THE FOUNDATION OF THE SPALDING BUSINESS

SPALDING'S

ATHLETIC LIBRARY

Spalding's Athletic Library is the leading library series of its kind published in the world; in fact, it has no imitators, let alone equals. It occupies a field that it has created for itself.

The Library was established in the year 1892, and it is conceded by all authorities that Spalding's Athletic Library has been an important factor in the advancement of amateur sport in America.

The millions that read the Library during the year will attest to its value. A glance at its index will disclose the remarkable field that it covers. It is immaterial what the pastime may be, you will find in Spalding's Athletic Library a reference to it, either in a book devoted exclusively to that particular game or in some of the books that cover many sports.

It has been the aim of the editors to make the books Official, and they are recognized as such, all the important governing bodies in America granting to the publishers of Spalding's Athletic Library the exclusive right to publish their official books and official rules.

The best authorities in each particular line of sport or physical culture, the men best qualified to write intelligently on their respective subjects, are selected to edit the books and, as a result, there is not another series in the world that is as authoritative as Spalding's Athletic Library.

No matter what new game or form of sport be conceived or advanced, it is invariably the aim of the publishers to have a book on that sport. In that way Spalding's Athletic Library is in the field at the beginning of the sport, follows it year in and year out, and there can be no doubt whatever that the present popularity of athletic sports can attribute the same to the "backing" it has received from Spalding's Athletic Library.

JAMES E. SULLIVAN.

The National Champions

Chicago's basket ball team, winners of the Western Intercollegiate Championship, won the national title from Pennsylvania in a special post-season series, winning the two games played by the scores of 21 to 18 and 16 to 15. Pennsylvania's team had won the Eastern Intercollegiate Championship and were believed by many people to be the sure winner, but the Chicago team, playing splendid ball, just nosed out the Easterners for the honor. Chicago won the games by superior weight and condition. The first game was played at Chicago, March 21, and was marked by brilliant work on the part of Captain Schommer, of Chicago, whose four sensational baskets from the floor turned the tide for his team. Keinath was Pennsylvania's star in this game, his dribbling electrifying the big crowd, many of whom had never before seen such clever floor work—and he threw twelve out of fourteen goals from fouls.

In this game Pennsylvania was without the services of Center McNichol, and the Westerners clearly earned their victory, although the Pennsylvanians made them fight to the last ditch to do so. The Red and Blue men were going fast when the time was up and one field goal would have changed the entire complexion of things.

The second game in Philadelphia on March 25 was the fiercest, fastest basket ball game ever played on the Pennsylvania floor and was witnessed by a record-breaking crowd. This game was won by Chicago mainly on their superior physical condition. Pennsylvania outplayed the Maroons on the floor, scoring four times from the field to the Westerners' three, but Keinath, usually a sure shot from the foul mark, was badly off, scoring but seven out of fourteen attempts.

Keinath again played a wonderful floor game, while Schommer and Page of Chicago proved themselves to be two of the greatest players in the country in their respective positions. This game was so fast and exciting that it was hard to follow the course of the ball from one end of the floor to the other. The score was tied no less than eight times during the game and neither team ever led by more than three points.

The series served to prove that the teams in the East and West are very nearly equal, as there is scarcely a point's difference between Pennsylvania and Chicago.

Both games were free from much of the foul work noted in some of the big matches in the East—due probably to the very efficient work of the officials. The players were aggressive rather than rough and the play was fast and clean and the three thousand spectators who witnessed the two matches left with a clean taste in their mouths.

Both teams used six men in the series. For Chicago Falls and Georgan played at forward, Captain Schommer at center and Page, Hoffman and Harris at guard. For Pennsylvania Captain Fitzpatrick and Keinath played at forward, Kiefaber and McNichol at center and McCrudden, Kiefaber and Speer at guard.

In the two games played Chicago scored 37 points to Pennsylvania's 33. Keinath and Falls were tied for the individual scoring honors with 21 points each. Schommer led in field goals with a total of 6. Three men, Falls, Schommer and Hoffman, did all of Chicago's scoring, while six men contributed points to Penn's column. The scoring was done as follows:

Review of the Eastern Collegiate Basket Ball Season

BY RALPH MORGAN,
University of Pennsylvania.

The season of 1908 will go down as one of the most fiercely fought in the history of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basket Ball League. Pennsylvania, with eight games won and none lost, won the championship, but the Red and Blue team had to fight every inch of their way, so stubborn was the opposition to them put forth by Yale, Columbia and Cornell. Indeed, two games Pennsylvania won but by a single point, and in one of those it required an extra period of five minutes to decide the winner. The Yale-Pennsylvania game at New Haven February 7 was won by the latter, 18 to 17, after a grueling fight, while the Columbia-Pennsylvania game at New York February 26 was probably the closest game ever played, Pennsylvania winning out after 45 minutes of play by the score of 16 to 15 largely through Keinath's great foul and field shooting.

Columbia and Yale finished the season tied for second place in the standing with five victories and three defeats, while Cornell and Princeton were also tied, each winning but one game and losing seven.

The first three teams, Pennsylvania, Yale and Columbia were more evenly matched than the standing indicates, although Pennsylvania had perhaps the best balanced team in the league. Cornell was much stronger than their record shows. The Ithacans were handicapped in their schedule, but they should have made a much better showing than they did.

Columbia started out the season by winning victories from Cornell and Princeton and taking the lead in the league, which they lost when they met Pennsylvania at Philadelphia January 17. Yale defeated Princeton at New Haven the same night, and these two victories made Pennsylvania and Yale tie for first place. The leadership was settled January 25 when Pennsylvania defeated Yale at Philadelphia and ever after that the Red and Blue team led, although they had hard games to play against Yale at New Haven, Columbia at New York, and Cornell at Ithaca and Philadelphia.

The Pennsylvania team was perhaps the best team that has ever represented the Philadelphia University. Keinath, who led the league in scoring, was the star of the team, not only for his scoring ability, but also on account of his floor game. Fitzpatrick, Penn's other forward, who captained the team, was also a top scorer, throwing 26 field goals, the season's record. McNichol played a remarkable game at center, considering the fact that he weighs less than 130 pounds. Kiefaber and McCruden were two active guards of great value. Both are veterans and played hard, consistent games throughout the long season.

The Yale team, with a handful of veterans from the champion team of a year before, made a good fight, but they missed their last year's top scorer, Kinney. Captain Noyes played splendidly at guard, as did Van Vleck at center and forward, but the New Haven men could not develop a strong scorer. Wren and Cushman played good ball at forward, as did F. Murphy at guard.

Coach Fisher of Columbia built a strong team around his giant captain, J. Ryan. Kiendl at forward is a star shot, and coupled with his sure eye on the foul throwing landed him second to Keinath in total scoring. Melitzer played a splendid floor game and dribbled well. Kimbel and Cerussi also played well.

Crosby, Avery and Burd played strong games for Cornell. The first named especially was a star and ranks well among the forwards of the league.

E. Ryan Clark, Captain Halliday and Meese were Princeton's strongest players, although the Tigers were sadly lacking in both team play and ability to shoot.

Unfortunately Harvard was unable to be represented in the league on account of faculty restrictions.

The standing of the teams was:

Keinath, with 19 field goals and 75 goals from fouls, a total of 113 points, leads the Intercollegiate League in scoring for the season of 1908. Keinath's foul throwing is remarkable in that he made 75 out of 102 chances. In the Columbia game at New York he threw 12 out of 15 chances, while three days later against Cornell he threw 17 out of 20 tries, which is a record in so far as the writer of this article is aware.

Kiendl of Columbia, also a forward, is second with 95 points—23 field goals and 49 foul goals. Fitzpatrick of Pennsylvania threw 26 goals from the field, the season's record.

The best scoring team, as the appended table shows, would be: Keinath, 113 points, forward; Kiendl, 95 points, forward; Burd, 50 points, guard; Noyes, 49 points, guard; and Clark, 48 points, center. E. Ryan, Princeton, who played both forward and guard positions, scored 50 points also.

FORWARDS.

For the style of game as played during the season, Pennsylvania, with Keinath and Fitzpatrick, and Columbia, with

Since the formation of the Intercollegiate Basket Ball League in the East, there has never been a season when the strength of the players was so evenly balanced as during the past year. It is for this reason alone that the selection of an All-Eastern team is such a difficult proposition.

Before making the above selections, the writer has studied religiously all the records of every player in the league, and in

Ryan

Noyes

Kiendl and Melitzer, had forwards that were hard to surpass. Outside of these four players there was only one other in the league that should be considered as an All-Eastern forward, Crosby of Cornell.

Without Keinath, the Red and Blue five might have finished third, but surely no better. Until he started playing with the team, Pennsylvania could hardly be credited as first-class; their record of seventeen straight victories was due in no little part to Keinath.

Keinath, my choice for right forward, is a clever player, fast on his feet and a wonderful dribbler, with a keen eye for the basket. In addition to these qualities he possesses long experience, which is such a valuable attribute to a player's ability. For Keinath's running mate I select Crosby of Cornell. Although a new man, and playing on a poor team, his work was remarkable, as his record of twenty-one field baskets shows; on one of the first three teams of the league, I believe, he would have been the most dangerous forward playing in the East. It seems an injustice to leave any one of the other three players off an all-star team, they would creditably fill the forward positions on any team, but all fall short of the abilities of the two players named by a small margin.

CENTER.

As to center, there can be very little discussion. Ryan of Columbia, Van Vleck of Yale and McNichol of Pennsylvania far outclassed their rivals in all departments of the game. The last named player, though a light and short man, played an exceptionally clever game, but most of his work was defensive. A large percentage of the credit he received should be given to Keinath and Kiefaber, who more than once took care of his opponent. Van Vleck was far from his 1906-7 playing form. For some unknown reason he did not seem to retain his old time stamina; his offense, usually of the hair-raising order, was especially weak; at times his dazzling speed would carry his opponent off his feet, but it was only a flash in the pan. Ryan of Columbia, although he also did not play his game, nevertheless the writer selects him as the best center. A giant in statue, with the strength of a Hercules, he was the back bone of the Blue and White five. He easily outjumped all of his opponents, as well as outscoring them, and his defensive work was perfect. He closed the year with the enviable record of having only one goal scored against him during the entire season. How any one could select another player for the position is a mystery. Ryan was unquestionably the best center in the East.

Kimbel

Kiendl

GUARDS.

The league boasted of a number of excellent men playing the guard position. Noyes of Yale, F. Murphy of Yale, Kiefaber of Pennsylvania, McCrudden of Pennsylvania, Cerussi of Columbia, and Kimbel of Columbia, must all be considered before making a final selection,

Melitzer

Van Vleck

As in the selection of the forwards and center, a player's ability must be considered from every viewpoint. Murphy, McCrudden and Cerussi, although excellent defensive players, and on a par with the other guards in this department of the game, must be eliminated from further consideration; their offense was not strong enough to place them on an all-star aggregation. The further elimination of one guard is a very perplexing and arduous task. All three men, Noyes, Kimbel and Kiefaber, were everything that a guard should be; the first player I consider the best guard, in fact, with the exception of Ryan, the best all-around man in the league; a sturdy and fearless player, with superb defense, good offense, and withal a general. Noyes is my first choice for guard. For his running mate I select Kimbel, a man of the same type and qualities, but lacking the experience. My preference for the Columbia man over Kiefaber, is that he is speedier covering the court, a harder worker, and the defensive pivot of the team that had the least number of points scored against it during the season. I select Noyes as captain, "the best general."

Kiefaber

McCrudden

In his resumé of the season's play which appeared in the N. Y. Sun at the close of the season, C. E. Scharps, a well known authority on the game has given some very valuable and interesting data which I take the liberty of publishing herewith:

"Some interesting things can be shown by averages. For instance, the champion Pennsylvania team had the best attack, averaging $27\frac{7}{8}$ points a game in the league series. Columbia was second with $23\frac{3}{4}$ points, and Cornell third with $22\frac{5}{8}$ points. Yale made $21\frac{7}{8}$ points each game, and Princeton averaged $20\frac{3}{4}$ points. On defense the disparity is greater. Columbia lost $16\frac{1}{2}$ points on the average in the season. Yale's average points made against her were $21\frac{7}{8}$. Eighteen points were averaged against Pennsylvania. Cornell had tallied against her $27\frac{7}{8}$ points a game, while the opposing teams profited on the average $36\frac{5}{8}$ points by meeting Princeton. On that basis there is justification, even though the teams finished so that two were tied for second place and two for last place, for rating them in this order: Pennsylvania, Columbia, Yale, Cornell, Princeton.

Taking it by and large, Cornell had the best played schedule, although finishing badly in the rear. Two games were won by opponents by two points. Yale won one game, 18 to 16, and Princeton another, 35 to 33. The other Yale game was lost by three points, 20 to 17. Cornell made the second biggest total of points against Pennsylvania in the two games played, 42 altogether. Columbia made 28, Yale 30 and Princeton 44. Princeton and Cornell share the honor of having made the most points scored against Pennsylvania in a single game, under very different conditions, however. In the first game Pennsylvania played, Princeton made 27 points against 46 for Pennsylvania. But Cornell on the Philadelphia floor in the last game of the season made 27 points against 37 for Pennsylvania.

Cornell's series with Yale had the same result in total points as did Columbia's with Yale. In both cases Yale scored 5 points more than the rivals. However, Columbia won a game from Yale, which Cornell did not do. Taking into consideration all the games played, Cornell should have done better. Just what is the matter, it is hard to say. Perhaps some Cornellian can and will elucidate.

Columbia was the closest rival of Pennsylvania. The Quakers were 9 points better in the two games played. Pennsylvania scored 12 points more than Yale in two games, 19 more than Cornell and 29 more than Princeton. Columbia's general work was better than Yale's. Columbia had no trouble with either Cornell or Princeton."

Western Intercollegiate Basket Ball

BY JOSEPH E. RAYCROFT,

University of Chicago, President Western Intercollegiate Basket Ball Association.

The contest for the 1908 basket ball championship in the Western Intercollegiate Association was the most exciting in the history of the organization. The race was very close between Minnesota, Chicago and Wisconsin, and a further interest was engendered late in the season when it was known that there was a prospect of a series between the Eastern and Western college champions for the national title.

The season of 1907 closed with a triple tie among Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Chicago, which was not played off on account of the lateness of the season.

All the teams in the league suffered heavy losses by graduation and otherwise—but in most cases these were made good by new material that had been more or less well tried out.

Purdue was represented by the weakest team she has had in years—redeemed only by the brilliant work of Capt. Lewis, which made the team dangerous in every game it played.

Illinois had an abundance of well-tried material but was unable because of scholarship restrictions to use all of it until late in the season. As it was, the team was stronger than the year before, but was erratic, and did not realize its full possibilities. The work of Perrin and Dadant was especially good in the Minnesota games, both of which were won by Illinois, and in the second Wisconsin game, where Illinois was in the lead until well into the second half, when Wisconsin forged ahead and won out.

Minnesota seemed the great sufferer through loss of its veterans, and started the season with a light but very fast and clever team. Her defeat by Illinois on her own floor was a great surprise, particularly in view of the hard, close game she played against Chicago a few days later. She was defeated twice each by Illinois, Wisconsin, and Chicago. Cohaley and Deering played the strongest games on the team.

Wisconsin and Chicago were both represented by strong, fast teams that knew basket ball thoroughly and could play at top speed throughout the forty minutes.

There was not a notably weak place on either team, so that the games were hard fought and close from beginning to end. The first game of this series was played at Madison and was won by Wisconsin by a score of 29 to 17.

This was the only defeat that Chicago suffered at the hands of a college team during the season, and it was due in large part to recent changes in the line-up. The second game was played in Chicago a month later and was won by Chicago by a score of 24 to 19. This left Chicago and Wisconsin tied, so arrangements were made for a third and deciding game. It was decided by lot to play in Madison. Both teams were on edge and determined. The chances seemed to favor Wisconsin since she was playing on the home floor and before an audience of 1,500 Wisconsin sympathizers. Both teams were aggressive and eager, but played in the best of spirit. The score was always close, neither team being more than two points ahead at any time, and taking into consideration the fact that the game was played on Wisconsin floor the final score of 18 to 16 in favor of Chicago is a fair criterion of the relative merits of the two teams.

The features of the game were the splendid all-round playing of Schommer, the Chicago captain, the guarding of Page of Chicago, and Harper of Wisconsin, and the sportsmanlike spirit of the players.

After the last game in the Western schedule, arrangements were made for the Pennsylvania-Chicago series, the first game of which was played in Chicago before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a college basket ball game in the West. This game was won by Chicago by a score of 24 to 19. The second game was played in Philadelphia, and after the score was tied eight times was won by Chicago by a score of 16 to 15. The features of these two games were the dribbling of Keinath of Pennsylvania, the goal throwing and all-round play of Schommer of Chicago and the effective guarding of Page and Hoffman of Chicago, and the free throwing of Falls who continued to play after receiving a serious injury early in the second game.

The series determined a championship based on over fifty games played by the two teams, and was the first one played by Eastern and Western teams when they were in best season form.

The Western Intercollegiate Association has been a potent factor in promoting the best interests of the game by controlling schedules, holding meetings of coaches, players and officials for the study and discussion of rules, discouraging rough play, and in helping the league officials to keep the game clean.

As a result the standards of play and sportsmanship are high, and the games, while always earnestly contested, are notably free from intentional roughness and fouling.

The style of play which characterizes Western college teams differs in several respects from that of the Eastern teams. The Western game is not so close, there is not so much holding on the part of the guards, although their work is effective, as was shown by the fact that Fitzpatrick, the Pennsylvania crack forward, got only one basket from the field in the two games against Chicago, as compared with an average of over four in each game he played in the Eastern series. The Western teams depend more on passing than on dribbling.

As a result more men handle the ball and the game is more open, and in general faster. This style of game tends to develop more combination play, particularly when the ball is put in play from the jump, and less dependence is placed upon one man to bring the ball within striking distance of the goal than when the dribble is used as much as it is by the Eastern teams.

The work of the Western officials has been uniformly good, Rumson of Terre Haute, Davis of Wisconsin, Reynolds and Byrne of Chicago, did the bulk of the work, and gave complete satisfaction.

The outlook for a good season next year is very favorable. Student interest in the game has increased to the extent of placing it first among winter sports. It is likely that the Western league will be enlarged by the admission of the Universities of Indiana and Iowa and Northwestern University, where the game is growing in popularity and the teams becoming constantly stronger.

In selecting an All-Western, All-Eastern or All-America team a basket ball expert is merely expressing his own personal judgment of the playing merits of all the men who have come under his observation. He selects five men whom he believes would outplay any other five men that might be chosen to play against the team he names. The All-Western team selected by the writer has been chosen after a careful consideration of the playing ability of each man, his value to his team mates in team play and his individual record in scoring and in preventing his opponents from scoring.

The one man who stands in a class by himself as an all-around player is John Schommer, center on the Chicago team. Schommer is a player of vast experience and is without doubt the best man playing the position of center in the entire country. His record of thirty-nine field baskets scored in nine championship games (an average of over four a game) has never been equaled in the west. Almost as remarkable was his defensive work, as the centers who opposed him in nine games made but four baskets. The only other center of class was Stiehm of Wisconsin. Stiehm had a slight advantage over Schommer in the jump and was a splendid scorer for his team, as twenty-four field baskets to nine by opponents show. Schommer made 105 points for his team and played the greatest game of his career. He is the writer's selection for center and captain of the All-Western basket ball team.

Among the forwards there were three men who stood alone as great players—Lewis of Purdue, Swenholt of Wisconsin and Falls of Chicago. Lewis played a splendid game; captain of a team that did not win a league game and did not have a player of class outside of himself, he scored twenty-one field baskets in seven games and but nine scored by opponents. Both Falls and Swenholt, playing on star teams, participated in games in which they failed to score, but the best guards in the league failed to stop Lewis from slipping in one or more. He was the life of the Purdue team, playing the field, figuring at all times in the passing, and fighting hard for victory until the final whistle blew. Lewis of Purdue is first choice for All-Western forward.

The other forward position lies between Swenholt of Wisconsin and Falls of Chicago. Falls made a splendid record, scoring thirty-two field baskets to thirteen by opposing guards. He had a deadly eye for the basket, but was not particularly strong in playing the floor. On a team as weak as Purdue his playing would not have been so brilliant. Swenholt made twenty-five field goals and held his opponents in nine games to a lesser number than any other player in the league. His record of twenty-five to three is better than the record made by Falls of thirty-two to thirteen. He played the floor much better and was a good dribbler and passer. Swenholt of Wisconsin is the logical choice for the other All-Western forward.

There are several guards who must be considered for All-Western honors—Harper of Wisconsin, Page and Hoffman of Chicago, Dadant of Illinois and Cahaley of Minnesota. Page of Chicago, from his record—six field baskets to sixteen by opponents in nine games—does not appear especially strong on paper, but anyone who has seen his fast floor work, aggressive guarding and splendid ability to break up plays would class him as one of the best. In spite of the fact that he was scored against quite often he was the defensive strength of Chicago's team. His speed and strength made him a most difficult man to play against. In close games his work was especially noticeable. Page of Chicago is the writer's first choice for All-Western guard.

Though Cahaley of Minnesota and Dadant of Illinois were exceptionally good running guards, Harper of Wisconsin has a somewhat better claim for the other defensive position. Harper was one of the best dribblers in the league and had an accurate eye for the basket. His record of sixteen baskets to eleven scored against him in seven games is the best record made by any guard. In only one game did he fail to outplay his forward. In the second Chicago game, handicapped by illness that had permitted but three days of practice in a month, Falls of Chicago scored five baskets to his two. In the next game against Chicago Harper shut out Falls and scored two baskets, and in the first game Harper scored six baskets to two by Falls. In the series of three games he made ten field goals and Falls made seven. This is a remarkable record against one of the best forwards in the league. Harper of Wisconsin would make a splendid running mate for Page and is therefore placed on the All-Western as the other guard.

This team—Lewis and Swenholt, forwards; Schommer, center; Harper and Page, guards—would be difficult to beat.

There is always some difference of opinion as to the choice of players for an All-Western team. Following are the selections of several men prominent in the basket ball world:

Dr. Raycroft, Chicago.

Falls, Chicago, forward.
Rogers, Wisconsin, forward.
Schommer, Chicago, center.
Harper, Wisconsin, guard.

C. L. Jamieson, Purdue.

Lewis, Purdue, forward.
Falls, Chicago, forward.
Schommer, Chicago, center.
Lindemann, Wisconsin, guard.
Cahaley, Minnesota, guard.

Dr. Cook, Minnesota.

Swenholt, Wisconsin, forward.
Falls, Chicago, forward.
Schommer, Chicago, center.
Harper, Wisconsin, guard.
Stiehm, Wisconsin, guard.

In the list giving individual records for the season the men have been rated according to the number of field baskets made. The next to the last column has the field goals and the last column the baskets made by each man's opponent.

In the selection that follows, the writer has tried to pass judgment upon the players of the season in the same manner he would adopt in choosing the final make-up of a team for whose performance he must be responsible. In doing this he realizes that coaches and captains and side line "boosters" grow to have certain likes and dislikes that must be regarded with a measure of suspicion. The selection is, therefore, advanced solely as the writer's individual opinion of the men whom he would choose, if he had the contract of lining up a team for a contest with some other picked aggregation of players, where the final choice of men depended entirely upon his judgment. The selection has been more difficult than last season, due to the fact that the standard of basket ball among the Western colleges has reached a very high plane.

Of the forwards, Helmer Swenholt of Wisconsin is my first choice. This fair son of Norway is aggressive and rugged, and plays ball every minute of a game, and next to Falls of Chicago, Swenholt scored more field goals than any other forward in the league. His dribbling and passing were first class, and it was a pleasure to observe the grace and ease with which he shot field goals. Besides being an excellent passer and scorer for his team, he must be given credit for having held his opposing guards to only three baskets in nine regular games, which is a very good record.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY.

Falls of Chicago is close pressed by Lewis of Purdue University, but deserves the place because of his consistent playing and clever goal shooting. Were he the floor man that Lewis is, even Swenholt would have to play his best game to equal him. Falls must be given credit for being a very "slippery" forward and was always on hand to receive passes from his center and guards. He will develop into a forward hard to beat, if he will only work up a little more energy and snap, and play the floor. Lewis of Purdue, if supported by a better team, could make either Swenholt or Falls work to the limit in order to supersede him; and it was principally because his team was so clearly "out of the running" that his work was not more noticeable. At that, he played a fine game.

Another good forward, but who was not up to his form of last season, was "Biddy" Rogers of Wisconsin. He seemed to be unable to get into his best condition, and hadn't the snap of last year. In the early part of the season he had "a fine eye" for free throws, but even that knack diminished somewhat before the end of the season. Harris of Chicago, although inclined to be unnecessarily rough, was another good forward, as was also Deering of Minnesota.

Head and shoulders above all players of the league, we have John Schommer of Chicago University, whom I consider to be the best center in the country to-day. Endowed with natural basket ball instinct, and possessing a wealth of experience, Schommer seemed to find it a pleasure to play the game. He outplayed every man he played against this season, and his regular field baskets, from difficult angles and from the center of the floor, were a revelation to followers of the game. In the last Chicago-Wisconsin game, he seemed to be everywhere and was mixed up in nearly every play. Schommer starred in that game, despite the fact that there was pitted against him his old rival, Stiehm. In the Chicago-Pennsylvania games, Schommer's caliber was best displayed. At no time was he loafing; but, on the other hand, when a point was needed to tie the score or place Chicago in the lead, it was Schommer who pulled the game out of the fire. As was the case last year, Stiehm of

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

Wisconsin was the only other center of class; but every time he was pitted against Schommer there was a battle royal, which was well worth witnessing. While not as versatile a player as Schommer, still Stiehm must be given credit for being the best jumper in the league.

Page of Chicago was, on the defensive, the best guard of the year. He covered his man well and was a wonder in getting around the floor. At times, perhaps too often, he would leave his forward alone, but in breaking up passing he certainly was the best of the year. Well built and weighing in the neighborhood of 160 pounds, he could rough it with his roughest opponents. But with due credit to him, I must say that he was not unnecessarily rough. His chief ability, however, lay in his speed in getting around and breaking up plays.

As a team mate for Page, my choice is Lindemann of Wisconsin. Lindemann is a steady, strong player, never losing track of his man, a good passer, and was able to score baskets even though he seldom went nearer than the center of the floor. Without being noticeably rough, he usually "stuck" to his man, and when his team mate, Harper, was down the field and a long pass came to the opposing forwards, he was always on hand to block long enough to allow of Harper's return.

And in Harper we have another competent guard of the style of Page of Chicago, but not quite as good a player. One cannot readily compare his playing to that of Lindemann, as each plays an entirely different game, Lindemann being a defensive and Harper an offensive guard. I prefer a team with a good running guard of the style of Page and a defensive guard like Lindemann, much as I dislike to keep Harper off of my all-star team. Of the other guards in the league, Dadant of Illinois and Cahaley of Minnesota both played very creditable games.

Summing up, my team would be made up of Swenholt and Falls, forwards, Schommer, center, and Page and Lindemann, guards, with the following substitutes: Lewis, forward; Stiehm, center; and Harper, guard.

Review of the New England Collegiate Basket Ball Season

BY CARROLL A. WILSON,
Williams College.

The 1908 basket ball season in New England was in almost every way an exact counterpart of that of 1907. This year, as last, the race for the championship was early confined to the four leading colleges, and the early season of the strong Wesleyan team, just like that of Dartmouth in 1907, seemed to give it a clear path to the championship and obscured the good records of the other institutions. Again Williams came fast at the finish and began to be feared as a possible rival by the last two weeks; again its well-arranged schedule placed its hardest games at the team's point of greatest development; again these hardest games were victories, and again the season was concluded and the championship won by Williams in a game to describe which all the superlatives in the dictionary would be scarcely sufficient.

Whatever the rest of the country may do with the game, New England is supremely devoted to basket ball. Year after year, four colleges—Williams, Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Brown—have been closely matched, and year after year the interest in the game has grown. In 1908, with Amherst again unrepresented by a five—an apparently illogical opinion of a faculty athletic committee overriding undergraduate sentiment—and with Dartmouth out of the newly-formed league, basket ball gained ground and rivalry was never keener nor interest higher. At the start of the season Wesleyan's prospects were the best, with its quite able 1907 five intact; of the other colleges Dartmouth had lost Grebenstein and Lane, but had a strong nucleus for a fast team left in Captain Lang, Brady and Dingle. Williams, for the second successive year, found itself left with only one regular left from a championship five and this time was further handicapped by the fact that that regular was a sophomore and by the fact that the two men who became its crack forwards were not eligible until after February 10. Brown had Pryor left, but was in a similar position as regards ineligibles, so that it, too, did not show its real strength until late in the season. Thus, in these four the quality of basket ball was more even and slightly lower than in 1907, though the general average of the players was higher, largely because of a considerable improvement in play by the veterans. Of the other New England colleges, Holy Cross returned to the game with a really able team, Tufts was a little better than before, and the other institutions negligible. Harvard, prevented from playing many of the universities by restrictions on out-of-town games, was for this winter a New England college, and here, too, the New York colleges of Syracuse and Colgate have in the past obtained their ranking.

The start of the season was all Wesleyan. Their team of regulars got into condition quickly and surprised the basket ball world in December by defeating Columbia 20 to 18 in New York and then taking the Pennsylvania Eastern intercollegiate champions into camp at Philadelphia by a 25 to 17 score on December 14. Without belittling this Wesleyan victory in the slightest, for in no sport is the difficulty of winning in the enemy's country so great as in basket ball, it should be remembered that at the time of Pennsylvania's defeat neither Keinath nor Kiefaber had come out for practice, so that the team which Wesleyan defeated was by no means the team that later swept through the East in a whirlwind of victory. And Wesleyan did not stop there. In January Harvard, though at the lowest point of its playing, was soundly beaten at Cambridge, and Dartmouth, Trinity and Colgate had all been bested before January was out. So far Wesleyan's skill had had, with Dartmouth and Pennsylvania, the added element of good fortune, but in the Dartmouth game at Middletown—the same game in which last year came the injury to Chamberlin, which has since kept him from basket ball—good fortune turned to ill when Closson, their freshman forward, was hurt, blood poisoning followed, and he never recovered his early form. Since he was in good part the backbone of the Red and Black team work, his injury was a hard blow to the five, and one result of this weakened game was a defeat by Brown at Providence by 22 to 14 before the end of January.

Meanwhile none of the other teams had shown comparable strength. Williams had given the greatest promise, first by defeating all comers in its own rather cramped gymnasium with considerable ease, and then on a Western trip, with inexperienced men in the line-up, forcing Syracuse to five minutes of overtime before the Orange got a 25 to 21 victory. Dartmouth had likewise been successful on its own floor—easily worth fifteen points to the home team—but had a disastrous experience away from home, for even its more seasoned players seemed unable to get together without this advantage of locality, and on successive nights lost to Wesleyan by 22 to 14, saw Columbia triple and Pennsylvania double their score, and were even outscored by Holy Cross. The less said of Brown the better, for without its best players eligible, it even lost two games to Tufts, though it had a manifestly stronger five after January.

These other teams, however, began to look up in February. The Williams forwards got eligible, but had stage fright in their first big game and lost to Syracuse by 20 to 9, the worst defeat a Williams team ever received on its home floor. The team's real form was better shown when Harvard was defeated by a practical duplicate of the Wesleyan score and the Brown team, now in turn strengthened, journeyed to Williams to receive a 27 to 19 defeat. It was in this month, too, that Syracuse proved itself better than the New England teams. Syracuse had lost such players of class as Kirchgasser and Powell, but was still strong in the possession of Redlein and Dollard, who had played together for four years, and Riehl, who had been on the five for three. This team followed up its defeat of Williams with a game with Wesleyan at Middletown, where it led Wesleyan all the way through, only to lose the credit of what without much doubt would have been a victory by its physical director's inexcusable action in taking his team from the floor when it had a six-point lead well on in the second half. Although the team, with two men severely injured, was soundly beaten by Brown the next night at Providence in a game in which Brown showed better form than ever before or since, its defeat was apparently due to the combination of the injuries of the New York team and a playing-better-than-they-knew on the part of the Rhode Island five.

There were now three games to play to decide the championship. On February 26 Wesleyan defeated Williams at Middletown 33 to 22, though not without a hard fight, for the Williams team came fast enough in the second half to keep Wesleyan worried. Wesleyan, however, was still confident of winning the championship until Williams, now showing its best form, first defeated Holy Cross, and then by very fast play at Providence on March 4 simply gave Brown no chance to pass at all, and in a game where only Williams' missing of easy shot after easy shot kept the difference between the scores so low, defeated Brown 22 to 14. Meanwhile Wesleyan, now playing a little less strongly, lost to Dartmouth, and with the Massachusetts and the Connecticut college tied for first place in the league, all eyes were turned toward the Williams-Wesleyan game on March 9 at Williamstown, with which the season would end.

If ever a game could be played amid more excitement than this last game of the 1908 New England season, it would be hard to imagine the circumstances. Each team played its fastest and hardest and, unlike most games of this decisive sort, the players, instead of devoting themselves to constant close blocking to the detriment of the rest of the game, kept the passing speedy and accurate, the guarding sharp and clean, and the general pace of the game swift, and only in the overtime did the ten men, exhausted by their almost superhuman efforts, lose any of their speed and skill. Both teams seemed at the top of their game and to say that the contest was the greatest ever played in New England is not to say enough. Wesleyan got a big lead at the start, but Williams tied at the end of the first half, 13 to 13. Through the second half the teams were nip and tuck. Williams got the lead for the first time two minutes before the end of play, but 15 seconds before the whistle Captain White of Wesleyan tied the score again, 19 to 19. A five-minute overtime period followed, and this time, again with 15 seconds to play, it was Captain Templeton of Williams who shot the basket that tied the score, 23 to 23. Another five-minute period was necessary and finally, after 50 minutes of play, Lewis of Williams shot a basket from three-quarters the length of the floor that won the game and the championship for Williams by the narrow margin of 26 to 24.

The chief difficulty that presents itself in the ranking of New England teams is the comparative place of Williams and Wesleyan, and Williams, with its win of the championship, certainly deserves the higher ranking. Barring the championship games, however, Wesleyan, with its longer schedule, had somewhat the better record, as its defeats of Columbia and Pennsylvania show. Both teams defeated Harvard by practically the same margin, but Williams was able, by fast play when fast play was needed, to win from Brown on a strange floor, as Wesleyan could not, and to sum up all its energies at the decisive moment to defeat Wesleyan at Williamstown. In but one game of the year, and that with an inferior institution, was Williams outscored in the second half, and the team as a rule showed more fighting spirit than did Wesleyan. The teams exemplified quite different styles of play. Williams had but one star and depended entirely on the accuracy of its passing, the clean, close guarding which is always the characteristic of Williams basket ball, the ability which its training had given it to play at top speed for forty minutes or more, and the general perfection of its teamwork. Wesleyan, on the other hand, had four powerful individual players, and relied more on their individual ability, though by no means neglecting the other qualities. Williams won 10 games out of 14, Wesleyan 13 out of 18. With Closson at his best, Wesleyan was a distinctly better team than Williams, and the one vital thing that prevented its being a better team after his injury was the men's frequent inability at the critical moment to play the basket ball that was in them.

Of the other teams, Dartmouth was a trifle inferior to these two, as shown by its scores against Harvard, Holy Cross, Columbia and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and a general criticism of the Green would be that its team seemed to have more power and physique than the others, but appreciably less skill in the finer points of the game. Although Dartmouth and Brown did not meet this past winter, all score comparisons would show Dartmouth to be the better team. To untangle an accurate ranking for the other colleges from the labyrinth of comparative scores is an impossible task, and the guess of one man that has seen them all play is as good as another's. All that can be said is that none of the other colleges, Harvard included, can be ranked anywhere near to an equality with these four teams, and of the Western New York colleges, only Syracuse was in their class. The ranking of the teams, then, would be: Syracuse, Williams, Wesleyan, Dartmouth, Brown, Rochester, Holy Cross, Harvard, Tufts, Colgate, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Trinity.

In speaking of the somewhat lowered standard of New England basket ball this year, it should be remembered that 1908 was the first year since 1903 when, in the opinion of critics, some New England or New York team was not superior to the Eastern intercollegiate champion. This year, however, Pennsylvania was supreme. No New England team won consistently away from home, as did Pennsylvania. The meaning of the early-season Wesleyan victory has already been commented upon. A really accurate test of the merits of the teams was shown at the end of the season, when Pennsylvania, on Syracuse's own floor, won by 22 to 9—though the score scarcely does the Orange justice—from the team which had already beaten Williams twice, and led Wesleyan up to the time of the forfeiture of the game.

Much talk was heard at the close of last season about completely remodeling the game, but this finds no echo among the New England colleges. The officiating of the big games was uniformly first-class, and rough play was less prevalent than before. It should be noted, too, that in New England the teams which played the cleanest games—Williams and Wesleyan—ranked highest, and in general the teams that used the dribble most ranked lowest. The abolishment of the dribble would have driven nearly all rough play out of the New England league, and should be carried out; the benefits are not commensurate with the too violent contact and too easy opportunity for underhand work to which the body-checking necessary to stop that style of game lends itself. It was noticeable that Williams used the dribble scarcely at all, relying wholly on its passing game, while Wesleyan used it rarely to advance the ball, but only before shooting for goal. And as for the interest in the New England league, just so long as the colleges remain as evenly matched as they are at present, and just so long as seasons end as sensationally as have those of 1907 and 1908, there can be no doubt that, in this section at least, basket ball will continue to be the same one winter interest and hold the same undivided attention of the colleges.

The task of picking an All-New England team was this year particularly difficult; there were not the stars of former years—no forwards like Vose and Russ, no centers like Grebenstein, no guards like Cowell and Tower. On the other hand, there was a greater number of first-class players than ever before, so that on the four or five leading teams there was scarcely a man but that merited careful consideration. As a glance at the records of the players will show, this condition was particularly true of the forwards, where Pryor and Swaffield of Brown, Brady of Dartmouth, Sugarman of Syracuse, Closson and Soule of Wesleyan, and Lambie and Lewis of Williams had practically equal records. Of these men a somewhat close observation of the playing and the records would pick as one member in any selection for an All-New England team Brady of Dartmouth.

Francis Anthony Brady, Dartmouth '10, chosen last year as forward on the All-New England second team, developed considerably and consistently last season. No one has ever complained or seems to be ever likely to have cause to complain of his shooting ability from either floor or foul. In fact, he was about the most reliable foul shooter of the league, although no New England man tossed foul baskets with the unerring accuracy of Keinath of Pennsylvania. At handling the ball Brady is well above the average, and is a dependable man on the floor, though not so dependable as his speed should make him or as he should become through development. That he guarded less closely than last year, when his guarding game was exceptionally strong, was excusable, but that his play should become increasingly rough was not so.

COLGATE UNIVERSITY.

The only way to pick the other forward is by a process of elimination. Closson, the Wesleyan freshman, showed more latent basket ball ability than any man in the league, and was in fact the only freshman player of first rank in the colleges. At the start of the season he played cleanly, guarded closely, shot very accurately and was clever with the ball, but his injury early in the season worked havoc with his playing later. Lewis of Williams was at times as good as the best, but was erratic in a pinch and a poor guarder. Swaffield of Brown shot very well and guarded closely, but was a mediocre floor man. Sugarman of Syracuse was too active for all the guards he played, but his lack of physique and defiance of the simplest rules of training kept him from being able to last out a full game at top speed.

John Donald Pryor, Brown 1908, Brown's captain for the second year, All-New England center last year, deserves the other position at forward, though not without some misgivings. Pryor this year was the best scoring machine in the league, and no other player got within 10 baskets of his record. He guards only fairly closely, but knows where to pass the ball, dribbles sensationally, and is a hard man to stop from scoring. This year, too, after Brown got some players of quality eligible, he showed an ability to sacrifice himself to his team. The misgivings as to his rights to the All-New England five come from his old tendency to roughness, which this year was worse than ever. It is not that Pryor plays hard—foot ball men (and Pryor is twice Brown's captain) can be excused for that—but, especially if the game is going against him, his tactics become absolutely inexcusable. Pryor could have been a really great player had it not been for this feature of his game, and as it is, he is so good after his four years' experience that he is the choice for forward. For the second team the best men are Soule, Wesleyan's captain for next year, and Lambie of Williams. Soule shot with all his old skill, dodged prettily, developed his guarding game to the point where he was as effective against good guards as against mediocre men, and was little inferior to Pryor. Lambie was a marvelously good man on the floor through his speed and energy, absolutely invaluable in team play, and yet clever enough individually to outscore his guards nearly three to one, though a quite indifferent shot. Other forwards deserving mention, besides those given above, are Morrissey of Dartmouth, Kimbell of Tufts and Dowd of Holy Cross.

At center White of Wesleyan and Lang of Dartmouth, both captains, were far better than the rest, with Seidler of Brown the only other man near their ability. To choose between the two is difficult, but on the whole White was of more value to his team than Lang. At Middletown each shot 3 baskets; on the difficult Dartmouth floor, again, each shot 4. The improvement in White, hitherto never better than an average, steady player, was remarkable, while Lang has always been one of the best men in New England. White this year got basket ball instinct, was always in the team play, shot well, especially from scrimmages under the basket, and played cleanly. Nearly all this can be said of Lang as well, who seemed to have altered his game completely from one where roughness was its main characteristic and defect to one where it was in evidence but little more than could be expected in a player of his weight. Because White was more often in the right place than Lang, and particularly because of his greater steadying influence on the team of which he was captain, he deserves the position. He would also be the choice for captain of the five.

The choice of guard is rather easy, as two men stood well above the others. There was an unusual lack of good guard material this year; of the half dozen guards that could be called really first-class, two had in previous years played at forward. The same instinct that sends the best preparatory school men to the box in base ball and to the back field in foot ball seems to have driven them all to forward positions in basket ball, in spite of the fact that there is no player who can be of more value to a team than a whirlwind scoring guard. Of this class pre-eminently was Julian Stevens Hayward, Wesleyan '10, the best guard in the league. Hayward is another player who developed powerfully this year; his team play was unimpeachable, and Lambie was the only player who showed greater speed. There was no more valuable or dependable man on the Wesleyan five; in passing and advancing the ball he was easily their best man, and ranks as the best floor man in the league. His one fault was an occasional tendency to leave his own man uncovered while endeavoring to stop others of the opposing team from scoring, which, considering the quality of the rest of Wesleyan's guarding force, was not inexcusable.

Stuart John Templeton, Williams' '10, captain of the championship five, was so little, if any, inferior to Hayward, that it seems invidious to try to call one better than the other. The troubles of a sophomore captain are many, and when in addition that captain, trained to a forward's position, is forced to play at guard, the results are not apt to be successful. Templeton, however, overcame all these difficulties, outscored his opponents and with his close guarding gave the best forwards in the league more than they could handle. He passed with the skill that seems inbred in all Williams players, and at blocking opponents' passes and breaking up plays was among the best, although his unusual coolness always made him appear to be playing less hard than he really was. He also had that rare quality among guards, ability to play a perfectly clean game. His value to his team and reliability at the crisis are well shown by the fact that in the Williams-Wesleyan game at Williams-town it was he who shot Williams' two baskets in the first overtime period.

Other guards of quality were, notably, the two Syracuse men, Redlein and Captain Dollard. Redlein is far more of a forward than a guard, and played at forward in some few games of the season, where he showed more skill than either Soule or Lambie. Though much of the effectiveness of his scoring game was lost in his new position, no position could deprive him of his all-round ability. Dollard, like Redlein, was playing his fourth year, and was thoroughly dependable, though in his case without any brilliant flashes. Dollard, too, was perhaps the cleanest player among the teams. Other good guards were Dingle of Dartmouth, Johnston of Williams, Regnier of Brown, Captain Coster of Colgate, who was prevented by injuries from coming east with his five, and Captain Brooks of Harvard, the one first-class player in an otherwise worse than mediocre team.

Intercollegiate Basket Ball in the South Atlantic States

BY WALTER C. FOSTER,
University of Pennsylvania.

The season of 1907-1908 brought forth the first real trial of basket ball as a sport among the colleges of the South Atlantic States. Several teams had played short schedules the year before, but the season past showed better organization, a fuller complement of teams and increased enthusiasm among the followers of the game, with the result that basket ball sprang full-grown into popularity as a winter sport.

The game, last winter, developed several very creditable teams and a number of individual players who would rank well with the best teams of the North and West. If it were possible, under the unsatisfactory arrangement of schedules, to pick a championship five, Georgetown's claim to first place could hardly be denied. The Blue and Gray team won handily from every Southern college team played and, during the entire season, lost but two games, one to the champion Pennsylvania five and the other to Fordham in New York, which team Georgetown had already defeated on her own floor. Unfortunately a game between Georgetown and the Naval Academy was not possible, due to the handicap of stringent faculty regulations, under which the latter team labored, allowing them only a very short schedule. The Middies could probably claim a second place to Georgetown on their victories over several Southern colleges and the excellent showing they made against the fast teams representing Columbia and Pennsylvania. The University of Virginia, playing a second season, presented a fairly fast team, which, properly coached, should have brought a great many victories to the Charlottesville school. The two games dropped to Georgetown can be readily excused, as the stronger team won out in every department of the game. Washington and Lee showed form at times, the eleventh hour victory over Virginia constituting her greatest triumph. George Washington's team was a distinct disappointment, as her record shows, the performance of one or two men being the only redeeming features of a disastrous season. William and Mary College, playing a hard schedule against stronger teams, shows few victories to her credit and the fast, heavy team of the Baltimore Medical College was forced to abandon its later games because of some faculty ruling, although the early-season contests showed this team to have plenty of class.

Altogether, the season of 1907-1908 was very creditable and seemed to show that the game is permanently established among the colleges of the South Atlantic States. Efficient coaches are badly needed, as are a few capable officials, well posted as to the Intercollegiate rules. However, these are difficulties which can be remedied and the game should show progress now, with each succeeding year.

The selection of a representative sectional team is at no time an easy task and the writer chooses this All-Southern team and substitutes with the fear that some sterling player, from a large field of good men, may have been denied a place which he justly deserves. However, in his judgment, the following teams are the best the Southern colleges can produce:

POSITION.	FIRST TEAM.	SECOND TEAM.
Forward.....	Wilson, Navy.	Glenn, Virginia.
Forward.....	Crogan, Georgetown.	Ducey, Navy.
Center.....	F. Rice, Georgetown.	Scott, Virginia.
Guard.....	Vanderhoof, Navy.	Rutherford, Geo. Washington.
Guard.....	G. Colliflower, Georgetown.	W. Rice, Georgetown.

The game developed a good many fast and reliable forwards. Wilson, a plebe at the Naval Academy, showed such excellent form in the games he played that I have no choice but to make him an All-Southern selection. He was unusually fast, a splendid dribbler and good shot. I make Crogan of Georgetown his running mate, for his ability to locate the basket from the field and on free throws. For the same reason, Glenn, captain of the University of Virginia team, is placed on the substitute five. With Ducey, the reliable Navy forward, playing the other position, this team should present a splendid offense. Jim Colliflower of Georgetown, Cochrane of Virginia and Covell of George Washington must also be mentioned, because of their excellent performances throughout the season.

Fred Rice of Georgetown stands out far above the other centers of the Southern colleges. He had no peer among them, and is, easily, the first choice for the position. Scott of Virginia must be made the substitute, for, while not classing with Rice, he still played his position creditably throughout the season, out-playing all his opponents except the Georgetown star. Bunkley of Annapolis and Osbourne of Washington and Lee also deserve mention.

George Colliflower is, readily, the first choice among the defense men. In fact, in the writer's estimation, he is the most valuable player developed in the South. While heavy and powerful, he is still unusually fast, is a good dribbler and for a guard a remarkably fine shot. Vanderhoof, the Navy captain, is an admirable running mate for Colliflower. The former is a tireless worker, playing his man hard and capable of shooting goals when opportunities arise. Rutherford, of George Washington, was a clever man playing on a poor team, his work being the one redeeming feature of his team's season. He was played at forward for a part of the season, but his real place is at guard. He is a splendid dribbler, is fast and strong and a fair shot. Bill Rice, of Georgetown, deserves the other place. His showing in the later season contests was excellent, and, while perhaps a trifle too heavy, he has few equals among the guards as a purely defensive player. Capt. Downey of Georgetown, a sterling player at his best, was never in proper condition to do himself justice, yet is still deserving of mention, as are Wills of the Navy, Ashby of Virginia, Streit of Washington and Lee, and Capt. Johnson of George Washington.

Officials

Undoubtedly many troubles in basket ball can be traced to poor work of the officials. The ideal game is fast and clean, but blundering officials may make the play both slow and rough.

It is with the idea of developing competent officials the country over, that prompted the Collegiate Rules Committee to form a Central Board of Officials. This Board, while its power, being self-constituted, is binding on none, will endeavor to develop a directory of thoroughly competent officials for the whole country, so that much of the trouble of former years in the matter of securing good basket ball officials will be done away with.

Progress must necessarily be slow, as good officials can develop only with experience, but the Rules Committee believes that a thoroughly competent staff of men will ultimately be available.

The Rules Committee takes this opportunity to ask the cooperation of all managers, players and officials. By united action from all sides this difficult problem can be handled.

The Rules Committee has endeavored to make the playing rules as clear as possible, but there are certain contingencies bound to arise in which the judgment of the officials must come into play. It is just such cases that make the position of Referee or Umpire hard to fill. Judgment, speed, decision and discernment can all be cultivated by officials—sincerity, the fifth requisite, must be innate, for without sincerity of purpose from the start no official can succeed.

The Central Board of Officials is composed of the following members:

GEORGE C. APPELL, care of Appell & McKennon, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.—Representing the New England District.

DR. JOSEPH E. RAYCROFT, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.—Representing the Western Conference.

ISADORE ANDERSON, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo.—Representing the Southwestern Conference.

E. D. ANGELL, Oregon State Agricultural College.—Representing the Northwest.

RALPH MORGAN, Chairman, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pa.—Representing the East, outside of New England.

This Committee solicits communication with all managers and officials in the respective districts.

Collegiate Basket Ball Rules

RULE I.

GROUNDS.

SECTION 1. The playing surface shall be a Court. rectangular Court free from obstructions, the maximum dimensions of which shall be 90 feet in length by 55 feet in width, and the minimum dimensions of which shall be 70 feet in length by 35 feet in width.

SEC. 2. The court shall be marked by well-defined lines, which shall be at every point at least 3 feet from any obstruction. The lines on the short sides of the court shall be termed the End Lines, those on the long sides, the Side Lines. (See diagram on opposite page.) Boundary lines. Distance from obstructions.

SEC. 3. A circle with a radius of 2 feet shall be drawn in the center of the court. This shall be termed the Center Circle. (See diagram on opposite page.) Center circle.

SEC. 4. Lines 24 inches in length, the middle points of which are on the straight line connecting the middle points of the end lines, shall be drawn in the court parallel to, and at a distance of 15 feet from the end lines. These lines shall be termed the Foul Lines. (See diagram on opposite page.) Foul lines.

SEC. 5. Lines shall be drawn in the court, Foul lanes. perpendicular to the end lines and at a distance of 3 feet on either side of the middle of the end lines; these lines shall terminate when intersected by arcs of circles drawn with a 6 foot radius, whose centers are the centers of the foul lines. The space adjoining the end lines within the perpendiculars and the circles shall be termed the Foul Lanes. (See diagram on page 106.)

Alterations in rules.

SEC. 6. By mutual agreement of the captains, Section 1 and the distance of the boundaries from obstructions named in Section 2, may be changed.

RULE 2.

Ball:
Material, size,
weight.

SECTION 1. The *Ball shall be round; it shall be made of a rubber bladder covered with a leather case; it shall be not less than 30 nor more than 32 inches in circumference. It shall weigh not less than 18 nor more than 20 ounces.

RULE 3.

Baskets:
Material, size,
position.

SECTION 1. The Baskets† shall be nets of cord, suspended from metal rings 18 inches in diameter (inside). The Rings shall be rigidly attached to Wooden Backgrounds, whose dimensions shall be 6 feet horizontally, 4 feet vertically, and 3-4 of an inch in thickness. This

Background:
Dimensions,
position.

* The Spalding Official Basket Ball, No. M, is the official ball and must be used in all match games.

† The Spalding Official Basket, No. 80, is the official basket and must be used in all match games.

background shall be painted white. The position of the backgrounds shall be perpendicular to the side lines; and their centers shall lie in the perpendiculars erected at the middle points of the end lines. The rings shall so lie in a horizontal plane, 10 feet from the floor, that the nearest point of the inside edge shall be 6 inches from the background; they shall be attached to the background at a point 1 foot from the bottom and 3 feet from either side, by a perpendicular arm, which, if extended, would pass through the center of the rings.

SEC. 2. There must be no projections beyond the sides nor above the upper edge of the baskets.

RULE 4.

SECTION 1. Each Team shall consist of 5 Teams.
men.

SEC. 2. A Substitute may at any time take Substitute.
the place of a player, but a player upon leaving the game shall not re-enter it.

RULE 5.

SECTION 1. The Officials. shall be a Referee, an Umpire, two Scorers and two Time-keepers.

NOTE.—The duties of officials are stated in Rules 25, 26, 27.

NOTE.—Upon agreement between the two teams the umpire may be dispensed with, and his duty shall be performed by the referee.

DEFINITION OF TERMS

RULE 6.

Out of Bounds—

Player out of bounds. SECTION 1. A Player is Out of Bounds when any part of his body shall touch the floor outside of the boundary line.

Ball out of bounds. SEC. 2. The Ball is Out of Bounds when any part of it touches the floor out of bounds, or when it is in possession of a player who is out of bounds.

Carrying ball out of bounds. SEC. 3. When a player causes the ball to go out of bounds and regains possession of it out of bounds, he shall be considered as carrying the ball out of bounds.

NOTE.—A player who is pushed out of bounds by one of the opposing side, shall not be considered as carrying the ball out of bounds.

Passing ball out of bounds. SEC. 4. When a player in the court causes the ball to go out of bounds to one of his own side who is out of bounds when the impetus is given, he shall be considered as passing the ball out of bounds.

EXCEPTION.—This rule shall not apply when a try is made for a goal.

RULE 7.

Held ball. SECTION 1. When the ball is held by two players, so that in the judgment of the referee the game is delayed, it shall be called a Held Ball.

RULE 8.

SECTION 1. If a player shall, while having the ball in his possession, advance in any direction, he shall be considered as running with the ball. Running with the ball.

NOTE.—Due allowance is to be made for a player catching the ball while running, provided he stops as soon as possible. A player with the ball in his possession who changes his position without appreciably advancing the ball in any direction, shall not be considered as running with the ball; neither shall a player pushed by one of the opposing side be considered as running with the ball.

RULE 9.

SECTION 1. A Dribble is a play in which a player after giving impetus to the ball by throwing, batting, bouncing or rolling, touches it again with one or both hands before it has been touched by another player. Dribbling.

NOTE.—Successive tries for goals shall not be considered dribbling.

RULE 10.

SECTION 1. Any actual holding of an opponent with the hands or impeding his progress in any manner more than momentarily, shall be considered holding. Holding.

NOTE.—Any interference with a player jumping for a thrown-up ball shall be construed as holding.

RULE 11.

Blocking. SECTION I. The interference by use of hands or arms with the progress of a player who has not the ball, shall be termed Blocking.

RULE 12.

Unnecessary roughness. SECTION I. Any flagrant act of violence, whether mentioned specifically in the rules or not, shall be termed unnecessary roughness.

RULE 13.

Goal. SECTION I. A Goal is made when the ball enters and remains in the basket until after the referee's decision.

NOTE.—A goal thrown shall count for the team into whose basket the ball was thrown, even though it was done by mistake.

RULE 14.

Free trial for goal. SECTION I. When a side is allowed a free trial for goal, one player of that side shall have the privilege of a trial for goal from a position upon or directly back of the foul line, without interference from the opposing side.

NOTE.—This trial must be made under the control of the referee immediately after the decision.

RULE 15.

Foul. SECTION I. A foul is a violation of a rule for which a free trial for goal is allowed.

RULE 16.

The Ball is Dead, when—

SECTION 1. The referee's whistle blows, Dead ball. calling, "time out."

SEC. 2. An official's whistle blows, calling a foul.

SEC. 3. The referee's whistle blows, calling held ball.

SEC. 4. The timekeepers' gong or pistol sounds at the expiration of each period.

EXPLANATION.—The rules committee desires to state that the reason for the substitution of a gong or a pistol for the timekeeper's whistle is because, in the excitement of a game and the noise accompanying it, the timekeeper's whistle could not be plainly heard by the referee, and consequently it was possible for a goal to be made after the actual playing-time had elapsed. This rule provides that the ball shall be dead immediately upon the sound of the gong or pistol, even if the ball is in the air at the time.

SEC. 5. After a goal is made.

SEC. 6. After each free trial for a goal when a foul has been called on both teams simultaneously.

SEC. 7. After going out of bounds, or while in the air, it touches one of the spectators before it is touched by a player.

SEC. 8. It is touched by a player out of bounds.

NOTE.—If the ball goes out of bounds and returns to the court without being touched by a player, it is considered in play.

SEC. 9. It enters a gallery or lodges in any support of the baskets.

EXCEPTION.—If the ball is in the air at the time a whistle is blown, calling a foul, or calling time out, the ball shall not be dead until the goal has been made or the ball has touched a player or the floor. However, if a foul is called on the side throwing for the goal, the ball shall be dead at the time the foul is committed and the goal, if made, shall not count.

NOTE.—Should the ball strike an official, it is not regarded as dead, but play continues exactly as if the ball had not touched him.

THE GAME.

RULE 17.

- SECTION 1. The Game shall consist of two halves of 20 minutes each, with a rest of ten minutes between the halves. This is the time of actual play. These times may be changed by mutual agreement of the captains.
- Length of game.
Time of halves.
Intermission.
Time changed by mutual agreement.
- SEC. 2. In case the score is tied at the end of the second half, an extra period of five minutes, or as many periods of five minutes as may be necessary to determine the winning team, shall be played without change of goals or without intermission.
- Tie game.

RULE 18.

SECTION 1. The visiting team shall have the choice of baskets in the first half. At the beginning of the second half the teams shall take opposite goals from those assumed at the beginning of the first half.

Choice of baskets.

RULE 19.

SECTION 1. Time shall be taken out whenever ordered by the referee. He shall take out time at the request of each captain, on account of injury or accident, not more than three times for each team during one half.

Time taken out.

NOTE.—Over-time play shall be considered as a continuation of the second half.

SEC. 2. Play must be resumed in two minutes when time has been taken out by the request of either captain.

SEC. 3. Time shall be taken out whenever a foul is called on each team simultaneously.

RULE 20.

SECTION 1. At the opening of the game, at the beginning of the second half, and when the ball is put in play when dead as in Rule 16, Sections 5, 7, 9, and after the last free trial for goal has been made in Section 6, the center men shall stand facing their own goal, with both feet in the center circle, and the referee shall toss the ball up in a plane at right angles

Putting ball in play from center circle.

Both feet in center circle.

Height ball is thrown by referee.

to the side lines and to a greater height than either of the center men can jump, and so that it will drop between them.

NOTE.—By "own goal" shall be construed the basket into which a side is throwing.

Centers must touch the ball first.

SEC. 2. When the referee puts the ball in play in the center, he shall blow his whistle when the ball reaches its highest point, after which it must be first touched by either or both of the center men. The referee shall put the ball in play again in the same manner when this rule is violated.

Centers allowed to catch ball.

NOTE.—This rule does not prohibit the centers from catching the ball.

RULE 21.

Ball thrown or batted.

SECTION 1. The ball may be thrown or batted in any direction with one or both hands.

Ball belongs to player
first touching it.

SEC. 2. When the ball is dead as in Rule 16, Section 8, the player first touching it shall put it in play by passing, bouncing or rolling it into the court in any direction, from any spot (outside of bounds) on a line drawn at right angles to the boundary line at the spot where the ball crossed it.

How ball is put in play from out of bounds.

NOTE.—Where the space out of bounds is limited for any reason, the referee shall place the opponent of the player who has the ball, in the court at least three feet from the boundary line. No player on either side shall be nearer than this to the player out of bounds.

The referee and two captains should agree upon the enforcement of this ground rule before the game.

SEC. 3. If the referee is unable to determine to which side the ball belongs, he shall put it in play at the point in the court where it crossed the boundary line, by throwing it up between the two players of opposite sides nearest to it, in the same manner as in Rule 20, Section 1.

How ball is put in play when Referee is unable to decide to whom it belongs.

SEC. 4. If the ball is out of bounds, when dead as in Rule 16, Section 1, it shall be put in play in the same manner as in Rule 21, Section 2.

How ball is put in play, if out of bounds, when time is called.

SEC. 5. If the ball is in bounds, when dead as in Rule 16, Section 1, it shall be put in play by the referee tossing it up between the two players of opposite sides nearest to it, at the spot where it was when time was called, in the same manner as in Rule 20, Section 1.

How ball is put in play, if in bounds, when time is called.

SEC. 6. When the ball is dead as in Rule 16, Section 2, if the free trial for goal is missed, the ball shall be in play.

Ball in play after a free trial for goal is missed.

SEC. 7. When the ball is dead as in Rule 16, Section 3, it shall be put in play at the spot where it was declared dead, by throwing it up between the two players in the same manner as in Rule 20, Section 1.

RULE 22.

A Player Shall Not—

SECTION 1.—Run with the ball.

SEC. 2. Kick the ball.

SEC. 3. Strike the ball with the fists.

SEC. 4. Hold, block, push or trip an opponent.

SEC. 5. Use unnecessary roughness.

SEC. 6. Intentionally delay the game.

SEC. 7. Pass the ball to another player while making a free trial for goal, but must make an honest attempt to cage it.

SEC. 8. Enter a scrimmage in which two men of opposite sides are playing the ball.

SEC. 9. Interfere with the ball or basket while the ball is on the edge of the basket.

SEC. 10. After coming to a stop when dribbling, dribble again, until the ball has entered the possession of another player. A dribble to be legal must be continuous.

SEC. 11. Throw for basket when the ball is dead.

SEC. 12. While making a free trial for goal, cross the foul line until the ball has entered or missed the basket.

SEC. 13. Carry or pass the ball out of bounds.

SEC. 14. Carry the ball into the court from out of bounds.

SEC. 15. Touch the ball after putting it in play from out of bounds, until it has been touched by another player.

SEC. 16. Hold the ball more than five seconds out of bounds before putting it in play.

SEC. 17. Enter the foul lane while a free trial for goal is being made, or interfere with the ball until it has made or missed the basket.

SEC. 18. Interfere with a player who is returning the ball into the court from out of bounds; that is, no part of his person shall be outside of the court, and the ball shall not be touched until it has crossed the line.

NOTE.—See note to Rule 21, Section 2.

SEC. 19. Intentionally push a player who is in the act of shooting for the basket.

PENALTIES

RULE 23.

SECTION 1. A free trial for goal shall be allowed the opposing team for violation of Rule 22, Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10. When free trial for goal is allowed.

SEC. 2. For violation of Rule 22, Sections 11, 12, if a goal is made it shall not count, and, in the case of Section 12, if missed, the ball is in play. Goal made shall not count.

SEC. 3. For violation of Rule 22, Sections 13, 14, 15, 16, the ball shall go to the opposing side out of bounds. Ball given to opposing side out of bounds.

Penalty for entering foul lane while free trial for goal is being made.

SEC. 4. For violation of Rule 22, Section 17, by a player of the side throwing for goal, the goal if made shall not count, and if missed, the ball shall be in play. If violated by a player of the opposing side, the goal if made shall count, and if not made, another free trial shall be allowed.

Delaying the game.

SEC. 5. For repeated violation of Rule 22, Section 18, the player shall be considered as delaying the game.

Disqualification.

SEC. 6. For violation of Rule 22, Sections 4 and 5, the Referee shall have power to disqualify.

Disqualification.

SEC. 7. For violation of Rule 22, Section 19, the Referee shall disqualify.

SEC. 8. A player making five fouls in a game shall be disqualified by the referee for the remainder of the game.

Forfeited game.

SEC. 9. Any team refusing to play after receiving instructions to do so from the referee shall forfeit the game.

NOTE.—The score of a forfeit game shall be 2—0.

RULE 24.

SCORING.

Two points for field goal.
One point for a goal from free trial.

SECTION 1. A goal made from the field shall count 2 points, a goal made from a free trial shall count 1 point.

Final score.

SEC. 2. A game shall be decided by the winning of the most points in the playing time.

RULE 25.

DUTIES OF OFFICIALS.

SECTION 1. The referee shall put the ball in play, decide when the ball is in play, when the ball is dead, to whom it belongs, when a goal has been made, and shall impose penalties for all violations of the rules made by a player having the ball in his possession, and his opponent. He shall also impose a penalty for violation of Rule 22, Section 8.

Referee imposes penalties.

SEC. 2. The umpire shall impose penalties upon players not under the jurisdiction of the referee.

Umpire imposes penalties.

SEC. 3. The officials shall blow a whistle whenever necessary to make a decision and the referee shall sound his whenever he puts the ball in play.

When Referee blows whistle.

NOTE.—It is desirable for the referee and the umpire to have different sounding whistles.

SEC. 4. The referee shall also decide any question which may arise between the two scorers or the two timekeepers. His decisions shall be final.

Referee decides questions arising between Scorers or Timekeepers.

SEC. 5. When an official's whistle calling a foul sounds simultaneously with the timekeeper's gong, the official's whistle shall take precedence.

Official's whistle takes precedence.

SEC. 6. The referee shall have power to make decisions for violation of rules committed either within or without the boundary lines; also at any moment from the beginning of play to the call of time at the end of a half or the game. This includes the periods when the game may be momentarily stopped for any reason. Fouls may be called on any number of players at the same time.

SEC. 7. When notified by the scorer, the referee shall disqualify a player who has made five fouls.

RULE 26.

Scorers.
Official record.

SECTION I. The scorers shall record the goals made and the fouls committed, and shall notify the referee immediately when the fifth foul has been called on any player, and their records shall constitute the official score of the game. They shall compare their scores after each goal and any discrepancy shall be at once referred to the referee. For failure to notify the referee at once, the referee shall decide in favor of the larger score.

Scorers compare records.

NOTE.—It is suggested that games be scored according to the details in the Spalding Official Collegiate Score Book.

RULE 27.

Timers.
Timers note when game starts.
Take out time.

SECTION I. The Timekeepers shall note when the game starts and shall deduct time consumed by stoppages during the game on order of the referee, and shall sound a gong or pistol at the expiration of the actual play-

No. 1.

A position in guarding which is not considered holding. Note that the arms are straight.

No. 2.

Another illustration of proper guarding. Although the arm is touching the opponent, it is straight, and is not considered holding.

No. 3.

An example of holding in an attempt to guard. Note that the arm in this picture is curved.

No. 4.

One of the worst forms of holding. Preventing an opponent from breaking away.

No. 5.

Another bad form of holding. This and the method illustrated in the previous picture must be carefully watched by the official as it is very hard to detect.

No. 6.

Another example of holding. It is usually done so quickly that it is not seen unless carefully watched. It is a very important foul, for it will always deflect a throw.

No. 7.

A form of holding used by a center to prevent his opponent from jumping for the ball.

No. 8.

A form of pushing by a center to prevent his opponent from jumping for the ball.

No. 9.

Pushing an opponent about to throw for goal. Particular attention must be paid to this offense, the penalty for which is disqualification.

No. 10.

This illustrates a common practice of pushing an opponent upon a break to receive a pass, watched as it prevents the man pushed from guarding his opponent.

This must be carefully

No. 11.

Another illegal form of breaking away from an opponent to receive a pass.
The man on the left is pulling his opponent by him and will receive a clear pass.

No. 12.

This illustrates blocking. It is not always done in such an apparent manner and must be closely watched.

What to Use for Basket Ball

The conditions in the basket ball rules relating to the ball are extremely rigid. Conforming to these rules strictly, the Spalding ball is a most difficult one to manufacture, because to make the ball uniform in size and weight, each piece of leather must be of the best, and to prevent irregularity in shape only the most experienced and careful workmen can be entrusted with the sewing of the official ball. The Spalding No. M is the official ball stipulated in the rules and must be used in all match games. The cover is made in four sections, with capless ends, and of the finest and most carefully selected pebble grain English leather. Spalding takes the entire output of this superior grade of leather from the English tanners and uses the choicest parts of each hide for the official No. M ball. The bladder is specially made of extra quality Para rubber. The price of the official ball is $6.00. Each ball is packed complete in a sealed box and guaranteed perfect in every detail. The "Spalding Special No. E" is made of fine pebble grain leather and with a bladder of the purest Para rubber, guaranteed. The price of the No. E is $4.00. A very good ball for the money is the "Practice No. 18," a regulation size ball, with a good quality leather cover, which costs $2.50. A very useful article for carrying an inflated ball is a Spalding canvas cover; it costs $1.00. Extra bladders for the official No. M ball cost $1.25 each, for the Nos. E and 18 balls, 75 cents each.

A Basket Ball Player fully equipped with Spalding complete Basket Ball Suit and V-neck Sweater Before Game is Called.

The official goals specified in the rules are the Spalding No. 80. A unique feature of their construction is that the bottom may be left open if desired, for practice games, so that the ball may readily drop through, and be readily closed by a draw-string for match games. The official goals cost $4.00 per pair. No annoying stoppages of the game will occur when these goals are used. The Spalding practice goals, with japanned iron rings and brackets, complete with net, cost $3.00 per pair.

When the game is played outdoors, it is necessary to have outdoor goals, which consist of a pair of 4 x 6-inch chestnut posts, to which is attached a backstop made of tongue-and-groove chestnut, and furnished complete with a pair of No. 80 official basket ball goals. The woodwork is given two coats of durable outdoor paint, to preserve the wood. The price of a pair of outdoor goals is $40.00.

Sometimes it is not convenient to have backstops put in when arranging a place indoors for basket ball and generally it is next to impossible to find someone who knows how to make them so they will be just right. Spalding backstops are made of seven-eighth inch hardwood, matched and reinforced on the back with three cleats of 2 x 2½-inch material, so that it is only necessary to attach them to the wall by bolting through the cleats, which extend a little above and below the backstops. These backstops cost $20.00 per pair.

For the expert player the Spalding "Expert" shoe is believed to be the most perfect style ever produced. It has a pure gum thick rubber sole, with special diamond point surface and reinforced edges, to prevent sole spreading, and will enable a player to keep his footing on the most slippery floor. It is made in the highest style of workmanship, of best quality black calf, and laces extremely far down. Owing to the fact, however, that the soles are of pure gum with no compound to harden them, Spalding's do not guarantee them. The price of the No. BBR, as it is known, is $8.00 per pair.

The Spalding No. AB shoe is a new style this year. The red rubber suction soles are one-sixteenth of an inch thicker than any that they have made before and the quality is improved. One of the principal advantages of this style of shoe is that it enables the player to obtain a good firm purchase on the floor. It is made of superior quality light drab chrome tan leather and laces extremely far down. No. AB costs $5.00 per pair.

An old favorite is the Spalding No. BB. The uppers are of a good quality black leather and it has suction soles of a good quality of red rubber. The price is $3.50 per pair.

In canvas top basket ball shoes the Spalding No. HH is a very durable and satisfactory shoe. The sole is twice as thick as on the best rubber sole gymnasium shoe, and is made of best quality white rubber. It costs $2.00 per pair. When made in low-cut style, the price is $1.75.

Various styles of pants are used in basket ball. The unpadded styles, in white or black sateen, loose fitting, fly front and lace back, cost 50 cents, 75 cents, $1.00 and $1.25 per pair, and silk ribbon stripes down the sides, 25 cents per pair extra. A pair of good quality gray or white flannel, padded lightly on the hips, cost $1.75; in heavy brown or white canvas, with light padding, $1.00; in white silesia, with light padding on hips, 75 cents. Full knee length, white silesia pants, padded, cost $1.00, and the same, not padded, 75 cents. All of these are very loose fitting. Knee tights cost 50 cents in cotton, $1.50 in cut worsted, and $3.00 in best worsted.

Sleeveless shirts for basket ball cost 50 cents, $1.50 and $3.00, according to quality of material—sanitary cotton, cut worsted or best worsted, full fashioned.

In jerseys there is a great variety from which to make a selection. The very best Spalding jersey costs $4.00, from which price they grade to as low as $1.00, the latter being of good quality cotton. Sweaters are a necessary article of every basket ball player's outfit and it is worth while getting a good one. The very best sweater made, same quality as used by all the large colleges, is the Spalding No. AA, which costs $8.00 each, and is certainly the finest specimen made, being exceedingly heavy. Lighter sweaters in the same grade cost $6.00 and $5.00, according to weight. The Spalding shaker sweater is a very good sweater for the money—$3.50. In jacket sweaters the Spalding

No. VG, made of best quality worsted, with pearl buttons, in gray, white and dark brown mixture only, costs $6.00. No. DJ is made in gray, white and sage gray only, and costs $5.00. No. 3J, in standard weight wool, in gray or white only, costs $4.50. A vest collar sweater, in best quality worsted, in gray or white only, with extreme open or low neck, costs $5.50. For boys a jacket sweater is made in wool, in gray only, for $3.00.

No player should play without a supporter. The No. 5 "Bike" Supporter has been conceded by all as the only jockey strap suspensory. It is clean, comfortable and porous and is made in three sizes. The price is 75 cents. Two other well-known suspensories are the Spalding, which sells from 25 cents to $1.25, according to material used, and the Old Point Comfort, at $1.00 to $1.50, depending also on material.

Bandages for the knee cap or ankle are often necessary. Made in cotton thread, they cost $1.50; in silk thread, $2.00. The Hackey Ankle Supporter relieves pain immediately and cures a sprain in a remarkably short time. Made of best quality soft tanned leather, they cost $1.00; in good quality sheepskin, 50 cents, and in black duck, 25 cents.

Every club manager should keep a score book, as he can then tell at a glance how many fouls and goals each man made, enabling him to use it as a guide when coaching his team. The Spalding Score Book, paper cover, for ten games, costs 10 cents, and one with a cloth cover, for twenty-five games, 25 cents.

For a complete description and pictures and prices of everything for basket ball send for Spalding's new catalogue of Athletic Goods, which will be sent free anywhere upon request to any Spalding store, a list of which can be found on the inside front cover of this book.

Spalding "Highest Quality" Sweaters

Colors: White, Navy Blue, Black, Gray, Maroon and Cardinal. Other colors to order. Prices on application. All made with 9-inch collars; sizes, 28 to 44 inches.

We allow four inches for stretch in all our sweaters, and sizes are marked accordingly. It is suggested, however, that for very heavy men a size about two inches larger than coat measurement be ordered to insure a comfortable fit.

WORSTED SWEATERS. Made of special quality wool, and exceedingly soft and pleasant to wear. They are full fashioned to body and arms and put together by hand, not simply stitched up on a machine as are the majority of garments sold as regular made goods. The various grades in our "Highest Quality" Sweaters are identical in quality and finish, the difference in price being due entirely to variations in weight. Our No. AA Sweaters are considerably heavier than the heaviest sweaters ever knitted and cannot be furnished by any other maker, as we have exclusive control of this special weight.

No. AA. The proper style for use after heavy exercise, inducing copious perspiration for reducing weight or getting into condition for athletic contests. Particularly suitable for Foot Ball and Skating. Heaviest sweater made. Each, $8.00
No. A. "Intercollegiate," special weight. 6.00
No. B. Heavy weight. Each, $5.00

Spalding Shaker Sweater

We introduced this wool sweater to fill a demand for as heavy a weight as our "Highest Quality" grade, but at a lower price, and after much experimenting, we are in a position to offer it in the following colors only: Black, Navy Blue, Maroon, Gray or White. Sizes 30 to 44 inches.

No. 3. Standard weight, slightly lighter than No. B. Each, $3.50

Spalding Coat Jerseys

Following sizes carried in stock regularly in all qualities: 28 to 44 inch chest. Other sizes at an advanced price. ¶ We allow two inches for stretch in all our Jerseys, and sizes are marked accordingly. It is suggested, however, that for very heavy men a size about two inches larger than coat measurement be ordered to insure a comfortable fit. ¶ Any other combinations of colors or different width trimming or stripe to order only and at advanced price.

Quotations on application.

Nos. 10C and 12C

The Spalding Coat Jerseys are made of the same worsted yarn from which we manufacture our better grade Jerseys, Nos. 10P and 12P, and no pains have been spared to turn them out in a well made and attractive manner. Colors: Solid Gray; Gray trimmed Navy; Gray trimmed Cardinal; Gray trimmed Dark Green. Pearl buttons. No. 10C. Same grade as our No. 10P. $3.50
No. 12C. Same grade as our No. 12P. 3.00
No. 10CP. Pockets, otherwise same as No. 10C, Each, $4.00

Spalding New and Improved Jerseys

Following sizes carried in stock regularly in all qualities: 28 to 44 inch chest.
Other sizes at an advanced price.

We allow two inches for stretch in all our Jerseys, and sizes are marked accordingly. It is suggested, however, that for very heavy men a size about two inches larger than coat measurement be ordered to insure a comfortable fit.

Nos. 1P, 10P, 12P

No. 1P. Full regular made; that is, fashioned or knit to exact shape on the machine and then put together by hand, altogether different from cutting them out of a piece of material and sewing them up on a machine as are the majority of garments known as Jerseys. Made of special quality worsted. Solid colors: Navy Blue, Black, Maroon and Gray. Each, $4.00

No. 10P. Solid colors, worsted, fashioned; same colors as No. 1P. Each, $3.00

No. 12P. Worsted; colors as No. 1P 2.50

No. 12PE. Boys' Jersey. Worsted same quality as No. 12P, but in sizes 26 to 36 inches chest measurement only. Colors: Black, Navy Blue, Gray or Maroon; no special orders. Each, $2.00

No. 6. Cotton, good quality, fashioned, roll collar and full length sleeves. Colors: Black, Navy Blue, Gray and Maroon only. Each, $1.00

No. 6X. Cotton, same as No. 6, but with striped sleeves in following combinations only: Navy with White or Red stripe; Black with Orange or Red stripe; Maroon with White stripe. Each, $1.25

Special Notice We will furnish any of the above solid color Jerseys, except Nos. 6 and 6X, with one color body and another color (not striped) collar and cuffs in stock colors only at no extra charge.

WOVEN LETTERS, NUMERALS OR DESIGNS

We weave into our best grade Jerseys, No. 1P, Letters, Numerals and Designs in special colors as desired. Prices quoted on application. Designs submitted.

SPALDING "PLAYGROUND" BALLS

The National Playground Ball Association of America has adopted the Spalding Balls No. 12PB and No. 14PB as official. These are made with horse hide cover and are specially wound, so that, while soft to the feel, they will continue to hold their shape after considerable use.

12-inch "Official" Playground Ball The 12-inch ball is used where there is a large playing space, and makes an ideal ball for general recreation purposes and for games at picnics, outings, etc., where the players, on account of lack of experience or practice, might not wish to use a hard ball.

Guaranteed to last a game.
No. 12PB. Each, $1.00
14-inch "Official" Playground Ball The 14-inch ball is used where the playing space is limited in size. As the ball cannot be batted very far, it is possible, by using the large size, to improvise ball grounds in a space that would be simply out of the question for the ordinary game. Guaranteed to last a game.

No. 14PB. Each, $1.00
9-inch Playground Ball This ball is used on many of the municipal playgrounds, where on account of the youth of the players, the larger sizes would not be suitable.

No. 9PB. Each, $1.00

Foster's Patent Safety Hurdle

The frame is 2 feet 6 inches high, with a wooden hurdle 2 feet high, swinging within the frame on steel bolts, the swinging joint being 6 inches from one side and 18 inches from the other. With the short side up it measures 2 feet 6 inches from the ground, and with the long side up, 3 feet 6 inches. The hurdle can be changed from one height to the other in a few seconds, and is held firmly in either position by a thumb-screw. It would be hard to conceive any device more simple or more easily handled than this. It has met with the approval of the best known physical directors and trainers of the country.

The Spalding Tubular Steel Racing Skate. Per pair, $6.00

Some Good Points About The Spalding Tubular Steel Racing Skate

Very light weight, all tubular steel construction. Every joint well reinforced, making it the strongest racing skate manufactured. Blades made of chrome nickel steel, hardened and drawn, tapered from 1-16 inch at the toe, to 1-32 inch at the heel. Toe and heel plates are made of the best, partly hardened steel, left full size, so that they can be cut to fit shoe.

Furnished in two lengths of blades, 14½ and 15½ inches. Foot plates arranged to fit small, medium or large size shoes. Specify size of shoe worn when ordering, also length of blade required. These skates are built for use with light racing shoes. Our guarantee will not cover if heavy hockey or skating shoes are used.

Full directions for attaching enclosed with each pair of skates

Showing method of cutting to fit sole of shoe

See cut on Page 30 showing proper position of Tubular Skate on Shoe.

The Spalding Tubular Steel Hockey Skate

MADE in exactly the same way as our Tubular Racing Skate. Strongly built but light in weight; all joints strongly reinforced. Blades made of chrome nickel steel, hardened and drawn, with edge 3-16 inch in width. Toe and heel plates are made with holes drilled so that skates may be fastened to shoes, and the plates are shaped. Sizes, 9½, 10, 10½, 11, 11½ inches, corresponding to same sizes in regular skates.

The Spalding Tubular Steel Hockey Skate. Per pair, $5.00

The Spalding Automobile Hockey Skate

MADE WITH ALUMINUM TOP

An Improved Hockey Skate from Canada, the Land of Hockey

THIS skate is made with special extra quality steel blade, but the top is of aluminum, making the weight much less than the ordinary all-steel hockey skate; but at the same time, taking nothing away from the strength and durability. Some of the best hockey players in Canada are using this style skate.

SPALDING CHAMPIONSHIP HOCKEY STICKS

MADE OF THE FINEST selected Canadian rock elm. Exclusively used and endorsed by the Ottawa team, of Ottawa, by the Victoria team, of Winnipeg, and the Shamrock team, of Montreal, former champions, in addition to the famous Kenora team and many other well-known teams. These sticks will not fray at the bottom where they come in contact with the ice and will retain their shape under all conditions. The very important matter of weight and balance has been carefully considered, and the Spalding Sticks are much lighter, yet stronger, than any others on the market.

- No. 0. Championship Stick, Regular Forward Model. Each, 60c.

Official National League Ball

Is the Standard of the World

It is the Original League Ball It is the Official League Ball
It is the Universally Adopted League Ball
It is the Best League Ball

IT HAS BEEN FORMALLY ADOPTED AS THE Official Ball of the National League for over 30 Years

It has also been adopted as the Official Ball for all Championship Games by the following Professional Leagues:

- EASTERN LEAGUE for 20 years*
- NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE for 20 years*
- NORTHERN LEAGUE for 5 years*
- WESTERN ASSOCIATION for 11 years*
- PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE for 5 years*

- INTER-STATE LEAGUE for 9 years*
- NEW YORK STATE LEAGUE for 11 years*
- CENTRAL LEAGUE for 5 years*
- COTTON STATES LEAGUE for 5 years*
- INDIANA, ILLINOIS and IOWA*
- LEAGUE for 7 years* and by 22 other Professional Leagues that have adopted the Spalding Official National League Ball from 1 to 4 years.

THE Spalding Official National League Ball was first adopted by the National League in 1878, and is the only ball that has been used in Championship League Games since that time. In the recent great World's Championship Games in Chicago between the Chicago Nationals and the Detroit Americans the Spalding Official National League Ball was used.

IN addition to the different American adoptions, the Spalding Official National League Ball has been made the official ball by the governing Base Ball Associations of Mexico, Cuba, Canada, Australia, South Africa, Great Britain, Philippine Islands, Japan, and, in fact, wherever Base Ball is played. The Spalding Official National League Ball has received this universal adoption because of its well established reputation for uniformity and high quality, but the special object of such adoptions, from the players' standpoint, is to secure absolute uniformity in a ball, that will prevent unfair "jockeying" with an unknown ball, and make National and International Base Ball contests possible, and at the same time make the records of players of value, and uniform throughout the world, which can only be secured by standardizing one well known ball.

The Spalding Official National League Ball is used by Yale, Harvard, Princeton and all prominent college teams. The soldiers and sailors in the United States Army and Navy use it exclusively. In fact, the Spalding League Ball is in universal use wherever Base Ball is played.

Once in a while a minor league will experiment for a short time with some other ball, but invariably returns to the Spalding Official National League Ball, which has now become universally recognized

Durand-Steel Lockers

WOODEN LOCKERS are objectionable because they attract vermin, absorb odors, can be easily broken into, and are dangerous on account of fire. Lockers made from wire mesh or expanded metal afford little security, as they can be easily entered with wire cutters. Clothes placed in them become covered with dust and the lockers themselves present a poor appearance, resembling animal cages.

Durand-Steel Lockers are made of high-grade steel plates, and are finished with gloss-black Furnace baked Japan (400°), comparable to that used on hospital ware, which will never flake off nor require refinishing, as do paints and enamels.

Durand-Steel Lockers are usually built with doors perforated full length in panel design, with sides and backs solid. This prevents clothes in one locker from coming in contact with wet garments in adjoining lockers, while plenty of ventilation is secured by having the door perforated its entire length, but if the purchaser prefers we perforate the backs also.

The cost of Durand-Steel Lockers is no more than that of first-class wooden lockers, and they last as long as the building, are sanitary, secure, and in addition, are fire-proof.

We are handling lockers as a special contract business, and shipment will in every case be made direct from the factory in Chicago. If you will let us know the number of lockers, size, and arrangement, we shall be glad to take up through correspondence the matter of prices.

"Why pay 15 to 20 per cent. more for Spalding Trade Marked Athletic Goods, when I am prepared to furnish you "Just as good" articles for so much less price?"

The Substitute
Dealer says to the Consumer :

"We are just out of the Spalding article asked for, but here is something "Just as good" at 25 per cent. less price."

Spalding Cautions the Consumer to make proper allowances for these "JUST AS GOOD" manufacturers and substitute-dealers' statements, but see to it that the Spalding Trade-Mark is on, or attached, to each Spalding Athletic article, for without this Trade-Mark they are not genuine Spalding Goods.

We are prompted to issue this Caution to users of Spalding's Athletic Goods, for the reason that many defective articles made and sold by these "Just as Good" manufacturers and dealers are returned to us as defective and unsatisfactory, and which the consumer, who has been thus deceived, has asked us to repair or replace under our broad Guarantee, which reads as follows:

We Guarantee to each purchaser of an article bearing the Spalding Trade-Mark that such article will give satisfaction and a reasonable amount of service, when used for the purpose for which it was intended and under ordinary conditions and fair treatment.

We Agree to repair or replace free of charge any such article which proves defective in material or workmanship: PROVIDED such defective article is returned to us, transportation prepaid, during the season in which it was purchased, accompanied by the name, address and a letter from the user explaining the claim.

A. G. Spalding & Bros

Beware of the "Just as Good" manufacturer, who makes "appearance" first and "Quality" secondary, in order to deceive the dealer; and beware of the substitute-dealer, who completes the fraud by offering the consumer the "Just as Good" article when Spalding's Goods are asked for.

Who are A. G. Spalding & Bros.?

ALBERT G. and J. WALTER SPALDING commenced business March 1st, 1876, at Chicago, under the firm name of A. G. Spalding & Bro., with a small capital. Two years later their brother-in-law, William T. Brown, came into the business, and the firm name was then changed to A. G. Spalding & Bros.

The business was founded on the Athletic reputation of Mr. A. G. Spalding, who acquired a national prominence in the realm of Sport, as Captain and Pitcher of the Forest City's of Rockford, Ill. (1865-70), the original Boston Base Ball Club (Champions of the United States, 1871-75), and the Chicago Ball Club (1876-77), first Champions of the National League. He was also one of the original organizers, and for many years a director, of the National League of America, the premier Base Ball organization of the world. Mr. Spalding has taken an important part in Base Ball affairs ever since it became the National Game of the United States at the close of the Civil War in 1865. The returning veterans of that War, who had played the game as a camp diversion, disseminated this new American field sport throughout the country, and thus gave it its national character.

Base Ball Goods were the only articles of merchandise carried the first year. Gradually implements and accessories of Athletic Sports were added, until the firm now manufactures the requisites for all kinds of Athletic Sports. Originally the firm contracted for its supplies from outside manufacturers, but finding it impossible, by this method, to keep the standard of quality up to its high ideals, it gradually commenced the manufacture of its own goods, and by the acquisition from time to time of various established factories located in different parts of the country, is now able to and does manufacture in its own factories everything bearing the Spalding Trade-Mark, which stands the world over as a guarantee of the highest quality.

There are over three thousand persons employed in various capacities in A. G. Spalding & Bros.' factories and stores located in all the leading cities of the United States, Canada and England. A capital of over $4,000,000 is employed in carrying on this business, and the annual sales exceed the total combined annual sales of all other manufacturers in the world making similar lines of goods.

A. G. Spalding & Bros. have always taken a leading part in the introduction, in the encouragement and in the support of all new Sports and Games, and the prominence attained by Athletic Sports in the United States is in a very great measure due to the energy, to the enterprise and to the liberality of this progressive concern. This firm was the pioneer and, in fact, the founder of the Athletic Goods Trade in America, and is now universally recognized as the undisputed Leader in the Athletic Goods line throughout the world.

The late Marshall Field of Chicago, America's greatest Merchant, speaking of the business of A. G. Spalding & Bros., said: "I am familiar with its early career, growth and development, and when I compare its unpromising outlook and the special field for its operations that existed at its inception in 1876, with its present magnitude, I consider it one of the most remarkable mercantile successes of the world."

The millions of Athletes using them and the thousands of dealers selling them, attest to the High Quality of Spalding's Athletic Goods, and they must determine the future history of this concern.

A. G. Spalding & Bros.
are the leading manufacturers of Athletic Goods in the world.
