Grange Entertains Distinguished Visitors

Orchard City Grange held a meeting of much significance last Tuesday evening, and entertained as guests Mortimer Whitehead, of New Jersey, lecturer of the National Grange, and State Master E. T. Pettit. Each made addresses along the line of Grange work. The address of Mr. Whitehead was in the main a defense of the Grange ritual as it is now used in the various lodges. There has been a radical move to do away with this ritual but the lecturer made it very clear to his auditors that this would be a serious mistake. The lodge was entertained musically by Miss Mildred Keesling at the piano and Hiram Hutton with the violin.

At the close of the exercises light refreshments were served and everybody present voted the meeting a most enjoyable one.

Night Fire at the Dutard Ranch

What threatened to be a most serious conflagration occurred last Friday night about 11:30 o'clock on the Dutard ranch, about a mile north of Campbell. The Japanese buildings situated not over forty feet from the main buildings of the ranch were discovered to be ablaze. Fortunately there was a good supply of water at hand as the tank had just been filled during that day and there was a wagon with four barrels full of water in easy reach of the fire. Owing to the superhuman effort of Frank Custer, the manager of the ranch, assisted by the Japanese workmen they were able to keep the fire from the main buildings, and it was a marvel that they were thus successful. Mr. Custer says the loss on buildings and inside furnishings will amount to $600, which was partially covered by insurance. Several of the Japanese lost money, ranging in amounts from $20 up. No one could give an idea in what manner the fire started.

Lauer vs. Roemer

This morning, at 10 o'clock Judge Farley heard the case of Peter Lauer against C. Roemer. Mr. Lauer claimed that he had been unable to collect from Mr. Roemer all that was due him for services in Mr. Roemer's orchard, but when the case came up in court the complainant appeared without witnesses or any evidence that Mr. Roemer was indebted to him, while Mr. Roemer produced checks which had been accepted by Mr. Lauer as receipt in full for all money due. The case was decided in Mr. Roemer's favor.

Campbell Now Has a Fine Band

The newly organized Campbell band, which has been practicing strenuously for some months, made its initial bow to the public at the Republican meeting last week. Townsend, tuba; Walter Copley, clarinet; Leon Elmer, cornet; Harry Elmer, baritone; Robt. Scholz, alto; Mr. Priestley, alto; Walter Elmer and Mr. O'Neil, baritone; Charley Lewis, snare drum; Steve Spain, bass drum.

A Far Look.

Three visitors traveling in the Isle of Man thought they would visit Snaefell, the king of Manx mountains. When walking up toward the mountain they espied an old shepherd coming toward them. They thought they would take a rise out of him, so one accosted him, saying:

"They tell me, old man, you can see England, Scotland, Ireland and even as far as America from the top of this mountain."

"Oh, yes!" said the old man. "If you will come with me I will show you much farther than America."

So, chuckling to themselves, they decided to follow him. After trudging for about half an hour up the mountain side in a boiling sun they began to feel rather fagged and kept asking the shepherd how much farther they had to go.

He kept urging them on a little farther until at last the three visitors lay down on the grass and said they would go no farther for any sight.

"Now," said the old man, "if you will sit here long enough you will see the moon."

Buried on His Horse.

Lord Dacre, who died fighting for the Lancastrians at Towton, England, in 1461, directed that if he were killed in the battle his favorite war horse should be buried in the same grave with him. According to his wishes, when his interment took place in Saxon churchyard after the battle a tremendous grave was dug, and in it the warrior was buried, seated upright on his horse. For centuries reflections were cast upon the accuracy of this tradition, but some years ago while excavations were being made close by the reputed burial place of Lord Dacre the pick of a digger struck into a great hole, and upon further search being made the skull of a big horse was brought to the surface. As this was found almost at the very spot under which the body of Lord Dacre was said to lie it was accepted as confirmation of the tradition, particularly as the skull was found to be standing vertically in the soil. The skull was replaced carefully in its original position and the excavation filled up.

What He Saved.

"Good!" shouted the friend of the bibliophile as the latter emerged from the burning house carrying a bundle of books. "Did you save your Shakespeare?"

"No," replied the bibliophile, combing a spark out of his whiskers; "I saved my Bacon."—Houston Post.

Old Resident of Santa Clara Passes Away after Short Illness

R. A. Logan, of Santa Clara, died Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Logan was the father of Mrs. A. J. Farley and visited in the Farley home all of last week, returning to his home on Saturday. He was taken seriously ill on Sunday morning and sank rapidly till the end came on Tuesday. The direct cause of death was blood poisoning as the result of two tumors.

Robert A. Logan was born in Nova Scotia, 73 years ago and had resided in Santa Clara for the last 25 years. The funeral services were held from the home on Wednesday at 2 p. m. Interment in the Santa Clara cemetery.

He was a member of the Knights of Pythias and his death will be generally regretted by Santa Clara people. He leaves a wife and six children, four daughters and two sons.

Post Card Week

Country Woman's Club Entertains

The library building was the scene of a merry gathering last Tuesday evening when the Country Woman's Club gave a reception to the members of the Country Men's Club and their wives. The president, Mrs. E. James, was presiding officer of the evening. A short and interesting program was given. A paper on "Rudyard Kipling and Anglo-India" by Mrs. A. M. Lopez, read by Mrs. James, was pronounced a brilliant production. Mrs. Alison recited several pieces in a delightful manner. The readings by Mrs. Shaw caused much amusement. The chairman called on each of the men present for a short speech and many "bright, brief and breezy" responses were given. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served. Campbell is to be congratulated on having two such organizations, which mean so much to their members.

SUMMARY OF PAST WEEK'S COAST NEWS

Interesting Events Among Our Neighbors in the Far West Reviewed.

What Has Transpired on the Border of the Broad Pacific From Alaska to Mexico.

Seattle.—The total shipments of canned salmon to all countries amounted to 1,189,696 pounds, valued at $106,015.

Seattle.—Exports of canned salmon from Puget Sound during September were more than 300,000 pounds in excess of shipments during the same month last year.

San Jose.—Joseph Vallerger, a night-watcher for the Pacific Brandy Company, was run down and killed by a rapidly moving Southern Pacific train while rushing to a drug store to procure medicine for his wife, who is ill.

Oakland.—Declaring that "God is the only healer," Joseph J. Janson and his wife, who belong to the Holy Roller sect, refused to procure medical aid for their little three-year-old daughter, Marie, who had been ill for 15 days, and the child died in convulsions.

Santa Ana.—This week the largest acreage of beans in the world, so it is considered, is being threshed and made ready for the market. There will be 172,000 sacks. About 14,320 acres were planted by the farmers on the San Joaquin ranch to limas and 3200 to blackeyes.

Long Beach.—The Pacific garage and 20 automobiles were destroyed by fire here last week with a loss of $40,000. Mechanics Richards and Holden were slightly burned trying to save the cars. A match on the floor was stepped on, igniting the gasoline, and the building was instantly a mass of flames.

Chico.—The adobe soil around Nelson has come back. Wheat will grow on it now just as well as it did in the old days, when ranch owners in the vicinity of the little mining town grew rich from their grain crops. Next season will see 10,000 acres lying between Nelson and Durham planted to wheat.

San Francisco.—A Pittsburg dispatch announces that the Chinese Government has awarded contracts for the construction of two battleships to Charles M. Schwab at a cost of $15,000,000. The work, it is reported, may be done at the Union Iron Works. General Manager Tyna is said to have received full details of the award.

Globe, Ariz.—In a burst of playfulness a number of cowboys from Pinal county invaded the town of Winkelman, near here, and in the absence of the Sheriff "shot up" the town in approved style. Lights were broken and barrooms cleared, but the cowboys' reign was short, and, as far as can be ascertained from the authorities here, no one was injured.

Tacoma.—Thomas B. Prosser, father of Reese T. Prosser, who was shot and killed by his divorced wife, Vera Prosser, on the Great Northern railroad train at Libby, Mont., June 2, is bringing suit in the Ohio courts against the railway for damages. The father bases his suit on the contention that the employees of the railroad on the train had been forbidden that Prosser was in danger of an attack, and the road took no measure to safeguard him.

Sacramento.—The Board of Trustees of the Chico Normal School, selected Allison Ware, a teacher in Geography in the San Francisco State Normal School and a recent aspirant for the Republican nomination for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, to succeed Dr. Charles C. Van Liew as president of the school. Van Liew was deposed for attempting to place his arm about the waist of a girl student at school, as well as other charges of alleged immorality.

Vancouver, B. C.—As a result of the investigation of frauds in the buying and selling of identification certificates at Vancouver, the Canadian Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce has issued an order that hereafter certificates of previous residence in Canada must be written in French or English and not in Chinese, that Chinese who present fraudulent certificates must pay the $500 head tax or be deported, and that in the future when a Chinese departs from Canada he shall be photographed.

ODDITIES IN THE WEEK'S NEWS.

Takes Hens on Cruise for Health.

Point Pleasant, N. J.—So fond is E. H. Carlisle of the 50 Rhode Island Red hens he has at this place that he will not trust them to anyone else while he enjoys a cruise to Bermuda, and is going to take them a yachting with him. He has a hotel in Bermuda as well as in Point Pleasant, and is going to take the trip in a 20-foot catboat. He has rigged up on the deck of the boat waterproof crates for the hens, and in bad weather will cover them. They have not been laying well, and he expects the sea trip will benefit them so much he will be able to supply his Bermuda hotel with choice fresh eggs when he lands.

Shot by His Own Invention.

Shenandoah, Pa.—John Czernicki, a prominent and well-to-do fancier of fowls, to protect his prize birds, set a trap by placing a loaded gun in such a position that when the intruders entered the coop they would be greeted with a load of shot. Czernicki felt elated after testing the trap and finding that it worked excellently. But he forgot about the trap, went to the coop, and no sooner did he open the door than the gun went off. The shot struck him in the left hand, shattering two fingers and causing amputation, and lockjaw is feared.

Uncle Sam Hunting for Pennies.

Philadelphia.—One hundred million more pennies were coined this year, and Uncle Sam has started the Government trying again to find out where the pennies go—something that has remained a mystery. The small coins disappear from circulation more than any other and nobody knows what becomes of them. A total of 146,000,000 were minted at Philadelphia last year. Uncle Sam makes a good profit, however, 13 cents worth of copper making $1 in pennies.

Hen Rewards Dog With Egg.

Bayonne, N. J.—A white hen, in crossing the Boulevard bridge over the Morris canal was so frightened by a passing automobile she flew over the railing and into the canal. A black dog jumped in and swam ashore with the fowl. Biddy showed her appreciation by laying an egg at the feet of her rescuer, then disappeared with much cackling.

Chinese Prince Has Close Call.

Oakland.—An attempt to assassinate Prince Tsai Hsun, uncle of the baby Emperor of China, brother of the Prince Regent and head of the Chinese Imperial Navy as he stepped from his special train at the Oakland mole, was frustrated by a United States Secret Service Agent, who seized the Prince's assailant just as he reached for a loaded pistol. The prisoner, George Fong, a native Chinese of San Francisco, a cook in a students' fraternity at Berkeley and a member of the local branch of the Young China Association—a revolutionary party which hopes to make China a Republic and destroy the reigning Manchu family.

On Fire 900 Feet in the Air.

Fresno.—Fresno-Coalinga-Fraternal Order day at the Fresno County Fair was marred by a painful accident to J. J. Hill, the aviator who had been engaged to fly in his dirigible balloon. Hill had ascended about 900 feet, when flames were seen shooting from the sides of the balloon, and the gas bag began to slowly descend. Hill for some reason could not use his parachute, and when the balloon was about 200 feet from the ground it collapsed and fell upon a barbed wire fence. Hill, badly torn, but not fatally injured, was hurried to a sanitarium.

Wind Stronger Than the Temple.

Janesville.—During a heavy gale that raged for two days, the new Masonic Temple, a large two-story frame building covering an area of 30x70 feet, capsized and blew over on its side, almost totally wrecking the structure. Several people who were on the sidewalk in the vicinity of the building had narrow escapes from being caught beneath the wreckage.

Boy Thought Dead, Turns Up Alive.

Detroit, Mich.—After four years of searching, Sam Isaacson, who disappeared from San Francisco at the time of the fire in 1906 when he was but eight years old, has been located. The boy, whose parents were both dead, had been living in San Francisco with his aunt, Mrs. J. Cornfield, who now lives in Detroit.

False Entries Bring their Reward.

Louisville.—The Grand Jury returned 13 indictments against August Ropke, former bookkeeper of the Fidelity Trust Company, who is accused of embezzling $1,140,000. The charge set forth in these true bills is "unlawfully and feloniously making false entries on the books of a corporation."

Portugal Proclaimed Republic King Flees in Yacht

Lisbon.—This city is now in the hands of revolutionists, and a republic has been proclaimed with Theophile Braga as provisional President.

For months preparations have been going on for the overthrow of the King, and last week it was definitely arranged to raise the cry of "revolution." At this time the King was about to take up his residence at Cascaes, and the warships were ordered to proceed there. The navy, which is the chief support of the revolutionists, decided to act immediately; otherwise that defensive arm of the country would be able to offer no assistance in carrying out the plan.

The Monarchists include a portion of the Lisbon troops and troops massed in entrenched camps about the city. Thus far these have refused to ally themselves with the revolutionists, and the provisional government is taking steps to enforce allegiance.

The Republican leaders opened their revolt at midnight, when the doors of the barracks of the Sixteenth Infantry were thrown open to the populace, and arms were distributed by the thousands. The barracks of the First Artillery were next visited, and the guns were dragged forth. The revolutionists marched to the highest point in Lisbon, a fine strategical position, where artillery was mounted, threatening the town.

The Government troops, with heavy artillery, were immediately called to a position in the center of the city to oppose the revolutionists. Meanwhile the insurgent cruisers Adamstor and Rafael took positions at strategical points. For two days and nights the revolutionists, exhibiting extraordinary courage, sustained an attack on all sides by superior forces, but when the war vessels began shelling the center of the town the execution was too great for the Monarchist forces and they were compelled to surrender.

The provisional Government has issued a communication to the Powers notifying them of the proclamation of the Republic. No serious objections to the new regime are expected from the provinces, and the Government has already appointed civil Governors for the different provinces.

Public order has been restored and the populace are peacefully celebrating the advent of the Republic proclaimed. Premier Teixeira de Sousa has relinquished the reins of government to provisional President Theophile Braga and his associates.

King Manuel, the Queen mother, the Dowager Queen and the Duke of Oporto left the country on the royal yacht Amelia, and are now under English protection.

Manuel II, the second son of Carlos, late King, succeeded to the throne February 1, 1908, when his father and Crown Prince Louis Philippe were assassinated while driving through the streets of Lisbon. He was born November 15, 1889. Among his inheritances were a strong revolutionary party that was waiting an opportunity to set up a republic, a quarrel with the Roman church that placed him in a position similar to that in which King Alfonso has found himself, and the opposition of the so-called legitimists, who are behind Don Miguel, pretender to the throne.

The ministry in power at the death of King Carlos was headed by Senor Farnco, who, in an effort to bring about the reform of Portugal's civil administration, had taken to himself, with the late King's sanction, the powers of dictator, and the national election, which he at that time scarcely could hope to carry, he deferred until the following spring, thus passing by the time limit set by the law of the land. In these attitudes a goodly portion of the Portuguese public had stood back of the premier. After the assassination of the King and Crown Prince, however, many of these turned against the ministry.

The 18-year-old King immediately announced that he would retain the old ministry, and expressed confidence in Franco. Within a few days, however, the King had revoked several decrees of the arbitrary Prime Minister, among them one which had imprisoned a number of members of the Chamber of Deputies and suspended their privileges. The announcement of more moderate measures of the new King relieved the situation temporarily and gained him considerable public support. Then Franco was forced to resign, and finally he fled the country because of the continual threats made upon his life. The Government which followed the dictatorship of Franco, confined itself to the limits of the constitution, but still the unrest continued.

Last August the Lisbon newspapers printed reports of an alleged plot on the part of the Clerical party for the overthrow of the Government. This party was not at all pleased with the liberal policy pursued by King Manuel, and one of the first things which the alleged revolutionary propaganda was expected to do was to wipe out all trace of the Republicans.

Meanwhile, Republicans themselves, at the other extreme, were not content with King Manuel's liberal policy, and the Government found itself trying to balance between the two extreme parties. With the reports of a Clerical plot, emphasized by continued rumors of a break between the Portuguese throne and the Vatican, the Republicans matched the Clericals in arming in preparation for a fight, which all parties appear to believe was inevitable. Each side when it had wiped out the other, planned also to depose the present royal family. Only a few days ago prophecies were printed in London and continental newspapers that a Republic was at hand. Republican leaders were depending upon the reactionaries and Clericals to do all in their power to wreck the present Government, and were planning to step in when the crisis had been reached.

State Grange Indorses Tax for Exposition in 1915

Napa.—At a largely attended session of the State Grange in this city last week the two amendments to be voted on soon, which will give $10,000,000 to San Francisco for the Panama-Pacific Exposition were endorsed.

Santa Ana.—The State Grand Encampment of Odd Fellows in session here last week adopted resolutions strongly endorsing the holding of the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco. All members of the order were urged to render every possible aid to the effort being made to secure the exposition for the coast metropolis.

San Francisco.—Reports received at Exposition headquarters show that the entire State seems to be a unit in making Post Card Week a success. From all quarters orders are pouring in for cards and before October 17th has passed the committee figures that over 2,000,000 of the little messengers will have been sent to eastern points. The committee urges every resident of California who has a relative or friend in the East to send a postcard advocating the claims of the Golden State, and to request the recipient of the cards to use their influence with their representatives in Congress to vote for San Francisco as the exposition site.

San Francisco.—The veteran Colonel W. F. Cody, better known as "Buffalo Bill," is an ardent champion of San Francisco as the site for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. "This is the geographical location for an international exposition," said Cody, during his visit here last week, "and the Panama canal opening, combined with the stage of development existing at present in the West, furnishes the motive for holding it in the next few years. No such excuse has existed in the past 25 years, and certainly no such site has ever existed. It is logical that the celebration of the opening of the canal should be held here at the western end of the canal, which is to develop the West and the far East. Your exposition here will have Oriental features, which have never been seen outside of China and Japan before. The climate here is brewed for an exposition. It is an all-the-year-round climate, where summer and winter alike are pleasant. New Orleans is a picturesque old city, but the idea of her attempting a world's fair like this is far-fetched. The winters there are pleasant, but a summer show there would be impossible."

Washington.—The immense fund subscribed by the people of San Francisco for the proposed exposition, and the certainty of this being increased to $17,500,000 by the passage of Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 33 and Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 52, is causing the New Orleans boosters many sleepless nights. They realize that the entire State of California is backing San Francisco in the fight for the fair and they also know that when California starts something it always carries it to a successful finish. New Orleans has opened a bureau here to advertise her claims, but local sentiment is strong for San Francisco. So are many of the Congressmen who are drifting into town. Many who have not any personal interest in the fight say plainly that they would like to see the honor go to San Francisco. They would prefer visiting that city to going to New Orleans.

San Francisco's marvelous rise from the ashes of the earthquake and consequent fire is proving a big factor in its popularity here. One of the Pennsylvania Congressmen who arrived in Washington made this statement:

"My own preference is for San Francisco, and I should think all fair-minded persons would think the same way. Any city so thoroughly crushed by disaster and that rises so heroically to rebuild itself deserves the recognition of the nation. To give San Francisco the honor of celebrating the opening of the canal would be the right kind of a tribute from an admiring Government, and when that city comes before Congress with its great fund of $17,500,000 it's going to get it, too."

SWEDE MINER DROPS FROM SIGHT WHEN BADLY WANTED

Character Whose Radical Views and Knowledge Makes Him a Suspect.

San Francisco.—The sleuths of the Pacific coast, assisted by several noted detectives from the East, are now looking for William Enger, a Swede, familiarly known to the police of half a dozen cities as "Wild Bill," who, it is thought, might be able to throw some light upon the blowing up of the Times building in Los Angeles. Enger's radical ideas and visionary views, have made him a character well known in Cripple Creek, Colo., and Tonopah, Nev. The identity of "Wild Bill" has been made known to the police by J. L. Bryson, the miner from Placer county, whose name was used by the three suspects who purchased the explosives from the Giant Powder Works. Bryson stated that Enger worked for him in Placerville as a miner and is the only person he can think of who would likely use his name in order to accomplish such a deed. Immediately upon learning of this new character the police and detectives began a systematic search in every direction looking for the man whom they believe would not hesitate to commit most any kind of a crime. This man was in Los Angeles up to a short time ago and it is quite possible that he may be found within the city limits at the present time.

According to Bryson, he knows of nothing that might point to "Wild Bill" as an interested party except that some one who knows him well must have purchased the powder, and he knows of no other person who would be likely to use his name. The man left Placer county about two months ago to go to Los Angeles, where he said he had secured a position as a carpenter. Thus far he has not been located by the police. When he is found it is believed he will be able to tell who the men are who represented themselves as Bryson and Morris at the Giant Powder Works.

Enger is described as being a man about five feet eight inches in height, light complexion and Swedish features.

HORSE, DYNAMITE AND LIVE FUSE SCATTERS THE CAMP

Animal With Glanders, Condemned to Death, Spreads Panic.

Sacramento.—The story of a horse that cavorted around a field with a stick of dynamite tied to its forehead, the fuse sputtering fire, chasing and terrorizing the employes of a grading camp, and endangering a stable of 60 head of horses, until the stick finally exploded, killing the animal, was brought from Bowman by Dr. J. P. Iverson, Deputy State Veterinarian.

Dr. Iverson was on an inspection trip and found the animal at the Erickson and Peterson grading camp at Bowman, Placer county, suffering from an attack of glanders. He told the foreman that the animal would have to be killed at once. No firearms were available, and a stick of dynamite used for blasting purposes was procured and was fastened to the horse's head and the fuse ignited.

The horse reared and snapped the rope by which it was tied to a tree, and then made for the veterinarian and the other men who were watching the operation. The men ran madly for their lives, while others threw rocks to drive the horse back. The horse turned off into the middle of a field when the dynamite exploded, killing the animal.

Electric Road for San Joaquin Valley.

Stockton.—At the rate interurban railroads are being constructed in San Joaquin county this section will soon be a network of rails and every important section will be connected. Articles of incorporation of the Tidewater and Southern Railroad Company have been filed with the County Clerk. The road is to be electric and the capital stock is placed at $1,000,000. The road will be built directly from Stockton to Modesto and thence to Turlock, tapping a rich section.

Hobble Skirt Broke His Leg.

Wareham, Mass.—Johnathan Willetts is confined to his home with a broken leg. A woman was walking in a hobble skirt along the main street here and passed Johnathan. After she had passed him he couldn't resist looking back for another time. He looked and the next moment stumbled over a rock and broke his leg.

WORLD'S NEWS OF THE WEEK SUMMARIZED

Adventures of the Children of Mother Earth Related in Condensed Form

Comprehensive Review of Passing Events in Every Quarter of the Terrestrial Globe.

Atlanta, Ga.—Hoke Smith has been elected to serve a second term as Governor of Georgia.

New York.—An automobile race between Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, and Barney Oldfield will be held at the Sheepshead Bay track on October 20th.

Madison, Wis.—Four serious accidents and a score of "temporary unconscious" cases resulted from the annual freshmen-sophomore class bag battle on Wisconsin University campus last week.

Staunton, Ill.—Thirty-seven persons were killed and from 16 to 25 were injured in a collision on the Illinois Traction system two miles north of here, due to the disregard of orders by a train crew.

Concord, N. H.—Nine spoons in a human stomach have been disclosed by an autopsy performed on Miss Catherine Moher, of Manchester, an inmate of the State hospital for the insane here. She had swallowed the spoons at various times.

Mount Vernon, N. Y.—The water famine that has been threatening this place for a couple of weeks has arrived. The supply is so low that the New York Interurban Water Company issued a statement announcing that the present supply would be discontinued except between certain hours.

New York.—The series of post season games to be played under the auspices of the National Commission between the local National and American League teams will start this week at the Polo grounds and games will be played daily except Sunday, alternating at the two parks until one team has won four contests.

Washington.—Public institutions for inebriates are advocated by the International Prison Congress. Experiments conducted in several countries during the past ten years have demonstrated the success of establishments of this character and the Prison Congress in session here last week placed itself on record as favoring its extension.

Tokyo.—The University of Waseda went down before the University of Chicago in the first baseball game of the series played between the two university teams here. Although Nippon's representatives played good ball all the time they were no match for their slugging opponents and the score, 9 to 2, is a fair indication of the teams' respective abilities.

Chicago.—The International Sunday School Association is about to perform a feat in this city which has Uncle Sam's census bureau beaten a hundred ways. October 8th every home in Chicago will be visited in two hours by about 30,000 census takers, most of whom have already been secured. It will be a religious census and all families will be catalogued according to their religious affiliations.

New York.—An excited woman entered Jamaica, L. I., police headquarters and told the lieutenant that she had lost her pocketbook containing $34. She said she was Mrs. Annie Marowso of South street. It appeared that Mrs. Marowso wore a pair of men's socks that she kept in place by means of rubber bands. She had put her pocketbook in one sock, but the rubber had slipped and the pocketbook had fallen to the pavement without her noticing it.

Paris.—The municipal government has discovered that the funeral business is the best of all legitimate hold-ups. It doesn't allow any private undertakers to share the spoils. It does all the coffin making, grave digging and monument building. It is doing so well that the workers it employs, striking for better pay and shorter hours, say that the municipality makes a profit of 300 per cent off the labor of the 90 coffin-makers alone. These 90 produce 42,000 coffins a year.

New York.—A new long-distance record for wireless transmission is claimed by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, which announced that the officials were informed in a dispatch from London that Mr. Marconi who is now in the Argentine Republic, has successfully received signals directly from Glace Bay, N. S., and from Clifden, Ireland, at the high power station now almost completed in the Argentine Republic. The distance covered is estimated at 5600 miles.

Band Concert
The Peninsular Railway Company has arranged an especially attractive series of concerts to be given at Congress Springs on Sunday afternoons. In addition to the full military band of the Coast Artillery Corps, there will be a stringed orchestra to accompany the vocal solos of Prof. Schalkhammer. At the concert given last Sunday Prof. Schalkhammer so delighted the audience that many encores were called for, to which he cheerfully responded. His voice is at once strong and sweet, and in addition he has that touch of magnetism which carries his interpretation straight to the heart of his hearers and rouses them to enthusiasm. There is no doubt these concerts will be largely attended. No charge is made, and excursion tickets to the Springs and return may be procured at the Peninsular offices.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Campbell Boys Defeat Normal School Boys—Coming Social Events—Oriole Out Soon

The boys' basket ball team played the boys' team from the San Jose Normal last Friday afternoon. The game resulted with a victory for Campbell. Score 25-20. The Normal was outclassed all through the game by the superior team work of the local team. The work of L. Macy and R. Thompson was especially noticeable. The following is the line-up for Campbell:
Guards—Lloyd Macy, Roy Thompson. Centers—Rob Kennedy, Frank Stepka. Forwards—Max Currier, George Beaver.
Warren Macy acted as referee. Russell Downing and George Beaver were elected delegates to the I. A. U. on Friday.

The Sophomores anticipate much pleasure at a party at the home of Miss Josephine Moulton on Friday evening. The Seniors are planning a party for the near future.
The student body decided to take their legal holiday on Wednesday, October twelfth, instead of saving it for some future time as they did last year.
The members of the new Oriole staff are working hard to get their first issue out by the middle of October.

Timely Warning.

WHY?

The Standard Oil Co., The Pullman Car Company., The Southern Pacific R. R. Co., and Santa Fe R. R. Co., have invested over Thirty Million of Dollars ($30,000,000.00) since 1900. Being the terminus of the pipe lines from California's oil fields Richmond becomes the basing point from which prices are regulated. In proportion as the distance increases or diminishes from Richmond, the price of fuel oil must fluctuate. Our entire navy is now being supplied from this source. TWENTY-FIVE MILLION DOLLARS of improvements projected for the next eighteen months.

THE FIRST LIGHTNING ROD

Bohemian Priest Antedated Franklin
In Experiments With Conductor for Lightning.

Though Franklin will continue to receive the honor that is his due as the inventor of the first practical lightning rod, the study of atmospheric electricity goes back at least to the time of Tullius Hostilius, who perished in an attempt to "draw fire from the sky." Cicero, in one of his orations against Catiline, calls attention to the destruction of the gilded statue of Romulus by lightning as an evil omen. A lightning bolt vividly described by Virgil in the eighth book of the Aeneid damaged the hind legs of the bronze Capitoline Wolf, and the visitor to the Capitoline Museum today can still discern the marks upon the metal. A learned priest by the name of Divisch is said to have erected the first lightning conductor in Europe. He set it up at Prediz, Bohemia, in 1754, and it was 180 feet high. Through the Emperor Stephen and the Empress Maria Theresa publicly proclaimed their confidence in the inventor, a most disastrous drought that afflicted the country a year later was ascribed by the superstitious populace to the new fangled device, and Divisch was compelled to take it down. It is not probable that Franklin was acquainted with Divisch's experiment.

THE SPIDER AND THE FLY

Reversion in Sentiment Regarding Verses Once Used to Point Moral for Children.

What a change has come over the world since the time when children used to be taught what were considered to be pretty verses of the hateful, horrid spider and the innocent little fly who used to be invited to walk into his parlor, and, tempted by many allurements, be there caught, ruthlessly bound hand and foot and cruelly murdered. What a moral lesson is made for the young to avoid the allurements of the world, for the wages of sin is death, and he who loveth the danger shall perish in it. As the French would say: "But, how we have changed all that!" Now we know that any agency that is destructive of the fly is a precious boon to mankind. We know that the harmless, innocent fly, of whom we used to talk during the winter at least in rather pitiful sympathetic tones, though our tune changed sometimes in summer, when he bothered our rest, is one of the most deadly enemies that mankind has. He is probably responsible for more sickness and death, and especially among the children—those to whom he was held up once as an object lesson for sympathy and an ethical warning in the past—than any other single agent. Wars and accidents, and even earthquakes and floods, cannot be compared with musca voltans for sheer destructiveness.—Independent.

A Chinese Wedding.

A Chinese marriage is all ceremony—no talk, no levity, and much crying. The solemnity of a funeral prevails. After the exchange of presents the bride is dressed with much care. A feast is spread upon a table, to which the blushing bride is led by five of her best female friends. They are seated at the table, but no one eats. The utmost silence prevails, when finally the mother leads off in a cry, the maids follow and the bride echoes in the chorus. Then all the bridesmaids leave the table, and the disconsolate mother takes a seat beside the chair of state, where the bride sits. The bridegroom now enters, with four of his best men. The men pick up the throne on which the bride sits and, preceded by the bridegroom, form in procession and walk around the room or into an adjoining parlor, signifying that he is carrying her away to his own home. The guests then "throw rice at the happy couple."

Mean Trick to Play on Rival.

A characteristic anecdote is told of Cherubini, the most jealous of the irritable genus of composers. He had been prevailed upon to be present at the first representation of the work of a confrere, and, during the first acts, which were much applauded by the public, he had kept a gloomy silence. The third act was less favorably received, and a certain passage especially seemed to cast a cold blanket over the spectators, when the old maestro, to the astonishment of his friends, was seen to applaud heartily. "Do you really like that duo?" asked one of them; "I should have thought it was one of the poorest and coldest in the whole opera." "You idiot," answered the maestro, with genuine naïveté, "don't you see that if I did not applaud it he might possibly cut it out?"

Fooled the Jokers.

When a popular young couple was married their friends planned to play the usual pranks on them before they got safely away on their wedding trip. The bridegroom, it happened, also had a few ideas on the subject. While the festivities were at their height some one came into the house with the information that a man was lying in a serious condition on the street car track, only a short distance from the house. Reaching the tracks the merry-makers found a cleverly constructed dummy. When they got back to the house the would-be jokers found that the bride and bridegroom had given them the slip, leaving a little note which turned the laugh on the friends.

CARE OF THE RUGS

THEIR WELFARE IN SUMMER IS ALL IMPORTANT.

Should Be Thoroughly Cleaned and Alred Before Putting into Storage—Some of the Best Methods of Caring for Them.

The good housewife is naturally concerned about the summer welfare of fine rugs, and she realizes that if they are used in the hot months they won't be so resplendent in winter. Simply putting rugs away in the proper manner for the summer will sometimes renew fading colors to an astonishing extent. Before sending the rugs on their storeroom vacation the chamber itself should be well cleaned. Use perfectly cold water for the scrubbing and naphtha soap; then when floor shelves and painted walls are dry go over all the woodwork with clean rags smeared with kerosene. The moth-miller has no fondness for petroleum and so this device alone will keep it out of the storeroom.

The rugs themselves must be thoroughly beaten, cleaned of spots and hung in the broad air for some hours. A Turkish rug will stand a soap and water scrub admirably and where it is feasible a light one may be put entirely in a tub and washed like a sheet. After the airing beat the rugs again, using a strong rattan beater, then spread smoothly and spray with a strong black pepper tea. Have prepared some wooden rollers about two inches through and as long as the rug is wide. First put over the rug a sheet made of newspapers pasted together, then place the roller on top of this at one end of the rug and begin to roll, keeping the wooden prop straight all the time. Cover the roll with more paper pasted together, then insert it in a round bag made of tough manila paper and paste all the loose ends securely. As long as there are no loose seams in this outer bag no moths can get in, but a further precaution would be to spray the bag lightly all over with pepper tea.

Cheap rugs and old carpets will not need quite so much care, but if they are to be kept entirely free of moths they should be looked after. Beat, sunbrush and spray these in the same way as rugs, then roll them between newspapers, with a thick sprinkle of gum camphor between the folds. Cover the piles of loose rugs or carpets with burlap, or new newspapers, to keep off dust.

PREDICTS FAIR IN 1915 WILL BRING PROSPERITY

Whole State Certain to Be Benefited is Opinion of Observing Businessman.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Arthur M. Ruiz, an old San Franciscan, but for the past few years with the National Paper and Type Company of Havana, Cuba, has been here for two weeks visiting relatives and meeting old business acquaintances. Ruiz spent a few weeks in New Orleans and other points on the route to his home State.

"In the South," he said, "the sentiment in favor of New Orleans as the exposition site naturally is strong. But the people of that city are fearful that the Golden State will go before Congress with a fund of such size that San Francisco will be awarded the prize. In one of the cafes a New Orleans champion remarked to me that California could raise five dollars to Louisiana's one. That is the feeling that seems to prevail among all classes there. This explains the frantic efforts of New Orleans to enlist the aid of sister Southern States, railroads and other big corporations doing business in Louisiana and contiguous territory. Texas, I understand, has taken steps to give Louisiana financial aid. Other States may do likewise. Louisiana is also making a strong effort to enlist the support of the Eastern and New England States. It is no longer a contest between San Francisco and New Orleans; it's a case of California against the South and East, and the fate of the Golden State will be in the hands of the voters on November 8th. Unless the two constitutional amendments—one permitting San Francisco to so amend its charter as to provide for a bond issue of $5,000,000 in support of the fair, and the other levying a State-wide tax to raise another $6,000,000—are carried, I am afraid New Orleans will stand a good chance of winning the prize. That city has raised a fund of $1,000,000. Louisiana is to vote on a proposition to raise another $6,500,000 by a State tax. From talks I had with people in the South, I am convinced this will be carried by an immense vote. With $7,500,000 and the backing of corporate and other powerful influences, Louisiana will be able to go before Congress with an argument that can only be offset by California showing a larger sum. And that is what the people of Louisiana are afraid California will do. With a fund of $17,500,000 the Golden State will surely be awarded the prize. For the honor and glory and future prosperity of California the two constitutional amendments should be carried.

"Since the war with Spain, American capitalists have made large investments in Cuba. I have talked with many of them, and I am convinced that if the exposition is awarded to San Francisco, capital will be attracted to California and its latent possibilities will receive an impetus that many people here do not dream of. There are scores of mining districts in this State that are crying for the leaven of capital to develop them. There isn't a section that doesn't offer an opening for the merchant, the manufacturer and the man of money. The field of agriculture is almost unlimited for the homeseeker. And it is the Panama-Pacific Exposition that will make California a show window for the whole world to look at—a show window to attract capitalists, manufacturers and homeseekers. If the exposition is held in San Francisco a boom is sure to follow that will benefit every section of the State. From all over the world people will come to see the exposition. They will spend money wherever they go, and when they leave they will carry home tales of California's marvelous resources and unbounded possibilities. The increased demand for California products will bring returns a hundred-fold the tax which will represent the State's investment in what promises to be the greatest exposition the world has ever known."

TO FLOOD EAST WITH POST CARDS
Every Californian Will Work For Panama-Pacific Exposition

Following the appointment of OCTOBER 10-17 as POST CARD WEEK, the Special Post Card Committee of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition announces the plan of campaign. Letters have been dispatched to every commercial body in California asking that a central committee be appointed by each to take local charge of POST CARD WEEK; and tonight many representatives of the exposition company leave San Francisco to make a round of the State to assist in organizing such central committees and otherwise to stimulate interest.

Get your Congressman To vote for the PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION at the EXPOSITION CITY, SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

California will Give an Exposition That Will Be a Credit to the Nation. In each city, town and hamlet of California, a supply of these cards, which will be printed by the million, will be on sale. They will be there several days before the beginning of POST CARD WEEK, the places of sale to be announced through each local central committee.

The time for sending out these appeals has purposely been restricted within the confines of one week, in the expectation that such an overwhelming flood of cards will simultaneously descend upon the country that congressmen will be started into a realization that California has an immense organization of compelling power, the influence of which is not to be despised.

BOOSTERS GET BUSY
Write to Congressional Friends to Work for San Francisco.

At the head of this editorial we run the trade mark of the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company, which is handling the arrangements to have San Francisco selected as the site for the proposed Panama-Pacific Exposition to be held in 1915 to commemorate the completion of the Panama canal in that year.

We have no reason for appealing to our congressman, for William F. Englebright is one of the enthusiastic boosters for San Francisco. But it is probable that many of our readers who have come from the East, South and Middle West to settle have congressmen whom they know and to whom they could write with great effective ness. If there are any such it is their duty to obey the admonition contained in the trade mark of the exposition company of San Francisco.

Gloom in New Orleans. It is said that New Orleans is gloomy over the census figures, as these may tend to injure her chances for the Panama exposition. She need not worry so much over the census returns as over San Francisco's post-card campaign, which is to be launched in a few days.—San Jose Times.

CALIFORNIA WILL REAP BIG PROFIT
Advertising Through Exposition Will Bring Quick Returns

The action taken by the special session of the Legislature, which has been the one thing required to make the Panama-Pacific International Exposition an enterprise in which all California can well afford to become interested. In the archives of State legislation there is no record of a measure equally important upon which all factions, parties and sections agreed so promptly and so completely.

There is the probability, however, that California will profit immediately through the unusual forms of advertising that the State secures abroad through the 1915 fair. It is many years since the region west of the Mississippi River was afforded a chance to demonstrate its strength of added population in an issue so broad and clean-cut, and it is along the Atlantic Coast that men and women are awaiting with interest the decision of Congress in this test of grit, enthusiasm and resources.

NEW ORLEANS FIGHTING HARD
Powerful Railroad Influence at Work for Southern City

Every little while you hear some knocker say that New Orleans is doing everything to get the big fair in 1915 and that San Francisco is doing nothing. This week there was generally circulated a story that it had been found by our Chamber of Commerce that 90 per cent of the big commercial organizations of the country were tied up to New Orleans and that the other 10 per cent were non-committal.

Now, there wasn't any truth in that story, and there isn't any truth in the statement that the New Orleans committee is doing far more effective work than is our own committee. Our committee is in reality doing much better work than the New Orleans committee. But there is a great and powerful influence at work in favor of New Orleans, and it is that influence that must be fought hardest if we are to win.

NEW CALIFORNIANS, ATTENTION!
If you are a Californian, newly arrived in this State, you can assist in the effort to bring to the Pacific Coast the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915. Get the spirit of "Post Card Week" and have your Eastern friends and acquaintances and relatives join with you in a postal bombardment of the Congressman or Congressmen most likely to give attention to your appeal.

A Lively Contest. San Francisco and New Orleans are engaged in a lively contest for the proposed Panama-Pacific International Exposition of 1915. The California Legislature was convened in special session to authorize $10,000,000 for the enterprise. The citizens of San Francisco have raised $7,500,000 on the side, giving them a total of $17,500,000 to bid, with more in sight if necessary.

In acting promptly and as a unit the citizens of San Francisco and the people of California show the energy and spirit which would naturally entitle them to the award of an exposition of progress such as that of 1915 promises to be.—Spokesman-Review.

SAN BERNARDINO SUN CHANGES ITS MIND
Warmly Advocates Exposition Tax It At First Opposed

The San Bernardino Sun has experienced a change of heart in the matter of raising $5,000,000 for the Panama-Pacific Exposition by a State tax, and very frankly says so, at the same time giving the reasons for its conversion as follows:

"A wise man will change his mind, but a fool never," says the proverb. Ditto, newspapers. Once, possibly twice since the suggestion was made that the State of California should bond itself for $5,000,000 to assist in the financing of the Panama exposition proposed at San Francisco, and thus provide an aggregate fund of $17,500,000 for the fair, the Sun has voiced its opposition to the plan on the ground that the total sum to be provided is excessive and beyond precedent.

"The Sun sent telegrams to the Chicago Tribune, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the Portland Oregonian, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and the Buffalo Express, asking to what extent those five exhibitions had been financed in advance. Replies have been received from all but the query addressed to Buffalo."

The replies received by The Sun show that Chicago had $20,000,000 in sight for the Columbian Exposition, St. Louis $15,000,000 for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, Portland $1,350,000 for her Lewis & Clark Exposition, and Seattle $1,380,000 for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

"The Sun believes California wants the big fair, and when the information herewith gathered is digested by the newspapers which have been in opposition, that the opposition will largely disappear.

Full Text Resolutions Adopted at Santa Barbara

The full text of the resolutions adopted by the Southern California Editorial Association at its recent notable conference in Santa Barbara in support of the proposition to raise $5,000,000 by a State tax for the Panama-Pacific Exposition to be held in San Francisco in 1915 is as follows:

Whereas, By virtue of an act of the Legislature of California in extraordinary session assembled, the people of California will be enabled at the general election in November next to vote upon the proposition of levying a special tax on the assessed property valuation of the State to the amount of $5,000,000 in and for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to be held in San Francisco in the year 1915, and

Resolved, That we, the representatives of the press of Southern California, in conference assembled, having deliberated together and having heard satisfactory assurances that the safest, highest and best financial, industrial and moral conditions will control the conduct of the exposition, therefore be it

Resolved, That we request our brethren of the press throughout all California, the Pacific Coast and the United States to co-operate with us in giving this matter the widest publicity.
