MRS. J. C. DANFORD AND MRS. TEMPLE RETURN FROM RIVERSIDE CONVENTION

Mrs. J. C. Danford returned Monday evening from the Library Convention at Riverside which opened there last Friday evening. She reports a large attendance and many papers, addresses and discussions of value. She was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Temple, a member of the Library Board, who came home Sunday. The matters most emphatically emphasized were certification of librarians and salaries of librarians, which, it was admitted, are too low at present in view of the high cost of living. No action was taken, the movement being limited to informal discussion. In reviewing the programs, Mrs. Danford said when interviewed in regard to her trip: "Informal Ethics in Libraries" was the subject of a wonderful paper by Mrs. Babcock of Kern county. She held the view that members of the staff are in a position to exert considerable influence in the community and should be persons of high ethical ideas from the highest to the lowest in rank.

"The trustee's section was a very interesting one. Mr. Porterfield of the San Diego Sun spoke on the pen- (Continued on Page 4)

SELECTION OF SCHOOL SITE

Editor Glendale Evening News: A writer with a fertile imagination has pictured opportunity as a runner with abundant locks of hair on front of his head but bald in the rear. Catch him before he passes you. If not captured then it will be very difficult if not impossible afterward. Now is the time, the opportune time to get an ideal site for our future High School buildings. For unless all signs fail Glendale will double its population in the next ten years. And if any good sites are then available the price will be almost prohibitive. The opening up of the new park tract, the Moreland truck plant on our borders, the new hospital, the unabated demand for houses by buyers and renters all point to a steady and healthy growth for Glendale. Now is the time to get the new site. Mr. McNutt's suggestion of a site covered with a lemon grove impresses me very favorably. The closing of Louise street should not receive serious consideration for a moment in my judgment. For these reasons and others I shall feel compelled for the future good of the district to vote no on both site and bond ballots.

TRUSTEES BANQUET

DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT ENTERTAINS MEMBERS OF HIGH SCHOOL BOARD

A red letter day for the Domestic Science Department of the High School is the annual banquet to the Board of Trustees of the High School and this year it occurred Wednesday, May 5th, at six o'clock. It means hard work and responsibility, but it also means glory for those who prepare it. This year the girls to whom the credit goes are: Misses Esther Black, Leota Webster, Ruth Nicholson, Eltha Harding, Helen Woods, Mildred Singleton and Lucile Woods. Under the direction of Miss Ellen Hanson, head of the department, they planned the entire affair from the color scheme of pink, yellow, lavender and green, to the full details of a seven-course dinner.

When the reporter was permitted to view the board after it had been made ready for its distinguished guests, she could not suppress a little feeling of envy of those who would not only enjoy a delicious repast, but have the satisfaction of putting to the test the fame of a department which is considered so creditable to the school. The setting for the affair in the bungalow connected with the department on the upper floor, was perfect. Crystal baskets and vases filled with flowers in harmony with the color scheme graced the sideboard and serving tables, but the centerpiece of the banquet table so far absorbed attention that these other floral decorations were mere accessories. This centerpiece was a huge basket filled with lavender and pink sweet peas, and yellow daisies, nested with smilax. At each place was a dainty May basket containing sprays of the lovely daisy-like carpet flower seen (Continued on Page 4)

BROKEN LEG HEALS

LITTLE GLEN HANSON RECOVERS AND RETURNS WITH MOTHER TO CANADA

Early in February Glen Alden Hanson, a 3-year-old boy who was here with his parents, brother and sister from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, for the winter, was run over in front of the place where they were living, 711 East Colorado, by an auto, and one leg was broken. For six weeks the little fellow lay on his back with the injured leg held in a perpendicular position, attached to a "fracture pole," and six weeks longer he remained in bed convalescing. Meantime the father had to return to the 900-acre ranch owned in Canada and he took the other children with him while Glen remained with his mother at Mrs. Anderson's sanitarium on East Harvard. They returned home a short time ago and Mrs. Anderson has heard from Mrs. Hanson since her arrival, she writing that Glen was all right but that the other two children had been very sick.

In spite of their unpleasant experiences on their first visit to Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Hanson are so in love with the city that they declare their intention to return at the first opportunity and if they can dispose of their ranch advantageously they expect to buy property here and become permanent residents.

WORTHY CITIZENS

GLENDALE WELCOMES ARRIVALS FROM KANSAS CITY WHO BUY, SETTLE DOWN

Among the many citizens of worth whom Glendale has gained in the past few months are J. H. Garnsey and wife and Dr. Wilbert W. Warriner and wife, formerly of Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Garnsey was for more than 30 years an active partner in the Garnsey, Anthony & Co. Insurance firm, which was the largest of its line in Kansas City and he still retains an interest in the business, though retired. He came to California a few months ago, was later attracted to Glendale and had his attention called to two residence properties on Vine street, one a recently completed six-room bungalow at No. 438, which was beautifully finished inside and out, belonging to Mrs. Rogers, by whom it had been built for a home. She chose later to try ranch life with her husband, so decided to sell the place. Next to it on the west is the Van (Continued on Page 4)

SCHOOL SITE OPPOSED

G. B. WOODBERRY ADVOCATES CHANGE IN HIGH SCHOOL FINANCIAL POLICIES

Editor Glendale Evening News:
I have read with interest articles on the High School situation in your issue of yesterday in which the writers question the wisdom of the second proposed bond issue and it occurs to me that their position is well taken.

Mr. Lindley's article is especially concise, logical and as a statement of facts is incontrovertible.

This gentleman believes: That the present site is not the right one and that the people so determined by an overwhelming vote. (Read Mrs. Richardson's able article of the last campaign; her argument now applies with equal force except that the entering wedge is but for half the previous call in amount); that the present buildings cannot be fitted into a symmetrical and appropriate set of buildings; that the plan of buying a new site now and several years later financing new buildings from the proceeds of a sale of the present site will save the District hundreds of thousands of dollars in principal and interest. I consider he is justified in this belief, in fact, we have a concrete example of how this is possible in the fact that when the school moved from its former location at Broadway and Brand the old site was sold for $11,000 and was subsequently resold at several hundred per cent increase (if curious as to its present value ask the man or men who own it, they know); that the spirit of fairness is lacking in this call for a new election, oh! that is what rankles most in the minds of those who have the temerity to dare oppose the extravagance of our school system as at present conducted. I congratulate the writer for his moral courage in thus calling a spade a spade.

To play fair is the essence of American institutions. Why did the High School Trustees request a conference with a citizen's committee after the defeat of the bonds, and (Continued on Page 3)

ASSEMBLY CLUB

DR. AND MRS. MARLENEE ELECTED TO MEMBERSHIP AND ENJOY RARE TREAT

Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Marlenee of this city have been elected to membership in the Assembly Club, recently entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Braly, and this was their first meeting as members with the club which was entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Professor Keyes on Shatto street, Los Angeles. The interest of the evening's program centered in a demonstration of color photography made by Professor Keyes with the latest improved machine for such productions by the application to the plate of starch crystals in the primary colors. He explained the process in all its details and referred to earlier processes which had paved the way for this method, viz: the method of ruling the photographic plates with the primary colors and then printing on paper similarly ruled which reproduced the color in its proper place in the picture. Professor Keyes declared there is still plenty of room for development before the process is brought to perfection for commercial and other purposes. He stated that it is slow and can only be applied at present to still life pictures, therefore is not available for the movies.

The pictures exhibited by him upon a screen showing California scenes, particularly gardens, were marvellous in their fidelity to the colors of nature. He explained that one drawback to the process is the fact that the starch application to the plates melts down under great heat and the films are therefore easily destroyed. Professor Keyes also showed color crystallization.

The demonstrations were preceded by a program of music to which Mrs. Marlenee contributed, and a remarkable poem was read by the author, Miss Dobbins of Wyoming.

Fambrough of 453 Oak street, is also a guest at the McBryde home.

THE ORATORICAL

FLOOD TIDE OF THE YEAR IN CLASS PARTISANSHIP AT HIGH SCHOOL

There is a delightful feeling of mystery and excitement at the High School this week to be discovered by those who are susceptible to the invisible and it is all explained to the initiated when it is understood that the Oratorical, the big inter-class event of the year, is to come off Friday evening. An orator has been selected for each class, Jack Jenkins having been named to wear the colors of the seniors, and carry them to victory or defeat in an oration on the subject of "Herbert Hoover." Francis Read will perform the same service for the juniors, his theme being "The Red Peril." Paul Hutchinson, for the sophomores, will also bring forth all his reserves of oratory for Herbert Hoover, who is likewise the subject of his oration, and Miss Emily Earl will be the champion of the juniors with the inspiring theme, "Theodore Roosevelt." These champions in secluded nooks are practicing their gestures and rehearsing their speeches. No less busy are the various class committees who are combining for a cumulative crushing class effect. Songs expressive of confidence in champions and derision of rivals are being composed and committed to memory and rehearsed. Yells of marvelous ingenuity and ear-splitting effect are being (Continued on Page 4)

EXCHANGE DAVENPORT FOR GLENDALE

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Peterson and two daughters, of Davenport, Iowa, who were guests last summer of Mr. Peterson's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Sonntag of South Glendale avenue, have returned from Iowa to make their permanent home here. At present they are with the Sonntags but will soon take possession of a bungalow they have leased on Colorado street. Mr. Peterson is connected with the McComas Company, a wholesale dry goods house on Los Angeles street, L. A., and finds it very convenient to live in Glendale, which won his heart when he visited here last summer. One of his daughters will enter the High School, the other will be a pupil in the Broadway School for the present, but will be in the Intermediate next fall. The Petersons expect eventually to buy property here.

BICYCLE ROAD RACE

BOY CYCLISTS OF GLENDALE TO HAVE GREAT TIME SATURDAY

Ever since the bicycle race track was made on the lot at the corner of Hawthorne and Central a few weeks ago and some races held, the boys of Glendale have been clamoring for a road race, so Wm. Pfeiffer took the matter in hand, secured permission of the city authorities to hold the race then managed to secure some handsome prizes to be given the winners.

The course selected is about six miles in length and over the finest roads imaginable. Starting on North Pacific avenue at Dryden the racers go north to Sixth street, west to Grand View avenue, then up this concrete roadway to Kenneth Road, east on that street to Pacific avenue, then south to Sixth, then around the same course once more, making just about six miles in all. There is some hill climbing, some coasting, and several level stretches, but not many. It will test the boys' skill as riders in all points.

The race is to be next Saturday afternoon, May 8, and there are 12 prizes to be contended for, namely: A gold watch set, worth $16; pair vacuum cup tires, worth $5; gold knife and chain valued at $4; pocket compass, hand bicycle horn, pump, pair handle bars, lamp, pair Federal tires, gold medal, lock, roller chain.

No one is to make any money out of the race which has been arranged solely to give the boys who ride wheels a chance to work off their pent-up enthusiasm. Already there are several entrants and it is expected there will be two dozen or more.

Philip Dodson, supervisor of the census for Los Angeles county, was in Glendale today looking up some reference maps and called on the Evening News.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair to night and Friday. Probably foggy in the morning.

ADMIRAL BENSON DEFENDS HIMSELF

DECLARES BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE HE HAS NO RECORD OF USING LANGUAGE QUOTED BY SIMS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Admiral Benson testifying before the Senate Naval Investigating Committee today said he did not think he told Admiral Sims he would soon fight the British as the Germans, as Sims charged in his testimony.

"Whatever was said," Benson insisted, "was to impress upon Admiral Sims the delicacy of the situation when he was sent to London."

"Did you ever have any idea that we could possibly fight on the side of Germany?" Chairman Hale asked.

"No, sir," Admiral Benson replied. "I cannot recall my exact words but I cautioned Sims to be very careful in his conduct and called attention to the very delicate situation that then existed. We had been directed to maintain strictly neutral relations and I gave him very earnest instructions along that line."

"Do you recall warning Admiral Sims not to 'let the British pull the wool over' his eyes?" Hale asked.

"I do not," the witness replied. "It would be impossible to report the language used. Our conversation was very confidential and as I felt very strongly about the situation I probably used very forceful language to impress upon Admiral Sims that his feelings toward the British must not be allowed to lead him into any indiscretion."

CARRANZA TO MAKE NO COMPROMISE

MEXICAN PRESIDENT DECLARES HE WILL SPARE NO EFFORT TO CRUSH REBELS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MEXICO CITY, May 6.—"It is my duty to crush the rebels and I will not cease my efforts until I have achieved that purpose," President Carranza declared in the first official pronouncement he has issued on the insurrection.

"The situation will be known when fighting begins," Carranza said. "It is my obligation to deliver the power of the nation to a president elected in a peaceful manner."

Carranza expressed full confidence in his government's ability to deal with the situation. The government has started using airplanes to keep track of the movement of rebel groups near the capital. Two planes bombed the railroad station at Cuernavaca, the capital of Morelos, 40 miles south of Mexico City, causing considerable damage. General Murguia summoned from Vera Cruz to assume command of the defense of the city, appealed to his troops to remain loyal. He compared Obregon and Gonzales to Orozco and Villa.

"The rebel movement has no political character," Carranza said. "It is wholly military. The people are not participating."

Carranza said he was prepared to deliver the government to a president elected by the people in a peaceful manner.

ILLINOIS' EXAMPLE

A great reduction of the expenses of the United States government certainly is demanded. The authorities at Washington should set an example in economy by cutting down the costs of administration. But it does not appear that anything is being done at present in this line. Indeed, the tendency is in the other direction. There has been practically no demobilization of the employes of Uncle Sam except in the military and naval services. It is said that the number of federal employes in Washington has even been increasing of late.

When the United States went into the war the number of such employes was 57,000 and when the armistice was signed there were 117,000 persons working for Uncle Sam in Washington. A reduction was made to 102,000 by the beginning of last July, but the total has been going up gradually since then. There should be a wholesale clearing out of excess servants of the government at Washington. What the Democratic officials find for these people to do, as an excuse for retaining them on the payroll, is a mystery. The number employed should now be getting close to the pre-war total, thus releasing many who might go into some productive business and cut down the government expenditure.

Another way to save money would be to put the government on a strictly business basis. This would be helped by the adoption of a budgeting system, such as has been advocated for years by progressive citizens. Through adoption of a budget system, taxes in Illinois have been reduced 33 per cent in two years, unwarranted expenditures have been dispensed with, and the state government has been modernized, to the benefit of the taxpayers. Illinois has set an example which should be followed by other states and by the federal government.

Personals

Mrs. P. A. Myers of South Mariposa street is visiting relatives in San Diego. She expects to return in about a week.

Contractor E. D. Yard has contracted to build a $500 addition to C. S. West's residence, 121 West Park avenue.

J. C. Bardsley has taken out a permit for the erection of a 5-room residence and a garage at 344 Burchett, to cost $2500.

Dr. Lewis, manager of the Marlette Optical Company in San Bernardino, is in Glendale today on business connected with the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stoddard, and Miss Lizzie, spent yesterday and last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones, 310 W. Hawthorne.

Mrs. S. J. Mosher, who is residing with her daughter, Mrs. James F. McBryde, at 408 West Broadway, is visiting her children in Pomona this week.

Mrs. F. M. Elliott, who has been living in Glendale for nearly a year past, at 127 South Kenwood, started today for Hutchinson, Kansas, to spend the summer with a daughter. She will return to Glendale next fall.

Fred Freitag is engaged in the difficult task of moving a 5-room house from near Lincoln Park to 1231 E. Broadway. It is to be rolled along one of the busiest streets in Southern California, San Fernando Road, for several miles, to Glendale avenue, up that street to Lomita, east to Adams, north to Broadway and thence east to destination. It will be placed on the lot and put in shape for residence purposes.

A. K. Finley and wife, formerly of Portland, Oregon, have bought the Harker place at 434 West Doran. They have been in Southern California for several months and were at Long Beach most of the time. Hearing much of Glendale they came up to investigate and decided to buy property. They expect to set on foot extensive repairs to the property, then return to Portland for a time to settle up business affairs there.

Miss Catherine Taylor arrived last Saturday from Denton, Texas, to live with her sister, Mrs. Geo. M. Anderson, of 1312 East Harvard. She has been attending the College of Industrial Arts there for five years and will finish her course in U. S. C. while living in Glendale. She and Mrs. Anderson are daughters of Walter E. Taylor, known all over Texas and to many former residents of the Lone Star State now living in Glendale as the foremost architect of the great state in which he lived with headquarters at Fort Worth.

Miss Mattie Taylor of Fremont, Nebraska, is a guest in the home of her cousin, D. J. Hibben, of 123 East Laurel street. She has been in Southern California since the middle of January and is very favorably impressed with the state. She would like to persuade her parents to come out here to live but fears they are too well established on a farm in Nebraska of which they took possession about forty years ago to yield to her coaxing. She expects to be here until the first of next month.

Mrs. J. R. Sears and little daughter of Colfax, 20 miles west of Sacramento, are here visiting Mrs. Sears' parents, J. H. Garnsey and wife, of 438 Vine street, and her sister, Mrs. W. W. Warriner, of 442 Vine. She and her husband drove down from their home last week with her parents, sister and brother-in-law, who had been visiting them. Mr. Sears had to go back at once on the train but will return to Glendale later and drive back home with his wife and little daughter. They own a 240-acre ranch near Colfax which is set almost entirely to Bartlett pears.

Mrs. T. S. Lawrence, who underwent a very serious operation a few weeks ago at Westlake Hospital, performed by Dr. T. C. Young, is recovering rapidly at Mrs. Anderson's private sanitarium on East Harvard. As soon as she is well enough she and her husband will move into the very comfortable garage recently built at a cost of more than a thousand dollars on Campbell street. A large and costly home will be built by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence later on the front of the 50x250 ft. lot owned there, while Mr. Lawrence's uncle will build a similar house on the adjoining lot. Both have had years of experience in building and interior decorating.

DEATH OF MRS. LAURA LAMPMAN

Mrs. Laura A. Lampman, wife of C. E. Lampman, passed away at her home, 503 North Isabel street, Wednesday, May 5, 1920, at 2 p. m. She was a member of the Bluebell Rebekah Lodge and of the Normal Park Chapter, O. E. S., of Chicago. Funeral services which will be in charge of the Scovern Company will be held at her late residence, May 7th, at 4 p. m., with interment at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

READING CIRCLE

LIVELY MEETING AT THE CITY LIBRARY MARKED BY CONSIDERABLE DISCUSSION

The first regular meeting without its beloved leader, Mrs. Toll, was held by members of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle Wednesday in the juvenile room of the Public Library on Harvard street. It was largely attended and marked by great enthusiasm and a responsiveness most gratifying to Mrs. A. A. Barton, who has been made the leader pro tem. She read an entertaining but practical letter which Mrs. Toll had written the circle in which she gave the dates of her itinerary making it possible for members to address her at any time. The program included a review by Mrs. McLaughlin of "Professional education as a prevention of juvenile delinquency." It contained some interesting statements, such as: "seventy per cent of the children in the United States do not get beyond the seventh grade; idleness is the bane of our social order; that which is the desire of the people must be put into the public schools." The point emphasized in the article was that children must be given something more than the ordinary education, it must be industrial or professional training which will fit them to make profitable use of their hands or brains and equip them for life work and independence.

In the afternoon Mrs. John Cotton had charge of the reading of the book, "Development of the Child" by Oppenheim. The chapter considered was "religion in education" and in it the author opposed the giving of religious instruction to young children on the ground they were incapable of understanding it. It brought out a great deal of lively discussion among members many of whom did not agree with the author.

after said committee had unanimously voted against a $250,000 bond issue come out with their present call? So far as I can learn every member of that committee left the meeting believing that the Trustees had pledged themselves and that the call would be for enough money to make necessary and immediate temporary provision for present needs of the High School pupils and only that.

In this final analysis our present troubles are but the symptoms arising from a wrong method of conducting public business and until we have the sense to change this method and remove the cause, the symptoms will continue to make us trouble.

Nine and one-half millions of dollars were paid by the taxpayers of Los Angeles county last year for schools, to be disbursed by some fifty-three different bodies according to their knowledge or lack of knowledge of business methods. Two million, six hundred thousand dollars were to be collected this year and yet we are undoubtedly underpaying some of our teachers. Sixty per cent of all taxes are for schools and there is a constant cry for more money. What becomes of it all and what will be the final result? There is land in the city which has never been cleared of its natural covering of brush which in 1919 paid in taxes a 10,000 per cent increase over the tax of 1886. No, it is not a mistake; 10,000 is the figure. Is it any wonder the cry of confiscation is being raised? As to the existence of this defect in our school methods and the necessity of having our schools managed by a body having jurisdiction over an entire county, a body which will standardize buildings, grounds and equipment and run the school system under uniform business methods, I quote the following extract from a report of the Executive Committee of the Taxpayers' League of California:

Extravagance a Menace

"There is probably no single department of governmental activity in which greater savings can be made through improved organization and more efficient administration than the school department.

"The cost of education is mounting with such extreme rapidity as to cause great disquiet, not only to taxpayers but to some educators themselves, and unless intelligent and prompt action is taken by the constituted school authorities to improve organization and administrative methods it is possible that the generous and open-handed financial support now afforded to the schools may be very materially curtailed, or that the burden of expense will become so great that wholly unqualified persons will attempt to remedy conditions that should have been remedied by the constituted school authorities. . . . The school people of the state owe it to themselves and to the taxpayers who have so liberally supported them . . . to strive immediately and strenuously to throw out the present grotesque school organization and supplant it with a simple, functional organization under which responsibility is really vested somewhere and which shall afford at least the advantages afforded by the existing system at much less cost." existing system at much less cost." G. B. WOODBERRY.

DORAN STREET P.-T. A.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR COMING YEAR AND PICNIC PLANS DISCUSSED

A large meeting and a pleasant, profitable one was enjoyed by about forty members of the Doran Street Parent-Teacher Association who gathered at the school Wednesday afternoon for the election of officers and the usual monthly gathering. Mrs. Barton, president of the P.-T. A. Federation, made a brief address, and Superintendent White talked for a few minutes about the grammar school bonds. The chief speaker of the afternoon was Miss Anna Irene Jenkins, of Los Angeles, who gave an interesting history of the origin and development of the Parent-Teacher movement.

Officers elected were: Mrs. Leon Sonntag, president, to succeed herself.

Mrs. Oliver Clark, secretary.
Mrs. M. Barnett, first vice-president.

Mrs. A. T. Wintersgill, second vice-president.
Mrs. Speck, treasurer.

Plans for the annual picnic were discussed and the first Saturday in June was named as the date when pupils of the school and members of the association will probably spend the day at Brookside Park.

Following the program, tea and home-made cake were served by members of the hospitality committee of which Mrs. Wintersgill is chairman.

WAR OVER FILM PLANT

EAGLE ROCK CITIZENS DIVIDED ON LOCATION OF INDUSTRY THERE

The citizens of our neighbor on the east, Eagle Rock, are very much divided over the proposition to locate a big motion picture plant on a 70-acre tract within the city limits. The Mayor is for it, but the Chamber of Commerce voted against it by 21 to 16. Some of the ministers oppose the proposition very strongly, also club women and many other prominent citizens, though the promoter of the enterprise declares that it is an organization with a principle that is worthy of the highest commendation of every one, as the slogan is "Morality First." But one determined opponent asserts that "the location of a picture plant in this city would wreck its fortunes. No merchant would be benefited. The moral standards of the city would be lowered."

The film company proposes, through its manager, to erect a group of modern buildings and build a park all at a cost of $500,000 or more.

While Glendale doesn't wish to interfere with Eagle Rock's civic affairs in any way, some of our citizens say that should our neighbor decide to turn down the proposition Glendale would be mighty glad to give it a chance. We already have one such industry in our city and it has had no apparent evil effect. We could easily furnish unsurpassed locations and ample facilities for one or two more and consider them to be decided assets to the city's growth.

SUPPOSED BURGLAR SEEN AND DESCRIBED

Mrs. J. H. Franklin of 246 North Central avenue phoned to police headquarters last evening that a man of very suspicious appearance had called at their home about sunset and also on the evening before and she thought from his appearance he would bear close watching. Officers were sent at once to look for the man but failed to round him up. The description given of him tallied almost exactly with that given by residents of South Glendale of a man who had been prowling about there and who was thought to have burglarized Freeman Kelley's home. The description in both cases was of a man about 35 years old, decidedly Jewish in appearance, and wearing a black soft hat, dark clothes with sack coat which was slit in the back. Anyone seeing a suspicious appearing character of this description should promptly notify the police.

PHILATHEA CLASS PARTY

Mrs. Glen Porter of 334 Salem St. entertained members of the Philathea Class of the Glendale Presbyterian Church Tuesday night. The class is in two divisions, the Eudoias and the Syntyches. Both were guests. The consideration of business matters occupied the fore part of the evening, the balance being given to social enjoyment. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess who had beautifully decorated her home with May baskets filled with sweet peas and other flowers now in season. About twenty were present.

Dr. Anderson and wife of Fort Scott, Kansas, were guests of Will Hedges and wife, 121 East Park avenue, old fellow townsmen, yesterday and today. They are now on their way home after spending the winter in Southern California.

PERFUME AT $5 A DROP

The Parisian elite is agog over a new perfume which is being sold at the rate of $5 a drop. It is produced from seaweed, of which a ton yields only five drops, and is declared to be the most exquisite scent known to mankind. No doubt it will be imported to America.

The price at which the perfume is sold probably will stamp, in the popular mind, anyone who buys it as extravagant to the point of profligacy. Yet, in comparison with the prices paid for other luxuries, it may not be excessive. The best attar of roses, produced at Ghazipur in Hindustan, before the war commanded as much as $100 a fluid ounce, and at that it was almost impossible to obtain a supply that was not adulterated. When one learns that 400,000 well-grown roses are required to produce an ounce of the attar the price is not found exorbitant.

Now it is not beyond the bounds of reason that a drop of the new scent, over which Paris is so enthusiastic, may give more pleasure than a bottle of champagne, for which it was no uncommon thing to pay $5. Moreover, its effect may be more lasting. A grain or two of musk will scent a room for years.

Deprived by prohibition of the opportunity to cultivate delicacy in the sense of taste through the medium of rare old vintages, our dilettant in such things may find entertainment in developing the sense of smell, which, as everyone knows, is in merely a rudimentary stage in the human race, as compared with the perfection which it has reached in dogs, notably pointers and bloodhounds.

Connoisseurs of wine may find some compensation for prohibition in a nice judgment of perfumes.

Criticism of the campaign of the department of justice against profiteers is announced to have stirred it to unprecedented action. That man mean that they may catch one or two more profiteers.

LIBRARY MATTERS
sioning of librarians. He insisted they are as much entitled to pensions as teachers. Miss Grace Henry of the Pasadena Public Library spoke on the salary question. The relation of library boards to the taxing bodies was handled by the president of the Riverside Library Board. He said that boards of trustees are usually guided by the demands made upon them by citizens and that the urgent demands are frequently for streets and other matters of civic improvement other than library books and in consequence libraries suffer. The relations between libraries and municipal governments was a subject presented by Senator S. C. Evans of Riverside.

"Of special interest to the rank and file of librarians present was the round table over which Miss Brown of Long Beach presided at which the every-day problems to be encountered in municipal libraries were discussed.

"John McGroarty gave a fine talk on the romance of early California at one of the evening sessions. An able talk on the part the library plays in Americanization in reaching immigrants was made by John Collier, Director of the Training School for Community Workers, New York. There were also various interesting exhibits of library appliances, etc.

"Delegates were given a ride to the Indian School and to the aviation field, which was, of course, enjoyed."

Mrs. Danford stated that a slight change of policy has been inaugurated at the City Library on Harvard street in that the juvenile room will be opened at nine o'clock in the morning for the benefit of any young readers who chance to come notwithstanding the fact that most of the juvenile patrons are in school at that time. Some of the mechanical work which has heretofore been done elsewhere has been transferred to the desk in the juvenile room, thus making this change possible.

Relative to the book reviews, Mrs. Danford stated that they are being given every Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the main library, also on the second and fourth Thursday evenings in the same place, and on the first and third Friday afternoons of each month at 2 o'clock at the Branch Library on Brand and Los Feliz Road. Books reviewed during the past month have included "The Man of the Ages" by Irving Bacheller, being a story of the romance of Abraham Lincoln and Ann Rutledge. Joseph C. Lincoln's "The Portugee" has also been discussed, and some of the modern poets. During the coming month modern novels will be considered.

PRINTING PRESS MONEY
While the war was in progress Germany failed to levy taxes to pay any considerable part of the cost of military operations. Bond issues were floated from time to time, but the cost of the war was to be saddled on the entente nations and their associates. Owing to a misapprehension as to the victors, Germany's condition now is worse, possibly, than it would have been had there been an attempt to levy taxes for the support of the war. Had the latter been attempted, the collapse might have come sooner and there would have been less of a bill to pay.

The sole reliance of the government now appears to be in printing press money. On March 31st the Imperial Bank had a note circulation of 45,000,000 marks. About one-half of this enormous sum has been issued in the last year. Instead of making an effort to get on a sound financial basis, an undertaking colossal at best, the presses are kept busy turning out fiat money, promises to pay that probably will never be redeemed.

To a German a mark may still be a mark, but the more the government turns out the less is a mark worth, gauged by its exchange value. The Germans themselves will be the losers through their immense volume of currency. Their obligations to other nations cannot be paid in that kind of money, and that will make the situation at home all the worse. Not all the punishment the Germans are suffering because of their crimes are inflicted by their enemies.

ing invented and also practiced by leaders and by classes as a whole. Still more important is the work of the booth committee of each class. Most original and beautiful have been the class emblems known as "booths" in the past, so clever it would almost seem nothing had been left that would be new for next year, and yet the inventive genius has not failed at any time and no doubts have registered in the minds of disinterested observers in regard to this year's products. As in the past the booths will no doubt be related to the themes of the champions and the motif may even be carried into a costume pageant in which all the class members will participate. Any kind of a surprise in appearance or behavior is permissible at "The Oratorical," for strict rules are forgotten and the school gives itself without reserve to all possible artificial stimuli of wild class partisanship. Persons with sensitive ear drums will do well to remain away from the High School on that night and it will be the easier for them to do so because they will probably not be admitted unless they chance to be the only parents of some champion. Every student will aim to be there and as the student body far exceeds the seating capacity of the school auditorium, the disposition of the units of the clamoring audience will be a problem likely to tax the head of the department in mathematics and the heads of several other departments. It should be remembered also that several sets of judges are to be accommodated.

Judges of thought and composition have already done their work and the orations are coming back to Professor Root with the sealed verdict in each case which will not be opened until exercises have started Friday night. These judges were: Professor H. E. Wise of the Department of Philosophy and Education, Redlands University; Professor Howe, University of California, Southern Branch, and Miss Anna Painter, instructor in English at Whittier College.

For the three judges of delivery have been selected Miss Brooks of the Cumnock School of Expression, a representative of the Los Angeles City Attorney's Office, and a Los Angeles clergyman, whose name was not available at the time Mr. Root gave out the information.

For both judges Mr. Root had the promise of a member of the staff of the Los Angeles Express, a member of the staff of the University of California, Southern Branch, and Mr. Donaldson, a member of the staff of the Otis Art Institute.

As indicated, each class will strain every nerve to keep its activities in connection with the Oratorical a profound secret, and will use all its Sherlock Holmes faculties to discover if possible what its rivals are doing. It is the flood time of the year in class spirit and the event to which the school looks forward with as much, possibly more, interest than to commencement.

WORTHY CITIZENS

Why property, owned and occupied for 10 or 12 years by that family. This Mr. Garnsey bought for his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. Warriner and wife, and purchased the Rogers property for himself and wife. Extensive improvements to the Van Why house and grounds have been made.

Dr. Warriner is a surgeon dentist and he served for more than a year in France. He was in the fierce conflicts in Argonne Forest and around Metz, acting as surgeon, helping to carry the wounded back from the front and giving first aid to hundreds. He was almost constantly under fire and was badly gassed while working heroically in the very front line, necessitating a long stay in the hospital. He will practice his profession out here having already established an office in Los Angeles.

Mr. Garnsey very wisely provided a means of soon getting acquainted with Glendale's people and affairs by ordering the Evening News sent to him regularly.

SUPPRESSING NEWS OF CRIME

On the ground that "publication of sensational news of crime does not in any way benefit the public, and in many ways tends to lower the moral tone of the community," the mayor of a California city has bidden his chief of police to give no information to the press concerning arrests and crimes. Vice-President Marshall deplored the attention given by the press to news of crime in an address to newspaper publishers the other day; but he did not go so far as to advocate that it should be withheld from reporters. The position of the California executive is indefensible.

For public officials to take it upon themselves to act as censors of the press is to sow the seeds of an evil infinitely worse than that which they profess to seek to eradicate. Crime thrives in darkness. Whether or not it is advisable to give prominence to stories of sordid crimes may be debatable. But it should be left to the newspaper's own discretion whether it shall be printed.

on many of our vacant lots known as "Sunshine." These baskets which carried out the color scheme and were of lavender, pink, yellow or green, were the work of the girls and were described by some of the people who saw them as "simply darling." The handles which encircled them were tied with loops of lavender and pink tulle and they added in no small degree to the beauty of the scene. Next in order of importance were the place cards which again displayed cleverness and artistic skill. Upon each tumbler was poised a paper butterfly of pink, green, yellow or lavender, splashed with gilt and the base of the card on which the butterfly was mounted bore the name of the guest. But the butterfly motif did not end there. At either end of the table was a little May Pole, the ends of its ribbon streamers tacked to the cloth with butterflies of the four colors. The same shades were repeated in the tall candles with which the feast was illuminated and which were mounted in glass candlesticks.

When the menu itself was approached words failed, and the impression it made upon the fourteen permitted to enjoy it will have to be learned from them. Suffice to say, the color scheme was carried out so far as practicable in the viands and that the cakes served with the ice cream were of butterfly shape.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner of Eagle Rock, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Pugh, Daniel Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. George U. Moyses, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Oliver and Professor Harry Howe.

GOODYEAR HAS MAMMOTH MANUFACTURING PLANT

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., which figures so largely in the advertising columns of the Evening News these days, started the operation of its big new factory built in old Ascot Park, Los Angeles, Monday. This company is to have a $25,000,000 plant when all is completed including immense factories for the manufacture of tires and tire material. It will have its own cotton gins and work up for the fabric of the tires it makes, cotton grown on its own land. It will consume 100,000,000 kilowatts of electricity when all its plants are completed and in running order, or 3 1-3 per cent of the total output of all the power plants on the Pacific slope between Oregon and Mexico, according to State Power Administrator Butler.

TRIBUTE TO GLENDALE

By Mrs. Mary C. Beauchamp
1210 S. Glendale Avenue

Other lands may flaunt their splendors—
Castles old, cathedrals grand,
Mountains, lakes, historic rivers,
Cities by sea-breezes fanned;
But for Nature's choicest great things—
Canyon, fall, cave, peak or bay,
There's no need to cross the ocean,
Give to me the U. S. A.

Other states may boast their greatness—
Orchards fine, vast fields of wheat,
Factories large and commerce centers,
Prairies fertile, horses fleet;
But for enterprise gigantic,
In a climate all men seek,
Scenic beauty, fruits and flowers,
California is unique.
Other counties tell their stories—
How they're growing every way,
How their business is increasing,
People coming there to stay—
But the work that earns a living,
Nowhere else wears pleasure's dress,
As in pleasantest surroundings,
County of Los Angeles.

One more step is in this climax,
If you seek the choicest spot,
Where just to be alive a joy is,
Palace be your home, or cot;
Snow-capped mountains, purple foothills,
Fragrant orchards, flower-strewn vale—
Nature's done her very best for California's gem—Glendale.

IT'S UP TO THE PEOPLE

In order to obtain relief from existing financial and industrial conditions the American people have got to set about deliberately to help themselves. If they do not do for themselves, they will be incapable of helping in the economic rehabilitation of Europe, and that not being brought about we shall not derive needed benefit from abroad. That succinctly states the judgment of the national committee on European finance of the Chambers of Commerce of the United States. It is logical, as everyone must admit.

For the economic ills of the world the remedy is chiefly in the hands of Americans. The committee recommends as a beginning diminishing home consumption, abolition of waste and increased production, and revision of the national taxation system. Thus will be pricked the bubble of inflation at home. When we have got on more substantial financial ground through this means we shall be in position to extend credit to Europe, but not before.

And it is important to note the argument in the report supporting this conclusion. The business before the country is the people's business; the advances toward stability must be made by them. No longer can dependence be put in the government for this essential work. Further extension of credit to Europe by the government would be but to augment inflation here. Private enterprise must take care of that—when the people have made it possible. They can make it possible only by going to work. The situation being thus put up to the American people, there should be an immediate response for the common benefit.

There is a warning for Europe as well as advice for America in the committee report. Too long has a belief prevailed abroad that we would distribute alms indefinitely in war-worn lands. Perhaps that is one reason why they have been slow to resume their pre-war industrial stride. With this truth before the people of both hemispheres, there should be no more hesitancy. Europe must be worthy of help before it will be tendered. It is a straight business proposition that is put up to the people on both sides of the Atlantic. Get to work everywhere, and the products of all will prove of common benefit.

"There is nothing lost in shooting square with Uncle Sam," says E. B. Fish, the sterling young patriot who came out of the labor ranks to fight Bolshevism and who appears before Chautauqua audiences on the fourth evening. He said recently in a public address: "Americans believe in a square deal, and Uncle Sam will see that they get it. We are all Americans whether we work with our muscles, our brains, or our money. The spirit of Americanism is the cure for unrest."

Fish has been sweeping the "reds" out of the Northwest by his remarkable patriotic work. He has been talking to his fellow laborers wherever he could find them assembled and they have been listening by the thousands. He is now editor of the "Labor and Industrial Journal," of Seattle, a magazine of pure Americanism, and the author of a book just published, "The Cause and Cure of Industrial Unrest."
