HONOLULU PLANT ON DISPLAY HERE

Very Rarely Seen in This Country; Being Shown at Federal Bank

A plant that is attracting a great deal of attention from Glendale residents is on exhibition in the window of the Federal Savings and Commercial Bank at the corner of Wilson avenue and Brand boulevard. It is loaned to the bank through the courtesy of T. J. Fambrough, 206 North Orange street, who brought it with him when he returned from a visit to Honolulu three years ago. The plant is a native of that country and is very rarely seen in California.

"This flower, called the plumaria," said Mr. Fambrough, "attracted my attention as soon as I had arrived in Honolulu, and its beauty and delightful odor impressed me so strongly that I decided to try and transplant it to my home in Glendale. Accordingly when I returned, I cut a branch from the plumaria tree for it really is a tree, although the one on exhibition is only the size of a plant. On arrival here three years ago I stuck it in the ground, where it took root and has grown steadily ever since. In this climate, which is colder at night than in Honolulu, the average growth per year has been about three inches, although in its native country it will grow as much as three feet in one season. I have seen the trunks of the tree as much as eighteen inches in diameter.

Wonderful Blooms
"But the most wonderful part of it is the flower. The blossoms appear in a cluster at the end of each limb and remain in bloom for about six months. At the end of that time the stalk on which the bloom appears drops off and several little shoots which next year will have blossoms appear. The blooms are always at the end of the limbs, and when the tree is old enough for these to be of any size, the effect is charming, and the odor most pleasing."

The blossom of the plant on exhibition is of a delicate pink shade in the center, fading out to a snow whiteness at the tips of the petals. There are some half dozen blossoms in the group, and the effect, while not of the magnificence that a whole tree would present, is enough to give any one who has not seen Honolulu a good idea of what the picture would be.

Mr. Fambrough is a great lover of plants and flowers, and brought several other seeds and shoots back with him. Three years ago he planted the seed of a native Honolulu guava in his back yard and this year the tree bore for the first time. The harvest was only three guavas, but they were delicious, says Mr. Fambrough. A guava is about the size of a small apple, and the pulp is of a mild acidity. It is used largely in making jellies and preserves.

Political Warfare Looms As Rival Candidates for Office Appeal to Voters

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff.

TUJUNGA, Nov. 22.—Confusion reigned in political campaign camps along the Tujunga river today when word reached the campaigners that Professor Xavius Zantippe of Glendale had been nominated for president on the meat ticket last week. August September, the famous perpetual calendar king, was found asleep in the folding bed of the river with one foot in the mouth of the canyon. On being handed the bad news he became very downhearted, but perked up at once.

"I had hoped to be nominated on the meat ticket myself, but since the professor has beat me to it, I will have to change my tactics. On thinking it over, it seems only natural that he should be chosen on that ticket. I have often heard Mrs. Zantippe tell how, in the days when the professor was courting her, and came every Sunday for dinner, he literally ate his way into her heart. What he can do to a meat with a few simple tools—but let there be no mud-slinging in this campaign."

Angles for Chinese Vote
"I am still a candy date. In fact, I am a whole confectionery store. I hereby announce my own nomination on the laundry ticket. That gives me the Chinese vote and maybe the women will fall for it. Naturally, there will be a wet plank in my platform. My campaign slogan—let me see now—make it 'Washington or bust—or both.'"

At this point a slight commotion arose behind the opposite wall of the canyon. Mr. September hastily assured those present that there was no cause for alarm. "That is only my rubber stamp stretching itself," he said.

Daughters Are Favorites
"There will be no favorite sons in this campaign. Rather will the daughters be favorites. I am opposed to foreign entanglements—unless they are young and pretty. Mrs. September crossed the bridge of the nose on the face of a cliff just then, and the politician hastily shifted his eating tobacco."

Loyal Wife's Support
"Well, I'm in favor of your election," replied Mrs. September. "You're no good around the house anyway. You're just like your father. He thought he was a politician, too."

"My father would have become commissioner of ash cans and rat traps if he hadn't died of throat trouble."

"Yes, he contracted hemorrhage on the adam's apple, didn't he? Well, I can't be bothered with politics. You men may enjoy it, but my idea of a wonderful time is watching the men in funny hats on Brand boulevard." With that, she flounced across the bridge again.

"The Missus and I never fight," said August. "We did have some words once, but I never got a chance to use mine. My antecedents and past life will stand the closest investigation and scrutiny. There was once a fortune in the family, but some unwise ancestor

CALIFORNIA BOY HONORED AT YALE

Wins Scholarship as Prize in Studies; Elected to Phi Beta Kappa

The many Glendale friends of Mrs. Harry B. Sturdy, 2807 La Salle avenue, Los Angeles, will be pleased to hear that her son, Herbert, also well known in this city, has been accorded outstanding honors by Yale, according to an announcement made yesterday by the Yale Club of Southern California. Certainly no Los Angeles boy, and it is doubtful if any California student, has ever won greater honors in an eastern seat of learning than Sturdy has at Yale.

He has just been awarded the Waterman scholarship, amounting to $800, which is the largest prize offered by Yale to its students. This scholarship was established in 1890 by a gift of $40,000 from Mrs. Helen Evans Waterman in memory of her husband, Thomas Gladwy Waterman. The income from the fund is awarded each year to a senior who has shown marked ability.

Wins More Honors
Sturdy has also been recently elected to the Yale honorary senior fraternity, the Elhu club, one of the greatest honors obtainable. He is a member of the varsity track team, has maintained the highest standard in scholarship of any man in his classes during the entire three years he has been at Yale, and during the past year has attained the highest scholarship grade of any man in the history of Yale under the present system of grading. Among the honors he has won is a membership to the Phi Beta Kappa and election to the vice-presidency of the Yale chapter. He is also a member of Zeta Psi national college fraternity.

What makes his achievements all the more remarkable is the fact that he has worked his way through college, holding one of the scholarships offered by the Yale Club of Southern California. He is now an applicant for the Rhodes scholarship to Oxford.

Herbert Sturdy graduated from the Los Angeles high school in 1920, where he had been a leader in scholarship and school activities. His record of achievement is one of which any boy might be proud and is a fine example to present to the young people of this city who will leave the high school at the end of the present term.

GREETING FROM MRS. C. H. TOLL
Mutual Benefit Reading Circle Gets Message From Its Founder

Old members were specially honored yesterday at the meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, at the Public Library, and one of the great pleasures of the event was a greeting from Mrs. Charles H. Toll, founder of the circle, who was unable to be present because of a club engagement in Monrovia, as president of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman, directed the meeting, Mrs. Florence Wintersgill gave a review of "Getting the Boy to Read," and Mrs. Alma J. Danford, librarian, spoke on "Children's Reading: The Importance of first gaining the child's confidence, and then starting the reading at an early age."

The women were most interested in the reading by Mrs. Henry of an article by Mrs. Toll, on "Mothers' Reading Circle Successfully Conducted," appearing in the October issue of "School Life," the publication by the Bureau of Education in Washington, D. C.

Vaudeville Artists Try Variety Stunts
Among the acts tried out today at the high school for presentation on the night of December 13 and 14, was a drill of the senior girls directed by Charlotte Busby. The juniors submitted two numbers, one a jazz orchestra and the other a burlesque on Romeo and Juliet. The sophomores staged a King Tut stunt under the direction of Elsie Whitney.

Both the boys' and girls' athletic department presented two plays, one "The Proposal" and the other "The Trusting Place," by Booth Tarkington.

Mrs. George U. Moyle and A. L. Ferguson, vice-principals, were the judges.

EXPLOSION WINS AWARD OF JURY

Local School Paper Takes First Prize in South's Journalistic Field

Winning championships and first prizes is such a common occurrence this year at the Glendale Union high school, that it is rather a difficult task to keep up with list, but one event of importance in this line, is the announcement made yesterday by Principal George U. Moyle, that The Explosion, the weekly paper published by the students of the high school, had been declared the best submitted to the judges in the competition for school publications from schools of southern California in class B, having between 800 and 1800 students.

The Explosion, published entirely by the students, under the direction of Loren Scoville, editor-in-chief, is a weekly newspaper chronicling all high school activities, appearing on Tuesday.

Members of Staff
As a result of the award, the local paper will, in the future, carry a crest on the first page, stating that it was awarded first prize in the journalistic contest of southern California.

The personnel of the staff is as follows:

Business staff—Business manager, Horace Anderson; assistant business manager, Fred Guerdet; circulation manager, Golburn Danner; advertising manager, Robert Henderson.

Contributors—Don McMillan, Arden Gingery, Clifford Hepburn, George Burroughs, Harper Cobb.

Spanish War Veterans Nominate Officers

At the regular meeting of the Spanish War Veterans, Camp No. 67, Wednesday night at K. P. hall, corner of Park avenue and Brand boulevard, nominations were made for officers for the ensuing year. The election will be held the first Wednesday in December.

Dr. W. C. Mabry, commander, presided over the business meeting during which two new members, Scott L. Shook and Willard S. Tetra, were initiated.

The camp accepted an invitation from the Ensign Bagley Post to meet with them Friday night at K. C. hall, corner of Raymond and Colorado boulevard, Pasadena.

The attendance last night was very gratifying and during the social hour the ladies of auxiliary No. 36, served delightful refreshments.

Juvenile Section of Music Club to Meet

The attractive home of Mattison B. Jones on Kenneth road is to be the scene Saturday afternoon of a meeting of the Juvenile section of the Glendale Music club, of which Mrs. Jones is president.

The children are to assemble at the Glendale Union High school grounds at 1:45 o'clock and a full attendance is desired as a picture will be taken.

Any Glendadians who can furnish cars to transport the children are asked to meet at the high school at the time announced.

Comedian Rouses Workers In Welfare Chest Drive At Exchange Club Lunch

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.

Al Herman, popular Orpheum comedian, was the headliner at yesterday's "pep" luncheon held in Jensen's Egyptian Village at 133 North Brand boulevard, when W. E. Hewitt, president of the board of directors of the Glendale Welfare Chest, with Colonels George B. Karr and C. W. Ingledue, with all their majors, captains, lieutenants, sergeants, corporals and buck privates, were the guests of honor.

As president of the Exchange club, Captain D. Ripley Jackson made a most enthusiastic and peppy toastmaster, living up to all past honors in this direction. The meeting closed with the announcement, as published in yesterday's paper, that the first day of the drive had produced $5,294.75 of the required $40,000.

Mr. Herman, prior to doing his stuff, introduced Thomas E. Shea, a veteran actor and resident of the Penobscot Bay section of Maine, who spoke fearfully of Southern California, stating that after seeing this part of the country, he is satisfied people back east are "in the kindergarten of nature's wonders."

American Minute Men
"These luncheon clubs, gentlemen, are the minute-men of American institutions," he said, "guarding constitutional law and order." And he concluded his remarks with the comment that Greeley was right, when he said a generation ago: "Go west, young man, go west."

Following his address, Mr. Shea contributed $10 to the Glendale Welfare Chest.

Mr. Herman introduced Miss Madeline Hardy, who played two happy numbers at the piano. The comedian then rose and unbound his line of funniment, punctuating it with an occasional song, accompanied by Miss Hardy. One song he sang, was of his own creation, entitled, "No, No, Nora—No, No!" Mr. Herman led the gathering in the singing of two Welfare Chest songs, declaring at the conclusion of his stunt, that he would return today, and personally aid in soliciting funds for the drive.

Hewitt Makes Play
W. E. Hewitt spoke forcefully for the Welfare Chest, urging the people of Glendale to respond generously, inasmuch as this one drive will care for all charitable, relief and welfare institutions, and avoid the confusion of drives which has heretofore taken place in the city, with their inefficiency, overlapping and added expense. He stated that:

1. The Welfare Chest is a fund to which the public contributes once a year, what is desirable to give to charity, relief and welfare work.

2. The Welfare Chest Fund will be distributed among institutions and agencies of the city to bring relief to the needy, comfort to the sick, encouragement to the despairing, aid to dependent children, and good influences into the lives of growing boys and girls.

3. The Welfare Chest will develop throughout the entire community, co-operation between the public and the relief work of the city.

4. The Welfare Chest is not an experiment. It has been established with success in over 100 American cities, gaining in its achievements, and growing in the regard of the public where it has been introduced. Glendale can benefit by the experience of all other cities.

5. The Welfare Chest, by one unified drive effort, eliminates the many drives, tag days, and other sporadic campaigns, ending the waste of effort and energy, and reducing the cost of collecting funds.

6. The Welfare Chest spreads the burden, it multiplies the number of contributors to welfare work from two to ten times. This means a public sympathy more widely aroused and concerned with community problems. Every one adds his mite.

7. The Welfare Chest guards worthy organizations, protects charity by focusing attention on the public from impositions and avoids waste of the individual's philanthropy fund.

8. The Welfare Chest unites charity and welfare work. Its appeal is not merely to relieve a physical, moral or financial distress, but while giving that relief, to put the individual back on his feet physically sound, morally encouraged or self-supporting, as the need may be. These functions are performed by the various agencies co-related and co-operating in the Welfare Chest.

9. The Welfare Chest insures justice—like an all-comprehensive scale, the Welfare Chest estimates the worth of each agency, balances values with budgets, gives each agency a just share and then weighs our obligations fairly. It insures a square deal for everybody. It makes sure that worthy organizations will be supported and that wasted effort will be eliminated.

10. The Welfare Chest will free the governing bodies of the different relief and welfare agencies from the harassment of financial worry, and leave them more time to increase their merciful efficiency.

It was announced during the luncheon that next week's noon luncheon of the Exchange club will be abandoned in favor of the big turkey "do-in" that night, Wednesday, November 23, in Jensen's Egyptian Village.

Frozen fish can be successfully held twenty-seven months, according to tests by the federal authorities.

CONTESTANTS IN CLUB ARE CLOSE

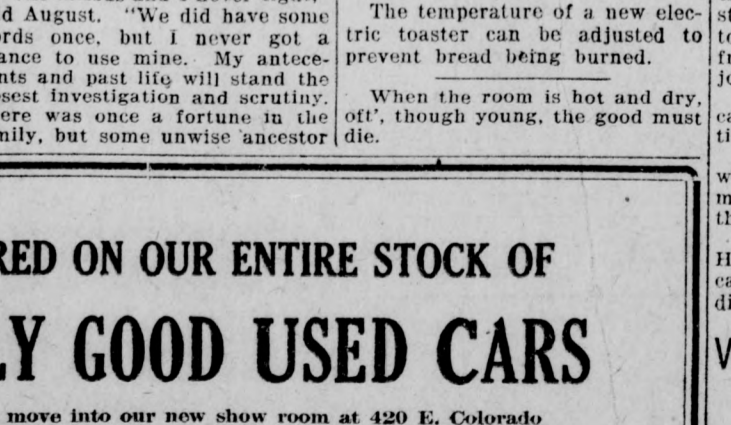

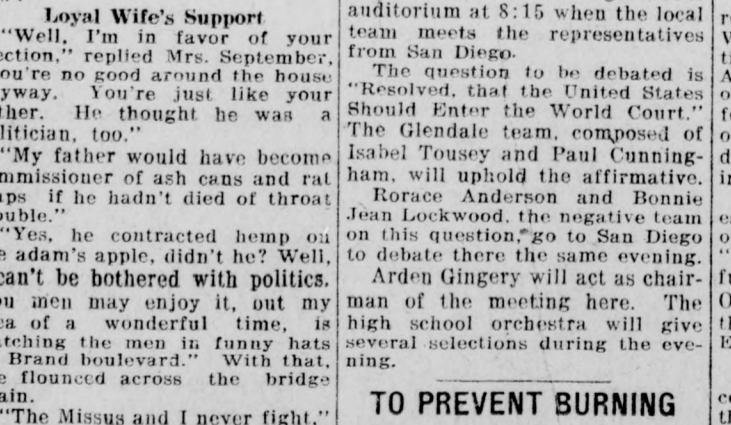

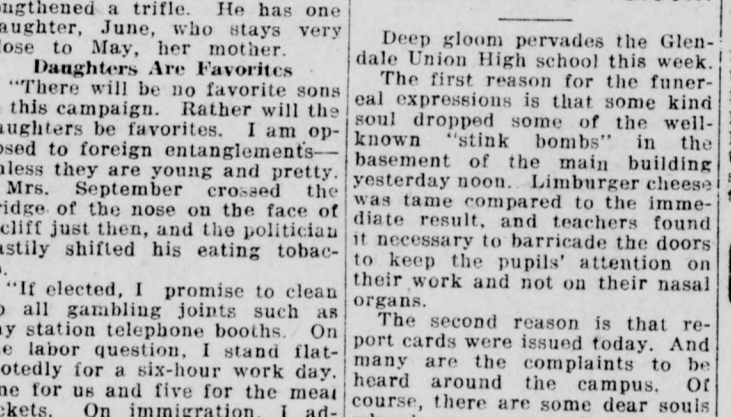

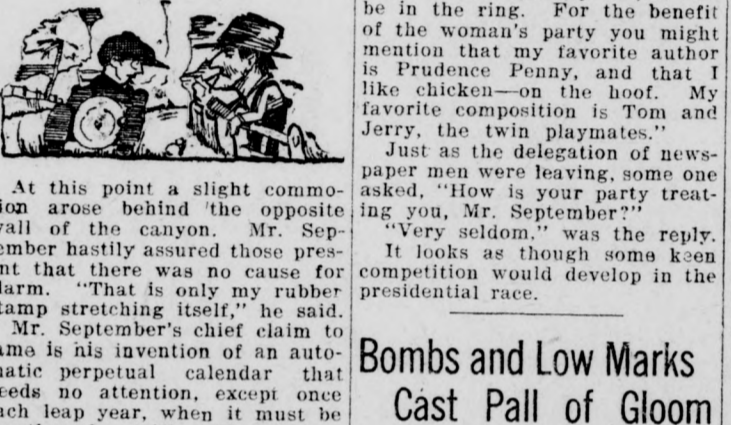

Rivals in Big Campaign Are Racing Neck and Neck For Prize Awards

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager
With honors thus far equally divided; so close, in fact, that it is anyone's race, club members in The Glendale Evening News justly famous $10,500 Salesmanship club and greater circulation campaign, are preparing with feverish haste and intensity to make their final stand for victory—before it is forever too late to secure BIG CREDITS for subscriptions.

Any doubt as to the closeness of the race has been removed. It has proved that there are a bunch of hustlers in Glendale, who do not stand back on formalities, but pitch into the fray and get what is coming to them. The race so far has been a remarkably close one, so it depends almost entirely upon the results obtained by the club members, the few remaining days of the first period, as to who will finish victorious.

First Period Nears End
The first period will end Saturday night. Two more days, yet time enough for anyone to secure enough subscriptions to give them a half million credits. A half million sounds like a whaling lot of credits, and yet that would not be hard to secure, if properly worked out. For instance, one subscription for five years, during the first period, is worth 75,000 credits, and ten such subscriptions would give you 750,000 credits. Think of it, 750,000 credits for only ten subscriptions for five years each. If you can't get ten of them, try and get five, and if you can't get five, then try for three, or two, or get as many of the five-year subscriptions as you can. Every one of them will help to place you in the lead of this big race.

Iowa Family Rents Glendale Residence

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Vickery of Des Moines, Iowa, are newcomers in Glendale who made the trip through by motor, accompanied by their family of four sons and one daughter. They left Des Moines October 23, during the first snow storm of the season, and once during the trip they were forced to change their prospective route by way of Flagstaff, Ariz., as they met motor parties who had turned back owing to a fall of snow in the higher altitudes, and the trip was continued by way of Yuma.

They took possession Wednesday of a home in the foothills, 1233 Campbell street, which they located through the Real Estate Evening News by Mrs. Stella Goodman, realty operator. The residence is the property of Mrs. Joe Goldstein.

Mr. Vickery was engaged in the realty business in Los Angeles three years ago and returned east. Upon their arrival this trip he decided that he would prefer to locate here with his family, and contemplates engaging in the realty business, confining his operations to exchange propositions and subdivisions.

Faculty Speakers
The program was then turned over to Mrs. Thompson, program chairman...

Normal C. Hayhurst, head of the boys' physical education, spoke first, prefacing his remarks with a brief statement giving what he believes are the three reasons for the physical decline of the American people...

Miss Lillian E. Shattuck spoke, as head of the girls' physical education department...

Others on Program
Other speakers were Miss Ellen J. Hanson, head of the home economics department...

There will be no December meeting, but in January an evening meeting is being planned for a housewarming in the new school building.

Tea and cakes were served late in the afternoon by pupils of the home economics department, under Miss Hanson.

Locals Have Even Chance
To Defeat San Bernardino
In Game Next Saturday

By AL DIX
When Coach Hayhurst's Red and Black warriors take the field against San Bernardino, champions of the Citrus league...

The difference in the backfield is not enough to cause any worry, the San Bernardino quartet being but four pounds heavier than the locals...

Remember Alhambra?
This season that Glendale has been called upon to meet opponents much heavier.

Goal Not Inevitable
San Bernardino has played more games than Glendale, consequently has scored more points.

Looks Even Up
From these facts and what we can gather about the Citrus league winners, Glendale should enter the game with at least a 50-50 chance.

Tickets For Army-Navy
Game Go To Speculators
And So Prices Go Skyward

By DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—With the expected and almost coincidental arrival of the Army and Navy football teams in New York tomorrow morning...

Somehow, somewhere, tickets for the spectacle have fallen into the hands of speculators and many citizens will either pay double or triple the box office price for the privilege of sitting in at the game.

For which state of affairs, they can blame their own natural curiosity. It is curiosity that annually brings thousands of neutrals for the Army and Navy game.

Prices Going Up
In addition, it might be mentioned that, in connection with the impassioned squawk from both academics over alleged profiteering at local theatres on the night of the game...

Look For Better Fight
CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 22.—Eleventh-hour opinion among the undergraduates today was that Harvard is due to put up a much harder fight against Yale on Saturday than the records of the team would indicate.

SMYTHE TO PLAY
WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Reports that George E. Smythe, star quarterback, would be unable to play against the Navy on Saturday were given the lie today when it was said, semi-officially, that he would run the team through its paces either in the practice today or the final workout here tomorrow.

Light Practice Today
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 22.—The Yale football team will have a light practice today at the Yale stadium.

ODDS ON BIG GAMES
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Odds quoted in Wall Street today on the two big gridiron games of the coming Saturday placed the Army a 5 to 5 favorite over the Navy and Yale a 5 to 2 choice over Harvard.

BERKELEY, Nov. 22.—The greatest crowd ever assembled in the west for such a purpose will see, in the "big game" Saturday dedicating the new California stadium, one of the greatest football games ever staged between the ancient rivals—the California Bears and the Stanford Red Shirts.

This was the unanimous opinion of the experts 48 hours before the game. Two teams of punch, power and brains will trot into the vast concrete bowl Saturday afternoon to engage in the annual clash of the two institutions.

Both teams have been pointed for this game. Andy Smith recognized as far back as last year that the Stanford eleven under Andy Kerr's active direction and Pat Warner's advice would this year menace the Golden Bear's football supremacy.

The California eleven merely limbered up today. They completed practice yesterday and are now resting. The Stanford eleven is up in the foothills resting also.

TODAY—Iowa to Enforce Dry Law; Hope for National Reform.

By JAMES R. CONNOR, Jr., International News Service
DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 21.—Officers attended the conference, which was called by Lieutenant-Governor John Hammill, who attended the President's meeting as Acting Governor, while Kendall was ill. Opinions from these men, who are the vanguard of additional thousands of law-enforcing officers upon whom the prohibition law depends for enforcement, were unanimous in their declaration of support of the law.

"One-fourth of the counties in Iowa are not enforcing the prohibition law," Ben J. Gibson, attorney-general of Iowa, told the conference. County attorneys from all sections of the state pledged their support to the campaign for the movement of the law in Des Moines, as the capital city of the state, and as the most central town in the state, will be the hub of the law drive that will be started on law law enforcement. The biggest cities of the state will have their own committees to assist.

"The law is a fact, and our duty as Americans, is to obey the law," expresses the thought of the majority of Iowans on the subject, and they are sincere, as evidenced in the organization now in process of formation to obtain real enforcement.

"I do not believe we should enforce every law except the prohibition statute," Governor N. E. Kendall has declared. "I am in favor of 100 per cent law enforcement."

Governor Kendall outlined his beliefs at the state conference on law enforcement, held here in accordance with the request of President Coolidge at the Governors' Conference in Washington, last month.

GIRL MAKES GOOD HER THREAT 'Gets' Officer Who Nabbed Her For Speeding

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meyer ready to speed through married life. She made good her threat

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 22.—"Twas spring—to quote De Wolf Hopper. A day that made one love life—a straight road and plenty of gasoline. Miss Margaret Sterba, boasting a pretty dimple, a chic hat and other spring apparel—and a car—felt the urge and sought the highway for a spin. She was speeding along, oblivious to everything—including the needle on the speedometer—when "put-put," just like that, a motor-cycle cop swung alongside of her, and said in the usual original manner of such persons, "What's your hurry?" When she stopped, he informed her seriously that she was under arrest for speeding. He, Officer Walter Meyer, didn't look awfully stern or stubborn, so she used a woman's prerogative, and tried to talk him out of his views on the matter. She failed. "I hate you," she said. And then followed him to the police station.

When she left the courtroom after paying a $25 fine, she repeated her previous remark and added, "I'll get even with you some day."

The next day they met again—and Meyer pleaded for the upholding of the law.

The next time they met Meyer pleaded for an opportunity of calling on her.

And now she is Mrs. Walter Meyer.

They are on their honeymoon now.

"I told him I'd get even with him and I'm going to," says Mrs. Meyer.

IMMORALITY OF YOUTH ENDANGERED RACE, SAYS WISCONSIN PROFESSOR

Alarming conditions of immorality in American colleges and among young people of today generally were charged by Prof. Edward A. Ross of the University of Wisconsin, one of the foremost of American sociologists in a recent interview. Prof. Ross said that a weakening of restraint between the sexes has occurred throughout the country, and that 600 sociologists of the United States were united in the opinion that a rapid deterioration of the race will follow unless some way can be found to build up the barriers of restraint again.

He declared that his opinions were not based upon conditions of his own university, of which he did not profess to have first-hand information, but upon reports that have been coming to him from all parts of the United States and from persons competent to judge.

"Perhaps I am an old fogy," Prof. Ross said, "although I never considered myself very much of a Puritan. I am amazed at some of the things I hear. As a scientist I feel bound to say that I consider present tendencies alarming."

"Human experiences travel pretty well in cycles. When the modern dances came in some ten years ago I said they would soon die out, that they represented only a passing fad. Now I must confess myself mistaken. They have persisted and seem to flourish without abatement."

"I also believe that moving pictures are largely to blame for present conditions. Things are being shown upon the screen to children that would not be tolerated in printed form, and which the United States government would not pass through the mails. I believe that films should be censored, not perhaps for adults, but at least as much for children as we censor the reading and other recreation of young people."

Prof. Ross said the experience of mankind shows that marriage offers the only proper outlet for the sexual impulse, and urged early marriages.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE HORSE CHESTNUTS

Once upon a time, when Uncle Wiggily was hopping over the fields and through the woods, the bunny rabbit gentleman saw some of the animal boys going into the hollow tree house where the Bushytail family of squirrels lived. "I wonder why so many of the boys are going to see Johnnie and Billie?" thought the rabbit gentleman. "It is almost time for school, and I wouldn't like to see any of them marked late. I think I'll hop closer and take a look."

Without making any noise, Uncle Wiggily hid himself outside the woodshed of the squirrel house. Here Mr. Longears saw Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the dogs; Sammie Littleleaf, the rabbit; and Toodle and Noodle Flat Tail, the neighbor boys, talking to Johnnie and Billie, the squirrels. "Now," chattered Johnnie to the others, "we'll fill our pockets with horse chestnuts and go to school. Then we'll have fun with each lot of fun!" barked Jackie the dog. "And won't the lady mouse teacher be surprised!" said Toodle.

"Hum!" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself, "there is going to be trouble soon in the hollow stump school. If those animal boys begin throwing horse chestnuts about the room—oh, it will be too bad! I'll hop on ahead and tell the lady mouse teacher."

So the rabbit gentleman hopped on ahead, reaching the hollow stump school before Johnnie, Billie or any of the animal boys and the horse chestnuts in their pockets. "Good morning, Uncle Wiggily!" greeted the Lady Mouse Teacher. "I am glad to have you come to our hollow stump school."

"Well, this time I am rather sorry to come," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Sorry? Why?" asked Miss Mouse. "Because I bring bad news," answered the bunny rabbit. "Some of the animal boys are coming with their pockets filled with horse chestnuts—you know—those big brown nuts, the color of real chestnuts, but larger and bitter."

"I know," said the Lady Mouse. "Well, I am glad you told me. Now I know what to do. You stay at school a little while. Uncle Wiggily, and you'll see what happens. Sit up on the platform with me."

When the animal boys and girls reached school, they saw Uncle Wiggily sitting next to the teacher's desk. But they thought little of this, for the bunny rabbit often paid for a visit. And after they had sung a song about the Bright Autumn Leaves, Miss Mouse said:

"Will all the animal boys who have horse chestnuts in their pockets, please bring them to me? I mean bring the chestnuts to 'me,' she went on with a smile. "You may keep your pockets yourselves."

Johnnie looked at Billie, Billie looked at Sammie, Sammie looked at Toodle and Toodle looked at Noodle. Then the animal boys, one after another, rose from their seats and blushing red behind their ears, they walked up to teacher's desk. Slowly they took the chestnuts from their pockets and put them on the desk.

Johnnie dropped one and it went hitherity-honker, rolling and bumping along the floor. Some of the animal girls laughed. "Thank you," sweetly said the Lady Mouse Teacher, when Toodle had placed the last horse chestnut on her desk. "Now we shall go on with the lesson."

And the animal boys wondered how it was Teacher knew they had the nuts in their pockets. They didn't know Uncle Wiggily had heard and had told, because he wanted to see them behave in school.

But all of a sudden, while the Lady Mouse Teacher was hearing the reading class, and while Uncle Wiggily was sitting beside her near the desk—all of a sudden, in through the window jumped the Woozie Wolf.

"Guff! Guff!" growled the Woozie Wolf. "I have come to nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears! And after I nibble his ears I'll nibble the Teacher's ears. And after I nibble her ears I'll nibble the ears of every one of you!" And he glared with shining eyes at the animal boys and girls. Some of the girls screamed, but Uncle Wiggily said:

POEMS That LIVE

THE WAY THROUGH THE WOODS

They shut the road through the woods
Seventy years ago,
Weather and rain had undone it
again,
And now you would never know
There was once a path through the woods
Before they planted the trees:
It is underneath the coppice and heath,
And the thin anemones,
Only the keeper sees
That, where the ring-dove broods
And the badgers roll at ease,
There was once a road through the woods.
Yet, if you enter the woods
Of a summer evening late,
When the night air cools on the trout ringed pools
Where the otter whistles his mate
(They fear not men in the woods
Because they see so few),
You will hear the beat of a horse's feet
And a swish of a skirt in the dew,
Steadily cantering through
The misty solitudes,
As though they perfectly knew
The old lost road through the woods.
But there is no road through the woods.
—Rudyard Kipling.

10 Years Ago Today
From Evening News Files

Glendale is in need of a daily paper now more than she will need one ten years from now. The financial gain derived from a daily in Glendale ten years hence may be ten times what it is today.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season occurred last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wood at 500 East Third street, when their daughter, Miss Myrtle Louise became the bride of Harry W. Chase. Mr. Chase is a well known and live real estate dealer of Glendale and his bride is a most loved and popular girl.

Glendale is full of real patriotic fellows, who believe there is no city quite so good as Glendale.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE
"Is Divorce a Failure?" the Associated Exhibitors' feature, showing at the Gateway theatre today, with Leah Bair in the leading role, attempts to prove that civilization stunts rather than develops our real selves, indicating that we are covered over with the veneer of politeness, dearest and the lamb outwardly look the same, but the inner primitive life is one of those immortal stories that rend the heart with its beauty and poignancy. Dick Heald is a dramatist, and his childhood sweetheart, Maisie, has aspiration to become famous as an artist.

But when they grow up it is Dick who wins fame instead, in a Sudan battlefield, while sketching the war scenes that bring him his glory. Dick receives a sword cut that her blinds him. Many dramatic incidents flock to the end of this powerful picture, which ends happily, as in the original magazine version.

Salesmanship Contest Race Is Very Close

is being run this week, for the ones who make the best showing this week will, to a certain extent, have the better opportunity to win the big prizes, so if you want to be classed as a big winner and not an also-ran, right now is the time for you to put forth your best efforts before Saturday night rolls around. For after that time it will be too late to get the large credits on the subscriptions. And remember that, after Saturday night, the credits given on the subscriptions will be about one-third less than are given this week.

Chance for Victory

There is not a single one in the race who cannot start right now and win one of the grand capital prizes if they will devote their time and attention to working. It would not take much of an effort to get to the top of the list, and if you have any ambition whatsoever to win one of the lots or one of the touring cars right now is the time to back that ambition with a determination to get the subscriptions and go after them in a manner that will coincide with that determination.

Don't delay, but make up your mind that you are going to start today and make use of every minute from this time forth, and if you do you will be a winner of one of the best prizes. The matter rests entirely upon your own shoulders, and it's a case of what you do and not what the others do.

BURBANK PLAN FLOAT FOR NEW YEAR'S DAY

Civic Club's Support Will Be Sought in Campaign for Tournament Prize

Burbank plans to enter a float in the 1924 Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, and Messrs. Collins, Tillson and Radcliff, of the Chamber of Commerce, have been authorized to bring the matter before the Rotary, Kiwanis and Women's clubs, respectively.

Protests to the police has been made by the residents of Verdugo avenue against excessive speed of gravel trucks over this avenue, en route to the paving job on Sixth street. That these trucks are endangering the lives of children at the Joaquina Miller school on Providencia avenue is the contention of the true effect that Burbank does not want industries, C. W. Anderson of the Chamber of Commerce states: "Burbank wants industries, has wanted industries and will continue to want industries. Anything anyone hears to the contrary is enemy propaganda."

"We want good industries, industries with potential payrolls, and with appreciable bank rolls. We want industries that can stand on their own two feet and don't have to be nursed. We want industries that rely rather on merit than on promotion angles for getting support."

Mr. Reddy stated that he knew of several concerns in Los Angeles with capital of from $20,000 to $40,000, that might be brought to Burbank and combined under one roof. He recently brought a party out to look over the aluminum plant, with a view to locating in it a heater manufacturing concern.

To Open San Jose Street

It is predicted by W. E. Smith that San Jose will presently be opened its full length. He has been working on securing rights of way for some time and feels that the next six months will see the project launched.

At present San Jose street is open only between Kenneth road and Tenth street, and between Fourth and Sixth streets. A petition is being circulated for the opening of this street between Sixth street and Kenneth road, it being understood that practically all property owners involved are in favor of the project.

Houses of Parliament, London, contain 100 staircases, and 1100 apartments.

TUJUNGA SEEK EXTENSION OF VALLEY ROAD

Foothill Route From Pasadena to San Fernando Aim of Boosters

Boosters for an extension of the Foothill boulevard through TuJunga valley from Pasadena to San Fernando have hopes that some action to this end will follow the meeting this week of the City Planning Commission with the Pasadena Board of City Directors. The commission is scheduled to report on a boulevard system that will extend around and connect with the main avenues of Pasadena and the principal county highways. Valley interests center on whether or not the commission includes a report on the extension of the Foothill boulevard.

The commission has been considering prospects for such a system in connection with plans that were presented a year ago. It is understood that one of the features of the plans is a boulevard to the Huntington estate where the great art gallery and library are located that Henry E. Huntington intends to throw open to the public.

Attendance Growing

Attendance at the TuJunga school continues to increase. Last year the school opened with 252 and closed with 257, with 277 the greatest number reached during the year.

This year there were 309 registered to begin the term, and at the end of the first month there were 339. This number has since grown to over 360.

Comparison of TuJunga and La Crescenta-Monrovia figures show that the opening enrollment and gain has been almost the same.

C. E. Eubank, president of the First National Bank of Wilmington, is improving his TuJunga property and planting native shrubs and flowers that are to be found in the Verdugo hills. A large fish pond will be a feature of the grounds.

G. A. Kindler has purchased the property of the TuJunga Steam Laundry that was, and is making alterations and preparation for installing equipment for making the Kindler stains. The purchase included the lot adjoining the laundry property, which is located on Michigan avenue east of Pine.

Legion to Feature 'Turkey Trot' Night

It's going to be "Turkey Trot" night Wednesday, November 28, at the American Legion hall at 610 East Broadway, and a whole flock of Thanksgiving turkeys are going to be honored guests, as well as victims.

Members of the Glendale post, No. 127, are to be hosts and, under the leadership of their clever entertainment chairman, Leroy Eortier, a unique time is to be provided.

Those who are lucky will take home a turkey for the Thanksgiving dinner next day.

Mr. Portier announces that there will be plenty of live music by the "Barnyard Syncopators."

Filipino Leader In Agreement With Wood

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 22.—Manuel Quezon, senate leader and head of the anti-Wood faction, today reached an agreement with Governor Wood for the appointment of ex-Secretary of Finance Barretto as president of the National Coal company. Quezon also agreed to accept the appointment of J. R. Shaw, an American, and Romerizo Agcaoil, member of the Democrat party, as directors of the same company. This was the first indication that Quezon is weakening in his policy of non-cooperation since the cabinet walkout.

Only yesterday Quezon bitterly attacked Wood, declaring the governor had no right to appoint Senator Santiago, acting mayor of Manila, without the senate's consent. The senate unanimously approved a resolution today asking Wood under what authority he appointed Santiago.

Burbank Wants Industries

Contradicting the information obtained by J. F. Reddy of Los Angeles, the true effect that Burbank does not want industries, C. W. HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter the acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.
