DEBATES HEARD CONFERENCE

Spokesmen From Countries Bordering This Ocean Exchange Views in Honolulu on Racial and Other Problems; Australian Delegate in Friendly But Plain Way Says Tendencies in Japan Causing Uneasiness in His Country.

Honolulu, July 2-Sessions of the Institute of Pacific Relations are in progress here to-day, this being the most outstanding friendly conference of its sort, whether Pacific or purely North and South American, ever held. The delegates are not in attendance as official representatives of their countries, but there is no doubt the discussions will have a very wide influence in the lands bordering on the largest of the oceans. The subjects to be discussed include many racial, trade, peace and progress was decided to hold the meetings in secret, due to the belief that freer and franker discussion might be developed than if they were held in public.

The general feeling in Australia was one of marked uneasiness regarding Japan, S. H. Roberts of Victoria, Australia, told the members of the Institute.

T. C. Coo, China, said the readjustment of the affairs of China was vital to the peace of the Pacific. He spoke of the tariff situation, extraterritoriality, "unequal" treaties, the concessions and the opium, narcotic drug and the arms traffic.

NEW ZEALAND

NEW ZEALAND
Professor J. B. Condliffe of New Zealand University said:
"New Zealand's immigration policy lost its distinct racial tendency and is now viewed mainly as expressing the right to control population. There is a strong objection to unrestricted coolie immigration." But practical exclusion is carried out with apparent friction by what amounts to the quota system.
"While increasing friendship and co-operation between the English-speaking peoples is welcome. New Zealand does not look to the United States for either political or economic support. Any suggestion of minimizing the British connection is unwelcome in New Zealand."

Ford, Ontario.—"I had a nervous break-down, as it is called, with severe pains in my back and legs, and with fainting spells which left me very weak. I was nervous and could not sleep nor eat as I should and spent much time in bed. I was in this state, more or less, for over two years, before Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by my, neighbor. Before I had taken five doses I was sitting up in bed, and when the first bottle was taken I was out of bed and able to walk around the house. During my sickness I had been obliged to get some one to look after my home for me, but thanks to the Vegetable Compound I am now able to look after it myself. I have taken Lydia E. #### A FINE SHOW

THE PARADE YESTER. day was intended to be the climax of the carnival programme and it was worthy of the occasion in every particular. We doubt if in variety, scope and arrangement it has been equalled by any similar feature anywhere in the Pacific Northwest, and everybody connected with it is entitled to hearty congratulation. The contribution of the schools was especially fine, reflecting in a striking way the intelligent co-operation between teachers, pupils and parents which we have me to expect from this source whenever the occasion has offered The display called for much thought, preparation, industry and ingenuity and amply justified the decision of the Carnival Committee to have the parade on July I instead of during the closing days of the chool term. The other features of the procession were also of a highorder, the service, industrial, utility and commercial contributions reflecting careful planning and in most instances plenty of hard work. while there was an abundance of novelties, the humorous element be-ing exceptionally well represented. here was an unusually large number of bands, the music in fact being one of the outstanding features of the programme. Altogether the parade was a capital advertisement The preference of 25 per cent of the resources of the city for given to West Indian products in 1897 gave a distinct impetus to

The records of the British Columbia Legislature contain a resolution asking the Parliament of Can ada to pass legislation which would give the Government of this Provace the sole right to import liquor into British Columbia for purely beverage purposes. This means that neither the private individual nor the export warehouse would be able to bring in alcoholic goods from any outside point. There would be no competition for the Government to contend with and the authorities would be able to control the traffic in accordance with the instructions which the people gave in of trading within the Empire."

The average reader, however, knows that the Senate has refused to do, for its own reasons, what this Province asked it to do. He knows that its approval of the measure in question would have eliminated private importation and the trail of crime which flows from it.

OUR TRADE WITH THE BRITISH WEST INDIES

A LTHOUGH IT HAS been somewhat overshadowed by the session which came to owed by the session which came to an end last Saturday, there is still proceeding at Ottawa an important conference between a trade delega-tion from the British West Indies and representatives of the Government of Canada. This gathering presents itself. It was an act of is the aequel to the visit which Mr. Hance Logan, M.P., paid to this part of the Empire last Winter when, empowered by the Cabinet, he invited the governments of the birthday festivities adds much to the he invited the governments of the birthday festivities adds much to the various islands and of British meaning of international goodwill.

Guiana and British Honduras to send representatives to Ottawa this an invitation which was cordially accepted.

It is not the first time that Canadians and West Indians have met to confer on trade reciprocity. The first conference was held in 1912, with the result that a Trade Agreement came into force in June, 1913. The second conference was held at Ottawa in June, in 1920, and resulted in a wider-reaching agreement coming into force in the fol-lowing Summer. It should be added that the first preference to the West Indies was given by Canada in 1897 under the British preference of that year, but this was not reci-procated by the West Indian Col-

The United States has within its borders not only States within the temperate zone, but also States in respect an advantage over this country. It has been felt that trade agreement of mutual benefit trade agreement of mutual benefit could be arranged with the West Indies this Dominion would be on a level with our neighbor. Again, the mutual advantage of such an agreement is obvious since each contracting party can supply the other with commodities that it cannot produce itself. The former trade agreements certainly increased trade between the Dominions and the Colonies, but it has been contended on both sides that much more might be done, and that the agreement of 1920 was not as beneficial as it might be. It is, however, true to say that the 1920 agreement has been so successful that it has made both countries desirous of going a bit further in the way of preferential trade. One result of that agreement has been that practically the whole flour trade with the British West Indies has been transferred from the United States to Canada, while the British West Indies have found in this Dominion a valuable market for their sugar which has been shut out from the United States.

Now, although less than five years of the 1920 Trade Agreement have run, the parties to it are once more meeting together, not because the agreement has proved a failure, but because they want to secure a still greater increase of trade by mutual preferences. But preferential trade is not the only topic being discussed at the Ottawa conference. Mr. Logan, in making a statement on his visit to the West Indian Colonies in the House of Commons, said: The two greatest needs to build up a trade between our country and the British West Indias and other between our country and lands in and about the Caribbean Sea are efficient trade commissioners and better transport facilities, not only for freight, but also for passengers. #### A FRIENDLY GESTURE

ONE OF THE PLEASING incidents in connection with the festival which came to an end yesterday was the arrival of the United States destroyer, William Jones, in these waters as the official representative of our neighbor's Navy Department at the international yacht races. This is not the first time, of course, that the fight-ing craft of the republic has taken part in our celebrations; but the fact that the vessel which slipped in yesterday had to make a dash from the manoeuvring fleet at Honolulu at the highest speed her engines could develop—in order to get here in time—is fresh evidence of the desire on the part of the ment of Canada. This gathering presents itself. It was an act of the Logan, M.P.; paid to this part of the Empire last W.

coats of members of the City Coun-cil gave a funereal touch to yesterday's parade scarcely in harmony with its general festive nature. Their wearers appeared neither comfort able nor happy—and they should have appeared to be both—and the first impression they gave to the on-lookers was that they had got mixed up in the wrong kind of a procession by mistake.

Announcement, on Negotiations With U.S. Being Prepared by Government

British Government Informs France it Expects Equal Treatment

Paris, July 2.—The French Government is preparing to make an announcement on the United States debt question within a few days. It will probably be limited to scarcely more than naming the mission to go to Washington. French debt negotiations with the United States will be kept strictly apart from those with Great Britain, it is learned.

The Inter-allied debt question has just been thrust still further to the front by the receipt from London of a new memorandum, suggesting France make an offer for settlement of her debt to Great Britain, even if only a provisional one.

The memorandum, signed by Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain. Foreign Secretary, takes cognizance of France's plan in connection with her debt to the United States by stating Great Britain has he desire to interfere with negotiations which France may initiate with other creditor powers.

Mr. Chamberlain takes occasion, however, to state the principle that is, should France sign an agreement for payment of part of her debt to the United States, the British Government would expect a proportionate payment of the sums due it.

The British memorandum is being studied by Foreign Minister Britain

BRITISH ATTITUDE

London, July 2.—It is made clear in official circles that Great Britain had no intention of giving offence to anyone by sending debt "reminders" to France, Italy, Greece, Fortugal, Rumania and Serbia.

The British Government is willing to be as generous as possible regarding the settlement of foreign debts, but the claims of British taxpayers must be considered. Therefore officials conclude the time has arrived when the debtor nations should take some steps to at least provide for a provisional settlement.

True Holiday Spirit

Grandpa's a wonder!

He sets out on his annual holiday fresh and "fit as a fiddle"—able to enjoy every glorious minute to the full and equal for everything. He fishes, paddles, swims and shoots with the youngest of them. On portages he carries the heaviest load.

The past year's worry and toll, which sapped the energy and played such havor with the nerves of others, made no impression whatever on Grandpa. His health and spirits are the same the whole year round perfect. That's why he gets the best out of his holiday—that's why he gets the best out of gverything he does.

As Grandpa says, "it's the little taily direct that does it." Each tiny, dose of the magic Kruschen powder is a perfect blend of the six salts essential to bodily well-being. It keeps you in perfect trim because it stimulates the liver and kidneys, gently but surely, to proper performance of their duties. It frees your system of all the waste matter that collects to clog your inside and poison your blood-stream. It sends clear vigorous blood pulsing through every vein. It primes every fibre of your being with tingling vitality. Kruschen puts the joy of life into holiday time. 160 doses cost only 75c—half a cent a day for the true holiday spirit.

"What's the matter, Mrs. Dig?" asked Uncle Wiggily, hopping slong a little while after this.

"Oh, all the wheels have come off my wagon and I can't draw it ammore and I don't know what to do!" cried the Fox, though he was slytlaughing to himself all the while.

"Oh, lost all the wagon wheels! That's too bad!" said Uncle Wiggily.
"But, as it happens, I have some extra wheels here and I'll fasten them in your wagon for you."

"What's kind of wheels are they?"
"What kind of wheels are they?"

"But, as it happens, I have some extra wheels here and I'll fasten them in your wagon for you."

"What kind of wheels are they" asked the Fox, surprised that the hunny should be carrying extra ones like that. "What kind of wheels have you, my rabbit friend?"

"Pinwheels for Fourth of July," answered the bunny. "I have just bought a lot of pinwheels from the monkey doodle, and there are more than I need. I will fasten four on your wagon." And when Uncle Wiggilly had fastened on the pinwheels, the bunny happened to see the big, bushy tail of the Fox sticking out under the dress of the old dog lady which the bad chap had put on. "Ah. ha! This is a trick!" thought the bunny. "But I'll fool them!"

"So before the Wolf and Bob Cat could jump out on him from the bushes, Uncle Wiggilly quickly put a match to the Fourth of July pinwheels on the wagon. "Hiss! Siss." Whizz! Bunk!" and the pinwheels burst into a shower of sparks. And they whizzed around so fast that the wagon ran ker-bunko into the Fox, knocking him down. And when the Wolf and Bob Cat hurried out of the NATIVE DAUGHTER  IS CHARMING BRIDE  Nuptials of Miss Margaret King and Mr. Howard Taylor Tuesday  St. Andrew's Catholic Cathedral was the scene of an exceptionally pretty wedding on Tuesday at 9 o'clock when the Rev. Father O'Brien united in matrimony Mar- garet, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James King, 1909 Fernwood Road, and Howard Richard, son of Mr. A. R. Taylor of this city. The altar and guest pews were prettily decorated for the occasion, filles, delphinium and crange blossom forming a pretty setting down the long aisle of the church as to the strains of the "Wedding March" from Lohensrin, the bridal party en- tered. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiantly lovely in a model wedding gown of ivory crepe beautifully beaded and fashioned on straight lines, bead panels failing from the side drapes. Her long court train, arranged at the should- ers with a spray of orange blossoms and underlined in shell Canton, was composed of clair de lune charmeuse crepe with deep inset of ermine at the hem, while her bridal veil of em- heroteered tulls was arranded	shape and held at the cofffure with the conventional wreath of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of Ophelia roses, swansonia and maidenhair fern.  She was attended as bridesmaid, by her only sister, Mary, in a lovely gown of pale mauve broche metur of striking simplicity and hemmed in soft white fur. She wore a picturesque hat of white crepe de Chine with flowing ties of georgette and carried a shower bouquet of blush roses, pink and mauve sweet peas and fern. Miss Ruby Brown made a winsome little flower girl in a dainty frock of salmon pink voile, beruffled in dainty rows of lace and orchid baby ribbon, and wearing a little wreath of orange blossoms in her hair. She carried a basket of sweetheart roses and preceded the bride up the aisle strewing rose petals in her path. The groom was supported by Mr. Bruce Elliot.  Miss Margueriu McKay presided at the organ and during the siging of the register Miss Vivian Colbert sang very sweetly "Thank God for You."  After the ceremony the bridat party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where they sat down to a very dainty wedding breakfast, the decorative scheme of the table being effectively carried out in orchid and pink with flowing streamers of the dual colors and sprays of smillax, while the handsome three-tier wedding cake held the place of honor. The reception hall and rooms were also artistically arranged in palms and masses of Summer blooms. The wedding gifts were beautiful and numerous, testifying to the popularity of the bride and groom. Paris. July 2.—The French Foreign Office to-day received information that conditions of peace to be offered Abd-el-Krim, the leader of the warring Riffians in Morocco, are being prepared by the French-Spanish conference in Madrid. There is little confidence here that Abd-el-Krim will accept.

The peace terms will be offered in the name of Spain, although representing both the French and Spanish views. The intention is to give the Riffian leader an opportunity to show whether he wants peace on what the French and Spanish regard as reasonable terms.

The purpose of the Medrid conference is to determine a joint programme whereby France and Spain may end the Moroccan warfare initiated by the attacks of Abd-el-Krim.

U.S. Government Establishes Immigration Inspector Across the Straits

Port Angeles, Wash., July 2.—The United States Government is determined to close a heretofore unguarded door between British Columbia and the Olympic Peninsula, it was indicated yesterday when immigration Inspector H. G. Yaeger arrived in Port Angeles to open a permanent immigration office. Yaeger announced that six regular patrolmen had been recommende for the district and would probably arrive soon. The Government is taking this step to close the border to aliens who are bootlegged across the Strait of Juan de Fuca without going through legal channels or who come from Mexico in small boats and are landed on the perinsula.

Tyndareus Inaugurates First Silk Route With C.N.R. Trains

Implemeting a change in the coast movements of vessels of the line the Ss. Tyndarcus, Blue Funnel liner, docked early yesterday morning after arrival from the Orient at William Head at daylight. On her was the first silk shipment for the C.N.R., special train at Vancouver, the first consignment to move over the Government road.

special train at Vancouver, the first consignment to move over the Government road.

Some 2,300 bales of raw-silk, representing a value of about $3,000,000 formed the consignment for shipment over the Canadian National rails from Vancouver under the new arrangement with the line.

A. J. Manion of the Blue Funnel Line, with headquarters at Seattle, was in the city to supervise in person the change which went into effect with the arrival of the Tyndareus. Heretofore Seattle had been the chief terminal port of the line. Now overland cargo and silk goods will be put down at Vancouver for rail shipment East, the vessels of the line passing to Seattle later to load. Including the valuable silk consignment the Tyndareus carried close on $5,000 tons for Canadian discharge, of which some 400 tons were set down at this port and the remainder for Vancouver. Like the Empress of Australia who crossed ahead of her, the Tyndareus found fair weather for most of the passage, and made fine time.

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending June 21, 1925, were $4,190,930, being a decrease of $444,056 or ten per cent over the corresponding week of 1924.

The gross carnings of the Canadian National Railways from January 1 to June 21, 1925, have been $99,608,281, being a decrease of $9,022,316 as compared with the corresponding period of 1924.

Government Sets Aside Watershed to Protect University For All Time

The University of British Columbia, at Point Grey, will be safeguarded for all time against a water shortage as a result of action taken by the Government this week. Ample areas of water storage have been reserved by the Government for the exclu-sive use of the University area should it be required in the future.

The new reserve is in the two Palisade Lakes and includes about 1,500 acre field of water. This will be ample for the university area under any circumstances. The reserve was created not with the prospect of any waterworks development now but simply as a protective mean re. The Government feit that the University should be protected in any eventuality, regardless of what Greater Vancouver may do about the distribution of water through a metropolitan organization in the future. The Palisade Lakes, in which the stored water is reserved, are contiguous to the Capilano watershed where Vancouver gets its water supply.

Volunteer Fire Forces of Vancouver Island Show Great Form in Hose Laying Tests

Splash-ball Proved Tre-mendous Hit; Large Crowd Watched Contest

Watched Contest

"Pavement Polo" oxiginated by the Victoria Fire Department as a means of livening up their tourney in the Carnival proved the outstanding feature of the contest of volunteer brigades on Blanshard Street on Tuesday afternoon. Four teams of four men each faced each other in turn, then played off the finals in which Alberni went down before the Cumberland four in a spirited, almost under-water game.

The giant wooden ball which formed the "puck" for the splash ball event spun like a top as heavy streams of water from opposing fire hose crews caught it on opposite sides. At times it would be struck fairly by one stream and would race off down the street at a terrific pace. Now and then it was sideswiped into the curb while the referee called off the game until it was rescued for fear of drenching the crowds. The players enjoyed the game as much as the crowd.

Upwards of 3,000 people saw the tourney, and from the spirited cheering which met each rally of opposing teams, the pavement polo event was the most popular one of the day. One game lasted only five seconds, the ball being lifted clear across its sixty four mark by one sweep with the jet from a hose.

Other games lasted several minutes and the final in which Cumberland won from Alberni was the outstanding tussie of the day.

Alberni fielded strong team in the volunteer brigade contests and captured several events. In fifty-seven seconds the Alberni team laid hose, and got water again, in twenty-one and a fraction seconda the same team completed the "wet" test of getting water in the shortest possible time.

A feature of the contest was the spirited and friendly way in which all up-lisland volunteer teams entered getting water in the shortest possible time.

A feature of the contest was the spirited and friendly way in which all up-lisiand volunteer teams entered into the various events. The members of the Victoria City Fire Brigade supplied the music for the event, patrolled the course, and did all the reelingaup of the hose, in itself no easy task.

Thomas Deasy, head of the call department; Thomas Watson first head of the pald force and Chief Vernon Stewart attended the contest and acted as marshals, Thos. Deasy, J. T. Braden, and Hugh Fettigrew acted as Judges. Frederick McGregor made a capable announcer of results.

Joseph Wrigglesworth, eighty-six years old, head of the volunteer fire department, rode with Chief Vernon Stewart in the parade yesterday together with eight men who had served on the volunteer force of 1890. Chief Wrigglesworth wore his old-time regalia and received a tremendous ovction from the crowd.

A FAIR BARGAIN .

When people buy at The General Warehouse they expect something better and cheaper than they get elsewhere. Just as long as we are able to meet these demands, just so long will we exist. We know full well that the crowds who patronize us daily do not leave the beaten track and go out of their way down a side street to the Wholesale District because they love us, not a bit of it. It's a cold-blooded world this is, in which love is lonely. So far we have done everything possible to merchandise honestly. We exchange goods, we refund money; we go so far as to replace any article defective in wear, and whilst the enormous increase in our business proves the wisdom of our methods, atill in many cases we regret to say we have been imposed upon. We said, and say again, that we stand behind any goods sold by us that are defective in fair wear by replacing, repairing or making allowance for such, but we do draw the line at giving a lease or exchanging goods in such a condition that the effluvium is beyond approach unaided by a gas mask.

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT

When you mail us an order you are sure of getting it. If we are sold out of something you order we send a better quality without extra charge, and if same does not meet with your approval you may return it at our expense and we will remit money.

Tell us your wants, trust us and you will have no regreta. Please note that all orders must be accompanied by allowance for postage and exchange on out of town cheques, same to be made payable to THE GENERAL WAREHOUSE.

All charges paid on parcels over twenty dollars.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial

New York, July 2 (By R. P. Clark & Co.)—To-day's market was more or less of a see-saw affair and while some specialties gained in price, the average run of stocks showed no particular change as compared with yesterday's finals. Quite a little profit taking seemed to be going on, in issues where buoyancy has been rather prominent of late and it is quite likely that the market may have to contend with more selling of this kind in advance of Independence holiday.

The American Petroleum figures showed another rather substantial decline in crude oil production for the week. Car loading fguires are running a way of last year and May earning reports of carriers continue to show up quite favorable, ft seems as though the general fun of trade reports indicate a better volume of business. The copper metal market shows a better tone and this was reflected in the action of the metal issues to-day.

The market may have to contend with more liberal offerings to-morrow in advance of the holidays.

New York, July 2 (By B.C. Bond)

New York, July 2 (By B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Wall Steret Wire)—The Wall Street Journal's stock market edition this afternoon says: Railroad shares developed marked activity at rising prices today, tending to confirm the promise of a general forward movement given by the climb of the industrial stocks this week to the highest levels on record. Urgent demand for the Wabash issues, which was believed record. Urgent demand for the Wabash issues, which was believed to represent buying by control on part of the Delaware and Hudson, that interests with consolidation projects in mind were not allowing the grass to grow under their feet while awaiting the Commerce Commission's approval of the Nickel Plate

Consequently, speculative attention ast attracted to the shares of various bads with good merger possibilities in the theory tha the sharp advances the Wabash and foreshadowed reumption of last Winter's consolidation market.

Foundation Company was another feature of the industrial specialities forging into new high territory at 123½. Fan American issues afforded an exception to the general list, breaking 2½ points as a result of the decline of 239,000 barrels in Mexican crude oil production last week. Important accumulation is reported in Texas Company, Calif. oils, notably General Petroleum and Pacific Oil. was also well bought on Monday's the industrial group continued to be offset in the early afternoon by the pronounced strength of the oils. Opinions were expressed in banking circles that pending merger developments were likely to pass through the preparatory stages, embracing particularly buying for control in the open market, without awaiting final decision in the Nickel Plat consolidation. Urgent buying of the Wabashissues was pointed out as confirmation of this theory. Bankers believe that the excessive high call money rate of the last few days must soon drop to a more normal level.

Other classes of short term borrowing promise to continue at current rates, although there is no sign of marked demand for commercial money. Commercial loans of member hanks and volume of outstanding open market commercial paper are at lowest levels for this season since 1922. There are several reasons why the volume of commercial borrowing is not higher, among these is the long period of easy money which has enabled so many industrials to borrow on bond issues, either new or refunding.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 2 (By R. P. Clark & Co., Ltd.)—Wheat! Heavy short covering halted the break to new lows on the movement early and led to a brisk railly, but the recovery did mot hold and the market closed finally not far from the previous finals. The changes were rapid both ways and reflected and highly mixed situation. There were reports of rust infection from Canada and rising temperatures with indications muggy conditions in the American morthwest, but they attracted only temporary buying. The buying side of wheat is without leadership.

Liquidation has been drastic and has shaken confidence. The market is off nearly 30 cents from recent top and the trade generally is inclined to look for a spot to buy, but they lack encouragement. Export demand to-day was of the moderate kind, and northwest markets were rela-

Trade sentiment is mostly bearish and many large interests believe prices will have to get down to a level where the foreigner will come in and buy on a broader scale. Meantime, there is little business of character passing and bulges are difficult to hold. The market will be weather one from now on and will be very susceptible to unfavorable reports, and this is being watched very closely. There are a few bad reports being sent out but these are disregarded by the trade, being more or less of a private nature. The Free Press resport on Saturday morning is waited for anxiously.

TIMES CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of course begin both as a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Bun through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions. The correct solution of to-day's puzzle will be printed in the next issue of The Times.

London, July 2.—The Singapore naval base, as contemplated by the British Government, will be "comparatively a very minor establishment," and there is no question of it being "a great base for concentration," said Earl Stanhope, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, in the House of the Admiralty, in the House of the Government during a debate inaugurated by the Labor Party upon the protected naval establishment in the Far East.

Says

Before attempting to remodel Canada's freight rate structure the Railway Board will take immediate action to remove some of the chief discrepancies in the present tariffs. This is the expectation of the British Columbia Government, Premier Oilver stated.

The first probable action of the board, the Premier believes, will be to instruct railway companies to file new tariffs for Western Canada in conformity with the legislation pass; gd by Parliament recently and designed to bring about complete rate equalization. The effect of this move would be to adjust conditions on the prairies, where complete rate confusion prevails now.

CROW'S RATES

The name "Canadian" has a clearer and a more worthy significance to-day than it has ever had before, and it is growing steadily in the estimate of the world, Dean Coleman, of the University of British Columbia, declared in a brilliant address from the steps of the Parliament Buildings last night, when the Buildings last night, when the Native Sons of Canada held a grand patriotic demonstration.

Canadiana, celebrating their birth-day yesterday from one end of the country to the other, should pause for a moment and think of some of the national issues which face them, the Dean observed. "As measured on the great dial of history," he went on, when the propose of the national issues which face them in the East, while be a not of the country to the other, should pause for a moment and think of some of the national issues which face them in the pallish of the part of the country to the other, should pause for a moment and think of some of the national issues which face them. New Post at Finlay Forks Proves Valuable in Keeping

The Provincial Police Force ias made important progress this year in policing the sparcely-settled districts around Finlay Forks, says a statement issued at the Attorney-General's Department in reply to the assertion of trappers from this area that their country is not receiv-ing sufficient attention from the liquor dealings with the Indians and in this the constable in charge has been singularly successful. However, as time goes on it has been found that the local officer has been of immense service to the trapping fraternity and to the tourists, he has also rendered valuable assistance to the Department of Lands in suppressing forest fires. The movement was deserving of the fullest support of all, in financial and in an active way wherever possible. Its training was one with great purpose in the up-building of a national spirit with British ideals, concluded the Governor-General, vishing every success to the progress of scout units on Vancouver Island.
