investment of money profitably in these lands are unexcelled in any other part of the United States. The real estate men located here have done a world of good for this section, and they are continuing in their onward march of development in order to meet the requirements of new settlers who are continually taking up their habitation in these parts. These real estate operators are in a position to furnish any information desired by prospective investors, or further literature on the subject will be furnished by the General Industrial Department of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. There are a great many orange groves near Palmetto, some of them exceedingly large, and all producing large quantities of this juicy and luscious fruit. The government has inaugurated a pre-cooling plant for experimental purposes at Palmetto, Fla. This arrangement will lower the temperature in refrigerator cars to the same extent as ice would accomplish. After this process the fruits and vegetables are then loaded and the cars are iced to their capacity. It will be seen that this is a very happy solution of the refrigeration of perishables. Throughout this wonderful fruit and vegetable country are to be found hard roads in fine condition, extending miles in every direction, making it easy to reach transportation facilities. Palmetto has two splendidly conducted banks, a $28,000 brick school building, which is a most modern institution of learning; finely paved streets, concrete sidewalks, water works, public library, electric lighting plant and all the conveniences possessed by a much larger town. The Board of Trade suggests the following industries as likely to prove profitable: A brick plant and planing mill, as there is a wonderful amount of building going on; crate factory, stave and cooperage plant, as the shipments of fruits and vegetables from this section are enormous. In order to give an idea of the extent of this industry it may be stated that there are now twelve packing-houses located in Palmetto. There is also a mammoth ice plant located here and used exclusively for icing the Seaboard Air Line Railway's cars for the immense shipments of fruits and vegetables consumed in the large Northern and Western markets. Buyers flock here for nine months in the year from every large center in the United States, and for this reason the small shipper secures the same advantage as the carload producer. Throughout this entire section the produce is bought in the field, at the packing-house or contracted for here, where the highest price is obtained by reason of the modern methods of handling and the rapid transit supplied by the Seaboard Air Line Railway in landing the perishables at the large markets of the North and West. Other industries are developing, such as canning and jelly factories, the former to can a portion of the enormous vegetable crops and the latter for making the well-known guava and other high-class jellies incident to the production of the highly flavored fruits abounding here in such great profusion. Terra Ceia, MANATEE COUNTY.—Pop. 600. town is not thickly populated on account of being composed principally of a succession of beautiful groves and highly cultivated vegetable farms. Terra Ceia has a bank, several general merchandise stores, public library, graded school and several packing-houses for crating the products shipped from this point. A drug store and hotel will no doubt prove profitable investments. Terra Ceia is located near the mouth of the Manatee river, surrounded by the waters of Tampa bay and Terra Ceia bay, which give it an immunity from frost equal to portions of the State 100 miles further south, as evidenced by the grapefruit and the orange having been uninjured by the disastrous freezes in the past. The soil is marl hammock and very productive. This is one of the richest spots in the famous county of Manatee. Celery, pepper, egg plant, lettuce and tomatoes are the principal vegetables raised on Terra Ceia Island, of which Terra Ceia is the center. This island is divided into five and ten acre tracts, each irrigated by artesian wells. Here the vegetables named, as well as other varieties, reach the highest state of perfection. One may obtain a truly beautiful sight by taking an automobile tour on the fine hard surfaced roads winding mile after mile around and through the gorgeous groves and farms on Terra Ceia Island. Several of the illustrations shown herein have been made from photographs taken at Terra Ceia and in contiguous territory, especially for publication in this book. They show the cultivation and harvesting of egg plant, the growing of Irish potatoes, peppers and other vegetables. The fields are splendidly equipped with the latest method of irrigation. A celebrated orange grove may be seen along one of the fine roads at Terra Ceia. This is a ten-acre grove and is one of the most wonderful in the world, having averaged the owner an income of over $15,000 per year for many years. It contains 200 trees to the acre, while the usual number of trees planted per acre is from 68 to 80. The trees are as thick as hops, so to speak, and the growth is so dense that when passing between the rows one has to stoop in order to walk under the extending branches. There are other groves, however, similarly productive located on Terra Ceia Island, reaching the greatest possible state of perfection known on account of the fertility of the soil and the existing favorable climatic conditions. On the main line of the Seaboard Air Line Ry. north of this island is to be found the largest known grapefruit grove, consisting of 300 acres of full-bearing trees, with 100 acres more coming into bearing next season. The lands on Terra Ceia Island are largely planted with trees bearing magnificent grapefruit, of which product there were shipped last year about 100,000 boxes. In this section may be found splendid opportunities for the investment of money in lands for fruit and vegetable cultivation. At the end of three years after planting, when a grove becomes full-bearing, the revenue from each year's crop per acre is about the same amount as it costs per acre to buy the land. These are present values. This island is truly the garden spot of the world. Parrish, MANATEE COUNTY.—Pop. 800. Principal source of revenue in this section is derived from the cultivation and shipping of such citrus fruit as oranges, grapefruit and tangerines. It also produces large quantities of early vegetables, such as tomatoes, lettuce, celery, cucumbers and other varieties. Considerable revenue is also derived from the naval stores industry. There is no bank at Parrish, and we are advised by some of the substantial citizens that an institution of this kind with a limited capital will unquestionably pay handsome returns. Good fruit and vegetable lands may be purchased here at reasonable figures. This is an ideal spot for the early raising of these products. Wimauma, HILLSBORO COUNTY.—Pop. 300. This town is located in a fruit and vegetable producing region, these products being the principal source of revenue. Boyette, HILLSBORO COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Fruits and vegetables are the chief pursuits, and these products are raised and shipped to quite a large extent.

Tampa, HILLSBORO COUNTY.—Population 65,000. Tampa is the great metropolis of South Florida. It is the second largest city in the State. The climate is one of its chief charms, it being an all-year-round resort for tourists, and nowhere on the face of the globe is to be found more charming, cultured and progressive people. It is known far and wide for its hospitality, climate, hotels, real estate development and manufactures, especially the manufacture of cigars. The educational advantages are excellent. There are numerous churches, clubs and other social features. Commercially it is a city of great importance, having a far-reaching wholesale and retail trade in practically every line of merchandise. It is the nearest port in the United States to the Panama Canal. It is the center of the great fruit and vegetable producing lands of South Florida and is surrounded by a rich rural section with numerous small towns, all contributing to the welfare and prosperity of this enterprising city. Tampa is blessed with fine transportation facilities, having steamship lines direct to New York, Mobile and various points on the Hillsboro and Manatee rivers throughout the southern portions of Florida, and rail lines extending in every direction, the most important of which is the Seaboard Air Line Railway. From various points the several boat lines touch Tampa, and from the hundreds of inland points possessing the superior rail transportation facilities of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, the Tampa Northern Railroad, the Tampa & Gulf Coast Railway, Atlantic Coast Line and other railways, there is handled an enormous amount of products to and from this valuable section of the great State of Florida. Oranges and other fruits abound in great profusion. The full-page illustration herein shows a single grapefruit tree only three years old photographed near Tampa. This is considered the most magnificent tree bearing grapefruit at this age known, and was cultivated without the use of fertilizer. Other resources, in addition to fruits and trucking products, are phosphate, naval stores and lumber. Within a distance of 100 miles there are to be found in several directions immense phosphate beds, where the various investments will total more than $50,000,000. These mines employ thousands of men, many of the plants running night and day, in consequence of which millions of tons of phosphate rock are shipped to all parts of the globe. A very large proportion of this product is shipped via the Seaboard Air Line Railway to Tampa and Fernandina, where steamers receive it and take it coastwise as well as to foreign ports. The naval stores industry in several directions is a large source of revenue to Tampa, there being enormous quantities of rosin and turpentine shipped from the rural sections adjacent via the various transportation lines. A great many of these shipments originate on the Seaboard Air Line Railway, while others originate on the connecting lines running into Tampa, received by this Company and carried from this point to destination or to the terminals where it is turned over to the steamers for export. The illustration depicted in this connection shows the splendid terminal facilities of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. In the pine-producing districts, where the timber has been turpented to its fullest extent, the lumberman begins his harvest. There are, of course, large bodies of other varieties of timber which are being cut. The total amount of all classes of timber cut and lumber manufactured results in bringing to the State an enormous amount of money. Lumber, as well as the more extensively manufactured timber products, furnish a great deal of tonnage for the railways. Tampa receives directly and indirectly a large benefit from the demands made upon the State in this respect. Another of the many resources of Tampa is that of the fish to be found in the waters here. The fish industry alone gives employment to more than a thousand men and comprises a fishing fleet of nearly 500 boats. The wealth of any city and its inhabitants is determined largely by the natural resources found within its zone, and in this respect Tampa is far ahead of the average city. The location is ideal, climatically and geographically. It is so conveniently situated, not only to the enormous wealth of the natural resources referred to above, but its drawing power as a trade center and its superior advantages as a manufacturing point place it upon a pinnacle of superbly located cities. Tampa is situated 79 feet above the sea level, and as a place of residence is unexcelled. There are but few points where the temperature is so uniform as at Tampa. On the hottest days in eastern and western cities there is invariably a gentle breeze blowing here, and there is no such thing as sleepless nights because of heat. Tampa has a variety of industries, among the more important of which the following may be mentioned: A great many large cigar factories; cigar box factory; iron and machine works; boiler works; brass and iron foundries; the building of dredges, cranes and derricks of immense power; gasoline lamp factory; trunk factory; carriage, wagon and harness factories; broom factories; palmetto brush factory; numerous wood-working establishments; cooperage works; crate material factory, making tile, brick and blocks; cornice works, sheet metal and galvanized iron roofing works; cider and vinegar works; bottling works; coffee roasters and mills; soap factory; two fertilizer factories; patent medicine factory; furniture factory; heater and ventilator factories; marble and granite works; shipbuilding works; ship yards; sail makers; clothing factories; brewery; several ice and cold-storage plants. There is located here the largest and best equipped cold-storage plant in the South. Tampa is exceptionally fortunate in its newspapers, having a morning paper ably edited and well managed. The evening paper is also a bright and newsy sheet. A weekly paper keeps abreast with the latest news of the truck and fruit industries, which are so important to this State especially. The above, and also two weekly papers, are printed in English, while there are two others printed in Spanish and

Italian, which are circulated, to a large extent, in Ybor City, the habitation of the bulk of the cigarmakers. Tampa has several fine hotels and some excellent restaurants, which are conducted the year round. The hotels easily accommodate 5,000 tourists. The banking facilities are adequate for its needs, as the city has a number of financial institutions, all strong, progressive, conservative and well able to extend such assistance as the business demands of the city and surrounding community require. Tampa proper and West Tampa have together about 75 miles of brick paving, and there are also in this immediate section over 200 miles of surfaced roads, radiating to various points, so that motoring here is a perpetual delight. The roads referred to are located in Hillsboro county, of which Tampa is the county seat, but they connect with other fine roads leading to all the principal points throughout the State, as well as connecting with the various national highways. The roads in this county have been important factors in accelerating the great progress made by the farmers in marketing their crops, as well as enabling them to traverse quickly their numerous large plantations, of which there are many. As indicated by the "Florida Good Roads" illustration on preceding page, it will be observed that the city of Tampa and other cities of this great State are wide awake to the advantages offered by such improvements over other localities not so fortunate. One of the views in this combination cut shows a section of a fine road running from Tampa to Tarpon Springs, where is conducted the largest sponge industry in the State. There are over 200 factories making clear Havana cigars in this city. These factories employ 15,000 men and women in the different branches of the industry, and turn out on an average of 1,000,000 cigars for each working day of the year. Calculating this output on the basis of an average price of $85 per thousand, which is a conservative estimate, it will be seen that the revenue from this product alone amounts to many millions of dollars. This industry has shown an increase in output of more than 100 per cent, during the past ten years. One of the largest factories made last year by actual count over 18,000,000 cigars. Interesting interior views of this factory are displayed on these pages. One shows the workers selecting the wrappers used in the manufacture of the cigars; the other the cigarmakers in their commodious and well-ventilated cigar-making room. A few of the other factories make almost as many cigars, and the majority of the remaining smaller factories do a correspondingly large business. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue advises that all the Tampa internal revenue receipts returned for the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending last June aggregate $913,104.23. Tampa has one of the most attractive government buildings in any southern city, being surrounded by beautiful and stately palms. This building, as well as other views, are featured on these pages, from which it will be seen that Tampa is an exceedingly beautiful city. Its citizens have been tireless in their efforts to let the world know of the wonders of this charming spot, and they have been remarkably fortunate in this respect, which is evidenced by the fact that people from all parts of the country are gradually locating here. The city is destined to become a metropolis of much greater importance, and for that reason investments in this direction would seem wise. Tampa is a semi-business, semi-tourist city, and accomplishes a full proportion in each capacity; therefore it is much more important than the average city. In addition to being unexcelled as a winter resort, it is also of great interest for the various reasons heretofore suggested. Tampa is South Florida's progressive center. Hillsboro county has recently voted a bond issue of $1,000,000 to extend its good roads system, and work of building 75 miles of good brick road will soon be under way. If any further evidence of the progressive spirit of that portion of the State is needed it is found in this action for good roads. Tampa, situated on a land-locked harbor, with 24 feet of water and ample dock facilities, has made progress fast. It is the foremost phosphate rock exporting point in the world and the volume of this traffic is evidenced by the Seaboard Air Line Railway's plan for an additional modern phosphate plant now in progress of construction at a cost of $100,000. This elevator will have a capacity of 300 tons of phosphate rock per hour, making a total of 600 tons per hour by the completed facilities. Tampa's surroundings should be given consideration in determining reasons for its upward growth. The "Big Five"—Pasco, Polk, Hillsboro, Pinellas and Manatee County—lying immediately adjacent to Tampa, comprise the richest early vegetable and fruit lands in the South, and are a strong competitor of the Pacific Coast. Attracted by its wonderful climate and soil conditions this fruit-growing district is growing by leaps and bounds, and new fruit trees are being set out which will in a short time largely increase the production. The beautiful Pinellas Peninsula, which lies at Tampa's door, has long attracted attention. It now has under construction a fifty mile railroad, a large timber development, and the bringing in of its rich fruit and vegetable lands. Polk, rich in phosphate, and producing half million boxes of citrus fruit last year, has a railroad extension, phosphate development and timber development under way. Manatee, with its protection from frost, on whose lands the trucker and fruit grower last season reaped a golden harvest, has new areas of rich lands coming in, a fifty-mile railroad and large timber development under way. The opportunities here in the Tampa district for expansion can be observed from the quoted land area: Hillsboro, 850,560 acres; Manatee, 855,680 acres; Polk, 1,224,080 acres; Pasco, 490,880 acres. On these rich lands, where three to four annual crops can be grown, there is found a wide selection for the fruit grower, trucker, dairyman, cattle raiser and homeseeker. The millions noted, which will be spent in this district, spell opportunity for many. Ybor City, HILLSBORO COUNTY.—Pop. 20,000. Ybor City is practically a part of Tampa, notwithstanding the fact that the two cities have separate corporations. The favorable comments which have been made in regard to Tampa as regards the climate and advantages as a manufacturing center will apply to Ybor City. This place is the headquarters for a large part of the tobacco interests in this section. There are a great many cigar factories located at this point, and this is the principal manufacturing business. Brooksville, HERNANDO COUNTY.—T. N. R.R. Pop. 2,000. This town recently sold an issue of $100,000 worth of bonds for good roads. Brooksville is improving very rapidly. Considerable building is going on, and new investments are being established from time to time. There are located here two banking institutions, a newspaper, a good hotel, lumber plants, a crate factory, uable connections of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The Tampa Northern Railroad extends from Tampa to Brooksville, a distance of 49 miles, at which point it has a further extension of 17 miles from the main line to Centralia. This and numerous points along its line are wonderfully resourceful in timber, consisting of fine bodies of virgin pine, which afford splendid investment opportunities. The view published showing virgin timber along the Tampa Northern Railroad is but one of hundreds of similar scenes. The revenue produced by the "cut" from these vast tracts of timber is having its result in Tampa and other towns along the line of this railway, and it is only a question of time when throughout all this county there will be found thousands of acres covered with fine citrus groves and trucking farms, for which the soil is so well adapted and the climatic conditions so favorable. Centralia is one of the largest lumber shipping points in this entire region, having a magnificent and well-equipped lumber plant, from which are shipped millions of feet of timber products per annum via the Tampa Northern Railroad and its connection to the Eastern markets. This town is mentioned especially in connection with that of Brooksville, as it is a large contributor to the trading interests of the latter point. In view of the enormous amount of timber to be found in contiguous territory, Brooksville is unquestionably a profitable point for the investment of money in lands and for manufacturing purposes. Tarpon Springs, PINELLAS COUNTY.—Pop. 3,500. Mexico on the Tampa & Gulf Coast Railway, which connects with the Tampa Northern Railway, and is located in a splendid citrus fruit and truck growing country. The greatest business carried on at Tarpon Springs is that of the sponge industry. The aggregate of sponges taken in the Mediterranean countries is the greatest in the world, but it is claimed that no single port elsewhere assembles as many sponges as Tarpon Springs. The divers are nearly all Greeks, and their method of diving for sponges is the one now in vogue in the Gulf of Mexico along the border of this part of the State of Florida. The illustrations given in this book in regard to this subject here and at Cedar Key are from photographs specially taken for the purpose of publishing something which may prove of interest to the readers regarding this novel industry, for there is nothing similar to it in this country. The various sponges which the divers bring to Tarpon Springs for sale at the sponge exchange are the wool, yellow and grass sponge varieties. These sponges are harvested from the bottom of the Gulf opposite this town by Greeks protected by diving-suits and helmet. The Greeks are industrious and law-abiding members of the community. They are trained sponge divers, and some of them can work to a depth of 150 feet. The divers work from gaily painted boats of Greek model hundreds of years old, being sharp at both ends, lateen sail, rig and equipped with sweep oars. These boats are usually about 25 feet long and very seaworthy. There are always numbers of these boats to be seen in the Anclote river at the sponge exchange, either unloading sponges, fitting out for a trip or undergoing repairs. Here is seen a great variety of interests, for there is also boat building going on all the time, mostly by Greeks and the Greek method of construction. The results obtained by the sponge divers are to be seen twice a week at the exchange, having been transported there by sponge schooners built specially for this purpose. A sale at the sponge exchange is indeed quite an interesting sight. It is conducted by sealed bids every Tuesday and Friday, and there is generally quite a flutter of excitement upon the opening up of the various bids. The annual sales amount to about $1,000,000, which give the 2,000 Greeks, a large proportion of whom are sponge divers with headquarters at Tarpon Springs, quite a considerable income. Lake Butler, east of the town, teems with black bass. The gulf grouper and Spanish mackerel are abundant. The celebrated Tarpon fish, from which Tarpon Springs takes its name, while not so abundant as formerly, are occasionally seen. Clearwater, the seat of PINELLAS COUNTY, has a population of 2,500. This town is situated on the Gulf of Mexico and is the second largest town located in the territory embraced along the route of the new extension of the Tampa & Gulf Coast Railway between Tampa and St. Petersburg. It will be but a short time until this railroad will serve this town, putting it in close touch with Tampa. Clearwater has several large citrus fruit packing-houses, banks, as well as various industrial and commercial enterprises. The new extension of the Tampa & Gulf Coast Railway will open up fine timber lands which will, when cleared, increase the citrus fruit growing and vegetable producing lands hundreds of thousands of acres. The timber cut and manufactured, the raising of vegetables and the cultivation of fruit will furnish, in the course of time, enormous quantities of traffic for the new road. Most of this traffic will pass through and be of great benefit to Tampa, the Seaboard Air Line Railway and other transportation lines over which it passes before finally reaching the world's markets. Largo, PINELLAS COUNTY.—Pop. 1,000. This is the next station of importance on the new extension of the Tampa & Gulf Coast Railway to St. Petersburg. Largo is quite a fruit and vegetable producing section, citrus fruits especially being a large industry here.

St. Petersburg, PINELLAS COUNTY.—Has a population of 8,000. St. Petersburg, on the Pinellas Peninsula, is the terminus of the Tampa & Gulf Coast Railway. It is unique among Florida cities. It is called "The Sunshine City," as much for the bright and cheerful cordiality of its people as for its delightful peninsular climate and seemingly perpetual sunny days. At present the Seaboard Air Line Railway's regular patrons between St. Petersburg and the East are being taken care of by boat between this city and Tampa, but with the completion of the Tampa & Gulf Coast Railway there will be still further facilities for the transportation of the public in this section. St. Petersburg's claims upon the interest of tourists are many, the chief among them being its magnificent water front, with its attendant privileges of boating, fishing and near-by surf bathing all year. A bird's-eye view is included, with other illustrations, in this publication. They, however, give but a faint idea of the full proportions of this city; one must go to see. The many broad, brick-paved streets provide ample provision for luxurious motoring, while the pedestrian is thankful for the scores of miles of substantial sidewalks, seats placed invitingly at frequent intervals and the cool green shade in the charming parks. The relation of every citizen to every visitor is that of host to guest. Health and sanitary conditions are excellent. Boarding and lodging accommodations are moderate in price and varied sufficiently in style to meet the requirements of all visitors. Its commercial activities are characterized by the utmost energy and efficiency. Its civic spirit and public improvements are of a nature and kind that have resulted in placing it among the foremost cities of the State. It has a very large number of substantial real estate operators who have done and who are doing now a great deal to promote the welfare of the city. In fact, it is due more to them than to any other cause that has made St. Petersburg grow so rapidly and become so famous as a winter resort throughout the world. Tourists come here from every part of the globe. New investments are being made continually. Some of the operators are native Southerners and some are from the North and West. They have joined hands in working for the cause of this prosperous town; the former having influenced nearby capital, while the latter have brought here for investment enormous amounts of money from their native lands. These investments have proven exceedingly remunerative. Plenty of good opportunities exist here for further investment in real estate, as the city's augmentation is unquestionably permanent. Bartow, Polk County.—Pop. 7,000. This is the terminus of one of the branch of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, which extends from the main line into the interior, and is 27 miles from Plant City on the main line. It has not been so long since this line was completed. A cut of the Seaboard's new passenger station is shown on these pages, as are also views of one of Bartow's handsome streets and the county court house. The latter picture shows a large party of prospective settlers preparatory to taking an automobile tour through the agricultural regions traversed by the numerous fine hard-surfaced roads of this county. Bartow is the capital of Polk, one of the best-managed counties in the whole of Florida. It has several well-conducted and prosperous banks, numerous commercial establishments, a number of manufacturing plants and various other industries, which, combined with large shipments of vegetables, has contributed to the growth of the town. The citizens are enterprising and always ready to lend a helping hand to newcomers. Polk has more phosphate within its borders than any other county in the United States, and has the largest individual phosphate plant in the world. This section is rich in timber and turpentine, the immense forests covering thousands of acres. A whole page of this publication has been devoted to a sectional view of one of the vast tracts of virgin timber on the Seaboard Air Line Railway in Polk county. It is also exceedingly wealthy in available agricultural lands, admirably located, with numerous small and picturesque lakes. Polk county is so rich in natural resources that it ranks as the fourth richest county in Florida, and contains 1,250,000 acres. The first impression of Bartow is that it is picturesquely different, because of its semi-tropical scenery; also it is delightfully different from the average town because of the atmosphere being laden with the odors of the banana and the strange plants in the gardens of its inhabitants. The second impression, which is also a correct one, is that Bartow is a solid place in which to live and in which to do business, because of the underlying solidity of the town itself and the vast resources which lend their influence to the popularity of the county. It is 210 miles south of Jacksonville, 45 miles east of Tampa, and is, therefore, within easy access of deep water. Bartow has an elevation of 116 feet above the sea level. The general health conditions are first-class. In order that prospective settlers may be apprised of the advantage which should accrue to them in enhanced valuation of farm lands, it is worthy of note to cite the instance of one farmer having purchased, about ten years ago, a body of land consisting of 200 acres at $30 per acre in its virgin state, which is to-day, at a conservative estimate, worth $50,000. This goes to prove what rapid developments may be expected from the fertile soil of this region. There are a number of other smaller farms which have been developed in proportion, and there still remains other valuable undeveloped cut-over and forest lands which may be had at reasonable figures.

abundantly here, so also does the greatest of forage crops, that of cassava. Para grass is here economically grown by planting between rows of corn while cultivating; then when the corn is ready to harvest the pasture is ready for the cattle. The custom here is to run hogs on the Para grass pastures until ready to fatten, when a few bushels of cassava or corn puts them in prime condition for market. The result is that the hog-raising industry has become an important factor in this section. Mulberry, POLK COUNTY.—Pop. 2,500. This is the location of a large portion of the great phosphate industry, which is conducted on an enormous scale in these parts. Throughout this section, along the Seaboard Air Line Railway, which was recently extended to Bartow, are to be found enormous beds of phosphate. This is the soft rock. Here also

Vegetation is prolific in these parts, vegetables and fruits being grown very extensively. Numerous orange and grapefruit groves are located on the lands in every direction from Bartow. These groves bring large revenue to the citizens of Polk county. The trucking lands hereabouts are planted with almost all varieties of vegetables, such as beans, egg plant, peppers, okra, Irish potatoes, cabbage, etc. Some of the views in this publication are of sections of fields growing a number of these vegetables, which demonstrates what is being accomplished on the Seaboard Air Line Railway in Florida. Cattle raising is one of the largest and most prosperous industries in Polk county; the illustration of the cattle ranch depicted speaks for itself. Para grass is one of the fine fodders which grows are located mammoth plants manufacturing and shipping phosphates. The revenue derived from this source is something wonderful. To give an idea of Mulberry as an important phosphate center it might be mentioned that in contributory territory within 15 miles of this point there are 16 of the largest phosphate mining plants in the world. The total annual shipments made by these plants aggregate two and one-quarter million tons. Illustrations of this industry are featured herein. Mulberry has banks, ice plants, several well-equipped mercantile establishments, foundry and machine shops, lumber plants, naval stores and other industries. This town is an integral part of the county of Mulberry, noted for its superior soil for vegetable and fruit culture. Coronet, HILLSBORO COUNTY.—Pop. 1,000. Location of an immense phosphate industry. Plant City, HILLSBORO COUNTY.—Pop. 4,000. Junction of the Seaboard Air Line Railway running between this point and Bartow with the Company's main line running from the southern termini eastward. At Plant City are assembled from the territory embraced between this city, Bartow, Agricola, McDowell, Mulberry, Nichols, Welcome, Royster and Coronet, trainloads of phosphates transported by the Seaboard Air Line Railway to interior points, as well as for export and coastwise markets through Tampa, where this railway has immense phosphate elevators for transferring the phosphate to the vessels. Plant City has a number of banks, lumber and crate-making plants, foundry and machine works, cold-storage plant, brick kiln, fruit and vegetable packing-houses. It is the center of a fine region in which large quantities of agricultural products are raised, especially vegetables. The harvests of vegetables and fruits in this and adjacent territory keep three large packing-houses busy during the shipping season. Another bank and commodious hotel, also a canning factory to take care of the surplus products which now go to waste after the shipping season is over, would unquestionably prove profitable. Some of the leading citizens think that the latter would pay handsome returns, because at the end of the season prices on vegetables begin to dwindle in the Eastern markets. The remaining unshipped part of the crops could be utilized to advantage by such a factory. From this same source of information we learn that the citizens of this city will be glad to render a helping hand to newcomers in the establishment of additional factories and other enterprises. Zephyrhills, PASCO COUNTY.—Pop. 2,500. Thirty-eight miles north from Tampa and 173 miles south of Jacksonville. At this writing less than four years old. This certainly is a wonderfully progressive town; it has accomplished more within the space of its existence than the average town. Its citizenship is made up of people from every section of the country, who have come here and invested in farm lands which have not only proved what was claimed for them as to their productive qualities, but real estate values have shown a material increase each year. The original citizens who established this colony displayed much foresight in sub-dividing the lands into tracts of minimum size and price, so as to place them within the reach of settlers with small capital. Some of these settlers purchased single tracts of 10 to 20 acres, while others purchased several tracts, but in no case was more land sold to purchasers than they were able to cultivate according to the latest and most intelligent methods. The result of this arrangement has proved satisfactory all around. It has been demonstrated that the farmers are most successful when they undertake the tillage of a limited amount of land, within their capacity; their success acting as a stimulus to renewed efforts each year. Each new settler, seeing the success of his neighbor, and finding how easily success was attained in the cultivation of these fertile lands around Zephyrhills, heralded the news to the world. This had its effect, especially among his acquaintances in the land of his nativity, and the town grew by leaps and bounds. The soil is especially adapted to the growth of oranges, grapefruit, melons and other fruits, as well as vegetables and general farm crops. One may make a splendid investment by planting an orange or grapefruit grove and, pending the expiration of the three years taken for the grove to come into bearing, may cultivate vegetables with much profit. Tomatoes pay $100 to $400 per acre, egg plant from $100 to $300 per acre, sugar cane $100 or more per acre, and other farm products in proportion. There is a large factory here that buys for cash all the cane that the growers can produce. This cane is manufactured into pure cane syrup, which, as in the case of the aforementioned vegetable and fruit products, finds a ready market. Zephyrhills has a bank, telephones, electric lights; it is popular with tourists; has high rolling, perfectly drained land, pure water and is healthy. We are advised that a site will be donated to erect a suitable hotel. As a land of opportunities for the man with small or large capital the Zephyrhills section has no superior. This is the point where the first successful mill was established for making cane syrup. Greer, PASCO COUNTY.—Pop. 700. This is the location of large lumber interests. Dade City.—Pop. 1,500. Lacoochee.—Pop. 200. Both in PASCO COUNTY. Terrell, HERNANDO COUNTY. These three towns cover a territory of 20 miles along the Seaboard Air Line Railway north of Dade City, which is the capital of Pasco county. The illustration published of the court house here shows it to be a fine brick structure. This town has telephone service, ice and cold-storage plants, electric plant, banks, newspapers, etc. The tobacco industry gives employment to a large number of people. The soil around Dade City, and in fact throughout this entire section, is exceedingly fertile and productive. Lumber is an important factor. This is an attractive point for farmers and those in quest of desirable locations for such industries as crate factory, furniture factory and other wood-working establishments. Tobacco and canning factories should also pay here. At Lacoochee there are two turpentine distilling plants. On account of existing phosphate beds a plant mining this product should prove remunerative. Lime and brick kilns should also pay. St. Catherine.—Pop. 500. Bushnell.—Pop. 1,000. Enfield.—Pop. 300. Sumterville.—Pop. 700. Panasoffkee.—Pop. 100. These five towns are in SUMTER COUNTY and cover a territory of 11 miles of highly productive lands. Bushnell is the county seat. It has several commercial establishments and other enterprises. Peaches, grapefruit, oranges, cucumbers, cabbage and tomatoes grow to perfection here. There is considerable lumber in this section. On account of the fruits and vegetables produced here in large quantities, a crate factory would undoubtedly pay. Coleman, SUMTER COUNTY.—Pop. 500. The headquarters of the did fruit as well as vegetable-growing country. It is 182 miles south of Jacksonville and is fortunately situated in the center of one of the greatest vegetable-growing regions in the State, and still more famous for the quality as well as quantity of grapefruit, oranges and pineapples grown. Flowing wells, of which one is illustrated, are numerous throughout the county. Other illustrations are also given in these pages showing the beauties of this section. Full-page illustrations are included for the purpose of showing the reader the luxurious growth to which the tomato and the pineapple attain in Orange county. Lumber is an important product of this section. There are splendid roads throughout this county, there being shown on these pages a view of Orange avenue and some of the road scenes in full-page cut, entitled "Florida Good Roads." Leesburg has financial and other progressive institutions. The cut printed herein shows the Seaboard Air Line Railway's facilities at this point, such as freight and passenger depot, and packing-house.

Leesburg is the center of a large cucumber and watermelon growing section. The harvest scene in the full-page cucumber cut in this book was taken at Leesburg. At Wildwood is located an immense mill, manufacturing all kinds of crates. Near here are also many orange groves, one of them said to be one of the largest in the world. It has several banks, newspapers, foundries and machine shops, lumber and planing mills, naval stores, etc. At Anthony is located a large factory for manufacturing boxes, barrels and crates to accommodate the shipments of fruits and vegetables. This entire section is a splendid fruit and vegetable growing country. Corn, oats, hay, alfalfa, potatoes, velvet beans, peanuts, cotton, cane, rice, also citrus fruits, strawberries, melons, figs, peaches, plums and grapes all grow here in profusion. Watermelons grow to a large size and abundantly. This section is also a great producer of hogs and cattle, fine dairy products, as well as vegetables of all kinds. Island Grove.—Pop. 400. Lochloosa.—Pop. 200. Hawthorne.—Pop. 600. Campville.—Pop. 200. Orange Heights.—Pop. 500. These five towns in ALACHUA COUNTY comprise a territory of 19 miles. This is a good fruit-producing region, also a splendid vegetable section, lettuce and beans being raised more than any other variety. At Island Grove there are five fruit and vegetable packing-houses. Hawthorne, which is 71 miles south of Jacksonville, has a well-officered bank, a live newspaper, ice and cold-storage plant, also has splendid high school. There is good fishing and hunting here. The illustration on one of these pages of velvet beans and English peas is made from scenes near Hawthorne. At Campville is located the largest brick plant in the State. Fine farm lands at reasonable prices offer splendid inducements here for settlers. Inverness, CITRUS COUNTY.—Pop. 2,000. This is the terminus of that portion of the Seaboard Air Line Railway which runs in a southwesterly direction to Cedar Key, but which branches off at Archer and runs down the State through the great phosphate beds of Florida, not so far from the Gulf of Mexico. This section is known as the Dunnellon-Inverness phosphate district. At this point and at Holder, nearby, are located phosphate mines, shipping this product via the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The exportation of this product is conducted through this railway's terminals at Fernandina, at which point the company has an immense elevator for the purpose of transferring the phosphate from the cars to the steamers bound for foreign ports. The mining and shipping of phosphate assumes enormous proportions throughout all this section of Florida. The product shipped from here is the hard rock phosphate, the beds being numerous in all parts of this section of the country. This town has banking facilities, newspapers, numerous commercial establishments and lumber plants. The present annual output of oranges and grapefruit

At Williston is located the greatest cucumber industry in the State of Florida and the production of cabbage is also enormous. This product is shipped from here over the Seaboard Air Line Railway by the trainload to the great northern and western markets. One of these trains is featured by a cut made from a photograph and inserted herein for the purpose of giving prospective settlers an idea of the magnitude of this industry. Cedar Key.—Pop. 1,000. Elzey.—Pop. 100. Otter Creek.—Pop. 600. Bronson.—Pop. 500. Meredith.—Pop. 400. These five towns in LEVY COUNTY comprise a territory of 36 miles. The first-named point, Cedar Key, is the terminus of that portion of the Seaboard Air Line Railway which runs from Waldo, on the main line, a distance of 71 miles. The principal source of revenue here is that derived from the shipment of fish. A great number of the inhabitants here are engaged in catching fish, and the marketing of this product brings into this section a large amount of money, considering the capital and labor involved. Sponge diving is the avocation of a number of the inhabitants, those engaged in this industry being mostly Greeks. Pencil material is manufactured from cedar and shipped to eastern and foreign markets. Bronson and Meredith are fine agricultural sections. Farms capable of producing peanuts, cotton, fruits and vegetables may be purchased here at $10 to $20 per acre. Archer, ALACHUA COUNTY.—Pop. 500. At this point those portions of the Seaboard Air Line Railway running from Cedar Key and Inverness in a northerly direction come together, and this Company's northbound traffic from the territory embraced between the points named is carried from Archer via Waldo, where it joins the main line. Archer is 85 miles southwest of Jacksonville. This town has foundries, machine shops, crate factory, naval stores and other commercial establishments. The lands possess a superior soil adapted to the raising of cucumbers, as well as other garden and farm products. We are advised that several additional enterprises will pay here, such as a bank and hotel. Arredondo, ALACHUA COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Six miles from Gainesville, the county seat; lands productive. Gainesville, ALACHUA COUNTY.—Pop. 10,000. Located on that portion of the Seaboard Air Line Railway which runs between Cedar Key and Waldo, the latter being the junction point of the Seaboard's main line. It is 38 miles from Waldo and 57 miles southwest of Jacksonville. Gainesville is indeed a very important city, having a number of banks, fertilizer factories, saw and planing mills, box and crate factories, newspapers, two good hotels, several wholesale as well as numerous mercantile establishments, ice plant, splendid university and other educational institutions and the headquarters of several phosphate operators. It is surrounded with magnificent farming lands, which are adapted to the successful growing of pecans, cotton, sugar cane, corn, fruits and vegetables. These lands consist of a very superior soil and most any kind of farming product is easily and successfully cultivated here. The views of the United States government building and the new courthouse shown on this page are commodious structures. It is a good town in which not only to live but to establish most any kind of business, as the people are prosperous, and plenty of money seems to be in circulation on account of general good business and the mining interests located nearby. Waldo, ALACHUA COUNTY.—Pop. 800. Junction of the main line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway with those portions of the line extending from this point to the two termini, Cedar Key and Inverness. An enormous amount of traffic passes through this point over the Seaboard Air Line Railway, and the town of Waldo is a very busy center. It has a new bank, a good hotel, and lumber abounds here. A wood-working establishment to supply the building trades demand, as well as a factory for manufacturing hampers and crates to accommodate the shipments of fruits and vegetables at this point, would unquestionably pay. In view of recent developments in the way of drainage the lands in this vicinity are being made available and offer a golden opportunity for investment. Strawberries are raised with much profit in this section. Hampton, BRADFORD COUNTY.—Pop. 500. On the main line, five miles south of Starke, the county seat. The soil is conducive to the raising of vegetables and fruits, the cultivation of strawberries predominating. Wannee, ALACHUA COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Located on that portion of the Seaboard Air Line Railway extending from Starke, 27 miles distant, and 71 miles from Jacksonville. This town has banking facilities and several enterprises, as well as being surrounded by lands possessing an exceedingly fertile soil. Here are raised all kinds of garden and farm products, the largest crop being that of sea island cotton. There are opportunities in this town for the profitable location of wood-working plants, canning factories, fertilizer factory and a plant for making syrup from sugar cane, which latter-named product grows here to perfection. Lacrosse, ALACHUA COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Is on the Seaboard Air Line Railway branch extending from Starke 19 miles distant. Brooker, BRADFORD COUNTY.—Pop. 600. Is on the Seaboard Air Line Railway branch extending 15 miles from Starke, the county seat. The soil in this section from Alachua to Starke is very fertile. Starke, BRADFORD COUNTY.—Pop. 1,200. The county seat; is on the main line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, 45 miles south of Jacksonville. From this point the Seaboard Air Line Railway has branches extending to Wannee, Cedar Key and Inverness, while its main line extends on to Tampa and the Manatee section of Florida. Starke has a world-wide reputation as a strawberry-producing center. The climate is favorable, the soil in this vicinity being especially adapted for the production of this fruit, giving it a very fine flavor. The yield per acre is large and exceedingly profitable. Photographs of the strawberry industry have been taken for this publication and a composite cut made of same. The three views show this industry for the benefit of prospective settlers who are looking for a good section in which to cultivate this luscious fruit. The illustration depicted is a living example of what is being done here. Lands adapted for the raising of strawberries extend for many miles in every direction and may be purchased at a fair valuation at the present time. Starke is a prosperous as well as a very busy town throughout the year, especially during the strawberry shipping season. It is quite an attractive sight to observe the loading of strawberries into cars at Starke, and from this point the Seaboard Air Line Railway carries them by the carload to the various large consuming centers of the country. It is estimated that a half million dollars from strawberries alone come into this portion of Florida, of which Starke is the nucleus. The territory in which the strawberries are raised and shipped so extensively is known as the "Starke-Lawtey section" and embraces thousands of acres. All kinds of truck do well. Sea island cotton is largely grown and pecan growing is a new and profitable industry. Considerable interest is now being manifested in this production, in view of past successes. Prospective settlers will

What has been said pertaining to Starke in regard to the fertility of its soil and its adaptability for the production of strawberries, pecans, etc., is applicable to the town of Lawtey. The Board of Trade advises that there is an opportunity in their town for investment in the way of manufacturing boxes to be used in the shipment of fruits and vegetables. Highland, CLAY COUNTY.—Pop. 150. Twelve miles north of Starke. Maxville, DUVAL COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Is 18 miles north of Starke and 26 miles south of Jacksonville. Development of this town is now being carried on by owners of large tracts of lands in this section, the result being that settlers are gradually coming in and making great headway in the cultivation of strawberries and other fruits, as well as other general farm products. Splendid opportunities are offered those desiring to follow either trucking, general farming or fruit growing in the vicinity of Maxville, Fiftone, Baldwin and other points in all the territory between Starke and Jacksonville.

River Junction, GADSDEN COUNTY.—Population 500. On the Apalachicola river, 208 miles west of Jacksonville and 19 miles from Quincy, the county seat. River Junction is the western terminus of the Seaboard Air Line Railway in Florida. Mount Pleasant, GADSDEN COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Ten miles east of River Junction and 9 miles west of Quincy, the county seat. Gretna, GADSDEN COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Fourteen miles east of River Junction and 5 miles west of Quincy. The lands in this section between River Junction and Quincy are adapted to tobacco and general farm products. Quincy, GADSDEN COUNTY.—Pop. 5,000. One hundred and eighty-nine miles east of Jacksonville. This is one of the important towns on the Seaboard Air Line Railway and is the greatest tobacco-growing section in Florida. It is the headquarters of the fine Sumatra tobacco, which is grown in the State. Views illustrating a long string of wagons en route to market and the assorting of tobacco leaf; also other views of the pulling of the young tobacco plant, combined with a view of a section of 14 acres of fine Sumatra tobacco being cultivated under cheese-cloth, are shown on the two following pages. These illustrations convey an excellent idea of what is being accomplished around this vicinity in this industry. While the greater part of Sumatra tobacco is raised on lands surrounding Quincy and at the nearby points of Gretna, Midway, etc., there is more or less tobacco raised at various points along the Seaboard Air Line Railway between River Junction and Jacksonville. There are located at Quincy fourteen packing-houses to take care of the shade cigar wrapper tobacco raised throughout this region. The pecan business is an important one at Quincy and points east thereof. There is also available a limited uncultivated acreage suitable to tobacco. Midway, GADSDEN COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Twelve miles east of Quincy. A tobacco-raising point and considerable of this weed is shipped from here.

Tallahassee, LEON COUNTY.—Population 6,000. This is the capital of the great State of Florida, as well as the seat of the county in which it is located. From this city the Seaboard Air Line Railway extends in several directions, the main line running to River Junction, with connections to the western and southwestern cities, as well as to points on the Apalachicola and Chattahoochee rivers. One branch extends to St. Marks, on the Apalachicola Bay, while still another, branching out from St. Marks junction, extends to Covington. The main line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway in this part of the State extends from here into the heart and southern portion of Florida as well as five other States. The location of Tallahassee is most ideal, being situated on very high, rolling ground. From these hills, which are covered with a luxuriant growth of shade trees and flowers in bewildering variety, a glimpse may be had of near and far off lands covered with a multitude of crops, such as pecans, oats, tobacco, cotton, corn and vegetables of all varieties. Accompanying are views of a grove producing fine pecans and a field of oats, both being grown extensively, especially in this section of Florida. In addition to the foregoing crops nearly all other garden and farming crops grow to perfection in the county of Leon. Cigar wrapper tobacco has been grown in this county for more than a generation. The soil in this and certain sections of the adjoining counties is peculiarly adapted to tobacco cultivation. The attention of prospective settlers is invited to the fact that these lands are also exceedingly well adapted to the successful cultivation of corn, cotton, Irish potatoes and melons. St. Marks, WAKULLA COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Is 20 miles south of Tallahassee—good point for the location of wood-working plants and cannery. Woodville, LEON COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Ten miles south of Tallahassee. This, as well as the territory included in the line running from St. Marks Junction to Covington, is a timber and agricultural section. Woodville has mile branch of the main line. This town is known all over the country as being the headquarters of a great pecan-growing industry, as well as being famous for the quality and quantity of watermelon seed raised and shipped from here to all parts of America and to some foreign countries. Melons are largely raised for the purpose of furnishing seed for planting purposes. There are located here many large nurseries, supplying stock for propagating various fruits, flowers and pecans, which plants are shipped all over the country, but especially throughout the South and Southwest, including Texas and Mexico. Pecans are grown and shipped extensively from here. Views illustrating the pecan industry are given for the benefit of our readers. Monticello is very prosperous. The town has two good banks, newspaper, ice plant, lumber plants, naval stores, leaf tobacco business, etc., in addition to the other large industries mentioned. The lands are very superior for growing pecans, tobacco, and in fact all farm products. The prospective investor should investigate the advantages possessed by Monticello. Aucilla, JEFFERSON COUNTY.—Pop. 600. One hundred and thirty-one miles west of Jacksonville. hundred and ten miles west of Jacksonville, on the main line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, between River Junction and Jacksonville. This is one of the finest agricultural regions in all the territory between the points named above. In the main the soil of Madison county is a sandy loam with a clay sub-soil, the various varieties of these soils furnish excellent facilities for the principal classes of grain and forage crops, as well as the numerous varieties of vegetables and melons. Another great resource is that of yellow pine and cypress timber, consisting of thousands of acres. Additional wood-working establishments should pay at Madison. This vicinity is well worth the attention of the prospective settler, as this town has all modern conveniences, is a good trading point, and its natural resources should prove of interest to the farmer and manufacturer alike. Lee, MADISON COUNTY.—Seven miles east of Madison. Its resources are timber and agricultural products. It is worthy the attention of newcomers. Ellaville, MADISON COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Junction Ellaville, 15 miles east of Madison. On Seaboard Air Line Railway, 82 miles west of Jacksonville. This is a live town. It is a wonderful agricultural center, as well as being a manufacturing point. This town has several financial institutions, wholesale grocers, wholesale dry-goods establishments, lumber and planing mills, ice and cold-storage plant, grist mill, foundry, machine shop, brick works, cannery, leaf tobacco industry, cooperage works, etc. Fine watermelons are raised in this section, especially the territory from Live Oak to Lake City. In every direction are found large tracts of timber. Suwannee county is an enormous producer of various farm products, such as corn, potatoes, hay and oats. The cut on page 79 showing agricultural views, common to that portion of the Company's line running between Jacksonville and River Junction, will give prospective settlers an idea of the fertility and adaptability of the soil in this part of the country. Houston, SUWANNEE COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Six miles east of Live Oak. The resources are those of timber and agriculture, watermelons being largely produced. Welborn, SUWANNEE COUNTY. Pop. 300. Eleven miles east of Live Oak. Watermelons grow to perfection in every direction. Lake City, COLUMBIA COUNTY.—Pop. 5,500. On the Seaboard Air Line Railway, 59 miles west of Jacksonville. It has several banking institutions, institutions of learning, ice-making and cold-storage plant, foundry and machine shop, two newspapers and all the conveniences possessed by cities of similar size. The resources are of an agricultural nature. Farming products and vegetables of all kinds grow here in great profusion and to much profit to the owners. In the vicinity of Lake City and west thereof are to be found wonderful lands, especially adapted to the raising of watermelons, this fruit attaining the highest perfection in these parts. The views heretofore referred to give a perspective of what is being accomplished. The especial attention of prospective settlers is called to the superior advantages to be derived from the tilling of the fertile soil in this region. As a striking example of what is accomplished here it might seem appropriate to state that on a 15-acre farm 930 barrels of Irish potatoes were recently raised and shipped. This is an average of 62 barrels per acre, and this crop sold for $3.20 per barrel. The cost of seed, fertilizer and other expenditures in operation of the entire farm was a little over $900, thus netting the farmer about $2,000. The growing of pecans is an important industry in this county. Lake City is a desirable place in which to live and make money, either in manufacturing or farming. Watertown, COLUMBIA COUNTY.—Pop. 600. Olustee, BAKER COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Sanderson, BAKER COUNTY.—Pop. 150. Glen St. Mary, BAKER COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Some illustrations of the nursery industry carried on between Glen St. Mary and McClenny are inserted on these pages, which may be of interest to our readers, especially those desiring to obtain plants of a finer quality than are produced at any other point in the South. McClenny, BAKER COUNTY.—Pop. 400. The territory from Watertown to Baldwin covers 18 miles of fertile lands, with considerable timber, and should appeal to manufacturers and farmers. Baldwin, DUVAL COUNTY.—Pop. 500. Nineteen miles west of Jacksonville. This is an important junction point. That portion of the main line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway running from the more southerly Florida points eastward, crosses here that portion of the Company's line which runs between River Junction and Jacksonville. A superior point for the location of wholesale establishments and manufacturing plants. Cradford.—Pop. 200. Callahan.—Pop. 1,000. The good trucking lands here are cultivated very extensively and are exceptionally fertile.

Jacksonville, Duval County.—Population 85,000. The metropolis of the State. Mr. J. P. Clarkson, a well-known authority, contributes the following: "Jacksonville is the pre-eminent city of Florida. It has one-tenth of the State's population. It is situated on the banks of the majestic St. John's river, which flows north, like the River Nile and the River Amazon. It is the seat of Duval county. On a direct line Jacksonville is only 17 miles from the Atlantic ocean. The city has a water front of 7 miles and a 24-foot channel to the sea, and appropriations have been made for a 30-foot channel, on which work is now progressing. Coastwise and foreign steamship lines connect this port with numerous important ports along the Atlantic coast and also ports in Europe and other foreign countries. Jacksonville is, moreover, the natural gateway to all of Florida, the West Indies and the logical distributing point for a radius of territory containing over two millions of inhabitants. The citizenship of Jacksonville is cosmopolitan, being made up mostly of people of energy, thrift and enterprise, who have migrated to this city from every State in the Union and many foreign countries, and they have availed themselves of the opportunities that awaited them and that to-day await the newcomer. While its citizenship is diversified, it is of a high class, comprising chiefly the alert, industrious and up to date. An undesirable foreign element is unknown. To the prospective investor it is a city of opportunities to be grasped, a city with fulfillment of promises and with as many advantages awaiting the new arrival of to-day as awaited those who came ten years ago and have since made fortunes. Jacksonville has five great railroad systems reaching from the North, the South, the West, the Northwest, controlling 16,000 miles of tracks, bringing and forwarding millions of tons of freight each year. The city has a sky line of tall buildings. It is a city of prosperous and happy people; a city pulsing and throbbing with the activities of finance, building, manufactures and commerce, with broad, well-paved streets, brilliantly lighted; with great department stores and beautiful and costly residences, splendid churches, schools, hospitals, fireproof hotels, powerful and prosperous banking institutions, a community provided with every necessity, convenience and luxury of modern life and every advantage of education and culture and social uplift. While the national government has been expending a total of $7,000,000 on the improvement of the St. John's river channel from Jacksonville to the sea, the commerce of the port has been expanding at a phenomenal rate, and though stupendous additions and extensions have been made to the dock, terminal and warehouse facilities, they are still inadequate to keep pace with the growth of Jacksonville, and the city has undertaken the construction of municipally owned docks and terminals at a cost of $1,500,000, to accommodate all vessels on equal terms. An illustration of the determination and enthusiasm with which a progressive community has undertaken this big enterprise is found in the practically unanimous vote by which the bonds were authorized, and the contribution by the

Jacksonville Board of Trade of several thousand dollars to pay the expenses of a special session of the State Legislature at which the bill was passed empowering the city to own and operate docks and terminals. These municipally owned docks and terminals will give a great impetus to coastwise and foreign commerce and Jacksonville will soon be placed in a position of still greater importance among the seaports of the world. The corporate limits of Jacksonville include an area of almost ten square miles of land. The city is only thirty minutes' ride from one of the finest beaches on the Atlantic coast. Tempered by ocean and gulf breezes, its mean temperature is 70 degrees, rarely reaching higher than 96 degrees. The average for spring is 71 degrees and for summer 80 degrees, for autumn 71 degrees and for winter 60 degrees. The average rainfall is 52 inches, mostly in the summer. In placing the population of Jacksonville at the above figures count is taken of the large and flourishing suburban district outside the corporate limits, which have not been extended for 24 years. In the assessed valuation of real and personal property the city of Jacksonville has shown a wonderful increase. This increase amounts to upward of 150 per cent. over 1900, and to-day is 70 per cent. greater than in 1910. In banking circles the city's expansion is truly startling. The gain in banking business has been not only very large, but so regular and steady as to convince the most skeptical of the soundness which underlies the whole financial, commercial and industrial fabric, and may be accepted as a correct gauge of the measure of progress which is being made. Jacksonville now has sixteen banking institutions of different classes, many of them owning and occupying new and costly fireproof structures of the most modern type, and contributing very largely to the Wall Street aspect of the financial district. These banks have a combined capital and surplus exceeding $6,500,000 and hold average deposits of more than $22,000,000. Sound and conservative, yet liberal and loyal to the city and its business interests, theirs is a record of which to be proud, indeed. A conservative estimate for the number of buildings erected will bring the annual average for the past thirteen years up to more than 1,100 buildings, and still more conservative calculations would indicate an annual average value of practically $3,000,000. The port records show a tremendous increase in business. The exports are now running nearly double the imports. Among the chief articles of export are phosphate, lumber, naval stores, cotton, grain, provisions, cottonseed oil, fertilizers, fruits, livestock, cigars and tobacco. Some time ago large tanks for storage of fuel oil for steamers and creosote oil were completed and the Seaboard Air Line Railway's new terminals were placed in operation. Jacksonville has the largest shipyard and floating dry dock on the Atlantic coast south of Newport News. The dock handles vessels of 4,500 tons. Both shipyard and dry-dock are continuously congested with the building of new boats and repairs. Industrially Jacksonville has made rapid and permanent advancement during the past decade. Indeed, this city as well as the entire State of Florida has been undergoing regular and substantial growth in manufactures for many years, but it is only recently that this phase of progress has been given due attention. By careful calculation and most conservative estimates it is found that Jacksonville has now 175 or more factories and industrial establishments, employing about 4,500 wage earners, not including proprietors, clerks and salesmen, and turning out annually a product valued at about $15,000,000. Figures indicate that the city of Jacksonville and the State of Florida are undergoing a more rapid industrial growth than the country at large. Electricity for power is furnished by the municipally owned plant much cheaper than in any city in the United States. There exists here every condition of climate, geographical location and cheap transportation to stimulate progress in almost every line of manufacture." Great pains have been taken to publish good illustrations of Jacksonville from its various aspects, not only for the benefit of our readers, but in order to do justice to this great city, at least as far as we are able to do within this limited space. One cut shows street scenes, another shows two of the city's popular clubs, another government and municipal buildings, and still another is a composite cut in which are included bird's-eye views of the "Heart of Jacksonville" and the terminals of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, all of which are fine views. One of the terminals photographed is that of the river front, showing the Seaboard Air Line Railway warehouses, while the other shows this company's Hogan street terminals. If the reader, after a careful perusal of this article, will but glance at the magnificent illustrations preceding and those following, depicting the present marvelous agricultural development in every direction from Jacksonville, the surrounding lumber and naval stores industries (see illustrations on page 52 of boxed timber, turpentine still and barrels of rosin), together with the numerous other industrial scenes, he cannot help but comprehend this city's wonderful growth. While the aforementioned natural resources contribute in a large measure to the prosperity of Jacksonville, it should not be overlooked that the city's development and wealth is due perhaps in equal proportion to the systematic efforts and advertising at the hands of its energetic real estate men individually and to its live Board of Trade, among whom are numbered many of the city's most progressive and influential citizens.

ONE OF FERNANDINA'S MANY ADORNMENTS.
THIS COMMODIOUS STRUCTURE, WHICH IS THE NASSAU COUNTY COURT HOUSE, UNITED STATES CUSTOM HOUSE AND POST OFFICE, IS ONE OF THE MANY ATTRACTIONS AT FERNANDINA, FLA., ON THE S. A. L. RY.

Fernandina, NASSAU COUNTY.—Population 5,000. Fernandina is an important deep-water port; large vessels arrive at and depart from this port, transporting the precious wealth of the interior of this and adjoining States to various parts of the world. Magnificent terminals are owned and operated here by the Seaboard Air Line Railway, this Company possessing immense lumber and naval stores, docks, a large phosphate elevator, and other superior facilities for handling the traffic exchanged between the railway, coastwise and foreign vessels. The reader's attention is especially called to the photographs of these fine terminals. The Seaboard Air Line Railway is the only railway entering the city of Fernandina. It has expended large sums of money in order to improve the natural advantages which it enjoys in common with the inhabitants of this place. The amount of products which passes through this port is enormous. Great quantities of naval stores, as well as millions and millions of feet of rough and dressed lumber are brought from the interior of Florida into this town and turned over to the steamers by the Seaboard Air Line Railway annually. Also millions of tons of phosphate are transported by this railway from the Dunnellon-Inverness and other districts in Florida and exported through Fernandina. We refer to hard-rock phosphate, as the soft-rock phosphate is shipped via the Seaboard Air Line Railway from points on the branch extending out from Plant City and is transported to Tampa for coastwise shipment. No road has the same advantages and facilities for handling all classes of phosphate out of Florida as has the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Fernandina has financial institutions, a fine new hotel capable of taking care of the commercial trade as well as the tourist traffic, which is increasing year by year, since information has been promulgated regarding the city's advantages—climate, comfort, health and pleasure. The fishing industry has added thousands of dollars to Fernandina's wealth, it being one of the largest of its character in southern waters. Heretofore bluefish have been caught very extensively during the summer months off the Jersey and New England coasts, and no one seemed to know precisely where they migrated during the winter, but during the month of February of 1912 lines from a fishing smack were accidentally thrown out while about seven miles off the Fernandina coast. A heavy catch was made. Several other smacks hastened South, and during the past winter twenty-one of the wholesale fish firms in Fulton Market, New York, made extensive preparations on the Seaboard Air Line Railway terminals at this point. There are some 35 large smacks now fishing in these waters. The shipments during November and December were 1,000,000 pounds per month, the products being shipped under refrigeration in solid carloads daily to the northern markets via Seaboard Air Line Railway.

THE NUMEROUS FINE GROVES ARE DELIGHTFUL SIGHTS TO THE GREAT HORDE OF VISITORS TO FLORIDA

FLORIDA

By W. A. McRAE, Commissioner of Agriculture

The population of Florida at the last census as taken by the United States was 752,619, showing an increase over that of 1900 of about 42 per cent. Its area in square miles, land surface, is 54,861. Area in water, 3,805 square miles. Total, 58,666. The topography of Florida is different in almost every respect from other southern States. It is made up of several geological formations, and the soils differ quite as much in their variety, origin and capacity for productiveness. The climate is that of the tropics in the far south with variations to the temperature in the far north and west. About all of the products of the temperate zone, as well as those of the tropics, are grown in some portion of the State, the soils of the several sections herein indicated being adapted to the production of crops usually grown in such localities. The soils on which these products are grown vary from high pine sandy loam lands to the heaviest clay in the northern and western sections, and high and low hammock, also high pine and swamp lands in the central and southern sections of the State. The various kinds of these soils produce in their respective localities the products usually grown in such climates. In the north and west the standard field crops are mostly produced the same as in the Middle States. In the central portion vegetables and fruits, including citrus fruits, are also grown for commercial purposes. In the southern section the great majority of citrus fruits and vegetables for commercial purposes are produced on the various kinds of soils adapted to the purpose. Leguminous crops of all kinds, as far as have been tried, succeed well in every section of the State. All forage crops, which include the sorghums of the Northern and Middle States, do well in all sections of Florida wherever tried, thus insuring and proving that live-stock raising is a successful industry in every portion of Florida. Live-stock and poultry raising are successfully carried on in every county in the State, with the possible exception of Monroe county, the most southerly in the State. The principal minerals of Florida are phosphates, fullers earth and kaolin. Florida is also one of the principal naval stores producing States of the Union. There are over a half thousand establishments producing turpentine and rosin in this State with a capital invested of about $15,000,000. There are over 500 saw mills of various kinds, manufacturing pine and other timber into lumber, with a capital invested of some $14,000,000. As a general manufacturing State, Florida, while not equal to some in proportion, surpasses many of the older States. The number of manufacturing establishments is over 5,000 with a capital invested of some $75,000,000. In these industries there are nearly 90,000 people employed at a total wage of $42,000,000. This includes all kinds of manufactures. There are hundreds of water powers in all sections of the State lying idle for want of capital to develop them. In brief, it will be seen that Florida offers all the advantages, possibilities and opportunities that any person, whether he is a capitalist or simple worker, can desire. An investigation of the country and its advantages is at all times solicited. Any information desired concerning the State will be cheerfully supplied on application to the State Department of Agriculture at Tallahassee, Florida.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY CITIES AND TOWNS REPRESENTED BY AGENCIES

From Montgomery east to Georgia State Line. Montgomery, MONTGOMERY COUNTY.—Population 52,000. The county seat and capital of the State. This city is located at almost the exact center of Alabama and is the junction point of six railroads. The strategical situation of Montgomery has made it a desirable place for the manufacture and distribution of merchandise and the social conditions are so superior as to have attracted favorable attention throughout the country. It is the western terminus of the Seaboard Air Line Railway and has five other trunk nine banks, three live newspapers, several educational institutions, and in fact everything which goes to make a desirable place in which to live and do business. The belt line railroad makes it possible for all large shippers to be within easy access of all the freight warehouses, and trackage facilities are ample. The city is paying $22.50 per annum per acre light, and Montgomery advertises without fear of contradiction that it is "the best lighted city of its size in the world." For industrial purposes electric power may be secured under long-term contracts as low as one and one-

lines of railroads, with the Alabama river navigable to Mobile. Within 200 miles of Montgomery there are 1,000,000 people and practically all of their trade goes to this city. This means that the annual commerce of the city approximates $50,000,000. Montgomery sells on an average of 25,000 mules every year and manufactures fertilizers every year approximating $4,000,000. There are in the city seven fertilizer factories, seven cottonseed oil mills, twelve wood-working plants, two large syrup plants, boiler works, shipping products all over the south, and other industries of a varied character. There are half cents per kilowatt hour. Manufacturers have been impressed with the exceptionally low rates offered by Montgomery for electric power, which is derived by transmission lines from the Tallapoosa river. Capitalists are now developing six giant water power plants in the Montgomery territory. One of the plants will produce 100,000 horsepower. The five plants, all within 75 miles of Montgomery, will produce more than a half million horsepower. Work on these properties is well under way. The enormously rich coal fields, marble and granite quarries and virgin timber forests of Alabama are adjacent to these water power plants and the possibilities of cheap manufacturing in and near Montgomery are limitless. Steam coal sells in Montgomery at from $2.25 to $2.75 per ton. The freight rate from the mines is $1.00 per ton. Manufacturers are offered free sites and exemption from municipal taxation for five years. One hundred and sixty-three different commodities are manufactured in Montgomery. In recent years several large office buildings have been constructed for the convenience of the ever-increasing number of agencies established here to take advantage of Montgomery's exceptional location as a point for commercial distribution. One of these fine buildings and two street scenes form a composite cut which we have printed. The two street views give the reader an idea of the city as a cotton center. Montgomery has, from the beginning of the cotton trade, held a foremost position among the inland cotton centers, and along with the other lines of trade the increase of influence and importance of Montgomery is accentuated most strikingly in the growth of its cotton receipts. During the past five years the receipts at Montgomery show an increase of 25 per cent. The average receipts range from 175,000 to 200,000 bales annually, fully 50,000 bales coming in by wagon. In order that the reader may obtain a fair idea of Montgomery a number of halftone engravings in addition to the views referred to above are inserted herein as follows: A modern union passenger station combined with a full-page photograph of Dexter avenue taken from Court square; farming scenes and duck farm near the city; Country Club, golf links and the Capital City Country Club; also bird's-eye view. Capital invested in manufacturing or commercial enterprises will unquestionably yield handsome profits in Montgomery. The city has a live and well-equipped commercial organization known as the Business Men's League, which announces that they will be glad to furnish additional information on this subject; or parties interested may take the matter up with the local representative of the Seaboard Air Line Railway or the Company's General Industrial Department, when further and more detailed information will be given.

This region is well supplied with banking and financial institutions every few miles apart. Numerous industries have been established and the inhabitants are lending encouragement to newcomers. The resources are timber and fertile soils. The shipments are principally lumber and farm products. Hurtsboro has recently sold bonds which were issued for the purpose of improvements, such as electric lighting, water works, etc. This town has financial institutions, educational advantages and is a good trading center. Cotton, corn and other agricultural products do well in this vicinity, as well as in the other towns in this section east and west of here along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. This part of Alabama is well worth the attention and consideration of the prospective settler.

Birmingham, Bessemer, etc., East to State Line.—Bessemer, Woodward, Ensley and Pratt City, all in Jefferson county, Ala. These cities, together with Birmingham, comprise what is known as the "Birmingham district" and are considered a part and parcel of this metropolis. At the points named are located the greatest iron and steel industries in the South. Ore, coal, limestone and other resources which are so necessary to the manufacture of iron, steel and their sub-products cover a much larger area than the industries themselves. These various plants naturally draw an enormous tonnage of raw material to this famous district.

Birmingham, JEFFERSON COUNTY.—Population 185,000. County seat. This city, the greatest of all southern iron and steel manufacturing centers, is pierced by ten railroads, the most important of them all being the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The Chamber of Commerce of this city contributes the following article: "Birmingham, Ala., widely known as 'The City of Pay Rolls,' is the geographical center of the progressive new South. Less than half a century old and growing faster than any other southern city, the population in 1910 had reached 132,685, and according to the 1913 city directory has since increased more than 50,000, so it is obvious that the marvelous growth is not of a mushroom variety, but its steady substantial increase has barely started. It is peculiarly situated at the very center of a wonderful district where each element necessary for the making of iron is found in proximity to every other equally necessary element, which gives it advantages not enjoyed by other iron-making centers. The leading industries of Birmingham are products of iron and steel, heavy machinery, cast-iron pipe, cement, brick and other clay products, as well as diversified industries of every description, which are increasing at an exceedingly rapid pace, due to the natural advantages and wonderful resources of the district. Nine railroad systems radiate from Birmingham to every section of the country, thus affording unusual transportation facilities. There are 99 passenger trains in and out of the city daily. The $2,000,000 terminal station is unsurpassed for convenience and appearance. Birmingham's pay roll is $1,000,000 per week. There are numerous good hotels and boarding-houses in the city, and the tourist who enters the gates of Birmingham will be assured every comfort of modern life. The business section with its wide streets and sidewalks, lighted by a modern white-way system, is second to none in attractiveness. The beautiful shops and the hustle that is obvious on every side remind one forcibly of the scene on Broadway, New York City. Birmingham's residential section is one of the great assets. The beautiful homes built along the mountainside, which are reached by winding roadways, afford views which are not surpassed by the mountains of any land. The climate of Birmingham is devoid of extremes of heat and cold. Short winters and long summers make it possible to engage in outdoor sports practically all the year round. The school facilities of Birmingham are the very best. There are several colleges of high repute, including the medical and dental colleges. There are five high schools and six elementary schools, besides the colleges, which afford educational facilities of the highest order. Twenty parks scattered throughout the city afford recreation for all classes. The city maintains a well-organized playground association, which is being increased in efficiency. The housing conditions of Birmingham for the workman are being improved from time to time, and in some industrial sections they have already been made ideal. Birmingham is governed by three commissioners, whose motto is efficiency. The installation of motor-driven fire apparatus instead of horses is an example of the practical work being done. Birmingham is a combination of the city industrial and the city beautiful, which entitles it to the name of the "Ideal American City." Illustrative of the facts in the foregoing article, it affords us pleasure to depict here views in and around Birmingham as follows: One composite cut shows street scene, entrance to coal mine, pig iron furnace and storage yards, coke oven, immense steel plant, scene at furnace and steel plant; group of some of Birmingham's skyscrapers, showing the novel sight of their exceptional proximity to each other; individual office building, which is said to contain the largest single piece of steel ever put in a building in the country; Morris avenue, the city's wholesale grocery and produce section, with which is com-

All these last five towns are located in Calhoun county and cover a territory of 35 miles east of Ragland along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Jacksonville, located on a three-mile stem from Tredegar on the main line, is the center of a very large cotton mill industry. It has banks and good schools. Piedmont has a fine cotton mill, banking and educational institutions and an exceedingly progressive citizenship. All these towns are surrounded by lands adapted to the growing of cotton, corn and other farm products. The resources are the best of clay, lime, charcoal, high-grade brown ore, barytes, crystallized silica rock and other ore materials, hardwood and other varieties of timber. Among the various industries which it is thought would pay in this section are: Building brick, fire brick, woodworking establishment, additional cotton mills, cottonseed oil mills, fertilizer factories, iron furnaces, steel plants, paint factory, spoke and handle factories, stave and heading mills. Borden Springs, CLEBURN COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Is the principal point in the 14-mile territory traversed by the Seaboard Air Line Railway from Piedmont to the border line of the State of Georgia. Borden Springs is a fine summer resort, the water from this point having attracted many invalids and has curative qualities unexcelled for liver troubles, many marvelous cures having been accomplished by its use. The lands in the foregoing section are a continuation of the splendid producing region heretofore described.

ALABAMA

By LEE COWARD, Immigration Commissioner

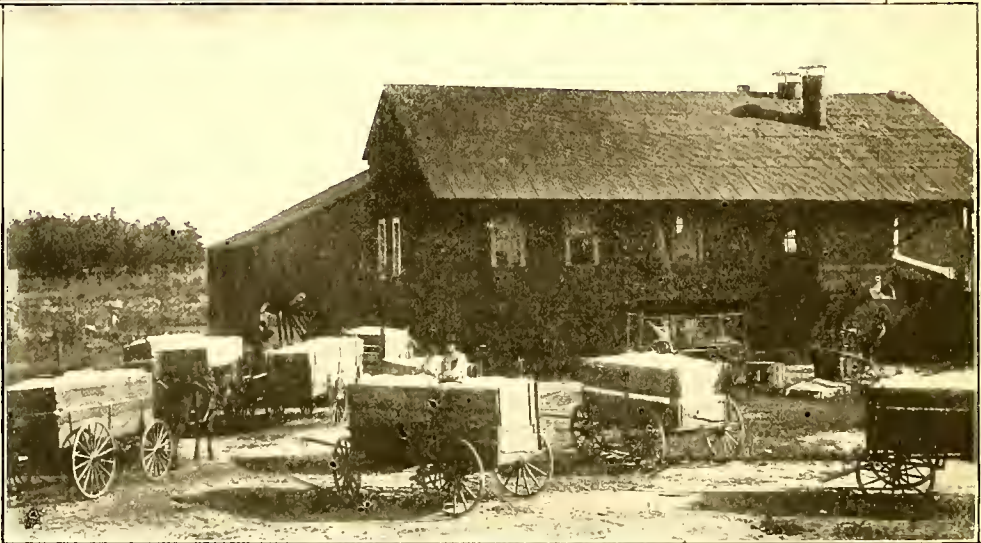

Why is Alabama a good place in which to live and a good place in which to buy land? First, I think land is cheaper in Alabama, in proportion, than in any State of the Union; second, and of equal importance, living expenses are as cheap as land. The fact about life in Alabama, which most impresses the farmers who come from other States to Alabama, is inexpensive living. There are thousands of these prosperous and contented men in Alabama who have come here from States of the North and West. When asked what pleases them most about Alabama they invariably reply: "Cheapness of living expenses. We can run a farm for a third less in Alabama than we can back home." No man will take issue with the statement that farm labor is at least a third less in Alabama than in Ohio, Iowa or Minnesota. In fact, it is probably more than a third cheaper. Again, this State is rich in timber resources. Alabama to-day is one of the greatest lumber-producing States east of the Mississippi river. The northern farmer is as much surprised to find lumber so reasonable in price as he is to find farm labor so abundant and cheap. One cause which has contributed to starting the great immigration movement from the North and West to Alabama is this very fact—the burden of living expenses is not so heavy upon the southern farmer as upon the farmer from other sections. Again the industrious farmer, due to the long growing season, which lasts practically all the year round, produces two and three crops from his one piece of land. Thousands of Alabama farmers grow garden products and then raise cotton on the same land. They plant four or five acres in potatoes and after gathering that crop raise corn, cotton or oats on the same ground. Live-stock do not have to be taken off the pasture to be sheltered and fed, except from four to six weeks in winter. On the other hand, there are thousands of farmers in Alabama who think it not necessary to bring their cattle into the barns, and many of them claim it is not necessary to feed them at all, but depend upon the vitality of the pasture grass throughout the winter. Reasonably priced land and low living expenses—what more does a farmer want who is looking for a new location? Alabama is the garden spot of the South for the farmer and fruit grower. Its soil is of exceptional fertility, the market conditions are the best and the highest prices are the rule. Alabama offers the most glowing opportunity to prospective settlers.

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY CITIES AND TOWNS, REPRESENTED BY AGENCIES

The territory between the northeastern border of Florida and Savannah. Kingsland.—Pop. 250. Woodbine.—Pop. 200. White Oak.—Pop. 200. These three towns are in Camden county. They are the principal shipping points in a valuable section, covering 35 miles of territory along the Seaboard Air Line Railway from the southeastern part of Georgia on the Florida border to Thalman. The latter is the junction point with the railway over which the Seaboard Air Line Railway's traffic is carried to and from Brunswick. Thalman, GLYNN COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Everett, GLYNN COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Townsend, McINTOSH COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Darien Junction, McINTOSH COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Riceboro, LIBERTY COUNTY.—Pop. 2,000. Dorchester, LIBERTY COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Ways, BRYAN COUNTY.—Pop. 600. These seven towns represent more than 60 miles of fertile lands along the Seaboard Air Line Railway from Thalman to Savannah. The resources are timber, fine soils adapted to the raising of various agricultural products, good clay, etc. There are opportunities for those desiring to purchase trucking lands or to establish brick plants and woodworking plants of various kinds. The great winter garden which supplies the cities of the Northeastern States with the fresh vegetables demanded for consumption during the latter months of winter and those of early spring stretches in a narrow belt along the Atlantic coast from the vicinity of Savannah, Ga., to the southern portion of New Jersey. The existence of this particular belt of territory, favorably situated with respect to intensive vegetable production, is the result of the concurrent existence of a number of favoring factors. In the first place, the climatic conditions within this belt render its successive portions from south to north earlier in the date of maturity for the different crops than any other regions in the Eastern States which are located in the same latitudes. This arises from the fact that the land area of the region lies at low latitude. The entire coastal section slopes seaward from a line about 75 miles from the coast, with a decline of not more than 2 feet for each mile, until the land surface sinks below the waters of the ocean or of the marginal land-locked waters of the numerous sounds and bays. The presence of tide water, not only along the entire coast, but at frequent intervals within the land area itself, lends an added influence to the favorable and protective climatic surroundings. These bodies of water lengthen the total growing season by periods which are to be measured by days and weeks, dependent upon the size of the protective water body. They also give a great stability to the annual changes of climate and reduce the tendency toward the occurrence of sharp destructive frosts at an unduly late date in spring or one correspondingly unseasonable in fall or early winter. They serve to lengthen the season over that of areas not protected and to render the succession of seasonable conditions more dependable. The amount of added warmth which is contributed by this factor of local climate cannot be accurately estimated, but it is one of the prominent factors in establishing this great out-of-doors greenhouse. It is probable that approximately 1500 acres of land are devoted to truck and market-garden crops in the vicinity of Savannah, Ga. The chief acreage is devoted to early Irish potatoes. Snap beans and garden peas are also grown. Strawberries are produced chiefly for the local markets. Some onions are grown, while sweet potatoes and melons are produced for large profits. The soils suited for trucking and market gardening exist to the extent of 90,000 acres in Chatham county alone, and the facilities for transportation to market include both rail and water transportation. It may be said that there is an excellent opportunity for the development of this class of agriculture, not only in that county, but also in other nearby counties of Eastern Georgia.

industries, among the more important of which are about a dozen large cotton and knitting mills, consuming many thousands of bales of cotton annually; nearly as many fertilizer factories; three ice and cold-storage plants; three iron works and machine shops, one of which is of mammoth size; six showcase and office fixture factories; agricultural machinery works; a large plant manufacturing cotton gins, which are shipped all over the cotton States; a factory making ice machines; five casket factories; a number of lumber mills, sash, door and blind factories, and many other manufacturing industries; as well as three wholesale dry-goods houses, fifteen wholesale groceries and numerous commercial enterprises. The town is well equipped with financial institutions. The Columbus Board of Trade sends in the following article regarding their splendid city: "Columbus is different from the ordinary city in that, unlike most southern cities of early origin, it was conceived as a city and not as a village. It was laid out by the legislature in 1828 when there were plenty of locations for trading posts, and most all of them alike, because transportation facilities were of the crudest sort. But the all-wise legislature said, 'Here is the logical location for a city. For countless centuries it has been recognized by the Indians as a trading point, and what the instinct of the savage has taught is sufficient unto our purposes.' So Columbus was not only determined because of its logical location, but the legislature provided for a big city. The main street was made 167 feet wide (see accompanying cut) and the other streets and avenues about 100 feet. Provision was also made for church square, civic centers and a public commons. Columbus rose from the civil war devastated but not discouraged. Here the last battle was fought. Hardly had the smouldering ashes cooled before the people began rebuilding its city. In addition to the present population of Columbus proper it has another 25,000 in its suburbs, and just across the river in Alabama mill towns dependent upon Columbus' 87 varied industries for support. These industries place Columbus fourth in manufacturing in the standing of the cities of the State of Georgia. Ten railroads radiate from the city and two steamboat lines to the Gulf; besides it is the center of a network of good county roads. The Chattahoochee, which river's falls end at Columbus where navigation on the river begins, has 125,000 horsepower hydraulic force, of which 60,000 horsepower is utilized. Columbus has not only abundant water power and transportation facilities but plenty of intelligent labor, and within 50 miles of the city more than 600,000 prosperous people live. Its schools and churches and society are the best. The laboring people are housed in comfortable homes and with cheap living, good wages and the best schools for their children they are content. Labor troubles are practically unknown here. In raw materials Columbus is fortunate, as there is an abundance of cotton, woods and clays, while iron ore and coal, as well as other minerals, are within easy reach by river and rail. There are openings in Columbus for every line of endeavor, both commercial and industrial." It is quite impossible to illustrate Columbus to the extent deserved, but several half-tone engravings are published herewith for the purpose of featuring some of the interesting subjects. One of the combination cuts shows the United States custom house and post-office, including Muskogee county court house. Another is Dillingham street bridge, which is a very important adjunct to the city's development. Other illustrations are: The union passenger station, which is a commodious structure; street scene; cotton district; and in connection with the subject of water power a representative Georgia cotton mill and dam; also the famous Goat Rock dam nearby on the Chattahoochee river, to which river reference has hertofore been made. Cusseta, CHATTAHOOCHEE COUNTY.—Pop. 400. Watermelons also grow here, as well as throughout the State of Georgia along the line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway in great profusion, the Georgia watermelon having a national reputation both for the state of perfection which it attains and its exquisite flavor. On the subject of water power attention is called to a view which was photographed near Albany, from which it will be seen that the city is blessed in this respect. There is also given here a combination cut made from photographs of public buildings and street scenes in Albany which give evidence of the city's attractiveness from an artistic standpoint. Sasser, TERRELL COUNTY.—Pop. 500. 73 miles from Columbus. splendid towns which should be an objective point for additional manufacturing enterprises, wholesale establishments and other classes of business where good distributing facilities are necessary. Richland already has a number of enterprises such as lumber and other woodworking plants; ice factory; one wholesale grocery; fertilizer factory; cottonseed oil mill; several progressive and well-connected banks; live newspaper, etc., but more industries of some of the kinds mentioned will unquestionably pay, and we are also advised by prominent citizens of this place that co-operation will be extended to parties desiring to invest in a cotton mill, or in any enterprise started on a substantial basis by responsible parties. Preston, WEBSTER COUNTY.—Pop. 300. County seat. This is one of the finest towns on the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The business men are exceedingly enterprising and ever ready to lend a helping hand to any newcomers. The city has an active and well-conducted Board of Trade, which is continually promulgating information in regard to the great advantages possessed in this region. The results have been exceedingly successful and new capital is being rapidly enlisted. Lands are purchased from time to time by experienced farmers; new enterprises are being established; real estate values are on the increase as improvements continue and as the city grows. At present the price of real estate is far below what it should be. This is a place also well worth the attention of manufacturers, as well as other kinds of business, because, as advised by one of the bankers, "Any meritorious concern wishing to locate in Americus will receive the hearty and loyal support both morally and financially from the business men of this city." Americus has splendid financial institutions, several lumber plants and factories manufacturing sash, doors, blinds and other building material; Seaboard Air Line Railway shops and other machine shops; two cottonseed oil plants; five fertilizer works; large monumental marble works; and many other smaller industries. The establishment of additional enterprises similar to most of the above, as well as various other kinds of manufacturing enterprises, will unquestionably pay, and for further information on this subject the reader is referred to Americus' Board of Trade, or representatives of the Seaboard Air Line Railway will cheerfully furnish more detailed information. The total value of the crops of Sumpter County is about $5,000,000, of which cotton is half, corn a fifth, hay at least a tenth, cottonseed nearly as much, while sugar cane, tobacco, fruits, vegetables, poultry and live-stock make up the balance. The soil around Americus contains lime; alfalfa grows luxuriantly and is fed to live-stock as well as being used extensively for fertilization purposes.

Fine roads are found in every direction. The illustration accompanying the information regarding this section shows "good roads" under construction. The street view also shows one of the attractive parts of Americus and the pictures of the public buildings show additional adornments. Huntington.—Pop. 100. Leslie.—Pop. 400. De Soto.—Pop. 300. Cobb.—Pop. 250. Coney.—Pop. 400. The first four towns named are in Sumpter county and the last one is in Crisp county. They cover a fine country, extending from Americus to Cordele, a distance of 30 miles along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Of the fruits cultivated watermelons and peaches predominate. Of the farm products raised, cotton, corn, hay, cassava and other forage crops are the dominating factors. Potatoes and other vegetables are also raised with much profit.

Cordele, CRISP COUNTY.—Population 8,500. County seat. There is no better town in Georgia for its size than Cordele. It has progressive and well-conducted banks, newspapers, good educational institutions, large lumber plants, foundries, machine shops and several other enterprises. The city has splendid railway facilities. There are 50 passenger trains in and out of the city daily. The city's streets are paved with vitrified brick. Its residential streets are beautiful as may be seen from one of the scenes depicted here. The area of the city is four square miles, having plenty of room for additional residences, also business buildings and manufacturing plants. Both will unquestionably pay. The area of Crisp county is 277 square miles. The land is very level, with now and then a slight roll; sub-soil, red clay; top soil, a sandy loam. Good roads are in evidence everywhere. The National Highway, from New York to Florida, passes through the full length of Crisp county and Cordele. Artesian water, absolutely pure; water veins tapped at from 30 to 80 feet. Coldest in winter, 30 to 40 degrees above zero; warmest in summer, 80 to 90 degrees, seldom over, making it exceedingly healthy. Crisp is one of Georgia's richest counties in agricultural pursuits. Any crop produced in the South may be produced here, such as fine oats and sweet potatoes (see illustration), as well as the various other farm and garden products. Cotton is the leading industry in this county and grows to perfection. The people are offering every inducement to the truck farmers, land being purchased at prices ranging from $10 to $30 per acre, according to location. The full-page illustration entitled "Agricultural Scenes in Georgia" is composed of views taken in Crisp county near

These three towns are in Wilcox county. They are the main towns east of Cordele for a distance of 20 miles along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Cotton is the chief industry, 10,000 bales being shipped from Rochelle and nearly as much from the other two points last season. The average on these lands has been, per acre, one bale of cotton, 50 bushels of corn and 50 bushels of oats. With the new improved methods of farming now coming into vogue, this average can be easily increased. Ocilla, IRWIN COUNTY.—Pop. 2,500. County seat, 170 miles west of Savannah, at the terminus of branch of the Seaboard Air Line Railway extending from the Company's main line at Abbeville 31 miles south of the latter point. Has banks, newspapers, cottonseed oil mill, fertilizer factory, grist mill, foundries, machine shops, three lumber plants and several naval stores industries. Resources: timber and available cutover lands for farming purposes. Cotton is produced extensively, also several other classes of farm products, such as grain, hay, melons, etc. Cotton and knitting mills, as well as other kinds of manufacturing plants, will pay. Those who have never seen or participated in an "old-fashioned Georgia barbecue" will be attracted by the scene depicted on page 111, showing a temporary diversion from other woodland activities. Another view published is that of the very attractive passenger depot recently built in this town. Fitzgerald, BEN HILL COUNTY.—Pop. 6,000. County seat, 161 miles west of Savannah and 22 miles south of Abbeville on the main line. This town has three banks, two newspapers, two cottonseed oil plants, one cotton mill, three fertilizer plants, foundries and machine shops; three wholesale establishments handling groceries, hay and grain; ice plant, two large lumber plants, two naval stores and other industries. The resources are hardwood and other timber, which are found in abundance, and lands producing superior agricultural products. The openings for new enterprises are numerous, such as the purchase and operation of lands from which the timber has been only recently cut; woodworking establishments of various kinds; another bank; a commodious and well-conducted hotel; cotton mill; fruit culture; wholesale hardware establishment, etc. Cortez, WILCOX COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Four miles south of Abbeville on main line. Fertile lands may be obtained reasonably here. Abbeville, WILCOX COUNTY.—Pop. 1,500. County seat. Junction point of the Seaboard Air Line Railway main line with its branch extending from this point to Ocilla, 31 miles distant. This town has banks, newspapers, two lumber plants, factories, machine shops and is a great cotton-producing section. Other farm products do well, also fruits, especially watermelons. The openings for industries are a commodious and well-conducted hotel, brick works to utilize the excellent clay found in this county on the Ocmulgee river, syrup factory, as considerable cane is raised here, ice, cold-storage and electric lighting plants. Rhine, DODGE COUNTY.—Pop. 400. One hundred and thirty-three miles west of Savannah. Great quantities of watermelons and cotton are raised in every direction from this point. Milan, TELFAIR COUNTY.—Pop. 400. One hundred and twenty-four miles west of Savannah. This is an industrious town. It has all the conveniences of towns of similar size and is a good point at which to locate. Corn, cotton and watermelons are easily produced here. Helena, TELFAIR COUNTY.—Pop. 1,000. One hundred and fourteen miles west of Savannah. Has banking facilities, ice plant, lumber plant and turpentine still. The lands produce fine cotton and watermelons grow here profusely. McRae, TELFAIR COUNTY.—Pop. 1,200. The county seat, 113 miles west of Savannah. This is a town of considerable wealth which originated with the industrious farmers hereabouts. This is a fine trading center. McRae has progressive and well-conducted banks, newspapers and all necessary conveniences. The watermelon is found here in all its glory; in fact, this luscious fruit is exceedingly productive all along the Seaboard Air Line Railway west of this point to Richland, including the branches to Ocilla, extending south from Abbeville, and to Albany extending south from Richland. Eriek, MONTGOMERY COUNTY.—Pop. 200. One hundred and seven miles west of Savannah. Good watermelons. Cotton and other farming lands may be purchased here at less than their actual value. Alamo, MONTGOMERY COUNTY.—Pop. 400. One hundred and four miles west of Savannah and twelve miles from Mount Vernon, the county seat. Has two banks with ample capital to take care of the interests of this valuable agricultural section, as well as a number of commercial establishments and other enterprises. The town is growing, and for this and other reasons should prove attractive to those desiring to carry on farming and engage in commercial pursuits. Special attention is therefore called to this point. Watermelons do splendidly here. Glenwood, MONTGOMERY COUNTY.—Pop. 500. Ninety-six miles west of Savannah and five miles from the county seat. Has bank, cottonseed oil mill and considerable timber. Mount Vernon, MONTGOMERY COUNTY.—Pop. 700. Ninety-two miles west of Savannah, the county seat. This is a good trading center and has superior lands which are particularly well adapted to the growing of watermelons. Has excellent financial facilities, newspaper, lumber plants, and is in every way desirable as a place in which to live and to engage in enterprises of various kinds. Alley, MONTGOMERY COUNTY.—Pop. 400. Ninety miles west of Savannah. Lands similar to those at the county seat just described. Higgston, MONTGOMERY COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Eighty-four miles west of Savannah. Lumber and naval stores district. Watermelons and general farm products do well here. Vidalia, TOOMS COUNTY.—Pop. 3,000. The county seat, 80 miles west of Savannah. Has three progressive banks, two live newspapers, two bottling works, vehicle industry, coffin and casket factory, cottonseed oil mill, grist mill, two fertilizer factories, wholesale grocery, ice plant, four lumber and planing mill establishments, marble works, factory making cotton gins, with cement and tile works nearby. Woodworking establishments of almost any kind will pay as the raw material abounds. Opening for cotton mills at Vidalia, as this is a fine cotton belt, and a foundry and machine shop would no doubt pay.

This is an exceptionally good point for farmers seeking a suitable soil in which to raise a variety of farm products. The land is also well adapted to growing watermelons. This town has all the financial, educational and commercial conveniences enjoyed by other towns of similar size. Ohoopee, TOOMS COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Resources, timber and clay. Collins.—Pop. 300. Manassas.—Pop. 300. Belleville.—Pop. 300. Hagan.—Pop. 800. Claxton.—Pop. 1,250. Daisy.—Pop. 200. These six towns are in Tattall county. Groveland, BRYAN COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Reka.—Pop. 300. Pembroke.—Pop. 500. Lanier.—Pop. 200. Ellabelle.—Pop. 200. Cuyler.—Pop. 100. The last five towns are in Bryan county. Meldrin, EFFINGHAM COUNTY.—Pop. 500. All of the above towns are prosperous, being located in a fertile region. They are in a splendid agricultural section, extending from Lyons eastward to Savannah, a distance of 74 miles along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Throughout the entire country referred to there are resources of various kinds, such as timber, good clay, fertile soils, which are especially adapted to raising the famous Georgia watermelon, fine cotton and various other agricultural products. Peaches are cultivated with much profit. Cantaloupes also do well. Farms have been selling below their intrinsic value, but this will not be for long, as experienced farmers with much foresight are migrating to this land, which is wonderfully endowed by nature. The climate is salubrious and all other conditions are favorable to enjoyable living, as well as money-making.

Savannah, CHATHAM COUNTY.—Pop. 75,000. Upon the site of Savannah the colony of Georgia was founded. Savannah is a city with an historic past—a city, therefore, of incentive. Savannah lies in the active progressive present and looks forward confidently to the golden future. Savannah is the greatest South Atlantic port, the ocean gateway through which passes the major part of the commerce not only of Georgia but a large portion of the South, the Middle West, and even the great Northwest. Savannah is distinctively a city of commerce. Among some of Savannah's more important commercial and manufacturing enterprises are fifteen financial institutions; several ably edited newspapers; a number of wholesale establishments handling various classes of goods; five hotels, popular with tourists and general traveling public; box, barrel, basket and crate factories; several brick kilns; numerous jobbers and dealers; five candy factories; three canneries; five ice factories, having in connection well equipped cold-storage facilities; cotton mills; cottonseed oil mills; brewery; a dozen large fertilizer factories and several smaller ones; five iron, machine and general repair shops; two dozen lumber buyers and jobbers; fifteen plants manufacturing lumber, sash, doors, blinds, etc.;

five marble works; three mattress factories, nearly a dozen naval stores, and still more exporters; one dozen dealers in oysters and fish; more than two dozen produce dealers; numerous shippers of meats and provisions; and many other smaller business establishments. There were 1,306,854 bales of cotton handled through the port of Savannah for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1913. The amount of imported fertilizer material for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, was 198,618 tons. The leading export city of Georgia is Savannah, having developed an export trade of considerable extent. The value of the exports from Savannah were last year more than twice as great as the value of exports from San Francisco. Savannah, with its equable climate, fine roads, picturesque scenery, beautiful resorts and points of historic interest, is a delight to the tourist, the automobilist and the pleasure seeker. On account of the extraordinary good roads around Savannah the city is very popular with automobilists, and the enthusiasts of this sport come from various points in this as well as foreign countries, visiting for many weeks, while some of them remain for the entire winter to enjoy this sport and salubrious climate. This is a favorite place for having automobile cup races. Savannah is indeed a beautiful place, having fine streets, numerous adornments in the way of monuments of high-class architecture and various kinds of trees and shrubbery which grow luxuriantly. The city's banking facilities are unexcelled by any in the South. Its financial institutions are strong and progressive, yet conservative. The surrounding country is imperial in agriculture, the products of the soil being the best. All kinds of farming products as well as a large variety of fruits are produced all along the Seaboard Air Line Railway extending west from Savannah to Montgomery and extending south of Savannah along the Atlantic coast of Georgia, as well as throughout the greater part of Florida. The Seaboard Air Line Railway's territory west of Savannah in South Georgia is productive of various kinds of fruits, such as cantaloupes, peaches and watermelons. The wonderful Rockyford cantaloupe is successfully grown, especially at Albany and contiguous points. The famous Elberta peach is cultivated with great profit and as produced throughout this section is an exceedingly luscious fruit. The world-renowned Georgia watermelon attains perfection in South Georgia in the territory of the Seaboard Air Line Railway west of Savannah. Whether it is on account of the climate or the soil, or both, it can be truthfully said that this fruit as produced in this part of the State is delicious. The excellent fruits, superior vegetables, fine cotton and other farm products which originate at points in Georgia on the Seaboard Air Line Railway and which pass through Savannah destined to various centers for distribution to the people is enormous. Of course, the city's local consumption of agricultural products, as the reader must know, is quite large. This conclusion must also apply to the consumption of raw materials from the interior. The exportation of raw materials and manufactured products from the port of Savannah is tremendous. That portion of the traffic of the Seaboard Air Line Railway from the territory heretofore mentioned assumes enormous proportions, especially in cotton, lumber and naval stores. A composite cut featured on one of these pages shows views of property owned by the Seaboard Air Line Railway on Hutchinson Island at Savannah. This is the most perfectly equipped terminal, both as to berth room for vessels and for storage facilities for import and export cargoes, on the South Atlantic coast. In addition this terminal is equipped with every modern facility for the prompt and economical handling of package freight moving to and from the port of Savannah. This company also maintains at Savannah ample team, track and yard facilities for the receipt and discharge of solid carload shipments moving into and from Savannah. The barrels on the naval stores dock in the cut referred to above cover an area of 20 acres and number 70,000. Figuring on a conservative average price of about $8 per barrel the value of this display is in excess of $500,000. The naval stores facilities possessed by the Seaboard Air Line Railway at Savannah for handling the rosin and turpentine shipped from the interior are unsurpassed by any railway in the South. The illustrations published herein of the union passenger station and other scenes give an idea of the city from a business as well as a scenic standpoint, which, combined with the existing climatic conditions, make it an ideal city in every respect. Rincon.—Pop. 200. Stillwell.—Pop. 200. Cloy.—Pop. 300. All in Effingham county. These are the principal towns on the Seaboard Air Line Railway from Savannah northward to the Georgia-South Carolina dividing line. In this territory of about a dozen miles enormous quantities of watermelons are raised; also other fruits, vegetables, cotton, hay and grain.

This is the first station in Georgia on the Alabama division of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, running in an easterly direction through the northern part of the State. Cedartown, POLK COUNTY.—Pop. 6,000. Sixty miles west of Atlanta. The illustration inserted here shows the main thoroughfare of this city with a number of its fine buildings. Cedartown is not only an attractive city from a scenic standpoint, but it should prove exceedingly interesting to settlers looking for a desirable location in which to conduct most any kind of manufacturing or commercial enterprise. Sites are easily obtained, rents are reasonable, taxes low and climatic conditions favorable. The advice we have received from some of the substantial business men is to the effect that any information or assistance possible looking to the establishment of new enterprises will be cheerfully given. The city is conveniently located near the Birmingham iron district and within easy access of the jobbing facilities offered by Atlanta. The town is surrounded with magnificent farming lands producing high-grade cotton and various other farm products.

This town is located at the terminus of the Rockmart-Cartersville branch, 23 miles from Rockmart on the main line. Cartersville has all necessary financial institutions to take care of the needs of the people and has good educational facilities. The city has an altitude of 800 feet, is healthy, has good water and other advantages. There is no section in North Georgia having a greater diversity of mineral deposits. Ochre is found here in quantities. Iron ore is found in abundance, not only in this vicinity, but more or less east of this point to Atlanta, and the country all the way from here to Birmingham along the Seaboard Air Line Railway is dotted here and there with iron deposits. Other minerals shipped are beauxite, crude graphite, cement, lime and some gold. The inhabitants of Bartow county are very proud of this portion of Georgia and their county

This is purely a cotton district. Taylorville, BARROW COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Nine miles north of Rockmart. Large quantities of fine cotton raised and shipped. Portland and Aragon, POLK COUNTY.—Combined population 2,000. Four and one-half and four miles, respectively, north of Rockmart. Location of a large plant manufacturing Portland cement. Rockmart, POLK COUNTY.—Pop. 1,500. Forty-seven miles west of Atlanta, junction of the Seaboard Air Line Railway main line, with its branch extending from Rockmart to Cartersville, a distance of 23 miles. This town is located in the beautiful Euharlee Valley with a mountain range south of it. Rockmart has a large cement manufacturing plant; two enterprising banks; live newspaper; brick kiln; quarry; three saw-mills; two plants manufacturing dressed lumber, window frames, sash, doors, blinds and shingles; and a number of smaller industries. The Board of Trade is anxious to interest investors in the establishment of wholesale grocery, cotton mill, fertilizer factory and additional plants for manufacturing brick, as there is an abundance of shale in this section. Slate is also found here in abundance. The surrounding agricultural section is good and the farmers will find this an attractive feature to investigate. Thomas.—Pop. 100. Dallas.—Pop. 1,400. Hiram.—Pop. 300. All in PAULDING COUNTY. Powder Springs, COBB COUNTY. Pop. 600. Floyd, COBB COUNTY.—Pop. 100. These towns are the principal shipping points of a most magnificent territory between Rockmart and Atlanta, a distance of 47 miles, and traversed by the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Good locations for those desiring to engage in trucking, as enormous amounts of vegetables are consumed by Atlanta, to say nothing of the fine facilities offered for the transportation of perishables to eastern markets.

Atlanta, FULTON COUNTY.—Population 190,000. County seat. Atlanta is the capital of Georgia, and the phenomenal stride made by this city in connection with the wonderful progress of the entire State has focused the attention of the eyes of the manufacturing, commercial and investing world upon this section of the South. Atlanta, without a doubt, has a greater variety of industries than any other city in the South. Intensely interesting is the history of this city. When these progressive people looked with tearful eyes upon the charred and blackened débris of their beloved city their thoughts were sombrous; but not for long, for in the mighty abyss of woe they saw a single but sufficient ray of hope—that unison of spirit which has always been prevalent here. They prophesied and afterwards executed through united efforts the up-building of a great metropolis, as evidenced by the Atlanta of to-day. The enterprise and ability displayed by the city's newspapers and the high standing of the financial institutions are unsurpassed in the South. There are located here agencies for practically all the automobile manufacturers in the country. This city also has several agricultural implement works; eight candy and syrup factories; two coffin factories; four cotton mills, knitting mill; seven cottonseed oil mills; a great many electrical establishments; more than a dozen fertilizer factories; thirteen foundries and machine shops; three iron and steel plants; one-half dozen furniture factories; iron bed factory; half dozen ice factories; several cold-storage plants; a half dozen plants manufacturing lumber and building material; a dozen marble works; nine mattress and bed spring factories; numerous paper-making factories; shoe factory; two soap factories; stove works; three cigar and cigarette factories; a large number of wholesale and jobbing establishments; and hundreds of other industries too numerous to mention. Atlanta is a great mule trading center, more of these animals being imported and distributed from this point than from any other section in the South. As a jobbing and wholesale distributing center Atlanta is of wonderful importance. The magnitude of the city's varied interests is so large that it would be quite impossible to do this city justice within a limited space. A book could be written regarding Atlanta and still there would be more to tell. W. H. Leahy, a well-known authority on industrial subjects and Industrial Secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, contributes the following: "Atlanta has an area of  $26\frac{6}{10}$  square miles. The city is located six miles from the Chattahoochee river, from which the water supply of the city is drawn and used after being carried through a modern filtering plant and is very healthful water. The altitude of Atlanta is 1,050 feet above the sea level. The city occupies a commanding site on the crest of the ridge that divides the watershed of the South Atlantic coast from that of the Gulf of Mexico. A glance at the map will indicate that Atlanta is so geographically located as to make it a natural distributing point for the southeastern territory, considering such territory as bound on the north by the Ohio and Potomac and on the west by the Mississippi rivers. Atlanta possesses the advantage of water power which is conveyed from the Chattahoochee river and Tallulah falls and is unexcelled throughout the country. Atlanta has more than 550 diversified manufacturing interests and a climate unsurpassed in the United States. The healthfulness of the city is one of the chief factors which should attract settlers. Fourteen railroads radiate from the city of Atlanta like spokes in a wheel, and 137 passenger trains operate into and out of the city daily. The terminal facilities of the railroads are excellent and the Chamber of Commerce is in possession of full data with respect to available factory and general business sites on and near the terminals of the railroads and elsewhere. Atlanta being in the center of the southeastern territory offers an equalization of freight rates, thus providing another attraction for business locations. Facilities for local transit in the city include 199 miles of modern street railway which transports nearly 200,000 passengers per day. This system reaches in every direction beyond the city limits and extends into some places eight and nine miles, touching the various manufacturing centers, the largest of which are located in the outlying districts. The school system is considered the finest in the South. There is also located in the city of Atlanta a school of technology where 900 young men are now receiving training in technical work. Many large and commodious office buildings are located in Atlanta, while many more are being projected. The rapidity with which these buildings fill up with offices of representatives of local and outside business enterprises has been a source of wonder to many, but Atlanta is exceedingly desirable as a business center and a point of distribution for general business throughout the South. The Industrial and Statistical Bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is in possession of data from which to reply to all inquiries regarding the commercial, industrial, social, educational, climatic and other conditions of the city. Atlanta welcomes all good citizens and business enterprises." Howells Transfer, FULTON COUNTY, four miles from center of Atlanta, is a part of the latter city, and at this point the Seaboard Air Line Railway exchanges a large amount of traffic with six railway connections. Montreal.—Pop. 200. Fifteen miles east of Atlanta. Tucker.—Pop. 300. They are the principal towns between Atlanta and Winder, a distance of 52 miles. In this territory farming is carried on extensively. The products are chiefly cotton, corn, oats and hay. Additional manufacturing plants are being established from time to time in this prosperous region. Winder, JACKSON COUNTY.—Pop. 3,000. Fifty-one miles east of Atlanta. Has good banking and educational facilities, also modern conveniences equal to any town of its size. Has several industries and others would pay. Statham, JACKSON COUNTY.—Pop. 1,000. Fifty-nine miles east of Atlanta. Has good banking facilities and educational institutions, several industries, and others would pay. Enormous quantities of cotton are shipped annually. Elsewhere in this book is shown an illustration depicting the Seaboard Air Line Railway's depot platform and the street literally covered with baled cotton, and the depot hands loading same into a car for shipment. Bogart, OCONEE COUNTY.—Pop. 500. Sixty-three miles east of Atlanta. Wonderfully productive in cotton, there being over 3,000 bales of this product shipped from this station each year. Farmers desiring good lands will not be disappointed here. The town has financial facilities and good schools. Athens, CLARK COUNTY.—Pop. 20,000. County seat, 73 miles east of Atlanta. Here cotton is king. This product is extensively raised east and west of this point along the line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Athens is a great cotton market, the fleecy staple being handled here on an enormous scale by factors through whom it is marketed. The scene on opposite page entitled "Grading Cotton, Athens, Ga., is a fair sample of the largest scale on which this valuable product is handled in the warehouses here and shipped to spinners in this and other countries. This city consumes many thousands of bales per annum for the purpose of manufacturing cloths, yarns and other cotton goods. Athens has several cotton mills, several banks, two ice factories, cold storage, wagon and buggy factory, two cottonseed oil mills, two fertilizer factories, grist mill, foundry and machine shop, planing mills, sash, door and blind factories, two marble works, two mattress factories, two live newspapers, pottery, numerous small industries, as well as wholesale grocers, dry-goods and hardware establishments, with opportunities for more. Hull, MADISON COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Seventy-nine miles east of Atlanta. Has grist mill and two saw-mills. Cotton country. Colbert, MADISON COUNTY.—Pop. 350. Eighty-four miles east of Atlanta. Has financial facilities. Fine deposits of clay here. Openings: Brick works, cotton mills, cottonseed oil mills and fertilizer factories. Some of the citizens will join capitalists in the establishments of these industries. Comer, MADISON COUNTY.—Pop. 1,200. Here cotton reigns supreme and the shipments of this product from this point are exceedingly large. The citizens are consequently very prosperous. Comer has banking facilities and all the conveniences of towns of similar size. Money is plentiful and most any kind of enterprise will pay. Berkeley, MADISON COUNTY.—Pop. 600. Ninety-five miles east of Atlanta. Large quantities of cotton are grown in this vicinity and shipped from this prosperous town. Prospective settlers will do well to investigate this place as a good point of location. Has bank and educational institutions, as well as all modern conveniences. People prosperous. Oglesby, ELBERT COUNTY.—Pop. 200. One hundred miles east of Atlanta. The prin-

County seat, 107 miles east of Atlanta. Has four banks, newspaper, large cotton mill, magnificent cottonseed oil mill, two fertilizer factories, machine shop, lumber plants, marble works, cold-storage and ice plant, wholesale grocery and other substantial business enterprises. This town is located in a superior cotton-producing region. Accompanying this article is featured a well-equipped cottonseed oil mill, one of the largest on the Seaboard Air Line Railway. This is a splendid location for the investment of money by those desiring to engage in the pursuits of agriculture, manufacturing and commerce. Middleton, ELBERT COUNTY.—Pop. 300. per acre. The experiments along this line have produced a very superior peach and the attention of fruit growers is especially called to this section. Heardmont, ELBERT COUNTY.—Pop. 100. One hundred and seventeen miles east of Atlanta. This is another peach-producing point and the lands here are the same as those just described. Too much cannot be said in regard to the advantages of peach culture in this region as this luscious fruit is grown to perfection here. Growers will do well to investigate. This completes the description of the cities and towns in North Georgia on the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

GEORGIA

By DAN G. HUGHES, Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture

Georgia, the largest State east of the Mississippi, has a wide range of altitude and climate and an unusual diversity of soil types. Between the mountains and the ocean the principal staple crops of the entire United States are somewhat successfully grown on a commercial scale. Wheat has always been grown to advantage in the northern and middle sections; corn is one of the principal crops throughout the entire State, the yield of the past year being estimated at 72,000,000 bushels; tobacco, rice and sugar cane are profitably grown in the southern part of the State; the production of cotton in Georgia last year was near 2,500,000 bales, valued with the seed at approximately $175,000,000. The major portion of the long staple cotton crop of the country is produced in Georgia; oats, watermelons, rye, potatoes and all the vegetables in common use also succeed well. The northern section of the State is becoming a heavy producer of high-grade apples grown in commercial orchards and the industry promises to be one of the State's most important interests. There are two zones in which commercial peach orchards have long been operated at a profit, the annual shipments ranging around 5,000 cars. Pecan growing is attaining large proportions in the southern part of Georgia, many thousand acres of nut trees coming into bearing each year. The legumes, crops which are the foundation of modern agriculture, range in Georgia from alfalfa and the clovers to the cowpea, soy bean and velvet bean, all of which are successfully and profitably grown, each in the section and upon the soil to which it is peculiarly adapted. The State's most apparent deficiencies are in dairying, cattle raising, poultry and hog raising. Profitable opportunities for each of these lines may be found throughout the entire State. In the southern part of Georgia there are thousands of acres of cutover lands that when cleared of timber and stumps are ideal for modern machine farming. Several drainage projects are under way in this section which will add to the value of much land now lying idle. This section is also well adapted to trucking for the eastern markets and there is a considerable industry along that line already established. The products of South Georgia truck farms come into market between those of Florida and the more northerly truck belts. Georgia's population is well divided between rural and urban and the numerous cities and towns afford good markets for farm products of all sorts. In this respect it has the advantage of other southern States. According to the last census there are 291,000 farms in Georgia and abundant room for several times that many more. The State pays much attention to agricultural education, having twelve district agricultural schools and a State institution of high rank. The public school system is good and is supplemented by State, private and denominational schools and colleges. The industrial resources of Georgia are almost as varied as the agricultural. In the upper section are great marble fields which are worked in many quarries that supply building marble for the most pretentious structures in the land. The granite industry is also large and important, giving employment to several thousand people at various quarries. Georgia marble and Georgia granite are as famous in the building material field as the Georgia peach and the Georgia watermelon are in the line of delectable food products. The mineral resources of the mountain region are valuable and extensive, but not so well developed as the marble and granite. Gold, coal, bauxite, asbestos, iron, kaolin and other minerals are all produced on a commercial scale. The hardwood timber resources of the State are being vigorously developed and are rich and important. For years the State has been a leading producer of yellow pine lumber and still remains an important factor in that field. The woodworking, naval stores and wood turpentine industries are wealth-producing industries in the State to-day. Georgia stands well as a manufacturing State, having large interests in cotton and wool textile, cottonseed products, cement and lime, brick, terra cotta, sewer pipe, drain tile and roofing tile plants. The cities have much diversified manufacture in small plants that employ in the aggregate thousands of operatives. Hydro-electric plants at various points supply cheap power that is transmitted for long distances and is having an important bearing on the increase of manufacture industry. A list of products manufactured in the State would include most articles that enter into general trade.

All in Hampton county, the last-named town being 84 miles south of Columbia. These towns comprise 22 miles of territory on the Seaboard Air Line Railway, running eastwardly from the first-mentioned point. The lands in this section, and in fact all along the railway throughout the State, are agricultural in nature, as well as being wonderfully resourceful in many other respects.

at Ulmers, as well as a bank. Olar has a bank, but a hotel requiring limited capital will likely pay. Denmark, BAMBERG COUNTY.—Pop. 1,300. Fifty-one miles south of Columbia. Fine climate, fine schools, fine banks and a fine town in general. The financial institutions and other business enterprises take a pride and interest in the welfare of the town and are anxious to have those desiring to establish manufacturing enterprises or to carry on farming in this vicinity investigate the possibilities here. Hix.—Pop. 700. Neeces.—Pop. 400. Livingston.—Pop. 250.

STATE CAPITOL, COLUMBIA, S. C., S. A. L. RY.

Opportunities for prospective settlers are abundant. Fairfax, BARNWELL COUNTY.—Pop. 700. Seventy-four miles south of Columbia. Has two banks, brick works, cottonseed oil mill and several smaller enterprises. Sycamore.—Pop. 200. Ulmers.—Pop. 350. Both in Barnwell county. Olar.—Pop. 600. Govan.—Pop. 200. These two towns in Bamberg county, the latter being 58 miles south of Columbia. These four points comprise a territory of 15 miles of splendid farming lands, some of which may be bought very reasonably. It is thought that a hotel will pay

North.—Pop. 1,100. Woodford.—Pop. 400. All in Orangeburg county. Gaston.—Pop. 100. Swansea.—Pop. 900. The two latter in Lexington county. All these towns are comprised within a territory of 52 miles from Denmark to Columbia. This is an exceptionally fine country and well worth the attention of the capitalist and laborer. Farmers are able to grow almost any agricultural product in this territory. Cotton, corn, hay and vegetables all thrive here. Enormous quantities of cotton are shipped from this territory as well as from the other points previously described. It is thought that cottonseed oil mills will pay at Hix and North, as great quantities of cottonseed are available. Opportunities exist at the latter for investments in box, barrel, basket and crate factories, as more than 200 cars of lumber manufactured for this purpose are shipped away annually. Swansea has a factory making vegetable packages, barrels, etc., and as there is considerable timber adapted to the purpose it is thought that a plant manufacturing furniture, chairs especially, will pay. Labor is cheap and water supply abundant.

Columbia, RICHLAND COUNTY.—Population 57,000. This is the capital and the State's greatest metropolis. The bank clearings of this city are over $1,000,000 a week, its financial institu-

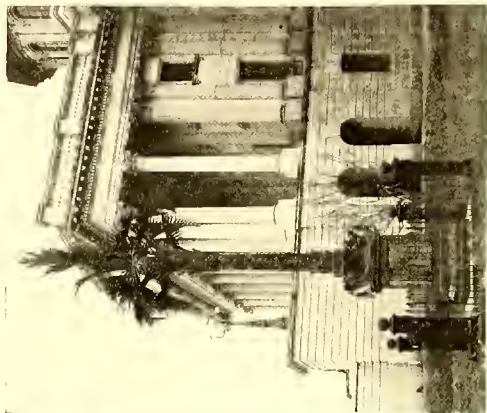

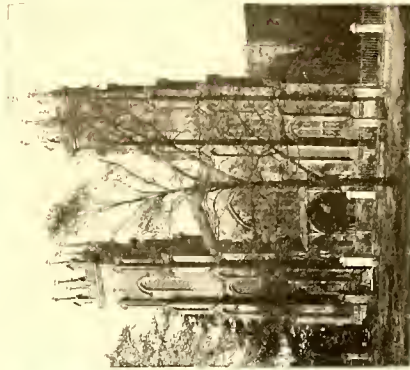

Columbia a desirable point at which to establish a furniture factory or any other woodworking plant. All industries using cotton fabrics should do well in Columbia. Situated as it is in the heart of a rich agricultural section, success should come to all plants engaged in the manufacture or distribution of articles sold to farmers. Factories having for their products boots and shoes, wagons and buggies, harness, overalls, drain tile and similar products would be advantageously located in Columbia. Columbia does not supply one-tenth of the demand of its trade territory. Aside from the market right at its doorstep, with splendid and adequate transportation facilities, Columbia will have within a few months an abundance of cheap electric power. About 25 miles tions being splendidly equipped and well conducted. Columbia has an excellent system of public schools, a large number of commercial establishments and factories, ample water supply of good quality, and is surrounded by a wonderfully fertile and productive country especially adapted to the cultivation of cotton, corn, tobacco and general agricultural products. There are six mills operating over 250,000 spindles. Among other large industries are big machinery plants, large fertilizer factories, lumber mills, absorbent cotton factories, etc., there being in all some 57 manufacturing plants within the city. Within a short distance of Columbia are millions of feet of hardwood timber easily accessible, thus making from the city, on the Broad river, is located a new electric power plant, the power being brought to Columbia on transmission lines. The present capacity of this plant is 18,000 horsepower, while provision has been made for increasing this to 27,000 horsepower as soon as the demand warrants. Columbia is a city of beautiful homes and wide, spacious, well-paved streets lined with beautiful shade trees. It is laid out with checker-board regularity, and an efficient street car system adequately covers the city and suburbs. Columbia is a live, up-to-date growing town, and any industry locating here now or in the near future will, naturally, reap the benefit that the increased growth of the town will make possible. Perhaps no better testimonial to the growth and prosperity of the city of Columbia could be found than in its fine and commodious hotels and its tall and imposing office buildings. The central location of this city, the industrious and progressive spirit of its citizens as individuals, and its Chamber of Commerce and other organizations as representative bodies, together with the remarkably fertile and resourceful territory surrounding it, combine to make Columbia an attractive point for the location of commercial and manufacturing establishments, while its climate and general health conditions as well as its natural beauty make it a desirable place of residence. Blaney.—Pop. 300. Lugoff.—Pop. 400. These two towns are in Kershaw county. The latter point is 29 miles north of Columbia. The region from Columbia to Camden, of which these towns are the principal points, is exceedingly fertile and should prove attractive to those desiring to purchase and cultivate farm lands. Camden, KERSHAW COUNTY.—Pop. 4,000. The county seat, 33 miles north of Columbia. Camden is far famed as a winter resort. The climate is exceedingly salubrious, and has lured for centuries those in search of health and recreation. The scenery for miles around is very entrancing and is marked with well-trodden bridle paths and automobile roads traveled by the fashionable and wealthy from all sections of the country. This resort has a number of excellent and well-conducted hotels. While Camden is so widely known as a charming resort, yet it has a number of enterprises, such as brick kiln, two lumber plants, ice plant, two newspapers, three banks, stores well stocked with goods of medium and high-class grades. Cassatt.—Pop. 100. Bethune.—Pop. 40. In KERSHAW COUNTY. McBee.—Pop. 500. Middendorf.—Pop. 100. Patrick.—Pop. 100. In CHESTERFIELD COUNTY. These are the principal towns, representing a splendid agricultural region along the Seaboard Air Line Railway between Camden and Cheraw, a distance of 55 miles. Advantageous territory for those desiring to engage in raising farm products. The people are prosperous, cotton and other agricultural products bringing to them a large revenue, and most any additional enterprise established in this part of the State will prove remunerative. Cheraw, CHESTERFIELD COUNTY.—Pop. 3,500. Eighty-eight miles north of Columbia. Has four banks, a large crate factory, plant producing veneer, marble works, brick works, two planing mills, sash, door and blind factory, fertilizer works, iron works and several smaller industries. Opening for cotton mills and cottonseed oil mills, as plenty of cotton of finest quality is raised here and consequently an abundance of seed. Opportunity also for wood-working establishments, such as furniture factories, wagon works and agricultural implement factories, as there is an abundance of timber, cheap electric power from dam producing 38,000 horsepower nearby. These products could be easily marketed as the transportation facilities are excellent. Capital is invited to investigate. Kollocks, MARLBORO COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Ninety miles north of Columbia. This vicinity and the lands east of here to the North Carolina border are the same class as those heretofore

From Calhoun Falls on the western border to Van Wyck on the eastern border. Calhoun Falls.—Pop. 400. Watts.—Pop. 100. Both in Abbeville county, these towns being fourteen and seven miles, respectively, from Abbeville, the county seat. These are the principal towns embraced in the 17-mile territory from the State line eastward to Abbeville. Calhoun Falls, which was once the center of the plantation of former Vice-President John C. Calhoun, is now the site of cotton manufacturing plants. Abbeville, ABBEVILLE COUNTY.—Pop. 5,500. The county seat, 137 miles east of Atlanta. Has banking facilities, good schools, large cotton mills, a large lumber plant, oil mill and several smaller industries. Two ginneries are kept busy during the cotton season to take care of the crop, which is immense. Additional cotton mills, cottonseed oil mills and cotton warehouse would probably pay. Repair shops of the Seaboard Air Line Railway are located here, a view of which and a picture of the Savannah river are shown on one of these pages. The Seaboard Air Line Railway crosses the Savannah river near Calhoun Falls, S. C. Greenwood, GREENWOOD COUNTY.—Pop. 10,000. The county seat, 154 miles east of Atlanta, junction with Piedmont & Northern Railroad. Has five large cotton mills, two lumber plants, ice factory, foundry and machine shops, large marble works, fertilizer factories, oil mills, largest cotton gin- nery east of the Mississippi river, wholesale groceries, as well as a number of other industries, including a number of banks, public and high schools, female college and military institute. Various manufacturing enterprises, such as cottonseed oil mill, woodworking establishments and other industries should pay, as there is an abundance of raw material in this rich country, with the advantage of cheap electric power. Cross Hill, LAURENS COUNTY.—Pop. 1,000. Fourteen miles east of Greenwood. This is the station for the famous Harris Springs mineral water, located nearby. Has bank, cottonseed oil mill, and is situated in a splendid agricultural section, productive principally of cotton. There is an enormous quantity of mineral water shipped from the springs to points all over the country. Mountville, LAURENS COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Nineteen miles north of Greenwood. Has bank, good school and is surrounded with lands that are productive of farm products, cotton being the principal product. Clinton, LAURENS COUNTY.—Pop. 4,500. One hundred and eighty-one miles east of Atlanta. Prosperous people in a resource- ful country. Has three banks, three cotton mills, cottonseed oil mill, fertilizer factory, lumber plant, marble works and several smaller indus- tries. Prominent citizens advise they need dairy, steam laundry, green grocery and cold-storage plant. Renno, LAURENS COUNTY.—Pop. 100. Seven miles north of Clinton, same character of lands as in the last several towns described.

Whitmire, NEWBERRY COUNTY.—Pop. 1,400. Seventeen miles east of Clinton, 198 miles east of Atlanta. Has well-managed bank as well as one of the most magnificent cotton mills on the Seaboard Air Line Railway. In fact, the payroll from this mill and sub-enterprises keep the town in a state of affluence, consequently it is a very fine trading center. Splendid opportunities are presented for various kinds of agricultural indus- tries here as the town has a very rich section to draw from in every direction. Carlisle, UNION COUNTY.—Pop. 500. Nineteen miles east of Clinton. Resources: fine quarry, brick clay, cot- ton and corn producing lands. Ships 2,500 bales of cotton annually. Parties desiring to purchase lands should look this vicinity over. Pride and Leeds.—Both of these towns are in Chester county. Carlisle, Pride and Leeds comprise a ter- ritory of 29 miles from Whitmire to Chester, in which an abundance of hay, corn and cotton, especially the latter, are easily raised and with much profit. A limited acreage through here may be purchased which will net the farmer handsome returns on his money. Chester.—Pop. 5,000. Edgemoor.—Pop. 400. Harmony.—Pop. 100. All in Chester county and embrace a ter- ritory of 18 miles of fertile lands in which there is carried on an extensive tilling of the soil. There are three banks located at Chester, as well as a number of industrial plants, such as lumber mills, cottonseed oil mill, cotton mills, ice factory, two newspapers and several other enterprises. Any town in Chester county will prove a desirable place for investment and habitation. Great Falls.—Pop. 600. Fort Lawn.—Pop. 500. Both in CHESTER COUNTY on a branch of the Seaboard Air Line Railway running from Spence on the main line, which latter point is 26 miles west of Monroe. Great Falls is 21 miles from Spence and is the location of a large cotton mill. The large power plants at Great Falls and Rocky Creek are operated in conjunction, delivering approximately 130,000 horsepower. This power is used by flour mills, cottonseed oil mills, ginneries, fertilizer plants and various other plants; 160 cotton mills are served with the power generated here and 35 cities and towns are supplied. The water power here is deemed of sufficient importance to justify featuring on these pages. It is a magnificent sight, remarkable for the power generated and the great possibilities for future use in the line of manufacture. Manufacturers should not overlook the advantages to be found here and at other points on the Seaboard Air Line Railway similarly endowed. Fort Lawn is accessible to the above water power and, like Great Falls, is a magnificent point for the location of manufacturing enterprises. Catawba, YORK COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Van Wyck, LANCASTER COUNTY.—Pop. 400. The latter is 21 miles west of Monroe. These two are the principal points between Spence and the dividing line of South and North Carolina. Not only in this immediate vicinity, but in all the territory just described in the northwestern portion of the State of South Carolina are to be found golden opportunities for investors.

SOUTH CAROLINA

By E. J. WATSON, Commissioner of Agriculture, Commerce and Industries

South Carolina in the matter of material development throughout the past year has made remarkable progress. All of the figures showing the development in agriculture and industrial enterprises are not yet available, but preliminary figures of the State Department of Agriculture, including such federal figures as are available, are sufficient to warrant this statement. Agriculture is, of course, the leading industry of the State, overshadowing all others combined. The value of all agricultural products of the State jumped in the last census decade from $51,324,000 to $141,983,000. Last year the value of the corn, cotton, tobacco, wheat, oats, hay and potato crops alone—just seven, without considering rice, fruits or anything else embraced in the above decade totals—aggregated $154,518,119, as against $123,219,043 for the same crops in 1912 and $111,137,889 (census) in 1910. The corn crop last year was 4,566,000 bushels greater than the previous year, the average yield per acre having reached 20 bushels, which is within two bushels of the average for the United States, representing an increase of $10,484,880. The tobacco crop in 1913 was 8,962,000 pounds greater than that of 1912, for which the growers received $4,584,339, or $1,930,896 increase over previous year. Last year 245,000 more bushels of wheat were produced than the previous year, showing the tendency to raise food supplies at home, and this represents an increase of $101,400. The cotton crop of last year was the second largest the State has ever raised, was best in quality ever marketed, and in round figures was worth $100,000,000. The gross income to the people from agriculture last year may be conservatively said to have been approximately $160,000,000, or more than three times what it was in 1900. This is without regard to the live-stock industry, which is also increasing steadily and rapidly. The other chief economic phase of South Carolina's industry is manufacturing, which is beginning to challenge agriculture. In the decade from 1900 to 1910 the value of manufactured products jumped from $53,336,000—exceeding agriculture at that time—to $113,236,000. In 1912 the manufactured products jumped to $124,544,080. Last year was a prolific one in all branches of industry, the value of the manufactured products of all industries being $141,157,302. The principal item in the State's manufacturing industry is the textiles. The textile plants in money value turned out last year goods almost to the value of the cotton crop of the State and nearly to the amount of the capital employed. There has been an increase of $4,998,092 in capital invested in one year. The increase in value of annual product at the midseason census was $5,239,513, while the final figures show an increase in this regard of $11,283,072. The value of the product is $84,785,152, and the capital invested is $88,767,738. Water power developments upon a large scale are progressing rapidly and electric-driven interurban lines are being built and are getting into operation. In the towns and cities diversified small industries are starting up one after another—modern steel frame buildings are being built, transportation facilities are being augmented, values of farm and urban property are increasing steadily and substantially, banking is in a healthy condition and the State's commerce is developing. Preparations are being made with a view of making the most of the opportunities to be afforded by the opening of the Panama Canal through our own ports, notably Charleston, and upon all constructive lines of endeavor the commonwealth is moving forward with the steady stride that is characterizing the development of agriculture. This brief résumé of the record of the past year in plain figures reveals more forcefully than any other description the splendid opportunities in this State that now await the man who is seeking a home or looking for sound investment of capital.

NORTH CAROLINA

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY CITIES AND TOWNS REPRESENTED BY AGENCIES

Wilmington, HANOVER COUNTY.—Population 30,000. County seat. Wilmington is the largest commercial city in North Carolina and is located at the head of the Cape Fear ocean gateway with 400 miles of inland navigation and six railroads extending in all directions, making this port one of the most desirable distributing points on the South Atlantic coast. Wilmington is situated at the junction of two large rivers along which millions of feet of black, sweet and tupelo gum, pine and hardwood grow. The wood is being used for furniture, columns, boxes, handles and other general purposes. Wilmington is among the foremost of the Atlantic seaports. It is chiefly noted as a wholesale and banking center. This city has shown material progress in the erection of business buildings and residences during the past year, permits having been issued for about 500 dwellings and business houses, which include the new union station, large cold-storage plant, magnificent new bank building, Young Men's Christian Association building, Cape Fear Club and other large structures. This section has a wonderful climate, having neither extreme heat nor extreme cold. Average temperature, 72 degrees; average winter temperature, 48 degrees. The average rainfall is  $51\frac{5}{100}$  inches; average annual clear days, 132. The excellent climatic conditions largely contribute to abundant crops, the custom of growing two and three crops a year on the same land being very general. The productiveness of the soil and unequalled opportunities for trucking are attracting settlers from all parts of the country. The Chamber of Commerce writes as follows: "Wilmington has better freight rates than any city in the State. Surpasses all other North Carolina cities in distributing advantages for the manufacturer and wholesaler. There is a belt line around the city reaching many desirable manufacturing sites, which may be secured at reasonable cost. As a deep water port it serves as a gateway for a large territory. This city has made splendid progress during the past five years, particularly noticeable in the many municipal improvements, which aggregate an expenditure of over \$1,000,000. It has also gone forward with rapid strides in building operations, which amounted to more than \$1,000,000 last year. There are about 50 wholesale houses located here and the business through this port by these concerns last year is estimated at \$70,000,000. As a banking center Wilmington undoubtedly leads in North Carolina. Wilmington has been recognized for many years as the fourth port in the United States in the exports of cotton, about 317,831 bales of cotton being exported last year. There were imported in 1913 through Wilmington about 183,499 tons of fertilizer materials for use in the manufacture of fertilizer, and for the same period there were shipped from this point about 263,000 tons of this manufactured product. The Cape Fear river has 26 feet of mean low water from Wilmington to the ocean. We have at present eleven large terminals which emphasizes its importance as a distributing point. Large cargoes from foreign markets are discharged at these terminals, which supply the demand from the interior. Wilmington has in addition to its splendid financial and educational facilities, several wholesale establishments, fertilizer factories, cotton mills, wood-working plants, compresses, large lumber plants and numerous other industries, all prosperous. The city welcomes investments in the way of new enterprises and will meet all well-meaning prospective settlers with open arms. Wilmington offers large inducements to the manufacturer and investor. There is an abundance of common labor to be secured here and manufacturers will do well to consider the many advantages this city offers in deciding upon a location for a factory. Wilmington's advantages as North Carolina's only deep-water seaport and its relative importance to the Panama Canal has recently caused it to be recognized with greater significance than ever before. The distance from Wilmington to Colon, Panama, by steamer route is only 1,552 miles. Large water front storage warehouses have been provided during the past three years, enabling this port to become the distributing center for a large territory." In this city are located a number of large water front terminals of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, the erection of which marked a new era in the development of this port. Acme, COLUMBUS COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Councils.—Pop. 100. Elkton.—Pop. 100. Clarkton.—Pop. 300. Abbottsburg.—Pop. 200. Bladenboro.—Pop. 300. These seven towns comprise 67 miles of one of the most favored sections for the production of farm and garden products in the land and covers from Wilmington to Lumberton. Cotton, corn and other farm products grow abundantly. The scene on page 174 entitled "Ready for Picking" is a field in this section. Vegetables produced here are unsurpassed anywhere. At Clarkton enormous quantities of strawberries are grown successfully and marketed with much profit. At a number of other points in each direction from here along the Seaboard Air Line Railway these and the other varieties of berries and melons are raised quite extensively. Clarkton and Bladenboro have banks. The latter has fine cotton mills. Lumber business is carried on to considerable extent in the above section. Special attention of parties desiring to follow the trucking business is directed to the fertility of the soil in this part of the State. . Lumberton, ROBESON COUNTY.—Pop. 2,500. Sixty-seven miles from Wilmington. Has three banks, two newspapers, four cotton mills, all doing well; several smaller enterprises and commercial establishments all successful. The watermelon industry is one of the greatest of all. This product is raised here to large size and is of fine flavor. On account of the perfection to which they attain on these lands in the vicinity of Lumberton and in each direction along the Seaboard Air Line Railway, they are raised by a number of growers solely for the purpose of supplying seed to other parts of the United States. Seventy-two and seventy-eight miles respectively from Wilmington, both in Robeson county, are the two principal stations between Lumberton and Maxton, which territory covers 21 miles of splendid lands producing farm and garden products along the Seaboard Air Line Railway and deserving of the attention of prospective settlers. Maxton, ROBESON COUNTY.—Pop. 1,500. Eighty-eight miles from Wilmington. This town has a splendid water and sewerage system, graded schools, female college, several banking institutions, large cottonseed oil mills, lumber plant and sash and door factory. Cotton mill, additional lumber plants and other industrial plants requiring limited capital will unquestionably pay as raw materials are at hand, taxes low, labor abundant and exceedingly reasonable. The town is building very rapidly and its successful and continued growth is assured. Cotton and watermelons grow prolifically in this vicinity, as also do strawberries and dewberries. Laurinburg, SCOTLAND COUNTY.—Pop. 2,500. County seat, 95 miles from Wilmington. cottonseed oil mill, two fertilizer factories, machine shop and other enterprises. Has newspaper and two banks. Another and progressive financial institution will receive hearty support. The amount of cotton produced along the Seaboard Air Line Railway in each direction from this point is enormous. Other agricultural products, corn especially, do well. More than 100 carloads of cantaloupes are shipped from here each season, which, together with the great quantities of watermelons shipped from the various points along this portion of the Seaboard Air Line Railway are the means of furnishing a lucrative business for the inhabitants. Elmore.—Pop. 100, and Laurel Hill.—Pop. 200. Both in Scotland county, 98 and 100 miles respectively from Wilmington, are the two principal shipping points between Laurinburg and Hamlet, and comprise an agricultural territory of 15 miles. Several cotton mills are also located in this section, and more will pay. Rutherfordton, RUTHERFORD COUNTY.—Pop. 1,200. County seat, 80 miles west of Charlotte and 267 miles from Wilmington. This is the terminus of the Wilmington-Rutherfordton line, which portion of the Seaboard Air Line Railway crosses through most of the State along its southern border. Throughout this region fruit culture is conducted very successfully and the best of flavors are produced. Apples, peaches, grapes, melons and berries all do well here. Rutherfordton has banks, good schools, lumber plants, cotton mills, ice factory, newspaper and numerous other enterprises. Those having a limited amount of capital to invest will find this vicinity as well as other points on the Seaboard Air Line Railway east of here deserving of attention. Forest City, RUTHERFORD COUNTY.—Pop. 1,800. Four miles east of Rutherfordton and 76 miles west of Charlotte. Has bank, cotton and hosiery mills, sash, door and blind factory. Openings for additional enterprises of these and other kinds exist here. Plenty of timber nearby to supply establishments making furniture, wagons, buggies and agricultural implements. Bostic, RUTHERFORD COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Seven miles east of Rutherfordton and 73 miles west of Charlotte. Cotton, corn and wheat are the chief products. A good opening for flour and grist mills. Has bank and good schools. Caroleen.—Pop. 2,000. Henrietta.—Pop. 2,000. Cliffside Junction.—Pop. 100. All in Rutherford county. These three towns are on the five branches running out from Ellenboro. This territory is devoted to the cotton mill industry. Ellenboro, RUTHERFORD COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Mooresboro.—Pop. 300. Lattimore.—Pop. 400. All in Cleveland county, 67, 64 and 60 miles respectively west of Charlotte. These are the principal towns between Bostic and Shelby covering 20 miles of Seaboard Air Line Railway territory, which is productive of apples, peaches, grapes, watermelons, cantaloupes, strawberries and other berries; farm products of all kinds, such as cotton, corn and wheat. Shelby, CLEVELAND COUNTY.—Pop. 3,200. County seat, 53 miles west of Charlotte. This town has several good banks and hotels, live newspaper and a number of industries. Good point of location for more. Waco, CLEVELAND COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Cherryville, GASTON COUNTY.—Pop. 1,200. Crouses, LINCOLN COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Forty-five, forty-two and thirty-seven miles respectively west of Charlotte. These are the principal towns in the territory of 21 miles along the Seaboard Air Line Railway from Shelby to Lincolnton. These lands are fertile and productive of cotton, grain and melons. Cherryville has two banks, two lumber plants, one newspaper, two cotton mills, grist mill, foundry and other industries. Good point of location for more. The territory referred to should attract capital and labor. Lincolnton, LINCOLN COUNTY.—Pop. 2,500. Thirty-two miles west of Charlotte. Has two banks, two newspapers, eleven cotton mills, brick works, flour mills, lumber plant, marble works, handle factory, and there is a good opening here for additional woodworking establishments, cotton mills, cottonseed oil mills and other enterprises. Iron, LINCOLN COUNTY.—Pop. 200. Stanley Creek.—Pop. 400. Mount Holly.—Pop. 600. These last three towns in Gaston county, 25, 18 and 11 miles respectively west of Charlotte. These three towns are the principal ones between Lincolnton and Charlotte, which territory covers 31 miles of a splendid farming section along the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

Charlotte, MECKLENBURG COUNTY.—Population 50,000. County seat. The city of Charlotte is the center of the largest textile industry in the United States. The number of cotton mills in a circle of 100 miles of Charlotte is 435, operating 1,225,000 spindles. The raw material is drawn from every direction throughout the cotton belt, but a large portion of the cotton consumed is grown in this part of North Carolina. Charlotte has splendid transportation facilities through the Seaboard Air Line Railway and its connections. The city is penetrated by four railroad lines. Among some of the most important industries are the following: 25 cotton factories, employing 12,000 people; 15 clothing factories; cot-tonged oil mills; fertilizer works; carding cloth; reed and harness factories; mattress factories; several lumber plants; ice factories; plow and agricultural implement factories; sash, door and blind factories; cigar factories and numerous other enterprises. There are more than a dozen banks located in Charlotte and in this respect it is well provided. Within 50 miles of Charlotte are located four enormous hydro-electric plants, which generate a total of about 225,000 horsepower. This power not only supplies Charlotte but a number of other important cities throughout North Carolina and adjoining States. The views depicted in the summary showing horsepower plants at Great Falls and Rocky Creek represent a large proportion of this wonderful resource. Additional views are shown of Charlotte, South Tryon street and Manufacturers' Club on one of these pages. On another page is shown a cut under the title of "One of the Many Fine Cotton Mills at Charlotte." The city has newsy and well-edited newspapers. In view of the favorable climatic conditions, raw material at hand, the accessibility of splendid water power, abundance of labor, as well as many other advantages, Charlotte offers splendid opportunities for the investment of capital. Mathews, MECKLENBURG COUNTY.—Pop. 500, and Indian Trail, UNION COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Eleven and fifteen miles respectively east of Charlotte. These are the most important towns between Charlotte and Monroe, covering a territory of 24 miles. Cotton is the principal crop. Wax- haw.—Pop. 700, and Mineral Springs.—Pop. 100. Both in Union county, twelve and eight miles respectively south of Monroe. Same class of territory as just described. Monroe, UNION COUNTY.—Pop. 4,200. The county seat, 24 miles east of Charlotte, 53 miles west of Hamlet, 163 miles west of Wilmington and 150 miles from Raleigh, the latter the State capital. From this point the Seaboard Air Line Railway runs to Hamlet and Wilmington, and from Hamlet to Norfolk, Richmond and intermediate points; from here to Rutherfordton and westward to Atlanta, Birmingham and intermediate points. This Company has large freight depot and yards at this point. Pictures of these shipping facilities, including the passenger depot and a street scene entitled "In the Land of Cotton," are printed on these pages. The first of these pictures gives a faint idea through this sectional view of the yards of the enormous amount of freight traffic handled and transferred at this point. Monroe has several banking institutions, educational facilities, live newspapers, four lumber plants, three factories making buggies, carriages and wagons; three cotton mills, one cottonseed oil mill, one grist mill, three wholesale grocers, one wholesale hardware house and several other enterprises. It is thought that a wholesale dry-goods establishment and a wholesale house handling drugs would pay, as neither of these classes of merchandise are wholesaled near here. Wingate.—Pop. 400. Marshville.—Pop. 600. Both in Union county. Peachland.—Pop. 300. Polkton.—Pop. 300. Wadesboro.—Pop. 2,500. These three in Anson county, the latter being 28 miles east of Monroe. These five towns comprise a fertile region along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. All classes of agricultural products are raised, cotton being the chief crop. Opportunities are presented for farming or for those looking for a desirable territory in which to locate. There are banks located at Wingate, Peachland, Polkton and Wadesboro. The latter has cotton mill, cottonseed oil mill, fertilizer factory, two lumber plants, newspapers, etc. Lilesville.—Pop. 500. Pee Dee.—Pop. 700. Both in Anson county, 33 and 37 miles respectively east of Monroe. These are the principal stations between Wadesboro and Rockingham, covering 19 miles of fine cotton country, in which, however, all other kinds of farm products are raised successfully. Regarding water power, there is featured on one of these pages a photo of a 32,000 horsepower hydro-electric plant at Blewett Falls on the Great Pee Dee river about eight miles from Rockingham, N. C., on the Seaboard Air Line

Oxford, Goldsboro, Smithfield, Clayton, Sanford, Jonesboro, Fayetteville, Rockingham, Hamlet, Wadesboro and Lumberton, all in North Carolina, and Cheraw, S. C. Rockingham, RICHMOND COUNTY.—Pop. 2,500. The county seat. Is 47 miles east of Monroe and 6 miles west of Hamlet. Has banks and many industries. This is a prominent cotton manufacturing point, there being 10 factories. Cotton reigns supreme, nearly every inhabitant throughout this entire region raising more or less of the fleecy staple. An illustration entitled "Typical Scene Throughout the Cotton Belt" depicted on one of these pages shows the activity of the cotton commercial situation; another, "Cotton Coming Into Bloom," combined with view showing "Tomato Canning Club," and still another street scene will give a general idea of the prosperity of this vicinity. Any industry consuming farm and garden products will unquestionably prosper here. Hamlet, RICHMOND COUNTY.—Pop. 3,500. From this town the Seaboard Air Line Railway diverges in four directions, one line covering its territory to Norfolk, Richmond and intermediate points; one running along the southern border of North Carolina to Wilmington; lines spreading along the southeastern border of the same State to Rutherfordton, and via Monroe and through South Carolina to Georgia points, including Atlanta, thence on through Alabama as far as Birmingham; then from this portion of the State of North Carolina through South Carolina into Georgia, where it again spreads at Savannah with lines running on through south Georgia and Alabama to Montgomery and Savannah to Jacksonville and other Florida points. Because of the railway facilities offered, the accessibility of raw materials, the water power nearby, and for other obvious reasons, Hamlet should prove an exceedingly attractive point to manufacturers and those desiring to engage in commercial pursuits, such as wholesale houses handling every branch of business patronized by the trade. The view of the water power referred to is very realistic to those awakened to the potentialities of this resource. This town has banking facilities, good schools, several commercial establishments, but more will perhaps pay, as this is a fine trading center. Cognac.—Pop. 100. Hoffman.—Pop. 200. Both in Richmond county. Keyser.—Pop. 200. Pine Bluff.—Pop. 100. These latter two in Moore county. These stations represent the territory from Hamlet to Aberdeen, a distance of 25 miles. In this vicinity and beyond, which is north of Hamlet, the Seaboard Air Line Railway is double tracking its system. This section is filling up very rapidly with farmers from the North and Northwest, who are apprising their friends of their success in fruit culture and trucking, and this is having a good effect. Aberdeen, MOORE COUNTY.—Pop. 900. Seventy-two miles south of Raleigh, the State capital; Junction R. C. & S. and Aberdeen & Rockfish R.R.'s. Has banking facilities, good schools, grist mill, wholesale grocery, and is a good location for manufacturing enterprises as well as farmers. This is the point where the Seaboard Air Line Railway's through traffic connects for the famous resort Pinehurst, MOORE COUNTY, the place to which flock the fashionable world to enjoy the salubrious climate, obtain health and recreation in such sports as golf, horseback riding, driving, automobiling, shooting game and fox hunting. Further promulgating this section pictorially special attention is called to accompanying views of Pinehurst and the surrounding country, which is traversed by very fine roads leading in every direction—see cut entitled "Good Roads." The full-page cut in this publication entitled "Specimen of Fine North Carolina Live-Stock" was made from photographs of prize-winning Ayrshire cattle, Percheron brood mares and hogs, taken on a farm at Pinehurst. Southern Pines, MOORE COUNTY.—Pop. 600. Twenty-eight miles north of Hamlet and 68 miles south of Raleigh. As a winter resort Southern Pines has few equals. Its climate is unsurpassed, its accommodations ample and satisfactory, its surroundings unobjectionable and its sanitary conditions perfect. The hotels, boarding-houses, homes and cottages for rent have modern conveniences. There are well-stocked stores, shops and markets, banking facilities and four churches. Southern Pines is on the main line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, insuring the best of modern traveling facilities and luxuries. No finer trains enter the South than the Seaboard's solid vestibuled trains of steel Pullmans and coaches that carry tourists from New York to Southern Pines in 16 hours, with schedules so arranged that travelers reach their destination at convenient hours morning and evening. On the subject of climate, Dr. John Warren Achorn says: "It has often been remarked upon that the milk bottles in the Sand Hills are of an iridescent lavender color. It is explained that they are made of ordinary white glass, but that on exposure on doorsteps or drying shelves they soon take on this beautiful color. This is due to actinism, that quality in the sun's rays by which chemical changes are produced.

NORTH CAROLINA VINEYARD, S. A. L. RY.
THE SCUPPERNONG GRAPE IS CULTIVATED ON A LARGE SCALE IN THIS STATE, ESPECIALLY IN THE SOUTHERN PINES SECTION

The red rays of the sun are those which cause heat waves, the violet rays affect the eye and have to do with the light, while the ultra-violet rays are the ones which produce the actinic effect and color the milk bottles. These rays, according to the discoveries of scientific man, penetrate into our bodies and cause oxidation and increased metabolism (change), thereby promoting the elimination of waste matter in the system and the regeneration of the tissues of the body. This section is thus exceptional as a health resort." Niagara.—Pop. 200. Lake View. Pop. 300. Vass.—Pop. 400. Cameron.—Pop. 300. towns in the territory from Southern Pines to Sanford, comprising 26 miles along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The climate here is salubrious and otherwise suitable for the cultivation of grapes, peaches, dewberries and strawberries, and the soil, which is equally important, is unexcelled for the successful growing of these fruits. At Niagara and other vicinities along this portion of the line the scuppernong grape is cultivated and marketed with much profit. Lake View is the site of a very large and beautiful body of pure water and there is located here a grain mill with a capacity of 100,000 bushels per year. Vass has a bank and cotton mill. Cameron is the largest dewberry shipping point on the Seaboard Air Line Railway, but from a number of stations for many miles in each direction large quantities of this berry and other fine fruits are shipped. These lands are also splendidly adapted to the growth of cotton, corn, oats and tobacco. Sanford, LEE COUNTY.—Pop. 2,500. Fifty-five miles north of Hamlet and 42 miles south of Raleigh. Has several banks, good schools, two large furniture factories, basket and crate factory, butter-dish factory, lumber plants, ice plant, large foundry and machine works, cottonseed oil mill, cotton mill, large broom factory and a live newspaper. In the composite cut which we publish entitled "Scenes In and Around Sanford" the different views will give a fair idea of this vicinity. The views referred to are a fine country road, Sanford's union passenger station and prosperous plantation near the city. The citizens are enterprising and anxious to co-operate with newcomers. Colon.—Pop. 100. Osgood.—Pop. 100. Both in Lee county. Pittsboro (on branch

These three in Chatham county. Bonsal.—Pop. 100. New Hill.—Pop. 150. Apex.—Pop. 1,250. Cary.—Pop. 500. The latter four in Wake county. The above are the principal towns in the very fertile region along the Seaboard Air Line Railway, comprising a territory of 42 miles from Sanford to Raleigh. King Cotton is monarch of all products here, although the territory is so rich that the various agricultural products, such as corn, oats, wheat, hay, as well as berries, peaches and melons, are grown with ease and with large profit. There are banks located at Pittsboro, Merry Oaks, Apex and Cary. Pittsboro has the following industries: Cotton and hosiery mills, cottonseed oil mill, fertilizer factory, flour mill, handle factory and newspaper. Moncure has roller mill. Merry Oaks has two lumber plants. Apex and Cary are prominent lumber shipping points. In this section great quantities of tobacco are raised and shipped. In the Apex market there were sold 2,107,538 pounds of tobacco during the past season, netting the growers in the neighborhood of $550,000, the disbursements of this immense sum contributing considerable affluence to this part of the State. It would be difficult for settlers to find a more desirable location in which to live and establish new enterprises, such as woodworking plants, tobacco factories, cotton mills, canneries, etc., as this is a healthy section and an abundance of raw material of the above character is at hand to supply these industries.

Raleigh, WAKE COUNTY.—Population 30,000. The county seat. This city is the capital of the State of North Carolina and one of the most important cities on the Seaboard Air Line Railway. The Chamber of Commerce sends in the following: "Raleigh, founded in 1792, is naturally the political center of the State as well as the geographical center. The city contains many points of general interest, including the State buildings and institutions. This city has an area of four square miles and is situated in about the center of North Carolina in the midst of a gently rolling section of fertile country populated by prosperous farmers. Within a radius of 75 miles Raleigh has a population of over 830,000. Elevation 363 feet above sea level. The city enjoys the average year round temperature of 60 degrees. Tourists find its winters mild and pleasant for outdoor pleasures. The eighteen-hole golf course of the ideally situated Country Club is available to tourists throughout the year. Good automobile roads in all directions make the city easily accessible to the rural districts. Raleigh has a remarkably salubrious climate. The principal manufactured products of this section are cotton, wool and wood. Raleigh has three cotton mills, two knitting mills, one overall factory, two fertilizer factories, one cottonseed oil mill, one flour mill, several woodworking plants where office furniture and bank fixtures are manufactured. There is a good opening here for a dye and finishing plant to dye and finish yarns and hosiery. Almost any industry established here on the proper basis would be a good investment. Raleigh is not on a boom, but is enjoying a natural steady growth. There are eight substantial banks with deposits aggregating $8,000,000. Three of these banks have just completed handsome new buildings. Raleigh is the electric-power center of eastern North Carolina, getting this power from three rivers and having an auxiliary steam plant all producing 74,000 horsepower, operating all the plants here and furnishing light and power to more than 25 other points, the total investment exceeding $6,500,000. It is the only place in the United States getting power from three streams. Raleigh has splendid railroad facilities making it manufacturing purposes conveniently located for railway shipping and with cheap power available. The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce will be glad to correspond with any manufacturer or individual seeking location or desiring further information." Millbrook.—Pop. 100. Neuse.—Pop. 100. Wake Forest.—Pop. 1,500. These three towns in Wake county. Youngsville.—Pop. 500. Louisburg.—Pop. 1,800 (on branch from Franklinton Junction, 10 miles distant). Franklinton.—Pop. 1,000. These three in Franklin county. Kittrell, VANCE COUNTY.—Pop. 300. The above towns cover one of the best parts of the State along the Seaboard Air Line Railway from Raleigh to Henderson, a distance of 44 miles. This section is a fine tobacco-advantageous as a manufacturing center and distributing point. It is also a convention center, for which there is located here one of the finest auditoriums in the South with a seating capacity of 5,000. Raleigh is rightly called the educational center of North Carolina, for there are in the nine colleges and public schools here an enrolment of over 7,000 students, half of whom are from other points. They are provided with literary, industrial and agricultural instruction, the training being unsurpassed anywhere. Raleigh is the greatest shipping point in the country of cottonseed for planting. The illustration shown on page 150 is of a seed-producing plant grown nearby. The city has well-edited newspapers. There are many splendid sites for growing region, as well as the territory just described west of Raleigh. These lands are well adapted to the cultivation of various agricultural products, cotton predominating. Wake Forest has banking facilities and several enterprises, with room for more. Louisburg is the seat of Franklin county. Has three banks, wagon factory, cottonseed oil mill, machine shop, a number of lumber plants and other industries, and is an attractive point for investors. Franklinton has bank, cannery, cotton mill and five lumber plants. Kittrell has bank, three lumber plants and shipping point of nursery stock, strawberries and peaches, and these products are also shipped to a certain extent from other points named above. Fruit culture, as well as the raising of tobacco, cotton and other general farm products, should prove attractive avocations to newcomers, as these lands are especially adapted for the purposes stated. On account of the accessibility of timber, various kinds of woodworking establishments will no doubt appeal to manufacturers interested in establishing plants of this character.

Durham, DURHAM COUNTY.—Population 35,000. The county seat. This city is the greatest marble works, mattress factory, enormous leaf tobacco warehouses, in addition to the cigarett-making interests referred to above. The photographs from which the cuts were made and inserted herein show a tobacco warehouse and factories, which, together with the composite view of tobacco, corn and wheat, will give our readers some idea of the wealth-producing power of the manufacturing interests in Durham and the agri-

Durham is reached via Seaboard Air Line Railway by this Company's branch extending from Henderson on the main line 41 miles distant, 154 miles from Richmond and 172 miles from Norfolk, Va. This city has five banks, three cotton mills, hosiery mills, ice and cold-storage plant, flour and grist mill, iron works, four large lumber plants, three

The citizens of this city are awake to the potentialities of this district and are ever ready to encourage and enlist new enterprises in progressive Durham. Creedmoor.—Pop. 400. Oxford.—Pop. 3,000. Hester.—Pop. 100. tion bringing the highest price of any produced in the world and is eagerly sought for manufacturing by buyers from China, Japan and the continent of Europe. Henderson sold last season nearly 10,000,000 pounds of tobacco, the inhabitants of the county realizing over $2,500,000. The health of its inhabitants is not exceeded anywhere, and ample lands are available for new settlers. Lands may be bought for $40 per acre. Henderson has splendid banking and educational facilities, churches and a happy, hustling people. This city is 44 miles north of Raleigh, the capital, 113 miles south of Richmond and 131 miles from Norfolk. As before stated, the Seaboard Air Line Railway has a line extending from here to Durham, 41 miles distant. It would be hard to find a better point for the location of industries and commercial establishments. Greystone.—Pop. 300. Middleburg.—Pop. 200. Both in Vance county. Manson.—Pop. 200. Ridgeway.—Pop. 400. Norlina.—Pop. 500. These three in Warren county. These five towns cover a 15-mile territory running from Henderson east. Greystone has a large quarry, so also has Middleburg. Other resources in the territory named are fertile lands producing tobacco, corn, cotton and various fruits. Norlina is the point where the Seaboard's two main lines from Richmond and Norfolk converge. Norlina is 98 miles south of Richmond and 116 miles southwest of Norfolk. This town has bank, good schools and several lumber plants. On account of favorable railroad facilities this point is a splendid location for enterprises manufacturing various kinds of products which may be drawn from both the States of North Carolina and Virginia. Norlina shipments from these towns consist principally of lumber, tobacco, cotton, corn and other farm products. These are the principal stations among a number of valuable points between Durham and Henderson, covering 41 miles of lands gently rolling and possessing wonderful fertility of soil. Those wishing to engage in the cultivation or manufacture of tobacco, as well as other avocations along the farming and manufacturing lines will not go amiss in making a thorough investigation of the opportunities of this section before investing elsewhere. Creedmoor and Oxford have two banks each, also several lumber plants. There is a cotton mill at Oxford, also three buggy factories. Henderson, VANCE COUNTY.—Pop. 10,000. The county seat. An ideal location for manufacturing. It has already among its industries an automobile factory, two bagging factories, four buggy factories, oil mill, two fertilizer factories, four tobacco factories, five large cotton mills and numerous minor industries. Henderson has hydro-electric power at minimum cost. The city is located in the center of what is considered the golden tobacco belt of North Carolina, the tobacco produced in this sec-

being only a few miles from the border line of these two resourceful States. Substantial citizens advise the following enterprises are needed: Tobacco warehouses, furniture factory, sash, door and blind factory, ice factory, cotton mill, cottonseed oil mill and wholesale establishments. Wise.—Pop. 500. Granite.—Pop. 100. All in Warren county. Littleton.—Pop. 1,200. Thelma.—Pop. 100, junction Roanoke Ry. Roanoke Junction.—Pop. 100. Roanoke Rapids.—Pop. 5,000. The latter four in Halifax county. These are the principal towns in the 37-mile territory covered by the Seaboard Air Line Railway from Norlina to Weldon. Vaughan is the headquarters of two large lumber plants. Littleton has two banks, two lumber mills, female college and schools. Resources of the section covered by the above-named towns are timber and fertile soil producing fine tobacco and cotton, also berries and other fruits and general farm products. Splendid opportunities exist here for the outlay of capital which will prove exceedingly remunerative, as water power and raw materials are abundant. The town of Roanoke Rapids has a plant developing 15,000 horsepower, and there are already in operation two cotton mills manufacturing the finest class of women's dress goods; one mill manufacturing table damask of the finest quality, which has the entire world for its market; paper mill, manufacturing all classes of wrapping paper; and a pulpboard mill. All of these industries mentioned are running on full time and in a most flourishing condition. Other manufacturing plants are invited, as there is ample room for new industries. Weldon, HALIFAX COUNTY.—Pop. 2,500. This town has splendid banking facilities, educational institutions, three large brick plants, several cotton and knitting mills, ice factory, one very large and one medium size lumber plants, factory making paper cones, live newspaper, and other worthy enterprises. There are openings here for a number of industries. The citizens are wide awake and are always glad to lend a helping hand to those desiring to cast their lot in a progressive town backed with fine agricultural lands which are the bone and sinew of this State. Gary's.—Pop. 200. Gumberry.—Pop. 200. Seaboard.—Pop. 400. Margarettsville.—Pop. 200. These four in Northampton county and comprise a territory east from Weldon of 17 miles. Agriculture, manufacturing and commerce are the pursuits, especially the former. Openings here for investments in either of these directions. Lewis-ton.—Pop. 300. Kelford.—Pop. 400, junction A. C. L. Roxobel.—Pop. 500. The nine towns just named cover all that fertile section of the Seaboard Air Line Railway running for more than 30 miles from Lewiston up to the border line between Severn, N. C., and Boykin, Va. The principal resources of this section are timber and agricultural products, such as peanuts, corn, tobacco, etc. Considerable lumber, cotton, peanuts and grain are the result of the productiveness of the timber and cut-over lands on this branch of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. No better location could be imagined than this for the profitable employment of capital.

NORTH CAROLINA

By W. A. GRAHAM, Commissioner of Agriculture

North Carolina is an agricultural State, although she has increased in the past ten years in manufacturing interests over 800 per cent. and ranks third in the number of spindles—Massachusetts and South Carolina alone exceeding her—and her mills consume more cotton than is produced in the State; yet more than four-fifths of her population are engaged in agriculture. Lying largely on the great undulating plain, sloping from the mountains to the sea and from the greatest elevation east of the Rockies down to the coastal plain but little elevated above the sea-level, North Carolina greets the rising sun, and her climate varies according to the elevation. East of the great escarpment of the Blue Ridge we reach the undulating region of the Piedmont country which is divided into upper and lower Piedmont by a range of hills a hundred or so miles east of the Blue Ridge and furnishing the falls of the rivers with wonderful water power. This section lies in a series of rolling uplands, intersected by the rivers with their fertile bottom land, and rising from 7 to 1,500 feet elevation at the foot of the Blue Ridge. The lower Piedmont has a milder climate than the upper; the upper is far warmer in the winter than the mountain region between the Blue Ridge and the great Smokies. As we reach the lower coast we have the first touch of the Floridian vegetation in the cabbage palms. This wide-stretching area from the white pine to the palms shows the wonderful variety of the climate of the State. The abundant food crops of the Piedmont section offer the greatest opportunities for the winter feeding of cattle.

Over a large section of the Piedmont and coastal regions the cotton crop has long been the chief interest of the farmers, and when carefully grown no money crop can equal it for average profit. But there is an awakening to the importance of general farming and farmers have realized the importance of a good rotation of crops; that other crops can be grown with profit, and that through the aid of these crops and the cow-pea they can grow cotton with an increased yield per acre. The last year's crop was about 800,000 bales which, with the seed, is valued at $65,000,000. In 1910, 1911 and 1912 North Carolina ranked first in cotton produced to the acre—315 pounds in 1912. There is no crop grown that draws so lightly on the fertility of the soil as cotton and when the seed is properly applied to the feeding of cattle and the manure returned to the soil in a good rotation of crops there is no crop with which the land can be more rapidly improved. North Carolina ranks third in the production of tobacco. "Bright tobacco" counties, generally along the Virginia border, have cultivated tobacco from the earliest settlement of the State. Since the war many of the eastern counties have profitably engaged in tobacco raising. Last year's crop was about $30,000,000. A yellow clay sub-soil indicates a tobacco soil. The greatest development in the cultivation of the soil is in the coastal plain where large areas are devoted to early vegetables for the northern markets, and the growing of strawberries and other small fruits. The Board of Agriculture, on one of its test farms, realized one season $1,500 from the lettuce produced on one and a quarter acres, and the past season $640 from half an acre. The red clays of the upland are the best wheat soils and are identical with what is known in geology of the country as cecil clay. All the rolling uplands of the Piedmont section are adapted to wheat growing, clover and the feeding of cattle. No crop is more profitable and certain than winter oats, which frequently yield from 60 to 75 bushels per acre. Corn grows well in all sections of the State. We can grow as heavy crops all over the Piedmont and coast regions as are grown anywhere. The corn crop has increased from 34,000,000 in 1910 to 55,327,000 bushels, and while the average production per acre for the United States has decreased from 29 to 23 bushels North Carolina has risen from 13 to 20 bushels. The scanty crops to be seen in various sections are due not to the lack of capacity in the soil for the production of corn but to the careless mode of cultivation. A "Corn Club Boy" raised 235½ bushels on an acre. Yields exceeding 100 bushels are reported by 100 farmers. In some parts of the coastal plains there are deep peaty soils of wide areas on which great crops of corn are grown year after year. The trucker should plant cotton or corn between the rows of his early potatoes on which he has been lavish in the use of fertilizer and he will get a crop of potatoes running up to 100 bushels per acre or more, and then a crop of more than a bale of cotton or fifty bushels of corn per acre. The strawberry grower takes two crops of berries from his land and then plants cotton on the turned under strawberry and makes a fine crop. Or he may plant a corn crop after the strawberries are shipped, and sow peas among it, and after the corn is off have the finest of pasture for stock. The cotton or grain farmer of the upper country sows peas after his small grain is harvested, cuts the heavy hay crop the same season, and can leave the stubble sown with crimson clover for a hay crop the next spring in time to plant corn or cotton. The long-growing season offers to the wise farmer opportunities for the intense cultivation of a few acres that cannot be had in a northern climate. In this work of diversifying and intensifying the agriculture of the State, the College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts at Raleigh, the Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Department of Agriculture, with its test farms in various parts of the State are all working with zeal and energy, and the newcomer to the State can always depend upon them for information and advice in the cultivation of the soil. The opportunities for the production of fruit in North Carolina, when the quantity and quality are taken into consideration, are not surpassed in any State in the Union. The upper Piedmont and mountain sections are especially adapted to the production of apples; the lower Piedmont and coastal plain sections are specially adapted to peaches, plums and grapes. An exhibit made by the State Board of Agriculture at the National Horticultural Congress held at Council Bluff, Iowa, November, 1910, won the following prizes: First, sweepstakes on best display of fruits in the United States; second, display of apples from Eastern and Gulf States; sweepstakes on best collection of nuts in the United States; best collection of English walnuts; best plate of peanuts in the United States; best display of vegetables from Eastern and Gulf States; best ten plates of apples, not less than five varieties, shown from any State in the Union. Besides these there were more than fifty other premiums consisting of gold and silver medals, cash and merchandise, awarded this collection.

The nearest approach to use of the whole of a State's crop was made by North Carolina, which took 876,000 bales and raised 946,000 bales, and by South Carolina, which took 782,000 bales and raised 1,281,000 bales. These two States are in the heart of the region which was set apart by nature as the sites of the cotton-mill industry of the country, if not of the world. They are convenient to the cotton fields, with ideal climatic conditions, close to water-power, the earliest forces to be applied to the textile industry and the source of millions of horsepower through hydro-electric development. The consumption of cotton in the South in 1912-1913 was: Northern mills, 2,617,000 bales; Southern mills, 2,970,000 bales; gain for South, 350,000 bales. The 13th census figures are illuminating on the subject of manufacturing progress. In North Carolina under the head of "Manufactures" 1909, pages 4 and 5, it will be observed that in the value of product, etc., North Carolina ranks first with 302 establishments for manufacturing cotton goods; Massachusetts ranks second with 281 such establishments. Under the head of "Percentage of Increase" it is observed that the value of the product between 1904 and 1909 shows the following figures of increase: In the entire cotton manufacturing belt of the United States there was an increase of 39.5 per cent, in Massachusetts 43.4 per cent and in North Carolina 53.8 per cent. The record of southern cotton spindles follows: 1860, 295,359; 1900, 6,767,163; 1913, 12,819,333. Of these North Carolina has 339 mills and 3,756,265 spindles; South Carolina 190 mills and 4,640,576 spindles; making a total of 8,396,841 spindles for these two States.

While these towns are not very large yet they are quite important shipping points and represent an exceedingly superior agricultural section of the State of Virginia. The people are industrious and prosperous. Its debt is unusually small and it has never failed to meet promptly every financial obligation. Its tax rate is $1.40. This city has never had a boom but the assessment of its real and personal property combined has increased 67% in the past six years. Petersburg has five strong and well managed banks. It has an efficient health department and excellent health conditions. Its churches number 49, and its public schools are modern and well conducted. The city's appropriation for public schools has increased 225% in the past five years. Petersburg is noted for fine dairies, some of which score as high as any other in the country. Petersburg owns its waterworks. This city manufactures more trunks and bags than any other city in the United States. It manufactures and exports 95% of all the cigarettes exported from the United States. It manufactures and exports more than 80% of all plug, twist and cut tobacco exported from the United States. It is the largest market in the United States for Spanish peanuts. It has an inexhaustible supply of gray granite of fine quality. It has abundant and cheap electric power. It has an intelligent and contented class of wage earners and strikes are unknown. Truck farming near Petersburg is profitable for the reason that the soil and climate are adapted to a great variety of crops; the roads are excellent and the best markets but a few hours distant. Most of the land near Petersburg is as well suited as any other in the country to the growth of bright tobacco, and may be bought at as low prices as any other similar lands. Sites with railway track connections or with wharf frontage may be rented or bought at very low rates. One of Petersburg's greatest needs is a first-class hotel, since existing hotels cannot adequately accommodate the increasing number of visitors." Anyone desiring knowledge regarding investments in this city will find the Chamber of Commerce glad to supply the required information, or inquiries will receive prompt attention from the local representative as well as from the General Industrial Department of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. This Company furnishes splendid accommodations to its patrons here, and affords quick and superior facilities for traffic to and from this section as well as for all other southern States which it serves. Chester, CHESTERFIELD COUNTY. Pop. 1,000. Thirteen miles south of Richmond and ten miles north of Petersburg. Has bank, high school and all modern conveniences of towns of similar size. Good opportunity for location of most any industry, such as flour mill, furniture factory, spoke and hub factory, tile and brick works, pottery, etc., as clay and other raw materials are available.

Richmond, HENRICO COUNTY.—Population 175,000. This city is the capital of the State; also the county seat. Richmond is one of the greatest of southern cities—commercially, historically and educationally—and is important in that it is the most northerly terminus of the Seaboard Air Line Railway's great system. Richmond was founded in April, 1737, and the seat of State government was removed there from Williamsburg in 1779. It became a city in 1782. For the past thirty years the city has steadily increased in population and commercial importance and its future as a trade center is flattering. By virtue of the water power of the James river, Richmond possesses great manufacturing capacity at the same time being located in a fair agricultural region. It is renowned for the manufacture of tobacco, cigarettes, fertilizers, iron and locomotives. Other manufacturing industries may be mentioned as follows: Chewing gum makers, ice plants, boot and shoe manufacturing, boxes, barrels, paper, twine, bags, brick, granite, tile, marble, stone, carriages, wagons, clothing, pickles, electrical appliances, chemicals, cement, lime, roofing, flour, cornmeal, baking powders, foundry, machine shops, agricultural implements, furniture, mattresses, lumber, sash, doors and blinds, paints, varnish, willowware, woodenware and trunks, and packers of meats. The jobbing business of the city has been more than doubled in the last 15 years. Some of the large houses sell goods in every State in the union and most of them sell to the trade from Virginia to Texas. Richmond's tobacco business alone will amount to about $22,000,000 per year. Another large industry for which Richmond has become famous is the building of locomotives. The large plant which is located here for this purpose supplies a great many locomotives to various railroads throughout the United States and frequently large orders are filled for railroads in foreign countries. The largest cedarware works in the world is located at Richmond and the product of this factory is used extensively throughout this country as well as most foreign countries. The manufacture of baking powder is carried on very extensively in this city, the product being distributed throughout the southern States as well as other sections of the country. Large quantities are also exported to other countries. Richmond's enormous banking capital is one of the resources of its commercial and manufacturing strength. On account of its superior hotel facilities, climate and social conditions, it is popular with tourists returning East from Florida, as well as with visitors from all parts of the world who come here sightseeing, gathering historical facts and enjoying the superb climate. Branchville.—Pop. 300. Boykins.—Pop. 600. Newsons.—Pop. 200. Handsons.—Pop. 200. All in Southampton county. These are the principal towns from the State border line near Hugo on the Seaboard Air Line Railway to Franklin, a distance of 23 miles. The lands are productive of various kinds of agricultural products such as corn, wheat, cotton and peanuts, especially the latter. The above towns are prosperous, have splendid schools, and are generally supplied with modern conveniences of towns of similar size. Franklin, SOUTHAMPTON COUNTY. Pop. 2,500. Thirty-seven miles from Portsmouth. This town has several banks; very large lumber plant; vegetable package factory; brick kiln; two buggy factories; cottonseed oil and fertilizer plant; plant manufacturing steam and vacuum traps; marble works; nursery; a number of peanut factories; harness factory; two newspapers; wholesale grocery and hardware establishments. The resources are timber and agricultural lands with soils of such fertility as are exceedingly valuable in the raising of a variety of crops, such as corn, hay, the better class of grasses, peanuts, etc., including the cultivation of strawberries, apples, peaches and other fruits. The inhabitants are progressive, prosperous and liberal in extending assistance to those desiring to locate in this vicinity. Carrsville, ISLE OF WIGHT COUNTY.—Pop. 300. Purvis.—Pop. 200. Kilby.—Pop. 100. The latter two are in Nansemond county. The three towns are the principal ones in the territory covered by the Seaboard Air Line Railway from Franklin to Suffolk, a distance of 20 miles. These lands are adapted to the raising of all classes of farm products, peanuts being the principal crop. Suffolk, NANSEMOND COUNTY.—Pop. 10,000. The county seat and 17 miles from Portsmouth. This town is in the center of the great Tidewater trucking section. Thousands of barrels of potatoes and other farm products are shipped every year from this point. Suffolk is a famous peanut market, being surrounded by a territory in which this product is extensively cultivated. There are a number of large peanut cleaning establishments located here and the revenue from this source has very materially increased the wealth of this region for many miles in every direction. Lumber is one of the large industries, and there are numerous other enterprises. The citizens will welcome all who wish to locate in their city, extending a helping hand to those who desire assistance in the establishment of industrial plants or commercial enterprises for which the city is so splendidly adapted.

Portsmouth, NORFOLK COUNTY.—Population 35,000. This city is the eastern terminus of the Seaboard Air Line Railway which has here its largest shops for the repair of locomotives, cars, etc. This company also handles here immense volumes of freight traffic with steamship lines operating between Boston, Providence, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, and the amount of money distributed from this and other sources by the Seaboard Air Line Railway amounts to a large sum annually. Portsmouth has a number of strong financial institutions, and in this respect is unequalled by any city in the State. These institutions are officered almost without exception by men of large experience and their reputation for integrity and high-class financial and business ability is a well established fact. At Portsmouth is located the navy yard where several thousand men are employed and where is to be found one of the largest dry-docks in the country. There is also a magnificent naval hospital located at Portsmouth. There are in Portsmouth hosiery mills, furniture factories, mattress factory, a number of woodworking plants, barrel factories, box factories, newspapers, and more than a dozen transportation lines run from Portsmouth—directly from the city proper or connecting with Norfolk by ferry—to all parts of the country. Portsmouth is a splendid trading point having numerous and up-to-date commercial establishments. The payrolls of the foregoing enterprises together with smaller ones not mentioned afford a large circulation of money. The trucking industries surrounding this section are enormous, consequently Portsmouth is exceedingly prosperous, and therefore a very desirable place for the location of new business establishments. It would be next to impossible to find a better place to locate factories of various kinds than in this city. The people are sociable, cultured and ever ready to further the interests of their beautiful city. As a residential section Portsmouth is unsurpassed.

Norfolk, NORFOLK COUNTY.—Population 90,000. The location of the office of the President of the Seaboard Air Line Railway and offices of several other departments. Norfolk is frequently spoken of by visitors as a most thoroughly alive and progressive city. Norfolk has a large number of commercial and manufacturing establishments; lumber, cotton and peanuts and various other commodities are handled here and exported in enormous quantities. The Chamber of Commerce contributes the following very interesting article concerning Norfolk: "Norfolk is giving a fine example to the world of the modern idea of city building. It is proving the truth of the statement that cities do not grow but are built by the dint of hard study and close application to what the city has to offer to the outside investor. Norfolk has fortified itself to take up this work through the Chamber of Commerce which was recently organized with a membership of 1,600 and a working capital which enables it to carry on exploitation work after the most approved ideas. This organization is not depending upon Norfolk's fine harbor and her natural advantages as the sole means of putting the city in the front rank of commercial industrial centers. It is making Norfolk better; its platform, which is a very broad one, is calculated to bring together all elements of the city's manufacturing into a sort of brotherhood of common interests. Although organized less than a year, the Chamber of Commerce has made rapid strides in this direction. Norfolk has the happy advantage of a climate that is equable the year round. It is a city of homes, and some beautiful ones, too. Its location on Hampton Roads destines it to become one of the greatest seaports on the Atlantic seaboard. Norfolk has already taken away from the overcrowded ports of the North much of their shipping, and there is now in the course of preparation a plan for public docks and terminals which, if carried to completion, will give this city an unrivaled advantage in bidding for world-wide shipping. Norfolk was founded in 1682. The first available official census was 2,959 in 1790. It jumped in population from 1880 to 1900 more than 100%. The increase since 1900 has been about 80%, its population at present being about 90,000, and within a radius of 25 miles there is a population of 270,000. It has 14 banks, State and National. There is over $25,000,000 invested in industrial enterprises and about $12,000,000 invested in the jobbing trade. There are eight trunk line railroads entering Norfolk with trackage and connections aggregating 42,000 miles with belt line connections around the city. Norfolk is the largest peanut market in the world; it is the second largest coal port on the western continent, and its annual shipments of trucking produce, etc., exceed $15,000,000. Building operations have been carried on extensively. The assessed valuation of property amounts to nearly $70,000,000. The postoffice receipts, exclusive of parcel post, are nearly $500,000. From an educational standpoint Norfolk is unexcelled, there having been invested here $1,500,000 in public schools covering a very short period of time. There are 40 public school buildings, 350 teachers and 12,000 pupils. The United States navy yard and the St. Helena training station are two of the principal reasons for the greatness of this section.

TOBACCO FIELD IN VIRGINIA, S. A. L. RY.

There is $15,000,000 invested in the navy yard and plans are now before Congress to double this investment, which will give Norfolk and Portsmouth the greatest naval station on either the Atlantic or Pacific coast. The navy yard employs 3,000 workmen with a payroll of something like $2,000,000 annually. There are at present three dry docks, the largest of which will accommodate any ship in the navy." Among all the truck soils in use or available along the Middle Atlantic coast the Norfolk fine sandy loam easily occupies the premier place, both with regard to its local extent and to its wide range of possible products. This soil has been formed as a sedimentary deposit, laid down under the waters of a more extended marine occupation and later elevated to become a portion of the present land area. The mineral particles which constitute the soil and subsoil have been derived from a great variety of sources within the present Appalachian Mountain region, the Piedmont plateau and the older and more elevated sections of the coastal plain. In consequence, the mineral sources of its soil fertility consist of a mingling of nearly all classes of minerals which may contribute to the nourishment of plants. Its inherent fertility has been well provided for through natural process of formation. Physically, the Norfolk fine sandy loam is almost ideally constituted for the intensive growing of crops and the easy mechanical handling of a soil mass. The surface soil to a depth which varies from 6 to 15 inches is a mealy, fine-grained, fine sand. It possesses enough material finer than sand to render the whole mass somewhat cohesive when moist, but not enough to cause the surface to bake and become compacted after spring or summer rains. It rarely or never clods, no matter in what condition of moisture it may be plowed or cultivated. The soil survey has encountered no less than 4,682,992 acres of this one-soil type in the Southeastern and Southern States, and it is probable that a total area of 20,000,000 acres will ultimately be found to exist. Not one-tenth of 1 per cent. of this total area is now occupied for truck crop production, and it is probable that not 25 per cent. is used for any agricultural purpose, aside from possible grazing. The Norfolk fine sand is probably the earliest type of soil upon which the trucking industry is safely conducted. It owes this distinction of quickly maturing the crops planted to the fact of its physical composition. It is derived by the same processes and from the same materials as the Norfolk fine sandy loam, but it differs from that type in its texture of soil and subsoil. The surface soil to an average depth of 7 or 8 inches is a mellow fine sand. It is rarely sufficiently loamy to be cohesive, unless immediately after a thorough wetting. This surface soil is underlain by a somewhat more compact fine yellow sand to a depth usually in excess of 2 feet. At this greater depth the subsoil materials grade into the characteristic sandy yellow loam or brittle sandy yellow clay, which is characteristic of all of the loam members of this group. The Coxville fine sandy loam is most extensively used for the production of truck crops of all soils of the series. The surface soil to an average depth of 6 to 10 inches is a gray or black sandy or fine sandy loam. It is well charged with partly decayed organic matter, and it is usually soft and friable and not liable to bake or clod. Immediately under the surface soil there is usually a gradation into a gray or drab sandy clay layer which, at depths greater than 2 feet, becomes a mottled gray, yellow and red compact sandy clay. The colorations of both surface soil and subsoil are certain indications of less complete drainage than is possessed by the soils of the Norfolk series. It is almost literally true to estimate that, so far as land area is concerned, the undeveloped trucking lands of these coast counties of North Carolina and South Carolina number hundreds of thousands of acres. This description is taken from the last report of the United States Commissioner of Agriculture and is the result of careful examination of the area. The Seaboard Air Line Railway and connections traverse this wonderful trucking belt and the General Industrial Department will be glad to furnish information about the territory in question.

VIRGINIA

A Condensed Statement of Facts for the Busy Man

By G. W. KOINER, Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration

Virginia is the ideal home for the farmer. The agricultural progress in this State during the past decade has been unprecedented. Better farming can be seen on every hand. This has been brought about by the diversification of crops, by the use of modern labor-saving machinery, the more careful improvement and cultivation of the soil, by improvement in breeding livestock and growing more grass and forage crops—one-fourth of our farmers now derive the principal income from livestock—by large increase and care of the orchards, and in the extension of the great trucking fields. All of these fact. Yet, the cheapest farm lands in the United States are to be found in Virginia. The large influx of land buyers has doubled the value of our lands during the past ten years and we believe the value will double again. The great advantage in the nearby large eastern markets is being appreciated by the western land buyer. The value of an acre of corn in Missouri is $14.72, in Iowa $15.05, in Virginia $17.04. In each of these States the price of lands is three times as high as in Virginia. This State is the birthplace of trucking in America. Truck crops were worth $15,000,000 last year. The fish and improvements have increased the value of crops in Virginia immensely. These values have increased in Virginia from $129,000,000 produced in 1900 from 4,000,000 acres to $256,000,000 produced last year from 3,300,000 acres. Our farmers have learned to produce $107,000,000 more crops on 750,000 acres less land cultivated the past year than they did ten years ago. The soils of Virginia are the kindest in the world. They endure more hard knocks, skinning and starving and are more quickly improved than in any other State. The ample rainfall and mild climate as found in this State are both conducive to this

Five hundred acres produced more than $40,000 in alfalfa hay crop last year on one farm. Virginia presents probably the most promising field for investment in its vast resources of almost every known commercial mineral product. Building stone of all kinds, slate, soap-stone, manganese, salt, clays of all kinds, coal, coke, iron, lead, zinc, pyrites, copper, marble, asbestos and gold. Hampton Roads last year shipped more coal than any port in the world. The forests of Virginia abound in an unusual variety of woods, especially the hardwoods so valuable in modern construction. In these forests are found every wood known in southern soils except the sub-tropical. No State in the Union offers more attractive inducements or extends a more inviting hand to the homeseeker and investor than Virginia. In climate, diversity of soils, fruits, forests, water supply, mineral deposits and variety of landscapes, she offers advantages that are unsurpassed. The sun never illumined a more beautiful country, the plowman never turned a kinder soil and the stranger never shook the hand of a more hospitable people. Virginia is most centrally located in the Atlantic tier of States, being midway between Maine and Florida. It lies between the extreme of cold and heat, removed alike from the sultry, protracted summers of the more southern States and the severe winters and devastating storms and cyclones of the North and West. The number of murky, foggy days is very small and conversely the number of sunny days is very large. Along the Blue Ridge mountains there is a belt of country from 1,000 to 2,500 feet above the sea level in which the humidity is exceedingly small, less than in any section east of the Rocky mountains, in which the number of bright, sunny days is very large. This region has but little dew at night owing to its low humidity and is very beneficial to people with weak lungs. Virginia is today the richest State in the South except one, and is growing each year more rapidly in wealth and population. The skies of Virginia are illumined with hope, and her people, conservatively and courageously, are each year building a broader, a richer and a greater commonwealth.

THE SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY, ITS NATURAL RESOURCES AND OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED TO PROSPECTIVE SETTLERS

Agriculture, Fruit Culture, Livestock, Minerals, Timber, Water Power, Manufacture, Finance and Education

Anyone who has carefully perused the preceding pages will see that it would be quite impossible to find six States more wonderfully endowed with superior soils for agricultural purposes, advantageous locations, and abundance of waterpower for manufacturing purposes, as well as climatic and social conditions, than the States of Florida, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia, all traversed by the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Natural Resources.—We have heretofore expatiated on the natural resources and advantages of each particular section in succession, beginning with the most southerly portion of Florida followed by the region embraced within the various termini of the S. A. L. Ry. in this State; thence from the two western termini at Montgomery and Birmingham eastward and on through the remainder of the vast territory served. Lands.—

As will be seen from the first article under the subhead "Manatee Section" and the main head of "Florida," the Seaboard Air Line Railway penetrates the very heart of the most wonderful trucking lands in this State. These lands are exceedingly fertile and productive to a surprising degree. The Seaboard Air Line Railway more than any other railway in the South has been instrumental in opening up the richest portions of Florida and placing superior facilities at the hands of the natives and newcomers, who have, in connection with this Company, focussed upon the particular region in question the eyes of the astonished world. Lands heretofore considered worthless have been developed and proved to be of incalculable value. These developments have been the means of placing luxuries in the markets earlier—some remaining during a longer period each season—than would have been possible had the consumers been compelled to rely upon the production of former limited and later producing lands. Vegetables.—Further east along the line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway where the temperature gradually becomes lower, the production of fruits, vegetables and other crops find their market in turn, and thus throughout all of the above States the people as well as the Railway receive the constant accruing benefits. In addition to describing in the preceding pages all the varieties of vegetables, as well as advantages which the farmers have in this section in raising general farm products, some mention has also been made of the various kinds of fruits which growers are cultivating with much profit. Too much emphasis cannot be laid upon the value of the fruits which constitute Florida's largest single source of revenue, the distribution of which contributes materially to the wealth of the nation. Citrus Fruit.—The citrus fruit crop is immense, having made astonishing gains during the last 30 years. During the season of 1884-1885 Florida's total citrus fruit crop was 600,000 boxes; 20 years later it was over 2,500,000 boxes, while last season's crop was 8,125,000 boxes. This is something for the prospective grower to ponder over. The Seaboard Air Line Railway is an important factor, through its fruit and vegetable trains, in marketing these valuable perishables, offering as it does unsurpassed facilities in this respect. The lands on which the foregoing fruits and vegetables are now being grown formerly consisted of virgin timber which was turpented and subsequently converted into lumber. Strawberries.—In the Starke-Lawtey section of Florida the Seaboard Air Line Railway has fostered and encouraged a movement carried on by the inhabitants for the cultivation of fine strawberries, and the success attained by the growers here has resulted in the extension of this industry to various points along this Company's main line and branches. In North Carolina, between Wilmington and Lumberton especially, strawberries are being raised with much profit to the growers, Clarkton being the center of the greatest activity in this direction. Dewberries.—Along the Seaboard Air Line Railway from Aberdeen, N. C., to and including Sanford, N. C., dewberries are cultivated extensively and have proved very profitable. Strawberries are also largely cultivated in the tidewater section of Virginia, particularly in the vicinity of Norfolk and west thereof. Water-

Florida the largest producing sections are the Ocala and the Archer-Early Bird districts, also in the territory west of Lake City on the Tallahassee line, where the business is conducted on an enormous scale. The famous Georgia watermelon is most prolific along the Seaboard Air Line Railway in South Georgia, where it also attains the greatest degree of perfection. Between McRae and Richland on this line and along its branches to Ocilla and Albany the watermelon is found in all its glory. From Columbia, S. C., southward to the Savannah river, also in North Carolina between Hamlet and Lumberton along the Seaboard Air Line Railway, the watermelon industry has assumed enormous proportions. Peaches.—Peach culture at Middleton, Heardmont and Renfro, Ga., along the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

has proven a successful industry. There are many other points, however, along this railway not only in Georgia, but in Florida as well as the other States traversed, where peaches are raised with much profit. General Farm Products.—Considerable space has been devoted in the preceding pages to the production of general farm products and prospective settlers will find descriptions of the sections most favored. ture, as before stated, all the States of Florida, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia are very productive. Climatic Conditions.—Along the main line and branches of the Seaboard Air Line Railway the climatic conditions are exceedingly favorable, the lands producing the greatest imaginable variety of grain crops, tobacco, forage, hay and fine cotton, the latter predominating in Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas. Transportation facilities.—The Seaboard Air Line Railway crosses near the center of North Carolina from north to south and affords the interior most attractive transportation facilities to the markets of the world. This Company, in addition to having superior facilities for the quick movement of freight traffic, has unexcelled passenger trains modernly constructed and magnificently equipped. The new steel dining cars are the best that have ever been built, having concrete and inlaid floors, abundance of electric lights, perfect ventilation, pantry and kitchen thoroughly equipped for splendid service. The coaches and Pullman drawing-room

Enormous quantities of tobacco are also raised in Virginia and North Carolina. Alabama is an extensive producer of cotton as well as other general farm products. Large shipments of the products of its agricultural industry are made over the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Georgia, the Empire State of the South, is known far and wide as a great cotton, corn, hay and fruit producing State. The Seaboard Air Line Railway crosses the northern portion as well as the southern portion of Georgia and the resources of the State in nearly every direction contribute to the tonnage of this Company. Agriculture and the manufacture of cotton goods are the two greatest pursuits in the State of South Carolina, cotton being the principal product of the State. It stands high among the various States in general agriculture and its splendid lands are served by two distinct lines of the Seaboard Air Line Railway; one of these lines from the East crosses the northwestern portion of the State in the direction of Atlanta and Birmingham, and the other from the East enters the State in the direction of sleeping cars, together with Pullman buffet parlor, as well as elegantly appointed observation cars, are of the latest designs, possessing qualities for comfort that are unequalled by any other transportation company. Interior and exterior views of these trains are shown on pages of this publication. Solid trainloads of perishables, cotton goods and other commodities are also shown. Neither pains nor money have been spared to afford the public the best service possible. Cotton and Tobacco.—While Florida is famous for its fruit and early vegetables it also produces considerable cotton and tobacco. The former product is raised in the upper portion of the State and the latter principally in the vicinity of Quincy and contiguous territory along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. This product is the Sumatra variety, which is so superior for the manufacture of cigars. Cigar Manufacturing.—The leading cigar manufacturing section on the Seaboard Air Line Railway is that known as the "Tampa-Ybor district," where the output is about 1,000,000 cigars per day.

Savannah, Montgomery and Jacksonville. In North Carolina tobacco, cotton and corn are cultivated with great success. Oats, wheat, peanuts, hay and forage crops are also profitably grown. Cotton Mills.—In Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas there are located along the Seaboard Air Line Railway a great many cotton mills which consume a considerable portion of the cotton crop. In Virginia general farm products are indigenous to the lands in that portion of the State served by the Seaboard Air Line Railway, the principal part of the territory being that known as the "Tidewater Section." Live-stock, poultry and peanut culture are three of the important industries. Live-stock.—Hundreds of thousands of cattle are to be found roaming on the uncultivated lands of Florida and are marketed at great profit because of the small expense involved in raising them. In the various other States where the lands have been more extensively cultivated for grazing purposes plenty of livestock are to be seen. Cattle, sheep and hogs are found to be exceedingly profitable, and the raising of the latter is now being given more attention than ever before. They find their own living, and where they are fed on peanuts, alfalfa and other fattening foods the result is exceedingly profitable to their owners. Only a limited amount of capital is required in conducting an extensive poultry business and the raising of fowl is proving quite profitable to the inhabitants along the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

Standing Timber.—In all the States served by the Seaboard Air Line Railway are to be found immense tracts of standing timber, much of which is virgin, while in the turpentine-producing sections the timber used for this purpose is being manipulated for naval stores. This latter product, as well as cross-ties, lumber, cotton, etc., are handled extensively through the magnificent terminals of the Seaboard Air Line Railway at Fernandina, Tampa, Jacksonville, Savannah, Wilmington and Norfolk. These terminals are used largely for re-handling cotton as well as various other commodities.

Lumber.—The shipment of rough lumber is conducted on an extensive scale, as indicated, but all along this Railway are found woodworking establishments dressing and working up the lumber for shipment or construction work and other purposes.

Woodworking Establishments.—Some of the hardwoods go into the manufacture of agricultural implements, some into wagons and buggies and some into furniture. Considerable timber is consumed in the manufacture of boxes, barrels and crates used in connection with the marketing of the large fruit and vegetable crops.

Naval Stores.—One of the greatest industries along the Company's main line and various branches is that of naval stores, the production of which is prolific throughout the six States which it serves.

Minerals.—There are a great many varieties of minerals found in all the States penetrated by the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

Phosphate.—The Company's system pierces the very heart of the finest of Florida's phosphate beds. Along what is known as the Mulberry section, which includes the contiguous territory embraced by Bartow, Agricola, McDowell, Nichols, Welcome, Royster and Coronet, is to be found the soft rock variety. The phosphate mined from these beds is transported via the Seaboard Air Line

COAL CHUTE, HAMLET, N. C., S. A. L. RY.

Railway to Tampa, from whence it is reshipped coastwise through this Company's well equipped terminal facilities. The hard rock variety is found in what is known as the Inverness-Dunnellon district and from these beds fine phosphate is mined and exported through the Seaboard Air Line Railway's excellent terminal facilities at Fernandina. These two specially named phosphate districts, together with other sections in which phosphate originates and is transported via the Seaboard Air Line Railway, furnish a large source of revenue, which is of very material benefit to the citizens in the mining districts.

Granite.—Granite and other quarried products found in most any part of the United States are available in the different sections along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. There is no reason whatever why construction work should ever be retarded for the lack of abundant building supplies. In this connection it might be mentioned that in no section of the country are large and handsome buildings being erected more rapidly than in the cities along the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Stone, Coal, Lime and Cement.—In that portion of the territory through which the Railway runs west of Atlanta there is an abundance of stone, coal, lime and cement shipped, and the country is dotted here and there with ore deposits. Ore.—In what is known as the Birmingham district ores of various kinds and other ingredients used in making iron and steel are found in enormous quantities. Water Power and Other Manufacturing Advantages.—Water power along the Seaboard Air Line Railway, practically from one end to the other, is abundant. The excellent water power facilities, coupled with the availability of the innumerable varieties and quantities of raw material at hand, constitute the greatest advantages for manufacturing enterprises in the entire South. Immense dams are located near Montgomery, Ala., Columbus and Albany, Ga., Great Falls, S. C., Blewett Falls, near Rockingham, N. C., Roanoke Rapids, N. C., and many other points on the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Fortunately most all of the undeveloped portion of the road is surrounded by sufficient natural resources to justify still further development of existing water power, which will be done eventually. Eastern capital may well be assured that the natural resources and manufacturing advantages which have been more or less referred to in these pages are splendid actualities. The South's natural resources and climate are conducive to the successful maintenance and operation of manufacturing enterprises long after similar industries in other parts of the country are on the wane. Economical Operation.—Throughout the six States served by the Seaboard Air Line the scenery is grand, and at many points it is unsurpassed in this country. The grandeur and sublimity are so charmingly united that one's soul is thrilled to intense edification; here, where the limpid lyrics of Nature are so interwoven with her epics, where the melting hazes of a purpling broad expanse dissolve into stretches of rolling lands—lands where Nature frowns, smiles and coquettes with the enchanted beholder. There is no corresponding region in the country which has so many advantages, all available by natural or artificial communications, and capable of more economical operation. Especially is this true of the States covered by that great artery of travel and freight traffic, the Seaboard Air Line Railway. No more interesting subject presents itself to the statistician than the facts and figures relative to industrial progress, and truly invaluable are they to the prospector seeking location for the establishment of similar enterprises. A generalization here, however, would seem most appropriate, and we shall therefore simply give an epitome of the results mostly in evidence. From the coal regions and the iron ore beds of Alabama and other States, from the woodlands of all the States traversed by the Seaboard Air Line Railway, and from the great plantations in the cotton belt are gathered materials for consumption by the iron and steel plants, the saw mills and the cotton mills. The queenliest buds in the great industrial bouquet of southern States are the numerous cities of smokestacks along the line of the Seaboard Air Line Railway rocked in cradles of coal and iron. In listening to the wail of the reluctant log as the relentless saw converts the forest into homes for the people, the song of the planer, the echo of the hammer, the shrill whistle of the locomotive as it drags its heavy load through broad expanse of green fields and over mountain heights, there is created the sweetest music to our ears. The ascending clouds of smoke that are now seen floating upwards from the cotton and innumerable other mills paint the signs of the times upon the skies. When we look around us and see on all sides smoke ascending heavenward from the roaring furnace, the steady pace of the begrimed moulder in the foundry, the towering buildings battling with the clouds, the course of mighty streams changed, tremendous water power converted into electrical energy and harnessed to the wheels of commerce, the passing of the fleecy staple from its downy whiteness into the lightest fabrics for barter to the world, then there flits before our vision a scene which appeals to the admiration of all promoters of industrial progress.

If You Want to Buy From the Owner

I shall be glad to have you communicate with me regarding farm and truck lands, uncleared land, town lots or improved property in the town of Manatee. I own all classes of property in this section and in the adjoining county of Hillsborough, some of it extremely valuable and some that will increase in value by leaps and bounds within the next few years. Right now you can buy it RIGHT, for I have entirely too many interests for a man of my age to care for properly.

TRUCK LANDS—Located at Wimauma, on the S. A. L. between Manatee and Tampa. Some of the choicest trucking lands in this fertile region are in my possession and I shall be glad to locate upon them thrifty farmers who realize the importance of work on the farm and know how to increase production. To the practical intensive farmer I shall be glad to offer inducement that will enable him to lay the foundation for a comfortable fortune in a very few years.

TOWN LOTS—In the town of Manatee I own about 200 of the very choicest vacant lots which I am willing to sell at a figure that will give the buyer a wide margin of profit on his investment and permit of a quick turn on the property. Manatee is looking up in every way and is growing rapidly, making desirable lots increase in price from week to week. Quick action on this property is advisable.

Manatee Lots and Lands

GENERAL FARMS—Of this class of property I have a considerable acreage, some in cultivation and some uncleared. Part of my holdings are improved and have comfortable houses located on the farms. With a very few exceptions, I will sell any of these holdings, the exceptions being made not so much because of the greater fertility or value of these particular pieces, but because of associations and agreements with people now occupying them.

IMPROVED PROPERTY—I have twenty-five rental houses in Manatee and these I will sell at figures which permit a liberal percentage annually on the investment and at the same time give the investor a constantly increasing capital. These properties are advancing right along and there is every reason for us to have faith that they will continue to advance for many years. The opportunity is knocking at someone's door when I decide to let go of any of these.

PINEY POINT

The Atlantic City of the South

Centrally located on Tampa Bay east shore line, eight miles across from St. Petersburg, facing the gulf; two miles of beach, not excelled anywhere.

This is the coming tourist rendezvous of Florida. Its climate, fishing, bathing and deep water facilities combine with its backing of thousands of acres of rich agricultural lands, its easy accessibility to the large phosphate rock deposits, to give it advantages not possessed by any other location in the State of Florida.

Piney Point has a depth of fifty-two feet of water within docking distance and direct connections by the Seaboard Air Line Railway to the leading markets of the East, West and North, which insure its future without the possibility of a doubt.

Fortunes await investors, home-seekers and tourists. Over $5,000,000.00 in fruit and vegetables shipped from Manatee County this season.

Don't fail to investigate.

IN TAMPA

Will be found a city making a marvelous growth, with a year 'round climate unsurpassed in any part of the globe. Its charm is attracting thousands from the north who recognize it as the coming metropolis of the Gulf coast, and is made doubly inviting by being the Hub of the Citrus Fruit and Winter Gardening industries. Its one hundred and forty per cent increase in the last decade will be greatly surpassed in the next. You are invited to write or visit us if interested in a home or investment in South Florida.

FLORIDA'S GROVES OF GOLDEN GRAPEFRUIT

THE HIGHLANDS OF PASCO COUNTY

Afford the best investment for the person of small means, or large means, to be found in this Land of Enterprise, Progress and Prosperity.

GRAPEFRUIT TREE, SIX YEARS OLD, PRODUCED TEN BOXES OF FRUIT, SEASON OF 1912-13.

Making a selection of location, the time and trouble of securing trees best suited for the purpose, as well as competent and reliable labor, has deterred a number of people who could well afford to become grove owners from embarking in an enterprise of this nature.

To relieve those desirous of owning a citrus fruit grove from all worry and responsibility, and at the same time to assure them that their investment is absolutely safe, this company, organized and chartered under the Laws of Florida, announces that it has a plan whereby such groves will be planted, cared for, and three crops harvested and marketed for the purchaser, which under ordinary conditions will pay the full cost of the grove. The payments for this fully developed grove are to be distributed over a period of five years, and are made through a Trust Company, acting as Trustee.

The lands selected for these groves are the very best in the HIGHLANDS of Pasco County, a section noted for the perfection of its citrus fruits as well as for its elevation, freedom from frosts, and its general healthfulness.

A handsomely illustrated booklet, descriptive of the Highland Groves, and containing full information concerning prices, terms of payment and our references, will be mailed upon request by letter or post card.

WINTER HOMES BY THE SEASHORE

at Gardenville, on Hillsborough Bay, offers you all of the delights of bathing, boating and hunting, with an abundance of sport, with climate unequalled—with a FLOWING WELL of water, excellent soil for garden and fruits. Prices $100 to $500 for large lots; no lot over three blocks from the water.

ORANGE AND GRAPEFRUIT GROVES, in ideal locations, convenient to school, post-office and railroads, that pay 25 per cent. to as high as 40 per cent. on the price asked. If it be a Fruit Orchard you want, write me about the size investment you have to make and I will send list of those that fill your requirements.

TIMBER LANDS—Game Reserves, cut over lands, in size to suit. Some fine saw-mill propositions—one large body of cypress at a low price. For anything in FLORIDA, write me. I will give you your money's worth.

No. 1.—A beautiful, new home of ten rooms, with spacious grounds, filled with southern shrubbery, overlooking the bay. This is an ideal home for the northern tourist. Private bathing beach, and in all, a bargain. Price upon request.

No. 2.—70 acres on edge of town with houses entirely surrounding it, two railroads running through it and is the best factory location in Florida. This property can be bought at a very low figure just now, and as an investment, it cannot be duplicated. Price and terms on request.

No. 3.—200 acres on bay near Tampa, splendid beach, 20 feet of water and a piece of property one can easily double his money on in two years. This property must be sold, so get our price on it.

No. 4.—26 acres on the beautiful Hillsborough river, in the direct line of Tampa's fast growth. This property is just below the famous Sulphur Springs and has a beautiful view of the river with its steep banks. There are nearly 2000 feet of river frontage. This would be an ideal place for a winter home or for a subdivision. $15,000.00 will buy it and easy terms can be arranged.

If you wish to loan out some money at 8% on first mortgage security on a 50% basis of valuation, we shall be glad to hear from you.

Clearwater, the county seat of Pinellas County, the highest point on the west coast of Florida, is beautifully located on Clearwater Bay, overlooking the Gulf of Mexico, and has a population of approximately 2,500, and is rapidly growing. Its rapid growth is accounted for by its ideal climate, the productiveness of the soil of the surrounding country, its magnificent orange groves, its boating and fishing, and its splendid Gulf Beach, where surf bathing may be safely indulged in the year round.

Clearwater has paved streets and every convenience of the modern city. For natural beauty and healthfulness it stands at the head of the list, and is the center of the best district for growing citrus fruits on the Pinellas Peninsula, which is almost surrounded by the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, making it practically immune from hurtful frosts. MARSHALL & BRANDON, and THE BARCO REALTY COMPANY, J. M. BARCO, Manager, are reliable Real Estate Agents, and will take pleasure in showing you this favored land.

A MILLION ACRE OPENED FOR DEVELOPMENT

HERE are opportunities unsurpassed for Timber Land and Colonization Developing Companies—Virgin Timber Lands purchased and held for years. Transportation was the one thing lacking to make them available for Development, and it has come with the construction of the Okeechobee Division of the Florida East Coast Railway and the Haines City Extension of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway.

THE HAINES CITY EXTENSION

Of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, from Haines City south, is already in operation forty-seven miles to the town of Sebring, which is growing rapidly. It is expected that this line will be continued through to the Caloosahatchee River. We own about 400,000 acres—some in Polk County, but largely in DeSoto County—through which this new road has passed and is planned to pass.

From Lake Childs north the land is high and rolling, covered with Virgin Pine, Oak, Hickory and Magnolia. There are a number of clearwater lakes from three to five miles long, with beautiful banks surrounding them, that will make fine sites for winter homes, orange and grape fruit groves and truck farms. The southern portion of the tract is somewhat similar to the lands in St. Lucie County, being very desirable for colonization purposes.

THE MANATEE DIVISION OF THE SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY

We own 75,000 acres of choice timber land touching Tampa Bay, in Hillsboro and Manatee Counties, with many miles of water frontage, which lands are now offered for sale. This tract is interspersed with orange and grapefruit groves and small farms. This is very choice property, being in the famous Manatee section.

N FLORIDA

TWO NEW RAILROADS

THE OKEECHOBEE DIVISION

Of the Florida East Coast Railway, from Maytown to Okeechobee, on the north shore of Lake Okeechobee, will open up a magnificent section. The road is already completed seventy-five miles. The major portion of the grading is completed and the entire road will be in operation within a year. We own 400,000 acres in Osceola and St. Lucie Counties, through which this new railroad runs. These lands border on Lake Okeechobee and Lake Marion, and are all virgin pine timber lands that have never been touched by axe or plow.

The soil is of a dark, loamy character, well adapted to the growing of citrus fruits, general farming and trucking. The lands in St. Lucie County are largely within the artesian flowing well district. St. Lucie County is the center of the famous Indian River orange and grapefruit section, and some of the finest groves in the State are located near our property.

VALUABLE TIMBER

The lands carry a quantity of virgin pine and cypress timber stumpage, ranging from 2,500 to 4,000 feet, board measure, per acre, in large tracts.

THESE LANDS AT WHOLESALE ONLY

The Consolidated Land Company owns over a million acres in Florida, and the lands described are offered in tracts of 5,000 acres and up. Bona-fide prospective purchasers may secure further information by addressing:

Lake Garfield Tract

IN the Lake region of Polk County. Lands are adapted to Grapefruit, Oranges, Winter Trucking, Strawberry, Early vegetables and Stock Raising farms; contains more beautiful high bank lakes for picturesque winter home sites than any other tract in Florida. We sell our own lands and are not brokers but a home company of high standing. We insist on personal inspection. Only company selling land on six years' time. Send for our illustrated book free.

You do not have to be told how easily these lands can be drained—an elevation exceeding 200 feet with deep branches of running water has already solved the problem.

You have not seen the best until you have seen LAKE GARFIELD. Over 1,000 acres of newly planted groves owned by our purchasers in many states—the largest planting development accomplished by any colonization company in Florida.

LAKE WALES

In every respect Lake Wales possesses all those features desired by that class of citizens who seek to associate themselves with the best people when considering a winter home in the State of Florida.

The railway station is situated on the highland bordering Crystal Lake. The station will overlook both Crystal and Wales. Crystal Lake is six and one-half feet above the level of Lake Wales, which it adjoins, and the station is thirty-five feet above Crystal—a 35-foot grade in 350 feet.

ZEPHYRHILLS, FLORIDA

The Colony That Made Good

Located in the Highlands of Pasco County

A FEW SCENES AT ZEPHYRHILLS

- 1. Orange Grove
- 3. Tomato Field

- 2. Bean Field
- 4. Egg Plant Field

Zephyrhills is located in the hilly section of Pasco County. The main line of the Seaboard from Jacksonville to Tampa runs through the Colony. Within three years this place has grown to a population of about 2,000 people. Their town has Electric Lights, Telephone, Planing Mill, Syrup Factory, Canning Factory, Blacksmith Shop, Bank and Twenty or more Business Houses. This has been accomplished by honest representations. All who visit the Colony say nothing has been misrepresented. The place is made up of Northern people

It is a high and rolling country, but no steep or rugged hills. Some points reach an elevation of over 200 feet above sea-level, which is very high for Florida. The land is the best, the soil being a mixture of sand, clay and vegetable matter, underlaid with a clay sub-soil. It produces excellent crops of every known vegetable, as well as all kinds of grain, except wheat, and for Oranges and Grapefruit it cannot be excelled. The water is pure and soft, free from all kinds of minerals, coming from quartz rock. The Health is the best. There never has been a case of Ague—chills and fever or malaria—here. This is due to the fact that the place is free from swamps and mosquitoes.

The Land is sold very reasonable by a Company on the ground, and has no Northern offices. Land sells at from $25.00 to $50.00 an acre. Complete information can be had by writing to

The Chuluota Company, Incorporated, of Chuluota, Florida, situated on the new line of the Florida East Coast Railroad, high and dry, among beautiful clear water lakes, offers to the public, lots, in a ready-made town, at reasonable cost.

We have laid out the Town site and are building and hard surfacing eighteen to twenty miles of streets and roads. This will be a novelty in Florida, a Town practically ready made before the lots are put on sale.

In addition to the Town lots we have ten thousand acres of valuable lands suited to citrus growing and all kinds of farming, including trucking crops. Flowing wells can be had on the lower lands of the tract. We are cutting the ten thousand acres up into small farms to suit the buyer, and offer these farms at reasonable prices.

Mr. J. E. Ingraham, Vice-President of the Florida East Coast Railroad, is President and General Manager of the Chuluota Company, and it is mainly through Mr. Ingraham's efforts and ability that the Florida East Coast has been built from Jacksonville to Miami.

For information, address Mr. J. E. Ingraham, President, St. Augustine, Florida, or Mr. Charles D. Brumley, Resident Agent, Chuluota, Florida.

Cut-over Lands for Colonization Purposes

Ask any old resident in Florida "Who is the best-posted Real Estate Man in Florida values?" and his answer will be

President and Manager

It is not what we say but what you will see when you visit MAXVILLE that will determine your decision.

If you would like to grow Irish Potatoes, Strawberries, Cabbage, Lettuce, Cauliflower, Beets, Turnips, Onions and many other vegetables during the winter, and then do general farming, such as growing Corn, Hay, Oats, Sugar Cane, Cotton, etc., come to our office in Jacksonville and we will take pleasure in showing you a rich black loam soil underlaid with clay, on the Seaboard Railway, near Jacksonville, where all this is done at a fine profit by newcomers.

If this land comes up to your requirements, and you come up to ours, we will be glad to sell you some of it.

WHY DO YOU TRAVEL?

ARE YOU SEEKING A REST? ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A CLIMATE TO BUILD UP YOUR SYSTEM? ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A HOME OR A PROFITABLE INVESTMENT? DO YOU LIKE FISHING, BOATING, SURF BATHING, MUSIC, DANCING, GOLF OR AUTOMOBILING THROUGH BEAUTIFUL TROPICAL SCENERY?

If any or all of these questions fit you, then Miami Beach is the place for you to locate.

This property is situated between the Atlantic Ocean and Bay Biscayne, just opposite Miami, Fla. It may be reached by the Collins Bridge—the longest vehicle bridge in the world, or by boat through the sheltered waters of Bay Biscayne.

This tract of land has been opened recently for building purposes, placing within the reach of all the most ideal resort on the coast.

SEVENTEEN miles east of Jacksonville, the metropolis of Florida, and twenty-seven miles north of the ancient and picturesque city of St. Augustine, lies Pablo Beach—a thriving municipality with the finest beach on the Atlantic coast—a city of homes with all the summer and winter advantages offered by any seashore resort. ¶ Pablo Beach is recognized as an unequalled summer resort for Southern people, and winter home for Northern people. But this is not all—it is the permanent, year-round residence of many whose business headquarters are in the town itself, and in Jacksonville. Its stores, hotels, restaurants, and other business houses are equipped and managed not only for the pleasure of visitors, but for the convenience of those whose homes are established within its limits. City prices prevail, not exorbitant “resort” charges.

AMERICA'S FINEST BEACH

¶ Pablo Beach offers to the transient visitor and to the permanent resident all the pleasures of seashore life. Its beach is the finest bathing beach on the Atlantic coast. ¶ Forty miles of beach drive delights the automobilist, and unsurpassed fishing grounds appeal to the devotee of rod and reel. ¶ As already stated, Pablo Beach is a city of homes—of refined, cultivated people who are noted for their cordial, “old-time” Southern hospitality, as well as for their energy and progressiveness, and believe that “among the right kind of people there should be no strangers.”

The accompanying illustration shows one of the many desirable farms I have for sale in Chatham County, through which the Seaboard Air Line R.R. passes. The picture shows the class of people who farm the land, and also exhibits the valuable timber on part of the acreage. This tract is four and one-half miles from the city, easy of access by paved road, and the S. A. L. R.R. has a spur track which is an invaluable shipping interest. This tract contains one thousand acres, half of which is land cleared and under cultivation.

COCOA HOUSE

COCOA - FLORIDA

E. E. GRIMES, Proprietor

Cocoa is situated on the West Bank of the Indian River, 174 miles south of Jacksonville, and is known as one of the prettiest and most progressive towns on the East Coast of Florida. The river is wide, furnishing a popular rendezvous for motor boats of all sizes, and Cocoa now has a new and commodious Yacht Club House, the handsomest on the East Coast. Deep water, convenient docks and most delightful and charming scenery for many miles up and down the river.

The Hotel is in every way a model of comfort. Beautiful location. Near the Railway Station, and overlooking the Indian River, with a delightful view of Merritt Island on the opposite bank. You cannot fail to receive a pleasant inspiration from being so nicely located and surrounded by so many comforts. Near the post-office, churches and schools, orange groves and flower gardens.

At Cocoa can be found the most delightful sport in Florida with rod and reel, and besides the waters of the Indian River, the St. Johns River west of town furnishes excellent sport for those who love to fish for black bass. Deer, turkey, quail and other game are found in abundance west of town.

The Hotel is new throughout; contains sixty rooms, nicely furnished. Hot and cold baths, large and pleasant verandas, beautiful view of the River. Suites of rooms with bath. Orange and grapefruit growing on the grounds and free to guests.

Hotels

THE SOUTHERN PINES HOTEL

The Southern Pines Hotel, always popular and successful, has been enlarged and practically rebuilt, without and within. Twenty rooms have been added, making the capacity 100; private bathtubs installed, and hot and cold water introduced into every room. The latest type of sanitary plumbing is found in all parts of the hotel.

The Southern Pines Hotel faces a lawn in which are many fine trees, rare and beautiful shrubs and flowers in season. No hotel has more beautiful and healthful surroundings.

The Southern Pines Hotel has sleeping rooms on the ground floor, is heated by steam, lighted by electricity, has call bells in every room, and the guests have access to local and long distance telephone, as well the Western Union and Postal Telegraph.

An orchestra will furnish music during the season, giving daily and nightly concerts of high quality.

The hotel has a billiard room and frequent card parties and other entertainments are arranged by the managements or guests. Hotel open from November 15 to June 1. Consumptives are rigorously excluded. The hotel automobile will meet all trains. Excellent cuisine. White help from the North. The hotel is conveniently situated for those who wish to stop off for a night or a few days to break the long journey to points farther South. For further information and rates address D. F. McADAMS & CO., Proprietors Southern Pines, N. C.

THE PRINCESS ISSENA
Seahreeze, Florida

The Princess Isseena is a substantial and comparatively new stone and frame structure situated in the midst of five acres of natural park, three hundred and seventy feet fronting on Ocean Boulevard, and five minutes walk to the Atlantic Beach on the east, or to the Halifax River on the west.

The house stands upon a slight elevation near the center of an entire block, and is surrounded by a green lawn and natural forest trees. Its large living rooms and spacious halls are as pleasant as many windows and graceful architectural design can make them. Both living rooms and wide veranda have east, south and west exposure. The Atlantic Ocean is within view from most of the chamber windows, and the ceaseless roar and roll of its waters may always be heard.

The above picture shows the hotel with the exception of the new addition, which addition consists of forty-eight rooms with baths. All the rooms have telephones, hot and cold running water, electric lights, and are beautifully furnished with solid mahogany.

The only hotel in this section with dairy for the exclusive use of guests.

The hotel is provided with a splendid orchestra, a good tennis court, golf links and other amusements, such as motor launches, sailor row boats, automobiling, bathing, etc.

Rates: $3.00 per day and up. Special rates by month or season. For further information, address

Princess Isseena, HENRY W. HAYNES, Proprietor.

THE GULF VIEW HOTEL

is a modern house of 30 rooms located on the historical peninsular Cortez, half mile from the Gulf and overlooking the waters of Tampa bay, Sarasota bay, Palma Sola bay and the glorious old Gulf of Mexico. A beautiful water view is to be had from every room in the house. One hundred and forty feet of veranda fourteen feet wide on first floor, eighty feet same width on second floor, from which can be had views of Egmont Key and the waters of the bays mentioned and the Gulf.

Water and Lights

The house is supplied with pure artesian water. Bath rooms having both hot and cold water. Lavatory in each bedroom. Splendid and brilliant lights are furnished by acetylene gas. Entire house well screened.

Beach and Bathing

Beautiful Cortez Beach is well known as one of the very finest on the Florida coast for surf bathing and is only three quarters of a mile across bay from hotel. Excellent bath houses with concrete floors. Wide concrete walk from landing dock to surf beach, the distance being the length of about two city blocks.

Fishing and Boating

The fishing and boating here are not to be excelled on the Florida coast. The bays being landlocked by outside keys make it safe for small boats. Tarpon, sheep head, trout, maekerel, grouper and fish of all kinds abound in all these waters and plenty of sport is in store for fishermen in bay or gulf.

Boats for Parties

Boats can be secured for individuals or parties, and in fact practically every wish of the tourist can be gratified right here. The place needs only to be seen to be appreciated.

Low Rates and Excellent Service

The price this season will be very low for the accommodations furnished.

Rate per day, $2.50.

Rate per week, $12.50.

Special rates to parties of 6 or more.

Private Dining Rooms

With special service and menu furnished at reasonable rates.

How to Reach Cortez and Gulf View Hotel

From Tampa, St. Petersburg, Sarasota and intermediate points take steamer Gen. J. B. Carr or City of Sarasota and get off at hotel pier. From Bradentown drive or motor over, being 8 miles west.

For further particulars, address

A Man Is Known by the Friends He Keeps and A Hotel Is Best Known by the Guests It Keeps

The Piedmont Hotel has become inseparably associated with Atlanta's best people, as since its erection it has been the rendezvous of the most substantial among the permanent residents of Atlanta, and of the solid, best known Georgians and well-to-do tourists and commercial men.

This splendid hotel is the most centrally located in Atlanta, being right at the doors of the leading theaters and the shopping district and close to many churches of various denominations. From immediately in front of its doors trolley cars leave for any point in the city and all suburban lines are close by.

The Piedmont is situated on Atlanta's famous thoroughfare—Peachtree Street. It has spacious lobbies, convenient restaurants with modern service, the finest lounging room in the South, a splendid oyster bar, and the service maintained in every department is all that can be desired.

400 delightful rooms; 250 with bath. Rate $1.50 and up.

WHEN YOU REACH SAVANNAH

You will be in a city pronounced by many travelers to be the prettiest in all the happy Southland. Not only is there a beautiful blending of old and new architecture, many points rich in historic interest, but nature has bestowed upon Savannah a climate that brings forth foliage and blossoms at all seasons of the year.

The automobiles of the Sawyer Auto Livery are high-grade touring cars of the leading makes. We handle sight-seeing trips in touring cars insuring comfortable riding. Our tours in different cities are patronized by the most select class who are always glad to testify to our excellent service.

ST. PETERSBURG TRANSPORTATION CO., TAMPA, FLORIDA

THIS Company operates the well-known "Favorite Line Steamers" — "Favorite," "Pokanoket," "H. B. Plant," "Manatee" and "Gypsy," from Tampa to St. Petersburg, Manatee River, Pass-a-Grille and Terra Ceia, Florida, and return, making frequent trips on convenient schedules.

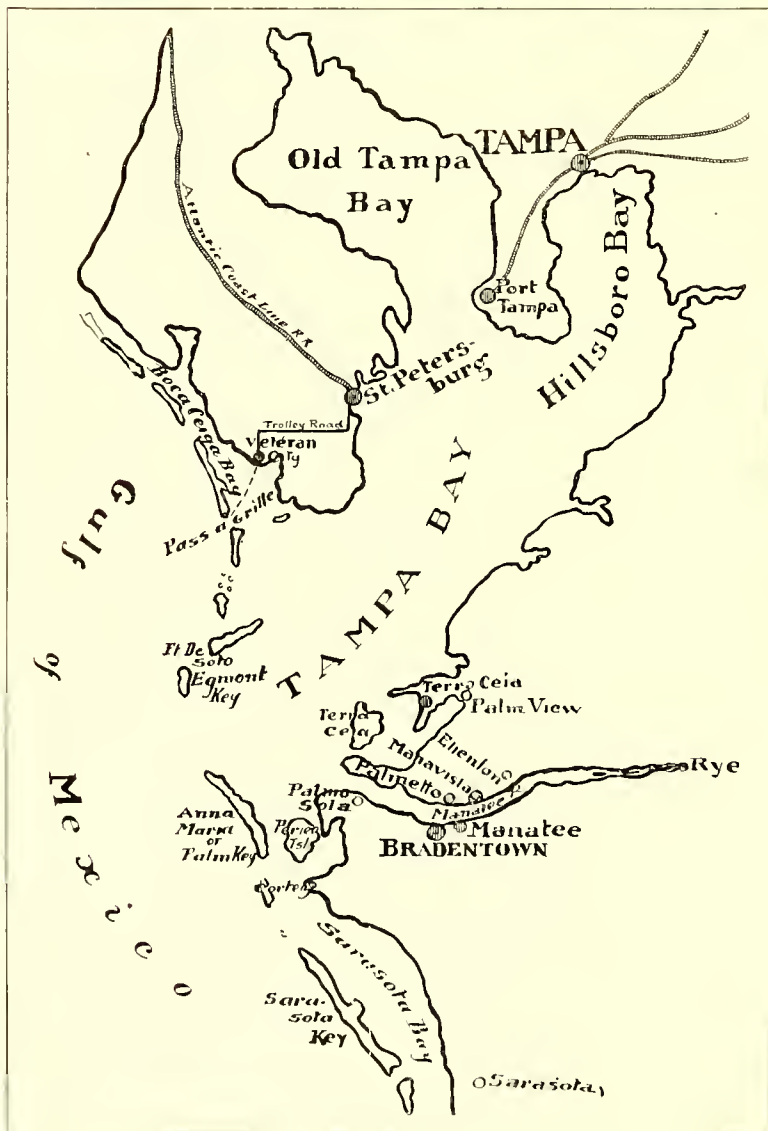

For a daylight trip take steamer leaving Tampa 7:30 a. m. via St. Petersburg and all points on the beautiful Manatee River, touching at the wharves where the numerous fruit and vegetable packing houses are operated; landing at the Atwood grapefruit grove, largest bearing grapefruit grove in Florida; passing in view of Egmont Key and the Government lighthouse and forts; returning, arrive at Tampa at 7:00 p. m., or you may transfer at St. Petersburg to our steamer Gypsy for Pass-a-Grille, which gives you four hours on this island in the Gulf of Mexico; or for a short trip take our 2:00 p. m. boat from Tampa to St. Petersburg, which gives you one hour at St. Petersburg. All of the above trips arrive back at Tampa at 7:00 p. m. the same day. We have three daily boats from Tampa (Sunday excepted), round trips good for thirty days. Special excursions on Sunday, good for the day only. Meals served on boats, prices reasonable. Ask for our new folder with complete schedule and description of places and trips.

Along the banks of the Manatee River are located the largest grapefruit and citrus groves, lettuce and celery farms in Florida. The productive irrigated lands consist of thousands of acres. Hundreds of train loads of produce are shipped daily from this section during the winter months, bringing the farmers high prices.

St. Petersburg is beautifully located on a narrow peninsula, high above the sea level, surrounded on three sides by Tampa Bay and the Gulf of Mexico, affording the finest fishing, boating and surf bathing in the world.

Pass-a-Grille is renowned for its surf bathing, shore dinners and fishing; it is situated on the Gulf of Mexico with a beautiful sandy beach. A trip to Pass-a-Grille and a dip in the Gulf will prove a source of much pleasure.

SILVER SPRINGS—The Largest and Most Beautiful in the World

THE HART LINE TOURIST STEAMERS

(THE FORTY-FIFTH SEASON)

Exclusively for first-class passenger service. Frequented by the most eminent travelers

THESSE trusty steamers, nearly free from vibration, glide smoothly over unruffled mirror waters in a narrow, winding course, through tropical jungles and picturesque river vistas, fringed with lilies and bordered by towering palms, entwined and festooned with flowering vines and with pendant, waving tresses of gray moss—a panorama of wild scenic beauty—past hills and orange groves visited by the passengers, thence for nine miles up the swift, shimmering Silver River of indescribable charm. From steamer's deck or glass bottom row-boats, through deep, transparent waters of changing hues of emerald green, and other tints, one peers into the marvelous "Bridal Chamber" of the Springs with rapt amazement. The "Ladies' Parlor," "Smoking Room," "Jacob's Well," and the Fossil Boneyard never fail to excite emotion. The mystery of the sparkling iridescence and absolute transparency of these waters, thirty to eighty feet in depth, remains to be solved. Throughout the night the fantastic torch-light illumination of forest and river, unknown on any other tourist route in the world, is an impressive and mystical scene never to be forgotten. This wonderfully unique, fascinating and romantic trip up and down the beautiful Ocklawaha River and Silver Springs has no counterpart in the world. This far-famed MECCA of Northern Tourists has long been visited again and again by the first families and by the world's most eminent travelers. The Randall Orange Grove, Rose Garden and Hotel, adjacent to thousands of acres of wild hunting grounds, are visited by Hart Line passengers.

On and after January 5th, 1914, steamers leave Palatka Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays, at 12.45 noon, or after arrival of trains from Jacksonville, St. Augustine and first night trains from Miami and Tampa, arriving at Silver Springs before noon the next day. Returning, leave Silver Springs Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays, at 2 P. M. on arrival of S. A. L. Ry. first morning trains from Jacksonville, Orlando, Winter Park and Tampa to Ocala; and A. C. L. Ry. morning trains from St. Petersburg and Gulf Coast points to Ocala; connecting at Ocala with O. N. Ry. train, or by public carriages and automobiles on smooth road about five miles, forty minutes to Silver Springs; arriving at Palatka the next morning, connecting with trains to all points.

Opportunities and Advantages Along The Aberdeen & Rockfish Railroad

The Aberdeen & Rockfish Railroad now offers to the public through service between Aberdeen and Fayetteville, N. C. Passenger trains leaving both points daily, except Sunday, connecting with the Seaboard Air Line Railway's North and Southbound trains at Aberdeen, and with the principal Atlantic Coast Line's trains at Fayetteville; also connecting with the Raleigh, Charlotte & Southern Railway at Aberdeen, affording direct transportation from Eastern to Western Carolina.

Passengers choosing this route save a distance of something like 100 miles, and are conducted through the heart of three of the best counties in North Carolina.

The famous Bethune Hill, present site of the North Carolina Sanitarium for the Treatment of Tuberculosis, is worth a trip across the state to see. On account of its altitude, frost has never been known to kill fruit in the spring. It has been said that the scenery at this point is the finest east of the Blue Ridge.

The fine trucking lands along this line make it one of the best farming sections in the state, and the varieties of soil make it possible for farmers to produce any crop they choose. It has been found that tobacco can be profitably grown and large tobacco farms will be seen along the line next year. Home seekers should take advantage of the rare opportunities along this line and locate in a section that promises to lead in the next few years.

The thriving towns along this line, of which Raeford, the County seat of Hoke, is the chief, have unexcelled opportunities for capitalists who are looking for a place to locate that has all the conveniences of the large cities, and is located in one of the healthiest and most prosperous sections of the state.

This is a glorious section of the State of North Carolina, and is destined to be densely populated.

Anyone desiring information in regard to schedules of the trains, or of the lands, locations or prices, may write to

Hardware, Plaster, Cement, Brick, Paint, Lime.

EVERYTHING FROM FOUNDATION TO ROOF

Will Not Warp, Split or Crack

Made Under the Patent Rights of Nature

LIGHT, DURABLE, STRONG

Accurate in Design, Carefully Finished and Ornamental.

No Glued Joints, No Puttied
Cracks or Nail Head Holes

Are turned from Green Bay Poplar logs straight and clear, free of knots. Perfect outside surface for paint. Automatic lathes are used which assure uniformity of size and accuracy of finish.

After being turned are bored through by machines built for that special purpose, leaving eight-inch columns around four and a half-inch holes and the other sizes are done proportionately. The holes are as long as the columns and wide open all the way.
Good ventilation makes light shafts, prevents decay.

Are architecturally correct and meet the requirements of the most discriminating.

FOR GOOD HOMES.

MISTER PURCHASING AGENT

Don't get worried when you need Lumber or Cross Ties cut from the original Long Leaf Georgia Yellow Pine, or Piling or Poles from unequalled Georgia Cypress or Pine.

It is the Easiest Thing You Know

Just mail your inquiries to us and by return mail we will advise you prices, etc.

We have been in the business for 15 years and we have no failure chalked up against us. Our pride is that we always fill our orders promptly and exactly.

We can make you better prices and quicker delivery than any other firm in Georgia because we are in the heart of the Timber belt. Put us on your mailing list and let us bear your burdens; we will be glad to do so and give you the benefit of economy in buying.

25 YEARS AT IT

In the past 25 years we have built and equipped one of the largest retail mercantile establishments in the State. We are known as the Big 3 in 1 Department Store. Our Main Building consists of 16,200 feet of Floor Space, 10 Warehouse Rooms of 11,000 feet. We sell everything. We cater to the wants of the people. We pay the highest price for cotton and all country produce. We work for the best interest of our customer. We handle the best that money can buy. We divide our profits with our customers. We guarantee satisfaction (for J. W. Carter sells it cheaper).

FLORIDA CITRUS EXCHANGE

- ¶ Organized by the citrus fruit growers of Florida in 1909, it is a non-profit-sharing, co-operative organization. In the five years of its existence it has brought order out of chaos, by spending a half million dollars in building and equipping up-to-date packing houses and placing men in charge of them who know the business.
  - ¶ Only a few markets for Florida oranges and grapefruit were known five years ago. The Florida Citrus Exchange has expanded these markets until they are sold in every State and every town of importance in the United States and Canada.
  - ¶ Its slogan is a "SQUARE DEAL" for the grower and the consumer.

Remarks:
 The above water may be classed as an alkaline water. The amounts of Carbonate of Lime, Carbonate of Soda and Sulphate of Soda are quite notable and sufficient to exercise a beneficial influence when used under the direction of a physician for the classes of disorders which this character of water is best suited. The use of such water as this would be indicated in catarrhal conditions of the mucous membranes, rheumatism, gout, diabetes, etc.

Respectfully submitted,
 McCANDLES LABORATORY,
 Atlanta, Ga.

Flanigan Mineral Springs Co., Auburn, Ga. July 1st, 1913.

Gentlemen:
 The analysis of your spring water shows it to be one of great importance and valuable in any case where an alkaline mineral water is indicated. I am especially impressed with the surroundings of the spring and the fact that on account of the drainage being from an area which is uninhabited and not used for pasture, there is apparently no possibility of contamination of the water. I consider this of paramount importance, because we have learned that water may become contaminated from a source quite a distance away.

Many of the springs from which water is bottled are in fairly thickly settled localities, as I know from personal observation. I shall take pleasure in recommending your most excellent water in cases in which I deem it advisable.

Yours very truly,
 ROY BLOSSER, M.D.

Atlanta Ga. Hoschton, Ga., June 29, 1913.
 I have examined the analysis of the Flanigan Mineral Spring Water, and the same shows that it should be useful in the treatment of diseases where an alkaline water is indicated. This water is palatable and free from any injurious organic matter.

L. C. ALLEN, M.D.

Lawrenceville, Ga., July 16, 1913.
 I am getting good results from the use of Flanigan's Mineral Water in cases of nephritis.

M. T. JOHNSON, M.D.

Winder, Ga., July 10, 1913.

Flanigan Mineral Springs Co., Auburn, Ga.
 Dear Sirs:
 I should judge from the analytical report of your mineral water that it contains a sufficient amount of minerals to exercise a beneficial influence in properly selected cases.
 With best wishes I am,
 Yours truly,
 S. T. ROSS, M.D.

Winder, Ga., July 14, 1913.
 Flanigan Mineral Springs Co., Auburn, Ga.

Gentlemen:
 I take very great pleasure in recommending your mineral water in the treatment of diseases where an alkaline water is indicated. I consider it one of the best mineral waters on the market.

J. T. WAGES, M.D.

Flanigan Mineral Spring Co., Auburn, Ga.

I am familiar with the Flanigan Mineral Spring Water and the surroundings at the springs, and it affords me pleasure to state the use of the water will prove most beneficial in cases of diabetes, rheumatism, Bright's disease and all diseases where an alkaline mineral water is needed.

Respectfully,
 L. P. PHARR, M.D.

College Park, Ga., June 30, 1913.
 Auburn, Ga., May 29, 1913.

I wish to say a few words in regard to Flanigan Mineral Water. After seeing the analysis and knowing what it contains, I consider it one of the best Mineral Waters to be had. I am now recommending it to many of my patients.

T. A. FOWLER, M.D.

After seeing the analysis of the Flanigan mineral water I consider it one of the best Alkaline Mineral Waters on the market, and can cheerfully recommend it in the treatment of those disorders in which an Alkaline Mineral Water is indicated.

H. D. COFFEE, M. D., Auburn, Ga.

SWEET POTATOES

IF you live, or contemplate locating, in the South you must be interested in Sweet Potatoes. This crop has been one of my specialties for many years and I have introduced several of our most valuable varieties. Among them "Golden Beauty," which produced 756 bushels per acre. I grow millions of plants each year and send them to a dozen States. The quality of my stock is guaranteed to be the best. If you are in need of seed or plants write for prices. "Sweet Potato Growing in the South," price 25 cents, postpaid, and "Up-to-date Truck Growing in the South," postpaid $1.00, are two of my recent publications and may be had of the author on receipt of price. The former will be furnished free of charge to all purchasers of potato plants.

Successors to Pinole Chemical Co.

Theydie, Disinfectants, Insecticides, Dips, Tree and Vegetable Sprays

P. O. Box 477 Phone 151 707 Twiggs Street, TAMPA, FLA.

The goods we manufacture are guaranteed to do what we claim for them, or money refunded.

Our household necessity is an insect exterminator and disinfectant and is guaranteed to clear the house and poultry yard of all obnoxious pests and disease germs. Ask your dealer for Theydie and do not accept a substitute that is reported to be just as good under some other name.

Theydie is indispensable both for trees and vegetables. It is our duty to tell you that Theydie is the only sure and safe white fly exterminator as well as for other insects, scale, blight, etc. Theydie has been tested where trees have been given up to die with the white fly, surprisingly. Theydie restored them to be as green and full of foliage as before. Unlike other tree spray, with Theydie it is not necessary that the trees be sprayed more than once in one or two years; if properly gone over, once in two years is sufficient. The second and third year you will be more than surprised to see how Theydie improves the fruit; the trees will be free from scale and rust, the fruit will also be much sweeter.

Not only will Theydie kill white fly, scale, spiders, prevent blight, rust, foot rot, dry rot and all other disease germs pertaining to the tree life, but Theydie is also highly recommended for plants, shrubby flowers, etc. If you are the owner of a grove, plants or shrubbery, you cannot afford to be without Theydie, for the cost of same is nothing compared to the benefit of your fruit trees, also you will get a higher price for nice, clean fruit, which you already know. Why wait until tomorrow to order? Order today and improve the condition of your trees, fruit, vegetables, etc. You need not send any money with your order.

Order now and pay for the goods after you find them to be perfectly satisfactory. Can any proposition be fairer? We could not afford to make such an offer if we did not know for a fact just what Theydie will do.

After you have once used Theydie you will never be without it.

Kindly give us your order and we will make prompt shipment, and you will never regret the expenditure of so little money for such beneficial and profitable results.

Very truly yours,

HAVING traveled for many years through every County in the State, with twenty years' experience in farming and fruit growing in South Florida, I selected the highlands (or as many people of the flat country call it, the MOUNTAIN region) of Pasco County as the best section for a home in the State, where I have resided for the past twenty-two years.

There are many beautiful locations in Florida which have taken me all these years to find, and would cost you a good deal in time and money in search of them. Then, why not let me save you this expense by letting me know your wants?

Whatever your requirements you cannot buy better belting than

DUXBAK

Schieren's Leather Belting

Is Used in Every Climate Under the Sun

Schieren's Duxbak Leather Belting is Waterproof and Climate-proof. Not merely on paper, but in actual use under the most trying conditions. Even a drenching with sea water will not shorten its long life or lessen its grip on your pulleys.

These are some of the reasons why our sales of Duxbak Belting have increased by 350 per cent, in the last two years — why the name and reputation of Duxbak Leather Belting have traveled all over the world — why we have had to establish branch houses and distributing stations in every part of the civilized world where belting is used.

Duxbak Belting is a leather belting, but is radically different and better than any other leather belting made.

The elements that rapidly destroy ordinary leather belting — wide and sudden changes of temperature, extreme dampness, extreme dryness — have absolutely no effect on Duxbak.
