PURPOSE OF THE SCHOOL

REVARD INSTITUTE'S purpose is clear-cut. It strives to supply the educational needs of certain definite classes of young people.

1. Those who do not expect to attend College. This includes high school graduates who desire brief technical courses to fit them for their life work, and also pupils who prefer vocational high school work to the classical branches still offered in most schools.

2. Young people who find it necessary to secure remunerative employment very soon. Such pupils can here acquire skill in some favorite department, and thus avoid the drudgery of the untrained.

3. To many young people a change of environment is valuable. Sometimes the only chance a girl has to see new scenes and different people is during her school days, and the broadening influence of a boarding school is inestimable. Sometimes the local associations are not the best, and a few months of school give a child a new vision of life.

4. Some pupils do not have good educational advantages at home. Most public schools are doing excellent work, but some are not yet on their feet, and pupils cannot wait for their development.

5. Many people are unable to pay the actual cost of a boarding school education, and must have some such help as Brevard Institute affords. Our exceedingly low rates provide an opportunity for every church, society, or individual to develop some worthy girl of the community for a life of usefulness and honor.

We endeavor to give the best educational advantages at less than the usual and actual cost. We do not take pupils with bad characters or habits; we cannot take those in poor health. Our mission is to that large and most respectable and sensible class who, though unable to pay the usual boarding school expenses, are nevertheless eager for an education, that their lives may be happier and more useful.

TRAINING FOR CHRISTIAN WORKERS

Brevard Institute is owned and operated by the Woman's Missionary Council of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. It has also received large benefactions from the Western North Carolina Conference of the same Church, and feels keenly its responsibility to both organizations. It feels that the church universal has the right to expect returns in the form of Christian young people with at least some degree of training for aggressive church work. Consequently it makes Bible training a part of its regular course of study, and encourages practice in many forms of Christian leadership. This includes Christian Association work, Sunday school work, leading prayer meetings, singing and playing hymns, etc. At the same time it impresses constantly upon all students that these activities are in themselves only external, and that real Christianity manifests itself in consistent living, in straightforwardness, and in usefulness.

ADVANTAGES

Brevard, N. C., is in the famous health region near Asheville, and is called "The Gate to the Sapphire Country." The Institute occupies one hundred and twelve acres of land in and adjoining the corporate limits of the town. On this property are Spencer Hall, containing accommodations for the literary and vocational departments; Taylor Hall, which is girls' dormitory; nine frame cottages, occupied by teachers and boys; a large barn, and other buildings. Spencer Hall is new and well equipped for the varied activities which it houses. An excellent dormitory for boys was erected last year. The entire plant is lighted by electricity, and connected with the city sewer and water systems.

DIVERSIONS

Keeping in mind the pedagogical fact that education should train the entire being, and not the intellect only, Brevard Institute students are encouraged to participate in literary society work and in athletics, to take part in mountain climbs, to use liberally the library and reading table, and to attend the lyceum course. Grafanola lectures to train musical taste are given frequently. A good moving picture machine was installed in 1921, and it is frequently used. Students meet occasionally in receptions and parties, supervised by teachers.

DEPARTMENTS

In addition to the literary work preparatory to college entrance, the Institute offers well developed courses for teachers, for bookkeepers and stenographers, for piano players and singers, for dress-makers and milliners, for housekeepers and cooks, and for agriculturists. Special classes are organized when called for in expression, telegraphy, carpentry, photography, printing, plumbing, electricity, dairying, etc.

INDUSTRIAL SYSTEM

As far as possible all the work in the buildings and about the place is done by students under the direction of the teachers. This reduces expenses, provides exercise and relief from study, teaches the best way of doing everyday tasks, inculcates promptness and system, and dignifies labor. It develops the mental power of doing as well as thinking, and thus prepares in the only true way for life as it is.

SELF HELP

This system makes possible low rates for all, but leaves very little work by which one can reduce expenses below catalogue rates. There is, however, some little extra work for those who have shown themselves worthy and capable by at least six months of satisfactory study, work, and conduct in the Institute.

EXPENSES

All students in the boarding department are required to pay the Campus Fee, the Matriculation Fee, the Incidental Fee, and the Culture Course Fee. Girls are required to buy an Oxford cap, and during their first year all students are required to take an introductory course in carpentry, sewing, or cooking. All these necessary fees for the first year amount to $152.80, from which discounts amounting to $2.79 can be deducted for payments for twelve weeks at a time in advance.

The Matriculation Fee of two dollars must be paid when application for admission is accepted. It will be returned if, for any satisfactory reason, the application is withdrawn before August 15, 1923.

VARIATIONS IN EXPENSES

The Campus Fee includes the cost of food, academic tuition, medical attention of school physician, bedding, light, furnished rooms, and free use of laundry and ironing room. Bedrooms are supplied with sheets, pillow cases, and towels. Students furnish their own soap, comb, brushes, clothespins, starch, bluing, etc. Girls do their own laundry work. Most boys are able to find sufficient extra work to pay for their washing. Each student is requested to furnish a drinking glass, a tea spoon and a table knife, which are to be kept in his or her room for individual use.

By doing extra work, industrious pupils can reduce their fees to $100 or lower after they become familiar with the Institute methods. This is extremely low, considering the expensive nature of the vocational training offered by the Institute. There are a few scholarships, or partial scholarships, available for students, but usually these are assigned to those whose worth has already been demonstrated by residence on the campus.

Extra fees of a moderate nature are charged those who study expression, music, commercial branches, and manual training; and also those who do laboratory work in science, printing, telegraphy, photography, plumbing, etc.

SECTION II OF THE CATALOG

The Brevard Institute catalog is issued in two sections, of which this is Section I. Section II describes in detail what has been very briefly outlined in Section I. Those who are interested in the work of the school are cordially invited to send for the remainder of the catalog. This includes those who wish to attend school themselves, those who have children whom they wish to send, those who are interested in young people who need the help of a boarding school, or even those who are interested in vocational education from a pedagogical point of view. Section II of the catalog or any other information will be gladly sent upon request.
