

PRESIDENT'S WARNING

ADVISES CAUTION CONCERNING DIFFICULTIES WITH OTTOMAN GOVERNMENT

With a president at the head of the nation of the good judgment of President Woodrow Wilson, citizens of the United States need not fear being drawn into war with foreign countries for trivial causes. The present situation may be related about as follows:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The United States government has directed Ambassador Henry Morgenthau at Constantinople to ask the Ottoman government for an explanation of the firing by Turkish land forces at a launch from the American cruiser Tennessee proceeding from Vourlah to the American consulate at Smyrna, Asia Minor.

Secretary Daniels, with the approval of President Wilson, simultaneously cabled the commanders of the Tennessee and the North Carolina, also in the Mediterranean, to take no action which might embarrass the American government, and to await specific instructions from Washington concerning the general situation.

These steps followed the receipt of a message from Capt. Benton C. Decker, commander of the Tennessee, which was paraphrased in this statement from the navy department:

"Capt. B. C. Decker, in command of the Tennessee, wired Secretary Daniels this morning that while proceeding from Vourlah to Smyrna to make official calls, a boat was fired at. Consul was anxious for safety of consulate. Tennessee proceeded to and left Vourlah at request of ambassador, and is now anchored in the harbor of Scio (Chios) Greece, from which Capt. Decker's telegram was sent. Secretary Daniels wired for fuller information."

Although without definite details, as to just what occurred, high officials of the Washington government had no doubt that the incident, no matter where the responsibility lay, would be promptly adjusted through diplomatic channels. President Wilson is determined that under no circumstances shall the United States be involved in war with Turkey. If the Turkish officers acted without the authority of the Ottoman government and the firing was not justified by naval procedure in a closed port, it is confidently believed here that the Ottoman government will render apology.

On account of the slow cable communication from Constantinople, through the only available route—Bulgaria, Roumania, Austria and Italy—no message concerning the incident came from Ambassador Morgenthau, his last dispatches, dated November 15, arriving only today. They were of a routine character.

With the navy's message as the only basis for judgment, President Wilson and administration officials were considerably puzzled over the affair. The president telephoned to Secretary Daniels several times during the day and also discussed the situation with Acting Secretary Lansing.

Two suggestions were vouchsafed by high officials, although they admitted that their views were purely speculative. The firing they thought probably was a friendly act giving the customary warning by a single shot signifying to the Tennessee's launch that the port of Smyrna was mined or closed, or else the boat was turned back because it attempted to enter without previous arrangement having been made with the Turkish authorities. Officials of the government declined to believe that the firing was an unfriendly or hostile act. Assurances given by the Porte have repeatedly pledged protection and the closest friendship for American citizens. However, when the American warships first went to Turkey to protect American interests and deliver gold for the relief of missionaries, Turkey was at peace. Since then the United States has taken over the diplomatic interests of Great Britain and France, with whom the Porte is at war—a circumstance that is fraught with delicate responsibilities.

Efforts on the part of some of the Mohammedan leaders in Turkey to start a "holy war" have made Americans, as well as British and French, subjects apprehensive. The American consul at Smyrna reported his fears to Ambassador Morgenthau, under whose instructions the two warships have been moving about in Turkish waters for the salutary effect their presence might have on local Turkish officials. Twice the Ottoman government has given the United States warning that the port of Smyrna was mined, and for this reason the Tennessee, it is understood, stood off Vourlah, ten miles away, while her launch started for the shore to

SILVER WEDDING TO BE CELEBRATED—OTHER NEWS FROM TROPICO

A quarter of a century ago, in one of the more pretentious mansions on Wabash avenue, Chicago, there was solemnized a very pretty wedding ceremony, at which the happy groom and blushing bride were Mr. Charles L. Peckham and Miss Lillian L. Chandler. The bride was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius C. Chandler. Saturday evening, Nov. 21st, just twenty-five years after, there will be solemnized the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Peckham at the home of Mrs. Peckham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chandler, 104 Cypress street, Tropic. The intervening years between the first ceremony and the one that will occur Saturday evening have dealt most kindly with Mr. and Mrs. Peckham. They have resided either in Tropic or Glendale for the past decade, still retaining their youth and taking a most active part in all social and civic matters of these sister cities. Saturday evening Mrs. Peckham will be handsomely gowned in blue satin, and the beautiful pearl trimmings which will adorn this gown are the same costly ornaments that were used to embellish Mrs. Peckham's wedding gown twenty-five years ago. The guests at the silver wedding anniversary include the immediate relatives of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Peckham, and a few of their oldest California friends. Mr. A. R. Chappell, organist at St. Mark's Episcopal church, will render the musical numbers, which will also include Mendelssohn's wedding march and other numbers on the program will include vocal selections by Miss Mattie Belle Provoit, soprano, and Mrs. W. H. Crawford, contralto. Mrs. Eustace Benton Moore will give readings.

The handsome quilt made by the Pythian Sisters and raffed at the supper and dance given by these ladies at K. of P. hall on Wednesday night, was won by Mrs. Linnie Dutton, 34 being the winning number. A neat sum was realized by this social function of the Sisters, to be added to their fund.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Snyder of Los Angeles, who have been residing there for several years, have taken up their residence in Tropic and are occupying their residence on South Brand boulevard.

H. C. JENSEN THEATER

The Jensen theater building on Brand boulevard, Glendale, is nearing completion. The opening will take place Thanksgiving afternoon. Formal announcement will be made in Saturday's Evening News.

Mr. Jensen has spent more than $30,000 in building and equipping a magnificent auditorium that gives Glendale an amusement house second to none in Los Angeles.

Edward L. Washburn, auditor and secretary for Mr. Jensen, is a busy man making the preliminary arrangements for the opening day. He says nothing but first-class talent is being engaged.

The citizens of Glendale will be given an opportunity to patronize the highest class amusements in Southern California. If the character of the amusements is in keeping with the substantial class of workmanship and material, the Evening News is safe in predicting something extraordinarily fine in the way of high-class amusements.

THANKS SUPPORTERS

H. W. Miller, who was elected justice of the peace of Burbank township at the recent election, wishes to express his heartfelt gratitude to all those who so loyally supported his candidacy. The official returns show that Mr. Miller received 3128 votes against 2631 by his opponent.

Mr. Miller repeats his pre-election promises to give his constituents loyal service. His slogan is "A Square Deal and Even-Handed Justice to All."

NEW BUILDINGS

Among the building permits that have recently been issued by Building Inspector J. M. Banker is one for a $2000 church building, to be erected at 932 Chestnut street by the Christian Alliance denomination. The contractor is E. Ayres.

Also a dwelling house by J. F. Stanford, 1556 West Seventh street, at a cost of $1500. Starr & Deal are the builders.

A $2500 dwelling house at 933 North Maryland is being built by B. M. Newcomb, the contractor being Geo. Peters.

$15,000 FIRE

FIFTY HEAD OF HORSES AND 600 TONS OF HAY CONSUMED ON DODGE RANCH

Bad luck, indeed, was the portion of P. C. Dodge and L. G. Dodge of Glendale on Wednesday night when they saw their earthly possessions, the result of much hard labor, disappear in flame and smoke.

The Dodge brothers own a 2600-acre ranch at San Fernando and spend most of their time superintending the work on the ranch. The property was well improved with a large farm house, spacious barns and sheds, tenant houses and all other buildings necessary on a large ranch.

A large quantity of hay had been stored away in the barns, the grain being held for a more favorable market, and the results of the summer's labor, an abundant harvest, had been garnered into the barns.

Wednesday evening about 7 o'clock an explosion caused by spontaneous combustion in the hay barn started a conflagration that could not be stayed and would not be satisfied until everything was a mass of ruins. There was absolutely no way to fight the fire, which spread with such rapidity that even the dumb beasts could not be saved.

All buildings were swept by the fire, including the large house, and fifty head of horses met a miserable death in the flames. Six hundred tons of hay and large quantities of grain were also consumed. The Dodge brothers estimate their loss at $15,000, with no insurance except on the hay, which was insured for about two-thirds its value.

Shacks occupied by Chinamen employed on the ranch were also burned with all the earthly possessions of the Celestials, and these unfortunates having lost their horses also, bravely donned their coats and started on their journey toward new fields.

NORTH GLENDALE

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Yanke and three children, also Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Collins of Long Beach, motored to North Glendale very recently and were guests of Mrs. Yanke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Collins of 1016 North Central avenue, while here.

Mrs. E. A. Josselyn of 1641 Ruth street entertained as her guest at a prettily appointed luncheon Wednesday Mrs. Edward Spychalski of 103 West Second street.

Mrs. Lucius F. Drake of 1657 Ruth street spent the early part of this week at Bellflower as house guest of Mr. Drake's sister, Mrs. Fred Dow of that place.

Mr. E. C. Williamson and family have recently returned from a motor trip to Oregon and Washington, having been away since last June, and are now happily domiciled in an attractive chalet on North Louise street to the delight of the many friends of this popular family.

Mrs. E. A. Summers of Los Angeles, known throughout California as the "oil queen" of California, was in North Glendale Wednesday looking after her extensive property interests, calling upon Mrs. James Conner of Kenneth road during the afternoon.

Mrs. James Conner of Kenneth road entertained as her luncheon guests very recently Miss Agnes Moran and sister, Miss May Morran of Los Angeles. A delightful motor trip was enjoyed by the party during the day, a visit to the San Fernando mission and surrounding country adding much to the pleasure of the occasion.

FIVE DOLLAR BLAZE

The Glendale fire company was called out Wednesday morning at 8:35 o'clock to extinguish a fire in the dwelling house of Mrs. H. F. Speck, 818 North Howard street.

The fire started from clothes hanging over a gas heater catching on fire. The fire company did good service. The amount of damage is estimated at about $5.

MAKE PROSPERITY FOR YOURSELF

The Evening News always entertains optimistic views. The world has no use for a knocker. The man with good health and sound mind has nothing coming to him only what he earns by physical and mental activity. If you are idle, begin tomorrow to do something; clean a vacant lot, if nothing else. There is work on every side of you. The world is in need of proficient workers today, even if business is considered dull by the man who is inclined to look backward. If sound mentally and physically, get out and hustle.

WRITE FROM ENGLAND

JUDGE WHOMES RECEIVES COMPLIMENTARY LETTER—NEWS OF WAR

Judge J. Whomes, who mailed several copies of the anniversary number of the Glendale Evening News to friends in England, the land of his birth, received three letters this morning containing very complimentary notices. From his grand nephew, Alfred Frost of Croyden, Surrey, came the statement that he considered the paper an excellent one and that he was especially pleased with the views, mentioning particularly the panoramic view of Glendale. He expressed surprise that such an excellent piece of work had been done in a town the size of Glendale.

Harry Whomes, a nephew of the judge, residing at Hastings by the Sea, spoke in the same high terms of the paper, and expressed his intention of mailing it to a cousin in Scotland after he had read every word in it. From another nephew in London came also the word that he was highly pleased with the number and interested in it.

These letters also contained other significant news showing that the island kingdom is in a state of unrest and anxiety. Mr. Frost, who is a young bank clerk at Croyden, states that he is drilling every day with others who expect to be called to their country's defense.

From London comes the news that cannons are planted on all the public buildings and that the lights of the city are kept dim so as not to be a mark for the Zeppelins, of which the English stand in mortal fear.

Harry Whomes, writing from Hastings by the Sea, which is located just across the channel from the scene of war, says there is great unrest there and that people are extremely nervous. There are large numbers of Belgian wounded there and large numbers of Australian and Indian troops pass through daily, that being a shipping point, on their way to join the army of the allies.

SOUTHERN AFTERNOON SUCCESS

The home of Mrs. Frederick Baker, 109 North Maryland avenue, Wednesday afternoon was the scene of a delightful informal social time, the net proceeds of which materially increased the clubhouse fund.

The house was fragrant with mignonette and rose geranium. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, as Harriet Beecher Stowe, was gowned in an exquisite costume made by a famous costumer in New York over fifty years ago for the trousseau of a southern belle, the quaintness and beauty of which was much admired. Mrs. O. W. Tarr, as Dollie Madison, the White House bride, entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, attired in a beautiful wedding gown of 1882, with its wonderfully made hoops. Mesdames E. D. Yard, H. H. Martin and A. L. Weaver, as negro mummies, furnished much amusement.

But the real treat of the afternoon was the program given by some of the best of our Glendale talent. "The Trouble With Rastus," "The Conquered Coquette," by Dunbar, and "Confused," the readings by Miss Bertha Jackson in her inimitable dialect, were well received. Mrs. Geo. H. Melford, whose voice is one of rare beauty, delighted the meeting with her sweet, plaintive dialect melodies and generous encores. Mrs. Melford was ably accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Anderson. The popular and southern piano music played by Miss Alice Patterson throughout the afternoon added much to the pleasure of the guests. Delicious refreshments terminated an enjoyable afternoon, and the guests departed anticipating the second of the series of social events, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Clinton Booth, 1223 Lomita avenue, on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 2. Mrs. Booth's committee expects to have a more elaborate affair than the "Southern afternoon" and many surprises.

The Junior Philathea class of the First Methodist church met at the home of the president, Miss Doris Ingledue, 725 West Third street, on Tuesday evening. The class teacher, Mrs. C. D. Lusby, met with the girls and together they formed a constitution and by-laws, strictly along parliamentary lines. These girls are planning to do some philanthropic work for Christmas in addition to their efforts to be first in the contest now on in the intermediate department of the Sabbath school. A business meeting will be held on the third Tuesday of each month.

CHRISTMAS PLANNING

The Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. C. W. Ingledue, 725 West Third street, Wednesday afternoon. The study hour, under the leadership of Mrs. C. D. Lusby, proved both instructive and entertaining, the topic being "Mexicans in the United States." At the close of the program, several musical numbers were enjoyed and the hostess served very nice refreshments. Mrs. Lusby was assisted during the lesson hour by Mrs. Potter and Mrs. Love.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The T. W. club will meet at the home of Mrs. W. E. Evans, 113 Orange street, Saturday evening, November 21st.

SAVE LIVES OF BELGIANS

DR. GUERNSEY IS FIRST CONTRIBUTOR TO GLENDALE RELIEF FUND

"Probably every sack of flour donated will mean one human life preserved." Such are the words of the Belgian relief fund committee, laboring to secure enough foodstuff to equal San Francisco's splendid contribution to the Belgian relief ship's cargo.

With the complete realization that a million and a half Belgians are beginning to starve across the water, with the bitter weather already beginning, and a blighting war devastating their land, the citizens of Glendale are beginning to rally to the support of the workers. Fifteen hundred tons is the Southland's needed contribution to be sent in the California ship. California may well be proud that hers is the first ship to sail from America for Belgian relief.

Beans, rice, flour, cornmeal, dried fruit, canned milk, are especially needed. The philanthropic committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club are receiving both money and provisions in the Jones & Evans building at Second and Brand boulevard every day from 1 to 5 o'clock p. m. Dr. A. H. Guernsey began the relief fund with a $5 bill and a second $5 has been given by a friend.

The committee states that small orders are most welcome. Let every one give what he is able, if it is but one can of food. Small gifts of the many will save lives which otherwise must be lost. Give your contribution today.

MISS McPEAK WEDS

A beautiful wedding was that of Miss Louisa McPeak, sister of Mrs. Dan Campbell of this city, Wednesday evening. Miss McPeak was united in matrimony to Mr. Robert J. McGahie of San Francisco at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McPeak, 1119 Arapahoe street, Los Angeles. Dr. Hugh K. Walker of Long Beach, formerly of the Immanuel Presbyterian church of Los Angeles, officiated.

The house was beautifully decorated, the living-room being canopied with asparagus plumosus and pink carnations, the dining-room in asparagus plumosus and Killarney roses, and the hall in chrysanthemums.

The bride was a picture in her gown of white satin, trimmed with duchess lace and an overdrape of silk shadow. She wore a long veil, fitting close to the head, with a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Lorraine Mitchell of North Glendale was bridesmaid and was dressed in pink charmeuse, and carried a bouquet of pink Killarney roses.

Miss Mitchell and the bride are both graduates of Glendale Union high school. Mrs. Campbell's daughter, little Miss Mary Elizabeth Campbell, was flower girl. Mr. Daniel McPeak, Jr., brother of the bride, was best man.

After the ceremony a delightful supper was served to the forty guests and after supper the bride and groom left on their honeymoon, after which they will be at home at No. 30 Sixteenth avenue, San Francisco, where Mr. McGahie has just completed a beautiful new home for his bride.

CONFESS TO SHOOTING COLSON

Three Mexicans were arrested in the Los Angeles riverbed Wednesday and after being charged with the murder of Marshal Luther Colson of Burbank, broke down and confessed. The men are Joe and Juan Espinoza, brothers, and Luis Marrone. They led the officers to a spot in a grove near Zelza where two revolvers had been buried in a sand hill.

They stated that Colson had repeatedly broken up their camp where they had been drinking, and had aroused their fury. They fired seven shots at the marshal and the brothers claim that Marrone fired the fatal shot. Marrone claims he had a 22-caliber revolver, while the bullet that caused Colson's death was of .38 caliber.

EAGLE ROCK
 Friday, November 13, a special election was held at the schoolhouse for the purpose of voting on the issuing of bonds to the amount of sixty thousand dollars for raising money for purchasing lots and a new school building. This was defeated by a large majority. Our citizens evidently considered it very unwise to burden the district with such a heavy debt when not necessary and business conditions anything but promising. The district has a school building with additional room provided for this year, and will meet the requirements for some time yet.

The football game played on Cummings field Saturday afternoon at Salt Lake City by the University of Utah and the Tigers of Occidental college caused considerable excitement and much interest. The score was 34 to 14 in favor of the Utah team. The high altitude proved too much for the Tigers and during the last half man after man was stretched on the sod from lack of wind and condition. This Saturday "Oxy" will play Pomona.

Mrs. F. Miller of West Sycamore avenue gave a luncheon Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Harriett Myers of Highland Park, who addressed the Parent-Teacher association on that day. The guests were Mrs. Harriett Myers, Mrs. Anna Harrison, Mrs. D. R. Rowe and Mrs. B. A. Gardiner.

The Bible study class of the Epworth League held its first regular meeting Monday evening, with a good number present. Rev. Smith has been secured as teacher and the class will meet each Monday evening at the home of A. A. House on East Palm avenue.

Rev. Smith, pastor of the M. E. church, delivered a very interesting and helpful sermon Sunday evening on "Why I Am a Christian." A week ago Sunday evening he talked on "Why I Am Not a Christian."

Misses Dorothy Beath and Susie Sanderson were hostesses to the O. F. F. club last Saturday evening at the latter's home on Kenilworth avenue.

There were no evening services at the Presbyterian church Sunday on account of the Y. W. C. A. conference at Occidental college.

Friday evening a number of the Epworth Leaguers went over to Glendale to the rally held at the M. E. church.

Mrs. Minnie Bord of Kenilworth avenue has as her guest her friend, Mrs. Baker of Long Beach.

Mrs. Ward Hume entertained a number of her friends at her home last Tuesday with cards.

Mrs. Beath of Ridgeway avenue is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Cockrane of Ohio, for the winter.

Miss Graves of the U. S. C. sang a beautiful solo Sunday morning at the M. E. church.

Announcements

The Chamber of Commerce banquet that had been previously announced to be held Tuesday evening, Nov. 24, has been postponed indefinitely.

The music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club and the philanthropic committee are going to give a concert on the evening of December 15 in aid of the Los Angeles Children's hospital.

The lyric section of the Thursday Afternoon club of Tropico will meet on Wednesday, Dec. 2, owing to Thanksgiving being on the regular meeting day of the club. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Smith, 531 Brand boulevard. A program will be arranged for some time in December and it is requested that there be a full attendance on Dec. 2.

GOOD TEMPLARS

The I. O. G. T. will hold their district lodge in I. O. O. F. hall, corner Isabel and Third streets, on Saturday evening, November 21. The district degree will be conferred at 8 o'clock and at 8:30 the doors will be thrown open to the public.

On the program there will be addresses by Grand Chief Templar O. W. Blain, District Chief W. K. Jeffs, Grand Secretary Theo. D. Kanouse, songs by a quartet with national reputation as singers in the temperance cause. Everyone is invited and will be cordially welcomed.

The Missionary society of the Congregational church will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. H. Willisford, 231 Orange street, at 2:30 p. m. Notice the change of place and day of meeting. Mrs. J. W. Johnston of Alhambra, who has been a missionary in India, will be present and address the meeting. Those who have had blessing bags are asked to bring them to the meeting. Any who have not had bags and would like to make a thank offering will please bring it to this meeting. There will be a cordial welcome for everyone.

VICTROLA BENEFIT CONCERT FOR CENTRAL AVENUE SCHOOL

Saturday evening, Nov. 21st, at 8 o'clock, an entertainment for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of a fine Victrola will be given in the school auditorium, Central avenue and Dryden street. Generous friends of the school have contributed enough to give this worthy cause a good start. Price of admission is 25c for adults and 10c for children, and the pupils are energetically canvassing for the sale of tickets.

As the following program shows, the entertainment is a varied one, comprising recitations, vocal selections, moving pictures, besides several fine selections on the Victrola. A large attendance is expected. Following is the program:

- PART I
1. Lights Out.....McCoy
 2. Sousa's Band
 3. Il Trovatore, Miserere.....Verdi
 4. Caruso and Alda
 5. The Debating Society.....Harriet Barnes

 6. The Song of Steel.....Stross
 7. Mr. Cunningham
 8. Moving Pictures.....

FOREST NOTES

The town forest of Baden-Baden, Germany, yields an annual profit of $5.25 per acre, or a total net profit of nearly $67,500.

Outside of its use for fence posts, black locust finds its principal utilization in insulator pins and brackets for telegraph and telephone lines.

One hundred shade trees will be planted by the Massachusetts forestry association in cities or towns of four population classes which win prize contests for excellence in street tree planting.

The Russian government has placed an embargo on all kinds of lumber, to prevent its exportation; walnut lumber, including Circassian walnut, much prized by American furniture makers, is specifically mentioned.

Experiences with forest fires on the national forests this year show that automobiles, where they can be used, furnish the quickest and the cheapest transportation for crews of fire-fighters. Motor rates are higher than those for teams for the actual time employed, but the total cost per distance traveled and in wages paid to men in getting to fires is much less. The time-saving is self-evident; trips which ordinarily require two days' time by team have been made by automobiles in a few hours.

ARE WE UNPREPARED?

General Witherspoon, chief of staff of the United States army, says that America needs more soldiers and needs them badly. General Witherspoon says that we have not enough soldiers to resist invasion in this country of any first-class power, neither are we in any position to defend the Philippines, the Panama canal, Alaska or Hawaii, and he maintains that the probable value of our coast defenses is questionable. He urges that the standing army of the nation be raised from 105,000 to 200,000 at once and that in addition there be a mobile army of 500,000 first-line troops and 300,000 second-line soldiers. Distribution of the United States' forces on a wide front was advised, because a diversity of landing places are open to an enemy.

BE YOUNG AGAIN

Tomorrow is circus day in Glendale. Every boy and girl is anxiously awaiting the coming of the circus. Men and women should remember that it is only natural for children to wish to visit a circus performance, and so far as possible these youngsters should be granted the privilege. It will do the older people no harm to spend an hour and a half of enjoyment at the circus. When we get too old to get fun out of the things about us, we are not in a position to add to the enjoyment of others.

Start a "Visit Glendale During the Fair" Campaign

THERE are about 2500 to 3000 families in Glendale. If each family would invite 10 people to Glendale, that would mean from 25,000 to 30,000 invitations sent out. Presuming one tenth of those receiving invitations accept and come out, that means that we will have several hundred visitors from all portions of the U.S. This being the case, then each and every visitor has friends to whom they describe the beauties of our growing little city. In all this would mean an endless chain that would certainly boost our number of callers; and an increase in visitors is sure to catch a good per cent of home seekers.

Our Offer: To all who wish to help advertise Glendale we will sell a Glendale Folder with 16 views and a description for the very low sum of 5c each.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Braly of 205 North Brand boulevard are among the guests who will attend the big dinner to be given at Hamburger's tomorrow night by the Progressive club in honor of Governor Hiram W. Johnson and his triumphant re-election as governor of our state. The dinner will be an elaborate affair, with over two hundred invited guests and there will be many speeches and toasts by well-known and popular speakers, among them Governor Johnson himself.

ENTERTAINS FOR GUEST

Miss Wanda Billington of 1227 West Chestnut street entertained informally at her home on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Irene Schrader of Los Angeles. Dancing and card playing furnished amusement for the evening and light refreshments were served. The following guests were present: Miss Edna and Miss May Lawson, Ralph Newcomb, Dr. Stone, Mr. Bancroft, Miss Francella Billington, Duke Belmont and Mr. Lamar Johnstone, besides the hostess and guest of honor.

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

The board of directors of the Glendale Merchants' association held a business meeting in the office of the secretary, W. H. Crane, Wednesday evening. A motion prevailed that a resolution be presented at the next regular meeting of the association that the number of directors be increased from five to eleven.

The association now has a membership of 78 members. Mr. Crane, the secretary, devotes all of his time to looking after the business of the association.

The prosperity of every community is measured by the amount of mercantile business done in that community. The mercantile business in the Glendale community has a conspicuous place on the map in this section of Southern California. The membership of the Glendale association comprises a lot of community builders.

JUST SO HE WAS WHIPPED

In a different vein is the neutrality story which a high administration official tells—always, of course, with the injunction that his name must not be used.

Two Irishmen were discussing the war. One was extreme in his views, so his companion warned him that he ought to be more moderate.

"Sure, and don't ye remember what the president says about ye should not take any sides in the war?" queried the one.

"Faith, and O! am neutral," replied the other, "I don't care what country whips the kaiser."

TIMES BETTER

The above heading represents what almost everybody is talking since the election. If everybody believes times are better they will be better. If the man who has a few thousand dollars to invest will proceed to invest it, things will brighten up.

There is no need now of waiting until the other fellow invests. Get busy yourself, for everything is safe now, providing you make a wise investment. You need not be afraid of investing in Glendale property.

MR. NICOLE'S STATE AGENT

W. H. Nicoles of this city has been appointed agent for California for an electric device that is attracting much attention. This handy little article is known as "Dad's Electric Lantern" and furnishes real light that will enable one to distinguish objects 300 feet away. It can be attached instantly to a bicycle, buggy, boat, etc., and is unbreakable, non-explosive and has other good qualities.

Mr. Nicoles intends to push this article and there will undoubtedly be a great demand for this convenient little device as soon as its good points are known.

LEAGUE DEBATES

Tomorrow evening at the Glendale Union high school will take place one of the debates of the Southwestern Debating League. Mary Black and Wallace Weldon of South Pasadena will meet J. Purman Bennett and Gilbert A. Cowan of Glendale. The subject for debate is:

Resolved, That the congress of the United States at its next session should pass a law providing for the compulsory arbitration of industrial disputes in which corporations engaged in interstate business are a party to the controversy.

Be it further resolved, That the principles of the Canadian "Lemieux act" of 1907 be embodied in this law.

The South Pasadena students take the affirmative side of this question in Glendale, while H. Darwin Kirschmann and Samuel Durand go to Huntington Park to defend the affirmative. This meeting is open to the public and free to all who care to attend.

A CRANK'S THANKSGIVING

(By Walt Mason)

Like others, I'm grateful for plenty to eat; I'm fond of a plateful of rich turkey meat. For pies in the cupboard, and coal in the bin, for tires that are rubbered, and motors that spin; for all of my treasures, for all that I earn, for comforts and pleasures, my thanks I return. I'm glad that the nation is greasy and rich, acquiring high station with nary a hitch; her barns are a-bursting with mountains of grain; her people are thirsting for glory and gain. She'll ne'er backward linger, this land of our dads, for she is a dinger at nailing the scads. I'm glad that our vessels bring cargoes across, while counting-rooms wrestle with profit and loss; that men know the beauties of figures and dates, and tariffs and duties, and railway rebates.

I'm glad there are dreamers not industry-drunk, surrounded by schemers whose god is the plunk. I'm glad we've remaining incompetent jays, not always a-straining, in four hundred ways, to run down and collar one big rouble more, to add to the dollar they nailed just before. I'm glad there are writers more proud of their screeds than board of trade fighters of options and deeds. I'm glad there are preachers who tell of a shore, where wealth-weary people need scheme never more.

For books that were written by masters of thought; for harps that were smitten with Homeric swat; for canvases painted by monarchs of art, for all things untainted by tricks of the mart; for hearts that are kindly, with virtue and peace, and not seeking blindly a hoard to increase; for those who are grieving o'er life's sordid plan; for souls still believing in heaven and man; for homes that are lowly with love at the board; for things that are holy, I thank thee, O Lord!

JUST A HINT

Tomorrow is a school day and tomorrow is circus day. It is the duty of children to be in attendance at school, but it is hoped the good judgment of the teachers and the school board will allow the children an opportunity to witness the parade without restraint. Boys and girls are boys and girls and it is impossible to put old heads on them, and I do not know that we care to try to change them.

On page one of this issue is published a list of names to whom anniversary numbers of the Evening News have been recently sent. People in the East are pleased to receive these numbers. We know of three families on their way from the East to Glendale having been induced to decide to come to this city on account of the glowing description published in the anniversary number.

The pessimist seldom finds a real peg upon which to hang his pessimism. But the optimist stands upon the solid-rock foundation of cheerful truth, with a hat-rack full of pegs, within reach.

Switzerland must feel lonesome up there on her Alpine heights, with the roar of heavy artillery reverberating on three sides of her.

PERSONALS

Mrs. O. H. Leade of Dublin, Ireland, is a house guest of Mrs. Hugh Blue of 1300 Arden avenue for the winter.

Mrs. H. M. McMillan of 217 East First street is entertaining the La Chacota Thimble club today with an all-day meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver O. Clark of 100 South Louise street were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carter of Los Angeles on Wednesday evening.

Miss Helen Beatrice Cooper of 1411 West Colorado boulevard, will entertain Mr. Clarence Kellogg and his mother of Alhambra at luncheon tomorrow.

Mrs. R. M. Neil of 427 Kenwood street entertained Wednesday with a chicken dinner, the occasion being the birthday of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Pettit.

Mrs. W. E. Evans of this city and Mrs. H. R. Goodwin of Tropic took dinner with Mrs. Walter Stamps on Wednesday evening at her home, 1306 Lomita avenue.

Mrs. Oliver O. Clark made quite a long trip Wednesday. Besides stopping in Los Angeles, she went to Long Beach and took luncheon at the home of Mr. Clark's brother of that city, returning in time for dinner in the city and then home to Glendale.

The Thursday Night Five Hundred club met with Mrs. Sycamore Brown of Sycamore avenue last night. This is the first meeting of the new year and a new series was started. There were six tables of players. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening was spent.

Friday, November 27th, there will be an "Elijah evening" at the Sinai Congregation temple, Twelfth and Valencia streets, Los Angeles, at which Miss Helen Beatrice Cooper of Glendale will sing a solo and take part in the chorus work. It will be a very interesting evening.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Farrell of 123 East Broadway will entertain at their home in Los Angeles to be given by William Lacey of Los Angeles. Mr. Lacey is in honor of his wife, Mrs. Lacey, who is in Glendale on her way to Los Angeles. The dinner will be given at the home of Mrs. Lacey, 123 East Broadway, Los Angeles.

Regardless of whether Smyrna is a closed port, under the regulations of the United States navy, Captain Decker would be justified in seeking to enter the harbor to ascertain the facts with reference to the American consulate and its citizens. Article 1646 of the regulations reads:

"On occasions where injury to the United States or to a citizen thereof is committed or threatened in violation of the principles of international law or treaty rights, the commander-in-chief should communicate with the diplomatic representatives or consul of the United States and take such steps as the gravity of the case demands, reporting immediately to the secretary of the navy all the facts."

This regulation would practically oblige Captain Decker to communicate with the American consul at Smyrna after he had learned that the consulate was in danger, using his launch, if necessary, regardless of whether the port was closed by the Turkish officials.

Under article 1647, giving the duties of a naval commander in such a situation, the statement is made that, while it is illegal to use force against a foreign and friendly state, "the right of self-preservation is a right which belongs to the states as well as the individuals, and includes the protection of the state, its honor and its possessions, and the lives and property of its citizens, against arbitrary violence, actual or impending, whereby the state or its citizens may suffer irreparable injury."

That Captain Decker did not persist in his attempt to enter Smyrna was indicated by the fact that his message said he left at the request of the ambassador, who, it is presumed here, thought it advisable to withdraw the ship until a better understanding could be reached on such points as had arisen. It is believed also that if the consulate was in grave danger, the Tennessee never would have left for Grecian waters.

The orders to both the commanders of the Tennessee and North Carolina to refrain from taking any steps that might embarrass the Washington government until specific instructions could be given, followed careful consideration here of the wide latitude which articles 1646 and 1647 of the navy regulations give to naval officers.

Both the president and Secretary Daniels have abundant confidence in Captain Decker, the following statement about him being issued today by the navy department:

"Capt. Benton C. Decker, now commanding the United States steamship Tennessee in Turkish waters, is an officer with an excellent record during his service of twenty-seven years; since graduation from the Naval Academy, to which he was appointed from Illinois in 1885, he has had considerable experience in duty similar to that which he is now performing in Turkish waters. He was in command of the United States scout cruiser Chester during the war between Italy and Turkey.

"During the war the Chester spent considerable time in Tripolitan waters looking out for the interests of Americans. These duties were well performed by Captain Decker, who had similar duties while in command of the Chester in San Dominican waters during a revolution several years ago. Captain Decker was promoted to captain July 1, 1913, and was ordered to duty on the staff of the naval war college, from which duty he was detached to command the Tennessee in August, last, when that vessel was sent to Europe for the relief of distressed Americans in the war zone."

One effect of the incident, it is generally believed in diplomatic circles here, will be to emphasize to the Porte the anxiety of the United States for the safety of its subjects in Turkey. Conditions have been uncertain for many months, even before Turkey entered the war. Ambassador Morgenthau has sent consular reports voicing apprehension since early last summer, and asking for a war vessel. Inasmuch as the Tennessee had been ordered to Europe to carry gold, the Washington administration took advantage of the coincidence and sent the two relief ships to linger in the Levant for emergencies.

Before Turkey entered the war

England and France signified their hope that the United States would send warships to Turkey for the protection of Christians, as they did not want to send their own vessels for fear of aggravating an already tense situation between the Triple Entente and the Porte.

Since the outbreak of hostilities some Turkish officials have threatened to execute three English and French subjects for every Mussulman killed in bombardments by the fleet of the allies on unfortified towns. Americans have feared that if such a threat should be carried out on account of their similarity of speech and appearance they might be thrown into danger. It is feared in some quarters, too, that the Turks may not appreciate the diplomatic responsibilities resting upon American consuls in caring for British and French subjects, and that complications may come in this connection.

Administration officials are absorbed in the situation. Their messages to the Tennessee and North Carolina were sent by every available route, to make certain of their prompt delivery.

ORGANIZED CHARITY

Editorials in the Saturday Evening Post are copyrighted, but we have permission to make use of this much, which we gladly do: "The nation that does not succor the enemy's wounded who fall into its hands, and feed and shelter prisoners of war, is considered infamous. The unfortunates of peace we have on our hands ought to be a social charge. The responsibility and cost of maintaining them ought to be placed squarely on the whole community. There ought to be no more question of passing the hat to keep them from freezing or starving than of taking up a voluntary collection to run the waterworks or repair the paving; but such a state of affairs seems to be a long way off. Meantime organized charity is the best we have. Never were appeals more numerous and persistent. It is going to be a hard winter for many on this peaceful side of the Atlantic. Every one who can, should help—and, above all, HELP AT HOME FIRST."

TOMORROW IS CIRCUS DAY

Tomorrow will be circus day—the big fun day of the year for young and old. The Barnes wild animal circus will be in Glendale for two performances.

The Barnes circus is a show quite different from the ordinary old-time circus, for the reason that the entire entertainment presented is given by trained animals—a troupe of wild and domestic animal-actors numbering over 600.

Instead of human acrobats, jugglers, tumblers and riders giving the entertainment, trained animals of nearly every known kind are cast as the performers. Elephants, camels, zebras, kangaroos, lions, tigers, leopards, bears, monkeys and all species of domestic animals appear as actors on the Barnes program.

It is hard to imagine more thrilling scenes than the big wild animal acts presented. Twenty-four jungle-bred, full-grown, man-eating African lions are shown in one act, handled by one trainer. Young women trainers exhibit large groups of tigers, leopards and bears.

A profusion of acts of instructive and dignified quality are also shown. Fifty dogs, twenty goats, a large troupe of monkeys, baboons, chimpanzees and apes, zebras, camels, etc., appear in many amazing turns.

A feature of the Barnes shows and one to which the attention of the public is directed, are their horses and ponies. There are 550 of these animals, many of which are world's premium winners. Each one is a performer and no better educated horses are known to exist.

The fun part of the show has been well taken care of. Fifty funny elephants, dogs, ponies, monkeys, bears and mules guarantee an almost continuous laugh.

A troupe of over 600 educated wild and domestic animals comprise the entertainers with the Barnes circus that shows in Glendale tomorrow, which is the greatest array of animal actor talent ever assembled together.

Ferocious man-eating lions, tigers, leopards and jaguars, docile Sahara camels, human-like orang-outangs, ponderous elephants, seals and sea lions, kangaroos, bears, zebras, stately horses and beautiful ponies, dogs, goats and almost every known animal work together in perfect unison in the rendition of an unique, attention-gripping, thrilling program.

Sixty-five entirely new acts and features are introduced, prominent of all being the group of twenty-four full-grown, jungle-bred African lions presented in one act by Herr Louie Roth. For real daring and wild animal training skill, this act stands absolutely unrivalled. Many other thrilling wild animal acts are presented by a coterie of men and young women trainers.

Clean, clever comedy is provided by forty comedy-clown bears, elephants, dogs, goats, ponies and mules and monkeys.

The new feature free parade is given at 10:30. Performance hours are 2 and 8 p. m., doors being opened one hour earlier. A record breaking crowd is anticipated.
