Special Information: Minneapolis is the largest city in Minnesota and the N. W. of which it is the manufacturing, wholesaling, retailing, distributing, financial and educational center, the State University being located here. Minneapolis has one of the most up-to-date scientific water supply systems in the country. Water is pumped from Mississippi above city to filtration plant where it is filtered and sterilized. Daily consumption is 40,000,000 gallons. The pumping plant has a daily capacity of 130,000,000 gallons. Valuation of Minneapolis municipal property is $85,000,000. 231.64 miles of street railway track operated. In 1923 number of car miles operated was 17,280,268. Number of revenue passengers hauled was 132,904,222. Minneapolis is a city without suburbs. Minneapolis is also noted for its Institute of Arts, the Walker Art Collection, its Symphony Orchestra, Conservatories of Music, etc.
 Residential Features: Minneapolis is a city of homes. 1923 count by City Planning Commission: over 60,000 single family dwellings, approximately 10,000 duplexes and 2,000 apartments. The Labor population is primarily home owning, which is a very outstanding feature. One of the large labor districts bounded as follows: South city limits—Chicago avenue and 40th street. Cedar Lake street and the Mississippi River—is almost exclusively single family residences. Important: The density of population within the limited bounds of the city is greater than most of the largest cities of the country. In other words, we grew out from the center and the dwellings are not scattered.

Retail Shopping Section: First avenue north to 5th street, Hennepin avenue—Washington to 10th street, Nicollet avenue. Second street to 11th street, Marquette—4th to 11th streets. All cross streets between Nicollet and Hennepin, also Lake street district. West Broadway district, Central avenue district, Franklin avenue district, Cedar and Washington districts. Note: Nicollet avenue is the largest retail street in the country without a car line, and has practically every line of merchandise in the shutting stores.

Trading Area: The immediate trade territory of Minneapolis is included in the State of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, the northern border of Nebraska, the northern half of Iowa, western and northern half of Wisconsin and the northern peninsula of Michigan. There is a population of 1,000,000 within a radius of 50 miles with Minneapolis as a center, or within the second parcel post zone. There is a population of 6,500,000 in the trade territory of which Minneapolis is the industrial center.

Get Into the Rich Northwest RIGHT!!

In two clearly defined sections in Minnesota the people transact the bulk of their business with either Saint Paul or Minneapolis. The territory for 100 miles west of Minneapolis, branching out in the form of a triangle with Minneapolis as the apex is conceded to be largely Minneapolis territory, especially from a retail standpoint.

Likewise the territory for 100 miles south of Saint Paul, in a triangle embracing the entire wealthy, thickly settled, heavy buying, southeastern part of the state is SOLID SAINT

PAUL territory. These are the only two sections of the entire Northwest to which either city may lay special claim.

This St. Paul Salient is the part of Minnesota which contains 50 per cent of the population and 32 per cent of the assessed wealth. With it goes the western part of Wisconsin within a 100 mile radius of St. Paul and a good full share of the entire balance of Minnesota. This territory, with St. Paul as its great market-center, is the logical ground upon which to lay the foundation of merchandising success in the entire Northwest.

St. Paul Dispatch St. Paul Pioneer Press

These newspapers are, and have been for years, recognized in the Northwest and wherever the Northwest is studied and understood, as the outstanding leaders in the Northwest. With 145,145 daily combination and 142,010 Sunday circulation they afford a thorough coverage of this rich territory. There are many subscribers in Iowa, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota and in Montana, but the great strength is in the SAINT PAUL SALIENT—this Southeastern Minnesota—this back-bone of the Great Northwestern Empire.

Saint Paul itself has 55,000 families, white and colored, rich and poor, foreign and American, literate and illiterate. Over 47,000 of them take these papers, 41,000 being carrier-delivered, morning, evening and Sunday. Compare with any and all cities of this size and larger. You will find only one such perfect coverage in the entire United States.

Get this also. This twelve-hour service not only gets papers into the houses where people live—but into the minds and impulses of the entire family, adapting itself to their varying habits, moods, and preferences. No advertiser can afford to overlook the vital value of total coverage within the family.

You can cover thoroughly the entire market of St. Paul and its rich trading territory with the Dispatch and Pioneer Press. You cannot cover this territory—much less reach its purchasing power and confidence—without these Key Papers to the Great Northwest.

That Advertisers May Judge for Themselves

the dealer influence of the St. Louis newspapers

To enable advertisers to judge for themselves which newspaper to use to influence dealers and win new dealers in the St. Louis market,

6500 retail dealers in Metropolitan St. Louis were recently asked which St. Louis daily newspapers they read.

*74 out of every 100 replies specified the Globe-Democrat
68 the first evening paper.
35 the second evening paper.
18 the third evening paper.*

The Survey covered dealers in eleven different lines of business.

In seven lines the Globe-Democrat is read by more dealers than is any other St. Louis newspaper.

In only three lines is the first evening paper read by more dealers than is the Globe-Democrat. In one other line the number reading each of these newspapers is the same.

Globe-Democrat predominance in dealer influence is proved by the foregoing figures based upon dealers' actual statements, obtained by a disinterested organization. The

Men's Furnishings

88% of the dealers in Men's Furnishings read the Globe-Democrat.
62% read the first evening paper.
43% read the second evening paper.
20% read the third evening paper.

Hardware

70% of the Hardware Dealers read the Globe-Democrat.
57% read the first evening paper.
36% read the second evening paper.
14% read the third evening paper.

Drugs

86% of the Druggists read the Globe-Democrat.
72% read the first evening paper.
43% read the second evening paper.
20% read the third evening paper.

Shoes

62% of the Shoe Dealers read the Globe-Democrat.
62% read the first evening paper.
26% read the second evening paper.
14% read the third evening paper.

Dry Goods

69% of the Dry Goods Dealers read the Globe-Democrat.
65% read the first evening paper.
31% read the second evening paper.
11% read the third evening paper.

Millinery

63% of the dealers in Millinery read the Globe-Democrat.
60% read the first evening paper.
35% read the second evening paper.
11% read the third evening paper.

Groceries

73% of the Grocers read the Globe-Democrat.
66% read the first evening paper.
32% read the second evening paper.
17% read the third evening paper.

Cigars and Tobacco

80% of the Cigar and Tobacco Dealers read the Globe-Democrat.
74% read the first evening paper.
50% read the second evening paper.
31% read the third evening paper.

daily Globe-Democrat is not only read by dealers but preferred by dealers.

42% of the retail dealers prefer the Globe-Democrat. 36% prefer the first evening paper. 14% the second. 5% the third.

And—

In the 49th State no other newspaper even approaches the Globe-Democrat in dealer influence

Throughout the great 49th State—that thriving area that spreads out 150 miles in every direction from St. Louis, its Capital—the Globe-Democrat is read by more retail dealers than is any other St. Louis newspaper.

Survey results show that it is read by 92.2% of the 49th State dealers. Read by more than the combined total of those who read the three St. Louis evening newspapers.

When 49th State retail dealers outside St. Louis were asked, "Does Globe-Democrat advertising help you to sell goods?" 88.2% answered, "Yes."

The 49th State

Place your advertising in the Globe-Democrat to reach and influence the retail dealers who supply this market's tremendous daily needs. There are more than 40,000 dealers in the 49th State, including St. Louis, the "Source of Supply" to 4,600,000 people.

The Globe-Democrat is St. Louis' Largest Daily—has been for years.

Let the Service and Promotion Department and the Research Division of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat give you the specific information in which you are most interested, concerning this great market for your product.

500 National Advertisers
Use the POST-DISPATCH
EXCLUSIVELY

More than 500 National Advertisers, representing nearly every class and price of merchandise, depended entirely upon the Post-Dispatch to introduce, maintain or increase the sale of their products in the St. Louis territory during the first six months of 1924.

This striking endorsement of the Post-Dispatch would not be possible unless these keen National Advertisers found success in the St. Louis territory through Concentrating their advertising in One newspaper—the Post-Dispatch—which influences Both the merchant and the consumer.

During the first six months of 1924, St. Louis business firms representing the 15 most important retail classifications, placed 53% of all their advertising in the Post-Dispatch ALONE—or more than in ALL THREE other St. Louis newspapers COMBINED.

Home merchants, too, have found the Post-Dispatch produces more sales at less cost than any other St. Louis newspaper.

Only a few of the 500 National Advertisers who used the Post-Dispatch exclusively are listed below, but—

We are your St. Louis representatives

What do you want to know about St. Louis? Ask us! Perhaps this office won't have the answer, for we do not compile batches of general, frequently useless, information. But we will secure the specific information you want, if humanly possible.

That's why we call ourselves "your St. Louis representatives." When you ask us to gather data concerning your product or business in this market, we cease functioning as part of The St. Louis Star and become a part of your organization until your request has been taken care of satisfactorily. Actuated by a selfish motive, of course, because we know that such service will earn your lasting appreciation.

So, if you fail to find just what dope you need or would like to have in this edition of "Editor and Publisher," simply drop a couple of lines to your St. Louis representatives . . .

Theatres: Legitimate, 1; Moving Pictures, 32; Vaudeville, 3; Auditoriums, etc., 3; Total Seats, 37,710.

Location: Omaha is the leading rail center between Chicago and Denver. It is the center of 13 national and interstate highways. It is on the main transcontinental mail route. Fourth railroad center in America. The following railroad centers enter Omaha: Burlington, C. & N. W., C. Gt. W., C. M. & St. P., C. R. I. & P., I. C., Mo. Pac. U. P., Washab, C. St. P. M. & O.

Principal Industries: Smelting of all kinds, packing industry, butter, railroad shops, tires, alfalfa products, biscuit making, bags, structural steel, printing, manufacturing of flour and mill products.

Manufacturing Establishments, 450. Leading firms: American Smelting & Refining, M. C. Peters Mill Co., M. E. Smith Co., Item Biscuit Co., Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co., Bemis Bag Co., Omaha Flour Mills Co., Omaha Steel Works, Cudahy, Swift, Armour, Morris Packing Companies.

Although 34th in population, Omaha is 19th in bank clearings. Omaha has the best one mile track in the west, with splendid stables and a grand stand seating 10,000 people. Special trackage and street railways show perfect efficiency in handling huge crowds that attend the races. Nearly 200 acres are included in the grounds in which $1,000,000 has been invested. Aside from the races, which are an annual event, the grounds are available as an entertainment center and places Omaha among the leading cities for handling large number of visitors.

Residential Features: Almost 50% of the families own their homes. There are no slums or tenements. Most of the houses are one and two family. Dundee, located to the west of the city, is a fine residential suburb which has been absorbed by the growing city of Omaha. Homes vary greatly in value from $10,000 to $105,000.

Retail Shopping Section: The retail shopping district comprises from Chicago to Leavenworth and from 14th to 17th except Douglas, which extends to 19th, Farm to 24th and Harney to 18th. From Chicago to Leavenworth is 10 blocks. Three outlying retail districts, namely Florence, Benson and South Omaha, each of which used to be separate small towns which have been absorbed by Omaha. Usual neighborhood shopping districts. Council Bluffs is right across the River, a 20 minute street car ride from center of Omaha.

Trading Area: The trading area is 40 miles in a circle from Omaha and Council Bluffs. As Omaha and C. B. are the only really large towns in this territory they naturally draw from larger radius than if there were other large towns where people could shop. Leading from Omaha into this region are two interurban lines, 15 bus lines, 10 trunk railroads, 22 branch railroads and 13 national highways.

Wholesale Houses: Grocers, 10; Semi-Wholesale, 5; Meats, 16; Fruits, 20; Hardware, 7; Dry Goods, 7; Bakers, 6; Cigars, 12; Coal, 8; Confectioners, 18; Drugs, 9; Fuel, 35; Furniture, Location: Two miles south of the mouth of the Platte River, on the west bank of the Missouri River. Served by main lines of C. B. & Q. and the Mo. Pac. R. R. north, south, east and west, as well as auto bus service to the north and south.

Principal Industries: Farming and cattle raising on the farms, and in the city we have Burlington repair shops which employ from 400 to 600 men. Flour mills and machine shops also found here.

Manufacturing Establishments: 2. Bertsch's Machine Shops.

Special Information: Besides being on the main lines east and west of C. B. & Q. R. R. and main line north and south of the Mo. Pac. Ry., we have several popular automobile highways, the principal ones being the King of Trails and the Washington Highway. Being only a 45-minute drive from the great live stock markets of Omaha, stock raising is quite an occupation in itself. Missouri River freight rates apply to Plattsmouth. Daily truck service to the north and south.

Residential Features: Plattsmouth enjoys a natural location for beauty second to none in the state. It being situated in the hills overlooking the Missouri River makes it a most desirable spot for summer homes and permanent residences. Mostly one-family houses. Three modern apartment houses. A very limited section is devoted to workmen's dwellings. Private homes predominate.

Retail Shopping Section: Extends seven blocks west from the Burlington depot and one block on either side of this (main) street.

Trading Area: Extends about 20 miles south and west. Intermittent business is secured from people living across the river east in Iowa, also from across the Platte River to the north. A wooden bridge spans the Platte River three miles north, while a Missouri River ferry takes care of travel from Iowa.

Wholesale Houses: Fruits, 1.

Special Information: Summer visitors at Asbury Park spend $1,500,000 each season for accommodations, and in addition to this amount spent nearly $1,000,000 in local stores and for amusements. These visitors are taken care of for the most part in hotels and boarding houses, among the former being some of the most up-to-date resort hosteries in the country. The farm products of Monmouth County amount to over $10,000,000 annually. The per capita wealth of Asbury Park is $2,507.94.

Residential Features: Mostly one family houses and along the avenues leading from the shore are many handsome summer homes, forming a colony of well-to-do residents. There are no tenements, a small group of workers live in one-family houses in the western section of city. Many high grade boarding houses and smaller houses for the accommodation of summer visitors.

Retail Shopping Section: Extends along Cookman avenue a half mile, on Mattison avenue two blocks and on the west side along Springwood avenue. Main street, for its entire length of half a mile, is lined with garages, carrying generally every car.

Trading Area: Asbury Park enjoys one of the most prosperous trading areas in the state. During the summer season there is a vast amount of wealth in circulation, as the summer visitors' demands are great and varied.

To the North the trading area extends to Long Branch, Eatontown, Maricao, Colt's Neck. To the south to Lakewood, Spring Lake, Point Pleasant, Toms River, Allenwood, Manasquan. To the west it includes Adelphia, Farmingdale, Ailaire, Freehold and Scranston.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

1920 Population, 50,707.

Native Whites, 64%; Negroes, 21%; Foreign Born, 13.9%; Industrial Workers, 47%; Families, 12,468.

Schools: Public Grade, 14; High, 1; Parochial, 3; Number of Pupils, 10,550.

Churches: Baptist, 8; Christian Science, 2; Episcopal, 5; Hebrew, 5; Methodist, 11; Presbyterian, 6; Roman Catholic, 4; Miscellaneous, 4.

Banks: National, 5; State, 8; Total Resources, $54,855,160.

Theatres: Legitimate, 3; Moving Pictures, 11; three ocean piers which give all sorts of amusements; numerous cabarets.

Location: Is located on an island about ten miles long, directly on the Atlantic Ocean. Has three railroads to Philadelphia, two of which also run trains directly to New York City. Trolley line runs the entire length of the city and two lines to the mainland. In addition to the railroad and trolley service there are three boulevards to the mainland, connecting with hard-surfaced roads to Philadelphia, New York, and all the main automobile routes. On the Pennsylvania and Philadelphia & Reading R. R's.

Principal Industries: Practically the only business is the entertainment of visitors in the hundreds of hotels and boarding houses, and the rental of cottages throughout the Summer season. The number of visitors ranges from 15,000 during the dull months to 300,000 during the Summer months.

Special Information: Owing to the climate, transportation facilities, and unsurpassed hotel accommodations there are many conventions held in this city in addition to the regular class of visitors. Because of the climate, excellent schools, pure water supply, and train service there are many who make their homes in this city, whose business is in Philadelphia.

Residential Features: This is largely a city of individual homes as is shown by the fact that the 1920 census showed that there were over 9,000 dwellings. Owing to the almost universal custom of renting during the summer season, thus getting additional revenue, it is possible for people, to occupy a much finer home than could otherwise be done. There are also many apartment houses. The finest residential district is located in the southern part.

Retail Shopping Section: Most of the larger and better class of stores are located on Atlantic avenue for a distance of 20 blocks; on Pacific and Arctic avenues for nearly the entire length, and on many of the cross-town avenues are located a considerable number of small stores, which are mostly of the neighborhood class. There are many large and fine stores on the boardwalk which cater especially to visitors.

Trading Area: Radius of about 20 miles and is made up of several towns of 1,000 to 5,000 population. All of easy access by railroad or trolley.

Wholesale Houses: Groceries, 3; Meats, 2; Fruits, 3.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.

1920 Population, 298,103.

City and Suburban Estimate, above figure is total city according to last Federal Census, 1920.

Native Whites, 86%; Negroes, 2%; Foreign Born, 12%; Industrial Workers, 20%; English Reading, 80%; Families, 75,750.

Schools: Public Grade, 39; High, 2; Junior High, 1; Parochial, 20.

Churches: Baptist, 14; Christian Science, 2; Congregational, 3; Episcopal, 11; Hebrew, 9; Methodist, 16; Presbyterian, 2; Roman Catholic, 26.

Banks: National, 5; State, 13; Total Resources, $228,000,000.

Theatres: Legitimate, 3; Moving Pictures, 25; Vaudeville, 6; Burlesque, 1; Miscellaneous (Auditoriums, etc.), 10.

Location: Jersey City is the terminating point for ten railroads, placing the city in direct touch with all parts of the continent. Hudson & Manhattan tubes place Jersey City within five minutes of Broadway, N. Y. City. Construction of Hudson River Vehicular Tunnel, connecting Jersey City with New York is still under way. Completion of these tunnels will provide quicker through access from New York to New Jersey, relieving the present great pressure on ferries, etc.

Principal Industries: Meat packing, soap and toilet articles, oils, paints, metals, foods, chemicals, wood products, textiles.

Manufacturing Establishments: Leading firms, Colgate & Company, Dixon Crucible Co., Durham Duplex Razor Co., Wm. Crane Co., Voorhees Rubber Co., Mueller Macaroni Co., Lorillard Tobacco Co., Ryerson Co., Woolsey Co., American Sugar Refining Co., Whitlock Cordage Co., A. B. C. Elevator Co., Davis-Bournville, Ammon & Person, Eagle Printing Lines, John Mehl.

Special Information: Jersey City has a water frontage of 10 miles, which adds greatly to its prosperity. It is the second largest city in the State, the county seat of Hudson County, which has a population of 629,154, approximately one-fifth of that of the State of New Jersey. It has more than one thousand acres of undeveloped land, suitable for industrial purposes. This fact tends to keep down the land costs and rental far below the standard in Manhattan. Jersey City's prosperity is indicated by its sound economic conditions reflected by recent statements of banks reporting over $309,000,000 assets.

Residential Features: Jersey City is an ideal residential place. Homes consist mainly of one and two family houses. Many large apartment houses of the very newest and most modern type were recently erected and more under course of construction. The majority of the homes are owned by the tenants, there being a great demand for homes for working men employed in the various industries.

Retail Shopping Section: The principal shopping districts include Newark avenue, Monticello avenue, Jackson avenue, Ocean avenue, Westside avenue, Central avenue, Five Corners, and Journal Square.

Trading Area: The trading area of Jersey City is 19 square miles—This does not, to any extent, do justice to the amount of business enjoyed by local merchants. Thousands of dollars worth of business come from shoppers who reside many miles beyond the boundary of Jersey City area, who are attracted by the excellent transportation facilities via very fine bus, trolley and tube service.

Wholesale Houses: Groceries, 13; Meats, 3; Fruits, 2; Hardware, 6; Dry Goods, 2; Miscellaneous Lines, 32.

Number of Retail Outlets for Nationally Advertised Products: Passenger automobile agencies, 63; commercial auto, agencies, 8; automobile accessories, 70; automobile tire agencies, 16; bakers, 134; cigar stores and stands (including hotels), 116; confectioners (including hotel stands), 112; delicatessen, 168; dressmakers, 125; druggists, 145; dry goods, 252; department stores, 16; electrical supplies, 45; florists, 47; fruits, 257; furniture, 56; furriers, 14; garages (public), 143; grocers, 766; hardware, 76; jewelry, 52; meat markets, 414; men's furnishings, 52; men's clothing, 42; merchant tailors, 125; milliners, 67; opticians, 19; photographers, 30; pianos (and miscellaneous musical instruments), 15; radio supplies, 32; restaurants (including hotels), 140; shoes, 127; sporting goods, 17; stationers, 163; women's apparel, 48.

The Jersey Journal

"a real necessity which can't very well be overlooked when contemplating distribution in Jersey City."

This statement by a well-known national advertiser (name furnished on request) indicates the absolute strength of the selling force of The Jersey Journal.

As the 2nd largest city in the State, Jersey City has a prosperous buying population as is indicated by the thrift of its people. The total resources of the Jersey City banks as reported by the State Commissioner of Banking and Insurance and the National Banks at the end of the last fiscal period being

$246,246,669.03

Of this vast amount

$217,269,071.28

IS REPRESENTED BY DEPOSITS ALONE.

Furthermore Jersey City has an unusually large proportion of home-owners among its citizens. The total resources of the Building and Loan Associations reported by the same department for the same period were

$35,821,247.00

In the past decade Jersey City has experienced a tremendous growth. During 1923, there was spent in new buildings the sum of $15,705,119.

And for the first nine months of 1924 the sum of $13,600,516 was spent for the same purpose.

Jersey City's ideal homes and modern apartment life, the rentals of which are comparatively low as compared with other big cities, tend to lower the cost of living and enable its residents to give quick and ready response to advertisements appearing in their favorite home newspaper.

Location: Newark is located on Newark Bay and the Passaic River. It is an important section of the Port of New York and the overflow from Manhattan has started on its way to Newark insuring great strides and rapid development for the next few years. This, coupled with the rail and water connections and the natural growth of the great industries already here, makes Newark a most opportune city for real estate investment or the location of productive enterprise. Newark is eight miles west of New York with a twenty-minute running time for trains between the two great cities.

Five trunk railroads serve Newark giving it exceptional service to all parts of the country. The city is within convenient trucking distance of New York and river lines give direct connection with ocean shipping. As a railroad point it enjoys the low competitive water rates on all railroads. One ocean line makes Newark its home port and the city has a service extending over the lines of the New York large canals.

Principal Industries: Electric machinery, apparatus and supplies, foundry, machine shop products, leather, jewelry, printing, publishing, bread and bakery products.

Manufacturing Establishments: 3,500. Leading firms, Rubberset Co., Splittorf Electrical Co., Weston Elec. Instrument Co., Whitehead & Hoag, Durant Motor Co., Crnicbie Steel Co. of America, Edlson Lamp Works of General Elec. Co., Hyatt Roller Bearing Corp., Wortington Pump & Machinery Co., Clark Thread Co., Nairn Linoleum Co., Thomas Edison, Inc., Monroe Calculating Machine Co., Crocker-Wheeler Co., General Lead Batteries Co., Westinghouse Lamp Co., Celluloid Co.

Special Information: Newark ranks among the leading industrial centers of the United States in volume and diversity of manufacture. While New Jersey ranks tenth in population among the States of the Union, it ranks sixth in wealth. This wealth is largely concentrated in Newark, the largest city in the State. Because of its strategic position and the colossal development now under way at Port Newark, the logical terminals in the expansion of the port of New York, Newark will shortly be recognized as one of the most important seaports on the Atlantic coast.

Newark has twenty-one freight depots, fifteen passenger depots and sixteen delivery yards. It is served by the Pennsylvania; Central Railroad of New Jersey; Erie; Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; Lehigh Valley and Hudson & Manhattan Railroads. Freight tonnage by rail in 1920 was 6,015,382, by express 181,000 tons and by water 3,408,700 tons, making a total freight movement for the city of 9,605,082 tons.

Residential Features: Of the 37,011 dwellings in Newark, 25,353 are one and two family houses. Newark's suburbs, including the Oranges, Montclair, Glen Ridge, Bloomfield, Maplewood, Madison, Millburn, Short Hills, Chatham, Summit, Morristown, and other communities along the Lackawanna, are the most desirable in the metropolitan district.

Retail Shopping Section: Extends on Broad street from the Lackawanna Station to Lincoln Park, 20 blocks, and at right angles on Market street, from the Pennsylvania Station to the Court House, 10 blocks. Outlying shopping sections are known as Clinton Hill, Springfield avenue, Roseville, Forest Hill and Ironbound.

Trading Area: Extends in fan shape for about 25 miles and is served by five trunk lines of railroads, and trolley and bus systems, all affording quick and efficient service.

Wholesale Houses: Groceries, 22; Meats, 24; Fruits, 22; Hardware, 29; Dry Goods, 4; Miscellaneous, 1 (Shoes).

Number of Retail Outlets for Nationally Advertised Products: Passenger automobile agencies, 52; commercial auto agencies, 17; automobile accessories, 202; automobile tire agencies, 34; bakers, 285; cigar stores and stands (including hotels), 111; confectioners (including hotels), 808; delicatessen, 240; dressmakers, 400; druggists, 234; dry goods, 418; department stores, 7; electrical supplies, 77; florists, 59; fruits, 113; furniture, 68; furrers, 49; garages (public), 160; grocers, 1,361; hardware, 180; jewelry, 133; meat markets, 525; men's furnishings, 67; men's clothing, 94; merchant tailors, 48; milliners, 101; opticians, 35; photographers, 56; pianos (and miscellaneous musical instruments), 40; radio supplies, 33; restaurants (including hotels), 445; shoes, 167; sporting goods, 21; stationers, 29; women's apparel, 28.

The standing of a Newspaper in the community it serves is to be judged by its record of achievement alone. Such a record of the not only proves its pre-eminent position in Northern New Jersey, but fixes its standing well up among the leaders of ALL the Great Dailies of the United States.

The NEWARK EVENING NEWS is primarily a Newspaper for the Home.

It serves a territory rich in business prospects for the shrewd advertiser.

It is a Newspaper of sorts and its position in the home is not filled by any other newspaper reaching its territory.

AN IMPRESSIVE RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT

Among all the six day newspapers published in the United States, the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, during 1923, ranked as follows:

- FIRST in FOOD ADVERTISING
- SECOND in NATIONAL ADVERTISING
- THIRD in AUTOMOBILE ADVERTISING
- THIRD in CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING
- FIFTH in TOTAL ADVERTISING

Such a record must be accepted as conclusive evidence that

The MARKET

Can you picture a well-ordered city with a population of 135,875 people (1920 U. S. Census report—population now estimated to be 149,000) with 64,000 engaged in gainful occupations?

This large family occupies 32,186 homes and spent in 1923 $24,605,604 for food and clothing alone.

This rich market is Paterson, N. J., the third city in the State, which has 2,659 retail outlets for your goods with a total value of yearly output of its factories estimated at $225,000,000. Its banks and trust companies have total resources of $115,930,772.91 with savings deposits amounting to $62,332,644.61.

Its principal industries are manufactured silk, the dyeing of same, the making of shirts, linen threads, locomotives, aeroplane engines.

Paterson is also the commercial centre for 500,000 buyers in Northern New Jersey.

A REAL MARKET FOR ADVERTISED GOODS!

The MEDIUM

Passaic County, of which Paterson is the county seat, is primarily an evening paper field with four evening dailies to one morning and THE PATERSON PRESS-GUARDIAN, with the LARGEST evening circulation in the County, offers the ideal medium for most advertised goods in Paterson.

THE PRESS-GUARDIAN is delivered to or eventually reaches over 14,000 homes in Paterson and thriving suburbs every evening and STAYS IN THE HOME where it is carefully read by every member of the family. (Last A. B. C. Auditor's report made in July, 1924, shows 13,625 net paid for 6 months ending June 30, 1924.

The readers of THE PRESS-GUARDIAN in 1923 PAID $7,323,000 FOR FOOD ALONE.

The Press-Guardian now leads in food advertising in Paterson.

Its methods of co-operation have been highly commended by some of the biggest national advertisers in the country.

If you want your message to be carefully read and considered by the discriminating people of Paterson, THE PRESS-GUARDIAN performs that service admirably.

Why isn't radio broadcasting done in the early morning?

Because no one would have the time to "listen in."

Use the largest evening paper in Paterson and get an attentive audience.

WHEN a six-day newspaper which also has a large Sunday edition makes a gain of 536,998 lines in total paid display advertising in a period of 10 months while its competitors either practically stand still or show losses, it is certainly worth telling the journalistic and advertising world.

Look at these figures—from January to October, 1924, inclusive—the Buffalo daily (six-day) newspapers, compared with the same period of 1923:

Buffalo Evening TIMES, Gained	- - -	536,998 lines
Buffalo Evening News, Gained	- - -	5,180 lines
Buffalo Evening Enquirer, Lost	- - -	150,668 lines
Buffalo Evening Commercial, Lost	- - -	267,302 lines
Buffalo Morning Courier, Lost	- - -	17,276 lines
Buffalo Morning Express Gained	- - -	36,162 lines

It is perhaps superfluous to add that The Buffalo TIMES—Evening and Sunday—carries more total paid display advertising than any other paper, enjoying a lead over the next paper, an evening newspaper, of 275,016 lines.

with its more than 32,000 net paid daily circulation leads its contemporary by more than one hundred and sixty per cent in local circulation—more than one hundred per cent in local and suburban circulation, more than seventy per cent in total circulation—and keeps right on widening the gaps.

In Binghamton the coverage is so complete that the average net paid circulation exceeds the number of listed homes in the city. In Binghamton and adjacent territory the coverage is three copies to each 16 people. This is a situation not excelled anywhere, and approached only in two or three other cities in this country.

Behind it all there are two splendid reasons—a real newspaper, modern, up-to-the-minute, and a live, wideawake community—appreciative and responsive.

There is no better demonstration territory in the land than Binghamton and no more stable and dependable advertising medium for a real test than

NO newspaper covers Fulton County, the home of the glove industry, to any extent except Fulton County newspapers.

A. B. C. records show the pre-eminent position occupied by The Leader-Republican in covering Fulton County.

Midway between Albany and Utica on the uplands of the Mohawk River valley, this county harbors, principally, the glove industry of America and in lesser degree, leather tanning, silk making, knitting mills and lumber interests.

Gloversville and Johnstown are the two adjoining industrial cities in this county—population 32,000; county total 50,000—and

THE JAMESTOWN MORNING POST

DOMINATES ITS FIELD

Table with 4 columns: Circulation Type, Circulation Count, and IT LEADS indicator.

When a daily newspaper year after year outstrips in circulation all others in its territory and sees its subscribers stand firm and constant, ignoring the lure of premiums or contests or other methods employed with the intent of tempting them away, it can carry only one meaning—that paper has a strong hold on the heartstrings of its constituency.

It is this support by its subscribers that The Jamestown Morning Post prizes as its greatest single asset.

In Southwestern New York The Jamestown Morning Post is known as a fearless and uncontrolled newspaper. What it says is believed. Its advertisements are read with confidence.

To continue worthy of this great responsibility is the constant aim of this paper.

The Jamestown Morning Post has been a member of the A-B-C since that excellent organization was formed.

The Jamestown Evening Journal

Aside from its advantages as an evening paper, it has more circulation in the city than its morning contemporary, the total circulation of which is larger by reason of its outside circulation, being the only morning paper in Western New York outside of Buffalo. The Journal's circulation is concentrated in the Jamestown buying zone. There is no waste and the rate is lower.

Local advertisers, who are in close touch with the situation use more space in the Journal at the same local rate. Figures of the checking bureaus prove it.

For the widest circulation in this field, the Evening Journal (city) and Tri-Weekly Journal (rural) in combination offer over 12,000 paid circulation with absolutely no duplication at a combination rate of 5 cents a line under contract to use 5,000 lines of total space.

MAGAZINE SECTION

The New York Times

Life story of Francis Joseph, Emperor of Austria for sixty-eight years, written from correspondence long hidden in the secret archives of the Austrian Imperial Government. Seven instalments in The New York Times Magazine Section. The series will conclude January 11, 1925.

THE READERS of the Magazine Section of the Sunday edition of The New York Times, the net paid circulation of which is 600,000 copies, have a greater buying power than any group of equal numbers in the world.

The Magazine Section of The Times enters three hundred and fifty thousand homes in the New York metropolitan district—homes having an estimated annual income of $1,360,000,000.

Within a radius of 150 miles of New York, including New York City, the circulation of the Magazine Section as a part of the Sunday edition of The New York Times is more than 400,000 copies, in families of relatively high incomes.

The total circulation of 600,000 copies is distributed to more than 9,000 cities, towns and villages throughout the United States to citizens who are leaders in business, the professions and the life of their communities.

A conservative estimate puts the buying power of the total circulation of the Magazine Section of The Times at $2,500,000,000 a year—the widest and richest market in the world.

The Magazine Section is printed by rotogravure—the best process for printing newspapers and reproducing illustrations in an artistic way.

The advertising rate in the Magazine Section is $1.00 an agate line, $1030 a page, equal to 1 cent a line for each 6,000 copies—the lowest newspaper rotogravure rate per thousand of circulation in the United States. Advertising agencies and advertisers who have published properly prepared announcements in the Magazine Section have found the response to be most satisfactory.

NEW YORK CITY

Foreword

The Greater New York market, colossal as it is, is still a well-defined entity and is surveyed and charted by boroughs. The pertinent facts have been gathered and brought up to date and the quantitative analysis is made under the standardized arrangement used in all Editor & Publisher space buyer's charts.

This market, one of the greatest in the world, rapidly changes and its influence is widespread and affects the markets of the entire country.

New York is the most important city, industrially, commercially and financially, as well as in population, in this country. It manufactures one-tenth of all products made in the United States and handles one-half of the country's foreign commerce.

As a market it towers above every other business center in the world. With a population of over 8,000,000 in and around the city it is the largest single market in the world and influences all markets of the nation.

Table showing Population of New York City by borough and district for 1920 Census United States, 1920 Census U. S. Metropolitan Dist., City and Suburban, 1915 Census State, 1910 Census United States, and Borough of Manhattan, Borough of Brooklyn, Borough of Bronx, Borough of Queens, Borough of Richmond.

The New York Metropolitan District includes, in addition to the five counties of Greater New York, Nassau County in Long Island, and Westchester and Rockland Counties, New York. In New Jersey, the following counties are included: Bergen, Essex, Hudson, Middlesex, Passaic, Union, Monmouth, Morris, Somerset.

These includes 179 open air theatres; 50 motion picture and vaudeville, 18 vaudeville, 66 houses devoted to productions, 14 burlesque houses and 9 concert halls.

The average seating capacity of all the motion picture theatres is 905. The average of vaudeville houses is 1,507, burlesque, 1,394; productions, 1,305. The average seating capacity of all classes of theatres is 705.

The largest motion picture theatre in the world is the Capitol, seating 5,300 people comfortably. The Hippodrome seats 5,200 people and has the honor of having the largest stage.

The home of Grand Opera is the Metropolitan Opera House. More recently The Manhattan Opera House, the Lexington Avenue Theatre and the Century are also used for Grand Opera at times.

The most widely known carnival, exhibition, circus and sport arena is the famous Madison Square Garden.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art is the recognized leader of all museums devoted to Art, while the Museum of Natural History has no equal in any country. Carnegie Hall and Aeolian Hall are two of the most famous auditoriums devoted to classical concerts.

LOCATION

New York City is located in the extreme southeastern corner of New York State, being situated around the mouth of the Hudson River. New York City consists of the extreme southeastern corner of the mainland of New York State, together with two islands in New York Harbor and a portion of the extreme end of Long Island.

A belt line connecting all railroads by car floats, lighters and steamers is maintained in the interest of the general public by the Municipal and Federal governments. This is the most extensive complete interior belt line in the world, the maintenance of which does not fall on the users.

Three terminals of the State Barge Canal are located in the Borough of Queens. These terminals place all of the advantages of the $150,000,000 deeper and wider State Barge Canal at the disposal of the shippers of New York City, and materially reduce the cost of transportation of raw materials and manufactured products.

There are fifteen electric surface railway companies serving New York City: two elevated companies, two subway companies, two motor bus companies and the Hudson tubes connecting Newark, New Jersey, and interring points with New York City. The lines of these companies extend far out into the suburbs and connect with many other railway systems that feed New York City territory.

PRINCIPAL INDUSTRIES

The stupendous totals in the following list of manufacturing lines show New York's industrial importance. The significant figures are the percentages of total production in the United States which this city manufactures.

Special Information

In outfitting and apparel New York produces 95.6% of all paper patterns, nearly three-quarters of the women's ready-to-wear clothes, nearly the same proportion of fur apparel, half the country's output of lace and millinery, nearly a third of the pianos, 46% of the men's furnishings and 40% of their shirts and hats.

The city is the world's financial center. In the whole country there are 2,900 export merchants listed, of these 2,400 are located in New York.

It is one of the three greatest furniture centers of the United States, especially in high grade and special designs, which trade amounts to what virtually is a monopoly.

More shirts and collars are made here than are made in Troy.

There are more establishments with a greater number of employes engaged in the metal industry than in the city of Pittsburgh.

Paper products in all lines yearly amount to $100,000,000. It is the largest publishing center of the country, with 3,280 firms engaged in these lines.

More shoes are produced here than in St. Louis, Lynn, or any other city except Boston.

New York, with its trading population totaling in the city and suburbs 9,207,466, with 13,000,000 within a 100-mile radius and 23,000,000 in a 200-mile radius, is the greatest consuming market in the world and of the widest variety of goods.

To measure the city as an educational center there are over 70,000 students in the colleges, 924,002 students in the public grade and high schools. In the 186 private, preparatory and business schools it is estimated there are 106,000 students. There are 160,000 in the parochial grade and high schools.

Based on the figures of the Board of Education, the Superintendent of the Parochial Schools, the colleges and the estimated figure on private schools, we have a grand total of 1,295,000 students.

What New York Eats.

The authorities of the Port of New York estimate in the territory constituting the port, the food consumption based on 6,000,000 population, allowing for children and infants, as equivalent to 6,240,000 adults, to be annually:

Table with 2 columns: Food Item and Pounds. Includes All meats, Poultry, Fish, Milk, Cheese, Eggs, Butter, Vegetables, Fruits, Sugar, Tea and coffee.

It is estimated in addition 1,000,000 cases of evaporated milk and 1,200,000 cases of condensed milk are used.

The city is one of the important live stock markets of the country, being fourth in the number of animals slaughtered.

The meals for the city require 1,800 cars daily to transport its foodstuffs.

To haul the food necessary annually would require a freight train of 4,000 miles in length.

The provision trade estimated there are 156,791,869 dozen eggs used annually.

Metropolitan New York consumes on an average 513,916 pounds of citrus fruit annually, says Charles F. Junod, vice-president of the Bank of America, who has made a survey of the city's citrus fruit market. The orange is shown to be New York's favorite fruit, the average annual consumption being estimated at 361,627,500 pounds, or about 60 pounds per capita of population. In 1922 the receipts of this fruit were 8,050 carloads, while in 1923 they were 12,133 carloads. The demand for grapefruit grew even more rapidly, increasing from 2,134 carloads in 1922 to 3,681 carloads in 1923.

Estimated by the Department of Health of New York City—Staple foods consumed annually:

World's Greatest Market

IF only eleven percent of the consumers in the New York market were to buy the advertiser's product, his sales here would be larger than if he sold to all the consumers in Detroit. If only forty-three per cent of the 9,440,000 people in New York City and its suburban territory were to respond to the advertiser's message his sales in this market would exceed his sales in Massachusetts if all the people in that state bought his goods.

To the advertiser who has a new product to introduce and to the advertiser who seeks increased sales for products already established in New York, The Sun is the most effective newspaper through which to build and increase sales in this most profitable of all markets. As evidence of this, consider the following facts:

- (1) National Advertisers, selling to the people of the New York market through the retail distributors in this market,—use more space in The New York Sun, regularly, than in any other New York evening newspaper.
- (2) The Department Store advertisers of Manhattan who depend on quick traceable results from their advertising and who are probably the keenest judges of the buying habits and the newspaper reading habits of the people in this territory,—use more space in The Sun than in any other New York newspaper, seven day morning as well as six day evening.
- (3) The Sun leads all other New York evening newspapers in the number of display advertisers using its columns, in the number that use it exclusively and in the number that place it first on their lists.

The New York Sun is read by people who have the means and the inclination to respond to advertising. Among the intelligent, able-to-buy families of New York, The Sun has a larger circulation than any other New York evening newspaper.

Number of Jews in New York City.

There are 1,643,012 Jews in the City of New York according to the estimate of the American Jewish Year Book. Of the Jews the Borough of Manhattan shows 657,101; Brooklyn, 601,280; the Bronx, 278,169; Queens, 86,194; Richmond, 17,108.
 About 29 per cent of New York City population is Jewish, by the above estimate; they comprise 33 per cent of the inhabitants of the Bronx.

BROOKLYN.

Special Information.

Brooklyn leads the world in the manufacturing of wedding rings. Brooklyn has more children in school than any other city with the exception of Chicago.
 Brooklyn ranks first in the world as a coffee importing and distributing center. Over 60% of the coffee used in the United States passes through Brooklyn.
 Brooklyn is the greatest sugar receiving, refining and distributing center in the world.
 Brooklyn leads the United States in the importation and preparation for distribution of olives, importing over 3,000,000 gallons per year.
 Brooklyn has more warehouses than all the other boroughs of New York combined.
 The extent of wharfage from the 111 commercial piers in Brooklyn is over 25 miles.
 Newtown Creek, having a length of less than four miles, is known as one of the world's busiest waterways. More cargo is shipped over Newtown Creek in one year than is shipped over the entire Mississippi River in the same time.
 Brooklyn has the largest floating dry dock in the world.
 Brooklyn has the longest commercial pier in the world.
 Brooklyn has the greatest single dock system in the world, the New York Dock Company, including 34 piers, covering a water front of over two miles.
 Over 700 ships claim Brooklyn as their home port.
 The most up-to-date terminal warehouse system in the world is the Bush Terminal, which has seven of the largest piers in the world, and in addition has 14 manufacturing buildings with a total area of over 7,000,000 square feet. These buildings occupy practically 300 acres, having almost 300 different tenants employing over 25,000 people.
 Brooklyn is fourth from the standpoint of industry in the United States.

Residential Features.

The city is one of change. The residential section of Fifth Ave. has become a shopping section as far north as 59th St.
 Riverside Drive is changing from a street of one-family residences to one of apartments both large and small.
 Park Avenue has grown to be the center of the exclusive apartment house section.
 Sub-divisions have developed rapidly in Brooklyn consisting mainly of one-family houses.
 Queens is a borough of detached houses and homes though there are some apartments in Corona and other sections.
 Richmond is a section of one and two-family houses.
 The Bronx is changing to an apartment house area.

In the Borough of Manhattan

Brooklyn, Manhattan, undoubtedly one of the longest avenues of trade in the world, is nothing more or less than a series of shopping centers joined by an almost continuous line of small retail establishments of every known character.
 The extreme southern end of this avenue is devoted principally to office buildings familiarly known as "New York's skyscrapers," but even in this center of finance and international trade, there is an unbroken chain of retail establishments. From this point north, Broadway is a combination of retail and wholesale establishments of various sizes. In mentioning the principal retail shopping districts as briefly outlined here, we merely refer to the "heart" of a district.
 The national advertiser will find avenues of trade leading into each of these centers from all sides, varying in length according to the location and character of the residents in each neighborhood.
 The following are the principal retail sales centers in the Borough of Manhattan: Broadway at Cortlandt St.; Broadway at Canal St.; Broadway at 6th to 10th St.; Broadway at 14th St.; Seventh Ave. at 14th St.; Seventh Ave. at 23d St.; Broadway at 23d St.; Third Ave. at 23d St.; Broadway at 34th St.; Third Ave. at 34th St.; Broadway at 42d St.; Third Ave. at 42d St.; Broadway at 59th St.; Third Ave. at 59th St.; Broadway at 66th St.; Broadway at 72d St.; Broadway at 79th St.; Broadway at 86th St.; Broadway at 103d St.; Broadway at 110th St.; Broadway at 116th St.; Broadway at 125th St.; Broadway at 135th St.; Broadway at 145th St.; Broadway at 157th St.; Broadway at 168th St.; Broadway at 181st St.; 207th St. from Tenth Ave. to Broadway; Eighth Ave. and 125th St.; Lenox Ave. at 145th St.; Lenox Ave. at 135th St.; Lenox Ave. at 125th St.; Lenox Ave. at 116th St.; Third Ave. at 125th St.; Third Ave. at 116th St.; Third Ave. at 110th St.; Third Ave. at 96th St.; Third Ave. at 86th St.; Third Ave. at 77th St.; Third Ave. at 68th St.

Of course, the most widely known retail section is the famous Fifth Ave. shopping district, which extends from 23d St. to 59th St.

A brief outline of New York City's retail sections would not be complete without reference to the East Side, where congestion causes retail conditions quite different from anything found elsewhere. The heart of this trading district is on East Broadway, Division St., the Bowery and neighboring streets such as Orchard, Essex, Grand, Henry, Madison and others. It is here that retail trade has reached beyond the limits of homeing facilities and the famous East Side "pusher merchant" has become a close rival to the shopkeeper.

A very recent survey shows that there are 53 pushcart markets. There are enough pushcarts to line one side of Broadway the full length of the island or thirteen miles. They extend all over the Greater City, not being confined to the lower East Side, where, however, they are thickest. It is estimated that they do a business of $50,000,000 a year with an average sale value of 15 cents. Permits for 10,000 pushcarts have been issued at this date. Some of these open air markets extend for distances of 15 blocks. It is further reported that half the sales are on Saturday and a third on Thursday.

Shopping Districts of Queens

As this borough has grown from the gradual nutting of popular neighborhood sections, it is natural that each of these districts should have a trading center such as Woodhaven, Richmond Hill, Jamaica, Whitestone, College Point, Flushing, Corona, Astoria, Long Island City and Ridgewood.

Jamaica Ave. is almost a continuous shopping street from Eldert's Lane in Woodhaven, through Woodhaven, Richmond Hill, Jamaica and beyond to Harvard Ave.

In Whitestone there are two sections—150th St. from Sixteenth Road to 11th Ave., 14th Ave. from 148th St. to 152d St.

In College Point the retail districts are at 122d St. from 15th Ave. to 26th Ave., and 15th Ave. from 118th St. to 125th St.

In Corona the shopping district is Jackson Ave. from 20th St. to 32d St.

In Astoria the main channel of retail trade is along Fulton Ave., Main St. and Astoria Ave.

Long Island City, at Vernon Ave. from Borden Ave. to Mott Ave., and Jackson Ave. from Borden Ave. to Barn St.

Ridgewood, at Metropolitan Ave. from Newtown Creek to Collins Ave., Grand St. from Newtown Creek to Broad St.

Far Rockaway, at Rockaway Boulevard from 25th St. to Mott Ave., and Mott Ave. from Rockaway Boulevard to 20th St.

The possibilities of sales promotion in New York City are unrivaled. The manufacturer has represented in this single market every advantage for sales creation and every facility for the distribution of his product. The manufacturer need not go beyond the city limits to experiment with or encounter every known difficulty in the promotion of his goods.

Many manufacturers visualize New York City's retail possibilities as centering principally upon Manhattan Island. There are marketing possibilities in each section and the importance of newspaper circulation in each corner of New York City warrants no small amount of investigation.

The merchandising and promotion departments of leading newspapers can furnish in detail many facts and features of each borough which cannot be outlined to their full extent in this limited space.

Shopping Centers of Bronx

In the Borough of the Bronx there are many neighboring sections which afford wide distribution for nationally advertised products, especially in the food line.

The principal shopping centers of this borough are six in number, each of which presents exceptional marketing possibilities. In several instances the shopping centers are even larger than many retail sections of the average American city. These six shopping districts are located at Third Ave. and 130th St., Third Ave. at 149th St., Prospect Ave. at 160th St., Southern Boulevard at 163d St., Tremont Ave. at Prospect Ave. to Boston Post Road, and Jerome Ave. to Third Ave. on Fordham Road.

Six Centers of Brooklyn

In South Brooklyn the principal shopping district is on Fifth Ave. for many blocks. In Brooklyn proper the "Borough Hall Section" represents the heart of the retail district, the principal avenues of trade are Fulton St., Flatbush Ave. and adjoining streets. In the Williamsburg section, Broadway is the main avenue of retail trade. Stores of every description from complete department stores to the smallest specialty shops are found along the highway of trade extending from the Williamsburg Bridge plaza east for a distance of more than thirty blocks. Two particularly busy centers along this highway are at Broadway and Flushing Ave. and Broadway and Lexington Ave. In the Greenpoint section, Manhattan Ave. is the main channel of retail trade.

Richmond Borough

In Richmond Borough (Staten Island) there are at least eight retail centers which are increasing in sales possibilities as rapidly as other boroughs of New York City. These centers are Port Richmond, West New Brighton, New Brighton, Tompkinsville, Stapleton, Rosebank, New Dorp and Tottenville. Each of these is a city or town in itself. In fact, the buying characteristics and sales possibilities of each community warrants individual study on the part of the distributor of merchandise.

 The above-mentioned shopping centers of New York City must not be considered the limits of distribution when planning a sales campaign in this great market. In addition to these centers of retail trade, the advertiser must take into consideration the hundreds of scattered or neighborhood districts. Nothing to rival these can be found in any other trading community of America. Careful analysis of the market on the part of national advertisers warrants close study of Editor & Publisher's Space Buyers Chart, together with the accumulation of data from New York City newspapers.

Trading Area

The daily and weekly trading zones were secured after an investigation of the sales, delivery and mail order departments of three of the largest department stores in the city.

This investigation showed that one-third of the parcels mailed were delivered within 50 miles of New York, and slightly less than two-thirds were within 100 and 150 miles.

Seventy and one-half per cent of all mailed packages were in the first and second parcel post zones.

The daily zone boundary line extends on the east on Long Island to Long Beach, from which point it swings north through Rockville Center, Garden City, Westbury, Roslyn and Glou Core. Northeast the furthestmost point is Stamford in Connecticut, including Greenwich. To the north the general description would be the whole of Westchester County, which includes, Ossining, Scarborough and Tarrytown on the east bank of the Hudson River, Mount Kisco, Briarcliffe, Mount Pleasant, Armonk and Pleasantville inland; on the west bank of the Hudson, Nyack and Piermont. To the northwest the daily zone includes Paterson, Passaic, Hackensack, Arcoia, Ridgewood, Park Ridge and Pompton Lake, all in New Jersey.

To the west it reaches its furthestmost point at Morristown. Some of the large towns in this district are Newark, Orange, Eutherford, Montclair, Chatham and Bloomfield.

On the south, Perth Amboy and South Amboy, in New Jersey and Tottenville on Staten Island, New York, are the southern points within the daily trading area.

Within this daily zone nearly all the large retail stores in New York City have a daily free delivery system.

The weekly zone area extends to the east as far as West Hampton on the south side of Long Island, then swings north across the island and includes Manorville and Wading River. In Connecticut it extends to about halfway between Milford and New Haven, within this zone in Bridgeport, Milford, South Norwalk and Norwalk. This zone swings northwest, including Danbury, Brookfield and Newton. The furthestmost point north is Chelsea on the Hudson River, which is about midway between Beacon and Poughkeepsie.

From this point on the east bank of the Hudson the weekly zone carries west. Included in this district is Newburgh, Cornwall, Highland Falls, West Point, Gardner Town, Walden and Middletown, which is in the general direction northwest from New York City.

The zone now swings southwest to Port Jervis, and is the furthest point in the weekly zone northwest of New York City. On the west the territory extends to a point beyond Hackettstown, this district includes Stillwater, Stanhope, Lebanon and Clinton, all in New Jersey.

On the southwest the weekly zone extends as far as Trenton, and, swinging in a half circle and then east, we come to the Atlantic Coast, with the furthest point just south of Point Pleasant. This includes Sea Girt, Lake Como, Ocean Grove, Ashbury Park and Long Beach.

Wholesalers.

The wholesalers and jobbers of New York are purveyors to the entire nation as well as to the city and vicinity and New York is the largest distributing center in the United States, if not in the world.

NEW YORK
America's Greatest Market

America's Greatest Market exposed at last!

THREE years ago the New York Survey was begun by a group of New York newspapers, of which The News was a subscribing member. The actual conduct of the Survey was intrusted to the New York University Bureau of Business Research. As a result of this Survey, The News now has available the fullest information ever offered on America's Greatest market. Responsible advertisers and agencies have access to this data:

General Data—on population, transients, commuters, marriages, manufacturers, numbers and kinds of retail stores, etc.

Purchasing Power Maps—District maps have been published for all boroughs but Queens. These maps show in detail, block for block, the nature of the district, the density of the population, and the purchasing power of families expressed in six grades—the most detailed and comprehensive city survey of its kind ever made. Map sheets also carry data on population, racial characteristics, building types, retail stores, etc.

Retail Census—A listing of every retail store below the third story, excepting only a few classifications such as tailor shops, coal, ice, wood, tin-smiths, etc. These lists are routed by districts, and are available to actual advertisers of The News.

Merchandising Service—Expert council and direction for advertisers seeking more or new distribution. Not cheap footwork, but worthwhile ability. This service is not broadcast, but is strictly limited to such actual advertisers as need and can properly use it.

New York's Greatest Advertising Medium

THE tabloid News is now five and one-half years old, a proven success as a newspaper and advertising medium. It has the largest Daily Circulation in America—96% concentrated in City and suburbs.

With the Largest Daily Circulation in America, The tabloid News covers New York adequately and thoroughly—96% concentrated in City and suburbs. Enough readers all over New York to create a real consumer demand that thousands of retailers can feel and recognize! Large home circulation, twenty-four hour life, more women readers than any other New York newspaper, and a proven responsiveness.

The tabloid page and small paper prevents overcrowded advertising columns and advertising waste. Every advertisement has a chance to be seen and to be read on the thousand agate line, five column page.

Small space on the small page does more work. Small appropriations go further, produce more. Low milline rate. Every national advertiser needs The News for its courage and for its economy. Investigate!

The Gazette covers the entire western portion of Niagara County, going into over 90 per cent of the homes in this rich trading section. Famous for its large industries, its fine fruit farms and its well-to-do inhabitants.

The Niagara Falls territory with a population in excess of 101,000 is a territory of great industries, rich fruit farms and prosperous inhabitants. Niagara Falls is a city of homes with beautiful churches and the finest school system in Western New York—a beehive of industry as well as a great tourist city. This rapidly growing city is the shopping center of a ten mile radius with a buying power of more than $75,000,000.00 a year. Its manufactured products reach an annual total of over $130,000,000.00.

ONE PAPER COVERS THE ENTIRE FIELD

When you consider the fact that this rich territory is covered by one paper—The Gazette—which goes into over 90% of the homes every evening, you will see that this is a fertile field for launching any campaign. The Gazette prides itself on the excellence of its delivery service that supplies over 90% of its subscribers by carrier service within three hours of the press run.

LOCAL MERCHANTS RELY ON THE GAZETTE

During 1923 The Gazette carried a total of 6,372,679 lines of local display advertising—a splendid tribute of the value of The Gazette to its advertisers. Business is good in Niagara Falls and the merchants unanimously rely on The Gazette to keep it so.

Rochester People Have More Time To Read the Morning Paper

It is in the morning that Rochester people, especially Rochester women, have time to read. More time to read means more thorough reading—both of news and advertisement.

The great and increasing popularity of the motion picture, automobile, evening parties, radio and Mah Jongg—all of them vying with each other for monopoly of the evening hours—indisputably demonstrates the fact that the average Rochester family has less time to read the evening newspaper than ever before.

The morning more-time-to-read factor in Rochester means that the morning newspaper is the most aggressive advertising force and the Democrat and Chronicle, as Rochester's leading morning newspaper, is your logical advertising medium because it brings the greatest volume of productive RESULTS for your advertising dollars.

Create interest with the morning newspaper before the buying action takes place.

THE 3 THREES

ELSEWHERE you will read about Utica and the Heart of the Empire State. Here you want boiled-down copper-distilled essence of the medium you will use. So, briefly, 'tis thus:—

Merchandising

Our merchandising department receives letters of commendation for its work from agencies and advertisers that any paper in the country might envy. It has made Utica an excellent try-out city by which future success can be gauged with real confidence.

Advertising

You know what department store advertising in a paper indicates. Well, so far this year (10 months of 1924) the Observer-Dispatch carried, six days against six days, 96% more than its competitor. Our Sunday issue would have raised that percentage considerably.

Circulation

People who don't read the Observer-Dispatch in Utica are so scarce that it discourages subscription canvassers. The town is plastered solid. In some of the near-by towns it's even worse. More O-D's sold than there are houses! Over 39,000 is the present (Nov., 1924) total distribution—and growing.

Greensboro, North Carolina
An Industrial City
Covered by an EVENING PAPER

Greensboro is one of the most favorably talked about cities of the South—progressive, busy, and the heart of North Carolina's industrial activity.

You must use the Record, "The Home Paper" to cover Greensboro—only an EVENING PAPER GETS MAXIMUM ATTENTION IN AN INDUSTRIAL CITY!

The Record's home circulation and close contact with jobbers and retailers should place it on every North Carolina list.

Now "at home" in a handsome new plant on Greensboro's "Million Dollar Street."

Banks: National, 2; State, 2. Theatres: Legitimate, 1; Moving Pictures, 3; Miscellaneous (Auditoriums, etc.), 1; Total number of seats, 2,850. Location: Center of Northwest North Dakota, a vast agricultural empire with great deposits of lignite coal which are rapidly being developed. It is also becoming outstanding dairy center. City is a junction of main line of Great Northern Railway and Soo Line and is recognized as one of the most progressive cities of its size in the West. It offers leadership to the entire northwestern part of the state and is a commercial center for this section. Principal Industries: Railroad shops, auto repair, flour mills, creameries, lignite, briquetting plant. Because of the city's vast trading territory, retail and wholesale establishments are very important factors in the community. The briquetting industry is just starting and promises vast development because of the absence of fuel elsewhere in the northwest. There are 600,000,000 (hillion) tons of lignite coal in Western North Dakota. Manufacturing Establishments: 6. Leading firms, Russell-Miller Milling Co., and Minot Flour Mills, also Armour Creameries and White Ice Cream Co. Special Information: With agriculture becoming a more stable industry and the fertile, low-priced land of Northwest North Dakota affording opportunities to renters from states suffering land value inflation, Northwest North Dakota can see the beginning of an influx of new settlers. As the territory develops, Minot grows for the section of a network of railroad branches and federal highways which center into Minot. Residential Features: Minot is the business center of Northwest North Dakota and is located in the Mouse River Valley. It is recognized as a city of fine residences, parks and good schools. It is one of the most attractively laid out cities of its size in the West. It is a terminal of the Great Northern Railway and a junction point of this road and the Soo line, two very important railroads. The vast lignite deposits of Northwest North Dakota are near Minot. The city has 2,446 homes. Retail Shopping Section: Main street, four blocks; Central avenue, four blocks; First street, S. E., two blocks; First street, S. W., two blocks; First avenue, S. W., & S. E., three blocks. Trading Area: Minot is the largest city in Northwest North Dakota, a territory that has 581 miles of federal highway which are open winter and summer. This gives the city a trading territory extending from Harvey and Rugby on the east, west into the eastern part of Montana and north into the southern part of Saskatchewan. The city's territory is about 225 miles wide and 125 miles north and south with Minot in the very center. There are 1,000,000 pairs of boots, shoes and articles made here yearly. In 1923 the output of rubber heels will reach 10,000,000 pairs. In the tire industry 150,000 tubes for automobiles are manufactured daily. Several carloads of paper cartons are required daily to pack these tubes. There are 147 industries capitalized at $39,004,358. The industrial payroll amounts to $80,000,000 annually. The census shows 26 establishments with 65,054 employees of which 59,138 are men and 5,916 women; twenty-six establishments have output over $1,000,000. Akron manufactures $462,092,527 worth of rubber goods of which 83.8% of all this line is manufactured in the state. Residential Features: On account of the rapid growth of Akron's suburban sections have developed rapidly. Private residences one-family type predominate, though there has been a large number of flats and apartments put up in the past few years. Industrial housing areas were built up in the southern and eastern portion of the town. Retail Shopping Section: West Market, South Main and South Howard Sts. for a distance of one and a half miles is the principal shopping section. In this section are located the principal stores, hotels, theatres and business blocks. Smaller shops and stores are located on the streets intersecting these. There is a trading center in East Akron on East Market St. and Case Ave. In South Akron, South Main St. is the trading center. Shops and stores and neigh-

—More Than Just a Dot on the Map

—A SEPARATE MARKET!

Consider Alliance, Ohio, as more than just a dot on the map. —more than just another little dot among many in some other paper's territory.

Alliance, Ohio, with 22,000 people and another 40,000 persons in adjacent territory, spent upwards of $30,000,000 in 1924—and they spent it IN ALLIANCE.

This sum was spent in response to advertising in THE REVIEW and not in response to copy in some metropolitan paper.

The 62,000 people in Alliance and Alliance territory constitute a SEPARATE market which can be sold through only ONE medium—THE ALLIANCE REVIEW.

If you "bought" the Alliance Review territory along with a lot of other markets (as a part of some metropolitan paper's territory) in 1924, consider the Alliance Market (and some others, too) as a separate market in 1925 and

Location

Cleveland is situated on the south shore of Lake Erie at the mouth of the Cuyahoga River. It is one of the largest inland ports. Ten miles of docks along the Cuyahoga River handle the immense tonnage of iron from the Great Lakes regions, 60 per cent of which comes through this port. There is 14 miles of lake front pro- tected by a breakwater 6 miles in length. There are eight grain elevators and six ore docks.

The railroads, ten in number, are parts of or allied with the country's most important systems. They are Baltimore & Ohio, Nickel Plate, Toledo & Ohio Central, Wheeling & Lake Erie, Hocking Valley, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Erie, Big Four, Lake Erie & Western.

Each has its own terminal except the New York Central, Pennsylvania and Big Four, which together share the Union Depot.

All the above named railroads are connected by means of the Cleveland Short Line R. R., a belt line making a circuit of 19 miles around the city, intersecting each railroad at or near a freight yard, making it just that much easier for the switching and transferring of freight from one line to the other.

Five interurban lines operate in all directions to points as distant as Toledo.

There are two bus lines to Akron, two to Youngstown, others to Ashtabula, Conneaut, Warren, Elyria and Toledo, Lorain and Sandusky, Elyria, Medina, Berea, and Lorain.

Eleven improved highways furnish easy access by motor to the surrounding sections. Overnight vessel freight service to Detroit and Buffalo is given daily except during winter months by boats of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Co., and Cleveland & Buffalo Trans- it Co. The Great Lakes Transit Corp. also provides daily sailings to Chicago, Duluth and all intervening points on the Great Lakes. Two Canadian lines give frequent service.

Principal Industries

A total of about 3,000 establishments operate in Cleveland according to the 1920 Census of Manufacturers.

More than 14,000 different articles are manu- factured. The value of the products produced is esti- mated at over one billion, one hundred million dollars annually.

Approximately 160,000 wage earners are em- ployed more than one-fifth of the wage earners of all Ohio.

More than $275,000,000 were expended in salaries and wages by manufacturers in 1919.

The industries of Cleveland, in order of their importance, are iron and steel, foundry and machine shop, automobiles, women's clothing, slaughtering and meat packing, printing and publishing, bread and bakery products, con- fectionery, cars and car shops, stoves and furnaces. Other products are boxes, brass and bronze, bricks and tile, chemicals, wooden goods, steel barrels, cutlery and tools, copper, tin, sheet iron, electrical mailing apparatus and supplies, furniture, refrigerators, gas and electric fixtures, lamps and reflectors, knit goods, hosiery, leather and leather goods, lumber, millinery, lace goods, patent medicines, tobacco, and auto parts.

Manufacturing Establishments

Some of the larger firms, with the number of employees, are: American Steel & Wire Co., 7,500; White Motor Co., 6,000; Bourne Fuller, 4,500; Fisher Body Co., 4,000 (this is the largest single body plant in the world); Sherwin Williams, National Acme, National Malleable Castings Co., Warner & Swasey, Nela Park, the experimental laboratory of the General Electric Co.; Cleveland Hardware Co., Chandler Motor Co., Cleveland Twist Drill Co., Cleveland Metal Products Co., Brown Hoisting Machinery Co., Printz-Biederman (Women's cloaks and suits), Joseph & Feiss (men's clothing), Peerless Motor Co., Van Dorn Iron Works, Jordan Motor Co., Gidden Varish, F. B. Stearns Co., The Cleveland Automobile Co., Baker R. & L. Co., The Rabay Co., The Templar Motors Co., The Winton Co., The Bollin Motors Co.

Special Information

Cleveland's geographical location makes this city the meeting point of the coal from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The iron ore of the Great Lakes and the limestone quarries of Ohio tend to make this one of the greatest iron ore and steel markets in the world.

Cleveland outranks all American cities in the manufacture of nuts, bolts, wire, wire nails, malleable iron castings, steel forgings, vapor stoves, plumber supplies and electric carbon. It is the second city in America in variety of manufactures. It is second to New York in ready-to-wear clothing. There are 35 manu- facturers in Garment Association. The value of clothing manufactured yearly is $50,000,000. Between five and six thousand are engaged in this industry.

Value of leading Cleveland manufactures and percentage of the manufactures in comparison with rest of state. In the county in which Cleveland is located there are 129,000 passenger automobiles registered in 1923; 1922 registra- tion was 93,700. There are 23,000 trucks in 1923 registered, and 18,500 in 1922.

Residential Features

The fashionable residential sections of Cleve- land are on par with those of any city in the country. The older and best known sections in particular Euclid avenue is giving away to trade and the newer sections in East Cleveland, Shaker Heights, Lakewood, Bratenahl are fast develop- ing. The working men's homes one-third owned by the occupants are located near the industrial sections.

The workmen's homes are located for the most part in districts known as Brooklyn, South Brooklyn, South Side, West Side and Collinwood. There are several sections of the city now being developed for the building of four room bungalows and seven room houses, this is for the encouraging of home ownership among wage earners.

Retail Section

The principal shopping district extends from the Public Square which forms the heart of the business section and is at the junction of Superior St., Euclid Ave. and Ontario St. From the Public Square for about 20 blocks on Euclid Ave., is the main business thoroughfare. Pros- pect and Superior Aves. which parallel Euclid on either side are fast developing into retail shopping districts second only to Euclid Ave. On these and intersecting streets will be found merchandise from all parts of the globe.

The following are the principal outlying shop- ping centers and cannot be confined to the im- mediate area. The retail section will in some cases extend from two to six or eight blocks on the principal street mentioned.

Euclid Ave. and 55th St., Euclid Ave. and 105th St., St. Clair Ave. and 55th St., St. Clair Ave. and E. 105th St., St. Clair Ave. and E. 152nd St., Superior Ave. and E. 35th St., Superior Ave. and E. 105th St., Payne Ave. and E. 55th St., Hough Ave. and E. 79th St., Central Ave. and E. 55th St., Broadway and E. 55th St., Woodland and E. 54th St., Broadway and E. 93rd St., Detroit Ave. and W. 68th St., Detroit Ave. and W. 70th St., Detroit Ave. and West 117th St., West 25th St. and Lorain Ave., West 25th St. and Denison Ave.

Trading Area

The trading area of Cleveland is contributed to by a large and prosperous manufacturing section in the outlying districts. Cleveland secures the major part of the business in a radius of twenty-five miles, though intermittent business comes from a much wider area. The well-stocked stores of Cleveland offer this popu- lation wider variety than the smaller stores in the home towns of these people. Good roads and the bus and interurban lines bring many people to this market but the city does not enjoy commuter business in proportion to most cities of its size.

When It Comes Actually to Selling the Goods Locally—

The confidence placed in The News and Sunday News-Leader by local merchants is surely an irrefutable argument in support of the "pulling power" of these publications. This confidence is expressed by the space used consistently. That is concrete evidence. For, when it comes actually to selling the goods locally, to placing them in the homes, when that final test is reached, the choice of the proper local advertising medium decides the success or failure of the merchandising campaign.

In Cleveland, the leading merchants handling nationally-advertised goods depend materially upon The Cleveland News and Sunday News-Leader to convey their messages to the desirable class of citizens among whom these papers circulate. The responsibility of lifting the goods off the shelves rests with these dealers. Their choice of an advertising vehicle must, of necessity, be a wise one.

Cleveland's five largest department stores used more space in these papers in the first 11 months of 1924 to sell their merchandise than in any of the other Cleveland papers. Here are the figures:

The News and Sunday News-Leader..	11,561 Columns
The Press .....	9,344 Columns
The Daily and Sunday Plain Dealer..	7,687 Columns

The News and Sunday News-Leader excess
Over Press .....	2,217 Columns
Over Plain Dealer .....	3,874 Columns

Logically, then, The Cleveland News and Sunday News-Leader, in the Ohio territory, represent the most advantageous media through which a national advertiser can keep his merchandise before the public who really buy.

19,060,395 Lines of Paid Advertising
First Eleven Months of 1924

The above paid advertising record places The Columbus Dispatch over 2,000,000 lines ahead of the next, or second largest Ohio newspaper. Compared with newspapers in its own city The Dispatch exceeded the others combined by 3,114,673 lines.

The Columbus newspaper advertising situation is but a reflection of the keen judgment of national, local display, and classified advertisers. RESULTS are the keynote to the advertising leadership of The Dispatch.

This newspaper's state wide supremacy in advertising volume is supported with a remarkable local leadership in circulation, which forcibly demonstrates its importance to all classes of advertisers.

98,458

This was the net paid daily average circulation of The Columbus Dispatch for the 6 months' period ending September 30th, 1924.

Its large and rapidly increasing clientele is due to a resourceful community consisting of 93.2% native born.

In the Dispatch's trading area are nearly a million people to be fed, clothed, housed, educated and entertained. The per capita wealth is $3,045.00.

Cleveland Press

This year and for many years past, The Press has been FIRST in Cleveland circulation and advertising volume by a wide margin. The paper so strongly the leader with Cleveland people and Cleveland merchants should be YOUR first choice when seeking sales and co-operation in the great Cleveland market.

Akron Press

An attractive combination rate for this paper with the Press in Cleveland enables the national advertiser to get overwhelmingly strong circulation in the rich Cleveland-Akron territory at reasonable cost. A comprehensive analysis of this market and the very special advantages of the combination awaits your inquiry.

Columbus Citizen

First in verified (A. B. C.) circulation, The Citizen is first choice with national advertisers who buy circulation as a definite, measurable commodity. Editorially as well as from the advertising standpoint, The Citizen is the strongest force in this quality market. Send for complete data.

Cincinnati Post

First in circulation, The Post covers Cincinnati and the clusters of towns and cities on both banks of the river which combine to form "greater Cincinnati" and the Cincinnati market. It has been MANY times demonstrated that the Post must be listed to get satisfactory sales in the Cincinnati district.

Youngstown Telegram

With a larger circulation than any other Youngstown paper, daily or Sunday, and with a long-established dominance in volume of Youngstown advertising, The Telegram is the first choice of discerning national advertisers. Metropolitan Youngstown includes eleven towns and cities, and exceeds 200,000 in population.

Toledo News-Bee

In this famous industrial center, The News-Bee is the best contact with people between the ages of 18 and 35. Not only because of its large circulation and advertising volume, but because it has such an intimate place in the lives of the most responsive people of the community, The News-Bee is the preferred medium.

Scrapps-Howard papers are EVENING papers and are represented in the national advertising field by—

Schools: Public Grade, 4; High, 1; Junior High, 1; Number of Pupils, 2,937.

Churches: Baptist, 2; Christian Science, 1; Congregational, 1; Methodist, 1; Presbyterian, 1; Roman Catholic, 1; Miscellaneous, Church of Christ, 1; Disciples, 1.

Banks: National, 1; State, 1; Total Resources, $1,389,619.80.

Theatres: Moving Pictures, 2; Aldrom, 1.

Location: Is the trading center for the Cushing oil field, situated in middle of field served indifferently by Santa Fe railroad. Gravel roads in all directions. N. S. E. W. concrete building to Tulsa proposed and now being constructed to Oklahoma City. Railroad travel is slow with four trains a day on spur track connecting with the main line at Cushing. Oil companies depend on trucks largely.

Principal Industries: Pumping wells, re-fueling, gasoline field plants making gasoline from natural gas, operating pumps, stations on main trunk lines. Oil storage and distribution from other fields, farming.

Manufacturing Establishments: Gypsy Oil Co., Magnolia Petroleum Co., Oklahoma Pipe Line Co., Prairie Oil & Gas Co., Roxana Oil Co., Shaffer Oil Co., Tidal Oil Co., Tidal Refining Co., Pure Oil Company, Texas Company, Eureka Tool Co. (Understand these companies, all branches of national producers are here in the business of making gasoline and oils, mostly, however, they stick to production. All make gasoline on the field. The Tidal operates a big refinery. The Eureka is the only plant in town that would answer the general description of a factory. Average daily production of crude oil 30,000 barrels.

Special Information: Detailed information on output of field supporting this city can be obtained from the big companies mentioned above. The field and city are really one unit. There is no new drilling, the field having settled down to steady production. Population is settled. Production about steady. Farming conditions now supply only 15 per cent of city trade rapidly becoming stronger as owners turn attention to soil and forget the oil below them.

Residential Features: The town is new and a large percentage of the people living here are looking to the time when they can build better homes. Ten years ago when the Cushing pool blew in this was a wild eyed gusher town. Today some of the temporary shacks remain but slowly and steadily good private homes are being built. Population now is staple, being lease, refinery, gasoline plant, and pump station workers with the business folk they support.

Retail Shopping Section: On Broadway, extending north and south for about six blocks, shopping section is compact, almost congested. Most of the better stores are on the west of the railroad. Usual business houses besides several oil wells supply houses which do a good share of business.

Trading Area: The Cushing, Oilton and Shamrock fields, runs five miles north and really includes the town of Oilton, ten miles south in the rich oil field with numerous plants, five miles east to the limit of all fields. The farm trading territory is much wider, but not nearly so compact and valuable as oil worker trade. This is roughly a ten mile radius except on west where it is about 7 miles.

Theatres: Legitimate and Moving Pictures, 2; Miscellaneous (Auditoriums, etc.), 1. Total number of seats, theatres, 1,750; High School Auditorium, 750.

Location: On main line of Union Pacific System (O. W. R. & N. Co.), 219 miles east of Portland, and is the southern terminus of its main line to Spokane; also operates branch lines which connect all of principal towns in county and a branch line of the Northern Pacific connects Pendleton with main line at Pasco, Wash. Pendleton is a natural highway center, being on the Old Oregon Trail, which to the west becomes the Columbia River Highway. Also on the Oregon-Washington Highway, which is a paved road, and the traffic over it is extremely heavy. With these splendid transportation facilities, Pendleton is ideally situated to become the distributing center for Eastern Oregon.

Principal Industries: Four flouring mills having a combined capacity of 2,650 barrels a day. Woolen mills, manufacturing Indian robes, bath robes, steamer robes, blankets, shawls, etc. Packing plant, creamery and ice cream manufacturing plant, planing mills, foundry and machine shops, saddle and harness manufacturing plant, roofing materials.

firms, Pendleton Woolen Mills, Collins Flouring Mills, Waiters Flouring Mills, Pendleton Flour and Grain Co., Pendleton Packing and Provision Co., Hamley & Co., Smythe-Bartel Co., B. L. Burroughs Planing Mills, Golden West Creamery, Pendleton Iron Works.

Special Information: Pendleton's volume of business is much greater than usual for a town of its size because it is the trading center of an unusually large agricultural and stock raising empire. The wealth of its trading zone has been estimated at over $100,000,000. The population of Umatilla County alone is near 30,000 and Pendleton is in the geographical center of the county. Pendleton is the home of the Round Up, the "Epic Drama of the West," and Happy Canyon, "The Round Up's Little Brother." These are classed as the greatest outdoor shows in the world and are held annually in September. Pendleton is the county seat of Umatilla County, which is the greatest and richest agricultural county in the state of Oregon, and produces annually one per cent of the wheat of the United States.

Residential Features: Pendleton is a city of good homes, and more than 10 miles of its streets are paved and the sidewalks and gutters are of concrete construction. The streets are shaded with trees, and fringes of well-kept parkings on either side are backed up with substantial houses. The city is more than fifty years old and has a wonderfully pleasing climate throughout the year. It is noted for its pure drinking water, which is secured from springs and is piped a distance of twenty miles from the mountains.

Retail Shopping Section: Pendleton has a very large section of business houses in proportion to its population, and this condition almost invariably attracts the attention of strangers. The reason for this is that the city has a large area from which it draws trade. The retail shopping section extends four blocks on Main St., four blocks on Court St., four blocks on Alta St. and four blocks on Webb St.

Trading Area: Extends over a radius of 40 miles north, east, west and south of Pendleton. Practically all of this section is covered with paved roads.

A Worth While Circulation in Allentown and the Lehigh Valley

There is a friendly evening newspaper in Allentown, The Chronicle and News, which, six days a week, carries a large advertising volume even though it has not the largest total circulation in its field.

This is undoubtedly because the Chronicle and News possesses "that something" which makes it pull like a house afire—which makes it produce unusual advertising results.

The Chronicle and News will take exceptional care of you in the matter of position and price.

QUALITY COUNTS
Most When the Advertiser Seeks Patronage

The EASTON FREE PRESS prides itself on the quality of its circulation, for it has for many years had THE CREAM of the population in its territory as its readers, a fact local merchants freely admit.

In fairness, the FREE PRESS does not claim the larger circulation of the two Easton newspapers but it does claim, and it has the proofs, that its drawing power as an advertising medium is of the very best.

That is why it carries so much local advertising.

FARRELL, PA.

1920 Population, 14,000.
City and Suburban Estimate, Wheatland, adjoining, has about 2,000.
Native Whites, 40%; Negroes, 10%; Foreign Born, 50%; Industrial Workers, 80%; English Reading, 70%; Families, 3,400.
Schools: Public Grade, 5; High, 1; Parochial, 1; Number of Pupils (approx.) 1,000.
Churches: Baptist, 2; Congregational, 1; Episcopal, 1; Hebrew, 1; Methodist, 2; Presbyterian, 2; Roman Catholic, 6; Miscellaneous, 2.
Banks: State, 2; Savings Bank Deposits Total, $1,500,000 approximate.
Theatres: Moving Pictures, 3; Miscellaneous (Auditoriums, etc.), 6.
Location: On Penna. and Erie Railroads.
Principal Industries: Steel manufacturing. Carnegie, American Steel & Wire, American Sheet & Tin Plate (two plants). Great need for more diversified industries. Building sites for small (150 man) plants to be had very reasonably.

Manufacturing Establishments, 2. American Steel & Wire Co., Sharon Steel Hoop Co. Small plants manufacture ice and soft drinks.
Special Information: Our town will not be 25 years old until next fall, so we have but few features to recommend it. We do have one of the best school systems in the state, with expectation of adding 15 or 20 rooms within the next two years. We will have about 14 miles of paved streets when this year's work is completed.

Residential Features: Five and six-room houses predominate. All mill owned houses are of one-family type, except eight. These house two families. In the restricted section houses range up to $25,000. Lack of proper zoning in the old part of town allowed houses too close, but most of these will be removed within a few years owing to poor construction, as is common in towns that are built in a day.

Retail Shopping Section: Extends one mile north and south on Broadway, one-half mile east and west on Haywood and Idaho streets, both intersecting Broadway. No stores. No garages or confectionery stores allowed in restricted area.

Trading Area: Extends 10 miles east, west and south. Small adjoining towns easily accessible by trolley and excellent cement roads all seasons of the year.

Wholesale Houses: Groceries, 1; Meats, 1; Fruits, 1.

Number of Retail Outlets for Nationally Advertised Products: Passenger automobile agencies, 4; commercial auto. agencies, 1; automobile accessories, 10; automobile tire agencies, 10; bakers, 5; cigar stores and stands (including hotels), 50; confectioners (including hotel stands), 8; druggists, 5; department stores, 6; electrical supplies, 3; florists, 1; furniture, 4; garages (public), 7; hardware, 5; photographers, 3; pianos (and miscellaneous musical instruments), 3; radio supplies, 4; restaurants (including hotels), 10; shoes, 20; sporting goods, 6; stationers, 1.

Location: On the Allegheny River, at the junction of French Creek, served by the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Lake Erie, Franklin and Clarion, and the Erie Railroads, also connected by trolley and has excellent bus service in all directions.
Principal Industries: Railroad supplies, engines, mine car loaders, wagons, air compressors and oil refineries.
Manufacturing Establishments: 30. Leading firms, Joy Machine Co., Franklin Steel Co., Chicago Pneumatic Tool Co., Atlantic Refining Co., Venango Mfg. Co., Franklin Valveless Engine Co., General Manifold & Printing Co.
Total value of yearly output of factories estimated at $25,000,000.
Special Information: The city is particularly noted for its oil industry. The Atlantic Refining Co. is one of the largest oil refineries in the world. Because of its refineries Franklin is said to have a larger value of manufactured exports per capita than any city of its size in the United States. It is the hub of an improved highway system making it easily accessible from any point.
Residential Features: Private homes predominate. A limited number of two family houses and only a few apartment houses. Miller Park, an exclusive residential section, is not equaled in the state.
Retail Shopping Section: Extends from Franklin Ave. to Buffalo St. on Thirteenth. The main business section is on Liberty St. from Thirteenth to Eleventh, Eighteenth St. parallel to Liberty from Liberty to Buffalo. Business section covers about eight blocks.

Trading Area: Extends about 8 miles east, 20 miles north, 30 miles west and 25 miles south.
Wholesale Houses: Fruits, 2; Dry Goods, 1.
Number of Retail Outlets for Nationally Advertised Products: Passenger automobile agencies, 14; commercial auto. agencies, 4; automobile accessories, 20; automobile tire agencies, 16; bakers, 3; cigar stores and stands (including hotels), 21; confectioners (including hotel stands), 10; delicatessen, 1; dressmakers, 9; druggists, 6; dry goods, 7; department stores, 5; electrical supplies, 4; florists, 2; fruits, 13; furniture, 4; garages (public), 10; grocers, 24; hardware, 2; jewelry, 4; meat markets, 9; men's furnishings, 9; men's clothing, 9; merchant tailors, 6; milliners, 4; opticians, 1; photographers, 2; pianos (and miscellaneous musical instruments), 2; radio supplies, 11; restaurants (including hotels), 6; shoes, 7; sporting goods, 3; stationers, 2; women's apparel, 4.

THE HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH

Central Pennsylvania's Greatest Daily

Will carry your message into every worthwhile home in the rich, prosperous, responsive Harrisburg and Central Pennsylvania field.

The Telegraph is the only Republican newspaper in a district that is overwhelmingly Republican, a fact that constitutes one of the major reasons why the Telegraph is recognized by national advertisers as one of the best pulling mediums in Pennsylvania and, indeed, as one having no superior in the American field.

Accurate and complete trade surveys, and merchandising and living statistics are yours for the asking.

Of collegiate institutions in or near Philadelphia the best known are the University of Pennsylvania, Girard College (the largest boys' college in the world), Temple University, Swarthmore College, Bryn Mawr College, Haverford College and Villa Nova. Among the famous special schools are Jefferson Medical College, The Woman's Medical College and Hahnemann Medical College; and there are other technical, industrial, theological and commercial schools, too numerous to mention.

The University of Pennsylvania is an object of great pride to all Philadelphians. Its living alumni number over 35,000—a record exceeded only by Harvard. It now stands among the first American colleges. Its departmental schools—of medicine, dentistry, engineering, finance, law and science—occupy several of the seventy-one University buildings.

Location and Transportation: Philadelphia, the metropolis of Pennsylvania, third city of the United States in population, is situated in the southeastern corner of the state, at the confluence of the Delaware and Schuylkill Rivers, about 60 miles from the sea. It occupies a central position on the North Atlantic seaboard, 90 miles by rail from New York, 96 from Baltimore and 132 from Washington. It occupies the peninsula about two miles in width between the two rivers, and extends westward and southward beyond the Schuylkill, including both shores of that stream. Philadelphia is connected with the rest of the country by three great trunk line systems of railroads—the Pennsylvania, Philadelphia and Reading and the Baltimore and Ohio, also the Lehigh Valley reaching Philadelphia over the Philadelphia and Reading. The two first named reach the center of the city by substantial viaducts. The Baltimore and Ohio has a fully equipped station on the east bank of the Schuylkill at Chestnut street, connected by tunnel and subway with the Reading Terminal. About one thousand trains a day enter and depart from these three terminals. At the freight terminals in different parts of the city millions of tons of freight are handled annually. Philadelphia has a Belt Line Railroad serving its active waterfront, by means of which freight from any railroad point in the country can be delivered direct in railroad cars to any steamship wharf in the city, and can be sent in cars direct from any wharf to any interior points without rehandling. The expensive system of transferring freight by lighters and car floats from one part of the harbor to another is not necessary in Philadelphia. Connecting Philadelphia with all points of the world is a host of ship lines. Fifty-four now are serving this port. Forty of these are trans-Atlantic lines, while the rest go to South America, Asia, the South Seas, and Pacific Coast ports.

Special Information: Philadelphia is America's third largest market. It is also known as "The World's Workshop" and the "City of Homes." There are half a million separate dwellings in Philadelphia and suburbs. The city covers 129 1/2 square miles and extends about 22 miles north and south, and from 6 to 10 east and west. 25% of America's Building and Loan Associations are in Philadelphia. 50% of the homes are owned by those living in them. Nearly 200,000 passenger autos are owned by the people. The payroll of the manufacturing plants exceeds $7,572,704 weekly. One of the greatest industries in Philadelphia is the textiles and allied products. The center of the textile industry is near Philadelphia, and in Philadelphia county alone there are 1,189 industries engaged in the manufacture of textiles and allied products. The leading product is yarn; hosiery and knit goods take the second position, while next in order come woolen, worsted and felt goods, women's and children's clothing, cotton goods, hats and caps, etc. Philadelphia produces annually, among other things, 45,000,000 yards of carpet, 54,000,000 yards of worsted, 12,000,000 dozen pairs of hose and half-hose, 2,000,000 dozen pieces of underwear, 5,000,000 hats, 180,000,000 yards of cotton piece goods, 28,000,000 yards of woolen goods, 10,000,000 saws; 40,000,000 cigars. Building activities in 1923 amounted to $122,650,935, and it is estimated that this amount will be exceeded by the 1924 figures. The 8,379 Philadelphia establishments manufactured 211 of the 264 articles covered by the census of classifications, indicating the great diversity of its industrial activities. The Philadelphia retail shops rank very high, both in character of merchandise and in price of services. Philadelphia's financial institutions occupy a unique and important part in the industrial development of the city. Many of them are old established, and, in addition to being directed by industrial leaders, have during their long careers been identified in all their activities with the industries of the city.

The annual product of the factories in Philadelphia exceeds $800,000,000, employing more than 300,000 people. Philadelphia has 375,000 homes, only 12,000 of which are tenements. It is distinctly a home town, and more homes are owned by the occupants than in any other city in the country. It is the shopping center for a tremendous population, living in the surrounding country.

Port of Philadelphia: Philadelphia is the second port of the United States. Modern piers, natural advantages and superior wharf and dock facilities, splendidly interlocked with the three railroad systems, give Philadelphia this proud position. Philadelphia has a water frontage of 34 miles, 20 miles on the Delaware and 14 on the Schuylkill. The Schuylkill River is unobstructed for the passage of large vessels to a point within two blocks of Market Street, and for some further distance for barges. At the lower end of the Schuylkill one of the largest Standard Oil Refineries is situated, and large shipments of oil for the foreign trade, as well as of grain, are made by way of the Schuylkill and Delaware. The Delaware River has a 35-foot channel, from 800 to 1,200 feet wide, running from the city to the sea. The Government pier, at the foot of Oregon Avenue, cost $15,000,000 and can accommodate 10 large ships at a time. The city owns 13 municipal piers and there are no port charges by either the city or state. There are 298 docks used for the shipment of cargo. The foreign and coastwise arrivals and clearances for the year 1923 numbered 11,841. The aggregate net tonnage of the 5,915 arrivals was 11,142,538, and of the 5,928 clearances 11,182,603, or bottoms sufficient to move 55,000,000 tons of cargo. The total value of imports in 1923 was $219,390,737; exports, however, fell off $12,272,407, amounting to $114,968,397, leaving a net gain in the commerce of the port of approximately $53,000,000. The biggest gain in imports was in iron ore, which jumped from 317,612 tons in 1922 to 918,316 tons; coffee followed, increasing from 19,993 bags to 54,064 bags. Total oil handled amounted to almost two billion gallons, while lumber receipts were 142,351,732 feet. The leading exports are grain, provisions, petroleum, tobacco, oil cake, lumber, furs, hides, leather, shoes, cotton goods, machinery and coal.

Residential Features: Philadelphia has very few tenement houses, most of the homes being of the single and semi-detached type, a large percentage of which are tenant-owned.

Retail Shopping Section: The downtown shopping district of Philadelphia is mostly along Market, Chestnut and Walnut Sts., with extensive areas on the side streets leading from these centers of trade. This district embraced the principal department stores, shops, theatres, banks and hotels. West Philadelphia and north Philadelphia each have important shopping centers.

Trading Area: Extending on the north to Easton, northeast to Trenton; south to Wilmington, Delaware; on the east to Atlantic City and on the west to Harrisburg and Lancaster, Philadelphia's trading territory is the second largest and most densely populated in the United States. Within 10 miles of Philadelphia's City Hall there is a population of 2,078,961, to which may be added 251,010 people in the 20-mile zone and 514,780 people in the 40-mile zone. Philadelphia in a metropolitan sense has a population in its trading area of 4,836,913.

What the New Book—"Advertising Response"

By H. M. Donovan

Shows About the Dominance of The Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia

"Advertising Response," the new book on advertising—written by H. M. Donovan and published by J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia—is based on a research made in the eleven graduating classes of the seven Philadelphia High Schools, located in different sections of Philadelphia.

These tests were made on one thousand senior students—five hundred young men and five hundred young women.

Briefly, the students were handed sheets on which were listed twenty commodities, such as coffee, razors, tooth paste, etc.; the list included newspapers.

The students were asked to write under each commodity the brand name that first came to mind.

"Advertising Response" shows that practically every one of the manufacturers in each industry whose brand name was mentioned the greatest number of times was the dominant advertiser in his particular field.

This book also shows that newspaper advertising was the principal form of advertising used by these manufacturers to gain this dominance.

And further—the newspaper that was most instrumental in giving these brands their position of eminence was THE PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN.

By far the most dramatic picture presented in this book is with regard to the Philadelphia newspaper situation.

How to Dominate Philadelphia

Above is outlined the result of tests on 1000 senior students in seven Philadelphia high schools, to determine the newspaper which was most dominant in their minds. These tests are fully described in "Advertising Response," the new book by H. M. Donovan.

This book shows that THE BULLETIN was dominant in the minds of 60.2 per cent of the 1000 senior students tested. The four morning papers and one other evening paper made up the remaining 39.8 per cent.

It is significant that THE BULLETIN, which goes into nearly every home in Philadelphia without regard to class, has greater dominance with high school seniors than all the other Philadelphia papers combined.

The circulation of The Philadelphia Bulletin is one of the largest in the United States.

NEW YORK—814 Park-Lexington Bldg. (46th St. & Park Ave.) DETROIT—C. L. Weaver, Verree & Conklin, Inc., 117 Lafayette Blvd.
CHICAGO—Verree & Conklin, Inc., 28 East Jackson Blvd. SAN FRANCISCO—Harry J. Wittschen, Verree & Conklin, Inc., 681 Market St.

(Copyright 1924—Bulletin Company)

Newspapers are listed as one of the twenty commodities and the tabulation of the returns, as listed on page 47 of "Advertising Response," is shown below:

	MALES	FEMALES	TOTAL
Bulletin (Evening).....	288	314	602
Second Paper (Morn. and Evening)	115	111	226
Third Paper (Morning).....	49	33	82
Fourth Paper (Morning).....	12	10	22
Fifth Paper (Morning).....	10	7	17
Miscellaneous Papers .....	6	—	6
Blanks .....	20	25	45
	500	500	1000

THE EVENING BULLETIN received almost twice as many votes as all the other papers combined.

THE BULLETIN received almost three times as many votes as the total for the morning and evening editions of the second paper.

THE BULLETIN received more than seven times as many votes as the largest morning paper.

The overwhelming preference of the high school seniors for THE BULLETIN is evidence that this paper's audience is primarily a responsive audience.

Responsiveness to advertising is greatest during the years from 17 to 30. This age group is largest in numbers as well as strongest in actual buying interest.

These subjects (senior high school students), therefore, were expressly selected for this series of tests.

The man who made this unbiased research and the author of the book "Advertising Response" has had more than twenty years' experience in selling and advertising and in solving marketing problems.

For more than ten years he has been the head of one of Philadelphia's best-known advertising agencies.

POTTSVILLE COAL REGION

Schuylkill County, Pennsylvania

Is the Most Prosperous, Richest Section Of the World

¶ The Pottsville Morning Paper and the Pottsville Evening Republican have the largest circulation, the most representative advertising patronage, and are generally acknowledged to be the most popular papers with the widest circulation and greatest influence.

¶ The Pottsville Coal Region, Schuylkill County, Pennsylvania, is the most prosperous, richest section of the world, where besides the immense anthracite coal mining preparation and shipping, there are great industries of various kinds and fertile farm lands.

¶ The Pottsville region people say that the diversity of their industrial interests keeps them busy all the time, because when one industry is partially slack the others are booming and the result is that Pottsville can truly claim to be among the richest spots on earth as to resources and amount of business.

¶ Pottsville, itself, is a busy city of 25,000, but it is the centre of a population of 100,000 within a six mile radius who trade almost entirely in Pottsville.

¶ The Reading and the Pennsylvania railroads have busy shops, active train dispatching points, splendid passenger service and with the Lehigh Valley, Jersey Central, Lehigh & New England, Delaware & Hudson, Lackawanna and other nearby railroad traffic connections give the Pottsville section unsurpassed freight and passenger railroad facilities.

¶ Pottsville and Schuylkill County have nine daily papers, a situation that does not exist the world over in equal population, and of these papers the Pottsville Morning Paper and the Pottsville Evening Republican are the leaders and have more bona fide paid circulation than all the others combined. These are the only two A. B. C. papers in this section, giving advertisers full opportunity to examine circulation records at all times.

¶ You can cover the Pottsville coal field entirely by using the Pottsville Morning Paper and Pottsville Evening Republican, in combination, without the necessity of advertising in any other papers.

Why Readers Demand The Herald

Selection of the best daily newspapers published in Pennsylvania cities of less than 25,000 population, has been completed by students of the Community Daily Newspaper class in the department of Journalism of Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y. Eleven different departments in which it is considered a newspaper should be judged formed the basis of a survey conducted under the direction of Prof. John O. Simmons of the journalism faculty. Seventy-five papers were entered in the survey by their respective editors, six consecutive copies of each being submitted for the study.

The result of the survey gave the Sharon, Pa.,

RHODE ISLAND

An Independent Market

Rhode Island constitutes a densely populated market of more than 600,000 prosperous people. It should form a separate link in all merchandising plans. This is proven by the fact that there are in this state 10 Wholesale Drygoods Houses; 4 Wholesale Druggists; 10 Radio Wholesalers; 21 Wholesale Confectioners; 21 Wholesale Grocers; 4 Wholesale Hardware Houses; 7 Wholesale Auto Supply Houses; 13 Wholesale Tobacconists; 12 Wholesale Jewelers; besides many wholesalers in various other lines.

Rhode Island is a strictly manufacturing state. 97% of its total population is urban and 3% rural. It depends upon outside sources for practically its entire food supply.

RAPID CITY, S. DAK.

1920 Population, 5,777.

City and Suburban Estimate, 12,500.

Native Whites, 93%; Foreign Born, 5%; Industrial Workers, 25%; English Reading, 99%; Families, 1,600.

Schools: Public Grade, 5; High, 1; Junior High, 1; Parochial, 1; Number of Pupils, 1,826.

Churches: Baptist, 1; Christian Science, 1; Congregational, 1; Episcopal, 1; Methodist, 1; Presbyterian, 1; Roman Catholic, 1; Miscellaneous, 4.

Banks: National, 1; State, 1; Total Resources, $5,000,000; Savings Bank Deposits Total, $256.00 per capita.

Theatres: Legitimate, 1; Moving Pictures, 2; Total number of seats, 1,900.

Location: Railroad center Rapid City from five directions: C. M. & St. P. from Chicago; Two, C. & N. W. lines from Chicago via Omaha and Twin Cities; locally served Rapid City, Black Hills & Western connects Rapid City with the Burlington South, East and West and Northwest. Excellent stage service to all parts of the Black Hills, and State and National parks. Rapid City as the gateway to the Black Hills annually entertains 100,000 visitors. Is the junction of two main state highways and of all railroads entering the Black Hills from the East.

Principal Industries: Rapid City is supported by a more diversified group of industries than any other city in the West. These include mining, lumbering, packing, alfalfa seed distribution, hay shipping, cement and stucco mills, stock shipping and dairying, flour milling.

Manufacturing Establishments: 5. Leading firms: Warren Lamb Lumber Co., S. D. State Cement Plant, Rapid River Milling Co.

Special Information: The State cement plant erected at a cost of $2,000,000 will be put in operation this week. The cement and stucco mills, and four lumber mills are all working full time. If the tourist traffic can rightly be called an "industry" then Rapid City's annual income from that source should be added in. Conservatively estimated it means about $300,000 to the merchants.

Residential Features: Principally one-family houses, generally first class. Few apartment houses. Residential districts uniformly attractive. Out of the 1,500 homes in Rapid City, we estimate 80% are owned by the occupants, and not more than 50% so owned carry any encumbrance.

Retail Shopping Section: Ten lineal blocks of retail section.

Trading Area: Fifty to 75 miles east; 60 to 80 miles west; 30 to 50 miles north, and a fan shaped empire up to 125 miles of inland territory northeast. This is our regular trade. People come from much greater distances however, up to 150 miles southeast and from all towns in a radius of 100 miles.

Total value of yearly output of factories estimated at $151,601,000.

Special Information: Location of the city makes it the ideal distributing point of the South, served as it is by transportation on the Tennessee River and by nine trunk lines. Ideal for manufacturing, because of proximity to unlimited coal fields, and unlimited current furnished by three hydro-electric plants of the Tennessee Electric Power Co. Big wholesale and distributing center.

Residential Features: Mostly a city of home owners; houses constructed in last few years are of bungalow type; average in price $6,000 to $9,000. Finest residential district in the South on Lookout and Signal Mountains, and Missionary Ridge, reaches by convenient trolley lines or by automobile on paved roads, homes averaging in price $6,000 to $25,000 and more. About twelve new subdivisions now under way east of Missionary Ridge. Chattanooga one of the finest growing cities in the South.

Retail Shopping Section: On Market St. from Fourth to Main, 11 blocks, and on parallel street—Chestnut, Broad, Cherry, Walnut, and Georgia Ave. for about five blocks on each. Also Main St. for five blocks, which was originally at the time Chattanooga was founded, the main business district. There are eight outlying business sections, with a number of smaller neighborhood sections with the usual grocery, confectionery and other shops.

Trading Area: Extends twenty-five miles in all directions. Good business secured by Chattanooga merchants from sections fifty miles distant, and farther, due to fine bus service and convenient railroad schedules.

Galveston Is Galveston Plus

The City of Galveston has over 10,500 homes housing a permanent population of approximately 53,000 people. Prosperous, happy, comfortable, and contented far beyond the average (25,000 more in the trading area).

During the summer months, and this is a long season, it is estimated that a daily average of 16,000 people from all parts of Texas visit Galveston for care-free days in the glorious surf and delightful air. When winter comes, the North, East, and West send their representatives, and they too find a thousand joys and comforts.

Galveston is primarily a shipping city. That industry is to a considerable extent the foundation and framework of its wealth and widespread prosperity. It is the greatest cotton port in the world.

Galveston, with its $600,000,000 in foreign trade, imports and exports, is second only to New York. Then add to this a volume of more than $300,000,000 coastwise trade, and you jump the figures so close to the billion dollar mark that this year or the next at the latest will see it reached.

But there are over a hundred manufacturing concerns whose products last year reached nearly twenty million dollars.

Galveston people live in a city famed for its comfortable and beautiful homes, where the artistry of other days and the practical requirements of these, blend harmoniously. The people of Galveston have well learned how to preserve the sentiments and many of the customs and ways of life of the early years, and still add and enjoy "all the modern conveniences." They make money, they have money, and they spend money on the good things of life, convincingly and attractively brought to their attention. It is reputed the most affluent city, per capita, in Texas.

The Galveston News

"Texas' oldest newspaper" goes daily into every worth-while home in Galveston and trading territory.

"There is no better example among American newspapers of complete reader coverage combined with absolute reader confidence."

If you have good goods to sell to good prospects, THE GALVESTON NEWS reaches those in and about Galveston 365 days of the year.

WHO'S

WHO IN THE SOUTHWEST

We have a lot of good things to say about ourselves, but, the fact that our national advertising shows a substantial increase for 1924 tells our story.

The Best Tryout Territory in the United States

Our daily circulation of over 90,000 and a Sunday circulation of over 100,000, over 95% in West Texas, a territory comprising 900 towns and a population nearly two million.

West Texas Has Shown a White Spot the Entire Year

West Texas population consists of 96.8% white, American born. The per capita wealth shows a buying power exceeded by only a few sections in this country.

1925 Will Show an Exceptionally Bright Spot

Agricultural reports for 1924 show largest gain in ten years. Manufacturing, minerals and oils are having a substantial increase and business reports for 1925 are very glowing.

SAN ANTONIO EVENING NEWS

Every Evening - Except Sunday

Largest City Circulation
Largest Country Circulation
(Morning, Evening and Sunday)
Used Singly or in combination

Two Distinct and Separate newspapers with Duplication practically eliminated.

KEY CITIES

THROUGHOUT the West, where distances are great, each trade territory is well defined and has its Key City. In each instance the Key City is the one important railroad, jobbing and manufacturing city and controls its trade territory completely. Iowa has one Key City, Des Moines, while Texas, being four or five times as large as Iowa, has four Key Cities, each larger than Des Moines.

It is farther from San Antonio to Dallas (305 miles) than from Des Moines to Minneapolis. From San Antonio to Houston (210 miles) is about equal to the distance from Des Moines to Kansas City.

Just as Des Moines has nothing in common with Minneapolis, Omaha or Kansas City, so San Antonio has nothing in common with Dallas, Fort Worth or Houston.

San Antonio dominates its trade territory completely.

Advertising placed in other Texas cities will not be seen in the San Antonio trade territory because those newspapers are just as foreign to San Antonio as are the Minneapolis papers or the Kansas City papers to the Des Moines territory. San Antonio serves a territory vastly larger than Iowa.

The Express Excels in all Departments

The San Antonio Express is an outstanding newspaper with advertisers in that it excels in so many popular advertising classifications. The Express not only leads in the following but has no near contestant in lineage totals except in one classification only:

- |             |               |
|-------------|---------------|
| Local       | Automobile    |
| National    | Accessories   |
| Classified  | Tires         |
| Financial   | Educational   |
| Industrial  | Church        |
| Real Estate | Stock & Bonds |

Space buyers look with suspicion on a solicitation based upon the lineage carried in one and only one classification bolstered up with circulation claims not supported by the A. B. C.

The Express is a well-rounded, complete newspaper in news treatment as well as in advertising classifications. For almost 60 years it has served its field successfully, constantly gaining in prestige and power.

The San Antonio Evening News is a most remarkable newspaper success. Est. 1918. It dominates completely in City circulation.

Do You Know "The Best-Known"?

"Vermont is now the best-known market," said a space buyer after reading the Vermont survey.

Albert W. Frey of the Amos Tuck School of Administration and Finance, Dartmouth College, compiled the survey and within a year it was published by the Vermont Allied Dailies. It is complete, authentic and unbiased. It is loose-leafed and will be brought up to date from time to time.

If your market data file lacks this survey through anyone's oversight, write any publisher of the six Vermont dailies here listed and it will be sent.

Vermont's leadership in per capita savings, auto ownership, dairy production, marble, granite and hardwoods are points worth knowing.

Get acquainted with the best-known market. Write for the Vermont survey.

The Fingers of Progress and Prosperity Point to the "Old Dominion"

Virginia with its great and diversified natural advantages and its busy, wide-awake cities with their splendid commercial locations, affords unsurpassed opportunities for trade builders. Richmond, Norfolk, and Petersburg are notable examples.

Some Norfolk Business Eye Openers

Norfolk, Va., has doubled in population within ten years, and is now the center of a metropolitan 18 mile radius area of more than 300,000 people.

Norfolk, Va., has doubled its yearly bank clearings and its yearly postal receipts within ten years.

Norfolk, Va., annually does double the amount of building it did ten years ago.

Norfolk, Va., has nine times the yearly volume of port commerce it had ten years ago.

Norfolk, Va., is now served by eight trunk line railroads and enormous docking facilities that are making it a greater and greater distribution point for the eastern coast section of the United States, and a very accessible and economical gateway to the central and western sections. It is rapidly building a vast foreign trade.

Norfolk, Va., is the center and distributing point of America's greatest trucking section. The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that more than 50,000 acres in the vicinity of Norfolk are now under intensive truck cultivation, much of the land producing from two to four crops annually.

The NORFOLK LEDGER-DISPATCH, Tidewater Virginia's great afternoon newspaper, has doubled its circulation during the past ten years, keeping pace in every way with the steady and permanent progress of its remarkable city. As a newspaper it not only pronouncedly leads its fine field in circulation, but in every classification of advertising.

THE JOHN BUDD COMPANY, New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Atlanta, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, represent it in the national advertising field.

Richmond, Virginia "The Gateway to the South"

Richmond has a metropolitan population of 210,000 people, is the Capital of Virginia and the largest city in the State. It is a wealthy, healthy and active city of homes, comprising a profitable market.

Industrial

Richmond has $97,690,000 invested in manufacturing enterprises which yield annual sales in excess of $250,000,000. Its strength lies in its diversification of industries including tobacco, iron, paper manufacturing, wood works, printing and flour.

Transportation

Richmond has six great trunk lines, and railways radiating in eleven directions.

Financial

Richmond is the seat of the Federal Reserve Bank for the Fifth District. Its banks have combined resources of $163,551,164 with deposits of $117,188,000—a growth in 10 years of 270%. Bank clearings amount to $2,607,658,000, a 10 year gain of over 700%.

Educational

Richmond is the leading Educational center of the South with a Medical College, the University of Richmond, Westhampton College for Women, a theological seminary, Presbyterian Training School, besides many private and parochial schools.

The Times-Dispatch is the only morning and Sunday newspaper in Richmond and for more than 74 years has been a welcome friend and advisor to the homes of Richmond and Virginia. That it has kept pace with its city's growth is indicated by the fact that it has made the GREATEST GAINS in both CIRCULATION and ADVERTISING of any newspaper in the South in the last 12 months.

WASHINGTON (Con't)

ELLENSBURG, WASH.

1920 Population, 4,000.

City and Suburban Estimate, 6,000.

Native Whites, 85%; Negroes, 5%; Foreign Born, 10%; Industrial Workers, 25%; English Reading, 96%; Families, 1,250, city and suburbs.

Schools: Public Grade, 3; High, 1; Junior High, 1; Parochial, 1; State Normal, 1. Number of Pupils, 1,345. Normal, over 1,000.

Churches: Baptist, 2; Christian Science, 1; Episcopal, 1; Methodist, 2; Presbyterian, 1; Roman Catholic, 1; Miscellaneous, 3.

Banks: National, 2; State, 1; Total Resources, $3,050,772. Savings Bank Deposits Total, $2,528,294. Largest per capita in state.

Theatres: Legitimate, combined, 1; Moving Pictures, 2. Total number of seats, 4,000.

Location: Ellensburg is located 125 miles east of Seattle and Tacoma, Washington, is located in a highly prosperous irrigated section of northern Yakima Valley on main lines of Northern Pacific and Milwaukee Railroads. Is an inland city but railroad service is excellent. Fine automobile roads east and west to Pacific Coast and east and south. Much freight handled by trucks for shorter hauls. Five great auto highways pass through Ellensburg.

Principal Industries: Ellensburg is a Northern Pacific division point and railroad shops located here. Creameries, lumber, coal mining (near), farming, flour mills, stock raising, hay and grain, wool, fruit, feed mills, hay shipped 65,000 tons, cottonseed locally 30,000 tons. Bushels grain raised annually 500,000. Lumber output approximately 23,000,000 feet.

Manufacturing Establishments: 11. Leading firms, Ellensburg Lumber Co., Kittitas Lumber Co., Tjossem Flour Mills, Consolidated Creamery, Ellensburg Milling Co. This is not chiefly a manufacturing section. The real backing of Ellensburg is the dairying, agricultural and stock raising. Impossible to reduce to an accurate dollar and cent basis.

Special Information: Ellensburg is the buying center of an immensely rich and fertile irrigated section. A $7,000,000 new irrigation project is now being given final checking surveys by government engineers and construction expected to start by winter of 1924-25. This will be one of the largest irrigating projects in the west and will water 70,000 acres. Near Ellensburg are largest bituminous coal fields in the west, employing thousands of men the year round. Division point on N. P., payroll over $1,000,000 annually. Three state Normal Schools here, enrollment over 1,000.

Residential Features: Ellensburg is distinctively a city of comfortable homes; few apartments. Most of the occupants own their own homes. Average $2,500, lowered by the number of inexpensive cottages and small bungalows, and the fact that city property values for lots are not inflated.

Retail Shopping Section: The retail shopping district is practically included in a section of 9 blocks, between 3d and 6th Sts. north and south and Pine St., Pearl St. and Main St. east and west. Pearl is the main business street. Not only are all these streets paved, but the paving extends well into the residential district, there being over 12 miles of paving in city and suburbs.

Trading Area: From the north and northeast about 40 miles, including the large trade from the coal mining and lumber industrial section to the north. On the east a prosperous farm trade for about 15 miles and scattering trade for 40 or 50 miles. On the south the same for about 12 miles and west about 10 miles. The largest towns in this section of Washington are Yakima, 40 miles southeast, and Wenatchee, 75 miles northeast. High mountain ranges completely enclose the valley.

Wholesale Houses: Fruits, 2; Miscellaneous Lines, Lumber 2, Flour 2, Butter 2, Ice Cream 1, Hay and Grain 4.

Tacoma, one of the five major markets of the Pacific Northwest is the centre of a rich and prosperous trading territory of nearly 300,000 consumers, of which 160,000 live in the city and immediate suburbs.

Eight counties, comprising Southwest Washington, all of which are dependent upon Tacoma as a jobbing and retail centre, have an assessed valuation of nearly $425,000,000, with 11,073 farms within their borders valued at $90,000,000 and a farm crop of $15,000,000.

Three hundred and fifty-five factories are located in Tacoma. These industries turn out products valued at $125,000,000, with a payroll of $23,000,000 per year, divided among 12,700 employes. 20 lumber mills, located within the city limits, shipped products valued at $36,000,000 last year. Tacoma has 19 furniture factories, manufacturing $6,000,000 worth of furniture annually.

For distribution, Tacoma is more than adequately situated, having four Trans-Continental Railways, large and commodious harbor with thirty commercial docks, shipping to and receiving merchandise from all parts of the world.

Local Tacoma merchants do not stock goods unless manufacturers use space in Tacoma newspapers, for they know that advertising in Seattle does not affect trade in Tacoma and Pierce Co.

BRITISH COLUMBIA (Con't)

electric car shops, distillery (only one in western Canada).

Manufacturing Establishments: 27; Leading firms: Canada Western Lumber Co., Ltd. (one of the largest saw mills in Canada), Brunette Lumber Co., Timberland Lumber Co., Mohawk Lumber Co., Iowa Shingle Mill; Westminster Iron Works, Heaps Engineering Works, Leckie's Tannery, B. C. Distillery, Laminated Materials Co., Bonler Fruit & Vegetable Canney, B. C. Electric Ry. Shops, Westminster Brewery, Swift-Canadian, Ltd. (packing house and abattoir), B. C. Box Factory, Western Marine Railway, Triangle Chemical Co.

Special Information: Location of city very favorable, as manufacturing and distributing center, geographically and by four midway lines meeting ocean-going ships, and a fresh water harbor open all the year. The city owns its own electric light and power franchises and gravity waterworks system and the valuable water frontage property of the improved harbor area, which is available on long term leases. Central point for motor trucks and stages serving the valley from Huntington, Inaney, White Rock and Vancouver. City operates its own weekly market. Suburban areas offer many miles of trackage and water frontage beyond the improved harbor area. The greater part of the area in city limits is residential. The considerable monthly pay-roll is stabilized by the large staffs and numerous inmates of Gov't. institutions, such as B. C. Penitentiary and hospitals located here.

Residential Features: Mostly one family homes, standard residence and business lots 66x132 ft. Most main streets are hard surfaced, with storm sewers and cement walks. Private homes predominate, even the landlords in the small Chinatown area, many of them Chinese. The topography favors the city as a residential city, with a generally south and western aspect, but magnificent view all around, a picturesque setting in a county famed for its natural beauties.

Retail Shopping Section: Extends along the streets paralleling the river (Fraser) and for several blocks back along the intersecting streets which lead to residential sections. North, east and west, small retail centers cater to suburban residents. The city being about 14 blocks north and south and 2 miles east and west.

Trading Area: Extends 30 to 40 miles east, 22 miles south, 20 miles west and 5 miles north. This area is chiefly agricultural and dotted with small towns and villages which are supplied from here, via B. C. Ry. and motor truck and bus lines.

Wholesale Houses: Groceries, 1; Meats, 2; Fruits, 1; Hardware, 3; Miscellaneous Lines, 3.
Number of Retail Outlets for Nationally Advertised Products: Passenger automobile agencies, 10; commercial auto. agencies, 5; automobile accessories, 15; automobile tire agencies, 1; bakers, 4; cigar stores and stands (including hotels), 40; confectioners (including hotel stands), 40; delicatessen, 10; dressmakers, 15; druggists, 8; dry goods, 6; department stores, 1; electrical supplies, 10; florists, 4; fruits, 30; furniture, 6; garages (public), 6; grocers, 40; hardware, 5; jewelry, 6; meat markets, 10; men's furnishings, 6; men's clothing, 6; merchant tailors, 7; milliners, 8; opticians, 3; photographers, 3; pianos (and miscellaneous musical instruments), 4; radio supplies, 5; restaurants (including hotels), 17; shoes, 6; sporting goods, 8; stationers, 2; women's apparel, 8.

Banks: National, 3; Total Resources, not available. Savings Bank Deposits Total, information not available.

Theatres: Moving Pictures, 2; Miscellaneous (Auditoriums, etc.), 2. Total number of seats, 2,000.

Location: Pacific coast terminus of Canadian National Ry., situated 550 miles north of Vancouver and 40 miles south of the Alaskan boundary. It is 500 miles nearer the Orient than any other port on the Pacific Coast. Having a daily service of fast through passenger trains from the Atlantic coast with fast through freight service it is the controlling factor in the Canadian Yukon and Canadian Alaska trade and it will be also for the Orient trade in the near future.

Principal Industries: Fishing, lumbering and mining, cold storage and fish curing, shipbuilding and machinery shops, Canadian National dry dock. The district, for which Prince Rupert is the distributing point, produces 70% of the total gold, silver and copper mined in the Province of British Columbia.

Manufacturing Establishments: 15. Leading firms, Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., Rupert Marine Products, Laminated Wood Products (in course of building), Booth Fisheries Canada Co., Athol Fisheries, Ltd., Royal Fish Co., Pacific Fisheries, Big Bay Lumber Co., Georgetown Sawmill, Albert McCaffery, Imperial Oil, Canada National Dry Dock, Skeena River Salmon Canneries, and Massett Timber Co., Massett O. C. L. tributary to the city, Swift Canadian Co.

Special Information: Prince Rupert is the northern centre for the fishing, lumber and mining industries. Fish airing plants, cold storage plant, ice making works, boat building, etc. The fishing industry has a remarkable growth, due to the strategic position of Prince Rupert. It is the natural port of entry for fish products to the eastern markets. Industrial sites are available at fair rentals on the waterfront with cheap power, light, water, etc. Recreations—Shooting, fishing, yachting, basketball, football, baseball and tennis clubs.

Residential Features: Mostly one-family residences and apartment blocks. Private homes predominate.

VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA, CAN.

1920 Population, 126,420.

City and Suburban Estimate, 250,544 (within radius of 15 miles).

Native Whites, 50%; Orientals, 8%; British Born, 42%; Industrial Workers, 17%; English Reading, 92%; Families, 60,430.

Schools: Public Grade, 29; High, 6; Parochial, 25; Number of Pupils: City, 19,273; Suburbs, 15,400; Total, 34,673.

Churches: Baptist, 8; Christian Science, 1; Congregational, 2; Episcopal, 11; Hebrew, 2; Methodist, 15; Presbyterian, 13; Roman Catholic, 8; Miscellaneous, 35.

Banks: National, 10; State, 62 branches in city; Total Resources, $300,894,100.

Theatres: Legitimate, 2; Moving Pictures, 23; Vaudeville, 3; Burlesque, 2; Miscellaneous (Auditoriums, etc.), 2. Total number of seats, 32,000.

Location: On the shores of Burrard Inlet, six miles north of mouth of Fraser River. Gulf of Georgia, Pacific Ocean. Served by eight railroads and 62 regular S. S. lines. Western terminals of C. P. R., Canadian National, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, the C. M. & St. P. Ry., Union Pacific, Kettle Valley and P. C. E. Ry. also operate here. S. S. lines include C. P. R., Coastwise and Trans-Pacific, Can.-Aust. Royal Mail, Dollar S. S., Luckenbach S. S. C. S. A. Line, C. G. Trans-Atlantic, Gen'l S. S. Corp., Pac.-European Line, Moore & McCormick Line, Admiral Line, etc.

Manufacturing Establishments: 2,700. Leading firms, American Cau Co., Vancouver Lumber Co., J. Hanbury Lumber Co., Dom. Cannery, B. C. Sugar Refinery, Imperial Oil Co., Empress Mfg. Co.

Figures compiled by Workmen's Compensation Board, to which all industries contribute, show 1923 payroll was $150,000,000, an increase of 16% over 1922 total.

Total value of yearly output of factories estimated at $300,000,000.

Special Information: Vancouver is distributing base for western Canada. Four years ago less than 1,000,000 bushels of western Canadian grain was shipped by this port. This year 60,000,000 bushels of grain is being exported. Where grain moves out, merchandise must move in, and Vancouver manufacturers, wholesale houses, and miscellaneous business are now experiencing the greatest era of development ever known here. Grain is a profitable cargo and Vancouver is a converging point for the entire ocean tonnage on the Pacific. Low water rates to Vancouver have definitely established this point as the wholesale distributing base for the western half of Canada.

Residential Features: Vancouver's equitabla climate, due to the warm Japan current, has attracted a great many Eastern and Prairie retired business men to make their homes here. Thus in the West-end, Kitsilano, Point Gray, Fairview and Shaughnessy Heights districts, homes are of a very high standard. Entirely one-family homes, although averaging from eight to ten rooms with 10 to 16-room residences in the Shaughnessy Heights district. Workingmen's district: South Vancouver, Grandview, Mt. Pleasant, contain substantial five and six-room homes—one family to a home. Residences' average value, $8,000 to $15,000. Workingmen's homes average $3,000.

Retail Shopping Section: Extends in the center of the city from Malu street in the east, along Hastings street westward to Granville, approximately one mile; thence south on Granville one mile. Within this triangular area is the retail shopping district, covering an area of 25 blocks. There are six main outlying retail business sections, and a large number of "neighborhood" stores of general nature in all residential districts excepting Shaughnessy Heights, which is exclusively residential.

Trading Area: Extends over the lower mainland of British Columbia, eastward as far as Chilliwack, 60 miles up the Fraser River. Vancouver, however, is the business center for the entire Province of British Columbia, half of the population of British Columbia being within the 15-mile radius of Vancouver. In the Fraser Valley, which extends from Vancouver to Chilliwack 60 miles, extensive mixed farming is carried on, practically half of the farmers visiting Vancouver at least once a week. Although New Westminster is situated within 12 miles of Vancouver, the two cities are practically joined, and Vancouver's stores dominate the business because of greater purchasing power.

Wholesale Houses: Groceries, 15; Meats, 8; Fruits, 30; Hardware, 9; Dry Goods, 24.

Number of Retail Outlets for Nationally Advertised Products: Passenger automobile agencies, 36; automobile accessories, 43; automobile tire agencies, 4; bakers, 98; cigar stores and stands (including hotels), 67; confectioners (including hotel stands), 177; delicatessen, 29; dressmakers, 45; druggists, 88; dry goods, 100; department stores, 4; electrical supplies, 31; florists, 61; fruits, see confectioners; furniture, 45; furriers, 20; garages (public), 152; grocers, 612; hardware, 66; jewelry, 90; meat markets, 263; men's furnishings, 75; merchant tailors, 237; milliners, 49; opticians, 30; photographers, 51; pianos (and miscellaneous musical instruments), 32; radio supplies, 6; restaurants (including hotels), 298; shoes, 70; sporting goods, 11; stationers, 37; women's apparel, 43.

Building permits issued in 1923 were $2,432,000. One of the few Ontario cities to show an increase in population in 1923. Waterloo is to all intents and purposes except in name and corporate union an integral part of Kitchener. Many of the public institutions—hospital, collegiate and technical school, Y. M. C. A. street railway—are jointly owned and used and in social relations the two towns are as one people. So indefinite is the invisible boundary between the two that some of the residences are partly in Kitchener corporation limits and partly in Waterloo.

ONTARIO (Con't)

Residential Features: Mostly detached single family homes in both towns. There is no apartment or congested district. Over 80% of the homes are owned by their occupants.

Retail Shopping Section: King street, 9 blocks, extending from Water street easterly to Cedar street. The heart of this district is between Frederick street (post office and city hall, street railway waiting room and has terminal) westerly to Young street, a distance of three blocks. These three blocks midway between the two terminal streets mentioned above. For half a block on each side of King street the following interesting streets do retail business: Frederick, Benton, Queen, Ontario, Young.

Trading Area: Extends about twenty-five miles north, eight miles east and twenty miles west. In south it extends only about seven miles, as the city of Galt draws trade from more southerly points.

Location: On south shore of Georgian Bay, an arm of Lake Huron. Terminus of Canadian Pacific and Canadian National branch lines serving western Ontario, connecting the city with points south including Toronto, etc. C. P. R. steamers, Dominion Transportation steamers and other small lines operate out of Owen Sound to Georgian Bay and Lake Huron ports and head of lakes.

Principal Industries: Furniture, including chairs, tables, phonographs, refrigerators, woodware, including saws, baskets, tooth picks; iron and steel including stoves, marine supplies, machinery, cigars, printing, varnish, pickles, soft drinks, hosiery, leather.

Manufacturing Establishments: 54. Leading firms, John Harrison & Sons Co., Ltd.; North American Bent Chair Co., Ltd.; North American Furniture Co., Ltd.; Keenan Woodware Mfg. Co., Ltd.; Wm. Kennedy & Sons, Ltd.; Empire Stove & Furnace Co., Ltd.; Eureka Refrigerator Co., Ltd.; McQuay Tanning Co. (Hulls); 65; confectioners (including hotel stands); National Table Co., Ltd.; Northern Bolt, Screw & Wire Co., Ltd.

Total value of yearly output of factories estimated at $7,003,060.

Special Information: Location of city especially adapted for both lake and land commerce. Easily accessible by water to great forests of the North Shore, therefore wood-making is naturally a great industry. Largest exclusive chair making factory in British Empire. Lack of foremen in Owen Sound makes the labor market ideal.

Residential Features: Splendid substantial homes, mostly of brick construction and housing one family only. Frame or other less substantial buildings practically a minus quantity. Working men's homes ideal. No separate tenement section, in fact, no such thing exists.

Retail Shopping Section: Main retail business section situated on 2nd avenue east and extends from middle of 6th and 7th street block to middle of 10th-11th street block, thus comprising four blocks all told. Other business streets of slightly less importance are 10th east from 1st avenue to 3rd avenue east and 9th street from 1st avenue to 3rd avenue east and 8th street from 1st avenue to 4th avenue east. Butcher and groceries scattered throughout city. Business section on east side of Sydenham River in mouth of which the city is situated.

Trading Area: Northern parts of counties of Grey and Bruce, 45 miles northwest, 35 miles west, 40 miles south and 35 miles east. Bus services and prevalence of motor cars makes intermittent trading district considerably greater. No cities of similar size and with similar stocks of goods within 80 miles of Owen Sound.

Wholesale Houses: Groceries, 3; Meats, 1; Fruits, 1; Hardware, 2; Dry Goods, 3.

Number of Retail Outlets for Nationally Advertised Products: Passenger automobile agencies, 15; commercial auto. agencies, 4; automobile accessories, 15; automobile tire agencies, 10; bakers, 5; cigar stores and stands (including hotels), 20; confectioners (including hotel stands), delicatessen, 1; dressmakers, 8; druggists, 9; dry goods, 5; department stores, 1; electrical supplies, 3; fruits, 8; furniture, 4; furriers, 3; grocers, 85; hardware, 4; jewelry, 5; meat markets, 12; men's furnishing, 8; men's clothing, 8; merchant tailors, 6; milliners, 5; opticians, 5; photographers, 4; pianos (and miscellaneous musical instruments), 4; radio supplies, 4; restaurants (including hotels), 14; shoes, 6; stationers, 3; women's apparel, 7.

Total value of yearly output of factories estimated at $93,881,752.
 Special Information: Montreal's location makes it the head of ocean navigation and the key to the interior of the Dominion. It has a waterfront of 32 miles and a harbor capacity for 100 ocean steamers. The largest floating drydock in the world, head office of the Canada Steamship Lines, one of the largest owners of inland vessels in the world. World's largest grain conveying system. Fifth largest city on the American continent. Handling one-third or more of Canada's total trade.
 Residential Features: Montreal has approximately 125,000 dwellings. North of St. Catherine St. and west of Park Ave. constitutes the better class shopping and residential section. Outremont, a suburb at the north, contains fine residential sections. The factory and industrial district lies to the southwest containing a large population of the working class people, while east of this lies a compact zone, one of the most thickly populated districts in America, 89,000 people to the square mile, within this area are the principal French residential and shopping districts.

Retail Shopping Section: St. Catherine St. constitutes the main retail shopping district running east and west. In the downtown district Craig and Notre Dame Sts., running parallel to St. Catherine, are shopping districts of secondary importance. Other streets cutting St. Catherine at right angles are Bleury and St. Denis, also shopping streets. The theatre district is on St. Catherine, while one or two blocks to the north and south are the principal hotels.

The only newspaper in Quebec City surviving continuous publication under the same ownership.
 Quebec is a two language city. It is not nearly represented in its trading possibilities by one section any more than another.
 You must use the language of buyers to secure the best returns from an advertising investment.
 Quite regardless of mother tongue, English is employed fairly generally.
 The Daily Telegraph is published as a metropolitan newspaper. It contains all the latest and best features and subscribes to all the best news services. Above all, it wields a powerful voice editorially.
 Complete data of trading possibilities furnished on request.
 Adequate co-operation to advertisers. Leads its English competitor in national, local and classified advertising.

HITCH YOUR DO POINT TO YOUR VIEW POINT

Thinking men say to themselves "it is here." Some, to be very safe and conservative, assume a placid and wiseacre air, carefully choose their words and tell the other fellow that "business conditions are very promising." THAT'S VIEW POINT.

Others say little but get busy, earnestly, effectively busy with factories and plants, set in motion well-developed plans, and stir advertising and selling forces to the activity and speed for which they have been longing. THAT'S DO POINT HITCHED TO VIEW POINT.

View Point alone will no longer make a ripple, but Do Point will move mountains.

Old Man Opportunity is Pounding on Many Doors

Newspaper advertising now, more than ever, demonstrates its immediate availability, its instant adaptability, and its speedy responsiveness. You may talk to every nook and corner of this broad land tomorrow if you like, or you may select your spots and sections, a score, a hundred, a thousand cities and towns, as you desire, or as manufacturing and transportation conditions advise.

We are the National Advertising Representatives of Twenty Progressive Newspapers in that many fine cities of the United States.

Our several offices are the offices of each of those publications, where complete files and data of all kinds concerning both field and publication are in readiness for anyone interested. Our traveling representatives are thoroughly familiar with the publications and the fields in which they circulate.

We are at all times prepared—in conjunction with their respective service departments—to provide valuable and useful merchandise surveys and information reports that will assist the manufacturer of any commodity, either in opening up the territory, or in extending trade already under way.

Advertisers Attention!

Ten good reasons for using our cold process dry mats:

- Certified Dry Mats
1. Are not affected by climatic changes.
  2. Do not sour or mold.
  3. Do not deteriorate before or after molding.
  4. Cannot blister.
  5. Do not buckle or wrinkle.
  6. Are molded with a minimum wear on the form.
  7. May be rolled for mailing after molding.
  8. Reproduce half-tones in all their details.
  9. Permit of last minute changes in the least possible time.
  10. Are inexpensive.

IN 1923 advertisers invested over six hundred millions of dollars in white space alone in the dailies of the United States.

Many additional millions of dollars were spent for the electros, stereos, and mats used in conjunction with this advertising.

National advertisers are naturally concerned with the proper reproduction of their advertisements. But to send electrotypes to a newspaper is to needlessly spend about two-thirds of the money involved.

Practically every daily newspaper in the U. S. having a circulation of 3,000 copies and over is printed from stereotypes. A properly made stereo will serve the advertiser's purpose as well as any electrotype and will save him two-thirds of his money.

Since practically every newspaper plant in the U. S. is equipped to cast its own plates, in a good many cases all that is necessary is to send out the advertising in the form of mats. This means a saving of additional thousands of dollars otherwise spent for metal and postage.

There is no good reason why your present electrotyper or stereotyper cannot supply you with American-made Certified Dry Mats. It will pay you to insist upon having stereos cast from Certified or to send out your ads in the form of molded Certified Dry Mats.

Why not ask your electrotyper or stereotyper to furnish you with samples of your work done with Certified?
