OBITUARY RECORD

Captain Colin McClune, a resident of this city for the past fifty-seven years, died yesterday in the city at the age of sixty-seven years. He had been associated with the sea from his early days, being born on a sailing ship off the coast of New Zealand. He is survived by two sisters in Seattle and one brother, D. McCleod, of 408 Belleville Street, Victoria. The funeral will take place on Wednesday, May 23, at 3:30 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel, and interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of the late James Wallace, who passed away in this city last Thursday, took place on Saturday, the cortege leaving the Sands Funeral Chapel at 2:30 o'clock. Ten minutes later service was conducted at St. Andrew's Cathedral by the Rev. Father Silver. Many relatives and friends were present, and the pallbearers were S. Flanagan, G. E. Hart, J. J. Hartnell and H. Trainor. Interment was made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The funeral of William Rockett took place Saturday afternoon at the B.C. Funeral Chapel, where service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Wilson. There was a very large attendance of friends, and many beautiful floral offerings decorated the casket. The hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." The following acted as pallbearers: J. G. Brown, W. H. Dempster, J. Fullerton, W. E. Losee, W. A. Lorimer and J. Croeden. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

GYROS LIVE ABOUT LOGS ON ISLAND

George Winkler Speaks on Interesting Subjects; Gyros to Enter Float

George Winkler, president of the Prospectors' Association, told the Gyros all about the rocks on Vancouver Island at their luncheon at the Hudson's Bay to-day.

Referring to geology Mr. Winkler said that it should not be looked upon as a subject in which its students grovelled about at great depths and came up for air only once and awhile. Geology touches many of the intimate things of life, such as the water supply, building materials, operation of industries and agriculture, as well as the more difficult subjects including astronomy, biology and other natural sciences.

The oldest rocks on Vancouver Island extend from Goldstream to San Juan a distance of about seven miles. They are sedimentary rocks and have a depth of about 5,000 feet. The Malahat volcanics have a depth of about 2,500 feet and produce very little in the way of minerals. Most of the other rocks to the north and east of the island were volcanic, said Mr. Winkler.

At several points on the Island magnetic iron was to be found, stated the speaker, and while the deposits were small he thought they might be successfully worked some day but doubted if they could enter into competition with the Old Country products.

A large section of land on the Island was held up by the E. and N. belt, stated Mr. Winkler, and the prospector was not able to find out what it contained. He was of the opinion that the service organizations in this city should take up the question and have the belt opened up.

Handley Wells entertained the Gyros with three splendid numbers and was loudly applauded. The Gyros talked over plans for the float which they are entering in the Maytime Frolic parade.

PAY DUTY HERE AND BEAT RAIL RATES, OLIVER TOLD

Canadian Asbestos Co. Joins Premier in Fight for Lower Freight

Premier Oliver was to-day joined by the Canadian Asbestos Co., of Montreal, the chief producer of asbestos on this continent, in his fight for lower freight rates and the elimination of import customs duties on articles which come to Vancouver from Eastern Canada by way of New York and the Panama.

"We ship our asbestos cement via New York and pay duty on same entering Canada again, but we can lay it down in Vancouver $6.75 a ton cheaper than if we shipped it all rail through Canada," the asbestos company informed the Premier.

Recently 600 bags were shipped to H. Bailie & Co., Vancouver, from Montreal to New York, and then by the ss. Stanley Dollar through the Panama Canal to Vancouver, where it was assessed the Canadian import duty of 25 per cent, although it was produced in Quebec.

Here is what Vancouver and B.C. importers have to pay on a hundred-pound bag of asbestos cement: Freight to New York, 34 cents; New York to Vancouver via Panama, 50 cents; 25 per cent duty on 600 lbs. total cost laid down in Vancouver, $1.80.

Shipment by all rail to Vancouver at a load rate costs $1.23 1/2 per hundred pounds, bringing the total cost down to $1.23 1/2.

"And it is only recently that we succeeded in getting the railroads in Canada to give us a rate of $1.23 1/2 per hundred," the company adds in its message, signed by Lorne Bain.

"The rate last year to Vancouver was $1.27 1/2 cents per hundred."

These figures show the value of the water route by the Panama to importers and manufacturers in B.C., the Premier said.

"It was gratifying to satisfy that the Government at Ottawa would fix matters up as regards the Customs at New York and the charging of a Canadian import customs duty on Canadian products when they arrive in Vancouver."

SEATTLE GIVES MAY SOVEREIGN ROYAL WELCOME

Lester Patrick, who has returned home from cities visited by the Queen, states that through this trip Victoria has gained some of the finest publicity in its history. The tour of the Coast cities has been an entire success, Mr. Patrick believes.

How eagerly the Victoria party is being received on the other side of the border is shown by an editorial in The Bellingham Revelle, on the eve of the Queen's arrival. Commenting on their visit, The Revelle says: "Here is a fine neighborly spirit being expressed. Victorians came over to help Queen Mabel give her subjects and the thousands of visitors a great holiday last week, and now Queen Dora and her maids are making a call so as to personally say to the people of Tulp Land that she and all of her thousands of loyal subjects will be happy to entertain our people at the May Frolic on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week."

"In order to provide ample accommodations for the folks who want to go to Victoria Saturday, May 26, the Canadian Pacific will send over the crack passenger ship Princess Charlotte. This fine vessel will make the voyage speedily and give six or seven hours in the capital of the province, returning at an agreeable hour Saturday night."

"Those who want to take advantage of this opportunity to visit Victoria on a gala day and participate in the most important features of the May Frolic should make their reservations as early as possible. It will be a native customary and consistent with the traditions of the British Government. Bonar Law has grown in power since the war and the Conservative strength. He is appraised both politically and personally by the opinion of the country and of the country since the war and the Conservative strength. He is appraised both politically and personally by the opinion of the country and of the country since the war and the Conservative strength.

DESIRE FOR STABILITY

The country is likely to regard the change with strong misgivings. Stability and fixed policies are undoubtedly what it wants most. The prospect of a change in the government of swapping horses while crossing a stream, or crossing several streams, with Russia, and dealing with the problems which the voters have had no opportunity yet of registering their wills, has been the rock on which the Ministers of his Cabinet too much leaved.

The question arises as to whether the new Premier in forming his Cabinet, will take into consultation Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Birkenhead, Sir Robert Home and others of the House of Commons. Under other circumstances Birkenhead would have been assured of a high position in the Cabinet, but since he has made bitter personal attacks on Curzon, it is likely that the two would find the room too small for them.

Parliament stands adjourned until May 28, and there is speculation as to whether the King will summon it to meet at once.

The expectation is that Lord Curzon, if chosen to head the new Cabinet, will be likely to retain office.

Not Malignant.

London, May 21.—The Parliamentary correspondent of The Times says it can be stated with authority that Mr. Bonar Law's throat trouble is not malignant, and that there is every reason to hope that his health will in time be restored.

It is understood he will not resign his seat in Parliament, and will thus remain in the House until the dissolution of the present Parliament. But it is definitely decided that his political career is closed.

According to the correspondent of The Times, the King did not ask Mr. Bonar Law's advice as to his successor, but will ask him, this being customary, the Prime Minister resigns and leaves his Cabinet as the potential Cabinet of his successor. The next step is with the King alone, who decides whom to entrust with the formation of a new Ministry. His decision probably will be made known to-day.

STATEMENT ISSUED AT DOWNING STREET

London, May 21.—The announcement of the resignation of the Prime Minister was made to the public yesterday in the following statement issued at No. 10 Downing Street, the residence of the Prime Minister:

"Mr. Bonar Law's voyage did not improve his health. On his return to the United Kingdom he was examined by medical advisers, in consequence of whose advice Mr. Bonar Law immediately placed his resignation in the hands of His Majesty the King, who graciously was pleased to accept it."

King George received a letter from Mr. Bonar Law in which the retiring Premier said that, in view of the urgent recommendation of his medical advisers, he desired to resign the premiership and as First Lord of the Treasury he desired to tender his resignation. King George expressed the deepest regret and inquired solicitously as to Mr. Bonar Law's health.

Physicians' Statement

A bulletin issued by Mr. Bonar Law's physicians yesterday said: "The health of His Majesty the King, Minister's voice is unsatisfactory and we are unable to promise an improvement within a reasonable time. It is the opinion of the King's general health is not good."

During Holiday

The crisis caused by Mr. Bonar Law's resignation comes upon the Government in the midst of the holiday. Parliament is dispersed and few members of the Government are in London.

Three days ago, when the result of Mr. Bonar Law's consultation with physicians in Paris became known, this event was foreseen, but the country was not prepared for it and will await developments with anxiety and regret over the untimely dropping of the Premier's resignation.

One consolation is generally conceded Mr. Bonar Law will have left that he has no enemies and that no one will withhold sympathy from him. He accepted the high office with reluctance; he leaves it amidst unfeigned regrets on the part of both supporters and opposition.

King Was Informed

Mr. Bonar Law's resignation was taken to the King at Aldershot by Col. Waterhouse, the Prime Minister's private secretary, and Sir Frederick Sykes, his son-in-law, who motored from London. They had a lengthy audience with the King, who appeared much moved by the news of the aggravated condition of Mr. Bonar Law's health.

It is officialy stated that the King has no intention of interrupting his visit to Aldershot. In any case of Secondary night only this grave rise to London. According to present plans he will return to Buckingham Palace Friday.

Not Disclosed

It is stated that Mr. Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, returned to London suddenly from the Country Saturday night only to give rise to the belief that it was in connection with the premiership, but he returned to Chesham Court, the Premier's summer residence, Sunday without disclosing the object of his trip. Lord Curzon is at his seat in Somerset, and is not expected to return until Wednesday unless summoned by the King.

While Curzon is looked upon as the likely successor of Mr. Bonar Law, "Chancellor Baldwin" is mentioned prominently. During the Prime Min-

King Was Informed

Mr. Bonar Law's resignation was taken to the King at Aldershot by Col. Waterhouse, the Prime Minister's private secretary, and Sir Frederick Sykes, his son-in-law, who motored from London. They had a lengthy audience with the King, who appeared much moved by the news of the aggravated condition of Mr. Bonar Law's health.

It is officialy stated that the King has no intention of interrupting his visit to Aldershot. In any case of Secondary night only this grave rise to London. According to present plans he will return to Buckingham Palace Friday.

Not Disclosed

It is stated that Mr. Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, returned to London suddenly from the Country Saturday night only to give rise to the belief that it was in connection with the premiership, but he returned to Chesham Court, the Premier's summer residence, Sunday without disclosing the object of his trip. Lord Curzon is at his seat in Somerset, and is not expected to return until Wednesday unless summoned by the King.

While Curzon is looked upon as the likely successor of Mr. Bonar Law, "Chancellor Baldwin" is mentioned prominently. During the Prime Min-reunite the party and give the country as sagacious an administration, wily yet firm, as it has ever known." The paper added that the chief obstacle to this plan would be Balfour himself, who has had enough of the long Premier.

Following are the members of the Conservative Party in Britain most prominently mentioned as likely to succeed Rt. Hon. Andrew Bonar Law as Premier:

Stanley Baldwin—Foreign Secretary, formerly Viceroy of India and member of the Imperial War Council; born January 11, 1859.

Stanley Baldwin—Chancellor of the Exchequer and acting Premier during the recent illness of Bonar Law, formerly Financial Secretary of the Treasury; born August 3, 1867.

Earl of Derby—Secretary for War, formerly Under-Secretary for War and Director of Recruiting; born April 4, 1868.

Austen Chamberlain—Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Lloyd George Ministry, formerly Postmaster-General; born in 1863.

Earl of Balfour—Former Premier, Foreign Secretary in the Lloyd George Cabinet; born July 25, 1848.

A. J. SMALL APPEAL IN TORONTO COURT

Toronto, May 21.—Mrs. Theresa Small has set down her appeal to the Division Court at Osgoode Hall from Judge Coatsworth of the Surrogate Court of York County, respecting the "last will of A. J. Small, and his alleged death on or about December 2, 1919."

The proceedings before Judge Coatsworth, taken to obtain probate of a will in which Mrs. Small was named as executrix and beneficiary, began with an application for an order declaring Small dead. Judge Coatsworth did not find that the testator was dead and hence Mrs. Small goes to the Appellate Division.

GOOD LUCK SAVED NIAGARA PARTY

Motorboat Headed for Falls When Buffalo Was Goal

Stuck in Mud and Those Aboard Got Ashore

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 21.—Only a mudbank and extraordinary luck saved a party of five from Chicago from being carried over Niagara Falls in a motor boat Saturday evening. With the boat stuck fast in the mud, the owner and crew got ashore, thankful that their experience was no more thrilling than it turned out to be.

The boat was formerly a submarine chaser, and was brought up the barge canal to Tonawanda. Captain George Murphy, of Chicago, was in command.

On Saturday the captain decided to make another trip to Buffalo. The motor boat was taken from the canal into the river and the pilot, being unfamiliar with the channels, started in a northerly direction around the end of Grand Island. Then, instead of turning north in the westerly channel between Grand Island and Cayuga, the boat proceeded north along the Canadian shore. She was headed for the falls, but her owner and crew believed they were going toward Buffalo, as they afterwards explained.

BRITISH LEGION MEETS IN LONDON

Prince of Wales and Earl Haig Address Annual Conference

London, May 21.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Presenting his annual report at the opening of the annual conference of the British Legion, of which he is president, Field Marshal Earl Haig, stated there were 2,938 branches of the Legion in the country at the close of the year. Ten thousand men had found employment during the year in spite of almost unrelieved depression.

The Prince of Wales, in a speech, said the spirit of comradeship was still alive in the country.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 members of the Legion on Saturday afternoon marched to the Centotaph, where an impressive memorial service was held in which the clergy and choir of Westminster Abbey and the band of the Irish Guards participated. The Prince of Wales, Lord Haig and representatives of ex-service men of Allied countries and the United States were present.

The Prince, on behalf of the Legion, deposited a wreath of poppies and Princess Alice laid on the monument wreath from the women's branch of the Legion.

FLOWERS LAID ON VETERANS' GRAVES

Annual Decoration Day Observed in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, May 21.—Ideal weather prevailed for the annual Decoration Day celebration here yesterday. The graves of all war veterans in the city were decorated with flowers and several hundred survivors of British campaigns marched in the parade.

It was the second consecutive Sunday that Winnipeg honored its war dead; a monument dedicated to the memory of 1,500 Winnipeggers who lost their lives in the war being unveiled a week ago.

BEIQUE REGARDS WESTERN CANADA'S DEMANDS TOO HIGH

Montreal, May 21.—Speaking at the annual meeting of the employees of the Bank of Hochelaga here, Senator Beique, vice-president of the bank, protested against what he described as the exaggerated demands on the East made by Westerners, and declared that men who went farming on the prairies did so in many instances with a view to getting rich quickly. They were, he said, speculators in agriculture who "mined" wheat fields of Western Canada regardless of what followed thereafter.

St. Catharines, Ont., May 21.—Not only did the local Labor Party fail to nominate a candidate for the Ontario Legislature in the riding of St. Catharines on Saturday, but it was deemed that the organization which carried the riding by a plurality of 1,500 at the last provincial election has practically collapsed and will probably have no candidate in the field.

Less than thirty supporters of the party attended the convention, and Frank Greenleaf, general labor member, declined to stand.

URGES NEW TRADE POLICY FOR EMPIRE

Australian Premier Says Development Needed By Commonwealth

At Conference He Will Ask Increased British Preference

Special to The Times. Melbourne, Australia, May 20.—When the Premier of Australia, Capt. S. M. Bruce, goes to the Imperial Economic Conference later in the year he will press for a much greater preference in trade than is now accorded by Britain to the sister nations overseas.

In an interview with your correspondent he pointed out that Australia to-day gives a preference to the Mother Country to the extent of almost $50,000,000 a year and gets in return a preference of only $20,000,000. It is useless, he said, to set the same position relatively and he was sure the Northern Dominion would back him in whatever representations he might make to the British Government.

"Markets are disappearing all over the world," he said, "and those that remain are being reduced by impoverished finances. We have a surplus in our products and we must find markets for it if we are not to maintain our present populations but to increase them by immigration. It is useless to invite Britons to settle overseas unless when they become producers we can get them a profitable opening for what they produce."

Empire Trade Policy.

"What we need at the present day is a great Empire trade policy—one worked out for the benefit of the British countries and one that is calculated to make for development. This policy also would help us in time of war and further stimulate that community of interest that we feel we want to see in great strength between the various parts of the Empire now remote and distant."

"Close trade relations with adequate knowledge of our resources and the capital to develop them would make the British Empire the greatest economic power the world has ever known."

The Premier emphasized the collapse of the Australian meat market in London through the competition of Argentina and referred to Canada's fears of an agricultural tariff in Britain designed to benefit the British farmer. An Empire economic policy would lay down the general principles on which all these difficulties could be adjusted.

Australian Defence.

Since the British Government has decided to develop and fortify in a modern way the port of Singapore, the Australian Government, according to Premier Bruce, will carry out no further work on proposed naval bases.

Instead, the Government will concentrate on the development of its air force as it believes the development of fighting planes in the future will make possible an adequate system of coastal defence.

The Australia, battleship, now lying in Sydney Harbor, the crew having been paid off, will not be scrapped until all the nations have ratified the Washington Treaty. Announcement to this effect has been made by the Premier.

"If the Washington Treaty is ratified by all the powers," said Mr. Bowden, Minister of Defence, "and the scrapping duly carried out Great Britain will have twenty-two capital ships, the United States twenty and Japan ten. If the treaty is not ratified and the present programmes are carried out, Britain will have twenty-three capital ships, including the Australia, the United States forty-one and Japan twenty-three."

Ruling Withdrawn.

Recently the Customs authorities decided that copies of the "Decameron" of Boccaccio would not be admitted into Australia except for use of university students. While Australia was laughing at the order a newspaperman discovered that the actual volumes prohibited were those that had been bowdlerized and thus contained not a single offensive expression. The laugh grew louder against the department and the climate came when it announced that the ban was withdrawn and that any edition of Boccaccio could come in for all the department cared.

Ned Kelly's Mother Died.

Days when the bushranger robbed and murdered in Australia are recalled by the death of the mother of Ned Kelly, head of the "Kelly Gang," who robbed gold escorts and shot mounted policemen in Victoria when Melbourne was being born. She was an old woman of over eighty and had lived in a little country settlement in Victoria for many years forgotten by everybody. She often spoke of her son Ned and his escapades, and to the end of her life said he was a "good boy" but had been led astray by bad companions.

Birds Bared.

The bulbul or Persian songbird, beloved of Eastern poets, can no longer be brought into Australia. Like the rabbit, it has become a pest to the farmers, eating fruit and grain. The Customs Department, ignoring its poetic value and its beautiful voice, has put the ban on it.

Hunting Wild Beast.

Sydney, Australia, May 21.—A hitherto unknown animal something like the Canadian cougar, but marauding and a man-eating tiger as the natives describe him, has been seen in the mysterious fastnesses of the Palmyra ranges in the Never-Never land of Queensland.

Reginald Kendall, with a party of hunters and a cinematographer, has just left Sydney to endeavor to secure a specimen. The animal is unknown to science, and although hunters have reported seeing what they took to be an escaped tiger and the natives of the district tell remarkable stories of men the beast has taken, proof of its existence has hitherto been lacking.

Mr. Kendall, who has hunted in Papua and South America, is accompanied by Le Souef, on wild animals south of the equator. He believes that the marauding tiger is not a myth, but that it actually really has one wild and savage beast, its only one.

The expedition expects to be away six months.

ESSAYS ON CANADA NORTH OF FIFTY-SIX

Contests Are Expected to Spread Knowledge of Northern Canada

Toronto, May 21.—Two essay competitions with cash prizes totalling $3,000 on the general subject of "Canada North of the Fifty-Six Parallel of Latitude" are announced. The first competition, known as the University Competition, is open to Canadian students enrolled in Canadian universities. For the second, known as the General Competition, all resident Canadians are eligible.

For the best essay in the University there will be a cash prize of $1,000 given by Sir James Atkins, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and for the best essay in the General Competition a cash prize of $500 donated by A. J. T. Taylor of Toronto.

Information Needed.

These competitions have been instituted as a stimulus to the collection and dissemination of practical information about what are perhaps erroneously called the "Barren Lands" of the far Canadian North. It is the hope of the donors that the winning essay will pronounce an authoritative verdict on the practicability or impossibility of the settlement and economic exploitation of these Arctic and sub-Arctic regions. There is an old view that these areas are uninhabitable. There is a new view supported by facts of exploration and by the northern trend of civilization in the north temperate zone that they can support population, that they constitute a new field for Canadian expansion. The donors desire a critical examination of these conflicting theories.

Judicial Treatment.

The writers are under no obligation of prejudice or bias. What is desired is a judicial weighing of facts. It is suggested that the contestants make as far as possible a complete and accurate survey of the natural features and resources of the district under discussion, its ethnology, its geography and oceanography, its fauna and flora, marine and terrestrial. There should be discussion of its possibilities agriculturally and in grazing, mining, fishing and water transportation—and of colonization, with, if possible, suggestions of practical solutions. The essays, however, should not be a mere compilation of details, but rather articles such as a magazine would purchase on their merits. The judges will welcome vivid and graphic writing. There is no requirement as to length, but it is felt that an essay should not be less than 10,000 and not more than 20,000 words. What is requested is original research into the evidence, documentary or otherwise, concerning the actual conditions of Canada, insular and continental, north of the fifty-sixth parallel. There is no objection to using arguments and facts relating to other countries than Canada.

Rules.

The following are the formal rules governing the Far North Essay Competitions:

1. The subject is, "Canada North of the Fifty-Six Parallel of Latitude."
2. The University Competition is restricted to Canadian students enrolled in Canadian universities. The General Competition is open to all resident Canadians other than university students.
3. In each competition there are two prizes, a first prize of $1,000 and a second prize of $500.
4. The essays are to be the actual composition of the contestants, and must be typewritten on one side of the paper only, with a two-inch margin. Mere length will not be regarded as a point of merit. Neither will brevity.
5. The prize winning essays shall be at the joint disposition of the donors of the prizes, who will hold and own the copyrights to these essays, but who will return to the authors of the essays as a bonus any net profits resulting from the publication of these essays.
6. All essays are to be marked "Far North Essay Competition," University Section, or General Section, as the case may be, and addressed to the Secretary for the Judges, whose name and address will be announced later, October 10, 1924, will be the last day for receiving entries.
7. The essays will be judged by a board of judges to be appointed testing fence that guards the great cliff known as "The Gap" near the Sydney harbor entrance. Andrew Charles Bowack, who enlisted in the Canadian army and was a prisoner of war in Germany, leaped several hundred feet into the sea. A crowd of people saw the despairing leap and his sister-in-law made an agonized attempt to hold him back.

Bowack thought he was going blind. He was out of work and he had not received any pension from the Canadian Government for his wounds.

He served in the Canadian forces for a short time, leaving a good job in California to join up. As he was a skilled engineer, he was used on transports, one of which was torpedoed by a German submarine. He was injured by the explosion, and after he had been rescued one of the Germans hit him on the head with an iron bar. The submarine commander, trying to escape from a British chaser, had all his prisoners dumped into a hatch, where they were almost poisoned by escaping gas.

On arrival at a German port Bowack, being taken ashore, was allowed to fall into the sea by the careless ambulance party. Then he went through the horrors of a prison camp and when he was finally released he returned to England, his native country, and finally came out to friends in Australia.

His wound, particularly one on the head, kept him continually depressed. Inability to find work in Australia and the thought that he was going blind led him to take his life in the most spectacular way Sydney has ever known.

An Orderly Strike.

Because the Japanese engaged in the pearl fisheries on Thursday Island, on the north of Australia, went on strike and refused to accept the wages offered them, reports reached Sydney that they had terrorized the white people on the island and that a cruiser belonging to the Australian navy was wanted to restore order.

Australia had a "yellow peril" scare for some days. Then it was discovered that the Japanese had been quite orderly in their behavior, and that the Commonwealth had nothing to do with the island, as it belonged to the state of Queensland, which Government had satisfied itself the trouble was not serious.

Finally the employers gave higher wages and the trouble ended. In future, however, the Commonwealth will keep a naval service boat at the island.

A Thrilling Escape.

Caught in a waterpout off the coast of the Solomon Islands, a white woman in a small launch used by her husband for trading, had a thrilling escape from death.

She was on a seventy-mile voyage from one island to another, her only companions being three natives, when a huge waterpout appeared just about fifty yards ahead. It enveloped the boat in a second, a heap of water fell on the deck all but swamping it. The dinghy was torn

MR. BONAR LAW RETIRES.

When Mr. Bonar Law succeeded Mr. Lloyd George political Britain and the electorate as a whole got out of an excited atmosphere that was beginning to give everybody the nerves.

The Carlton Club gathering offered a means to the standpat Conservatives to get rid of Mr. Lloyd George. Nothing was overlooked. The memorable scene was well planned.

Mr. Bonar Law's retirement marks the end of a short career as Prime Minister of Great Britain. It comes at a time, however, when the Government is beginning to get its stride and to produce some of the things which the retiring Prime Minister promised a few months ago.

Tranquility in respect of international affairs cannot be ordered in advance. As long as there are peppy people in Southeastern Europe British statesmen will have very little peace of mind in respect of European affairs.

THE NEW FERRY.

To-day's complimentary trip of the Motor Princess to Bellingham marks another substantial step of progress towards a fuller development of the motor tourist "industry."

With the Bellingham and Anacortes motor ferries giving full service during the season, adequate facilities will have been provided for frequent and pleasant interchanges between the people of this Island and the neighboring State.

the two links. It means that every tourist agency on the Pacific slope and farther afield will have new strings to their bows. From their recommendations of this convenient and attractive link between this Island and the United States this immediate community will benefit in a substantial pecuniary sense.

It follows that the people of Victoria also realize the importance of making these two routes popular in a business and a holiday sense.

BREEDING CATTLE.

Agricultural interests in Great Britain failed to make any headway against the findings of the Finlay Commission and the subsequent lifting of the British embargo against the admission of Canadian cattle. They bowed to the settlement of the main principle involved and let it go at that.

Ever since the new regulation was assured there have been influences at work to discover a means of taking away some of the advantages which Canadian stockmen have now gained. The importation of breeding cattle furnished a new avenue of attack. It has been pointed out by the former Minister of Agriculture that the arrangements reached by British and Canadian officials included a pledge to lay an order on the table in the House permitting the importation of this class of animal.

It was at the 1917 gathering in London that the original pledge was given to the Canadian Government in respect of the embargo's removal. We shall rather expect Ottawa's representatives to win their point.

VICTORIA MAIL IN VANCOUVER.

It should be of considerable advantage to the business men of both cities to have Victoria's mail delivered in Vancouver at eight o'clock in the morning instead of three hours later. Most people will probably learn with some surprise that it has not been possible to avoid such a long delay hitherto.

Under the new arrangement replies may now be sent and business transacted from Vancouver by the boat which leaves there at ten-thirty in the morning and reaches here in the early afternoon. We can readily understand that considerable time and inconvenience may be saved by the speedier delivery.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There are weeks for almost everything nowadays. Victoria had better label the present one as "Wear a Smile Week"—and keep it on.

We can scarcely imagine a British electorate that sent 140 Labor members to the House of Commons voting with both hands and feet in favor of Lord Curzon as the next Premier.

Lord Beaverbrook talks about the "black record" of the Coalition Government. Fitting tribute could have been paid to Mr. Bonar Law by the proprietor of The Daily Express without extravagant references of this kind.

News comes from London that the Angora Government will sign the Greco-Turkish peace treaty without indemnities. It is just as well, the alternative seems to be war and the spending of money that exists in neither Turkish nor Greek treasury.

After all Mr. Stanley Baldwin can put in his record as Chancellor of the Exchequer and his accomplishment on the debt funding commission, not to mention the more active part he has played in the House of Commons during the absence of Mr. Bonar Law, as a recommendation for the Premiership. Achievements of this kind sit well upon a man who was comparatively unknown in the political world six years ago.

In spite of what Mr. Oliver and Mr. Bowser say about the antiquity of the freight rates question, as far as British Columbia is concerned, we can say without hesitation that the equalization phase of the controversy was not an issue on the eve of the Battle of Waterloo. We mention this in case "Bill Adams" would care to take a hand in the debate.

OUR CONTEMPORARIES

REASONABLE OBJECTIONS. Ottawa Journal:—Someone suggested that Moose Jaw change its name to Tutankhamen, and Medicine Hat to Ur. Naturally Moose Jaw objects because it hasn't been dead nearly 3,300 years.

FARM CREDITS. Montreal Gazette:—There is no apparent lack of capital available through the ordinary channels, provided satisfactory security can be offered. It is because the security is inadequate, owing to the heavy obligations which the western farmers have assumed, that some preferential treatment for the advantage of the agricultural industry is asked, and parliament will have to consider how far it will be justified in placing a burden upon the country as a whole for the benefit of one class, even one so important as the agricultural community.

TELLING SECRETS. London Telegraph:—There may be trouble for certain highly-priced statesmen when the season really starts. Of late actual state documents have been published in volumes of "Reminiscences," and certain people who object to even ministers telling what no one else can or dare tell, are going to kick up what is called "a deuce of a row." In fact, however, this question of revealing state documents is a very old one.

Queen Victoria was once in a very great anger because of what Henry Reves, then clerk to the privy council, wrote "about my uncle." Since that day all holders of the office have given an undertaking to resist any temptation to keep a diary or reveal secrets.

Other People's Views

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and snappy. The longer an article the shorter the chance of insertion. All communications bear the name and address of the writer, but not for publication unless the writer wishes. The publication or rejection of articles is a matter entirely in the discretion of the Editor. No responsibility is assumed by the paper for MSS. submitted to the Editor.

"THE CALIFORNIA WAY"

To the Editor:—Anybody who has ever eaten fish in California knows that the sea products of that region are insipid to the taste and flabby in flesh. Not at all in the same food category as our delightful northern fish, which are firm, rich and satisfying. Yet they make a great fuss about the fish over there, and people from the Middle States believe there are none better.

It is claimed in Long Beach that ten years hence the fish will be tax free. Oil has been found within the city, some on city-owned land. They anticipate the rewards from oil production will soon be sufficient to pay for the municipal upkeep. Whether true or false they are succeeding in forcing that vision into the minds of newcomers, with the result that real estate is leaping on the move.

The prosperity of all that country is built on vision backed by energy. Victoria has Los Angeles outclassed by far, for possessing real requirements. We are a sea port, the ocean is not twenty miles away but at our door. We have coal within hauling distance. This island helps to supply that staple of the modern world—stout-hearted timber is our great asset; our logs made into timber in Seattle helps to increase the glory of Los Angeles day by day. But nobody hears of us, all they know is "It's a California bungalow."

You would think to listen to them that bungalows could not be built anywhere else but in California, and on oil production; and fish was never caught outside of Southern California. On the strength of that line of argument they are getting the money. All the loose change of this continent is being poured into Los Angeles and vicinity.

What we need here is more emphasis—we have tended to be a trifle backward, or perhaps it is an overabundance of honesty. Whatever it is, it has proven a failure. Our system of public life is entirely too quiet, too reserved. In fact, the most of our advertising is apparently done among ourselves at the many luncheons held in the Chamber of Commerce. It's the old story—we should endeavor to interest. Let's go after him and make our remarks loud.

That's the California way. J. A. SHANKS, 1281 Fairfield Road, Victoria, B. C., May 21, 1923.

STATED VIEWS ON THE PRICE CAMPAIGN

Several Ministers in Vancouver Yesterday Made References to Services

Vancouver, May 21.—Pulpit comment on the Dr. Charles S. Price healing campaign at the Arena here was not extensive on Sunday.

Rev. Harold G. King, of St. Paul's Anglican Church, counselled against hysterical people being taken to the meetings.

Rev. Alexander Thomson, of the Unitarian Church, declared that Dr. Price's allegation that lack of faith was the cause of failure to heal disease was "an outrage upon some of the purest souls that ever lived."

Rev. W. H. Smith, D. D., of Chalmers Church, approved the evangelistic message of Dr. Price, but was not in complete accord with some of the methods employed.

Rev. Alex. Ester, D. D., of Chalmers Church, eulogized the Price mission without qualification, and a few of the smaller churches abandoned their Sunday evening sermons to enable their members to visit the Arena, but none of the downtown churches did so, the committee having decided that these be prepared to take care of the overflow from the Arena.

An Open Mind. Rev. Harold G. King, of St. Paul's Anglican Church, stated Sunday morning that he had been besieged with inquiries from his parishioners about the Price mission. He said he had attended one meeting, and that he was preserving an open mind. So far as the teaching was concerned, it was something he has always believed, but as to the methods, he was doubtful. In response to the requests for advice he said he would make no counsel except that he would not counsel people inclined to be hysterical to attend the meetings.

Rev. A. Thomson's Views. Rev. Alexander Thomson, minister of the Unitarian Church, preached Sunday evening on the topic, "Is Healing an Aid to Holiness?" He contended that there was no necessary connection between healing the body and promotion of religious or spiritual life, and stated that the object of his sermon was to show that the healing practised by Dr. Charles S. Price did not necessarily promote spirituality.

The most important thing is not physical health, although that is good, but spiritual strength and wisdom, said the preacher. He discussed the claims and activities of other famous "healers," and said that like everybody, he was glad of any relief for suffering of any cure of disease, or any addition to the sum of human happiness.

Responsibility. "My difficulty with the Price mission," said the preacher, "two-fold. I take strong objection to the way he has raised the hopes and expectations of thousands whom he can not hold in the slightest degree. He has taken on a serious responsibility there, and I can not agree that he is justified in acting as he has done."

A second objection is to the statement he has made regarding the cases not cured that their want of faith is the cause of his failure. I should like Dr. Price to answer a question which this attitude raises: "Will he say that all un cured disease is due to want of faith?"

That is what he is teaching, and it is an outrage on some of the finest and purest souls in the world whose

SUPREME OFFICERS OF DAUGHTERS OF EMPIRE HERE TO-DAY

First Sessions Ever Held in Canada Open To-morrow

Fifty members of the Nile Temple Daughters of the Nile arrived yesterday afternoon from Spokane for the ninth annual session which opens to-morrow morning. This delegation is the vanguard of a big influx expected to arrive this afternoon from various Temples in the United States and Canada.

The following officers will be in attendance at the sessions which are to be held at the Klatskan Empire Hall: Supreme Queen, Nellie Brown, Miriam Temple No. 2, Victoria; Supreme Princess Royal, Emma S. Farnham, Tirzah Temple, Suite, Montana; Supreme Princess Badoura, Winnifred Lea, Nydia Temple, Portland, Ore.; Supreme Princess Banker, Blanche McCoy, El Karnaik Temple, Supreme Princess Recorder, Eklaya K. West, Hatasu Temple, Seattle; Supreme Princess Marshal, Alice McVay, El Karnaik Temple, Spokane; Supreme Princess Chaplain, Katharine Hawkins, Miriam Temple, Victoria; Supreme Princess Nydia, Pearl M. Ransom, Mokata Temple, Los Angeles, Cal.; Supreme Princess Zuleika, Laura T. Gunnell, Zuleika Temple, Ashland, Ore.; Supreme Princess Zenobia, Mae H. McPherson, Zenobia Temple, Chicago; Supreme Princess Zora, Helen Scholander, Zuleika Temple, Binghamton, N.Y.; Supreme Princess Zuleima, Laura McGregor, Tirzah Temple, Butte, Montana; Supreme Lady of the K, Jessie Ekroot, Netaker Temple, Des Moines, Iowa; Supreme Lady of the G, Sophie D. Bergeron, Lotus Temple, Duluth, Minn.; Supreme Organist, Mabel Palmer, Pyramid Temple, Davenport, Iowa; Supreme Attendants, Blanche McCoy, El Karnaik Temple, Spokane, Wash., and Isabel Spence, Miriam Temple, Victoria.

As this marks the first occasion on which the Supreme Temple has met in Canada, the local hostesses of Miriam Temple No. 2 have left no stone unturned to make the stay of the visitors as pleasant as possible. Following registration this afternoon they will be taken for a drive to the beautiful gardens at Tod Inlet. This evening there will be a ball at the Empress Hotel, with drill by the visiting patrols and on each remaining day of their stay opportunities are being furnished for them to see the city and its surroundings in and about the city.

K. OF C. DELEGATES GUESTS AT SUPPER

Informal Function Last Night Precedes Convention This Week

Complimentary to the visiting delegates of the Knights of Columbus in convention here, the local members entertained at an informal supper last night in the K. of C. Hall, Government Street. During the evening short addresses were given by the state deputy, D. Kearns, of Vancouver; M. Choquette, Mayor of Nelson; Hon. John Hart, Rev. Father Wood, Rev. Father Dietze of Cranbrook, and Rev. Father Silver of Esquimalt. Sir John Barrett, Frank Sehl, J. D. O'Connell, J. O. Sullivan of New Westminster and H. J. O'Leary.

The complimentary musical programme arranged by Mrs. Burdon-Murphy was rendered during the evening. Jack Pullen contributing violin solos, Miss Milnehall piano solo, Mor Bullock-Webster vocal solo, and Mrs. B. Burdon-Murphy and Miss Milnehall piano duo.

Mrs. Burdon-Murphy acted as accompanist for all selections.

For the occasion the hall was decorated with white and yellow broom, and the super table with pink and yellow tulips. For the delicious supper served Mesdames McKinnis, J. D. O'Connell, M. Steele, E. Colbert and H. F. O'Leary were responsible, while the Misses Gertrude O'Leary, Nancy Hunter, Norma Franck, Rose Steele, Ella Colbert and Justa McKenna assisted in serving.

YOUR HOME AND YOU

By HELEN KENDALL

Be Kind to Your Hair

The dye, and it will never be successful, because as the hair grows out it will be white at the roots and more dye must be applied, and the more it is put on the more it deadens and dulls and uglifies. Ten years from now, when the white hair would make her aging face look softer and younger, she will have a hard, artificial dead-looking halo that will make her look a hundred, and the shining, live-looking quality of her hair will be gone forever.

"She was torturing her hair in other ways, too. It had been permanently waved, and treated to tonics and ointments and brilliantine, and henna—and dear knows what not. If only she had taken beautiful, clean care of it always, it would be lovely still. Brushing it thoroughly every night, keeping heating 'pads' shampooed at regular intervals in pure castile soap only, and letting it have plenty of air and ventilation—that's all any hair needs to be soft and shiny always—whether it is brown or white."

And the well-groomed woman's own satin-smooth, healthy-looking coiffure showed that she had found the secret.

Presiding At Nile Convention Here

Mrs. Arthur Brown, of 1404 Harrison Street, Victoria, as Supreme Queen is presiding at the ninth annual sessions of the Nile Temple, Daughters of the Nile. Mrs. Brown has the distinction of being the first Canadian woman to fill the highest office in this international order of women. During her regime she has been most successful in organizing a number of new Temples in the Order. She holds membership in Miriam Temple, which is acting as hostess to the visitors and the officers and members of which are deeply appreciative of the honor conferred upon Mrs. Brown by Supreme Temple.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL

National Gathering at Toronto in June; Leading Speakers

Halifax, N.S., May 21.—(By Canadian Press)—Delegates from many parts of the Dominion will gather in this city to attend the thirteenth annual meeting of the National Council of Women of Canada, to be held from June 21 to 27. Among the speakers will be Magistrate Margaret Patterson of Toronto; Mrs. Adam Shortt, of Ottawa; Brigadier-General Sir W. S. Hughes, superintendent of Canadian penitentiaries; Professor A. B. Munro, of Dalhousie University, and others to be announced later.

The National Council of Women was founded in 1893 by the Marchioness of Aberdeen, whose husband, the Earl of Aberdeen, was at that time Governor-General of Canada. Nation-wide organizations federated with the National Council include the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire, the Canadian Girl Guides, Young Women's Christian Association, Canadian Women's Press Club, and several others. Miss C. E. Carmichael, of New Glasgow, N.S., is the president of the National Council.

Joint Property.

The Medical Alumnae of the University of Toronto, which is federated with the National Council, will introduce a motion at the annual meeting that the provincial governments be requested to establish by legislation the principle of "community of interests" between husband and wife, with regard to all real property acquired by them "as a result of their common labor and effort." It proposes that the husband shall have the management of the community property, such as a house, restricted as to selling or mortgaging real estate or leasing same for more than one year without the concurrence of his wife. The motion, with this question, the Local Council of Welland, Ont., recommends that "it be made illegal for the husband to invest his earnings in mining or other stock or attach his name to a bond for security without his wife's full knowledge and consent."

Coal Supply.

The National Council of Women will also consider the question of coal supply. "The district situated in Ontario last winter through the restriction of coal shipments from the United States," says a motion to be presented by the Council of Toronto, "has again demonstrated the dangers attending the province's economic dependence for fuel and that country." Continuing the motion reads: "After surveying the good quality coal for heating purposes can be found in the provinces of Nova Scotia and Alberta; and by means of an efficient and cheap system of rail and water transportation it could be made available in Ontario." The motion recommends that the National Council of Women urge the Federal Government to investigate the whole situation and ascertain whether or not means can be devised to supply Ontario with coal from the Alberta and Nova Scotia fields for heating purposes. The Government is testing the burning qualities of the Alberta coal in Toronto at present. A motion will be presented, that in all vital statistics, such as birth certificates, census returns, etc., the Federal Government should record as Canadians all persons born in Canada of native-born and naturalized parents. The object of this motion, introduced on behalf of the Kitchener and Waterloo local councils, is to individualize the nationality of the Canadian-born.

Peace by Arbitration.

The question of martial relations and unlicensed, unsupervised rooming houses will be brought up by the Toronto Local Council. The Toronto Council will recommend that the National Council of Women should urge upon local councils the necessity of studying the problem in their own locality, and if possible, making a survey of the situation, with a view to working out a plan of remedying existing conditions.

A resolution that the National Council of Women place itself on record as being "fervently and earnestly opposed to international disputes being settled by warfare," and that "such questions should be settled by arbitration" will be presented by the Local Council of Portage La Prairie, Manitoba.

The Ontario Woman Citizen's Association will urge that the Council approach the Canadian Government, with a petition that capital punishment be abolished.

Why People Become Nervous and Run-down

Prominent Health Official Explains

By G. M. Lapinski, M. D., Former Member of Philadelphia, U. S. A. Health Department

"The reason why persons who are weak, anemic, nervous and run-down have gotten into that condition is because they are so constituted that they use up their vital energy and nerve force quicker than their bodies can replace it. Their systems fail to extract from the food they eat and retain in sufficient quantity those mineral elements without which the body is absolutely unable to create vital energy and nerve force. And so they go on expending, day by day, their vital energy without adequately replenishing the supply until their systems become completely run-down, their blood gets impoverished and their nerves are unstrung. The mineral elements which are essential in the creation of vital power are particularly calcium, potassium, sodium, phosphorus and iron. And these elements must be administered to those patients whose systems do not extract them in sufficient quantity in the natural way from their food. That is why I always recommend Wincarnis for weak, anemic, nervous and run-down patients. For Wincarnis contains all of these vitally necessary elements in a form that enables the system to readily assimilate them and which is acceptable to the most delicate stomach."

WAS ASSOCIATED WITH MOST FAMOUS COPPER PROPERTIES

Former Provincial Mineralogist Returned Here on Visit Has Traveled Widely in Past 25 Years, Since Leaving B. C.

Mining engineers as a class are men who wander far, but it is given to few men to have traveled so far, and been engaged in so many important ventures as Mr. Carlyle, former Provincial Mineralogist, who is visiting the city at the present time. He had a talk with The Times on Saturday evening.

Mr. Carlyle left the Department in 1898, just when the new Parliament Buildings were opening, to become general manager of the Rio Tinto copper mines of south western Spain, interests at Rossland. After leaving British Columbia he has been engaged in a number of enterprises, most recently in an important position with British American Nickel Corporation in the nickel field in Sudbury, where his company erected several modern plants.

Most Historic Mines. The most picturesque part of his career in the twenty-five years since he left this province was probably the eight years spent as general manager of the famous Rio Tinto copper mines of south western Spain, which are owned by British capital. These are most ancient of the great history tracing back ten centuries before Christ, Phoenicians, Carthaginians, and Romans all in turn working the ore bodies. After the Romans came Goths and Moors, and then in the last four centuries the property's history is the story of the successive changes which have taken place in the Iberian peninsula. The record of the mine, with its remains of working by past civilizations, is the most fascinating of all copper properties. During the last half century modern methods and equipment have been added by the proprietary company, and Mr. Carlyle's general management had 16,000 persons working in and around the mines, feeding a population of 50,000 dependent upon their resources, apart from a large number of persons engaged in shipping operations and similar capacities at the port of Huelva, to which the mine is connected by a railway belonging to the Rio Tinto Company.

According to Mr. Carlyle the Spanish local administrations have nothing to learn about "grants" and forms of pressure for concessions, in fact they could give lessons to the "Chinese" in seeking to make the foreigner come through. How pleasant it would be to the political "boss" in this country, as is done down there, to have an intimation from headquarters one week before the polls as to how many votes each candidate would receive, and to be able to file a return from the polling booths of the exact number as required, though the actual vote cast would probably be twice that recorded.

In Ural Mountains. Mr. Carlyle did some valuable work for the Empire in Scandinavia during the war years, but he did not want to do that, he said, because it was a case where his technical skill was used to check contraband of metals into Germany, but he went down there, to have an intimation from headquarters one week before the polls as to how many votes each candidate would receive, and to be able to file a return from the polling booths of the exact number as required, though the actual vote cast would probably be twice that recorded.

In South Africa. Mr. Carlyle paid a visit to the celebrated Katanga mines of the Tanganyika Concessions Limited, on the borders of northern Rhodesia and the Belgian Congo. The mines are regarded as the most representative of those operated in Equatorial Africa, and are held by a British syndicate. The climate is considered good for such a section of the world, but owing to the great distance from civilization and the expense of transportation, only the high grade ores are worked. Carlyle was favorably impressed with South Africa and with the opportunities for development in the region, but he was somewhat skeptical of there being any large developments to be reported in that section of the world from a mining standpoint in the immediate future.

Opinion on British Affairs. Mr. Carlyle's last visit to the British Isles showed to him conditions much better than a few years ago. He found considerable interest in Canadian mining ventures, particularly in connection with the Premier and other properties in the Stewart field. He speaks hopefully both of the Kirkland Lake and Porcupine areas of New Ontario with important producing mines.

Mr. Carlyle is accompanied by Mrs. Carlyle and Miss Carlyle on this visit. They are making their headquarters at the Angela and will be in Victoria for some time.

CENTENNIAL CHURCH DECIDE TO HAVE DR. DAVIES PASTOR

Strong Resolution Is Passed Supporting Board's Action

The congregation of the Centennial Methodist Church, seem determined to have Rev. Dr. Clem. Davies as pastor of the Gorge Road Church. At least that is the impression that was given at the meeting held following the Sunday morning service when some five hundred people rose to their feet signifying their endorsement of the following resolution: "Resolved that this meeting of the Centennial Methodist congregation hereby request the representatives to the Conference to use the strongest possible measures to secure Dr. Davies' acceptance into the B. C. Methodist Conference and his subsequent stationing as pastor for Centennial Church."

The resolution was at first put in a milder form, but it was the opinion of many that the resolution had not been worded strongly enough and that the support that would be indicated in this resolution not firm enough in its wording, so two amendments were made resulting in the foregoing resolution. When the question was put before the meeting some 500 people stood up in recognition of their support. To the contrary only two stood up but did not state their reasons for such action.

Influences Children. Dr. Davies intimated at the close of the meeting to a member of the Times staff that J. E. Campbell, of the North Ward School had stated that he would write to the Rev. Dr. W. J. Sippell, stating that Dr. Davies' good influence on the children of the North Ward School should not be removed and would therefore ask the Rev. Dr. Sippell if he could use his influence to admit Dr. Davies into the B. C. Conference and station him as pastor of the Centennial Church.

Reviews Happenings. The happenings of the past week were briefly reviewed by C. B. Deaville, delegate to the Conference for the Centennial Church, who presided over the meeting. Mr. Deaville had left W. N. Mitchell, the other representative, in Vancouver in order to come to Victoria and find out the attitude of the Centennial Church toward the rejection of Dr. Davies into the B. C. Conference and as pastor of Centennial Church. Summarizing what has already appeared in the foregoing review, Mr. Deaville said that he put questions to him and he would endeavor to answer them and also any resolutions they might have. A question asked was: "Why wasn't the Centennial Church given a minister if they were as plentiful as the B. C. Conference would lead one to believe, at the time of Rev. Dr. Davies' death?" The question asked. Wires had been sent to the President of the Conference and to Dr. Sippell but no satisfaction could be obtained the answer being to carry on as best they could until they returned from the East. After they returned from the East the pulpit was still vacant, so the church invited Dr. Davies to fill the vacancy for one month.

Good Services. His services were so good and beneficial to the Centennial Church that at the end of the month he was invited to remain at the Church until such time as the Centennial congregation could put a request before the B. C. Conference asking for the stationing of Dr. Davies to the Centennial pastorate and membership in the B. C. Conference. Only one answer had come to the churches appeal for a minister, it was stated in answer to a question, and that was a minister who was not Methodist and wanted $2,500 a year for his services, which was far too great for the Centennial Church to pay.

Can Support. Speaking to the motion, a member of the choir asked: "Can the church afford to support Dr. Davies if he is again rejected by the conference and no other minister given support?" The answer came from the audience when some hundred voices almost unanimously said "yes." At a meeting of the Centennial Board last night a resolution was passed urging the delegation at the conference to press their appeal for Dr. Clem. Davies as pastor of Centennial Church. This was backed up by the resolution of the congregation yesterday morning, which also appointed the following delegation to represent them in placing the request before the stationing committee again: R. Beard, George Holt, G. W. Deaville, C. Harris and A. Menagh. W. N. Mitchell and C. B. Deaville have been instructed by the Church Board to once more formally request the B. C. Conference to accept Dr. Clem. Davies into the Conference and appoint him as pastor of the Centennial Church.

LE VOYAGEUR

By RUTH DIER

Lovely Vancouver Isle! No inspired words of mine can utter praise too ardent of thy scenic shore. Where the blue-grey seas caress thy kelp-strewn beach line. Or on thy silver sands the crested breakers roar. Sound of the shelving bays in quiet summer dream. Parts of thy rugged coast with towering rocks abound. Thy inland waterways, like giant rivers, doth seem to picture scenes with quaint villages around. The surf rolls in from the vast Pacific Ocean.

That restless sea, the far East from the West divides, And washes jutting rocks with its ceaseless motion. Or hugs the beaches when its angry mood subsides Along the western coast of this enchanted Isle. A wonderland of grandeur greets the traveler's eye. As thro' inlets, forest-bound, the good ship glides, while Every moment here all too rapidly goes by. Here dwell the Coastal Indians, whose peaceful tribe At one time was hostile, and Nootka's chieftain rose In arms against the whites, when no glittering bribe Appeased the great Medicus's wrathfulness: But those Days have long since passed, and many a legend strange And wondrous rush they weave gay baskets, and exchange Their work for blankets, or some triviale.

The mystic totem carrier, hereditary monk and skill, Creating marvellous works of Indian art, Symbolic mementoes of a passing race: Still each rock man lives as did his forefathers will part From ancient customs. These expert fishermen dare Risk a reward from the Pacific's waters deep, With the hopeful luck of Oosh-Mush, the white of prayer, Whose sacred assurance each Indian doth keep. One mountain-flanked canal, for thirty miles doth wind Herds of grazing cattle contented remain, Of Port Alberni. Nestling 'mid the hills I find Two sparkling lakes, Great Central and the Sproat, a crown Of lofty forest peaks surround their shores cool. That mother many a stray errant mountain stream Tumbling into their bosom, and which then doth school itself to find an outlet, where each leech to be Of sunlight, throws checkered shadows upon its breast. As it rushes thro' deep gorges, or merrily Gleans in misty waterfalls, then doth pause to rest. In still clear pools, and so at last flows in the sea. Among these glades keen pleasure seekers sport and find: Trout leap in the streams, and game in the forests lurk. The deep silences bring tranquility of mind To he, who amidst the charm of nature's blanketed work. The three-peaked Arrowsmith, a mountain-blanketed With eternal snows, doth o'er shadow the deep valleys Whose primitive beauty, man's hand has never red And purple blooms, and a word fern, carpet the long trails Of these vast-timber lands: Here, flourish grand old trees That have weathered the storms of centuries, and here, Great firs that rock their cone-crowned branches in the breeze. Here, pines and spreading cedars their dark shadows cast. At Qualicum, the sea tides dreamily recede, and here, And bare, long open stretches of a sun-swept beach, Whose pebbled sands are sprinkled with warm pools, and freed With white bending willows the wavy yellow grain. Now thro' fertile valleys, the wavy yellow grain And clover fields luxuriate 'neath cloudless sky. Herds of grazing cattle contented remain, In green pasture meadows that in the valleys lie. Then in virgin lands, the myriad lakes and streams Both every lover of the wilderness yearn to see. The bold rainbow trout in the rippling water gleams. Ah! this surely is the fisherman's Paradise. Long, winding, lower-banked trails lead to Strathcona Park. That to the wondering eye beauties doth unfold. Infinite solitude! Now broken but by rare. The sunrise lovelier doth seem in these peaked hills. This pierce the morning clouds, the Buttes Lake invites The admiration of each wanderer, the hills. And leaping streams, bright, dancing, mischievous sprites, Doth the venture in the lake's rippling song. For here man leaves all things as Nature did intend. The mounded, heched rocks, green-mossed, where clumsy feet Of black bears, down hollow mountain slopes they tread. In search of salmon berries, or feet antelope. That brows within a sheltered nook, may come in view. As timidly they creep on some steep mountain side. That offers sweeter pasture when the grass is new. There is one dearer spot where I would ever dwell. And near weary of the river's rippling song. Fair Cowichan! Thy wooded trails have cast a spell About me, in thy wilderness untamed and strong. The soft-eyed deer love these as well as I, since ever they roam thy hills, or rest in marsh or mossy dell. Their keen nose scenting danger on the wind, or fear The prowling cougar that stalks his prey doth see. The feathered water-fowl fly to thy great lake. Ruffling with the wind, that through a mountain cleft Comes sweeping down with the varying gust that makes The placid waves from every trace of calm bereft. So wandering through valleys and o'er silent hills. An ever-changing scene, like magic to the eye. Reveals the beauty of its shady woods, and rills. Born of clear mountain springs that rock-embosomed lie. Mirrored in blue waters of the Saanich river.

Mount Malahat ascends into a bluer sky. The dawning softer breaks, with flowers, dewy-wet. Fringe the winding, ribboned roadways that shine like light Rough-hewn from the mountain side. The steep cliffs, moss grown, Are banked on either side, the red-arched bridge, the colored boughs, and dome Of velvet beds awakens the dogwood blooms. Vine garlands, and ever-entwined, hise, and saucy brooks That laugh and sport down the rocky slopes, and soon end Their song in a waterfall, where the shady nooks Harbor the wood birds that shyly their prey doth seek. From the Malahat's summit there appears a scene Unrivaled in beauty: Across the Inlet's arm Lie the Peninsula's verdant fields and green Islands gleam like emeralds, and many a proud farm Doth prosper on these sea-girt lands; the ebb and flow Of George's gulf lave their shores and give between Forming deep channels; and a thousand islands throw Dark shadows on the water in the sunlight's glow. Then scene after scene is passed, valley grove and hill, Adorned by kindly Nature, so at last we reach Victoria. Queen City of the West, thy bay and hills. The lives cling to garden walls, where pebbled beach And rocky shore join friendly hands, and broom shrubs say "Turn, and let us have our share of the sun." Unwinds her yellow, rosy scarf, with parting ray. Wraps sea and mountain peak with gold when day is done. O Voyager! no other spot that yields thee such a scene. In search of broader lands: Ere months of Summer fade, Come tarry here, where forest, lake and river smile, And find that God no fairer, spot hath ever made.

Vancouver Island QUANTITATIVE TEACHER HAS LARGE FUNERAL

Deceased Formerly Taught in Victoria for Several Years

Special to The Times. Dunsmuir.—The funeral of the late Mrs. H. D. Morten took place on Friday afternoon at St. Peter's, Quamichan, with Rev. F. G. Christmas and Archdeacon H. A. Collinson officiating. Two hymns were sung, "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Abide With Me." The pallbearers were: G. W. Carr-Hilton, Alec Maclellan (Victoria); J. Maitland-Douglass, F. H. Lomas, H. Chambers and Major Porteous. Many beautiful floral tributes were sent. The Duncan Consolidated School closed at 1:30 p.m., so that teachers and children might attend the funeral. The funeral arrangements were in charge of R. H. Whidden.

Mrs. Morten will be much missed in the district. She was greatly interested in the work of the King's Daughters, and acted as honorary secretary during the building of the King's Daughters' hospital, which was a very arduous task. She was always willing to give her time and services to help any one that needed them.

The deceased was well known in Victoria as Miss E. M. Speers. She taught there for several years. About 1895 she came to Duncan as principal of the Duncan School, which was then a two-room school. Resigning her position here she accompanied the late Agnes Deans Cameron to Chicago, where they spent several months. In 1907 she married Harry Dhu Morten, who predeceased her. In the Fall of 1920 Mrs. Morten resumed teaching, and was appointed in charge of the school at the York Road School, of the Duncan Consolidated School.

About 100 knights of Maple Lodge, No. 15, and their wives gathered in the Knights of Pythias Hall on Friday evening for the presentation by C. O. Quamichan of the certificates to those recently given the rank of knighthood in the Order. After the formal ceremony cards were indulged in, the prize-winners being: Ladies', first prize, Mrs. Hitchcock; gentlemen, first prize, H. Hatfield; ladies', consolation, Mrs. Duncan; gentlemen's consolation, H. Firth. Songs by the choir, and a further entertainment by Mrs. Mottishaw and Mr. Wallington were much appreciated. Community singing was also a pleasant feature of the evening's entertainment. A delicious supper was served.

The pupils of Miss W. Gilmer's Saturday morning dancing class presented her with a bouquet and small gift on the occasion of their last lesson, which took place on Saturday morning. It was entirely the kiddies' own idea.

Death of Well-Known Citizen. The death of Partelow Miles, an old and respected citizen of Alberni, in his seventy-fifth year, occurred at his residence on Sunday, May 13. The late Mr. Miles came to Alberni from Duluth, Minnesota, in 1906, as the representative of the Red Cliff Lumber

NEWS IN BRIEF

E. D. Todd, of Montreal, and Mrs. Todd, were at the Empress during the week end. He will succeed W. B. Lanigan, who will retire, to live here.

The schools of Saanich will be closed at midday on Wednesday next to permit of attendance by the pupils at the Inter-municipal school sports at the Willows.

George M. Perdue, who has been touring Central and South America for some time, is now on his way North to his home here. He has just sent word that he has completed his sight-seeing of Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro and is leaving Santos.

The Royal Society of St. George will hold its last function this season in the form of a social and dance in the Conservative Rooms, Campbell Building, to-morrow night, commencing at eight o'clock. Refreshments will be served.

Claiming repayment of a loan said to have been made to the defendant Hakim Singh, Atta Singh commenced suit in the County Court today before His Honor Judge Lampman. J. Y. Copeman appears for the plaintiff and J. A. Alkman for the defendant. The hearing continues.

Capt. J. B. Corley, of Victoria has been appointed Assistant Postmaster of Vancouver, to replace James Rutherford, who was superannuated in 1920. Capt. Corley is 42 years of age and a veteran of the Boer War and the Great War. He has been in the postal service for 22 years. He is married and has one son.

Women's Institutes and their place in urban and rural communities were described in the course of an interesting address by Mrs. Tyrell-Godman before the Kumtiks Club at its luncheon to-day in David Spencer's Ltd. Miss Lottie Bowton presided. Mrs. Godman described the origin and growth of the movement in England and in British Columbia, and urged the city woman to take an interest in the activities of the Institutes. Plans were discussed in connection with the supper which the Club will hold on the evening of May 26, when business women from the Seattle and Vancouver clubs will be guests of honor. The club will enter a decorated car in the May 24 parade, and will also participate in the pageant on May 28.

The large number of members present pronounced the concert held in the club quarters of the G.A.U.V. on Saturday evening to be one of the most successful of the social week-end events presented by the Association. Comrade R. Wilson presided. Outstanding features of the programme were Comrade Worth's rendering of "I Hear You Calling Me," Comrade Smalley's contribution as siffleur and mimic, songs by Messrs. Jackson, Ramsay, Walsh, Faidley and McDonald, and especially Comrade Malcolm McCaig's song, "Drinking." Comrade Wade presided at the piano and was ably assisted by Comrade Smith with the violin and Comrade Thorne on the drums. A most pleasant evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

MRS. A. E. RUMSBY IS DEAD IN VANCOUVER

As Miss Edith Edwards Was Popular Teacher of Margaret Jenkins School

Her many friends in Victoria will be shocked to learn of the death of Mrs. A. E. Rumsby, which occurred suddenly in Vancouver yesterday afternoon. From the hurried information received by her relatives in this city it is believed she succumbed to a hemorrhage of the brain.

The late Mrs. Rumsby was born in Victoria and received her education here. As Miss Edith Edwards she taught in the Margaret Jenkins School, where she was popular with teaching staff and pupils. She won a reputation as a singer locally, taking part in many concerts for benevolent and patriotic causes. She left Victoria with her husband to reside in Vancouver only a few months ago and is survived by her husband in the mainland city; her parents, S. W. Edwards, recently of the Customs Department, and Mrs. Edwards, of this city; two sisters, Mrs. Fred Wright, of Vancouver, and Miss Nora Edwards, teacher in the Oaklands School, and one brother, Gordon Edwards, in Vancouver. The late Mrs. Rumsby was a granddaughter of Mrs. M. A. Cullin, of Victoria, and niece of W. H. Cullin, King's Printer.

The remains will be brought to Victoria for interment and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

LIBEL ACTION IN SUPREME COURT

Frederick Smith Suing William McGregor for Alleged Libel

Before Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald in the Supreme Court to-day Alfred Smith commenced suit against William H. C. McGregor for libel, asking unstated damages. J. B. Clineburn and William Strath appeared for the plaintiff; J. S. Brandon and W. D. Davey for the defendant. The libel complained of is incorporated in the plaintiff's circular sent out by the defendant, partner of Watson and McGregor, plumbing firm. The history of the suit, stated the plaintiff in the box to-day, goes back to the time he was employed with the firm of Watson and McGregor as a former plumber. After a difference of opinion with the firm last November he left their employ and commenced in business for himself. He sent out a circular and later the firm sent out a circular in answer to the first, the alleged complaining of the substance of the opposing circular. The defendant admits the circulation of the circular but denies that it is libellous or issued with malice. The hearing continues.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

An interesting programme has been drawn up for the musical entertainment to be given to-morrow night by Mr. Rowles' boys' orchestra and chorus in Christ Church Cathedral schoolroom at 8 o'clock. In addition to a number of well-known orchestral selections and choruses, several of the boys are appearing as soloists in various roles. Stanley Stonier and R. Dale are vocal soloists, who also will sing together in a duet. N. Perry is another youthful singer. A. Johnson is a violin soloist, and will play a duet with R. Ward. The programme includes a cornet solo by H. McKenzie and a piano duet by M. Fuller and C. Fuller. A. Acres will appear twice as a bone soloist, and Mr. Rowles, the conductor of the orchestra, will participate in a comic sketch. The boys also worked hard at their practices, which have been held during the winter months at the homes of members of the orchestra, and are now working equally hard to dispose of tickets for their entertainment. The proceeds of to-morrow night's entertainment will be applied to the expenses of the orchestra, while the boys also wish to make a contribution themselves to the new Christ Church Cathedral buildings fund.

OUTSIDE MEN ASK PENSIONS

Laborers Want to Be Included in City's Superannuation Scheme

Representatives of the city's outside employees and laborers met members of the City Council Finance Committee this morning and urged that they be allowed the privilege of the city's new superannuation scheme.

"We have reached no decision on the matter and have yet to consider it fully," Alderman David Leeming, Chairman of the Finance Committee, said after this morning's meeting. "My own personal opinion is that the superannuation scheme should apply to all city employees who are on a monthly pay basis. As explained to us this morning, however, many of the outside workers are paid by the day. One man who has been in the service for over thirty years is still paid by the day. The whole question is one for the Council itself to decide."

"In the annual estimates the sum of $8,000 was included to pay for the superannuation scheme during the last half of this year. This sum was based on the assumption that all employees on a monthly basis would come under the scheme. But all these details must be settled by the Council itself."

Brig.-Gen. J. M. Ross, C. M. G., D. S. O., Colonel Commandant M. D. No. 11, has been pleased to grant permission for all ranks of the active militia and ex-members of the C. E. F. to wear uniform on the occasion of the Empire Ball at the Empress Hotel, May 25. This permission does not apply to other functions which are being held during the Maytime Frolic.

After a difference of opinion with the firm last November he left their employ and commenced in business for himself. He sent out a circular and later the firm sent out a circular in answer to the first, the alleged complaining of the substance of the opposing circular. The defendant admits the circulation of the circular but denies that it is libellous or issued with malice. The hearing continues.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

An interesting programme has been drawn up for the musical entertainment to be given to-morrow night by Mr. Rowles' boys' orchestra and chorus in Christ Church Cathedral schoolroom at 8 o'clock. In addition to a number of well-known orchestral selections and choruses, several of the boys are appearing as soloists in various roles. Stanley Stonier and R. Dale are vocal soloists, who also will sing together in a duet. N. Perry is another youthful singer. A. Johnson is a violin soloist, and will play a duet with R. Ward. The programme includes a cornet solo by H. McKenzie and a piano duet by M. Fuller and C. Fuller. A. Acres will appear twice as a bone soloist, and Mr. Rowles, the conductor of the orchestra, will participate in a comic sketch. The boys also worked hard at their practices, which have been held during the winter months at the homes of members of the orchestra, and are now working equally hard to dispose of tickets for their entertainment. The proceeds of to-morrow night's entertainment will be applied to the expenses of the orchestra, while the boys also wish to make a contribution themselves to the new Christ Church Cathedral buildings fund.

OUTSIDE MEN ASK PENSIONS

Laborers Want to Be Included in City's Superannuation Scheme

Representatives of the city's outside employees and laborers met members of the City Council Finance Committee this morning and urged that they be allowed the privilege of the city's new superannuation scheme.

"We have reached no decision on the matter and have yet to consider it fully," Alderman David Leeming, Chairman of the Finance Committee, said after this morning's meeting. "My own personal opinion is that the superannuation scheme should apply to all city employees who are on a monthly pay basis. As explained to us this morning, however, many of the outside workers are paid by the day. One man who has been in the service for over thirty years is still paid by the day. The whole question is one for the Council itself to decide."

"In the annual estimates the sum of $8,000 was included to pay for the superannuation scheme during the last half of this year. This sum was based on the assumption that all employees on a monthly basis would come under the scheme. But all these details must be settled by the Council itself."

Brig.-Gen. J. M. Ross, C. M. G., D. S. O., Colonel Commandant M. D. No. 11, has been pleased to grant permission for all ranks of the active militia and ex-members of the C. E. F. to wear uniform on the occasion of the Empire Ball at the Empress Hotel, May 25. This permission does not apply to other functions which are being held during the Maytime Frolic.

ATTRACTIVE PLANS FOR QUEEN'S BALL

May Queens and Escort Will Parade Around Hall; Tableau Arranged

At 10 o'clock on Thursday, during the progress of the Queen's Ball at the Armories, all lights will suddenly be extinguished. A spotlight will cut its way through the darkness and pick out the Queens as they are seated on their thrones on a raised dais. The light will hold only for a few minutes. Below the thrones of the Queens, a guard of twelve men of the Canadian Navy will be stationed, under the command of Lieutenant Oland. A detachment of the Boys' Naval Brigade will also be included as a unit of the escort.

R. B. Webb, well-known vocalist of this city, will sing an appropriate solo, at the conclusion of which the lights will be flashed on again, and the Hon. T. D. Fattullo will advance to the throne of the Queen of the Frolic and escort Her Highness down the steps. Two little flower girls will strew flowers along the path of the Queen. Twelve members of the Naval Brigade will act as train bearers.

Escorts of the other Queens will then follow the example set by the Minister of Labour and the Queen of Queens, will join in a procession around the hall, while the orchestra strikes up a march. The naval escort will follow the procession.

After the singing of "O Canada" the dancing will re-commence. The escorts for the Queens will be as follows: Queen of the Frolic, Hon. T. D. Fattullo; Queen of National Defence, Lieut.-Commander C. T. Beard; Queen of Utilities, Hon. J. D. MacLean; Queen of Clubs, Hon. John Hart; Queen of Industries, Carl Pendray; Queen of Agriculture, His Worship Mayor Hayward.

Music will be supplied at the ball by Ozard's orchestra, and the Chamber of Commerce caterer will attend to refreshments.

INTENSE ACTIVITY PREVAILS IN NORTH

H. F. Pullen of Prince Rupert Tells of Mining and Lumbering Development

Northern and Central British Columbia are very busy this season, particularly in mining and lumbering industry, according to H. F. Pullen, managing editor of the Prince Rupert Daily News, who is in the city to-day. The Queen Charlotte Islands are nearly as busy as during the aeroplane spruce days toward the close of the war. The big Los Angeles company that is operating the mill at Buckley Bay, employing about 500 men, and there are several other concerns employing several hundred men in logging camps at other points, particularly at Cumshewa and Thurston Harbor.

"In the interior of B.C. there has been great activity during the winter in getting out timber, and this being cut than ever before in one season. A number of the mills are being operated, and there are several deals under way which seem likely to result in the two or three idle plants being put to work within a short time. Mr. Pullen states.

"The big mill at Prince Rupert is not yet being operated, but when the property is sold by the Emerson estate it is believed in the northern part of the province will be converted into a pulp or paper mill. Very valuable timber limits are among the mill assets," said Mr. Pullen.

Mining Activity.

"Everyone knows of the great activity in mining, especially on Portland Canal. New properties are being opened up, and money is being spent by genuine development companies. The Beaver River as well as Salmon River, at Stewart. There is a temporary lull at Alice Arm, owing to the Dolly Varden mine not being opened, but the reorganization that is taking place in the company appears the mine is expected to result in renewed activity there."

Mr. Pullen reports that the Granby Company is spending a lot of money on a new dam for power purposes and a new oil flotation concentrator; with the latter they will be able to handle low grade ores. This will be used in treating custom ores and also the ore from properties which the company is securing in the district outside Anzac.

Pullen reports great activity at Smithers, where about two hundred men are employed on the Duthie properties. Machinery is being shipped in by almost every boat that goes north, all of which will be utilized in developing the properties and in getting out ore for shipment. At present regular shipments of high grade ore are being made to Trail smelter from the Henderson group.

In addition to the Duthie properties owners are spending money on developing work with a view to shipping ore in the near future.

"Near Telkwa, the Dome Mountain mine is the centre of attraction. Much work is being done there this summer, and it is looked on as one of the coming big producing mines of the district."

"There are rumors of the score of other rich properties being sold or bonded or of development work about to begin, but rumors are always plentiful in times of mine activity. Some of them are true, but it is difficult to sift the chaff from the wheat."

Fishing.

"At Prince Rupert there has been more halibut land this spring than ever before in the same time. This should be a big salmon year on the Skeena and Nans rivers, but the salmon run is never a very certain factor."

"On the whole, Northern B.C. is busier than it has been for years, and the outlook is very bright. Prince Rupert has been quiet during the winter, but already there is an improvement, and as the industries of the district get going the city will feel the effect," Mr. Pullen summarized.

Paderewski States:

"The DUO-ART is supreme" and Paderewski knows

Because, this great musician has studied the powers and possibilities of various expression pianos and selected the Duo-Art to make his playing immortal, as the Duo-Art alone is capable of recording all that was played and of reproducing all that was recorded.

An Important Statement by Mr. Paderewski:

November 1, 1922

"My attention has been called to the fact that the manufacturers of certain Reproducing Pianos are advertising rolls bearing my name, for use with their instruments.

"In justice to myself, and for the protection of the public, I deem it necessary to make the following statement:

"I have never played for any American reproducing instrument other than the Duo-Art.

"Some fifteen or sixteen years ago, I recorded in Germany for a German instrument. Since then I have never made a music-roll record of my playing except for the Aeolian Company, and, because, in my opinion, their remarkable instrument, the Duo-Art, is far superior to all other reproducing pianos, I have entered a life agreement to record exclusively for that instrument."

Have you heard the new Paderewski Duo-Art Rolls? They're magnificent.

the injured man and sent for the police.

Taken to Duncan.

Boiky, weak from loss of blood, was taken by launch to the foot of the lake and rushed by stage to Duncan by Provincial Constable G. B. Simpson.—At Duncan Boiky was admitted to hospital and his cuts attended.

The Provincial police then took up the trail of Selimius with bloodhounds, Constables Simpson, Kier and Steadham joining in the search. While the posse was pursuing Selimius in the woods the third member of the visiting lumbermen commenced to act strangely. He told his companions that he did not feel "just right" and shortly afterwards was found sharpening a knife on a grindstone in rear of the shack, it is alleged. The man was disarmed and placed under custody temporarily.

In word from the Duncan General Hospital to-day the Times was informed that William Boiky is recovering and except for facial disfigurement will suffer little from his terrible experience.

Grave anxiety is felt for Selimius who, lost in the woods in a temporarily unbalanced state of mind, it is alleged, will meet disaster unless he is found and given food. Bloodhounds picked up the scent at the logging camp and led the party for some distance into the woods. The search continues, now in its ninth day, without success.

Settlers Alarmed.

News that a man was at large in the woods near Ten Mile Point, after the exciting episode at the bunk house occasioned no little trepidation among residents at this point. In one home on the night following the disappearance of Selimius a cat knocked over a jar in a nearby home and the male members of the family turned out under arms. The quick action of the police in taking up the trail restored confidence, and now nothing but the anxiety felt for the safety of the missing man prevails.

Word of the incident reached the Provincial police office here soon after the event occurred, but it was not until to-day that the full particulars were learned.

PANTAGES WILL RE-OPEN TUESDAY

Manager Jamieson Announces Snappy Show for Three Days This Week

The flutter of pleasant anticipation that swept so quickly among the theatre-going public on the announcement early last week that Pantages Theatre was to re-open for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week, after being closed for nearly two years, turned to freetly expressed disappointment when it was learned later that the announcement was premature, and that the business arrangement for only the one week. Hope was revived, however, by the information received by Manager Jamieson on Saturday that another show, this time of five acts, had been arranged for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, with the possibility that others will follow if the business arrangement for that might be called "trial weeks" seemed to justify the venture, which, it may be stated, is a costly one. So it will be seen that a good deal of responsibility rests on the shoulders of those who have realized the great detriment to all sections and classes in the city it is to have a splendid theatre such as the "Pant." continually closed, and to have such a dearth of amusements to entertain the visitors that our publicity organizations have gone to such much expense to draw to Victoria.

While there is no assurance as to shows continuing to come over than the two weeks to come, it may be taken for granted that if the public, by their patronage of these opening weeks, indicate their interest to the extent of making them successful, Mr. Pantages will see his way to continuing the arrangement.

While it is regretted that it was not possible to secure more than three acts of vaudeville for the opening bill, those selected are of the highest calibre, and "Chuck" Whitehead and his band, who will be remembered from a visit of a year or more ago, form an attraction that is worth the money in itself. Besides the band there will be Beck and Stone, who will play the "Singers with Trimmings," Chuck Haas, the comedy California cowboy, and the programs will open with the great American photo-drama, "Human Hearts," the whole making a splendid two-hour show. Performances will be given at 7 and 8 to-morrow night, as the movie, camera broken, however, in time to give a matinee on Tuesday, but on Wednesday and Thursday there will be the old time performances at 8 and 9. Next week's show will consist of five vaudeville acts and picture.

NO TIME IS LOST IN CULTIVATING RICH OSOYOOS LAND

94,000 Trees Planted Already in Irrigation Area, Pattullo Finds

Apricots Already Far in Fruit; Big Canteloupe Planned This Year

Eighty-five per cent. of the acreage the Government has sold in the highly fertile and productive Osoyoos district in the Interior of B. C., is now under cultivation, according to Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, who returned to-day from an inspection trip of the dry belt. "At Oliver, the Government irrigation project, I found a splendid spirit of optimism," Mr. Pattullo said. "Everybody is thoroughly confident of the future of the district. The gratifying feature of the situation is that over 85 per cent. of the acreage that has been sold is under cultivation. Some 94,000 trees have been planted to date. I saw apricot in fruit the size of one's thumb, from a 1921 bud. Large quantities of canteloupe are being planted this year as they ripen there early, due to the advanced season. We hope to dispose of at least 1,000 acres this year.

"At the town of Oliver itself there are some improvements which the residents desire, and upon which we look very favorably. They are doing pioneer work, and are entitled to consideration."

Speaking of the irrigation situation, Mr. Pattullo said: "A few years ago, in passing through the Okanagan, it was all turmoil, on account of the uncertainty of the irrigation situation. On the occasion of this visit, I did not receive a single complaint. Everything is working smoothly, and everybody is assured of the use of all the water nature provides.

"If the producers are able to market their crop to advantage this fall, conditions will be exceedingly prosperous."

Mr. Pattullo said that the country is looking exceedingly well, and that everything gives promise of an abundant crop.

Water Commissioner Cleveland, who accompanied the Minister, will not return until Monday, as he stayed over in Vancouver in connection with the University lands at Point Grey.

COLLEEN MOORE FILM THRILLING

'The Wall Flower' Will Be Here at Columbia

Colleen Moore, popular little screen actress, says that putting thrills in the film is her favorite diversion. She has been in but two pictures in which she was not rescued at the eleventh hour, injured, or played the invalid. In 'The Sky Pilot,' Miss Moore was nearly trampled to death in a cattle stampede, but saved by John Bowers, Goldwyn stock actor.

In 'The Wall Flower,' a Goldwyn Rupert Hughes comedy, coming to the Columbia Theatre for three days, commencing Monday, Colleen attempts suicide by throwing herself under an automobile. After that she is laid up for several months with a pair of broken legs, camera broken, however, in time to give a matinee on Tuesday, but on Wednesday and Thursday there will be the old time performances at 8 and 9. Next week's show will consist of five vaudeville acts and picture.

MCCALLUMS HERE CONTROL SECOND PREMIER GOLD MINE

Same Lenses and Those of B. C. Silver Found to Run Through Valuable Land

Faith and Work of Victoria Boys Before War Justified By Developments

Sixty Rich Claims on Bear River Included in $3,000,000 Consolidation

Victoria men are "in on the ground floor" in the sensationally mineralized district along the Bear and Salmon Rivers back of Stewart, B. C., and have discovered and control some of the richest gold, silver and copper properties on the continent.

This was learned to-day on the return from the North of Major Arthur H. McCallum, formerly of Fowl Bay, Victoria, who has been working the district for four years. Mr. McCallum announced the consolidation affected sixty claims in the Bear River District into the $3,000,000 Stewart Consolidated Gold Mines, Ltd., with a directorate composed entirely of residents of this Province.

Present plans call for the expenditure of $100,000 this season in proving the ground. The consolidation includes such famous properties as the International (Bear River), Rocks of Ages (Dan Munro), Dalhousie (George Cameron), Harry Scovill group, I. X. L. (McCallum), Grey Copper (William Forrest), Argyle (Hanson & McCallum). A number of other groups are being negotiated for including Bay View and Veterans.

These properties adjoin the Bush and the famous Premier mine. The silver lenses of the B. C. Silver Mine run right through the new consolidation. More More More More More Take Two—Consolidated. Are Valuable.

The Premier lenses were traced right through the Stewart Consolidated properties by Major McCallum himself and also by D. B. Morkill, Vancouver surveyor, who did the surveying of the Premier mine. According to recent assays the ores show the following values per ton: Gold, from surface assays, $7 to $40; silver, $30 to $300; copper, lead and zinc blend all run high. The company will utilize all ores which show value.

"The groups secured have a frontage of 6,000 feet on the celebrated Premier mine," Major McCallum said. "One object of this merger apart from the intrinsic merit of the claims is the fact that it is now definitely established that the Premier ore lenses run east and west. That company commenced its operations on the west side of the mountain, and their tunnels must therefore follow the direction of the lenses towards the properties merged.

"The groups immediately adjoining the Premier are the Scovill and the IXL. Exposures of the Premier lenses are found on these. Thousands of tons of high grade silver ore are found lying on the surface and two veins are exposed, one of very large dimensions. "The Rock of Ages and Aseto groups have splendid showings of ore in places and on the former a huge iron ledge occurs which from the surface gives spectacular assays of gold. The Aseto contains a copper ledge also carrying gold values of importance. The other groups have all exposures of mineral in stony ledges consisting mainly of high grade silver ore.

"The importance of securing the claims below the Scovill and IXL groups which adjoin the Premier and Bush claims is the fact that the valuable lenses of ore in them can be attacked from a very low level by tunnelling or drifting in paying veins."

The properties are eight miles from shipping point at Stewart. They are on the line of the projected railway up the Bear River. Billy Sloan's Road following the river up already runs past them and the Billy Sloan Bridge at Bear River carries the road across the river to the properties.

Members of the McCallum family have been operating in this district since 1910. When the war broke out all the boys went overseas and the claims lapsed. When the war was over they returned and took up their two claims again. Since then the startling discoveries and developments in connection with the Premier and the fact that the ore bodies continue right through Bear Mountain into their claims on Bear River have made their properties immensely valuable, and justified all that the boys and their uncle, J. H. Hawthornthwaite years ago believed and said about the district.

Major McCallum also announced the sale in London this week of the M. C. Mining Co., the properties of which are just to the south of the new consolidation, for cash to a $2,500,000 corporation. Major McCallum was the original owner of this property, and was one of the largest holders when it was turned over. Jonathan Rogers and the Camerons, of Vancouver, and a group of some half dozen of the wealthiest men of Victoria have gone in with the McCallums and Mr. Hawthornthwaite on what is hoped to be a second Premier.

REV. CLEM DAVIES MAKES STATEMENT TO CONGREGATION

Congregation Applaud Pastor's Stand in Face of Conference's Rejection

Before an audience of some 1,200 people who filled the Centennial Methodist Church to capacity the Rev. Dr. Clem. Davies made a statement in which he told his congregation the attitude he would take regarding his recent rejection from the B. C. Conference.

"The board has unilaterally taken very extraordinary action for the purpose of bringing about a favorable consideration of my affiliation and subsequent appointment," he told his audience.

"The expressions of faith in me by you and others outside Centennial, the instant reaction requesting Conference by telegram, long distance telephone and personal letters to reconsider its decision, the importance given to the controversy by the press not only in this city but on the mainland, the intense personal unbiased interest by all sorts of people in the city resulting in appeals from them direct to the ministerial session and to some Victoria leaders of Methodism having influence at the Conference, and the insistent demand of the united membership and congregation and official board for my services, has sent me to my knees in humility and has made me search my heart."

"Two things have touched me specially; first, the message sent from a prominent principal of the ward school in this vicinity stating that my influence must by no means be taken away from the young life in this community—I never want a higher reward for my services than that; and the other, the unswerving loyalty of Centennial people, among which are some of the most distinguished Methodists in the West, whose Methodism goes back to their grandfathers. The issue for them is tremendous. Centennial Methodist Church is as dear to them as the apple of their eye," Dr. Davies continued. Issue of Grave Concern "These men and women are ambitious that Centennial's glorious success, its tremendous influence as a guidepost of constructive opinion, its fast growing membership, its cheerful religion, its hundreds of young people and its fearlessly forward looking spiritual programme should redound to the glory of British Columbia Methodism. For them the issue concerning the pastorate is a matter of grave concern, and yet in spite of any consequences they have decided to have me and no one else as their pastor."

This remark was greeted by applause from those present. "I wish I could efface myself. I assure you that if I could improve the situation at this stage by stepping out I would do so. I have served Centennial to the best of my ability, with no thought of reward, not even the reward of admittance to Conference. To me it would be most repugnant, as you will easily see, to carry on as an unaffiliated supply. I have no favors to ask; my records are open to be seen, my credentials are unquestioned, and my board and church, not I, have sought me for permanent pastor." Again the speaker was applauded.

Principle at Stake "But a principle is at stake, and a situation has been thrust upon the church and me by the death of Rev. J. L. Batty, and the church, leaderless, called me and I stepped in temporarily. In spite of all I could do and without in the least trying to bring it about, the whole thing has fastened itself about my personality, and a gigantic programme is going forward which, it seems to you, has made my leadership imperative.

"Now we are face to face with a problem which is now known all over the country, and we are anxious but also utterly clear in our minds as to the issue, and within a few hours or days Centennial, yes, and perhaps all British Columbia Methodism, too, will have turned a corner in the road of its destiny.

"You have been unswervingly loyal to me and, whatever happens, I will be unswervingly loyal in return."

That the pastor's last remarks were very much appreciated was indicated by the vociferous applause marking the close of his address.

THE BEST THEY HAD.

"You had a forty-dollar gas bill last month," said the dry agent. "The wife has—been doing a little canning," said the home distiller. "Hum, I want to sample some of the stuff," called the home distiller, in quavering tones, "open a can of salmon for the gentlemanman."

STOLL Presents "DICK TURPIN'S RIDE TO YORK" With MATHESON LANG A World Famous Romance of Old England STOLL'S romantic melodrama comes to Canada direct from tremendous runs in London and Liverpool. IN THE MERRY DAYS OF ROMANCE, when the second George was king, the name of Dick Turpin was renowned throughout England far and wide. ON THE KING'S HIGHWAY he stole purses from fat squires and kisses from fair ladies. His dread command, "STAND AND DELIVER," struck terror to the hardest traveller, but his cheerful smile brought comfort to the prettiest mistress, FOR IT WAS WHISPERED AROUND THAT THE GREAT DICK TURPIN NEVER STOLE MORE THAN A KISS FROM A LADY FAIR. STOLL'S NOTE —Stoll took eighteen months in making this tremendous film and has captured all the fascinating romance of the merry days of Old England. Turpin, the Bow Street runners, Tom King and all the fair mistresses are brought to life again and the famous ride of Dick Turpin and the Bow Street runners over fences, hedges and toll gates through the limits of three shires is a thing to marvel at—a climax unsurpassed in the realm of motion pictures. Prof. Chant Gives First Official Account of Einstein Theory Test

By C. A. CHANT
Professor of Astronomy, University of Toronto

Toronto, May 21.—It is well known that in order to follow Einstein along the path by which he reaches his conclusions one requires considerable mathematical ability as well as some aptitude for metaphysical reasoning, but such equipment is not necessary to appreciate the great significance of the theory. If it is finally substantiated, and we can now hardly doubt that it will be, a complete revision must be made of our views regarding the very basis of physical science.

Isaac Newton enunciated the law of gravitation and satisfactorily accounted for the motion of the moon about the earth and of the planets about the sun. In doing this he developed the science of mechanics, basing it upon two fundamental hypotheses, the validity of which was universally believed. "Absolute, true and mathematical time," says he, "flows, in its own nature, uniformly and without reference to any external object."

Another fundamental concept in mechanics is that of "mass." It has been universally accepted that a portion of matter has always the same mass, no difference being produced by a change in its position or by virtue of any speed it may have. Following in Newton's footsteps, distinguished mathematicians of different nations applied his mechanics to explain the various minute "perturbations" in the motions of the planets which are produced by the attraction exerted by the other planets. Indeed, these investigations led to the discovery in 1846 of Neptune, an entirely new planet, the existence of which was inferred from the unexpected wandering of the planet Uranus from its prescribed path. This was rightly regarded as a triumph of Newton's theory of gravitation.

As new problems arose Newton's law conquered them, but at last one was found which defied solution. It is known as the motion of Mercury's perihelion. This planet's orbit is distinctly oval, or, more correctly, elliptical, and its long axis continually changes its direction, this being due to the attraction of the other members of the solar system; but the calculated change in its direction does not agree with the observed change. The discrepancy is small, but it is well established. This is a case in which the law of gravitation apparently "falls down."

Wave Theory of Light. But there are other difficulties. About one hundred years ago what is known as the wave theory of light was firmly established. According to it light is transmitted from one place to another by means of waves. Now in order to have waves there must be a medium for them to travel in, and so it was necessary to postulate the existence of the ether, which was assumed to be wherever light could travel. The natural supposition was that this medium filled all space, and the earth and the other heavenly bodies rushed through it with their great velocities of miles per second. Elaborate experiments were undertaken to detect the relative motion of the earth and the ether, the most famous being one devised by two American scientists, Messrs. Michelson and Morley, but all gave negative results.

Other advances in recent years, especially in the study of radiation, have revealed phenomena which Newton's mechanics has not been able to explain. What is the matter? It is well agreed that if one reaches a wrong conclusion he must either start from false premises or follow faulty reasoning. Of course he might do both. Einstein assumed that here the former was the case, and he forthwith attacked the very foundations of mechanics. He put aside the accepted views of absolute space, time and mass and started afresh. He contends that they exist only "relative" to each other. It is not easy to understand the process by which the Theory of Relativity was built up, but with great ability Einstein carried it forward and applied it to the discussion of various physical problems. By means of it he calculated the motion of Mercury's orbit and found that his conclusions were in accordance with observations. He also made two predictions, entirely unexpected, on the ordinary law of gravitation. He said that when light comes from a star in the depths of space and passes near the sun its path must suffer a slight bending; also he said that the wave length of light coming from the sun should be greater than from a less massive body.

Einstein's last great paper, entitled "The Foundation of the Generalized Theory of Relativity," was published in 1916, and the first attempt to put his first prediction to the test was made in 1919. Two expeditions went out from the Royal Observatory at Greenwich to observe the total eclipse of the sun occurring on May 29 of that year. One went to the island of Principe, off the West Coast of Africa and the other to Sobral in Brazil.

In order to determine if the rays of light change their direction on passing through the sun's gravitational field it is necessary to photograph, with the same camera, the stars when the sun is in their midst and also when it has moved away from that portion of the heavens. The photographs of the stars by themselves are taken at night some months before or after the time when the sun is among them. Now the only time when one can secure a photograph of the stars with the sun in their midst is during a total eclipse of the sun. At that time the moon comes in front of the sun and shuts out its light. During a total eclipse bright stars can actually be seen with the naked eye, and fainter ones can be photographed if a long enough exposure is given. When the eclipse plates taken by the English astronomers were compared with the plates showing the stars at night it was found that the stars on the eclipse plates were displaced from their normal positions, being moved slightly outward from the sun, and the displacement was approximately that predicted by Einstein. When this was published it aroused intense interest, and ever since then Einstein's theory has been a favorable subject for discussion, while the literature relating to it which has been printed would fill a good sized library.

In 1918, at the instigation of June S. Lick Observatory expedition at Goldendale, Wash., obtained some plates which, though not very satisfactory, indicated that the displacement in accordance with the theory. For the eclipse of 1922 the Lick Observatory made elaborate preparations for the test, and specially designed cameras. The writer also designed a camera and arranged for an expedition from Canada. The site chosen for both expeditions was on the barren Ninety Mile Beach of northwest Australia.

The chief objective of the Canadian expedition was to obtain evidence for or against the Einstein theory, though observations of other kinds were also undertaken. The lens of the Einstein camera was of the four-element type, with a focal length of eleven feet. It was made by Brashear of Pittsburgh. The "tube" of the camera was thirteen feet long, at the corners were angle-iron, and iron lattice work made it strong and rigid. In appearance it somewhat resembled the structure of a bridge. To render it light tight it was covered with black cloth. The back of the camera and also the plateholders were of aluminum and were very carefully made. The photographic plates were of plate glass, 3-16 inch thick and 11 by 14 inches in size.

The mounting of the camera was in principle similar to that of the great 100-inch reflector at Mount Wilson. It could be easily taken to pieces and packed in a case for shipment. The camera was of course provided with a driving clock. The camera was made in Toronto, the mounting being made at the University of Toronto workshop.

The Canadian party, consisting of the writer, his wife and daughter and Dr. R. K. Young, astronomer of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Victoria, B. C., left Victoria on June 17 by the steamship Makura, and in due time reached Sydney. From this place onward the party was given free transportation by the Australian Government, like generous treatment being given to the other expeditions also.

At Fremantle, on the West coast, a steamer took the party (now joined with that from the United States) northward 1,500 miles to Broome, the great pearling center. Here the passengers and their forty tons of freight were transferred to a schooner, which was then towed 180 miles to Wailai, the place of observation. At this place is a telegraph station, a Government well (for watering cattle when being driven southward 500 miles to the railway) and a sheep dip. The water is very shallow and the tides are from 20 to 25 feet, and it was an interesting experience going ashore through the surf by means of a small whaleboat. In the landing of the apparatus and supplies the party was much helped by the aborigines, who are fairly civilized in this part of the country.

Two Plates For Einstein Test Obtained on Eclipse. By unremitting labor the instruments were mounted in about ten days. After this about a week was spent in making adjustments and testing. The last week before the eclipse was occupied in rehearsing our programmes. September 21, the day of the eclipse, was simply perfect, and during the eclipse, which became total at about 1:30 p. m., two plates for the Einstein test were secured, each with an exposure of 45 seconds, and some twenty other plates for other purposes.

The night plates of the stars, required for purposes of comparison, were taken in Tahiti in June by Dr. R. Trumpler, a member of the Lick expedition, who took the Lick camera there and who, at Director Campbell's suggestion, undertook to secure our plates also. The Canadian camera was shipped to Tahiti for the purpose, and after the plates had been secured it was sent on to Australia.

After the eclipse the instruments were taken down and packed up for their 18,000 mile journey to Toronto. They were carried by donkey train to the beach, put on the small whaleboat with considerable difficulty, taken out to the schooner and then towed back to Broome. Here the plates were developed and were found to be of good quality. The journey homeward was along the same route as outward, and on November 18 the party reached Victoria. Here Dr. Young left the ship to return to the Observatory, while the other members continued on to Toronto.

The plates were first taken to Toronto but later returned to Victoria for measurement. This was actively begun early in January, and after three months of continuous work the computations were completed.

On close examination over thirty stars were recognized on the plates, and of these twenty-three were selected as suitable for measurement, but during the week eight of these were discarded, leaving fifteen. As the displacement of the stars, which was to be expected, was extremely small, the measurement was done with a microscope of special form, demanded great patience and skill.

According to Einstein's theory a star which is seen just at the edge of the sun should be displaced outward from the sun 1.75 seconds of arc, that is, about one-thousandth of the diameter of the sun. If the star is a solar radius away from the sun's edge the displacement is half as great, and so on. Now the nearest star was more than 2.5 radii away from the sun's edge, and according to theory its displacement should be about half a second of arc or 1-5600 of the sun's diameter. On the photographic plate that would be 1-2000 of an inch. For the farthest out star measured in actual displacement on the plate would be 1-8000 of an inch. From these figures it will be seen that the task of measuring the plates was a delicate one.

Confirmatory of Theory, But Not Decisive Result. However, it is given the measured displacement of each star, as well as the amount expected, according to Einstein's theory, in seconds of arc

Measured.	Expected.	Measured.	Expected.
+0.30	-0.48	-0.11	+0.24
+0.44	+0.41	+0.28	+0.22
+0.25	+0.39	+0.06	+0.21
+0.22	+0.27	+0.53	+0.21
+0.22	+0.27	+0.53	+0.21
-0.31	+0.24	-0.05	+0.18
+0.17	+0.21

On examining the results it will be seen that the displacement is undoubted, and its amount is approximately that predicted by Einstein; but the results, though distinctly confirmatory of the theory, can hardly be considered decisive.

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES

Ore Shipments. Receipts of ore and concentrates at the Trail smelter for the week ending May 14 were 9,218 tons. This brings the total for the year to 174,771 tons. The week marks the achieving of the 20,000-ton mark by the custom shippers, whose total for the year to date is 20,554 tons.

In detail, the week's receipts were made up of: Alamo mill, Alamo, lead 57, zinc 46; Galena farm, Silverton, lead 4, zinc 4; Lone Pine-Surprise, Last Chance, Republic, 276; Octa-away and the stanchions bent in all directions.

The occupants were badly injured, and while they lay helpless the boat reached the centre of the spout and stood on end as if it was about to be lifted out of the sea altogether. The launch won through, and then it was seen that the torn awnings trailing astern had acted as a brake and kept it from capsizing. The party reached the nearest land in an exhausted state.

A Papuan Tragedy.

A tragedy of love and death ended in the death of the girl-lover and the massacre of twenty others is told by members of the crew of the missionary schooner John Williams, which has arrived here from the South Seas.

A handsome young native had fallen in love with the daughter of a powerful chief living in the valley of the Fly River. The chief had other plans, and when the lover called, kicked him out of the hut.

Then he tried to force the girl to give up the young man, and when she refused kidnapped her and took her on board a boat five miles out in the river. At the same time the chief heard that the girl's lover had vowed vengeance, and that his tribe was on the war-path.

The chief also took refuge on the boat with his daughter. Finding her about to betray him, he chopped off her arm and flung it overboard. The girl went mad and died in dreadful agony, hammering at the door of the locked cabin a message to her lover to come and rescue her.

He came, but the girl was dead. He brought many of his tribe with him. They killed the father and twenty of his men after a struggle on the river bank. Then there was a triumphal procession of head hunters, the old chief's head being the first.

But the lover did not take part in it. He was on the river boat, holding the body of the dead girl in his arms.

"My Heart Would Palpitate, I Had Weak Spells"

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes:—

"I took very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate so and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes. It has done wonders for me and I want to recommend it to everyone."

In the Sunset of Life

A comfortable and happy old age, care-free and independent—such can be your recompense, too, through life insurance.

Canadian Government statistics show the need for this provision:

"Ninety-five per cent. of men at 60 are dependent upon their daily earnings or on others for support, and not one man in thirty who retires with a competency is able to retain that competency to the close of his life."

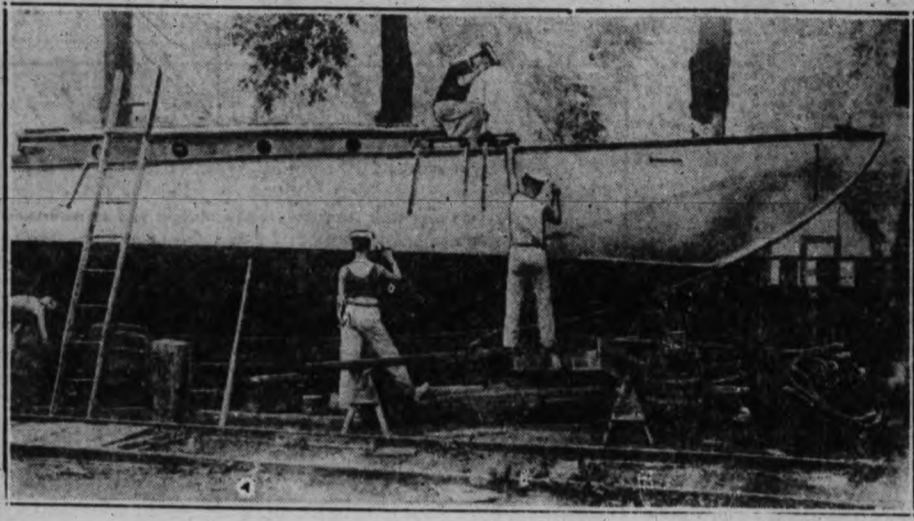

People are realizing this fact, and life insurance companies in Canada are beginning to pay out more money to living policyholders than they do in death claims, despite the thousands of death claims annually.

The present is the time to make provision for the future, so that the sunset of your life will not be overcast with shadows.

Any life insurance representative will be pleased to show you how to provide a sure income for your later years.

HON. MANNING DOHERTY (right), Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, welcomes Piper Murdock Montgomery, a former University of Aberdeen student, and a member of the immigrant party from the Hebrides to Canada.

WAS SHE BORN IN WOLF ISLAND, ONT., OR IN CHICAGO.—Mrs. Ena Welch, former actress, says her father was the late Ald. Alfred Fred Swigart, of Chicago, worth $400,000 at his death, but the conservators of the estate say that her father was Tom Jim Davis, clog dancer, Wolf Island. In the top corner at the left of the group shown here is Ena Davis, or, as the conservators say, Welch, at the age of 5. Aunt Sally Davis, Ena's grandmother, is made conspicuous by her cap. Below at the left is Thomas James Davis, Ena's alleged father, in his garb as clog dancer. Adjoining inset is Captain Ezra Roymond La Rush, lake captain, trapper, Wolf Islander, with a brother in Toronto. At the right appears Ena Welch as an actress. POLICE ISSUE FROLIC WARNING

Public Asked to Watch Pockets and Houses

"Walk Right—Drive Right—Look Right and Left" is the motto which Chief of Police John Fry asks all holiday-makers in the Maytime Frolic to bear with them on the occasion of the festivities this week. Parking of cars on the route of the parade will be prohibited.

Parade Route
Briefly the route follows, subject to any further amendments that may be made: Start Douglas Street, Fountain south on Douglas Street to Pandora Avenue, east along Pandora Avenue to Hainshard Street, south along Hainshard Street to Yates Street, west along Yates Street to Government Street, south along Government Street to Belleville Street, west along Belleville Street to Menzies Street, south along Menzies Street to Michigan Street, east along Michigan Street to Douglas Street and thence to Beacon Hill Park with a tour of the hill.

Beware of Pickpockets
Coupled with the traffic warning, the chief tenders a warning against pickpockets who at this season of the year reap a rich harvest in involuntary offerings from an unsuspecting public. Household, too, are urged to bank all large sums of money if they intend leaving their houses vacant for long during the festivities.

"Take a little extra precaution," asks the chief, "and remember that courtesy between motorist and pedestrian is most effective when mutual."
To give further point to the chief's warning the experiences of last year serve to bear out the necessity for the warning. The detective department last year "picked up" six industrious individuals of the unofficial pickpockets' union and separated them from their harvest by the same boat that brought them from mainland cities.

During the parade last year two houses were entered and in each of these thieves made a considerable haul. The aftermath of ill-fortune in this respect comes back on the city, which last year, through the police station, temporarily fed and clothed several who had lost their all in the festivities of the occasion.

POMEROY CARRIES COUNCIL VACANCY

Elected to Esquimalt Body in Triangular Poll on Saturday

Samuel A. Pomeroy will take his place at the board when the Esquimalt Council meets in regular session to-night, filling the vacancy created by the death of the late George Brulic.
Mr. Pomeroy was returned in the by-election held on Saturday, defeating George W. Brooker, his nearest competitor in the triangular poll, by twenty votes. George J. Cook, the third candidate for the vacancy, received little support, polling only nineteen votes out of 57 cast. A feature of the by-election was that no ballots were spoiled, according to the count made by J. R. Collister, returning officer.

The standing of the candidates was as follows:
Samuel Alfred Pomeroy 235 39 294
George William Brooker 213 41 274
George John Cook 19 9 38
Mr. Pomeroy is returning to the Council after a lapse of a little over four months, having run against Alexander Lockley for the Reevehip in January of this year. Previous to that Mr. Pomeroy spent three terms on the Council board, acting for two years as chairman of the finance committee.

5TH REGT. REGIMENTAL ORDERS
May 15, 1923
Lieut.-Col. F. A. Robertson, D.S.O., Officer Commanding.
Parades.
Batteries will parade under their respective battery commanders on Tuesday next, May 22, at the Armory, Bay Street, at 8 p.m.
Camp.
No. 1 Battery, No. 2 Battery and 12th Siege Battery will go to camp at Macaulay or Esquimalt on Wednesday, July 11, for eight successive nights.
Specialists of the above-named batteries will commence their training on Saturday, July 7, and will have four extra nights' training before the whole detachments are due to arrive.
The 5th Field Battery will proceed to Sarssee Camp for a period of ten days (exclusive of travelling). Arriving at Sarssee on the 26th of July and leaving Sarssee on the 2nd of August.
Strength of Batteries for Camp.
Nos. 1 and 2 Batteries—Three officers and 28 other ranks.
12th Siege Battery—Six officers and 49 other ranks.
5th Battery—Five officers and 33 other ranks.
Training at Local Headquarters.
Nos. 1 and 2 Batteries and the 12th Siege Battery are authorized to do eight days' training (141 drills) between April 1, 1922, and date of going to camp. The 5th Battery are authorized to do two days' training (four drills) between April 1, 1923, and date of Sarssee Camp.
Signalers.
Battery commanders are requested to have all available signalers attend the signalling class which is being conducted by Capt. Weeks and will be continued every Tuesday night.
Clothing.
Battery commanders are again requested to get in touch and keep in touch with all the personnel of their units. Sufficient attention has not been given to this in the past, with the result that a number of men have left the city without turning in their uniforms.
Order of Dress.
Instructions have been received from defence headquarters to the effect that it has been decided to retain the use of the wound stripes, service chevrons and distinguishing patches, without expense to the public. Distinguishing patches will only be worn by individuals who actually served in a unit at the Front, in accordance with M.O. 525 of November 2, 1921. The above is applicable to Permanent Force units, with the exception that they will not use the Distinguished Shoulder Patch.
JOSEPH CLEARHUE,
Capt. and Adjutant.

BRITISH LABOR CLAIMS AGAIN

London, May 21.—(Canadian Press Cable)—"The next time a snar is used that Labor is unfit to rule, it might be well to recall what happened regarding the Irish deportations," declared Rt. Hon. J. H. Clynes, deputy leader of the Labor Party, speaking at Newton Abbott on Saturday night.

The Cabinet's supreme bungling in this matter, said Mr. Clynes, showed how little special business to govern there was in the existing Government. They had been wrong in both judgment and law. The Home Secretary had been convicted of incompetence and his advisers lacked the elementary knowledge which they were paid to possess, said Mr. Clynes. Labor had taught the Government a lesson, but Labor too might learn from what had happened. The Labor members must, he said, consistently appeal for respect for law, whether it was on their side or not, and trust wholeheartedly to the resources of the constitution.

THE PROFESSIONAL NAME.

"Doctor, if there is anything the matter with me don't frighten me half to death by giving it a long, scientific name. Just tell me what it is in plain English."
"Well, sir, to be frank you are lazy."
"Thank you, doctor. Now tell me the scientific name for it. I've got to report to the missus."
