#4. Editing Wikipedia with Visual Editor
Wikipedia is the largest online encyclopedia and one of the most popular sites on the internet.
Wikipedia is an online encyclopedia written and maintained by a community of volunteers, known as Wikipedians, through open collaboration and using a wiki-based editing system called MediaWiki.
Five Pillars of Wikipedia

1. Wikipedia is an encyclopedia

2. Wikipedia is written from a neutral point of view

3. Wikipedia is free content that anyone can use, edit, and distribute

4. Wikipedia's editors should treat each other with respect and civility

5. Wikipedia has no firm rules
Wikipedia Statistics (total)

- 61,000,000+ Articles
- 294,000+ Active contributors
- 332 (320 active) Languages
The comparison between the number of printed encyclopedias and Wikipedia.

What is Visual Editor (VE) or visual editing?

1. Visual Editor is a feature on Wikipedia that allows users to see changes in real-time while editing.
2. The VE interface resembles Microsoft Word.
3. Making it easier for new users to edit without having to learn wiki markup or HTML code first.

Editing Simple Articles
Today we are going to learn ....

1. Adding links (hyperlinks);
2. Adding subtitles;
3. Adding references;
4. Adding a list of references;
5. Adding categories;
6. Adding files (optional);
7. Creating a new article.
Let's take a look at the example article below.
Let’s start editing!
Contributing on Wikipedia doesn't have to involve making numerous edits all at once. You can begin with simple edits, such as correcting spelling, punctuation, and the writing style used in an article. Any contribution, no matter how small, is highly valuable for the development of Wikipedia.
1. Open the article you want to edit by typing its title in the search box.

2. Click on the word "Edit" to enter visual editing mode (Visual Editor - VE).
This is how your page looks when you enter visual editing mode.

Note that the "Edit" tab is currently active. This indicates that you can now begin editing.
Now, let's try adding internal links in Wikipedia!
What is a hyperlink?

Internal links serve to connect one article to another within Wikipedia.

They can only be 'linked' if both articles already exist on Wikipedia.

Internal links are present within the body.
Adding Hyperlink

1. Select the words you want to link as internal links.

2. Click the icon.
