

PETITIONS TO BE TRAFFIC VIOLATORS PRESENTED TO CITY BOARD PAY LARGE SUM INTO COURT

Question of Annexation May Come Up Before Eagle Rock Officials

Petitions have been prepared and will more than likely be presented to the Eagle Rock city trustees tonight, asking that they call an election in the near future to determine whether or not Eagle Rock shall be annexed to Los Angeles.

Residents of Eagle Rock are keenly interested in the outcome, as is evidenced by the fact that more than 700 names have been attached to the petitions. This is more than twice the number required by law.

In the event that the city trustees take action on the petitions at tonight's session, it will be several weeks before the question can come before the citizens in the form of an election for final settlement.

'TIGER WOMAN' ELUDES OFFICERS

Police Without Single Clew: Three Cliques Effected Her Escape, Belief

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Sift without a tangible clew and admitting frankly they are more mystified now at the daring escape of Clara Phillips, convicted "hamburger murderer," than the minute the alarm of her get-away was given six days ago, deputy sheriffs today resumed their search for the missing woman in the hope that some "break" would come in the wall of silence that has surrounded her disappearance.

Centering their efforts on the belief that the former chorus girl's escape was an "inside" job and known among the prisoners in advance, Under Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz continued the questioning today of every prisoner in jail to ascertain what the inmates knew of her break for freedom.

In Texas They Grab Ducks Out of Air

MARSHALL, Tex.—Reach up and take your pick! Clifford Harris, 14, was riding along a country road on his bicycle. A large flock of ducks were flying overhead. Curiosity apparently impelled them to make a closer inspection of the moving object beneath. They swooped down so close to the boy that he reached up and grabbed one by the leg. In spite of the duck's struggles the boy held on and took the captive home, where he took to cross it with some of the tame variety.

Where there is no understanding of nature's laws people perish through famine, disease and superstition. Where there is no moral vision people come to moral decadence."

HOLIDAY SPIRIT AT CITY LIBRARY

Those in Charge Give Out Suggestions for Choice of Christmas Reading

At Christmastide the covers of a book always seem to conceal a bit of the holiday spirit that isn't just like that suggested by other gifts. And maybe that's why the library is one of the busiest places in the city during the pre-Christmas days. It is in this rush at the holiday time that makes the library motto, "Service" a greater pleasure for the library staff and to impress this on their patrons and friends they have issued Christmas greetings and suggestions for Christmas book gifts.

Not Created in Vain "God has not created us in vain. He had a different purpose than to create us simply to have heartaches and pains and sorrows with but a few joys mixed with them and then to die and be no more forever." "God never makes mistakes. Heaven is a natural longing of the human heart. God takes care of the flowers of the fields. He satisfies the instinct of the animals and birds. Will He not provide a place to satisfy the longing for heaven?" "Laws do not change. Heaven for the good is inevitable. Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he reap. Heaven is not an arbitrary bestowment of the palm and the crown. This is no world of chance and random. It is because effect follows cause that we expect to reap. We don't reap in full here. "Of course, we begin heaven here and now. We enter into the joys of our Lord as soon as we begin to live the life of our Lord. The soul does not cease to grow in the eternal world. We shall go on advancing through the ages."

THEATRES

The Glendale Wesley Barry, the freckle-faced boy luminary of the screen, continues at the Glendale Theatre in his smashing hit "Rags and Riches." The show who remember him in his recent great success, "School Days," will have just such another opportunity to enjoy a feast of fun; and those who did not see the former picture will enjoy the chance to see this youthful star in one just as good, if not better. "Rags and Riches," as its name would suggest, tells the story of a boy's dream come true. "Aw, gee, I wish I wuz a millionaire!" he exclaims one day. And Fate is listening. What happens then makes a most fascinating and merry film.

The T. D. & L. In "A Woman's Woman," now playing at the T. D. & L. Theatre, charming Mary Alden is seen at her very best. In her very own type of character. And, in addition, a strong cast of supporting players back her in the leading feminine role. The main reason why "A Woman's Woman" is causing so much comment is its absolute fidelity to life, that warm inner home life to be found every day, everywhere, across the length and breadth of the land, from Broadway, New York, to Main street, Gopher Prairie. Charles Giblyn, who produced the feature, is to be complimented upon his artistic and dramatic achievement.

The MUCKER by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Now, Billy had not killed Schneider. He had been nowhere near the old fellow's saloon at the time of the holdup...

The new Billy Byrno was ready to accept at face value everything which seemed to belong in any way to the environment of that exalted realm where dwell the girl he loved, Law, order, and justice...

It seemed odd to Billy that he should be seeking anything from the law or its minions. For years he had waged a perpetual battle with both.

"First," thought Billy, "I'll go take a look at Little Old Grand Ave., then I'll give myself up. The trial may take a long time, and if it does I want to see some of the old buck first."

So Billy entered an "L" coach and leaning on the sill of an open window watched grimy Chicago rattle past until the guard's "Granavenoo" announced the end of his journey.

Maggie Shane was sitting on the upper step of the long flight of stairs which lean precariously against the scarred face of the frame residence upon the second floor front of which the lares and penates of the Shane family are crowded into three ill-smelling rooms.

It was Saturday and Maggie was off. She sat there rather disconsolate for there was a dearth of beaux for Maggie, none having arisen to fill the aching void left by the sudden departure of "Coke" Sheehan since that worthy gentleman had sought a more salubrious clime...

Maggie scowled down upon the lonesome Maggie. She hoped it was someone she knew, or with whom she might easily become acquainted, for Maggie was bored to death.

Daily News Letter General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TOMORROW—Roland Kress, New York correspondent, discusses how folks from the open spaces affect a bored air of sophistication and cosmopolitan nonchalance immediately after their arrival in the big town.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES For International News Service. WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—If you want to know what a "Lame Duck" is ask President Harding—HE KNOWS!

"Lame Duck" is an expression coined years ago by a bright newspaper reporter as describing a man in public life, usually in congress, who has fallen into disfavor with the folks back home, but who has his hankering to stay in public office undiminished. He has been winged, as it were, but not killed.

The Lame Duck Brigade of the capital is unusually filled as a result of the primary and election casualties, and the disposition of its members is not the least of President Harding's troubles by any means.

Not all of those who go out of congress want to remain in public life. To some it is a relief to get out, but to others it represents tragedy, and it is these latter that President Harding is expected to appoint to various posts.

Republican senators about to retire from the senate after years of service include McCumber of North Dakota, with 24 years in congress, entitling him to the command of the Lame Duck Brigade; Poindexter, of Washington, and Townsend, of Michigan, each with 12 years; Calder of New York, France of Maryland, Frelighughen of New Jersey, Kellogg, of Minnesota, Sutherland of West Virginia and New of Indiana, each with six years.

The Republicans did not suffer all the casualties. Among the Democrats there are Hitchcock of Nebraska, with 12 years' service, and Pomeroy of Ohio, also with twelve.

The national capital is filled with Lame Ducks from administrations extending as far back as Cleveland's first. There is one office building in Washington that houses more "ex-somebods" than probably any building in the world.

Defeated office holders like to stay here. It gets into their blood—the Washington life, with its assorted mixture of politics, international negotiations and social flutterings.

The "Psychology of the Lame Duck" which makes him settle down in Washington after suffering defeat at the polls was explained a few days ago by one of the most distinguished of the lot. "It's this way," he explained. "No man likes to be defeated, and no man ever was defeated for public office who did not deep down in his heart feel that his constituents had made a mistake. Perhaps he won't admit it to himself, but he always harbors a resentment against those who accomplished his downfall."

"The Lame Duck hates to go home and take up his interrupted life work amid the sympathy of his friends and the jeers of his enemies. No man likes to be pitied—particularly by his own home folks. "Here in Washington he can join the myriad other Lame Ducks, and instead of pity here there is only good-natured acceptance of the fate of scores of us."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories BY HOWARD R. GARLS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND NEDDIE'S HONEY. One day, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping along through the woods, not far from his hollow stump bungalow, he met Neddie Stubbait, the boy bear.

"Good morning, Neddie!" greeted the bunny rabbit gentleman, with a little little twinkle of his pink nose. "Where are you going, Neddie?"

"I am going after honey, Uncle Wiggily," answered Neddie, as he looked at one of his broad, flat forepaws to see if a thorn had stuck in, for Neddie had stepped on a chestnut burr coming through the woods. "Ouch!" the boy bear suddenly cried.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Don't you like honey, that you say 'ouch' when you speak of it?"

"Oh, indeed I like honey very much," growled Neddie, not that he was speaking cross like, but a growl was his natural voice. "The reason I said 'ouch,'" he went on, "is because there is a thorn in my paw. I can feel it under the skin."

"Let me pull out the thorn for you, offered Uncle Wiggily, and when the bunny gentleman had done this Neddie felt much better and, after thanking the rabbit gentleman, said: "I'll give you some of the honey when I get it, Uncle Wiggily."

"Thank you," replied Mr. Longears, with another twinkle of his pink nose. "But if you are going to the store for honey, Neddie, we had better hurry. It is getting late and I promised Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy that I'd be back early."

"Oh, I don't go to the store for honey!" laughed the boy bear. "You don't?" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Oh, that's so! Now I remember. You bear chaps get honey from the bee trees, don't you?"

"Yes," growled Neddie, "and I was on my way to the bee tree when I met you. Come, we'll go together and I'll give you some honey."

A CHRISTMAS PUZZLE

Here is a Christmas puzzle. I am hoping some of my Reader Friends will know how to solve it. I have been up against it over and over again and never have thought out a good solution so far.

Once upon a time some kind friend or relative, probably the latter, gave you as a Christmas gift an article which was either absolutely useless to you or absolutely offensive.

Perhaps Purple

Or maybe it was a necktie of a color that would never harmonize with any of the colors you wear.

Or maybe it was a pair of silk stockings of lovely color but of the wrong size.

Or perhaps it was some home-made jelly of a flavor you have a particular dislike for.

Anyhow, being full of the Christmas spirit (no, I am not going to inflame that pun upon you, do not be afraid) you thanked the relative for the gift with all the enthusiasm and apparent delight you could summon for the occasion.

Which was hypocritical, of course, but forgivable. Fancy Saint Peter keeping account of all the "thank you" lies. Why, he wouldn't have a moment for the more important parts of his job.

Another Bottle of Perfumery

But what happened next year? Of course you know, without my telling you, from bitter experience. You got another bottle of perfumery, another purple necktie, another pair of stockings that you could not possibly get on your feet, another batch of ginger jelly.

Why not?

You said you liked it. You were enthusiastic about it. Why bother to think up something new, says the donor, why not repeat his or her former success.

And there you are, absolutely caught on the horns of the dilemma.

To say anything now is not only to brand yourself a liar but to hopelessly hurt your donor's feelings. You didn't really like it after all. Her gift was a failure instead of a success. How uncomfortable that makes everyone feel.

But if you don't say anything you are likely to get the same gift year after year.

His Fatal Error

I once knew a man who had a row of perfumery bottles all unopened in his room, yearly monuments to such a mistake.

Oh yes, I know it's simple enough. You should have brank first time. Perfectly easy. Instead of that gracious letter, you could have simply written "I detest perfumery, don't ever send me any more," or "Why should you think I like purple? Did you ever see me use it?"

But once you have made the mistake of not following this obvious method there is no turning back.

Of course St. Peter doesn't bother to arrange punishments for these little hypocritical lies. He doesn't have to. The law of cause and effect attends to all that for him. As it does in many larger things.

Diet and Health

TUBERCULOSIS

Have you ever had tuberculosis—popularly called T. B.? It is possible you have. For it is estimated that fully half of the white human race has it or has had it.

At least autopsies show that 50 per cent of those who passed away in the hospital were labeled with some other disease than tuberculosis, do show T. B. spots in their lungs. These are where the T. B. germs have squatted to establish a homestead and have been summarily walled off by the reparative process in the lungs.

It is a great wonder that 100 per cent of us do not get T. B. through the carelessness of the sidewalk spitters and the careless way that people who are affected scatter their germs.

Every city has ordinances prohibiting sidewalk spitting, but they are not enforced very well. I stepped toward them with a smile they thought that they had made an impression. When I said my little say, their chagrin was comical. However, they acknowledged that they were careless and shamefacedly walked off. I'll wager they never spit to this day without thinking of me.

This is a good way to make an impression. I mean this. Don't take me facetiously. Sidewalk spitting is really a menace.

Thousands of Jap Workers Are Idle

TOKYO—The unemployment situation in Japan is getting very bad, according to a report made by the metropolitan police bureau of Tokyo, and in this capital alone an average of 400 people a day are applicants to the police for public alms and assistance.

During the six months from the first of the year a total of 354,900 persons came to Tokyo, the majority looking for work. Of these, only some 150,000 found positions, but with the coming of the colder weather, when street sprinklers, park laborers, gardeners and other outdoor laborers are not wanted, many of these will also be thrown out of employment.

Humble Bean Latest Product of Florida

TAMPA, Fla.—The land of the lomon, the orange, the grapefruit, the cocconut, the avocado and lots of other things, is also the home of something else, it has been discovered. And the lowly bean is it.

Peninsular bean fields are a sea of blossoms. Experts estimate that somewhere around 60,000 crates of army and navy diet will be plucked and marketed in Florida this year. Jensen county is a big yielder.

BEAUTY CHATS

WRINKLES

A new treatment for wrinkles comes out almost every week. To read the literature about these just-discovered methods, one would imagine that the millennium had arrived and every woman could now go fresh-faced and young all her life. Whereas, in truth—

Well, in truth, a tiny bit more is known each year about the skin and no doubt some time a grand cure for wrinkles will appear. But we know of none yet. We do know that as a woman ages the tiny, tiny muscles that lie beneath the skin, relax and sag, so the skin falls into creases which mark themselves all over the face and are generally called wrinkles. And when we combat this natural tendency, we use the methods the Greeks and Chinese used in the days of their ancient civilization—we have variations and improvements, to be sure, but we employ unguents to feed the skin and astringents to stimulate it—and there we are.

Masks have always been effective in treating wrinkles, many of the effeminate French kings used pink face creams and silk oiled silk masks of various delicate colors. But something more comfortable and something often quite effective, is a bit of silk court plaster, pasted over the wrinkle, after the wrinkle has been gently smoothed out with the fingers.

Sometimes massage cream is used first. Personally, I think simply smoothing out the wrinkle, applying the plaster and letting it stay on all night, is the best way; the cold cream massage and other stimulating measures can be taken in the morning.

Many readers tell me they have found this a most effective way of treating the lines that run upwards from between the eyes.

The best method of keeping the nails cleaned when they are ridgy is to use a nail brush. A file will always roughen the nail's surface and as a result the nail collects soil. An excellent brush for such use is one that is concave. The concave should be very stiff and only about a quarter of an inch lower. Rub

WORD OF GOD IN HEART IS GUIDE

Teachings of Christ Hidden in 'Mind Protect Man,' Pastor Says

"Thy words have I hidden in my heart that I might not sin against thee," was the text yesterday morning at the Tropic Presbyterian church.

Dr. James C. Winnard asked his congregation to commit to memory not only the text but the sermon also. The sermon itself was contained in thirty-eight words as follows: "A good thing, in a good place, for a good purpose. The good thing is the Word of God; the good place is in my heart and the good purpose is that I might not sin against thee."

Keep Word in Heart

"The good place to keep this Word is in our heart. Here nothing can take it from us though all the world may know by it. It is a matter of rejoicing that so many have committed to memory extended passages of this Word. Should all the printed Bibles in the world be destroyed tonight the essential parts of the Bible could be reproduced tomorrow by the saints of God who have hidden this Word in their hearts."

Raleigh Act Loses Youth His Coat

HAMMONTON, N. J.—The "Sir Walter Raleigh" role essayed by a young Philadelphian here during a religious celebration has blasted his ideas of chivalry. He loaned his coat to a young woman injured by the explosion of some fireworks. Now the coat is missing, together with some money and a railroad ticket home. He has asked the committee in charge of the celebration to make it good. The matter is now before the town council.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE MAY COME AT ANY AGE IN LIFE

Weekly Health Talk No. 10
By Drs. Eble & Eble, Ds. C.

It is common belief that Bright's Disease is a disease found only in those who have reached maturity. The facts are that it is often found in children, where, of course, the youth of the patient is a big factor for recovery. A child with this disease is pale and inclined to be cross. There is a puffiness of the eyelids and a distention of the abdomen noted. Later the peculiar dropsical condition develops.

The disease is caused by pressure of spinal bones upon the spinal nerves to the kidneys. The fact that this has not been recognized as the cause of this disease is the reason for the common belief that it is incurable. The pressure on the spinal nerves to the kidneys causes the abnormal weakness of that organ and the gradual filling up of the body with the poisons that would ordinarily be eliminated by the kidneys. When the pressure is removed by chiropractic spinal adjustments the kidneys come back to normal and recovery follows.

BABY RACHEL SMITH RID OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE

"When our baby was 15 months old she was pale and cross and would not eat anything. Several times the family physician was consulted and finally as her condition grew worse a urine analysis was taken and the worst case of nephritis or Bright's disease I have seen in 15 years was reported. A specialist was seen and then a baby specialist was consulted, and finally we took her to a baby hospital. They discharged her as past hope and in that frame of mind we turned to chiropractic. After she had taken some forty adjustments an examination of her urine showed it free of albumin. A year has passed now and our baby is well and we cannot say enough for chiropractic."—MRS. HARRY SMITH, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1247.

BANK ACCOUNTS FOR XMAS

Every year an increasing number of people are coming to realize the advantages of Savings Accounts as a Christmas present to young people. It is a problem to select a suitable present and one that will carry with it a particular benefit to the recipient. The Savings Account offers a simple and practical solution.

It places the money which ordinarily would be invested in a gift of probably short life, directly in the hands of the young person in a way to encourage the development of those desirable qualities, which go hand in hand with thrift. Employers recognize that the thrifty employee is the more desirable one. He is steady, takes an interest in his work and is efficient. Many employers who have customarily given their employees a cash present at Christmas time, are this year giving that money in the form of an interesting Savings Account, with a view to encouraging the savings habit.

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

There is one man in the country who can't get the least bit excited over the proposed mixed match between wrestler Strangler Ed Lewis and fighter Jack Dempsey. This man is Tim McGraw, one-time manager of Tom Sharkey, and other pugilists, and known from coast to coast among the fight fans.

Tim tells about one occasion when a wrestler by the name of Tom Jenkins thought he was able to show up Tom Sharkey. "Jenkins thought," says Tim, as do most wrestlers, that wrestling is a better means of self-defense than fighting. They had been in the ring only a minute or two when Sharkey had Jenkins so seasick that he stopped the thing to save him from being meat for the sharks.

"I also remember another affair in Seattle," says Tim, "when a contest was pulled off between Al Kaufman and Doctor Roller. The whole thing was a frost. If Kaufman had not pulled his punches he would have had Roller out inside of a minute."

The chances are that if ever Dempsey and Lewis are brought together in the ring to compete in such a match that Dempsey will be a top heavy favorite. Few believe that the affair ever will eventuate.

WOOD COWAN

Joe Kirkwood, the Australian golfer, can pull more tricks in the form of shots out of his golf bag than the average magician can out of a silk hat. Joe can do everything with a golf ball but make it talk.

And that isn't all. Kirkwood plays as fine a game of all-round golf as any pro in the country. His swing is flatter than a door mat but he hits a low trajectory ball and at placing drives he has no rival.

Kirkwood stands about six feet and weighs around 170 pounds. His thick crop of curly black hair makes him look younger than 26. Modest and unassuming, he makes friends easily. Joe began playing golf at 11 and before he was old enough to vote was by far the best player in Australia.

His trick shots came to him gradually. He worked hard a long time to master them. He can entertain a gallery for an hour and a half without repeating the same stunt. He calls each shot and generally makes good on every occasion.

He will, for instance, tee a ball on a watch and drive it without injuring the timepiece. He also drives a ball off the toe of a man's foot or from under it. William Tell has nothing on Joe. Instead of shooting an apple off a man's head with an arrow, Kirkwood swipes the pill from the top of a person's skull without denting the dome!

Still another shot this phenomenon performs is to drive a ball from the tee while looking backward over the right shoulder. Then he can tee four balls one on top of each other, using a little sand between them, and drive each ball from the top down without disturbing any of the others. Teesing the balls side by side, he will drive the second or the third leaving the others in the same spot on the tee.

Lining five balls in a row, without lifting his head, he proceeds to play one after the other in rapid succession, driving the balls at various elevations from grass skimmers to sky scrapers, each shot assuming a slightly higher ascent than the last.

Taking a right handed club with the blade upside down, Joe makes a left handed drive. Some trick, and it's no dud shot either.

Kirkwood is a fine putter. Facing is, his whole game is sound. His pitching from the rough is uncommon. With the mashie he's a wonder—can do most anything with it. An elbow hole is made by a well executed slice or hook. His second shots are aces, for his control and judge of distance usually put him on the green.

Kirkwood is cool and confident. You never hear a hard luck story from him.

You can't keep a good man down—so Joe Kirkwood is surely in line for higher golf honors.

Sports Chatter

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Of late years there has been discussion all over the country on the relative strength of college football teams of the east, the middle west and the Pacific coast. There has been no definite way of actually telling which teams are the best. The so-called inter-sectional games have formed a base on which to further more discussion on this or that team, but even these games have not satisfactorily answered the question.

Comparative figures at times prove satisfactory on getting to a basis of comparison, but whether football fans all over the country will consider this a fair means of arriving at a conclusion is open for discussion. The U. S. Sports Service has compiled the figures of twenty-five of the leading teams from all parts of the country and not having any other mode of considering the merits of

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Even while the worthy inhabitants of Louisville, Ky., continue to go about their accustomed tasks with a strange singing in their non-acquainted ears, the annual long distance conversational test has been transferred to New York for its final four days. The contest is open to all and no recognized mode of expression is barred. It is simply a case of talk first and explain afterward.

The resumption of the contest is scheduled already by the Hotel Commodore with the annual meeting of the International league. The members, however, are minor league talkers and cannot hope to compete with those who will take part in the National league activities at the Waldorf tomorrow and in turn both must capitulate to the wider experience and establish fitness of the American league magnates who are due to convene on Wednesday at the Commodore.

In the latter connection Ban Johnson has already issued a brief oratorical warm-up by calling his meeting for Chicago in contravention of a previous agreement and then backing water, hurriedly and with little dignity.

Silver Cups Won by Wilson Boys

The presentation of two silver cups to the athletes of Wilson Avenue intermediate school was the big event of the athletic year at that school. Thursday afternoon the students marched to the athletic field and gathered there in a body. A. T. Blanford, supervisor of physical education in the city schools, and Miss Alice Foulke, presented the cups to Mr. Merrill and Miss Ada Sallstrom, who coached the soccer and volley ball teams which won the championships for Wilson avenue.

In a short talk to the students, Mr. Blanford emphasized the fact that the cups will remain in their possession no longer than the basketball season if they fail to carry off the honors in that sport. It can be battled for again during baseball and playground ball season.

Both Mr. Blanford and Miss Foulke complimented the athletes on the clean type of play and sportsmanship that have been demonstrated this season by Wilson avenue teams.

Doughnut 'Sheik' Is College Student

EUGENE, Ore.—"Through the university on a doughnut" might be the name of a story based on the personal experience of Roland Orne, of Portland. With two student helpers Orne makes hundreds of dozens of doughnuts each Saturday and disposes of them on the campus and around Eugene. Between January 1 and June 16 last year the "sinker sheik," as he is known, made 60,000 doughnuts, making Saturday a "holey" day, as one campus wit expressed it.

Bootleggers' Bail $9,000,000 in S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Nine million dollars in bail-money has been deposited in the Federal Court in the past eleven months to secure release of some 4,000 alleged bootleggers. Federal Prohibition Agent Samuel F. Rutter revealed in statistics made public today. At present more than $4,000,000 is on deposit, assuring the liberty of persons whose cases have not come to trial. Rutter estimates that to permit this enormous amount of idle capital the bootlegging "profession" must have a capital of $35,000,000 or more. Bail in each case amounts to from $1,000 to $5,000.

Everington, general chairman of the Community Service Christmas celebration, requests that the people of Glendale familiarize themselves with the official Christmas carols which have been selected for the celebration. In furtherance of this plan, The Glendale Evening News will print each day until Christmas the words and some historical notes of each of the carols. Readers are requested to cut out of the paper each carol for use in their homes. Organizations or groups which desire to practice the carols may secure some leaflets containing the text of all the twelve carols free of charge at the Community Service Christmas headquarters, the Chamber of Commerce, or the Glendale Music committee. The carol and historical note submitted for today, follows: God Rest You Merry Gentlemen (Traditional) God rest you merry gentlemen, Let nothing you dismay, Remember Christ our Saviour Was born on Christmas Day, To save us from all Satan's power When we were gone astray. Chorus— O tidings of comfort and joy, comfort and joy, O tidings of comfort and joy. From God our Heavenly Father, A blessed Angel came; And unto certain Shepherds Brought tidings of the same; How that in Bethlehem was born The Son of God by Name, O tidings, etc. Now to the Lord sing praises, All you within this place, And with true love and brotherhood, Each other holy embrace; This holy time of Christmas All other doth deface, O tidings, etc. "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen" One of the incidents of his crusty, unsympathetic days which Scrooge of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" learned to regret is thus described in the first part of the story: "Foggier yet, and colder! Piercing, searching, biting cold." The owner of one scant young nose, gnawed and numbed by the hungry cold as bones are gnawed by dogs, stooped down at Scrooge's keyhole to regale him with a Christmas carol; but at first sound of "God rest you merry gentlemen!" Let nothing you dismay!" Scrooge seized the ruler with such energy of action that the keyhole flew in terror, leaving the singer to the fog and even more congenial frosts. This is one of the earliest of the English carols, dating back at least to the seventeenth century. In quaint verses it rehearses the new testament story of the birth of Jesus. It is a song of joy and glad tidings even though it is decidedly minor in its tonality. But here, as in many other cases, the minor does not have a feeling of sadness, but rather produces the effect of quaintness of an old-time flavor. The vigorous marching rhythm also dissipates any suggestion of sorrow, and rather sets the heart and feet a-bounding in regular cadence. No wonder it has been sung by out-of-door carolers for centuries.

Modern Woodmen to Show Special Films Glendale camp of the Modern Woodmen of America will show on Thursday, December 14, at the T. D. and L. theatre, a film of their own entitled "The Value of a Life," presenting the thrilling and dramatic experiences of "George Gray" in his victorious fight against the Great White Plague—tuberculosis. The scenes of the film were made at the Modern Woodmen's free sanatorium at Woodmen, Colo., twenty miles northwest of Colorado Springs. This institution, which first opened its doors January 1, 1909, has cared for over 5000 patients and it is claimed that in most of these cases the dread disease has been arrested, by far the preponderant majority of the patients being returned to their homes fit once more to play their part in the game of life. Any beneficial member of the society is privileged to enter this sanatorium for free treatment, it is stated, subject only to the very reasonable rules of admission that have been established. The institution is maintained by the society's fraternal fraternal policy.

Further Violence in Ireland Threatened

DUBLIN, Dec. 11.—Following a wild night of incendiary fire during which republican irregulars applied the torch to homes of many Free State officials; a group of republican extremists today proclaimed threatening further violence. This manifesto said in part: "There will not be peace until the monster begotten by England (the Irish Free State) is finally destroyed. Rebels are active at Leenane, Tuam, Gallore, Hallynais. The heroine of the night fires was Mrs. Nean McGarry, who, when her home was set on fire by rebels, rushed to an upper chamber and rescued her three children, all of whom were badly burned. One probably will die. McGarry is a captain in the Free State army and governor of the Maryboro convict prison. Other homes burned belonged to Mrs. Wyse Power, a member of the Free State senate, and J. J. Walsh, of the Free State postoffice department. What did you buy in Glendale today? GIVE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Kitterman of 211 North Kenwood street, celebrated the fourteenth birthday of their daughter, Kathryn, with a birthday party Saturday afternoon, at which twenty young friends of the hostess were entertained. The holiday spirit was symbolized throughout by the use of California's gorgeous Yuletide flower, the poinsettia. The decorations of the table, particularly, exemplified this. Four tall crimson candles, one at each corner, burned in poinsettia candleabra. The centerpiece was a specially-made birthday cake with a poinsettia design wrought in red icing. Place cards and favor baskets further carried out the motif. Numerous games were enjoyed, among them one in which the object was to see how many words could be made from the letters in the word "Washington." An exciting game of indoor baseball was also played. The list of guests follows: Misses Janice Brown, Betty Glade, Helen White, Evalyn Meeker, Jeannette Yarbrough, Virginia Horner, Neida McLain, Leone Percy, Rebecca Pratt and Masters Preston Hanning, Donald Murry, Charles Hart, Fred Kopietz, Douglas De Pew, Roland Edwins, Tom Muff, Jack Bennett,

Searchers Fail to Find Lost Aviators

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 11.—There was a growing fear among army aviators here today that the airplane in which Colonel Marshall, a staff officer, and Lieutenant Webber, left here Thursday for Tucson, Ariz., came to grief in an enforced landing in the mountains or crashed downward through a great air pocket on the Arizona desert. The eleven scout planes which have been searching for the lost plane since Friday were today concentrating on the great expanse of waste country south of Gila Bend, Ariz., Major Arnold, commandant of Rockwell field, said.

Entire Population Searches for Assault

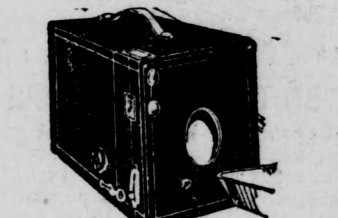

STREETMAN, Ala., Dec. 11.—Posses are searching the surrounding country here today for a negro who early this morning assaulted a young woman, attacking her at an out-house near her home and binding her mouth with rags. All business and schools have closed and the entire population has joined in the search. Bloodhounds have been sent for from Huntsville. It is almost certain a lynching will follow if the black is apprehended. Women used safety pins 3,000 years ago.

FACTIONS BATTLE ON SHIP SUBSIDY
 Bill to Cause One of Biggest Legislative Fights in Years, Belief

By J. BART CAMPBELL
 For International News Service.
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Both sides "dug in" today for the senate battle over the ship subsidy bill which is expected to develop into one of the most bitter legislative struggles ever waged in that body.

Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington, chairman of the senate commerce committee, planned to throw out the first skirmish line of the administration forces by moving the bill to the "unfinished business" and thereby given the right of way over all other pending legislation.

Senators Borah of Idaho; La Follette of Wisconsin; Norris of Nebraska, and Capper of Kansas, were among those of the little progressive group on the Republican side who stood ready to join the Democrats in attacking the proposed subsidy, and employing various tactics to block its passage.

GUARD BROTHERS, MINISTER'S TEXT IS NOT WORLDLY
 Rev. Edmonds Declares We Should Teach Mankind Gospel of Christ

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, at the Presbyterian church yesterday, the eleventh anniversary of his pastorate, preached from the words, "We are verily guilty concerning our brother." (Gen. 42: 21).

"The great Dr. A. J. Gordon," he said, "divided ordinary congregations into three classes: 'Anti-mission people, pro-mission people, omission people.' The last were greatly in the majority. How shall we escape if we neglect to tell so great salvation?"

"We are guilty, first, of disobedience. Christians for 2000 years have been face to face with Christ's 'Go ye.' This matter is a test of discipleship. The spirit, back of the going, is the test of the obedience."

"Next, we are guilty of disloyalty. Loyalty is one of the things demanded today, and we need to emphasize it in this connection. The call of our Christ is higher than all the calls of men. And His reward is higher. Again, we are guilty of a breach of trust. It is no ordinary, small thing that you are in the church, bought with the price of Christ's blood. The gospel of Christ is given to you in trust, you are a trustee."

"Further, we are guilty of absolute cruelty. In heathen lands they turn out the helpless and aged to die, and let this happen. Shame on this turning-out business! And they count it a catastrophe to have a girl baby. Our privileges of womanhood are only because of the gospel of Christ."

Must Indict Church
 "Again, the church must be indicted for indifference, unbelief about the need of the world. Do we really believe that the world is lost without the gospel? How will you fix it up on judgment day? 'Look at these scars in My hands and side; depart from Me, I never knew you!' If you don't care, you haven't been born again."

"The church today is guilty of avarice. God put that money in your pocket. Those in heathen squalor, going into idol temples uselessly, dying by millions in despair,—you are spending for yourself what should go to save them. We ought to give fifty-fifty. Whenever the church measures up for the neighbor of the world, it always has more to give. How much value do you place on an immortal soul?"

"The wonderful Scudder family in India,— that missionary wife and mother prayed her seven sons and two daughters into the kingdom and into a vast work. Every birthday in the family she spent out of sight in prayer. God will run out of stars before He gets done with their crowns. You mothers, this is the greatest aim that is possible to you."

"Let God have His way with you and all yours. Be done with a small program. Tie up with God!"

CHRIST'S FAMILY
 Rev. Brooks Asserts We Must Accept Jesus Before We Can Enter It

"There is much loose talk in these days about all being sons of God," remarked Rev. Keith L. Brooks yesterday morning in the council chamber of the city hall. He addressed the Men's Bible Class of the Presbyterian church.

"All Scripture is opposed to this theory," he said. There is only one way to come into the family of God and that is to be born into it, a second birth resulting from the acceptance of Christ as a personal savior. We are the children of God by faith in Jesus Christ.

"John says that when one becomes the child of God the world will not know him because it knew not Jesus Christ. The man who is the world's good fellow, shows that he is not born of God. The spiritual life is unintelligent to the world and it usually despises it."

"When He shall appear, we shall be like Him for we shall see Him as He is. While it is wonderful to know that we are already the children of God, the future is even more wonderful and glorious."

Apostle Informs Us.
 "The Apostle Paul tells us that as the result of faith's present vision of Christ the believer will be more of the likeness of Christ himself. If we are near of kin to Him the royal likeness will be visible while we are yet in this life. If this change can be brought about while as yet we do not see Him what will be the effect when at His coming we behold Him in His unveiled glory."

"John adds that every man who has this hope of Christ's coming will purify himself. The church in recent years has lost much, not only of joy and comfort but of purity through the fading away of this hope. It is no mere visionary dream without power over the daily life. It is a secret spring of holiness."

"The man, who believes that Christ has not only saved Him by His sacrifice upon the cross but that He is coming in power to set the world right, has Christ in his thoughts more than any other man. Our hopes quicken our spirits. It cannot but inspire him to holy living."

BARRETT AGAIN LEADER OF POST

In speaking of the re-electing of Rev. C. R. Norton to his thirteenth term as post chaplain, Commander Barrett said:
 "Comrade Norton has been honored for his long and faithful service by being elected chaplain for the thirteenth term. His services have been highly appreciated by the post."

Charter Member
 R. N. Taylor was another to receive re-election. He is to again serve as officer of the day. Mr. Taylor is one of the charter members of the N. P. Banks post, and, as in the case of Commander Barrett and Chaplain Norton, his re-election indicates the appreciation of the post members for his devoted service.

Commander Barrett and his daughter, Miss Isabel Barrett, are looking forward to going to Pomona on Thursday of this week to attend the anniversary celebration of the Isabel Barrett Tent, No. 25, Daughters of Veterans, at the home of Mr. Barrett's daughter, Mrs. H. G. Brown at 1701 South Park avenue. The tent was named for Mr. Barrett's wife whose death occurred fifteen years ago.

Making Plans for National Orange Show

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 11.—Announcement is made that plans are rapidly being formulated for the Thirtieth National Orange show, which will be held in San Bernardino February 16 to 26. California's greatest mid-winter event will be larger than ever before, according to R. H. Mack, general manager.

The National Orange show for the first time will be given on its own grounds. One of the greatest features of the orange show park will provide for automobile parking inside the grounds, with machines available to the visitors to the show at any time.

Already the demand for space is great, both in the fruit tent and in the industrial section. The Mutual Orange distributors have taken one side of the fruit tent, and will exhibit citrus fruits from thirty-five different localities. The M. O. D., in addition will have a wonderful feature display. Many other fruit organizations and communities have reserved space and are busy on their exhibits.

"An entirely new and novel decorative and lighting scheme will be presented at the forthcoming show," said Manager Mack. "We are now able to present our show in a better manner, providing more conveniences and confidently expect an attendance of more than 200,000 visitors at this great mid-winter classic, because of the fact that we have our own grounds which permit us to make more comprehensive plans than ever before."

Dr. Theodore P. Noehle is the newest member of the dental profession in Glendale. He arrived recently from Kenosha, Wisconsin and has opened offices in the new Monarch building at Brand boulevard and Harvard street.

He gave up a practice of many years standing in Wisconsin to come to Glendale and he states that he and his family are delighted with California and that he is most enthusiastic about his field.

Dr. Noehle is declared qualified for all kinds of dental work and especially for children's teeth work. He has had much experience in dental work, for this straightening of teeth. For this work he spent twelve years in the children's clinic in Kenosha.

Cole Jewelry Store Has Xmas Bargains

The R. L. Cole Jewelry store at 106 East Broadway offers many temptations for the Christmas shopper. It is an attractive and satisfactory shop at any time of the year but a jewelry store always seems to hold special interest at the holiday time.

When Mr. Cole remodeled his store recently he installed the latest type of furnishings in French grey enamel, the show cases and wall cases providing ideal settings for displaying his extensive stock of all kinds of silverware, jewelry, cut glass, hand-painted china and clocks.

Mr. Cole has another store in Whittier and the proven fine features of it he added to his plans for his Glendale store.

Sharing in the store room is Dr. C. L. Marlenee, optician, who has ideally arranged and equipped offices and laboratory. Dr. Marlenee not only tests the eyes but he also does his own lens grinding and mounting.

Dr. Marlenee has been in Glendale for four years, having come from San Bernardino, where he served for five years as examiner for the Santa Fe railroad employees.

In inviting the public to visit them Mr. Cole and Dr. Marlenee announce that they are fitting out a comfortable rest room, where women and children may meet or stop for a rest during the shopping tours whether they are patrons or not.

Many People Visit J. H. Shafe's Store

It didn't take Glendale shoppers long to find the way Saturday to J. H. Shafe's new book, stationery and art shop at 125-A South Brand boulevard.

The store had presented an attractive appearance even in the unpacking and arrangement of the stock, but the real pleasurable surprise for Glendale merchants and shoppers was Saturday morning when there was revealed to them a shop that from display windows to the topmost book shelf was in readiness for the reception of visitors. It is a store of which any city might be proud.

The business is not a new one to Mr. Shafe and this is perhaps why his store has such an atmosphere of quality and permanency. Visitors received Saturday were unanimous in their compliments of the artistic window displays and the arrangement of the interior. Everything has its place and each place harmonizes with the article displayed.

Several floral pieces were received Saturday by Mr. Shafe in complimentary recognition of his entering Glendale's business circles.
