JUBILEE CELEBRATION

In Honor of Archbishop Ryan's Ordination Began at Philadelphia Tuesday.

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—The golden jubilee celebration in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of Archbishop Ryan's ordination began today at the cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, with the celebration of solemn pontifical-mass by the archbishop. The ceremony was attended by eight archbishops, thirty-two bishops, five monsignors and about five hundred priests. Bishop Horstman, of Cleveland, preached the sermon. The jubilee fund presented by the Roman Catholic of the archdiocese amounted to $200,000. It was intended as a personal gift to Archbishop Ryan, but it was devoted to the archdiocesan fund to pay for St. Vincent's orphanage.

TUG ARRIVES SAFELY.

Delayed by Storm, the Protracted Voyage Caused Uneasiness.

Sandusky, Ohio, Sept. 8.—The fishing tug Louise, which it was feared had gone down with more than one hundred passengers in the storm of Lake Erie yesterday, arrived here today from Leamington, Ont. Everybody on board was safe, but very rough weather was encountered. After a terrific struggle with the waves the Louise got into the lee of Pelee island, where she lay several hours until the storm had subsided. Scores of the friends and relatives of those on board the vessel remained on the docks all night in the greatest anxiety.

FLED TO TORONTO.

L. J. Stern, Indicted for Complicity in Alleged Fraudulent Contracts Has Been Located.

Washington, Sept. 8.—A dispatch to the post office department announces that Leopold J. Stern, who was indicted several weeks ago for complicity in alleged fraudulent contracts for furnishing carriers' tickets to the government, has been located at Toronto, Canada. Toronto, Sept. 8.—Mr. Stern refused to be seen when reporters called at his home today. He referred all inquiries to his attorney, Mr. Stern's lawyer said that his client was ready to appear before an extradition judge and prove his innocence, which is interpreted as a declaration that extradition proceedings will be fought to the end, and that he will not leave the city. The attorney said that if an extradition warrant is served, Mr. Stern will at once leave for Washington.

A BIG PARTY OF DELEGATES ARRIVE

THEY ARE NOW THE GUESTS OF VICTORIA

Contingent Numbers About One Hundred and Sixteen—Some of the More Prominent Members.

From the steamer Princess Victoria, when she berthed last evening after her run from the Terminal City there debarked a very distinguished party of visitors who are to-day the guests of the people of this city. They are the delegates to the great gathering of business men recently held in Montreal, and are on tour of the broad Dominion to see for themselves something of the vast potentialities of which they have often read and heard. They have reached the "farthest west" point of their itinerary, Canada's portal to the Pacific, and no effort will be spared to make their experience here as memorable as any in their continent-spanning tour.

About a hundred and sixteen comprised the party which crossed the Gulf on the Princess Victoria. Some of the members remained at different points along the line, among them Hon. Alphonse Desjardins, a member of the Canadian committee of arrangements, who stayed at Winnipeg. Those of the committee who accompanied the delegates to Victoria were A. J. Hodgson, Herbert B. Ames, Alex. McFee and Geo. Hadfield, secretary. A. E. Lalonde of the C. P. R. is representing the big railroad company on the trip. Mr. Lalonde is favorably known to many Victorians, having accompanied Sir Edmund Barton and party on their visit to this city while en route to Australia last year.

Seldom, indeed, has Victoria been treated to any but the choicest brand of "weather" when being honored by a visit from distinguished parties, but this morning was an unfortunate exception from the rule. Although showers fell it did not interfere with the observance of the programme which had been arranged. On arriving yesterday the visitors were received by the Mayor, civic representatives and the reception committee of the Victoria Board of Trade, who escorted them to the Driad and Hotel Davies, where quarters had been secured for them.

This morning the first part of the programme of entertainment was carried out. The tally-ho and numerous carriages conveyed the visitors to the many points of interest, of which the city boasts. The celebrated beach drive was taken in, and the visitors expressed themselves most highly impressed with what they saw. This afternoon it is quite likely that a visit will be paid to Esquimalt, after which the citizens will have an opportunity of meeting the delegates generally at a reception at Government House, where they will be the guests of Lieut.-Governor Sir Henri Joly. This will be in progress until six o'clock.

Last night the members were visited at their hotels by many of the city's most prominent business men, and many an interesting conversation on matters pertaining to trade and the commercial welfare of the country and Empire was held. Some of the visitors proceeded to get acquainted with the "lay of the place," their local itinerary including a visit to the parliament buildings and museum, which had been thrown open to their inspection by the provincial government.

Among the more prominent members of the visiting party is E. J. Gillespie, chairman of the London Chamber of Commerce, who is a member of the firm of Messrs. Carbutt & Co., merchants and exporters to Canada. N. L. Cohen, who seconded the resolution on preferential trade, was formerly a member of the firm of Messrs. Cohen & Sons, stockbrokers, London. He was the originator of the scheme of accumulative consols adopted by the chancellor of the exchequer in 1890, and has taken a prominent part in philanthropic work, especially with regard to the housing of the poor. Lieut.-General Laurie, M. P., who is accompanied by Mrs. Laurie and three daughters, is chairman of the Canadian Trade Section of the London Chamber of Commerce. He is thoroughly acquainted with Canadian conditions, having commanded the militia in Nova Scotia before Confederation, and later on in British Columbia. He was also at one time representative of Shelburne, N. S., in the Dominion parliament, and now represents Pembroke in the Imperial House of Commons. Kenzie B. Murray is secretary of the London Chamber. He was a journalist in his early life, and has written voluminously on trade subjects, etc. Ward Layle represents the Timber Trade Federation of the United Kingdom, of which organization he is vice-president. He is managing director of English Bros. Ltd., timber merchants at Wisbech, and his firm imports largely from Canada. J. S. Jeans represents the British Iron Trade Association, of which he is the general secretary. He is chief partner of Ennand & Co., proprietors of the Iron and Coal Trades Review and other journals. He is president of the Chartered Institute of Secretaries. Price Jones represents the Liverpool Provision Trade Association, Ltd., and his firm is engaged in the import of Canadian provisions and dairy products. Charles Lancaster is a member of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce.

He is a partner in Messrs. Hughes & Lancaster, merchants, engineers and contractors, London, Liverpool, Rangoon and Burmah. He is accompanied by his son, who will settle in Vancouver. Hon. A. McRobert, represents Upper India, and is manager of the Cawnpore Woollen Mills Company. He is a member of the legislative council of the provinces of Agra and Oudh. Hon. M. L. Moss is a barrister of Perth and Fremantle, Western Australia, and a member of the Fremantle Chamber. He is a member of the West Australian cabinet.

Hon. Alphonse Desjardins, who remained at Winnipeg, represents the Montreal Chamber of Commerce. He was mayor of Montreal in 1893, and was minister of militia in Sir Mackenzie Bowell's government, and minister of public works in Sir Charles Tupper's administration. A. J. Hodgson, is president of the Montreal Board of Trade, and chairman of the Canadian Committee of Arrangements for the Congress. He is a member of the firm of Hodgson Bros., exporters of Canadian produce. George Hadfield is secretary of the Montreal Board of Trade. E. F. Slack represents the Canadian press on the tour. He is assistant to the managing editor of the Montreal Gazette.

Herbert B. Ames, who is one of the Canadian committee of arrangements, is no stranger to this city. As a member of the well known firm of Ames, Holden & Co., his name is familiar to mercantile people in probably every community of any importance in the Dominion. "Oh, no, this is not my first trip to your city," he remarked in reply to a query by a Times representative this morning. "I am a taxpayer on property in Victoria, the Ames-Holden building being ours." Neither Mr. Ames nor Mr. Holden is actively associated in the management of the business. They are directors, and of course participate in the meetings of the controlling board. Mr. Ames said today that the visitors were most profoundly impressed with the immense grain production of the Northwest, particularly around Brandon, where they had ample opportunity for inspection. Tomorrow the party will be the guests of the provincial government on an excursion up the east coast of this island, the itinerary of which which has already been published in these columns. The party consists of the following:

Jerald P. Adams, Canterbury.
T. W. S. Angler and Mrs. Angler, London.
Herbert B. Ames, Montreal.
Herbert Baron, Kendall.
J. C. Batley and Mrs. J. C. Batley, Heywood.

CITY AND COMPANY.

Two Men Arrested at Vancouver on a Charge of Trespassing.

(Special to the Times.)

Vancouver, Sept. 9.—The city police, with warning from the engineer's department, had a chase this morning with the workmen driving pipes in the east end of False creek for the Great Northern extension. The city men anchored a boat on the foreshore opposite the end of Georgia street, and within a few feet of the company's pile driver. Warning was then issued for the company not to trespass on the end of the street, though the latter is in the right-of-way. Finally the city men cut the pile driver's anchor rope, and the company's men retaliated by cutting the line attached to the city barge. Two workmen were then arrested and were charged at the police station with trespassing.

STRIKE OF SEATTLE STREET CAR MEN

DECISION REACHED EARLY THIS MORNING

Other Unions May Quit Work--Company Anticipates Little Difficulty in Maintaining Service.

(Associated Press.)

Seattle, Sept. 9.—At 11 o'clock this morning the Street Railwaymen's Union declared in favor of striking. Some of the members of the union will take out cars of the Seattle Electric Company today.

The question was bitterly fought at a meeting which began at 7.30 last night, attended by the advisory board, consisting of representatives of all the other unions of the city. The majority of these representatives, opposed the strike, and after a long debate the question was passed up to the executive committee of the street car men. This committee declared for striking. The representatives of the other unions thereupon agreed to report the action of the strike car men formally to each union, with the recommendation that each of these unions go on strike in sympathy when called upon by the street car men.

The company anticipates little difficulty in maintaining service with the support of the new "Tramways" Union and about 200 non-union men.

Fear Strike Will Spread.

(Special to the Times.)

Seattle, Sept. 9.—The street car strike promises to be a fight to a finish between the union and company. This morning the company has in operation about half its cars on the regular routes, and promises to have all running regularly before the end of the week. So far no acts of violence have occurred, and the strike is being conducted in an orderly manner. The business community is in a state of unrest as it is feared all unions may be drawn into a sympathetic strike, and an industrial war inaugurated. The strikers will attempt to get the company's coal miners at Roston to walk out, and thus cripple the power plant.

EXPLOSION IN MINE.

Three Men Were Instantly Killed—Bodies Terribly Mangled.

Everett, Sept. 7.—An explosion in the Pride, otherwise known as the New Discovery, mine at Monte Cristo last yesterday afternoon, killed three miners and injured three, one of whom was a boy.

The accident occurred in a sort of "portal" just inside the entrance of the mine.

All three dead men were mangled beyond recognition. Not until the roll was called was it learned definitely who they were.

It was at first supposed that the accident was caused by the powder in the trower exploding, but Mr. Kimball this morning said that that was not the case. When he went to the room after the accident he found the powder that had been in the trower lying on the floor, unexploded. He thought the accident must have been caused by the explosion of a box of caps. The men probably, while waiting to prime their charges, had supplied themselves with powder and put it in their pockets, and the explosion of the caps set this off.

The secretary of the United States treasury has appointed Robert Fullerton, of Des Moines, Iowa, disbursing officer, to disburse the $3,000,000 appropriated by congress in aid of the St. Louis exhibition.

PREPARING FOR WINTER CAMPAIGN

INSURGENTS SECURE STORES OF PROVISIONS

Continuation of Insurrection Will Cause Appalling Suffering Among Women and Children.

(Associated Press.)

London, Sept. 9.—The Sofia correspondent of the Times says the insurgents have laid up large stores of provisions in the mountains, and even contemplate a winter campaign. The suffering to the women and children there-in is appalling, but the insurgents believe that the ill-clad Turkish troops will suffer more than themselves owing to their inability to obtain supplies in a devastated country with interrupted communications.

He continues: "Any active interference on the part of the powers seems past praying for. Russia and Germany are urging the Sultan to adopt more vigorous methods of repression, while the other powers have apparently no advice to offer, and content themselves with an attitude of disinterested spectators."

The Athens correspondent of the Times hears that Count Lamsdorf, the Russian foreign minister, has declared his opinion that the Bulgarian hands are guilty of greater tyranny and devastation than the Turkish troops, and that it would be necessary to warn the Bulgarians they will not succeed in involving Russia in armed intervention against the Turks, and further than that, Russia will not permit a change in the status quo by the creation of an autonomous Macedonia or the appointment of a Christian governor.

Saga Christians Were Aggressors.

Washington, Sept. 9.—A cablegram from the Turkish foreign office to Cherkiz Pasa, the Turkish minister here, gives the following version of the trouble at Beyrut on Sunday, reported by United States Admiral Cotton in his dispatch to the navy department:

"Some Christians of the city of Beyrut attacked four Mussulmans, and during the melee which followed four persons were injured. Three of these were soldiers. Two persons are dead, one of whom is a soldier."

The minister is in receipt of a dispatch from Constantinople characterizing as "absolutely false" the published reports that there was no security in Constantinople, and that Mussulmans and the imperial troops were responsible for massacres and the setting fire to a house in Roumelia. This dispatch was in reply to one sent by the minister calling the attention of his government to the reports published here.

Another dispatch received here says that twenty-two Bulgarian brigades were killed in the vicinity of Resne (Monastir) and forty others on a farm at Proina.

Blame United States.

Berlin, Sept. 9.—The newspapers this morning in commenting on Sunday's outbreak at Beyrut, throw the blame for the occurrence on the United States. The Lokal Anzeiger says: "Now that the Americans have their dead, they will hardly inquire whether they were responsible for the overference in Beyrut by the unprecedented action of their minister in Constantinople and the yearning of the United States to mix up in European politics has found some justification."

The National Zeitung says: "It can be seen how serious it is, in view of the excitement in the near east, to spread incorrect or bad translations of cipher reports."

Raising Funds.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 7.—In official quarters there is a suspicious absence of news from the interior of Macedonia and also from Adrianople, and it is feared that the conditions there are steadily becoming worse. The Macedonian organizations are straining every nerve to force Bulgaria into a war. The large and small hands are crossing the frontier of Northern Macedonia, where General Zoucheff and Colonel Yankoff are organizing the insurrectionary movement, which is expected to break out in the valley of Struma before the end of the week.

The Macedonian committees are prosecuting an active campaign to raise funds in Bulgaria. They are addressing letters to everybody in a position to contribute to the cause. The applications usually do not refer to the revolutionary movement, but ask aid for the starving and homeless fugitives from Macedonia. Where wealthy citizens decline to subscribe, the organizations do not hesitate to make strong representations. A rich merchant of Philippopolis was recently told that unless he contributed $5,000 his house would be blown up.

Several felts are reported from the district of Losengrad. At the Bash-Bazouk village of Sashira the Turks lost twenty men. At Tersiders a band fought 300 soldiers all day with the result that the Turks had thirty-seven men killed, while the insurgents lost five. At Prespian in the Ocherbi district fighting has long been proceeding between insurgent hands and an army of 20,000 Turks. The latter are reported to have lost more than 200 killed or wounded. An engagement lasting all day has been fought at Pretylisti, Monastir vilayet, in which the Turkish loss was given as forty and the insurgent loss as five. A band led by Yankoff Stoyanoff has destroyed the village of Gorinokavlevo, Caribegrad, a notorious haunt of Turkish brigands.

According to revolutionary estimates Turkey has now in Macedonia an army of 175,000 men, with 3,700 horses and 440 guns.

In an engagement at Simen, Losengrad, the villagers joined the Turks who were defeated. The insurgents afterward burned the village as a punishment to the inhabitants for aiding the Turks.

INTERESTING POINT.

Case to Test Validity of Agreement Between United States and Canadian Pacific Railway.

(Associated Press.)

Washington, Sept. 8.—The bureau of immigration is awaiting with interest the result of a hearing set for to-morrow in Montreal in connection with sixteen Chinamen who were in transit through Canada to Vancouver in custody of the Canadian Pacific railway, and were released from custody on writs of habeas corpus.

The case is brought to test the validity of an agreement between the United States and the Canadian Pacific railway in Canada, by which all Chinese destined for the United States are brought in by bond to Vancouver and turned over to United States officials at the ports of Richford, N.C., and Malone, N.Y.—the agreement provides for the deportation by the railway company of all Chinese denied admission to the United States.

The 16 Chinese being now out of the custody of the railway company, it is feared some of them will be smuggled into the country.

UNFOUNDED REPORTS.

Members of Government Did Not Stop Reporting of Debate During All-Night Sitting.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The debates committee today met to take into consideration the rumors that some members of the government interfered and stopped the reporting of debates in the House during the all-night sitting on Thursday last. Albert Horgan, chief reporter, said that the reporters acted on their own responsibility. They followed the same system as was done in 1896 and 1898. Mr. LaRiviere, who was chairman of the committee when the Conservatives were in power, said he was satisfied there was no interference and a resolution was passed to this effect, and also to appoint a sub-committee to frame a rule of guidance of reporters under such circumstances in future.

The redistribution bill was up in the House today.

LETTER FROM POPE

Confirming the Appointment of Four Cardinals as Commissioners.

(Associated Press.)

Rome, Sept. 9.—It has been announced that Pius X. will publish to-day his first encyclical address to the Catholic hierarchy and people throughout the world, but this was incorrect. The Pontiff published to-day his first official document, consisting of a letter addressed to Cardinals Nuttoli, Rampolla, Ferrari and Vivesy Tute, confirming their appointment by Pope Leo as a commission to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the Dogma of the Immaculate Conception. The letter, which is very brief, is followed by a prayer to the Virgin Mary, which will acquire importance as being the first to bear the signature of Pius X.

THE EXCELSIOR AGROUND.

Steamer Stranded Near Wrangle—Crew and Passengers Camped on Shore.

(Special to the Times.)

Vancouver, Sept. 9.—Stranger Apur, arriving this morning from Skagway, brought news that the Seattle Excelsior steamer Excelsior was ashore on the end of Midway Island, near Wrangle. The steamer's main deck is apparently covered by water at high tide. The crew and passengers are camped on the shore.

Aboard the steamer came Lieutenant Jervis, of the Mounted Police, who was bringing down three lunatics for Westminister. One of them escaped at Skagway and could not be recaptured.

RULER'S TOUR.

Emperor Francis Joseph Will Visit King Edward, the Czar and the Kaiser.

(Associated Press.)

London Sept. 9.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Vienna learns that Joseph intends to return the visit of the Czar and the German Emperor, from the Hague to the Daily Telegraph, the Queen of Holland is projecting a visit to the Czar during the coming spring.

JAP'S SUICIDE.

(Special to the Times.)

Nanaimo, Sept. 9.—S. Muramatsu, a well known Japanese residing at Cumberland, yesterday committed suicide. He first ate a hearty lunch, then took a long pipe, fastened the noose around his neck and climbed a big tree. He then tied the end of the rope to a branch and jumped. Death was instantaneous, his neck being broken. The jury brought in a verdict of suicide.

THE TURKS' WAR OF EXTERMINATION. THREE THOUSAND TROOPS IN MILITARY DRIVE. Insurrection in Monastir District Has Been Crushed—Plots Against Prince Ferdinand.

London, Sept. 9.—Everything seems to point to new developments in Macedonia. On top of the appalling accounts of the results of the Turkish methods of "restoring order" in the vilayet of Monastir, comes the threat by the insurgents to resort to reprisals on the same scale. The Porte's anxiety to suppress news by expelling newspaper correspondents from the area of operations is held to have but one meaning. The morning papers comment upon the significance of the news published by the Associated Press, that Russia and Austria are seeking to persuade the powers to coerce Bulgaria, as showing a belief that war is inevitable. No further news regarding the outbreak at Beyrout has been received here. A dispatch, to the Standard from Constantinople, dated Sunday, says: "The Turks are much disturbed by the presence of the American warships at Beyrout, and are making every effort to have them recalled. In spite of all assurances that the United States only intends to be represented for the purpose of protecting the rights of her citizens, it is quite possible that the dispatch of the warships may initiate action leading much further."

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at St. Petersburg says he is assured on excellent authority, that Russia when she submits the proposals to the Porte for the pacification of Macedonia, contemplates the dispatch of her Black Sea squadron to Turkish waters, where it will make a much longer stay than recently, in order to overawe the Sultan's objections to her recommendations. The Sofia correspondent of the Morning Leader says that by the end of the week the insurgents will have received a large accession of weapons. Thirty thousand rifles are being smuggled into them from all sides, and when these have been received the real fighting will begin. A Monastir dispatch to the Daily Mail, dated September 6th, says the great military drive in the mountains to the south-east of Monastir toward Lake Prescha by a force of 2,000 Turkish infantry, with 12 guns, resulted in the escape of all the revolutionary bands. Though the latter were practically surrounded, not one was caught. The correspondent continues: "Vice-Consul McGregor tells me that the Porte has informed Hilmi Pasha that it has received a threat from the Macedonian committee that the insurgents intend to murder a British consul or journalist, or an American missionary. Vice-Consul McGregor notified the Turkish authorities that he will hold them responsible for any murder by either the Turks or the Bulgarians. In my opinion this is nothing but a general hint to the British journalists who are exposing the massacres." A Sofia dispatch to the Daily Mail dated September 8th says the revolutionary committee to-morrow will issue to the representatives of the powers a circular forwarding them of coming events. The note is intended to justify the future actions of the insurgents, and will point to the probable total extermination of the Christians, as necessitating the employment of the same atrocious measures by the revolutionaries against the Turks, and will contend that the responsibility for such desperate acts will rest with the powers.

Official Report on Riots.

Paris, Sept. 8.—Official advices received by the foreign office here give brief details of the outbreak at Beyrout. The killed number five or six and many persons were wounded. The city is in an intense state of agitation. The outbreak occurred during the night of September 6th, between Christians and Muslims. The fighting was furious, firearms and knives being used. The Italian consul rescued one Christian who had fallen in front of the door of the consulate. This was the first information received here showing the serious condition at Beyrout. It caused much apprehension in official quarters as being an indication of a spread of the disorders in the Turkish Empire. The presence of the United States cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco at Beyrout is regarded as a fortunate circumstance. It is said that a number of other foreign warships will gather there.

The official reports further show that Beyrout is one of three places which are now centres of great animation. Smyrna, which hitherto had been comparatively quiet, is on the eve of an outbreak. Great excitement prevails there. The authorities are in constant fear of an outbreak, but fortunately they have been able thus far to prevent an encounter between the Christians and Muslims. The Salonica advices are also again very disquieting. It is said that a general revolt throughout the province of Salonica will occur next week. It is the understanding among the foreign officials at Salonica that a general insurrection will shortly be announced by the Macedonian committee. In view of this expectation rigid police measures have been taken by the wali, who is showing much energy.

Reports from Monastir says the insurrection in that district has been practically crushed by the extreme measures taken by the Turkish troops. Reports from various points throughout Bulgaria show that there is a strong feeling against Prince Ferdinand, owing to the fact that he left the country during the crisis. It is not expected, however, that the agitators will succeed in carrying out their plots against his life.

Judge Hazen at Topeka, Kansas, on Tuesday sentenced John Jack and John Bell to jail until such a period as they might conclude to answer the questions of the attorneys in the coal trust inquiry. The prisoners will appeal.

"Love lightens labor" is the saying runs, and in a sense it is true. But even love cannot lighten labor of a woman who is in constant suffering from inflammation, bearing-down pains or other womanly diseases. The one thing that can make work easy for women is sound health, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the thing that will give sound health to sick women. It cures womanly diseases which cause weakness, and cures the backache, headache, nervousness and other ills which are the result of womanly diseases. "I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick of New Boston, Co. Va. "I was treated by a good physician but he never seemed to do me any good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' When I had used the medicine a month, my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of housework. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. Dr. Pierce's medicine has done wonderfully well here. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce." "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send at once cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS. Opposed to Changes in Fiscal Policy suggested by Mr. Chamberlain. Leicester, Eng., Sept. 8.—At today's session of the Trades Union Congress President Hornbridge declared Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's suggestion of changes in the British fiscal policy were likely to be most detrimental to the best interests of the nation. "Dabbling with the principles of free trade," he asserted, "could do no good to the country at present. The last time I visited the third of the national industry." He advocated the government of old age pensions. The following resolution was carried with only two dissenting voices: "That this congress strongly condemns the suggested change by Mr. Chamberlain in our present fiscal policy, as unchristian and dangerous to the best interests of the people of the country, and hereby pledges itself and urges all other labor bodies to make every effort to prevent such a change being brought about." The announcement of the vote was greeted with loud cheers. The resolution will be communicated to the Colonial Secretary.

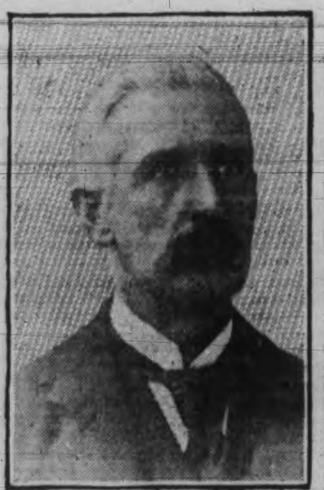

WINNIPEG NOTES. The Condition of Hon. J. A. Davidson—Man Drawn While Out Shooting.

Winnipeg, Sept. 8.—An election petition was filed today against S. W. McInnis, Conservative, as member for Brandon in the legislature. The disqualification of Dr. McInnis is asked for. A telegraphed message received from Salem, Oregon, today, announced the death of Robert McKivahan, dry goods merchant of this city, from appendicitis. A Neepawa dispatch says the condition of Hon. John A. Davidson, provincial treasurer, was slightly improved today. He is not expected to survive the week. SEVERAL APPEALS HAVE BEEN ENTERED AGAINST RULINGS OF REGISTRAR OF VOTES.

Some of the Points Raised in Connection With Applications at Port Simpson.

(Special Correspondence of the Times.) Port Simpson, Aug. 31.—The court of revision of the voters' list of Skeena electoral district was in session here today, presided over by John Flewin, registrar of votes.

Peter Herman, the Liberal candidate, was present in his own interests, and those of the Conservative nominee were looked after by Robert Cunningham, H. Short, and T. A. Grogg, who acted as his agents. Immediately on the opening of the proceedings, Mr. Herman addressed the court, stating that he had noticed that four names had been left off the list, these half-breeds were concerned, he thought they had the right to be on the list, and he had therefore put them there. These men paid their poll tax, earned their living, and in every way lived as white men do, with the exception of their residence which was on the reserve for a part of the year. Their names had been on the voters' lists for years. The Election Act did not disqualify a half-breed because he lived on the reserve—the only act making a distinction between a half-breed living on a reserve and one living elsewhere was the Indian Act, which was a Dominion statute, and had nothing to do with our Provincial Election Act. In our local statute an Indian was described simply as a person of pure Indian blood. This whole matter had been submitted last year to the Attorney-General's office for decision. This decision the registrar now read, sustaining these half-breeds' right to be entered on the list of voters.

Mr. Cunningham still persisted in his objection, and asked that the half-breeds' names should be struck off the list, and he held over for the court of review to deal with.

Mr. Herman denied the right of the court, their sitting to interfere in any manner with the names now on the list. The time for that had gone past and to interfere now would be illegal. He asked the court to make a note of his objection, as in case the names were interfered with he would enter an appeal.

There was some further discussion, and the registrar finally decided that the names of the half-breeds should be struck off, to be dealt with by the court of review.

Mr. Herman then formally gave notice of appeal from the decision of the court. The next point that came up was Mr. Cunningham's objection to several names on the list which were of American birth and citizenship. He asked that they be struck off the list, and notified to appear before the court of appeal.

Mr. Herman again protested against such proceeding. "This court has no authority to do such a thing."

Registrar Flewin—I can do as I like. The act gives me the full power to deal with these applications as I see fit.

Mr. Herman—You have no right to take a name off this list. If these are American citizens, the oath they took in making their applications renders them criminally liable, and they may be proceeded against. Otherwise you challenge their right to vote by oath at although their applications had been sent in according to law. Registrar Flewin, replied that the names in question had been left off by him, because Mining Recorder J. D. Wells, of Kitimat, who had attested the signatures to the applications, was only a mining recorder elected by the miners themselves.

Mr. Herman insisted that a mining recorder elected by the miners was in every sense a legal mining recorder and entitled to exercise all the functions of a mining recorder. The reason why the mining recorders had been clothed with power to attest signatures to applications to be placed on the voters' list, was in order that every possible facility might be given the people to enroll themselves and exercise their franchise. But here, these four men who no one doubted were entitled to be on the list, were deprived of their sacred rights of citizenship, and on a pretext wholly frivolous. These four names should never have been left off the list.

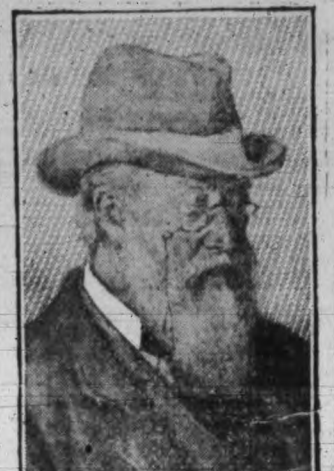

Registrar Flewin—I have the right to deal with the names as I see fit, and it is my judgment that the signatures were not properly attested. Mr. Wells had no power to act.

Mr. Herman—If you can do as you like with the names on the list what is the use of the rest of us being here? Registrar Flewin—I have decided the matter, Mr. Herman.

The registrar then stated that only one objection had been made according to the provision of the law requiring 15 days' notice. He then proceeded to read out the names in alphabetical order. When he had reached the name of John Campbell, Mr. Cunningham, on behalf of the Conservative candidate, said that he objected to that name remaining on the list because he was a half-breed, and was living on a reservation. He, Mr. Cunningham, intended to object to every such half-breed on the list.

Mr. Herman demanded on what right Mr. Cunningham was entering these objections at this time of day. The time for making objections to names on the list was passed, and the list as it at present stood must remain. The law was clear on the point. The procedure was that the lists were to be hung up in the registrar's office for a certain length of time, so that people might inspect them, and take exception to any names they thought fit to object. Their objections required to be placed in writing in the hands of the registrar fifteen days before the court of revision was held, the registrar's duty was to notify all those who had been objected to, so that they might be present in court to defend their rights. In the present case only one such objection had been lodged with the registrar, and that was the only name that this court of revision was entitled to deal with. Registrar Flewin said that so far as the rolls. He further contended that the court of review could only deal with such names as had been interfered with by the court of revision after due notice of objection to such names had been made 15 days before the sitting of the court of revision.

He asked the court to make a note of his objection, as in case the names were interfered with he would enter an appeal.

Registrar Flewin decided to strike the names off and hold them over to the court of review. During the proceedings an affidavit was read from an alien who had signed an application to the effect that he was not present when Mr. Herman attested his signature.

Mr. Herman pronounced this affidavit a willful and malicious perjury on the part of a man who had confessed to

TENDERS FOR THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY

COUNCIL WILL CALL FOR THEM AT ONCE

Request to Be Made That No Reduction Take Place in Esquimalt Naval Station.

The city council met last evening with all the members present excepting Ald. Barnard. A communication was read from the secretary of the board of trade apprising the council of the date of the arrival of the members of the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce. The letter was received and filed.

The American League of Municipalities invited the members of the council to attend the convention at Baltimore on 7th October. The communication was received and filed.

G. H. Hadwen asked for two swans for Cowichan lake. The letter was referred to the park committee with power to act.

The city clerk reported that the following communications had been referred to the city engineer: Robert Tait, asking that drainage facilities be provided for his residence, 68 Dallas road; H. Saunders et al., requesting that a sidewalk be laid down on the residential portion of Dallas road; Charles McKenzie et al., desiring that a sidewalk be constructed on the east side of Fourth street between Hillside avenue and King's road.

The building inspector reported respecting the Carnegie library plans. He recommended that Hooper & Watkins be allowed to revise their plans as requested with respect to the steps at the main entrance. The building committee also on the

JOHN PALMER, Delegate from Fredericton Board of Trade.

Ald. Yates referred to the repetition of this trouble. The Tramway Company were constantly getting an extension of time to do their work, and then after running over the 90 days said they were not obliged to do it. The engineer allowed the company too much license.

Ald. Cameron said he was sat on for raising this question before. The ties had been left in the ground until a more suitable time of the year.

Ald. Stewart thought the Tramway Company should be compelled to remove the ties when the track was moved.

It was decided to obtain a report upon this from the engineer.

Before the tenders for supplying gravel were opened, Ald. Dinsdale called attention to the fact that the advertisement calling for tenders had not specified that none of them need be accepted.

He was informed that they might act accordingly. The tenders being opened the following prices were quoted: Victoria Transfer Company, 65c. per cubic yard; John 13 and 15 North road, recommended that this matter be deferred for the present. Re-communication of Geo. F. Maites, asking that Collier street be opened from Fernwood westerly, recommended that this work be deferred until such time as the property owners on the said street have caused their fences to be removed to the proper street line. Re-communication of R. Jackson, complaining of the encroachment of overhanging trees on Simcoe street, recommended that the property owners be notified to cause the same to be trimmed so as not to overhang the street. Re-communication of Michael Lawless, asking that the sewer be extended a short distance on Elizabeth street, recommended that the request be granted. Re-communication of Capt. Wm. Grant, asking that a permanent sidewalk be laid on Work street, in front of his premises there, recommended that the request be granted and the work be done if funds are available. Re-communications of Messrs. L. & A. Rostein desiring that a permanent sidewalk be laid in front of their premises at the corner of Government and Courtney streets, recommended that the work be done. Re-communication of F. G. McBeath, asking that a drain on Robert street, recommended that the work be done. Estimated cost, $90. Re-communication of Messrs. Weiler Bros., desiring the improvement of Gordon street, in front of their premises, recommended that the work be done. Estimated cost, $100.

The report was adopted. John Adams was appointed engineer in the place of C. H. Topp during the latter's absence from the city.

Ald. Goodacre moved in favor of requesting the various governments to interest themselves in the direction of opposing any reduction in the Esquimalt naval station. The motion carried.

The council went into committee to consider the by-law providing for the expropriation of lands for the extension of Douglas street across James Bay. The by-law was finally passed. The buildings by-law was again considered and passed. The meeting then adjourned.

THE VANCOUVER MEETING

At Which Ralph Smith, M.P., Was Re-fused a Hearing.

The Vancouver News-Advertiser publishes the following account of Monday night's meeting at the Terminal City, brief mention of which was made in Tuesday's Times: "There was quite a display of political fireworks at the market hall Monday night. The purpose of the meeting, unless it were a match-making scheme between the Socialist and Labor people, was not very apparent, and certainly in this particular it was a disastrous failure. All the billing and cooing of candidates who really saw no reason why they should not come together, were lost in the final catastrophe when Mr. Ralph Smith, M.P., followed by Mr. Chris Foley, and above one quarter of the audience, forsook the platform and the hall.

The trouble arose when Mr. Smith began to speak, which was after Mr. Williams, the local labor candidate, and Mr. Watters, a Victoria Socialist candidate, were heard. "Mr. Smith, alluding to distinctions drawn by Watters between Socialism and trade unionism, proceeded to enunciate the proposition that differences of opinion were necessary; that he had no grudge against those who differed from him; and that like forbearance should be exercised toward himself. He differed entirely with certain statements of Mr. Watters concerning the respective merits of unionism and Socialism, to the disadvantage of the latter. A big bunch of Socialists in the rear of the hall, frisked up immediately upon hearing this, and there were murmurs of disapproval.

"Mr. Chairman," said the speaker, "I am not going to discuss Socialism." A voice: "No one else has, but the man who says no one else has must have been keeping his fingers in his ears. Mr. Watters told this meeting that trade unionism was absolutely no good."

"Loud cries of 'No, sir,' hisses, and confusion followed this assertion, and the rumpus was not smoothed away by Watters arising from his seat at the rear of the platform and working his mouth as if to say something. His language, however, was unintelligible amid the uproar. The talking machinery of both speakers could be seen in rapid motion, but Watters succumbed and returned to his seat. When a lull came, it was Mr. Smith's voice which was first discernible. He was saying, in stentorian tones: 'I tell you the interruptors are afraid of the truth.' The speaker waded along through a few more obstructed passages and finally brought up with this question: 'When I say that trade unionism was no good, am I right or am I not?' To this there were loud yells of 'no' and political warwhoops from the Socialist benches. 'Well,' continued Mr. Smith, 'if he did not do so, according to my views he did, and don't you want to hear them?'

"No, we don't," roared the crowd in the rear.

"Of course you don't," said Mr. Smith.

"The speaker digressed here to say something about the difference between unionism and state Socialism. A voice: 'There is no such thing as state Socialism.' "Mr. Smith—You have an opportunity of letting off your steam all the week, Mr. Pettipiece, I think you should let me speak now."

"Great noise and confusion arose here, and the chairman, Ald. Macpherson, arose and endeavored unsuccessfully to allay the turbulent spirits. Amid the din Mr. Smith could be heard saying: 'Let them go on, Mr. Chairman. Let them go on.'"

"Sizing a momentary lull in the disturbance, Mr. Smith made his voice heard again, and said that he had been told before coming to the meeting that there would be an organized force to interrupt him, but would not believe it. This was as far as he got, for his vocalization was immediately drowned in a renewed outbreak of shouts, groans and hisses. Then Mr. Smith gave up in despair. 'If,' he roared, 'the Socialists at this meeting refuse to let me speak, that is all I want.' He then sat down, amid loud yells for Hawthornthwaite. "A wild-eyed Socialist jumped up and wanted to know if he could ask Mr. Smith some questions."

"Mr. Smith said as he was not permitted to speak it was useless to do so. He then left the hall followed by a considerable number, among them being all the ladies in the room."

"After this a short speech was heard from Mr. A. G. Perry, and Mr. Hawthornthwaite spoke for some time and was loudly cheered. In the course of his remarks he accused Mr. Ralph Smith of treachery to the labor party, and expressed sorrow that he had not had the pleasure of meeting him on the platform, as he had been yearning for the chance for some time."

The Deutschland, which arrived at New York on Tuesday, made the trip in 5 days, 11 hours and 54 minutes.

KENDRICK MURRAY, Secretary of the Congress of the Chamber of Commerce of the Empire.

same subject wrote to the effect that it was thought that with the change made that the building could be built within the cost specified.

Ald. Stewart moved that the reports be accepted, that Hooper & Watkins be instructed to amend their plans in line with the recommendations, and that tenders be invited up to the 14th.

It was intimated that the time was very short, but Ald. Stewart thought it was unlikely that any but the four firms which had tendered before should do so again.

The motion was carried. A petition was received from residents of Hillside avenue asking for an additional electric light near Cook street.

Ald. Graham, in moving that it be referred to the electric light committee, said that this would be of great convenience to those going to Oaklands.

Ald. Yates said there was only $1 available in the hands of the electric light committee. There was no use referring this to the committee.

Ald. Kinsman thought there was a decided change in the story from last meeting when there was said to be $154 on hand.

He was corrected in this, and informed that it was $104 before the new lights were put in.

Ald. Graham thought if this was the situation of affairs there was no use referring it to the committee.

It was therefore decided to recommend this to the incoming council.

P. O'Connor and J. Wallenstein asked for permission to be allowed to remain in their present position until the property was required for the Carnegie library building. It was decided to refuse the request as the premises might be required at once.

R. J. Marsden and others on Superior street requested the council to have the Tramway Company put the street in shape.

Ald. Stewart was astonished that this work had not been carried out. He moved that they refer the matter to the engineer to inform the Tramway Company to put the street in shape.

THE MEN ARE HERE.

Not the least important part of the proceedings of the Congress at Montreal was the revelation to our visitors of the fibre of the Canadian.

Gen. Laurier gave expression to the effect on himself when he said: "We were well acquainted with the marvellous resources of Canada, but what we wanted was a knowledge of the men of Canada."

THE RIGHT OF PETITION.

The action of a body of Victoria citizens in waiting on His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor on Monday and drawing to his attention certain abuses, which, in the opinion of the petitioners, his advisers were perpetrating, has furnished the Colonist with a new text, and the public with a fresh revelation from that fount of knowledge of constitutional procedure and practice.

What, however, will strike the ordinary student of history in reading the article is the bold statement that the members of the delegation placed themselves in a most humiliating position by endeavoring to introduce an unheard of factor into our government, the right of a private citizen to approach the representative of the Crown except through his responsible ministers.

If there is one right upon which the Briton insists it is the privilege of personally petitioning the Sovereign. No cabinet can deprive him of that privilege.

which the Colonist thinks it detects in the Liberal ranks must be among those of its own persuasion, else no such foolish plea would be advanced.

Surely the Colonist has forgotten the historic deputation of Tories which invaded Carly Castle during the regime of ex-Governor McInnes, and asked redress for certain grievances which its members thought they had.

Coming to the assumption that His Honor would have refused to receive the representations of the members of the deputation had he known the character of the request they were about to make, a reference has only to be made to the events of last session.

A WEAK DEFENCE.

The only defence which the government organs have advanced for the change in the date of the provincial elections is that it will abbreviate the period of political unrest incident to the campaign, and hence will be welcomed by the business community.

While a protracted campaign is rarely desirable, unless the issues involved like those just raised by the Colonial Secretary in the Old Land, are radical departures from national tradition and policy, a sudden change in the date is even more objectionable for the reasons set out in the issue of the Times of yesterday.

RESULT OF CO-OPERATION.

The dinner tendered by the employees of the B. C. Street Railway Company to General Manager Buntzen the other day was a refreshing oasis in the waste of labor unrest in British Columbia.

In its relations with its men it must be admitted that the street railway company has pursued a wise and liberal course, sometimes raising wages without any request, and of late admitting its men to a share in the profits of the institution.

It is a noteworthy fact that perhaps the happiest illustrations of forbearance and co-operation between company and men is afforded by two organizations having their headquarters and source of financial supply in the Mother Country.

What, however, will strike the ordinary student of history in reading the article is the bold statement that the members of the delegation placed themselves in a most humiliating position by endeavoring to introduce an unheard of factor into our government.

In matters of this kind it is sometimes difficult to discriminate between cause and effect, and hence it is difficult to state whether the class of men in the employ of the street railway company is a reason for or a result of the conditions we have mentioned.

Victoria at any rate the company have a corps of motormen and conductors who in intelligence and courtesy are excelled in few vocations.

There are said to have been wigs on the green at the meeting of the Conservative executive last evening. A former military man, a staunch Conservative, having been invited to the rooms to discuss certain matters, relieved his mind to the "fifteen" in terms more pointed than polite.

The report from Seattle that a fine steel steamer is to be placed on the Seattle-Victoria run, if correct, is but another indication of the stimulating effect which the superb ferry boat from this city to Vancouver has had on the transportation business out of this port.

We regret that we cannot offer our English visitors a better brand of coast weather. It is undoubtedly "the beastly English drizzle" that "wakes the fever in our bones," with which Kipling has made us familiar.

The Liberals of this city will meet in convention for the purpose of nominating candidates on Tuesday evening in the A. O. U. W. Hall. Every party man should be on hand.

Delegates to the A.O.U.W. Grand Lodge will meet in Victoria next Monday for the purpose of considering business of importance. As is well known, there has been a general complaint among members of the different provincial lodges at the action of the Supreme Lodge at its recent session in raising the assessment rates of the older members. Monday's meeting has been called for the purpose of deciding what course to pursue in view of the general disapproval in the assessment increases. There has been some talk of the severance of the British Columbia lodges from the Supreme Lodge.

The judges of the industrial parade at Vancouver on Labor Day had a difficult task in deciding the prize winners on account of the general excellence of the competitors. Their decisions were as follows: Industrial foot—1st, Carpenters and Joiners; 2nd, International Machinery Association, Commercial foot—Pacific Bottling Works. Best team out of union men—Sheet metal workers and Smiths. Best express wagon—1st, Castello; 2nd, Poidler. Best comic foot—1st, Johnston & Kerfoot; 2nd, B. C. Clothing & Renovatory Company. The rock drilling contest was won by Jack Leary and Lou Urquhart, of Mount Sicker, who drilled 32 inches in fifteen minutes. Joe O'Brien and E. Prendergast were second with 31 1/2 inches.

Postmaster Shakespeare has lately received complaints of the mischievous work of boys dropping stones into the letter boxes on the streets. These stones cannot always be observed by the mail collector, and sometimes they wedge in back of the door, almost forcing it off its hinges when it is being closed, doing considerable damage. Particular instances have happened at the corner of Pandora and Quadra streets and King's road and Second street. A heavy penalty is provided for offenses of the kind, and Mr. Shakespeare desires to impress this not only on the minds of the boys, but on the parents as well. If the conduct of the boys is repeated, he says, he will have the cases investigated and the offending parties punished, the matter being a most serious one in the eyes of the law.

Hop picking in Washington state commenced to-day and no less than 1,000 Indians have gone from Vancouver Island to seek employment. It is reported that the crop this fall is unusually large and the Indians will therefore likely be away longer than is generally the case.

A Victorian, G. S. Carr, bookbinder in the provincial government bindery, held the annual number in the St. Lovelace pool conducted by the Strand, of Vancouver. He drew Rockland, (No. 919), and wins something like $2,700.

The tickets capturing second and third are held in the Terminal City, but it was the Victorian who got the big stake. About five hundred dollars worth of tickets were sold in Victoria and about six thousand dollars worth in Vancouver. The total number of tickets sold was 7,500.

The funeral of the late Christopher James Farrington took place this morning from the residence, Centre road, Spring Ridge, at 9.30 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock from the Roman Catholic church, where solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Larmerne. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Father Hopkins at the church and grave. There was a large attendance of friends and many beautiful floral designs.

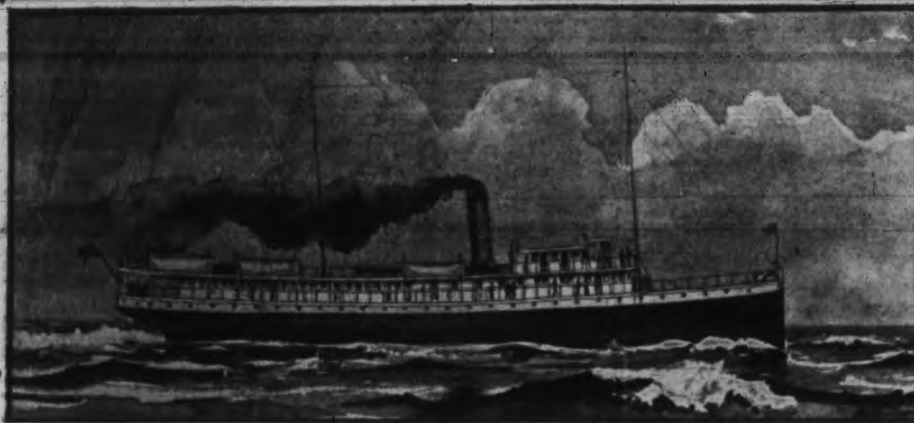

The following acted as pallbearers: M. Bantly, J. Mortimer, A. Stewart, M. McTernan, J. E. Phillips and M. McCabe.

On Wednesday, September 30th, the eighth annual exhibition under the auspices of the Islands Agricultural Association will be held at Gauges Harbor, Salt Spring Island. The list of special prizes is more than usually lengthy, and includes $15 and $10 for ladies exhibiting the most artistically arranged dinner table dessert course for four people. As it is desired to make a district exhibit at the forthcoming local show, the directors have decided that all exhibits in divisions G H I and J shall become the property of the association, unless the value of any one article shall be over the value of one dollar, in which case the value of such exhibit shall be guaranteed by the association to the owner.

The Colonist this morning issued a very attractive supplement containing views of Victoria's most beautiful homes. It is in four pages and each picture is as clear as a photograph. The supplement is a concise and convenient illustration of the truth of the many complimentary references made by distinguished visitors to Victoria as "a city of beautiful homes." The photographs were taken by H. Fleming, and the excellent manner in which he performed his task has lost nothing in the presswork, which is exceedingly well done. The cuts were made by the B. C. Photo Engraving Co. and they speak volumes for the character of the work turned out by this establishment. They are certainly splendid specimens of the engraver's art.

Alfred Lyford, charged with embezzlement at Rock Island county, Ill., did not leave this morning for his former home to face the charge preferred against him. Sheriff Heider will start to-morrow with his man, who has signed a document expressing his willingness to return voluntarily. In connection with Lyford's presence in this city an incident occurred recently which was quite sufficient to put him on his guard. A lady who knew him in Illinois happened to be visiting relatives here some time ago, and one day encountered Lyford at the post office. "Why, how do you do, Mr. Lyford," she exclaimed, "I'm surprised to see you here." The man gave a start and then quickly recovering himself, replied: "You are mistaken madam, quite mistaken; my name is Miller—H. G. Miller." The lady was incredulous, for she clearly recognized Lyford, who explained several times that she had made a mistake. "It may be," she returned as they parted, "but I am not yet convinced that you are not Mr. Lyford." Subsequent developments showed that she was quite right.

LAUNCHING OF THE PRINCESS BEATRICE.

This afternoon the C.P.R. Company's new northern freight and passenger steamer will be given the water from the Esquimalt Marine railway, where she has been under construction during the past season. The occasion will be marked in a suitable manner. The vessel will be christened by Mrs. W. F. Bolton, wife of one of the proprietors of the yard. This ceremony over and the ship safely in the element for which she was built, those present will repair to the moulding loft, where refreshments will be provided and addresses given. The Times has already given a description of the Princess Beatrice. She is now about ready for service, the machinery, contrary to custom, having been placed in the hull as it lay on the stocks. The ship was designed for the northern British Columbia service, and makes the third Princess added to what was formerly known as the C.P.N. fleet. Capt. James Troup assumed the management, the other two being the Princess May and Princess Victoria. The only other Princess is the Princess Louise.

The Princess Beatrice is a model of strength. The builders have taken their time in completing the contract, and their work is a telling example of that which capable workmen and honest contractors can turn out. The steamer is 215 feet long and 36 feet beam. She is provided with a large passenger accommodation in addition to spacious holds for freight. She is furnished with water tight compartments and comes as near being unsinkable as it is possible to build a wooden vessel. All the timbers in the stern have been most ingeniously mortised. The keelson and sister keelsons cover almost the entire bottom, while in every part of the ship where strength can be added stout timbers have been placed.

With the Athenian the Vancouver & Victoria Stevedore Company opens its contract with the C. P. R. for discharging and loading the vessels of the company's fleet. Capt. Amesbury, the Vancouver manager of the company, is superintending the work. Steamer Cottage City sailed for Alaska port early this morning, after receiving twenty-five tons of freight at the outer wharf. The ship also carried a large number of passengers. Schooner Klinsky has arrived from the Cape with 14,000 pounds of black cod. The schooner reports having seen the Ave Marie putting into Esquimalt. R.M.S. Empress of Japan arrived at Hongkong at 8 a.m. on Tuesday. The Kaga Maru arrived at Yokohama from Victoria the 6th inst. The steamship Umattila is due from San Francisco to-morrow.

A FAST STEAMER FOR SOUND ROUTE

Twenty-knot steel ship is proposed

Eastern Capitalists Said to Be Behind Project—Big Movement in Northern Freight.

That one improvement suggests another can hardly be gainsaid, and that some company will follow the very commendable enterprise of the C. P. R. Company in placing an up-to-date steamer on these waters is confidently expected by not a few. Already there are grounds for believing that this will happen before long on the Victoria and Sound route. According to the report now going the rounds on the Sound, a new steel boat is to be placed on the run, eastern capitalists are said to be in the field, and to have had their representatives in the field exploiting for business. They have, it is stated, been gathering statistics regarding the travel going to and from the Sound. Referring to the project the Seattle Times says: "It is the intention of the officials of the company to give a daily service, the boat leaving Seattle at 8 o'clock in the morning and on the return trip, reaching this place between 8 and 9 o'clock. A stop of about four hours would be made at Victoria. In order to give that service it would be necessary to have a boat capable of making an average of 20 miles an hour. It is said that the backers of the new company have a boat about the size of the Arrow or Flyer which can make the required speed. At the present time the names of the men in Seattle are being kept quiet. When all of the arrangements are completed the definite announcement will be made public."

The above project, so far as known, is an altogether different one to that which the Pacific Coast Steamship Company had in contemplation. Victoria merchants spoken to about the matter this morning stated that they believed there was room for such a vessel. A steamer like the new Princess Victoria on the Victoria and Sound run they considered would increase the travel to an even greater extent than did the new C. P. R. ferry on her particular route.

NORTHERN FREIGHT.

Freight has been accumulating very rapidly at Vancouver for shipment North, and there has been some anxiety expressed about getting it all away in time for it to go through to Dawson without interruption. The Princess May, the Danube and the Venture have just left the Terminal City, carrying heavy loads, and there is still freight left on the wharves there to be forwarded. There has been some talk about sending the Tees out to relieve the congestion, but this report could not be confirmed this morning, for inquiry made at the local steamship office elicited the information that nothing definite had yet been decided regarding the matter.

The World, Vancouver, says: "The local officials of the White Pass & Yukon are quite confident that they can handle everything that is offered to them at the other end. There is no difficulty about getting the goods over the pass, and the company has a fleet of boats and scows on the river that will accommodate everything, although many of them will only be able to take half a load. The length of the season is now the only question. Last year the White Pass & Yukon Co. sent a boat out of White Horse on the 17th of October that got through to Dawson. This year, as the water is lower, the season will probably close sooner, but the local officials of the W. P. & Y. state that 'perishable' shipment is being constantly made."

The death occurred on Saturday morning of Mrs. R. Andrews, widow of the late William Andrews, of Dartmouth, England. Mrs. Andrews, who resided with her son, W. T. Andrews, 223 Pandora street, had been an invalid for the past two years. The funeral took place on Monday from the residence and religious services were conducted by Rev. Elliott S. Rowe.

Geo. Ross, of the Esquimalt road, will come up in the provincial police court on Friday charged with shooting a fawn. The violation of the Game act is alleged to have taken place in Sooke.

The social entertainment announced to be held under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. next Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. hall, Broad street, promises to be a great success. A splendid programme has been prepared by J. G. Brown, who has been assisted by Mrs. Gregson, Miss Donville, Miss A. D. Cameron, Miss Howell, Miss Seaworth and Messrs. Semple, Ronald-Grant, Wm. Hicks, Oliver, Ricaby, and Mr. Talbot's string quartette. Refreshments will be provided.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Hickling took place this afternoon from the parlors of W. J. Hanna. Rev. J. F. Viebert conducted the services, and the following acted as pallbearers: Messrs. F. Alexander, F. Montero, J. Barnswell and T. Alexander.

Frederick Tuke died at the Jubilee hospital yesterday evening. Deceased was an Odd Fellow, and well known here. The funeral will take place at 2.30 on Friday afternoon from the Odd Fellows' hall, Douglas street.

The Hoyt comedy, "A Texas Steer," was presented at the Victoria theatre to a small audience. The play has been seen here before, when a company headed by Katie Putnam gave a good performance.

All citizens interested in the welfare of the place should attend the public meeting to be held at the Victoria theatre this evening to consider the hotel by-law. That the voice of the ratepayers in general, will be overwhelmingly in favor of the by-law there is no doubt, but at the same time it is important that all should be familiar with the various points to come up and the many benefits to be expected from the erection of the hotel. Mayor McCandless will preside at the meeting, which will doubtless be largely attended. Mr. Hodgson, president of the Montreal Board of Trade, will deliver an address. The by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers next Wednesday.

Like the Ticking of a Clock.

Michael looked at her with passionate reproach in his deepest black eyes. The fact that he triumphed in and was glad to believe in Breakspear's guilt did not prevent him being honestly sure of it, and the refusal of the girl he adored to accept his own view of the matter fanned the fire of his jealousy.

He had hoped that, however reluctantly, she would agree with him that, after all, Breakspear was a traitor and had been from the first. Then, knowing the man's baseness, the next step must inevitably be for her to hate and despise him, since Maya's nature was not of the sort which could tolerate baseness, or love in spite of it. Michael would have felt repaid for everything he had suffered or dared for this fair cousin of his if she had flamed into fierce anger against the man she had been loving, and cried out for his punishment. He had half-expected this from her, for with all her sweetness and sadness Maya could be stormy and passionate enough sometimes; and he could fancy her a beautiful young tigress, in defence of her father.

Had she gratified his expectations, Michael had meant to soothe her by saying that Breakspear was not to be allowed freedom of action, even now. He had permitted the traitor to escape, as a cat lets a mouse run for a certain distance only to be pounced upon at last by a relentless claw. He had wanted Maya to recognize and admit the man's villainy, and when it was proved to her, he had meant effectually to stop all disastrous consequences.

Breakspear was wounded, and even if he had been shamming his weakness to a certain extent, he could not walk for a long distance without frequent rests. As he could not be sure beforehand of any particular hour at which he might attempt escape, he could hardly have made an appointment for his confederate to meet him, therefore he might safely be allowed to go his own way until it suited Michael to bring the journey to an end.

Michael had had it in his mind to meet Maya's demand for the traitor's punishment with a hint that it would speedily be carried out. But she had made no such demand; she refused to believe in the man's guilt, proved though it was beyond dispute. So he only gazed at her with burning reproach, compressing his lips into tight guardianship of his secret. He would not tell her now what he meant to do. Infatuated as she was she would only strive to restrain him with tears and pleadings, and yowls that she would never forgive, never look upon his face again—yows which she might even keep. He was an egotist, despite the genuineness of his passion for her, and he saw himself now as a noble and self-sacrificing figure, the real hero of the strange drama which was being played in this lonely Dartmoor farmhouse.

He was ready to give his own life or to take that of another, with equal indifference, for her sake. She should never know. He would rid her and her father of their enemies who hunted them round the earth, and he would ask for no credit, no gratitude. It would be enough for him, after this, that through his act, unspeakable, her precious life was passed in peace. And at least there would be savage consolation for him in the thought that the world was rid of a specimen of villain, whose eyes could cover deceit with apparent frankness and win for him a woman's faith, a woman's love.

These were the colors in which Michael painted his plan for himself; but deep down in his heart it expressed itself in a different way. It was a rival whom he lusted to kill, to put out of the world where Maya lived.

"Very well, we will not discuss the question of the man's guilt or innocence longer," Michael solemnly said. "It can lead to nothing since you will not believe me, but only pushes us further apart. Have you anything to tell me about the other wretch who has been here to-night?"

"I am to meet him to-morrow at Satan's Tor, at the same time appointed for that other day. I have promised that I would go alone. You know, Michael, that I need fear no personal danger from him."

Michael shrugged his shoulders. He would not protest because, if his own worked well, neither of them (whom he believed now to be together) would keep the appointment to-morrow.

"Do you wish to go to that man's room and see for yourself that he has gone?" he asked, coldly.

Maya shook her head. "You say he has gone, and I believe it, of course. It is only for his motive that I can't accept your word, for that you can merely suspect, you cannot know, I am glad you let him go, Michael, since—since he wished it. I am grateful to you for that. Even if he were guilty, he could tell the other nothing more now than he has found out for himself to-night. To-morrow I can purchase comparative peace for another year, and—this episode of Mr. Breakspear will be ended a little sooner—a few days sooner than it would otherwise, that's all."

"You consider it ended?" asked Michael with bitterness.

"Of course. Nothing else could have been possible. My father and I live out our lives alone—except for you."

"Is not that thought more bitter to you, Maya, than it was only a few days ago?" The question shot like a javelin from Michael's lips. He would not keep it back, for it had already pierced his own soul.

Maya did not answer the question, unless her silence was an answer in itself.

"I think," she said, wearily, "that I will go back to my father now."

The instant that Jim Breakspear had been seized round the ankles and flung headlong on the floor of the caravan, his head muffled in the heavy folds of a long, thick travelling cloak, a rope was passed deftly round his legs and knotted. He had struck his temple in falling, not so violently as he must without the intervening folds of cloth, but hard enough to confuse his senses for a moment; and during that moment his arms were twisted behind him, his wrists tied-tightly together. All this had been done by a man, while a woman—whose hand had now ceased to clasp Breakspear's—turned on the light from an old-fashioned dark lantern, the mingled oily and metallic smell of which was offensively perceptible in the caravan.

By this time Jim was fully conscious once more, and painfully aware that his wound must have broken out again. He could make no resistance when someone unseen turned him over like a log, so that he lay on his back instead of half upon his face, as he had fallen in being thrown. His head was still shrouded in the cloak, though, though his eyes were now wide open, he could see nothing—not even enough to be aware that the light of a lantern had been turned on. It was difficult to draw air enough to breathe through the thick, woolly-textured cloth and his chest labored with each respiration, which caused deep stabs of pain in his wounded side.

"Now we've got him trussed like a turkey," said a voice he knew very well, though the words reached him with muffled indistinctness through the cloak. Breakspear did not need to hear this voice, however, to guess who was his assailant—the enemy who had crept upon him from behind. He would have given anything to know whether Maya was really in the caravan, or if the stifled moans, and the little clapping hand had been those of some confederate of his—perhaps the veiled lady of Victoria Station, about whom the wretch had, afterwards, lied to round out a story of his "daughter."

There came no answer to the man's words, though Breakspear fancied a rustling. He resolved to feign continued unconsciousness, hoping that presently his wrappings might be removed; therefore he gave no sign of life.

"Help me to push him into this corner," the same voice went on.

An instant later, Breakspear felt himself dragged along the floor. The process hurt his side; nevertheless, he remained passive.

"Now that you're sure I mean to keep my word, and won't hurt him," the man said again, "I suppose you'll be willing to come and sit with me while I sleep. I must talk to you. We've got to arrange where we shall leave the caravan."

A whisper followed these words—a whisper evidently in a woman's voice, but Jim could neither hear what was said, nor recognize the tone. He began to believe now that he had simply walked into a trap, and that Maya had never been in the caravan at all.

"Nonsense," came the answer, "it's only shamming, or a little bit dazed, perhaps. Look under the cloak, if you like, and see for yourself."

Apparently the other free occupant of the caravan did not care to avail herself of this suggestion; but a hand was laid on Breakspear's chest, and must have felt the beating of his heart. As if the owner of the hand were satisfied in this way, soon after drawn away, and there was a movement close to Jim's side, as though someone passed by.

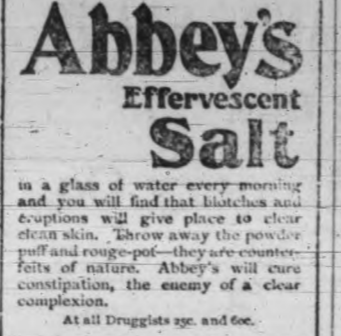

"He's all right, but he can't stir to save his life, and we need have no fear in leaving him," the man's voice said. "Come on. We must be getting off for fear of accidents, and I don't want to be obliged to stop again."

The wretch was creaking of footsteps, and the clapping of a door. They almost immediately, Breakspear was aware that the caravan had begun to move.

part of the moor, where no one could hear him if he chose to shout, he would be helpless to thwart them so long as he was bound and lying on his back. He needed only be guarded by the woman who would merely have to see that no prying person attempted to find out what was inside the caravan. They might even murder him; if that seemed best for their purpose, and before the crime was discovered they could be well out of the way.

All this Breakspear thought, and then told himself that there was something else of still more importance to be settled. This was how to escape from the exceedingly awkward predicament in which he had become entangled.

True, there seemed to be no way of escape; yet he had the feeling that there must be a way, if he could only concentrate his mind upon it.

Of course, he could yell for help; but in the first place his voice would not carry far through the muffling folds of cloth wound round his head. Even if, in this desolate country and at this time of night, any human being were within call, his shouts could hardly be heard at a dozen yards distance from the moving caravan. What, then, could a wounded man with a rope round his ankles, his wrists tied behind him, and a cloak over his head, do to free himself from bondage?

As Jim lay stilling himself this question that appeared to have no answer, he became aware of a sound, almost as regular as the ticking of a clock. It was somewhere near him, and it resembled the light tapping of metal against wood.
