SIMPLE HINTS FOR GROWING PRIZE-WINNING ROSES

Time to Plant. We advise fall planting when and where possible. You should be guided by climate conditions in your section and the experience of successful local gardeners. We usually begin shipping about October 1st and continue until just before the first spring plantings do not survive the first summer as well as the earlier plantings.

Any good soil in a sunny location, and away from trees and shrubbery is right for roses. The soil should be spaded or plowed deeply, and all plant-food placed as far down as possible on horizontal top of the hole. Manure should not come in contact with the roots. Rosemont Roses are pruned for setting—they will not need further pruning the first year. If roots should be broken in packing, cut them off before planting.

Make the hole deep, and be sure that the plant is set low enough so that the bud-union will be at least 2 inches below the top of the soil, and the roots spread as shown in the illustrations at center of this page. Pack the soil tightly around the roots, but leave the topward slightly loose, to act as a mulch and to retain moisture. If fertilizer is required on the surface, spread it carefully and work into the top-soil, but avoid having fertilizer or plant-foods in direct contact with the roots.

Should watering be required in dry weather, be sure to soak the soil thoroughly. A light sprinkling is almost useless. Good cultivation and loose top-soil, or a mulch of sweet straw, are equally important as watering.

When cutting the Rose, be sure it is controlled with a mixture of 9 parts dusting sulphur to 1 part arsenic of lead, applied weekly with a dusting and or mulch bag.

We cannot control cultivation, soil conditions, or moisture; therefore we regret to say that
