The program talent upon this occasion is worthy of special mention. Some of the recommendations are as follows:

I am always glad to recommend the work of Misses Alberta and Lorene Davis, Mellophone and Flugel Horn Artists of exceptional ability. They possess sound musical judgment, astonishing technique, and splendid taste in program-building. Furthermore, most pleasing personality and stage-presence have always been theirs.

The playing of these young ladies has, for some time, been considered one of the real features of Temple Auditorium Musicals.

RAY HASTINGS,
Organist Temple Auditorium.

Mendelssohn said, "Melody is the Soul of Music." This thought is impressed upon the hearers of the Davis Sisters, who most beautifully render on the Mellophone and Flugel Horn the choicest arias of the classics to the songs of the fireside, interpreting with equal charm the brilliant and tender passages of their selections. I have seldom heard such human tones on brass instruments as those produced by the Davis Sisters. Their natural ease of manner combined with the artistic finish and depth of feeling with which they play appeals to the hearts of their hearers with unmistakable force.

L. E. BEHYMER,
Impresario Pacific Coast.

Miss Zillah Ernestine Withrow's programs possess both novelty and rare interest; her interpretative poses include the signs and symbols of many of the ancient religious rites, and are of especial interest from this point of view. The readings of Miss Withrow have been taken from the least hackneyed selections, and have the additional value of their novelty as well as her inimitable rendition.

—Chautauqua Managers Association, Chicago, Ill.

Miss Zillah Withrow's classic Egyptian dance, given in one of Detroit's leading hotels before our very best people, was the spirit of poetic movement, like her Greek dances, all graceful slow movements, danced to sweet, weird music that drifts into sad minors and dies away like a zephyr of summer air.

NEW WOODEN FLOOR

The clerks and customers in the H. S. Webb & Co. dry goods store, at the corner of Brand and Broadway, walk about in the store room with a greater buoyancy since a very high quality of wooden floor has been neatly laid over the concrete composition which for a number of years has served as a floor in this commodious storeroom.

The Chinese regard former Secretary of State John Hay, author of the policy of the "open door," as one of the best friends that China ever had, and they are planning to erect a monument to his memory. This is an honor never before accorded to a foreigner.

DEPORTED I. W. W.'S RETURNED

SIXTY-SEVEN MEMBERS OF THE I. W. W. DEPORTED FROM ARIZONA NOT WANTED IN CALIFORNIA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
KINGMAN, Ariz., July 11.—Sixty-seven I. W. W.'s who were deported from Jerome in cattle cars bound for Needles, California, arrived there but were not permitted to detain. They were sent back to Kingman. The sheriff here forced them on through town last night. They were returned this morning and were escorted from the cars by the sheriff and Home Guards. They were given breakfast and kept under guard. No trouble as yet has occurred. They will be deported, but to where, no one knows. The California county refuses to allow the men to come into the state.

NEEDLES, Cal., July 11.—I. W. W.'s were met here early this morning by armed deputies and turned back to Kingman under orders of the San Bernardino District Attorney. "California will not be made the dumping ground of Arizona's undesirables," said the district attorney.

GERMANS DEFEAT ENGLISH IN BELGIUM

BERLIN, July 11.—The capture of 1200 English prisoners in the taking of enemy defenses established between the coast and Lombtzyde, was announced to-day. "Enemy was driven back to the Yser," the statement said. The English lost heavily in the shelled territory between the sea and the river. Haig's statement to-day admitted loss of ground and reverses in this section.

RUSSIANS TAKE KEY TO LEMBERG

PETROGRAD, July 11.—Russia's armies are still advancing through the wedge between German and Austrian lines around Lemberg. War office confirmation of the capture of Halicz, the key to Lemberg, was announced to-day. On the Bognodchaun-Zolotistin front another advance was achieved with the capture of 2000 prisoners. "In 3 days' battle around Dolina there were captured more than 150 officers and 10,000 men," the war office statement read.

F. E. HAGIN'S RETURN

GLENDALE WELCOMES FRED E. HAGIN, MISSIONARY, STATESMAN AND SOLDIER

One of the recompenses of war—and they are few—is the return of the veteran to the home and the loved ones. One of the most remarkable campaigns is carried on by the missionaries of the Cross. Patriotism that looms large by the side of any the world war has shown, and loyalty to a mission, unsurpassed, characterize such men as give their lives and their talents to the remaking and moulding of nations through missionary effort.

Glendale welcomes Fred E. Hagin, missionary, statesman and soldier of the Cross, who yesterday arrived at the Hagin home, 330 S. Orange, from Tokyo, Japan. For several years Mr. Hagin has been on the field away from his family, that the daughters and son might have the advantage of American training and education. For months, Mrs. Hagin and the children have been counting the days till his return. It was hoped he would arrive in time for his son's graduation from our high school in June, but the work would not permit of his leaving earlier than he did.

For 17 years Mr. and Mrs. Hagin have been representing the cause of Christ and the Church in Japan. He went to his work from a splendid ministry in the Christian Church and has been eminently successful. As advisor, administrator, teacher, evangelist and writer he has ranked high among Christian representatives in Japan. His latest book on "The Cross in Japan," published by Fleming H. Revell Co., is one of the finest statements of conditions in the Islands we know of.

Mr. Hagin and family expect to remain in Glendale but a few weeks. Their plans take them east, where Dan and Fannie will enter college, and after the furlough of a year and a half Mr. and Mrs. Hagin will again take up the mission to which they have given their lives.

The family has been a real part of our life here and will be missed in social, school and church circles. They are of the type of folks who are a real asset to a community.

TRANSCONTINENTAL TOURISTS ARE HERE

H. C. Buzzell and T. V. Philp, of Glendale, Calif., ended the first part of a cross continental tour by automobile today, when they arrived in Elgin, where they expect to remain several days at the home of C. E. Chapell, 900 Highland Avenue, an uncle of Mr. Philp. They will stop in Chicago to visit other relatives of the young man and then will leave on the last lap, bound for Keene, N. H., where Mr. Buzzell's father lives. The young men are making the trip in a Ford automobile, clad in khaki. They left Glendale June 7, and followed the Santa Fe trail.

"The roads are well marked," said Mr. Buzzell. California has paid special attention to its roads and they are fine. Any one could find his way over the Santa Fe trail. We carried water over the desert, but one would not suffer long for want of water these days. It can be secured at all of the Santa Fe railroad stations. The temperature was 110 degrees at Needles, Calif. when we passed through. At 7:30 a. m. it was 95 in Kingman, Arizona.

The travelers have had a good break in luck for the most part. Their worst experience was the blowing out of seven tires in one day.

They expect to travel back to their home by auto, taking different routes in order to see different scenery.—Elgin, Ill. Daily Courier.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Christian church will hold its July meeting tomorrow in Echo Park, Los Angeles. A picnic luncheon will be taken by the members and friends who go. Rev. Fred E. Hagin will give an address. All the friends and members are invited and a large attendance is looked for. It is planned to go on the car leaving the Glendale station at 10:08 a. m.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

The law requires that the boundaries of voting precincts shall be changed or established at this time. Should any changes in lines or boundaries of the present voting precincts be desired, I would be pleased to consider applications and requests from the voters in your vicinity.

M'ELROY-HUNT TRIP

YOSEMITE VALLEY VISITED BY COMPANY OF GLENDALE PLEASURE SEEKERS

(By Miss Myra Bartlett)
The McElroy-Hunt party has returned after a very enjoyable trip to the Yosemite Valley. Leaving Glendale one Saturday in June about 1 o'clock, by the Ridge route, they spent the first night at Libeck so as to escape the great heat of Bakersfield. They made good their escape from the heat only to be lulled to sleep (?) by the cracked tones of a phonograph. Long, long will they remember that music.

From there on the trip proved uneventful and all attention was given to the beauty of the scenery. The big trees at Wawona were given the usual exclamations of wonder and awe. The first view of the valley from Inspiration Point stilled all words.

The principal amusement for us was the ideas of the different autoists returning from the valley, of the roads we still had to cover. One man's version was "Straight up and down! Need an aeroplane to get in!" Another, "O yes; there are good grades, but you can make it all right." And we did make it and any one can make it who tries, if their brakes are good. One gets used to the mountain roads, their twists and turns and ups and downs before you reach the worst of the grades. But one must take it slow and easy and toot the horn and keep tooting as though it were a mere plaything and made you feel a child again. Then there is no chance of meeting the other fellow at the wrong place.

The valley is alive with enthusiasts coming and going every day. The lower end is also alive with mosquitoes, so one had to move pretty lively not to be aeroplaned out before they were ready to go.

The wild lilacs and azaleas were in bloom and with the wild iris, the lupins, mariposas, twining hyacinths and brilliant snow flowers made the mountains a wonder garden. The Mariposa lilies near Wawona were of the most brilliant colorings, being deep, rich purple and red with the deeper markings.

Two fine deer were sighted soon after Wawona was passed. They had evidently wandered down to enjoy some of the vegetable gardens planted everywhere. The return trip was uneventful.

STORY HOUR AT LIBRARY

Tuesday morning is Story Hour at the Public Library and the little folks gather there to hear the very, very interesting tales which Mrs. Danford has to relate.

These stories not only hold the attention closely but all unconsciously to themselves the little ones are being led into fields of wider knowledge and usefulness, of which they can not now measure the limit.

Tuesday morning Mrs. Danford in her well-known pleasing way related three stories to the children assembled. One of these stories was for the "wee ones" and the other for older children.

A number of new books were on display. Following the stories, Mrs. Danford and the library staff instructed the children in the selection of books and other ways of using the library.

Many Glendale Evening News subscribers very sensibly pay subscriptions in advance without being solicited, thus doing away with unnecessary cost of postage and the expense of employing a collector.

OFFICIAL REGISTRATION LIST

In the issue of Thursday, July 12, of the Evening News will be published the official war registration list with serial numbers as prepared by the exemption board of the 7th District, of which board Mattison B. Jones of Glendale is secretary and John T. Wilson of San Fernando is chairman. The names are numbered consecutively from 1 to 1924, and these numbers are the ones which will be compared with the list of subscription numbers drawn at Washington, D. C. The numbers on the registration cards will not be used in making the selective draft. Copies of the Evening News containing this list must be arranged for in advance by non-subscribers. The list comprises the names of persons residing in Glendale, Eagle Rock, Casa Verdugo, Burbank, San Fernando, Saugus, Lankershim, La Canada, Newhall and other towns.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 11, 1917

HOME GUARDS ARE TO USE THE HOE

Recently the State Council of Defense, in its publicity propaganda for increased crop production, sent out the suggestion that Home Guard companies throughout California shoulder a hoe instead of a gun, and that they undertake systematic cultivation of vacant lots in the cities and towns where they were located.

Commending the suggestion and citing President Wilson's declaration that "Every one who creates or cultivates a garden helps, and helps greatly, to solve the problem of the feeding of the nations", Edward Staton, of Fullerton, California, sent the following poem to Governor Stephens:

The Battle-Cry of Feed 'Em

We'll rally round the hoe boys and join the ranks of toil,
 Shouting the battle-cry of "Feed 'Em!"
 We'll train the crops to grow boys, as tillers of the soil,
 Shouting the battle-cry of "Feed 'Em!"
 Where there is work to do boys, we'll gather on the spot,
 Shouting the battle-cry of "Feed 'Em."
 To duty we'll be true boys, and till the vacant lot,
 Shouting the battle-cry of "Feed 'Em!"
 Nature, kind mater, will aid in our need!
 Down with the tater and out with the weed.
 So we'll rally round the hoe boys and train the crops to grow,
 Shouting the battle-cry of "Feed 'Em!"

CAN'T AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT FOOD BILL

Food speculators have been taking $50,000,000 a month for the last five months—a total of a quarter of a billion dollars—from the American people. This was a recent statement of Herbert Hoover before senators as he explained the necessity of the food bill now before congress.

The next question is: Can we afford to do without legislation which will curb this highway robbery?

We are a rich country, very rich. The United States is the richest country in the world right now. The resources of no land in the world can equal ours. But even at that we cannot afford such a drain as these food hogs demand for themselves.

The truth is we cannot afford to be without the food bill that will put an end to gambling with our necessities.—Fresno Herald.

BRITISH STRATEGIST EXPLAINS APPARENT DELAY IN "PUSH"

LONDON, June 30 (By Mail)—"Why is it after British forces have broken the German lines, as at Bullecourt, Messines or Vimy Ridge, they don't push on through?" One of England's foremost strategists was asked this question to-day. Here is his answer: "The whole process of this year is a matter of lines of communication. The reason the British offensive seems to nibble a bit of the Hindenburg line in the north and then strike a few days later far to the south, is the vital necessity of establishing communicating lines and of consolidating positions. When the British move forward after a terrific artillery preparation which has left little of the enemy trenches but powder and corpses, they don't find many Germans there—not live ones at least. The Germans know a day or so in advance when a big push is coming. They can't help it. They fall back to their reserve lines in the rear, and consolidate their guns and men, ready for a counter-attack. The way to stop this counter-attack and hold the advantage we have won is to rush up our heavy guns and be ready to cut them to pieces when they try to 'come back.' I have seen 45 miles of railway laid in three days. Our engineers at the front work night and day and this is largely why when once we get hold of a piece of the Hindenburg line, we hold on to it. Bulldog tenacity, the papers call it, but it's military knowledge and foresight just as much. Furthermore, when the Germans feel sure that a certain spot at which the British have been hammering is to be attacked, they rush their reserves and guns over to back up that particular section. Then is the time for us to strike somewhere else while they are using all their energy to stop us at another point."

"AND EAST ST. LOUIS"

In a letter from an up-coast friend the writer says: "I am not around nowadays boasting of my birth in Illinois, state of Lincoln, Grant, Logan. In the light of the recent East St. Louis infamy it will soon be in order to move a change of name for the state. What potential power the baser instincts and passions have for low grade work and how successful they are in pulling down, though incapable of lifting an ounce for uplift and betterment. The outrage gets point and edge from occurring so close to the scene of the mobbing and martyrdom of Elijah P. Lovejoy (25 miles) where Alton, a creditable modern city, to-day is smitten with the stigma of that event, the memory of which will not down at wish or bidding. We observe in some directions a tendency to unload the mobbery on St. Louis. The bridge was handy and the riffraff ready for any old thing that would amuse and edify. Don't be hasty in this. Poor old St. Louis has sins a-plenty of her own to answer for without unloading those clearly of Illinois origin on her. Gov. Lowden will do his best to maintain the peace and dignity of the state, but when the papers hold statements that "no jury will indict," etc., it is a sorry comment on our loud boastfulness about justice, equity, etc. And the glaring fact stands before us that in these upheavals you have but to "scratch a Christian and out jumps the savage," and the savage is never better pleased than when he can prove himself "true to color" by some dastardly outrage on the person or property of "a nigger," as East St. Louis clearly demonstrated. In the light of most lynchings, mobs and destruction of property, the declaration that all men are born possessing certain charter rights is largely a question of color of cuticle.

Tracing the history of these outbreaks, not a few of which have occurred in Illinois, it is difficult to dissociate them entirely from a shading, if not a darker color, put into the event by some labor trouble, immediate or remote, incidental to mining or manufacturing, and the collision is most frequent between the black man and some paleface who because of his lighter color assumes to lord it over the other for no other reason except his darker skin.

Alas, how many every the Jeffersonian doctrine, pounded into them, that all men, everywhere, stand equal in the enjoyment of rights and privileges before the law, and until this is lifted above the zone of prejudice, yea, above the realm of color or complexion. Civilization has other battles to fight, other victories to win, and 10,000 Roosevelts to furnish due recognition of brains even in a black man.

We thank thee for the lesson grand, Roosevelt, oh Roosevelt.
 You took the black man by the hand, Roosevelt, oh Roosevelt.
 It is the heart within and not the color of the skin.
 Freedom must make the whole world kin, Roosevelt, oh Roosevelt.

SAMUEL PARKER.

WOMEN TAKE CHARGE

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—With Ella Flagg Young of Chicago, Josephine Corless Preston, state superintendent of public instruction of Washington, and other equally prominent women educators on the program, women this afternoon crowded the men off the auditorium stage and took entire charge of the general session of the National Education association for the day.

And the women talked war. Mrs. Preston declared that women played an equally important part with men in the national life, especially during war times. Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau of the department of labor, discussed child welfare during the war, and Anna Laura Force, Denver high school principal, described the public school as a laboratory of citizenship. Mrs. Young's topic was "Education and the Inner Life."

A majority of the 21 departments and 14 allied organizations of the National Education association organized today and got down to business.

DESCRIBE MODEL SCHOOL

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—The ideal American school building, well ventilated, flooded with light, cheery, comfortable and well built, was described here this afternoon at the meeting of the department of school administration of the National Education association in session here.

The committee on the standardization of schools made its report after investigations extending over many months. Frank Irving Cooper, of Boston, Mass., is chairman of the committee.

Leading school architects of the country joined in the discussion of school plans.

"The War Danger to Children," is the subject which Kate Devereux Blake, principal of public school No. 6, New York, will discuss tonight. N. F. Coleman, Reed college, Portland; F. E. Bolton, dean of the college of education of the University of Washington, and Arthur W. Dow, professor of fine arts, Teachers' college, Columbia University, New York, will speak at the general sessions tonight.

What is known as a "scoop" in America does not exist in Japan. If one newspaper has a particularly choice item of news, it communicates it to other papers. What is the use of being selfish? After all, it is the editorial opinion that counts, but even in this there is an exchange of "courtesy," because it is a common thing for one paper to remark that the other "commented editorially as follows yesterday."

A teacher received the following note from the mother of one of her pupils:

"Dear Madam.—Please excuse my Tommy to day. He won't come to skule because he is acting as time-keeper for his father, and it is your fault. U gave him a ixample if a field is 6 miles around how long will it take a man walking 3 1/2 miles an hour to walk 2 1/4 times around it. Tommy ain't a man, so we had to send his father. They went early this morning & father will walk round the field and Tommy will time him, but pleas don't give my boy such ixamples agin, because my husband' must go to work every day to support his family."—Harper's Magazine.

THE BELGIAN MISSION

July 9th, 1917.
Secretary, Chamber of Commerce, Glendale, California.

Dear Sir:
The Belgian Mission, will honor Southern California with its presence on July fourteenth and fifteenth. As an expression of great consideration for this Mission, Mayor Woodman has designated Saturday, July 14th, as a holiday.

It is fitting and proper that the reception of these distinguished guests should be shared by all of the people of Southern California. With this in view the Mayor of Los Angeles invites the participation of the people of your vicinity and any special delegations that you may designate.

The principal feature of the entertainment of these gentlemen who have been sent by King Albert to express to the American people the gratitude of the people of Belgium, will be an automobile parade, under the joint auspices of the Committee of Arrangements for the reception of the Belgian Mission, and the French Fourteenth-of-July Committee. The parade will start at 1:45 and will escort our guests to the Shrine Auditorium, where there will be addresses by them at a patriotic meeting which will also celebrate the anniversary of the Fall of the Bastille.

General Frank C. Prescott, of 401 Chamber of Commerce Building, Los Angeles, Marshal, will designate the positions in the parade of any delegations sent. It is especially desired that such delegations be accompanied by yourself, your officials and all bands of music that can be secured. Automobiles should be decorated, if possible, with flowers and the flag of Belgium and of the United States. Belgian flags may be purchased at 719 South Hill street. By Order of the Mayor.

MARK TWAIN HOME OFFERED FOR SALE

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Stormfield, Mark Twain's old home near Redding, Conn., has been advertised for sale. He built it with the idea of getting a country home which should be near enough to New York, and yet not too near, in summer and winter; but his daughter, Mrs. Clara Clemens Gabrilowitsch, to whom it passed, found it too far away for the needs of an artist whose affairs required frequent presence in the metropolis. She and her husband, Ossip Gabrilowitsch, lived in it intermittently until 1914, but since then they have spent their summers at Seal Harbor, Me., and most of the winter seasons in New York. Stormfield is advertised as "248 acres, 3 1/4 miles from the station. A finely located and picturesque estate."—Christian Science Monitor.

EMPLOYMENT FOR AGED WORKMEN

In New York is a philanthropic association organized for the purpose of helping men and women. These needy old people do the best work they can and as much as they are able, but are not bound by strict factory rules. They receive a moderate wage. Many of the men work at making toys, and the women do sewing. Given clean, respectable work, they are enabled to earn a small income which brings to them much in well-being. Markets have been opened for them where they can buy at the lowest possible price, and kitchens have been established where they can buy cooked food almost at cost.

MAKE-UPS AND MIX-UPS

The make-up man of the Bangor News recently received a wedding announcement and an auction announcement mixed, and the exquisite "blend" follows:
"John Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Smith, and Miss Lucy A. Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east, in the presence of 70 guests, including two mules and twelve head of cattle.
Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot for the parties, averaging 1,250 lbs. on the hoof. The beautiful home of the bride was decorated with one sulky rake, one feed grinder and two sets of harness, nearly new, and just before the ceremony was pronounced the Mendal and Sons wedding march was rendered by one milch cow, five years old, one Jersey cow and one sheep, who, carrying a bunch of bride's roses in her hand, was very beautiful. She wore one light spring wagon, two crates of apples, three racks of hay, one grindstone of mouseline de soie and trimmings with about one hundred bushels of apples. The couple left on an extended trip. Terms, spot cash."

DRESSING WOUNDS WITH SUGAR

Dr. G. Magnus reports to the Therapeutische Monatshefte of Berlin on his success in treating wounds with ordinary sugar. This he sprinkles in a thick layer over a wound that has previously been washed and dried. He covers it with a dry dressing, which he renews every day.
The Journal of the American Medical Association says a great advantage of this dressing is that it does not stick to the wound, but stimulates a powerful secretion, which flushes out the depths of the wound, while profuse suppuration softens crusts and necrotic tissue and gives a chance for healthy granulation below. When this stage is reached salves or transplantation take the place of the sugar.

MARK TWAIN HOME OFFERED FOR SALE

A skate which uses the weight of the wearer for propelling purposes has three wheels—one small wheel in front and two smaller wheels at the back.

The average practical business man looks upon art and drawing in his boy's or girl's life as a "frill" and he often wonders why educators don't get down to the practical things in his child's education. But is drawing so unpractical? Where does a man's house come from if not from a drawing? How would his clothes come into being if it were not from a pattern? His cigar has to be made by a machine made from a drawing. The furniture in his house has to be made from drawings. How would he ever have had a desk in his office if it were not for a drawing? Or a chair, or a pen, or a telephone, or his inkstand, or—well, let him name anything he likes in his office—except himself—and in every case he comes back to a drawing. The building in which he has his office: the trolley in which he rides, or his automobile, or the railroad car—each came from a drawing. Isn't it that we just don't understand or haven't thought about it, that we are apt to think of art or of drawing as a "frill"? And yet in our public schools, what time is given to "drawing, art and all that sort of thing!" But what is more fundamental?

Cancer is now curable declare the surgeons of note—that is, if it is taken in time. Ten years ago 75 per cent. of cancer sufferers applied for surgery after their cases had gone too far to be helped by surgery; nowadays only 25 per cent. are beyond cure. Surgery can cure cancer so long as the disease has not spread to regions where an operation cannot follow it. Cancer in its early stages requires only one of the simplest operations in surgery for a complete cure. The growth starts in a given place. If it isn't cut out it spreads rapidly. That is the story in a nutshell. Cancer is incurable when it has been permitted to spread to vital organs or to become so extensive that it cannot be removed without killing the patient. When removed at the beginning it seldom reappears. Everyone who has a growth anywhere that he doesn't understand, that irritates him, no matter if it be no larger than a pinhead, should seek a diagnosis for cancer. A smoker who finds a small sore on his lip is another who needs to be examined. Cancer of the stomach is easily diagnosed, as is every other type of cancer, by means of microscopic laboratory analysis. There is no reason any longer why anyone should permit a fatal cancer to develop.

A "nouveau riche," who was noted for his misuse of the King's English, is quoted by an exchange as dilating on the cost of the kennels for his new country place in these words:

"It is just throwing money into the fire. We haven't an animal on the place worth two dollars; but the way those architects are fitting up those kennels, anyone would think that they expected them to be occupied by the Dog of Venice himself!"

FAMILY FRIENDS

In the will of the late Justice Lamar of the United States supreme court there was one very unusual legacy. He bequeathed his friendships to his family.

"To my family," the will runs, "I bequeath friendships many and numerous in the hope that they will be cherished and continued. True friendships are the most valuable of our earthly possessions, more precious than gold, more enduring than marble palaces, more important than fame. . . . As Henry Drummond has well said, 'Friendship is the nearest thing we know to what religion is!'"

The family that inherits such wealth is truly rich. But it is a legacy that must be used if it would be preserved. Friendships cannot be locked away in safes or lent to historical exhibits and museums. Like love and faith and courage, they belong to that intangible treasure of the soul that must be kept from destruction by constant service. It is not alone material things that "rust doth corrupt."

How many of us have let slip through busy or careless fingers the beautiful and glowing friendships of our youth? We did not mean to do it. Indeed, we have often regretted the loss until, as the years pass, the regret gradually fades away. And if that is true of our own friends, how far more true of our fathers' friends! Yet there have been families where friendships have passed down from father to son for several generations.

There is food for thought here. How many fathers are building up fine and loyal and serviceable friendships that they can with pride and gratitude bequeath to their sons? How many mothers are storing up like treasures for their daughters? The question does not end there. How many young people of to-day are fitting themselves to receive such legacies? How many in all the varied and urgent calls of life are heeding the challenge to make themselves worthy of friendships by being loyal and fine tempered and generous friends themselves?

"A man that hath friends," the old Book of Wisdom declares, "must show himself friendly"; and again, "Thine own friend and thy father's friend forsake not."—Youth's Companion.

PRESIDENTS RE-ELECTED

Mr. Wilson Made the Tenth; Four Vice Presidents Re-elected

Woodrow Wilson is the tenth president to be elected to a second term. The other nine were Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Lincoln, Grant, Cleveland and McKinley.

Thomas Riley Marshall is the first vice president to be inaugurated a second time since the present system of party conventions came into use. Actually he is the fourth man to hold the office a second time.

John Adams was twice elected vice president to serve with George Washington; Daniel D. Tompkins served through the terms with President Monroe. John C. Calhoun was twice elected vice president on tickets with John Quincy Adams and Andrew Jackson and served until his resignation near the end of his second term in 1832.

March 4 has fallen on Sunday three times in an inauguration year. President Monroe, acting on the advice of Chief Justice Marshall, set a precedent and took the oath on Monday, March 5. General Zachary Taylor followed this precedent when he was inaugurated in 1849. March 4 again fell on a Sunday, and he postponed taking the oath until the following Monday. President Hayes, however, took precautions against any opportunity for a change of irregularity. The final vote of the tribunal which gave to him the high office and thus ended the Tilden-Hayes controversy was announced on Saturday, March 3, 1877. Mr. Hayes at once took the oath.

The form of the president's inaugural was largely devised by George Washington, and, like most of all his work, has stood the test of time. The ceremony was conceived when the forefathers were in the throes of a great revolution, and they intended it to be distinctly American. Through the lapse of more than a century virtually no change has been made in the actual ceremonies, although elaborate and beautiful accompaniments have been added.

—New York Times.

HAVE THOU MODERATION

"Have thou moderation in all things; keep thyself from wild joy and from wailing sorrow; strive to hold thy soul in harmony and concord, like the strings of a well tuned harp," said Pythagoras. "To possess a sane outlook on life is a prime requisite for living long," says Dr. C. H. Larrigo in the New York Outlook. "Serenity, courage, poise, determination, all are important factors. It may be that there is a physiologic center which controls the ageing of the body, as is claimed, but even so we may be sure that it reacts to these psychic influences."

The price of true success is patient toil. Never give up until you have tried every means to attain your end.

Dare to be true. Nothing can need a lie.—George Herbert.

RAILROADS PREPARED FOR MOVING TROOPS

Two hundred and sixty-two thousand miles of railroads in the United States—practically the entire mileage of the country—have been mobilized for service during the war. The roads have not been placed under military control, but made ready for service.

Railroad organization of course is based on peace time conditions, for the purpose of commercial operations. How well this organization may serve in war can be appreciated from a statement of the resources of the roads. In the matter of rolling stock alone. Data compiled a year ago shows the stock consisted then of 63,000 locomotives, and 59,000 passenger and 2,421,000 freight cars.

A field army of 83,000 men will require 6229 cars, made up into 366 trains, in which will be included 2115 passenger coaches, 385 baggage cars, 1055 box cars, 1899 stock cars and 775 flat cars.

To move an infantry division of approximately 22,000 men, 7500 animals and 900 vehicles, would require 533 coaches, 45 baggage cars, 245 box cars, 383 stock cars and 301 flat cars, a total of 1507 cars of all kinds, and 75 locomotives. The equipment would occupy 15.5 miles of track.

An infantry battalion at war strength contains the following personnel and requires the following train equipment:

Thirteen officers, on standard sleeper; 566 enlisted men, twelve tourist sleepers; six horses, twelve mules, one stock car; three wagons, one flat car; 120,000 pounds of baggage, two baggage cars; rations, forage and equipment, five box cars. Total, twenty-two cars.

The mere movement of troops, however, is a small part of the work expected of the railroads during the war. They must be prepared as well to serve the great factories and shipyards and all industries engaged in manufacturing for the army and navy, and to move without hindrance, so far as possible, the country's passenger and freight traffic. When it is considered that to move one field army, 83,000 men, will require 4.2 per cent. of all the passenger coaches of all the railroads, and that there will be many such armies to move, it can be appreciated what is expected of the railroads.—Railroad Bulletin.

THE SPIRIT OF LIBERTY

Liberty is the result of law—not, as many suppose, of the absence of law.—Joseph Alden.

The spirit of liberty is not, as multitudes imagine, a jealousy of our particular rights, but a respect for the rights of others.—Channing.

There are two freedoms—the false, where one is free to do what he likes, and the true, where he is free to do what he ought.—Charles Kingsley.

The only liberty that is valuable is a liberty connected with order; that not only exists with order and virtue, but which cannot exist at all without them.—Edmund Burke.

There is no liberty to men in whom ignorance predominates over knowledge; there is no liberty to men who know not how to govern themselves.—H. W. Beecher.

Political or civil liberty is no other than natural liberty, so far restrained as is necessary and expedient for the general advantage of the public.—Blackstone.

No free government or the blessing of liberty can be preserved by any people but by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality, and virtue, and by a frequent recurrence to fundamental principles.—Patrick Henry.

HE TOLD HER

A middle aged governess on arriving at a new situation was formally introduced to the family, and the next morning Master Tom, the hopeful of the family, said to her, "Miss Parker, are you Leghorn or Cochon China?" "Why do you ask such an extraordinary question?" she asked.

"Because," answered the boy, "I heard dad say to mummy after you left the room last night that you were no longer a chicken."

DISCONCERTING

A prominent English clergyman once congratulated an old lady on her bravery in fighting her way to church against a terrible tempest, but received the disconcerting reply, "My husband gets so cross grained after meals that I have to get out of his way, so I might as well go to church."

TRUE AMERICANISM

For what is true Americanism, and where does it reside? Not on the tongue, nor in the clothes, nor among the transient social forms, refined or rude, which mottle the surface of human life. True Americanism is this:

"To believe that the inalienable rights of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are given by God.

"To believe that any form of power that tramples on these rights is unjust.

"To believe that taxation without representation is tyranny; that government must rest upon the consent of the governed, and that the people should choose their own rulers.

"To believe that freedom must be safeguarded by law and order, and that the end of freedom is fair play for all.

"To believe not in a forced equality of conditions and estates, but in a true equalization of burdens, privileges, and opportunities.

"To believe that the selfish interests of persons, classes, and sections must be subordinate to the welfare of the commonwealth.

"To believe that the Union is as much a human necessity as liberty is a divine gift.

"To believe that a free state should offer an asylum to the oppressed, and an example of virtue, sobriety, and fair dealing to all nations.

"To believe that for the existence and perpetuity of such a state a man should be willing to give his whole service in property, in labor, and in life."—Henry Van Dyke.

SYSTEM

The visitor was being shown about by the head of the up-to-date business house, says the New York Mail.

"Who is that dapper youth at the glass-topped desk?" he asked.

"He keeps an index showing where the index cases are."

"Who is the young man with the gray gaiters and the efficient ears?"

"He keeps an index showing the length of time it takes to index the indexes."

"Who is the girl with the golden hair?"

"She decides under what index an index to the index of the filing cabinets shall be placed."

"And who is the gray-haired man at the disordered desk in the corner?"

"O, that's Old Jiggs. He doesn't fit in very well with the rest of the office, but I have to keep him around. He's the only employee who can find important papers when I want them in a hurry."

FROM AN ECONOMICAL VIEW-POINT

"Do you believe in early marriages?"

"Yes. With the cost of living where it is now I'm inclined to the belief that the sooner the girls are married off the better."—Detroit Free Press.

OPPORTUNITY

Said yesterday to to-morrow:

"When I was young, like you, I, too, was fond of boasting of all I meant to do.

But while I fell a-dreaming Along the pleasant way, Before I scarcely knew it I found I was to-day!

"And as to-day, so quickly My little course was run, I had not time to finish One half the things begun.

Would I could try it over, But I can ne'er go back; A yesterday forever I now must be, alas!

"And so, my good to-morrow, If you would make a name That history shall cherish Upon its roll of fame, Be all prepared and ready Your noblest part to play In those few fleeting hours—When you shall be 'to-day!'" —Pacific.

Jimmy had been in the woods all day. When he reached home he began to tell his family about his experiences.

"I was walking in the woods," he began, "when all at once I came on a big rattlesnake."

"How do you know it was a rattlesnake, Jimmy?" asked his father.

"Why," replied Jimmy, "by the way my teeth rattled when I saw him, of course!"

EDUCATION FOR THE RUSSIAN JEW

The Jews in Russia will be allowed to attend educational institutions on an equal footing with others. This is the first step toward the emancipation of the Jews of Russia. The new Russian government has removed all educational restrictions as to schools and colleges.

TOO SPEEDY

The three year old daughter of a Methodist minister who was given to rather vigorous petitions to the Throne of Grace, was in the habit of following audibly as fast as her little tongue would permit. But one day her father's speed was too much for even her nimble tongue and she was heard to ejaculate, "Go on, go on, I can't keep up."

THE LAST CALL

The last call has been made for officers for the American Overseas Expeditionary Forces for France and the enrollment must be completed by July 15th, as these men go to the Training Camp at the Presidio in August.

Because of the mathematical requirements necessary to control the indirect fire of heavy guns, and the advanced problems of modern warfare, these officers must be men of education.

In the previous Camp, a large number of Lieutenants of First and Junior Grade were appointed, but now, in addition to these, men capable of becoming Majors and Captains must be registered.

The Government is, therefore, particularly anxious to secure the applications of qualified men between the ages of 31 and 42 to take high commands.

Will you look over your territory and send in to the Military Training Camp Association, 709 So. Spring street, TWO men of exceptional educational qualifications, for high command in the United States Army, immediately, if possible, and in no case later than Friday.

This will be the last opportunity afforded during the present war for civilian appointment to commission in the United States Army, except through the regular channel.

This request is made of you because you, through your unique position, are exceptionally fitted to make the necessary recommendations.

Yours respectfully,

ALFRED WRIGHT, Vice-Chairman Military Training Camps Assn. of the United States, Southern California Division.

DUCK FARM

Long Island, New York, boasts the largest duck farm in the world. More than one hundred and twenty-four thousand ducks are raised for market each year. The eggs are gathered at the rate of eighteen hundred a day and hatched in incubators.

"CARDS OF HONOR" TO MARK HOMES OF MARINES

By providing "cards of honor" for display outside every house in the United States which has a man serving his country as a "Soldier of the Sea," the U. S. Marine Corps has kept to its slogan "First in Action."

These cards bear the following announcement in letters of scarlet: "A man from this house is serving in the United States Marine Corps." The men who are accepted for service in "the first line of defense" receive copies which are turned over to their relatives or the friends with whom they resided.

The United States is one of the few nations on earth that does not keep records of births, marriages and deaths. We are waking up to the necessity for this if we are to know with any authority "where we are going." But figures, as yet, are meager, and even where they do exist they are, except in a few cases, hardly reliable. But already such figures are beginning to show certain definite facts: That the marriage rate is decreasing, and so is the birth rate. But exactly how much no one knows. We know, however, that there is an increasing number of bachelors and unmarried women: 9 millions of the former and 8 millions of the latter.

AN EVENING WITH PILGRIMS AND PURITANS

For a delightful evening, have a "spell-down," or some other equally old-fashioned game, followed by a genuine New England supper—hot boiled ham, real Boston brown bread, baked beans, and "rye 'n' injun" pudding with dip sauce. Place cards may be demure Puritan ladies, made with small English walnuts on skewers, stuck in apples and dressed appropriately in gray and white. Bayberry candles can be used at each cover and the center piece can be of dwarf oak and holly berries.—Adapted.

QUITE "AMATEURISH"

A little girl was exhibiting her drawings to a gentleman, who complimented her on her skill. "Oh, I am only an aroma," was the reply of the amateur artist.

"I am going to Polynesia," wrote Theodore Roosevelt not long ago to a friend. "Don't you want to come along?" The friend asked himself, "Where in the world is Polynesia?" and he asked every man he met. Not a man knew. Do you know?

Andrew Carnegie broke a trip one day from Palm Beach to Washington by stopping in a small southern town over Sunday. He took a walk and strolled into a church of colored people. When the deacons passed the plates, the steel king dropped a hundred dollar note on the plate.

A moment later the pastor and all the deacons were in earnest conference at the pulpit foot, and at its termination the pastor arose to make his "remarks and announcements:" "Brethren an' sisters," he said, "we hab many blessings fo' which to thank de Lo'd dis mornin'. De collection plate hab brought us good cheer and hope. From de two plates we hab taken one dollah and fohty-eight cents in real money. An' ef'—he hesitated here and glanced at Mr. Carnegie—"an' ef de piece ob papah ma'k'd 'One Hundred Dollahs,' drapped in by de small gen'lman wid de white whiskers, now settin' in de back of de house ob worship—on de left—should tuh'n out to be real money as well, why, bress de good Lo'd, de church debt will be all wiped out."

The pace at which the American man is working is beginning to tell, and, what is most startling, this is in the face of the lengthening of the years of the average life. This average is ten years higher than it was thirty years ago. And yet the average for men at forty is one year less. This is due to the alarming increase of diseases of the heart, the kidneys and the arteries—where overwork and a disregard for simple living always have their results.

They were discussing church affairs when Mary came home from school, and Aunt Maria remarked "little pitchers have big ears," and the conversation stopped. A few days afterward the minister came to tea and gave some of his attention to Mary.

"Do you like to go to church?" he asked.

"No," answered Mary, very firmly but politely.

"And why not, my little dear?"

"Oh," said Mary, with a smile, "little pitchers have big ears," very much to the surprise of her mother and Aunt Maria, who colored consciously, and the minister changed the conversation.
