

SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR

LADIES OF FIRST METHODIST CHURCH RUN OUT OF STOCK

Times may be dull, influenza epidemics may appear to be depressing the civilian population, Red Cross drives may call urgently for all loose change, but Glendale still loyally supports the church bazaar. We have not had many bazaars this year because their usual promoters lacked the courage to attempt them. Not so the ladies of the First Methodist Church of Glendale, who set apart Friday and Saturday of last week for this Christmas mart and attractively displayed their wares in a vacant store building on Broadway. Friday's stock was woefully low early in the afternoon of Friday, and Saturday's staples and novelties went even faster. The noon lunches, of which Mrs. Ed Lee had charge with an efficient corps of helpers, were a great success and cleared about $40.

From the sale of home candies made by the girls of the Philaetha class about $10 was turned in.

The apron booth, of which Mrs. Shattuck was chairman, made about $45.

Fancy work found an excellent demand and Mrs. Lusby, the chairman, reports returns of $56.

Mrs. C. E. Case, who was chairman of the children's booth, estimated the earnings there at $45.

Mrs. Charles Starkey was kept busy by customers of the cooked food booth of which she was chairman, and estimated it would have to its credit about $40.

The money will all be applied on the pledges toward the church debt made by women's organizations and classes of the church. The total contribution will be in the neighborhood of $236.

MISS WAITE ENTERTAINS

Miss Ida Waite was hostess at a pretty and greatly enjoyed evening party given to teachers associated with her in the Colorado Street School and old friends, at her apartment on East Broadway.

Desert and English holly were combined in decoration of the reception rooms, suggesting not alone Christmas, but a Christmas in California, where snow-capped peaks guard the tropic valleys, where the orange ripens in the sun and where winds of the ocean and winds of the desert greet and mingle.

Poinsettia bon bon baskets emphasized the Yuletide note, and orange-colored calendulas and other blooms added to the festive appearance.

Each guest had some stunt to contribute to the evening's entertainment, most of them guessing contests, and it proved a merry evening, dainty refreshments being served about 9 o'clock.

DEATH OF MRS. WILLIAMS

Mrs. Hattie A. Williams, wife of George A. Williams of 405 Ivy Street, passed away Sunday, December 15, after a long illness. Mr. and Mrs. Williams came here five years ago, Mr. Williams being connected with the film industry.

Funeral services will be held at the Pulliam undertaking parlors Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, followed by cremation at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

ENGINEERS HOME

MEN SENT TO UNIVERSITY FOR SPECIAL TRAINING ARE DISCHARGED

The boys are coming home. Among the latest arrivals are J. F. McClish, Roger B. Wright and Edward Corey, who were sent by special induction by the local board two months ago to the State University of Nevada to take special training for the engineering corps. They had about completed their preliminary course and would have been sent to an eastern camp for subsequent training before going overseas had not the armistice been signed. Mr. McClish says the work at the university was very severe. After the setting-up exercises in the morning, they went to the shops, where they donned overalls and received mechanical instruction until 2 o'clock. Returning to the drill grounds, they changed to khaki and drilled until dark. The evening hours were spent in study under rather adverse conditions. Mr. McClish says he had hoped to complete his course and get to France, but joins in the general satisfaction that the Hun is whipped and that he can be at home again. He considers his experience in Uncle Sam's army was worth a great deal to him.

PICTURES WANTED

EXEMPTION BOARD SAYS DATA AND PHOTOS OF SOLDIERS ARE NOT COMING IN

Mr. Lanterman of the local exemption board states that the work of the local board is almost entirely complete except the historical part, which has so far received very little attention from the public. In spite of the request to parents and friends of registrants for photographs and data regarding the experience of soldiers in the army which the national government is endeavoring to compile into a history of the war, very few pictures and little or no information has been sent to the board. Unless this begins to come in right away, the Glendale district will make a very poor showing in the government archives.

Mr. Lanterman also says that the policy of the government has been indicated in a statement by Provost Marshal General to the draft boards of New York, headed "Taps of the Volunteers," in which he said that future enlistments will be left to the draft boards, which will be reduced to a central state board, all the local boards being relieved. This, Mr. Lanterman says, will be good news to the members of this board and those of all the other boards with which he has any acquaintance, as they have had a long, monotonous task which they will be glad to finish.

MASONIC ACTIVITIES

The past week has been quite an eventful one for the Masons of Glendale. Friday evening the members of Unity Chapter enjoyed their monthly supper, at which covers were laid for 125, and which was followed by a fine variety entertainment, chiefly music of a high order, contributed by Mrs. Floyd Masters, Mrs. R. W. Masters, Harold Thompson, Francis Henry and Mrs. John Legge, Harry B. Highes and Madame Rolland. It also included fancy dancing by little Julia Pelley, Arline Yeakel, Marjorie Hart and Robert Lehman, which made a tremendous hit. Of even greater value and importance was the lecture on "Ancient Masonry" delivered at Masonic Temple Saturday night by Robert D. Graham of Denver, one of the finest orators of the United States and a big man in Masonic circles. Those who were so fortunate as to hear him declare it was a red letter meeting for the lodge. It was the first time he has been heard in this city.

Tonight members of the Long Beach Commandery will come to Glendale to put on the Templar degrees. It will be quite an affair for Commandery No. 53 and a light lunch will be served after the work is completed.

WOOD WILL BUILD

G. H. Wood of Burbank, who represents the Union Oil Co. in this territory, was in Glendale Monday morning receiving congratulations on account of his luck in winning the Red Cross lot that was disposed of at the Elks' meeting Friday evening. Mr. Wood, after considerable persuasion on the part of Mrs. H. P. Coker of the Crystal Ice Co., purchased a ticket several months ago, and one of his first acts after receiving the lot was to thank Mrs. Coker in a substantial way for being the means of his buying the ticket.

Mr. Wood is well known in Glendale, especially by the oil station men, and to those who do not know him we might say he is as broad as he is long so to make the explanation short, he is as tall when lying as when standing. There has never been any good reason why Mr. Wood should not be a resident of Glendale, and now he has less excuse. He made the statement Monday morning that he intends to build on his newly acquired lot soon and come here to live. As was stated Saturday, this lot was given by Ezra Parker to the Elks to be disposed of in any way they saw fit, the proceeds to go to the Glendale Chapter of the American Red Cross. The lot brought $1,562 for the cause.

NOTICE TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

The teachers of the seventh and eighth grades of the Intermediate and Cerritos Avenue schools made the following regulations for the students of these grades:

Outlines for their work will be posted on the door of the schoolhouse, and all notices concerning their work will be placed there also. A place will be provided at the school house door for receiving the work of the pupils. All work must be in this place by 4 o'clock each Friday in order to be counted. Children failing to do the work will fail to make their grade.

U. S. PLACE AMONG NATIONS

PRESIDENT SAYS IT HAS ESTABLISHED ITS RIGHT TO FELLOWSHIP WITH ALL WHO REVERENCE LIBERTY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, December 16.—Speaking at the Hotel de Ville at the ceremonies in which he was officially received as a citizen of Paris, President Wilson declared that the United States has established its right to "full fellowship with those peoples here and throughout the world who reverence the right of genuine liberty and justice."

He declared that the United States was not unmindful of German atrocities and that when it entered the war it acted not only because it knew that Germany was the enemy of that right, "but also because of the illicit ambitions which Germany was entertaining and attempting to realize and which led her to acts which shocked our hearts as much as they offended our principles."

This morning the president motored to Versailles, children all along the way showering his car with flowers. At noon the Ambassador to Italy, Mr. Page, was the president's guest at luncheon.

Later President Poincaré and Madame Poincaré, with a cavalry escort took the president to the Hotel de Ville to his official reception to citizenship.

The city of Paris presented the president with a scroll declaring him a citizen, and Mrs. Wilson was given a brooch composed of a diamond incrustated olive branch with six white enamel peace doves super-imposed.

At 3:30 o'clock, the president visited Premier Clemenceau at the Foreign office.

The King of Italy will see the president on Thursday.

PRESIDENT URGES SPEEDY CONFERENCE

HE IS ANXIOUS TO GET QUICKLY TO WORK ON PRELIMINARIES OF PEACE TREATY

PARIS, December 16.—Yesterday President Wilson informed the allies through Premier Clemenceau of France that he is anxious to get down to business quickly.

It is understood that members of the American delegation favor a plan whereby the president with one representative each of France, England and Italy would arrange the preliminaries of the peace conference. These men would formulate a series of proposals for submission to an open conference of all the allied powers prior to the drafting of the actual treaty.

Some of the allied representatives are in favor of the full American, French, British and Italian delegations and one Japanese representative drawing up a program to be submitted to the other belligerents.

WHEAT ACREAGE IS LARGELY INCREASED

ITS CONDITION IS BETTER THAN THE AVERAGE FOR THE PAST TEN YEARS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Dec. 16.—The department of agriculture today estimated that the winter wheat acreage of the United States is 49,000,000 acres, or nearly 16 per cent more than last year. Its condition is estimated at 98.5 per cent, or 10 per cent better than the average for the past ten years.

ANOTHER MEXICAN REVOLUTION IMPENDING

OFFICERS CROSS THE RIO GRANDE TO HEAD A REVOLT AGAINST CARRANZA GOVERNMENT

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 16.—Mexicans here declare that General Angelus, with a small party of officers, crossed the Rio Grande at a point fifty miles southeast of here yesterday to head a proposed revolt against Carranza.

Dr. Gomez is reported to be the rebel candidate for the presidency.

TO ADDRESS THE ARMY

PRESIDENT WILL VISIT AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS AND MAKE CHRISTMAS SPEECH

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Paris, Dec. 16.—It was announced today that the President will go to American army headquarters on December 23 and make a Christmas Day speech to the army, returning to Paris December 29.

STABILIZATION OF OIL PRICES CALLED OFF

WASHINGTON, December 16.—The Fuel Administration announced today that the Oil industry had been asked to suspend its plan for the stabilization of crude oil prices.

VERNE NYMAN, EARL DIXON, RALPH MILES AND OTHER STUDENTS DISCHARGED

Glendale is beginning to get the fruits of war department orders. The boys are coming home. This morning several were on the streets of Glendale. One who paid the Evening News the courtesy of a visit was Verne Nyman, who has been discharged from the student army training corps at U. S. C. after serving about two and a half months, and has resumed his former duties with the Bank of Glendale at Glendale and Broadway.

While he is glad to be at home again, he says he will have to adapt himself to indoor life after his camp experiences. On account of the influenza epidemic and the closing of the schools, the boys accomplished little in study, but he declares too much cannot be said in praise of the army training. He is in splendid physical condition and says that his case is no exception; that the effect upon all the men was marvelous. He said in this connection that men who came in dirty, sloppy and generally inferior in appearance, graded right up, and at the end of the training, when they were discharged, you could hardly tell them for the same students.

The instruction in sanitation he considers the most valuable part of army training. The training in psychology he also thinks is of great value regardless of the line of work the soldiers may undertake afterward. You have to learn to judge and understand your fellows in order to adapt yourself to them. Every officer with whom you come in contact has a different disposition, which the soldier must try to understand that he may do efficient and satisfactory work under that officer.

A number of other Glendale boys who were in the corps are either already discharged or are slated for release in the course of a few days.

Earl Dixon, another Glendale student in the same company as Verne Nyman, who was in the employ of the Southern Pacific when he enlisted, has been so weaned from indoor work that he is going north to take up ranching with a friend. He has had experience in that line before, so will not be a novice.

Ralph Miles, son of E. J. Miles of Casa Verdugo, is helping Parmalee & Dohrmann of Los Angeles during the Christmas rush, and will return to college to complete a literary course and also take a course in agriculture, as he plans to make a business of ranching.

Other local boys in the corps are Paul Brooks, Merle Davis and Ralph Salstrom. Donovan Hardin, whose father conducts the Glendale Furniture Store, has also been discharged and is at his home in Eagle Rock. He will now be able to complete the course in dentistry which was interrupted by his army training, and expects to be graduated in June.

W. A. ANDERSON IS HOME

William A. Anderson, who resides on Isabel, near Broadway, Glendale, returned home Sunday from near Blythe, where he has been for over a year managing a cotton plantation. Mr. Anderson is very enthusiastic over the prospects for getting big returns for cotton in that section of Riverside county. He has on exhibition in a store window samples of cotton that he says averaged two bales to the acre. The present price is 30c per pound, but he expects 40c will be paid for it soon. Mr. Anderson will remain in Glendale until the first of next year, when he will return to Blythe and begin getting his next year's crop put out. He has owned a ranch there for several years and next year intends to cultivate an additional tract. He says that hard work is one of the necessary things in producing a good crop of cotton, and from the calloused appearance of his hands and brown face it is evident he has taken a part in the program of hard work.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON MUSICALS

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson entertained Sunday afternoon with her accustomed "at home" and musicale. The guests were Misses Lena May Brice, Marion Addison, Lorraine Mitchell, Dr. and Mrs. Marlenee, Dr. Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mitchell, Mrs. Rose John, William S. Roch and A. C. Richards of the naval reserve, and Frank Prouty, who appeared for the first time in civilian clothes after being discharged from the submarine service, and whose discomfort in the unaccustomed high collar and tight vest was a source of merriment to his friends.

TO INCREASE SALVAGE

COUNTY AND CITY OFFICIALS ASKED TO GIVE WASTE MATERIALS TO RED CROSS

Reports from the Pacific Coast Division show that the supervisors of the city and county of San Francisco have taken action which shows great public spirit. Some time ago they agreed to co-operate with the salvage department of the San Francisco chapter by turning over to it such materials as had been previously wasted, passing the following resolution:

"Whereas, the San Francisco Chapter of the American Red Cross has established a salvage department at 39 Van Ness Avenue, where waste articles of every description are collected and turned into money for the aid of the American soldiers and sailors in France; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the officers and departments of the city government are requested to co-operate with the salvage department of the American Red Cross by arranging to turn over to them such waste articles as may be of value to them."

A. T. DeForest, director of the bureau of salvage and shop of the Pacific Division, says in a recent communication:

"There is no more reason for letting up on the campaign for conservation of waste commodities than there is in letting up on the campaign for the conservation of food. There are many lessons of thrift and conservation which are now being gladly received by the American people, one of which is the reconstruction of clothing. Articles formerly discarded and considered rags are now utilized in the reconstruction of wearing apparel which is used in this country or sent to the relief of the people of France or Belgium.

Mr. Rowley, chairman of salvage for the Junior Red Cross, believes that the income of the Red Cross from this lucrative source might be considerably increased if the board of county supervisors and the boards of trustees of California cities could be persuaded to pass a resolution similar to the one quoted above.

PLAYING SANTA CLAUS

THE LOCAL RELIEF COMMITTEE CALLS FOR DONATIONS FOR CHRISTMAS BASKETS

The local relief committee is again preparing for its regular annual task of furnishing Christmas cheer and comfort for the children of the poor of Glendale. A conference of its members—Mrs. E. S. McKee, representing the Tuesday Afternoon Club; Mrs. A. A. Barton, president of the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations, and Prof. Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools—was held Friday, and a call sent out through all the schools for donations to be brought to the Central Market at 116 North Brand, where a large box to receive them has been placed and where the gifts will receive attention from Mrs. McKee.

While the need does not appear to be quite as acute as it was last year, Mrs. McKee says there are about 75 children in our city who will be forgotten by Santa Claus unless these donations are made on a liberal scale. The call is for clothing, toys, staple groceries, fruits and goodies in the shape of candy, nuts, popcorn, etc.

The donations will be made up into baskets or bundles and distributed by the committee in time for Christmas. The families to be remembered number children ranging from one to nine, and include some of our best American citizens who are temporarily out of work or who have had sickness or other misfortune.

THE BREST-LITOVSK TREATY

The suspicions of France and England voiced by Kerensky, the former premier of Russia, in an interview with a representative of the United Press, and embodied in press dispatches published in the Evening News of Wednesday, are based on his experiences with Germany in connection with the Brest-Litovsk treaty, by which Russia was so badly tricked. Kerensky professes to fear similar treatment at the hands of Russia's former allies and makes his appeal to America to protect the interests of Russia, who can have no place at the peace table because she has no established government which can be recognized. It will, therefore, be of interest at this time to read the review of that treaty as compiled by Prof. Carl L. Becker and printed in a pamphlet setting forth "America's War Aims," published by the Committee on Public Information at Washington. In chapter three of that pamphlet, Professor Becker says: "Three months after the Papal peace overtures, an event occurred which soon placed the central powers in a position which enabled them once more to make an offer of peace to their enemies. Nov. 7, 1917, the government of Kerensky was overthrown, and the Bolsheviks, under the lead of Lenin and Trotzky, became the masters of Russia. Russia was already at the point of economic exhaustion; and the new regime hastened to renounce treaties with the Allies, and on Dec. 15, 1917, negotiated a separate armistice with Germany with a view to immediate peace. The famous conference which followed at Brest-Litovsk (Dec. 22, 1917 to Feb. 10, 1918), resulted directly in the humiliating treaty which opened Russia to German exploitation. But it also gave rise to the most extended statement of peace terms, both by Germany and the Allied governments, which had as yet been made.

"The initiative in this movement was taken by the Bolsheviks themselves. The leaders of the Russian government appear to have believed that the conference at Brest-Litovsk would lead to the negotiation of a general peace between all the belligerents. With this end in view, the Russian agents at Brest-Litovsk presented fifteen points, which were so wide in their scope as to constitute the basis for a general peace. The substance of the proposal is as follows:

(1) Evacuation of Russia, and autonomy for Poland and the Lithuanian and Lettish provinces. (2) Autonomy for Turkish Armenia. (3) Free plebiscite for Alsace-Lorraine. (4) Restoration of Belgium and indemnification from an international fund. (5) The same for Serbia and Montenegro; access to the sea for Serbia, autonomy for Bosnia and Herzegovina. (6) Plebiscites for other contested Balkan territories. (7) The restoration of Roumania, with autonomy for the Dobrudja. (8) A plebiscite for the Thentino and Trieste. (9) Restoration of the German colonies. (10) The restoration of Persia and Greece. (11) Neutralization of the maritime straits leading to inland seas, and of the Suez and Panama Canals; freedom of commercial navigation; torpedoing of commercial ships forbidden. (12) No indemnities, and war contributions to be refunded. (13) No special customs agreements and no commercial boycotts after the war. (14) Peace to be negotiated at a congress of delegates chosen by representative bodies; no secret treaties. (15) Gradual disarmament on land and sea; militia to replace standing armies.

"The central powers had no intention of negotiating a peace, either with Russia or with any other country, on such bases as those presented by the Bolsheviks. But the collapse of Russia had so far improved their position that they would have liked nothing better than to draw the western belligerents into a peace conference. In other words, the central powers were ready, in December, 1917, to enter into peace negotiations for precisely the same reason that they were in December, 1916—because they felt strong enough to enforce their own terms, as they in fact did enforce their own terms on Russia by the Brest-Litovsk treaties.

"With this idea in mind, Count Czernin, speaking for the Central Powers at Brest-Litovsk, on Dec. 25, made a statement intended as a basis upon which the Allied governments might join in the negotiations then under way with Russia. He said that the central powers 'are agreed immediately to conclude a general peace without forcible annexations and indemnities,' and that they believed that the 'six clauses proposed by the Russian delegation' (only the first six of the fifteen proposals of the Russian agents had at that time been made public) might become the basis of such a general peace. Nevertheless, this Christmas gift to the Allies was made with reservations; for Count Czernin added that in respect to these six proposals it was necessary to make certain observations. These observations, which stated the conditions on which the central powers would accept the six points as the basis of peace, were in substance as follows:

"(1) Forcible annexation was not intended by the central powers, but the question of evacuation of territory now occupied must be left to the final treaty. (2) The central powers did not intend to deprive of independence those countries that lost it during the war. (3) The status of nationalities not independent cannot be settled internationally, but must be left to the particular governments concerned. (4) Protection of the rights of minorities constitutes an essential component part of the constitutional rights of peoples to self-determination, and the central powers grant validity to this principle everywhere, so far as it is practically realizable. (5) The Central Powers have frequently emphasized the possibility that both sides might renounce not only indemnification for war costs, but also . . . for war damages. (6) Germany cannot renounce her colonies 'under any circumstances.' In addition to these six points, the central powers 'approved wholly' the 'principle of economic relations proposed by the Russian delegation.'

"These observations transformed the Russian proposals into something quite different; they meant essentially that the settlement of Alsace-Lorraine and Poland must be left to the central powers, and that while they did not intend to annex Belgium or the Baltic Provinces or Serbia or Roumania, the question of whether these countries were to be evacuated or not must be left to the final treaty. The treaty of Brest-Litovsk is a concrete instance of the way in which Germany applied her peace 'principles' in actual practice."

THE RED CROSS DRIVE

The American Red Cross is asking every man, woman and child to become a member of its organization at Christmas. Membership is one dollar a year.

Surely it were an ungrateful and an unimaginative person who will not respond to the appeal of the greatest mother of them all.

For the Red Cross never swerved in all the years of war. It hurried to the relief not only of war sufferers, but of peoples bowed down in famine, pestilence and flood. In the recent epidemic of influenza it was an angel of practical mercy. It has gone into the waste places of the earth and taken succor to men forgotten by humanity. It has taken manna to starving thousands.

But its biggest service, of course, has been in the war. Its myriad hands, those of the consecrated women who nursed and the others who worked unremittingly making bandages and garments for hospital use, healed whatever they touched. Many of the shiploads of war boys who were invalided home, thousands of those who will come home in the glad months to come, are alive only because the Red Cross would not permit them to slip into the great immensities when their tired souls ebbed at the edge of the far countries. The letters which you received from your soldier were written on stationery provided for him at a place where Red Cross lives were risked in the providing.

The story of the heroism of the Red Cross will never be told for the reason that it is so far-reaching, so deep in the profundity of its unselfishness that the tale would unfold into eternity. Its foundation is service. The debt which America and the Allied powers owe to its beneficence can never be liquidated.

Now it asks, not contributions, not subscriptions, but memberships. It would have its embracing arms about an entire nation united in what President Wilson has called the great comradeship.

NEED LAW TO PROTECT CHILDREN

At the beginning of the war a federal law regulating the employment of children was in effect in the United States. That law prohibited the employment of children under 16 in mines and quarries, of children under 14 in manufacturing establishments, and of children between 14 and 15 for more than eight hours a day, six days in any week, or after 7 in the evening or before 6 in the morning. Upon June 3, that law was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court. The decision handed down by the judges showed, however, that it was the method of control, not the standards embodied in the law, which was thought to be at variance with the constitution of the United States. Since that time, the war labor policies board, which includes representatives of all the production and purchasing departments of the government, has directed that the standards of the child labor law be written into all government contracts, on the ground that sustained efficiency in production is not promoted by child labor, and the president has directed the children's bureau to make the inspection necessary for the enforcement of the contract clause and has furnished the funds for so doing. Since the government is now, directly and indirectly, the greatest employer in the world, many children are protected by this action.

But we need more than an emergency measure that will become ineffective with the ending of the war. We need a sound, liberal statute that will allow all children, now and in the future, to get a good start in physical and mental growth before entering industry. Only so can we hope to rear a generation of men and women fitted to carry on the great ideals for which our young men today are fighting and dying.

FRANCE LENDS TO WOUNDED POILUS

(By United Press.)
 Paris, Nov. 18. (By Mail.)—France has provided a way by which her wounded soldiers, under certain liberal conditions, may borrow money at 1 per cent for 25 years, to finance farming or gardening projects.

These persons may borrow, under the new plan, from real estate mortgage associations and agricultural loan associations:

Former soldiers and marines receiving pensions from the state for injuries or infirmities due to the war.

Widows of such men, whose husbands died in service.

Dependents of soldiers, provided they are eligible to certain pensions or annuities and are eligible to insurance in laborers' and peasants' retirement fund.

The loans which mortgage and agricultural loan associations are authorized to make to these persons are intended to benefit only those whose fortunes or health, or both, have been injured or retarded by the war, and whose means will not allow them to undertake the re-financing or reconstruction of their little properties in the usual way.

Liberal Terms

Hence it is specified that the loans shall be authorized for acquiring, managing, transforming and reconstructing small rural properties, without regard to area, of which the value does not exceed $1,930. The 25-year limit for completing repayment applies only to those who shall not be more than 60 years old when the last payment is due.

Terms of the loan are so arranged that the association making it cannot suffer any loss by reason of the death of the borrower. He must contract with the national insurance fund for payment of the unpaid balance in case of his death before payments are completed by him. But the borrower suffers no inconvenience by reason of this contract, as the insurance premium is paid all at once, and the amount of the premium, together with costs of negotiating the loan, is added to the amount borrowed.

The lending association also is protected against nonpayment of installments, as it is authorized to attach one-fifth of the annuity or pension unpaid, provided such attachment does not reduce the pension or annuity by more than half, or to a sum less than $69.48.

The loan associations will receive advances of money from the government for the purpose of making this special class of loans for rehabilitating the men who have fought for France, or the widows and children of such men. A special commission investigates each case, and upon its recommendation the minister of agriculture or the minister of social welfare makes the advances to the loan associations. No interest is required of the associations, but they are permitted to charge the borrower 1 per cent to cover the additional expense of operation imposed by this class of business.

In short, the government lends the money to the small farmer through the agency of the associations already established, to be repaid in installments over a period of 25 years, and the cost to the borrower is nominal. Nobody is inconvenienced and the repayment of the borrowed sums is sure.

The pensioned soldiers, widows or dependents who take advantage of the French government's offer are encouraged to marry and rear families. The property on which the money is borrowed may be declared a homestead, giving the owner about the same rights that a "homesteader" settling on government land in the United States acquired in the land settlement days following the civil war. Unmarried persons taking a homestead under the new French plan must marry within three years, or any interested persons may cause the homestead declaration to be set aside. For each child born to the homesteader the state will place to the credit of the borrower one-half of one per cent of the original loan every year. In other words, if the rehabilitated soldier has two children after making his new home, he will not have to pay any interest, and if he has more than two children the government will be paying him interest on the money he has borrowed.

The French law already is in operation, and many wounded men or widows of soldiers are taking advantage of it to make a new start in the world.

Log Beach, Dec. 16.—The much-maligned barnacle has come into its own. The Pacific Sea Food Co. has evolved barnacle soup which is said to have a "distinctly marine flavor" and is preparing to put the soup on the market. It is estimated that the supporting piles of the Pine Street pier are regular fountains of soup, some assembler of statistics going to the trouble of reckoning that 100 tons of soup could be removed from the pier. Ocean-going vessels are a prolific source of barnacles.

MRS. F. H. NICHOLS of 223 North Adams Street is going to Los Angeles to spend three months with her sister and daughter.

John McBratney, founder of the Irish Linen Store in this city, sailed for Ireland the same day that President Wilson left for France. He was due to arrive last Friday.

Postmaster Frederick B. Walker, who is recuperating from an illness, is now able to walk about. He was granted a leave of absence for thirty days, so will not go back to his work for a week or two.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Keleher of 528 North Louise are the parents of a beautiful baby daughter, born to them December 6 at the Sisters' Hospital. Mother and baby will be able to spend the Yuletide in the family circle.

Dick Mills, his wife and baby, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Knoche, have returned from Berkeley to Glendale to live. The two men were employed in the shipyard in the bay city. Mrs. Knoche is for the present with her mother, Mrs. Zerr, on Cedar Street.

R. M. Jackson, secretary of the Elks' Club, is still confined to his home by illness, but is said to be improving. Joe Fortunato, also an important member of the club, is also under the weather with influenza, but was able to sit up Sunday and is said to be gaining rapidly.

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson and family, Miss Lorraine Mitchell and Frank Prouty, drove to San Pedro Saturday to witness the football game between the submarine base team and the naval reserve. Mr. Prouty being a member of the submarine base band and Miss Mitchell's brother being in the naval reserve, the party rooted for both teams.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilson of Stratton, Nebraska, are coming to California and are expected to reach Glendale tonight, where they will be guests of their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Davenport of Glendale Avenue. Mrs. Wilson has been here before, but it is Mr. Wilson's first trip to the coast and it is expected to be quite a treat to him.

Harold Venske has been discharged from the student army training corps and has returned to the home of his parents at 331 North Louise Street, this city. He has had quite a siege with influenza, but is convalescent and has been granted leave of absence from the university until the next semester opens the first of February.

The Red Cross shop was open all last week, after being closed for some time. In the absence of Mrs. Jack Boettner, the chairman, Mesdames Stockbridge and Wintersgill prepared it for use and arranged the stock. The returns for the week were very good, as they took in $33. Their stock includes a good many articles for which there should be an excellent Christmas demand. For instance, there is an attractive lot of cloth dolls splendid for young children, there are rag rugs and ladies' hats, good clothing, fancy work, dishes, etc.

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL WORK

The faculty of Union High School was in session all the forenoon from 9 to 12, discussing methods of carrying on the correspondence courses which it has been decided must take the place of oral school work now that the school is closed. It is expected that by tomorrow plans will be sufficiently formulated to enable Principal Moyses to make definite statements relative to the work and the manner in which it will be carried out.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

In the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the County of Los Angeles. In the Matter of the Application of Ernest Harbin Loutzenhiser.

Ernest Harbin Loutzenhiser, on the 7th day of December, 1918, filed with the above entitled court and in the above entitled matter, his verified application or petition for a change of his name from Ernest Harbin Loutzenhiser to Ernest Harbin Lotz.

Now, therefore, it is hereby ordered that all persons interested in said matter appear before the above entitled court, in department 10 thereof, at the court house in the city and county of Los Angeles, State of California, on the 13th day of January, 1919, at the hour of 10 a. m., or as soon thereafter upon said day as counsel can be heard, and show cause, if any, why the application for change of name, as aforesaid, should not be granted; and

It is further ordered that a copy of this order be published as follows, to-wit, for four successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation and published in the above named county, to-wit, the Glendale News.

Dated December 7, 1918.
DANA B. WELLER,
 Presiding Judge.

MRS. JENNIE JARVIS

Friends in this vicinity were grieved to hear of the passing of Mrs. Jennie Jarvis at the Hollenbeck home, where she had lived for the past fifteen years. Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis were residents of Cypress Street thirty-four years ago and until they went to Los Angeles. They were splendid people and had multitudes of friends in this vicinity. They enjoyed their life at the Hollenbeck home, Mr. Jarvis being permitted to continue the work he loved among the flowers and Mrs. Jarvis carrying on her philanthropic activities. She was the founder and first president of the Los Angeles day nursery, as well as the organizer of the King's Daughters, the first woman's club organized in this valley. Her cheerful smile and her loving friendship will long be cherished by those who knew her. She is survived by one son, Charles E. Jarvis, clerk of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The service was held at the Hollenbeck home Monday afternoon.

THE ELKS' DOLL

The beautiful doll which has been on display in the windows of the Glendale Book Store on Brand Boulevard, the doll which was dressed by Mesdames Clyde Bott and Estelle Brain, and the doll which has earned $100 for the charity fund of the Elks of Glendale and Los Angeles, will remain in Glendale until her career of philanthropy transfers her to some other municipality. Last Wednesday evening the drawing to determine which ticket buyer should possess her took place, and Mrs. Brain was the lucky winner. Having been one of the godmothers of the doll in providing her with a trousseau, she was naturally interested in her fate and also in promoting her usefulness. Friends of Mrs. Brain have shared her enthusiasm, with the result that nine tickets, purchased and given to her, bore her name at the drawing, and one of them was the winner. The doll is an expensive toy and her clothes cost in the neighborhood of $5. It is, therefore, not surprising that she is coveted by many little girls. Mrs. Brain is planning a second contest, that the little girls of Glendale may have another chance, the proceeds to be devoted to local Christmas charity.

DEATH OF FRANK RAGLAND

The local Elks' Lodge has had another bereavement in the death of Frank Ragland, who formerly resided with his sister, Mrs. James Brown, at 1247 South Glendale Avenue, but who has been for several months in Douglas, Arizona, where he died Sunday of influenza, at the age of 26. His body is to be sent here for burial and funeral services will probably be held Wednesday, in which officials of the Elk and Masonic lodges will participate, as he was a member of both organizations.

He was a young man of fine character, greatly esteemed by a large circle of friends, particularly in musical circles, for he had a beautiful voice and was a member of the Ellis Club of Los Angeles. For some time he sang in the Presbyterian Church of Hollywood. While residing in Glendale he was employed by the P. E. Railway Co., but during his stay in Douglas he has been fitting himself to do assaying, particularly the assaying of copper, in the expectation of doing work of that character in the mines there.

He leaves the sister mentioned, Mrs. James Brown, and a brother who is prominent in theatrical circles in New York.

DEATH OF WALTER E. WOODCOCK

Walter E. Woodcock died at his home, 356 Patterson Avenue, Saturday, Dec. 14, after an extended illness, at the age of 42 years. Mr. Woodcock had been an employe of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co. for sixteen years as head of the policy department. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mamie H. Woodcock, and one son, Frank. The deceased was born in New Jersey. He was a resident of California for 16 years and had resided in Glendale the past year.

Funeral services will be held at the chapel of the Pulliam Undertaking Co. at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

DEATH OF MRS. MCCALL

Mrs. Mary A. McCall, wife of Francis A. McCall of 215 North Adams street, died at the Pacific Hospital in Los Angeles, Saturday, December 14, after an extended illness. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. The Pulliam Undertaking Co. was in charge.

TWELFTH BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED

In celebration of the twelfth birthday anniversary of her little daughter, Geraldine, Mrs. Thomas James Meagher of West Garfield Avenue entertained twenty-five of Geraldine's friends on Saturday.

The holiday motif was carried out in attractive floral decorations with poinsettias, ferns and pepper boughs arranged artistically throughout the rooms. In the dining room, to which the guests marched to the strains of music furnished by a Victrola, a Christmas bell hung with gifts from Geraldine's friends was suspended, making an added note of cheer. From ceiling and archways hung more Christmas bells.

A handsome birthday cake lettered with Geraldine's name and age centered the table, flanked by other goodies of the sort best calculated to please boys and girls. During the day many letters and pretty gifts reached the little celebrant from friends and relatives in Seattle, her former home.

DEATH OF NURSE

Miss Mary Schultz, a Los Angeles trained nurse, who came to Glendale three weeks ago for rest and recuperation, passed away on Saturday of tuberculosis. She was 24 years and 9 months old. The Pulliam Undertaking Co. is in charge of arrangements for the funeral, which will be held at the grave in Rosedale Cemetery.

STATE NEWS

Santa Monica, Dec. 16.—"Not pleasant, but broadening." That's the way Mrs. Augusta W. Urquart, president of the Santa Monica Bay Women's Club, described jury duty. She based her description on 3 months' actual experience, during which time she served on a series of criminal cases in the Los Angeles County courts. "It's an interesting, although not altogether joyous experience for a woman," she said.

Los Angeles, Dec. 16.—That Francis J. Heney, defeated candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will leave California and make his home in New York, is the understanding in Los Angeles. To this is added a report, emanating from the east, that he will be closely connected with any boom for McAdoo for the presidency which might start in the course of the next twenty-four months. Heney's law associates here say they understand Heney is planning to leave California. Heney, himself, is in Chicago at present, but his home at Santa Monica remains open.

Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 16.—Rest easy; you don't have to lick the ticket seller any more—that is, if you stay west of the Mississippi. Director General of Railroads McAdoo has ordered all ticket sellers west of the Mississippi to announce "definitely and audibly" the denomination of the paper money travelers hand them for tickets. That's so there can't be any arguments about change west of the Mississippi.

Los Angeles, Dec. 16.—Hog fanciers are shouting loudly for military training for porkers. It's all because a party of soldiers stationed at Dead Man's Island purchased five wiggly little pigs a few months ago for $12 each and began to apply the lard-overs of the chow-gun. This week they sold them at $80 per hog.

New York, Dec. 16.—Pat Moran, deposed manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, is the probable candidate for the leadership of the Cincinnati Reds next year, if the rumor that John McGraw has purchased the Redlegs is true, is the general belief in sporting circles here. The fighting manager of the Giants refuses either to deny or confirm the rumor that he has any notion of annexing the Reds.

Los Angeles, Dec. 16.—One hundred thousand "peace gardens"—declared to be just as necessary now as "war gardens" were last year—is the goal set by Los Angeles women. They want that number of back yards to spring into productivity right away. And they won't be angry if there are any more. "The food situation still is a serious one and gardening efforts must not be relaxed," declared Mrs. J. T. Anderson of the Women's City Council of Defense. "The foodstuffs raised and consumed at home will greatly assist the government in the national food conservation movement."

Eureka, Dec. 16.—Although it is not certain, it is believed that the crabs in nearby waters are fond of being eaten by San Franciscans. Last year supervisors of Humboldt County adopted an ordinance prohibiting the exportation of Crabs to San Francisco. This year crab season opened and local epicures prepared for a real saturday of crab meat, but the crabs refused to enter the harbor, and crab kings were forced to close shop.

San Francisco, Dec. 16.—Grover Cleveland Alexander sold for $50,000 and Eddie Collins brought almost as much when Connie Mack peddled him to Charley Comiskey, but the most money ever paid for a player sold in the Pacific Coast League by one club to another was $2,000. Charley Graham, part owner of the Seals, disposed of Charley (Spider) Baum for that price to the Vernon club when he owned the Sacramento club in 1912. The deal was put through late in the season and Baum won eleven games in twelve starts for the Tigers, who were finally nosed out for the pennant by Oakland on the last day of the season.

Redding, Dec. 16.—The first of two important stockmen's meetings was held here today. Today's meeting was that of the Northern California Stockmen's Association. This association covers Siskiyou, Lassen, Modoc, Shasta and Trinity counties. Reports of business and activities of the past year will be heard. Tomorrow the northern zone of the California Cattleman's Association will assemble. Business will be transacted similar to that of the stockmen's meeting. The cattlemen's association embraces cattlemen of twelve counties in the northern part of the state. Each county is expected to send five delegates. National forest officials, state forest officials and officers of the General California Cattlemen's Association will also attend.

San Francisco, Dec. 16.—The signing of the armistice automatically terminating the responsibilities of the State Council of Defense, the first meeting of county heads for disorganizing the council was held here today. At the meeting the following counties were represented: San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Sonoma, Napa, Marin, Mendocino, Humboldt, Del Norte and Lake. Care is being taken that the council will not disintegrate piecemeal and every effort will be made to hold together until final word is given for disbanding. The manner of accomplishing a readjustment program will be discussed at today's meeting, which program will include the reinstating of returning soldiers and sailors in industrial and civil life. The second meeting will be held at the Capitol at Sacramento on the 18th, when all representatives of the northern counties will attend. The counties include: Sacramento, El Dorado, Placer, Nevada, Sierra, Plumas, Lassen, Modoc, Yuba, Yolo, Glenn, Butte, Tehama, Trinity, Shasta, Siskiyou, Alpine, Mono, Amador, Sutter and Colusa.

BASEBALL MAY SUFFER FROM NEW RIVAL GAMES

By H. C. HAMILTON.
(Written for the United Press)
Camp Eustis, Va., Dec. 12.—Baseball is going to suffer from the war. Before this conflict ended it was a common thing for baseball fans to stage an argument over what might be expected to happen to the national game at the end. It was generally contended that the soldiers would have a big kick to make when they came home and found that a number of baseball players had done their bits as timekeepers in shipbuilding plants and as sailors up and down Broadway.

But that isn't the reason for the statement that baseball likely will be hit to some extent by the belligerency of the nations. It is a fact that the soldiers themselves have learned games, like to play them, and have become reasonably proficient at them. They have learned amateur sports according to a code of rules that does not exist in professionalized sports. The dollar has been kept on the outside of the barbed wire fence and has had no place in the thoughts of the athletes.

Several years ago small communities which supported minor league baseball clubs began to lose interest in the game, and many leagues were hit hard enough that they disbanded, deserted cities, combined with other circuits, or resorted to other methods in a fight to keep themselves entirely out of the hole. That was blamed to golf. It was contended that so many men were learning to play their own games that they had no time to sit in a grandstand and let eighteen other men do their exercising.

That is what is going to hit baseball when the war is over. The men who have learned new games are going to continue to play them when the war is over or they are going to be so set against other sorts of sports that they will ignore baseball.

U. S. NAVY PROMISED PLENTY OF 16-INCH GUNS

(By United Press)
Washington, Dec. 12.—An expansion of ten times the capacity of peace times was necessary in the gun making facilities of the navy, Rear Admiral Earle's annual report today shows.

Earle, the man chiefly responsible for mounting the 14-inch navy guns for army use in France, points out that this vast expansion was accomplished with "comparatively satisfactory" results, though he suggests it was surrounded by important difficulties.

Concerning the 16-inch guns to be supplied battleships, Earle says: "During the past year the bureau has proved (tested) the 16-inch 50-caliber gun. The test proved successful beyond expectation and this gun promises to be an exceptionally splendid piece of ordnance. The production program of the 104 guns of this type required has now been started, and it is anticipated that the guns will be ready to meet the building program."

AN UPHILL TASK

An English journalist and a private of the Irish Guards were dining recently at a restaurant in a small French town. The soldier, who had picked up a few scraps of the language, insisted on ordering everything in doubtful French, while the journalist would offer explanations that were in the nature of criticisms.

At last Tommy's temper rose to the explosive point. "Will you," he said in English, "be so good as not to interfere with me in my use of French?" Very well," replied the journalist. "I simply wanted to point out that you were asking for a stalemate when you wanted a spoon!" —Peoria Star.

TEXAN GOES TO JUDEA

(By United Press)
College Station, Tex., Dec. 12.—Because of the similarity of climate and soil conditions of Texas and the land upon which the Jewish "Republic of Judea" will be built, the Zionist Society has retained Dr. J. J. Taubenhause, plant pathologist of the Texas agricultural experiment station, for a high agricultural post in the new nation.

Much of the data compiled during his service here will be available for use in Palestine, Dr. Taubenhause says.

BELGIANS IN ENGLAND ARE GOING BACK HOME

(By United Press)
London, Nov. 29. (By Mail.)—There are 150,000 Belgian refugees in England, mostly in the London area.

The question of their repatriation is being carefully thought out. The reconstruction committee, which has left London for Bruges, will work in consultation with the minister for the interior.

It is planned to send the railway men and their families back first, so they can repair and rebuild the railroads, thus facilitating transportation of refugees who return later. In many cases men will return to Belgium some time in advance of their families in order to help build their new homes and make things ready for their women and children.

Many Belgian children who arrived here at a tender age cannot remember any home other than England, and they speak English better than their native tongue. It is quite a common thing for Belgian parents to make use of their offspring as interpreters—in the courts, at the doctor's, and recently, even to translate the posters which are dotted over England regarding precautions to be taken against "flu."

England has done her best for the comfort and protection of Belgians who sought refuge here, and as the Belgians as a whole have been very frugal, most of them will carry back a little nest egg.

It is a far cry back to those heart-breaking days of 1914 and 1915, when the piteous groups of Belgians first arrived here, clutching tiny packages that held all their worldly goods, dazed and bewildered by the suddenness of their flight.

THE RED CROSS CHRISTMAS ROLL CALL

(By John T. Cantwell, Bishop of Monterey and Los Angeles, Cal.)
Happily has this Christmas Eve been chosen by the American Red Cross to appeal once more to the people of this country for the needed funds to carry on its humanitarian work.

The Red Cross has done more than all other organizations to soften the asperity of the bitter conflict and to assuage its cruelties. It feeds the hungry and clothes the naked; it gives shelter to the homeless and consolation to the bereaved.

The American Red Cross has built in this country a platform where all religions and all races find strength and kinship. Necessity alone is the open sesame in its ministrations.

One memory is sure to survive the war. It is the consciousness of the blessed and kindly work during these years by the American Red Cross. In these brighter days it will be for each of us a privilege and a joy to give generous support to the Red Cross and help develop its efficiency, and make more kindly its ministrations.

IT TOOK A REAL JOKE TO MAKE HIM SMILE

(By United Press)
Paris, Nov. 21. (By Mail.)—The grandson of "Sitting Bull," the famous Indian chief of America, was an interesting convalescent in base hospital No. 46. He had enlisted in the early days of the war, had gone over the top and worked havoc among the Huns before he was wounded.

Nurses and doctors caring for him tried in vain to get more than a grunt out of him in response to questions, while the other men in the ward called him "Gloomy Gus," because he never cracked a smile.

The Red Cross representative in the hospital, becoming interested, tried his hand at "cheering up" the Indian. Gifts of cigarettes and chocolate were received without a change in expression.

"Don't you ever smile?" he demanded of the Indian one day, and for the first time Sitting Bull's grandson grinned.

WAGE WAR ON DIRT

Dirt is sin, and it takes a bacteriologist to tell the difference between clean dirt and dirty dirt. So we can afford to take no chances. Unless we cultivate cleanliness of mind and body, cleanliness of home, of city and country, cellar and garret, wharf and shop, markets and roads, of the air we breathe, of the milk and the water we drink, and the food we eat, all the serums and regulations of preventive medicine will not save us. For health, like morality, is more than an individual matter; it is a community affair.

A visitor to a small country town lost his dog, an animal which he prized very much. Rushing to the office of the local newspaper, he handed in an advertisement offering five dollars reward for the return of the dog. Half an hour later he thought he would add to his advertisement the words: "No questions asked." So he hurried off to the office again. When he got there the place was empty save for a small boy, who looked very sulky. "Where's the staff?" asked the tourist, glancing round the deserted room. "Out looking for your dog!" was the aggrieved retort.

Some people wouldn't know how to keep up conversation if they adhered to the rule that if they could not speak well of others to not speak of them at all.

YANKS EAT COUGH DROPS BY THE OZ

(By United Press)
Paris, Nov. 28. (By Mail.)—Cough drops to the extent of thirty-one and one-fourth tons were consumed by the American Expeditionary Force in the month just concluded, which might seem to indicate an alarming prevalence of coughs, but does not. It merely means that the soldiers used up that many lozenges as a substitute for candy of which they could not obtain enough. They may have swallowed more than thirty-one and one-fourth tons of cough drops, probably did, but they obtained that many through the Y. M. C. A. post exchanges.

The Americans' demand for sweets is stupendous, as the Y. M. C. A.'s monthly consignment shows. To take the edge off his appetite for sweet things the Red Triangle canteens have ordered some staggering quantities of supplies. The biggest single item is sugar, most of it used in manufacturing chocolate and cookies in France. Just 2,850 tons of this will be needed.

It will take 1,325 tons of flour to keep the factories which are turning out cookies for the Y. M. C. A. busy for the next month. Condensed milk is in demand to the extent of ninety-four and one-half tons, and milk powder, which is used in making the chocolate, will weigh 36 tons. The soldier is a great consumer of chocolate bars. Two hundred tons will be bought from America, and almost as much will be purchased in France. Jam is another big item, reaching 200 tons, to say nothing of a large quantity that will be obtained from French manufacturers. A total of 175 tons of candy has been requisitioned, and much more could be sold if there were ways of getting it on the shelves at the post exchanges.

Totalling up all the things that the Red Triangle storekeepers ordered shipped from America in a month, we find it amounts to 6,268 1/2 tons. That's a big item, but it isn't nearly enough. Everything has been pared right down to the bone. If transportation presented no difficulties, the Y. M. C. A. would show what "big business" really means. The trouble is that it's hard enough to get the stuff across the Atlantic, and once landed in a base port, it runs up against embargoes and other transport difficulties galore. Just when the Red Triangle people think they have enough motor trucks to handle the situation, for instance, the army commandeers part of the trucks.

One can so courteously refuse to grant a favor that he will make a friend.

LA CANADA

Captain Dean of New Jersey, an expert X ray operator at Camp Kearny, is very anxious to be discharged. He has been visiting friends in La Canada and is so taken with the situation and the community that he is seriously considering sending for his family, purchasing property and locating here permanently.

H. S. McKay, who has been at Fort Hancock, Ga., in training in the machine gun corps, and who had expected to be home before this, writes that the work has been doubled up and the indications now are that they will not be discharged before the 15th of this month.

Hardwick Van Degrift of the Van Degrift shoe store, Los Angeles, has been ill of influenza in the Pacific hospital in Los Angeles, but is now rapidly recovering. His brother, Lieutenant Van Degrift, is expected home from Louisville, Ky., in time to spend Christmas at the Van Degrift home on Burr Avenue.

F. D. Lanterman is in receipt of a letter from Captain E. Z. Collins of the 315th Engineers, who was formerly connected with the city engineer's office in Los Angeles. The letter tells of eight days which he put in the Argonne Forest fight and other points on the front without being hit, but finally a high explosive got him and shattered his left leg. He wrote that he would be kept there for some time until some bone grafting could be done to mend him. He was left for dead on the field and so reported in the newspapers. He and Mr. Lanterman are old friends and he has spent considerable time at La Canada.

The Baker place on Burr Avenue has just been sold to a Mr. Bridgeport, who is a newcomer from an eastern state.

Constance Talmadge in "The Studio Girl" will be the screen offering at the La Canada school house Dec. 20. The program will also include "Chester Outing Pitcher." There have been two additions to the theatre orchestra, viz: Charles Olsen and Nurl Fish, a fact which will be as gratifying to the audience as it is to the orchestra.

SUNLAND

A. D. Kirschman of Walnut Drive is enjoying a visit from his brother and family, who motored from Mason City, Iowa, to California. They are delighted with the climate, coming from the frozen weather of Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lancaster and Mr. and Mrs. Booth attended the Liberty Fair Thursday.

Miss Hazel Huse is home from school this week, sick.

Mrs. Howard Murray is very ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster.

Fred Frisbee left for his mines in Arizona the first of the week. Mrs. Frisbee will still remain in Sunland to care for her mother and father.

School opened Monday after the vacation caused by influenza. Four new cases reported in Sunland this week.

The young people of the Christian Endeavor, assisted by the members of the Sunday school, will have charge of the Christmas exercises to be given Christmas Eve at the church.

Mrs. I. Schrank and baby daughter, June, from San Francisco, are visiting friends and relatives in Sunland for a while.

News of the death of Mr. Spait, which occurred in Los Angeles after three days' illness, came as a shock to his friends in Sunland. Mr. and Mrs. Spait had recently bought a five-acre tract near Sunland and named it the "Nest-Egg Ranch," where they expected to make their home.

ORIGIN OF METEORITES

In contradistinction to the theory of the earth-origin of meteorites, it has been argued that they may have been shot out of the giant volcanoes of the moon in long past ages, but there are some very serious difficulties in the way of this hypothesis. Mr. Chamberlain, the inventor of the planetesimal theory of the origin of solar systems, has the interesting suggestion that meteorites may be the fragments of bodies (planets) broken up by the passage of some immense mass near enough to produce disruptive tidal strains. To sum up, the real origin of meteorites remains to be discovered.

RAGTIME CURES ONE SICK BLACK WARRIOR

(By United Press)
Paris, Nov. 28. (By Mail.)—"Jim" was a big black patient in the Red Cross hospital at St. Denis. He was a "mighty sick nigger," as he said, his illness being a combination of machine-gun wound in the leg and shell shock. He couldn't even turn over on his cot, much less walk.

But that was before he heard Europe's orchestra. Europe and his famous musicians were in Paris on their way from one assignment to another, for they are more in demand at camps in France than ever they were in New York cabarets. The American Red Cross got permission for them to play at its St. Denis hospital. And you should have heard the boys cheer when syncopated strains from Europe's instruments swelled through the wards.

As for Jim, he not only could move; he could hop, and hop he did, from his cot to a station so close to the big bass drum that the dusky drummer had to cut out some of his customary gyrations.

After it was all over the Red Cross hospital representative from Chattanooga, Tenn., who had arranged the concert, saw Jim sitting on the edge of his cot, an ebony picture of content and comfort.

"Jim, you rascal," she said, "I thought you were so sick." "Yes'm," replied Jim, "I certainly was a sick man, and my leg troubled me mighty much, but nothing ain't bothered me since I heard that band, no ma'am."

Next to ice cream, nothing makes so big a hit with the boys in the hospital as do the band concerts that are a regular feature of the Red Cross program in France to make a stay in a hospital as happy as may be for Yank wounded.

Why postpone until tomorrow the decision you can just as well make today? Delay is not decision.

DEADLINES IN CITY STREETS

For the purpose of trying out the idea before adopting it generally, New York city officials have laid white lines of tile and marble, six inches wide, in the pavement at certain street intersections, to serve as deadlines in connection with the control of traffic by the police has been experienced in trying to get motorists to stop at an imaginary line. With a broad, white marking set in the pavement, there can be no mistake as to where cars should stop. Both tile and marble have been used in making the trial marks to ascertain which is the more durable.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.
