

SOLDIER ENTERTAINER

FRANK LIDDELL TRANSFERRED FROM ARMY FILM OUTFIT TO K. OF C. ORGANIZATION

According to the last news of Frank Liddell, which has been received by his mother, he is in Paris and is now in the service of the Knights of Columbus as an entertainer of the boys across the German border with the Army of Occupation and the camps yet remaining in France and Italy, or wherever he may be sent. It will be remembered that he has been a film operator for the army and as such was sent to the front where he passed through all the big battles of the summer, coming through without a scratch. He was quite discouraged about getting home and there seemed every prospect that he would be kept with the army until next fall when he was fortunate enough to attract the notice of a representative of the Knights of Columbus organization as an entertainer. He is a musician and has always done what he could to entertain the boys at the "Y's". He has also composed a song called "The Battle of Paris," which has made quite a hit. The K. of C. who heard him play wanted him to sign up with his organization to go to Italy and entertain the boys there, but Frank told him it would be impossible unless he could get transferred or released from the moving picture outfit. That he succeeded in doing, however, and now he is a K. C. entertainer at a good salary and all expenses paid. He left February 17th on a tour and has been through various towns in France, Italy and Germany and expects to be home not later than July 1st. He writes: "If anybody tells me when I come home that I haven't done my duty dodging bullets all summer, they will hear from me, sure."

He also writes that prices are going up terribly in Paris and he feels sorry for the tourists who go over this summer. It was snowing when he wrote and he declared he would be very glad to get back to California and that after all the traveling he has done, Glendale suits him better than any other place he has seen.

GLENDALE HIS CHOICE

G. W. Heminger of Grand Haven, Mich., is spending a few weeks in Glendale, together with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. Rosenberger, of Detroit. Mr. Heminger is the father-in-law of Wilber S. Chatman, of 337 W. Harvard. Two of his daughters died in Glendale a few months ago, Mrs. Lester Cline and Mrs. Frances Vanderwall. Mrs. Cline had been an invalid for five years and died as the result of an operation. Her sister nursed her so devotedly and then grieved so over her death that she fell an easy victim when attacked by the flu. Mr. Heminger will go to San Diego from here to visit a daughter, then to San Francisco and Denver on his way home. He left his wife and the five younger children at home, but hopes to persuade them to come to Glendale with him to live, for he thinks it is as near a heaven on earth as can be found. He is the father of 13 children, ten of whom are yet living. His son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chatman, seem to be following in his footsteps for they already have nine children. Mr. Rosenberger is trying to buy a 10-acre tract of land in South Glendale, desiring to locate here.

AT COBLENZ

WILL RICHARDSON THINKS HE MAY REMAIN IN GERMANY UNTIL FALL

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson has been receiving almost daily letters the past few weeks from her son, E. Will Richardson, who is located at Coblenz, Germany, with the Army of Occupation. Will belongs to the Military Police and he enclosed copies of orders in use by his unit up to the signing of the armistice, also ten commandments for motor truck drivers one of which is "never argue with an M. P., obey him."

In a letter written February 18th, he says the snow and ice are all gone and that spring has come, and that he is riding out to the former Kaiser's castle in the afternoon. An application for a four months' course at a French or British University open to U. S. soldiers was received too late, much to his disappointment. He sighs for a dinner that will make him forget "canned Willie," or "monkey meat," otherwise known as "slum." He says he expects to have to remain in the country of the "square head" until September.

BORE CHARMED LIFE

FOUR YEARS' CONSTANT BATTING AND NOT A WOUND

Believers in luck or chance find strong confirmation of their theory in the career of Lu Harlan, a Marshall, Ill., boy, whose life story is weirder than any romance. He comes of fighting stock for his father, Capt. Ed Harlan, was a member of the 21st Illinois in the Civil War and he was the man to propose inviting Capt. Ulysses S. Grant, the impoverished tanner of Galena, Ill., but a West Pointer who had done good service during the Mexican war, to take command of the regiment as its colonel. Lu is a personal friend of O. L. Kilborn of 217 W. Lomita Ave., this city, who has known him from his birth and can vouch for the truth of the following narrative of a portion of his exploits, written by an official in Washington who has access to the records:

Lu was in the Philippine war, in the Spanish-American war, and with Pershing in Mexico and on the borders thereof. Coming home he told his friends that he had been trying to get into a real war and see some real fighting for ten years and failing in this he said he was going to Canada to enlist in the Canadian army, which he did. He went with his Canadian regiment, of which fully one-half were Americans like himself, to Belgium and Northern France. He took part in every battle of any note in which the Canadian troops were engaged, and he lived to see every man in his company at the beginning killed except himself; and he was never sick a day and never received a single scratch, though he saw all his own company and many thousands of other brave men die at the hands of the foul butchers of mankind. At one time he and sixteen other men were in a dugout and while there the Germans dropped a shell right into their midst, which killed five men outright and wounded ten others. Lu was thrown several feet away, but like the proverbial cat with nine lives, landed right side up with care and received not a scratch. How is this for the horseshoe or the rabbit's foot luck, which his comrades vowed he must carry around with him?

But listen, this is only the beginning of Lu's marvelous and seemingly—

DOING WELL

L. W. CHOBIE COMES THROUGH OPERATION FOR APPENDICITIS SUCCESSFULLY

For some time L. W. Chobie, City Building Inspector, has been suffering severe attacks of acute indigestion, as it was supposed. On Sunday morning another attack caused him such acute suffering that an examination was made and the ailment diagnosed as appendicitis. He was removed at once to Thornycroft and Dr. Chase performed a very successful operation on him yesterday. Mrs. Chobie is with him and she reports him doing very well, indeed. The many friends of the family will be glad to know of this favorable condition.

SOME COINCIDENCES

Coincidences are not rare in California, but some of them are really remarkable. For instance, yesterday an Evening News reporter was talking with a tourist about his California travels when the latter casually mentioned the fact that he had met with a piece of bad luck the day before; he had lost two $10 bills on the street. The reporter told him a find of money had been advertised that day and gave him the address of the finder. He went at once to see the lady, proved his property and was given it. A conversation with the lady revealed that they had come from the same city in Michigan and that both had lived in another Michigan city.

Dr. H. W. Vanderhoof, of 247 N. Jackson, entered into conversation with a lady in an auto who had stopped to view some property in his neighborhood and it turned out that they had been acquainted years before in Wheaton, Ill.

Mrs. Harry Von Felde of 112 N. Maryland avenue entertained Sunday evening at a birthday luncheon for her daughter, Marion. Among the guests present were Mrs. Von Felde's sister, Miss Sedorus, who is to be married Thursday, March 20th, to Mr. D. Boklo of Los Angeles. Mrs. Von Felde's mother of Pasadena was also present.

INVESTIGATION OF BOMB PLOT

AUTHORITIES SUSPECT OAKLAND CRIME IS PART OF AN ORGANIZED CAMPAIGN OF TERRORISM

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
Oakland, Cal., March 19.—Authorities investigating the death of Mrs. George D. Greenwood, wife of a prominent San Francisco banker, who was killed by a bomb here last night, are working on the theory that she was killed as part of an organized campaign of terrorism by a large gang of blackmailers. Attempts are being made to show whether there is any connection between last night's dynamiting and the bomb exploded a year ago at the home of Governor W. D. Stephens.

WAR OFFICIALS EVADE INTERVIEWS

SECRETARY OF WAR BAKER AND CHIEF OF STAFF GENERAL MARCH VISIT CAMP KEARNY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
Los Angeles, March 19.—Secretary of War Baker and Chief of Staff General March arrived here at 9 o'clock this morning and left immediately by train for Camp Kearny.

Secretary Baker, in a brief interview, declared that the American troops will be withdrawn from Siberia during the spring, but that the exact date is dependent entirely on weather conditions. He refused to discuss the reasons for the withdrawal.

When asked regarding the future size of the American army, he replied: "You'll have to ask Congress about that."

Baker declined an invitation to spend a few days resting in California.

General March had nothing to say, permitting Secretary Baker to act as spokesman for the party.

"FLU" TRIES TO COME BACK

THIRTY-SEVEN NEW CASES AND THREE DEATHS REPORTED IN LOS ANGELES TODAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
Los Angeles, March 19.—Spanish influenza is attempting to come back in Los Angeles. Thirty-seven new cases and three deaths were reported today. Health authorities do not believe it will prove serious.

PORK PRICES TO INCREASE STEADILY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
Washington, March 19.—Department of Agriculture experts today predicted that the price of pork chops and other pork products will increase steadily. Wholesale pork prices have gone up $2 a hundred pounds in two weeks. The experts expect the retail prices will go far beyond the present figures, because farmers in the Middle West have been attracted by high prices for wheat and are planting wheat instead of corn. This will make corn to fatten hogs scarce and will mean, in consequence, high prices.

DOW-PHILP WEDDING

POPULAR YOUNG SOLDIER AND HIS BRIDE WILL MAKE THEIR HOME IN CHICAGO

A wonderfully pretty little wedding was solemnized last evening at the home of Mrs. Lillian E. Dow, when her daughter, Dorothy Howard Dow, and Robert Thomas Philp, son of V. E. Philp, were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony—witnessed by the immediate relatives and friends.

Mrs. Dow was assisted in receiving by Mesdames H. E. Bartlett, C. F. Parker, D. L. Gregg, Miss Mary Beth Abbott and Mrs. Frink of Fullerton.

The ceremony was preceded by two vocal numbers, "Because" and "Beloved, It Is Morn," charmingly sung by Miss Grace James, of Los Angeles, accompanied by Mr. Clarence E. Krimbill, of Long Beach, with whom the bride has studied music for a number of years.

At eight o'clock, the bride and her mother, who gave her away, entered the parlors to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. They were preceded by little Miss Lillian Klose, in dainty pink, daughter of Mrs. Carl Klose, of Whiting, Indiana, carrying a beautiful basket of flowers in which was imbedded the ring—and by Mrs. James G. Philp as matron of honor, in a gown of light green Georgette, carrying pink rosebuds and maiden-hair ferns.

They were joined under a canopy of greenery and white iris by the groom and best man, Mr. James G. Philp, of Los Angeles, and Dr. Carl S. Patton, of First Congregational Church, Los Angeles, who performed the ceremony and who used the beautiful Episcopal service with its impressive responses.

Congratulations followed and delicious refreshments were then served, which carried out the color scheme of green and white.

The bride wore a gown of white Georgette—beautiful in its simplicity, and carried white roses and maiden-hair fern, with a shower of snow-drops.

Mrs. Dow wore white crepe de chine.

Numerous gifts attested to the esteem of their many friends.

Mr. Philp is a native son of Los Angeles, and a young man of sterling qualities, has spent a year and a half serving as supply sergeant of the 633d Flying Squadron, at Kelly Field, Texas.

After a short wedding journey to nearby points, they will leave for Chicago, Mrs. Philp's birthplace, to live, where Mr. Philp will have charge of the shipping department with the Chapell Ice Cream Company.

A pleasing feature of the occasion was the fact that some years ago the bride had been flower girl at the wedding of Mrs. Carl Klose, whose little daughter now served in similar capacity on this occasion.

NEED FOR CAMPAIGN

EZRA PARKER MARSHALS HIS FORCES FOR SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Ezra Parker, who is in charge of the campaign for funds for the Salvation Army, is marshaling his forces for the drive next week. The Elks are back of the movement and Glendale will sustain her reputation earned in former patriotic endeavors in this drive. Mr. Parker has planned a meeting for Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Elks' Lodge Room and all interested are invited to come and assist in completing plans for the campaign.

The Salvation Army has never had enough funds to meet the calls upon it. Heretofore every department of the army had its own canvassers and there was much duplication and overlapping with annoyance to contributors. Canvassers have used from 25 to 50 per cent. of their time gathering funds when they might have been better employed in service work. The drive planned for next week will do away with this feature. The campaign will obviate the necessity for soliciting funds for the next twelve months.

The Home Service work of the Salvation Army has been exhausted by the war activities of the organization. It is up to every community to reinstate the army bigger and better than ever.

Glendale's quota in the campaign is only $1300 and she will more than meet this sum in gratitude for what the organization did for her boys who were far from home.

Little Frederick Baum was host yesterday at a dinner in celebration of his birthday, at which Dorothy Clark, Vivian Nay and Maurine Strong were entertained, at 339 N. Louise street, the home of his parents.

HOME SWEET HOME

KENNETH CURRENT WRITES HE WOULD NOT LEAVE IT AGAIN FOR A MILLION A MONTH

Mrs. Anna Current of 1326 East Broadway, this city, has received a letter from her son, Kenneth, who was inducted into the first detachment 10th Company, C. A. C., and who has just been sent home. He writes from Newport News as follows:

Newport News, Va.,
Camp Stuart,
March 11, 1919.

Dear Mother:—

Well, mother dear, here we are in God's country once more and it sure does look awfully good to us you can depend on that.

We pulled in this a. m. on the Ship Nausmond. We were surely given a royal welcome by the people as all the city turned out to greet us. Flowers and eatables of all kinds were thrown at us, it sure made us feel happy. We had to march about three miles to camp, which ordinarily would seem awfully long to us, but it was in a way too short as the people made us feel so happy.

Camp Stuart is a rather large camp, with a capacity of about 40,000 men. The first thing we had to do was to take a coal oil bath to kill the cottesies, so now I feel one more civilized.

The next stunt I pulled off was to wash some handkerchiefs and two towels which honestly had not been washed for over a month, one I used for a dish cloth to wipe out my slum pan.

Last but not least was the best supper or rather meal that I have had since I left Fort McArthur seven months ago. It consisted of coffee without milk or sugar, beefsteak, baked beans, boiled potatoes, butter, bread and all the canned peaches that I could eat, so you see I have fared pretty well maybe.

We do not expect to be here over a week at the most, so you can look for me home any old time within the next three weeks or a month. Of

NEWS OF KILLGORE BOYS

J. A. Killgore of 507 Vine street received a letter Tuesday from his son, Chester, who, with his wife and little son, Bradford, moved to El Centro last summer. They are now at Holtville and the most important news was that a little girl had recently come to gladden the home. Chester is now collecting for a laundry and running an agency for the sale of San Diego newspapers. Chester was with the Ford Service Station here before he moved to Imperial Valley. Mr. Killgore is anxiously awaiting news from his youngest son, Jason, who is chief wireless operator on the City of Para, plying between San Francisco and the Panama Canal Zone, with stops at 20 or more ports between.

MUSIC SECTION

Mrs. E. W. Kinney, who was curator of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club two years ago, will entertain the section at her home, 123 W. Elk avenue, Friday afternoon, March 21st. All new and old members have a cordial invitation to attend. Miss Laura Berliner, a promising young soprano, will sing an Italian aria, and Mrs. Arthur Mills of Chicago will also contribute to the program.

BASKETBALL MATCH

GAME TIED AND COVINA WINS FROM BURBANK BY EXTRA PLAY—SCORE 23 TO 24

The basketball match between the teams of Burbank High and Covina High played in the gym of Glendale High Tuesday evening, was a decidedly exciting contest. The game ended in a tie which necessitated play for an additional five minutes to determine the winner. When the five minutes were up it was still a tie and another five minutes of play was had when the score stood 23 to 24 in favor of Covina. Coach Hayhurst who watched the game closely, says the teams were very evenly matched, but that the team-work of the Covina organization was a trifle better than Burbank's.

Tonight the Glendale team goes to Alhambra to try conclusions with that team. If victory is ours the Glendale boys will be up against the Covina team some time next week to try for the championship. Probably a big delegation from Union High will attend tonight to cheer the players and root for G. U. H. S.

NO GREATER DANGER EVER MENACED NATION

Wide spread and insidious propaganda, apparently well financed, in behalf of internationalism as against nationalism, places upon the patriotic people and press of the country the necessity of conducting a vigorous and courageous campaign for the preservation of our national sovereignty, our national ideals, and our well-established national policies. We fought the war of the revolution to free ourselves from the European yoke, and fought the war of 1812 to make that freedom complete. What greater folly could we now commit than to place ourselves voluntarily under command of a league in which we would have but one vote out of nine, the others representing interests in almost every instance diverse from ours?

Under the leadership of President Wilson and ex-President Taft, the internationalists are conducting a campaign unsurpassed by any except perhaps that founded upon the fallacy, "kept-us-out-of-war." Based upon well-sounding but deceptive phrases, the propaganda for the surrender of nationalism will succeed unless the people are informed as to the true character of the constitution of the proposed league and warned of the certain effect of our participation. No greater danger ever menaced this nation than that which now confronts it.—Whiteside (Ill.) Sentinel.

Ex-State Senator and ex-Civil War Soldier Charles Bent, author of the above, is a gentleman of excellent judgment, and these words of warning are worth heeding, at least, to the extent of every citizen familiarizing himself with the frame-up of the League of Nations proposition or propaganda.

Propaganda was worked before and during the recent world war, and every true American citizen should be on the watch that it is not being worked now.—Editor.

DANGERS OF LEAGUE POINTED OUT

The League of Nations controversy is attracting the attention of the entire American people, and the exhaustive discussions, pro and con, are sure to bring about a thorough understanding of some points now obscure. Medill McCormick, newly elected Senator from Illinois, in a recent speech, outlined some of the dangers as follows:

"What is this constitution of a League of Nations which we would revise? What does it provide that we challenge?"

"First, the fifty odd states which may become members of the league shall have one vote apiece. This great republic, with 100,000,000 population, one vote. Siam, with 5,000,000 population, one vote! And so for all the others except the British Empire, to which six votes are given at the outset and to which in the years to come as many more votes will be given as it shall create self-governing colonies.

"The constitution of the league, based upon this unequal representation, creates an executive council consisting of the five great powers, France, Italy, the British Empire, Japan and the United States, and the representatives of four minor powers. The proposed constitution decrees that the relative military and naval strength of the powers shall be fixed according to their several necessities, having in consideration their geographic situation.

"Today propinquity to Germany and the field of the present war will dictate that England be awarded the greatest navy, and France the greatest army. But the constitution further provides that the size of the armed forces by land or by sea, once fixed and accepted, may not be increased thereafter except by unanimous vote of the council. Thus, whatever dangers may threaten us in the years to come, unless we break the treaty, we can never arm in our own defense without the consent of the enemy who threatens.

"The proposed constitution does not determine which questions are arbitrable or justiciable and which are not. It does not differentiate between national and international questions. It does not distinguish between acts which are domestic and acts which are not. Any matter in dispute between any two powers, at the instance of either of them, becomes determinable by the executive council or becomes arbitrable. Some legalistic minds may read the constitution otherwise, but the majority of the men whom I know and who have read it carefully are of the opinion that the vital question of immigration would be arbitrable or subject to determination by the council; that the right of European or Asiatic powers to acquire territory in the American hemisphere, to lease and to fortify coaling stations in defiance of the Monroe Doctrine, would be a matter for decision by the members of the league, by the council, or by arbitrators, a majority of whom would be European and Asiatic.

"In their simple-minded haste to embrace the principles of enduring peace, there are some Americans who would run headlong into the arms of an instrument which provides for war—nay, compels war.

"Senator Knox, who was Mr. Taft's secretary of state, has testified that the proposed constitution makes seven separate provisions for war, and Mr. Wilson himself at the White House avowed that it would not prevent war. It is not true to say that those who would revise the constitution as presented have offered no alternative, for Senator Knox offered alternatives when he addressed the Senate before the publication of Mr. Wilson's report and afterward. It is disingenuous to say that the alternative to the proposed constitution is no League of Nations. It is untruthful to say that the alternative to the projected constitution is war. It is dishonest for the unlistening and unheeding supporters of the President to impute to those who differ with them a motive less pure, a patriotism less exalted, a love of mankind less noble than they themselves avow. Are we not men and women, fathers and mothers of children, even as they are—sons and daughters of a common country?"

"Mr. Wilson, despite the election, chose as his colleagues four men whose utter public inconsequence is beyond dispute. He has reported a constitution for a League of Nations devised by a member of the British war cabinet, which reckless men, improvident of American citizenship, spendthrift of American peace and prodigal of American liberties, would have the Senate accept without scruple, tiny, without study, without debate. Here in the youngest of the great nations is the oldest of representative republican governments. Here was given to the world the imperishable federal principle; here our fathers voiced every opinion of their time, assembled for months in solemn convention to write the constitution of the nation; here they spent years to achieve its adoption. They set up two representative chambers and conferred upon one of them, the Senate, powers to advise and consent to the making of treaties, to amend them or to reject them. But certain hurried souls, generous with their rights, eager and free with ours and those of our children, threaten and would crush Senators who dissent from dictatorship and decline to accept the British constitution for a League of Nations, without consideration, revision or amendment.

"The Senate has rejected treaties before. It rejected the first Hay-Pauncefote treaty when persuaded by John Bull, that skillful old merchant, mariner and statesman, John Hay yielded the right to defend an American canal, built on an American isthmus with American money. The internationalists of that day railed at the Senate, but the sober judgment of the Senate proved the final judgment of the American people and of John Hay himself."

Friday afternoon, beginning at about 3:30 o'clock, there will be a triangular track meet at South Pasadena between Glendale, Franklin and South Pasadena.

In the practice track meet Tuesday afternoon between Glendale and Hollywood boys on the Glendale campus, Glendale won.

 Edward M. Lynch has gone to San Diego on a business trip.
 Mr. Wm. N. Read and the Misses Read entertained a few friends at Five Hundred Saturday evening.
 Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Penney of Minneapolis were dinner guests of Mr. Wm. N. Read and daughters Monday evening.
 Mrs. E. V. Bacon of San Fernando Road has returned from Long Beach, where she spent last week with her daughter, Miss Regina Bacon.

The Thursday Club of Glendale will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ashton, 345 West Cerritos avenue.

Mrs. Arthur Cross and Mrs. Oliver Clark go to Whittier today to attend a reciprocity meeting of the Whittier Woman's Club.

Mrs. C. L. Marlenee of 301 South Central avenue is having great pleasure in the entertainment of her aunt, Miss Josephine Armstrong, art teacher in the State College at Corvallis, Oregon, who will be here for a few weeks.

Fred Spear of Texas, a relative of Mrs. Delia Haggood and the Tiffanys, who recently came to the coast to visit his father, now in the Imperial Valley, is in Glendale for a few days. He hopes to persuade his father to return to Texas with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Cutts and Mr. Cottrell of Los Angeles spent Tuesday evening with Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Hogue. Mr. Cottrell is leaving for Honolulu in search of health and diversion, and paid the visit to say good-bye to the Hagues.

Isaac A. Flint and family of 232 North Kenwood street have moved to Glendora and the house they vacated is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Blakely and family who have been welcomed by the Congregationalists as they belong to that church. Mr. Blakely is musical.

Harold Latter, Sr., of 1234 South Boynton street, who came home about two weeks ago for a visit with his family, is considering a business proposition which has been put up to him and may not return to his position in the east. He is a railroad man, but likes California best.

Members of the Young People's Union of the First Baptist Church, this city, enjoyed a jolly social at the church Monday evening. Irish colors and emblems featured the affair in deference to St. Patrick, and the boys and girls amused themselves with games and an old-fashioned candy pull.

Waldo Heustis of "The Evening Green" and Mrs. Heustis entertained about twenty of their Glendale friends—mostly tennis experts, at their pleasant home on Myrtle St. last Saturday evening. Dancing, singing and a general good time furnished the entertainment, with suitable refreshments.

Mrs. Ruth Boss, 345 West Elk avenue, states that her son-in-law, First Lieutenant W. A. Rankin, who is an officer in the regular army, and who has been at Camp Sevier in South Carolina, has been transferred to a North Carolina camp to assist in the demobilization of troops.

Mrs. C. W. Burket reports that her son, Dana, is now at Chillon, about 15 miles from Nantes. His unit has received sailing orders several times but been turned back on account of lack of transportation facilities. One hundred nurses from Base Hospital 35 with which he has been connected, reached New York Tuesday and she is hoping he will be coming along too before long.

Mr. and Mrs. William La Fountain of Acacia avenue have been entertaining a relative, Nelson Tannacliff, a lawyer of New York City, who was called west on business. He is a great traveler as he is a lawyer handling estates and often has occasion to go far to look up some heir. He left Sunday for San Francisco and the La Fountains carried him as far as Santa Barbara by auto.

A box social which proved quite a jolly affair was held Saturday night at the home of John Esterly at 700 S. Adams street when members of the young men and young women's classes of the Lutheran Sunday School met for the evening. It was a great exception to the general rule in the presence of more young men than women, but they had a good time nevertheless and $32 was realized for their fund.

Frank Clark, who has recently been discharged from army service, is the guest of his brother, Oliver Clark, of 346 North Louise street. He will probably be here for several weeks.

The monthly social at the Central Methodist Church which was enjoyed Tuesday evening was a St. Patrick's affair with the emblems of the good saint featuring decorations and refreshments, and Irish songs and recitations on the program. It was quite informal, however, as usual, and everybody had a good time.

Mrs. Harding of 707 Orange Grove avenue entertained her Sunday School class of second-year juniors of the First M. E. Church Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 6, the girls who enjoyed her hospitality being Margaret Allevett, Marian Ballard, Dorothy Robinson, Phyllis Kuhnle, Vera Swinburne, Gladys Jones, Vivian Nay, Genevieve Noyes, Grace Harding. The visitors entertained themselves with games and dainty refreshments were served.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSES
 The many friends here of Chas. M. Cowan, of Thermal, Calif., will be grieved to learn of his death, which occurred at that place on Saturday last. Mr. Cowan formerly lived at 900 Randolph street, Casa Verdugo, but later removed to Thermal, having purchased a ranch near there. His death was very sudden. He was stricken with typhoid fever. His physician decided to remove him to a hospital in Los Angeles, but on the way from the ranch, three miles out, to Thermal, to take the train, he became unconscious and died in a very short time. He leaves two sons, Charlie and Wallace. Mr. and Mrs. Cowan made many friends in Glendale who sorrowed greatly when the move to Thermal was determined upon as demanded by the state of Mrs. Cowan's health. She died there two years ago. The remains of the deceased are at the Garret & Co. undertaking parlors in Los Angeles awaiting the arrival of a brother, James Cowan, of Knoxville, Tenn., who is expected tomorrow.

FOOD DISTRIBUTION
 (By United Press)
 SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 19.—Declaring that the most important problem to be solved in the present session of the California Legislature is that of proper distribution of foods, State Senator Wm. E. Brown, 37th District, declared recently to the United Press that the High Cost of Living is due not to lack of production but to the fact that "Food supplies are shut out by trust-controlled markets." His statement is in reply to that made by Harris Weinstock, state market director, yesterday.
 "The measure I have introduced," declared Brown, "provides for a simple practical system of State Commission Markets, self-sustaining—no burden to the taxpayers, which will permit food surpluses to come to market in place of being destroyed by the food speculator.
 "It is self-evident that the present method used by the State Market Director, namely that of forming, with state aid, numerous food selling combines, will not lower the cost of living, but increase it. Such methods are archaic, unscientific, and uneconomic.
 "Twentieth Century students and authorities are agreed that "Freedom in the flow of trade, freedom of exchange, legal inhibition of inordinate storing and warehousing, and a better system of distribution are needs that have been keenly felt for a decade.
 "As you know we are constantly trying to induce settlers to come to California to buy land and engage in production. It is self-evident that increased production without a system of intelligent distribution must spell disaster. Raising quantities of fruit and vegetables only to plow them under for fertilizer is not an attractive picture. On the other hand, scientific production and marketing will make California the Mecca of the agriculturist and simultaneously inaugurate a lower living cost to the consumer."

MODERN POETS
 RECENT VERSE BY AMERICANS CONSIDERED AT BOOK REVIEW AT PUBLIC LIBRARY
 At the Glendale Public Library modern poetry was the theme of the afternoon book review conducted by Mrs. Danford, Librarian, which was well attended and enjoyed by those present. The late poems of Ella Wheeler Wilcox collected in the volume "Sonnets of Sorrow and Triumph," which record love and bereavement, were among those considered which have a universal appeal since both love and loss are universal.
 "The Grand Canyon," under which title the western poems of Henry Dyke have been published, was also reviewed, especially his tribute to the Sierra Madre beginning:
 O mother mountains, billowing far to snow lines,
 Robed in aerial amethyst, silver and blue,
 Why do ye look so proudly down on the lowlands,
 What have their groves and gardens to do with you?
 In more homely vein, but with the tang of the sage from wind-swept mesa, was the verse of Arthur Chapman, published under the title, "Out Where the West Begins:"
 "Out where the west is in the making
 Where fewer hearts in despair are aching
 There's where the west begins.
 Where there's more of singing and less of sighing,
 Where there's more of giving and less of buying,
 Where a man makes friends without half trying,
 There's where the west begins."
 One of the matrons present, a busy mother, spoke in appreciation of the chance to snatch a little knowledge of these poets whom she does not have time to read at leisure.
 At the next review Mrs. Danford plans to take up some of the Russian literature of Tolstoy, Tourganief and Gogol.

SAILS FOR THE ORIENT
 Three months ago Glenn Hurd, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hurd, of 110 South Adams street, joined the merchant marine. Monday he sailed on the U. S. S. Meade for China, Japan and other ports in the Orient. En route the ship will stop at ports in the Philippine Islands. He expects to be gone about eight months. He will be terribly missed by his parents, but they are glad the opportunity has come to him to see so much of the world.

IN HEARTY ACCORD
 Last evening the Seventh-Day Adventist Church Council appointed Messrs. Charles Burnham and Paul C. Mason as their representatives on the permanent Park Committee of the Greater Glendale Development Association. This would have been done before the last public meeting if they had received notice of the meeting and its object.
 The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Congregational Church will meet tomorrow (Thursday) at ten o'clock for an all-day meeting. There will be plenty of work for all comers and luncheon will be served at noon.

A WONDERFUL TREE
 When H. C. Tomaw moved to the place he bought eight years ago he found in the back yard a citrus tree about a foot high. It had all the appearance of an orange tree, but grew up very slender instead of spreading out. This year it bore for the first time and is fairly loaded with rich, golden fruit of varying sizes, some quite large. They have the appearance of very large tangerines and look very tempting. But woe to the person who tries one thinking it a luscious orange. The pulp has all the appearance of a lemon in color, texture and abundance of juice, and it has the sour lemon taste, also a very bitter taste like a grape fruit. Those of a deeper orange hue have only the lemon flavor. The only explanation of this phenomenon is that the tree came from the seed of an orange which developed from a bloom that had been pollinated by both lemon and grape fruit bloom. It certainly is a gay deceiver. Mr. Tomaw lives at 507 W. Elk Ave.

COMMUNITY SINGING

Mrs. Ella Richardson, Secretary of the Community Sing, reports that about 27 delegates from Glendale attended the Hollywood Sing Tuesday evening and joined with an audience of 1200 in taking the drill given by Mr. Kirchoffer in preparation for the Hollywood-Glendale singing contest
which comes off in Glendale Thursday evening.

Judges for the contest were chosen, Glendale selecting Madame Catherine Shank, and Miss Graeff, a distinguished musician of Cleveland,
who is here for the winter.

It is estimated that in addition to those brought by trucks and P. E.
cars, seventeen auto parties will make the trip from Hollywood to Glendale bringing singers Thursday night.

PALACE GRAND PICTURES

Tonight (Wednesday) the big picture, "Cheating Cheaters," will be on the screen at the Palace Grand Theatre. It will feature Clara Kimball Young, supported by Anna Q. Nilsson, Jack Holt, Tully Marshall and Frank Campeau. It is one of the most popular of the recent films and patrons have been looking forward to its presentation here.

Thursday Sessue Hayakawa, supported by Tsuru Aoki, and a fine cast
will be seen in "A Heart in Pawn," which is full of beautiful scenes, such as night scenes on the lake and Geisha girls in their native dances.

Friday the "Prodigal Liar" will be "demonstrated" by William Desmond, said to be a very entertaining play.

BROADWAY P-T. A.

The Broadway Parent-Teacher Association will hold its March meeting
tomorrow, Thursday, at 3:15 p. m.
Mrs. Zetta Gibbons will sing and Mrs.
H. W. Timothy will give readings. A and the one having the largest percentage of mothers will receive a prize. Red Cross work will be on hand to be given out.

ly superhuman escapes. At another time Lu and some fifteen or twenty other soldiers were in an old French cellar when Fritzie landed a shell right in one corner of it, killing and wounding every man among them except Lu and he came off unscathed.

At another time he had his gas mask,
which was swung on his back, blown to atoms; four or five men near him
were killed, while a young soldier standing right by his side had his arm blown off at the shoulder. Still Lu remained unscratched. Another time a bullet hit him square in the stomach, but Lu's luck still held good for the ball failed to penetrate the two heavy overcoats and the heavy underwear he had on, and the Marshall boy again emerged from what usually under such conditions
would have been certain death.

At another time a mistake was made by his commanding officer, the Canadian troops were frightfully slaughtered, and every officer in the whole command, except Lieut. Harlan, was killed, the colonel being left hanging dead on a barbed wire fence.
The Germans hung out a flag of truce that the Canadians might come and get their dead and wounded. Lu was one of them sent forward for that purpose. When he approached the German commander, he refused to treat with Lu because he was not of equal rank with him. Lu told him that he was the only one left—that all the rest were killed or wounded.
And then the German officer allowed him and his men to remove the dead
and the wounded men.

And so I might go on enumerating
the desperate situations in which Lu Harlan was placed and the seemingly superhuman escapes from death or wounds or capture; but in spite of it all he comes home without a scratch or even having had a day of sickness or ill health and is even now, after all he endured and passed through, in perfect health. Now, with these stray citations of this man's wonderful escapes from death—and there are scores of them yet untold—can you think of any man in any war ancient or modern, who can beat this record?

THE FAMOUS RIDGE ROUTE

That the famous Ridge Route will be finally closed to travel on Monday, March 17th, is the announcement made yesterday by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California following advice from the State Highway Engineer's Office.

This means that all motorists making the trip north this summer will take the Bouquet Canyon Road, following the signs which have been erected by the Automobile Club to guide travel. The Ridge is to be closed until all construction work has been completed, which will probably be in the fall.

There are seventeen miles of construction contemplated, and no cars
will be allowed through the pass until this is entirely finished. The first, or southern barrier, will be found ten miles south of Saugus or five miles above the junction of the Santa Paula-Ventura road and the Ridge Route. This five miles will be open for local travel only. The northern barrier is located six miles from the junction with the Neenac-Bouquet road, and this six miles will also be for local travel only.

Red lights at night will blazon the barriers and all detours have been

LEON RICE SWAYS SECOND
GREAT GATHERING IN M.
E. CHURCH

A capacity audience filled the auditorium of the First M. E. Church last evening and all were delighted with the program given by Leon Rice and his able assistants. Miss Caesar's three violin numbers were enthusiastically received and encores were persistent. Mr. Rice announced that tonight's program would be all American. While the composers' names may some of them have a foreign sound they are all American citizens. Among the numbers to be given tonight are "Che Gelida Manina"
by Giacomo Puccini, "Roses of Picardy" by Haydn Wood, "Mother My Dear" by Bryceson Freharne, "If I Were King of Ireland" by Fay Foster, "My Lover, He Comes on the Skee" (Norwegian Love Song) by Clough-Leigher, "Invocation to Eros" by Sean P. Kursteiner. In addition, songs given in previous concerts will be repeated by urgent request, such as "The Ninety and Nine," "The Rosary" and "Birth of Morn." In addition to Mr. Rice's marvelous renditions there will be violin numbers by Miss Caesar, and songs in duet, quartette and chorus.

As this is the last chance to hear Mr. Rice and his associates in their wonderful service of song, a large audience is expected tonight.

FUNERAL OF MISS NELLIE M. IRELAND

At two o'clock yesterday afternoon
the obsequies of Miss Nellie May Ireland, late of Glendale Sanitarium,
were held at the parlors of the Jewel
City undertaking establishment.

The services were under the direction of Elder R. W. Munson, chaplain of the Glendale Sanitarium. He was assisted by Elder B. E. Beddoe, also of Glendale. A mixed quartette of nurses from the Sanitarium furnished the music and six of the lady nurses in uniform acted as pall bearers. They were the Misses Gretchen Rueff, Edna Martin, Grace Waters, Elsie Caffer, Eima Ackerson and Ruth Wolfson.

A large company of nurses and other workers at the Sanitarium attended the service. Several beautiful floral tributes were presented by the friends of the departed.
The remains were interred at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale.

mobile Club's signposting department.

Whether or not an organization of automobile owners really benefits its members is an oft-repeated question answered in the affirmative yesterday
by the announcement by the president of the Automobile Club of Southern California in his annual report, stating that this organization has saved its members $495,933 during 1918.

Of this, $257,000 was conserved by the theft bureau in the recovery of stolen automobiles which were returned to their owners. Also a very material saving of $182,772 was effected by the Inter-Insurance Exchange of the club.

One of the most remarkable features of the year, according to the report, was an increase of 4,296 members, bringing the total membership
up to 17,532, and establishing Southern California as the home of the largest motoring organization in the world.
The sign-posting department in 1918 not only erected 6,363 new signs and repainted 12,094 posts, but it carried the club signs, with the cooperation of the Lincoln Highway Association, from Southern California
to Omaha and repaired and replaced all necessary signs on the National Old Trails Road from Los Angeles to Kansas City. Transcontinental travel from the east to this part of California has increased from 419 cars
in 1914 to 4,240 cars in 1918.

OBITUARY

Miss Nellie May Ireland, daughter of John J. and May Loughborough Ireland, was born at St. Helena, California, June 14, 1889, and died at Glendale, California, March 14, 1919, at the age of twenty-nine years
and nine months.

In 1910 she entered Loma Linda Sanitarium as a patient and when she had regained some fair measure of health she entered the training school for nurses and graduated in 1914.

She came to Glendale Sanitarium
in August, 1918. During the epidemic of influenza she was taken down with that disease and although she recovered her constitution was so shattered, that being naturally frail, she gradually weakened and finally succumbed to the disorders which followed.

She was a most faithful and patient nurse always carrying out faithfully every instruction given her by the physicians. She was popular with the doctors because of her reliability. She was most conscientious and painstaking in all her work.

The friends who will mourn her loss are: Her father, John J. Ireland, who is in China, connected with the headquarters of the Seventh-Day Adventist missions in the far east; her mother, who was present, and the following who could not be present: Elder J. N. Loughborough, of the Sanitarium at St. Helena, Napa Co., Cal.; her maternal grandfather; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Louise Ireland; and her aunt, Mrs. Frances Cameron; also Miss Jennie M. Ireland. These last three all reside at 6952 Makee Ave.,
Los Angeles; and an uncle, W. M.
Ireland, who is in Alaska.

(Signed) R. W. MUNSON,
Chaplain.
