

伽婢子
卷八

13
3236
3

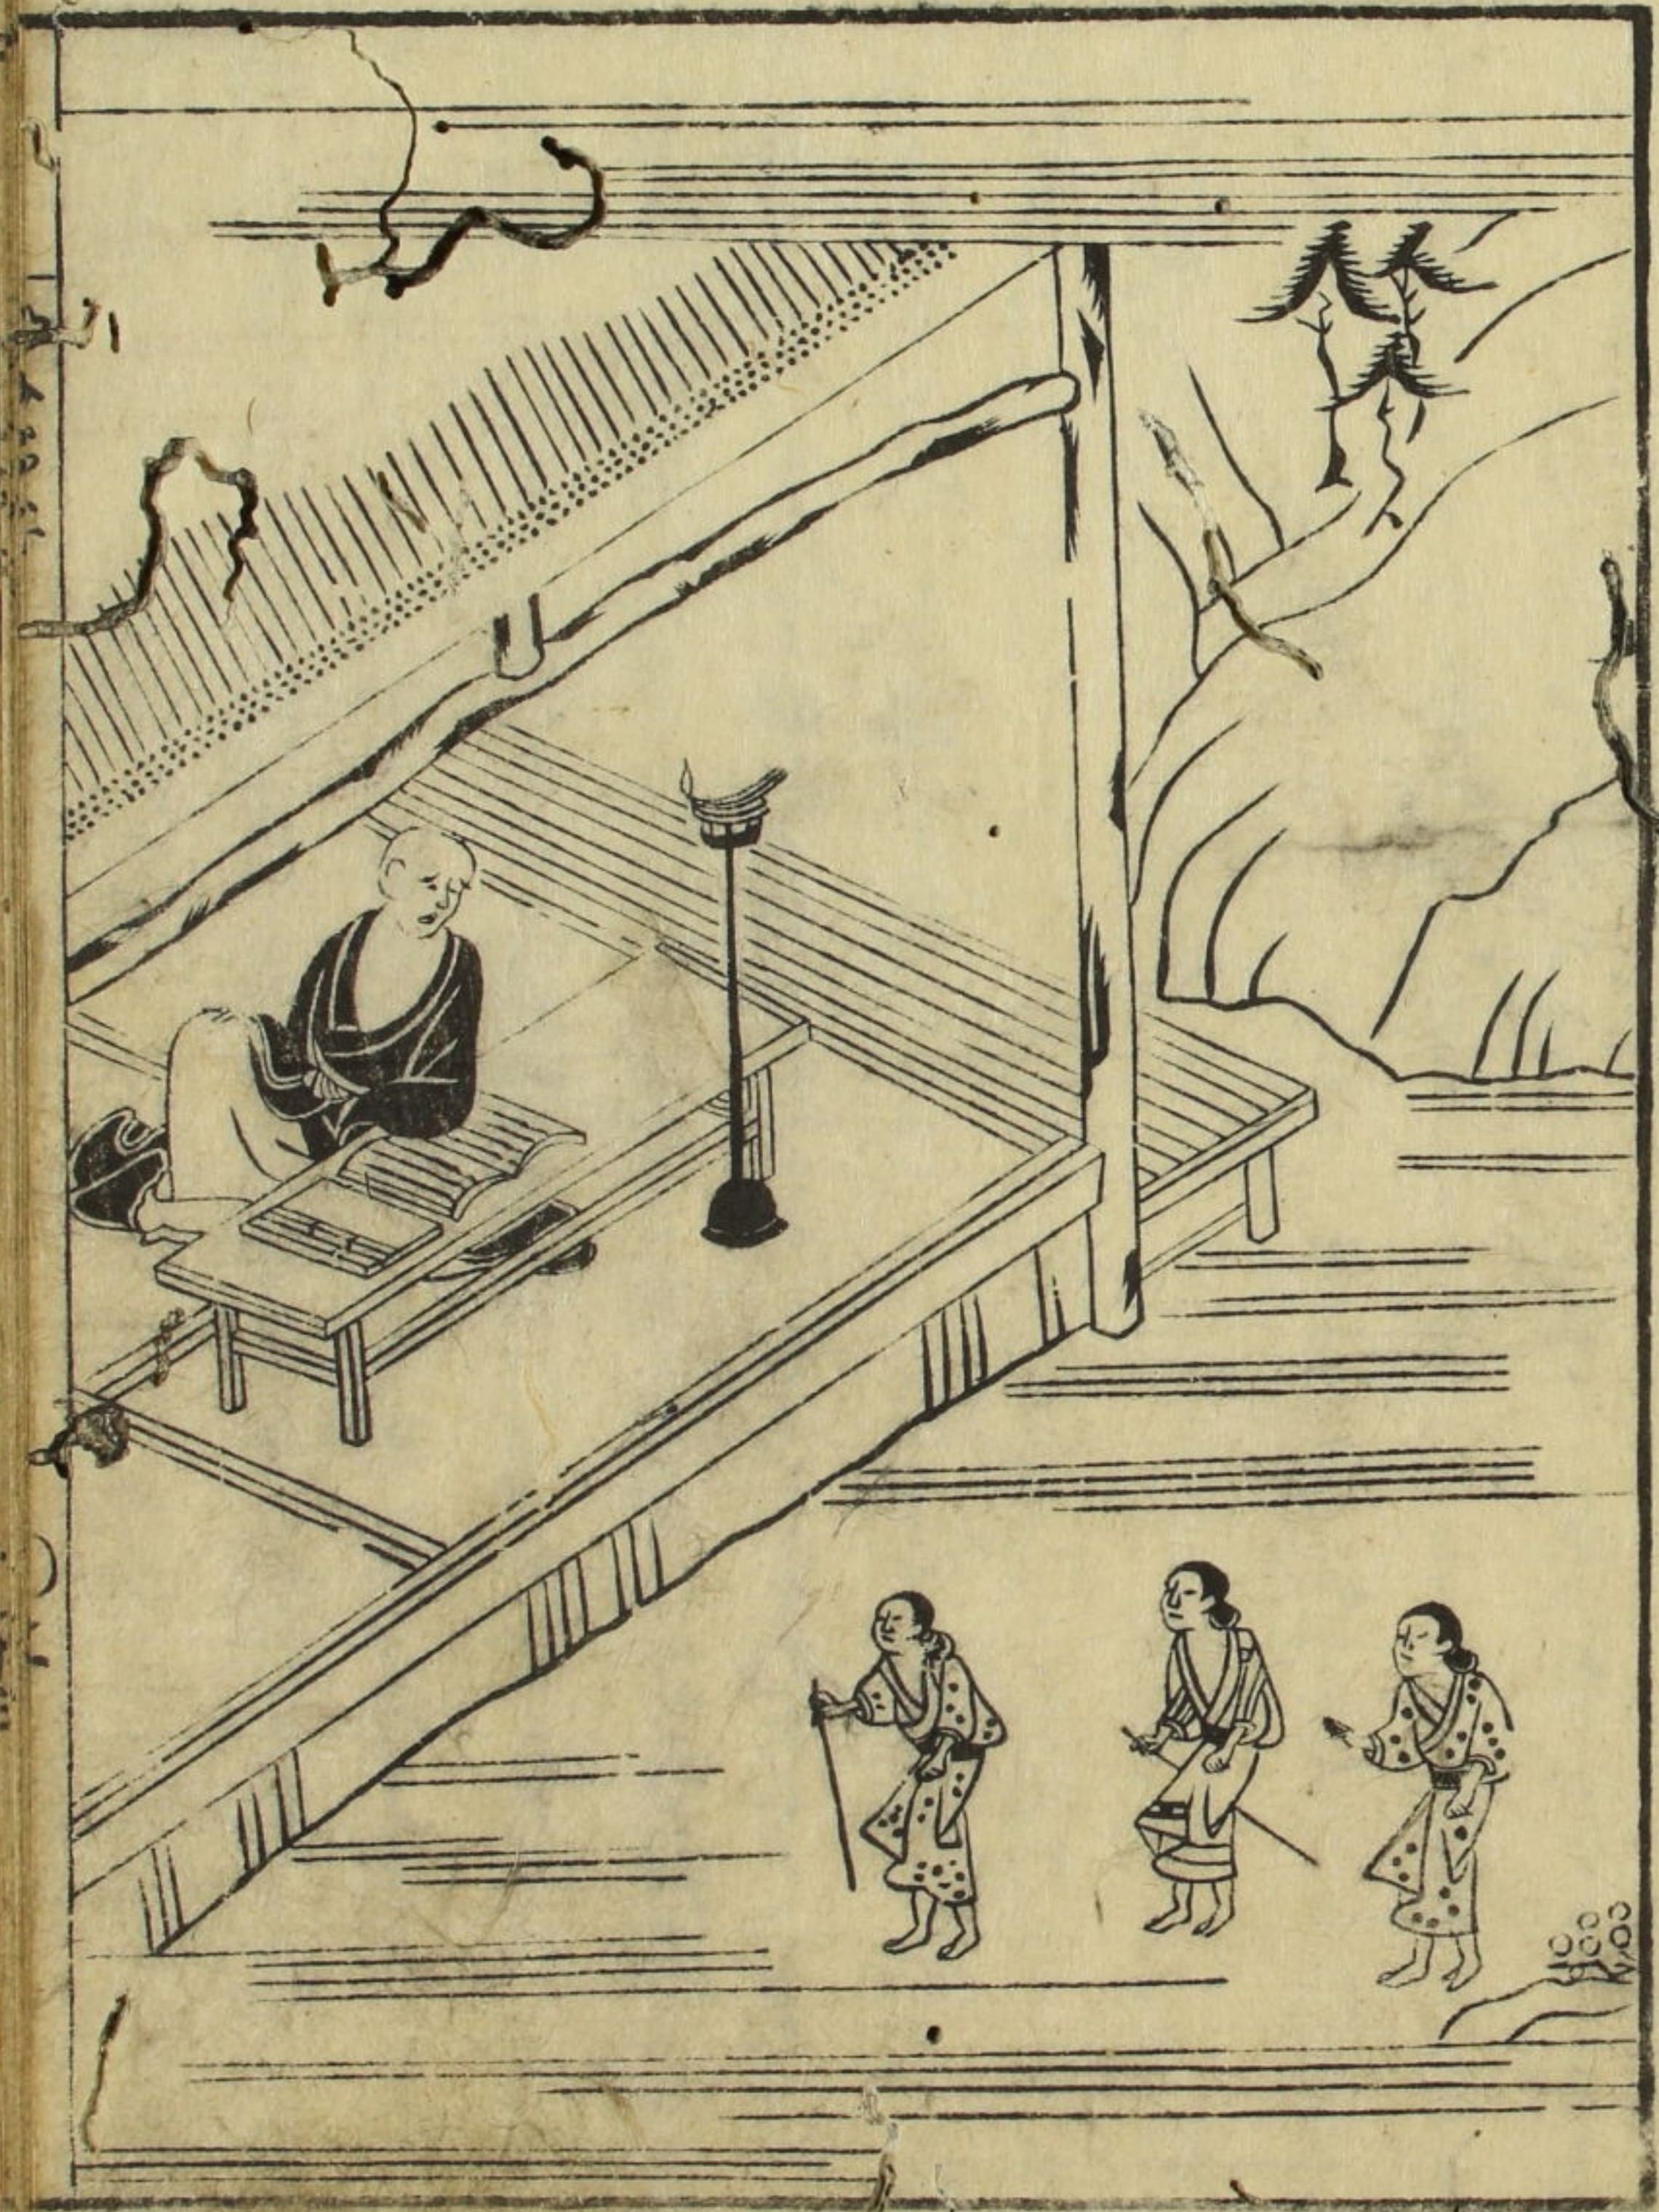

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written in a dense, flowing style with many small characters and some larger, more prominent ones. It appears to be a continuous piece of writing, possibly a narrative or a set of instructions. The paper shows signs of age, including some staining and wear at the edges.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, similar to the one on the right page. This text is also dense and flowing, with many small characters and some larger ones. It appears to be a continuous piece of writing, possibly a narrative or a set of instructions. The paper shows signs of age, including some staining and wear at the edges.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, yellowed paper. It consists of approximately 15 lines of text, with some words appearing to be in a different script or dialect than the main body of text. The handwriting is fluid and somewhat slanted. There are some faint markings and bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, yellowed paper. It consists of approximately 15 lines of text, with some words appearing to be in a different script or dialect than the main body of text. The handwriting is fluid and somewhat slanted. There are some faint markings and bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

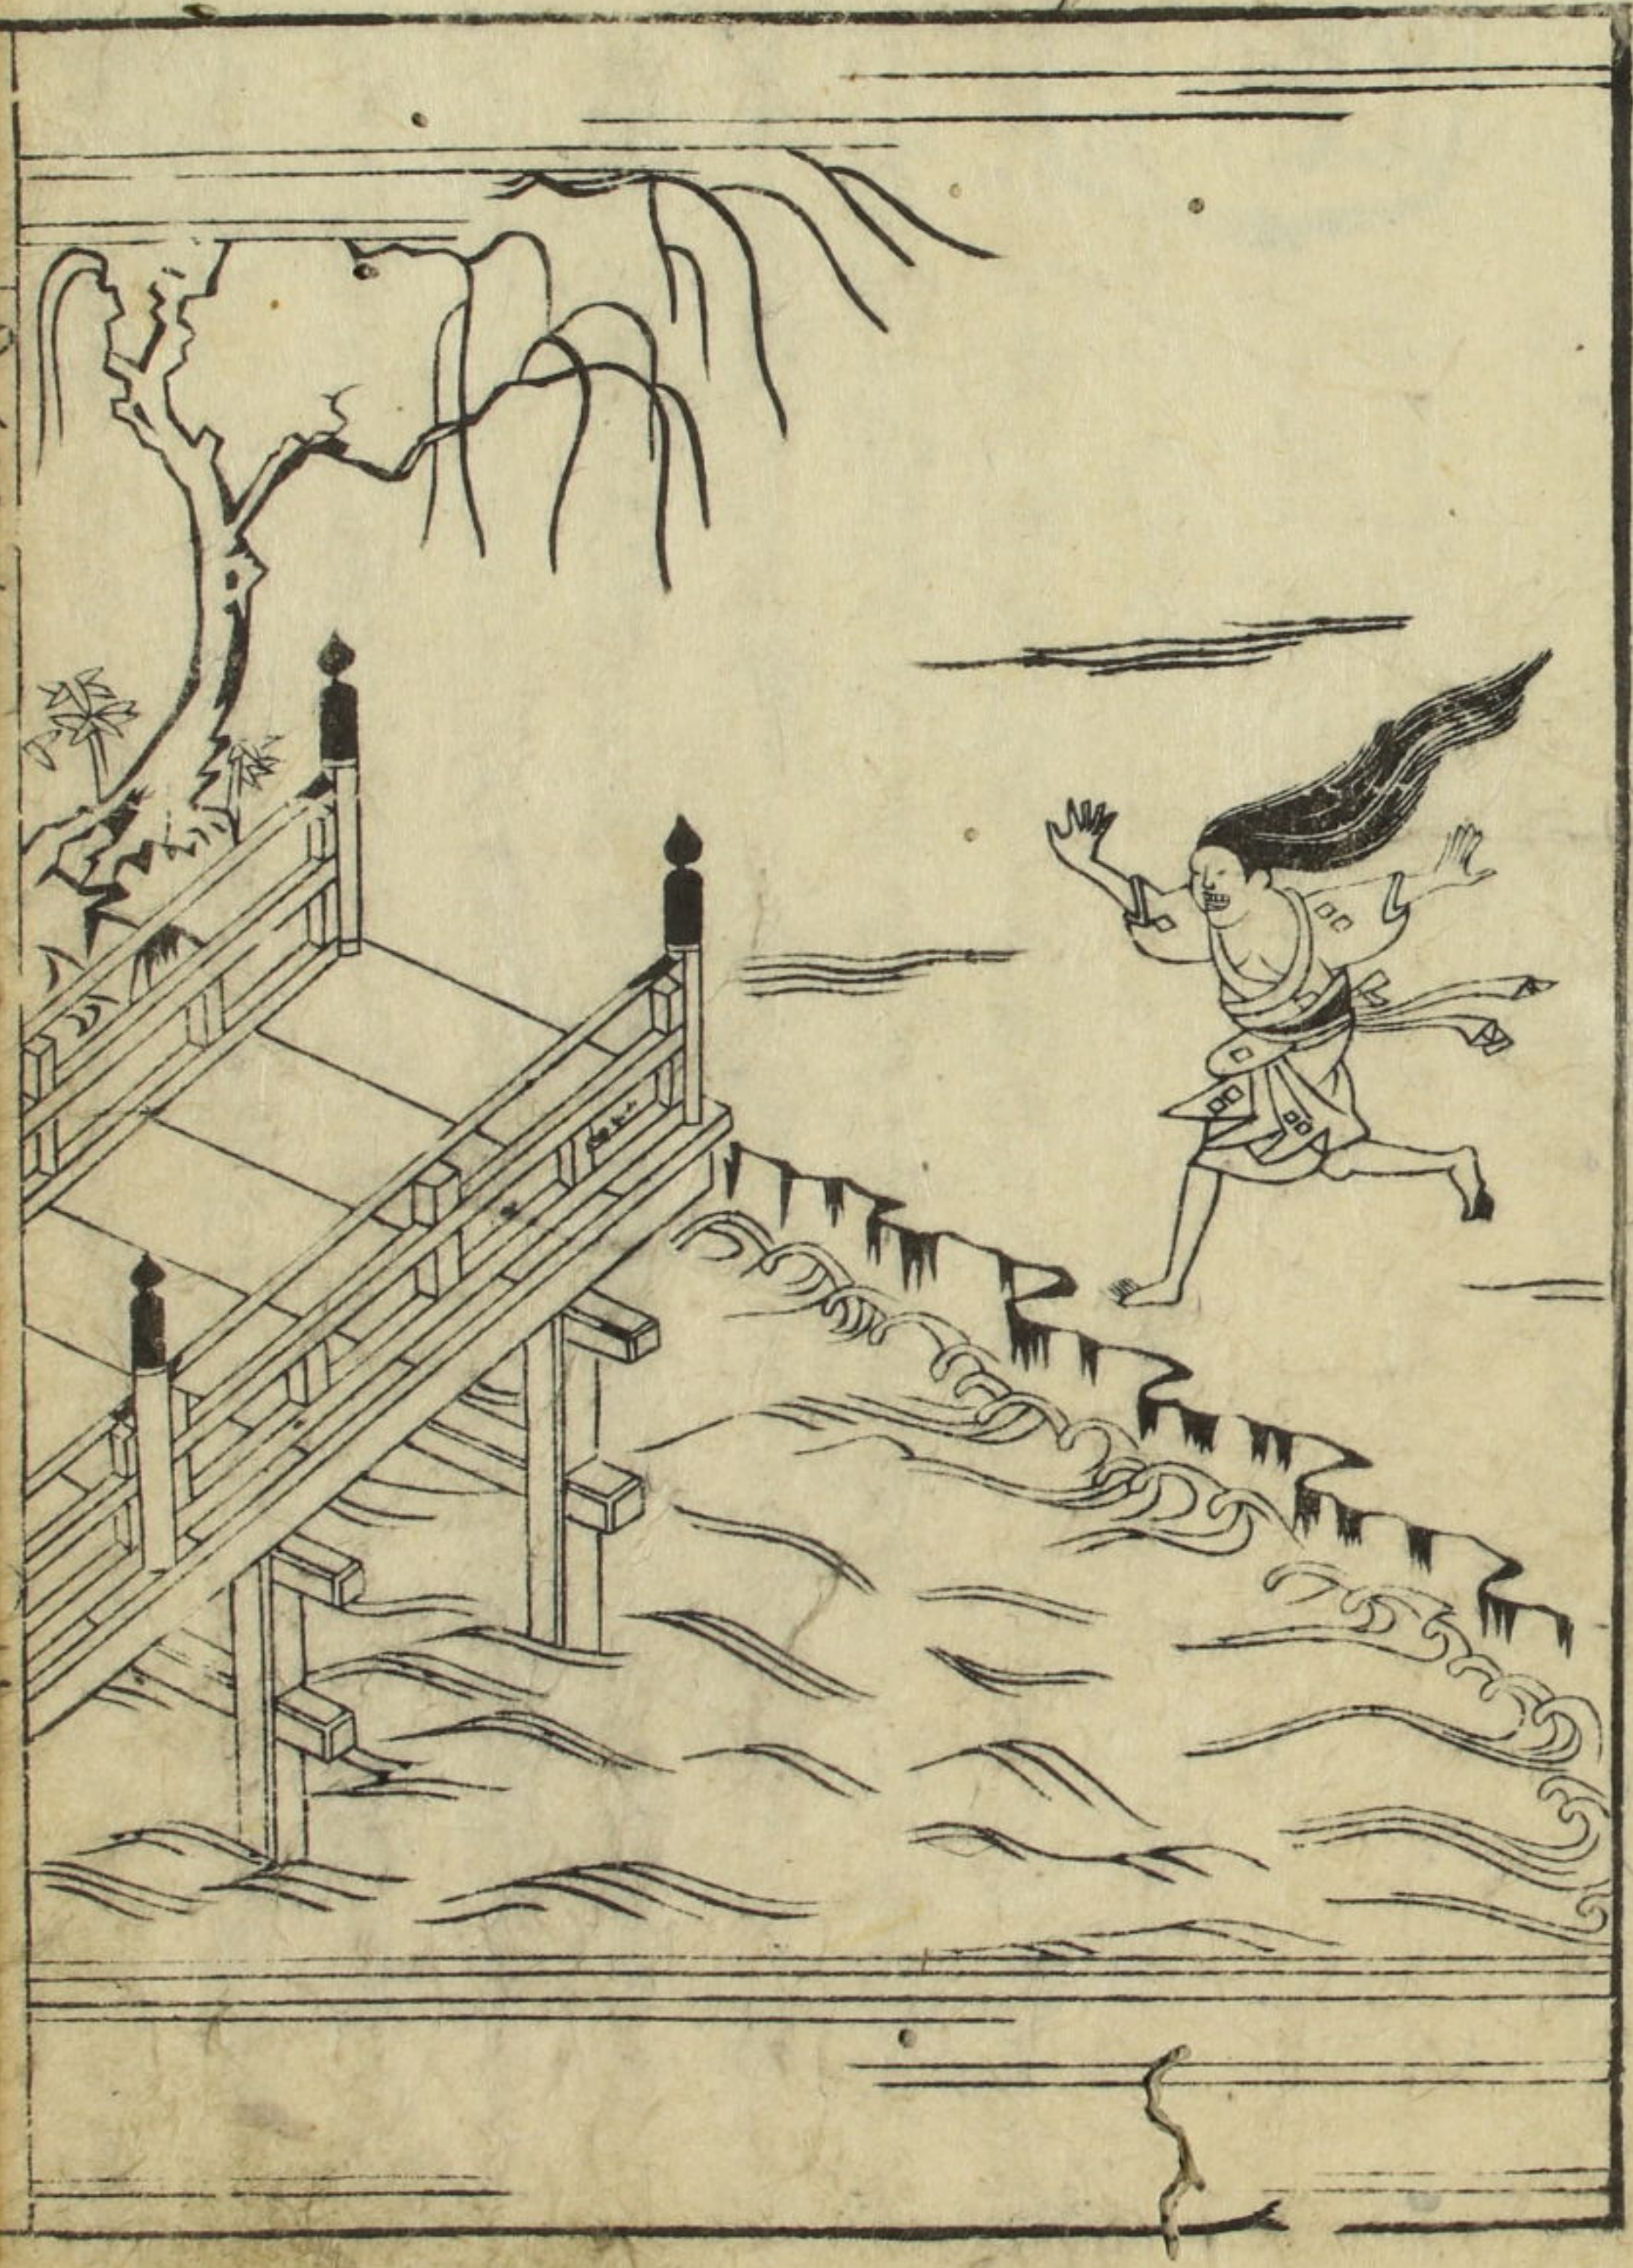

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a transcription of a story or poem. The text is arranged in vertical columns, reading from right to left. The characters are fluid and connected, characteristic of a cursive style. There are some faint markings and bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

