

A Starting View of Secret Societies.

We had seen to the constitution long ago, that nothing was more feasible than that the Order of the B. O. T. O. should be organized...

Mr. Sumner proposed a bill of a similar character several years ago, a copy of which I have on hand, drawn up by that distinguished patriot himself. It is in such a form as we could have used.

By prohibiting a pupil from being a member of any secret society, we would be doing a great deal of good...

Let the reader mark well, every one of the members of M. Masons, then all members of Congress who are corrupted by it will be taken to task...

As pertinent to the view of the alleged system at Washington, we may here state what has been ascertained by the Rev. Mr. Sumner...

The Pollard took the oath as early as he could, and took of whisky, under the circumstances, but he did not draw his salary just yet.

Some might perhaps be glad to get along with this appointment, and say other degrees of similar character, if he had not gone to Washington...

Now we do not know the system by which the secret, in which all the members of the Order of the B. O. T. O. are sworn...

As the head of the "New York Clearing House" of 1860, and now in force in that most worthy City of New York...

Out of This World With I Condemn Them.

DEAR DR. DUNN: On February 10th, 1869, I published at Central Office, No. 10, 1/2, I find the following in speaking of the report...

"This is a government which esteems secrets to be kept with a vigilance only equalled among the powers who have their feet upon the necks of the people."

"I will tell you," she answered, "I had a husband once; he was steady, faithful and kind, the Master long tried to get him to join, and at length he yielded; he became maniacally attached to the lodge, was repeatedly punished, and secured the greatest amount of help."

"I was a regular member of that annual institution, like that of West Point or West Point, the public to be visited, educated, graded, and received to the same way in the same way that they are in the case of the military and military academies."

"I was a regular member of that annual institution, like that of West Point or West Point, the public to be visited, educated, graded, and received to the same way in the same way that they are in the case of the military and military academies."

Renunciation and Testimony of a Mason of Three-Degree and Sixteen.

MY DEAR FRIEND: On February 6, 1869, I was drawn to the City of Chicago—having a great desire to benefit the young men in my country, and having arrived at the age of twenty-six years, and believing I have passed the period of my life when I could do any good to my country...
