Meets the eastern sky,

On her hill-top high.”*

FOREWORD

TO THE MEMBERS OF 1904:

Classmates!

This History of the Class of 1904 of Syracuse University has been prepared, and is now published, in accordance with a vote of the class at the fifteenth annual reunion, June 10, 1919.

For purposes of this record we have considered in detail only those 239 members who were graduated with bachelors' degrees; the recipients of honorary and masters' degrees and certificates are listed, but the record in detail is confined to the holders of bachelors' degrees.

Owing to some delay with questionnaires the issuance of the History has been somewhat retarded; also some of the information received in 1919 and early 1920 may not be entirely accurate and complete, as of today. It will be well to consider the record as being of January 1, 1920; some later information is inserted in certain cases, but concerning some of the members very likely there may have been some changes.

It is believed that this is the first instance in Syracuse University annals of the publication of a class history. 1904, during its undergraduate existence, was a pioneer in many things. As alumni, it is fitting that this characteristic of college days be continued.

It is impossible that such a record as this could be issued without some errors creeping in. Where such is the case the historian craves the indulgence of his classmates.

Mine has been an unusual privilege, the compilation of a History of the Class of 1904. Under the touchstone of this privilege a deal of labor has been transmuted into pleasure and satisfaction. Have I not been permitted to renew the memory of associations and friendships of four happy years? Have I not been allowed to follow you through the years since June 8, 1904 — to see you putting to the test of experience the promise and the hopes of our four years together? Have I not read between the lines of your questionnaires? Have I not witnessed, though unseen, the development of your careers and the unfolding of your dreams from the mistiness of hope into the vividness of reality? Have I not glimpsed into nearly two hundred happy homes that you have established in nearly thirty states and in seven countries? Have not mine eyes beheld the joy of your countenances and mine ears heard the beautiful sounds of your children's voices? I have seen you in the family circle; in the counting room; in public office; in civic organizations; in the courts of law; in hospitals and chambers of illness; in the classroom; in the study; in the pulpit; in factories; in the construction of great works of transportation and commerce and engineering; in the sciences; in the fine arts; in agriculture, — in all good works. And I have seen you in France and in our camps in the great war for civilization's salvation. And always as leaders.

And I, fortunate person, have seen you winning your way in the world, harvesting the fruits of earnest effort, and gathering the honors and rewards that the world has freely granted you because of achievements and useful service in a thousand different ways and places.

And, alas, as if in proof that "Death loves a shining mark, a signal blow," I have seen a little group of classmates fade from the vivid scenes of young and eager life into the mysterious shadows of another Commencement. Faces and forms we knew and loved as friends and classmates, gone from our earthly sight, the circle broken, but clear and fair and fine their memory remains and shall abide until the Grand Reunion, — then, now and always, Members of 1904, we salute you!

In going over the more than two hundred records submitted as the basis of this History I have been moved to an almost holy joy at the splendid place that the individuals of our class have assumed in the work of the world. Without a single exception the men and women of 1904 have been useful in service in countless ways and many places — a fair fulfillment of obligation and of opportunity. Surely we can say in modesty and in truth that we have bravely wrought and need take no shame for the separate and aggregate result.

And Syracuse University! Who among us that has not grown in love for and devotion to our Alma Mater? We have watched in pride the ever-enlarging sphere of her service to mankind, and the growing respect and regard in which she is everywhere held. In conscious pride of possession, the Class of 1904 holds in reverence and affection the great University whose benediction has been over us and whose challenge to the highest and best in us is a watchword to our lives and a guide to our pathways.

ARTHUR L. EVANS,
Class Historian.

Hoping to return to Korea to teach in Peu Yang College, he, although very ill, finished his course at New York University and received the A.M. degree, his thesis winning first prize. He sought recovery of health in various sanitariums but the struggle was in vain, death overtaking him at Atlantic City, November 9, 1917. He was born March 24, 1881, at Stornoway, Scotland.

While in college his home was at Niagara Falls. He entered Syracuse in the Liberal Arts college, September 17, 1900, and received the Ph.B. degree June 8, 1904. He is buried at Thorold, Ontario, Canada.

They lived in Seoul until her death less than three years later. She died in less than a month after the birth of her son, Willis Saxe, born January 5, 1910. She is buried at Seoul, Korea.

She entered Syracuse September 17, 1900, in the Liberal Arts college and received the Ph.B. degree, cum laude, June 8, 1904. Her home while in college was at Walden, N. TWO "SONS OF 1904"

REMARKS BY AND OF MEMBERS

NATHAN ABELSON has been claim attorney for the Eastern States Railroad Corporation since 1905.

“My hobby is to see the introduction of a few business courses in the college curriculum, e. g., accounting, economics (a real course I mean), salesmanship and, possibly, business English, commercial law, advertising, — courses that would comprise mental training plus the practical value of an elementary grounding in the theoretical fundamentals of business. I do not favor abolition of the classics or the narrowing of our liberal arts cultural course to the point of turning our universities into business colleges; but a middle ground could be found or lecture courses by practical business men, apart from and in addition to the college curriculum — elective, not compulsory necessarily, — would stimulate the college man into thought of his qualifications for business and guide him in the decision of his life work.”

ROY ALLEN.

It appears that Roy Allen holds the class championship as a club member. He belongs to the University Club, the Union League Club, the Psi Upsilon Club, all of New York; the Green Meadow Country Club, of Harrison, N. Y., and the Wee Burn Golf Club, of Noroton, Conn.

“Living in the best little city in the United States; on automobile route from New York to California. Stop and see us. The front door is always unlocked."

ARMSTRONG.

"I wish I had something of real interest to add to my history, but my life has been just commonplace. I have a splendid family and perhaps that in the end is most worth while. I came near being with you in Syracuse in 1919 and am planning right now for the 20th reunion. Best wishes for the success of '04."

JULIA BABCOCK (Dunkley).

"My husband is general secretary of Y. M. C. Associations for Chinese in Tientsin. Interests mainly with Chinese people. American community of 400 in city, which numbers about 980,000. There are seven S. U. folks here including two Chinese."

GRACE BAIRD (Hersey).

"This (Bellingham) is the most northwesterly city in the U. S. Dairying, fruit growing, fishing, lumbering. About 90,000 people."

BALDREY.

"The only man that had nerve enough to bring his wife to the fifteenth reunion of the Class."

BATEMAN.

"Since graduating, a sister and two brothers have been graduated from Syracuse and one of the brothers received the A.M. degree. I wonder if that can be beaten for a family record in S. U. — four graduates, one of them an A.M. I attended the summer of 1912, so I think from 1900 to 1914 there was always a member of our family attending the university.”

BENNETT.

“My original class was '85, but I was side-tracked and an old fellow got mixed with the boys of 1904. I have been a school man all my life to January 1918. The highest calling of man. Now I'm in the next highest, agriculture. Both are constructive and both deal with original material.”

BETTINGER.

“We are trying to do our share in the upbuilding of western Canada and find it very attractive and interesting work.”

ADELAIDE WHEELER (Blackhurst).

“Done nothing but ‘plug’ since leaving college.”

CANNON.

PERRY CARPENTER is actively interested in religious work for older boys at Rochester.

LOUIS CHALOUX is now on his fourth pastorate since graduation — fifteen years in the first three.

“Practicing law with success, in trial work, and still retain deep interest in welfare of Alma Mater, particularly its athletic teams.”

COLLINS.

“The more I see of things the better I am satisfied that I chose Syracuse for ‘my college.’ We surely have a wonderful leader in Chancellor Day.”

CRANE.

“Besides teaching here in the high school I am doing considerable ‘New Thought’ work in New York City and expect very shortly to devote all my time to this. I write New Thought stories for children, do some healing, etc. This work is my principal interest.”

ELEÄNORE CROSS.

“Have been so busy in my engineering profession with the General Electric Co. that I have had no time to think much about myself. My chief recreation is an active participation in Masonic fraternal work. I endeavor to keep in touch with college affairs through my fraternity, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. At the present time I happen to be vice-president and a director of the alumni association of the chapter.”

CROWELL.

“Still alive and going strong.”

JOHN O. DAVIES.

“I like my job; if there is a better one, lead me to it. Money? Not much, but oh boy, the fun!”

Fame? Enough. 'Full many a flower is born to blush unseen and waste its fragrance on the desert air.' That's me all over.

"We surely had a fine time last June (1919), but hope we can get a bigger bunch for the great celebration next time. We certainly had the livest bunch since the establishment of the University, and we stand out a distinct asset to the University, notwithstanding many larger classes which have followed us. The fact that 'Doc' John signally recognized us by appearing with us in the parade is glory enough for all time. The honors of the day were ours. Shall hope to be with the old bunch every time they appear on the Campus."

"SYL" DAVIES.

"My work is ordinary teaching work backed by a sincere desire to develop a purpose, a personality and a love for the truly beautiful in life. Here's to a purposeful and effectual 1904."

FLORENCE DISTIN.

"I was accompanist for W. G. Merrihew, conductor, who gave the 'Messiah,' 'Creation,' 'Prodigal Son,' and miscellaneous programs with New York soloists from 1905 to 1909."

GRACE DORNBURG (Bagnall).

"Have traveled throughout the country almost constantly since graduation; from twenty-five to fifty thousand miles a year in the interests of the missionary enterprises of the churches.”

DOUGHTY.

BLANCHE DAVIDSON (Doyle) received an A. R. C. service pin. She is interested in all activities of her community, Brevard, N. C.

“Our Class seems to have a spirit which lives and lasts. May it grow and be cherished.”

EASTMAN.

“Though at home caring for my aged mother I still keep up as much as possible in my chosen profession — and am enjoying teaching French. Though I can seldom get away out of town my interest in college matters does not flag. I am a loyal member of the Class of '04, though necessarily an inactive one.”

HILDEGARDE EDWARDS.

T. A. ENRIGHT during his architectural career not only helped develop plans for several of our university buildings, but worked on such buildings as the Y. M. C. A., the new Vocational high school, several grade schools, numerous city buildings, in Syracuse, and the 42-story L. C. Smith building in Seattle.

“Nothing of note to record excepting that I am somewhat older and somewhat heavier and not much better looking.”

ENRIGHT.

“When hesitatingly, with rhythm painfully slow,
The first ‘Rip! Rah! Roar!’ heralded the birth of 1904,

The question was: ‘What shall the pageant be?’
The answer is: ‘Read our Class History, and see.’”

FOWLER.

“I wish I could have attended the class reunion. It would have been genuine pleasure to have seen the genial faces of our friends and greeted the members of '04. It is a capital idea to get a ‘Who is Who’ for our distinguished class. An account of the accomplishments of the men and women in whom they are mutually interested will be a cherished possession of every member of the class. We like to see a Class History that will in some adequate measure and manner tell the deeds of the men who have been making history for themselves and for their class.”

GABRIEL.

“Only a country doctor.”

LOIS GANNETT.

“We are building double wall concrete houses stuccoed on the outside, the best type of construction known.”

HAYS.

GEORGE HAMILTON, as chief of the hospital construction section, had complete charge of designing the hospitals at Camps Bragg, Benning, Knox, Fort Bliss, Denver tuberculosis hospital, Walter Reed general hospital at Washington and all camp and general hospitals throughout the United States.

“My life probably typifies that of the majority of college women who are married and bringing up a family. After looking after the management of our household, and doing part of the routine housework, we help our children with their studies and interest ourselves in their joys and sorrows, helping them to form ideals so that they can take up the work where this generation leaves off. We are living in critical times and great changes will take place in the next fifty years. Our children must be prepared for their task. Then there is the church work, the Bible class to be taught, programs, executive work, such duties as call for the trained mind. The college woman will not fail to interest herself in the civic life of her town and city. The woman with executive ability has done her bit in the Red Cross work and the various drives of the last three years. At night she puts aside her own cares and with a smile greets her companion to cheer and encourage him after the day’s work. The majority of college women never obtain fame, but are content if it can be said that the world is just a little better for their having lived.”

MAUDE HEATH (Wilcox).

“Am largely out of touch with the east and my former associates. Am practicing law alone and sticking close to the job, but have never lost deep interest in old S. U. and '04. Greetings to all!"

HEAL.

"After practicing in Syracuse eleven years removed to New York City to a larger and more lucrative practice."

HEIMAN.

"My work outside the home has been done for the church. As head of the normal department of the Joyce Memorial Bible school I have been able to help prepare teachers for more efficient Christian service."

JULIA HOOK (Shafer).

"My Boy Scout work is very pleasant; I recommend it to those who will cut out habits it would be bad for boys to copy, and who will cultivate traits that will, if followed, help boys.

"This couplet has helped me:

'Give to the world the best that you have
And the best will come back to you.'

"I started some time ago to maintain a scholarship at old S. U., $37.50 semi-annually; it is very gratifying."

HOOK.

"After twelve years of special work in the city I moved to rural life on Long Island and resumed general practice, along with raising pigs and chickens."

HULST.

“I am so far away that I have never been back to Syracuse for a reunion. Am keeping young by playing athletic games. Lead a quiet family life, without much excitement. I still remember ‘Ma’ Still’s boarding house and the old salt rushes, etc., also the time I had the mumps and got cheated out of rowing on our freshman crew.”

CLARENCE JONES.

“Hello, there, how be you all?”

HYZER JONES.

“When in college I had no time to play. Since leaving, however, I have taken up the old Scottish game of golf. Have won several gold medals, cups, etc., and I think I am qualified to claim the golf championship of the illustrious class of 1904. If any one feels like opposing my claim, I will be very glad to settle it at our next class reunion. Am vice-president of a country club down here and if any of you fellows happen to pass through Du Bois, would be glad to have you stop off and I’ll show you the course.”

KNAPP.

GEORGE LYNCH, in response to the query, “married?” says, “You bet,” and states under “remarks” in his questionnaire, “raising soldiers.”

“Am exerting myself toward riches in the great Imperial Valley of southern California. For past year inspecting 60,000 acres of cotton crops in Mexico for ginning company, loaning $3,000,000 or more to Chinese and Japanese growers. Don't any of the 1904 class dare to pass me by when visiting California."

A more recent letter says:

"Out here we are expecting cotton to hang us. We are hoping for the successful outcome to a 10,000 barrel oil well which is expected to come in late this month (January, 1921) or the first of next. If it actually shows well, or rather if it makes a good showing, we are expecting great boom excitement here and then we could forget our troubles over raw cotton."

McLACHLAN.

"There is nothing special to say about myself, save that I like to school-teach, which fact may be novel."

MAUD MACLACHLAN.

"From the different lines of work I have been in you might think I am a vagabond. However, it's not as bad as that. I'm satisfied. Came over here (Paris) early in 1918 on some special auditing work for the American International Corporation. Since then I have had to work in England, Belgium, Italy and France. In 1919 I was transferred to the Allied Machinery Co. de France, which is one of the many subsidiary companies of the A. I. C. My work now will take me to all the countries of south-western Europe; headquarters Paris, which city is next to New York in my belief. Think your efforts in preparing a Class History are fine. Count me in for copies and my share of the expense. Sorry I can't tell of wonderful things I've done or of equally wonderful books written or of political aspirations, success, etc., but I guess I'm just one of the millions of plain, ordinary business men. Good luck and if any '04 folks get over here, look me up."

MAC ADAM.

"After I came to California in 1910 I became interested in fruit ranching and bought a small prune and apricot orchard within easy reach of Stanford University. Was enrolled in the first summer quarter ever given at Stanford and have attended several summer schools and one college year at the University of California in Berkeley. While I am vitally interested in California's educational program and in her institutions, I am as loyal a lover of 'old Syracuse' as ever. The difficulty has been to make a trip east and a reunion coincide. This I hope to be able to accomplish in 1924."

LUCIA METER.

"Have taken an active part in suffrage, prohibition and Red Cross work. Am a cousin of president-elect Harding's, from whom I received greetings at Christmas time. We are both descended from Colonel Thomas Harding of the Revolutionary army.

“I think every married woman should call herself by her own maiden name — the husband’s name can be added for convenience. She is baptized into Christ’s Church by her own name and it remains forever hers. Old friends will remember her by it, while they may not recognize her identity under a masculine appellation.”

ANNA H. MOORE (Funnell).

“Interested in history as usual. Have been connected with history of Erie County in several capacities in committee work. Retain interest in all forms of athletics. Reunions, coming as they do, make it impossible for teachers to attend on account of approaching commencements. However, we think of the ones who are lucky enough to be able to attend.”

MOORE.

“As a member of the College Women’s Club and the Woman’s Club of Erie (the largest in the state) my chief interests are in women’s work. My hobby is nature study, being a bird lover affiliated with the Audubon Society.”

LINA JENNINGS (Moore).

BOB MOREY started out to be a teacher and was a good one too, but one day was bitten by the Wall Street bug and all bets were off. Was in the brokerage business in Philadelphia before invading the big town.

“I haven’t lost my interest at all in our class — I’d even be willing to wager that even today we can trim any class that was ever graduated, in any way, shape or manner."

NILES.

"Have been mixed up more or less in church, Sunday-school, and Y. M. C. A. work since coming to Clifton Springs and at present am superintendent of the M. E. Sunday-school."

ODELL.

"Hope all the members of '04 have had as much fun out of their work and life as I have had. Each day is just a picnic. A teacher ought to keep young longer than any one else as she is in constant contact with life, youth, love and laughter. It's her own fault if she doesn't keep happiness in her heart."

NELLIE OLCOTT.

"General practice — living — nothing to say except doing what each day brings."

PADGET.

"My Alma Mater, old Syracuse, forms a principal part in my daily thoughts. The spirit which I brought from Syracuse has made me successful in my profession and my interest is to see her again. 'May we all be leal and loyal to thy memory.' "

PEREZ.

"One of the successful failures. Getting by, that's all, but John D. has nothing on me."

PHILLIPS.

“My work includes general supervision of religious education in the 275 city associations in the U. S. Some teaching of New Testament in our National Training School, etc.”

ANNA RICE.

“Since leaving public office have been engaged in the practice of law, doing mostly advisory work with mercantile enterprises. Director in a number of companies in which I act as counsel.”

RUBIN.

ERNEST SCOTT, pastor of Centenary M. E. Church, Utica, has been building a new parsonage there. Under his pastorate at Rome a new church was built.

“In the management of our home and the rearing of our three sons I find a full-sized and most interesting occupation.”

GERTRUDE SHOLES (Auten).

“Time hasn't brought many changes except a few added pounds and a few subtracted hairs. Have several left yet for a rainy day. You can see for yourself that I am never anything but serious minded! Just let me add—Syracuse is a great place, even with Rubin in New York and Evans in Beantown.”

ERNEST SMITH.

“No books, no offices, but oh, kind friends, the socks I’ve darned!”

JENNIE GILBERT (Smith).

“The Western Electric Co. built many millions of dollars’ worth of radio telephone sets during the war, and the work being done by our research department portends great advances in the electrical and acoustic arts. Have had ten years of experience in patent work on radio signaling and related subjects. Have as assistants four other attorneys who are engineers or physicists and specialists in these branches.”

SPRAGUE.

“Am very much ‘settled down.’ Possibly after my daughter is grown I may yet do something worthy of the Class.”

EDITH SNYDER (Wooster).

“My husband is an inspector of immigration and our station may be changed from time to time; but we may always be reached in care of ‘Immigration Service, Tucson, Arizona.’ If any Syracusans come to this part of the world, do let me know.”

MILDRED TAITT (Milton).

“I have joined the ranks of the workers — producers — from preference, and would not change back from the same cause.”

TAFT.

“Since leaving college I have tried to do my duty and have had a part as founder of the following: In 1910 — Troop 15 Boy Scouts of Buffalo; in 1913 of a graduate system of retaining the interest of the older boys in scouting; in 1913 of the College Scout Club of Buffalo; in 1915 of the scoutmasters’ conference plan which is now in general use all over the United States; and in 1919 of a local Scout paper for holding the interest of active and graduate Scouts for life. Was chairman of the Buffalo Boy Scout camp committee for five years, 1912–1917; first president of the Buffalo Scoutmasters’ Society, and re-elected for two years; in 1908 was manager of the first annual work-horse parade of Buffalo, under the auspices of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Have been vice-chairman of District 7 Charity Organization Society of Buffalo for the last five years, also war chairman of said committee for 1919. Also chairman of one of the general Christmas committees for the annual city-wide Christmas party for 1,500 poor children of the city for the last two years. Have been teacher of boys in Richmond Avenue M. E. Sunday-school for the last twelve years.”

TEMPLETON.

“The position I now hold necessitates traveling, as I visit all schools where pupils are prepared for taking drawing in regents’ examinations. I meet teachers in conference and give them helps in teaching, supervise the marking of all drawing papers and assist in preparing the examination questions. Am now fair (?), fat and forty and perfectly happy."

HAZEL THORP (Hathaway).

"All of my time has been devoted to my profession since 1906. Have succeeded in building up a lucrative practice. I have handled successfully several actions involving as much as fifty thousand dollars each."

TONEY.

"I am always more or less active in the church and community in which I live, always trying to be humbly mindful of my responsibility as an alumnus of old Syracuse and trying to see to it, so far as my influence is concerned, that it will tend to reflect credit upon my Alma Mater. I am always keenly interested in 'things Syracuse,' and follow the fortunes of the university in athletics and other matters with increasing interest. I was back to our 15th reunion and last fall I was in attendance at the Colgate game with my wife and two boys. We are now a family of four enthusiastic Syracuse rooters, and it is not beyond the realm of the possible that I shall be again represented in the undergraduate body by my two sons in the not distant future."

TRURAN.

"Am afraid I've done nothing that would be of especial interest to the class. Have tried two or three times to give up teaching, but do not seem to enjoy doing other things, so find myself back in the schoolroom again.”

MAUDE TUCKER.

“Am one of the directors of the Otselic Valley National Bank, of South Otselic. Enjoy a lucrative general country law business and deal in real estate. Only attorney within ten miles of my office.”

WEBB.

“Am doing general medical practice work in Crawfordsville, as a member of the firm of Sigmond and Williams — particular attention to x-ray work. Intend entering the U. S. Public Health Service soon.”

WILLIAMS.

“Glad to be alive and a part of this great world in these trying times. Full of optimism in re our future.”

CARL WRIGHT.

“Been on the job here in Cleveland only three months and while everything goes well so far there is a big hustle ahead. We have nearly 2,400 members and have bought a lot near Western Reserve university where a new church is to be built. We expect the whole enterprise will cost at least $1,000,000. This looks like a real hard job and a good wholesome crowd to work with. Naturally I am up against some big propositions in bringing two churches together in a church building far removed from most of their homes and at the same time get ready to build a new church.”

LOUIS WRIGHT.

“I am able to keep just about one jump ahead of the h. c. l.”

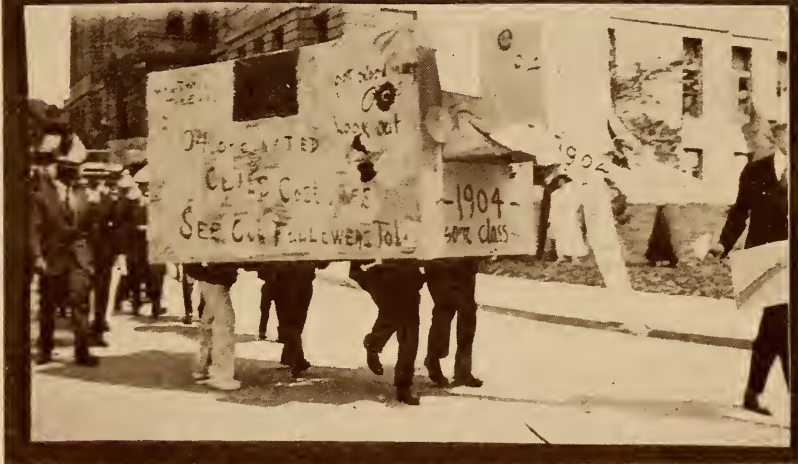

BOB YOUNG.

“Situated on the borderland between northern and southern horticulture, in a section poorly developed horticulturally because of the one-crop system of cotton farming of past years, but destined to rapid development of horticultural interests on account of the appearance of the cotton boll weevil, my problem is to develop orchard and garden crops adapted to the natural conditions of the state, either by plant breeding or introduction from outside sources, and to determine satisfactory methods of culture.”

BILL YOUNG.

“THE CLASS BABY”

Maxwell Brane, born July 10, 1904, is the “Class Baby” of 1904, the first child born to a member of the class after graduation. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Eldredge Brane. Mrs. Brane was Miss Olive Belle Olney, Cornell '01, and her marriage to Mr. Brane took place February 14, 1903. Their home is at Cato, N. Y. Maxwell is nearly seventeen years old and is a strong, sturdy six-footer, “just as his father was before him,” when holding down a position on the Varsity line in undergraduate days at Syracuse.

15TH ANNIVERSARY, JUNE 10, 1919

1904 CLASS REUNIONS

THE FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Class reunions were not in order at the University. The Class of '04, first in navy and everything else in college life, decided to have a real reunion their fifth year out, June, 1909. Templeton, Evans, Rubin and the secretary sent out letters to the members asking them to return to the University on Alumni Day. They promised a good time for each one, a sing for the boys the night before and stunts for the girls. Each member received two notices before the appointed day.

We succeeded in getting back twenty-five members, eight of whom were girls.

After the alumni luncheon, a business meeting was held and the following officers were appointed: Chairman Executive Committee, Irving R. Templeton; Executive Committee — J. Robert Rubin, Jennie Gilbert Smith, George W. Fowler and Ernest R. Smith.

The duty of this committee was to arrange for the tenth reunion. A collection was taken to defray expense of present reunion.

THE TENTH ANNIVERSARY

The tenth reunion of the Class of '04 was ushered in, June 6, 1914, by a class breakfast at Winchell Hall on Alumni Day. About twenty were present. After the breakfast a business meeting was held, Irving Templeton presiding. The former executive committee was reappointed to arrange for the fifteenth reunion. At this time the class took up a collection, the receipts of which were to defray expenses and to purchase a loving cup. The cup was to be presented to the University for the purpose of instituting an inter-class sing. The cup to go each year to the class winning the contest.

More members arrived in the city during the morning and at one o'clock fifty attended the alumni luncheon. At this time the cup was presented by Bob Rubin.

THE FIFTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

The fifteenth reunion of the Class of '04 was held June 10, 1919. The ball was set rolling by the class breakfast, at 725 Crouse Avenue. Eighteen members attended the breakfast. A. L. Evans acted as toastmaster and the roasts and toasts began. We were glad to have with us our old favorite, Harry Baker of baseball fame. He had just returned from Russia where he had been serving his country as a Y. M. C. A. worker. He had served six months under the Czar, six under Lenine and six under Kerensky. His work had been with Russian prisoners of war and he had much of interest to tell us. He also brought us news of other class members who had served in France. Bob Rubin blew in from New York and in his usual breezy manner gave us a friendly talk.

Questionnaires had been sent out to all members of the class by A. L. Evans and 102 replies had been received. Extracts from these replies were read as a sort of informal history. Thus we heard from classmates from coast to coast, and from foreign lands. Friendly jests and chats took place until the business meeting was called.

The following permanent class officers were elected:

President IRVING R. TEMPLETON
 Vice-President ANNA TELFER (Searl)
 Secretary-Treasurer GEORGE W. FOWLER
 Historian ARTHUR L. EVANS
 Chairman Executive Committee . . J. ROBERT RUBIN

Arthur L. Evans was elected historian and instructed to edit and publish a class history. The class voted to send Chancellor Day a telegram at the opening of the fall term, commemorating his twenty-fifth year as Chancellor. This was done. At one o'clock the class attended the alumni luncheon. We were glad to welcome among our number our old friend Prof. P. O. Place, who in days gone by had so kindly chaperoned our sophomore banquet at the Valley and had often joined in our college activities. He is a sort of honorary member of the class, having begun his teaching at the University with '04 members.

Each member was provided with a white cockade hat decorated with orange pompon, a numeral arm band and rattle. Thus arrayed we joined the parade of reunion classes. Each class was headed by a float. Our mascot was a white cubist elephant, appropriately lettered with reference to '04's glorious undergraduate record; led by Capt. Walter F. Baylis, who entertained the crowd by pranks, learned in T. N. E. initiation days. Some of the members attended the baseball game in the stadium.

By evening at least sixty-five members had reached the city and sat together at the table reserved for us at the alumni dinner held in the gymnasium. Rubin of our class was toastmaster.

The "medics" of '04 held a reunion by themselves at Three Rivers the same day. Out of a possible attendance of 27 there were present 22, a splendid record. As George Lynch says, "It was a howling success."

Great credit is due President Templeton for his perseverance and devotion in fostering and maintaining our traditional class spirit of college days.

The twentieth reunion is to be a family reunion. We hope at least one hundred families will join us at that time.

MAUDE HEATH WILCOX, Secretary.
