DEATH, RUIN IN STORM'S TRAIL

Thirty-Six Lives Is Toll As Cyclones Devastate Southern States

ATLANTA, Ga., May 27.—At least thirty-six persons lost their lives and scores are suffering from injuries as a result of a series of cyclonic disturbances which swept across Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama last night and early today.

Reports from the devastated sections have eleven dead in Mississippi; seventeen in Alabama and eight in Louisiana. This is the second series of storms which swept over the south during the past month. On April 29, a terrific disturbance started at Texarkana and wound its path across Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina, claiming a total of 122 lives and property damage at more than $10,000,000.

GUARD SLAYER TO PREVENT ESCAPE

Death Watch Tightens After Murderer's Break for Freedom Fails

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 27.—William B. Ward, negro sentenced to die June 20 for the murder of Ted Gresh, University of Arizona student, last December, was being watched closely in the death cell at the state penitentiary at Florence as a result of what the prison authorities declare was a desperate attempt to escape.

Jack Burke, a guard, and a woman evangelist, were recovering today from injuries sustained when Ward attacked them with an ice pick in his cell. Ward requested an interview with the evangelist, telling prison authorities he wished to make a confession. Burke accompanied the woman to his cell. Ward asked for a hymn book and as Burke turned to get it the negro launched his attack, but did not succeed in making his get-away.

Plan Combined Memorial At Grand View Cemetery

American Legion posts of Glendale and Burbank will combine with the G. A. R., school children of the two cities and other patriotic organizations to honor the soldier dead at Grand View cemetery on Memorial Day morning, May 30, announces Past Commander T. M. Barrett of the local Grand Army post, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. The program will start at 10:30 o'clock. Comrade R. N. Taylor, G. A. R. officer of the day, will superintend the decoration of the graves.

As the Grand View cemetery is the official American burial ground of Los Angeles county, Chairman Leonard Wilson of the County Inter-Post council, has arranged to have a patriotic address by a prominent speaker.

A parade headed by the Elks' band of Glendale lodge, No. 1289, will form on Glenwood road below Sixth street and march into the cemetery. The Burbank band will also participate, and there will be platoons of Burbank Boy and Girl Scouts, together with children from the Central and Grand View avenue schools of Glendale.

Commander J. A. Wilson of Glendale post, No. 127, and Commander W. H. Adams of Burbank post, No. 150, the American Legion, will be present in person, in charge of uniformed men from their posts. There will also be present a Burbank detachment of the National Guard, according to Past Commander Barrett of the G. A. R.

The program will contain several musical numbers by the school children and will conclude with the symbolic burial, buglers being stationed near at hand and at a distance, to carry the echo of "Taps" out across the hills.

EXPERTS INSPECT SENATOR LISTS NEW TAX MEASURE NATION'S DANGERS

Compare With Present Law, To Make Formal Report To President

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The battle-scarred tax reduction bill was on Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's desk today as revenue experts under his direction went about the task of comparing its provisions with the present law.

The results of their figures will be embodied in a formal report which Mellon will make to President Coolidge in a day or two. Then to Congress and the country the president will be ready to announce whether or not he is willing to put his O. K. on a measure that carries over six months ago. There were indications today that the stage was being set for Mr. Coolidge to sign the bill, accompanying that act by an official statement pointing out that the legislation was not altogether to his liking but that he had concluded that nothing better could be expected from the sixty-eighth Congress and that he should not stand in the way of tax reduction.

Police Arrest Wrong Man In Murder Hunt

CHICAGO, May 27.—Following a scurry of police officers and other authorities over the reported arrest of a man who had given the name of George Johnson, the investigation into the murder of Robert Franks turned back into its previous narrow channels today when it was discovered that the supposed George Johnson was not the man for whom police had been searching.

Peter Hanson, president of the Glendale Realty Board, leaves tomorrow morning, May 28, for Washington, D. C., with Mrs. Hanson, to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The train they will take is the "Realtors' Special" of the Union Pacific, which goes via Salt Lake and Denver to Chicago, leaving Los Angeles at 10:50 o'clock tomorrow morning and arriving in Chicago Saturday noon.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell of the Glendale Realty Board will also be a passenger on this train, likewise being a delegate to the convention.

To Advertise City Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will stay in Chicago until Saturday night, taking the sleeper to Washington, where they will arrive Sunday night, June 1. They will remain at the convention until June 6, then go on to New York, spending June 7 and 8 there.

Mr. Hanson takes with him 5000 Glendale folders, especially prepared by the Realty board for the occasion. Shaped like an orange, the folders open, and inside are tabulations setting forth concretely the amazing population and building permit records made by this city in the last few years. The folders will be distributed in every city, town and hamlet along the way, Mr. Hanson states, and will have the effect of national advertising.

At Optimist Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will leave New York by Hudson river boat to Albany, whence they will go to Detroit and Chicago, arriving at the latter city June 10. On June 12 Mr. Hanson will go to Milwaukee as the official delegate of the Glendale Optimist club to the annual convention of Optimist International. He will then go to Sleepy Eye, Minn., his old home. Mrs. Hanson will go to Tilden, Neb., her old home, and will meet at Fremont, Neb., on June 14 and journey direct to Sacramento, where on June 19, they will be met by their daughter, Miss Clarice Hanson, in their machine.

The family will then motor up the coast to Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash., returning to Glendale around July 1.

Chinese Opposition Halts French Flight

PEKING, May 27.—The French legation today announced abandonment of the plan of Captain D'Oisy, French flyer, to continue from Shanghai to Tokio in a Chinese plane, following the crash of the machine in which he flew from Paris, due to the refusal of the Tsuchun of Kiangsu to permit the use of flying fields in his province.

JAPANESE IN PROTEST ON EXCLUSION

Leaders of Race In This State 'Cannot Submit To Offense Meekly'

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Japanese leaders in California were cautious today in expressing their opinions of the probable results that would follow signing by President Coolidge of the immigration bill.

Because of this stand, the full page editorial of the Japanese American, influential daily paper, which exhaustively discussed the measure, is regarded as sounding the keynote of the feeling of members of that race on the passage of the bill.

Plan Protests

"Japan cannot submit to this offense meekly," the editorial said, "and will present official protests to the bill on the ground that it is in conflict with existing treaties. It is unfortunate that this crisis has occurred at a time when the national Japanese elections are under way. Even the young Japanese children are growing up to a realization to what the law really means, which can only result in marked anti-American sentiment."

"Hasten to America" "It is with deep regret that we consider the future relationship between Japan and the United States as a result of this."

Reports received by the Japanese Exclusion league from Hawaii declare that the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, a large steamship line, has refused to accept passenger bookings to America from any but Japanese ports, to hasten the movement of Japanese to America before July 1, when the measure becomes a law. More than 6000 Japanese reservations have been made, it is said.

PLAN SURVEY OF LOCAL INDUSTRY

Expert to Be Employed to Assemble Information On Business Here

A special committee will be named by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to raise a fund to be expended to defray the cost of an industrial survey of Glendale, to be carried out by the experts working under the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, according to a decision reached at today's board meeting at noon, in the Harriet Mae Tea Room, East Colorado and Louise streets.

The salary of the industrial surveyor is $50 a week, and it is estimated that it will take at least two months to carry out the investigation needed according to a report by Charles B. Guthrie of the industrial committee.

Recommendations were made that local merchants buy all their stamps through the Glendale postoffice, especially in those cases where their jobbing and wholesale houses furnish them with circulars for distribution locally and where the stamps for such circulars are bought at the point of origin and charged to the local representatives of such firms. The aid of the Glendale Merchants' Association will be sought in this matter, in order that it may be impressed on Glendale merchants that the sales of stamps through this office are the barometer by which its prosperity and that of the city is judged.

Bankrupt Stocks

Protests against the alleged practice of bringing in additional stocks of merchandise and including them with the merchandise offered in bankrupt sales were also made by the board, and an effort will be made to have those persons appointed to dispose of bankrupt stocks confine themselves to the merchandise.

In unofficial circles it is declared the policy to be followed has already been decided. A protest will be formally filed, followed by the necessary abrogation of the "gentlemen's agreement," according to this source. The resignation of Ambassador Hanabara prior to the fall of the Ki-youra cabinet is most probable. U. S. REFUNDS ON INCOMES HALTED BY DECISION

Attorney-General Refuses Return of Huge Sum Already Promised

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Attorney-General Stone today recalled the decision of former Attorney-General Daugherty which gave refunds of income taxes to the amount of approximately $130,000,000 to the people of California under the community property tax law. This will mean that the taxpayers of California stand to lose that amount.

Senator Samuel M. Shortridge today said he will fight Stone's decision to the utmost. He said he will carry the matter to the floor of the Senate if necessary, and thrash out all the points involved.

Called Tributary

Shortridge said the decision of Stone to cancel a decision of the former attorney general is arbitrary and not in line with the facts of the law in this specific instance.

He claims that the attempts of the United States bureau of internal revenue to avoid making these refunds are not in line with the public policy which requires fair treatment of citizens, especially when such attempts are contrary to legal decisions.

Makes Changes

The bureau of internal revenue has made important changes in its personnel in order to administer the decision of former Attorney General Daugherty and has sent refund blanks to thousands of California income taxpayers, all of which is nullified by Stone's decision to override Daugherty's decision. The formal decision of the attorney general will be made public later.

Reports were made by the treasurer and auditor, and informal reports were made by the members who attended the state federation meeting held recently at Pasadena.

Mrs. C. A. Bowlin of the finance committee reported that the organization had raised the amount of $188.45 during the year. A paid-up membership of 217 was reported by the membership committee.

In the absence of the historian, Miss Carol Duncan, her report was read by Mrs. A. H. Brown. A committee recently appointed to purchase fern stands for the stage reported that three had been secured and were ready for use.

Miss Carrie A. Noble, the school principal, expressed her appreciation of this desirable addition to the furnishings.

Mrs. Thirney presented with a beautiful basket of flowers, a gift from the organization in recognition of her service during the year, the presentation speech being made by Miss Noble, and the recipient responding with well chosen words.

Mr. Arline Foster, past president of the Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association, was a visitor at the meeting, who was called upon by the president for a few words.

Program by Children Is Greatly Enjoyed

An interesting demonstration of what Mrs. Hazel Ford is accomplishing in the organization of neighborhood children around her home, was given last night in a program at the Ford home, 326 East Cypress street. Assisting the children were Mrs. Howard E. Cavanaugh, vocalist; Mrs. Schaffer and Mrs. Whitmore, readers.

The class of children meets twice a week and there is no charge for the instruction given by Mrs. Ford. They are planning to give a play in June to raise funds for phonograph records to use in class work.

Last night Waldo Ford, 12-year-old son of Mrs. Ford, gave a clever impersonation in a scarf dance. Then there were musical numbers by Gloria Hart, Verna Christiansen and Waldo Ford, playing piano, violin and saxophone.

A clever bowery scene was given by Margaret Needham and Katie Christiansen in costume. Recitations were given by Bernard Needham and others.

Gloria Hart and Verna Christiansen entertained with piano numbers and a dance, "Covered Wagon Days."

To take blessings, open-handed, with glad and thankful heart, and to get from them all the joy with which God has charged them, is the beginning of praise.—James Baldwin Brown.

THE GIFT OF IMAGINATION

There is nothing that Providence can bestow upon mortals like the gift of imagination. The one who has it may soar far; the person entirely without it is a hopeless clod. A vivid imagination and the power to use it is often the difference between success and failure. Imagination is a gift, but it may be stimulated, cultivated and trained. Because we are born with little imagination is no reason why we should go through life that way.

Every auxiliary of civilization that we enjoy, every invention that has contributed to man's happiness and well-being is the result of some one's imagination. The telephone, the telegraph, the radio and all the wonders of our modern world which have become commonplace to us existed at one time only in the imagination of some inventor. Could we have seen inside his brain we should have thought the man crazy to imagine that such things could become realities. It was his powerful imagination that enabled him to see the thing and then work it out.

The famous author and artist have vivid imaginations. They see their work completed before it is begun.

If a man is successful in business it is because he has had imagination and the power to use it; because he could visualize what might be and then bend all his efforts to bring about the desired end. If two employes are working side by side and one forges ahead it is due to the difference in the quality and the power of their imaginations.

It stands to reason that, since imagination is so important, it should be cultivated. A child may have a vivid imagination but he does not know it is a valuable gift. He may be ridiculed for telling the things he sees with his mind's eye. He becomes self-conscious about his dreams and either hides them from others or stifles his imagination.

The other day a 4-year-old boy was heard describing his trip to the moon in an airplane. He called on the man in the moon, invited him for a ride, brought him down to earth and entertained him for the rest of the night. This child's mother is worried because her child can "reel them off," as she expresses it, at such a tender age. She should be thankful for this gift of imagination and prepare herself to train it in the right direction.

Another boy of 10 years has been telling make-up stories ever since his babyhood. He is known in his family and throughout the neighborhood as a liar and a bad boy. The other day, seeing that he had been following a fire engine, a woman asked him, "Where was the fire?" As a matter of fact, there had been no fire, but the boy omitted no details of location, narrow escapes and thrilling rescues. The story came out so easily and was so well knit together that the woman believed him, although she knew of his reputation. Repeated whippings and pleading have not been sufficient to stifle this boy's imagination. It is true, he is too old to deliberately falsify, but if he had had his imagination trained in the right direction it would have been a wonderful gift instead of a detriment to him. The boy is not bad, he has all the qualifications for the making of a fine man, and very possibly a great man, but calling him a liar will not help him to become what he was intended to be.

Imagination is a wonderful gift, cultivate it in yourself and teach your children to value it and train it in the right direction.

THE OLDEST WOOD

A log of actual—not petrified—wood a million years old has been found in California, according to C. L. Hill, assistant district forester of the San Francisco office of the United States forest service, who has sent a sample of wood to the Forest Products Laboratory. The undecayed wood of 3500 years ago found in Tutankhamen's tomb is but a product of yesterday, comparatively.

"This piece of wood," says Mr. Hill, "was taken from 500 feet under ground in a tunnel of the California-Hawaiian Development company in Long Canyon, Township 13 N., Range 12 E., Mt. Diablo Meridian, California, on September 17, 1920. The log was buried in the gravels of a Tertiary stream bed about twelve feet under the lava cap of the grade flow which terminated the Tertiary Period. It is, therefore, at least a million years old and is rather remarkable in the fact that it is neither silicified nor disintegrated except as to the lighter springwood of some annual rings."

One can find about anything in California, it seems. If they keep on digging perhaps it will be proved that the original Garden of Eden was in California. We have suspected it for some time.

Having found the oldest piece of wood, scientists plan to seek traces of early man.

From San Francisco June 10 will go a caravan of men, trucks, automobiles and motley equipment, headed by Roy Chapman Andrews, bound for the desert of Gobi, eighty miles from Peking, China, to search for the fossilized bones of prehistoric man.

Andrews, the discoverer of dinosaur eggs, plans to travel into the heart of central Mongolia with his caravan and 200 camels. He will be accompanied by a large company of geologists and other scientists.

The Gobi desert, which escaped the destructive forces of the ice age, is rich in preserved fossils, according to Andrews.

By the way, a whole lot of people are discovering that the best place in the world in which to reside is—

Yes, you said it! Glendale has been discovered by more than 50,000 persons, and others are coming here at the rate of hundreds every month. It has established itself as the "fastest growing city in America."

So, we have recorded three great events—the discovery of the oldest piece of wood in the world, the proposed hunt for first early man and the undisputed claim that Glendale is the "fastest growing city in America." Which means that its many charms are discovered.

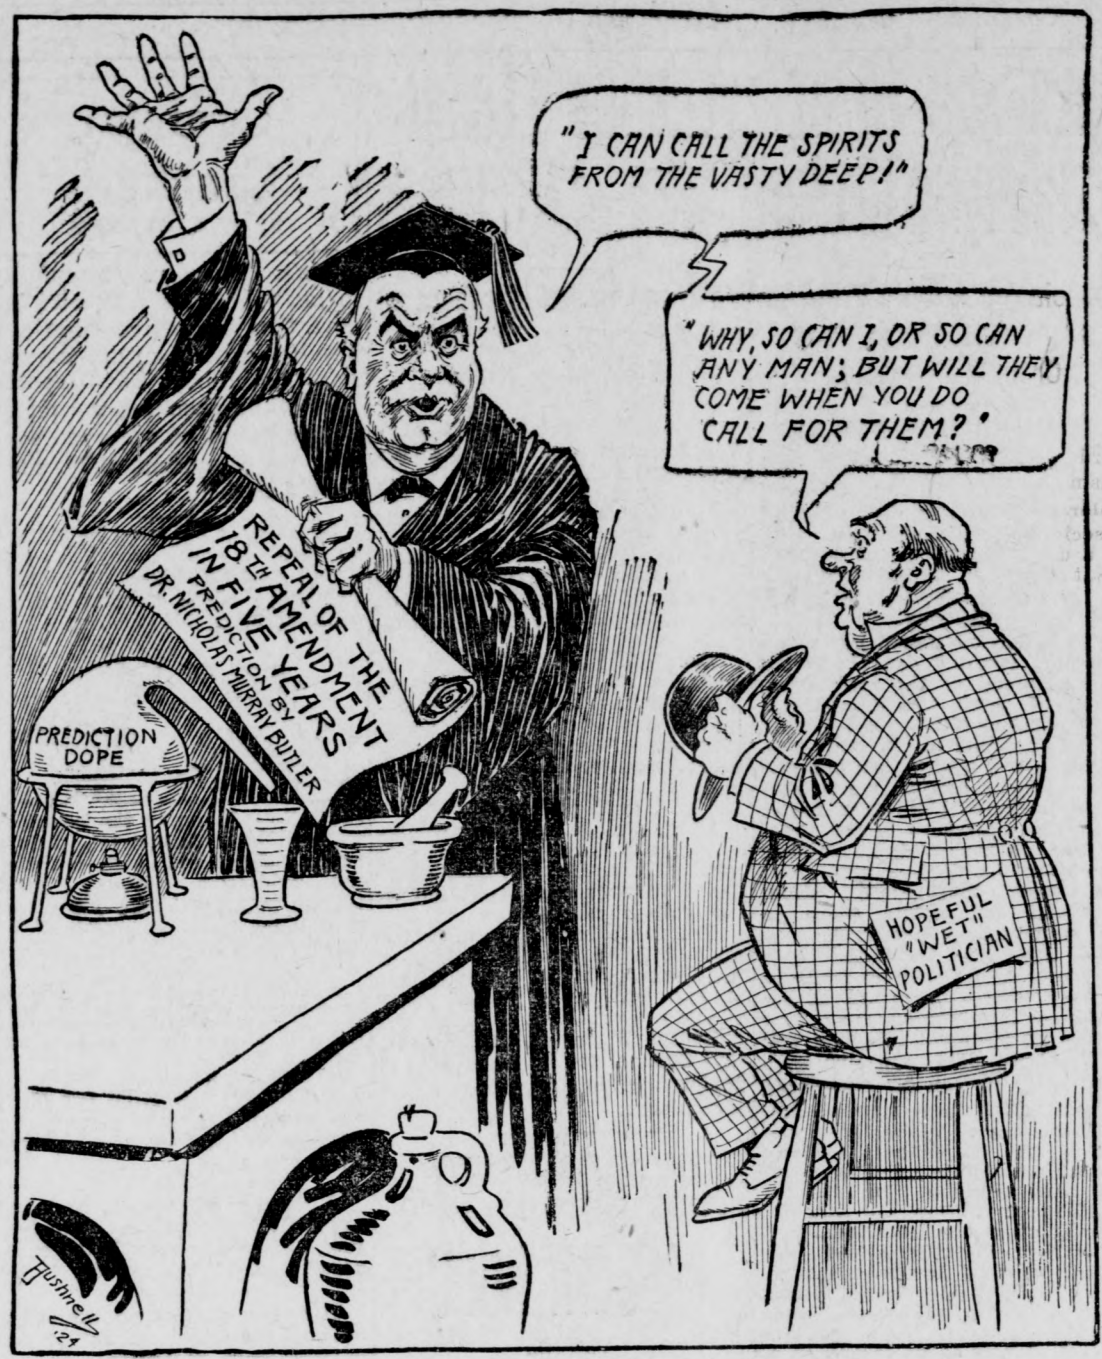

Those who court publicity and know the value of it often welcome opposition with open arms. Glendale recently had a case where opposition proved the best kind of advertising. The wide-awake press agent is always ready to take advantage of any adverse statements that are made about the concern that employs him. There are few who do not appreciate free advertising.

More than 68,000 autos cross the intersection of Adams and Figueroa, Los Angeles, each twenty-four hours. Count 'em at Brand and Broadway.

A few words of appreciation will go the farthest with the least possible expenditure of energy.

Poets measure their lines in feet and try to sell them by the yard.

IT WOULD SEEM HE HAS MADE A GREAT DISCOVERY

Draft Them All

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Just now, when we are not at war and most of the nations of the world are too hard up to start anything, I should like to make a suggestion.

When the next war comes, draft everybody and everything.

In every war we usually come to a draft before we get through. We cannot depend upon volunteers and I never saw the sense in drafting one class of men, usually the fittest and finest of all, and sending them out to die in the trenches, and compelling them to live with the coddles in the mud for a dollar a day, while, at the same time, we allow the profiteers gally to get rich and carpenters, plumbers and other laborers to raise their wages four hundred per cent at home.

Put every bricklayer, longshoreman and every other kind of worker into the army; detail him to work at home and give him no more than the man gets that is detailed to go out and get shot in the stomach.

Not only that, draft all Capital as well as all Labor. Take from every man's business the profits thereof until the country is out of danger, after which you can give it back to him if there is anything left.

Furthermore, and also, draft all women. Encourage as citizens, and who have always enjoyed the protection of the country, should not be called on to do their bit. Let every woman be given her appointed work. Let her come under military rule and be employed in such war task as suits her capacity.

We must bear in mind that the next war will, very probably, not be fought on a frontier by two picked armies who cut each other's throats while the populace back home is proceeding with business as usual. The next war will probably be a war of populations. In its last stages the late war was getting to be just that.

The next war will be the effort of one nation to exterminate another. It will be nastier, bloodier and dirtier than any heretofore.

And, by the same token, the only intelligent preparation for war is a preparation for the universal draft.

That is to say, every boy and girl should be required to serve at least a year under Uncle Sam's uniform; learn to keep step and obey orders.

Both of them should get it into their consciousness that their supreme problem is not the development of their individuality but the preservation of their country.

The strength of the United States will always be in its citizenry as its potential army. We shall never have a standing army like other nations.

I am a confirmed pacifist but a wise pacifist simply means that we substitute law for force in international relations. And in that coming World Government, presided over by a World Court and dominated by a World Police, a government that is bound to come in time, we shall want to be prepared to exert our proper influence and carry our due moral weight, not by having a great army and navy, but by having a great population, every member of which is at the service of the nation, and by having enormous resources, every dollar of which can be quickly and automatically laid hold of by the government.

WHY CALIFORNIA PROSPERS

(From San Francisco Chronicle)

We of California have frequently had occasion to congratulate ourselves. Some less fortunate states misinterpret it and call it boasting, but that is not the spirit that prevails here. We of the West have been particularly favored and we cannot help being glad of it.

The products of our soil and the output of our industries are so diversified that the line of prosperity runs pretty evenly. We do not feel the pinch of hard times nor suffer from a slump, for such conditions cannot be general in California while the state maintains its record for industrial development and the variety of products.

We do not deceive ourselves with the idea that certain lines of endeavor do not occasionally experience what might be termed "hard sledding." This is a condition that cannot be avoided, and here and there must cause some hardships and some losses. But such is the position of the state's horticultural, agricultural, viticultural and manufactured products. They all contribute a healthy part to California's wealth and when one may fall below the average the others usually make up the difference. The gains of one offset the losses of the other and maintain an even and a substantial balance of prosperity.

There have been some things the present season that might have been disturbing had our people surrendered to hysteria. The rainfall was not up to average, for one thing, yet crops are coming on and feed for cattle in the mountain ranges is plentiful.

The unfavorable aspect of the season will soon be forgotten when we take account and find that the balance is still on the right side of the general ledger.

There is a world-wide demand for all that California can produce. Records show that our exports are increasing. Likewise they indicate the diversified character of the goods we have to sell.

We ship out of the port of San Francisco, California, products ranging all the way from automobile tires to Swiss cheese, and included in the list are rice, sole leather, barley, canned products and petroleum.

And the Swiss cheese part of it is noted in all seriousness, for it is a fact that California manufactures a better article than is made in the country where it is invented.

WEATHER INSURANCE

(From Santa Ana Register)

The Milwaukee Journal the other day collected $5,000 insurance because it rained on a day for which the paper had issued a special real estate edition. This is probably the first case of the kind on record. Amusement people have often insured their performances against loss from bad weather. In recent years, but insuring editions is a new game for newspapers.

The most interesting thing about this insurance policy is that it was in the nature of an advertising guarantee. The paper wanted its real estate advertisers to get full value for their ads in the special edition, and realized that they might not do so if the weather was bad, because purchasers would not turn out to look at their property. The insurance money received is the price of that advertising, and will pay for printing the same ads again, in expectation of better luck.

This is a good illustration not only of the increasing effect of weather on business but of the expanding nature of insurance. Alert business men are studying both weather and insurance more closely than ever before.

PATRIOTS CALLED FOR

(From Cincinnati Enquirer)

To fill public offices with fit men is the greatest problem of a democratic form of government. So long as men of high capacity for business decline the responsibility and withhold themselves from public life, so long will the offices be filled by men who too often have not the ability to earn in private life the salaries attached to public office.

Possibly, what is most needed is a development of the sense of patriotism in citizens to sacrifice their private interests and themselves to the service of the state.

The People — of — Anytown Character Sketches

Substantial and straight are the words that always come to mind when I think of Joseph Baker, president and cashier of the Anytown National Bank. Consider him physically, financially, mentally, morally and spiritually and these words apply in every case.

It is not customary to nickname bankers so you will get an idea of the man when I tell you that all of adult Anytown called Mr. Baker, Joe. He was stoutly-built but not fleshy; he had twinkling, smiling blue eyes and, in his younger years, an abundance of brown hair. His upright carriage and his swinging gait radiated the joy he felt in life.

A banker, to uphold tradition, must be dignified and conservative. Baker was both but his dignity and his conservatism were tempered with a kindly good nature and a cheerful attitude toward all men and all things. His outlook on life was refreshing. A hearty hand-shake, a cheerful good morning or a friendly slap on the back from Joe Baker were splendid remedies for a fit of blues. Joe's optimism was not a pose assumed for effect but was the outward manifestation of his inner life.

Just to look at Joe Baker you would know that he had a big, hearty, bass voice and that he used it on every possible occasion. Music seemed to come spontaneously from his throat. He sang in the church choir and at all the church "socials." He took a prominent part in all our "home-talent" affairs and, in fact, no entertainment in Anytown was complete unless Joe Baker sang "Asleep in the Deep." We thrilled anew every time he sang it. Hundreds of times had we heard this old favorite come rolling from his throat yet we always trembled and doubted to come any human voice could reach so low a pitch and we breathed a sigh of relief when Joe did it once more.

Being a banker, Joseph Baker was one of our "prominent citizens." We made him chairman of all kinds of committees and put all our faith in him. He was popular with old and young for he loved children, having six of his own. Music seemed to come out of his mouth when he was with us all and when leniency was necessary and possible, Joe was lenient with us.

It was said that when he was home Joe was the oldest one of the boys. His wife shared his sweet disposition and his love of fun and was his partner in every sense of the word.

People like Joe Baker never grow old. Their optimism and cheer bar the approach and the encroachment of age. Joe was old in years but young in spirit when he died and I was glad to hear that the end came suddenly for him. He needed no time for preparation.

Give us more men and more neighbors like Joe Baker.

Worth While Verse

THE CAPTAIN'S FEATHER

The dew is on the heather,
The moon is in the sky,
And the captain's waving feather
Proclaims the hour is nigh
When some upon their horses
Shall through the battle ride,
And some with bleeding corsers
Must on the heather bide.

The dust is on the heather,
The moon is in the sky,
And about the captain's feather
The bolts of battle fly;
But, hark, what sudden wonder
Breaks forth upon the gloom?
It is the cannon's thunder—
It is the voice of doom!

THE CASE OF JENNIE BRICE

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The Story So Far.

Mrs. Pitman, who tells the story, ran away from home to marry, and was never reconciled to her old Pittsburgh family, although she returned to her home town to live after she became a widow. She kept boarders in what was then lower Allegheny, where, because there were floods every year, rents were cheap. One March there was an unusually high flood. Miss Jennie Brice, as she was known on the stage, was having an unusually quarrelsome time with her husband, Mr. Ladley. Mrs. Pitman overheard them talking with a man, and Miss Brice said, "That's all 'v' 'v' well, but what about that prying devil that runs the house?"

Today's Instalment.

II—THE MISSING BOAT.

The men came just then to move the piano, and by the time we had taken it and the furniture upstairs, the water was over the kitchen floor and creeping forward into the hall. I had never seen the river come up so fast. By noon the yard was full of floating ice, and at three that afternoon the police skiff was on the front street, and I was wading around in rubber boots, taking the pictures off the walls.

I was too busy to see who the Ladleys' visitors was, and he had gone when I remembered him again. The Ladleys took the second-story front, which was empty, and Mr. Reynolds, who was in the silk department in a store across the river, had the room just behind.

I put up a coal stove in a back room next the bathroom, and managed to cook the dinner there. I was washing up the dishes when Mr. Reynolds came in. As it was Sunday, he was in his slippers and had the colored supplement of a morning paper in his hand.

"What's the matter with the Ladleys?" he asked. "I can't read for their queuling."

"Booze, probably," I said. "When you've lived in the flood district as long as I have, Mr. Reynolds, you'll know that the rising of the river is a signal for every man in the vicinity to stop work and get full. The fuller the river, the fuller the male population."

"Other than this flood will likely make 'em drink themselves to death!" he said. "It's a lulu."

"It's the neighborhood's annual debauch. The women are busy keeping the babies from getting drowned in the cellars, or they'd get full, too. I hope, since it's come this far, it will come farther, so the landlord will have to paper the parlor."

That was at three o'clock. At four Mr. Ladley went down the stairs, and I heard him getting into a skiff in the lower hall. There were boats going back and forth all the time, carrying crowds of curious people, and taking the flood sufferers to the corner grocery, where they were lowering groceries in a basket on a rope from an upper window.

I had been making tea when I heard Mr. Ladley go out. I fixed a tray with a cup of it and some crackers, and took it to their door. I had never liked Mrs. Ladley, but it was chilly in the house with the gas shut off and the lower floor full of ice-water. And it is hard enough to keep boarders in the flood district.

She did not answer to my knock, so I opened the door and went in. She was at the window, looking after him, and the brown valise that figured in the case later, was opened on the floor. Over the foot of the bed was the black and white dress, with the red collar.

When I spoke to her, she turned around quickly. She was a tall woman, about twenty-eight, with very white teeth and yellow hair, which she parted a little to one side and drew down over her ears. She had a sullen face and large, well-shaped hands, with her nails long and very pointed.

"The 'she-devil' has brought you some tea," I said. "Where shall she put it?"

"'She-devil!' she repeated, raising her eye-brows. "It's a very thoughtful 'she-devil.' Who called you that?"

But, with the sight of the valise and the fear that they might quarrel, I thought it best not to quarrel. She had left the window, and going to her dressing-table, had picked up her nail-file.

"Never mind," I said. "I hope you are not going away. These floods don't last, and they're a benefit. Plenty of the people around here rely on 'em every year to wash out their cellars."

"No, I'm not going away," she replied lazily. "I'm taking that dress to Miss Hop's at the theatre. She is going to wear it in Charlie's Aunt next week. She hasn't half enough of a wardrobe to play leads in stock. Look at this thumb-nail, broken to the quick!"

If I had only looked to see which thumb it was! But I was putting the tea-tray on the wash-stand, and moving Mr. Ladley's papers to find room for it. Peter, the spaniel, begged for a lump of sugar, and I gave it to him.

"Where is Mr. Ladley?" I asked.

"Gone out to see the river." "I hope he'll be careful. There's a drowning or two every year in these floods."

"Then I hope he won't," she said calmly. "Do you know what I was doing when you came in? I was looking after his boat, and hoping it had a hole in it."

have their ugly times. Many a time I wished Mr. Pitman was gone—until he went. Then I'd have given a good bit to have him back again."

She was standing in front of the dresser, fixing her hair over her ears. She turned and looked at me over her shoulder.

"Probably Mr. Pitman was a man," she said. "My husband is a fiend, a devil."

Well, a good many women have said that to me at different times. But just let me say such a thing to them, or repeat their own words to them the next day, and they would fly at me in a fury. So I said nothing, and put the cream into her tea.

I never saw her again.

There is not much sleeping done in the flood district during a spring flood. The gas was shut off, and I gave Mr. Reynolds and the Ladleys each a lamp. I sat in the back room that I had made into a temporary kitchen, with a candle, and with a bed quilt around my shoulders. The water rose fast in the lower hall, but by midnight, at the seventh step, it stopped rising and stood still. I always have a skiff during the flood season, and, as the water rose, I tied it to one spindle of the staircase after another.

I made myself a cup of tea, and at one o'clock I stretched out on a sofa for a few hours' sleep. I think I had been sleeping only an hour or so, when someone touched me on the shoulder and I started up. It was Mr. Reynolds, partly dressed.

"Someone has been in the house, Mrs. Pitman," he said. "They went away just now in the boat."

"Perhaps it was Peter," I suggested. "That dog is always wandering around at night."

"Not unless Peter can row a boat," said Mr. Reynolds dryly.

Tomorrow—The Cut Rope

English, Peeved, Claim Scots and Irish Rule

LONDON, May 27.—The long-suffering English people are crying out that they are almost exclusively ruled by Scotsmen or Irishmen. Four of the six judges of the supreme court of appeals are Scotch; the other two are Irish. The Lord Chancellor—Lord Haldane—absolute head of the entire British legal system, is a Scotsman.

The two heads of the Church of England, the archbishops of Canterbury and York, are both Scotsmen.

The prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, is a Scotsman and a Highlander. The majority of his most faithful—and most vociferous—supporters are Scotch, too.

The only really English prime minister in recent years—Stanley Baldwin—lasted just five months.

Bantam Hen Mothers Litter of Airedales

WATERLOO, Iowa, May 27.—In a barn in the rear of the home of Mark Rectfertig, police gear, gear here, is domiciled a peculiar and interesting family. It consists of a large Airedale dog, her eight puppies and a bantam chicken.

The bantam had assumed the maternal job of sitting on four eggs when the puppies were born. Her nest was located on a shelf near the Airedale's kennel. When Sergeant Rectfertig went out to look after the puppies he found the little hen nestled in with the baby dogs, covering as much of a couple of them as her diminutive wings permitted. The chicken, puppies and mother dog now jointly occupy the kennel in blissful harmony.

Black Watch Veteran, Believed Dead, Alive

AMHERST, N. S., May 27.—John O'Donoghue, a member of Canada's famous Black Watch regiment, who has been nine years mourned as dead, is alive and recovering from loss of memory and shell shock in an English hospital, according to a letter received here by his family. O'Donoghue was officially listed as lost in action at Loos in 1915.

Beloved Doll Buried With Denver Woman

DENVER, May 27.—A large doll, presented to her in Lebanon, Ohio, and which she has cherished a brand new member of her family for 77 years, was buried here with Mrs. Matilda D. Needles, 82, who died last week. The aged woman had requested that the doll be placed in the coffin with her body.

Newest Panhandler Is Borrower of Gasoline

ALLENTOWN, Pa., May 27.—Police believe they have discovered a brand new panhandling game, when they arrested Thomas Snuckley here recently. Snuckley, they said, appeared at private homes, saying he was employed by a "prominent" man, and had just run out of gasoline. In almost every case he obtained gas, but the lenders failed to get it back.

Visit To Shirt Factory Shows Details Of Local Industry To Committees

The largest industry of its kind in the San Fernando valley and the second largest in Southern California turning out custom tailored shirts exclusively, direct from manufacturer to wearer, is the Baldwin Shirt company of 1725 South San Fernando road.

This was the message brought yesterday noon to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and members of the Realty board industrial committee, at a luncheon tendered them by George B. Karr, manager of the company, following a tour of inspection of this representative Glendale plant.

The luncheon was served at Harry Dewey's cafe on South San Fernando road, with twenty-four places set. It was the third such affair arranged by the Chamber of Commerce and Realty board, the first being the visit to the new stone-tile plant of the Concrete Brick & Tile company of 440 South San Fernando road, Saturday, May 10, and the second being the visit to the Fox-Wood-Lumber company's yards at 714 East California avenue, Monday, May 19.

Mr. Karr told his guests how the local Baldwin Shirt company plant started in February, 1922, with four operators, two salesmen and one agent, and how it now employs fourteen operators, five salesmen and several agents, and turns out over 10,000 custom made shirts a year. The original plant of the Baldwin Shirt company, he said, was founded at Baldwin, Kan., in 1889 and was moved to Parsons, Kan., in 1922. It now employs forty-five operators and turns out 25,000 custom shirts a year, being the largest such plant west of the Mississippi river and the second oldest in the middle west.

Owner in Charge

The Glendale branch of the company is managed by George B. Karr, owner of the business. The Parsons branch is managed by S. M. Dick. Since opening the local plant, three employees of the Parsons branch have moved to Glendale with their families, in addition to Mr. Karr, namely: L. Chapman, Mrs. Ella Hannan and Mrs. Blaine Adams. A total of twenty-one additional to the population of the city.

Of the four original operators of the Glendale branch, two still remain on the payroll. Mr. Karr pointed out, Misses Mary and Martha Burgess. The turnover of the plant is extremely light, he

Needs Small Industries

Mr. Karr believes that ten small industries employing an average of twenty people each are better for a city than one big industry employing 200 people, as the law of average makes continuous employment more likely, with resultant increased general prosperity. He believes that the South Glendale "Gateway" section is ideal for the location of light industries. In the east, he said, manufacturers are eager to establish small industries in suburban sections, and the people are glad to have them, as they bring a good class of residents who spend their money locally.

George B. Karr, manager of the Baldwin Shirt company, leaves on Friday, May 30, for Parsons, Kan., to visit the other branch of his company. R. W. Dick, son of Manager S. M. Dick of the Parsons plant, will remain in charge here, he said. The trip will consume some six weeks.

Owens Building

The "Haitron" corner of South Brand boulevard and South San Fernando road, in which the Baldwin Shirt company is located, is owned by Mr. Karr. It comprises 156 feet on Brand and 172 feet on San Fernando, housing as well the Gateway market and a number of other stores. Directly across the street is the new home of the Community Savings & Commercial bank, headed by Daniel Campbell and W. W. Lee, of which George B. Karr is a director.

Following is a list of those who yesterday noon lunched together, following their tour of the Baldwin Shirt company's Glendale plant:

- D. H. Smith, Daniel Campbell, Eugene F. Sanders, Harry E. Hall, H. G. MacBain, Cameron D. Thom, George H. Bentley, Frank L. Fox, George U. Moyle, L. H. Myers, A. T. Cowan, William T. Twining, L. H. Wilson, R. F. Kitterman, H. D. Charleton, R. E. Johnston, Lyman P. Clark, Frank Kerwin, George B. Karr, manager of the Baldwin Shirt company; R. W. Dick, assistant manager; G. A. Spencer, head cutter; C. E. Dame, cutter.

MONITOR'S PEACE PLAN IS UNPHELD

Writer Quotes Leading Men of Nation in Support of Paper's Project

Editor The Evening News—In a recent issue of your paper a letter is published over the signature of one who calls himself a Christian Science metaphysician in which he criticizes the peace plan advocated by the Christian Science Monitor. As an individual citizen the writer is, of course, entitled to his own opinions on this as well as other subjects. In the extent, however, in which he states these views as a Christian Scientist his letter is misleading to the public.

Christian Scientists as a body are earnestly supporting the plan advocated by the Monitor as a practical solution of the problem of how to prevent war. Many representative men and women, both in official and private life, and of various religious beliefs, have also commended it. A bill has already been introduced in Congress to provide, as the Monitor proposes, for the event of a declaration of war, the property, equally with the persons, lives and liberties of all citizens shall be subject to conscription for the defense of the nation.

Leaders Favor Plan

Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, formerly chief justice of the supreme court of California and now secretary of the navy, says of it: "The Monitor plan is by no means Utopian. I have always favored the conscription of property without compensation, as well as the event of a declaration of war." Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, says: "The more evident it is that the whole nation will be put in the storm and made to bear its share of the sacrifice, the less likely are we to go to war."

The Monitor's Object

The writer of the letter in question assumes to speak as a Christian Scientist. Yet he is not a member of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., or any of its branches. Neither is he identified in any way with the Christian Science movement. Membership in the church founded by Mary Baker G. Eddy is a visible mark of distinction between Christian Scientists and other people. It is, therefore, obvious that the writer's views, while entitled to the same consideration as those of every other citizen, should not be considered as being the views of a Christian Scientist.

The Christian Science Monitor was founded by Mary Baker G. Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, with the object "to injure no man, but to bless all mankind." In proposing the peace plan the Monitor is giving expression to that purpose in a practical way.

Yours very truly,

DOUGLAS L. EDWARDS,
Christian Science Committee on Publication.

LATEST IDEAS IN NEW APARTMENTS

J. C. Reilly Erects Six-Flat Building Filled with Aids to Comfort

The general exterior plan offers a pleasing appearance when viewed from the street. Many novel and delightful departures have been incorporated into the building. A small sun parlor off one of the rear apartments, and private porches from which one obtains a view of the Verdugo mountains, are unique features. Although the apartments are of necessity close together, they have been arranged in such a manner as to insure absolute privacy.

Has Faith in City

Mr. Reilly, since coming here in January has invested heavily in Glendale real estate, as he feels that the city will continue to progress rapidly. He believes that many people coming here desire high class residential apartments and has constructed the building on North Kenwood to fill such a demand.

Summer Series Will Start For Third Season In Hollywood Bowl

Glendale music lovers are looking forward to July 8, for on that date the "symphonies under the stars," the summer music for which Southern California is justly famous, will begin in the Hollywood Bowl. Present Basket

Again Mrs. White made a presentation, giving to Mrs. McNutt as a gift from the department, an artistic gold basket, holding copper shaded sweetpeas. One of the features of the meeting was the reading, "Ain't It Fine Today," given by Mrs. Butler.

A short business hour closed the meeting. It was decided that Mrs. W. H. Verity, the new curator, consult with Mrs. McNutt as to serving as instructor again next year.

It is possible that the department may have dues the coming year to meet necessary expenses.

POMPEIIAN HOTEL SERVICE PRAISED

Ancient Inns Lacked Ice, But Guests' Comforts Were Cared For

Recent excavations in Pompeii reveal the fact that the idea of hotel service is not so modern as one might suppose. A number of the various utensils discovered among the ruins of an ancient Pompeiian inn exhibit a startling similarity to present day hotel equipment.

For instance, feminine guests were provided with nail files, combs and thimbles—made of bronze and richly inlaid with silver designs. Apparently, the Pompeiians insisted upon having their eggs boiled just right. For among the relics brought to light is a unique device for this purpose. Guests were even supplied with a substitute for ice water, the water jars being placed in porous receptacle filled with water and cooled by evaporation.

Methods Improved

The modern hotel, while carrying out the same idea of service, has improved upon Pompeiian methods considerably. Hotels are now among America's largest consumers of ice. Gigantic refrigerators take the place of porous cooling vats; and the dimes spent in tipping the bellboy who brings ice water if added together would make no mean sum.

However, the important part played by ice in the operation of a big hotel is in the kitchen. It has proved the most effective method of keeping perishable foodstuffs pure and fresh, and is the secret for increasing the palatability of food which every chef knows. In addition, it represents a saving in preventing the spoilage of food-stuffs which amounts to thousands of dollars annually.

Committee Going Ahead With Its Original Plans Of Advertising Glendale

The committee having in charge the advertising campaign for Glendale is going right ahead with its plans, for it has been developed beyond any doubt that only one person objecting to the budget is the local representative of the general manager of The Los Angeles Evening Express, whose publication was NOT included in the budget.

"Whereas, it is essential to the welfare of Glendale and the advertising fund in particular, that harmony prevail and the Board of Control has the fullest confidence of the people of Glendale; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that all those who are NOT in accord with the budget as outlined, desist from further controversy over and hold in abeyance further comment on the matter until the Board of Control shall have given further consideration to the budget.

"Signed, "R. F. KITTERMAN, "C. J. HATZ, "CHARLES B. GUTHRIE."

The advertising committee consists of Paul E. Stillman, chairman; George J. Lyons, H. S. Webb, E. E. Osgood, W. Wallace Plumb, L. H. Wilson, L. H. Myers, M. Walters and Charles R. Stuart.

The Board of Control appointed to supervise the expenditure of Glendale's advertising closed a two hour session in the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday afternoon by passing the resolution declaring that the welfare of Glendale, and especially of the advertising fund, depends on complete harmony and the confidence of the people in the Board of Control, and stressing the request that those who are NOT in accord with the board refrain from further controversy and comment on its actions until such time as the board can give further consideration to the budget as already outlined and adopted.

COMMENT That's All

Need of Cleaner Pictures Just What Is Immodest? Exclusion Of Japanese Advertising At Crossroads

By Gil A. Cowan

Gambling, the modern dance, suggestive motion pictures and immodesty in dress are condemned in resolutions before the Methodist General conference.

Few there are who will not agree that the Methodists are right. Gambling is a curse which has seized this country ever since the war. It should be limited to the most harmless diversions, if permitted at all.

The modern dance is to be censored, although dancing in itself is a recreation, in our belief, which cannot be replaced. There is dancing and dancing. For those who think rightly it is harmless, but for the sensuous performer it is nothing more or less than an appeal to the baser passions, which should be prohibited in the presence of decent people.

Suggestive motion pictures are another good subject for attack. The church people have a perfect right to protest the picturing of triangle love affairs, wanton murder, various forms of crime and other useless bits of drama. Perhaps the best way for good people to express their contempt for the present run of pictures is not to patronize those places of amusement which do not conform with the highest standards of morality.

Immodesty in dress proves a real problem, for it is difficult to determine just what is immodest. It is the action, rather than the clothing, or lack of it, that really counts in making a case of immodesty.

All in all, the public can profit by the counsel of the churchman. President Coolidge signed the immigration bill, including the Japanese exclusion clause. His pertinent message to congress regarding the abrogation of the gentlemen's agreement with Japan is timely.

America holds no animosity or to the board. The resolution as unanimously adopted was that already given at the lead of this story.

F. B. Newport, who was present at the invitation of Vice President Smith, pleaded for harmony in the operations of the board and deprecated the opposition that has arisen to the expenditure of the fund along the lines adopted by the board on the recommendation of the advertising committee.

A roll call showed the board unanimously in favor of the resolution introduced by the committee, and the board then adjourned to meet again next Monday at 4 p. m.

Committee Goes Ahead In the meantime, the advertising committee, which really has the active advertising campaign in charge, is going ahead with the endorsed plans so that it may take advantage of the thousands of people arriving in Southern California each week.

According to a careful check made by the Automobile club an average of 261 automobiles from distant places are arriving daily in Southern California.

These cars, it is estimated, bring approximately 1000 persons daily. Basing their conclusions on records of former years, officials of the club estimate that before July the number of incoming machines will be at least three times that of the present time.

Approximately twice as many inquiries concerning Southern California are being received by the club now from eastern points than were received at the corresponding season of last year. This announcement is based on the records of the first four months of this year.

Thousands Already Here In a statement issued by the club it is predicted that more tourists and homeseekers will come to Southern California by automobile this year than in any previous year of the city's history.

Reduced railroad rates, effective a week ago, are causing transcontinental lines to run extra sections and extra cars on the regular trains to accommodate the incoming visitors.

It is explained by the passenger agents of the various rail lines that always after the school season closes the number of tourists and homeseekers grows.

Therefore it is expected that in another month or six weeks the tourist travel destined for Southern California will be greatly increased. Advertisements describing the merits of Southern California are being run in the leading newspapers and magazines of the east by the All-Year club.

Bring Them to Glendale And so the advertising committee of Glendale is going right ahead with its plans to tie in with the national campaign and spend money in Los Angeles newspapers to bring the tourists to Glendale.

Modify Arizona Ban As Plague Declines

NEEDLES, May 27.—The ban against California travelers into Arizona has been only partially lifted as a result of the decline of the hoof and mouth disease epidemic, it is intimated by the following statement issued today. It is signed by H. H. McCluskey, secretary to Governor Hunt of Arizona, and was received by the Needles division of the National Old Trails Highway association:

"Needles and Yuma only gateways open for eastbound motorists. "Special permits are being granted in emergency cases and it is suggested that you register at the Gateway Hotel, Needles, Cal., your name, car, license number and originating point. The Arizona inspector at this point will report daily to the quarantine officer in Phoenix and you will add to your own convenience and save time by registering. "When special orders are issued you may then obtain advantage of them."

rancer toward the yellow races. It must hold them in high esteem. Yet when a parting of ways in the matter of immigration comes the Flowery Kingdom must recognize the right of this country to determine for itself that which is best.

There is no question but what the average man wishes well all other races. We would again extend our sympathy and help to Japan in its hour of sorrow, such as the earthquake brought about. We would gladly help an oriental in his education or enterprise, the same as a Hollander or Hotentot.

And that's that. A Hollywood man sallied forth last week with an automobile, a motion picture film and the story of California to tell the people of the crossroads. It is his practical contribution to publicity for this favored land.

That is exactly what California needs. It needs personal publicity in the east in the form of motion pictures, entertainment and personally distributed literature.

If Glendale could send a dozen of its most talented children to fifty eastern communities this summer and present a variety program in connection with motion pictures of Southern California it would accomplish more than any other city, we believe, in advertising this section.

These youngsters would be royally entertained. The proper publicity representative could arrange to have them appear before Rotary, Kiwanis, Elks and other clubs. They would provide an evening's program at theatres in cities visited. They would personally distribute literature during the picture program and also answer questions regarding conditions here.

It is said that fools and children tell the truth. It would be well to have the children do our press-agenting in the east if we are any judge of things.

The idea is worthy of a thought.

HONOR ARTIST'S MEMORY IN SONG

Members of Choral Club Pay Tribute to V. Herbert At Rehearsal

As a tribute to the memory of Victor Herbert, nationally known musician and composer, who died suddenly yesterday in his eastern home, the Glendale Choral club sang at the rehearsal last night, at the Harvard High school, his beautiful "Gypsy Love Song." Clifford Briggs, baritone, gave the solo. Another selection rehearsed was "The Rose Maiden" (Colins).

These two selections the club will sing next Tuesday, when they will be guests at the "sings" in Arroyo Seco. J. Arthur Myers directed the rehearsal, with Miss Florence Heacock at the piano. During the intermission Oscar Whitaker, baritone, sang "Ave Maria" (Schubert) and "In the Time of Roses." Many new members were noted among the large crowd attending.

A surprise farewell for Miss Marie Oliver, secretary, who is leaving shortly for a visit east, had been planned for last night, but as Miss Oliver could not be present, the honor has been postponed till a later date. Plans are now under way for a wienie roast June 14 at Santa Monica.

A resolution was passed, to be addressed to the Board of Supervisors, asking that the $4,000,000 remaining from the $5,000,000 bond issue voted in 1923 to erect a county hospital be split into four and used to build four separate hospitals at different points. The advice of the local medical men will be sought in this matter.

Members of the board will meet with the directors of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce Thursday, May 29, to discuss the relations of the various city chambers toward the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley.

M'ADOO GATHERS MORE DELEGATES

Democratic Candidate Back from Swing East to Boost Candidacy

By GIL A. COWAN
By Southland News Service.
LOS ANGELES, May 27.—The shadow of Tammany hall and the awe of Wall street at the Democratic national convention in New York this summer are not feared by William Gibbs McAdoo, California's candidate for president. He said so himself on his arrival here from a trip to the other end of Broadway, incidentally visiting several points south in his victorious campaign of the Carolinas and Tennessee.

"Tammany hall will be grievously disappointed when they find in the final showdown that my delegates are not so green, not tenderfeet as they imagine," said the candidate in addressing more than 200 admirers who gathered at the Santa Fe station and demanded that he speak, although it was Sunday.

"There have been a succession of victories—not reported in many of the newspapers—including Tennessee, South Carolina, Idaho, New Mexico and others which have overwhelmingly instructed delegates to vote for one William Gibbs McAdoo," said the speaker.

"I think the Tennessee victory is most significant. It was a hard fight there against the party machine which was supporting Senator Underwood. And it is an unprecedented thing for South Carolina and Tennessee to instruct their delegates for candidate.

Outlook Bright
"I feel the prospects could not be more encouraging than now. But we must do some team work in New York."

Mr. McAdoo arrived home on the birthday of his daughter Ellen, aged 8, who is the granddaughter of the late President Woodrow Wilson. She was very much in evidence and profuse in kisses for papa.

Pledge Support for Glendale White Sox

Solid backing for the management of the Glendale White Sox in the plans for a field day on June 14, when the local team will meet a picked team of ball players from the Pacific fleet, was pledged yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, when the Board of Control, representing the leading civic, social and banking institutions of the city, met in conference over the expenditure of the city's advertising fund, when the recommendation of the Glendale Merchants' association, that $1000 be taken from the advertising fund for the White Sox was submitted to the board.

HUNTS WILD GAME WITH HIS CAMERA

Horseback Rider on Popular Oakmont Stables Trip, Gets Good Pictures

Billie Graves, Jr., of La Canada, has just returned from one of the Oakmont Saddle Stables' trips through the mountains on horseback, and, in addition to traveling through the canyons and over the mountain tops, he found just as much sport shooting wild game with a kodak as most sportsmen do with a gun.

The first day out two deer crossed the trail within a hundred feet of the party of horsemen, but, for some untold reason, seemed to be in a hurry to get somewhere, and did not wait to have their pictures snapped. This was in the upper Big Tujunga canyon, about two miles from the new Wildwood Lodge, where the party had spent the night before, enjoying the comforts of a modern mountain resort.

The second day out had its reward, for, as the party was crossing the big divide at an altitude of about 5000 feet, just above Clear creek, two more deer were sighted. They were grazing in a clearing about a quarter of a mile ahead of the riders, and, as the party slowly rode down the trail toward them, they seemed curious, and raised their heads and watched the party draw nearer.

Wait for Pictures
Unlike the two of the day before, they stood their ground until the kodak had done its work, and then, as one of the horses let out a snort, like a flash they disappeared.

Since the wild animals have been protected by the Angeles National forest they are again becoming very plentiful, and not nearly as wild as in former years. Alfred Myers of the Griffith Park riding academy has also in mind for several years these horseback tours through the mountains, and joined Mr. Thorpe and Mr. Gethin in this enterprise, and half of all horses used on the trips will come from the Griffith Park academy. All parties going back into the mountains, start from the Oakmont stables, returning to the same place.

A party of eight Los Angeles people are leaving early Decoration Day morning for a three days' horseback trip to the peak of Mt. Gleason, which is 6503 feet high, and from which point the ocean, fifty miles away, can be seen, as well as the desert, which is about forty miles away in the opposite direction.

Monard said he met with rebuffs when he tried to present evidence against the company to Daugherty.

LAUGHING FARCE IS SHOW AT TENT

'Nothing But the Truth' Is Proving Big Hit This Week; Move Soon

"Nothing But the Truth" is to be heard under the big brown tent on North Brand boulevard at California avenue, where Murphy's Comedians are showing the popular farce-comedy of that name each night at 8:15 o'clock, at popular prices.

The plot of "Nothing But the Truth" is particularly amusing, which accounts for the extreme popularity the play has enjoyed. A clubman wagers with a friend that he can succeed in being strictly veracious for a stated period. He sets out to win the wager—but is compelled to answer so many pointed questions frankly that a number of divorce suits loom. His friends determine to kidnap him to prevent a scandal. What happens then constitutes one of the funniest climaxes ever seen on the stage.

Murphy's Comedians will present "Nothing But the Truth" tonight and Wednesday night at the local location. Then they will move, opening Thursday night with the same show at the corner of North Brand boulevard and Stocker street, Casa Verdugo.

DEATH OF YOUNG GIRL IS MYSTERY

Stricken While Attending Dance; Doctors Believe Poison Responsible

YREKA, Cal., May 27.—The death of pretty Lena Lange, 18, still remained a mystery today. Authorities investigating her strange death awaited the report from the University of California at Berkeley, where Dr. Charles Plus, autopsy surgeon, sent her stomach and other organs for examination to determine whether she died of poison.

Dr. Plus declared it his opinion Miss Lange died of strychnine poison. However the presence of inflammation of the bronchial tube caused him to forward the organs to Berkeley for an analysis.

Miss Lange died while attending a dance Saturday night. She had partaken of a midnight supper with a score of other persons, none of whom were made ill. She dropped from the arms of Anthony De Avilla, her childhood sweetheart, with whom she was dancing when stricken. She was to have married him next month.

The home of August Rodin, famous sculptor, has been made into a museum and donated to the French people.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE ZIZZY BUGS
Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper for Uncle Wiggily Longears, was sitting in her rocking chair one day mending one of the rabbit gentleman's socks.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking over the top of his pink, twinkling nose. "Did you hear a concert over the radio, and are you clapping your paws for joy?"

"I was clapping my paws for a zizzy bug!" answered the muskrat lady, as she picked up her rocking chair.

"Clapping your paws for a zizzy bug?" cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise. "I never heard of such a thing! Did the zizzy bug sing? I didn't hear him."

"And I didn't catch her—which is worse," when on Nurse Jane, as she walked on tiptoe about the room, looking here and there.

"Oh, then you wanted to catch the zizzy bug?" asked the rabbit. "Yes," replied Nurse Jane. "Look out! There she is! I have her this time!"

"I must catch the zizzy bugs so they won't eat your clothes and my clothes, the muskrat lady said. "Moths, or zizzy bugs, are very hungry. They eat coats and vests and dresses and blankets and all manner of things like that."

"She hopped about on one leg, clapping her paws—'bang! bang!'—but she didn't catch the zizzy bug moth or butterfly, which flew about, looking for a place to lay her eggs in some woolen coat or blanket. And from the eggs would hatch a little bug which would eat wool."

"Perhaps if I got my tennis racket, or a baseball bat, or a golf stick I could kill a zizzy bug for you," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Nonsense! Don't be silly!" laughed Nurse Jane. "You stood on one leg and clapped her front paws at the flying creature—but she didn't catch her."

"Nonsense or no nonsense, I'm going to the drug store and see if I can't get Nurse Jane something to catch the zizzy bugs with," said Uncle Wiggily to himself.

"Nonsense!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I should have said I want something BAD for zizzy bugs—something that will keep them away."

"Here you are!" squeaked the drug store mouse, and he gave Uncle Wiggily a rubber ball filled with queer powder. "Put that powder around the room, out of the rubber ball, and it will drive away the zizzy bugs."

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking over the top of his pink, twinkling nose. "Did you hear a concert over the radio, and are you clapping your paws for joy?"

"I was clapping my paws for a zizzy bug!" answered the muskrat lady, as she picked up her rocking chair.

"Clapping your paws for a zizzy bug?" cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise. "I never heard of such a thing! Did the zizzy bug sing? I didn't hear him."

"And I didn't catch her—which is worse," when on Nurse Jane, as she walked on tiptoe about the room, looking here and there.

GERMAN SPENDERS ON RIVIERA BLAMED FOR ATTITUDE TOWARD GERMANY

Regardless of the findings of the Reparation Commission, headed by General Charles G. Dawes, or whether the determination is that Germany can or cannot meet France's demands, these few citizens of the republic whose fortunes have not been wholly wiped out and who are spending money in Switzerland, on the Riviera and elsewhere are doing their Fatherland a poor service.

The foregoing are the opinions expressed by Dr. George Klingenberg, one of the foremost electrical and mechanical engineers of Germany, a former professor of the Technical University of Berlin and director of Allgemeine Electricitats Gesellschaft (the General Electric Company) of Germany.

Dr. Klingenberg characterized as wrong, the opinion expressed by Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in the British Labor government, that the German government had already "moved to the right" and that a victory for the Nationalist or conservative party in the late German elections would portend a resumption of armaments and abandonment of reparations efforts.

"The general opinion in Germany when I left," said Dr. Klingenberg, "was that the Right, or Nationalist party, and the Communists, or extreme Left, would both win some members in the election. These gains, however, will come chiefly from the Socialists and some of the middle parties—the People's and the Democrats—although the Centerists, or Catholic party, will remain about the same. The main difficulty, because of the number of parties, will be in the formation of a government, and I look for a possible combination of the Right and Middle parties."

Dr. Klingenberg was inclined to believe as right, however, reports that the Ruhr industrialists might postpone indefinitely their accords with the Franco-Belgian Commission regarding their deliveries of coal for reparations account in the hope that the report of General Dawes, Owen D. Young and the others of the Reparations Commission would recommend the transfer of the cost of maintaining these deliveries to the government budget.

"The cost of maintaining the army of occupation," Dr. Klingenberg said, "exceeds the cost of maintaining the former imperial army and navy, and is one of the heaviest burdens Germany has to carry."

For International News Service. HONOLULU, May 27.—Hawaiian-born young men of Oriental parentage prefer to hear sermons in the English language rather than in the language of their parents, according to persons who have made a recent study of church going crowds in this city.

The reasons given by these young men for attending the "haole" or English-speaking churches were that all of them understand English better than they do the language of their parents and that most of the sermons in the Oriental churches are delivered in a classical style with which they are not familiar.

Students of social problems in Hawaii point out that the gap between Oriental parents and their Hawaiian-born children is one of the most serious questions with which the Oriental sections must deal. This gap is steadily widening because the education and general training which the young people are receiving are much different from what their parents have known.

Captain Jules Dudoit, Hawaii's oldest shipmaster, who died at his home in Pukoo, Molokai, recently, always boasted with pride of the fact that he had never been away from these islands. Captain Dudoit was more than 84 years of age. He was born in Honolulu September 15, 1839, and was of the first generation of white children born in Hawaii.

THE T. D. & L.
"Triumph," Cecil B. De Mille's new picture now showing at the T. D. and L. It looks like the picture was made to trade on the name of the noted director.

ISOLATION BEFORE DIAGNOSIS—No. II
In yesterday's paper, I gave you direct quotations from an article in the March number of the American Journal of Public Health, written by W. C. Slesker, Health Officer of Shorewood, Wisconsin. In the part I gave you yesterday Dr. Slesker confessed that the Board of Health, of which he was a member, had failed in preventing the spread of the pretable diseases, and that when they began to isolate first, and diagnose afterwards, and to placard on suspicion, "the results were gratifying beyond all hope of expectation."

No child was permitted to remain in school when it had a cold, or a cough or a sore throat, or was otherwise indisposed, no matter how mild the symptoms. Now here is the balance of Dr. Slesker's article:

"It was pointed out to the citizens that this policy was made necessary by reason of the fact that the medical profession had not yet advanced far enough to enable the most skilled within its ranks to differentiate between whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever, and other so-called children's diseases, from an ordinary cold when the first symptoms appeared, and that at the outset the cases in question are already exceedingly contagious. Isolation first and diagnosis afterwards was to be the invariable rule. The second point in the new program consisted of placarding houses on suspicion. When clinical symptoms were inconclusive, but circumstances warranted a suspicion, homes were placarded 'whooping cough suspected,' 'influenza suspected,' 'scarlet fever suspected,' as the case might be, and the same quarantine regulations were maintained as though there was no question as to the diagnosis. Though quite a number of homes have been placarded on suspicion, the number of erroneous guesses has been negligible. The virtue of this expedient lies in the fact that erroneous guesses never result in injury to anyone, while a 'correct' suspicion is often the means of preventing much needless suffering.

"There should be isolation from the very moment first symptoms appear. The possibility of contagion should be taken into account for the following, which I happen to have:

M. K.—"Kindly give me recipes for veal stew and Yorkshire pudding."
Answer—You no doubt saw my recipe for veal stew published in the column yesterday. (If not, buy back copy of the paper at the Circulation Department, or copy it from the back files in our office.) Here is the other recipe you wish:

Yorkshire Pudding—Mix together one cup of flour, one cup of milk, two lightly-beaten eggs and a pinch of salt; spread this batter one-half inch deep on the bottom of a hot pan which has been greased. Bake in a hot oven for about 20 minutes, basting with roast beef juices (from pan containing roast of beef) after ten minutes. Serve cut in small squares.

Mrs. J.—"Your menus often call for apple slump, the recipe for which you published on December 10, 1923. I wonder if your readers realize that this dish is equally delicious made with other fruits? I have tried it with canned plums and berries (substituted for the apples) with good results."
Answer—It was kind of you to send me this helpful suggestion, which I know many of us will try. A friend—"Some time ago one of your readers asked for a recipe

Lingerie For June Brides

Sheer, frivolous lacy things or the severely tailored styles are both favored in this season's vogue for the lingerie of the bride. The pictures above show the variety available to the woman who keeps abreast of the mode.

By MME. LISBETH
Are you the tailored type of girl or the flirty-ruffie kind? Or are you both on occasion? You can easily go to extremes in either way as the fluffiest, ruffiest garments are sponsored by the powers that be and the tailored mode is more than smart—it is correct!

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

A FADED ROSE
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been reading your experience letters and can only say they mean more to me than the Teapot Dome does to the New York stock exchange. Before I tell you my experience allow me first to tell the kind of girl I chose to be my life partner.

She was one of those sweet little girls that had a smile and glad hello anytime, anywhere. She was young, representing a flower and I plucked the flower when it was yet in bud, only to neglect to keep it blooming with kind words and deeds.

She was my boyhood sweetheart and I loved her dearly. She also loved me, which she surely proved when she became my wife. But I had a butterfly who influenced me against this lovely girl. Now I am dying from remorse. I think back over the days when we were sweethearts and when she blessed me as a father. But when the children were nearly grown-up I became more neglectful. Every lie I told her she trusted and believed and each one seemed easier to tell. The evil influence grew until I felt so guilty I left my home and family.

Now as I dream over those days I can see that same flower not as I plucked it, but careworn and sad; not the picture of my sweetheart, but of a broken-hearted wife. She is dead and I am sitting here alone just waiting for the sun to go down never to shine again for me. I killed the only one in the world who truly loved me. There is but one true love in this world for each of us. Men, do think twice before you

ANSWERED LETTERS

Doris K.—When the whites of the eyes are yellow it shows that the liver is out of order. A bad case of this kind would indicate an attack of jaundice, and it would be better to have a doctor treat it, even though it is not regarded as a serious illness.

A. B. C.—Sulphur is purifying, and when it is used on the scalp it is much the same as an antiseptic treatment. I will be glad to send you the formula for the pilocarpine tonic, which I am sure would help this condition of your scalp. You will get enough sulphur in this tonic, while there are also other ingredients needed to perfect it. A stamped, self-addressed envelope should be sent when requesting a mailed reply.

Peggy—The reason why bobbed hair becomes oily so much sooner than long hair, is because the scalp is secreting just as it always did, and when the hair was long, the oil was distributed over the greater length and did not show as soon as it does now. The present style of snug hats may make some difference also. You can remove much of the oil by using soft towels through the hair, just as if you were drying it after a shampoo.

M. M. G., Helen—The shampoo in which henna is used to tint prematurely grey hairs is done as follows: Mix powdered Egyptian henna with hot water to form a liquid the consistency of cream. Shampoo as usual with ordinary shampoo soap, rinse with hot water, then rub the hair and scalp with the hot henna paste, and let it stay on only three minutes—no longer. Rinse off with hot and cold water. This will give a slightly coppery tinge to the hair, but does not change its color.

Jean K.—The formula you sent is one in which the main ingredient is a patented article. The printed formula must have been advertised for this ingredient, and was probably marked as such, although you did not notice it. Massage your skin daily with a good building cream to fill out these lines, and close pores later through dashing very cold water over the skin.

G. R. M.—Crude oil when used in treating dandruff will not darken the hair, because you shampoo all the oil out the next day. A convenient time to give the treatment is before retiring, and then tie up the head in old muslin to keep the oil from staining the bed linen.

Tomorrow—Thick Eyelashes.

Find Student's Body After Long Search

LEWISTON, Idaho, May 27.—The nude body of Theodore Speer, 20, was found in the Snake river yesterday after county officials had conducted a search for him over a period of several weeks. Speer, a student at the State Normal school, disappeared a few months ago. The county coroner stated that his body probably was thrown into the river after he had been killed. Speer was the son of a farmer of Gifford, Idaho. He was not known to have any enemies and was of a religious turn of mind.

CITY OFFICIALS DISCUSS MOTOR TAX AMENDMENT

Proposed Measure to Divert One-Fourth of Revenue To Municipalities

Seventeen municipalities of Southern California were represented at a meeting held at Pasadena yesterday when the proposed amendment to the state constitution regarding the distribution of money received from the state gasoline tax was discussed.

The meeting was called by W. J. Locke, executive secretary of the League of California Municipalities.

Under the present law, the income derived through a state tax on gasoline of 2 cents per gallon is divided equally between the state road commissioner and the county supervisors.

To Circulate Petition "Before the proposition can be submitted to the voters this fall," said Mr. Morrow this morning.

The scope of the bill is wider than was originally understood. It includes not only the money derived from the gas tax, but that paid in as motor vehicle licenses, as well.

"The estimated receipts from motor vehicle registrations is $3,900,000," added Mr. Morrow. "The 2-cent tax on gasoline for the first six months of the fiscal year amounted to $5,533,886.

"Assuming that the state will spend ten per cent in collection and distribution, this would leave $13,500,000 net to be distributed. Giving the state fifty per cent, and dividing the rest between the supervisors and the cities, would mean that $3,375,000 would go to the municipalities, which, according to the last census, would mean 8 1/2 cents per person.

"More than half of the people in California live within municipal boundaries, yet under the present arrangement they do not receive one cent from the gasoline tax or motor vehicle registration fund.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By International News Service

NEW YORK, May 27.—With the president studying the various schedules of the tax bill, the national conventions only a few weeks off, and the week to be interrupted by a holiday toward the end, the market paused again today.

Sentiment in spite of the recessions registered throughout the list, continued cheerful, apparently reflecting the growing belief that President Coolidge would sign the tax bill.

Rubber and sugar stocks were the only groups displaying pronounced heaviness in connection with the unfavorable situation existing in these industries.

Steels, motors, equipments and oils receded fractionally with dealings extremely sluggish. News from petroleum districts was decidedly more hopeful. Figures published by the Western Petroleum Refiners' association, covering operations for the week ended May 17, indicated that gasoline, kerosene and fuel oil shipments were in excess of production and that surplus stocks were drawn upon to meet the demands.

Stewart-Warner reacted two points on extensive profit-taking. Buying made itself felt in high grade railroad shares like Illinois Central, Delaware & Hudson, E. & O. and Norfolk & Western. Both divided-paying and other rails turned somewhat reactionary, probably in response to the unfavorable earnings for April, because in reflection of the curtailment of business during the last two months, St. Paul in particular was heavily sold.

Call money, after renewing at 4 per cent, was in freer supply at 3 1/2 per cent in the afternoon. Time loan rates tended firmer.

Heavy selling of St. Paul stocks featured trading in the last hour, both the common and the preferred breaking to new low levels for the year. Weakness was in further response to the very disappointing April statement issued yesterday.

Shares of other northwestern heaviness, especially Chicago & Northwestern.

Price movements in the industrial group continues sluggish with the trend toward slightly lower levels.

The market closed irregular. Call money went down to 3 per cent in the final dealings.

Stock sales today 595,900 shares; bonds $12,053,000.

BUSINESS WORLD

By C. ROYLE, Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright 1924.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Time tide to the owners of lessees of oil lands wait for no man. The oil men are not even waiting for prices to become advantageous. Apparently each is active today in bringing oil to the surface as fast as possible in spite of the fact that price reductions still are anticipated in some fields.

The activity with pump and drilling rig in the field is being supplemented by equally similar animation displayed with fountain pen and check book.

Thousands of acres of lands rich in oil have changed hands in the last few weeks for the deal involving the Shell Union Oil Corporation and the Union Oil of California has not been the only big oil transaction recently.

Southwestern oil men see in the purchase of numerous Pan Handle gas companies by the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, the prospect of a tremendous pipeline four hundred miles long to carry gas to Kansas City, Mo. The companies taken over by Prairie Oil and Gas were the Producers and Refiners Corporation, the Mountain States Producers, the Amarillo Pipe Line Company. By the deal, the Prairie company gains possession of the entire Pan Handle gas field.

The Coslen company has recently purchased a large acreage from the Phillips Petroleum Company in the Middle West and is prepared to start new drilling operations thereon. Reports from Pawhuska, Oklahoma, the new Atlantic oil fields seven miles Southwest of that place promises to rival the Burbank pool after a few more wells are drilled.

The new field is now producing about 10,000 barrels a day and the first well was brought in only about four months ago.

Flush production is continuing in Arkansas and Louisiana fields despite the cut in Smackover heavy from $1 to 85 cents a barrel. The week just past showed an increase in daily average of 5,065 barrels to 208,922 barrels.

The time and money of big companies are willing to expend more is judged by the fact that the Browning-Keller well of the Standard Oil of California in the Santa Fe Springs has only just been plugged and abandoned when it reached a depth of 7,212 feet or more than a mile and a third. At that depth a subterranean stream of hot water flowing 6,500 barrels a day was encountered, ending chances of oil sands at a greater depth.

The well was the deepest ever drilled, being 532 feet lower than the Torrance well which held the record for two years. It took three crews of five men each using rotary tools 332 actual drilling days to discover the well was a "duster." In the entire distance sunk, only two showings of oil were encountered, one at 4,904 feet and another at 5,970 feet. Neither was productive of paying quantities.

Not only was the company willing to spend more than $200,000 on this hole in the ground but the crews were so interested in the outcome that they refused to take their vacations until it was finally decided to abandon the bore. Several records beside depth have been established. A fish-tail drilling bit was lost at a depth of 7,196 feet and recovered after "fishing" only three days. So far as known, no loss of equipment ever was recovered from a well at a depth below 4,500 feet before.

Gasoline consumption undoubtedly has been on the increase this year, the amount used so far showing an advance of around 15 per cent even over the remarkable figures of 1923. But stocks of crude oil and gasoline show small signs of speedy reduction.

The Carter Oil Company, a mid-continent subsidiary of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, has brought between 1,250 and 15,000 tank carloads of gasoline from twenty different independent refiners in Oklahoma, Texas and North Texas and this gas is now being shipped to Baton Rouge, La. The amount bought exceeds ten million gallons and the price was said to have been 9 1/2 cents a gallon.

A patriotic committee from the General N. P. Banks post of the G. A. R., headed by Commander T. M. Barrett, patriotic instructor of the post and one of its past commanders, addressed the student body of the Broadway High school at 9:05 o'clock this morning, in the auditorium. Music was furnished by the school orchestra and a student quartet.

Similar exercises were held in the auditorium of the Harvard High school at 10 o'clock. The significance of Memorial day was stressed by the veterans, who urged the students to regard the day as one of the most important in the calendar.

ting the crop planted. No cut worm injury has been seen.

EMPLOYMENT FIGURE DETROIT, Mich., May 27.—Industrial employment last week decreased by 4,926 to a total of 229,400. This compares with 229,316 a year ago and with a peak for this year of 232,331.

PLAN FORMATION OF BOOSTER BODY

Foothill Towns to Organize To Help Projects for Cities' Welfare

TUJUNGA, May 27.—Plans for the formation of a central organization to represent Tujunga, Valley Center and Sunland are expected to mature June 9, when representatives of the various civic organizations of these three communities will meet at Legion hall.

At the meeting called by the Tujunga Kiwanis club for the purpose of discussing such an organization, the sentiment was favorable and recommendations were made that the communities affected should appoint delegates to the June meeting. It is expected that a name will be chosen for the proposed organization and a set of by-laws drafted at that time.

Program Outlined

The purpose of the proposed representative body is to promote improvements affecting the whole district comprising the three communities. It is not intended by the proponents that it should interfere in any way with the functions of the existing organizations in their local endeavors.

Among the projects that could be handled by such a central organization are the enlarging and improving of Monte Vista park at Sunland, paving Roscoe road from Sunland to the San Fernando highway, widening of the state highway through Sunland, Tujunga, La Crescenta and Montrose, extension of an electric railway through the valley to San Fernando, and getting gas mains laid into the territory.

Unity of Interest

Speakers who responded to the call of President Stover of the Kiwanis club were: P. J. Blake, Tujunga Valley Realty board; C. C. Campbell, Sunland Chamber of Commerce; A. D. Kirschman, Valley Center Improvement association; L. H. Fisher, Tujunga Chamber of Commerce; A. J. Scribner, commander, Post 250, American Legion; Frank Keniston, Ora Vista (Hansen Heights) farm bureau. The keynote of the talks given by these men was the preservation of unity of interest between the several communities whose destinies are apparently interwoven to such an extent that any other course would be detrimental to the welfare of the whole district.

Other delegates who spoke and represented their communities were: Homer Rice, Clarence C. Buck, J. H. Lamson, F. H. Lucas, A. Adams, Jr., H. L. Harvey, Lloyd Foster, John O'B. Bodkin, John Abernethy, H. C. Brown, C. H. Conway, H. H. Breidt, Dr. E. M. Spates, A. Faure, J. Haines, Leon Carr, E. A. Forster, M. F. Gilmer, Leo H. Smith, Rudolph Henry, G. L. Aiken, J. A. McDonald, Carroll W. Parcher, Earl C. Brunner, Clyde Baker, Louis Mocha, E. A. Miller, J. L. Smith, M. E. Hill.

Why I Am In Glendale

Many years ago I had a vision of a home in a beautiful valley among evergreen mountains. As I gazed thereon a great city appeared and above it was the sky-written word, Glendale—and the music of the name haunted me.

Twenty years ago, hearing of Glendale, California, I came and found here the basis of my vision.

Again I saw, rising from a perfect foundation, a large city with railways, avenues and boulevards extending in every direction.

Societies, schools, clubs and churches multiplying, with daily newspapers, public libraries, sanitariums, business blocks and public buildings to supply the needs of thousands of delightful homes.

Merchant princes, bankers and kings of finance, with a vision of health and wealth, erected towering structures. Autos carrying visitors crowd the avenues, all spreading the fame of Glendale to distant lands.

Today finds a realization of my vision, but a more extended one looms as a future Glendale.

BOY SCOUTS HELP CLEAN UP CITY

Aid Fire Department in Task of Making Eagle Rock More Beautiful

EAGLE ROCK, May 27.—The Boy Scouts are co-operating with the local fire department in a general cleanup of vacant lots at the nominal charge of $3 per lot, fully appreciative of the hazards existing in such a collection of weeds and rubbish as the average local lot presents. The police department also is lending its cooperation wherever possible. Deputy Scout Commissioner James B. McNary has complete supervision over the Scout work in this cleanup campaign. He is planning to offer a banner bearing the inscription, "Fire Prevention, Eagle Rock, 1924," to the Scout troop that makes the best showing in this drive.

Eagle Rock has been divided into five sections and a Boy Scout troop has taken the responsibility of cleaning up one of the sections, there being five troops. All burning of grass will be under the strict supervision of the fire department. Before beginning this work all Boy Scouts are given instructions by the fire department in the proper precautions to take, and the Scoutmasters are greatly pleased over the interest shown by the boys in this work. In addition to doing the city a service they will build up a fund with which to buy the necessary uniforms and accoutrements incidental to their Scout work, and also make it possible for them to take their summer outings without having to depend on donations from outside sources.

ASK PAVING FOR CAHUENGA AVE.

Petitions Are Circulated in Lankershim; Would Relieve Congestion

LANKERSHIM, May 27.—Cahuenga avenue as it enters Lankershim boulevard at the Universal City bridge is to be paved, if petitions now out are successful in instituting proceedings.

At the May election funds were voted to rebuild this bridge. When this is done Cahuenga will become a real thoroughfare in this vicinity.

The completion of Cahuenga will be a great convenience to the residents of southeast Lankershim, it is felt, and will take much traffic from the crowded boulevard.

The next move is to urge speed on the rebuilding of this bridge. Formerly it has taken about eighteen months to get a paving job through the city engineer's office, but that office has been reorganized and the council has authorized more help and urged greater speed in furthering public improvements.

Street Improvement Bonds Issued for Paving ALAMEDA STREET From 4th Street to Mountain Street

THIS is an exceptionally well secured issue of Street Improvement Bonds. The district covered is a very well developed residential district. The appraised value of the property upon which these bonds are a first lien is $179,000, as against $27,000 of bonds.

There are 66 bonds in the issue, making an average denomination of $409.09, with an average appraisal of $2,712.12.

Owing to the large amount of new buildings which will doubtless follow the completion of the pavement, a large number of bonds will probably be paid in advance of their maturity, with redemption premium required by law in case of pre-payment. These premiums are a material element of profit.

Our 20 years of experience in handling Street Improvement Bonds are at your command. We will be glad to show you the property against which these bonds are a first lien.
