ADVANCE GUARD OF DELEGATES BACK FROM KAMLOOPS CONVENTIONS

Reeves Lockley and Watson Report On Impressions of Successful Gatherings; Island Representatives Receive Five Executive Offices.

Some of the delegates from the city and adjacent municipalities at the two conventions at Kamloops this week reached Vancouver last evening. These gatherings were the Good Roads League of B. C. and the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

The Victoria delegates were headed by Mayor William Marchant, who was accompanied by Mrs. Marchant, and will not return to the city until next Wednesday. Aldermen Perry and Dewar and City Comptroller Raymer and City Solicitor Prince and the other city delegates were expected to arrive in the city this afternoon. The Oak Bay delegates are due home on Monday.

The Saanich and Esquimalt representatives caught the steamer last evening for Victoria.

Change of Plan.

For the first time for many years the executive of the Union of Municipalities made up of mayors and Reeves only, there being no councillor or alderman selected this year. Another point of importance is the fact that this year Vancouver Island has three members of the executive committee these being Reeve Lockley of Esquimalt, Mayor Marchant of Victoria, and Reeve Watson of Saanich.

Another honor voted Saanich this week was the selection by the Municipal Officers' Association of Clerk Hector S. Cowper of Saanich for the office of vice-president, Oak Bay securing through R. F. Blandy, Municipal clerk, the presidency.

REEVE LOCKLEY SAYS VALUABLE RESULTS

Reeve Lockley informed The Times this morning that the gathering, together with the convention of the Good Roads League of British Columbia, which preceded the municipal meetings, were the most successful conventions ever held in the Province.

Reeve Lockley was made a director of the Good Roads League, and for the third year he was elected to the executive of the Provincial organization. "The Good Roads League intends to widen its scope next year. It is a very valuable organization and is doing great work in the municipalities and outside districts. Not only does it assist in road building and maintenance but in assisting in the construction of bridges. Vancouver Island has a number of valuable roads which were supported by the League," said Reeve Lockley.

Educational Matters

"To my mind, the most important question under discussion was the request that we again ask the Government to take over the administration of the public schools within the Province, including public and high schools," said Reeve Lockley.

A great deal of discussion took place over Victoria's suggested three-cent gasoline tax, two-thirds of which would be allocated to the city where the tax was collected. It was obvious that the large cities would get all this money, while the smaller municipalities where gasoline was not distributed as freely would get next to nothing. It was therefore decided to leave the whole matter to the Government for investigation.

Motor License System

It was also pointed out that the present motor license system was wrong in regard to allowing for depreciation in computing the amount to be paid. It was argued that many motor cars were heavier and more expensive than the old cars, which were lighter, yet the old car got a reduction for depreciation and paid less than the new and less harmful motor car, Reeve Lockley said.

The municipalities also wish to have the Municipal Act amended to give them authority to enforce their highway regulations in so far as they affect the limitation and control of heavy traffic and so that fines may be imposed and collected for offences in this respect.

Mayor Marchant's Local Government Board system of municipal administration was questioned. It was said, and the suggestion that municipalities use the Provincial and Federal voters lists was also defeated.

Liquor Profits

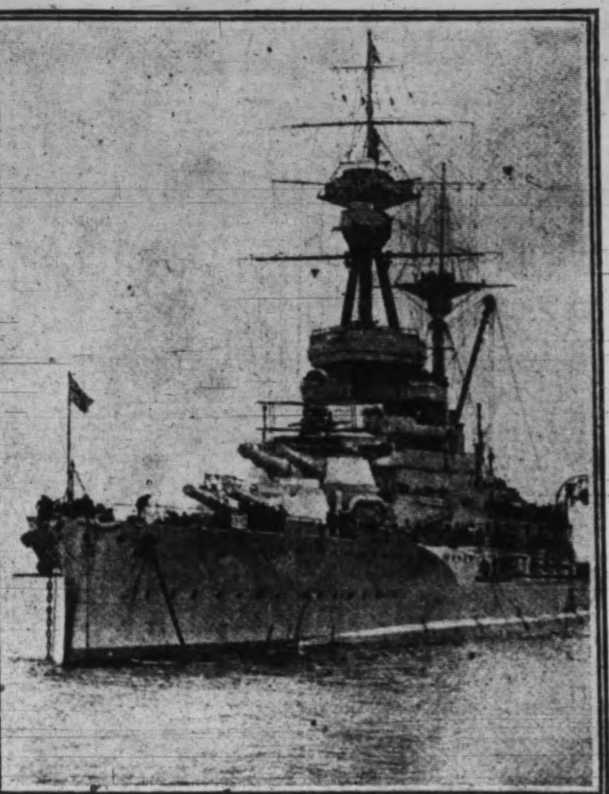

Esquimalt raised the question of the division of liquor profits and the allocation of half the municipalities' portion to hospitals by municipalities which have no hospitals of their own but have to pay nevertheless for the care of indigent domiciles in that municipality. For instance, Reeve Lockley points out, Esquimalt recently paid a bill of $165 to the Vancouver General Hospital for treatment of an indigent Esquimalt resident.

Reeve Lockley said that the delegates were tired and he was impressed once again with the value of these conventions. He claims that it was the Union of B. C. Municipalities which secured Esquimalt its present quota of over $10,000 annually from the pari-mutuel motor licenses and liquor profits. All this is in addition to the education and the cooperation gained in municipal matters," the Reeve concluded.

REEVE WATSON GIVES VIEWS ON WORK DONE

Reeve George F. Watson, of Saanich, this morning returned from the Kamloops Convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities and declared to The Times that it is his opinion that more important results will have been achieved than have ever before been attained.

WORD RECEIVED FROM ASTRONOMERS

Prof. Chant Writes Specially to Times from Australia

He, Dr. Young and Others Observed Eclipse

Professor C. A. Chant and Dr. R. K. Young, Canadian members of one of the parties of astronomers which, in Western Australia, observed the recent eclipse of the sun, will reach Victoria shortly on their return from the Antipodes.

The cables and telegrams, on the day after the eclipse, carried items indicating to the world that success had attended the observations, the weather being clear, and scientific circles everywhere have since been awaiting fuller reports which will follow close study of the photographs then taken. A test of one phase of the Einstein theory was involved.

To-day The Times received the following letter from Prof. Chant, written from Perth, West Australia, while the scientists were on their way to Walla, the spot chosen for the observations. It shows the anxious study of the Antipodes, and elsewhere where warmly welcomed in New Zealand and Australia. Apart from very brief cable messages, this letter is the only communication which has reached Victoria since the scientists approached their task in the Antipodes.

The Letter.

Perth, W.A., August 19, 1922.

"The total eclipse of the sun, which is to be visible along a path about 150 miles wide running from Abyssinia across the Indian Ocean and then across the continent of Australia, has aroused much interest and will be observed by many scientists. The largest party of these will be located at Walla, on the Ninety-Mile Beach, in latitude 29 degrees south. It will leave Fremantle on Sunday, August 20, in the S.S. Charon.

GIANTS COME FROM BEHIND AND PICK OFF THIRD INNING

Hugh McQuillan-Stands Yankees on Their Heads After a Weak Start

Giants Attack Mays in Fourth Inning and Win Game; Score 4-3

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 7.—Hugh McQuillan, another of the supposedly weaker players of the Giants' pitching staff, turned back the Yankees to-day and made it three straight for the Giants. The score was 4 to 3.

The Yankees made their best bid of the series to-day but they could not keep the Giants' sluggers in check. Carl Mays, the Yankee pitcher ace last year but who this season has been much of an in-and-outer, made short work of the Giants until the fourth inning. Then McQuillan's proteges punished him for four runs and won the game.

Ward Gets Second Homer.

The Yankees made a game effort to drag the game out of the first and second of the series, brought them within one of the Giants' total. In the ninth inning the Yankees came on again but the Giants' defense, as Hugh McQuillan, who came to the Giants from Boston in the trade with "Deacon" John Scott, yesterday's pitcher here would not get very far. He was touched up for four runs and a sensational catch by Cunningham prevented Ruth from contributing an extra-base blow.

McQuillan Improves.

After the first-inning McQuillan proved as slippery to the Yankees as an eel. They could not touch him. Outside of Ward's homer in the seventh the Yankees did not get a hit from the first to the ninth inning. When the Giants went into the series the sporting critics said McQuillan had but one pitcher to rely upon, the stocky little southpaw, Art Nehf. On the other hand, they said the Yankees had a sure thing in Joe Bush and then there was Hoyt Hays and Jones that could win games. But the Yankees pitchers, while they might have been able to win a few games, certainly have looked like the bunk against National League hitters and the pitchers who were expected to prove ace pickings for the Yankees.

The Giants now only need one more game to clinch the series.

Giants Outbit Yankees.

The Giants again outbit the Yankees, two of the Yankees, with Baneroff and Snyder getting two singles and a double, Meusel and Schang got the other safeties.

Greater Interest.

Greater interest could scarcely have been stirred by the letter which he sent plainly to France that if Eastern crisis, which was given conspicuous publicity in all the London newspapers this morning.

NOT ACTING ALONE AS WORLD POLICEMAN

The most sensational statement in the letter, that relating to France's reported encouragement of the Turks, is: "We can not alone act as the policeman of the world. Our duty will be to say plainly to France that if she is not prepared to support us we shall be unable to bear the burden alone, but we shall have no alternative except to imitate the Government of the United States and restrict our attention to safeguarding the more immediate interests of the Empire."

CONSIDERATION IN PARIS DESIRED

The Times remarks that although Bonar Law is no longer in the Cabinet, his influence is probably as great as that of any member of the Government, and the newspaper trusts that his manifesto, for it is no less, will receive more earnest consideration in Paris, and that it will strengthen the disposition of the French Government to say every word to representations which Viscount Curzon evidently has been authorized to make.

LIBERALS TO MEET

The annual general meeting of the Victoria and District Liberal Association will be held in the Liberal Club auditorium on Wednesday evening next at 8 o'clock. The election of officers for the ensuing year will be held, and the reports of the delegates to the Provincial series to select a defender for this year's contest.

Britain Not Alone Policeman of the World

London, Oct. 7.—A sensation has been caused by the letter from Rt. Hon. Andrew Bonar Law, upholding the British Government's attitude in the Near Eastern crisis, which was given conspicuous publicity in all the London newspapers this morning.

The pronouncement is widely held to be equivalent to a direct threat to withdraw the British troops from the Rhine and completely terminate the Entente unless France comes into line with the British policy in the Near East.

TURK TROOPS NOT TO ENTER THRACE TILL PEACE PACT SIGNED

New British-French Agreement Provides Greek Forces Are to Leave Immediately; Turkish Civil Administration to Be Set Up.

Paris, Oct. 7.—It was announced this afternoon that the Cabinet had fully approved the instructions sent the French representatives at Mudania by Premier Poincare as the result of this morning's conference between the Premier and Lord Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary.

The conversation between M. Poincare and Lord Curzon consumed two hours and a half.

Paris, Oct. 7.—Great Britain and France, as represented by Foreign Secretary Curzon and Premier Poincare, have agreed in principle that the troops of the Turkish Nationalists shall be allowed to occupy Eastern Thrace only after the conclusion of a peace treaty.

This general agreement will now be submitted to the French and British Cabinets, which are in session, and will be referred to Rome by the Italian representative here, Signor Galli, the Italian Charge d'Affaires, who concurred in the agreement.

CONFEREES AGAIN MEET IN MUDANIA

More Conciliatory Attitude Taken by Ismet

Made Recent Statements Before Angora Note Came

Mudania, Oct. 7.—The sessions of the conference here were resumed at 8 o'clock this morning.

Owing to the lateness of the arrival of the British instructions from home, no formal sessions were held last evening, but the Allied generals conferred late into the night.

The session this morning opened with optimism. At the start Ismet Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist representative, sounded a conciliatory note by making the astonishing statement that at the time the conference broke up on Thursday he had not received a copy of the Angora peace proposals which the Allied peace commissioners had been considerably at variance with the Angora position—that he had demanded more from Angora authorities were asking. In any event, at the opening of to-day's deliberations his attitude had softened markedly and the whole situation seemed to have become more hopeful.

THREE STEPS ARE INCLUDED IN PLAN

The solution agreed upon provides three steps for the return of Thrace to the Turks, as follows:

First, the Greek army and those of the population desiring to leave must evacuate the region immediately.

Second, a Turkish civil administration will be installed at the same time the Allied troops take the place of the Greek forces to preserve order.

After Treaty Signed.

Third, the Turkish army will be allowed to cross the strait of the Dardanelles and enter Thrace only on conclusion of a peace treaty, and it will not be until that time that Eastern Thrace will be completely restored to Turkey.

BRITISH CABINET AWAITS REPORT

Discussion to Follow Message from Curzon

No Change of Attitude Regarding Thrace

London, Oct. 7.—The British Cabinet was in session this morning awaiting the result of the conversations between Foreign Secretary Curzon and Premier Poincare in Paris. Resumption of the Mudania conference is being held up until the Cabinet is in a position to forward fresh instructions to the British delegate, General Sir Curzon's Harcourt.

COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE DATE SET

Will Be Held From November 11 to 18

The Directors of the Community Chest at their meeting yesterday afternoon decided that the date of the coming campaign to raise the budget for the twenty affiliated charitable, patriotic and welfare societies should be the week November 11 to 18.

The work for the campaign is now well under way and preparations have been taken to make the canvass as widespread as possible. Some $200 assignment cards have been made out and an endeavor will be made to increase the present number of subscribers at least five times, so that everyone may have some part in the welfare work of Victoria.

NO CHANGE OF ATTITUDE

It is stated in official quarters that the Government abides by its original determination not to admit armed forces of Turkey into Thrace or Constantinople until the matter has been arranged in accordance with the Allied note.

In connection with Andrew Bonar Law's letter outlining the possibility of a break in Franco-British relations, it was stated this morning that this possibility had not arisen for the present.

NO SUPPORT FOR GREEK ADVANCE

Regarding a Greek advance in Thrace, it is understood that this is quite unlikely as far as any encouragement from the British Cabinet is concerned. That former Premier Venizelos of Greece has stated definitely that the Greeks have no such intention and that if such intention exists it will not be supported here.

CONTRARY TO INFORMATION

The report forwarded last night by a special correspondent in Constantinople that the British had decided not to oppose the Turks if they should cross the Bosphorus into Thrace was discussed by Government officials with the newspaper men this morning.

While the Cabinet spokesman was unable to give out anything official, it was intimated that the report was incorrect in viewpoint, and contrary to all information in possession of the officials.

Starting next week the Community Chest will begin a series of articles in reference to the splendid work that has been carried on by the affiliated agencies, as the Directors feel that it is only necessary for the public to be informed of the various phases of welfare work in the community to subscribe liberally to the fund to help those agencies whose work and needs have been based on the business men composing the Directorate of the Community Chest.

CHURCH UNION PLAN APPROVED

Methodist General Conference Unanimously Adopts Committee's Report

150 Delegates to the United Council to Be Named

Toronto, Oct. 7.—The unanimous adoption of the report of the Joint Committee on Law and Legislation dealing with the United Church Act yesterday afternoon ended the most interesting debate of the Methodist General Conference since it opened here ten days ago. The debate occupied both sessions yesterday.

The bill of amalgamation of the churches will come before the Presbyterian General Assembly. "It is coming just as fast as it can come," declared Hon. N. W. Rowell, opposition to the bill, "but the Presbyterian Church in consummating the union. It does not lie in the mouth of a single Methodist to offer a word of criticism for what the assembly has done."

Vote Suggested
The first speaker to offer criticism of the method by which church union was being brought about was the Rev. Dr. James Smythe, principal of the Wesleyan College, Montreal, who emphatically declared his opposition to amalgamation with the Presbyterian Church, if that body was not unanimous on the question.

"I would rather have another vote taken on church union than draw into church union by the nose of the neck any part of any church against its will," he said.

Westerners Spoke
He was followed by a number of speakers who, while declaring their opposition to his attitude, complimented him upon his presentation of his view point. Among them were several delegates from Western Canada. Dr. R. K. Young, of the Dominion Presbyterian Church, Vancouver, was not consumed, there would be a new denomination in their part of Canada. It was left to Hon. N. W. Rowell to reply to the criticisms levelled against the church amalgamation and when he had concluded, the report of the Joint Committee on Law and Legislation was adopted unanimously.

Dealing with the alleged delay of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. Rowell pointed out the many difficulties which had to be met and expressed his belief that every honest effort had been made by the leaders of that church in co-operating with those of the Methodist Conference, and regretted that any intimation of insincerity had been directed at men who were nobly endeavoring to fulfill their obligations.

Union Fields Increase
Rev. John Doyle, of Manitoba, declared that it was impossible to stay the union in Manitoba. There was nothing else ahead of them. They had gone too far to go back. At the present time the number of union fields was greatly in excess of those of the other denominations. His final advice was that the Conference calmly and patiently take the next step in the consummation of the long-desired union of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches. Rev. H. P. Lewis, president of the Saskatchewan Conference, was a strong advocate of church union and believed in it as the only right thing to do. So far the work towards the amalgamation of the churches in the West had been most satisfactory and had been placed on such foundations that it would be almost impossible to reject unification.

A motion was adopted to appoint 150 delegates to the first General Council of the United Church of Canada. The delegates have yet to be appointed.

Women and Ministry
Another important question taken up was that of women in the ministry. This question was up before the Conference at Hamilton four years ago, when women were permitted to enter the courts of the church.

Since that time, votes have been taken on the matter by the congregations and resulted adversely to the women. The Committee on Memorials recommended to the present Conference that no action be taken, but an amendment has been presented by Rev. J. H. Arup, Toronto, asking for a review of the question.

NEW TREASURER OF ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION

SIR HENRY DRAYTON

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—Sir Henry Drayton has accepted the office of honorary treasurer of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis in succession to Sir George Burn, appointed by the Governor-General as an honorary vice-president of the association.

The secretary of the association is expected to leave for British Columbia on Sunday. He is to speak in Regina, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria and Nanaimo. Important consultations are to be held with municipal health officers and tuberculosis campaigns have been arranged.

party consists of Prof. C. A. Chant, of the University of Toronto; Mrs. Chant and Miss Elizabeth H. Chant, and Dr. R. K. Young, of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Victoria, B.C. An English party consists of Messrs. J. Hargreaves and G. S. Clark-Maxwell, A. Perth party of five, Messrs. Nossiter, Dwyer, Nunn, Matthews and Yeates, will also accompany the visitors. Lieut.-Commander H. L. Quick, of the Australian navy, is in charge, and he, with him, three petty officers and men.

From Victoria.
"The Canadian party left Victoria on June 17, on the S.S. Makura; Auckland was reached on July 7, and a stop in New Zealand was made until July 20, when the S.S. Manuka was boarded. She arrived at Sydney on July 24. A warm welcome awaited the visitors, and six busy days were spent. Then the party proceeded to Melbourne, where a halt for three days was made. From this city the journey was continued to Adelaide, which was reached on August 4, and nine days were spent in the beautiful garden city. On August 11 the Lick party reached Adelaide, and then, on August 13, the united party moved on to Perth. In the morning, center of Kalgoorlie and Boulder, a stop of five hours allowed the presentation of two civic addresses, as well as a visit to two racecourses and the Ivanhoe gold mine. We arrived in Perth on August 16, and were met at the station by a strong delegation of citizens. A civic reception followed, with a luncheon by the University of Western Australia in the Parliament House, at which the Premier and the members were present, and at which for the first time women were entertained in that manner. There were other reception motor drives and dinners, thus filling in the visitors' time most pleasantly. Indeed, the entire party has been received with a spirit of great friendliness and treated with a generosity never before experienced by them."

Schooner Beached.
"Leaving on Sunday, the steamer will carry the party to Broome, about 1,500 miles up the West Coast. Here the freight (instruments and provisions) will be transhipped to the schooner Gwendolin (30 tons), which will be towed back 200 miles to our station on the Ninety-Mile Beach. The schooner will be beached at high tide, and when the water has receded, we shall all be on land and the cargo will be unloaded with all speed. The camp will be pitched near the telegraph and post office (the only building there), about a mile from the shore, and with the assistance of the naval men the instruments will be erected on cement-piers and adjusted for the delicate observations, mostly by photography, to be made at the time of the eclipse at 1.40 p.m., September 21.

"The party will be in camp about four weeks, and the expense of this, as well as the travel of the visiting astronomers, is being met by the Federal Government. The visitors certainly appreciate the generous treatment, and sincerely hope they will be able to make their observations successfully and thus extend the boundaries of science."

Mexico, Lower California, Oct. 7.—Men of the Twenty-ninth Mexican Battalion "mutinied" and "killed" those of their officers who refused to join them in deserting to the rebel forces of General Juan Carrasco, when the battalion was sent from Mexico to fight in Sinaloa two weeks ago, and now are in the ranks of the rebels, according to delayed advices received here.

PLANS TO AMEND THE INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES ACT

Calgary, Oct. 7.—Evidently the Canadian Pacific and certain other railways had a knowledge of the recent shop craft conciliation board's award, or what it would be, some days before the award was filed with the Department of Labor. This "admission" is made by Hon. James Murdoch, Minister of Labor, replying to a letter of protest against such practice sent him by Robert T. Alderman, secretary of the Federated Shop Trades of Calgary.

The Minister characterizes the proceedings as "improper" and intimates that he will endeavor to have the Industrial Disputes Act amended so that such a divulgence of information will constitute a violation of the act.

In the letter to the Minister, the union men pointed out that the C.P.R. had paid the reduced rates of wages as set up by the conciliation board prior to the announcement of the award by the Department of Labor.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Bachache Often Means You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

"When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. An excess of meat may form kidney stones, which overwork the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts—a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus often ending kidney weakness. It is not ending. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia water drink. Drink lots of soft water.

There's nothing so hopeless as the man who only hopes.

No one is so empty as the man who is full of himself.

TRADE CONDITIONS ARE SUMMARIZED

Canadian Credit Men's Association's Weekly Report

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—(Canadian Press)—The trade report for this week, issued by the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, states:

Montreal: Wholesale and manufacturing trade in all lines reports steady improvement, with increasing orders, but the retail trade is not quite what it should be. Collections are a little better.

Halifax: Better weather in the province has somewhat improved trade conditions among wholesalers. Retailers report an improvement over last month. Collections are somewhat better.

St. John: Improvement is felt in the wholesale trade. Little change in the manufacturing trade. The retail trade is having fall sales and looking forward to more active business. Collections are better.

Toronto: Not much change over last week, owing to the warm weather. Women's and men's clothing trade is finding business quiet.

Winnipeg: Wholesale trade is fair in drygoods. Hardware men report business only fair. Boots and shoe men, while reporting an improvement, expect a greater improvement.

Regina: Reports show wholesale trade brisk, but retail trade quiet. Collections are improving.

Calgary: Business is a little on the quiet side, and retail trade is about the same as in the similar period last year. Collections are just starting.

British Columbia: Wholesale trade reports an improvement in business. In manufacturing trade, drygoods are normal, and most shoes are good. In the retail trade, drygoods men report business quiet. Grocers and hardware are improving. Collections are improving.

The general export business of Canada is somewhat below that of last year but considerably better than in the earlier months of this year. There also is to be noticed a stiffening of prices in many commodities, including foodstuffs.

J. E. KEENEYSIDE DIED IN ONTARIO

London, Ont., Oct. 7.—James E. Keeneyside, licence inspector for London and Middlesex, died at his home here yesterday. He was born in London Township in 1855 and lived in London and vicinity all his life.

E. W. Keeneyside, of Vancouver, T. C. Keeneyside, of Winnipeg, and J. B. Keeneyside, of Regina, are brothers.

CALLED KIDNAPPER IS KILLED BY MOB

London, Oct. 7.—The fallibility of mob law was brought out in court at the trial of several persons charged with causing the death of Alexander Stewart, who recently was lynched in Glasgow. It has now been proved that the man was actuated by the kindest motives and was trying to give happiness to a little boy when he was taken for a kidnapper and killed.

Stewart, 33 years old, a ship's officer, returned to the Clyde after a long voyage and went to his sister's home for a visit. The family was absent but he found a boy of five at home whom he knew his sister had adopted. He embraced the boy and hearty and they became friends. Then he took the boy for a street car ride.

The boy was shabby dressed, but was as happy as a boy of that age could be. He shouted from the train to a companion and Stewart tried to quiet him. A woman recognized the boy and accused Stewart, who was well dressed, of kidnapping the child.

Stewart, embarrassed, tried to explain his identity, but, failing, asked the woman to take charge of the boy and he fled. He shouted from the train to avoid a scene. Some persons took up the cry of "Kidnapper!" and an infuriated crowd gave chase.

The crowd passed the boy that he had been abusing children, finally overtook him and clubbed him to death. Several arrests followed. At the trial Stewart's sister explained that they had corresponded about the boy and that Stewart wrote that he would love and try to make the boy happy. This it was dramatically proved in court that Stewart was doing the act of a good Samaritan and was slain for it.

SUIT DISMISSED

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—In dismissing the action of $10,000 damages brought by Brabazon A. Olds against Gaston de la Giroday, for alleged malicious prosecution and false arrest, Mr. Justice Morrison yesterday found that Mr. de la Giroday took reasonable care to inform himself of the true facts of the case before laying the charge against Olds, and that he honestly did believe in the case. The judge also found that there was no malice, as the defendant had acted from proper motives and with an honest belief in the substantiality of his statements.

THE LAST RESOURCE.

The bazaar was in full swing when a young man strolled round the various stalls, with no intention of purchasing anything. As he passed a large, beautifully decorated stall the young lady seller detained him. "Won't you buy a cigarette holder?" she asked. "No thank you; I don't smoke," was the curt reply. "Or a pen-wiper worked by my own hands?" "I don't write." "Then do have this nice box of chocolates." "I don't eat sweets." "The young lady's patience was exhausted." "Sir," she said grimly, "will you buy this box of soap?" The young man paid up. It's the blunt man who makes the cutting remark.

JUVENILE IMMIGRATION.

Juvenile immigration to Canada during the last few years has slowly regained some of its prewar importance and each steamer arriving from the Old Country brings a number of these sturdy future citizens.

The Ontario Government has under consideration a scheme for bringing them to Canada and placing them with farmers throughout that province, which if put into operation will bring to Ontario a number of these young men who are, perhaps, from the point of view of assimilation and new citizens, the very best possible class of settlers.

The success of the Barnardo boys, of whom some 26,000 have entered the Dominion already, is well-known and it is due to much the same sort of conditions, with the exception that they are not given government assistance in acquiring farms of their own after apprenticeship, though, of course, homesteads have been and are available to them.

In considering the bringing out from England of a number of these juveniles the Government has, in its numerous experimental farms, a happy combination of the required land and instruction for this purpose. If temporary buildings for housing and instruction were erected on these farms they would at once be ready for these juveniles.

The Overseas Settlement Board has from the first stood ready and willing to assist Canadian immigration from the huge financial appropriation set aside for this purpose; to bring this about, it is only necessary for the Canadian Government to lay its proposition before the Overseas Settlement Board, outline its scheme and hundreds of English juveniles, waiting and hoping for just such an opportunity, will take advantage of it.

REV. J. L. BATTY.

The death of Rev. J. L. Batty, pastor of Centennial Methodist Church, which occurred yesterday evening, will be widely deplored in this community in which he had conducted a very successful pastorate in the last four years. Although he had been unwell for some months it was hoped that he was well on the way to recovery and the sudden termination of his busy career therefore comes in the nature of a painful shock. Tolerance, kindness and fearlessness in the expression of his convictions were conspicuous among the qualities which won the esteem and respect of those with whom Rev. Mr. Batty came in contact.

THE GASOLINE TAX.

By recommending that the proposal should be submitted to the Provincial Government in order to discover its feasibility, the Good Roads Convention and the Convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities have done the next best thing to giving their approval and endorsement of the gasoline tax.

There should be no hesitation on the part of the Legislature in giving the City of Victoria the power to impose this particular tax. It is a legitimate new source of revenue and the municipalities have been told on more than one occasion that if they could show the Government how they were willing to help themselves there would be every encouragement from the Legislature.

Should the tax be imposed, however, the proceeds should be distinctly earmarked for exclusive use on the maintenance of roads within the municipality. Many thoroughfares will require a good deal of expenditure upon them before very long if they are to be kept in a condition that will naturally be expected by those who will pay the new tax.

INTERIOR ROADS.

When motorists from the Interior come to the Coast and enjoy our roads it very naturally makes them wonder why their own particular part of the country should not be equally as fortunate. Some are apt to compare the general highway conditions that obtain in the rural areas of the neighboring State of Washington with the rougher roads of their own locality and wonder why there should be such a difference.

Comparison of our roads in this sparsely settled district with those in Washington is unfair. That state is fifty years ahead of this Province in development, consequently has more money available for road work. Really, it is remarkable that the roads throughout this B. C. Interior country are as good as they are. Visitors from the old-established Province of Ontario are astonished to find them so good. They will tell you of motoring experiences in Ontario that will make you glad you live in British Columbia. It will be a grand thing when this Province enjoys a network of roads that will make highways, but such a condition cannot be brought about in a year or two. Such a task is beyond far beyond our power.

Our contemporary is quite right and the Provincial Department of Public Works is seized of the importance of better roads and more of them. Under the administration of Dr. King British Columbia threw its antiquated system of highway construction and maintenance overboard. The obvious improvement that has followed is tribute in itself to the former Minister's judgment and practical methods. None the less many valuable suggestions came from the annual Convention of the Good Roads League. That gathering has just concluded its sessions at Kamloops.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

One element in particular will not be thrown into a transport of delight over a peaceful settlement of the trouble in the Near East. This is the Government at Moscow, which knows quite well that the quickest way to Bolshevize the remainder of Europe is by another war, even a minor war if it makes a substantial addition to the debt under which the nations are now staggering. Continental Europe is within an arm's length of economic collapse with all its sinister possibilities, and another reaction might well be disastrous. The safest course for governments, particularly in the Old World, to pursue in times such as these is to keep very close to the people whose servants they are. Russia, Germany, Austria and Greece are grim reminders that revolution is war's twin sister, and still wears modern garb.

PUNISHMENT FIT THE CRIME.

To the Editor.—We all admire the Justice and regard shown by the rulers of our Empire towards the different religions in our realm, a condition which is impractical in our day. But when a semi-barbaric native from the land of the Bolsheviks, with-out apparently the loss of any of his faculties, dares to disturb the most sacred service of our Christian faith and thrust his shameless person upon those assembled for worship with disgusting domineering, it is not only a crime against our moral and civil life, and a serious menace to all decency and right living. Such people in our fair Dominion are not wanted. Calgary could tell us a story about them. Let us hope the authorities will take a firm stand not only to let the punishment fit the crime, but rid the country of such unrestrained shamelessness.

Not only Victoria, but a large portion of Canada is interested, and will watch this case. SUBSCRIBER. Oct. 30, 1922.

DISLIKES HIGH FENCES.

To the Editor.—Having lived in Victoria for seven years, I am familiar with the many complaints paid to our fair city, and have no desire to call them in question. But have we reached perfection? Can we do better? I am under the impression that the city still more attractive? Consider Rockland Avenue which ought to be the most attractive avenue in the city, but which is quite the reverse, owing entirely to the high walls, built to prevent the public seeing into the fine gardens. I suggest that the city authorities when assessing values for tax purposes add ten per cent to the rate on all those properties with fences which are an eyesore to the public, and deduct ten per cent from the rate on those who have no fence.

In Detroit there is an avenue some thirteen miles long without any fence, not even a subdividing fence between lots.

Philadelphia the best residential section also the rule is no fence.

Why cannot Victoria go on similar lines? The fault is exclusiveness and this ought to be avoided in our young west.

E. DOWIE. 1618 Richmond Avenue, Victoria, Oct. 6, 1922.

SINGLE TAX.

To the Editor.—It will not do to try to fasten the responsibility for land monopoly upon God. Thus Mr. Hamilton. His "land monopoly" is a question-begging epithet. He confuses private ownership of land with landlordism, as I have already pointed out. To speak of the private ownership of a farm, or a field, or a vacant lot, as "land monopoly," is a flagrant misuse of words. If this be "land monopoly," then it plainly has God's own sanction, for it was by His ordinance that the "Land of Promise" was so divided among the heads of families that it could not be alienated in perpetuity, but should revert to the original owner in the year of Jubilee (Levit. 25:23-28). It could be sold, but not "forever," least it should pass wholly away from the head of the family to whom it was first assigned. This private ownership confirmed and invested with perpetuity by God Himself. As far as the east is from the west, so far is this from the theory of communal ownership which is the basis of single tax.

Mr. Hamilton says of the laborer: "How is he to save enough to 'buy land'?" Of course he can save enough to buy land, if he wants to. In fact, land is for the cheapest thing on the market in Victoria to-day. It goes for a bag of grain, and none so poor who may not buy. What is more, laborers not a few own land here as elsewhere. And not a few others have been buying out of the city by single tax, their little holdings being confiscated because they could no longer pay. Under single tax ever so many citizens have been virtually immune from taxation, or have paid far less than their full share. Any system of taxation which fails to get every citizen, every man and woman in the city, to his or her bit for the upkeep of the city, to pay in proportion to their ability, in proportion to their income, is cursed with essential injustice. Of course, as sure as there is a just God, it is a chicken that will come home to roost.

ALEX. MACDONALD, Bishop of Victoria.

REPLY TO "FREE TRADER."

To the Editor.—Your correspondent "Free Trader" seems to be out to break a lance with me. Regarding my original proposal, which were made with a view to clearing the air for bona fide settlers from the country in order to remove as many obstacles as possible, I suggested controlling cold storage. Free Trader would seem to infer that I want to abolish it. Not at all, an uncontrolled fire lit under a house is likely to burn it down, but modern heating methods applied in the same place have their beneficial effects. It might so be arranged with cold storage and many other instruments which the middleman can at present employ with too much freedom for his own ends. For the rest, "Free Trader" merely amplifies what I outlined with reference to remedies, and where in the main we seem to agree.

I would mention, however, that in the latter part of his letter he opens up the Free Trade question, and suggests that I allude to "some years before the French Revolution." Here I must correct him, for in connection with Queen's I particularly mentioned a date, viz. 1787, which was of the French Revolution. I purposely avoided dipping into theoretical periods and came straight to practical applications for the very simple reason that the "Free Trade" was never based upon theories, though economists have covered the skeleton facts with theories which have in consequence been sound. But Free Trade is a mansion of many glass windows, and at times the owner has resorted up to the best method of protecting those windows from damage. Much will depend upon the temperament of his neighbors, but should one of his windows, the owner will find it sufficient to replace it, but B makes no effort to exercise the window smashing, the owner will find it expedient to go to the expense of putting up wire to protect the glass. My simile may be crude, but it serves an elementary purpose. Now to return to the point. It was France who first proposed Free Trade in 1787, and England accepted it, and it was the unemployment resulting from the innovation that was the chief cause of the French Revolution; the reason of the unemployment being that England developed more highly developed than the French at the time, and we flooded the French market with British goods. Unless Canada develops her industries and encourages such development in every possible way, she will be in the same position with reference to the United States. In fact is so, as France was in England in 1827. William Eden, who negotiated the treaty, wrote to Pitt in 1787: "It is said that in Normandy above 4,000 manufacturers are begging their bread in the streets of Rouen."

I really think that unless the treaty here (in France) may grow too strong to be resisted, this is history. "Free Trader" refers me to Great Britain 1848-1912; quite so, but during that period Great Britain developed as compared with other powerful trading countries, though since the commencement of this century she has been obliged to exercise a protection in urgent cases, more particularly when the United States wanted to corner tin in the Straits Settlements, to quote a single instance, which her Free Trade developed into Fair Trade; and in future it would seem that Fair Trade must be the condition to meet requirements. As an example, what does it render the tariff and offensive tariffs may lead to it. I would refer "Free Trader" since he likes history, to M. Gregor Alexinsky's "Russia and the Great War," published in 1915, in which he points out that while Russia was engaged in the Russo-Japanese War, Germany forced on her a trade agreement which she had to accept, and which Germany derived the whole benefit, in fact became nothing short of a robbery; he puts the approaching war, which broke out in 1914, as a result of the military power—technical skill, science and industry. If we only have Free Trade within the Empire we can afford to leave other countries to work out their own destiny. We have the shipping and we have the raw material, and we have the industries. Why look any further? C. B. SIMONDS.

the "sophisticated cooking" which civilization has brought us. Space forbids any lengthy dissertation upon the obvious truth. Suffice it to state that the invaluable mineral "salts" of our vegetables are usually out of them and thrown down the sink, and we eat what Dr. Forbes Ross called "muck minus minerals." Also, that the potassium salts have generally been "abstracted" from the artificially prepared foods we so largely consume, and these two causes of gradual potassium starvation are, in all innoscent, still further aggravated by the excessive amount of dead matter in the form of flesh foods and meat extracts which are daily eaten. Nature is long-suffering, and it is astonishing how much ill-treatment our bodies will stand. Sooner or later, however, owing to the continued lack of the necessary supply of minerals, the dietary, the cells break from their accustomed course and disastrous consequences result. This may be hastened by a blow, friction, worry, sickness of infant, a fall, or illness, or continued irritation or inflammation of any part frequently leads to cancer being set up, owing to local

THE ALDERMAN'S BRIDGE.

To the Editor.—In a recent issue of the Times Alderman Woodward, during a congratulatory speech on the completion of the Johnson Street Bridge, claimed that the structure was built upon labor. The alderman is in error. The bridge in question was built in an open shop, was shipped to Victoria, over steel rails produced in an open shop and assembled in this city by labor which claimed, through its representatives, the highest wages and the most vacation pay. It is not the laborer who passed taxpayers would stand or lie down for. As a labor alderman, Mr. Woodward doubtless feels in duty bound to rest the responsibility of labor. The worker who scoffs at such so-called excellent might retaliate by saying that of the wooden ships (just for instance) that are being built for the seven seas to-day, where, as concerning the wooden ships built in Victoria, nine-tenths are on the junk pile. WALTER POSTER.

CANCER TREATMENT AT HOME.

To the Editor.—Since, thanks to your courtesy and that of the press throughout the Province, the general public are to have the privilege of obtaining accurate knowledge concerning the most terrible scourge of humanity during "Cancer Week," I have been permitted to give sufferers in your province the same beneficial knowledge which, through the kindness of The Mail and Empire, I have given in Toronto. I have given sufferers in Ontario? The late Dr. E. W. Forbes Ross was an eminent cancer surgeon in London, England, who, after twenty years' experience—ten years of which were devoted to the study of cell physiology in special relation to the pathology of cells in cancer—claimed that cancer is caused by a deficiency of potassium "salts" in the body. He also claimed—and this is of vital interest to sufferers all over the world—that if this deficiency is remedied, cancer, even in advanced stages, will retrograde. In November, 1912, he presented to the medical profession a full account of his researches and, with the aid of a cancer sufferer, who was far-advanced, ulcerated and inoperable cancer of the womb, clearly established the accuracy of his claims by administering certain of the assimilable form of potassium "salts" and definitely curing. Since this priceless gift was made to the profession, it is not astonishing that such a number of cancer sufferers, as Dr. Robert Bell, John Shaw, Weedon Cooke, E. B. Foote, Sir James Paget, Professor Syme, Sir Benjamin Brodie and countless other members of the profession have, with astonishing success, resorted in accordance with Dr. Forbes Ross' discovery.

What the public generally, and the cancer sufferer in particular, must know is that the incontrovertible fact that this highly dangerous potassium deficiency, which is yearly becoming more prevalent, is caused by the lack of potassium "salts," as Dr. Alexander, the popular London (Eng.) medical officer of health, calls potassium exhaustion. Strict and faithful adherence to the following directions have proved a great benefit to cancer sufferers in all parts of the world, and, recently, to many in Ontario, and in each case, after well-realized that every meal eaten which conforms to the dietary is steadily assisting Nature to completely re-store the system, the resulting effects will be surprisingly gratifying.

Directions. Forty grains of bicarbonate of potassium dissolved in half a tumbler of warm water should be taken an hour before breakfast every morning. If this time is inconvenient, it might be taken, instead, at least an hour after the last meal of the day, preferably immediately before retiring to rest.

As meat of any kind, including poultry and all meat extracts, rob the already depleted system of potassium, you must give up eating meat now. In its place, you must eat building foods. Eggs, cheese, lentils, nuts, beans, bananas, oatmeal, raisins and wholemeal bread form admirable substitutes, having high nutritive values. Eat regular quantities of fruit and vegetables in their natural condition, i.e., uncooked. For example: Grate a raw turnip, carrot, beetroot and parsnip, mix with a little garlic, oil, pepper and salt. Eat this with buttered bread and cheese. You will be surprised and pleased when this giving your system what Nature demands and requiring a little less may be taken occasionally, as a relish, but it is not recommended. It certainly should not usurp the place of building foods. Potassium water should be drunk freely, but if there is reason to believe it contains lime in excess, any of the bottled table waters may be taken, especially Potassium Milk, which may be taken in any quantity as a drink, and tea, coffee and cocoa, freshly made, in moderation.

The chief points to be strictly observed are: 1. Total abstinence from meat. 2. The substitution of body-building foods. 3. Vegetables to be cooked so that they may retain their valuable "salts." 4. Regular inclusion of fresh fruit and vegetable salads in the dietary. 5. Less cooked food altogether and more food in its natural condition.

I wish to strongly emphasize the fact that, as this home treatment cannot, at its commencement, perceptibly relieve pain or insure sleep, prescription of drugs or stimulants for these purposes is a retrograde and unwise step. Each sufferer's own medical adviser and he alone is, or can be, a proper judge of the requirements of each individual case.

Confidently predicting that the above instructions will bring untold relief and lasting benefit to many homes in your province, and cordially thanking you, sir, for this invaluable assistance in coping with the deadly scourge, permit me to conclude by stating if any medical men or sufferers with further explanation of this home treatment, will be glad to answer their questions as promptly as I am able. If they will enclose stamped and addressed envelopes for their replies from: Yours faithfully, CHAS. WALTER, 31 Brunswick Ave., Toronto, Ont.

United Lutheran Church to Meet. Buffalo Gathering Will Determine Status of Organization to Other Bodies.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 7.—More problems of world-wide importance in religious circles than have come before the United Lutheran Church since any time in its four years of existence will be brought up for solution at the biennial convention of that organization at Buffalo, N. Y., beginning October 17. The organization of the Lutheran Church is such that final authority on all disputed matters is vested in the delegates to its conventions. During the time between conventions matters needing immediate decision are handled by the officers of the organization or by the Executive Board.

When the delegates arrive in Buffalo they will be asked to decide the exact status of the United Lutheran Church upon the matter of linking up with the Federal Council of Churches, with whom they now enjoy a fraternal relationship with the World Conference on Faith and Order, and with the Universal Conference on Life and Work. They will be asked to decide whether the church shall enter into relationship with other denominations on the mission field of India, and with missionary societies of Great Britain, in the establishing of a great Christian University in South India. They will be asked to give their sanction to an arrangement for the closer interrelationship of their organization with the Lutheran Church of Hungary, and a similar proposed arrangement for the Lutheran Church of Czechoslovakia. At this convention delegates must be selected to represent the United Lutheran Church at the United Lutheran World Convention to be held next Summer at Wittenberg, Germany, and must be instructed in the manner in which they will vote upon the world problems which will arise for solution. The convention must also vote upon the proposal to extend the work of Foreign Missions into China, and into the sections of Mexico settled by German-Russian Lutherans, and to increase materially the work of church building in the western provinces of Canada.

A vote will be taken upon authorizing another great campaign for relief funds to be applied in Russia and Central Europe by the National Lutheran Council in co-operation with the American Relief Administration. The church will be asked to adopt a more sympathetic attitude toward the home mission work among the negroes. A decision must be reached upon granting permission to the Synod of the Northwest to move its Theological Seminary from Fargo, N.D., to St. Paul, Minn., which has voted to do so in direct opposition to the expressed desire of a special commission of the United Lutheran Church. Three major district synods will apply for admittance—one in Ohio, one in Virginia and Tennessee, and one in North Carolina. It is proposed that all district synods be urged to appoint at least five readers in churches in which pulpits are vacant, and to make more general use of laymen in the absence of pastors. It is further urged that theological students be generally used for supply work during vacations, that deaconesses be trained for all local missionary operations and that

The sessions of the conference will be held at Wesley Methodist Church.

Says a London Despatch. A Royal Beneficiary. PRINCESS Mary, daughter of George V, granddaughter of Edward VII and great granddaughter of the great Queen Victoria, is to benefit by a monthly income insurance policy—the best provision any husband, rich or poor, titled or plain commoner, can make for his wife. When Princess Mary attains the age of 50, whether her husband be living or not, she will receive an annual income thenceforth of $60,000.00 for the rest of her life. This is a remarkable endorsement of the value of Life Insurance and, more particularly, of the monthly income policy. Viscount Lascelles, for all his wealth and high position, chooses to protect the future of his wife with a monthly income policy issued by an insurance company on this side of the Atlantic. What was wisdom on the part of the husband of Princess Mary, the royal daughter of England, is no less wise as an example to be followed by the husbands of Canada. The monthly income policy is the safest and most satisfactory form of insurance for the protection of wives and mothers of families. If you would like to know about the Mutual Life Monthly Income Policy, consult our nearest Agent or write this office.

Princess Mary with a monthly income of $60,000.00 when she attains the age of 50, whether her husband be living or not, she will receive an annual income thenceforth of $60,000.00 for the rest of her life. Says a London Despatch.

ROTARY CLUB BALL BRILLIANT AFFAIR
Elaborate Arrangements at Armories Last Evening; Trophy Presented
Countless flags pendant from ceiling and walls and interspersed with hanging baskets of flowers contributed a brilliant note of color to the Armories last evening and provided a gay background to the ball held under the auspices of the Rotary Club. As with all Rotary Club functions, social or otherwise, the committee in charge of the arrangements had spared no effort conducive to the enjoyment of their guests and the many patrons, who numbered between three and four hundred, danced under the most delightful conditions.

Mr. Thomas Graham and Colville C. Graham, of Cumberland, are guests at the Empress Hotel.
Mr. A. H. B. Macgowan, of Vancouver, is registered at the Empress Hotel.
Miss Grace McQuart, of Victoria, is the guest of Miss Helen Brown, Fifteenth Avenue West, Vancouver.

Mrs. Fletcher has gone over to Vancouver to visit her son, Mr. Adrian Fletcher.
Mrs. W. E. Gardner, accompanied by her son and daughter, has returned to Victoria after spending several months in Southern California. The interests of the health of her son, George, his friends will be pleased to hear that he is progressing favorably in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Port Coquitlam, Oct. 6.—Decision to draft a resolution requesting every member of the various women's institutes of the Lower Mainland to refuse to buy products of any description from Orientals was reached at the Lower Mainland Women's Institute conference. The resolution will be drafted by Mrs. H. Morrison, of Langley Port. This decision followed the hearing of the report on immigration by Mrs. B. Sharp of Port Coquitlam Institute.

Vancouver registrations at the Empress Hotel include James Conley, W. A. Anstie, Glen C. Hyatt, Mrs. Hyatt and W. Gilchrist.
Mrs. C. H. Lilly, of Seattle, is visiting in the city, the house guest of the Misses Michaelis, McClure Street.
Dr. H. A. Whillans, left to-day as ship's surgeon on board the cable ship "Restorer" on the trip to Midway.

The marriage of Mrs. Enid Major, daughter of Mr. Douglas Gullford, of Seattle, to Mr. Douglas Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Scott, of Ganges Harbor, Salt Spring Island, took place at the home of Mrs. Major, North Vancouver, Rev. J. H. Hooper officiating. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. C. H. Byng. The groom wore a smart Parisian model of caramel Canton crepe, with black velvet hat and corsage bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. The groom carried the bride.

Speaking of the type of citizens desirable as immigrants, the speaker of the night to the ordeal of the day by this interlude of the astonishing doctor, did not know how over-wrought he was until he was at Sabre seated at breakfast. The thought in his mind as he walked had been the thought in his mind as he had sat on after the death, waiting for morning. After this, after the war had done this, how was he to go on enduring the war and refused part in it. He dreaded meeting Mabel. He dreaded going on to the office and meeting Fortune and Twynning. To none of these people to no one he could meet, could he explain how he felt about Young Perch and what he had gone through with Mrs. Perch, nor why, because of what he felt, more poignant than ever was his need to get into the war. And yet with these feelings he must go on facing these people and go on meeting the war in every conversation. Unbearable! He could not.

Among the prominent out-of-town Rotarians present at the function were Frank Lamb, of Hoquiam, Wash., District Governor of the Northwest district; Ernest Skeel, of Seattle, formerly District Governor; William Moulton, of Seattle, secretary of the Seattle Rotary Club; Hank Manney, Seattle; Harry Duker, Bert Davidson, Russell Beatty, Bob Miller, president, Jack Watson, Frank Payson, secretary; Morgan Eastman, Jack Cairns, William Connelly, of Vancouver.

Mrs. E. Campbell and three daughters, of Seattle, have arrived here to pay an extended visit to Mrs. V. A. Pike, of Gorge Road.
Mrs. Mary Ritter Hamilton, the well-known artist who lived for many years in Victoria, is steadily gaining recognition in France. She has been honored with the "Purple Ribbon of the Three Palms" by the French Government. Lady Patricia Ramsey purchased several of her pictures.

Mrs. J. W. Black, of 2525 Rose Street, and her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Harvey, have returned home after spending a most enjoyable five weeks' sojourn in Southern California visiting points of interest at San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Tia Juana, Mexico.
Madame Lugrin-Fahey, accompanied by her companion, Mrs. A. J. Gibson, returned yesterday from Nanaimo where on Thursday night Madame Fahey gave a recital under the auspices of the I. O. D. E. Last night Madame Fahey left for her home in Toronto, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Lugrin.

Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, secretary of the Women's Institutes, presented the annual report of the W. I. work in the province. At present, she said, the total membership of the organization is 2,450 members, comprising 93 from the Lower Mainland; 961 from the Okanagan; 93 from Vancouver Island and 107 from the Strait of Georgia. There are 102 institutes organized in the Province, an increase of five since the beginning of the year. The institute, she said, is a logical agency of education between the government and the people with the duties of improving the conditions of rural life, and to put forward legislation in all that pertains to the development of the social and national welfare. The feeling grows that a provincial organization is necessary, and with this object in view, a plan was laid down at the conference at Victoria. This plan has been generally approved by the various institutes of the province. She also reported on the activities of the W. I. institutes. Sixteen institutes have built halls during the year, while six have purchased lands or improved cemeteries. Libraries have been inaugurated by ten. There are 26 institutes developing home gardens. Some of the school board. During the year 97 institutes have received and distributed literature from the board of health, while 82 have formed public health and child welfare committees.

ANNUAL POUND PARTY
On Tuesday next the W. C. T. U. Home on Ida Street will hold its annual pound party, commencing at 3 o'clock. An appeal to the public for the generous support which has marked this annual pound party in former years is again made by the ladies in charge, and donations of groceries, supplies, cash or any materials of use in the Home will be very gratefully received. The institute is the only one in the city where friendless and unfortunate women may find a home and a helping hand in their time of trouble.

Madame Lugrin-Fahey, accompanied by her companion, Mrs. A. J. Gibson, returned yesterday from Nanaimo where on Thursday night Madame Fahey gave a recital under the auspices of the I. O. D. E. Last night Madame Fahey left for her home in Toronto, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Lugrin.

VIROL is a Food for the Seven Ages of Man
From early infancy to old age, Virol is a "building up food." It rescues babies from wasting; protects at the critical school age of growth; makes the weak man strong; fortifies expectant mothers; prolongs youth and vitality into later years.
And Virol does all these things because it contains just those essential food elements which are often lacking in the ordinary diet. They are presented, too, in an easily digestible form, so that Virol is particularly valuable to infants and old people.

The thought in his mind as he walked had been the thought in his mind as he had sat on after the death, waiting for morning. After this, after the war had done this, how was he to go on enduring the war and refused part in it. He dreaded meeting Mabel. He dreaded going on to the office and meeting Fortune and Twynning. To none of these people to no one he could meet, could he explain how he felt about Young Perch and what he had gone through with Mrs. Perch, nor why, because of what he felt, more poignant than ever was his need to get into the war. And yet with these feelings he must go on facing these people and go on meeting the war in every conversation. Unbearable! He could not.

LUMBAGO

If you feel a touch of lumbago, you can ward off the evils of recurrent attacks, by taking Gin Pills without delay. Learn a lesson from the experience of Mr. H. A. Jukes. After suffering with lumbago for years, and being confined to the house at times, Mr. Jukes began to take Gin Pills. His letter to us reads, in part: "and much to my surprise, I at once felt a change for the better. I have been taking them at intervals, and, up to date, I have had no recurrence of my old trouble; in fact, I have not felt better for years."

H. G. WELLS FAMOUS OUTLINE OF HISTORY The Romance of Mother Earth

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT—24

When the Mediterranean Was a Valley

So far we have been telling of a history without events, a history of ages and periods and stages in development. But before we conclude this portion of the human story, we must record what was probably an event of primary importance and at first perhaps of tragic importance to developing mankind, and that was the breaking in of the Atlantic waters to the great Mediterranean Valley.

It is practically certain that at the end of the last glacial age the Mediterranean was a couple of land-locked sea basins, not connected—or only connected by a torrential overflow river. The eastern basin was the Adriatic; it was fed by the Nile, the "Adriatic" River, the "Red Sea" River, and perhaps by a river that poured down amid the mountains that are now the Greek Archipelago from the very high rugged peaks of Central Asia that then existed. Almost certainly human beings, and possibly even Neolithic men, wandered over that now lost Mediterranean Valley.

A Thirsty Sea.
The reasons for believing this are very good and plain. To this day the Mediterranean is a sea of evaporation. The rivers that flow into it do not make up for the evaporation from its surface. There is a constant current of water poured into the Mediterranean from the Atlantic, and other current streaming in from the Bosphorus and Black Sea. For the Black Sea gets more water than it needs from the big rivers that flow into it; it is an overflowing sea, while the Mediterranean is a thirsty sea. From which it must be plain that when the Mediterranean was cut off both from the Atlantic Ocean and the Black Sea, it must have been a shrinking sea, with its waters sinking to a much lower level than that of the ocean outside. This is the case of the Caspian Sea to-day. Still more so is it the case with the Dead Sea.

But if this reasoning is sound, then where to-day roll the blue waters of the Mediterranean there must once have been great areas of land, and land with a very agreeable climate. This was probably the case during the last glacial Age, and we do not know how near it was to our time when the change occurred that brought back the ocean waters into the Mediterranean basin. Certainly there must have been Grimaldi people, and perhaps even Azilian and Neolithic people, going about in the valleys and forests of these regions.

Mr. W. B. Wright gives us some very stimulating suggestions here. He suggests that in the Mediterranean basin there were two lakes, "one a fresh-water lake, in the eastern part of the basin, and the other in the western depression."

"It is interesting to think what must have happened when the ocean level rose once more as a result of the dissipation of the ice sheets, and the channel was slowly lowered by erosion and the ocean level slowly rose. If there were an unconsolidated materials on the sill of the strait, the result must have been a genuine debacle, and if we consider the length of time which even an enormous torrent would take to fill such a basin as that of the Caspian Sea, we must conclude that this result was likely to have been attained in any case."

can deep, right through the straits, and trenching some distance out on to the Atlantic shelf. This valley or gorge is probably the work of the inflowing waters of the ocean at the termination of the period of interior drainage."

This refilling of the Mediterranean, which by the rough chronology we are employing in this book may have happened some time between 30,000 and 10,000 B.C., must have been one of the greatest single events in the pre-history of our race.

If the later date is the truer, then, as the reader will see plainly enough after reading the two next chapters, the crude beginnings of civilization, the first lake dwellings and the first cultivation were probably round that eastern Levantine Lake into which there flowed not only the Nile but the two great rivers that are now the Adriatic and the Red Sea.

Was This the Flood?
Suddenly the ocean waters began to break through over the westward hills and to pour in upon these primitive peoples—the lake that had been their home and friend became their enemy; its waters rose and never abated; their settlements were submerged; the waters pursued them in their flight. Day by day and year by year the waters spread up the valleys and drove mankind before them. Many must have been surrounded and caught by the continually rising sea. It knew no checks; it came faster and faster; it rose over the tree-tops, over the hills, until it had filled the whole basin of the present Mediterranean and until it lapped the mountain cliffs of Arabia and Africa. Far away, long before the dawn of history, this catastrophe occurred.

Metchoshin Women Show Interest in School Matters
The Metchoshin Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting at the Metchoshin Hall on Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. Martin-Brown, in the chair. A very interesting and instructive address was given by Mrs. Will Griffiths, of Victoria, on "Education." Mrs. Griffiths treated this very wide subject in a very full and efficient manner, making many allusions to the problems from the training of the defective child, to the higher education.

A GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE BABY
Nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets as a medicine for little ones. They are a laxative, mild but thorough in action, and never fail to relieve constipation, colic, colds and simple fevers. Once a mother has used them she will be nothing else. Concerning them Mrs. Saluste Pelletier, St. Damas des Aulaines, Que., writes: "I always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They are the best medicine I know of for little ones and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SIDNEY CLUB ELECTED OFFICERS
(Times Correspondence.)
Sidney—The annual meeting of the Social Club was held in the dining room of the Sidney Restaurant, which for the time being it has been decided to use as a club room. The president, Mrs. Harrison, was in the chair in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. G. McMullen. Mrs. Lesage read the outline of last year's work. Mrs. Harrison was re-elected president, Mr. G. A. Cochran, vice-president, and Mr. B. MacKay, secretary-treasurer.

SERVICE CLUBS JOIN MOVEMENT
Three Organizations in Line to Back Up Registration

The Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs have lined up strongly behind the Gyro Club's effort to increase the number of names on the voters' list, and will take steps to see that their members attend to their franchise duties.

The Rotary Club, at its meeting on Thursday, endorsed the Get-a-Vote Campaign, and it was decided to have the membership checked up to see that all these eligible to register did so.

The executive of the Kiwanis Club, at a meeting yesterday, also endorsed the campaign and issued instructions for the canvassing of its membership to see that all who could qualify had their names placed on the voters' list.

The Gyro Club itself is sending out its own members register.

In response to letters from the Gyro Club, information concerning the Get-a-Vote Campaign and Civic Interest Contest, various organizations throughout the city have expressed their strong approval.

The registrations are coming in slowly, the City office reports. Citizens are being urged to register as soon as possible in order to avoid the rush which is inconvenient for the City Hall staff and for the people who attend some of the meetings on the civic voters' list. Registration closes on October 31.

Those people who do not have to register this year in order to be on the list are advised to check up their names and addresses. If notification of a change of address is not given difficulties may arise on election day.

SOOKE WOMEN HEAR OF SOCIAL HYGIENE
The monthly meeting of the Institute was held at the hall on Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Hawkins in the chair in the absence of the president, Mrs. Cahen, and was supported on the platform by Mrs. Miller Higgs, convener of the Health Committee.

Mr. Ravenhill, president of the Provincial Council of Social Hygiene, addressed the meeting, quoting the most eminent medical authorities to show the prevalence and effects of the so-called social diseases.

He asked those present to give all credit to the Provincial Government for the steps they had taken by establishing clinics at Victoria and Vancouver for the free treatment of sufferers, and for the financial aid which was enabling an active campaign of education to be carried on all over the Province.

He asked those present to study the literature given to them and laid especial emphasis on the duty of parents to impart right knowledge of the facts of life to their children.

During an informal talk after the meeting the opinion was expressed that the speaker's presentation of a difficult subject would go far to remove the prejudice which had existed and that it would now be possible to hold further meetings for the intelligent discussion of the best methods of fighting the deadly menaces to our nation's health which had been outlined by the speaker.

A very successful sale of plants was held in aid of the funds of the Institute and a very daintily served tea closed the proceedings.

WORTH SEEING
William was thirsty for knowledge and interesting facts shone like jewels in his brain.

"I read to-day," he said to Michael, "of the wonderful progress made in aviation. Men can now do anything—absolutely anything—a bird can do!"

But Michael was tired of wonders—he was more matter-of-fact.

"Is that so?" he answered. "Well, when you see an airman fast asleep, hanging on to a branch of a tree with one foot, I'll come and have a look!"

Raffle Winner Wanted—The winning ticket of a raffled painting, during the bazaar in aid of the Poor Clare Order recently, is No. 53. The ticket was initialed "In care of B. C." and the committee would be glad to hear from its owner.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Girl Guide News.—On Monday evening, Oct. 2, at the Alexandra Club, there will be a meeting of guide officers and prospective officers. Mrs. Kinlock will be enrolled as the new commissioner, and will give her plans for the new programme during the Winter months, for an officer's training school.

Liberal Women's Forum.—The regular meeting of the Liberal Women's Forum was held at the Liberal Clubrooms on Friday afternoon. The delegates to the Nelson Convention gave interesting reports and general discussion followed on that and other matters of interest to the Forum.

Use of Drill Hall.—The Military Headquarters gives notice that the following allotment is made of the drill floor and miniature rifle range at the Armories, Victoria, until further notice: Monday, 16th Scottish; Tuesday, 5th Regt. C. G. A.; Wednesday, 16th Scottish; Thursday, 16th Scottish and 11th M. G. Brigade; Saturday, 5th Regt. C. G. A.

B. N. B. Ladies' Auxiliary.—The Ladies' Auxiliary, Boys' Naval Brigade, held their first meeting for the Winter season on Friday evening. Election of officers was held. President, Mrs. Denyer; vice-president, Mrs. Kinnelly; secretary, Mrs. Nunn; treasurer, Mrs. Davis. It was decided to hold a dance in the near future. Meetings will be held on the first and third Thursdays in the month. A cordial invitation is extended to all those interested.

Prepare Annual Function.—Preparations for the annual ball of the Victoria Police Mutual Benefit Association are now under way, with the function to be staged at the Armories on November 23. The local department put in a new dancing floor last year for their function, an acquisition that has been extensively used since. This year the department plan to make the function an even greater success than heretofore.

Endorse the Campaign.—Endorsement of the Gyro Club "Get a Vote" campaign was made unanimous at the regular monthly meeting of the Army and Navy Veterans last night, with Past President Seymour Rowlinson in the chair. Comrade T. Jones was elected first vice-president of the Victoria branch; Comrade G. Day, second vice-president; while Comrade G. Gardiner was appointed representative of the club at the annual to act on the executive as ex-novo. Meetings will be held on the 17th and 24th of the month. T. Jones was instructed regarding matters to be argued by the local branch at the Dominion Convention to be held from October 17 to October 20.

Actors' Club.—An executive meeting of the Actors' Club was held at the home of the president, Mr. Herbert Kent, Douglas Street, on Monday evening, October 2, when a statement of the production, "Patches," was read. It was decided to give a Halloween cabaret at the Westholme on Saturday evening, October 28, and arrangements for the programme and special decorations are in the hands of the club. The Executive Committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon at which considerable discussion was held regarding the Chamber's plan for the establishment of an amusement centre in Victoria which will be erected at a cost of about $225,000.

Appellant is Non-Suited.—At the close of the hearing of Rex v. Cook, the County Court yesterday, the appellant, George J. Cook, was held by the court to have failed to make good his appeal. His Honor Judge Lammiman waived the address of the counsel for the Crown, C. L. Harrison, and dismissed the appeal. Cook stated he would appeal. Escorted by Constable Acreman, of the Esquimalt Police, Cook was taken to Oakalla last night, pending his decision as to an appeal to a further court. Bail was refused. Cook appealed from a police court conviction on a charge of selling liquor unlawfully, which carried with it a term of six months imprisonment.

Saw Much Service.—After seeing active service for seven years continuously, and being many times wounded, Captain Francis Findlay, M.C., returned to his home in this city yesterday. Captain Findlay served with the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, being wounded at the Third Battle of Ypres, Sanctuary Wood and Maple Cope. Later Captain Findlay served with the 9th Royal Scots, with which unit he was identified until the Armistice. Straight from the Western front, the veteran went to Ireland, where he was twice wounded, being shot while serving in Dublin and later in Tipperary. Retiring from the service with a pension for life, Captain Findlay now plans to take a rest.

Probates Issued.—Probates and administrations issued in the Supreme Court during the current week include the following estates: Eliza Mouson, died in Victoria September 17, estate $4,500; Arthur Kenneth Vassar, died in Saanich, September 3, $37,550; John Grant Miller, died Esquimalt, September 8, $5,378; John Joseph Rey, died Duncan, August 18, $7,651.75; Christian Fahri (probate reassessed), B. C. Estate $7,500; Alexander Joseph Chaholm, Lillooet District, killed on active service in Europe, estate $1,000; James Mackay, died Victoria, September 11, $1,494.82; Arthur Ernest Button, $1,887.45.

Ladies' Guild.—The Ladies' Guild of St. Columba Church, Strawberry Vale, held their monthly meeting, at the home of Mrs. Timms, Burnside Road, on October 4, an interesting feature of the meeting was the presentation of a wedding gift, to the popular secretary, Mrs. Raper, by the ladies of the Guild.

Amusement Centre.—The Amusement Centre committee of the Chamber of Commerce held a meeting yesterday afternoon at which considerable discussion was held regarding the Chamber's plan for the establishment of an amusement centre in Victoria which will be erected at a cost of about $225,000.

Official Bulldog.—A white and brown bulldog with a penchant for Japanese is the subject of a complaint to the city police court to-day. It appears that the dog, in an excessive display of affection, inflicted a severe bite in the leg of a passing Japanese. An elderly lady standing nearby, was also worried by the dog. The police are investigating.

Injured Men Improving.—The two men who were badly burned by turning on a gas stove, at the home of Mrs. Timms, Burnside Road, on October 4, are improving. Some of the fluid from a tank car at the C. N. R. freight sheds are progressing favorably. Stanley E. J. P. Croft, formerly charged with indecent assault, who was transferred from the Spring Assizes, was not coming to trial. The Grand Jury at that time presented a true bill, Mr. Justice Morrison, in his charge to the Grand Jury, remarking that there was a lack of corroborative evidence as required by the code. Some doubt that the "trial of Croft" would take place was expressed at the office of the Attorney-General to-day, where it was said that there might be a stay of execution.

Sam Tuttle, charged with indecent assault at the last Assize and transferred to this Assize, has since been committed to an asylum, and the charge withdrawn. J. S. Brandon will act for the Crown, he stated to The Times to-day.

The boys were warned, the charge not being pressed with the consent of the owner of the booth.

ASSIZE COURT TO OPEN TUESDAY WITH SHORT LIST

Indictments May Be Limited to Charges Against Two Accused

With an unusually short list of indictments to be placed before the Grand Jury the Assizes will open on Tuesday in this city. John Handley, a well known longshoreman of the local waterfront, is charged with the wounding of William Roach, another longshoreman. Charles Bridgen, an ex-postal employee, is charged with theft concerning the recent post-office incident.

J. P. F. Croft, formerly charged with indecent assault, who was transferred from the Spring Assizes, was not coming to trial. The Grand Jury at that time presented a true bill, Mr. Justice Morrison, in his charge to the Grand Jury, remarking that there was a lack of corroborative evidence as required by the code. Some doubt that the "trial of Croft" would take place was expressed at the office of the Attorney-General to-day, where it was said that there might be a stay of execution.

nor, but before assistance could be given, Mr. Batty had passed away. His wife being with him at the end.

The late Mr. Batty was in his sixty-fourth year and had spent over forty years in active ministry. He commenced his ministry as a local preacher in the Methodist Church in England, and in 1882 was one of five young men brought to this country by Mr. Strathairn to enter the Methodist ministry. His first charge was Grafton Street Church, Halifax, N.S., and before leaving Halifax he also helped to build Roble Church. His next two years were spent in the Annapolis Valley, and it was during his incumbency there that he met and married his wife. After occupying the pastorate of Malbone Bay, in the Riverport and Lunenburg districts, Mr. Batty went to Amherst, N.S., where he remained for four years before being called back to Halifax, where he was again pastor for six years.

Pastorates and Sydney and Moncton were also occupied by him before he finally left Nova Scotia for Winnipeg, where he remained for six years, coming to Victoria in July, 1915, since which time he has occupied the pastorate of the Centennial Methodist Church.

A man of forceful ideals and broad vision, the late Mr. Batty had associated himself with many phases of public life outside the church. He was one of the leading members of the Royal Society of St. George, was chairman of the Moral and Social Reform League, and an ardent prohibitionist.

The late Mr. Batty is survived by his widow. The remains were removed to his home to-day by the Sands Funeral Company, and funeral services will be conducted at the church on Monday at 2.30.

The president and officers of the local branch of the Royal Society of St. George beg all members to be present, if possible, at the funeral service of their late respected chaplain, the Rev. J. L. Batty.

MOTORISTS ARE WARNED

Following a conference of police heads in the city this morning, in which the city shared with provincial and district authorities in the interpretation of the Motor Act in regard to the use of spot light, the following warning was issued by Chief of Police Fry to-day: "It is unlawful to have a spotlight mounted on the left side of the car, or that side upon which comes closest to traffic; only one spotlight may be mounted on a car; spotlights must not be operated so that the beam falls upon the approaching vehicles or pedestrian on the highway."

BOARD STANDS PAT ON SEPARATION IN SCHOOL ISSUE

Final Word Said, Declares Chairman George Jay

"The Board has announced its decision, which is final. The matter is closed as far as the Board is concerned." In these words Trustee George Jay, Chairman of the Victoria School Board, to-day dismissed the question of the deadlock that has arisen in the treatment of the Chinese and other pupils who fall below the grade of English acquired in the language test for attendance at the city schools. Whatever else may be done the Board has said its last word and will not deviate a hairbreadth from that decision, he intimated.

SUDDEN DEATH OF REV. J. L. BATTY

Pastor of Centennial Methodist Church Victim of Heart Failure

Local Methodist circles have suffered a distinct loss, shared by a wide circle of friends throughout the city, in the passing of the Rev. J. L. Batty, pastor of Centennial Methodist Church, who died with tragic suddenness last evening. Mr. Batty underwent two major operations during the past year and had been receiving medical treatment, but to all intents and purposes he was in his customary health yesterday afternoon, officiating at a funeral and attending a meeting of the Royal Society of St. George, of which he was a chaplain. While walking in his garden shortly after seven o'clock he was overcome by faintness and went into his study at the church, where he was found, evidently suffering great pain, by a visitor, Mr. E. Redman. Mr. Redman immediately summoned Dr. Ray-

LOCAL ROTARIANS LOSE IN CUP GAME

Vancouver Club Wins Challenge Cup by Decisively Beating Victoria

Well, the game is lost, and the Rotary Perpetual Challenge Cup goes to Vancouver as a result! The Vancouver Rotarians completely swamped their comrades here yesterday, winning by 12-3. Judging from the exhibition given by the Vancouver boys anybody would have thought that they had been playing baseball all their life.

When the visitors saw Lester Patrick on the sandy mount they began to wonder if they would be made to look as foolish as the Yankees did yesterday in front of John Scott's swirling. But their fears were soon quelled and at the end of the fifth stanza Lester and Percy Watson changed jobs, the hockey mogul going behind the plate and the printing expert taking up the heavy job of hurling the apple over the plate. But the dope had been split and the fine effort of Percival to stem the tide mattered little, and the visitors brought their total up to the thirteen.

Effective Twirling.

The local boys were not exactly dead, but their efforts were useless against the slab work of Miller, the star twirler that the Vancouverites brought over with them. He was given stellar support by his team mates.

The fates were against Victoria, as the first ball that Lester threw over the plate found itself sailing over the centre-field fence. The players gasped for air and thought that a new Babe Ruth had sprung into the "Hall of Fame." All the runs that the Capital City could muster were 3 and three.

The teams lined up as follows: Vancouver—Davidson, cf; Conley, 2b; Eastman, 2b; Miller, p; Kearns, cf; Duker, 1b; Beatty, 3b; Payson, c; Victoria—Williams, 2b; Watson, cf; Weller, 1b; Patrick, p; Gibbon, ss; McConnel, rf; Johnson, 3b; Peden, cf; Alex. Peden, lf.

PRAIRIE HOCKEY SQUADS TALKING

Saskatoon Disappointed on Losing Lalonde; Edmonton After Pittsburgh Star

Calgary, Oct. 7.—From all accounts the spirit of the Saskatoon Hockey club was buoyed up by a false statement when the Canadiens agreed to turn over Newey Lalonde, star puck-chaser, for a heavy consideration. Reports now indicate that the National Hockey League will not sanction the removal of Lalonde from their group as his name had been mentioned in a three-cornered deal which was for his transfer to Toronto. Fred Betts, manager of the Saskatoon team, is in Calgary, and in discussing the situation said he had not received any further information from the East regard Lalonde. He said the club had been dickering for some considerable time to get Lalonde from the Canadiens, but he fully realized the stumbling block caused by the waiver clause in the N. H. L. constitution which gave other clubs in the league an opportunity to buck the deal. Manager Betts admitted that the news of the dispute over the Lalonde deal was very disturbing to his team, but nevertheless they still hoped the matter would be adjusted. He said the reports circulated through the press had not emanated from the Saskatoon club and he would not confirm any of the statements contained in notices published from eastern centers. The Canadiens have signed the star player, former Ottawa amateur forward, who will play centre for Saskatoon. He comes with a good reputation, and Manager Betts says that he will likely be a strong candidate for the mid-line position.

HAS TWO-HOLE LEAD AT END OF OPENING DAY OF TITLE MATCH

open British golf champion, who is playing a special 72-hole match with Gene Sarazen, U. S. open champion, to determine the world's best player. Walt was the best on the green yesterday and finished two up. The second 36 holes are being played to-day.

Hagen's Putting Is Too Keen For Gene

British Golf Champion Finishes First Two Rounds Two Up On American Titleholder In World's Golf Series; Wonderful Golf Played By Both Champions and Big Gallery Pulls For Sarazen; Finish Match To-day.

Pittsburg, Oct. 7.—(By Associated Press)—The magic in the putting iron of Walter Hagen was two holes more powerful than the golf wizardry of Eugene Sarazen—the boy monarch of American professionals.

The first half of their 72-hole special match yesterday was witnessed by the greatest crowd that ever trod the course at Oakmont and the two champions will start the final 36 holes to-day on the Westchester-Biltmore course at Rye, N. Y., with Hagen two up.

This world's series between Hagen, holder of the British open championship, and the 21-year-old Pittsburg professional, who is national open and professional champion, was responsible for scenes never before witnessed on the Oakmont course. Sarazen fought an uphill battle all day, chiefly because his putting was erratic, but the great gallery cheered him until the 35th hole was played. Now and then some of the partisan spectators forgot golf etiquette and roared with delight when Hagen's ball found a trap.

Shot Almost Par Golf. Par for the course is 74. Gene and Walter shot the 36 holes in 15 each. Both champions have beaten par at Oakmont many times, but it is doubtful whether the gallery would have been thrilled more frequently if the medal scores had been lower.

Sarazen surprised many of his supporters by driving as effectively as Hagen. Gene often took spectacular chances to get on the green, but when he and Walter had to settle the issue with their putters, the British champion invariably had the edge. On five occasions Sarazen missed putts of less than five feet. On four occasions Hagen sank putts of 20 feet or better and he did not miss a short putt all day.

The Kid Starts To Fight. Sarazen was in trouble at the start of the forenoon round and Hagen was three up at the turn. Then Gene began to fight. He won four of the next five holes and lost the other. When the match was squared on the fourteenth, the great gallery staged its first spectacular demonstration. The hole is flanked by hills and the crowd was massed on five terraces above the green.

Sarazen missed a putt and lost the fifteenth hole. From that point he never was able to get on even terms and Hagen finished the round one up.

Gene started again poorly in the afternoon. He was three down at the end of the 27th. Once more he made his struggle on the home stretch. For a moment he wavered. The 28th and 29th were won by Hagen in a brilliant approach to the hole, but he missed his putt and Hagen sank a birdie three. That stopped Gene. He tried for an eagle three to win the final hole, but he, like Hagen, had to be content with a birdie four.

Will Come Back To-day. When the match was finished the smiling Hagen received an ovation, but as Sarazen walked to the clubhouse there were cries: "You'll come back to-morrow, Gene."

The winner of the 72-hole struggle will get 55 per cent. of the $5,000 purse donated by the two clubs and the loser will get the balance. The original agreement for a 60-40 split was modified yesterday.

GREB RE-INSTATED IN NEW YORK STATE

Suspension of Johnny Wilson, Middleweight Champion, Is Made Final

New York, Oct. 7.—The State Athletic Commission announced last night that the suspension of Harry Greb, light-heavyweight champion of America, has been lifted. The in-purse suspension imposed on Johnny Wilson, although recognized in New York only as such, has been made final, the commission also announced.

All boxers licensed by the State Commission were warned against engaging in any contest or exhibition with Wilson under penalty of losing their licenses.

Smith and Wolfe Draw. Canton, Ohio, Oct. 7.—Midget Smith, of New York, and Macek Wolfe, Cleveland, bantamweights, boxed a 12-round draw here last night. It was a slow affair in which the referee several times warned the men to fight.

WELL-KNOWN PLAYER ON HIS WAY TOWARDS A NEW HITTING MARK

of the Salt Lake Coast League team who yesterday brought his total hits for the season up to 232. Paul is now within eight hits of the world's mark set last year.

Strand is well-known in Victoria. Way back in the boom days he was a member of the Spokane team in the Northwestern League. He looked such a good pitching prospect that he was picked up by a major league club, but his arm did not hold out and he drifted back last year he played with Yakima in the Pacific International League, and was one of the leading hitters. This year he joined Salt Lake and has his hitting record between the Western League and Pacific champions 3 to 1 in favor of the Oiler. Manager Leivelt's home run with Davis on second decided the contest.

WON WITH HONOR. Mobile, Ala., Oct. 7.—Tulsa defeated Mobile to-day after eleven innings of play, making the series between the Western League and Pacific champions 3 to 1 in favor of the Oiler. Manager Leivelt's home run with Davis on second decided the contest.

SCOTT GETS FULL CREDIT FOR WIN

McGraw and Huggins Marvel at Wonderful Control of Former Cast-off

New York, Oct. 7.—(By Associated Press)—The perfect control of John Scott, curvy ball pitcher, who several months ago was thrown into base-ball's discard, was the outstanding feature of the third game of the world series, according to McGraw and Huggins, managers of the Giants and Yankees.

McGraw considered the best job of pitching ability in baseball, who picked up Scott a cast-off in mid-season, said he knew the "Deacon" had plenty of stuff, but that his control was a thing to marvel at.

Right on the Target. "Catcher Earl Smith told me," said McGraw, "that not once during the game did Scott fail to put the ball where he wanted it. His curves were breaking perfectly and after a couple of innings just let him and Smith work as they pleased."

"I thought that our team should have counted more runs on their hits, but with Scott's pitching that did not matter. We won and the credit is all Scott's."

Scott Too Good Says Huggins. Huggins, the Yank leader, also praised the Giant pitcher's work. "We thought," he said, "that Scott would be easy for us, but his control was too good."

"I think that the error credited to Ward lost the game for us. It was a bad ball and Ward was hardy to blame for kicking it, but that was one of the reasons why Huggins said he would start Mays in to-day's game and McGraw, who can now afford to take a chance, is to have McQuillan and Ryan ready."

SEMI-PRO LEAGUES A BAR TO MAJORS Pittsburgh Scouts Say Many Good Ball Players Never Reach Big Tent

Pittsburgh, Oct. 7.—The tremendous development of industrial league and semi-professional baseball is blamed by the scouts of the Pittsburgh Nationals for the unusually small number of promising youngsters in the minor leagues this season.

Pirate sleuths who have been ransacking through the bushes since Spring agree that many ball tossers worthy of Class A attention have been overlooked. "I am convinced that a great many of these players have been making more money than most minor league stars," they say. "McNamara—one of the Pittsburgh 'Ivory Hunters'."

College men, trained in a special line of industrial work, step from school into real jobs. A few days later the baseball coach gets on their trail, and the $200 or $300 a month is tacked on to their income for playing a couple of games a week. Pretty soft? Yes?

Last season scouts noticed that conditions were changing, but they were much more noticeable this Summer. "The quality of baseball in these leagues has improved so much that I saw semi-pros expected to win this year were as well played as class AA battles, and I saw individual plays in these games that would have done credit to any team in the Big Tent."

They Know How To Raise. Pirate scouts have pointed out also that the scarcity of real prospects in the organized baseball field has caused club owners to ask sky-high prices for any player attracting major league attention.

The moment a scout looks over a prospect his cash value increases 100 per cent, said one of the scouts. "If two scouts give him the once-over, the price goes up a few thousand. If three of us happen to visit that club—good-night."

THE GOLFERS' CORNER

BREAKING OF SHAFT SERIOUS TO GOLFERS

Those who a year ago made the prophecy that nothing could ever be substituted to displace the time-honored hickory shaft in golf clubs have since seen several substitutes placed on the market, and while the majority of the new things will, as was to be expected, be found wanting and in consequence bound to die a natural death, it is not surprising that something worth while has been discovered. The steel shaft, at first looked on as a joke by the Doubting Thomases, is taking seriously enough now.

Had it not been for the pointing out of the actual difference between wood of uncertain quality and steel mechanically perfect it is doubtful if the latter would even now be recognized even in a semi-official way. In the past the breaking of a shaft taken made of less as inevitable and part of the game, most little in the life of an average golfer, but not so nowadays.

If he is at all conversant with the situation he knows first that breaking shafts is no longer an unavoidable evil, and secondly, that they are hard to replace. When using steel shafts the breaking is reduced to a minimum, but when a duplication is required it can be had with scientific exactness.

It is a fact that the steel shaft is of the opinion that this year will see a serious shortage in golf material, unless the old equipment is renewed. With the reduction in manufacture, it behooves every player to make what he has last just as long as possible.

Before Harry Vardon won the last of the pre-war championships in England, the sixth in his credit, he was driving so badly that he scarcely knew what to do to remedy the defect. The entire stock of his clubs for sale failed to provide one in which he had confidence. So he searched in a cupboard and brought out an old club which he had used previously because then it had seemed to be too light and tolvike.

He played with this throughout the championship and it is said, triumphed more by reason of the length and straightness of his driving than by any other cause. He was never known to miss a shot, and his tee shots numbered close to 300 yards.

Vardon has a "mongrel" iron club which is his favorite and which he uses proudly in his play on earth. He picked it up in London one day. It had no maker's name on it, but it was known to have come from America.

To Vardon there is no club like it. It is nearly straight-faced, has a small, narrow, almost delicate looking heel, and the face is rounded out until the nose it is deeper than a driving iron. He used it for every kind of iron shot in which he needs inspiration. No one has ever been able to copy the club successfully, and Vardon has been heard to say that his only regret is that the weapon is not made of some indestructible material such as steel.

Much Demanded of Champions. Par golf is always expected from a champion by followers of the game, and in many cases even "super-par," as the moving target. Hagen and Jones, well it is looked for. A champion has been heard to say that if there is one thing worse than not winning a national title, it is winning it. Hagen and Jones are in the first instance, but are of little avail in the second.

When a golfer, man or woman, wins a big event, the spectators are expected to capture chief honors wherever they play. Take, for instance, the case of Walter Hagen, the British open champion. He has been heard to say that if there is one thing worse than not winning a national title, it is winning it. Hagen and Jones are in the first instance, but are of little avail in the second.

TWO-YEAR-OLD WINS RACE IN NEW TIME

Senator Establishes World's Record in Lexington Classic

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 7.—The May Day stake, which is the most valuable race for two-year-old trotters ever contested, was won in sensational style yesterday by Thomas D. Taggart, "The Senator," setting a new world's record for a third heat by two-year-olds. The Board of Commerce event for free-for-all pacers also was won in sensational time, the two miles in 1:59 and 1:59, respectively, making the fastest two heats by a pacing mare.

The May Day proved almost as big an upset as the Transylvania races Thursday, as the Futurity winner, Jane Revere, was expected to win easily. She completed the first heat in 2:07, but the Senator was best in the next two, winning in 2:05 1/2 and 2:07 1/2.

The Board of Commerce stake proved interesting, as it brought together one of the fastest fields of horses ever raced. The fact that Mr. Geers' was to drive, and had as his mount Sanardo, with which he had been winning all season, also added interest.

However, Margaret Dillon, that also has been racing in sensational form, was rather a handy winner. Sanardo raced her all the way in the opening heat, in the second he secured the position which he had been winning all season, also added interest.

The 2:08 pace went to the favorite, Peter Laughlin, and won the opening heat by McMahon, had won the opening heat in 2:03 1/2. After the first heat the son of Peter Donna was clearly best.

JOHNSON BECOMES "HEAVY" PROSPECT

Defeat of Bob Martin Makes Him Loom Up as Opponent for Dempsey

New York, Oct. 7.—Floyd Johnson, of California, advanced a notch in the heavyweight division last night by winning a technical knockout in the tenth round over Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the A.E.F. Johnson had established a commanding lead by clever use of his powerful left. The first was a series of lively exchanges favoring the Californian. In the second Johnson rocked Martin with a left and then took a hard right to the jaw. Blood was flowing from a cut over Martin's left eye and from his mouth in the third.

Landed at Will. Martin made up lost ground by launching an attack in the fourth, sending Johnson to the ropes. A California came back fiercely and in the fifth landed telling blows at will.

Martin was groggy and on the verge of a knockout throughout the sixth, but Johnson could not place the decisive blow. Both men were covered with gore from Martin's injuries.

Martin was dazed and reeling in the seventh, but Johnson, who was becoming wilder. The Californian pummeled Martin with both hands, but his blows lacked power.

With a chance blow Martin staggered Johnson in the eighth, but then took a terrific lacing. Martin was helpless in the ninth and Johnson landed at will, but could not put over a knockout.

GIANTS BOOST BATTING AVERAGES: YANKEES SLIP

Frankie Frisch, known before his entry into major league baseball as the "Fordham Flash," now leads the hitters in the world's series. His perfect batting average yesterday boosted him above Heine Groh, the Giants' third-baseman, who started off in the first game as though he intended to break all records for hitting. Frisch is now hitting .340 in the series last year and his timely clutching this year has made him the most valued man on either team. Besides starting at the bat, Frisch is also the most brilliant infielder on either team. He has been robbing the Yankees of hits by his great speed in chasing Texas Leaguers and hard-hit ground balls.

As a result of their hitting yesterday the Giants are far out in front of the Yankees in the averages. The Giants have a batting average of .313, while the Yankees are bobbing along with a miserable .192. The batting and fielding averages are as follows:

Table showing batting and fielding averages for various players from the Yankees and Giants.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is clear and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

GERM THEORY FRAUD SAYS DR. HADWEN, GRILLING DOCTORS

Cruelties and Tortures to Animals by Vivisectionists Attacked

Bacteria Result and Not Cause of Disease, He Declares

Five hundred persons who filled the ballroom of the Empress Hotel last night shuddered when Dr. Walter R. Hadwen, of Gloucester, England, world-noted anti-vivisectionist, told how dogs, cats and other animals are tortured in medical laboratories in the most "devilish, unchristian and damnable fashion" in experiments by so-called medical scientists seeking to gratify their curiosity.

He declared that the information these men obtained from these experiments and tortures on animals was useless in treating human disease.

Some of the instances of medical experiments Dr. Hadwen quoted from the books of vivisectionists themselves told of dogs and cats being strapped down and made helpless and then boiling water poured in their stomachs to see how they would react. Other experiments consisted in burning the paws of animals, so held, in the flames of spirit lamps, tarring them and then setting them on fire, crushing the most sensitive organs of the male and "every ingenious device they could inflict so that they could write a book about it" just to see how they took the shock.

He also referred to experiments on animals treated with the drug, curare, which paralyzed the motor nerves so that the animal could not move, but that the animal could not feel pain. The result is that the animal lies on the table like a living corpse, sensitive to all pain, conscious, and suffering all that is done to it.

Germ Not Disease Cause

"Nothing whatever has been gained by these brutal practices, that has been of the slightest benefit in the amelioration of human disease," he said.

"The whole system of vivisection is a system that I can call by no other name than damnable. It is utterly useless, unscientific, immoral, cruel and injurious in its results."

Dr. Hadwen then attacked medical theories and practices of doctors and modern medicine and scientific treatment was built up, especially vaccine and serum treatments.

Germ, he declared, are the result of disease and not its cause. He told how germs of various diseases were found in healthy persons, whereas in many cases of so-called infectious diseases no germs could be found.

He ridiculed all the concern modern medicine shows to protect persons from germs which are everywhere.

Bacteria Not Human Enemies.

"Before another ten or fifteen years the whole scientific world, which is now busy warning people about dangers of disease germs, will come to acknowledge that the so-called disease germs are the best friends humanity ever had," he went on.

"Nobody has yet been able to prove that there is a disease germ in existence. In 25 per cent of diseases supposed to be caused by these germs you can't find these germs at all."

He asserted that the whole medical world had bowed down to Pasteur, the originator of the germ theory, and had since sought to prove the germ theory. He declared that the four postulates on which the germ theory was based had been knocked out and with them the whole superstructure of vaccine and serum-theory built on it must go.

Going Against Nature.

Dr. Hadwen said that in the injection of serum or vaccine, "the moment you puncture the skin of the patient you are doing something unscientific—going against the laws of nature and are on the wrong track."

"In 399 cases out of 1,000, the wisest doctor is he who knows how to encourage and cheer his patient and allow nature to do the rest," he said. "Why the witches' cauldron of Shakespeare isn't it with the sera and vaccines the doctors have today."

Vaccines Fail in Army.

He declared that army statistics proved the futility of vaccination with anti-typhoid vaccine. Five months before the war the whole French army was vaccinated, but figures for the first year of the war show that of these so-called protected men there were 13,488 cases of typhoid with 12,000 deaths. He asserted that the army authorities did not dare to make public the figures for later years.

He claimed that the freedom from disease in troops during the last war compared with former wars was due to the efficiency of the Army Service Corps in providing better sanitary conditions. At Gallipoli when the soldiers had to drink dirty water 96,000 men went down with intestinal disease, and in France 87,000 were killed down by typhoid. In the back lines, where the Army Service Corps looked after conditions, there was little trouble, but directly the men were in the front lines, where the Army Service water carts could not reach them, then the men went down.

Cause Many Fatal Ills.

"Vaccine is a sham and discredit to the whole medical profession," he went on. "It is time the Government interfered and swept the whole of this fraud away."

Dr. Hadwen asserted that the injection of vaccine and serum matter produced nothing but blood poisoning, caused heart disease and kidney trouble. He said that the epidemic of diphtheria in 1900, which was accompanied by the startling outbreak of spinal meningitis. He asserted that England was now paying out $25,000,000 in pensions to men suffering from heart disease, largely caused by vaccinations during the war.

"It is a perfect scandal," he went on. "It is like a wicked thing and all to gratify the wild made stupid theory that not only has no semblance to science, but cannot appeal to common sense."

Dr. Hadwen said that in England there were 87 deaths from smallpox of unvaccinated persons, while there were 247 deaths from vaccination, showing that the vaccination is three times more dangerous than smallpox.

Scorn Orthodox Opinion

"In fighting this it is no use saying that you have the whole phalanx of medical men and parsons against you," he went on. "Persons who never trouble one bit about what the doctors or the parsons say. They are the first people to jump in and go with the stream when you speak to the common sense of the people."

"Don't you think that we lose a great deal in nobility of character and kindness of heart when we do not resist from the heights of civilization to torture these poor dumb creatures for some supposed benefit to ourselves?" he said. "Don't you think it a cowardly and unchristian attitude? The strong have no right to take advantage of the weak and the end does not justify the means."

Dr. Hadwen denied claims that animals were not as sensitive to pain as human beings.

"If the sense of sight, smell, hearing and feeling is more acute in the right hand you to say that the animal sense of pain is not as acute as our own simply because they cannot express themselves in our language," he went on.

He called the Rockefeller Institute of New York, where animal experimentation is carried on, the "Rockefeller hell."

"The fact of the matter is that medical students are never taught to think for themselves," he went on.

KELLY DOUGLAS & CO. LTD.

"Very rarely you find a medical man who steps outside the ranks and becomes an original thinker. Modern education to some extent is one of the greatest curses we have. It destroys originality."

Vivisection Useless

Dr. Hadwen asserted that animal experimentation was useless in devising means for human treatment as it was impossible to argue from results on a dog to a man. As instances of this he said that a grain of morphia was more than a man can stand, while a dog could take thirty-seven grains; a bird could take thirty-seven grains and still be happy; a long-tailed monkey could take as much strychnine as it liked, while a short-tailed monkey would be killed with as much as could be taken on a pin point; a rabbit could eat all the strychnine it liked without trouble, and a goat could do the same with hemlock, but a human being would be knocked out with an infinitesimal amount.

He told how sera were made by the injection of excreta and diseased matter into animals to produce antitoxins and also how gastric juice was obtained from dogs by boring a hole in the animal's stomach and draining it off in a cup while the animal ate with its esophagus slit so that the food did not pass into the stomach, but went through the hole to the outside of the body.

"Vast numbers of our soldiers were killed outright as a result of these inoculations," he said. "Many were ruined for life through no other process than inoculations used to protect from disease based on the germ theory."

Telling of his own remarkable health, Dr. Hadwen said that for forty years he had eaten neither fish, flesh, fowl nor good red herring, took little bath every morning and as much outdoor exercise and fresh air as possible.

"Although the snows of a good many winters are on my hairs, I feel just as young and as active as I was forty years ago," he added.

Alderman Leeming was chairman of the meeting.

"RED CLERGY" HOLD FIRST CONFERENCE

Moscow, Oct. 7.—The "red clergy," led by a group of young men, held their first congress here early in August and discussed plans to establish a new "live church." It was contended that the church must be brought nearer to the masses and that the "new church" should be as "simple and as humble as was Christ himself."

The aims of the "red clergy," so-called because of its acknowledgment of the social revolution and the Soviet Internationale, include liquidation of the superiority of the regular clergy in Russian church affairs; doing away with the reactionary section of higher clergy, who, it is claimed, are still hoping for a coup d'etat to sweep them into power again, and preparation of an all-Russian synod at which a successor to Patriarch Tichon is to be elected.

The "red clergy" group, headed by Archbishop Antonin and a number of young Moscow and Petrograd clergymen, came into existence as a result of a split among the Russian Orthodox clergy, brought about soon after confiscation of church treasures was started by Soviet government officials.

Because of the opposition which developed among the ruling church authorities, a number of the clergy were prosecuted in various parts of Russia, even Patriarch Tichon himself, having been placed on trial.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

OCTOBER 2 TO 9

Questionnaire for Householders by Victoria and District Fire Insurance Agents.

Every member in every family should see that the following precautions are taken against fire:

1. Do you use safety matches?
2. Are your floors under stoves protected with tile, stone, brick, concrete or metal, so to prevent them taking fire from the heat?
3. Are your walls, ceilings and partitions similarly protected in all places where they would be exposed to high temperatures, in the event of overheating of stoves or furnaces?
4. Are your ashes deposited in Metal receptacles and removed from the building weekly?
5. Is there any unenclosed space under your house where inflammable trash may accumulate?
6. Are your chimneys built on the ground or on brackets? Are they good repairs? Have your flues been cleaned for winter?
7. Are your stovepipes passing through partitions properly protected? Do stovepipes pass through attics, closets, or unused rooms where they may come in contact with anything combustible?

fled out to Cunningham in centre field. Cunningham took the ball against the fence. Witt went to third on the catch. Dugan held first. A few feet more and the ball would have gone into the centre field bleachers. Pipp up. Witt scored on Pipp's single to right. Pipp was out trying to stretch it. Cunningham to Groh. Meusel up. Dugan scored on Meusel's hot liner to right. Schang up. Meusel stole second and then went to third on Snyder's wild throw. Schang struck out. Two runs, four hits, one error.

Second Inning.

Giants—Young up. Young sent out to Meusel. Kelly up. Mays took Kelly's easy roller and threw him out. Cunningham up. Dugan walked. Snyder up. Dugan threw out Snyder at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—It was raining quite hard. Ward up. Ward fled out to Young in deep right. Scott up. Bancroft threw out Scott at first. The Yankees were hitting the first ball pitched. Mays up. Frisch threw out Mays at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning.

Giants—McQuillan up. Schang threw out McQuillan at first. Bancroft up. Bancroft walked. Groh up. Groh sent up a high fly to Meusel. Frisch up. Frisch sent out a long fly to Ruth, who made a nice running catch. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Witt up. Witt fled out to Cunningham. Dugan up. Dugan out to Groh to Kelly. Groh made a nice stop and throw. Ruth up. Ruth got back to Meusel. Pipp fled out to Young. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

Giants—Meusel up. Dugan made short work of Meusel's grounder and got him at first. Young up. Young singles past Pipp. Kelly up. Kelly hit a foul near the right field stand, which Pipp nearly caught. Kelly forced Young. Pipp to Scott. Cunningham up. Cunningham forced Kelly. Ward to Scott. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees—Meusel up. Meusel struck out. Schang up. Schang sent up a high fly which Young took. Ward up. Ward struck out. McQuillan was improving in his work. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

Giants—Snyder up. Rain was still falling steadily. Snyder got a single which Scott was only able to knock down. McQuillan up. McQuillan doubled into a field. Snyder going to third. Bancroft up. Snyder and McQuillan scored on Bancroft's single, which took a mean hop over Young's head. Groh up. Groh scratched a hit off Mays' glove. Bancroft going to second. Frisch up. Frisch sacrificed. Mays to Pipp. Bancroft going to third and Groh to second. Meusel up. Meusel scored when Ward threw out Meusel at first. Groh went to third. Young up. Groh scored on Young's single to left. Young was causing the play, the play being Mays to Pipp to Scott to Pipp. Four runs, five hits, no errors.

Yankees—Scott up. Scott walked. Mays up. Mays fouled out to Kelly. Witt up. Witt hit into a double play. Frisch to Bancroft to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning.

Giants—Kelly up. Witt made a nice catch of Kelly's drive. Cunningham up. Dugan made a one-bagger and Cunningham's grounder and threw him out. Snyder up. Snyder got a hot shot to left for one base. McQuillan up. McQuillan struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees—Dugan up. Dugan popped to Frisch. Ruth up. Ruth sent up a high foul to Snyder. Pipp up. Bancroft threw out Pipp. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning.

Giants—Bancroft flew out to Meusel. Groh up. Pipp took Groh's bunt and touched out at first. Frisch up. Witt stood still and took Frisch's fly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Meusel up. Groh took Meusel's grounder and threw him out. Kelly dropped the ball but recovered it in time to catch the runner. Schang up. Frisch tossed out Schang. Ward up. Ward got a homerun into the left field stands. It was his second of the series. Scott up. Scott fled out to Bancroft. One run, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Inning.

Giants—Meusel up. Meusel singled over the middle station. Young up. Young flew out to Meusel, who almost doubled his brother at first. Kelly up. Pipp took Kelly's grounder, touched first and then threw to Scott, who loathed Mays as he slid into the bag. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees—Elmer Smith batted for Mays. Smith up. Smith fanned. Witt up. Witt got a two-base hit to left. Dugan up. Dugan fled to Cunningham. Ruth up. Ruth fled

The two featured players in George Melford's latest production of "Burning Sands" are Wanda Hawley and Milton Sills, both of whom had prominent parts in Mr. Melford's preceding production, "The Woman Who Walked Alone." In "Burning Sands" they play parts which are direct opposites of the roles played by Agnes Ayres and Rodolph Valentino in "The Sheik." In that Miss Hawley plays the headstrong English girl who sets out to win the man she loves, while Mr. Sills is the man who does not know love until it comes close to his heart. "Burning Sands" is the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre.

A rough log cabin hidden away in the Canadian mountains, almost buried under a sea of snow that stretched for miles and miles; in the cabin a beautiful girl and two men; not a chance in the world for their escape for four months. Surely a situation bordering on the unbelievable, and one replete with interesting possibilities. On this plot was written the greatest stage success of history—"The Storm"—which shattered all records in New York City, and is now duplicating that success on the screen. It is one of the most powerful and human pictures that we have shown.

"Well, Miss MacKellar, what do you think of the picture?" Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film Company, put the question to Helen MacKellar, famed stage star and original Mame of Langdon McCormick's famous play "The Storm," after a special showing of the picture. "I think it is a magnificent picture," she replied. "I was wonderful from every angle. I don't mind admitting that I was rather nervous at first, but I thought of the possibility of my role being badly handled, but fifteen minutes after the picture was under way, I knew my fears were groundless. I want to say in all sincerity that I think Virginia Valli gave a wonderful interpretation of the role of Mame. It was the part that made me and is my 'pet role'; Miss Valli is adorable and ideal, her characterization leaves nothing to be desired. Edward Arnold, leading man in the stage version, also was present at the pre-view and was equally enthusiastic. Mr. Arnold said: 'I had an exceptional well pleased with House Peters' work in the role of Burr. Like Miss MacKellar, I feel no better man could have been selected for the part. It is the best role that I have ever played, and I have interpreted the part of Burr Winton exactly 1,087 times. Naturally, I was anxious to have it well handled in the picture, but Mr. Peters' characterization exceeded my fondest expectations. As for the forest fire, it was magnificently done and the snow storm was a thing of beauty. The direction, photography and locale left nothing to be desired. I love Miss Valli in the part of Mame. She is very sweet.'"

Miss MacKellar and Mr. Arnold got their first thrill in the picture when Mame's father is shown diving from a mountain cliff to the swirling rapids below.

"What a magnificent shot," said Mr. Arnold.

"Most thrilling thing I have ever seen," chimed in Miss MacKellar.

"The Storm" will be shown for the last time to-day at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

KINDRED OF THE DUST

Peter B. Kyne's great story of Northwestern love starring Miriam Cooper. A First National Attraction.

When You Go to the Royal Watch for the Spotlight, It Will Pay.

CONCERT TO-NIGHT

The first of the season's community concerts which will be held at the Armories during the Winter months under the auspices of the Fifth Regiment will be held to-night in the Drill Hall, commencing at 8 o'clock. The Crusaders will first stage a basketball game between their A and B teams. Dancing will commence at 9 o'clock, and the Fifth Regiment band, under Bandmaster Rumsby will be in attendance and will furnish a programme of excellent music.

COMING TO ROYAL

"The course of true love never runs smooth" is an adage which is exemplified in "Kindred of the Dust," an Associated First National attraction produced by Raoul A. Walsh from the novel by Peter B. Kyne, and which is the attraction at the Royal Victoria Theatre beginning Monday, with Miriam Cooper in the leading feminine role.

Playing the role of "Nan of the Sawdust Pile," Miss Cooper gives a remarkable characterization of a poverty stricken maiden who is loved by the son of "The Laird," the millionaire lumberman.

Her grandfather, Caleb Brent, a retired petty officer of the American navy through lack of money, had been forced to settle on some land made by the depositing of refuse from one of the lumberman's saw mills. It was while living in such squalid circumstances that Nan met young Donald McKay, and it was a case of love at first sight with each.

But considerable opposition quickly developed. "The Laird" objected to his son marrying the girl, and Andrew Daney, the general manager of the saw mill, had reasons of his own for trying his best to force the girl and her grandfather to move.

The only joy left to Nan was her voice. It was so pure that it enthralled all who heard it. Eventually she obtained the opportunity to go to the big city and cultivate her voice. There she married the singing instructor, but disillusionment came, and with it more trouble than she had ever anticipated.

She was on the verge of reaching the apex of her operatic career in New York when she learned that her father was sick, and that his recovery depended on her presence.

The climax of this story is excitingly strong, and is a fitting finish to a highly dramatic story.

COMING TO DOMINION

Cecil B. DeMille, accompanied by his production staff and several members of the cast, went to Santa Barbara for an exciting day's work on location in connection with the filming of "Manslaughter," which will be presented at the Dominion Theatre next Monday.

The incident filmed—one of the most important in the story—was the accident to which a motorcycle officer meets his death because of the careless and reckless driving of the chief feminine character in the story. On these scenes is built most of the subsequent story.

A distorted shoulder, many bruises and several miles of valuable negative were the net results. The producer refused to use the customary dummy in this series of scenes. Hence the bruises and injured shoulder.

Leatrice Joy and Jack Mower were the principals engaged in the action. Thomas Meighan, Lois Wilson, Edythe Chapman, Julia Faye, Dorothy Cumming, Casson Ferguson and the other members of the notable cast enjoyed a one day vacation in the absence of the producer.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Another crowded house greeted the fifth show produced by the Playhouse Company last night, in which Mr. Hineke has the Bing Boys from Bingville as the feature attraction. Never before has there been so much and such spontaneous applause as has been given this show, and it is hard to say that it is the funniest and liveliest entertainment yet staged by this popular company. Mr. Hineke and Ernie Petch were never seen to better advantage, they have the audience in fits of laughter every minute they are on the stage. In addition to the comedy Mr. Petch has an excellent opportunity for using his magnificent baritone voice to advantage in the duets he sings with Miss Eva Hart. Both of these numbers receive repeated demands for encores at each performance. As a matter of fact it looks as if the audience don't want anything else. For a bright snappy show this has never been exceeded, and while some of the musical numbers became more or less familiar during the war, they have never been heard here with the advantages which attend this show in the way of setting, plot and staging. There will be a matinee to-day and to-night's performance will be crowded to the doors. Those intending to go should remember that there are hundreds turned away every Saturday night and should reserve their seats early.

SAFETY WEEK

Police Commissioner Frederick Cron, who attended the same conference, told the Vancouver Police Commissioners of the excellent results following the inauguration of what is known as "Safety Week" in New York, Detroit and other centres. He is anxious that a plan be carried out in Vancouver. One of the features of "Safety Week" in Detroit was to appoint fifteen "automobile brake inspectors" with authority to test the brakes. If found all right a sticker was placed on the windshield announcing this fact, and the car was immune from inspection throughout the week.

"It was found that in the case of fifty per cent of the cars either one or two of the brakes were defective, the drivers simply trusting to luck to get by."

Commissioner Cron also told of the methods in vogue in the United States cities of licensing all drivers. In New York City the license bears the photograph of the driver. Mayor C. E. Townsend said he had already recommended to Attorney-General Manson that all drivers should be licensed.

"The increasing use of mechanical devices for regulating traffic is very noticeable," said the commissioner, "and a liberal use of traffic signs is made everywhere. I am of the opinion that much more along this line could be done in our own city."

"Outside the congested areas 'twenty miles an hour' is the prevailing rate of speed in most cities, and I think we can very well increase our speed limit to that extent, as from practical experience and the experience of our police we know that this is a speed that can be easily controlled, and the speed of most drivers outside of congested areas. I think we can safely raise the speed limit and then prosecute very severely for infractions of the law."

ATTRACTING ATTENTION

Two boys were fishing on a certain estate when a gamekeeper darted out, snatched a fish and hid it in a hedge. The boys started to follow, but the gamekeeper followed the one who shouted and seemed most frightened.

After a long pursuit the boy was captured.

"You've been fishing without a permit," said the keeper.

"No, I haven't," replied the boy, and to the amusement of the gamekeeper, produced a permit. The gamekeeper looked at it, and found it in order.

"Why on earth did you run away?" he said angrily.

"To let the other boy get clear; he hasn't got a permit," was the reply.

WHOLE CONTINENT SUFFERING UNDER NARCOTIC EVIL

Commissioner Staneland Due Home To-morrow From Convention

Pleased with the result of his mission when he attended the conference of international police officials at New York recently, Police Commissioner W. E. Staneland will be back in this city to-morrow, crossing to-night from Vancouver. Commissioner Staneland is returning after six weeks' absence, in which he travelled extensively. Interviewed at Prince Rupert, en route south yesterday, Mr. Staneland gave a summary of his impressions gained at the conference.

Drug Traffic

"I have learned more in ten days about police work than I could have learned at home in ten years," said Mr. Staneland in Prince Rupert.

"Among other things I learned was that the headquarters for the drug traffic has been transferred from Chicago to British Columbia."

"It is to be expected, that the police are now working."

Criminal Drug Addicts

"Sixty-five per cent of the drug addicts are criminals, and the so-called innocent addict in the 'teen age is practically unknown here," said Mr. Staneland.

"Some of these had criminal records in as many as eight cities. Every city on the coast has its criminal addicts, and the elimination of the drug traffic means a step toward the elimination of crime."

"New York maintains a special narcotics squad which keeps special agents to trace shipments of drugs to their destination."

"It is a fact well known to the police that the Japanese are the largest manufacturers of narcotic drugs and that Germany comes a close second."

Drug Substitutes Manufactured

"Germany is said to have discovered a new drug which can be made without the use of the coca leaf. New York is the centre of police activity in connection with the drug traffic and the tracing of addicts."

"They are now preparing a fingerprint directory which will be distributed all over the continent so that police experts may be able to identify criminal drug addicts."

CARAVANIST IS TO SPEAK HERE

Sunday School Missioner to Give Illustrated Lecture

An English churchwoman, Miss Eva Hasell, who in the Summer of 1920 drove a "Sunday School Mission Caravan," three thousand miles in fourteen scattered districts in the diocese of Qu'Appelle, and has just completed a similar tour in the diocese of Calgary, will give an illustrated lecture describing some of her experiences in St. Paul's Guild room, Esquimault, next Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Hasell is a trained Sunday School expert, being a graduate of St. Christopher's College, England, and occupies the position of Sunday School organizing secretary for the diocese of Carlisle, England. After a short visit to the diocese of Columbia, Miss Hasell is going to the Peace River district, where she plans to lecture during engagements eastern cities before returning to her work in England.

One report of the 1920 tour in Qu'Appelle diocese states that during three months they journeyed in this way, sleeping in their caravan, and cooking their own meals. Miss Hasell drove the car, looked after the engine, and with the assistance of Miss Ticehurst, conducted demonstration classes for Sunday School teachers, established new Sunday schools, visited the public schools, held parents' meetings, enrolled new members for the Sunday School by post, and in various ways did much to bring to these isolated districts that help which was so needed.

"As was to be expected, the tour was not without its difficulties—not the least being those for which mud, washouts and wind were responsible. In spite of all this, the workers feel that the effort was eminently successful and well worth while. The eager welcome afforded them by the parents, the keen interest shown by the children, the invitation to return, expressed over and over again, may be regarded as a testimony to the value of the work done. Miss Hasell and Miss Ticehurst returned to England in the Autumn, but the caravan was donated to the diocese of Qu'Appelle with the suggestion that it be used for Diocesan Sunday School work."

Times' Book Review

BY PROF. T. A. ALLISON

Where the traveler looks from the coast

It was William Allen White's novel "In the Heart of a Fool" that inspired Dr. Wm. L. Stidger, a prominent clergyman of Detroit, to preach his first "dramatic book sermon," and the interest it aroused has led to Dr. Stidger preaching a regular series of book-sermons once a month. His audience often numbers 5,000, and he finds that the sermons not only create widespread interest in promoting the sales of books by the women's committee at their book table after the service, but that the book table has monthly Book Prayer Meetings, at which members of the congregation report on books supplied to them by the pastor, and these prayer meetings attract an average audience of 300.

To achieve note as a literary man or a revolutionary leader in Ireland it is apparently necessary to be a schoolmaster. The most prominent contemporary Irishmen of letters, Daniel Corry and James Joyce, are both school teachers. Padraic Pearse, the leader of the Easter week rebellion of 1916, was a headmaster of a boys' school. Thomas McDonough, one of the men who were executed with Pearse, was a teacher in Pearse's school. Joseph Plunkett, another of the Easter week leaders, was a teacher. De Valera was a professor at the Dublin University, as is Professor McNeil, the speaker of the Dail. Miss Mary McSwiney, sister of the Lord Mayor of Cork who died of a hunger strike in a London jail, is a teacher.

Where the traveler looks from the coast

Fair is the sight he sees, A girlish Imperial city Guarding the gates of the seas, With a robe of trace English broom Spreading about her knees.

Lovely, with old-world leisure Gracing her modest state, In youthful pride of dominion She sits by the western gate.

Watching the liners come and go Through Juan de Fuca Strait. She is crowned with ivy and laurel Fresh with an ageless Spring; Tales of the East and news of the North.

Her sheltered sea lanes bring; And all her beautiful days go by, Soft as a grey gull's wing.

Child of the strong adventure, Bred to the clean and the fine, With touch of the velvet tropics And eyes with the Northern shine, Never to be forgotten— Last of the Sea-King's line.

One of the books read by Lord Shaw of Dunfermline during his recent visit to this country was "The Romance of Western Canada" by Rev. R. G. Macbeth of Vancouver. He stated that he was charmed with its solid grip of history and its admirable presentation of a thrilling story. A second edition of Dr. Macbeth's most recent work, "Solving the Plains," is being published by Hodder and Stoughton this Fall.

"That much-discussed book, 'The Pomp of Power' turns out to be the work of an expatriated Canadian, Laurence Lyon, who for some years has been practicing law in London.

For three years Mr. Lyon was M. E. for Hastings, but during recent years has resided principally in Paris. He is now writing a second volume, hoping that he will be able to spring another big sensation by revealing sayings and doings of prominent politicians.

A new star of great lustre in the English literary firmament is Philip Guedella, author of a volume of brilliant essays, "Supers and Supermen." These are largely historical. A new book by this writer, "The Second Empire," deals with the life and reign of Napoleon III. Guedella produces literary and historical essays as a recreation. His chief energy is devoted to law and politics. Some Englishmen believe that he will one day succeed Mr. Asquith as leader of the Liberal party.

H. G. Wells is at present extracting some more nuggets from the sands of time. He is preparing "A Short History of Mankind," which will probably be as great a money-maker as his "Outline of History." Here are a few names which friends and foes

COWICHAN DISTRICT, NATURAL PARADISE

Resources in Timber and Agricultural Development In Heart of Vancouver Island Make Wealthy Community; Old Legends of the Country District.

Vancouver Island has been described as a miniature empire. Certainly its potentialities in resources and the beginnings of development rival several of the empires that have been famous in history. When one ascends Malahat mountain and reaches the table-land that embraces the Cowichan District, extending from the north end of Shawnigan Lake to Chemainus he enters a territory that probably is unequalled in the entire Province in its wealth of natural resources, the fertility of its soil, its heavy timbers, its profitable fisheries, its bush fruits, its dairy and poultry products. For an area of some 2,400 square miles it embraces a variety of possibilities that would be difficult to excel in any part of the entire British domains.

Shawnigan Lake itself is to Victoria City what Long Island is to New York. It is a placid sheet of the clearest water reflecting in Summer and Winter, every leaf, sloping mountain side and all that falls within the perspective of reflective rays. It appears at its best when viewed from the summit of the Malahat. This elevation throws into proper relief the wide sweep of forest clothing the Western part of that section of Vancouver Island. The broad acres, covered with a wealth of timber unsurpassed, if even equaled, anywhere else in the province is spread before the vision. Nestling between this forest wealth on the one hand and the expanse of cultivated farm lands on the East side of the lake is a sheet of water some twelve miles in length and a mile wide which is the pride of the community from Victoria. All around its borders are situated the Summer cottages of Victorians who have found in this locality the most delightful spot in which to end and begin a week. Some of the cottages have erected quite expensive bungalows, some of them have fixed habitations there, and some are but camps where they avail themselves of the long, delightful Summer days and evening in a climate and temperature at all times conducive for rest and recreation. The setting of the lake induces rest and recuperation. It is being taken advantage of to the fullest extent by those who have acquired little or larger lots along its shores and who know the value to attach to a weekly relaxation from strenuous toil. There is nothing exactly equal to getting a few miles away from home when rest and relaxation are the objective. Shawnigan Lake seems to be about the correct distance.

Scenically Attractive. While there is no part of British Columbia which lacks the charm there is an individuality, a distinctive quality about the whole Cowichan district which increases with every mile of ones exploration of the field. The pioneer farms, the old Indian villages standing in suggestion of the difference between past and present, excite the imagination and fire the poetic spirit. The old Indian names, with their legendary significance, "Touhalem" meaning "facing the sun," and Cowichan, meaning "where the waters swirl," must have meant something to the Aborigines who were in undisputed possession of this whole field until the advent of the whites some seventy-five years ago. Clem-clem-nitz, Kem-i-lukum, Somes, all designations of Indian bands and reservations, remain an ancient landmark which the hand of time is removing rapidly. The Indian race appears to be what Bill Nye described it "a race against time, with time in the lead at the moment." Faintly they are these relics of history they add to the charm of landscape and river ford, all going to make up their part in a picture that must be seen to be enjoyed.

Indian Legends. It is impossible to think of the passing of the aboriginal race, the finest specimens of Indian humanity in the South of British Columbia,

Picturesque View of Koksilah Village

At Cowichan Bay, where the river of that name empties into the waters of the Gulf of Georgia, sport in fishing never was better than to-day in spite of the persistent attacks on the finny denizens of the deep. The river has a fall of 550 feet in forty miles and its swirling waters are a perennial fascination for the various species of game fish. Indians captured these with weirs planted at several points along the streams, but the whiteman trolls for his quarry at the mouth of the stream, landing often as much as 100 pounds in a week of sport. The fish vary from half a pound to fifty pounds. The landing of the latter is some sport than in any part of the empire.

At Cowichan Bay, where the river of that name empties into the waters of the Gulf of Georgia, sport in fishing never was better than to-day in spite of the persistent attacks on the finny denizens of the deep. The river has a fall of 550 feet in forty miles and its swirling waters are a perennial fascination for the various species of game fish. The fish vary from half a pound to fifty pounds. The landing of the latter is some sport than in any part of the empire.

It is these characteristics of the district that have made it superlatively attractive to a type of English citizens who possess moderate or considerable financial means and who have resolved to get out of life more than a simple living. They are "settling" their farm areas, developing fruit ranches or conducting poultry farms. A more generally prosperous and happy people cannot be found.

Agricultural Development. It must not be supposed, however, that all of the settlers take life jauntily. The advent of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway made possible the development of farm areas which formerly were too far away from water transportation to invite settlement. All along the east side of the island and particularly contiguous to the railway improved farms, with comfortable homes and convenient outbuildings are to be seen. Dairying has been developed to an exact science and the products of the poultry farms are known throughout British Columbia. Not only in the cultivation of the soil has intelligence been applied but in the marketing of the farm products an exceptionally creditable co-operative association has been developed. One of the institutions toward which every settler points with pride is the Cowichan Creamery. This society was incorporated in 1916 and now has a membership of 275, all members having equal holdings. The association possesses a plant at Duncan where dairy farms and poultry products are handled. The advantage of the co-operative farmer can sell his products in large or small quantities without having to bring himself at the mercy of the broker or middleman. Also, in the matter of stock feeds he can buy through his organization at a price several dollars a ton less than he could have obtained individually.

Thus there has grown up in this little agricultural community an organization which, in the year 1921 shipped 250,000 dozens of eggs and 164,000 pounds of butter. One can compute easily what the net returns from these sales mean to a community, which, metaphorically speaking, is little bigger than a man's hand.

The District Capital. The little town, or city, of Duncan lies in the very heart of this beautiful and prosperous territory. It is named after its founder, who settled

SEES ENGLAND DRY UNDER WOMAN RULE

London, Oct. 7.—Charles Bailey, who has left England for New York on board the Cunard liner Laconia, is making the journey at 93 years of age.

He has been across the Atlantic nearly 60 times, and despite his age still enjoys the trips thoroughly. Some of the Cunard booking agents had a shock the other day when the old man gave his age to them. He went to the office accompanied by a friend, whom he described as a youngster, being only about 70 years old.

"And you needn't shout at me," said Mr. Bailey to one of the officials, "because I'm not deaf." Mr. Bailey first crossed the ocean in a wooden boat. That was in 1857, when he went over with his young wife, a Bailey girl. The voyage took six weeks, and one of the three children who went with them died on the way. When the Civil War was dividing the States, young Bailey went about buying up all the wool rags he could find, and sent them to Yorkshire. He did not leave America for 32 years, and then came back to England to have a look around. Mr. Bailey liked the trip so much

FINESST WORKMANSHIP

Not only does he declare that Prohibition would be a fine thing for England, but he firmly believes that British women are going to make this country dry one day.

It is better to be lonely than bored. Love at first sight is minus second sight.

When the Civil War was dividing the States, young Bailey went about buying up all the wool rags he could find, and sent them to Yorkshire. He did not leave America for 32 years, and then came back to England to have a look around. Mr. Bailey liked the trip so much that he came over every year afterwards for 25 years until the war broke out. Then he started his visits again in 1919, and is still travelling. Asked his impression of this country he declared we were "too old-fashioned." Not only does he declare that Prohibition would be a fine thing for

Panoramic Picture of Shawnigan Lake Looking Westward

While there is no part of British Columbia which lacks the charm there is an individuality, a distinctive quality about the whole Cowichan district which increases with every mile of ones exploration of the field.

are located on and around Cowichan Lake. The wealth of timber in the area situated west of Cowichan Lake and throughout the territory extending to Albert is almost incredible. Experienced timbermen say that at the present rate of logging there is sufficient standing timber to last a hundred years. And it is coming along as fast as it is being consumed. Expecting the destruction by fire. Forest fires are the dread of timbermen, and incidentally the dread of the Government, who hold these interests and resources in trust for the people. Several saw mills operate in the district and timber from Cowichan is known in South Africa, India, New Zealand and Australia in addition to the home consumption. In these pathless forests game of many kinds abounds. Blacktailed deer, panther, cougar and wapiti are found, and the sportsmen does not live who has not heard of the fame of this part of the Province in the matter of big and little game. Red and gun are festive weapons. Fish grouse, and lately pheasants are in easy evidence. Many of the people of moderate means who have acquired farm holdings in the community have done so because the game season affords more thorough portation. To get logs into boom at tidewater is the main idea of the timber operator. The immense resources in this natural asset justify the building of mileage additional to that already constructed and the interests involved will undertake the task. From a little corner station at which the even of the day was the passing of the train and the arrival of the mail, the city of Duncan has grown into the capital of a thriving community, established on the old lines of development of natural resources instead of preying on one another and all around are evidences of the stability of this policy.

Five-year-old William was standing in the kitchen with his eye upon a dish of cakes when his mother came in and found him. "What are you doing here, William?" said she. "I was just thinking, mother," replied the youngster. "Thinking?" "Well, I hope you haven't touched those cakes."

"That's what I was thinking about," came the ready answer. "I was wondering whether they were as good enough to be whipped for."

Victoria Assessment District

I HEREBY GIVE NOTICE that, on Thursday, the 12th day of October, 1922, at the hour of 10 a.m. at my office, Government Buildings Annex, 606 Government Street, I will sell at Public Auction the Lands in the list hereinafter set out, of the persons in said list hereinafter set out, for delinquent taxes unpaid by said persons on the 30th of June, 1922, and for interest, costs and expenses, including the cost of advertising said sale, if the total amount due for period ending December 31st, 1920 is not sooner paid.

The Collector will be pleased to receive any information respecting the following list, where the owner is a member of the Allied Forces and entitled to the benefits of Section 29, of the "Taxation Act Amendment Act, 1918."

Tobacco-Hating Dean Is Cremated at Death; Chided by King Edward as "German Upstart," Young Duke of Albany Fought Against British to Grief of His Mother; Poor Nobleman Kisses Maids Instead of Tipping Them; Politician Steals Daughter-In-Law For Wife.

(Special Despatch to The Victoria Times)
London, Oct. 7.—The Dean of Durham is dead. He had wonderful theological gifts and was very popular. But he had a bee buzzing in his episcopal bonnet. His hatred of tobacco smoke was a positive mania, and he earned the commendation of Queen Victoria for a sermon directed against the "vile practice of smoking." He left directions that he should be cremated. So it has all ended in smoke after all!

King Edward Got Angry

The untimely death of the Duke of Albany after three years of marriage made a profound difference to the life of his widow. Her posthumous son was born three months later, and she settled down at Claremont to bring him up. But in a year or two she had a number of suitors who were very rich, and she had an open court secret that a certain Royal British Duke was very much in love with the good-looking young widow. Needless to say Queen Victoria absolutely forbade any such idea; for her views upon the re-marriage of widows were sternly expressed on many an occasion, and may be crystallized in a word: "Impossible."

Leaders of Fashion

Sapient scribbles, aided and abetted by sartorial critics, have been saying that the Prince of Wales is the "darling leader of masculine fashions." Rubbish! "Pure-Jeanes-Me" is always well dressed, and he seems to have inherited from his royal grandfather. But he certainly does not spend anxious hours designing new garments, as he is suggested—and so long as he is correctly garbed as a gentleman should be or has got into the right uniform for the occasion, he is content to once get into the wrong one and appear at a "naval occasion" dressed as a British officer—he doesn't worry.

At Not Got

A famous society lady has been one of the sufferers from the epidemic of jewel robbery. A clever crook entered her bedroom at night and secured her jewel case. When the loss was discovered the guests were loud in their expressions of sympathy. But perhaps the fact that she is a member of the aristocracy, the originals being in safe keeping with an aristocratic "uncle," otherwise pawnbroker, enabled the lady to bear her loss with calm.

Perhaps bucked by the success of Lady Diana Manners' "on the pictures," an ambitious attempt is being made by a little group of society ladies really to seriously take up film-work. A small company has been formed and the idea of the back seat is being secured, which by the way is directed by a Duchess whose last marriage had the sparkle of real romance. The picture is a "high life" touch, and as an antidote to those pictures of supposed society life where the hero and the victim move around in a daze, the picture is more than expected to have much market in this country. But they are likely to make a big hit scenes "shy" will be taken in different state homes of England and Scotland.

"Tips" and Kisses

There has been some anxiety about the tipping problem is a serious one nowadays for our impoverished aristocracy who paid roundly to famous entertainers. There is the unwritten law as to gifts for the retainers is indeed as the law of the Medes and Persians.

BURGLAR RETURNS GEMS TO ACTRESS

London, Oct. 7.—A burglar with a conscience mysteriously returned some valuable curios to Miss Flora Tree, who had been robbed the day after she achieved success in the leading role of Arnold Bennett's new play, "Body and Soul."

Police Seize Correspondence Revealing Secrets of Dope Traffic

(Special Despatch to The Victoria Times)
London, Oct. 7.—King Cocaine has been netted by the patient Parisian police at last. He has received eight months imprisonment inflicted by a French Magistrate for trafficking in cocaine. His disappearance into the old prison of St. Lazare means his withdrawal from Bohemian circles of both London and Paris, and the laying down (for a time at least) of the sceptre of almost unlimited power over the crooks and the idlers of the underworld.

Sir Ian Hamilton Says That Is Cause of Post War Troubles

South African War Successful as Settlement Was Generous

London, Oct. 7.—Gen. Ian Hamilton has asked an interesting question. "Why is it," he inquired, "that the two last successful wars, one against the Boers in South Africa and the other against the Germans, had such opposite results? How is it that the Boer war put an end to the feuds, race hatreds, bankruptcies, disorders and bloodshed which had paralyzed South Africa, and that the German war, on the contrary, had inflicted race hatred, bankruptcy and murder over the whole of Europe?"

(Special Despatch to The Victoria Times)
London, Oct. 5.—One of the minor worries of Europeans in Iraq, Mesopotamia, has been the "arms race" of the film shown in picture houses in both Basra and Baghdad.

Prince of Wales to Take Greater Part in Conduct of Royal Stables

(Special Despatch to The Victoria Times)
London, Oct. 7.—The King being dissatisfied with unsatisfactory performances of his racehorses during the present flat racing season, there are likely to be very considerable changes in the constitution of the Royal racing stable later on in the year.

Giant Air Torpedo Built by British

London, Oct. 7.—A giant flying boat, which is both reconnaissance machine and a torpedo carrier, has been built by the Admiralty and is to be tested. It is on the lines of the Sea Lion, which recently won the Schneider cup, and is designed to carry a crew of five in addition to the apparatus for firing torpedoes while in full flight.

Not all can see the question so simply as that dashing peer who had a great reputation as a lady's man and a curious penchant for pretty female servants. Brazil the New Palestine, and Land of Promise for Emigrants

London, Oct. 7.—That Europe will cease to exist October 15 and America, purified, will be the promised land and habitation of saints is the extraordinary belief among the Baptists of the Baltic States, according to the Northern News Syndicate's correspondent at Riga. The religious fervor has reached such a pitch that over 150 families have emigrated to Brazil, which is described as the new Palestine.

Judge Murphy, of Edmonton, Writes "The Black Candle," a Book Packed With Alarming Statistics and the Saddest Kind of Human Interest Stories Concerning the Ravages of the Opium Traffic in This Country.

By Prof. W. T. Allison
It is the habit of these dark shadows, says the author, to playfully shake some "snow," that is a combination of cocaine and powdered heroin, into the hand of a friend and suggest that it be sniffed. No sooner does the friend take the powder up into the nostrils than he becomes immediately stimulated, excited, happy. This is why the stuff is called "happy dust." Because of the joyous effect the young fool is induced to believe that he is on a "deck" of the powder for $1. A few doses and the habit is formed, and in nine cases out of ten the deadly work of the drug is done before the addict is a victim or his relatives perceive it. The bones of the nose soon begin to decay and hemorrhages set in. It is the most diabolical of drugs, for it attacks the lining of the nose and brain. The victim becomes emaciated, extremely irritable, nervous, suspicious, fearful of noise and darkness, and without ambition and without tempered to the extent of viciousness. Boys and girls lose all sense of moral responsibility, affection, and thought being to get the dope and consort with dope-taking friends.

DRUG ADDICTS OFTEN BECOME CRIMINALS

The opium traffic is a menace to civilization because it is responsible for a great many of the crimes committed in America. The records of the city of New York show that 85 per cent of the prisoners arrested for the violation of the narcotic laws were drug addicts. Some authorities claim that as high as 95 per cent of drug fiends become law-breakers. The most violent crimes are committed by drug addicts. The effects of the heroin or cocaine habit. These drugs are also favored by peddlars in the white slave traffic and by prostitutes. Opium and morphine commit the more brutal crimes. It is quite possible, in fact very probable, that the hands of the drug addict are busy with the traffic in opium and morphine. THE MOTHERS OF CANADA MUST WAKE UP

Mrs. Murphy has some very stern words of warning for the mothers of Canada, who are allowing their drug users, or more than three or four. Yet, before the Federal police left this town they laid evidence before the local authorities which led to the conviction of nearly fifty persons of most of their pedlars. Note what Judge Murphy says here concerning the young people who out of curiosity begin to use the drug. "The entire heroin traffic," he writes, "is the saddest feature of the whole business, that boys and girls are forever wrecked while they are in the grip of the drug. Some brightly and first-hand stories are related by Mrs. Murphy from her own experience in dealing with silly girls. She even goes so far as to say that drug addicts should be confined to children on the streets of the larger cities of Canada and the United States."

ERED IN VANCOUVER

Mrs. Murphy does not depend simply on her own personal investigation. She has marshalled facts and figures presented by numerous observers with whom she has been in correspondence. One of the most impressive contributions, however, is a statement laid before the Trades and Labor Council of Vancouver last March. The magnitude of the narcotic drug traffic in Canada is made very clear in this portentous report: "The amount of narcotic drugs legitimately sold in Canada in 1921 was valued at $1,484,400, including 1,484,400 ounces of cocaine, 5,285 ounces of morphine and 1,440 pounds of opium. Drug addicts known to Vancouver police are estimated at 900. The amount of drugs used per addict per day is from $1 to $15 worth. If each addict used only $1 worth per day, the total amount sold in the Dominion per year legitimately being $182,484, the balance of drugs used by addicts in Vancouver alone would be valued at $730,032. The estimated number of addicts in Canada and the United States is 2,000,000. On the basis of $1 per day per addict, the total amount of drugs used by addicts in the Dominion annually is $730,032. To this statement Mrs. Murphy adds a note saying, "As the minimum for a drug addict is $30, it can be seen that this estimate represents a total of $21,900,960, or more than twice the amount of the total value of the goods produced in the Dominion."

HOW THE TERRIBLE HABIT IS FORMED

Many people contract the drug habit because morphine was used to alleviate their pain when they were ill, but others begin to use some form of opium just for the fun of the thing. Mrs. Murphy tells us that in a New York clinic last year that out of 2,000 persons who were treated for the habit, 429 were under 25 years of age, and 2,482 from association with friends. Scoutmaster Wins Unique Distinction

SETTING a record for Scouting in Canada the British Columbia Scout Troop and Wolf Cub Pack leaders have graduated from the Byng Camp just concluded at Roberts Creek, on the Mainland, with colors flying. Seventeen picked officers from representative B. C. troops and packs attended a special instructional course under Rodney Wood, a special representative of Sir Robert Baden Powell.

The entire list of seventeen passed the practical training course; and a Victoria officer, Scoutmaster Sykes, gained the unique distinction of being the first "Wood" badge man in Canada. The Wood badge is the only badge of proficiency open to Scout Officers, and was gained by Mr. Sykes when he passed his theoretical, as well as practical training.

From the camp, which was provincial wide in scope, and designed solely as a special instructional course for officers, the B. C. Scouts have won a feather in their caps in that the instructor, Rodney Wood, a scout worker of pre-eminence and close to the personal training staff of the Chief Scout, spoke highly in praise of the scouting spirit in the units of this Province. It was a delight to him, he told them, to find that in the farthest West Province Scouting had reached such a high degree of success.

By passing the entire school of seventeen the B. C. Scouts have captured the Canadian record; their nearest competitor being Alberta with ten successful. Through the success of Scoutmaster Sykes B. C. also captured the only Wood badge in the entire Dominion, a record that speaks volumes for the growth of the Scout movement on this coast. In passing it is learned that B. C., according to the estimates of provincial officers who have access to figures, will have redoubled its Scout population in the past 12 to 15 months when statistics are prepared at the end of this month or so.

The Byng Camp training is what is known as the "Gillwell" course. After the present course in the Old Country which is held by the leaders of the world-wide movement. The B. C. officers to attend were Sea Scoutmaster Masters, Scoutmaster Langdon, Scoutmaster Withers, Scoutmaster Colton, Assistant Scoutmaster Nordan, Assistant Scoutmaster Grant, and Assistant District Commissioner Parkinson, all of Vancouver; Scoutmasters MacArthur, Frampton, and Sykes, of Victoria; Scoutmaster Allen, Naramata; Scoutmaster Sainsford, Revelstoke; Scoutmaster New, Galiano; A. S. M. Trevor Keen, Cobble Hill; S. M. Heywood, Burnaby Lake; A. S. M. Watney, Altona; District Commissioner, Ottawa; Under-Rodney Wood were A. S. M. Lister, Patrol Leader King, and Scout Beattie.

In spite of the fact the weather was poor, and that rain was almost a constant factor of the camp, the practical programme was carried out in full. The programme was recently outlined in these columns, and consisted of camp training, and a field day with J. W. Winston, a noted B. C. ornithologist, who gave an instructive series of lectures in the field on the bird life of this Province. An official from the Provincial department of Forestry likewise contributed another interesting day to the programme by outlining the tree, and shrub vegetation of the Province, and fire prevention methods in the bush.

The Byng Camp, the first of its kind to be held under the direct auspices of an emissary from Headquarters, London, England, was a tremendous success, it is stated, and hopes are expressed that the Ottawa headquarters for a space, will repeat the instructional period next year. Mr. Wood left at the close of the camp for Banff, and will return via Calgary to Winnipeg and thence to Ottawa.

In connection with the Wood proficiency badge it is interesting to note how the badge is connected with the life of the founder of the Scout movement, Sir Robert Baden Powell. During the Zulu war the Chief Scout captured Dinizulu, a Zulu chieftain, and worn by the captor was a necklace of a peculiar design. The Wood badge is a replica of two of the beads from the Zulu necklace. Some of the hallmarks of instructional proficiency among Scouts. In capturing the Wood badge, S. M. Sykes of this city has won the first award of that unique nature to be gained in the Dominion. The officers who passed out at the Byng camp, are well on their way to the Wood badge, having only the theoretical part to go. The portions of the scout training to face before gaining the coveted distinction.

Y.M.C.A. Boys Have Attractive Programme

IT means a great deal to a boy to have a place to play, and the right kind of fellows to join him. Enrolled under the auspices of the Boys' Work Department of the Y. M. C. A. there are now 500 boys between the ages of 10 and 17 years. These under a club system featuring control by their own leaders, are undergoing what is known as the "Four Square Plan" of training boys for service. The programme carried out features physical, social, devotional and educational branches, making the whole a well rounded life of interest to the normal healthy boy.

Here the boy finds fun and friends of the right kind, and is guided in the upbringing of a strong, clean body and a sane wholesome mind. He is taught by association with others to "play the game, and above all the value of useful successful living. Some of the features of the Winter training include basketball, gymnasium classes, swimming, indoor club entertainments, reading, talks on a large variety of useful and instructive topics, and many other matters.

The classes are divided into preparatory, Junior A, Junior B, students, junior, intermediate employed, swimming, and gymnasium classes. The preparatory classes are for those of ten to eleven years of age; Juniors, twelve to fourteen and intermediate fifteen to seventeen. Under the direction of chairman Ira Dilworth, Harold C. Cross, secretary; and Delmer H. Buttrick, assistant secretary; the Boys' Work Committee this year has commenced on a winter programme that is already an assured success.

While the fees charged the boys in each group are nominal, some there are who can with difficulty meet this provision. These, the underprivileged, can be sponsored by adults who in this manner make possible the attendance of the under privileged, a deed of true merit.

FOR CHILDREN The Sandman Story For To-night

THE CHARITY OF MR. FOX Part I.

MR. FOX was not a very charitable creature but one day he decided that a large pile of turkey and chicken bones was not a safe thing to have back of his house in the garden where he had thrown them, so he began to think of some way to be rid of them.

While he sat on the door steps in the sun smoking his corn-cob pipe Mr. Fox was thinking how he could have the bones removed from his premises and not have to do the work himself. But after thinking it over a while he decided that he could not get them away from his yard without carrying them. Now, where should he put them so he would not be thought the thief who stole the farmer's poultry?

Mr. Bear came to his mind first, but then he knew that would not do, for Mr. Bear cared more for honey or a young pig. No, Mr. Bear was not the one to whom to give these bones.

"There is Mr. Coon," thought Mr. Fox, "I am sure he would be glad to have those bones to use for his garden. I have heard that bones make good fertilizer, but his wife is such a suspicious creature she would be certain to see my plan. She would never no wife around about and find them, and then find me who will keep those bones after I give them to him.

"Ah, Mr. Possum, he is the very one," exclaimed Mr. Fox slapping his knee. "I will get a bag and take them over at once, for not knowing when Mr. Dog might come snooping about and find them, and then find me."

It did not take Mr. Fox long to put the bones in a bag, and with it thrown over his back he made his way through the wood to the home of Mr. Possum.

Mr. Possum was taking a nap, but the knock on his door aroused him, and when he opened it he stared sleepily-eyed at Mr. Fox as he swung the bag from his shoulder to the door steps.

"Mr. Possum," said Mr. Fox, "I know it is about time for you to begin your garden, and I have brought you a little gift, some fertilizer to make things grow fast."

"I do like above all things to share what I have with my friends. I am a very charitable sort of creature and my neighbors have a very warm place in my heart. Now I have more than enough of this kind of fertilizer, so I am leaving this for you."

Mr. Possum rubbed his eyes and said he was very much obliged for the gift though he had no idea what it was and by the time he had opened the bag and looked inside Mr. Fox had trotted some distance away.

Mr. Possum was not very clever, but when he saw those bones he was smart enough to know what would happen if Mr. Dog happened to find them in his yard. But the bag was pretty heavy. He could not carry the bones back to Mr. Fox. Now, what should he do?

Mr. Possum stood scratching behind one ear and looking at the bones he had emptied from the bag when a loud, harsh laugh made him look over his head.

SERVICES APPRECIATED

As the prisoner, condemned, was being led away by the guards when his defence counsel rushed up. "I am sorry I could not do more for you, old fellow," he began, to be cut short by the convicted man. "That's all right, five years is enough."

Amateur Wireless Status Improved

RADIOTELEGRAPH regulations, applying equally to radio-telephony issued in the Canada Gazette under date September 23, 1922 contain much that is of interest to the amateur wireless enthusiast and should be read by all such. For instance, provision is made under section 19 of the issue in question, for amateur broadcasting stations.

The license in this case is granted only to an association, which must assume responsibility for its operation. It is restricted to twenty-five miles radius using a wave-length of 250 metres at specified periods. Amateur experimental licenses are obtainable for 175 metres for spark stations, and from 150 to 225 metres continuous wave transmission.

Amateurs with transmitting licenses are advised to look-up the regulations in question on the point of the stop signal, "STP" which when sent by a government radio station orders all amateur stations into silence until the release is sent.

Another important feature of the regulations concerns the possession of amateur receiving licenses by those of other than British nationality, heretofore not permitted. This is a concession to Americans and others who have long been denied this favor, and were under an unfair disadvantage where they sought to carry on radio amateur work.

Amateur receiving license may be had from the superintendent of Government radiotelegraph stations here, E. J. Houghton, or from the postmaster in the larger towns and cities. The regulations, as now amended are decided in making easier the lot of the amateur, and puts the Canadian wireless fan on a more even plain with that position long enjoyed by the wireless enthusiasts across the line.

Only a wise use of these concessions can win their continuance, and to this end all amateurs should be zealous in seeing that they do not trespass across the border of what is forbidden.

Pirates Still Range the Seas

THERE are still wide tracts of sea which captains, unless well armed and manned, are careful to avoid. One of these is the Black Sea. A little over a year ago Black Sea pirates boarded the steamer Soudra, overpowered her crew, and got away in the ship's boats with plunder to the value of a quarter of a million sterling.

But the boldest pirates are Chinese and Malays, and the worst stretch of sea is that lying between the Malacca Straits and the Japan Sea, says an article in The Sailor. A French steamer, Robert Lebaudy, was attacked not long ago. The ship, after leaving Canton, took on thirty "passengers" at Kung-Ki. These were pirates in disguise, and no sooner was the ship out of sight of land than the robbers held up the crew with pistols, broke into the strong-room, and secured booty to the value of $4,000. One woman was shot dead in the fray. The captain was forced to steer a course for land, where the pirates were put ashore with their plunder.

The Riff pirates, who keep watch on unprotected crafts on the coast of Northern Africa, have long been dangerous customers to small sailing vessels. One of the most notorious pirate chiefs was El Moro Valiente. Some years ago, with his men, he seized the British sailing ship, Consuelo, and secured much plunder.

Nowadays, however, piracy does not flourish in this district, owing to the activities of armed craft patrolling east of Gibraltar, but the lawless Moors still occasionally attack and despoil slow moving sailing ships when the opportunity occurs.

A bold act of piracy was the attempt to seize the American steamer Buckman after she had left a Californian port. This attempt was made by two men who had boarded her as passengers. It was frustrated by the timely appearance of a fireman, who struck down one of the men with his shovel.

That these pirates are not wanting in audacity is proved by the fact that they do not hesitate to board large vessels, for the Buckman was a 2,000-ton steel screw steamer.

The actual boarding is usually done after dark, the crew is taken by surprise, and the pirates have done their work before proper resistance can be made.

Sea Plants Are Living Creatures

MARINE vegetation belongs almost exclusively to one class, that of the algae, or seaweeds. Though the vegetation of the sea is by no means as large as that on land, nature has given compensation to the waters of the ocean by the creation of polypi, which are animalcules living in vast colonies. These existences are, so to speak, animals in the shape of plants, and minerals in the form of animals. More than 2000 different varieties are known to-day. In temperate zones the sea flora is the more magnificent, growing scarcer towards the Equator and the Poles.

Some sea plants are so minute that it takes a microscope to see them, while many are formed of animalcules that require 25,000,000 of their kind to fill one square inch of space. Observers near the island of Lucon some years ago saw a stretch of thirty-five square miles of sea tinted a bright red. This coloring proved to be due to a very minute sea plant which spread from the surface to some considerable depth, being in fact an immense colony of little creatures that clung together. The Red Sea owes its name to habitual presence of this form of sea plant life. In days gone by these little creatures remain near the surface of the water but at night sink towards the bottom. The weed is known as the Red Trichodesmium, a terrible name for so tiny a creature.

Other sea plants have been known to extend, for the single plant, over 500 feet in length. Sea plants have no roots. Those which float are round or membranous. Their whole existence they owe to the water receiving everything they need from it and returning everything to it.

Deriving nothing from the land, even the bed of the sea, these plants adhere, whether they be attached at all, to granite or limestone, or anything that is handy, it matters not. Corals and shell fish are similar in this respect, having no leaves, but expanding and growing by layers. The sea plants take every form imaginable from great solid masses of living creatures to tiny shapes of gossamer beautiful in form.

The Padina Pavonia resembles the ruffled tail of a blue gull; the Red Docked Delesseria would deceive almost anyone if it were called a fern; the Ulva looks like the top of a horse radish; while the Nereocystis looks like a nest of seedling onions. So it goes with many forms of marine plant life resembling land vegetation, while others are surpassingly beautiful, like rare orchids.

The under-water world presents as much interest to the artist as land features, while to the scientist it is a source of delight. Man has not yet begun to know marine life and the never-ending wonders of nature in the depths of the deep blue sea.

Goldie Locks Finds a New Playmate

PEGGY looked at her dolls and decided she was tired of them all. There was Goldie Locks, whose flaxen tresses had been shorn off when the little girl had got in a temper one day and torn them out one by one; there was Brave Heart, a tattered rag dog with nothing but his head recognizable as a member of that species, long ago he had lost a leg, his two ears and a tail; there was Teddy, a brand new mouse colored teddy bear, but unless now as his arms were split open and the sawdust had ebbed away, until the poor fellow looked like a wraith of his former self; and so it went, each doll more battered than the other.

"I don't like you; I don't like you," cried Peggy, as she counted her dolls and flung them from her one by one. They lay, finally, piled up higgly-piggly in a corner in most uncomfortable positions, while the little girl flounced out of the play room in high dudgeon. That was in the morning. In the afternoon Peggy's mother entered the room to see that all was in order and found the heap of discarded playmates. Taking them in her arms Mrs. Thornton carried them from the room. Calling Peggy to her later, Mrs. Thornton asked her did she not want the dollies any longer. Peggy said crossly, "I am tired of them; they are all old."

Without further delay Mrs. Thornton carried the entire bundle down the street to a grocery shop and there gave them to the man behind the counter. "Give them to the first little girl who would be glad of them," she requested. Mr. Muggins, the grocer, promised to do this, and that really was what started the long train of incidents that was to follow in its wake. You see Peggy had thought that dollies were inanimate things to be battered and pounded at will.

Next day was Saturday and Mr. Muggins, at the store, was a busy man. It was not until he caught little Bertha casting longing glances at Goldie Locks that he remembered the words of Mrs. Thornton. "Have you no dollie," he asked kindly. "No, Daddy has been out of work and we have to go easy, you know." In the wistful reply from the little girl who apparently had been listening to her parents talk. "Well, allow me to introduce Goldie Locks," said the grocer, "Goldie Locks was left here by Mrs. Thornton for you." "For me?" asked the little girl incredulously. "Yes, for you, and here is a dime belonging to her, being part of her dollie's bank account," replied the good man taking a coin from his own pocket.

Brave Heart passed to a little red-headed boy rejoicing in the name of Mike, who lived with his grandfathers on the hill. Teddy, and his brothers handed her their left overs, and things they did not want themselves; and so it went until all Peggy's playmates, discarded so cruelly by her, had passed into hands that hugged them closely and loved them dearly. Let us, Little Reader, pass now, and take a look into the new homes of Peggy's discarded dollies.

Bertha, whose Daddy was out of work, we find engaged in painting a wig on the top of Goldie Locks. To be sure the wig thus engrained is a little obvious; but still it is better than no hair at all. Goldie Locks took on a new dress, fashionable in that it was taken from the costume section of the evening newspaper, indeed made of the paper itself. Little mittens that Bertha had grown out of were made over by that industrious little girl until Goldie Locks had an elegant pair of pincushions, like a doll's. Goldie Locks took on a new lease of life, and was very dearly loved.

Brave Heart, the tattered rag bow-wow, carried off in triumph by Mike was rechristened immediately and now rejoices in the name of Sport. Sport then had his remaining legs shortened a matter of some inches and by this economical means regained his fourth limb. His ears could not be found, but in their place Mike pasted on two brown leaves of about the right shape. Indeed after his turn in Mike's doll hospital, Sport looked a very waggish dog.

Man Finds Useful Purpose For Fish

COMING of a large family, the members of which are extremely useful to mankind, the cod fish forms one of the many fishing industries of Newfoundland. The capital, St. Johns is the resort for much of this industry. The cod are taken in small boats and brought ashore in large numbers.

The fish are opened, the interior cleaned out, and the liver put on one side. The fish then have the backbone extracted, are salted and placed in vats and subjected to pressure where they are allowed to decompose. The cod fish are cleaned of any impurities and are then exposed to the united action of sun and wind in long sheds or scaffolds built on the shore.

The fish soon dry, and when they have assumed a white bleached appearance they are technically said to be "in bloom" and are ready for the market. The livers are put in oak tanks where they are allowed to decompose. The first oil which is strained from the livers is the cod-liver oil which is used for medical purposes. A second oil is obtained but of less value. The cod industry supplies a living to large numbers and is a thriving business.

The Neighbor's Fire May Be Your Fault

AS you know all through Canada this week, Little Reader, a special effort has been made by fire departments acting under orders from Ottawa, to teach us all the danger and loss from fire. Canada in 1921 lost $45,000,000 from this cause, to say nothing of the very great expense in addition of the upkeep of municipal and other fire fighting forces.

This large sum must be paid by the people, which in turn makes it harder for all to get along. If you, Little Reader, when you grow to adolescence are as careless as the grown people in this cause as those paid nowadays by them; but by learning care in this respect the fire loss will be cut down and conditions made easier for all.

A few of the common causes of fire are set out by the bulletins of the fire prevention force as follows: The spontaneous, or self-combustion of oils, paper, waste, benzine, rubbish, oily rags, and paint materials; and the thoughtlessness handling of matches, grass fires, smokers supplies, chemicals, and electricity. Each and all of us should see that we take no chances with our own premises and property and in this way will learn to add in the protection of the property of our neighbor.

Help your daddy clear away rubbish that has been allowed to accumulate. Do not play with matches. If you see oily rags or waste paper around, tell your parents. Make sure you know the nearest fire alarm box; get your parents to explain how it works, and what you must do to turn in an alarm. Never ring a false alarm for by so doing you may be the cause of some fellow child being killed in the run of the racing fire engines. Learn how to call the fire department by telephone, but of course, do not actually do so. If you see anyone being careless, let them know you are better informed, and a worthy citizen of Canada.

SLIGHTLY ABSENTMINDED

"Jiggs is absentminded!" remarked a business man to his friend.

"Why, what has he done now?" queried his companion.

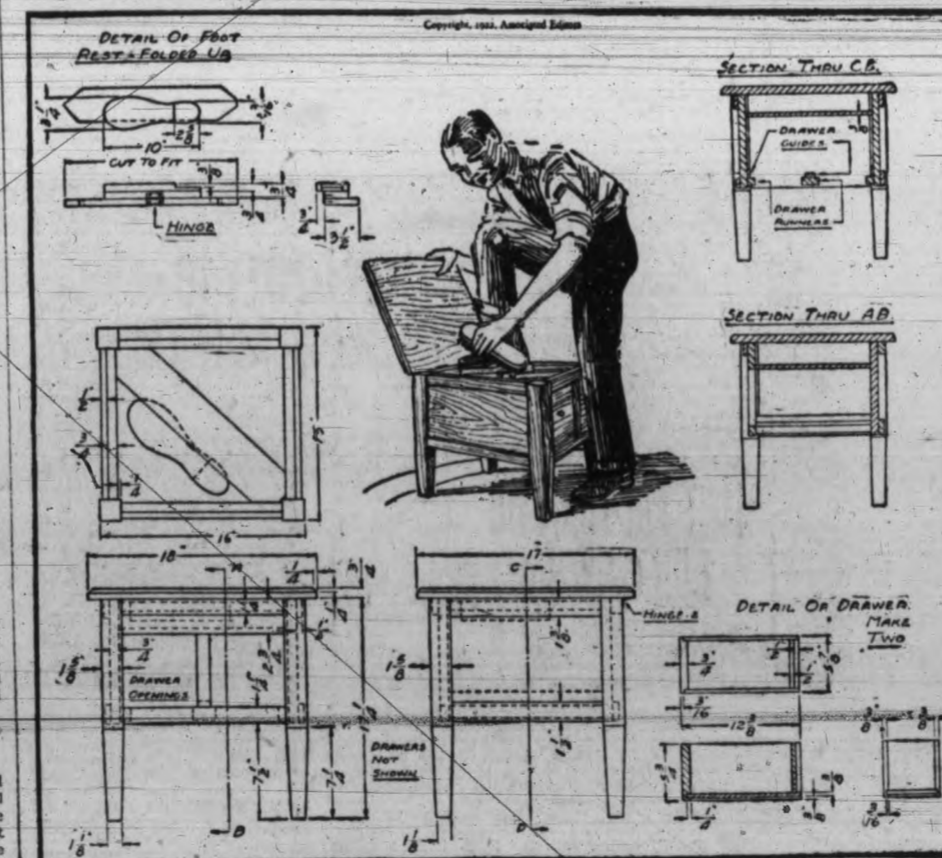

"Well he left his office, hanging out a card saying he would be back at three o'clock. He forgot something and went back. Seeing the card he sat down until three o'clock to get in."

How to Make a Shoe-Shining Cabinet

Materials—Any good wood, dowel pins, brads, glue, hinges, paint.

Spend at least ten minutes studying the above diagram. Cut, plane and sandpaper all pieces as indicated.

Start to assemble by fastening the front, back and side pieces to the legs, using dowel pins and glue. (See the dictionary for "dowel pins," if necessary.)

The two big pieces that form the sides are set ¼-inch from the inside edges of the legs, quarter-inch strips, which serve as drawer guides, are braded along their inside lower edges, thus making the drawers run more smoothly than they would if they rubbed against the whole surface of the side pieces. Drawer runners are braded in place as shown.

A horizontal piece, approximately 12-inch by 13-inch, ¾-inch thick, is inserted above the drawers, and below the diagonal pieces to which the foot-rest is hinged. The hinge enables the foot-rest to be folded down inside when not in use.

Strip ¼-inch thick and 1½-inch wide, braded along the top and bottom edges of the front, back and sides of the cabinet, give it attractive panel appearance, without all the hard work of making panels in the regular cabinet-making style. Note that the back strip, to which the lid is hinged, is heavier.

Dimensions for drawers are the exact size of the openings. Plane them down a little to make them run smoothly.

Set all brads, putty all nail holes, and paint or enamel any color desired.

GREENWOOD'S GIFT OF ORATORY AT A FUNERAL

Moved the Widow to Believe His Eloquent Words.

Mr. Edward Shortt is translated to the English Bench and made a judge of the Inner Court as now seems probable, it is altogether likely that Sir Hamar Greenwood, Bart., still Chief Secretary for Ireland, will become Home Secretary.

Thus will Sir Hamar's experiences increase and his experiences have been as varied as are his accomplishments. When he was a school teacher in a Canadian village, not far from his home in Whitby, his services were in great demand at public events—births, marriages and funerals. He had a tongue like the pen of a ready writer, and what was still more important, was the only man in the district who possessed a plug hat.

Sir H. Greenwood

On one occasion Sir Hamar was invited to pronounce a funeral oration over a dissolute old Irishman, a well-known character in the village who, when he wasn't on the spree, was a lazy, easygoing, good-for-nothing garrulous Celt, whose wife took in washing to keep the roof over their heads and the family larder supplied.

The future baronet wore his "plug" on this auspicious occasion, and after Father Kelly had performed the religious part of the ceremony proceeded to eulogise the dead Irishman in the most complimentary terms he could command.

Not even Mark Antony mourning over the body of dead Caesar was more eloquent. He praised the old rascal until it seemed he must have been a paragon of all the virtues. He brushed aside his fallings as of little consequence, and he closed his discourse by lamenting—with tears in his voice—his untimely death and the loss to the community.

The widow was greatly touched. "Shure, Mr. Greenwood," she said, when he had finished, "Shure, I'm much obliged to ye. I niver realised 'till I heard ye spake, what a saint Michael was, and what a treasure I lost."

Famous Brother and Sister

THIS is A. S. M. Hutchinson, author of "If Winter Comes," the most widely read novel last year, who has just published "This Freedom," which is also going to be widely read and discussed. Born in India, the son of a general, he served during the war in the Royal Engineers and was for a while attached to the C. E. F. His sister, Miss Vera Hutchinson, here shown, is the author of "Sea Wreck" and other novels, and while not reaching the pinnacle to which her brother climbed, has achieved considerable reputation as a writer.

MEIGHEN'S WEAKNESS A LIKING FOR CANDY

RIGHT HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN, Conservative leader and former premier, has a liking for other sweets besides the sweets of office. One of the duties of Mr. Meighen's secretary is to see that no candy is left around where he can reach it for, if any is within the sweep of his arm while he is at work, he will keep eating it until he is made ill.

Mr. Meighen's ability to concentrate on his work is a tradition at Ottawa; and, while he is grinding out a speech or looking into blue-books for deadly ammunition to use in parliamentary debate, he eats the candy just as another man might keep on smoking. Since his health is none too good at any time, sweets in any quantity have a bad effect on him.

Political opponents who might want to put Mr. Meighen "out of business" just before any particular platform or parliamentary fight could do no better than to slide him a box of bon bons, but the dirty work must be done when his secretary's back is turned.

Mainly About People

A GOOD LEGAL GRIP

MAJOR EDMUND SWEET, lawyer, of Brantford, Ont., recently had an adventure that started like a tragedy and ended in a joke—on him! The major, who was summing at Port Carling, was out alone in a canoe following his favorite sport, fishing, when in changing his position the fickle craft capsized and the occupant found himself in deep water clinging on for dear life. Fortunately his good wife, hearing cries for help, with the assistance of a lady friend, sped to her husband's rescue in a "put-out," reaching her almost exhausted husband just in the nick of time.

On returning to terra firma Major Sweet found he had lost forty dollars out of his pocket, a fine new fishing rod, his legal dignity—but, he had saved his fish!

Why Lord Atholstan Is Not Baseball Fan

A Severe Chill May Have Been the Cause.

LORD ATHOLSTAN, proprietor of The Montreal Star, has no great liking for baseball and never permits the game to be featured on the sporting page. One reason why Montreal does not loom large on the American baseball map may be traced to this failure of The Star to exploit the game.

A few years ago, Lord Atholstan was returning from England and was due to arrive in New York.

Several of his business assistants happened to be in New York—and, as they were ardent baseball fans, they decided to try to get him out to a game and turn him into a "fan." They secured excellent seats for a game to be played, big league ball, the day after he was to arrive.

The baron came and duly agreed, after pressing, to attend the game. He went out with the party and was placed where he would have a splendid view of the field. But the weather, which had been warm when the umpire called out the batters, turned very cold. His lordship was not prepared for the change and contracted a severe chill.

Ever since that, Lord Atholstan appears to be confirmed in his view that baseball is a wretched performance at best. Nobody has dared to mention "baseball" to him since.

Dignity to the Winds To Make Concert "Go"

When Col. Thomas Gibson Danced the Highland Fling.

LEUT.-COL. THOMAS GIBSON, C.M.B., D.S.O., the well-known corporation lawyer in Toronto, who attained during the war the position of deputy minister of militia overseas, went over with the 168th Bn. Oxford Rifles, as second-in-command. He took a deep personal interest in every man in the unit and soon became a favorite with all ranks.

When the battalion was settled in Camp Borden and the men had made their exploration of the locality, time began to drag heavily for them in the long summer evenings.

The major, as he was then, got busy and arranged an open air concert for them, had a platform erected and a huge bonfire built and acted as chairman of the proceedings.

There was some excellent talent among the boys as he knew, but much to his surprise nobody could be persuaded to come forward to render any kind of a selection at all. Community singing was tried, but it seemed to lack life. Finally Major Gibson strode to the centre of the platform and in the most disgusted tone said: "Well if I have to put on the entertainment too, here goes," and to the astonishment of all, tore off his tunic and leggings and commenced to dance a Highland Fling.

He did it well, too, and came back with a sword dance as an encore, to the most tumultuous applause.

It is needless to say that after this the men all turned in to show their major they appreciated his efforts and it became a long remembered concert indeed.

THE SNORES OF KNOWLES AS AN AID TO HUNTING

A MONTH or so ago R. E. Knowles, the well-known writer, was camping out, accompanied only by his son and a forest guide, in the wilds of Temagami. One night, around the camp fire, the guide entertained his company by reproducing the rascous cry wherewith the moose are called by the hunters. This greatly impressed the younger Knowles. Shortly afterwards, he and his sire "hit the hay," sleeping in the same tent. Now R. E., sr., at least so it is said, can snore about as eloquently as he can talk, and he himself has been heard to say that he used to sleep over his sermons in order to relieve his Galt hearers of that necessity. Anyhow, about 2 a. m. he felt a rude shaking and heard a voice imploring: "Dad, wake up—if you keep this up we'll have a couple of moose round here first thing you know."

Beards in Irish Politics

THE tall pleasant man is Darrell Figgis on his way to the first opening of the Dail Eireann in Dublin after the deaths of Collins and Griffith. It was Figgis, you remember, who had the beautiful flaming red beard which some rascally rebels sheared in a most inartistic and brutal fashion. The second growth is evidently doing nicely, judging by the amount of whisker seen in the photograph and the smile which Darrell is seen wearing. It should not be long now until it resumes its place as one of the most famous beards of history, the most famous in fact since that of Phillip of Spain was singed by Drake. Figgis besides having a beard is a well-known critic and writer. The other gentleman is Lawrence Ginnell who was thrown out of the Dail, beard and all, the same day that Figgis brought his rejuvenated whiskers there. Lawrence has been making a hobby of being thrown out of parliaments. When he was Nationalist member for North Westmeath in the British House he was asked to leave in 1916 and in 1917 was removed by the sergeant-at-arms and four henchmen, after an unruly scene. Now that he is a member of the Irish assembly the same fate meets him. His beard has really nothing to do with the treatment he receives, except that its very mildness only serves to accentuate his belligerency.

"The Big Dragoon A-beating Down the Night" Goes As One-Legged Hero to South Australia

Major-Gen. Sir "Tom" Bridges Was One of the Legendary Figures of the Old Contemptibles—An Incident of Le Cateau.

MAJOR-GENERAL SIR GEORGE TOM MOLESWORTH BRIDGES, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O., has been appointed governor of South Australia in succession to Lieut.-Col. Sir William Ernest George Archibald Weigall, K.C.M.G.

Maj.-Gen. Bridges, or "Tom" Bridges, as he is affectionately known throughout the service, is one of those officers whose daring and initiative won for them a legendary fame in the old army. He lost a leg in 1916 when he was severely wounded while in command of the 19th Division.

The most familiar of his many exploits occurred during the retreat from Le Cateau. Bridges, who was then a major in the Dragoon Guards, was sent to collect a party of some 250 stragglers who were lying too exhausted to move on the road between St. Quentin and Rouppe. Their own officers had failed to induce the worn-out men to stir.

Bridges bought a toy drum in a village shop and found a man who could play the whistle pipe. With the aid of this improvised band he contrived to march the men away. This incident was commemorated by Sir Henry Newbolt in his poem, "The Toy Bandit." One stanza runs: As long as there's an Englishman to ask a tale of me, As long as I can tell the tale aright, We'll not forget the penny whistle's wheedle-dee-dee

And the big Dragoon a-beating down the night. Gen. Bridges was born in 1871, entered the army as a field gunner in 1892 and during the South African war was present at the reliefs of Ladysmith and Mafeking.

After the retreat from Le Cateau he was given command of the Fourth Hussars and was sent by Sir John French to report on the siege of Antwerp. One of his most distinguished services to the allied cause was during the German push for Calais, which he stopped by his own personal initiative.

He was with the British military mission to the Belgian army and with the greatest difficulty induced the Belgians to open the sluices of the Yser and thus flood the country.

WHY DID GALT COUNCIL LAUGH AT THE MAYOR?

HIS Worship Mayor Charlton of Galt, Ont., who, in private life, is a popular doctor, recently set the council chamber laughing. The council was discussing the question of who was actually responsible for the payment of the funeral expenses of a certain foreigner who was murdered in Galt last spring, and his worship was giving his views on the subject.

"It is not a personal question," he said, "I have no feeling in the matter on that score—as a matter of fact, I am good friends with all the undertakers and—"

But the rest of Dr. Charlton's speech was lost in the roars of laughter.

NIVEN'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM A DASH TO DEATH

FREDERICK NIVEN, the English author, is still living out in Nelson, B.C., but has had a narrow escape of doing otherwise.

He and his wife and a mining engineer were climbing the Kokanee Range, about 8,000 feet above sea-level, when the engineer slipped, and went tobogganing down a steep snow slide, and as they were all three roped together he dragged the others headlong after him. After desperate struggles on the long descent, they brought up violently against a wall of rock, and contrived to crawl to safety, badly bruised, but luckily alive.

PADRE STARTS FOR BLIGHTY

COL. REV. A. M. GORDON, D.S.O., M.C., formerly of Kingston, but now assistant pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Montreal, was a most heroic chaplain. He was beloved by all who had the privilege of knowing him.

He never missed a battle, and in one of the earlier hard-fought shows he dropped asleep on a stretcher in the advanced dressing station, utterly worn out in assisting the wounded. A fresh ambulance drove up, and the crew loaded the sleeping padre into the ambulance.

The jolting over the shell-torn road awakened him and he returned to stern duty, foregoing the pleasures of Blighty.

Trust Herb Lennox to Find Way Out of a Fix

Nimble Wit of Member for North York is Shown.

IN common with the late Sir John A. Macdonald, T. Herb Lennox, K.C., M.P.P. for North York, has the faculty of recalling the name of anyone whom he has once met. But in just one instance his memory played him false, with better result than he could have dreamed of.

However, than if the person's name had come to his mind.

A few years ago he was strolling through the picnic grounds overlooking Lake Simcoe in company with the late Hon. James J. Foy. Mr. Foy was introduced to one after another as the twain passed along, when suddenly the very energetic wife of a well-known farmer approached Herb and made the usual fuss.

Herb Lennox started the introductory between the lady and Mr. Foy, but, sticking when it came to mentioning her name, he finished abruptly as follows: "Mr. Foy, this is the lady I was just telling you about."

There is no record of the number of friends she told that day and afterwards of how the two notables had been discussing her when she happened along.

Normal School Head A Hangman at Night

Dr. S. J. Radcliffe of Toronto Was Good for Business.

THE following amusing incident is told by Dr. S. J. Radcliffe, principal of the Normal school, Toronto:

A few years ago while principal of the Normal school in London, Dr. Radcliffe accepted the invitation of the public school inspector to travel with him inspecting the rural schools in Lambton county. At night they stopped in a little hotel in the village of F—, which at that time was under local option, and while the inspector prepared his daily report the doctor would spend his time reading in the sitting-room.

The first night as he sat reading he noticed a steady flow of men coming into the room, turning wide eyes on him for a moment, then passing on down the long hall to the bar-room. On the following night the performance was repeated, with the addition that after making the trip to the bar the men returned to the reading-room and sat down. The crowd increased until some were forced to sit on the floor. There the doctor sat reading, knowing full well all eyes were fixed on him. Lowering his paper occasionally he would speak, but the only answer he received was a dropping of the gaze all around.

Dr. Radcliffe, thoroughly puzzled at last, asked the proprietor the meaning of the curious stares. After exacting a promise from the doctor to not be angry, the proprietor said: "I have spread the report that you are Radcliffe, the hangman, and the story is plausible, as there is a hanging to take place at the county seat in a few days."

"And why did you tell them that?" asked the doctor.

"Because it's good for business," replied his host, and then Dr. Radcliffe, recalling the flow of customers down the long hall, had to agree.

DRURY HELPS PICK FAMILY XMAS TREE

DEMANDS upon the time of Premier Drury of Ontario are exacting, but there is one day that he has reserved for many years. That is the day before Christmas.

On the day before Christmas, Premier Drury and the children of his family make an annual pilgrimage into the bush on his land near Crown Hill to select the Christmas tree. Of course, for many days before the children have been picking their favorites and there is always great debating and measuring of one tree against another until "the tree" is chosen. Then it is cut down by the premier himself, who shares Gladstone's love of tree-chopping, and hauled home in a parade of rejoicing.

The tree is set up in a large room where a grate fire burns brightly and is ready to be decorated. "People who do not get the habit of selecting their own tree out of the bush do not realize the real fun of Christmas," said the premier recently.

INDIAN ROOT INCREASED PROWESS OF DR. HUGHES

No Doubt at All About Its Strange Power.

DR. JAMES L. HUGHES, the veteran educationalist, has probably passed through more outstanding and interesting experiences than most men. But there is one experience of which he has a particularly vivid recollection, although it happened in the long ago when he was one of Toronto's star lacrosse players.

While sojourning in New York for a brief period he fell into conversation with a local Indian. And as James L. was keen on athletics in general and lacrosse in particular, they naturally became the subject of conversation, during which the red man informed his white brother that he knew of a certain root that if chewed during an athletic contest imparted sustaining powers of a miraculous description. "Indian, he chew it and run all day without getting tired," explained the red man.

James L. naturally wanted to know the name of the root and the source from which he could obtain a supply. The desired information being readily furnished, he procured and carried back with him to Toronto a substantial package of the magical root.

A few days later, before one of those periodic contests between the Torontoes and the Shamrocks for the lacrosse championship, Mr. Hughes put the alleged magical root to the test by not only partaking of it himself, but by supplying the fellow members of the team as well, at the same time, of course, explaining its power. Whether it was the potency of the root or the psychological influence that the chewing of it had, it is claimed that the Torontoes on that day displayed extraordinary staying powers and won the game.

But the magical powers of the aforesaid root did not end with the game, as far as James L. was concerned. After the game, having to catch a train, he hurriedly grabbed his suit case and sped down Jarvis street toward the Esplanade. Just as he reached the foot of Jarvis street he beheld the train bowling along with increasing momentum. Nothing daunted, James L. threw his valise on the front platform of the first car encountered, and then, waiting for the rear platform of the last car, nimbly jumped on board.

But the potency of the root, a portion of which he was still chewing, had not yet been put to the final test, for just as Mr. Hughes was drawing a deep breath and congratulating himself on his prowess, he happened to glance along the track behind him. And there, to his chagrin, was his valise lying prostrate on the ground. Immediately leaping from the platform, he ran back, picked up his valise, and then not only speeded after the train, but finally overtook it.

If you doubt the truth of the incident, ask Mr. Hughes.—W.L.E.

TO COOK A LOON

Uncles Augustus, the sage of the village, was engaged in conversation with one of the young hunters who was enjoying the good ducking.

The young hunter wanted to know something about a loon.

"Ye never see a loon?" asked Uncle Augustus in amazement.

"No," replied the young man, "I never did. Are they good to eat?"

"Yes, they're good ter eat, if you know how to cook 'em. You see, you put the loon in a kettle of boiling water, and set it on the stove. Then you drops a flatiron in it, and when the flatiron is done the loon is ready ter eat."—Judge.

Their Total Ages Are More Than Five Centuries
