- 1600 Exhibit 1192: Extract from the Tokyo Nichi Nichi, November 29, 1941, showing that the Cabinet on November 28, 1941, approved a plan for establishing a new system in press circles. An Imperial Ordinance creating the New System will be issued under National Mobilization Law aimed at placing newspapers on a wartime basis.
- Reference KAYA was a Cabinet Minister.
- 1603 Exhibit 1197-A: Interrogation of NAGANO on March 26, 1946, showing that he had approved attack on Pearl Harbor and the fleets started for Pearl Harbor on November 26th or 27th. On or about November 28th or 29th a Liaison Conference was held which KAYA attended.
- 1605 Exhibit 1201-A: In TOJO's interrogation of February 20, 1946, he stated that the last Liaison Conference before the Imperial Conference was on November 30th. Although the names are not listed KAYA is cited as being a Cabinet Minister and therefore probably attended.
- 1612 Exhibit 1209-A: In TOJO's interrogation of February 8, 1946, he states that those who attended the Imperial Conference on December 1st were himself as President of the Privy Council, all or nearly all Cabinet Ministers, the two Chiefs of Staff, also HOSHINO, MATO, OKA. KAYA was Finance Minister.
- 1624 Exhibit 1232: Memorandum of conversations between HULL and NOMURA, December 7, 1941, and submitted the document he had been instructed to hand over. HULL asked whether the document was presented under instructions from the Government and NOMURA replied that this was so, whereupon when HULL finished he said that in all his 50 years of service he had never seen a document more crowded with infamous falsehood. At 1:20 p.m., the attack on Pearl Harbor had taken place. At 4 p.m., Washington time, the Japanese Imperial Headquarters announced that war began at dawn that day. KAYA was Finance Minister.

1605 Exhibit 1202: In a TOJO communication of March 18, 1946, TOJO stated that the Liaison Conference approved the gist of the final note for U. S. and it was then given to the Cabinet. The text of the final note was the responsibility of TOGO. TOJO was head of the Liaison Conference and this Conference approved the time set for delivery of the note by delegating the task to the Foreign Minister and the two Chiefs of Staff. The Foreign Minister knew of the time and day set for the attack as did the President of the Planning Board SUZUKI. The following are cited by TOJO as always being present at the Liaison Conferences: War, Planning Board, Foreign and Finance Ministers.

Reference: KAYA was Finance Minister.

1607 Exhibit 1204-A: In TOJO's interrogation of February 19, 1946, TOJO stated that Japan felt that by her final note breaking off diplomatic relations she acquired freedom of action from international treaties and international law. Prior to the attacks the whole matter of treaty responsibility and international law had been considered by TOJO and his Cabinet and this was the grave responsibility of the Foreign Minister. The whole Cabinet attended the Imperial Conference on the 1st or 2nd, which made the decision for war. Japan had been challenged and was acting in self-defense and from the standpoint of international law TOJO felt they were not impeded and this was the opinion of the Cabinet. With respect to time of delivery of the note there were various opinions advanced and argued between the Chiefs of Staff and Foreign Minister. The hour fixed was one that would not interfere with the success of the surprise attack but from the Foreign Minister's point of view the note had to be delivered before the attack. The possibility of victory was intimately related to time.

Reference: KAYA was Cabinet Minister.

There was an imperial Conference on December 1st, there was a decision for war but previous to that Conference the mainpoints of the note were reported to the Cabinet. As to the delivery of the note, instructions were sent previously to Washington stating that it was to be delivered at 1 p.m., December 7th, Washington time, to the Secretary of State. The instructions were sent by the Chief of the Cable Section of the Foreign Office and all members of the Liaison Conference knew of the sending of these instructions.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. HIGGINS AND MR. LAVERGE

Subject: Preparation of Cases Against Individual Defendants

The assignment of prosecution counsel to the cases against individual defendants made by Mr. Eugene D. Williams on 21 November 1946 is herewith amended by transferring the accused TOGO to Mr. Carlisle W. Higgins and Mr. A. T. Laverge.

Mr. Higgins

Decisions Taken December 22nd, 1946.

1. As to Chronological Summary, postpone decision as to method of use until the Tribunal has given its decision as to hearing of Defence Motions. If they are to be heard, use it as part of our argument in reply. If not, inform Tribunal of its existence and offer it to them during argument on application for adjournment.
(N.B. Question as to whether it will be necessary to translate it was not decided).
2. Counsel assigned to Defendants must be ready to reply to Motions to dismiss them from some or all counts at the end of Prosecution case, using the analyses as part of their material for this, and being ready to hand in written statements, if necessary. (Translation question again not decided).
3. We should neither support nor oppose the application for adjournment, but to assist the Tribunal in fixing its length, if granted, we should use the facts and arguments which might have been used to oppose it.
4. We should press the Tribunal to give their decision on Motions before they hear the argument on adjournment. If they decide to grant both applications, we should ask them whether the Motions are to be taken before or after the adjournment; we could not oppose the former.
5. We should immediately press Logan to produce to the Tribunal for their approval a scheme of the manner of presenting the Defence. When the Tribunal considers this we could ask for guidance as to Cross-examination and final speeches.
