FRIDAT MORNING, AUGUST 14, 1826,

The castern mail of presents y failed to bring se journals of ogular dates blirond Mobile. Those received were previous. ly due. The Characton Patriet of the 5th inst contains an Moial account of the meeting held to make arrangements with the postmaster to prevent the transmission by mail and mitting them to the civil tribunals of the city. This is a highheaded measure; and one not calculated to promote liberty said the litegrity of the postomos. We do not think that powers should ever be committed to a soulmaster-drin the engediance of accessity cannot just if a recent refer this contacty is worse than the evil; and the moulaion of pecessity does not demand it.

The citames of Bickmond have acted with more prudence and equal zend ; in analying to the inhabitants of the northern states to give assistance in preventing the efforts there of the seditions abolitionists; and in resolving to be prepared diary emissaries among us. Yet if any should come-alfor the worst among themselves.

The people of Buston have acted honorably in their exertions in our behalf against the abolitionists—all whose sanctuaries have been demolished; and themselves defeated

I repeat therefore my unqualified appropriation of the first—because it is inconsistent with the first—because it contemps. cause it is inconsistent with the first—b-cause it is inconsistent with the first—b-cause it is optional in Banks' Arcade. If these opinions were acted on in the of good faith and of attachment to the constitution of the U. executive government, the class of candidates would be greatly circumscribed; and when we take further into conaideration his being the nominee of the Hotenur Humbus society, under the title of Native Association, we fear or be-

THE BATTURE opposite faubourg St Mary is the special order of the day before the city council; and as it is one of importance to the city at large as well as of interest to the corporation, a full attendance of members ready prepared to discuse dispassionately and maturely the question, is

The matter is a mply this. The corporation got the usuge in 1320 of the then betture, exclusively for the purpose of constructing wharves, etc; but since that period the hatture has been greatly extended by alluvial deposits. This extent being useless to all parties, as it cannot be enjoyed by the corporation, according to the terms of occupancy, nor devoted poration, according to the terms of occupancy, nor devoted matter of domestic policy-left in the hands of our own to any purpose; and being very injurious to the ont present a few years ago prietors in preventing improvements essential to promote the commerce and population of the upper faubourg-these proprietors have coalesced in recognizing temporarily the claims of the heirs of Deslondes to the property of the batture, on certain conditions—that the whole batture shall be divided into three parts, one to belong to the corporation for publiimprovements in the construction of a levee, a second to be given to the heirs of Deslendes for breaking the injuricus agreement of 1820; and a third to the front proprietors for temporarily recognizing the claims of the others.

As the matter now stands, the corporation cannot (as is said) use nor dispose of the batture: by the compromise i will be entitled to use one third of it; and by being at the expense of a leves to imprave its third and the remainder, much gain may be made to all at the expense of the corporation. The heirs of Designdes and the front proprietors will be permitted to sell or otherwise use their allocations and the whale batture be thus claimed for the benefit of the

But could not the same object be effected by differen means. If the claims of the supposed heirs are not valid; and that no stipulation was made concerning the embryo batture. does it not exclusively belong to the corporation, without any restrictions on possession or usage?

The following beautiful effusion appears in the Tries account resolution: and for these, among other reasons, I am opposed to the second resolution: and for these, among other reasons, I am opposed to the three reasons, I am opposed to the second reasons, I am opposed to the second resolution.

Next coverage.—The veteran of the St Francisville ground for anticipating such a commotion. The mad scheme Journal had lately an article on the candidates proposed for post governor. Daniel Warburg he says is unknown to next governor. Deniel Warburg he says is unknown to fime: and R. O Fritchard too well known. (These nominations were but guodhumored quizzes.) He speaks slighting-ly of the claims of Christy; sulogiess Preston; but prefers the constitution of cess here; while at the north public opinion has indignantly frowned upon their sitemps, and sfriged to it the seat of revolution. The opinions of Mr Christy relative to the appointments to office of paturalized citizens are of themselves sufficient to defeat his pretensions: for he has acknowledged at a public meeting that although at the period of framing the constitu-sure only as are consistent with the laws and character of
