PAST AND PRESENT

MODERN OIL POND ILLUSTRATES HOW PREHISTORIC MAMMALS WERE CAUGHT

Of recent days the La Brea asphalt pits have been attracting thousands of visitors. Preparations are being made at this time for an excursion of the Engineers' and Architects' association of Los Angeles to visit the fields where so many skeletons of prehistoric animals have been found imbedded in the asphalt. Just at present there are partly uncovered, eighteen Imperial elephants, 25 per cent larger than any living elephant and the skeletons of hundreds of saber toothed tigers and other interesting remains of birds of which there are innumerable specimens.

Frank Daggett of the county museum of History, Science and Art has been occupied for two years past in removing the most valuable and instructive of these skeletons and his task is almost completed. The past is laid bare in that interesting spot and one can see there the wonderful animal life of that ancient era.

It would be interesting to the visitors to the La Brea asphalt pits if they would take a further trip to Brito, Merced county, where is situated one of the pumping stations of the Associated Oil company. That company has there a large reservoir filled with crude oil. The oil thickens somewhat the longer it is kept exposed to the air and proves a trap to thousands of birds. The shining surface of the oil probably looks like water to the birds flying by night. They light on the surface and the sticky oil holds them fast. Their bodies mummify there in very short time.

That is what happened in the past at the La Brea pits, where not only birds by the thousand were trapped, but also small animals such as foxes were snared as they went after the birds; larger animals as they went after the foxes, and even the gigantic mammoth as he plunged into the treacherous pits, thinking to get through easily.

H. C. Bryant of the museum of Vertebrate zoology at Berkeley university, says: "A trip to the Brito pond May 11, 1915, showed the mummied bodies of at least 300 birds. Along the shores of the pond there was an incrustation several inches deep of feathers and bones of birds—canvassack, spoonbill, goose, mallard, green-winged teal, mudhen, avocet, black-necked stilt, killdeer, sandpiper, great blue heron, black-crowned night heron, egret, bittern, belted kingfisher and western meadowlark. In a small puddle of oil about four feet in length were found six killdeer. The killdeer decoys easily and doubtless the first bird entrapped decoyed the others to their death."

Here is evidence of the present day as to how the animals of the prehistoric era came to be caught in the sticky, oily mud of the La Brea asphalt pits. The toll of life was enormous, as can be seen in the piles and piles of bones that are unearthed every day in the pits.

Those who desire to see the pits at La Brea with the mummified animals still in the asphalt had better make haste as the lease the county museum has there is about to expire and the skeletons are nearly all removed.

One day at each meeting place has been set aside for visiting the irrigated districts.

DISCUSS TORRENS LAW

L. W. COLFELT SPEAKS—J. W. USILTON ADDRESSES CHAMBER—REPORTS MADE

The regular monthly meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, 1011 West Broadway, Friday evening, August 13. J. W. Usilton, president of the chamber, presided and R. M. Jackson, secretary, was present to perform the duties of his office.

Chairman Usilton, according to his usual custom, offered recommendations which are as follows:

To the Chamber of Commerce: Gentlemen: Among the necessities for the better protection of Glendale is additional fire-fighting apparatus and of a different kind than that now possessed by the city. A chemical engine may have been built that was necessary at the time the engine now owned by the city was purchased; probably the water supply was insufficient at that time; but it is now necessary to have an engine of 100 or over horse-power. As was stated in the Glendale News a few days ago, it would be economy to strengthen our protection, as it would unquestionably lessen insurance rates.

Anent Verdugo wash, while some protection work has been performed in that canyon, it is insufficient to prevent disaster the coming winter, should there even be moderately heavy rains. At the southeastern part of the wash the bed of the wash is higher than adjacent ground and an overflow would cause great damage through whatever section it made its way. Temporary work should be done at least at the point mentioned and to the west of it.

Attention is again called to the necessity of a central park, which should be at least large enough for a comfort station and a bandstand. If only a few lots were purchased for this purpose it would be a step in the right direction.

With pleasure I again state my opinion of the Glendale municipal band. I believe it is one of the greatest assets we have and think it should be materially helped out of the public funds. The concerts given by them are drawing large crowds and are highly enjoyed. The recent parades in Los Angeles, at which they played, was a continuous and deserved ovation for the band and must result in benefit to this city.

In conclusion, without any reflection on the city trustees or the library board, I wish to call attention to the inadequate salaries paid the employees at the new public library, which is of much interest after many criticisms heard about overpaid city employees. Mrs. Alma J. Danford, public librarian (until recently paid $10 a week), receives $65 a month; first assistant, $25; second assistant, $15; janitor, $11 a month. The library is kept open from 10 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. The hours are so distributed that the state law is complied with (eight hours). The library has over 5000 card holders and the past six months has circulated 25,000 books and magazines. Do you think anyone of them is receiving a fair compensation?

The secretary read the minutes of the preceding meeting, after which communications were taken up. Mr. Jackson stated that he communicated with the board of trustees concerning T. W. Preston's request about requiring the Southern Pacific Railroad company to provide a flagman for the railroad crossing on the Los Feliz road in Tropic. Mr. Jackson said he had received a letter from City Manager T. W. Watson stating that the trustees had taken the matter up with the board of trustees of Tropic and Mr. Watson enclosed extracts from a letter he had received from City Attorney Goodwin assuring the trustees of Glendale that it is the intention of the Southern Pacific to care for the safety of the people at the crossing in question.

George T. Paine, chairman of the Verdugo wash committee, stated that himself and others had visited the wash and while there is great need of clearing out the channel, he would advise that any action along this line be delayed until after the meeting of the county board of supervisors next Monday. He understands that the conditions of this particular wash will be taken up for consideration and whatever action is taken at that time will govern the character and amount of work to be done by the citizens of Glendale.

It was suggested that it would be a good plan for all members of the Chamber of Commerce and all others who can attend the supervisors' meeting next Monday.

TODAY'S LEAGUE GAMES

Buffalo Gets Whitewashed in Its Federal League Game

Special Service to Glendale Evening News

Following are the results of today's games in three leagues:

WINS THIRD GAME

CENTRAL AVENUE PLAYGROUND BALL TEAM DEFEATS PACIFIC, 7 TO 4

In the presence of a delighted audience of sympathetic spectators, the Central avenue playground team defeated the Pacific avenue playground team, 7 to 4, Friday. There was a full attendance of the boys of Central avenue playground, who under the instruction of Hastings Bidwell, superintendent of the playground, carefully followed the points of the game in order to profit for future games. Bidwell is getting his boys into great form and their dashing play elicited appreciative cheers from time to time.

Central avenue playground has now defeated all the teams in the Junior league in "one-two-three" fashion. Should they keep up this pace there is nothing that can prevent them from winning the series. However, there is time enough left for the other teams to pull up if they choose, and the struggle should make an interesting spectacle for the fans.

There were several close plays which stirred the enthusiasm of the Central avenue group and when a particularly sensational catch was made all Central avenue sent forth a joyful cry and even the ranks of the Pacific boys could scarce forbear to cheer. Good humor and healthy rivalry characterized the game and the public looks forward with interest to the progress of the struggle.

Pacific avenue playground team put up a good quality of game and fought vigorously for the lead all the way through. However, they were weak in fielding and their batting showed that they still need practice. Given practice and some more coaching, and it would not be astonishing if the Pacific boys were to give both the Central avenue and high school teams a hard run for first place.

Junior League
Myron's Tigers beat Mill's team, which is now known as the Lions, 24 to 1. Mill's team is now fighting hard against teams of larger boys and against odds in every way, but with the courage they exhibited in the game today, they are likely to attain a prominent place in the league.

Mike's Tigers play an almost errorless game and the strong line-up of boys on the team should serve to hold them near the top of the list. During the game Richards got two two-baggers, a base on balls and a single. Balthis got three singles and a two-bagger. Pete Powers got four singles. Fanset and Balthis both pitched good ball for the Tigers, while Clifford Van Osdale pitched a hard game for Mill's team, without good support from his teammates. A number of errors let in the twenty-four scores for the Tigers, while Mill's team was held to one lone score.

SOCCER GAME

Tom Phillips, Bill Bodie and Art McKenzie played the entire offensive game, where five men generally are supposed to play. Score: 5 to 2.

NEW FORD AGENCY

SMITH-WALKER-MIDDLEWORTH COMBINE EXPECTS TO SELL 200 CARS THIS SEASON

From this time forward the Ford Motor company's auto sales in Glendale will be handled by a new firm. Messrs. Jesse E. Smith, Howard W. Walker and W. R. Middleworth have entered into a partnership for conducting a Ford agency in this city. The new firm's place of business is in the garage building at the corner of Broadway and Kenwood. It will handle exclusively Ford machines and Ford accessories.

There are about 5700 Ford agents in the United States. All of them seem to do well and to make money. Probably no company gets more public mention than the Ford, which has almost become a household word and seems to have a hold on the affections of the multitudes—a very good thing to have. Mr. Ford began his manufacturing career by saying, "I will build a car for the multitudes." He has succeeded and as a tribute to his profound common sense and business knowledge as well as to his practical inventive genius, he was recently appointed by President Wilson on the advisory board for national defense.

Messrs. Smith, Walker and Middleworth will handle the Ford business in Glendale in such manner as to increase the sales, already very large in this vicinity. To accomplish this they bring a wealth of practical experience. Mr. Smith has been in the sales department of the Ford company in Los Angeles. Mr. Walker and Mr. Middleworth have been interested in the auto business for some years and are well known to Glendale people. The combined experience of the partners is thus very considerable and should stand them in good stead. They say that whereas the sales of Ford cars last season in Glendale numbered 100, they intend this year to double that output and get 200 into use.

In order to accomplish this to best advantage they are already making considerable alterations on their present quarters. They will require quite a deal of room, as they intend to fit up a section entirely for the sale of Ford accessories. This part of the business in itself will demand a good deal of attention as this Glendale agency will be expected to supply a very large district.

The new firm will, therefore, have a very fine stock room, with every imaginable part of a Ford that can be wanted. It will in some respects resemble the great Ford exhibit at the San Francisco exposition, where a Ford can be assembled in its entirety in a very short time. Eighteen cars were assembled in that exhibit in one day, and in some cases purchasers waited until their cars had been assembled and then were able to ride away in them.

There will be every kind of Ford car made to be obtained at the new salesroom. The Ford runabout, four cylinders and twenty horse-power; the Ford touring car, perhaps the best known of all the various forms of cars manufactured by this enterprising firm; the Ford town car, with a top that can be raised or lowered in a couple of minutes; the Ford coupelet, a two-passenger affair, with four cylinders and twenty horse-power, and the Ford Sedan, a Ford de-luxe car for social functions, shopping and general uses. The firm also intends to double its garage space.

Messrs. Smith, Walker and Middleworth feel pretty sure of their ground in Glendale and are certain that the growing demand for Ford cars will cause their business to expand. Under their expert management it certainly has an excellent opportunity of becoming one of the most prominent businesses of its kind in this vicinity.

CATHOLICS AT THE FAIR

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 11.—Special excursions from many sections are being arranged to bring Roman Catholics into San Diego for the celebration of Catholic day at the San Diego exposition September 19.

The celebration is in charge of committees from various Catholic organizations throughout Southern California united for the purpose of making one great day for Catholics in general. The auspices are primarily laymen and the principal speaker of the day will be a prominent layman.

The program of events at the exposition will include morning religious services, athletic sports and an afternoon program of speaking and music, according to tentative plans, to which events to fill the day and evening completely will be added.

EDUCATION IN MUSIC

Those who had the pleasure of listening to the High School orchestra last season were deeply impressed with the advance that had been made in the teaching of music in the public schools. Nothing so ambitious as a high school orchestra could have been dreamed of twenty years ago. Its creation is testimony to the upgrowth of a sentiment for the best education in music that can be given.

As a matter of fact, primary education in music was too long neglected by educators and they have been making up for lost time during recent years. It is not always certain, that much of that teaching has been the best that could be had. In other cases musical education has been exploited by persons who were not properly equipped for the task.

Much of the education of the human race is and must be done in the homes, apart from school influence. So musical education must receive its initial impulse there. An effort should be made to create a musical atmosphere or environment in every city; just as has been done in Germany. At one time the people of Germany were not so musical, as a nation, that is to say, as they are now. The creation of singing clubs in every city made the knowledge and love of music grow with a consequent atmosphere out of which developed the wonderful musical genius of that people.

Similar conditions could be created here and music could be as much a matter of atmosphere in our own midst as it is in every German and Welsh village. Those who have heard the Welsh singers in this country can have an idea of what a refining influence music can be wherever it is made a matter of everyday culture. "The man who has no music in his soul," said Shakespeare, "is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils." Indeed no nation can begin to mould its youth into a love of music without profiting by the practice. Elevation of soul, poetry of thought, and a thousand other good traits flow from this culture.

Such a community as Glendale should have all through the year such pleasing adjuncts to daily life as community music of all kinds. There should be ample funds to support the municipal band and enable it to give concerts at very frequent intervals. Band music is inspiring. It could be made a profitable asset to the working life. One has only to observe what goes on in a workshop of any kind when the strains of martial music are heard on the streets. There is a quickening of the intellect, a brightening of the eye and a general uplift that lightens labor and increases output.

True education being a continuous growth, there can be no sharp line of cleavage between primary and secondary or secondary and higher. It should be one unbroken process from the cradle to the grave through all the grades of the education system—and the whole course should be at the public expense like the teaching of science or the humanities. Facilities for study should be provided by the state and practice instruments furnished at a low cost, as apparatus is furnished in the laboratories. Under a fostering system of this kind the country might expect to see before long not only the production of genuine American musical genius; but even the creation of an American school of music.

TO ERECT BUNGALOW

What should prove to be a picturesque and commodious residence is to be erected on lot 24, block M, on what is known as the Glendale Valley View tract, which is situated on Colorado street near Pacific avenue. The owners are Dora and Samuel Galbraith. Clarence N. Aldrich of Long Beach is the designer. T. J. Fambrough, 1553 West Oak street, is the contractor. It is expected that the bungalow will be completed about October 21. The building will be a seven-room frame building.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

(By Rev. R. W. Mottern)
Topic Sunday, August 15th, "Be True to Your Ideals" (Acts 26: 12-19). An honorary members' meeting.

Bible Help
Stability of purpose, I Cor. 7: 20-24.
Our ambition, Rom. 1:13-17.
A man that succeeded, Dan. 1: 8-16.
A man that failed, Jonah 1:1-16.
Death, but not defeat, John 19: 1-12.
Christ's ideals, Isa. 11:1-10.

Seed Notes
Scarcely anyone can be found without a vision or ideal before them of what they want to be or do. Even the child declares, "I want to be a soldier," or "a carpenter," or "a teacher," or "a nurse," and before you know it, they will be acting out—though in play—those very visions. It all comes so natural we don't often think of it in this way. Now all ideals are based on visions of what is to be done or said, or what ought to be done or said. If our ideals would have the proper stimulus, whether sacred or secular, we must recognize them as coming from God if they are of benefit to humanity. For it is he who by his spirit works upon the human mentality, inspiring the good and noble in everything that is good and best.

An ideal is what anyone sets before him as the thing that ought to be done when it is finally worked out; and if at first it seems impossible, constant thought upon it will "find a way or make one." Thus thousands of things have been accomplished in the secular and religious which at first seemed utterly impossible. Before the building of the great Brooklyn bridge there never was an attempt made at such a structure. But the vision of such a bridge took firm hold of the elder Roebling and others interested; ere long it was put under way. Roebling died before it was completed. His son was called to finish it, but he too was sick for many months and finally when completed, he was taken in a tug up the East river and when he caught sight of the beautiful structure, he exclaimed, "There it is just as I expected; and just as father would have it." What a satisfaction it must have been and how useful the bridge has proved to that great metropolis!

Men and women who have reached the heights of importance and have done something worth while have been people of clear vision, great ideals and strong determination to work up to them. Every human comfort and common blessing we have today is the result of some one's vision of what was needed, for "necessity has proved the mother of invention." Faith in one's own ability, though it be weak and small, has accomplished wonders in every line of human activity. Though never done before, faith is not afraid to try. In moral and religious things the Christian's ideal of course is Christ. And we "shall be satisfied when we awake in his likeness."

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH

A few Sundays ago in our study of the famous "Visit of the Queen of Sheba" to see King Solomon and the wonders of his capitol, we were astonished at the distance of 1500 miles she was compelled to travel and that at great inconvenience. How that heathen queen rebukes many of us in our unwillingness to walk ten squares or more to worship the Lord Jesus Christ and hear and enjoy his gospel. May it not be there is such a condition as having things too convenient? May it be true in religion as other things, the easier we can get things, the less we value them? We have many churches and many services within such easy reach; they are so common; thousands become "gospel hardened" and care very little for them, thus thousands consider religion about the cheapest thing we have.

In great contrast, the heathen are glad to get the religious crumbs that fall from the church's gospel table, while so many in this Christian land turn up their noses at the gospel feast offered by the Christian church. For them it might be well were there fewer churches and less services; even one church in a community would be too many for some people. For the devout and sincere, who really want to do the master's service, there can be none too many, either of churches or services. It is easy to find fault, but more difficult to be in one's place in the house of God on the Sabbath day, when the will and disposition are both lame. You are welcome at our services. Let us not forget—
"A Sabbath well spent
Brings a week of content
And strength for the toils of the morrow;
But a Sabbath profaned,
Whatever be gained,
Is a certain forerunner of sorrow."

Following is the musical program: Organ voluntary, "Adagio."
Offertory, "Twilight Reverie."
Solo, "The Holy City," Elizabeth Mottern.
Organ postlude, "Traumerie."

TROPICO

The program given by N. P. Banks Post, Corps and Sons of Veterans of Tropico at the annual encampment of the Southern California Veterans' association at Long Beach Wednesday evening was one of unusual interest and there was not one dull minute from the time the first number was given until the echo of the final selection was drowned in one long and continued applause.

N. P. Banks Rifles, in their splendid military drill, executing many intricate evolutions, received a splendid ovation, and the vast audience of 2500 refused to be satisfied until these old gray-bearded veterans, returned and marched silently across the stage.

Major J. J. Weiler commanded the Rifles and appeared in the same old military suit that this gallant defender of his country and country's emblem wore during the troublesome days of 1861 to 1865.

The members of the Rifles wore blue suits with brass buttons, G. A. R. hats and carried army muskets. With firm and accurate military step these men drilled with the precision that recalled to the minds of the greater portion of the audience the days when they were out on military dress parade. Many were the exclamations heard on all sides that it seemed wonderful that these veterans could still execute with such marvelous precision the many evolutions of the days of long ago. The Rifles compose J. B. Hickman, T. M. Barrett, U. H. Emick, R. D. Goss, R. N. Taylor, Wm. Goss, John Wilson and J. A. Thayer. Comrade H. S. West acted as color bearer.

The Sons of Veterans were well represented in the minstrel show with which they entertained. Joseph V. Griffin, camp commander, whose versatility marks him as a most clever artist, was assisted by John Stathern and Robert Danner, equally as clever, in arranging the program that delighted the audience. J. W. Hibbert assisted in the "show" as interlocutor. Joseph Griffin and Harry Crane, bones; Robert Danner and Charles Allen, tambourines; John Stathern, Eugene Imler, Noble Ripley, A. J. Van Wie and Edward Shipman, middlemen. Mrs. Wm. Crawford, the clever pianist, assisted the minstrels. The make-up of these "artists" was all that could be desired in the "coon-town" citizens who frequent the Orpheum stage. Joseph V. Griffin was also heard to great advantage in his clever songs, as was also Charles Allen. Jack Stathern added to the program by giving some of his wonderful magical "stunts." Ed Shipman contributed a few juggling acts and the quintette—Joe Griffin, Robert Danner, Charlie Allen, Noble Ripley and Harry Crane—rendered a medley of patriotic airs, accompanied by Mrs. Crawford.

Other numbers of this splendid program included a piano solo by Mrs. William Crawford; reading by Miss Ruth Spafford, who is fast becoming a charming young impersonator. Post Commander George W. Sanford gave several of his original poems that added greatly to the program. M. R. Farley contributed several readings. Forest Jordan added a violin solo and Mrs. W. M. Crawford, who is also a vocalist, delighted the audience with a solo, accompanied by Miss Elsie Anderson.

Dainty little Mabel Todd had a birthday anniversary Friday and the event was most charmingly celebrated at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Todd, on Glendale avenue, with a very pretty children's party Friday afternoon. This dainty little miss not only celebrated her eighth anniversary, but also tendered little Le Moyne Pierson, a playmate, a farewell, for Le Moyne leaves very shortly for her future home in Kansas. The decorations throughout the home of Mrs. Todd were in red and white. Fragrant carnations in these colors were arranged everywhere. The tables at which dainty refreshments—ice cream, cake and candies—were served were also adorned in the same floral decorations, while red and white tapers added a charm.

Many games dear to children were enjoyed throughout the afternoon. The happy lads and lassies whom Mabel welcomed to her home and who, while wishing her many happy returns of the day in their sweet and unaffected childish manner, also bade farewell to their playmate, Le Moyne Pierson, were the Misses Florence Melrose, Mabel Gaarder, Dunise Parker, Gladys Reppart, Dorothy Chapin, Frances Gloria, Mary Ballentyne, Edna Strong, Mildred Moody, Elsie Gardner, Ruth Clark, Lucile Cook, Lois Oliver, Catherine Welhe, Frances Glassburn, Vetma Gillmore, Masters Stanley Ballentyne, Merton Mosher, Wilbur Houghton, John Hunter and Wesley Sawyer.

Preceding the children's party Mrs. Todd entertained with a dinner party complimentary to her young daughter, Mabel. The guests were seated at a table redolent with the perfume of red and white carnations arranged in a low cut bowl. The guests who were seated with Mrs. Todd and Miss Mabel were Mrs. John Hunter and son, John Hunter, Jr., of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mrs. Alden Stewart of Los Angeles; Mrs. Frank Peters, Mrs. Norma Pierson, Mrs. W. A. Hough and Miss Mary Jane Evans-Hough.

Mrs. R. M. Sanders entertained with a delightful afternoon at her home on West Acacia street Thursday. Dainty conceptions of art needle work featured the pleasant afternoon preceding the dainty refreshments. As this "afternoon" was simply a neighborhood affair, Mrs. Sanders' guests were Mrs. E. P. Tresslar, Mrs. Gretna Corduray of Los Angeles, daughter of Mrs. Tresslar, who is the guest at the home of her parents; Mrs. Harry L. Turner, Mrs. William La Fountaine, Mrs. Joseph V. Griffin, Mrs. Bert Chandler, Mrs. Herman Goodrich, Mrs. Geo. Friedgen, Mrs. William Hartwig and Masters Jim Griffin and Billy Turner.

Miss Jeanne Saunders of Los Angeles is spending a few days at the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kimberly of San Fernando boulevard.

August Schmidt of Ashland, N. C., visited in Tropico Friday at the home of Mrs. George Friedgen and Mrs. William Hartwig, old-time friends.

Mrs. L. R. Allen and daughter, Miss Lenore Allen of 441 Gardena avenue, are enjoying a pleasant sojourn at their cottage in Long Beach.

at Redondo Beach on Thursday, August 18, was taken up for discussion. On motion it was decided to go by auto instead of on the Pacific Electric railway.

Chairman Usilton reported that Messrs. Borthick, Roman, Booth and Packer, who had been appointed as a committee to confer with the Pacific Electric company concerning their giving an easement for land at the crossings on Seventh and Chestnut streets, had received a favorable report from the officials and thus the crossings will be deeded to the city without any further delay or litigation.

As had previously been announced, L. W. Colfelt of Pasadena was present to speak on the Torrens law. Mr. Colfelt is an attorney for the Torrens Title and Security company of Pasadena. He was accompanied by A. M. Shute, president of the company, who explained the plan upon which the company lists property under the Torrens system.

Mr. Colfelt compared the old system of keeping a record of property and the new system, which is the Torrens system. He said that in the recorder's office there are 12,000 large volumes, 6000 of which contain copies of deeds and 4000 copies of mortgages. The others contain miscellaneous records of property. According to the old system it is almost impossible for a person not familiar with these records to gain any information without the assistance of an expert. Under the Torrens system any person in a few minutes' time can gain all the information he may wish about the title of property in which he may be interested. The speaker said: "There are three points in favor of the Torrens system over the old way. It requires less time to make investigation, it is less complicated, and it is much cheaper." He said that a certificate from a title and trust company does not guarantee anything. The investor is furnished merely with the record of what is found on the books in the recorder's office. The recording of a mortgage may have been forged and the title and trust company be ignorant of the fact. In the case of the Torrens system the deed and the title certificate are on the same sheet, and if there becomes a lien on the property it is noted on the deed and title certificate. In fact, all notations as to releases and recording of mortgages are made on this one sheet. The speaker said, according to the Torrens law, a charge of one-tenth of one per cent of the valuation of the property is required to be paid by the person who wishes to have his property recorded in the Torrens system. This money goes into an insurance fund which is to be used to make good any loss caused by an error. The average time required to change the recording of property from the old way to the Torrens system is ten weeks. At the close of the gentleman's address there were many questions asked by those present. Attorney F. L. Muhleman, who is very familiar with the workings of the Torrens law in the various states and in the foreign countries, where it is in use, spoke very intelligently upon the Torrens law as adopted in California, stating that before the law becomes as efficient as it should be, it must be amended in several particulars. Mr. Muhleman criticized the Torrens law plan of the registrar acting in the capacity of a judiciary. He also called attention to the fact that after property is once listed under the Torrens system there is no way provided to have it taken from that system. He also called attention to other defects that were acknowledged to be valid ones by the speaker. However, all agree that a method of recording deeds and mortgages that will have less work and less expense to the property owner will meet with the approval of the people. The chair in behalf of those present thanked Mr. Shute and Mr. Colfelt for the clear explanation they had given of the Torrens law.

Fred Deal, an active member of the Knights of Pythias lodge, was present and urged the importance of the city of Glendale giving recognition to the K. of P. picnic, which is to be held at Verdugo park on September 6.

Motions prevailed that the Chamber of Commerce recommend that all business houses in Glendale be appropriately decorated in honor of the visiting Knights of Pythias at the picnic at Verdugo park September 6. Also that the Chamber of Commerce appropriate $10 for the purchase of a trophy to be given as a prize to the winner in a drill or athletic sport.

On motion, the Chamber of Commerce adjourned to meet on Friday evening, August 20.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Rev. F. M. Rogers, for six years pastor of the First Christian church of Long Beach, but now secretary of the Southern California Christian Missionary society, will preach at the Glendale church at the Sunday morning service. The supply committee is very lucky to be able to secure Mr. Rogers and was only able to do so because of a little change in his plans which left him free for tomorrow. It is sincerely hoped that the membership will show its appreciation by advertising this fact.

There will be no service in the evening. The Bible school, prayer meeting and other services of the church are being vigorously maintained during the absence of the pastor, and although the weather is sometimes hot. Are you doing your part?

TALKS TO FARMERS

No. 3

CONTENTMENT

THE vital things that go to make contentment on a ranch are what? First, a substantial profit from the soil itself; second, livable conditions conducive to health, and third, social and educational conditions conducive to happiness. If you could find these three things secure within your means, you would consider you had almost an ideal condition in which to live and work, would you not? These are the conditions I offer and I desire you to investigate before purchasing elsewhere. Profit because your land will pay you 25 per cent to 50 per cent a year net, and should logically double and treble in valuation during the next few years, where the markets to buy your products are so well established that there are two solid miles of canneries and packing houses bidding against each other at all times to purchase from you at the highest market prices. Health, because statistics prove this section of California to be the most healthy in the state and happiness should be yours through both of the above reasons, and further through existing social conditions. Farming on the edge of a big city of 50,000 people, where twenty minutes' time and a street car will put you in the heart of the best of churches, schools, stores, theaters and the other social conditions that go to make life worth while, and you don't have to pay $1000 per acre for the land, either, although I believe this same land will sell for that five years from now. The price is $200 per acre, with all the water you want to use delivered to the highest part of your land, at a total cost to you of $1 per acre per year, where other men are making good and getting rich. Yes, we can arrange the terms of payment to suit you, and if you are looking for land, call in and get my little book, "FUNDAMENTAL FARMING FACTS." It has some vital points of interest to you.
