Two years ago to-day, the mounting power of allied arms reduced the enemy's guns to silence and forced his capitulation from the challenge of war. The victorious end of battle became the beginning of the equally vital campaign to secure the peace. We now enter the last phase in Japan of this test of our strength. It is you, the men and women, military and civilian, who have composed the allied forces of occupation, who are bringing this task to a successful conclusion. You have demonstrated that in peace as in war the spiritual strength which free peoples may muster to sustain a righteous cause inevitably must prevail. For the structure of the modern world is too deeply rooted in the devotion of man to the practical ideals of human justice, broad tolerance, and individual dignity to be overturned by such strength as may temporarily be mounted by those who become tools or converts to ideologies which ignore or contest these great moral values. By conducting yourselves with a fine sense of self-respect and self-confidence and devotion to duty, you have rendered physical subservient to spiritual force, and in so doing earned the admiration of the free world and the lasting respect of your vanquished foe. You have written an ennobling chapter in human progress, which will lead to the regeneration from the fatalism of war to the realism that is peace of those millions inhabiting Japan's Islands. To all of you on this anniversary I extend my profound admiration and gratitude. You may be assured that history - final arbiter between all things right and all things wrong, between fact and fancy, success and failure - will not misjudge nor forget.

JURISDICTION AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

ARTICLE 5. Jurisdiction Over Persons and Offenses. The Tribunal shall have the power to try and punish Far Eastern War criminals who as individuals or as members of organizations are charged with offenses which include Crimes against Peace. The following acts, or any of them, are crimes coming within the jurisdiction of the Tribunal for which there shall be individual responsibility:

a. Crimes against Peace. Namely, the planning, preparation, initiation or waging of a declared or undeclared war of aggression, or a war in violation of international law, treaties, agreements or assurances, or participation in a common plan or conspiracy for the accomplishment of any of the foregoing;

Leaders, organizers, instigators and accomplices participating in the formulation or execution of a common plan or conspiracy to commit any of the foregoing crimes are responsible for all acts performed by any person in execution of such plan.

ARTICLE 6. Responsibility of Accused. Neither the official position, at any time, of an accused, nor the fact that an accused acted pursuant to order of his government or of a superior shall, of itself, be sufficient to free such accused from responsibility for any crime with which he is charged, but such circumstances may be considered in mitigation of punishment if the Tribunal determines that justice so requires.
