FORMER SEATTLE POLICEMAN ARRESTED

Ed. Hagen Charged With Complicity in Attempt at Robbery of Oil Office

Loss of Money Prevented; Another Man Arrested Near Scene

Seattle, Jan. 2.—Ed Hagen, former Seattle patrolman and convicted bootlegger, is held in the jail here for suspected complicity in the attempted robbery of the Union Oil Company's general offices early yesterday morning.

DENIES CHARGE
Cooper, who is held incommunicado in the city jail, protested his innocence but admitted he was waiting for a cargo of liquor he had been hired to deliver.

Information of the impending robbery was given in an anonymous tip to inspector Joe E. Mason Wednesday afternoon and Patrolmen E. E. Darnell and E. N. Johnson were detailed to guard the offices in addition to T. H. Matthews, night watchman.

SAFE WAS EMPTIED
The company safe was emptied of cash as an added safeguard. Collections from the thirty gas stations maintained here are ordinarily turned in there each night and as much as $12,000 is sometimes held in the safe for banking the next day.

At 8:30 yesterday morning Matthews left the main office to make his round of the plant, accompanied by Officer Darnell. As the two men left the front door they were confronted by the drawn guns of two masked bandits.

QUICK OF WIT.
"Stick 'em up," they commanded. Darnell, unable to reach his weapon, complied, but with quickness of wit summoned Johnson's assistance by yelling, "They got them up."

Johnson ran to the office window and began firing with a shot gun. The bandits immediately fled, harassed by the fire of the three officers. One robber dropped to his knees when nearing the railway tracks nearby, but regained his feet and disappeared.

OVERCOAT FOUND
At Railroad Avenue and Wall Street a hastily summoned body of policemen found a marine corps overcoat which was still dry although it was raining heavily. In the pockets were found a coil of light rope, a flashlight, a blackjack and a leather strap.

Sergeant W. H. Steen found Cooper in his car near the company office at Elliott Avenue and Bay Street. During a stiff grilling yesterday by Detective Lieut. W. B. Kent, Cooper stuck to his story of being a party to a liquor robbery but not in any way connected with the attempted robbery.

TREATY IS ARGUED AT BAIL HEARING

Britain in this country shall be held until extradition proceedings are held. It was only in rare cases that persons so held had been admitted to bail, Mr. Patterson said.

AN EXCEPTION
The case against Joe O. Neal and J. M. Dooley, charged with participation in the robbery of a Vancouver, B.C. bank, was an exception to the rule, Mr. Patterson said.

EXPLANATION SOUGHT FOR TORONTO VOTE

One Newspaper Says Anti-Prohibition Element Made T. Foster Mayor

Three Newspapers Had Supported Mayor W. W. Hiltz For Re-election

Toronto, Jan. 2.—This city is busy to-day trying to explain why on New Year's Day it fractured its tradition of sixty years and declined a second term to a mayor who was acknowledged by most authorities to have given eminently satisfactory service.

Three of Toronto's four daily newspapers supported Hiltz against Foster, and are to-day speculating on the reasons for the defeat of Hiltz. One of them says editorially: "Yesterday's vote had little to do with municipal affairs. Toronto's wet vote put Foster in the mayor's chair—the wet vote, and little else."

According to figures compiled by the bureau, 32 congregations in Ontario have voted for union and 1 against; in Saskatchewan 108 for and 4 against; in Alberta 8 for and 3 against, while in British Columbia one church voted against union.

Returns received by the bureau this morning show that 19 Ontario congregations have added their vote to those favoring union, all being unanimous.

Twenty-nine Saskatchewan churches, all but four being unanimous were reported as favoring union, while from Alberta two congregations decided to enter the new church. No votes against union were reported to the bureau this morning.

The bureau states that the vote in Saskatchewan and Alberta is under the provincial act of those provinces and is therefore final.

FOUR DEATHS DUE TO NEW YEAR EVENTS

More Than 100 Persons Were Given Treatment in New York Hospitals

New York, Jan. 2.—Four deaths, a score hurt and more than 100 patched-up in hospitals made up the toll of the New Year celebrations in New York, a check of police records revealed to-day. Two deaths were traced to poison liquor, one to a street brawl and the fourth to an automobile accident that occurred during the reveling.

The lineup of those arrested for intoxication was the slimmest since the advent of prohibition. The death of one of the victims of bad liquor at the Bellevue Hospital brought a total of eighteen deaths from the same cause during the past fifteen days in that institution.

Not Satisfied With Honors For Women

London, Jan. 26 (Canadian Press Cable).—The honors given to women in the New Year list, could only be considered paltry as compared with those awarded to men, declares the Women's Freedom League in a letter to Premier Baldwin.

Some day, according to the League members, doubtless a Premier of Great Britain will be bold enough to recommend women for privy counsellorships or for the Order of Merit, which, while carrying no title, would be regarded as a hallmark of real worth and dignity.

AMMUNITION AND RIFLES SEIZED BY BANDITS IN CHINA

Taken From Two Ships at Shanghai Wharf by 100 Disguised Soldiers

Shipment Consigned to Gen. Sun Was Being Held by Customs Men

Shanghai, Jan. 2.—Upwards of 100 armed bandits, believed to be disguised soldiers, boarded the steamers Kingta and Kiang Yung Wednesday while the vessels were moored at the King Lei Yuen wharf on the French concession bund, overpowered the officers and crews, foreign customs guards and French detectives, locked them in their state-rooms and seized 300 cases of rifles and munitions valued at more than a quarter of a million dollars.

securing an established fixed sum to be paid annually in extinguishing the city's liabilities, this scheme being in conjunction with the plan to deal with the city's reverted lands on a tax pre-payment plan, as already outlined in The Times.

As the late council did little for the last three weeks of its life, except postpone controversial subjects, the hold over issues will be reported, and referred to the new committees for attention. The water agreement with Spanish will be one of the first questions to be taken up in works committee, on the basis of City Engineer Preston's recommendation. The city comptroller is working on the estimates, and expects to have them ready at an early date for typing, though they will not reach the council for some time yet. As

They had food— but they did not know how to eat it

LET the southwest monsoon be delayed but a few days . . . and in some district or other in India the crops are ruined. A famine occurs.

When the attempt was first made to relieve such districts, a remarkable thing happened! Rice eaters, ignorant of other foods, died sooner than make use of the wheat that was offered them. Death was preferable to the unknown. Nor would wheat eaters eat rice . . . . .

Incredible! Yet here, to-day, progressive people in a progressive country are very wary about risking themselves off the beaten path. They are suspicious of innovations. They leave them for others to try out.

Without advertising, many improvements common to-day would have failed to surmount the conservatism of our fathers. But alert merchants and manufacturers told about their products in the daily papers. The mystery surrounding them was dissipated. People became interested . . . and in this interest forgot their first doubts.

Read the advertisements. They let you know about new things, where to get them, how much they cost. Without them we would live in complete ignorance of many things that serve to make life less laborious, more comfortable, happier.

Knowledge of many a new home comfort is gained from the advertisements

IMMIGRATION IS HOPEFUL FEATURE

Heads of Canada's Two Big Railways Speak of the Outlook For 1925

Indications of Substantial Business Improvement Exist, Says Thornton

Toronto, Jan. 2.—Both E. W. Beatty and Sir Henry Thornton, heads of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways respectively, agree in their contributions to The Toronto Globe's annual financial review that the railway problems of Canada are mostly dependent for solution upon immigration.

"We are beginning to be reassured," says the Canadian Pacific Railway head, "and once again to see there is no occasion for serious disquiet on the subject of Canada's future, either immediate or remote. The transportation problems of the country are about, as they were a year ago and one sees but little hope for their permanent solution until a vigorous and effective immigration policy bears fruit in the spreading over our vacant places of a large number of desirable home builders and wealth producers."

"The transportation problems of the country are about, as they were a year ago and one sees but little hope for their permanent solution until a vigorous and effective immigration policy bears fruit in the spreading over our vacant places of a large number of desirable home builders and wealth producers."

Western Canada, he declares, has definitely turned the corner toward better business, in the opinion of the majority of competent observers located there, and other countries from a business depression, merchants, bankers and all others incline to the view that the new year will see the real beginning of a period of better trade and business conditions," he says.

The immigration programme recently announced by the Federal Government, Sir Henry says, gives promise of new development in the West.

T. FOSTER CHOSEN MAYOR OF TORONTO

Citizens Declare For Audit of Books of Consumers' Gas Company

Toronto, Jan. 2.—Toronto citizens yesterday refused to give W. W. Hiltz a second term as Mayor of the city and elected Thomas Foster, who has served on the City Council as alderman and controller for the last twenty years. Only one year before in the last sixty-one years have the citizens of Toronto refused a second term to its chief magistrate. That was in 1901, when the late J. A. Macdonald was defeated. The new Mayor is a Conservative in politics and dean of the City Council. Although a temperance advocate, he announced during his campaign that he was in favor of Government control of the sale of spirituous liquor.

The Board of Control contests resulted as follows: Controller J. Gibbons, 29,172; Controller E. Hacker, 24,365; W. D. Robbins, 22,931; D. C. Macgregor, 21,258; Controller R. H. Cameron, 27,597; James Simpson, 14,485; James Birks, 4,272. The first four were elected.

The two new men on the board are D. C. Macgregor, a former alderman, and W. D. Robbins, former member of the City Council. Simpson and Birks ran on the official Labor ticket, from which Joseph Gibbons, agent of the Street Railwaymen's Union, was excluded.

GAS INVESTIGATION
A referendum on the question of seeking permissive legislation from the Ontario Government whereby the city could carry out an audit of the books of the Consumers' Gas Company with a view to ascertaining the basic cost of producing gas was carried by a vote of 58,194 for and 4,712 against.

The only by-law submitted carried a vote of 2 to 1. It calls for an outlay of $1,000,000 on a duplicate waterworks system, owing to the present system being taxed in Summer to capacity.

350 FAMILIES WERE PLACED ON FARMS

Western Canada Colonization Association's Land Sales in 1924 Totaled $6,000,000

Winnipeg, Jan. 2.—Land sales aggregating $6,000,000 and the placing of more than 350 families on farms were the chief works accomplished during 1924 by the Canada Colonization Association. It has been announced with regard to its plans for carrying on the work of its association. At present the work of the organization is being carried on by the representatives of the C. P. R. and the directorate is drawn solely from that company.

JAMES METCALFE DIED
Kingston, Ont., Jan. 2.—James Metcalfe, seventy-seven, formerly a member of the Ontario Legislature and the Ontario Legislature and ex-Warden of Portsmouth Penitentiary here, died yesterday. Before entering Parliament he was appointed Crown Lands Agent and sold much of the lands which now comprises the City of Winnipeg.

had looked back just in time to see the last coach of his train topple from a trestle into the river as the train neared Chippewa Falls. Although the accident was declared due to a broken switch bolt, Colwell worried over the accident. On Wednesday he drew his wages, paid off the neighborhood storekeeper, went home and ate his supper and went down into the basement.

Half an hour later his daughter found his body hanging from a beam.

GERMANS TELL OF PROGRESS IN 1924

But Year's Reviews Marked By Bitterness Regarding Cologne Occupation

Berlin, Jan. 2.—The German victories in 1924 and the greetings to the incoming year are colored by the ill-feeling over the prospective failure of the Allies to evacuate the Cologne area on January 10, as forecast from Paris. While the retrospective views expressed concede the last year was one of economic social progress, the new year prophecies are none too sanguine over the immediate outlook for the continued improvement of the nation's internal affairs and its foreign relations.

PERIOD OF CONVALESCENCE
"The year just closed has been one of conspicuous and progressive convalescence and internal consolidation for our country," declared the president of the German League of Nations, "and our economic life has been liberated from the vicious manipulations and effects of the inflation period and given more secure foundations." President Ebert told a delegation of Government leaders headed by Chancellor Marx on the occasion of his New Year visit to the executive mansion yesterday.

President Ebert said he believed thanks were due Chancellor Marx and his associates in the Cabinet for the progress that had been achieved, and he declared Germany owed it to the Government's energy and perseverance in the face of heavy odds, that a real step forward had been made.

DESCRIBED AS INJUSTICE
"Discussing the subject of the evacuation of the Rhineland, the president continued: 'Whether their political faith, Germans everywhere are to-day one in their feeling of bitter disappointment and their consciousness of a new and painful injustice.'"

FIRE IN ONTARIO
St. Thomas, Ont., Jan. 2.—Fire of unknown origin caused a loss of about $25,000 yesterday afternoon when the building occupied by the Pureka shop and the St. Thomas Bargain House was gutted.

A satisfactory statement of accounts testified to what had been accomplished during the year and the new hall had already proved a great boon to the work.

The president responded and thanked the members for their support and co-operation, which had made her six months in office very pleasant ones.

The election of officers for 1925 followed: President, Mrs. J. L. Brown; directors, Madame Beauchemin, Mrs. Cowie, Mrs. Newberry, Mrs. Wilkinson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Phipps.

At the adjournment of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Wilkinson.

Train Accident Led to a Suicide

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 2.—Harry J. Colwell, engineer of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway passenger train, whose rear coach fell into the Chippewa River near Chippewa Falls, Wis., on December 29, resulting in eight deaths, committed suicide by hanging at his home here Wednesday night.

Colwell had been an engineer for twenty-one years and had never been involved in an accident. On December 29 he substituted for the regular engineer of the Soo Line Minneapolis to Chicago train. He said he had looked back just in time to see the last coach of his train topple from a trestle into the river as the train neared Chippewa Falls.

Although the accident was declared due to a broken switch bolt, Colwell worried over the accident. On Wednesday he drew his wages, paid off the neighborhood storekeeper, went home and ate his supper and went down into the basement.

Half an hour later his daughter found his body hanging from a beam.

The Board of Control contests resulted as follows: Controller J. Gibbons, 29,172; Controller E. Hacker, 24,365; W. D. Robbins, 22,931; D. C. Macgregor, 21,258; Controller R. H. Cameron, 27,597; James Simpson, 14,485; James Birks, 4,272. The first four were elected.

The two new men on the board are D. C. Macgregor, a former alderman, and W. D. Robbins, former member of the City Council. Simpson and Birks ran on the official Labor ticket, from which Joseph Gibbons, agent of the Street Railwaymen's Union, was excluded.

A referendum on the question of seeking permissive legislation from the Ontario Government whereby the city could carry out an audit of the books of the Consumers' Gas Company with a view to ascertaining the basic cost of producing gas was carried by a vote of 58,194 for and 4,712 against.

He will also prepare series of articles on the island, which will be printed in the newspapers of Denmark which he features Vancouver Island as the Pearl of the Pacific. As part of his scheme to establish a colony here he will secure a list of names of people in Denmark who plan to emigrate and to them will be sent information regarding Victoria and the surrounding country.

VICTORIA AS INDUSTRIAL CITY URGED

Has Water Power, Minerals, Transportation and All Other Essentials

Drydock Will Bring Big Ship Repairing Contracts, Writer Points Out

As part of an active campaign to place Victoria as an industrial city and city manager for the establishment of further industries before the eyes of the world, material has been prepared by Frank Glomia, Publicity Bureau writer, which will appear in a number of papers in which he seeks to eliminate the impression that Victoria is merely a residential city.

Being on an island, Victoria was perhaps at one time a little too secluded, he points out, but to-day fast ferry steamers connect it within a few hours with Seattle, Vancouver, Bellingham, Anacortes and Port Angeles. It is partly due to this more rapid and efficient transportation, he says, that Victoria is to-day quickly changing from a beautiful residential town into a well-founded and financially solid business city. This change is also due to the fact that Vancouver Island is well provided with mineral resources which the world is seeking.

WATER POWER

Mr. Glomia points to the great stands of merchantable timber, coal, copper, talc, bauxite and other minerals, and the power coming from the island and adjacent waters is greater than the combined value of all other provinces, he states. There is more coal, 300,000 horse power running to waste in the island rivers, all of which are close to deep sea water and can be harnessed for commercial purposes.

Mr. Glomia also draws attention to the fact that Victoria is the first and last Canadian port of call for Australia, the Orient and for South America and Europe via the Panama Canal.

MARITIME

Victoria's strategic maritime position is recognized, he points out, by the great transportation companies and the Dominion Government, he says, in pointing to developments to take place this year. In drawing attention to the fact that the great drydock which will be capable of easily taking charge of the largest ship afloat will be finished next Summer, he says:

"A skilled official in a position to know the facts has stated that enough ship repair work was lost to Victoria during 1924 which would have maintained the city's drydock had been in operation to give employment to an increase in the population of more than 10,000."

As timber is being cut, he continues, and the land cleared, fruit growers, dairy farmers, poultry farmers and fox farmers are coming into their own, the rapid growth since its start recently of fox farming on Vancouver Island is the subject of reference.

ROAD TO GARDENS IS IN BAD SHAPE

Frost and Rains Have Caused Serious Damage in Saanich

Renewed efforts are being made to have the road to Butchart's Gardens repaired before the coming Summer in view of the serious damage which has been done to it as a result of the recent frost, followed by the rains. At present, visitors from the district report, the gravel road is in very bad shape and it is doubtful whether the stages will be able to continue going to Tod Inlet. Tod Inlet is now the point from which the workers at the Bamberton Cement Plant leave for the city.

Through Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, the Provincial Government has agreed to pay fifty per cent of the cost of paving the one mile of road, and in view of the heavy expenditure for gravel used on the road it is argued that it would be economy to proceed with the work. The raising of the remaining portion of the road, which is used by some of the residents in that area that in view of the many tourists and people from Victoria, the municipal roads of the city should bear a proportion of the cost.

BANDIT SUSPECTS ELUDED POLICE AT BELLINGHAM

Seattle, Jan. 2.—At least four of the men suspected as the Nanaimo bandit who escaped arrest by Bellingham police and a deputy sheriff and later by deputies from Everett, Sheriff Al. Callahan of Whatcom County said today.

The men were in Bellingham the morning of the 19th," said the sheriff. "The night before a light truck and a touring car, each carrying three men, were seen re-opening an old logging road that leads to the beach."

"It was about a half-mile below Wildcat Cove Beach, 12:30 or so, that the truck pulled out. On the way home I met the truck and car, turned and followed them to the Samish Road. I passed the truck, but ahead of me again. Instead the truck followed me and I stopped, got out and saw two men in the truck. The driver was T. H. Johnson, now arrested at Seattle, and the other was 'Red' who was with me at the time I did not know of the Nanaimo bank robbery."

He—Do you remember when we met in the revolving door?"

"Bright Young Thing—Yes, that's the way we started going around together, wasn't it?"

WAS PROPRIETOR OF OLD BIRD HOTEL

Levi B. Van Decar, Well-known Old-timer, Died Last Night

Formerly proprietor of the old Bird Hotel, at one time the leading hostelry in the city, Levi Bates Van Decar passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital last evening at the age of seventy-five years.

A native of Waterford, New York, Mr. Van Decar as a young man spent some years in Montana and Alberta coming West in 1874. He was attracted by the commercial possibilities of Victoria and for many years successfully ran the old Bird Hotel, at the corner of Broad and View streets on the site now occupied by David Spencer Limited. His geniality made him a popular host and many old-time residents of the city as well as travelers who sojourned at the hotel will learn with regret of his passing.

In 1921 Mr. and Mrs. Van Decar celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding which took place in Romeo, Mich. in 1874, with a special gathering at the Wilkinson Road Methodist Church. They have two sons and two sons. Funeral arrangements will be announced pending the arrival of a son from the East.

OPPORTUNITY FOR DEBT SETTLEMENT

London, Jan. 2.—Here is a rare chance of settling one for all the problem that has vexed the world since peace was declared and stood in the way of the economic recovery of Europe, says The London Morning Post in commenting upon a communication, which according to its Washington correspondent, has been made to the United States with regard to settlement of the French war debt.

The correspondent's statement, which is the subject of a big type, is to the effect that Great Britain has assured Washington that it does not object to the United States granting specially indulgent terms to France in repaying her debt, as for example, an indefinite moratorium, a lower rate of interest and more prolonged terms for repayment than allowed Great Britain, only insisting that whatever payments France makes to the United States shall be shared part passed by Britain.

"Clearly a new situation has been created," says The Post, "and public opinion in this country will give the Baldwin Government the highest credit for the conception of such a bold and such an appealing stroke of policy, for if the United States recognizes our generosity, France will be no ungrateful of the assistance we shall have been able to render in her necessity."

It is stated in official circles there has been no official communication with regard to the French debts such as the Post adduces, but it is not denied such a proposal has been made to Washington unofficially.

IN LINE WITH POLICY

It is noted that the proposal printed by The Post is in line with the statement made by Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons on December 10, and with the general British policy on the settlement of debts and for European rehabilitation. The British Government would be willing to enter into any agreement with the French Government which might result from this cooperation, it is pointed out.

Officials neither confirm nor deny the suggestion that the proposal will be presented in Washington by Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, and Sir Alan Anderson, a director of the bank, who went to the United States recently on a mission, the purpose of which the official world here has declined to discuss, but which is reported to have connection with Inter-allied debt.

YOUR HEALTH

NERVOUSNESS IS ONE CAUSE OF SPASMODIC ASTHMA

By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.

Anything that interferes with the action of the heart or freedom in breathing is sure to be alarming to the victim and his friends. We expect the heart and lungs to do their work without thought on our part and certainly without conscious effort.

When breathing becomes labored and especially when every breath is taken after a struggle, we find the sufferer in an agony both physical and mental. This is what happens in a severe attack of asthma.

This disease has been well named "spasmodic asthma." It comes in spasms and violent ones at that. You go to bed feeling fine. In the middle of the night you awaken with the feeling that you are smothering.

In a short time the breathing becomes more difficult. The face grows pale. Sweating and prostration follow. All the symptoms grow worse until the spasms suddenly pass off and breathing becomes normal. Perhaps a fit of coughing ends the immediate attack.

In all cases of spasmodic or bronchial asthma, there is a foundation of nervousness. It cannot be said to be a hysterical affection, but in all probability there is an underlying disturbance of the nervous system. Perhaps the victim has had pneumonia or some other ailment. Recovery is slow and pretty soon there is a growing conviction that death is not far removed. Now we have all the makings for an attack of spasmodic asthma.

There are other cases that are dependent on digestive disorders. Indigestion, constipation and all the ills accompanying chronic dyspepsia may have much to do with the asthmatic attacks.

They are also common in intestinal disturbances which have gas formation and distension of the abdomen as symptoms.

Attention to the general health is the first thing to be considered in seeking relief. The stomach and intestines must be made to work normally.

A drink of strong coffee or spirits may relieve the immediate attack. Inhalations of steam and getting into a hot bath will help. Fumes from burning blotting paper which has been saturated with saltpeter will give relief in many cases.

OFFICIAL 'AT HOME' ATTRACTED MANY CALLERS YESTERDAY

Over Six Hundred Attended Reception at Government House

The genial custom of an interchange of good wishes for the New Year was observed at a number of official and semi-official receptions held in the city yesterday afternoon; the reception in most cases being confined to guests of the male sex. The custom is an old-established one and takes precedence of any other function of the "New Year's Day" and many hundreds of citizens seized the opportunity of exchanging with officials the greetings of the season. About six hundred callers visited the Government House where His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was "at home." Major Selden Humphreys and Mr. R. H. B. Ker were in attendance and the guests were announced by Mr. H. J. S. Musket. After the formal reception refreshments were served in the dining-room. In the morning His Honor paid a call on the Royal Naval Barracks, where he visited the officers' mess, and the petty officers' mess. Later he went to the H.M.C.S. Patricia, being received by Engineer Commander Clarke. His final visit in the morning was to the officers of Work Point Barracks, where he was received by Brigadier-General J. M. Ross. Following the reception at Government House, His Honor visited the officers of the 10th Battalion, Canadian Scottish, where he was greeted by Colonel Urquhart, and later received by Colonel F. A. ### WELSH CHRISTMAS PARTY ENJOYABLE

Cymrodorion Society Entertained Children With Tree and Gifts

The Cymrodorion Society held its fourth annual Christmas tree for the children of members last evening at the Foresters' Hall, the affair proving an even greater success than its predecessors. About seventy-five children, with an equal number of adults, attended the party and thoroughly enjoyed the attractive programme.

A beautiful tea was served to the kiddies at 6 o'clock, the adults sitting down later. The hall was beautifully decorated with seasonal greenery and flowers and a number of mottos in Welsh adorned the walls. The huge Christmas tree with its pretty decorations was laden with parcels and Santa Claus, in the person of Robert Thomas, required the assistance of the secretary, David Evans, to distribute the many gifts to the little people. The refreshments were conveyed by Messias Bricker, Williams, Lewis and Morgan.

After the ceremony by Santa Claus a programme was given by the children. Maurice Thomas, president, taking the chair. The items, which would have done credit to much older performers, included the following: Quartette, the Messias Lewis and Williams; recitations, Alice Mason, Iria Evans, David Evans, Glyn Jones; solo, Clifford Thomas, Collis Lewis, Miriam Williams and Marjorie Lewis, Trevor and Gwyneth Lewis; duet, May Lewis and Miriam Williams; piano numbers, Glynys Kinsey, Percy Chandler, and selections by the Victoria Junior Welsh Choir, with J. C. Williams conducting. Mrs. M. M. Williams officiated as accompanist. The evening concluded with dancing.

AMERICANS AID SULGRAVE MANOR

Colonial Dames Raise Maintenance Fund of $100,000

New York, Jan. 1.—The ancestral home in England of George Washington, Sulgrave Manor, in Northamptonshire, will henceforth be maintained and preserved by the income of a fund of $100,000 raised in this country by the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America.

In making this announcement, Mrs. Joseph R. Lamar, national president of the society, explained that the organization was directed, under the terms of its constitution, to preserve and restore buildings connected with the early history of the United States. Before the world war it sent $3,000 to England to restore the manor.

Committees were organized to collect this sum of money in forty states and the District of Columbia, and all worked under the national committee, of which Mrs. William Adams Brown of New York, was chairman.

The sum desired was fully subscribed, and will shortly be placed in the hands of permanent trustees. Already the income is going forward to England, there to be expended for the physical care and preservation of the house whence came the ancestors of Washington, and the gardens and grounds surrounding it.

The greater part of the $100,000 was given by the Dames themselves, but generous aid was also received from the public. Not a dollar has been de-

That Kruschen Feeling

"London Bridge" (New Style)

Be original! Why, asks Grandpa, should we keep on doing the same old things in the same old way? Strike out a new line of your own. Though hitherto you may have been inclined to take the little things of life too seriously, it's time to start — to set about enjoying yourself and making others happy.

Now is the time to make that start. Don't let the "festive season" depart, and then return to your old mode of living. Make the jolly and good fellowship a permanent feature of your life. Make the habit of smiling a daily habit — it's easy with the aid of the "little daily dimful."

Every day you slip into your breakfast cup of coffee or tea as much of the Kruschen powder as will cover a ten cent piece. At the time you hardly know you're taking it, because it's quite tasteless; but it isn't long before you notice the difference.

Each tiny pinch is a perfect blend of the six salts that are essential to the well-being of your body. The daily dimful gently reminds your eliminating organs of their daily duty. All the waste matter that has been permitted to clog and poison your inside is surely expelled. New, refreshed blood is sent gloriously coursing through your every vein. You feel fit to the finger-tips with a tingling vitality that you've never known before.

Start life anew to-morrow, in the Kruschen way. You can get 100 doses — nearly a six months' supply of "that Kruschen feeling" — from any druggist for 75c. Buy a bottle to-day.

"LOVES OF MARY QUEEN OF SCOTS" SHOWN AT COLISEUM

One of the most important pictures produced for the British Film Weeks was "The Loves of Mary Queen of Scots." It is marked by an intense realism which adds immensely to its effect.

Many of the scenes in which the celebrated queen lived her tempestuous life figure in the production, including Holyrood Palace.

Gerald Ames, the Bothwell of the picture, is the amateur fencing champion, and shows his skill in numerous incidents, while the other actors who took part in the stirring fights had special lessons in fencing.

For the attack on, and capture of the queen, hundreds of Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders were engaged.

The same spirit of realism was carried into other parts of the picture. For instance, the twenty different dresses worn by Fay Compton as Mary were all specially designed by Mr. Herbert Norris, well known for his work in connection with the Winchester Pageant, the Shakespeare Ball, etc.

Two of them were studied from famous pictures of the queen.

"The Loves of Mary Queen of Scots" is not merely a chapter of history, it is a thrilling love drama of one of the most remarkable and picturesque characters who ever lived, and has been truly described as "One of the most beautiful films ever made."

As such it will be immensely enjoyed by men, women and children alike, and is an example of the best the British studios can achieve when they set out to do a really big thing, it is eminently a film to be seen.

The picture is being screened at Coliseum this week.

"Peter Pan" rouses great interest at Dominion all week.

All the children who appear in the cast of the Paramount picture, "Peter Pan," adapted from the sensational novel and play by J. M. Barrie, have been taught the secret of flying. This is best explained by stating it is one of the many effects obtained by special Pomeroy who assisted Herbert Brenon on the production, which will be the feature all week at the Dominion.

"The secret," says "Peter Pan," otherwise Betty Bronson, "is to think beautiful thoughts."

In the scene where "Peter" teaches the three Darling children how to fly, Herbert Brenon, who produced the picture for Paramount, asked each child to express in words just what "beautiful thoughts" they had while trying to fly.

Betty Bronson, who plays the title role, said her mind was with what the orchestra was playing at the moment, "The Swan Song" from "Lohengrin."

Mary Brian, who plays "Wendy," said she was thinking of the "The Cat and the Fiddle" Christie Comedy "Stay Single"

"PETER PAN" ROUSES GREAT INTEREST AT DOMINION ALL WEEK

Indirectly, his picture criticism led to his later association with D. W. Griffith, his meeting and work with Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, and finally the suggestion by Mr. Fairbanks that Associated Authors take over his plans for screening an adaptation of "The Talisman."

"BLOSSOM TIME" AT ROYAL THURSDAY

No musical play presented during the present generation attracted such unanimous praise as was accorded "Blossom Time," the Franz Schubert opera, when it received its local premiere last season. Its return engagement at the Royal, one night, Thursday, January 8, should be the nucleus of a continuous ovation of appreciation on the part of the exacting theatre-going classes who are satisfied only with the ultra in their amusements. And while "Blossom Time" is certain to satisfy these sticklers for the best, its appeal is universal, for it contains all those elements that are desirable in plays of this character. The life and romance of the great composer, Franz Schubert, form a basis for a fascinating book, to which compositions written by Schubert himself have been adapted in a most fascinating manner. There are no less than twenty musical numbers in the play that express the highest achievements of the great composer, and all are written in a most natural and attractive manner in developing the interesting narrative. And so, what with an absorbing story, melodies that fascinate and elevate, stage settings and costumes that delight the eye, and the splendid New York Theatre cast, "Blossom Time" is indeed again welcome.

OPEN HOUSE AT Y.M.C.A.

Visitors Entertained With Gymnastic Displays; Musical Programme

As in past years the directors and staff of the Y.M.C.A. were hosts yesterday at their annual "open house" to a large number of members and friends of the association. Dr. M. W. Thomas, president of the association, and other directors received the guests in the main lobby, which had been decorated for the occasion.

An interesting gymnastic display was put on by the Schoolboys Leaders' Corps, who drew generous applause for their pyramids and mat drill. The Senior Leaders' Corps gave a fine exhibition of parallel bar and side horse work, the boys doing their numbers to music. Some very clever tumbling was done by the "Tumbling Kings" organization, the junior and intermediate members put on diving and swimming exhibitions in the swimming pool.

Through the kindness of P. A. Raper, and the assistance of the Navy League the Boys' Naval Brigade Band provided a fine concert in the gymnasium in the evening. The boys under the leadership of Albert Rumsby gave a fine programme.

Under the leadership of Major W. H. Watts the "Carry On" orchestra, assisted by Mrs. A. Dowell, gave a fine musical programme.

Advances of Music Seen Everywhere

By GEORGE J. DYKE

During some past Winter seasons the music columns of The Times have pointed out and keenly advocated the establishment in the Capital City, of this divine and joyful organization, the Symphony Orchestra.

With the advent of another year the appeal is again made. Its importance, worthiness, and local influences merit the strongest consideration and attention of all living in the city, a city well known for its past splendid musical achievements, and its tradition in the realms of art and culture.

Music, to-day, perhaps, as never before, is in the minds of all people. Certainly, in no period since the active musical times of "Bluff King Hall," and the good old days of the Elizabethans and the early Stuart composers, has music witnessed such activity as has been manifested during recent years. City managers, professional and business men to-day know more than ever before what the music virtues are to any community. Examples of what can be accomplished in even fairly large cities are not far to seek. Look, for instance, towards the cities of the south of us, and note the progress made in the realm of music there.

It has been astonishing, prodigious. Indeed only those who can go back half a century can have any idea of the enormous growth and development made in musical knowledge and culture in the American States. Fifty years ago, symphony organizations were only to be found in New York, while to-day the multiplication of musical clubs, societies, and orchestras is colossal. It is not an exaggeration to say that the time is not far off when America will be accounted one of the most musical countries on the globe.

Europe, of course, has for centuries been the foundation of the world's university school of music. In Great Britain, the music of England's natural Mozart, Henry Purcell. So in this re-awakening it is no wonder that those who have given much attention to the art of music, and the relation to the life of the community, and are looking continually onward and forward, should, in their very eagerness, endeavor to create a greater musical spirit and encourage better music conditions in the city in which they live. Their fellow-citizens should be made familiar with the progress of music that is taking place elsewhere on all sides, for, after all, it must be naturally supposed and expected that the grocer, the baker, the bootman, or the department manager, who, however being musical themselves, are not always familiar with all these musical doings, and, therefore, the department manager, who is actively engaged in music and its achievements to point out the many advantages to the business man especially when there is plenty of music in their midst, and intelligent recreation provided in which music has the leading role.

Take another example. One of England's foremost seaside resorts is Bournemouth. Three years ago we pointed out what this famous resort was accomplishing in music, and the same example it offered to Victoria citizens.

We then said, what Bournemouth has done, so Victoria can do. Bournemouth, as we all know, is one of the foremost municipalities in England. The authorities of that well-known seaside resort have for or its visitors, especially maintaining a first class permanent municipal orchestra, and in arranging high class concerts and entertainments. The people of Bournemouth are unanimous with all things musical. In fact they may be described as shareholders in a great local business, which is the prosperity of the town. The community recognizes the fact that their city owes a great deal to the efforts of its authorities in the matter of thus providing music for them, and in supporting its introduction, speak glowingly of the results and advantages as an economic venture.

Its place, and its inclusion in its business establishments are added attractions to the enterprise of the city. The scheme for the construction of a new pavilion, estimated at $500,000 to $600,000, is supported by everybody in Bournemouth. An up-to-date meeting place, including concert halls, ballrooms, reading rooms, etc., in fact all the accessories of a foreign casino, without gambling.

The leading spirit in this project has been Dan Godfrey, the musical director of Bournemouth, who continually and optimistically has pointed out the necessity of such a pavilion to the future prosperity of this resort and what a good asset and a paying concern it would prove. Mr. Godfrey felt sure that the trading community would benefit, and he felt that the business man would make some sacrifice in order to maintain the present strength of the Municipal Orchestra and its high-grade policy of the past. The Chamber of Trade there is energetically pursuing a policy along these lines, and its president and others all bear tribute to the value of music to the pleasure resort. What then Bournemouth can accomplish, so can Victoria with its similar spirit and get-together principles, which have been demonstrated on more than one occasion, Victoria, without a shadow of doubt, should fall into line with other seaside resorts, and this vital and important matter should be included in the schedule of our Chamber of Commerce, our Rotary and other clubs, and in the deliberations of our city managers.

INVESTIGATION NEARS END IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Jan. 2.—Counsel for the petitioners for the Montreal police investigation which has been conducted for the last two months by Mr. Justice Coderre, are planning to combine churches, universities and hospitals in a final drive against Montreal's segregated district and vice system generally. The sessions are to reopen on Monday next. Counsel say the evidence may be completed by Thursday next.

Rev. Adelard Dugre and Rev. P. Perrier and other noted theologians of the Catholic Church are among those to be called. Canon Allan P. Shatford, of the Church of St. James the Apostle, Sir Arthur Currie, Principal of McGill University and Dr. A. K. Hayward of the Montreal General Hospital are expected to be asked for their views of an open vice area. The Catholic theologians are expected to give the church's record of opinions of St. Augustin, St. Thomas Aquinas and other fathers in relation to vice. Recorder Geoffrion's quotations recently given from works of these fathers in support of his policy of toleration are not considered more than extracts.

Scoring Record For Season For Cougars

Vancouver Maroons Wilted Before Combination Play of Victoria and Eleven Goals Sailed Into Net; Cougars Square Account of 1916 When Maroons Beat Victoria Here 16-4; Work of Forwards Is Great While Vancouver Admits Holmes Has Their "Goat"

Vancouver, Jan. 2.—Masters of the art of combination, Lester Patrick's Victoria Cougars visited the Vancouver Maroons at the Arena on New Year's afternoon and sweeping up and down the ice in three-man rushes, rained shot after shot at Poor Charlie Reid and finally called it a day after they had sagged the net eleven times out of a total of thirteen goals during the session. The Islanders were just given a nice workout for the local defence opened up like a sieve and let the Cougars race through at random. Duncan was given very little support and when he decided to amble up and down again, the invaders had an easy time at the opposite end. Reid should by no means be held responsible for the loss although he might have blocked some of the eleven. In nearly every instance, the winners succeeded in rounding the defence, shooting from close range.

Edmonton Sticks Out In Front By Beating Tigers

Calgary Champions Went Under in Hard Fast Game; Regina Beat Saskatoon

Newell and Scott Start Fight Which Brings in Both Teams And Some Fans

Edmonton, Jan. 2.—By reason of a 6-3 victory over the Calgary Tigers on New Year's afternoon, the Edmonton Eskimos retained possession of first place in the Western Canada League standing. Outside of the first five minutes, Edmonton had a distinct margin of the play and from the time that Simpson scored Edmonton's first goal were never in danger. Their combination was quite the best of the season and delighted the crowd that filled the arena to capacity. There was no criticism of Referee Battell's work.

SHOCK TROOPS HELPED

Victoria won undoubtedly through the use of fresh shock troops throughout the afternoon. With Hart, Elmer and Meeking to fall back upon, Lester Patrick made sure of the game by bringing on his reserves at regular intervals. These men are far superior to the "extras" of the home team and showed it in their play.

ESKS IN GOOD CONDITION

Checking was close throughout, but the Eskimos' defence was enabled them to outdistance the Tigers and the locals seemed to have a considerable edge in condition. Kears, Simpson, Briden, Frapp and Stacey turned in top-notch ramos for the locals, while for the Tigers, Hal Winkler was the hero. His work was little short of miraculous. Next to Winkler was the nimble Harry Oliver, who shone all the time he was on the ice, and veteran Rusty Crawford, who was going like a skat.

NEW YORK CHURCH SHELTERS JOBLESS—As the mercury did a nose dive in New York, Urban Ledoux, better known as "Mr. Zero," led 200 of the city's jobless and homeless to the Camp Memorial Congregational Church, where they camped for the night. The trustees of the church who had decided on closing it due to a dwindling congregation are now expected to revise their decision. The photo shows some of the men sleeping in the pews.

DISCOVERS REMEDY—Dr. W. A. Coffin of Toronto whose discovery of "lymphaticostomy" is acclaimed as a treatment for peritonitis.

BENNY'S ONLY GOING 125.9 MILES AN HOUR!—New speed records were chalked up at the opening of the racing season on the Culver City, Calif. track. This picture shows Benny Hill, who eventually won, catching up with Ralph De Palma, while Tommy Milton in No. 5 is leading the field. Benny had his boat open to just 125.9 miles an hour on the final lap.

Our Own Gallery of Tintypes

This young lady can tell you anything you want to know about skeletons. She's Dr. Mary Lucas Keene, who has been appointed to the chair of anatomy in the London (Royal Free Hospital) School of Medicine for Women. It is said that she is the only woman professor of anatomy in the world. Naturally she is not the least bit timid about having the head of an ancient caveman right at her elbow.

THE KIDDIES' SPECIAL—Andre Citroen, the French "Henry Ford," has designed toy autos that are exact duplicates of his larger car. And to prove that they would run, he held a kiddies' race on the Bois de Boulogne in Paris. The photo shows the start of the race.

LEARNING TABLE MANNERS—This baby is being raised on concrete. That is, he is being taught to eat hay from the concrete floor of his home in the Memphis, Tenn. Zoo. The infant is the fifth to bless the union of "Venus" and "Adonis." Venus is the big hippopotamus in the picture.

BEAUTY HINT—If you want a perfect cupid's bow, and you are not so clever at hand work, just apply this newly-invented stencil that has just made its appearance in New York, and it is only a question of seconds easily and successfully to apply the rouge.

MARIONETTES FALL FOR IT, TOO!—Even the marionettes have fallen for the crossword puzzle craze. Here two belonging to Sue Hastings of New York are seen trying to find the missing word for their new comedy.

Gaze upon one of the country's champion tourists, Rudolph Ganz by name. Before he was appointed conductor of the St. Louis Symphony in 1923 Rudolph had made nine tours of the United States and Canada as a concert pianist. Now he takes the entire orchestra on tour and in the past three years has appeared in more than eighty cities in the middle, southern and the southwestern states.

AFTER THRILLS? THEN TRY THIS—If you are looking for thrills, just try aeroplane skiing. Chances are you'll get a lot more than you want. It's the latest sport at St. Jovite, on Lake Tremblant, in the Laurentian Mountains, near Montreal. A plane, flying low, tows men and women on skis or toboggans, at a speed frequently reaching seventy miles an hour.

NOT COMING—Queen Marie of Ru. 'A, whose projected trip to United States has been called off.

ONTARIO'S BOY PREMIER—Gordon Lapp, elected premier of Ontario by members of the fourth older boys' parliament of the province.

HEROINE—Claudia Best, fourteen-year-old Kansas City school-girl, suffered a broken cheek bone when she darted in front of a speeding automobile and saved the lives of two children. So the Kansas City Safety Council has awarded her its first certificate for heroism.

EIGHT DIE AS CAR DROPS IN RIVER—Eight persons were killed and seven injured when a combination cafe and observation car on a Soo Line train plunged into the Chippewa River from a trestle near Chippewa Falls, Minn.

One glance at this fellow and you might say that he's H. G. Wells, or Ibsen or Balzac or one of those writing men. But he's not. He's Gypsy Smith, the noted evangelist who is now driving the devil out of London. He sent a telegram to King George, who answered it wishing Gypsy's mission "God-speed." That's certainly the kind of speed a mission should have.

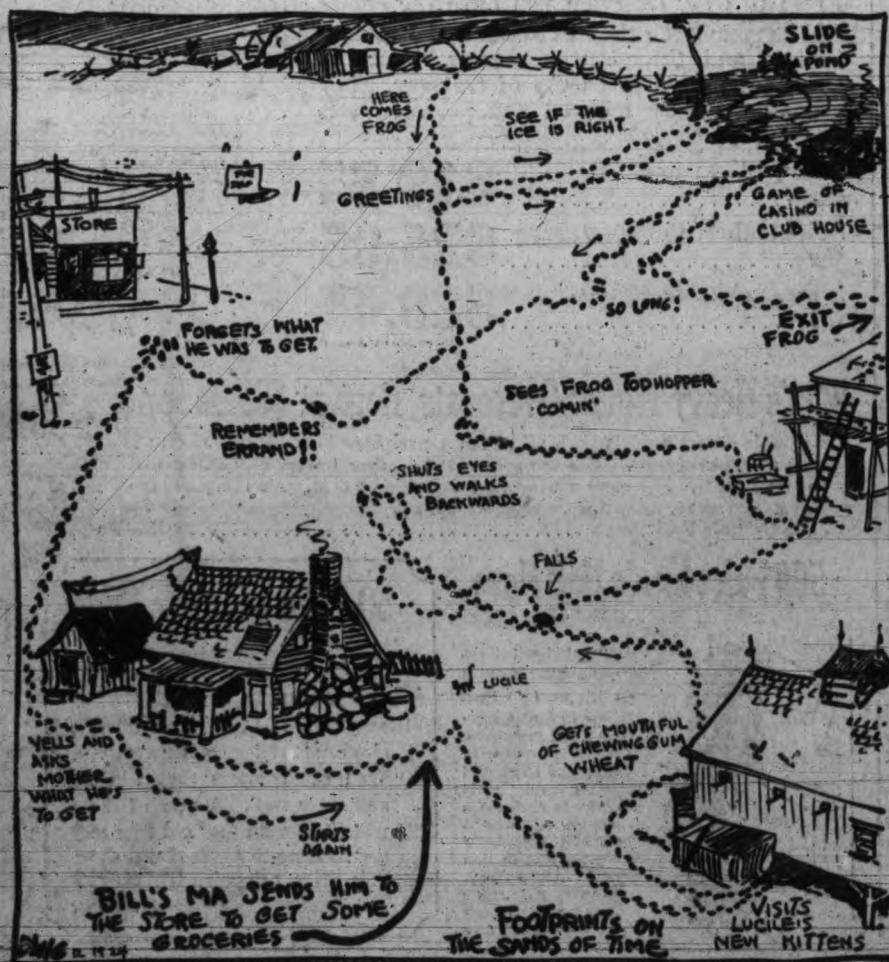

This picture of Billie Burke, the better half of Flo Ziegfeld, was taken when she held her new auto license plates in one hand and the collar of her pet dog in the other. We feared that that might be press agent stuff, so we cut out the dog and the license plates and present this picture of Billie to show what she looks like on the street and without the usual make-up of an actress.

MRS. GOMPERS—Mrs. Samuel M. Gompers, widow of the late labor leader, was cut off with only the "minimum" amount required by law in her husband's will. She says she is both "surprised and hurt" by his action. Mrs. Gompers is conferring with attorneys now relative to starting proceedings to break the document.

WHEN BRITAIN OPENS NEW PARLIAMENT—When the new British Parliament opens there is great pomp and show, for the King goes in person to read his opening address to the House of Lords. This shows the King's gilded coach arriving at Westminster at the recent opening of Parliament.

Don't think this man's a detective or police sergeant, even though you've seen many who resemble him. He's Dr. T. de Gerin, a celebrated French physician who has come to America to demonstrate to the doctors of Canada and the United States his treatment for pneumonia. Behind him he has a record of treating 600 pneumonia cases in the past few years without a death resulting.

Cross-word puzzles have pushed the tongue-twister fad into the background, but by way of relief from your regular meanderings through the horizontals and verticals see if you can find a name more difficult than this one to pronounce—Wladislaw St. Raymond. After you can say it thirty times a minute look him up and you'll find he's from Poland and won the Nobel Prize for 1924 as a writer.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

STOCKS CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

New York, Jan. 2.—(By R. P. Clark & Co.)—Activity was rather pronounced to-day and a large turnover recorded. Dealings were pretty well distributed and the general gain of prices averaged higher than Wednesday's close.

The many yearly reviews and forecasts, and particularly those emanating from leaders of finance and industry, suggest a very prosperous year in general business in 1925. Of course, with these ideas very prevalent they cannot help but exert a rather pronounced effect on sentiment, and this is best demonstrated by the manner in which outside interests seem to be buying securities.

A reduction of output for the week as pointed out by the American Petroleum Institute figures stimulated a fresh demand for the petroleum shares to-day. Constructive features in the situation are numerous and it only remains a question as to how far security prices are going to advance at the present time, commensurate with what has already transpired or is expected to transpire in the business world.

New York, Jan. 2.—(By R. P. Clark & Co.)—The Wall Street stock market edition this afternoon says: Stocks started the 1925 journey with a rush which completely disappointed the expectation of many authorities that the early stages of the year would see the general list overwhelmed by profit-taking.

When left to themselves oats dragged and to-day was no exception as there was nothing in wheat to stimulate buying of anything else. The shipping demand was a little better with sales of 110,000 bushels. The receipts are fairly liberal, however.

Winnipeg, Jan. 2.—A flood of profit-taking forced wheat prices downward to-day shortly after the market opened, and a slightly larger offering coming out than the buying power could absorb and at the close, which was showing a slight reaction from the low of the day, May and July were steady and 1 1/2 cents lower respectively.

SERIAL STORY

THE MARRIAGE SCALES

By MILDRED BARBOUR

Copyright 1924, Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York.

"This is charming—but I'm afraid it's high time we were turning back to town!"
The sound of her own voice and its casual sentence, stilled her. The delicious fear which had seized her slowly subsided.
"But to Craig Cullum, just as proud as she, her action was a rebuff and a rebuke. His arms dropped to his sides. Silently he thanked her for restraining him from making a fool of himself, but it was the bitterest moment of his life. He honestly believed that she had dispelled the magic of the moment, deliberately to show him that he must not overstep the barriers of cordial friendship."
With that thought in mind, he hastened to reassure her by adopting the quiet, cheerful manner of which he was capable. It wasn't for nothing that he was hailed one of the finest of the young actors to-day. The role he played on the return ride to town was a perfect bit of histrionics. He chatted away amiably on impersonal subjects, discussed the progress of the pageant chorus, outlined plans for its improvement. He allowed no dangerous silences to creep into the dialogue, and he drove at a fast clip, apparently quite oblivious to the lovely vista of fields and woods in the clear moonlight.
Doris rose to the occasion with all the poise of which her pride was capable. She met his apparent and distinctly worthy crying for. Most of the vexing little problems which brought tears to feminine eyes found Doris with small head bent proudly high, biting her underlip, and forcing a gallant smile to a tremulous mouth.
"But to-night she cried as she hadn't cried in years. She felt that her heart was broken and her pride was trailed in the dust. In that revealing, breathless moment on the river bank she was sure that she must have let Craig Cullum see how it was with her. And he hadn't spoken. The look in his eyes, his impulsive yearning movement toward her—could she have been mistaken? Was it after all only the cheap reaction of a man toward a pretty girl with whom he had been in the twilight of a beautiful Spring evening?"
She couldn't believe it of him, of the man she had come to admire and respect and love. And yet, she asked herself, what other explanation could there be?
There never for a moment occurred to her the real reason for Craig Cullum's not telling her that he adored her and wanted her for his wife. So accustomed was she to wealth and social position that both were as rudimentary as living and breathing.
She was totally without vanity or snobbery over two assets which had been handed down to her at birth and toward which she had no sense of personal accomplishment. Her money meant to her nothing more than a means of existing comfortably and daintily and providing generously for others less fortunate than herself. She mingled freely with poor people and felt no different from them. As for her social position, she had turned over the task of doing

An unusually lively and progressive day may be forecast on the basis of the benefic positions of major planets. With Sol seint Saturn by mutual direction, there should be steady and substantial growth in business and in money, a prediction fortified by the lunar trine to Jupiter, making for expansion and increase of substance. Mercury trine Luna also assists to possible favorable developments in all commercial transactions as well as the professions. It is urged, however, that care be taken in making changes or journeys.
Those whose birthday it is are under excellent augurs for a lively and prosperous year. New contracts, speculation and investments should be blessed with substantial growth and satisfactory financial returns. Care should be exercised in the matter of change and travel. A child born on this day may be expected to be talented, versatile, ambitious, steady and industrious—native qualities, which may promote its success and advance its line positions, if instilled early in life.

A SETTING FOR LOVERS

When the door had closed behind Jervis, Doris turned swiftly to Craig Cullum and laid her hand impulsively on his arm.
"Please pardon him!" she looked up at him. "He doesn't mean to be rude, really."
Cullum looked down into the lovely upturned face and his anger melted away. He laid his hand on her fingers momentarily here and there and the touch thrilled him.
"I can't blame him for hating to leave you with another man. He's very much in love with you."
"Nonsense!" Doris withdrew her hand, flushing a trifle. "I've known Dick all my life. I'm just a habit with him; a sentimental habit, if you like." She sighed.
"I dare say I'll marry him in the end, if everybody keeps on expecting me to."
Words, eager, tempestuous, rushed to his lips—and were checked there. At the same time his heart descended like lead in his breast.
"But girls like her didn't marry for any other reason. All the sunlight and beauty went out of the day for Cullum."
But when she rejoined him in the drawing-room twenty minutes later, looking cool and sweet in a pale green motorizing costume with a hat composed entirely of faintly colored violets, and when she looked up at him with the engaging candour of a child and said: "I'm so glad you thought of taking me to ride this afternoon," his gloom vanished.
The day was beautiful and joyous once more.
They drove far out into the country on by-roads neglected by Sunday traffic, where shady trees overhead and hedges were swayed with honeysuckle. Fields of clover and young wheat stretched away to the horizon line on either side of them and meadow larks and bobolinks caroled joyously as they flashed through the sunlight overhead. Doris knew of a quiet old place beside an abandoned mill where they could secure an excellent country dinner, unobscured by noisy Sunday tourists. It stood on the banks of a tiny stream, called by courtesy a river, whose banks were sheltered by willow and alders, and were joined at the narrowest point by a quaint arched rustic bridge. She said it looked like a bit of a Japanese landscape.
Craig Cullum would have driven through the gates of Gehenna, if Doris had directed. Her companionship made an involuntary movement toward her. The hour, the solitude, the girl he loved—it was almost too much for his self control. His arms half lifted to crush her to him—before he remembered.
In that moment Doris had sprung up, with a deeper crimson in her cheeks. She had said, half-frightened by the emotional intensity of the moment:

PRIDE TRIUMPHS

The minutes passed while Doris sat dreaming on the log beside the quiet little river wrapped in its twilight peace, and Craig Cullum watched her with his heart in his eyes.
Finally, with a start, Doris looked up, met his glance, read there something that set her heart to beating tumultuously and brought the swift color to her cheeks. Her eyes widened, her red lips parted.

In her love for Craig Cullum she had been quite blind to the fact that her own former attitude toward stage people was shared by the members of her world to a large extent—and that Cullum was quite cognizant of it. It is a month or two ago, someone had told Doris that to-night she would be crying her heart out for love of an actor, she would have laughed at him to scorn. She, like others of her world, had grieved, with the usual shrug and uplifted brows, the story blazoned ever so often in the newspapers of another rich man's son grabbed off by an actress. When occasionally it was announced that an actor had married a prominent woman, there was not quite so much notoriety, but the obvious worldly inference was that she must have been rich, or was otherwise one of those child-of-creatures in their second childhood.
With this line of reasoning again running like a scarlet thread the drab haze of her tears, Doris, steeled by her pride, came to a resolve, which she proceeded to put into execution on the morrow.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Buddy's Cabbage

Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate
(By Howard R. Garis)

Buddy was the name of a cute little animal boy with whom Uncle Wiggily sometimes fell in love. Buddy's other name was Pigg, spelled with a capital P. If you please, for the Pigg family was very particular. Perhaps this was because they were griliches, pigs and not matter how like Curly and Floppy Twinstail.
Not that Buddy was proud, or anything like that, for he wasn't. If ever he had started to get proud, Curly or Floppy would call to him: "You haven't any tail! You haven't any tail!"
And, indeed, Buddy had no tail—the only kind and he didn't know you spell the name—that has no tail. Sometimes this made Buddy very sad, for he wanted a tail such as other animal boys had. But there was no danger of Buddy ever getting too proud and stuck up, for, if he did, as I have told you, Curly or Floppy would squeal: "You haven't any tail! You haven't any tail!"
The one thing that Buddy wanted for Christmas was a tail, but he didn't get it because, you see, griliches weren't meant to have tails. And after New Year's, one day, Buddy went over to Uncle Wiggily's holly-stump bungalow and said: "Uncle Wiggily, I have to go to the store to get my mother a head of cabbage. Will you please come with me?"
"Why are you afraid to go after cabbage alone?" laughed the bunny. "No," whistled Buddy (for griliches have a way of whistling when they talk). "I'm not squeaky afraid but I'd like to have you come with me."
"All right," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "I'll come. I may get an adventure out of it. Why, if my husband thought you wanted an introduction to me he'd knock your head off."

find him a tail. That's why he wanted to go after cabbage with the bunny uncle. But as they hopped along, after buying the cabbage, no tails did they see. Or, at least, if they saw tails, they were all on other animals, who wanted their own tails. So Buddy had none.

But, all of a sudden, he pulled Uncle Wiggily's paw, and whispered as he pointed:
"There's a fine, big tail sticking out of the bushes. Uncle Wiggily, maybe that's a loose tail, that no one wants, and I can't have it."
The bunny rabbit looked and saw a tall like dusting brush.
"That tail is much too large for a little griliche pig like you, Buddy," said Uncle Wiggily.
"Aha, anyhow!" suddenly barked a harsh voice, "you can't have this tail!"

Out of the bushes popped the Fuzzy Fox.

It belongs to ME!" With that out of the bushes popped the Fuzzy Fox. "So you want my tail, do you?" he howled. "Well, just for that I'll take your ears!"
He jumped up and was just going to bite Uncle Wiggily, but all of a sudden, Buddy took the cabbage he was carrying and threw it as hard as he could at the Fox.
"Plink!" the cabbage head hit the Fox's head.
"Oh, gazinka!" howled the Fox, as the cabbage bounced off his head, fell to the ground and then bounced up, hitting him again. "Oh, how funny I feel!" Then with his sore head away he ran, nibbling no ears that day.
"I'm glad I had the cabbage head, even if I haven't any tail," laughed Buddy as he picked up the sauer kraut vegetable.
"Yes," agreed the bunny gentleman, "it saved my ears." And if the Police Dog will wag his tail at the milkman's horse and not try to arrest him for racing with a jitney bus, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Brighteyes Pigg.

NEW AND AMENDING BY-LAWS WANTED

Council Likely to Have Busy Time With Overhaul of Civic Legislation

A number of by-laws promise to engage the attention of the City Council in the near future. Reference was made yesterday to the proposed wiring by-law to govern the change in the rule of the road. Though that alteration is now thoroughly incorporated into the habits of the people it has taken some time to bring all the municipal regulations into conformity therewith.

While the city is checking up on its own legislation, the enactments of the Legislature affecting Victoria alone have been steadily piling up, altered and amended, and recinded from session to session. The necessity for some consolidation of the laws affecting Victoria becomes more imperative annually. From 1913 to 1923 there were seven private acts affecting the city, modifying in notable details the general municipal regulations applicable to the whole Province.

WHAT IRELAND IS DOING TO FACE RURAL PROBLEMS

Representative of Irish Co-operative Movement is on Coast

Charles C. Riddell, assistant secretary of the Irish Agricultural Organizations Society, has reached the Coast to speak on agricultural co-operation.

It was stated on behalf of the Department of Agriculture at the recent British Columbia potato show that a representative of the movement would shortly come to this Province to meet men interested in agricultural and horticultural development and marketing conditions.

Speaking to the New Westminster Board of Trade on Monday night Mr. Riddell stated that the propaganda in Ireland was purely philanthropic and was assisted by the Government. Ireland is only one-twelfth the area of British Columbia. A good description was made of the conditions in the West, many of the people had literally to scratch a living and the poverty is such that people in British Columbia cannot realize. Yet the population is little less than 5,000,000 and they had many of the same human problems to face as in British Columbia. Mr. Riddell said.

TAKES CONCRETE FORM

The interchange of views regarding agricultural co-operation throughout the British Empire has at least taken concrete form under the Horace Plunkett Foundation under whose auspices a conference had been held this year at Wembley. On that occasion he heard an address by Premier Dunnington of Saskatchewan, who spoke on the co-operative marketing of the Canadian wheat crop and remarked that the farmers were the only producers who had not a voice in fixing the price they were to receive for their wheat or as to what price the consumers would pay for it. Still, continued Mr. Riddell, considerable advance had been made in recent years. Several systems had been developed between the producer and consumer. The aim is to eliminate the intervening interests which make a profit out of both producer and consumer. Co-operation also means putting the interests of the community above the individual. In Europe the movement toward co-operation had been slowly but surely growing and he said, it would eventually replace capitalism. The ordinary people in England are taking hold of it and there is a strong bond with trade unionism.

CREDITS

Mr. Riddell remarked that farming required facilities for financing and the lack of these had at times retarded the progress of co-operation. Several systems are now in operation throughout Europe and are proving satisfactory. No loans are made except for a reproductive enterprise and they must have moral security. Co-operation in education is also carried on by the Co-operative Union of Great Britain. Its programme includes propaganda literature, lecture and advice. There is also the International Co-operative Alliance and a co-operative press, which publishes three papers in England and Scotland and one in Ireland. Only by organized effort could such advancements be made, he argued.

In Ireland they aim, he said, to market the whole butter and eggs production of the country by co-operation and ultimately to embrace all other produce. They control the production and can deal direct with the English Co-operative wholesale and settle the distribution to the consumer that way. Thus they hoped to bring the producer and consumer face to face.

HISTORY OF MOVEMENT

Mr. Riddell referred to the remarkable activity of co-operation organizations in the war-devastated areas, particularly in the newly-borne states and then he gave a brief review of the history of the movement in Ireland. In its early stages there were many difficulties. The old Nationalists suspected it of being inimical to Home Rule and actively opposed it. Then there were financial difficulties. Now, however, it is an established policy of governments to subsidize co-operative bodies. Speaking of the Irish Agricultural Organizations Society he said it enjoyed the distinction of being the one and only matter in which all Irishmen could meet and agree in a unity of purpose and this, if nothing else, had justified its existence. Now it embraced 444 creameries, 292 agricultural societies, 199 poultry, flax and miscellaneous co-operative societies. In 1923 the total turnover was $42,000,000 and in 1920, $47,000,000. The total membership is 162,344, all farmers. They are now introducing legislation under which it will be an offence against the law to offer dirty or stale eggs for sale, and they hoped to extend restrictions to dirty milk. It is proposed to have a national brand and license for all exports. Ireland's exports in 1922 equalled $1,025,000,000, of which 10 per cent, or $102,500,000, became an important factor in England's breakfast commodities, Mr. Riddell explained.

We believe in a destiny beyond the comprehension of those who see in the word 'Empire' a strong and arrogant power governing a number of humble and vassal States."

The society's literature quotes the views of the Prince of Wales, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir John A. Macdonald, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Sir Robert Borden, Col. Amery (one time Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies), and Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George.

In speaking of the organization O'Donnell said in Toronto: "Native-born Canadians are strangers with their in their home country, while the immigrant allies himself with former arrivals from Europe to secure a foothold, displaying a fraternalism successful and commendable. Canadians are leaving the land of their birth with ideals, the result of experience gained in turning a wilderness into a land of productivity. Their places are being taken by newer people from lands subject in many instances to the ill effects of bigotry and intolerance. Native-born Canadians should assert themselves and assume a position in

Canadian Affairs Now Being Appraised by Others

Mr. O'Donnell said the organization had provided the means by which Canadians of widely different political and religious views could meet on common ground for the advancement of their country. He stated that it aimed to develop a spirit of patriotism, a respect for Canadian ideals and the promotion of unity in Canada to secure a high
