From that point of view the despatch fills us with (FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.) LONDON, 16TH APRIL. MILITARY reform is certainly judges, we always gave both Mr. Seymour Fitz-gerald, M.P., and Sir Seymour Fitzgerald, Govermore attention. Questions are asked almost nightly nor of Bombay, credit for statesmanlike and for administrative ability considerably above the averity to the question, and has just issued a pamphlet on our defensive forces. In this he shows rage. But this document is an attempt to evade a pressing responsibility—which with all due de-ference we may tell His Excellency that he will not that the Volunteers are fit to be garrison troops of our dockyards and arsenals, but are not fit be able to evade. Such attempts are rather marks of feebleness and hesitation, or a dislike to take part in a moveable army for the of grappling with a duty, than signs of an active, powerful, and and conscientions mind. A popular minister with a big majority at his back can sometimes afford to try and put off the evil day; but a Governor of Bombay, with public opinion against him, a reputation to win, and short time to do it in, cannot afford it; and we are really pained to see the attempt so cavalierly made.

From another point of view the letter is still more deulorable. We are no lovers of the indefence of the kingdom. He also states that of grappling with a duty, than signs of an acavalierly made.

From another point of view the letter is still to such a measure. It is much more probable that there will be an attempt made to increase more deplorable. We are no lovers of the institution called the Bench of Justices, because we consider it to be the fruit of a mistaken policy—a policy based on an inaccurate perception of the facts and out of harmony with the fundamental conditions of British rule. But mittees and commissions have been sitting on fundamental conditions of British rule. But the Governor does not so consider it. He evidently thinks well of the institution. He thinks that it can be effectively worked, investigate army organization as a whole. The and he is one of the many amiable victims to results of this committee will probably be that a the popular notion that we are bound to develope new organization will be introduced into the War self-government among the people committed to our charge. That being so, why does he not treat the Justices with some respect?

Office, by which the Secretary of State will have on either side of him a military officer responsible for the drill, discipline, and dress of the army, and They are volunteers—why does he address them a controller responsible for the supply and transas if they were paid agents? No doubt, perhaps with pardonable haste at least the port. The country will be territorially divided into new military districts, and the troops, Volunoriginal members-the Justices accepted the teers and Militia, in each district, placed under unctions imposed upon them; but why does the the military officer commanding the district. The bounty of the men of the Army Reserve will be in-Governor write on the erroneous assumption that they were parties to the conditions oricreased, and it is hoped by these means to obtain ginally imposed from above? What the Goa larger number of men in the Reserve. The wernor practically says to the Justices is—Gentlemen, you are to blame, if there is, and adjutants of Militia and Volunteers will be required to give more time to the public duties of the State, I am not clear that there is, anything wrong; and will probably be obliged to do the duties now for you point out no defects, suggest no remedies, and will probably be obliged to do the duties now and although I am the responsible Governor performed by staff-officers of pensioners. Such of this Presidency, it is not for me to see things for myself, or to take any are a few of the proposed changes which will be inaugurated if the scheme of army reform considered desirable is brought to maturity. The organization of the cavalry in squadrons is an accomplished fact, and the following general order (dated 13th April) has been issued by the

Adjutant General :-Adjutant General:

His Royal Highness the Field Marshal Commanding-in-Chief having decided that squadron organization shall be established in cavalry regiments, in barracks as well as in the field, directs that officers commanding will take immediate steps to carry out the following instructions:

For the figure the squadron will be considered the unit, and the rord" troop" will be discontinued.

There will be four squadrons in each regiment.

To each 'squadron two captains, two lieutenants, and one cornet will be allotted, the four senior captains will command the squadrons, receive the contingent allowance, and be responsible to the commanding officer for the horses, arms, accountements, stores, &c., of the whole squadron.

The junior captains will serve under the orders of the senior.

The junior captains will serve under the orders of the senior.

To each squadron a sergeant-major and a quarter-master-sergeant will be appointed.

These non-commissioned officers are to be selected from the troop sergeant-majors.

The sergeant-major's duties will relate, under the direction of the captain, to all details connected with the drill, discipline, and management of the squadron.

The quarter-master-sergeant will, under the direction of the captain, keep the accounts of the squadron, and take charge of spare arms, accountements, stores, &c.

The following non-commissioned officers, &c., will also be attached to each squadron, viz.:—

6 serjeants, 6 corporals, 1 farrier, 2 trumpeters, 3 shoeing smiths, and 1 saddler.

THE CASE OF MR. W. TAYLER.

WE append as a literary curiosity, the article on the Tayler case, which the printer of the Indian Examiner refused to publish. As we mentioned a few days ago there was only blank space and a note of explanation in the part of the Examiner, where the article should have been inserted. Sir Barnes Peacock may at all events console himself with the reflection that he has effectually frightened the Calcutta printers :-MR. TAYLER'S CASE.

It is with extreme sorrow that we approach the sub ject of this article-sorrow not on account of any of the personal interests involved, but because we fee that it is of infinitely less importance in the interest of justice and of the public that a hundred Mr Taylers should be guilty with impunity of contemp of the High Court than that the Court should lose in any degree the sympathy of the public Mr. Tayler's case was, perhaps, one of the last into which it was desirable that any public question should be imported; and when on Tuesday last, the Chief Justice postponed his decision to give Mr. Tayler the opportunity of publishing an apology, which everyone then considered him the very suggestion of which gave rise to the general belief that it would complete the satisfaction which the Court intended to exact, we had hoped that his compliance would have permitted an opportunity for the determination of the case, without exposing the Court and by treating the expression of those feel-ings through the medium of the public press as a criminal offence, he has opened up questions which even in a country where the public is so weak as in India, it is most desirable to avoid. For the publication of certain letters and comments on Mr. Tayler's case—the nature of which we do not for the present propose to discuss—and for the opening of a subscription list for the payment of Mr. Tayler's fine, the to show cause why the publisher and printer of the Englishman should not be committed for contempt, and the service of a subpœna upon Mr. J. Northam and Captain Fenwick, who have been ordered therein to produce the list of subscriptions towards the fine, and any letter or letters from any gentleman or gentle men who have offered to subscribe to the fund. Upon the public alone, of whose views the law is itself but an expression and the Court a minister, must depend the ultimate decision of the grave issues thus raised. We do not say, we cannot believe, that the Chies Justice has been actuated by motives of vindictiveness. On the contrary, it was probably his strong sense of the perfect purity of his motives, which led him into the error of judgment we cannot but, consider him to have committed. But we regret that the action of the Court should have been such as to present even the appearance of vindictiveness; and there is but too much evidence to show that to a large portion, perhaps to the majority of the public, it did present that appearance. We will not now discuss the question whether the dignity of justice does not lose more than it gains by that state of the law which permits a man to be both prosecutor and judge, in the same case, even where that man is the presiding officer of a Court of Justice, and the offence contempt of him in that capacity. But the Court should never forget that it is both prosecutor and judge in such cases, and that, though theoretically it is above all suspicion, and though really it may incapable of absuing its power, the public in forming their judgment of the conduct of the Court will practically disregard all theories and all personal con-

The Court should remember too, that, if, thoroughly trained as it may be to the cold exercise of judgment untempered by feeling, it is still not wholly exempt from that liability to frailty of judgment or of temper, which is the lot of even the most perfect of mankind, then it is in such cases as this that it should be most on its guard. We may say, indeed, that in such cases it is better that the Court should err on the side of generosity than that it should incur the risk of being thought to err on the side of neanness or severity.

What has been the consequence of the action of Sir Barnes Peacock in this unfortunate case? Though there was a considerable portion of the pub-lic who, until they heard read on Tuesday week the record of those cases which formed the basis of Mr. Tayler's allegations, were strongly impressed with the bereasonable, if not illegal, those who after hearing that record read were prepared to condemn the Court were pronounced upon Mr. Tayler the sentence he subsequently pronounced, many men might have said that the sentence was severe, few would have said that it was unjust. The sympathy of the public would have been chiefly with the Court; though the warmth of that sympathy would have been in inverse

Two great attempts are being made in army reform, either of which shall be of great advantage if carried out. One is to allow of soldiers to be employed with working pay of all occasions that labour is required by the malitary departments; the other is to abolish the marking with the letter D for desertion. The introduction of the former reform would allow the soldier to earn something besides his pay: the latter would earn earn except earn something the former reform would allow the soldier to earn something besides his pay: the latter would earn manner that he proportion to the severity of the sentence.

But interest of the Suddre from the care of the Public Works or Postal Departments. As this road progresses some expenditure should, I think, be incurred for the erection of res His Excellency face to face with work he will not help to do.

If a strange inconsistency "the Right Honourable the Governor in Council," after inficting so severe a censure on the Justices, tells us that the opinions of these imperfect and neglectful beings on Municipal affairs would carry "far more weight" than those of any Commission which would (? could) be appointed. The compliment may be descreed, but it is discordant with the preceding sentences, and looks like the gilt on a bitter pill.

After receiving this letter, the Bench, as we have said, would be fully justified in declining all fairs would, after being absent without leave for twenty all further public activity in Municipal affairs. No such plea, however, would be warrant for silence or slackness on our part, and we shall take any and every opportunity that may arise to expose the glaring defects of a system which by the confession of its admirers has brought in into Great Want, Great Debt, and Great Want, Great Debt, and Great Want, Great Debt, and Great Want, Great Wa

THE MADRAS DIVORCE CASE.

THE first case under the new Divorce Act came of for hearing in the Grand Jury Room of the High Court on Monday afternoon, and was adjourned three weeks to allow time for serving the warrants on the respondent and co-respondent. The case was fully reported some five years since, when it was tried under the Penal Code at the Sessions, and the co-respondent entenced to a fine and six months' imprisonment. It is suggestive that the case on Monday was placed at the end of the cause list of the day, so that any one who cared about hearing it, would have had to sit out hour after hour of technical legal chatter, and to have endured for a prolonged period the ncentrated gaze of the whales and minnows of the local Bar,-a gaze that would be interpreted by a sensitive soul as meaning :- "Confound your impudence." We shall perhaps be told that this is assuredly an open Court. But a more un-Courtlike room we have not seen. Let us have one thing or the other,close Chamber or Sessions practice. Do not point to an unsuitable and private looking room, and say " There, sir, you are quite free to enter," when a glance inside is sufficient to tell you that you will be de trop. What we contend for is the principle of an open Court. Let Lovelace know that there is the risk of an exposure being deemed necessary to the public weal in his The question at issue should be settled soon, or it will settle itself by established precedents.-Madras Mail.

INDIAN FINANCES.

WE quote what follows from the Englishman:-We learn that there is a misunderstanding omewhere as to the cash balances. Sir Richard Temple, at the beginning of March, estimated that the sum in hand would be twelve millions at the end of the official year, while, so far as we can ascertain, the real sum has proved to be nearer ten millions. That so serious a discrepancy should exist furnishes a striking comment on our recent series of articles on the uncertainties of Indian Finance. We are glad to observe that the department has been strengthened rather than weakened during the absence of its Chief, by the business being transferred to the Hon'ble Mr. Strachey, whose administration of the internal Government of India under Sir John Lawrence, has marked him as the Member of Council best fitted to take over and strictly inquire into a somewhat loosely, although showily, managed department. It is understood that Lord

Mayo will himself exercise a special supervision over the financial administration, and if this is the case he ill have conferred another favour upon the English nunity in India. All we ask for is that the experience and training of an English statesman should be brought to bear upon the Indian Finances. It is mere waste of time for a Viceroy to devote himself to letails. Neither the Indian nor the English public expect it of him, and Sir John Lawrence damaged rather than enhanced his reputation both here and at nome by so doing. The Finance Department has now a Secretary who really knows a Secretary's work. There will be no slackness in details under Mr. Chapman, and we are glad to observe that, during the importan period of the adjustment of the cash balances and the issue of the remainder of the Loan, it will be supervised by a Member of Council justly reputed for the luci-dity and ability with which he enunciates his views."

RAILWAY ACCOMMODATION FOR NATIVE PASSENGERS.

THE following communication has been addressed by the Government of India to the subordinate Govern ents:—"I am directed to reques that the Government of India may be informed whether any, and, if so, what arrangements are in force on the railways subject to the control of the Government of Madras for the provision of carriages or compartments for the separate and special use of native females of the upper classes of society desiring to travel by railway. It is hardly necessary to observe that the customs of the country require ladies, both Hindoo and Mahomedan, to travel in privacy, and the Governor-General in Council con siders that due consideration should be paid to this circumstance, and so far as is practicable, suitable aringements made to meet the requirements of the case

"It is the desire of the Government of India that special enquiry should be made, through the officers of the Consulting Engineer's Department, of the feelings and wishes on this subject of the chief native gentlemen residing at or near the principal towns rough which the railways pass, and more especially at the towns more remote from Calcutta or the then be consulted as to the provision of compartments of the form deemed best. "The Governor General in Council further desires that enquiry should be made whether proper attention is at present habitually given to applications for reserved accommodation made by natives desirous of travelling by railway, and that it should be considered whether any additional precautions are needed to secure the same attention being given and at precisethe same rates of charge to the legitimate claims of all classes of travellers, whether they are European

"The importance of removing all difficulties from the way of persons of the upper classes of society, who may desire to travel by railway, and particular ly of females, both in a political and social point o view, is, in the estimation of the Governor General i Council, very great, and he will be glad to hear that the subject receives careful and early attention."

MR. COOPER THE EXPLORER.

We observe that at a meeting of the Bengal Asiatic

Society on Wednesday last Mr. Cooper gave an account of Western China. He addresed for nearly an hour, during which he described the rivers, trade-routes modes of travelling, cities, commerce, and various other matters connected with Sz-Chuen. Its latitude he fixes at 30 ° 20 north and the longitude at 102 ° 5 east, and describes the country as the garden of Central Asia. He also remarked forcibly on the increase of opium cultivation there. On his sitting down the following speakers rose, and maintained an animated discussion for half an hour. Dr. Ander son, who had accompanied the mission, from Burneah described what he had seen and heard of the countries north of Burneah. Colonel Thuillier warned Mr. Cooper of the dangers attending the route by way north of Assam, that he had chosen, instanced the fate of the Rev. Mr. Creek, wished every success to Mr. Cooper, and concluded by drawing his attention to solving the question whether the Sanpoo and the Brahmaputra, or the Sanpoo and the Irrawaddy were one and the same river. Mr. Cameron said he had been himself among the wild tribes to the north of Assam, and could say that Mr. Cooper could not have chosen a more dangerous route. He could not add to the kind words of caution spoken by Colonel Thuillier, but would say that almost any other route, whether by way north of Sikim into Bhootan and Lhassa or east by way of Munipoor, was safer. He had found the tribes extremely low in the scale of civilization, very cunning and deceit-ful treacherous, superstitious, holding great faith in charms and sorcery, and that it would be a most difficult matter to pass through them safe with life. Mr. Cooper here asked Mr. Cameron some questions in detail, and then rose and said :- "I feel I have a mission to perform. I shall go forth under the protection of the Almighty on this difficult and however hopeless enterprise, and hope to live and return successful and municate to the members of the Society the results." On this there was loud and long-continued applause. Mr. Cameron stated that after all, only ordinary care and prudence were requisite, and that one should look carefully at each step he took, although he him. self when solicited some years since by Dr. Barry to undertake the journey, had declined. Colone Thuillier again rose, and while heartily thanking Mr. Cooper for the pleasure he had afforded, on behalf of the Society, stated that almost the greatest geographical problem of the age was to discover the continuation of the Sanpoo. The Hon'ble Mr. Phear whose remarks were almost inaudible, said he should like to know if the extensive range of mountains, which ran through the East Indian Archipelago, was divided from the North Indian range by the Irrawaddy. At the instance of a member of the Chamber of Commerce Mr. Cameron asked Mr. Cooper, whether his object was to open up a trade route and means of communication between two such great empires as India and China, or whether it was a question as to the sources and direction of rivers and ranges of mountains If, as he presumed, it was the former, he would draw Mr. Cooper's serious attention to the route by way of Munipoor and North Burmah, as it was safer and probably equally short with the Northern route, and open ing into as populated a province of China. After Mr. Cooper's discussion had subsided, Dr. Stotlezka read a valuable paper on the Arachnaide of Bengal, and the numerous specimens, he handed round, were remarkably interesting, some of the spiders being almost as big as scorpions and as evil-looking.

THE Velocipede mania is going ahead in America in geneine Yankee style. In the Patent Office at Washington no less than ninety-seven applications for patents have been enter d, of which forty-five have been granted, and one-hundred and twenty-three entries of fresh applications for patents have been filed. Seventy-three of these applications were filed in one week.

PROBABLE EFFECTS OF THE COMPLETION

to a question of great interest as regards Calcutts; and it is one on which discussion is invited, or at least there is a suggestion that it should be considered.

THE Friend's contributor and correspondent who writes under the well-known initial "M.," has drawn atte

The question is the route that may be adopted by the trade of the north-west when the line of railway is completed between Bombay and Allahabad. The railway system will almost necessarily divert the channels of trade. Formerly, trade nearly always followed the courses of rivers, and we have been accustomed to look upon the trade of the Gangetic valley as a sort of appanage of Calcutta, as it must come to this city as its atural" outlet to the sea. But with this natural course of trade there is now an artificial system that will in many cases not merely compete with, but actually supersede the natural channels of trade which answered for a slower age than that in which we live. River traffic is necessarily slow where it is the only means of trade. But there will be a competitive system, and two lines which may compete not only with the river, but with each other. A glance at a map of India will show that the large districts of upper India, and esecially the North-West Provinces will have a choice of routes which may greatly affect the interests of the lines terests of Calcutta. Where time is an object with any portion of the trade of the Gangetic valley above Allahabad there is not much doubt but that the traffic will go on to Bombay. But in point of cost, there will always be an advantage in favour of Calcutta so far as mere arrival at port is concerned. On the other hand, Calcutta is expensive port, with few or no facilities for trade such as ought to be found here and is further distant fom the great markets of the west, whether the produce of Indian tends. It may be the desire of each line of railway to obtain as much traffic as possible. Bu it will never do for them to enter on a race of competition as regards rates to attract the traffic, so long as the dividends of the shareholders are guaranteed by the State. The E. I. Railway has sow to compete with water carriage, and that as the happy effect of preventing rates being pushed up to monopoly terms. Should the E. I. Railway have to compete with the river on one hand, and the Bombay line on the other, it could only do so at rates which would be equivalent to a guarantee in perpetuity by the state of interest on the capital. Unless the line is "handicapped" by the costliness of the port, it may hold its own; because it will have a considerable advantage in the point of mileage over the Bo route. "M." says if the current of trade should be directed to Bombay, the E. I. Railway "would only" lose the conveyance of goods about 350 miles. The withdrawal of traffic on a fourth or a third of the length of the line would tell materially on the prospects of dividend, if that be an object with shareholders. And if it be not, it is one for the Government as guardians of the interest of the general public. For it is not a case where Government owns both lines; nor are the shareholders so nearly the same as to make it a matter of indifference to them whether their dividends were carned by one line or the other. And apart from the question of the shareholders, there is something to be said for the interest of the city of from whatever cause they may arise, will not tend to lower the cost of trading at this port. The charges will almost necessarily be higher. Insurance will rise, and other charges be increased. We do not place much reliance on the tales as to the deterioration of the river; for the loss of so many vessels is clearly traceable to other and less creditable causes which might be removed or checked, by a more efficient administration of the Marine Department. And the prospect of a further competition by the railways running westward should awaken some consideration on the part of the authorities and the commercial communi-ty of Calcutta. The making of a railway to Diamond Harbour may not be the remedy required, for there are great objections to Diamond Harbour as a port. There may be more hope of Canning and something might be one there though we have an idea that the capabilities of Calcutta as a port have never yet been fairly developed. When it takes from two to three months to discharge and reload vessels, which have to remain all this time under heavy port charges, we may well consider that there is something wrong in the management and working of the port, and not necessarily in the port itself.

And with the possibility of a good portion of its trade being turned in another direction. Calcutta cannot wel afford to be indifferent either to the improvement of local seats of Government; and whether any special her own resources and facilities or the progress of form of carriage is likely to be preferred for the purpose in question. The railway companies should do not require any extravagant demonstration; but it 'up and doing."

THE BOMBAY ARMY. THE following figures show the castes which the Bombay Army comprised on the 1st of January last:— Of the native commissioned officers, 580 were natives of India (exclusive of the Punjabs), 14 were Punjabees, and 34 were from beyond the Indus. In the first of these three classes there were 16 Christians, 36 Jews, these three classes there were 16 Christians, 36 Jews, 200 Mahomedans, 75 Brahmins, 53 Rajpoots, 1 Jat, 94 Mahrattas, 9 Gentoos, 26 Purwarrees, and 70 of other castes. In the second class (Punjabee), there were 12 Mahomedaus and 2 Sikhs. From beyond the Indus there were five Afghans, two from the border tribes, 22 Beloochees, and five Persians. Of the native non-commissioned officers, drummers, buglers, and rank and file, 22,879 were natives of India (exclusive of the Punjabe), 2,147 were Punjabees, 1,024 were natives of transitudus, and 53 were Hillmen. In the first of these four great groups there were 256 Christians, 231 Jews, 4,252 Mahomedans, 1,819 Brahmins, 1,497 Rajpoots, 45 Jats, 7,664 Mahrattas,175 Gentoos, 6 Bheels, 3,159 Purwartees, and 3,775 of other castes. Among the Punjabees there were 1,132 Mahomedans, 291 Hindoos, 722 Sikhs, and two Musbee Sikhs. From trans-Indus there were 258 Afghans, 148 border tribesmen, 541 Beloochees, and 77 Persians. The Hillmen comprise four Goorkhas, 46 Dogras, and three other Hillmen. The 1st Belooch battalion is composed almost entirely of Punjabees, Afghans, and Beloochees. In the infantry, it will be observed, the Mahratts are more than double the number of any other race; in the cavalry there are 2,221 Mahomedans, and the Mahratts and Rajpoots come next; the former numbering 320, and the latter 296.

SIR SAMUEL BAKER'S CENTRAL AFRICAN EXPEDITION.

(The Times.)

The object of the Central African Expedition, plan-ned by the Viceroy of Egypt and to be carried into exe-cution by Sir Samuel Baker, is one that must comafter the manner of our people, and of constant changes in their regiments for debt; but in our service this happened quite recently. A regiment arrived from a sand the sympathy of all civilized nations. This is, indeed, the first organized attempt yet made by the Egyptian Government to suppress the slave trade of the White Nile, and thereby to open the country drained by the great Lakes to legitimate commerce. Many feints or abortive efforts have been made before, upon representations from European Powers, and when Sir Samuel Baker reached Gondokoro, on his return from the Albert Nyanza, he was informed that positive orders had been received by the Egyptian authorities at Khartount to put down this infamous traffic. Many slavers were actually intercepted by steamers despatched from Cairo, the crews were imprisoned and bastinadoed, and the captives were released from their oppressors—only to be transferred, however, from Turkish slave-drivers to Egyptian masters. In his best-known work Sir Samuel Baker declares that he never met an official in Egypt who did not maintain slavery to be an institution absolutely necessary to the interests of that country, nor does he scruple to express despair of obtaining a hearing for his own views from the Egyptian Government. It is the more gratifying, therefore, to learn that his present enterprise has not only been sanctioned, but initiated, by the Vicerop himself, a typical and the captives were content, and the captives were content, and the captives were despair of obtaining a hearing for his own views from the Egyptian and followed, and the captives were released from their oppression of the gratifying therefore, to learn that his present enterprise has not only been sanctioned, but initiated, by the Vicerop himself, a typical content will be appreciated throughout Europe, and the magnificent reception of the Prince of Wales has alrea

AN ATTEMPT TO "DO" THE NAWA BENGAL.

Before leaving Paris His Highness the Nawab Nazim of Bengal thought to keep out the cold by having his coat lined with fur. A Paris tailor did the needful, but with the six coats forwarded a little bill for more than £5,930—not frances, but pounds sterling. This modest demand the Nawab refused to pay, and the indomitable Frenchman followed His Highness to England. There, however, the fortune that favours the bold turned altogether against him. The Nawab's English friends declined to see him fleeced before their eyes. On reaching London the coats were examined by experts, who pronounced the sables to be worth comparatively nothing, and the tailor was glad eventually to compound his claim, by the cession of the furs and the payment of £200 or £300 on account of the furs. The 'Etendard' says that the little bill paid by the Nawab for his eight days' board and lodging at the Grand Hotel came to £320, and at the Hotel Dessim, for one night, at Calais, 36 guineas. The proprietors of the Grand Hotel, so write the papers, found His Highness an expensive guest, inasmuch as the furniture of the apartments he, his sons, and suit occupied was left in so unclean a condition that it must be completely renewed before Christian travellers can be expected to occupy them. This chiefly in consequence of the religious practice entertained by Hindoos of cooking in their bedrooms.

LORD LAWRENCE AT THE FISHMON.

On April 14 the Court of Assistants of the Fish mongers' Company gave a banquet to the Archbishop of Canterbury, Prince Teck, Lord Lawrence, and other distinguished guests in their noble hall, London-bridge. The Prime Warden (Mr. George Moore) 'proposed 'Our Indian Empire," in connection with the health of Lord Lawrence.

"Our Indian Empire," in connection with the health of Lord Lawrence, who was loudly cheered, said—Mr. Prime Warden, your serene highness, my lords and gentlemen—I beg to thank you for the great honour you have done me this day in bringing my name before this most distinguished assembly. That honour is greatly enhanced in connecting my name with the prosperity of the Indian empire. (Cheers.) That empire was won by the valour, intelligence, and self-denial of Englishmen, and it is to me a great honour to be placed, however humbly, in the ranks of those great men by whose great exertions the vast dominions of India have been brought under the rule of this country not from the lust of conquest, but from the unavoidable concurrence of circumstances over which no man in India could have any control. That rule, I firmly believe, was most beneficent, and had converted the country from a condition of bloodshed, anarchy, and misery into one where order and security existed, where wealth increased, and intelligence had its rightful appreciation. (Cheers.) But as education and civilisation advanced no doubt we must still further improve our system of government. I am persuaded that was the object of the great men who preceded me in India. I can only say that when I was in the position of the chief magistrate of British India it was in support of these principles that I conducted the administration. (Cheers.)

needed, it must be enforced in all quarters, high as well as low. For the same reason it is not pleasing to see an item of charge for conveyance of Prince Christian between Dover and Calais. It was very natural that his Royal Highness should hurry abroad on the occasion of his father's illness; but the Prince, who lives among us, received, on his marriage with an English princess, a handsome dowry from her nation, and we strongly incline to the opinion that he should pay his own travelling expenses. The total of all these items, many of them small in themselves, is a large sum, upwards of £30,000; and such a list forcibly exemplifies the importance of "looking after the pence."—Pail Mall Gazette. THE RAILWAY FROM NEW YORK TO SAN FRANCISCO.

THE Economist says :- " We may expect very soon to get news of the running of the first through train beween San Francisco and New York. By the last mail from America the information has been received that there only remained a gap of 82 miles between the two constructing parties—the one working Westward from the Atlantic side, the other Eastward from the Pacific. Trains are now running all the way between the Atlantic and Pacific, except over this gap. The reports are renewed as to the had construction of the line, and if it i like other Western lines in America it will not be well constructed: but a few months ago a surveyor, appointed by the United States Government, report rather favourably on the line as at any rate not worse than the generality of works to which it belongs. The ers may have wished only to do enough to make a title to the United States bonds and lands promised them, but at any rate a line has been built that will be much better than none. Even contractors' lines in England are many of them not bad things for the public, though the mode of finding the money was ruin-

England are many of them not bad things for the public, though the mode of finding the money was ruinous and corrupt."

For other reasons than the length of the line, travelling across the American continent may be expected to be at times excessively uncomfortable. The following extract from the Pall Mall Gazette shows how:—

The Union Pacific Railroad may be a great work, but we should not advise travellers to put any trust in it during the winter months. An American correspondent gives a sorrowful account of a journey he made by it, or set out to make, on the 12th of February. The "through train" from Wasatch to Omaha was stopped at a place called Rawlings on account of the snow. There were 200 passengers "on board," Californians and others. Many of them had but little money with them, and a scanty meal at Rawlings cost 1 dol. 25 c. This was not conducive to enjoyment of the landscape. After they had been detained seven days in this wretched place, some of them began to think they were being hardly used. The Americans are very patient under Appropriate wines were, we presume, served with each course; and the guests as they washed down the cailles on caisses and poulardes truffices with dry champagne seem to have arrived unanimously at the conclusion that the Baron's Extract was the most nutritious, agreeable, and economical of viands, and admirably adapted for the working man's table. Of course the promoters economical of visads, and admirably adapted for working man's table. Of course the promoters commercial enterprise have a right to choose their own way of advertising, but what shall we say of the journalists who give their puffs for truffles and champagne.—Pall Mall Gazette. PLACE-SEEKERS IN AMERICA. High officials in America certainly deserve our sympathies if the accounts we read of them are correct. The ce, some of them began to think they were being used. The Americans are very patient unde correspondent states that Mr. Moses Grinnell hardly used. The Americans are very patient under injury is done in the name of a company, and to be snowbound for a few days is no uncommon occurrence on the Pacific road. But what exasperated them on this occasion was that the managers made no effort to clear the line. On the 21st of February the general manager coolly telegraphed from Laramie, "I see passengers are somewhat dissatisfied, but I can't help it." He proceeded to say that the day before he had given 200 passengers three locomotives and shovels, I with the understanding that they should shovel through. They left here yesterday morning, and have only got about twenty miles. They find it is not play to shovel snow." Passengers by a railroad certainly do not bargain as a rule to shovel the train through some hundreds of miles of snow. At last, after nine days imprisonment, the party were allowed to set out on a train in the control of the control who has lately been appointed collector at New York, on the first day of his appointment received 715 applitions for the post of "private secretary." Mr. Grinnell might have done worse than engage all the candidates, for on the same day 13,191 persons ied to him for subordinate offices, and proably required answers to their applications; under which circumstances 715 private secretaries would not have been too many, more especially as a vast crowd of candidates surrounded the New York Custom-house, and Mr. Grinnell had to call in the aid of the police for self-protection. Any one who knows a pri-vate secretary to a Prime Minister in this country has probably heard of the rush of clerical candidates for vernment. Hundreds of "good Christian Conservatives" or Liberals, as the case may be, all of whom have ten children, apply to a new Premier as a matter of course for preferment, and all require to be informed that their names have "been placed on the list," little knowing the wink of the secretary's eye as he places them there, or the fatal position they occupy when comfortably lodged on that lengthy document.
But a Prime Minister's troubles are mere fleabites compared to Mr. Moses Grinnell's. We further read that in Washington negro women are applicants for Treaforty-five miles and then ran violently into a snow-bank. The conductor knew of this obstruction before-hand, but the general manager telegraphed "Come on," "which we did," says the writer. They all got out and shovelled at the snow, but as fast as they made a hole in it the wind filled it up again with drift. The engine fires had of course gone out, and the whole party were being gradually covered up. "We played cards, read novels, sang psalms, and would have drunk whisky had not that useful article ceased to exist, owing to the persistent drowning of sorrows which took place at had not that useful article ceased to exist, owing to the persistent drowning of sorrows which took place at Rawlings." At last they set out one fine morning to walk to Laramie, and succeeded in reaching that station in four days, suffering cold and hunger by the way. This account, which is well authenticated, will not render the general public anxious to make a trip by this line between November and April. in Washington negro women are applicants for Treasury clerkships. Owing to the worry of office-seekers, President Grant declares that, although he has only been four weeks in office, he would not for all its emoluments pass through these four weeks again.—Pall

SCENES IN THE HOUSE.

From the moment Mr. Newdegate rose to address thorough knowledge of European politics even his the House last night (Thursday, April 15) up to the es do not attempt to deny, made a few days ago a remark which will appear surprising to most Eng-lishmen. Speaking to a Russian diplomatist he said last words of Lord Henry Scott's speech there was a succession of ludicrous scenes and absurd situations bursting upon the House with all the suddenness "I do not fear your armies; I fear the influence of your communal institutions on European society." ned as we are to regard Russia as the type of a despotically governed country, it may seem strange to find it looked upon by a great statesman as a hotbed of communism. The fact is easily explained. Communal institutions, in a certain sense, have always been the rule in Russia. The land surrounding each village is divided among the families in proportion to the number of members (a new distribution being made every ten years), and the village as a body is responsible for the payment of a yearly sum to the freeholder. Under such a system it is evident that the industrious must pay for the idle, and that incentive to individual enterprise is very much weakened. That the idle form the majority seems to be shown by the following fact. Since the emancipation a law has been passed enabling the inhabitants of any village, by a demand signed by two-thirds of the heads of families, to become, on payment of a sum fixed by official valuation, freeholders of the land they occupy. In all Russia such a demand has not yet been made. While the peasant was a serf, his position was but little studied by foreigners; but since the emancipation the exponents of the doctrines of communism have been watching with much interest the trial of their principles amongst a free peasantry. They have as yet derived but small comfort from the contemplation, the most noticeable effect being an enormous increase of drunkenness. —Pall Mall Gazette.

Speech, to the fireworks one used to valvathall." Commencing to wards the peroration of Mr. Newdegate's elegiac utterances, because the ordinary Oh-oing, executed in a high pitch though it was, became almost drowned by other and unascertainable sounds—brought about the acme of disorder when Mr. Aytoun had but opened his feeble case upon Maynooth. No assemblage of the "gods" ever enjoyed from Olympic or Adelphigallery the comic powers of a Robson or a Toole with keener gusto than did the "strangers" who from their perches in the gallery looked down and from Mr. Aytoun rose, and had begun in low tones on the Ministerial side of the House, and is bles tically governed country, it may seem strange to

W. V. WRIGHT AND Co.'s PURE COAL-TAR SOAP SAPO CARBONIS DETERGENS.

SAPO CARBONIS DETERGENS.

This Soap is compounded from our "LIQUOR CARBONIS DETERGENS," which, according to the testimony of the leading Medical Journals, is unrivalled for its Detergent and Antiseptic qualities, besides being an almost infallible specific for Indoient Ulcers, Wounds, Sores, and Affections of the Skin generally. All the active principles of Coal-Tar, including that powerful disinfectant, Carbolic Acid, are contained in the "Liquor," and are developed in the Soap in a milder form.

W. V. Whother & Co.'s Pure Coal-Tar Soap is a material security against infectious diseases of every sort, and moderates the effluvia of house drains. This effect is produced by the water being thrown into them in which the soap has been sued for washing.

W. V. Whother & Co.'s Pure Coal-Tar Soap improves the general condition of the skin, which becomes soft and silky, and after washing there is a conscious sensation of a most agreeable and refreshing character. The face assumes a clear and healthy appearance; there is no liability to chilblains or chapped hands, and offensive emanations from the person (if there be any) are quickly removed.

W. V. Whother & Co.'s Pure Coal-Tar Soap prevents the hair from turning prematurely grey. All ordinary soaps destroy the colour of the hair more or less; but the "Sabo Carbonis Detergens" does not produce this effect, partly because it contains a very small proportion of alkali and partly because of the peculiar nature of the alkali, and the special form and combination in which it exists.

W. V. Whother & Co.'s Pure Coal-Tar Soap, from the small exists.

W. V. Wright & Co.'s Pure Coal-Tar Soap, from the small quantity of alkali which it contains, as well as from the compression to which it is subjected, does not soften or waste in water ike other soaps, and will be, therefore, found most economical in ike other soaps, and will be, therefore, found most sconomical in use.

W. V. Wright & Co.'s Pure Coal-Tar Soap is a specific against the bite of reptiles, the sting of insects, &c., &c., and is an invaluable article in hot climates.

W. V. Wright & Co.'s Pure Coal-Tar Soap is most highly spoken of by the Press. The following is from the "Lancet" Dec. 22, 1986;—" In our hands it has been a most effective agent in the case of various skin diseases, especially of the chronic excematous class; and one case of psoriaris, which had resisted all other kinds of treatment, speedlig got well under the application of the Liquor Carbonis Detergens. We esteem it a very valuable addition to our list of skin remedies, and worthy of a very extended trial by the profession. In the above classes of disease, and in various others such as fortid ulcers, &c., the preparation is put into the form of soap; Messrs. W. V. Wright and Co., London, are the manufacturers." NOTICES. FRENCH MEDICINES, GRIMAULT & Co.,

CHEMISTS TO H.I.H. PRINCE NAPOLEON, 45, Rue de Richelieu, PARIS. CHILDREN'S DISEASES.

IODIZED SYRUP of HORSE-RADISH, prepared by GRIMAULT IODIZED SYRUP of HORSE-RADISH, prepared by Grimaultand Co., Paris.—This syrup contains iodine combined with the juice of water-cress, horse-radish, and scurvy-grass, in which iodine and sulphur exist naturally, and for this reason it is an excellent substitute for cod liver oil, which is generally supposed to owe its efficacy to the presence of iodine. The iodized syrup of horse-radish invariably produces most satisfactory results administered to children suffering from lymphatism, rachitism, congestion of the glands of the neck, or the various cruptions on the face so frequent during infancy. It is also the best remedy for the first stage of consumption. Being at once tonic and depurative, it excites the appetite, promotes digestion, and restores to the tissues their natural firmness and vigour. DISEASES of the CHEST.

SYRUP of HYPOPHOSPHITE of LIME.—Grimault and Co., Chemists, Paris.—A syrup compounded with this new salt has been introduced by Dr. Churchill for the treatment of pulmonary phthisis. Recent trials made at the Brompton Consumption Hospital, an institution especially devoted to the treatment of diseases of the chest, have abundantly demonstrated the absolute necessity of obtaining this new therspeutic agent in the most perfectly pure and neutral condition. Each tablespoonful of syrup contains four grains of perfectly pure hypophosphite of lime; and, as compounded by MM. Grimault & Co., of Paris, this syrup is the only preparation which guarantees to the medical profession all the properties required in this valuable medicine.

DIARRHŒA, DERANGEMENTS OF THE STOMACH. GRIMAULT and Co.'s GUARANA-This na tural vegetable production, perfectly innocuous, has been long used in Brazil with the utmost success as a remedy for diarrhous, sick head-ache, dysentery, and all disorders proceeding from derangement of the stomach or bowels. This powder is indispensable for all families, and far more efficacious than opium and the subnitrate of bismuth.

SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE or IRON By Leras, M. D., Docteur es Scie GRIMAULT & Co., CHEMISTS. According to the opinion of the members of the Paris Academy of Medicine, this article is superior to all the ferruginous preparations known. It agrees best with the stomach, never causes costiveness; it contains the elements of the blood and the osseous frame, and succeeds where other preparations fail, such as Vallet's pills, iron reduced by hydrogen lactate of iron, and ferruginous mineral water. One table spoonful of the solution or syrup contains three grains of salt of iron. They are both colourless.

DR. BURIN DU BUISSON'S Digestive The Alkaline Lactates exercise the most beneficial influence over the derangements of digestion, either by their peculiar action on the nucuous membrane of the stomach, or by affording to the latter through their combination with the saliva to the gastric juice a supply of lactic acid, which all English, French, and other physiologists admit to be an essential principle of digestion. For the information of those who may be without medical advice, it may be stated here that the symptoms of impaired digestion are —Headache, pain in the forchead, hemicania, gastritis, gastritis, gastralgia, heartburn, wind in the stomach and bowels, loss of appetite, emanciation, etc.

NTERNAL of LOCAL MATICO. GRIMAULT & Co., PARIS.

This new remedy is prepared from the leaves of a Peruvia pepper shrub, called MATICO, and cures promptly and infallibly without any fear of inflammatory results. The great majority physicians in Paris, Russia, Germany and New York now use nother remedy. Full directions accompany each Bottle and Packet or an explanatory Treatise will be sent post free.

WHITMORE'S COMPOUND LINIMENT OMPOUND LINIMENA
OF ARNICA.—A Specific for the cure of Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Sprains, Contusions, Weakness of the Joints, Chilblains, &c. It is also an excellent remedy as a stimulating application to the surface of the Chest and Back in Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pulmonary Consumption and Hooping Cough. When the Liver is inactive, rubbed over it, its stimulating properties have a beneficial effect, and in all cases where counter-irritation is desirable, it will be found invaluable. In bottles, small, medium and large.

WILKINSON'S BRONCHIO-THORACIC LOZENGES Prepared from the receipt of an eminent Physician, and experience has fully justified their recommendation as the most speedy remedy in Irritation of the Throat, Catarrhal Coughs, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, Spitting of Blood, &c., &c. To public speakers and vocalists they will be found invaluable, as they impart a clear and beautiful tone to the voice. Free from any preparation of Opium, and of an agreeable taste, they are applicable to all.

WHITMORE'S STONACHIC DINNER PILLS. No Pill is so efficacious in promoting Digestion, strength the Stomach, correcting Acidity, preventing or removing Head Giddiness, &c. arising from a Costive Habit, Debilitated Ston or Torpid Liver.
